Edge Of Madness

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/42433839.

Rating:	Explicit
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Category:	F/F
Fandom:	She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)
Relationships:	Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra)
Characters:	Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Bow (She-Ra), Castaspella (She-Ra)
Additional Tags:	Edgeplay, Adora Has a Penis (She-Ra), Multiple Orgasms, Orgasm Delay/Denial, Teasing, Blow Jobs, Anal Fingering, Rimming, Cunnilingus, Vaginal Fingering, Rough Sex, Deepthroating, Semi-Public Sex, Voyeurism, Post-Canon, Girl Penis, Creampie, Companionable Snark, Safewords, POV Adora (She-Ra), Married Couple, Established Relationship, Service Top Adora (She-Ra), Switching, Power Bottom Catra (She-Ra), Shower Sex, Gift Fic, Femslash, Praise Kink, Fur Kink, Adora gets a tail job, Catra? More like Bratra, Explicit Sexual Content, 20 percent plot eighty percent smut, these two have no shame, Someone pay for Glimmer's therapy
Language:	English
Series:	Part 11 of Catradora Smutshots
Stats:	Published: 2022-10-17 Words: 11,023 Chapters: 1/1

Edge Of Madness

by vagician

Summary

Adora has a hard time voicing what she wants. Catra decides to continuously poke the bear into taking what she wants.

Or: Catra edges Adora for an entire day to finally wear her down enough to give into her inner Dom. Animalistic smut insues.

Notes

Gift fic for my friend Batatadeuces 😊

Catra kinda sucks.

Alright, perhaps Adora should probably rephrase that vague and potentially hurtful statement. Catra doesn't always suck. Hell, nine times out of ten her wife is the literal embodiment of heaven on Etheria. And trust her, Adora would know since they're kinda married and all. Did she mention they were wives now? She probably did, but she feels like it's something worth mentioning twice. (Maybe a few hundred times just to be safe.)

I mean she's just so fluffy.

All that fur and fuzz covering her figure at just the perfect volume and density topped off with adorably pointed ears that Adora has to physically restrain herself from petting in a public setting. (Which, wow. Talk about an exercise in self-control.)

Though her wife wouldn't be caught dead admitting it out loud, she knew Catra sort of relished in the idea of being pet by Adora's tentative hands. But due to Bow's incessant pestering and guilt-tripping over wanting to be able to give the feline some friendly scritches as well, that was a sacred activity that could now only be commenced behind closed doors or at the very least when Adora was certain no one was looking. (It wasn't her fault Catra was just so pettable.)

But never mind the subject of her wife's glorious coat of fur. Because no, that was definitely not the reason for Catra sucking right now. Catra sucked for a reason that was ten different levels of cruel, even if the feline insisted she was humoring this extended torment solely for Adora's benefit.

You see, it's a well-known fact Adora has difficulty taking what she wants. Hell, even asking for something she wants is a pretty problematic hurdle for her most of the time. Being forced into the life of a compliant child soldier had hardwired her brain into thinking that she shouldn't be allowed to want for anything outside of the approval of those around her, her superiors mainly. To earn that validation by doing what others wanted of her, but never doing for herself.

And somehow gaining the sword and the 8ft amazonian warrior goddess harnessed inside it only made that sense of duty and obligation even worse than back when she was in service to the Horde. Who had time to want for anything for themselves when the hope of all of Etheria and beyond was now weighing down on their shoulders?

Okay, that isn't entirely accurate. Adora had many wants harbored inside her, I mean at the end of the day, she is human, after all. But her problems always seemed to stem around voicing those self-indulgent desires into existence when every impulse inside of her screams to keep them buried so no amount of digging could ever hope to unearth them.

But then there was Catra.

Adora's personal kryptonite and the only other person in existence that knew the blonde inside and out, and sometimes even better than Adora knew herself. Someone who saw past the fortified barriers separating Adora's malnourished aspirations from the expectations of those around her and was making it her life's ambition to instill into Adora's brain that it was okay to occasionally stop being so selfless and allow herself to be selfish every once in a while. A concept that happens to be completely foreign to the princess.

"You're always aiming for control when you really should be learning how to lose it, princess." Catra had said to her in various different ways more often than not.

And like, what does that even mean?

Just because Adora gets triggered and twitchy when her toothbrush isn't facing a certain direction and may or may not keep an alphabetized (as well as color-coated) list of all their trials and errors in the bedroom did not make her a control freak. It was just establishing a little order amongst the entropy, right?

But her wife didn't see it that way. And after so many failed attempts at getting the blonde to state what she wants for once, Catra had finally had enough of her shit.

So what was this genius (cough sadistic) plan of the feline's? Surely two reasonable adults could reach a likely compromise if enough effort is put on both ends, right?

Yeah, no.

Catra, being an advocate for the act now and think later approach, decided to take matters into her own hands. And by that, she means taking Adora's pleasure into her own diabolical hands.

By edging the fuck out of her until Adora finally grew desperate enough to take what she wanted from her.

But unlike Adora, that fate was yet to come. Sure Catra was snoozing soundly beside her right now looking all adorable and fluffy and seemingly harmless, but the minute those impish eyes opened, the princess knew the rest of the day would be more of a trial on her psyche than any of the hurdles they've faced together in the past.

Adora would like to take the time to reiterate that her wife sucks.

This edgefest hadn't even commenced and she was still achingly hard right now. The fact Catra hadn't been stirred from her slumber yet by the scent of her arousal (and partial shame) was either a convenient miracle or perhaps divine intervention itself. How was she supposed to get anything done today when she was presently pitching a tent she wasn't even allowed to get rid of?

Okay so maybe that's not all true. If anything about this situation had truly bothered her, Adora knows she always has the lifeline of their safeword to fall back on when and where it was needed. But not only was the princess unbothered by all of this, but she was also a bit perplexed by just how unbothered she was by it. Adora still didn't want to fully acknowledge the end goal Catra was trying to work out of her but she couldn't deny that the thought of being edged and denied by a magicat that could make her strike at any moment was frustratingly hot.

Now all that was left for Adora to do was to sit here with the less-than-innocent thoughts currently festering in her head, and cautiously play the waiting game.

***

It didn't take long for Catra to make her first move.

The first ambush happens in the shower of all places, which had Adora a little disgruntled since she hoped the water would have been at least somewhat of a deterrent, but the feline seems to pay no mind to the unpreferable liquid as she steps under the steaming flow of water, pressing up into an oblivious Adora's backside as her clawed digits lightly sink into her hips. Adora, whose stubborn erection had miraculously gone down some in the short moment of peace she's sustained in here, feels a jolt of charged energy that shoots down straight into her reinvigorated cock, the stiffened baton twitching to life as her teeth find her bottom lip, harshly biting down the groan that nearly escapes at the contact.

"Hey, Adora." Catra drawls against the shell of her ear, her tail maneuvering around both of their pressed figures as the hybrid lets the fluffy rope of fur coil tightly around her erection. "Did you really think a shower would be enough to save you from me, princess?"

Her tail hadn't even started moving, yet Adora already feels her composure expertly melting away with the hot beads of steam rolling down her ivory skin, her flustered state having her complexion take on a prominently rosy tint. The two clawed distractions at her waistline and the fluffier distraction looped around her member caused Adora's vocabulary to screw her over even more so than usual, unable to muster up any response other than a weakly breathed "C-Catra.."

"Tell me what you want, Adora." Catra lovingly goads her, deliberately flicking her tail tip against her aching head as a fresh ooze of precum makes a noticeable stain in her fur, leaving a sinful gloss on her tawny coat. Adora tries (and fails) to desperately cant her hips forward to increase the lack of friction being experienced, but those clawed restraints keeping her in place made the feat impossible.

"W-What?" Adora stutters out, opting for playing dumb even though they both know she hears Catra with perfect clarity. She was stalling and they both damn well knew it, the blonde still unable to answer the weight and uncertainty of that inquiry. A mix of a shiver and shudder rolls through her when Catra pulls back far enough to readjust one of her hands, dragging it away from her hip until she navigates it around to the back of her.

The feline splays her fingers over the supple curve of her ass, humming appreciatively at the sight before spreading the blonde's plump cheeks, retracting her claws before allowing the pad of her finger to circle around that pink ring of muscle surrounding her rim. The sound that follows from Adora is so obscene it can't even be classified as a sound, just a choked and strangled noise that sounds far more comparable to a dying animal. Amused, Catra's chuckle is felt more than heard, adding a pinch of teeth to the open-mouthed kisses she's granting to the center of Adora's nape.

"If that's the game you want to play then by all means, princess, be my guest. But I'm going to wear you down one way or another, Adora. I'm going to get you so starved and desperate for me that not only will you finally stop overthinking for once, you won't have any coherent thought left in you at all. The only thing you'll be able to reflect on is how badly you need to cum, and whatever you need to do to reach that end goal. Then, and only then, will I give you what you want." Catra's declaration is like liquid iron branding hotly against her skin, fanged incisors dragging lightly over the blonde's racing pulse point before Adora finally feels a finger demanding entry against the clenching orifice half-heartedly trying to resist it.

"T-That's not.. fa-ah! f-fair.."

"Of course it's not. So, what are you going to do about it, princess?" Catra ponders like the little conniving devil she is, looming over her shoulder with a mile-wide grin while letting her tail tighten around the blonde's length. Adora presses her palms against the shower tiles to keep herself from toppling over like a jumbled mess, passively jostling the finger in her ass as Catra continues to lazily probe her.

The magicat bends forward to hover over her back, a rough tongue flicking against the corded muscle in her neck before her lips clamp closed around it, sucking a bruise into the blonde's pale bit of flesh. "Color?"

"The color that rhymes with mean. " Adora grumbles out in a pant, cursing her own body for how quickly it's betraying her. With Catra's tail, it basically left the feline with three fully functional limbs, and the one that wasn't assaulting her erection and insides decided to depart from its idle state at her hip, climbing slowly up her waist. Predictably, Catra's climb ceases when her grip collides with her right breast, claws lightly kneading the doughy hill before her grip narrows down to her thumb and forefinger, leisurely tweaking the hardened nub between them both.

Adora was close. Too close. All the mixed sources of stimuli were having a domino effect on the blonde's body, each varied source of pleasure stacking onto the other, mixing and reshaping itself into one bigger source of pulsating pressure her body couldn't possibly hope to ignore. The tail tugging her cock only grew more unyielding and by the efforts Catra was putting into this unforeseen tail job, Adora almost could have fooled herself into thinking her wife would actually show her some mercy and permit her to cum.

Yeah, fat chance.

The minute that pressure threatened to travel up her length, it had it shaking with a visible enough throb for Catra to easily register, that gods-forsaken tail unwinding itself from around Adora's rigid pillar right around the time Catra's finger slipped out of her rear, the princess performing a startled jump when Catra gives her bum a firm smack, exiting the shower with a devious giggle.

And just as quickly as she arrived, Catra was gone, wordlessly excusing herself from the washroom to leave one naked (and very frustrated) Adora to herself.

***

Adora was beginning to realize the hard way that no place on this planet or the next would ever be safe from her wife. Even if Adora had invested all her efforts into finding the most clever hiding spot in all of Etheria, the trail of her scent would always be a homing beacon to Catra's unfairly perceptive nostrils. And that was just on a typical day when she wasn't dealing with the degree of unresolved arousal her wife was keen on putting her through. If Adora had to make an educated guess, she could only assume her heightened hormonal state was causing that condemning scent to radiate in an even thicker pungency.

So she wasn't surprised at all when she heard the heavy doors to Bright Moon's newly renovated training grounds slip open right in the middle of her morning workout regimen, the anxious blonde plummeting into the mat mid push-up when Catra casually walks up to her, turning Adora's toned backside into no better than a lounge chair as she plops down onto the center of it, the hybrid subtly eyeing the perfectly chiseled ass of She-Ra.

"How's it going, princess? Hard at work?" Catra asks, and Adora can feel the snicker her wife's barely containing in those words. Annoyed, Adora chooses not to dignify that innuendo with a response, a grunt leaving the blonde as she steels her expression back to one of cold determination, resuming her push-ups with the added weight of her relentless magicat now on her back.

"What do you want now, Catra?" Adora huffs when a tail (the tail she nearly came on this morning) wraps around the length of her thigh. Apparently Catra wasn't satisfied with limiting her wife's potential to simply a chair, deciding to exploit the extra surface area that came with She-Ra as she demoted her spouse into no better than a firm and fleshy mattress, sprawling out on the blonde's back completely.

"Oh, Adora. Haven't you been paying attention? This isn't about what I want." Catra muses against the back of her ear, taking quite an interest in the way every minor muscle contouring her partner's back continues to flex with every repeated bend of her elbows. That steeled expression Adora's been striving so hard to maintain promptly gets obliterated when Catra's arms loop around her midriff, unretracted claws grazing a trail that spanned from rib to hip.

"You're barking up the wrong tree, babe. I don't think She-Ra can even get hard." Adora claps back at her without thinking of the potential repercussions of such a claim, one word in particular managing to prickle the feline's fur the wrong way as Adora senses the glare now boring into the back of her skull.

"I do not bark. Take that back." Catra orders in a no-nonsense fashion, an audible growl rumbling in her larynx when Adora fails to hold back a giggle, pleased to see that even in the midst of her own turmoil, she could still get under her spouse's skin (fur?).

"It's just a term of phrase, Catra. But if it's really bothering you that much, then fine. You're meowing up the wrong tree." Adora corrects herself, and it's now that she realizes in hindsight that maybe informing her wife about her suspicions over She-Ra's anatomy wasn't the wisest route to travel down. While Adora was simply trying to logically reason, Catra only saw that statement as a challenge, the growl in her throat dimming down to make room for the gratified purr that surfaced.

"I may just have to test this little theory of yours out for myself." Catra challenges with piqued interest as her grip ventures down past her waistline, cupping the girth of her wife right through the constricting spandex keeping it contained. Adora groans out of both pleasure and pure unbridled frustration, pressing a knee into the training mat before she could lose her footing and have the full weight of them both go stacking down onto her erection. Adora didn't think it'd be enough for her dick to actually go snapping in half under the weight, but then again she wasn't looking to test that theory out for herself either.

"Looks like you messed up your set, princess. Now you're going to have to start all over." taunts the feline, surprising Adora when she suddenly rolls off of her back before jumping up to her feet. Adora follows her wife's movements in her peripheral vision, foolish to think for even a second that Catra had her fill screwing with her because the minute she thinks she's in the clear and steadies herself to perform another set, the hybrid suddenly plops down right in front of her, the invasive position having Adora's face collide with the juncture between her thighs with every trip down.

Adora may not have had the exemplary sense of smell Catra's feline anatomy harbored, but being forced to do push-ups against her wife's opened crotch gave her more than enough of a whiff to catch on that Catra seemed to be really getting off to the torment she was putting the blonde through. That claim was only cemented further when Catra dips her hand underneath the surface of her leggings unprompted, blatantly toying with her outer lips beneath the thin and flimsy fabric.

Even She-Ra didn't harness enough power to stop the whine that jailbreaks its way out of Adora's throat at the immoral sight, pausing mid push-up to just stare shamelessly at the activity, her morning routine now the furthest thing from her mind. Choosing to play it coy, Adora unceremoniously sinks back down onto the mat, wincing briefly as her dick presses uncomfortably against the cushioned surface, making an awkward readjustment of her hips before she rests the side of her head against one of Catra's opened thighs, staring intently at the suspicious performance taking place in front of her.

"Want some help with that?" Adora asks after a minute of uninterrupted staring, eyes unblinking and unwavering so Catra couldn't mistake for a second what she was referring to. Catra sits with the proposition for a moment, her hand showing no signs of stopping the self-indulgent petting of her furred lips as she thinks on it. Adora swallows, breath bated and heavy as she patiently waits for an answer, her fingertips practically buzzing from the effort it takes to refrain from offering her assistance prematurely.

"Do you want to help me, Adora?" Catra baits her, seeing if the blonde would take up the offer now that it was worded differently. Adora chews the inside of her cheek in contemplation, really making an effort to give her an earnest answer. Catra deserved nothing less than the truth and Adora did want to help her. But did Catra want Adora's help? Surely it wouldn't be such a selfish request if Catra was getting something out of it too, right? Adora's about halfway through this inner epiphany of hers when Catra grows impatient, an exasperated huff parting ways with the feline as Catra slips her hand out, the claw on her index finger unsheathing before she cuts a slit down the crotch of her leggings before forcefully shoving the blonde's head right where she wants it.

Oh.. Okay, Adora. You can work with this. she gives herself a mental pep-talk, relieved that she now has a clear duty to follow through on, a needed purpose from start to finish. Ignoring her own persistent erection, she reaches for Catra's thighs, seating them onto the top of her shoulders before promptly getting down to business. Starting at her entrance, Adora flattens her tongue to cover even more area as she licks a deep and thorough stripe upward, catching every bead of slick that spills out at the disturbance. Adora curiously flits her eyes upward to take in Catra's reaction, a burst of pride racing up her spine at what she sees.

Catra's eyes are hazy and half-lidded, her jaw partially falling agape as her head tilts back in a blissful sigh, claws appreciatively kneading her scalp as her tail swishes lazily from side to side. It's all the encouragement Adora needs to kick it up a notch, letting a firmed tongue catch against her hood before she takes it into the depths of her mouth with just the barest traces of teeth. Catra's heels anchor into her shoulder blades after that stunt, that loose grip in her locks tightening enough to drag a muffled moan out of the blonde, fortifying her hold onto the feline's hips as she hoists them up, urging her to fuck her mouth.

Adora may have deemed the action a little too demanding than something she'd typically pull, but Catra's reaction to the show of force certainly wasn't something she was expecting. A keening "Yes!' sounded out of the feline, the vocalization more unhinged and desperate than anything Adora's managed to pull out of her before. Keeping this newly acquired tidbit of information in mind, Adora lashes her tongue fiercely against her bud in quick thorough stripes, bringing a hand just beneath her chin as she pries apart Catra's blooming lips with her fingers, lining two of them up with her pulsing opening.

Even as she plunges both digits into that clutching sleeve of heat, Adora ignores the throbbing cock sandwiched between herself and the training mat, her stubborn erection now even larger and more persistent in her She-Ra form. Catra's closed fist shoots for her mouth, biting into it to contain the howl that's halfway through leaving her throat as a fresh burst of slick pools down onto Adora's madly thrusting fingers, collecting into her palm before staining the mat in a signature of sin.

"Holy fuck, Adora! Keep going!" Catra frantically praises her approval against her fist, and had Adora come equipped with cat ears like her wife, they would have most certainly swiveled under the sudden praise. Tightening her sealed lips around her clit, Adora continues to grant her undivided attention to that sensitive collection of nerves, an adjustment in her angle having her flexed fingers hitting even deeper territory as they happily buried themselves inside her wife's flooding treasure trove.

So that's what Adora does. Heeding her wife's demands, she keeps going, licking her raw until the ache in her jaw flares just as prominently as the ache below her waist, coiled fingers hooking into the hybrid's front wall before her free hand slips beneath the small of Catra's back, exploiting that one region at her tail base that always makes her wife turn into a quivering unintelligible mess. Once scritches are a part of the equation, it's all but over for Catra. Giving one last emphatic buck of hips against Adora's eager mouth, Catra cums with a vengeance, a flood of slick being coaxed out with every tapered thrust until Adora's fingers eventually halt altogether, sliding them out of her to give them a thorough lick before her tongue resumes cleaning up the mess she's made out of her feline.

"Happy?" Catra breathes out accusingly as if it was her that just got through making Adora's brain leak out of her ears, and not the other way around. Adora worries her lip in conflict, unsure of how to answer. She's very happy that Catra was feeling generous enough to give her a taste but there was still an 10 inch problem pitching an uncomfortable tent beneath her spandex. But asking if she'd be willing to return the favor wouldn't only be deemed as selfish, it'd be totally inconsiderate considering Adora's greedy fingers and tongue had just finished sucking and fucking the stamina right out of her wife. But maybe it wouldn't be so selfish if she got permission to take care of herself? Then Catra wouldn't even need to be inconvenienced at all.

"Y-Yes, but.." Adora begins, teetering on the edge of indecision.

Catra's brow cocks, her interest piqued. "But..?"

Adora swallows dryly, her throat suddenly feeling parched. "C-Can I touch myself?"

Catra sighs disappointedly, her expression almost one of amused sympathy. "I don't know, princess. Can you?"

Before Adora can formulate an answer, Glimmer suddenly materializes right out of fucking nowhere, startling the warrior princess right out of her transformation as a shame-ridden Adora goes crashing ungracefully back into the mat. Catra doesn't outwardly hiss at the intrusion this time, but her coat noticeably bristles at the unwanted company, wisely crossing her legs before the queen can see the self-inflicted tear in her leggings.

Fortunately, Glimmer seems much too annoyed with something else to put together the sins the two were commencing in her training grounds. "Have you two even packed yet? We leave for Mystacor in an hour, you know. We need to get there before my aunt gets out of her meeting so she won't bombard Catra with another one of her tours."

Adora hastily reaches for her discarded half jacket, inconspicuously draping it over her lap to cover up the remnants of her shame before she shifts into an upright position. Catra notices the subtle coverup, quietly tittering to herself. "Well, I know Adora's definitely packing-"

"Catra!" the blonde hisses in protest, covering her wife's mouth before she has the opportunity to finish that damning statement. She squeaks in surprise when she feels a raspy tongue licking the inside of her palm, tearing her hand away to meet Catra's grin with a frustrated glare.

Glimmer's eyes narrow in suspicion, giving them both a pointed look. "I'm going to take that as a no."

"We'll start right now, I promise." Adora assures her, though the queen didn't seem very convinced of that promise.

"I don't know what the heck you two are up to, but you have exactly an hour to get it out of your systems. I expect the both of you at the gate no later than noon. This is Catra's first trip to Mystacor and I'm not about to have it delayed just because you two couldn't keep it in your pants." Glimmer brazenly clarifies before dematerializing altogether, leaving the two to themselves once more. Adora sighs as she lifts the jacket away from her lap, glaring down at her crotch. The lecturing from her best friend had her erection go down considerably but it was still as present and demanding as ever.

"I'm going to have to tape this thing down, aren't I?" Adora questions more to herself than her snickering spouse, furrowing her brow in mild annoyance. The princess gasps in surprise when Catra leans over to give the indentation of her cock a playful flick of her finger, applying just enough pressure behind it to make sure it was felt.

"What do you think, princess?"

***

Adora ends up having to tape it down.

(With absolutely no help from Catra.)

Never did she imagine she'd be using a roll of medical gauze for this particular purpose, but when it came to Catra, Adora's just learned to embrace the questionable situations her wife seems to enjoy dragging her into. That semblance of control she's been desperately trying to cling to? She can already feel it being chipped away with every prolonged glance from her ruthless tease of a wife, the feline practically fucking her with her eyes for Castaspella's entire palace tour. (Which yes, they got roped into attending after all.)

Glimmer had managed to slip away with Bow to the hot springs when Casta became too preoccupied with educating Catra on the history of some of the many murals located throughout the castle's walls, leaving just Glimmer's aunt and the two of them for the entire remainder of the tour. It certainly didn't help matters that Catra had her arm looped around her bicep, deadly claws idly teasing the outline of her muscles for the entire supposedly informative tour Castaspella was guiding them through, along with the occasional not-so-innocent tail boop to the crotch whenever the sorceress' attention was divided elsewhere.

By the time Catra received her end of the tour customary sweater, Adora was positively reeling with unresolved arousal, her untimely hard-on straining against the medical wrap imprisoning it against her thigh. It was simultaneously the most best and most worst kind of torture, leaving the blonde twitchy and on edge by the time they finally dressed out for the hot springs.

"How're you feeling, princess?" Catra interrupts her train of thought, the two of them circling around the corner that led down to the pools. Adora let her frustration leak into her answer, muttering a snarky "Peachy." to her spouse.

Adora blinks when she feels a hand grasping her own, the feline urging her to stop. The playful look in Catra's face is all but gone, genuine concern taking its place.

"Hey, talk to me. What's your color?" Catra checks in with her, and her willingness to halt this all for Adora's sake has the blonde serving her a dopey smile.

"Still green. I'm sorry if I seem on edg-" Adora stops herself when she registers the irony in that phrase, ignoring Catra's heightened brow of amusement before she continues. "-bothered, but I promise I'm fine. I'm just really, really turned on right now. I didn't mean to be a grump."Adora finishes verbally, since she certainly hasn't been finishing physically, throwing the magicat a sheepish grin as she gives the back of her knuckles a reassuring swipe of her thumb.

"Adora if you aren't enjoying it then we don't have to-

"No, no, I am! I'm enjoying it a little too much, actually. And I know it's not just blind torment for no reason. There's a lesson to be learnt at the end of this even if I have to learn it the hard-" Adora stops short when Catra starts chortling at the second painfully ironic term the princess lets slip, unable to maintain a convincing glare as she soon joins in on the childish laughter. When the giggles eventually die down, Catra brings her hand up to the side of her face, forming a fond smile when the blonde hums in contentment, affectionately nuzzling into her palm.

"Promise to tell me if it becomes too much?" Catra requests, the softness in her expression warming the blonde's big gay heart from the inside out as her grin doubles in length.

"You seem mighty confident that I'm going to tap out before all of this is over. No faith in your wife, kitten?" Adora teases, the notable blush the term of endearment invokes not going unnoticed by the smug princess. It's Catra's turn to fidget anxiously under her spouse's amused gaze, clearing her throat as that cool and confident exterior momentarily falters on her.

"I have plenty of faith in my wife, but my ditz of a wife tends to lack faith in herself, so I was just making sure we were still on the same page here." Catra recovers from the noticeable slip-up, tightening her hold on Adora's hand to tow them the rest of the way down the hall before the hybrid could be interrogated any further. Catra's ears perk upward when she hears a quiet chuckle sound from the princess behind her.

"Bring it on, babe."

***

"What?! No, I'm not putting that thing anywhere near my eyes! What the hell is wrong with you, Sparkles?" Catra hisses at the platter of sliced cucumbers, giving a disgusted shudder when she notices Bow's already draped the sliced produce over his eyes, his arms sitting along the edge of the hot spring with his head comfortably reclined. Catra didn't like the damn vegetable even before it was cut up into a million unsettling pieces, but now it just had her even more greatly disturbed. Unphased, Glimmer simply smirks before resting the platter down on the stone, conveniently sliding it out of the hybrid's line of sight.

"Told you, Adora." Glimmer smugly quips, prompting Adora to grin nervously when Catra's accusatory glare redirects itself onto her.

"This vegetable assault was your idea?" Catra dares to question, staring down her wife for some answers. Adora immediately scrambles to explain herself, tripping miserably over her words.

"No! Glimmer was just going over what we were going to do when you got here and when she didn't mention the cucumbers I suggested them but she said cats hate cucumbers and to hold off but I said you weren't like a full-on cat so maybe it wouldn't be that big of a deal? And and.. I'm just going to stop talking now." Adora quietly brings her frantic ramble to a close, looking elsewhere when Catra's glare becomes too much to maintain.

Catra's scowl eventually mellows out to a neutral expression, awkwardly weaving through the water until she's seated next to her wife once more, getting settled at her side as she silently watches the bursts of heated liquid continuously bubble up to the surface. Emboldened by her lack of hostility, Adora shimmies closer to the feline, draping an arm around her before she presses a gentle kiss to the base of her ear.

"I'll hold off on the cucumbers next time.." Adora quietly promises her, earning a minor snort out of the magicat as Catra burrows her head against her shoulder to hide her surfacing blush from the other couple she suspects is currently making heart eyes at their sappy antics.

"Idiot." Catra mutters against her shoulder, slipping a hand beneath the water's surface to idly tease at her ribs, curving a smirk into the blonde's neck when Adora fights off the urge to squirm against her touch, urgently tapping her nails along the ridge of the hot spring to suffice as a distraction. All Adora could think about now is how she wished that hand would delve just a little bit further south. Adora takes a glance at the pool of water they were all situated in, chewing her lip in contemplation. The bubbles were so frequent that you couldn't even see anything happening below the water regardless of how clear it was.

How simple it would be to just take some initiative and grasp Catra's hand and guide it to where she needs it to go. The thought was twisted and debaucherous by all accounts, considering her friends were literally right on the other side of that natural spring, none the wiser to the sinful deed the blonde was actively contemplating in her head. Granted their eyes were now obstructed with cucumbers, but that still didn't justify what Adora was now too weak and riled up to refrain from initiating.

I mean, this is what Catra wanted from her after all, isn't it? To let loose and just take what she wants from her for once? And as far as bold decisions went, Adora's confident pulling a move like this would be the grand trifecta of bold. Ever since they've been intimate with each other for the very first time, Catra always initiated sex first since Adora was too much of a nervous nellie to ever propose of something so forward. And after two happy and joyous years of marriage, Adora figures now is a good a time as any to change that bashful reputation of hers.

Catra's head remains burrowed against the crook of her neck, the magicat pulling her head back in confusion when she feels Adora confiscate the wrist at her waistline. But rather than move it off of her like Catra had been anticipating, Adora moves it further south, splaying her hand over the feline's as she guides it right down to the thigh her member is still wrapped against, pressing both of their hands down into the indentation of her cock. Catra bites back a curse at the brazen stunt, slitted pupils widening with excitement as she tries to get a read on her wife, wondering just what her intentions for her were. She's pleased to see Adora's pupils are just as blown out as her own, the blonde eyeing her up with a look of unmistakable want housed in those icy blues.

Adora leans against her, breathing out a reply at an octave only meant for Catra's ears to pick up on, silently appreciating her wife's feline biology now more than ever. "Take it out." she orders her in a whisper, a little startled (as well as liberated) with how easily the demand fell from her lips. Catra gives her a stupefied blink before the request actually registers for her, a devilish smirk taking shape as her fingers navigate over to the top of the blonde's swim trunks, deftly untying the string holding them together.

Adora is vaguely reminded of the medical wrap still obstructing her from the contact she needs, about to give her spouse the A-Okay to unravel the fabric but Catra does her one better, carefully unsheathing a claw before she slices the gauze clear down the side, releasing her dick from its constraints. Adora sucks in a sharp breath when Catra takes her swelling length in her grasp, tilting her head back as she gets lost to the attention her wife's talented grip was rewarding her with.

"This is nice, isn't it? No duties, no obligations, no wayward rogue drones we need to decommission. Just four friends and a well needed day of pampering and relaxation." Bow says with a happy sigh as Glimmer makes an illegible noise of agreement. Catra's grip around Adora's member loses some of its confidence at the sudden conversation, as if she's battling on the morality of whether or not she should continue.

Not wanting to part ways with the tantalizing hand tending to her just yet, Adora decides to give her wife some reassurance. "Well I for one, am certainly feeling pampered right now."

Catra's subdued fit of shocked laughter is its own reward to Adora, clearly not expecting the bashful blonde to be so open about the crude double meaning to that statement. "See where being a little selfish gets you, princess? Not everything needs to be about your hero complex all the time. Sometimes you just need to take a step back and learn how to let others take care of you for once." Catra adds just as she lets her thumb graze along the head of her cock with her next tug upward, earning a subtle shudder out of the blonde as she discreetly chews her lip, striving to remain quiet.

"Are my ears deceiving me or did Catra seriously just preach about accepting help from others?" Glimmer snarks, the cucumbers on her lids preventing the queen from seeing the irritable glare the magicat throws in her direction. Despite the tentative hand continuing to make her smile guiltily, Adora frowns at the remark, worried it might potentially sour Catra's mood but much to Adora's relief, the feline takes it in stride.

"It's called character development, Sparkles. You should try it out sometime." Catra quips, releasing Adora's cock from her grip unprompted. That has Adora really frowning now, lifting her head to investigate right around the time she witnesses Catra suavely sliding over into her lap, purposely sandwiching Adora's erection between her back and the blonde's front, giving a coy little shimmy against it until she lifts her hips just high enough to have her cock wedging underneath her completely, pressing into the magicat's swim shorts.

Adora inhales sharply at the deliberate adjustment, her hands flying down to Catra's hips for something to hold onto. To anyone uninformed of the sinful deeds taking place below the water, it would have looked like the feline was simply sitting in her lap, which she technically was, but not for the wholesome reasons any respectable person of the public would assume. Adora props her forehead against the back of Catra's shoulder, breathing barely above a whisper. "That feels so good, kitten."

Adora's certain she heard the comment by the way Catra goes tense in her arms before she inconspicuously grinds down on her cock with a little more purpose and intent than before. It still baffles Adora at how much she's truly enjoying herself right now, those incessant worries that always seemed to loom around her awareness surprisingly nowhere to be found in this moment. Every little voice screaming at her that she was being selfish was effectively quelled by the mere fact that she knew Catra was enjoying herself too.

Was this what Catra meant about learning how to lose control? Just allowing things to happen and swim with the tide for once rather than trying to struggle against it? Knowing that it was okay to want because your desires were just as valid as the ones of those around you? Adora didn't have much time to contemplate the matter before she feels Catra moving one of her hands away from the jut of her hip, guiding it just below her navel so the tips of Adora's fingers were nudged beneath the waistline of her trunks, a wordless request. Smirking, Adora doesn't need any more convincing, pulling the drawstring out of its knot before she lets her hand descend beneath the water-logged fabric, parking her splayed grip right over her pussy.

The blonde's smirk softens to a smile when her other hand gets covered by Catra's, twining their fingers as the magicat gives her a squeeze of reassurance, letting her know she was enjoying this just as equally. Although Adora didn't really need the added reassurance, since just the erratic twitching of Catra's tail alone was enough of a clear indicator, and though her tail may not have been curled around her erection like it had been in the shower this morning, every unsubtle twitch of the fluffy appendage managed to provide delicious purchase against her own neglected appendage, giving her hips a minor shuffle upward as the hand splayed over her wife's slit finally becomes active.

"Mine." Adora possessively affirms as nimble and experienced fingers single out the taut little bundle of nerves making up her hood, circling it in an intentionally unhurried rotation before pressing a lingering kiss to the center of her spine, relishing in the fur that bristles beneath her parted lips.

"Aww, Glimmer, look! They're cuddling!" Bow's dreamy exclamation and heart eyes has both women guiltily snapping out of their mutual trance, both bodies stilling immediately. Adora (thank gods) at least has Catra's back to suffice as cover, burying her blush as well as shame behind her wife. She fights with the urge to yank her hand out of Catra's shorts but she knows any sudden movements now will just put more attention and suspicion on them so she regrettably keeps her hand right where it is, praying to whatever deities that would listen that the bubbles at the surface would be enough of an insurance to not totally give away what they were just doing to each other.

Glimmer lifts one of the cucumber slices off her lids, not failing to take in how much Catra was blushing underneath her fur, the feline's flattened ears alone being a condemning reaction as Glimmer's expression immediately shifts from bewilderment to mild disgust then right on over to barely subdued seething when she finally pieces the situation together. Adora doesn't need to have a visual to know they were potentially dealing with a ticking time bomb in the form of Bright Moon's queen, but Glimmer ended up surprising them both, pulling a move Adora was certain she'd be owing her for later.

"You know what, I'm actually feeling a little sick right now." Glimmer starts, glaring discreet daggers at the pair to let them know she was singling them out. "Must be something I ate." she continues, the stern expression clearly indicating that it wasn't the food currently making her sick right now.

"Oh, no. Did you want to go see the healer?" Bow asks in concern, as adorably innocent as ever. Adora thinks if she blushes any more severely than she is now, her skin might burst aflame so she simply mumbles a low "I hope you feel better, Glimmer. Let me know if you need anything." against Catra's back, still too ashamed to look at her. What had her even more ashamed was the fact she was secretly giddy about them leaving, knowing she'd finally get to have her wife for herself. But this was about learning to be selfish, right? Sometimes you had to learn how to indulge just for the sake of indulging. And it wasn't like Adora wouldn't do what she needed to make it up to Glimmer at a later date. That's what friends were for, right? Glimmer's scowl actually softens at Adora's earnest answer, puffing out a sigh of resignation.

"I'll be alright, I just think I need to lie down. What do you say we head back for now? It'll give some time for these two to experience the springs themselves. It is Catra's first trip here, after all. Let's give them some time to enjoy it." Glimmer counteroffers as the other slice of cucumber gets peeled off her closed eye, discarding them into the tray before she steps out of the spring, draping a towel over herself. She offers a hand to Bow when he steps out, throwing both stunned expressions a smug look that basically said 'Yeah, you both owe me for this.' before she begins to collect her things.

"Have fun you two lovebirds!" Bow, still completely oblivious to the true nature of this exchange, gives them a wave and a grin before Glimmer shakes her head at them, grabbing onto her husband's bicep before teleporting them both out of the area. Adora's death grip on her wife ceases some as she lifts her head away from Catra's back, worried the mood might have been killed up until the point Catra violently twists around in her lap so she's facing her, slamming her lips with her own before Adora can get a word in edgewise.

Okay, definitely a good sign. Adora thinks to herself just as a tongue crudely licks into her mouth, languidly tangling with her own as a new spark of confidence illuminates within her. Adora's hands return to her wife in an instant, skating her fingers down her ribs before two battle-ridden hands take custody of the feline's hips, urging her to grind down on her hardening cock.

"Wanna know what I want?" Adora starts assertively, breaking off the kiss to nip a road of kisses down the hybrid's jawline. Catra laughs out a gasp at the sudden change in demeanor, happily offering more of her neck up to her.

"Mm, and what would that be, Adora?" Catra ponders with a delighted purr, gently kneading her shoulders in appreciation as a fang absently worries her lip. Encouraged, Adora finally traverses the unknown, tapping into all the self-indulgent needs she's made a life out of denying.

"I want you back in our cabin in the next two minutes, otherwise I'm going to fuck you right here in the springs, and frankly, I don't care who sees." Adora sterns up her voice in an authoritative fashion, letting a hand fall from her hips to grab the feline's ass, giving it a pinching squeeze. "That's an order, cadet."

Catra fails to stifle the shiver that forward statement invokes, looking like she was contemplating the idea of actually seeing if Adora would follow up on such a scandalous threat. She must have deemed the idea of getting away from all the unfavorable bodies of water the more tempting choice in the end since she soon raises herself off of the blonde's lap, her slackened grip giving Adora's cock a teasing tug on her way out. Grinning moronically, Adora watches her wife saunter off towards their cabin with an excited twitch of her tail, the princess tucking herself back into her swim shorts before following like an all too willing victim.

***

"Well, you got me back to the cabin. What now, hotshot?" Catra drawls, carelessly plopping into a seated position on the edge of the mattress. Adora doesn't even try to hide how hard she is right now, a knowing hum rumbling in her throat as she tosses the towel to the side before strutting over to her wife. Catra ends up being head level with her midriff, the feline's breath halting in a hitch when Adora guides her head forward, causing Catra's parted lips to collide with her navel.

"I want the bratty mouth of yours wrapped around my cock, kitten." Adora answers with crazed sincerity, too deluded with arousal to even register the depravity of her request. Catra's quiet and muttered "Fuck." suggests she's just as eager to fill the blonde's request, leaving opened-mouth kisses in the wet tent in her swim shorts as the feline coyly noses her erection before catching one of the drawstrings between her fangs, undoing the knot with a gentle tug.

"Mm. Good girl." Adora sighs out approvingly when Catra finally frees her cock of all obstructions, the firm bar of flesh standing at a vertical incline as it thumps proudly against her navel. Catra's eyes flick upward, catching her gaze as she parts her lips to stick out the full length of her tongue, dragging it up the underside of her cock, that rough field of barbs pulling her skin taut. Holding back a grunt, Adora grabs the base of her erection, smearing her precum along those partially parted lips before she lets the head rest right between the gap of them both.

When Catra shows no indications of slacking her jaw to allow her full access to her mouth, Adora's eyes darken further, the defiant glint in the hybrid's eyes suggesting she wasn't about to roll over and be compliant without a bit of coaxing first. "Open up, kitten."

"Make me, princess." Catra counters, urging her to make a move. Adora chuckles darkly, cupping the square of the magicat's jaw, thumbing the one corner of her lips that wasn't trying to refuse entry. The gesture was remarkably innocent compared to the deeds she had in store for her bratty cat of a wife. Normally Adora wouldn't have dreamed of doing something so abrasive, but as she was slowly beginning to decipher, that's the exact kind of mindset Catra's been trying to ease her into all along. Her wife didn't always need cuddles and slow-burning kisses paced throughout the night. Sometimes she needed someone with enough fire to properly put her in her place, and that's exactly what Adora planned to do.

"Don't say I didn't warn you." Adora grits out before her hips thrust forward, forcing Catra's lips to part around her cock as it demands entry into her mouth. The muffled moan against her member is just the icing on the cake, as pleasing physically as it was audibly. Catra finally slackens her jaw when Adora fists a good handful of her mane, guiding more of her length into that tempting vice of delicious warmth. Adora's head tips back when she feels a tongue curling around her length, providing just the perfect dose of stimulation as the head of her cock greets the spongy flesh at the back of the feline's throat, sinking deeper into her mouth than she's ever dared to venture before.

"Gods, your mouth is incredible. You've been holding out on me, haven't you?" Adora breathes out through her elated grin, swearing beneath her breath when Catra's hands seated themselves on her ass, unretracted claws piercing both the fabric of her swim shorts as well as the first few layers of skin. It wasn't enough to draw any blood, but it did pluck one hell of a surprised groan out of the blonde, the wince on her face swiftly melting away for pleasure. Panic set in when Adora assumed the claws were a protest for Adora to go easier on her, about to withdraw from her throat when a displeased growl sounds out of the feline's occupied lips, claws actually drawing blood this time as she fortified her hold on Adora's ass, taking all 8 inches of her with impressive ease.

Adora's eyes blink open when she feels the brush of Catra's nose greeting the firm plane of her pelvis, signaling the hybrid had successfully holstered the entirety of her dick snugly down her throat. The view she's struck with when she finally glances down is as heartstopping as the sensation, the blonde's jaw falling slack as she pushes out another weak sound of approval at the fresh trails of spit spilling from the corners of the feline's lips, coating the fur at her throat. Locking eyes with one another, Catra begins obediently bobbing her head around the cock splitting her lips, a throaty purr blooming in her larynx.

Now Adora loves everything about that purr, always cherishing the rare moments Catra felt unguarded enough to let it loose. But right now? Adora was appreciating that purr for an entirely different reason, the consistent vibrations against her cock just adding to the cocktail of stimuli the princess was experiencing. Adora feels her last ounce of restraint implode on itself, her grunt bordering on animalistic as she splays her grip along the back of the feline's skull, crushing her head against her pelvis before her hips roughly cant forward, her cock spearing her throat to the hilt. Adora doesn't let up the hold even when a surprised cough gets buried around her length, keeping the hybrid's head secure around her thick cock for a good ten seconds before Adora finally relents, easing her cock out of her mouth to allow her a moment to breathe.

"More like you've been holding out on me. Where the fuck did that come from?" Catra asks through her laughter, taking a few labored breaths to refill her airless lungs. Adora's returning grin is sheepish, using the downtime to let her trunks drop to the floor, suavely stepping out of them before she peels off her top, chucking it into irrelevancy.

"That's what you get for poking the bear, babe. Now be a good little Kitten and finish what you started." Adora advises her, bending down to grab a hold of her chin to tug her upward for a hungry kiss, famished lips taking a bite out of each other before Adora's hauling the feline up to her feet, determined hands already working on ridding the magicat of all obstructions, hastily yanking off her shorts and top as both discarded bundles of fabric join the accumulating pile on the floor.

Adora's confidence flourishes with every ravenous flutter of lips, the roles now reversed. While Adora would normally let Catra lead and leave Adora struggling to follow behind her, it was now Catra who was having difficulties keeping up with the hurried pace Adora's lips were setting, An insistent tongue glided against the magicat's pointed incisors, mapping her fangs with her tongue before she singled out Catra's tongue, sucking it further into her mouth.

"Bed." Adora breaks away from her lips to order, a thin thread of spit connecting their breathless lips as a single entity. Catra still appears dazed, pupils wide and bleary. Adora's never seen her look so utterly gone, her cock twitching at the favorable sight as she burns it into her memory.

"How do you want me?" Catra asks, her timid demeanor showcasing just how much Adora's worn her down, not a single trace of defiance left in her wife. Adora's grin reshapes into a smirk, rewarding her compliant kitten with an extra press of lips for good measure.

"Surprise me." Adora returns, stepping back to watch her before her hand returns to her cock, shamelessly pumping it as she waits. Catra stares at the display for a bit longer than necessary, tearing her gaze away when Adora smugly cocks a brow at her. Twisting away from the blonde, Catra struts over to the bed, crawling on all fours as her tail sways along with her hips, swishing coyly as she keeps her rear hiked up high. Catra's purr breaks off for a needy whine when Adora doesn't immediately follow, the princess just continuing to leisurely stroke her dick while watching her mate presenting for her.

"Adoraaaaa." Catra complains, getting more close to authentic begging than Adora's ever witnessed before. The need buried in that tone threatened to tug at her heartstrings, but Adora steeled her resolve, wanting to ride out this power play just a little bit longer.

The blonde quizzically cocks her head to the side, throwing her a smirk before serving her the same question she's been pestering the blonde with for longer than she cares to remember. "What do you want, Catra?"

"I want you to fuck me into this mattress until you break me and the bed. Think you can handle that, princess?" Catra purrs out her request, shifting her weight onto her right palm as her left skims down her stomach, arriving at her apex. Adora's eyes darken, crazed and wanting as Catra toys with her clit, that perfect ass still on full display as the blonde finally takes in just how much of a mess she's making, slick actively spilling from her furred lips.

"Maybe if you threw a please in there somewhere." Adora teases but complies regardless, climbing up onto the bed as she positions herself behind Catra's raised ass, unable to help herself from diving downward for a taste. Lifting her tail, Adora starts right at her rim, circling the clenched opening with a firmed tongue as she gradually applies pressure, easily earning a high-pitched whimper as the hybrid pushed her hips backward, urging her tongue into her ass.

"K-Keep doing that and I'll give you every fucking please in the world and then some." Catra mindlessly croaks out, the motions at her clit picking up a feverish pace as her tail coils around the blonde's neck, trying to drag her in deeper. Adora bats Catra's hand away, taking over the task of keeping her clit stimulated, humming delightedly when Catra falls forward onto her forearms, burying a quiet whine against them. Thumbing her clit in calculated circles, Adora's tongue finally breaches that second opening just barely, devotedly fucking her with her tongue. By Catra's repeated wails and tightening of her tail, Adora knew it wouldn't be long now.

"Be a good girl and cum for me, kitten. I need that pussy nice and ready to take me." Adora coos against the back of her ass before putting her tongue right back to work, the hand not tending her clit slipping just above the base of her tail. She grabs a fistful of fur, threading it between her fingers before giving it a harsh tug.

"Oh, fuck!" Catra cries out, the extra effort at her tail dragging her orgasm right out from under her. When the dam finally bursts, Adora's tongue leaves her ass, dragging downward to catch every bit of slick flowing out of her wife's petaled lips, velvet walls clenching around empty air as Catra's hips lose their rhythm, beginning to stutter and twitch aimlessly as Adora greedily devours everything she has to offer her, her chin and neck an absolute mess by the time she's finished with her.

Sporting a dopey grin, Adora crudely licks her lips. "Yummy."

"How can you fuck that good and still be this much of a dork?" Catra snorts out the question, rolling her eyes with a concealed smile at the offended pout Adora forms in response.

"Is that your idea of a thank you? Because I'm not feeling very thanked right now." Adora tuts, grimacing down at her very neglected hard-on when she's reminded of her own lack of release. Having Catra cum against her tongue like that has her more riled up than ever, her body practically buzzing with charged energy. Any more of this and her volatile emotions were sure to summon She-Ra on them. (Now there's an idea.) Catra notices just what she's frowning at, her grin turning ten different levels of wicked.

"Come over here and I'll show you just where you can stick that thank you of yours." Catra offers, her words like liquid honey, thick and sweet with arousal. Adora peers up at her, swallowing down a strangled noise when she took in just how ready Catra was for her, furred and slickened lips blooming invitingly to reveal the pinker flesh of her inner entrance. Adora licks her lips, almost tempted to nose dive in for a round of seconds but she decides against it in favor of giving Catra what she truly needs from her. What they both need.

"Gods, kitten. You're perfection." Adora marvels in a whisper, lining up against her before her hands settle against her hips. She bites back a laugh at the tail that immediately curls around her neck, providing her with the world's fluffiest scarf.

Catra gasps at the feel of her weightful length gliding against her outer lips, the head of Adora's cock repeatedly hitting her hood at an otherworldly angle. "S-Sap.."

"You love it." Adora confidently claims, pressing one of her palms into the mattress to prop herself up into a hover, granting kisses all along the back of her shoulder, continuing to rock her cock against the wet lips nestled around it, but making no efforts to penetrate her. Catra swore in conflict, knowing exactly the words the blonde was waiting for.

"Say it," she whispers before giving a gentle nip to her ear, causing it to shift involuntarily as Adora's nose gets tickled by tufts of fluff. Catra's eyes screw closed, hanging her head down before deciding to toss away the remainder of her shame.

"P-Please.." Catra pleads in a whisper, looking like the request had physically wounded her. The true submission has a thrill jolting down Adora's spine, pulling her hips far back enough to line up her cock with her entrance. But rather than patiently easing herself in like she's done in the past, this entry was demanding as it was intrusive, spearing the feline in one go, giving her absolutely no time to accustom to the addition before the entirety of her length was sheathed inside the hybrid.

"F-FUCK!" Catra's approving scream is all the incentive Adora needs to finally let go of that sense of control she's been clinging to, surrendering fully to the heat of the moment. Had she had claws like Catra's, she surely would have drawn blood with how hard she grabbed onto her hips, fingers anchoring firmly enough to bruise. Catra whimpers disapprovingly when Adora eases her cock out until just the head was inside her.

"Nonono Adora, please! N-Need you in..Y-Yes!" Catra falls forward by the force of the returning thrust Adora rewards her with, furred lips fully split around her cock as the blonde nearly impales her, fucking her right into the mattress.

"Gods, I wish you could see yourself, kitten. That pretty little pussy propped up in the air, wet and hungry for my cock. You feel amazing." Adora pants appraisingly, her hairline covered in a thin sheen of sweat as she plunges deeper into that vice of clutching heat, making sure no inch of her was left unattended to.

"A-Adora.. I'm so close.." Catra warns her, but unbeknownst to Catra, Adora already knew her wife's rising predicament, feeling for herself just how true that statement was. The velvety walls gloving her cock were already beginning to tighten, tugging her in deeper with every return trip of hips.

"Do you even deserve to cum? Maybe I should pull out and leave you edged and desperate like you did with me. Is that what you want, kitten?" Adora coos into her ear, grinning triumphantly when Catra immediately panics, nearly suffocating her with how tightly her tail coils around her throat.

"Nonofuck! Pleaseletmecum.. Adora, please!" Catra begs her, now focusing her efforts on getting the blonde to cum as well. Adora wheezes out a choked moan at the pressure she feels against her cock, determined walls milking her with all their might.

Letting out a shaky laugh, Adora picks up the tempo of her thrusts, looping an arm around her wife to single out the start of her clit, rubbing the taut hill of flesh in tight and rapid circles. "You're lucky I'm not a brat like you. Go ahead and cum, kitten. But I want you to do it with my name on your lips."

"Ah-A-Adora!"

Those are the last words either of them hears before they both tumble into a mutual undoing, both bodies traversing their climax in the same shared moment. An orchestra of grunts and shrill moans reverberate against the walls, filling every corner of the room with their senseless cries. The aimless flutters rippling along her cock only coax that pressure at her base upward, traveling upward and out before spilling her load into her wife. The jets of cum unloading out of her are so thick and frequent they almost seem uninterrupted, filling her insides straight to the brim.

Adora collapses onto the feline's back right when the last rope is milked out of her, causing Catra to make a disgruntled noise at the added dead weight pressing into her. Adora keeps her length fully parked in her, knowing the feline enjoyed the added fullness when basking in the afterglow. Adora uses the rest of her reserves to lift up her head, nuzzling into the back of her shoulder as an instinctive purr starts up in the feline beneath her.

"How's that for taking what I want?" Adora tiredly boasts against her ear, meeting Catra's derisive snort with a smug giggle or two.

Catra grins.

"Not bad, princess. Not bad at all."

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!