Sleeping Beauty

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/44269357.

Rating:	Explicit
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Category:	F/F
Fandom:	She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)
Relationships:	Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra)
Characters:	Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra)
Additional Tags:	Gift Fic, One Shot, Sleep Groping, Sleep Sex, Fluff and Smut, Explicit Sexual Content, POV Catra (She-Ra), Fanart, Inspired by Fanart, Cunnilingus, Multiple Orgasms, Vaginal Fingering, Tribadism, Porn With Plot, Married Couple, Established Relationship, Post-Canon, Companionable Snark, Bickering, Magicat Catra (She-Ra), Catra is Bad at Feelings (She-Ra), Femslash, Top Catra (She-Ra), Bottom Adora (She-Ra), Bathing/Washing, Morning Sex, Scent Marking, Praise Kink, Naked Cuddling, sleep kink, Sleeping orgasm, Catra tops but these bitches are still switches your honor, Adora sleeps like the dead
Language:	English
Series:	Part 12 of Catradora Smutshots
Stats:	Published: 2023-01-14 Words: 7,143 Chapters: 1/1

Sleeping Beauty

by vagician

Summary

Catra finds out about the fantasy Adora's been dreaming up for quite a while now and decides to make it a reality.

Or: Catra gets the consent to have her way with her wife while she's still asleep.

Gift fic inspired by some spicy fanart from Batatadeuces. Yes, the fanart is embedded you pervs. 😂

Notes

See the end of the work for notes

"C-Catra .."

Catra's ear flicks in response to her name being called, unwinding her limbs from out of the ball her slumbering body's coiled itself into. She's fairly certain she didn't mean to fall asleep curled up at the foot of their bed like back in their cadet days, but evidently old habits die hard around here. Blinking any leftover remnants of sleep from her eyes, she lifts her head away from the mattress with a sluggish yawn and stretch, her felid eyes easily adapting to the low light level of their bedroom before she eventually zeros in on the source of the sudden disturbance.

"Adora?" she questions lowly, noting that her wife was turned over on her side almost in a fetal position, hips suspiciously rocking beneath the comforter, the mattress making a barely audible and repetitive squeak that only her sensitive feline ears can pick up on.

"Catra, yes," Adora grunts out after a moment, this time the name sounding more moaned than simply spoken. Catra's wide awake now, a smug smirk playing on her lips when she realizes that not only is her wife currently in the midst of a dirty dream, but Catra just so happens to be the central focus of it.

Not that she would ever think Adora would dream about anyone else, it was just nice to feel this wanted even after so many priceless years together. The passion housed between them was still there with full force, it just simmered down from an unquenchable ache to a comfortable normal for them. Adora's breathing patterns mimicked someone deep in the depths of REM sleep, but the pungent scent of arousal wafting off of the blonde and into her nose was as blind sighting as it was unmistakable. Catra quietly relocates from the foot of their bed, getting cozy beneath the covers.

"Gods, you're so fucking good at that.." Adora mumbles incoherently, and now that Catra's tactfully positioned herself beside her sleeping spouse, she sees the hand Adora's wedged into her sleep shorts, the blonde's hips rocking aimlessly against it.

So good at what, Adora? she amusedly wonders to herself, making a mental note to have that query of hers answered sooner or later. Slotting into place behind her, Catra regrettably keeps her hands from venturing towards the places she'd very much like to put them, settling with setting a hand on the blonde's hip instead, keeping her close.

As much as she wants to nudge Adora's hand out of the way and take over the rewarding task of pleasuring her, engaging in sex when one partner isn't fully cognizant was an unventured gray area as far as consent goes, and though Adora may be dreaming up things awfully similar to what Catra wishes to do to her now, her wife still was in no position to establish consent.

So Catra simply nuzzles up against Adora's back, a purr blooming in her chest as she surveys the suggestive endeavor over the blonde's shoulder with interest, tail coiling loosely around her wife's bicep just for the sake of being closer without veering too much into intrusive territory. Even in her sleep, Adora's uncoordinated and jerky movements coupled along with her adorably sleepy groans were more than enough to affect the magicat, a fang worrying her bottom lip just from being pressed flush against her wife like this.

Adora's vocalizations prove to be quite the formidable distraction, the feline completely unaware of the absent biscuits she was kneading into her spouse's hip until the light ministrations succeeded in stirring the princess from her sleep, her little grunts tapering off as the room grows eerily quiet. Adora shudders against her when she realizes where her hand has been, inconspicuously sliding it out of her shorts in what could only be a building sense of guilt and shame.

"Good dream, princess?" she asks just as Adora's guiltily wiping her fingers off against the bedding, prompting the princess to freeze like she's been caught red (slick?) handed. Catra doesn't even need to bother opening her eyes to know Adora's blushing with the severity of a category five hurricane, the blonde halfheartedly burrowing her face into the pillow in a poor attempt to hide it.

"Sorry.." mumbles the princess. "I didn't mean to wake you."

Catra's smirk only lengthens, becoming the epitome of smug. "Eh, I'm sure there are worse ways of waking up than having your name moaned out by your insufferably hot wife. I only wish I could have made those dreams of yours a reality, princess."

Adora has the nerve to pout at her. "Why didn't you?"

The look Catra tosses her is pretty much the definition of 'did you really just ask me that?', tempted to give her a little shit for being so unbelievably dense but she decides against it. Adora was still waking up, after all. She probably couldn't be held liable for half the shit coming out of her mouth this early in the morning.

"Because having my way with you while you're sleeping complicates shit when it comes to consent." Catra somehow becomes the voice of reason here, but if Adora's suggestively thoughtful expression is anything to go by, her wife wasn't about to be deterred so easily.

"It doesn't if the person who wants you to have your way with them consents to it in advance." Adora points out, switching sides as she rolls over to face the feline, her face adorably hopeful as she leans in to press a kiss against the square of her jaw.

Catra narrows her eyes at her questioningly, the lips at her neck threatening to steal her attention away. The feline normally wasn't so quick to be agreeable, but her wife may have had a point here. Or it could simply just be her ovaries talking for her. Either way, Catra knows she needs to play down her interest, pretending to remain neutral on the matter. "So, what are you getting at, princess? Are you telling me you want me to take advantage of you when you're in the most helpless state a person can be in?"

That seems to elicit just the reaction she's looking for. Shuddering approvingly at her wording, Adora chews her lip while managing a shaky nod. "T-That's um… kinda what my dream was about, actually.."

Catra's tail graduates from a lazy sway to a notably excited lash, ears swiveling forward at the admission. "And what would that be exactly? Be a good girl and give me some details I can work with, sweetness."

The opportunity to prove herself as good has Adora eagerly stepping up to the plate to clarify, working through her own flustered nerves for the thrill and satisfaction to serve by doing what was asked of her. "It um.. starts with you waking up before me and trying to make me cum in my sleep.. you're always so gentle with it to see how much you can get out of me before I finally wake up.."

"Oh, I think there's a little more to it than just waking up to sex. I think you like the idea of me taking what's mine at all hours of the night, don't you, Adora?" Catra's grin turns downright predatory, the accusation having the exact desired effect she was aiming to get out of her wife.

"I won't lie, that part of it has crossed my mind a few more times than I care to count," Adora admits apologetically, a nervous laugh accompanying the end of her reply. Catra feigns disinterest, unwilling to admit just how on board she was with the proposition as she pretends to seriously think it over. A deliciously twisted idea soon makes itself known in the devilish recesses of her mind.

"Oh, I'll have my way with you, princess. But just to keep you on your toes, I'm not telling you when it'll happen. Every time we go to bed I'm going to have you falling asleep and wondering if tonight will be the night I take what I want from you." she innocently informs her, relishing in the cute and conflicted whine it brings out of her spouse.

Teeth causing her lip to discolor, Adora feverishly nods in affirmation before croaking out "It's a date.."

Catra's gratified purr soon becomes the loudest noise in the room.

A date it was indeed.

****

True to her word, over the next couple of weeks, Catra doesn't give her any indication as to when she'll make her strike, life going on as normal as one could get in a post-war Etheria. She initially didn't intend to wait this long, but with the new renovations taking place over in Thaymor, they haven't really had much time to schedule any non-business-related plans as of yet.

Several new trade routes were being established with the recovering community, and a few of them needed a bit more landscaping, which essentially came in the form as She-Ra kicking down and hauling away the various neighborhood of trees blocking the road off from the rest of the supply routes.

It felt like borderline torture subjecting herself to the tempting sight of her sweat-covered warrior goddess of a wife hauling away improbable amounts of lumber for days on end, and now that they were finally done until the foreseeable future, the magicat figures now is as good a time as any to honor her wife's pending request.

As a matter of fact, on the entire trip back to Bright Moon, (one they took on good ole Swifty since Catra refused to be subjected to the Queen's teleportation-induced motion sickness) all Catra could think about was all of the inventive little ways she could go about waking Adora up. Catra wants to keep the encounter as authentic to the fantasy as possible, and with Adora practically sleep-deprived from functioning on autopilot for so long, she thinks her wife's exhaustion could work out to their benefit.

What fun would it be if Adora woke up on her so early on in the fun? The best way to approach this had to be a night like this one, one where they're finally returning to their insufferably cozy mattress that's sure to lull the fatigued blonde into deep and exhausted slumber the minute her head hits the pillow. It's also the most feasible way to actually try and attempt to get a climax out of her without waking her up.

But unbeknownst to Adora, Catra wasn't going to selfishly 'have her way with her' as she insisted. While the idea itself was tempting, what Catra loved even more was reminding her mate that her needs were just as valid and important as her own. So rather than take, Catra wants to give and has every intention of ensuring Adora will be taken care of.

"Gods, I could sleep all the way until next Tuesday. You sure we can't just skip the bath and go right to cuddling?" Adora questions when they make it to their chambers, dumping her luggage by the door as she hopefully eyes the bed.

Two furred arms suddenly encircle her waist, the feline pressing a gentle kiss to her shoulder blade. "No, we have all weekend to be lazy. We've earned this, damnit. And your muscles will be thanking you for it later."

"I think you just want an excuse to get me naked." Adora smugly quips, strutting past the feline and off towards the washroom, peeling off her clothes along the way. Tail swaying behind her playfully, Catra watches her with a quirked brow, her gaze naturally dropping to the blonde's hips when Adora gets around to shucking off her pants.

"Princess, if I wanted you naked I wouldn't need to rely on excuses to get me there," Catra informs her, tearing her eyes away from her wife's perfectly chiseled hindquarters to start undressing herself.

"You sound so sure of yourself." Adora teases from the bathroom, the sound of running water drowning out most of her reply. Catra's ears pick up on it anyway.

"What can I say? Facts are facts, doll face." counters the magicat, lithe body fully bared as she proudly saunters into the washroom. Adora, to her credit, at least tries to come up with a returning jab, but the minute Catra's unobstructed figure crosses her line of sight, any remark she may have harbored gets seamlessly stolen away from her.

"My eyes are up here, Adora." Catra goads, smirk growing at the additional five solid seconds Adora requires to successfully stop staring at her ass.

"Good thing I'm not looking at your eyes then." Adora returns, the taller woman embracing the feline from behind as they wait for the tub to fill.

Catra snorts, but welcomes the affection anyway as a guilty purr blossoms in her chest. "Well, that much is obvious at least."

"Like you haven't been staring at me working up a sweat our entire stay at Thaymor?" Adora's lips traverse up the center of her nape, grazing over to the tender patch of fuzz at her neck.

"T-That's irrelevant.." Catra falters, losing some of her bravado when the grip at her midsection ascends ever higher, battle-ridden hands drawing upward to fondle the fur at her chest.

"Seems pretty relevant to me, Kitten." Adora reasons from behind, humming in triumph at the low mewl Catra fails to keep contained. Shit. If Adora kept it up with all this Kitten mumbo jumbo then there's no way Catra would be in the headspace to top her later on. She needed a distraction, and quick.

Catra doesn't feel too right about exploiting her spouse's praise kink, but that's exactly what she does. "Be a good girl and get in the tub for me, princess."

Always the one to jump on any opportunity to prove her worth, Adora does so with no questions asked, cautiously testing the temperature of the water with her toe, eventually stepping all the way in when she deems it safe.

"Oh gods, it feels freaking amazing." Adora practically melts against the porcelain of the tub when she lowers her body down, moaning theatrically at the pristine temperature of the water as Catra raises a brow questioningly at the performance.

"Should I get you two a room?" she gestures to the tub she's moaning over for reference, prompting the lounging blonde to peek an eye open, face full of mirth as she unashamedly eyes the magicat.

"No, but you can join me in ours." Adora quips, lax limbs reaching out to make grabby hands at her.

Catra's smirk turns dangerous. "Scooch your booch then, princess."

"Ugh, but that requires moving," Adora complains with a huff, begrudgingly scooting forward enough to allow the feline to slip in behind her, opening her thighs to allow the princess to seat herself between them. Adora blissfully hums when a set of arms engage around her waist, leaning back to rest the back of her head against the magicat's front.

"Better now?" Catra picks up a steady purr, fingers idly teasing her ribs beneath the water's surface.

"Much." the blonde agrees, arms resting along the edges of the tub, basking in the undivided attention. She blindly brings a hand behind her to grant a few scritches to the base of the hybrid's ears, her dreamy smile broadening when the magicat instinctively nuzzles into her hand.

"I love you, dummy." she adjusts her head enough to give a playful nip to her wrist before it returns to the side of the tub.

"I love you more." the blonde challenges, and that just gets a dismissive snort out of the magicat behind her.

"Lies and slander." Catra chirps back, fetching a fresh washcloth off the corner of the tub before her other hand seizes the bottle of vanilla chai body wash, squeezing a generous dollop onto the rag before she lathers the fabric with water. Once it's nice and soaked with suds, she works on gently scrubbing the blonde's arms.

"T-Truths and truther.." Adora sputters back, biting into her lip when Catra reaches her shoulders.

"Hell of a comeback there, princess." the feline teases, rinsing the rag off in the water before she adds a fresh spritz of soap. Adora's too busy soaking up the suds and attention to formulate a retort by this point, the conversation lulling down to a serene silence as they work on getting clean. It's easier said than done, and by the time they're finished, Catra's certain there's more of her fur in the drain than on her body at this rate.

With minimal protest from Adora, Catra eventually steps out, wrapping a towel around herself before she helps Adora out of the tub with an outstretched hand, the blonde sluggishly stepping out. Considering the dilemma of her fur, it takes Catra a little longer than her wife to properly dry her body, which becomes even more embarrassingly obvious when Adora feels the need to assist her with the hard-to-reach places.

Dragging the towel down her back, Adora makes sure to rub the towel with the grain of her fur, rather than against it. It's a small consideration that easily has Catra purring, tail absently coiling around the blonde's forearm without her knowledge. Adora lets out a delighted hum, finishing her ministrations with a delicate kiss to her nape.

"Beautiful." the princess whispers in awe, almost reverent. Catra's extremely grateful Adora can't see her face from her vantage point, since she's a hundred percent certain the fine fur at her face wouldn't be enough of an obstruction to hide her blush. She quickly wards off the flustered look, steeling her face with a masked smirk instead.

"Kiss ass." Catra counters, but there's no animosity to her words before she's soon gesturing to the door with a nod. "C'mon, sweet talker. There's an improbably privileged and comfy mattress with both of our names on it."

"In my defense, it's a very kissable ass." the princess shamelessly remarks when the feline walks ahead, her gaze lowering down south to appraise the very catalyst of this conversation. Catra doesn't even dignify that with a response, leaving her wife and her ridiculousness inside the bathroom to prioritize sifting through their dresser for a pair of small clothes.

Deciding on a simple tank top and boxers, she tucks her clothes under her arm to free up her hands. Closing the first drawer, she migrates to the second, plucking out some underclothes for the blonde ditz behind her before she chucks the garments at her. Apparently, Adora wanted to put her clumsiness on display, failing to catch the launched sleepwear as it hits her dead in the face.

Trying not to snicker too much at the glaring blonde's struggles, Catra throws on her underclothes, tank top being pulled down into place by the time she makes it to the bed. She peels back the covers before making herself cozy, the slow creeping exhaustion from this week's renovation efforts finally catching up with her spent body with a vengeance.

"I wonder where Melog ran off to." Adora comments, joining the feline beneath the blanket. Catra's already struggling to keep her eyes open, a lengthy yawn sighing out of her before the princess brackets an arm around her waist, turning Catra into the little spoon.

"Probably went into the woods to hunt or something. I'm sure they'll turn up soon." Catra guesses nonchalantly, knowing it was a lie. She had their adopted space panther clear the room beforehand to better prepare for the suggestive endeavors she has for Adora a little later from now, though Adora didn't need to be briefed on that minor detail, lest she grows suspicious and gets tipped off to the lewd plans Catra has in store for her.

"Sounds like their loss if you ask me. Now I just get to have you all to myself." the blonde sleepily remarks, working through a sizeable yawn of her own as she pulls the feline's figure flush against her own, face burrowing against the back of her shoulder.

"Less yapping, more napping." the magicat requests with already closed eyes, searching for the arm at her waist to single out the blonde's hand, lacing their fingers together.

"Aye aye, Force Captain." Adora humorously quips at her, and though Catra very much wants to return her tomfoolery with her own dose of snark, the inviting mattress ends up emerging as the true victor, the plush surface successfully seducing her to sleep and lulling her to the hazy depths of dreamland. It doesn't take long for Adora to join her.

****

It's barely dawn outside when the alarm to her tracker pad kicks on, the ringtone deliberately set to a frequency only her feline ears could pick up on. Entrapta modified the pad's features to cater specifically to her needs, the alarm functioning much like a dog whistle, keeping it at a wavelength humans were unable to register.

Catra allows her eyes to adjust to the minimal visibility in their room, slitted pupils dilating in adaption to take in more light. Adora snores peacefully to her right, the blonde shifting onto her back sometime during their slumber. The convenience of her wife's position has a gratified smirk rising up her lips, cautiously peeling the covers off of Adora's resting body to get another indulgent view of her.

It was one thing to secretly ogle her wife throughout the day with fleeting glances when she wasn't looking, but something about this hit differently for her. It was no secret Adora's figure was a work of art, and being able to fully appreciate the view and take it all in without having to worry about getting caught staring was a treat she didn't even know she needed. Adora still had her tank top and sleep shorts on, but that could easily be remedied with a carefully placed claw.

Catra was sure to pick some sleepwear the blonde wouldn't miss specifically for this occasion, knowing they'd be unsalvageable by the time she was through with her. Of course, Catra could have just requested Adora sleep naked, but they usually kept that particular fashion choice for post-sex snuggles and Catra didn't want anything alerting her wife beforehand. Adora couldn't relax to save her life and if she had even a smidgen of suspicion towards Catra's intentions for her, she'd likely never get around to falling into a deep enough sleep for this.

If she can get at least one climax out of Adora before she becomes fully conscious, then she'll consider this morning a success. Keeping her ears alert for any changes to her wife's breathing patterns, Catra unsheathes the claw at her index finger, the sharpened digit slicing through the entirety of her tank top with ease. She nudges the shredded fabric aside, exposing the flawless set of tits that'll likely be the death of her one day.

It was a little odd seeing her nipples this soft, since nine times out of ten whenever Catra was handling them they usually hardened enough to cut through solid diamond. Okay, maybe that's a little of an exaggeration but Catra's insistent that Adora's nipples at full mast could easily key the side of a skiff if she really put the effort into it. But right now those dusky pink peaks were far from standing to attention, and for Catra? Well, that just wouldn't do.

Tail leisurely flicking two and fro behind her, Catra lays on her side, draping a bent knee over Adora's midsection. She didn't need to glance upward to know Adora was still peacefully snoozing away, likely halfway into a dream right about now. But while cuddling without waking up was one thing, being stimulated without waking up was a whole other ballpark. Catra figures now is as good a time as any to put her hopes to the test, scooching down beside her until she's head level with Adora's chest.

The magicat's eyes flit upward, keeping her face within view before she slowly dips down, a coarse tongue coming out to play as she gives her nipple an exploratory swipe. Much to her relief (disappointment?), nothing happens. Well, that's not entirely true. Adora's nipple did stiffen at the contact, but as far as observable reactions went, that's where the show began as well as ended. Catra switches up tactics, going from testing swipes to eventually taking the stiff hill of pinkened flesh in the heat of her mouth, dragging the flat of her tongue against it long and hard.

"-Mmmngh."

Catra pauses her efforts, worried she's woken her but Adora doesn't stir much to her delight. She licks her lips and arches her chest towards her just a fraction of an inch but she doesn't wake from the action, even when it's repeated several times in growing succession until Catra's tongue graduates from a slow drag to a firmed and insistent lash. The remaining breast that currently wasn't parked in her mouth gets seized by a hand just as devoted, tweaking the rosy little bud with her thumb and forefinger until it rises just as proud as the one her mouth is working on.

Catra becomes so invested in servicing her chest that she nearly misses the sweet and subtle scent in the air that seems to be growing in pungency. Adora's mind might not have been awake but her body was a different case, the spike of her arousal all but bombarding the feline's senses as Adora's mumbled vocalizations grow in frequency. Catra knows she's pushing her luck by lingering at her chest for this long, but she couldn't be bothered to care.

It was such an adrenaline rush, every lash of her tongue potentially spurring the blonde as she became closer to stirring. Not that Catra would be disappointed if she did wake up, she just enjoyed turning this into a game and seeing just how much she can get away with while her wife remains blissfully unaware of what was happening to her in her sleep.

When Catra feels she's had her fill of her chest, she releases her nipple with a firm and wet 'pop', peering down to admire the payoff of her efforts with a self-satisfied grin. When Adora shows no signs of stirring, Catra tests the waters even more, sliding down until she's straddling the blonde's lower legs, careful to keep her weight off of her. She assesses the view in front of her, Adora's sleep shorts now definitely wet enough for her to take notice.

Her claws cautiously make quick work out of those as well, slicing the fabric from both sides before carefully maneuvering the ruined garment off of her. The view her efforts provided her made her patience all the more worth it, with no more pesky barriers of clothing to get in the way of enjoying her meal.

Catra knows the position Adora shifts into isn't a conscious decision, but the angle almost seems like the princess was spreading her legs in invitation. She lifts off of her enough to situate herself between her thighs, the heady scent enough to lure her in close for a greedy inhale, her lips and nose ghosting against the little wisp of blonde curls resting there.

Pursed lips press a feather-like kiss to the start of her clit, the decibel of Catra's purr becoming its own liability as it grows in intensity from simply being in her most single favorite place in all of Etheria.

Smack dab right between the center of Adora's legs.

But simply smelling the immaculate scent her wife's arousal was giving off could only do so much to satiate the hunger brewing just below her gut, and it wasn't long before she needed to sample the delicacy for herself. A large part of her truly expected Adora to wake up by this point, but evidently, her wife could sleep through armageddon itself as Catra would soon come to find out.

When Catra dips back down to close the remaining distance, two immediate events transpire at the point of contact. The first is Adora's hips raising off the mattress with enough force to have Catra getting clumsily knocked in the face with her pelvis. And two being the follow-up groan Catra accidentally lets escape from her throat as a startled (yet very approving) reaction to the first event.

And by the grace of the gods themselves, Adora doesn't wake for either of them.

Before Adora's unrestrained hips could leave Catra with a potential head injury, she uses the hand that wasn't presently toying with herself inside her boxers to establish a hold on one of Adora's hips, putting some of her weight behind it as an extra insurance to keep her still. Catra's not even sure when she started touching herself, but if she isn't careful she might end up getting there far before she gets Adora to traverse that same peak.

With the problem of her wife's runaway hips finally solved, Catra tries a second time, slickened lips splitting around a curled tongue as she licks a firm and deep swipe that leaves no inch of her unsampled. Her hips predictably flinch forward at the stimulation but Catra's prepared for it this time, putting more of her weight into the hold while not allowing her mouth to leave her once.

Adora gets fairly vocal after that, but her mumbled words remain indecipherable, a few unintelligible expletives getting scattered along there somewhere. The only remaining indicators that Adora wasn't awake were her breathing and heart rate remaining mostly unaltered despite the flurry of activity taking place below the waist.

Catra's lips form a tight seal at the base of her clit, sucking it into her mouth with just the barest hint of fang. Adora furrows her brows, a mumbled whine exiting her closed lips. She has one arm thrown over the top of her head, fingers twitching at empty air while the other hand lays at her side, absently fisting the bedsheets.

She appeared almost ethereal lying there so openly for the magicat, her pale complexion flushed over with a rosy glow. Catra doesn't even need to experiment with angles, each rotation of her tongue as precise as it was calculated. If Adora's body was an obtainable profession, Catra had damn well earned her doctorate by now, mastering her muscle memory to stick with the motions that would wind her wife up the most.

It gets to the point where just one hold on her hip isn't cutting it anymore, the blonde squirming and jerking so much that Catra's forced to abandon her own pleasure in favor of keeping Adora still. Restricting her movement just has the slumbering blonde growing more frantic with her vocalizations, mindlessly rutting against her tongue as much as Catra's pin on her would allow.

The feline becomes just as invested, her muffled moans just as desperate as she goes to prioritizing Adora's pleasure at the plausible expense of waking her up. Trusting that she was more than ready to take her, Catra adds a set of fingers to the mix, claiming her with ease as she slides in to the second knuckle with no resistance at all.

Reluctantly parting ways with the pot of molten honey she'd been enjoying, Catra pulls back to sit on her knees, keeping her coiled digits buried and thoroughly filling her up. The other grip stilling Adora's hips soon exits as well, giving her back full mobility as Catra simply sits back and relishes in the sight of her wife unknowingly fucking herself on her fingers, the reaction more instinctual than it was sentient.

Even if Adora hadn't been insistently bucking her hips like she was auditioning for a rodeo, Catra would still be able to tell she was dangerously close just by the way her inner walls clenched around her fingers like a wet vice of heat, reluctant to let them leave her at all. While it was cute for her sleeping wife to worry, Catra had no plans of leaving her empty anytime soon, already contemplating all of the other creative ways she'll fill her when Adora inevitably does stir from her sleep.

All it takes to shatter Adora's resolve is one brief flick of her tail, the tip greeting her clit at an ideal angle, apparently. The heels of her feet carve into the mattress from how high her hips launch themselves, lifting clear off the bed with a broken and strangled version of Catra's name tearing its way out of her mouth.

The fruits of her release come pouring out of her petaled lips, spilling against her fingers and straight down to her knuckles as it collects onto the bedding in a near puddle. Catra works her down from it, and she's left completely awestruck when even after that dramatic performance, Adora still is hardly cognizant of the world around her, the blonde just barely starting to rouse from her slumber.

"Mmmnfh. C-Catra?" she questions hoarsely, not even making the effort to open her eyes as she drifts on the precipice between consciousness and slumber. Smirking triumphantly, Catra doesn't answer at first, gently bending the blonde's legs at the knees, folding both limbs until both calves are pressed flush against the back of her thighs before prying them apart to put that dripping treasure trove on even more of a display.

"Good morning, sunshine. You've made quite the mess out of our bed." Catra coos at her proudly, keeping her voice low and sultry. Adora attempts to sit up, making halfhearted grabby hands at her but Catra simply presses a palm flat against her chest, urging her back down. "Not so fast, princess. I'm not done with you yet."

Adora doesn't necessarily protest, more so making a confused, questioning mumble that swiftly escalates in pitch when Catra parks a hand at her pelvis, splaying her thumb against her clit to pull it back, exposing her in the process. Her eyes open long enough to glimpse down at the feline confusedly before they screw back shut with a guttural groan when Catra's free hand gets her share of her as well, swiping her index finger up her slickened folds before bringing it to her lips for a greedy taste.

Another pleasant surprise Catra gets hit with this morning was how unfiltered Adora's desires were in this hazy almost catatonic state she was in, the unspoken wants guilt would typically have her repressing pouring out into the open when Catra's thumb picks up a steady rhythm against the bud of her clit. "Nggh.. M-Mor-ahhng."

"What was that, princess? Be the good girl I know you can be and use your words for me." Catra guides her struggling wife, the advice coming out in a loving tease.

Adora's answer is more of a broken whine than an actual response, one of her hands flying away from the mattress to aimlessly grasp at the pillow behind her head, a few stray strands of disheveled fringe sticking to the light sheen of sweat coating her forehead. "P-Please.." she pleads, brows cinched in her desperation.

Unable to deny her wife any longer, Catra relents, having some pity for her. "You want more?" she asks, evidently hitting the nail on the head by the frantic nod Adora serves her in return, following it up with another prolonged whine as the blonde grows impatient.

"Shh, I've got you, princess. Now just lie back and let me love on you." Catra soothes her, dipping down to place an open-mouthed kiss right below her navel, nosing into the happy trail of peach fuzz there as she discreetly scent marks the area while she's at it. Adora shudders pleasantly at the affection, using the opportunity to draw her hands downwards and rub at the base of the feline's ears, easily earning a purr.

"Love you.." the blonde sleepily murmurs, teeth finding her lower lip right when Catra's lingering kisses start to trail even lower, skating against the dip of her hip bone. Her steady purr breaks momentarily for a chuckle, her mouth notably watering the more she draws near to her apex.

"I can tell you how much I love you, but I'd much rather show you." quips the magicat, investing herself in her meal for the second time this morning. Catra licks into her with purpose, the leftover aftermath from Adora's previous release making the gliding friction against her tongue absolutely sinful, the field of fine barbs combing her curls upwards with each indulgent flick.

Adora becomes near delirious under the unyielding attention, her sleepy mumbling graduating to mindless babbling, moaning her approval in a hissed soup of broken words and sputtered syllables. Each tactful motion of her tongue winds the princess ever higher, abandoning the scritches she's giving to her ears to tightly fist her fingers through the plush tufts of her mane. The welcoming pressure put behind her desperate tugging pulls a groan right out of the feline's chest, absently sliding a hand inside her boxers to handle some of her own surfacing needs.

As far gone as Adora currently is, the muffled whine Catra buries against her center doesn't slip past her notice. "Let me touch you too, Kitten.. Please?" it's more of a subtle beg than an actual question, and upon hearing that particular pet name dropped, Catra doesn't have it in her to deny her wife any longer.

With one last tentative lick for good measure, Catra stops resisting the insistent hands toiling to drag her back up north, only pausing her journey long enough to rid herself of her last remainder of clothing, suavely shimmying out of her boxers as she kicks them away into irrelevancy. Adora's hum is victorious when they're eventually head level with one another again, tired limbs hitching around the hybrid's shoulders to impatiently eliminate what little distance remains between them, grinning lips greeting her own in the warmest (and fairly heated) of welcomes.

Not quite hovering, Catra sprawls out on top of her, pink and stiffened tips scuffing against her own tan peaks at a heavenly angle, the added stimuli prompting them both to exchange an approving vocalization into the profound trade of lips. Catra's not too certain when she landed up on Adora's unfairly distracting thigh, but the payoff of being offered the muscled limb as a tool for her pleasure definitely wasn't something you'd find her complaining about.

Adora generously had it angled at a delicious incline, permitting the feline to conveniently rut against it in a maddening frenzy, every return trip forward having her own knee meet up against the blonde's center in a much similar fashion, causing an abundant coat of slick to paint against the furred limb.

When Adora's idle hips gradually rise off the mattress to urgently mirror the frantic dance of hips commencing between them, it all becomes an uncoordinated and indecipherable blur from there. The continuous exertion has every breathless inhale spiking as severely as their matched heart rates, the two of them mutually scaling that unavoidable peak so alarmingly fast that any minuscule amount of sentience remaining within them evaporates on the spot.

Acts as typically mundane as kissing prove to be beyond their capability now, the manic pursuit for pleasure ending their oral exchange prematurely when all they could manage was shakily panting against the other's gaping lips, hardly registering the tickle of their exchanged breaths as they share the same air between them.

"C-Catra, I'm-.."

"I know, princess. I'm right behind you." the magicat heatedly breathes, her insides reduced to a pressure cooker as every leftover tendril of restraint harbored between them implodes into its breaking point, snapping altogether. The hand that moves to rub at the base of her tail has Catra surrendering first, parted lips pulled back in a trill that bleeds over into an unhinged yowl that compels Adora to emit a strangled cry that ends in her name.

The passage of time always grows a tad wonky whenever their bodies climb down from the heights they've brought each other, and this time was no different. The euphoric endorphins zipping up her spine eventually taper off enough for the magicat to barely perceive the world around her again, enough to know she somehow managed to conveniently land her face right between the valley of Adora's tits to repurpose them as her pillow.

The blonde's happy little hum suggests that she doesn't mind being demoted to furniture in the slightest, devoted fingers lazily combing through the fur at the small of her back. Catra keeps her eyes shut, unwilling to part so soon from the home she's made for herself in Adora's arms while the welcome affection has her purr blooming in intensity.

Now that Adora's fully alert and aware, she amusedly catches on to the not-so-subtle scent marks Catra was sneaking in during her extended vacation in her chest region, the feline too floaty and blissed out to bother putting in the effort to make it not so blatantly obvious. She matches the blonde's hummed giggle with a disgruntled growl.

"I can't tell whether you're motorboating me or scenting me." remarks the blonde, the comment coming off unbearably smug.

"Who says it can't be both?" Catra challenges with a visible hint of defiance to her tone, burrowing impossibly further into her boobs just to solidify her stance on the matter.

"I guess those two do kinda coincide with each other." the sheepish princess admits, her mirthful grin as broad as it is complacent.

"You're the one shoving tits in my face so you have no one but yourself to blame for that one." the hybrid defends in a snort, giving the underside of her breast a brief nip in retaliation. "Your record so far is one, by the way."

The grin falls away from the blonde's face, confusion substituting in its place. "Huh?"

Catra finally lifts her head away from her fleshy pillow, seating her chin on the center of Adora's chest to glance up at her. "You came a little earlier too before you woke up."

Adora widens her eyes, blushing furiously at the reveal as the halfhearted pets she was rewarding her back with soon roll to a freezing stop. "I-I did?"

The feline's smirk returns in its full-fledged glory, lazily sweeping her tail-tip up the length of her calf as the blonde shivers at the action. "Oh, yeah. Big time, princess. You nearly knocked out one of my fangs with how hard your hips were going at it."

Digesting that, Adora processes while idly chewing her lip, and it doesn't take a rocket scientist to know the information is steadily working her up all over again. Catra arches a brow at the suggestive look she receives, her two-toned gaze dropping down to the enticing view of her lips. Adora smirks.

"So, third time's a charm?"

End Notes

Seriously, though. Batatadeuces is the real MVP here. Her talent never ceases to amaze me. 💚😊

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!