After All These Years

by AdorasPersonalTherapist

Summary

After three years of being away on a business trip, Adora finally moved back to Etheria and reunites with her friends at a New year's party. Even after all these years, Adora still can't help the feeling that she gets in her stomach while around a certain feline friend.

CW There's smut in the third chapter.

Notes

I've been writing this story for over a year already and it's still not done. I'll finish it eventually so atleast enjoy this first chapter while i write the second and the third chapters.

The Meeting

"Wildcat! Are you ready soon? The party is starting in a little and we need to leave!" Scorpia said knocking on Catra's bedroom door. Catra pulled her suit jacket on, smiled at herself through the mirror in her room and walked to the door opening it to her friend. Scorpia started to say something but then she fell silent, just looking at Catra.

Scorpia's stare lingered on Catra's outfit long enough to make Catra uncomfortable. Catra knew that Scorpia used to have a crush on her, since the girl in front of her had told that after she and Perfuma had started dating.

It was a thing both of them regularly made jokes about but sometimes the way Scorpia's stare lingered on Catra's body or the things she said without thinking, made things weird or uncomfortable between them.

"Uh, yeah I'm ready." Catra said and looked behind Scorpia, trying to spot Scorpia's girlfriend.

"Perfuma's still putting her makeup on in the bathroom." Scorpia said finally comin out of her trance and made her way to Catra's hallway.

"Ok. Thanks for giving me a ride by the way." Catra said and followed behind Scorpia to her hallway and the two of them put their shoes on.

"Of course we'll give you a ride! That's what friends are for." Perfuma said walking out of the bathroom, making her way to stand next to Scorpia looking at Catra.

"Are we ready to go?" Perfuma asked turning to face Scorpia and pulling on her winter jacket.

"Yeah, let's go." Scorpia said, walking out of the apartment to her car that stood in front of Catra's house.

"So, how long are you two planning on staying at that party. I'm not that excited to stay there that long, but I also don't want to hurry you to leave." Catra said and sat on the backseat of Scorpia's car, while the two other girls sat at the front.

"We're not sure yet. Let's see how we feel later." Scorpia said and started the car, starting to drive toward the rented country house, this New year's party was hosted in.

"I can't wait to see all our friends again! I know that we just saw them at Christmas, but I already miss them all so dearly." Perfuma said clasping her hands together in pure excitement. Scorpia's lips curved into a fond smile, and she took hold of her girlfriend's hand squeezing it slightly.

Perfuma turned her head to look at Scorpia and smiled slightly. Catra usually hated to see her friends being all lovey dovey and she'd usually fake puke, but there was something different about seeing Scorpia be genuinely loved by someone like Perfuma.

Knowing that someone could care about Scorpia the way Catra couldn't, made Catra feel happy. Not that she'd ever tell anyone that.

"We're here!" Perfuma said delighted and opened her car door, jumping out once the car was parked. Catra pushed her door open and stepped out, starting to walk toward the big doors that would lead her into the house.

"I wonder if everyone's already here?" Scorpia said and walked up to Catra, who was waiting for the pair at the doors.

As soon as Catra opened the door, she was hit in the face with a bunch of smells of different foods and people.

"Catra, Scorpia and Perfuma! You're finally here!" Bow said putting his hand around Catra's shoulders, leaning on her smiling brightly.

"Welcome! We've been waiting for you three." Bow said and led the three to their friend group, or at least a part of it.

"Where's your lady friend?" Catra said and the smile on Bow's face spread wider.

"She'll be here in a little bit. We have this surprise for you all that is obviously taking a little longer than planned." Bow said looking at his watch that was on his right wrist.

"But welcome! I'm so happy to see you all again." Bow finished, taking another sip of his drink looking around a little bit.

Catra looked at the group she was standing with. Mermista, Sea Hawk, Scorpia, Perfuma, Bow and Shine were all standing there, talking with each other excitedly. The only people missing from their huge friend group were Entrapta, her fiancé Hordak and Bow's girlfriend Glimmer.

Entrapta and Hordak were probably tinkering with the tech that this huge mansion had, and Glimmer was preparing the surprise Bow talked about. Adora was missing too but Catra wasn't expecting to see her. Adora left three years ago to go on a work trip to work for this fencing team on Eternia and hadn't really talked to anyone because she's been really busy with her job.

Catra hadn't heard from the girl in over 6 moths, last time being on Catra's birthday when Adora sent her a message to wish the magicat a happy birthday. Nonetheless Catra missed her a lot. Adora was Catra's teenage crush that weakened over the years after she left.

Catra wasn't sure if her crush on the fencer was fully over, but it surely wasn't as strong as it used to be. Catra still really missed her and sometimes regretted that she never told the blond woman about her feelings.

"Catra and Scorpia! It's great to see you, how's the party been so far?" Entrapta said suddenly appearing next to Catra.

"Entrapta, hi. It's been great so far." Scorpia said her usual big smile on her face, taking a sip of the drink she had found somewhere.

"That's great to hear! Me and Hordak worked really hard on this!" Entrapta said looking around the hall her friends, family members and work friends were all in.

"I'm gonna go continue the experiment now, so goodbye!" Entrapta said before disappearing equally fast as she had appeared.

Catra took a deep breath listening to the music that was playing on the background while her friends talked. Catra didn't get to relax for too long though, because suddenly Glimmer found her way next to Catra.

"I'm sorry it took me so long, but we're finally done!" Glimmer said voice filled with enthusiasm.

"Oh Catra, Scorpia and Perfuma, great to see you three. Bow, it's done." Glimmer said turning to look at Bow. Bow flashed Glimmer a wide smile and nodded.

"Well bring her here." Bow said and Glimmer left with a smile on her face, humming the song playing in the room.

"What's going on?" Catra asked and turned to look at Bow with a questioning look on her face.

"The surprise is done." Bow said and his sentence drew everyone's attention to him. Catra knitted her eyebrows together in confusion but then turned to look at Shine when she started speaking.

"I'm so happy that we're all together again. And this party is great! I wish we'd have more time to spend together like this." Shine finished and took a deep breath.

"I know right? I really miss the times we'd just spend a whole weekend just our friend group, at like Glimmer's house and share the recent drama." Mermista said and everyone continued the conversation agreeing and telling short memories from their teenage years.

The conversation however got cut off when Glimmer found her way back to the others with the surprise.

"So, everyone. I'd like to reintroduce you to Adora." Glimmer suddenly said and Catra's heart sank to her stomach. Catra looked to her left and there she was. The blond, tall, muscular, extremely hot woman standing next to Glimmer with a happy smile on her beautiful face.

She had her long and curled hair down framing her face, she had a dark burgundy dress on that had a slit on the skirt and a deep v-cut that showed enough skin to make Catra blush.

Her makeup made her look so bright and alive and the sword necklace around her neck was a perfect addition to her look. She looked like the adult she had grown up to be and it made Catra's breath catch in her throat.

"Wait Adora, you're back!" Shine suddenly shouted and jumped into Adora's arms. Catra had totally forgotten during these three years that she wasn't the only one who had feelings for Adora.

Shine had been pining for Adora for years, but the blond idiot hadn't noticed. Catra didn't really blame Shine for having a crush on Adora since anyone should have a crush on her, but Catra always felt a little bit of jealousy when Shine and Adora hugged.

When Adora and Shine parted, they shared a smile and Shine made her way back to the empty place she stood at before jumping into Adora's arms.

"I'm sorry." Shine quickly apologized but Adora just laughed it off and gave everyone a warm smile.

"So, are you back for good or is this just a vacation?" Sea Hawk asked and Adora chuckled lightly.

"My contract with Grayskull actually fully ended a week ago, so yeah I'm back home for now." Adora said and turned to look at Glimmer and Bow on her right side.

"I got back here like two days ago and Glimmer and Bow decided to keep it a secret so we could surprise you all here." Adora finished and turned to face everyone else again.

“It was really hard to keep Adora from spoiling it all to you.” Glimmer said and the others laughed.

"So, what was Eternia like?" Scorpia asked and Adora took a second to think.

"It was fine, I guess. I mean it was a beautiful place don't get me wrong. It just-. I don't know." Adora said laughing again.

"I know that I'm going to sound really sappy, but it just always felt like something was missing. I can't really explain it, it just felt like wherever I went I always forgot to take something with myself. It's probably just me being home sick but who knows..." Adora said and laughed at herself obviously embarrassed to reveal this, but she trusted her friends.

"Yup, you were right. You did sound sappy." Catra said and Adora started laughing.

"Yeah, I know. But on a more serious note, working with Grayskull was like the best decision I ever made. The team was so nice and supportive. They helped me with my plans with my now ex-girlfriend and just were overall so fun." Adora said and everyone in her friend group stayed silent.

"Uh, is everything ok?" Adora asked and Glimmer shook her head and brought herself back to the present, out of her shock. "You said your now ex-girlfriend." Glimmer asked and Adora's breath hitched.

"How have I not told you guys? I had a girlfriend for like a year." Adora told, laughing a little bit.

"Not surprised honestly. If anyone of us were to get a girlfriend while on a work trip, it would be you." Catra said and rolled her eyes trying to hide the blush creeping up on her face.

"And why do you think that?" Glimmer asked crossing her arms on her chest with a wicked smile on her face. There were moments where Catra regretted ever slipping up about her crush on Adora to Glimmer and Bow and this, happened to be one of those moments.

"I mean try to look at her and tell me you don't agree." Catra said flashing Glimmer a shit eating grin back and Glimmer just rolled her eyes. Catra teased Glimmer often about how the sparkly girl had had a huge crush on Adora herself in their teens. It never got anywhere though, since soon after telling Adora about her crush, Glimmer started dating Bow.

The story behind of Catra accidentally telling Glimmer and Bow about her crush was kind of a pathetic one. It was before Adora had left to Eternia. Catra was sitting with Glimmer and Bow around her kitchen table waiting for Adora to get there from her work.

It was back when the "Best Friend Squad" or whatever Bow calls them, was still spending time the four of them together, getting drunk and revealing dumb secrets to each other. But Catra wasn't even drunk yet when this happened which makes it extra dumb.

Catra was preparing their snacks and drinks for the day and having a conversation with Glimmer, about how it was kind of awkward that they all got drunk and decided to reveal secrets, with the risk of revealing something too personal.

"I mean if we think about the fact that I have a crush on Adora, getting drunk is just an open invitation to accidentally tell it to her." Let's just say that Catra didn't drink that night. If she revealed it to her friends while sober, she didn't want to know what would happen if she'd be drunk.

"I'm really happy that you're back!" Shine exclaimed and the others nodded agreeing.

"I'm really happy to be back too. I'm really sorry for being away for so long and not keeping in contact with you." Adora said and looked at everyone apologetically.

"It's ok! What's important is that you're back now and that you aren't leaving again anytime soon." Glimmer said placing one of her hands on Adora's shoulders smiling at her kindly.

"I'm staying, as long as I can. Which is probably until I join a new fencing team." Adora said smiling brightly at Glimmer and placing her hand on top of the shorter girl's hand.

Adora turned to look at everyone else and smiled at them with her heart-warming smile. Catra liked that smile, like really REALLY liked Adora's smile. It was easy to like Adora's smile because the girl didn't express that many different emotions.

The only time Catra had seen Adora be genuinely mad, was once when their high school teacher Sandra Weaver had called Catra a disgrace to the school and a nuisance to Adora, for the hundredth time. Adora had lashed out on Sandra about how she should learn some manners and finally realize that Catra was a living being and that she had feelings too.

Adora had scared all their classmates when she suddenly stood up from her chair and started shouting at Weaver. Sandra hadn't argued with her golden girl, but she also didn't stop insulting Catra. After that she just did it when Adora wasn't around.

Catra appreciated Adora's impulse to stand up for her, a lot. It also happened to happen around the same time Catra realized the feelings she had for this muscular woman weren’t platonic, this moment just made her feelings stronger. The best thing about this story was that Adora was still one of Catra's best friends while Sandra Weaver was stuck teaching high schoolers and couldn’t manipulate either of them anymore.

Catra was really happy to have Adora back too. Her feelings towards Adora surely weren't gone and that v-cut in Adora's dress was not helping. Catra listened to the conversation barely paying attention what they were even saying.

Catra's focus was fully on Adora and the way the white yellowish tinted sword necklace was moving up and down with Adora's breath and laughter. Catra remembers the exact price, shop, and name of that necklace she had bought for Adora as a birthday gift almost two years ago.

Catra had thought about it as a small, nice gift that Adora would keep in her room, maybe occasionally wear at some fancy events. What she did not except was for Adora to wear the necklace in the first party she went to, since coming back.

The necklace was really pretty that much was obvious, but Adora had plenty of more expensive or eye-catching necklaces and she chose to wear the one that Catra bought her. Catra was probably over analysing this, but damn did the sight of Adora wearing something Catra bought her make her stomach twist and turn.

Adora felt Catra's stare on her chest while she was catching up with the others and listening to the stories that her friends told with enthusiasm. Adora felt her breath quicken the longer Catra's stare lingered on her chest.

It wasn't that Adora was feeling uncomfortable, the opposite, actually. The thought of Catra, Adora's friend, her crush, not being able to take her eyes off her just made Adora's heart bang in her chest and a blush creep up on her cheeks. Adora's thoughts of Catra's stare got thrown to the back of her head though, when she heard-.

"Blondie?" Someone behind Adora asked. Adora immediately recognized the voice and she whirled around, her dress' skirt flowing around with the motion.

"Huntara! What are you doing here?" Adora said opening her hands to invite the girl in front of her into a hug.

"I'm here with Bovia because she's visiting family. What brings you here?" Huntara asked and wrapped her arms around the shorter woman.

"I used to live in Etheria before I joined Grayskull and started touring. I'm here with my high school friends." Adora said and let go of her old teammate and turned to look at her friend group.

"I forgot that you lived on Etheria. I would've asked to meet you if I would've remembered that you were here." Huntara said and walked next to Adora looking at everyone else.

"Hi! Name's Huntara." Huntara said and waved at Adora's friends. Everyone introduced themselves and Adora was about to say something when Bovia found her way next to Huntara.

"Adora! Great to see you here darling." Bovia started then turning to look at Huntara.

"Love, my family wants to talk to us." Bovia finished and smiled at everyone else.

"I have to go kiddo. I'll come meet you at some time again." Huntara said before leaving with her girlfriend.

"Kiddo?" Catra asked and snorted a laugh that almost turned into a full-blown laughing fit.

Adora groaned and turned around to look back at her friends.

"Long story. It's just a name that Huntara started calling me after she met me when I joined Grayskull." Adora said rolling her eyes and turned to look at Catra.

"I'll have to hear that story." Catra said and Adora chuckled lightly.

"Huntara's a great person. Helped me throught a lot of things. And I'm pretty sure if you ask, she'll tell you the story." Adora said and turned to look at where Huntara and Bovia left.

"Is someone crushing?" Glimmer asked, teasing and Adora turned to look at Glimmer wide eyed.

"So how do I say this. Huntara is this aforementioned ex-girlfriend I told you about." Adora said and her friend group went silent again.

"You and Huntara were a thing?" Shine asked being the first person in their friend group to find her voice.

"Yeah, we were. Didn't work out as you might have realized." Adora said and waited for further questions.

"How so?" Catra asked. She was genuinely interested to know what ended Adora's and Huntara's relationship. She didn't want to recreate the same mistake. That is if she'd ever get the chance.

"We were too much alike. Huntara was a great girlfriend that's for sure. It just didn't work. And once Huntara met Bovia, our relationship ended pretty soon after that." Adora said with a hollow smile on her face.

“Too much muscle in one relationship?” Sea Hawk asked, and Adora nodded while smirking slightly.

"Bovia's a great girlfriend for Huntara though. And seeing those two be happy together makes me generally happy too." Adora said with a brighter smile on her face.

"But enough about me, how have you all been? I really missed you guys and I wanna hear everything." Adora said.

"We've been great! Of course, it hasn't been the same without you, but it has been manageable. And now that best friend squad is back together it's gonna be a whole lot better!" Glimmer said excitedly and Adora chuckled lively.

"We haven't really hung out in a while. It's mostly been Bow, Catra, Glimmer and Shine hanging out. Sometimes me and Perfuma hang out. Scorpia, Entrapta and Catra hang out as a group too. And then it has just been us spending time with our significant others." Mermista said and Adora nodded smiling.

"But over all our life has been pretty similar to what it used to be. Few differences here and there." Mermista finished and the people around them nodded unanimously.

A while later Glimmer, Bow, Scorpia, Perfuma, Sea Hawk and Mermista had all left to do their own things and Adora was left with Shine and Catra.

"And then my mental health got towards better." Shine told and took a long swig of her drink.

"-And after I met my boyfriend, it got even better. He's been a great help and support." Shine said and drank the rest of her drink. Adora smiled brightly and took a swig of her drink too.

"Wait you have a boyfriend?" Catra asked and Shine turned to look at her, confusion filling her expression.

"Yes..." Shine said chuckling lightly and Catra knitted her eyebrows together.

"Since when? Why have I never heard of him?" Catra asked.

“We’ve dated for a while now, almost half a year.” Shine said and placed her glass on the table next to her.

“I just never talked about him to you guys because I felt like it wouldn’t be that important. Adora knew about him because I had sent her a picture of us together after she had asked.” Shine finished and Catra let out a breath she didn’t realize she was holding in.

It felt like something heavy was lifted off her shoulders. Catra had spent 5 years worrying that someday Shine decided to be the brave one and tell Adora her feelings before Catra had the chance.

Hearing that Shine was taken was the most relieving thing Catra had heard. It wasn’t that Catra wasn’t happy for Shine, of course she was. She was just currently a lot happier for herself.

“It was great to talk to you two again! And Adora, we need to catch up some more later. I’m going to go now though.” Shine said and waved at Adora and Catra before leaving. She left toward Glimmer and Bow first picking up her empty class.

“You look really good.” Adora said and turned to look at Catra. Catra’s breath hitched as she got caught off guard.

“Oh, I’m sorry I didn’t catch that.” Catra said and Adora chuckled gently.

“I said that your suit looks good on you.” Adora repeated herself and looked to the other side of the ball room where her focus got drawn, after the room was filled with loud laughter from that direction.

“Thanks. Not looking too bad yourself either.” Catra said and flashed Adora a smirk.

“Thank you. I wouldn’t look like this if it wouldn’t be for Glimmer and Bow though.” Adora said and took a sip of her champagne to cover up the blush that spread on her face. Catra hummed and smiled looking at her feet.

“Yeah, I mean thank Mara for Glimmer and Bow. She forbid a 5’9 ft tall muscular sword fighter woman comes to a party without her hair and makeup done. Lock ‘er up and throw away the key.” Catra joked and Adora rolled her eyes smiling at her.

Catra and Adora looked at each other for a little bit before bursting into laughter together. When the girls got over their laughing fit, they both took deep breaths and then finally relaxed.

“I really missed this.” Adora said and Catra looked at her confused.

“What?” Catra asked and Adora smiled at her.

“This, hanging out with my friends, laughing. Just everything.” Adora said and drank the last bits of her drink before placing it on the table next to her.

“I bet you did a lot of cool things while you were in Eternia though.” Catra said and smiled at Adora.

“I actually didn’t. I spent most of my time in my house, at Huntara’s and at the gym. The only time I actually did something social during those three years was when I went to galas, tournaments and while training with my team. I spent two of my birthdays alone too.” Adora said and gave Catra a hollow smile.

“I’m sorry to hear that.” Catra said and held back the urge to hug Adora.

“It’s ok. It was my own choice. Besides I had friends, I just overworked myself and neglected my social life.” Adora said with a smile on her face and Catra lowered her ears.

“Don’t worry, I took care of myself physically. Mentally? Could’ve done better.” Adora said laughing and Catra glared at her.

“Adora, you need to promise me you’ll take care of yourself.” Catra said and Adora smiled at her fondly.

“I will, I promise.” Adora said and looked back at Glimmer who walked past them while talking with Bow.

“I’m so done with my parents trying to get me to take their company on my shoulders after their time is over.” Glimmer said and Bow pat her on the back.

“So, you planning on swooping someone up from this party with those big arms of yours?” Catra asked jokingly and Adora hummed to herself.

“No one’s that interested to date fencers.” Adora said smiling embarrassed, looking at her feet.

“Why’s that?” Catra asked and Adora looked at her taking a deep breath.

“We travel a lot, as you might’ve noticed. We can never promise someone that we’re gonna be in the same place for long. One day we might be here, the next we might be in a whole different country.” Adora said and smiled at Catra.

“No one could work while travelling with me. Or they’d have to stay behind.” Adora added and Catra smiled at her fondly.

“I’m doing ok by myself, don’t worry about me.” Adora finished and Catra looked at her before turning to look at the table that’s filled with drinks and snacks.

“I’m kind of thirsty, gonna go and get a drink, you want anything?” Catra asked and turned to walk toward the snack table.

“I’ll stay here, you don’t need to bring me anything.” Adora said and Catra left after nodding to the girl.

Once Catra finally found her way to the table, she noticed Glimmer and Bow were already there.

“Catra, hi.” Glimmer said and walked over to Catra.

“You getting you and Adora drinks?” Glimmer asked and Catra shook her head.

“Adora said she didn’t need anything so I don’t really know what to bring her.” Catra said and a smirk spread on Glimmer’s face.

“That’s such a basic Adora thing. She never asks for anything, just does things for other people.” Glimmer said and walked toward a bottle on the table.

Glimmer picked up a bottle of Maker’s Mark and filled a glass with it. She offered the glass to Catra and smiled.

“Bring that to Adora.” Glimmer said with a smile on her face and Catra raised her eyebrows.

“Maker’s Mark, Adora’s favorite alcohol drink. So, tell me, have you told her yet?” Glimmer asked and crossed her hands on her chest.

“Told who, what?” Catra asked and poured herself a glass of Beringer.

“Adora. Have you told Adora about your feelings?” Glimmer asked and Catra froze taking few deep breaths.

“I’m not planning on telling her, there’s no reason to. She seems pretty busy already.” Catra said and turned to look at the table, while Glimmer huffed exhaling loudly.

“Catra you can’t be serious. Adora’s back, we know that she’s gay, she hasn’t dated anyone in a year or so, we’ve seen how she looks at you and trust me it’s not platonic, she looked so happy to see you and you’re on all levels the perfect person for Adora. And trust me, I’ve known Adora for so long, I wouldn’t be saying this if I wasn’t sure.” Glimmer said and looked at Catra pointedly.

“I’ve known Adora longer than you have. Besides, what do you mean ‘perfect for Adora’?” Catra asked and looked anywhere but at Glimmer, trying to relax herself and hide the blush that was creeping up her cheeks.

"You mean beside the things I just listed? Do you know why Adora doesn't really date anyone?" Glimmer asked and Catra put the glasses down next to herself on the snacks table, turning to look at Glimmer.

"She just told me, they travel too much and too often. And for the record, she did tell us that she dated Huntara." Catra said and Glimmer took a deep breath.

"Ok, sure, let's agree that's the only reason. You do realize that a person who can take their work with themselves could travel with her." Glimmer said and Catra nodded raising her eyebrow confused.

"What does this have anything to do with me?" Catra asked and Glimmer took a deep breath.

"Like someone who's a freelancer. Like an artist of some sorts. Oh, someone like you?" Glimmer said and Catra rolled her eyes. "I agree." Scorpia suddenly said appearing behind Catra.

"Catra you obviously like her, she obviously likes you. You should go for it." Scorpia said and Catra scoffed.

"And take the risk of losing her for expressing my feelings? Yeah, no thanks." Catra said a little more defensive than she intended and looked back at Adora who was currently talking to someone Catra didn't recognize.

"Catra, you can't assume that Adora would just straight away cut you off if you let her know about your feelings. You, yourself know that she's not that kind of a person and she'd never leave you just for that." Perfuma said and put her hand on Scorpia's shoulder. Catra kept her stare on Adora, who was currently laughing at something the person said to her.

Catra could feel her ears lowering in defeat. She let out a deep breath and turned to look at Glimmer in front of her.

"I'll think about it." Catra said and Glimmer's face brightened. Catra took a deep breath and picked up the drinks again. She turned to look at Glimmer and smiled weakly.

The Party

Chapter Notes

> I've been writing this story for over a year already and it's still not done. I'll finish it eventually so atleast enjoy this second chapter while I finish the last chapter.

Catra was currently standing next to Adora, listening to the conversation she was having with this fencer coach. Catra took a sip of her drink and let out a deep sigh.

"I could get you a place in one of the teams I coach. You'd make a great team mate, and your talent would really be needed." The coach said and smiled at Adora.

"I'd love that, but I actually just got back home from my previous trips and I'm honestly not physically nor mentally capable of going on another already." Adora said and returned the smile. She took a sip of her drink and looked at Catra. Catra smiled at her trying to look like she wasn't about to fall asleep.

"Ok, but if you take a break now that you're on top of your game, your skills will get worse. Working is important." The coach said took out his phone. Adora kept silent like she was thinking about it. Catra pushed off the wall and walked to stand next to Adora.

"So, if you just put your number here, I'll message you later and let you know what team you'd be joining." The coach finished and offered his phone to Adora. Adora looked at the phone and then at Catra. Catra looked Adora into her eyes and something told her that she needed to stop, whatever was currently going on.

"Ok, so we appreciate your offer so much and I'm so happy that you're interested to get Adora into one of your teams, but she said no. She was just on a three year long work trip, and she's not about to go on another one so I don't think she'll be giving you her number.” Catra said and gently pushed the phone back toward the coach.

Maybe it had something to do with Adora’s savior complex, or the fact that she was manipulated to agree to everything as a kid by her adoptive mother Mrs. Hope, but Adora physically couldn’t say not to this man herself. She looked at Catra and mouthed something along the lines of “thank you” while the man wasn’t watching.

“Sweetie, I’m a fencing coach. I think I know what a fencer should and should not do. I won’t bother you more than to get her number.” The man said and offered the phone to Adora again. Catra was about to say something she might regret the next morning, until she heard someone speak into the mic that was on the stage.

“Hello everyone! I hope you all are enjoying the party. The food is done and will be served in the next room to the left. Go take your seats with your friends and family and enjoy the food our lovely cooks have prepared for you!” Shine spoke into the mic.

There was a lot of people who started to make their way into the dining room while chatting with their close ones. Adora looked at Catra and motioned for the two of them to join the rest of their friends in the dining hall. Catra looked at Adora and smiled at her brightly.

“I’m so sorry Mr. Coach Whatever-your-name-is, but me and Adora actually need to go to the dining hall and meet with our friends. Really sad that Adora missed this opportunity though.” Catra said and laced her fingers with Adora’s and started to walk toward the dining hall.

Catra couldn’t hear exactly what, but she heard the guy mumble something to himself while the two girls were making their way to the huge pack of people waiting to get into the dining hall.

“I’m guessing all of our friends are there already.” Catra said and her ears were flicking all around, trying to listen to every conversation that was going on.

“Thanks for that.” Adora said and petted Catra’s hand with her thumb. Catra’s breath hitched and she looked at their clasped hands before looking back at Adora’s face. Adora looked like a puppy, a golden retriever’s puppy to be specific. She had a big, soft smile on her face, her eyes shined and she looked hopeful. Her golden hair looked ethereal in the glow of the chandeliers and the natural shape of her face made her look so friendly and like she would never hurt anyone or anything, not even a mosquito.

“I- Uhh... Yeah, no problem. Hated him anyways.” Catra said and turned to look toward the door they were trying to get through. A comfortable silence fell between the girls. They were just standing there in the ballroom, hand in hand, not saying anything, waiting to get into the dining room.

“Are you ok?” Adora asked after a moment of silence. Catra looked at Adora and nodded taking a deep breath.

“Yeah I am, just a bit nervous.” Catra responded and smiled at Adora. Adora took her hand away from Catra’s to scratch her other hand and Catra put her hand into her jacket’s pocket because it felt cold without Adora’s warmth. Adora crossed her arms over her chest and was about to say something when the girls realized that they could finally get into the dining room.

Catra and Adora walked in and scanned the room looking for their friends. Catra spotted Entrapta waiving and took hold of Adora’s wrist.

“There, at the end of that middle table.” Catra pointed out. Adora looked where Catra was pointing at and finally spotted their friends sitting at the end of the table, Entapta still waving at them and the others looking at the girls from their seats.

Adora started walking toward their friends, with Catra's hand still holding onto Adora's wrist so Catra almost toppled over trying to keep up. Adora and Catra laughed at each other and then walked the rest of the way next to each other, still holding hands.

Once Adora and Catra made it to their friends, they sat down on their seats and had to let go of each other's hands. Adora sat next to Glimmer and Catra sat opposite from Adora, next to Shine.

"I'm glad to see you two made it here too. The meals are about to be served." Shine informed clasping her hands together in excitement.

"There will be tiny food!" Entrapta said smiling brightly and turning to look at Wrong Hordak who walked out of the kitchen with the other cooks. Just as Adora was focusing to the cooks, she heard the seat next to her be pulled back and when she turned to look at the person next to her, Huntara and Bovia waved at her before sitting down.

"Good evening everyone! I'm ecstatic to have the honor of being the head chef of this lovely party. I hope you all are as excited as I am." Wrong Hordak started his speech and looked as happy as ever.

After the cooks had gone through today's menu and had brought the foods to the tables, Adora and her friends began chatting again.

"So Adora, who were all of these friends of yours?" Huntara asked and Adora turned to look at her. Adora quickly reintroduced everyone to Huntara and once she was done, she saw a smirk on Huntara's face.

"I don't like where this is going." Adora said and Bovia chuckled behind Huntara.

"Catra you say." Huntara said and she chuckled as Adora's eyes widened and she tried her best to get Huntara to knock it off.

“Yeah. Why?” Catra asked and Huntara and Adora turned to look at her. Huntara looked relaxed and casual while Adora’s face was blazing red and she looked a little mad.

“I’m just not surprised of your name, it fits you.” Huntara said and Catra rolled her eyes.

“One cat pun and I’m getting Entrapta to kick you out of this party.” Catra said pointing a finger at Huntara. Huntara just laughed and shook her head slightly.

After around ten minutes of chatting, Catra saw Huntara tap Adora on her shoulder and lean in, to whisper something into her ear that made Adora’s face all red again. Something about that interaction made Catra’s stomach twist, but she ignored the feeling and continued her chat with Mermista and Sea Hawk. Adora looked at Huntara embarrassed and Bovia shook her head emptying her glass, before leaving to go to the bathroom.

“Mm, this is great! Fantastic choices Entrapta!” Bow said and brought Adora and Huntara out of their little bubble. Entrapta thanked Bow and continued eating while chatting with her friends.

“I’m just saying... You never do anything for yourself. It wouldn’t hurt would it?” Huntara’s speaking brought Catra’s interest back to the two of them and Adora took a deep breath. Whatever Huntara was talking about, obviously got into Adora since the blonde got the same look on her face, that she got when she was thinking about accepting the fencing offer earlier.

“I don’t know... It’s not the main thing today. If it happens, it’ll happen, but I, and especially you, won’t force it to happen.” Adora said and pointed a finger at Huntara, who put her arms in the air like she was surrendering. Bovia, who walked back and sat down on her seat, placed a hand on Huntaras shoulder with a smile on her face. Huntara placed her own hand on top of Bovia’s and leaned into her girlfriend.

“Don’t worry Adora, I’ll make sure this big meanie doesn’t force her nose into your business.” Bovia said jokingly and Adora smiled at the sight of the two girls in front of her.

“Oh come on Bovia. You know kiddo needs our help. She’s helpless! You remember the story I told you.” Huntara said and Bovia laughed. Adora rolled her eyes and got back to the meal in front of her.

“Ok, I do need to hear this story." Catra said and Adora, Huntara and Bovia looked up at her like they forgot they weren’t the only ones at the party.

“What story? The story that makes me think Adora’s helpless?” Huntara asked and Catra shook her head, cutting another piece of her food.”

“Today earlier, I asked Adora why you kept calling her a ‘kiddo’, and she told me that you most likely would tell me that story if I asked.” Catra said and something lit up in Huntara’s eyes. Adora chuckled and kept eating her meal.

“Oh that’s one of my favorites.” Huntara mumbled and sat into a better position to look at Catra. Bovia rolled her eyes and got some more food from the plates that were set on the table. Catra leaned more into her seat brushing her foot against Adora’s.

Adora looked up at Catra, her face blushed again and Catra shook her head slightly to inform the blonde that, that exchange was an accident. Adora smiled at Catra – who of course smiled back – and then she continued eating her meal.

“It was actually the first time I ever met Adora. I had just walked into our training area, when I noticed a really young blondie sitting at the side.” Huntara began. Adora shot Huntara a glare without any actual heat in it, when she mentioned that Adora looked like a teenager.

“Oh shush it blondie, you can’t argue that you looked like you could’ve been Jewel Star’s little sister or something. Anyways, I walked to our coach and sat next to zim on the floor. Once all of us had arrived, and no one was saying anything about the rando blondie just sitting there, I spoke up." Huntara continued. Adora shook her head with a small smile on her face.

"Like always." Bovia said jokingly and Huntara laughed at her.

"I looked at everyone and just asked, 'Is anyone going to question that kiddo sitting at the other side of the room? Are they like someone's kid or something. Has this been mentioned before, did I just not get the memo.' And then everyone burst out laughing and Adora looked extremely embarrassed." Huntara finished and Catra laughed brightly.

"I had just flow there from another country. Never been in Eternia before, except as a kid. The only person I knew was the coach and you just called me a fucking kid! Of course I was embarrassed!" Adora said, the faint blush on her face brightening.

"I'm sorry! I had missed the email where our coach told us that we were getting a new teammate and then I see you. Of course I'm going to think you're a kid." Huntara spoke through her laughter and Adora slapped her on the shoulder softly.

"Anyways, I felt so bad for her afterwards that I invited Adora to a café with me and that's how we got to know each other." Huntara added and Catra smiled at Adora teasingly.

"Ah yes, this tall, muscular woman, who called me a kid in front of every single one of my co-workers for the next three years, just asked me out on a date. Say no more, I want her." Catra said smirking at Adora and Adora just rolled her eyes and smiled at Catra.

"Yeah, but consider this Catra... She's hot." Adora said and Catra burst out laughing.

"Oh sweet Mara." Bovia said and turned to look at the sky jokingly.

A little bit after the feast was over, Adora had excused herself from the table and walked off, toward the chairs that led to the second floor. It was 45 minutes to midnight and Adora had been away for the past 20 minutes. Catra was starting to get worried but she decided to stay seated and give Adora the room she needed.

"There'll be huge fireworks. I wanted to tweak them a little but Hordak told me not to." Entrapta said disappointed and Catra could feel the wave of relief that went over the group after hearing that Hordak had single handedly saved the lives of the others.

"Maybe that's good. I don't doubt it for a second that you couldn't make amazing fireworks but it'd be safer to do it without so much stuff that could easily catch fire." Perfuma said and held her hand on top of Scorpia's.

Glimmer was about to say something when Huntara came back. She and Bovia had gone off to chat to people a little before Adora had left. Huntara sat opposite from Catra, on the seat that Adora was sitting on before leaving and looked at the friend group confused. After few second of scanning, Huntara looked at Catra and finally spoke.

"Where's Adora?" Huntara asked and the other people sitting around the end of the middle table looked at Huntara and Catra.

"She left a little ago. Said she needed to go take a break of all of this. Hasn't been back for the past 20 minutes." Catra said looking around the room. Huntara scrunched her eyebrows together, thinking, until she relaxed and smiled.

"Catra, could you go check on her?" Huntara asked and Catra looked back at her. Huntara smiled at Catra and Catra looked at the stairs Adora had walked up. Bovia found her way back next to Huntara, looking at her questioningly.

“She said that she needed some time for herself and her thoughts when she left, I don’t think it’ll be a good idea.” Catra said and looked at Huntara. Huntara smiled at Bovia and then turned back at Catra.

“Adora did this a lot during her time in Eternia. She frequently left somewhere because ‘she needed space’ but when someone went to look for her, she usually just started opening up while letting all her emotions out. She just needs someone to listen to her willingly. Otherwise she always just felt that she was bothering others.” Huntara said and a slight panic started growing inside Catra.

“Yeah, she did that when we were young too. I just...” Catra said before falling silent and closing her eyes. How had she not realized earlier, that this was what Adora was doing. She didn’t need space, she needed someone to talk to.

“I know it’s not your job to look after Adora, but I think it’d be best if someone checked up on her.” Huntara continued in her calm voice. Catra looked into Huntaras eyes and thought. Would this person lie to me? Why would she? She has no reason to. Adora’s my friend, Adora’s Huntara’s friend. All Huntara wants is the best for her, right?

Catra took a deep breath and then she stood up from her seat, starting to walk toward the stairs. While walking, Catra heard Huntara shout after her: “Just make sure she’s ok!”

“Where’s she going?” Glimmer asked and looked at Huntara and Bovia. Huntara smiled wickedly and Bovia's previous smile turned into an expression of realization “Huntara. What did you do?” Bovia asked with a stern voice, leaning on the table. Huntara turned to look at her with that wicked smile on her face still and something was twinkling in her eyes. Bovia took a deep breath and sat down next to her girlfriend.

“Relax darling. I just gave a little push to something that was bound to happen.” Huntara said and smiled at her girlfriend.

“Huntara, I told you not to mess with things that don’t involve you.” Bovia said and looked at her girlfriend her voice and expression dripping with stern.

“Yeah, but I forced it to involve me so now it’s not wrong anymore.” Huntara said smiling and then added: “Besides, they’ll thank me later.”

Once Catra had made it up the stairs, to the second floor of the building, she was walking through the hallway, looking into the rooms, wishing to spot Adora. Once she had walked to the end of the hallway, without spotting Adora, she was about to give up, when she heard Adora’s sigh from the balcony to her right.

Catra looked out on the balcony and spotted Adora leaning on the railing and looking at the night sky. She was relaxed and in her own world, not noticing that Catra walked onto the balcony, next to her. Catra leaned on the railing with her arms and looked straight ahead, admiring the city.

“Enjoying the view?” Catra asked and turned to look at Adora. Adora jumped when Catra begun talking. She obviously hadn’t noticed Catra’s arrival and now she was leaning on the railing with one hand, trying to get her heartbeat to slow down.

“Jesus fucking Christ. When did you sneak up on me?” Adora asked and Catra laughed at her, eventually making Adora chuckle too. Adora stood up straight and looked at the city that was illuminated by the lights in the darkness.

“Just got here. People were getting nervous since you hadn’t come back. Huntara eventually sent me here.” Catra said and looked at Adora’s eyes that were shining while she was staring off to the distance. Adora closed her eyes and took a deep breath, exhaling through her mouth. Adora reopened her eyes and turned to look at Catra.

"I'm sorry for making you worry. I was just in my thoughts and forgot to check the time." Adora said, smiling hollowly at Catra. Adora turned to look toward the hallway, where she heard some noises.

Catra stared at Adora, trying to read her. Adora was a very easily readable person. Something was obviously bothering her mind, but for once, Catra couldn't figure out what it was. Catra took few steps closer to Adora, and without a second thought, she reached for Adora's face. Catra cupped Adora's cheek and turned her face back at herself, drawing Adora focus back to the conversation.

"Adora. Are you alright?" Catra asked and caressed Adora's cheek with her thumb. Adora looked at Catra, and a faint blush spread on Adora's cheeks, spilling to her chest and rest of her face.

"I- I'm fine. Why? Is something wrong? Can I help somehow? I-" Adora started babbling. She was obviously nervous. This was such and Adora thing. Starting to babble and mutter out sentences trying to draw the attention away from her. Adora was fiddling with her necklace and switching between looking at Catra's yellow and blue eye.

"Adora." Catra started, cutting off Adora's word vomit. Adora shut her mouth and decided on staring at Catra's blue eye. Adora once again took a deep breath and closed her eyes, leaning on Catra's palm. Catra kept caressing Adora's cheek with her thumb, trying to calm down the anxious girl.

"Relax, everything is fine with me and the others. I'm talking about you. You keep talking and fiddling with stuff. You keep drawing the subject away from you and I can practically see you heart thumping out of your chest." Catra said and kept looking at Adora although the woman's eyes were closed.

“I’m sorry.” Adora said and placed one of her hands on top of Catra’s, trying to keep it there. Adora opened her eyes and looked back at Catra. The feline noticed that Adora was figuring out her thoughts so she figured it’d be better to stay silent and let the blondie speak once she was ready to.

After few minutes of silence, Adora dropped her hand and walked back to the railing, leaning on it and letting the night wind cool her off. Adora’s hair fell of her shoulders when a gust of wind flipped them down. Adora shivered in the cold air. She had been here now for approximately 50 minutes in her dress, without a jacket. It wasn’t a surprise that she was cold.

Catra shook off her own jacket and draped it over Adora’s shoulders. Adora turned to look at Catra and smiled at her, before turning back at the night sky that was dotted with million stars.

“Have you ever loved someone so much, that telling them about your feelings comes with the risk of scaring them way. So, you don’t do it. Because you care about them more than you want to express that love?” Adora finally sighed still staring off at the night sky. Catra looked at Adora and then exhaled deeply.

“Yeah, I do.” Catra said and looked down from the balcony, at the people who had gathered there to watch the firework show. It was Adora’s time to glance at Catra, worried.

“That’s what has been bugging my mind.” Adora revealed smiling faintly and tapping the railing with her clipped nails. Catra turned her attention back at Adora’s face and noticed her glancing at her quickly.

“Who are they?” Catra asked and leaned on the railing, turning her body fully facing Adora. Adora dropped her gaze down at the people who were chatting at the front yard.

“I- I don’t-.” Adora tried. The people down at the yard were chatting with each other, sharing their New year's resolutions.

“It’s ok, you don’t need to tell me.” Catra said with a smile on her face. Adora looked at her and smirked before hanging her head and closing her eyes.

“So, why haven’t you told them?” Catra asked and Adora opened her eyes but kept her head hung down.

“I honestly don’t know. Some of my friends have told me that they are sure that the person likes me too. I’ve just never thought that it could be true.” Adora said and kept tapping that same rhythm to the railing, that she had been for the past ten minutes.

Something lit inside of Catra. If Adora’s friends were telling her that they were sure that the person liked Adora back, then surely the person was Catra, right? I mean they were telling Catra the same thing about Adora.

“For example Huntara, she had called me ‘out of my mind’ for not telling them.” Adora said and smiled at Catra, laughing slightly at herself. And there it went. There was no way the person would be Catra, it was obviously someone else from the fencing team, or someone from Eternia. How would Huntara know about the person otherwise.

“I’m even pretty sure myself that they might like me back but,,, What if they don’t? Have I risked our entire friendship with just a few words?” Adora said and Catra scrunched her eyebrows together in confusion.

“So wait? You’re sure the person likes you, but still you haven’t told them?” Catra asked. Adora turned to look at her fully now too and sighed.

“Yeah, pretty much.” Adora said and looked at her phone. 11 seconds till midnight.

“10!” Could be heard from the people at the front yard. The countdown had begun.

“So what’s the problem then?” Catra asked and looked at the city again.

“9!”

“I just don’t know how to tell her.” Adora said and Catra smiled at her, her best fake but encouraging smile.

“8!”

“I know it can be hard but if you don’t tell her and just bury it inside yourself, then she’ll never know.” Catra said putting her hands into the pockets of her pants.

“7!”

“But what if I just wait for her to realize and ask me out?” Adora said jokingly with a smile on her face. Catra and Adora chuckled at each other.

“6!”

“Yeah, that’s such a great idea. Wait for her to read your mind, why won’t ya?” Catra said with a smile of her own on her face.

“5!”

“It could work. You’ll never know.” Adora said smiling teasingly at Catra and she just rolled her eyes.

“4!”

“Just tell her Shearer, for fuck’s sake” Catra said looking at Adora. It was rare that anyone used Adora’s last name, but it felt like it fit the situation.

“3!”

“You know what? Fuck it.” Adora said and took a step closer to Catra.

“2!”

“What do you mean?” Catra asked, looking at Adora, having to turn her face up to be able to look Adora in the eyes, because of their height difference.

“1!”

“I love you!” Adora shouted and a blush spread on her face again. Catra’s expression fell, she looked shocked. It took Catra few second to react to what she had just heard.

“Happy new year!” Could be heard from the yard. There were people celebrating, cheering, drinking and sharing New Year's kisses.

Catra reached up, and pulled Adora down to a kiss by her shoulders. Huge fireworks shot up from the yard, into the sky and exploded startling some people, but Catra just wrapped her arms tighter around Adora’s neck and kept kissing her.

Adora tilted her head and deepened the kiss, placing her hand on Catra’s cheeks to keep her close to her.

Once there was a break between the fireworks, Catra and Adora heard someone awe from the direction of the hallways. Catra and Adora parted and turned to look at the hallway, confused.

There the two of them spotted their friend group, and Huntara and Bovia. The awe they had heard was from Bow and Glimmer was now glaring at her boyfriend.

“Are you guys stalking us?” Catra asked and let go of Adora, trying to stay calm and keep a blush from breaking out on her face.

“We were, until Bow decided to blow our cover.” Huntara said and the others chuckled while Bow looked embarrassed. Catra rolled her eyes and squeaked when another set of fireworks went off behind her on the yard, making her jump.

Adora chuckled that lively laugh of hers and pet Catra's back comforting her. The other friends walked onto the balcony and Huntara placed a hand on Adora's shoulder.

"I'm proud of you kiddo." Huntara said and Adora stiffened and a dark blush broke out on her face and it spilled down her chest, into her dress. The others laughed and Catra straightened up once she had calmed down.

"Honestly didn't think you'd be the one to do it." Mermista said and Adora turned to look at her, the blondie's expression really offended.

"Wow, and what's that supposed to mean?" Adora asked and Glimmer chuckled. Glimmer pat Adora on her shoulder and shook her head with a warm smile on her face.

"Adora you have no game, you're a useless lesbian." Glimmer said and Adora folded her arms on her chest.

"Believe it or not I was the one who told Huntara that I had feelings for her." Adora said and her friends laughed at her. Catra laced her fingers together with Adora's holding their hands down and hiding them from their friends. Adora first looked down at their hands and then she smiled at Catra who blushed in return.

"Ok, whatever. Let's go back inside and enjoy the rest of the party." Glimmer said and everyone else left the balcony, leaving Adora and Catra behind.

Once everyone else had left, Adora turned to look back at the city looming under the huge mansion. Catra took a step closer to Adora and squeezed her hand. Adora turned back at Catra and smiled at her.

"Everything alright princess?" Catra asked and Adora's smile widened at the use of the familiar nickname. Adora pressed a soft kiss to Catra's forehead and petted her hand with her thumb.

“Yeah, thanks. I’m just really happy. Can we- Uh... Can I kiss you again?” Adora asked and the blush that had pretty much been tattooed on her skin during this party, got even redder. If it was even possible. Catra took hold of Adora’s other hand too and stepped closer to her.

“Yeah, I’d like that.” Catra said and stared into Adora’s bright blue eyes. The usual grey in her eyes had disappeared in the darkness and now her eyes looked like the deepest part of an ocean that Catra – As much as she hated water – wanted to dive in.

Adora leaned closer, and just before she pressed her lips against Catra’s, she whispered: “You’re so beautiful.”

Catra was going to react to what Adora said, but before she even had the chance to register the words, Adora’s lips where already on hers. Catra closed her eyes and let herself get absorbed into the kiss. Catra let all of her nerves focus on the sensation of Adora’s lips moving against hers and she relaxed.

Catra relaxed a little bit too much though, because without realizing it soon enough, Catra let out a sigh she didn’t know she was holding in. After she realized the sound she let out, she started to back away and once the kiss was over, Adora giggled that soft laugh of hers.

“I’ve never seen you this content.” Adora mentioned, a big smile on her face looking at Catra like she’d be the world. Catra raised an eyebrow and smirked.

“What? Were you staring at me while we were making out or something?” Catra asked. Adora blushed at the mention of their kiss, but she recovered from it quickly. A happy smile came back on her face and she kissed Catra on the bridge of her nose.

“What can I say, you just look so pretty that I can’t get my eyes off of you. Nah, in all seriousness, I was going to say 'heard’, but saying that would sound worse than ‘seen’.” Adora said and Catra laughed.

“Ok, dummy.” Catra said and wrapped Adora into a warm hug, snuggling her head in the crook of Adora’s neck and pressing her ear against her chest.

Adora wrapped her arms around Catra too and hummed contently. Adora pressed a kiss on the top of Catra’s head and laughed softly after she heard Catra’s purr kick in. She started to massage Catra’s head and without a second thought, she asked: “How long have you had feelings for me?”

Catra turned to look at Adora and then she pressed and kiss on her jaw: “Why do you want to know?”

Adora, still looking at the city smiling, said: “I don’t know. I guess to know how long I could have dated you. But I guess it doesn’t really matter anymore.”

After a few seconds of silence, Adora turned to look down at Catra and saw hesitancy on her expression.

“Is everything alright?” Adora asked and placed her hand on Catra’s cheek to caress it with her thumb.

“Are we dating?” Catra asked, avoiding Adora’s eyes. “Do you want us to?” Adora asked and smiled at Catra, turning the felines face to look at her.

“I’d like that...” Catra said but was still a little hesitant. “Then I’d love to call you my girlfriend, if you’re fine with that.” Adora said, once again kissing Catra on her forehead. Kissing Catra was just so addicting, she couldn’t stop.

“Yeah, I’m fine with that.” Catra said and kissed Adora on the lips.

Catra laughed and pulled Adora closer to her. Catra looked at the street lights that lit up the cars that were going down the highway close by. Catra though for a second, just standing there in the silence before answering Adora’s earlier question: “I’m not sure. I’ve probably liked you as long as I’ve known you. I realized I had a big gay crush on you around the time you lost your shit and shouted at Mrs. Weaver.”

“Yeah, I guess you always had a thing for bad girls.” Adora said and laughed her bright laugh.

“Too bad you aren’t one. Guess you can’t always have what you want.” Catra said but her words had no real bite in them. Adora opened her mouth to say something, when Mermista appeared to the doorway of the balcony.

“Hello you two? We left like, 15 minutes ago. We’re waiting for you.” Mermista said before walking away again. Adora chuckled and took hold of Catra’s hand again.

“Shall we?” she asked holding on to Catra’s hand.

Adora was standing next to Catra listening to Glimmer and Shine chat, when she suddenly felt Catra squeezing her hand. Adora turned to look at Catra but she wasn’t looking back at her. Catra was standing there, a faint blush on her face, still looking at Glimmer and Shine.

Adora tilted her head and squeezed Catra’s hand back. Catra turned her face more to her right, looking away from Adora and the blush on her face deepened.

Adora thought for a little, before coming up with an idea: “I’m going to go get somethings from the serving table before this party ends, you wanna come with?"

Catra looked at Adora and then nodded, starting to walk away from the others. Once they found their way to the serving table, Catra turned to look at Adora who stood next to her.

“What is it?” Adora asked and looked at Catra, worrying about many things. Catra took a deep breath and looked at the floor her ears flopping downward.

“Everything’s fine, don’t worry. I just,,, I haven’t seen you in years and now that we started dating,,, I just kinda wanna leave the party and steal you along with me, but I don’t have a car.” Catra said looking at Adora, smiling sheepishly.

“Luckily I do.” Adora said, pulling out her car keys from her shoulder bag and tangling them off her finger. Catra smiled at Adora happily but then she turned to look at their friends and took a deep breath.

“The problem is that we have our friends. They haven’t seen you in three years either and I don’t want to just steal you from them. Especially if you still want to stay here.” Catra said and poured more champagne into her glass. Adora walked closer to her and placed her hands on Catra’s cheeks, smiling at her.

“It’s ok Catra. I’m not leaving Etheria anytime soon. I have a lot of time to catch up with them. Besides,,, I don’t think they’d care if we left. I mean sure they are gonna think what they want about what, or who will go down once we leave but that’s not a big deal.” Adora said smiling at Catra, trying to cheer her up.

Catra smiled at Adora, kissing her again. Adora placed her hands on Catra’s waist and smiled into the kiss. After a little bit, Catra pulled back from the kiss smiling at Adora and said: “Ok then. I’d like to leave.”

Adora was looking at the road, smiling, thrumming her hands against the wheel to the beat of the song playing in the car. Catra was thrumming her hands on her lap and giggling time to time because she was filled with so much happiness.

Adora took a left turn to the neighborhood and kept driving toward Catra's house while still jamming to the song. She burst into a fit of laughter and turned to look at Catra.

"Where was the guest parking space, again?" Adora asked and Catra stopped her swinging momentarily when she realized the blonde was trying to speak to her.

"Just continue on this road and you'll find it soon on the right." Catra said pointing forward and Adora stepped on the gas and continued her way toward Catra's home. The girls stayed silent while Adora continued driving along the road, the music still blasting on the background while the air in the car grew thicker, the reality of the situation setting in.

"Something feels off..." Adora finally said as she pulled up to the parking space and stopped the car into a free spot. She turned to look at Catra who took a deep breath and turned to look back at her. "I'm glad I'm not the only one noticing this." Catra said and leaned back on the chair she was sitting on.

"Do you wanna talk about it?" Adora asked and reached out, taking hold of Catra's hand and caressing it with hers. Catra turned to look at Adora's hand holding hers and a small smile found its way on her face.

"Yeah, I think it would be for the best. Let's go inside first?" She asked and Adora smiled at her fondly. Adora squeezed Catra's hand for a second more, before turning to look at it. She brought the hand closer to her face and gently kissed the back of her palm.

Adora looked back at Catra, whose mouth was slightly agape and she had a faint blush on her cheeks when she turned to look at Adora again. Adora smirked at Catra and then composed herself: "Yeah, let's go." Adora stepped out of the car and went around it to wait for Catra.

Once she finally stepped out the car, Adora locked the car with her keys and took hold of Catra's hand once again, before starting to walk toward the houses. "You know, I was literally thinking yesterday about what would've happened, had I told you how I felt before you left. I'm really happy that it isn't just a thought anymore." Catra said and got Adora to chuckle.

"I'm really happy about how things turned out, too. I didn't think that I'd end up here, but I'm over the moon to get to call you my girlfriend, or significant other, or whatever variant of the word you prefer." Adora said, turning to smile at Catra.

Catra chuckled slightly and leaned her head on Adora's arm that she was clasping onto with her hand. "Anything's fine, but I prefer girlfriend the most. Though I'm not against you calling me handsome and such." Catra mentioned and Adora hummed as an indication of her listening to Catra.

"I'll keep that in mind." Adora said and squeezed Catra's hand gently. Catra let go of Adora's hand once they made it to the door of Catra's home. She fished her keys from her bag and opened the door to them. Adora stepped inside and took a deep breath, savoring the comforting smell of Catra, all around her.

“Someone seems to be enjoying herself.” Catra said from behind Adora. Turning around, Adora noticed Catra smiling at her smugly, one of her eyebrows raised and a corner of her lips curved upwards. “Yeah, I am. I’ve missed the familiarity of your home and just everything about you. Besides, I won’t be the only one enjoying myself soon.” Adora said, bending from her waist so that her face was at the same height as Catra's.

“Mm, I can’t wait. Better not disappoint.” Catra said smiling at her and kissing her on the nose. Adora drew Catra into a kiss and once it was over, she smiled at Catra the smuggest smile she could. “Oh I’m not planning to, trust me.” Adora said, before Catra drew her back in by her shoulders and snaked her arms up Adora’s neck.

Adora picked the magicat off the floor and did her best to keep making out with her while carrying the younger woman. Adora walked forward and pressed Catra against the door so she could get her hands back on the girl. Adora placed her firmly against the wooden door propping her leg against it to keep Catra in the air.

The mostly innocent kiss had now deepened into a full blown make out session, with Catra’s hands roaming around Adora’s front and hungrily kissing the blonde. Adora nibbled on Catra’s bottom lip and got a moan out of her. Adora smirked into the kiss and Catra had to pull away from the kiss to giggle.

“What are you smirking for?” Catra asked and Adora just kept smirking at her. Catra laughed again but it got cut off and turned into a moan when Adora ducked down and went for Catra’s neck.

“Ah- Adora.” Catra managed to say, in between her moans. “Ok big gal. I like this, but could we, ah-. At least leave the hallway.” Adora gently nipped Catra’s neck once again, before letting the feline down.

“Sorry, I got a bit carried away there.” Adora said and kissed Catra on her forehead. Catra looked up at Adora and then grabbed onto her shirt’s collar, tugging her face down. “I wasn’t complaining, just didn't feel like getting it on before we got out of the hallway." Catra said smugly, planting a kiss onto Adora's lips and grinning up at her girlfriend.

"Now who is the one smirking?" Adora said before laughing and picking Catra up in her arms in bridal style. Catra squealed when she was picked up into the air and clung to Adora's neck like a life line. Adora smiled brightly while carrying Catra into the feline's room.

"I forgot how strong you really are." Catra said and laid her head on Adora's shoulders.

When she found her way into Catra's room, she couldn't even bother turning the lights on passing the switch and gently dropped Catra onto her bed sitting next to her. "I think we should talk about this before we do anything."

Catra took a deep breath and then nodded, agreeing. "Yeah, you're right." She sat up on the bed and took another deep breath. "I don't want to force you into anything you don't want to do." Catra mentioned and placed her hand on Adora's shoulder. Adora turned to look at Catra and smiled at her. Catra squeezed Adora's shoulder and smiled back.

"You're not forcing me into anything. I'm just stressed." Adora let out and then switched her position so she was sitting directly in front of Catra. "What are you stressed about? Have you not done this with anyone before, even with Huntara?" Catra asked and Adora raised an eyebrow at her.

"I have, it's just a lot different with you then it was with Huntara. Besides, it's not that I would be inexperienced, it's just more of that I'm afraid that I'll be a disappointment." Adora let out and looked at her hands picking at her cuticles to avoid looking at Catra's face.

Adora shot her stare back up at Catra when she suddenly heard the feline chuckle. Seriously, Adora was opening about her insecurities and the girl had the audacity to laugh. Adora's shoulders slumped and she huffed out a puff of air and turned her stare back at her hands.

"No, no Adora. I'm not laughing at you to be mean I'm just laughing because I find your considerance endearing." Catra said placing her hands on Adora's cheeks and brought her look back into her eyes. "I understand that you're afraid of being a disappointment, that means you care. But I care about you and about how you feel, more than sex. I refuse to believe that it'll be anything less than amazing. But if it's not the right time, we don't have to do anything. Ok?" Catra said and Adora nodded slowly.

Catra pecked Adora's lips softly and then smiled. Before Catra could say anything more, Adora tilted her head slightly and continued kissing her again. Catra breathed out softly through her nose and wiggled her way onto Adora's lap. She threaded her fingers into Adora's hair and used that hand to pull Adora closer to her face.

"I want to. I really do. Do you?" Adora asked, reluctantly pulling away from Catra's warm lips, causing the magicat to whine. Adora smiled at her and waited for her answer.

"Yes Adora, I do. Is there anything else we need to talk about?" Catra asked. "No, I don't think there is. Just, say at any point if you want to stop or need to take a break." Adora reminded and after quickly nodding, Catra pulled her back into an eager kiss.

Adora softly pushed forward, gently laying on top of Catra on the bed. Catra tilted her head hinting at the girl above her to deepen the kiss. When Adora eventually did deepen the kiss, Catra sighed contently, and then slid her tongue against Adora's bottom lip. Adora parted her lips inviting the other girl's tongue inside her warm mouth. Catra let out a growl when Adora glided her tongue against Catra's fangs.

Adora teased Catra by sliding her tongue against her fangs and then by almost touching Catra's tongue, so much that when the blonde finally rolled her tongue against Catra's, the feline had to grip Adora's biceps desperately to stop herself from moaning louder.

Adora brought her hands to Catra's waist and untucked her dress shirt from her pants. Catra's hands slid down Adora's side, causing a quick halt in their kissing and making the girl on top shiver. Catra brought her hands to lay on Adora's waist and smiled into their kiss.

Adora rolled her tongue against Catra's once more, before moving down to kiss the corner of her mouth. Adora then began peppering kisses on Catra's skin in her quest to move down her body. Adora pressed kisses on Catra's cheeks, then her jaw, then the crook of her neck before moving down her neck and then finally stopping right above Catra's collar bone.

Catra had angled her head upwards so her neck would be on full display. Adora moved her hands over Catra's stomach and chest before finding her way to her neck, tugging down on her jacket's collar to slide it over her shoulders and then down her arms to chuck it to the other side of the room.

Catra arched her back when Adora latched onto her neck and sucked on her pulse point. Taking advantage of her position, Adora slipped her arms under Catra's dress shirt to push the hem higher up her stomach.

Adora pecked the mark she had left on Catra's skin and looked up at her eyes. Catra looked back at Adora panting, mouth slightly agape and then she turned to look to the direction her jacket had just flow to.

"This suit cost me a fortune so I'd be a bit more careful, princess." Catra pointed out and tapped Adora's nose. "Like you'd actually care." Adora fired back, rolling her eyes.

"In my defense, I did actually pay a lot for it. But I'll let it slide this time." Catra continued and Adora smiled at her. "I'll make sure to be more careful from now on." Adora snarked and kissed Catra again. Catra was planning on answering her girlfriend, but her words got stuck in her throat, when Adora moved her hands over Catra's chest again, this time pressing down on her breasts.

Once Adora's hands found Catra's dress shirt's collar, she began unbuttoning the shirt, while staring into Catra's eyes, who held the gaze. Once the first four buttons were popped open, Adora was the first to break eye contact and ducked back down to Catra's neck, continuing her trail of kisses.

"I appreciate that you want to savor the moment and take it slow but please, Adora." Catra groaned and massaged Adora's - who's mouth was still descending down Catra's stomach – scalp. Adora looked up at Catra and smiled at her again.

"Someone's being desperate..." Adora said and stopped her mission of opening Catra's dress shirt, laying her head a little below Catra's tits. Catra Let her hands slide down Adora's muscular legs that were straddling her waist. Catra slid her hands all the way to Adora's knees, and reversed the direction, moving her hands up again now under her dress, leaving faint lines on Adora's legs with her nails.

"Yeah, well I've wanted you to slam me against a wall with these muscles of yours ever since I saw you in all your 6 feet tall glory today earlier. So, can you really blame me?" Catra said and smirked at Adora, fangs and all. Adora's hips betrayed herself and accidentally ground against Catra when the feline pinched Adora's ass.

"And I don't seem to be the only desperate one." Catra added, took a break and then continued, "Now get back to where you were or we'll never get to the best part." Catra tugged Adora back to her stomach and then waited patiently for Adora to continue.

Adora continued her task of opening Catra's shirt buttons while kissing down her chest, now finally reaching her navel. Catra's panting started sounding more and more like moaning the closer to her waist Adora got.

Once Catra's whole shirt was unbuttoned, Adora straddled her girlfriend better and then pushed the shirt off, discarding it into the same direction on the floor as the jacket, this time making a show of how extra careful she was being.

Before Adora could register that Catra wasn't wearing a bra, Catra's arms looped around her back and she unzipped Adora's dress and let it slip off her shoulders, the dress ending pooled around her waist.

Catra let her gaze drop to Adora's cleavage that was the most visible part of Adora's boobs that were still otherwise covered by her sports bra. Catra admired Adora's upper body and scanning her eyes up back to her face she found the blonde smirking at her. Adora stripped the dress completely off herself and then laid back over Catra, bringing both of her hands under the brunettes boobs.

Catra held her breath, closing her eyes when she felt Adora kissing the sides of her left breast, while cupping the other. Adora rolled her nipple with her thumb, feeling it harden with the motion.

Adora pinched and twisted the peak of Catra's right breast and kept sucking onto the side of the other. She rolled Catra's unattended nipple into her mouth, sucking on it and getting a loud reaction from Catra.

"Ahh! Fuck, Adora." Catra moaned when Adora pinched and sucked her nipples simultaneously. Adora kept pressing kisses to Catra's chest and sternum when she moved over to her right breast and brought her other hand to give attention to the now slightly damp left breast while sucking on the other.

Catra tangled her hand back into Adora's golden locks and grabbed onto them to ground herself somehow. Adora rolled her tongue around Catra's nipple and let out a muffled moan when Catra tugged onto her hair.

"Adora, ah- Please." Catra whined lightly tugging Adora's head lower by her hair. The vibration of Adora's moan had made Catra wetter than she already was and having Adora marking her tits was not making it any easier.

Adora detached from Catra's nipple and slid back up ducking down to kiss Catra once again.

"What do you need?" Adora asked and leaned on her hand that was propped on the bed next to Catra's head. Adora leaned halfway on top of Catra in a way that it would look casual and innocent enough to someone else, but Catra knew, that Adora knew, that Catra knew that Adora knew what her leg was doing to Catra being placed like that in between her legs.

Catra ground against Adora's propped leg and stared at Adora intently, trying to get the blonde to do something more than just stare. Adora smiled at Catra and shook her head softly.

"You need to use your words, love." Adora said and Catra groaned and grinded against Adora's leg again.

"Please, Adora. Just- Fuck me." Catra whined and dragged Adora's hand onto her waistband. Adora smiled and gripped the side of Catra's waist.

"Hmm... Fine. But we have to get you out of these first." Adora said and slipped her hand under the waistband of Catra's dark red dress slacks. Catra kicked her socks off and then unbuttoned her pants, starting to shimmy out of them with urgent speed, causing Adora to laugh.

"I'm tired of you teasing me every chance you get, so I'm doing this myself to make it quicker." Catra said and managed to pull her pants off all the way without kicking Adora. Adora threw the pants to join the ever growing pile of clothes and placed herself back in between Catra open legs.

“I get the hint, thank you very much.” Adora said, slipping her hands under Catra’s back. Catra wiggled into a more comfortable position and then laid back down onto the bed.

“It’s not a hint when I come right out and say it, babe.” Catra stated and smirked at Adora, placing her hands up on Adora's back to unclasp her bra. Adora shook her bra straps down her arms and all the way off once it was unhooked and flung it onto the floor.

Adora went back to kissing Catra while the feline wrapped her arms behind her neck. While kissing her girlfriend, Adora pulled off Catra’s underwear and then placed her hands onto Catra’s hips so her thumbs were almost grazing her where she really wanted to be touched.

Adora moved away from Catra’s face, breaking the kiss in doing so and opened her eyes to be met with heterochromatic ones. “Listen, I’ve for a long while wanted to try something but didn’t really get the chance to do so in my last relationship. So, how’d you feel about me using a strap-on, on you?” Adora asked looking Catra in her eyes, looking for any sign of discomfort or uncertainty but she didn’t find any.

“Wow, are you assuming that I’m a bottom?” Catra snarked back with a smirk on her face. Adora rolled her eyes and kissed Catra on her nose.

“Out of the two of us? Yes.” Adora said and Catra fell into a laughing fit. “But if you’re not comfortable with that, it’s fine.” Adora finished and waited Catra to calm down from her uncontrolled laughing.

“It’s fine Adora, honestly. And yes, I would be comfortable with that. You’re getting brownie points for asking though.” Catra spoke and dropped her arms from Adora’s neck to sit up better. “Wow, brownie points for the bare minimum? What kind of assholes have you dated?” Adora teased and moved off Catra to let her sit up.

Catra rolled her eyes and then bent down to her nightstands drawer. Catra opened the second lowest drawer and took out her strap-on and then placed it on the bed while going through the drawer.

"Now before you tease me, it's completely normal for a woman who has been single for years to have these things so don't even try." Catra said and placed her lube on top of her nightstand, closing the drawer and then wrapped her arms around her knees insecurities filling her thoughts.

"I'm not going to tease you for enjoying yourself, Catra. Besides, I'd be lying if I said that I didn't have these things myself." Adora comforted her, leaning back on her arms and looking the feline in her eyes.

"So, since I didn't pack my own stuff do you want me to use these? Do you want me to clean it before I put it on, or has it already been cleaned?" Adora asked and picked up the strap-on turning it in her hands to conclude how it's easiest to slip on.

"I clean it after every time I use it, and it's only been used on me so it's not like it needs some super sanitizing." Catra said and let herself unwind and placed herself laying on the bed again.

Adora stood up and took off her own underwear, putting her legs through the straps and tightening them securely around her hips. Catra stared at Adora intently and waited for the blonde. Once the strap was secured around her, Adora walked back to the bed and sat on it slowly moving Catra's legs open, letting the cat girl to stop her at any point if she got overwhelmed.

Catra let Adora part her legs far enough so that the buffer girl would fit between her legs. Adora never moved her eyes away from Catra's face, continuously scanning it for any signs of discomfort that never appeared. Adora got up on her knees and moved so she was between Catra's now open legs and rested her hands on the feline's thighs, massaging them and easing any tension Catra held in them.

“Are you still comfortable?” Adora asked stopped any movement to be 100% sure that Catra wanted this. Catra nodded and held Adora’s stare seemingly trusting the taller woman. “Baby, I need you to audibly confirm that you still want to do this.” Adora added and decided to continue massaging Catra’s thighs.

“Yes. I want to.” Catra said after swallowing. One of the hands Adora was using to massage Catra, dipped lower to her cunt where Adora’s thumb swiped against Catra’s slit causing it to twitch, presumably checking if Catra was wet enough. The blonde brought her thumb to her lips and licked it clean, causing a shiver to cascade down Catra’s body who was still holding Adora’s intense stare.

Adora leaned forward to grab the lube and when she moved, she heard Catra gasp quietly. Adora grabbed the tube and looked down at Catra to figure out what had happened. Looking down, Adora noticed Catra blushing because in moving forward, Adora had pressed the strap-on against the brunettes clit which must have been pretty sensitive at this point.

Adora smiled at Catra and backed aways so the strap wouldn’t be pressing against her anymore. She put a small amount of lube on her finger and then spread it on the strap-on, before chucking the tube back onto the nightstand to avoid rubbing against Catra.

Adora dropped down to be held up by her arms and she pressed her lips against Catra’s again. Catra eagerly kissed her back placing her hands on Adora’s cheeks keeping the girl right there. Adora moved herself so she was balancing herself on one arm while the other dipped down to grab onto the strap-on to guide it in.

As soon as the tip touched Catra’s slit, she paused their kissing, waiting for Adora to continue. “Just, be slow. Please.” Catra whispered looking Adora deep into her eyes. Adora smiled at her, kissed her forehead and then whispered back. “I will”

Adora slowly pushed the strap on deeper going back to marking Catra's neck. Catra closed her eyes and let her body relax in the feeling of Adora being around her and Adora just being here. She was back and she was currently in Catra's bed, pushing a strap on deeper into her, making sure that Catra felt the best. Mara, did Catra love this woman.

Catra threw her legs around Adora's hips slightly pulling then blonde into her quicker. Adora out of pure surprise accidentally bit Catra's neck, which caused Catra to lock her legs tighter around Adora and pull the girl rest of the way into her. Catra let out a loud moan cause by the simultaneous feeling of Adora biting her neck and ramming the strap-on into her.

"Holy shit. Are you alright Catra?" Adora asked panicked and when she tried moved away from the shorter girl, she ended pulling out the strap-on a small amount which cause Catra to mewl and wrap her arms and legs tighter around Adora.

"Adora-" Catra started but got cut off by Adora's frantic talking. "I didn't hurt you, right? I just-" Adora rambled and moved back but cut herself off when she noticed Catra glaring at her. "Sorry, go on." Adora whispered and let Catra to slowly pull her back down on top of her.

"It's fine. It felt good. Now relax a little bit and just enjoy yourself princess." Catra said and wrapped her legs back around Adora's waist and waited for her to say something. When the blonde didn't move or say anything Catra turned to look at her face and found the blonde already staring at her.

Adora was blushing furiously and all the confidence that Catra had felt radiating off Adora was completely gone and she suddenly just looked like a confused teenager. Catra flipped them over so Adora was laying on her back, staring up at Catra. Catra closed her eyes and shivered when she slid down the couple of centimeters that had slipped out while she was turning them over.

Catra placed her hands on both sides of Adora's head and straddled the strap sitting on her knees. Catra pushed herself up the strap feeling it glide against her walls and then let her own body weight bring her back down to straddling Adora. Catra pushed herself up again and when she was sliding down again, she felt Adora's soft hands on her waist, helping her.

Catra pushed her hips up again, but this time instead of her, it was Adora who guided the movement. Moving up and down the strap made Catra's limbs feel like jelly, and having the energy to push herself up had melted out of her and was replaced by satisfaction. Catra laid down on top of Adora's chest, letting her be in charge of the movement of Catra's hips, while she let herself enjoy the movement.

"You comfortable, Cat?" Adora mumbled into Catra's ear while moving her own hips with the pace that she had set, meeting Catra's hips with every thrust. Catra just let out a quiet moan as an answer and smiled contently.

Catra felt herself being moved up along with Adora's body when she sat up to get Catra into a more comfortable position. The new position let Adora hit deeper in to Catra with the strap-on, resulting in an even more enjoyable experience for Catra.

The feline started pressing kisses to Adora's neck and decided to moan into her ear, which Adora paid back with an exceptionally hard thrust that threw off the rhythm of Catra's hips. Adora took advantage of the situation and quickened the rhythm of her thrusting. Changing the pace and the position Catra was in, made it easier for Adora to hit the spot that made Catra's vision black out.

"Ah- Adora. Don't stop." Catra whimpered and leaned her forehead against Adora's shoulder trying to stabilize her breathing. Adora moved one of her hands from Catra's waist, to the base of the fluffy tail that had at some point wrapped around Adora's thigh. Adora pressed on that spot, stimulating Catra even more.

“Adora, please. Harder.” Catra mewled against Adora’s shoulder and grinded her hips against Adora’s trying to push the strap deeper. Adora bent from her knees, brought her legs behind Catra and pushed the feline to lean on them. Adora, while at the same time thrusting into Catra and pressing down on the same spot at the base of Catra’s tail, now also went back to her neck and seemingly drove her crazy.

“Adora. I’m so close. Don’t stop, don’t stop don’t stop don’tstopdon’tstopdon’tstop! Adora!” Catra came with a scream and dug her nails into Adora’s back, clutching at her desperately when Adora sucked on Catra’s neck while pressing the base of her tail harder. Adora ran her palms up and down Catra’s back petting down her sweaty back fur.

The two women stayed like that, leaning against each other, gasping for air, Catra basking in her afterglow and Adora enjoying her girlfriend purring and holding onto the blonde like she was her lifeline. Adora pressed a kiss on her cat girlfriends cheeks, which brought out a quiet “Prrbt” of Catra that Adora tried her best not to gawk at.

“You feeling ok? Can you move yet?” Adora said massaging her girlfriends back and legs to get some energy into them. Catra breathed deeply in, held it in for a while, and then exhaled slowly. She pushed herself off Adora and smiled at her with a content expression. Catra nodded at her blonde and then leaned her forehead against Adora’s letting herself enjoy the feeling of Adora’s hands on her skin.

“Great, because my legs have been asleep a long while.” Adora said caressing Catra’s cheek. Catra opened her eyes and stared at Adora with a deadpan expression. Adora looked at her, not realizing why Catra was staring at her like that. Catra blew a puff of air at Adora’s face and rolled her eyes affectionally.

“Only you could turn a situation like that, into something completely different. Luckily I love you so I’m going to let it slide.” Catra said, kissed Adora on her nose and forehead, before sliding down Adora's body to lay between her legs, massaging them to get the blood into them.

"What is it?" Adora questioned, staring at Catra who was laying in-between her legs, smirking at her. Catra ran her hands up her muscular legs, to her hips and to the straps that were still around her waist and legs. Catra dipped a finger under one of the straps and smirked up at Adora again.

"We should get you out of this so I can make you feel as good as you made me." Catra said dropping her voice low to a sultry hushed tone. Adora brought her hands and started loosening the straps, when Catra grabbed onto her wrists, stopping the girl from taking the strap off.

"I wanna do it." Catra said and placed Adora's hands on both sides of her hips and got to work on loosening the straps to take the toy off of Adora. Adora bent at her knees and moved her legs back up for Catra to take off the strap-on. Catra's sharp nails drew faint white lines on Adora's thighs as she pulled the straps off Adora and then dropped it on the floor near the bed.

Catra crawled in-between Adora's legs, providing support for Adora's legs by placing her palms behind her knees and pushing her own elbows on the bed. Adora held Catra's intimate stare while the feline ran her palms up and down the underside of Adora's thighs and from time to time gently digging her claws into the plump skin.

The cat girl pressed her lips on Adora's knee and started kissing her way down her thigh, closer to Adora's pussy. Adora gasped and her legs twitched when Catra got one kiss away from her destination but then retreated her way back to her knee, but on the other leg this time.

"And yet, earlier you seemed to be against teasing..." Adora retorted and folded her hands on her chest slumping down on Catra's bed. Catra ever the teaser took a break from her track of lines to laugh at Adora's jab.

Catra pressed her lips back to where she previously was and stopped at that spot sucking gently on the spot and licking the mark before continuing her way down. Catra moved her hands higher on Adora's thighs to move her fingers out of her way, bringing them so she could thumb the mark she had left on Adora's skin.

When Catra had finally kissed her way down Adora's thighs she was about to press her lips on Adora's stomach, when the fitter woman grabbed onto her hair and gently pulled on it to guide Catra back down. Catra looked up into Adora's eyes, smirked and dropped herself to where Adora wanted her.

Catra repositioned herself so she was laying on the bed on her stomach, hands looping under Adora's legs, fingers sprawled on her lower back and mouth right in front of Adora's drenched cunt. Catra looked at Adora quickly before moving forward.

Catra licked up from Adora's slit to her clitoris, making Adora twitch and tighten her hold on Catra's hair. Catra stopped and looked up at her, waiting for a mark to continue. Adora nodded, loosened her grip on Catra's hair and exhaled slowly. Catra went back to eating Adora out.

"Shit, Catra. That feels good." Adora whispered and clung to the sheets with her free hand to make sure she didn't hurt Catra. Adora clenched her thighs around her girlfriends head, when she pressed her tongue on the blondes clit. Catra swirled circles on the spot before ducking down to her slit. Catra licked up to the clit again, dipping her tongue inside Adora.

Adora's breath hitched at the sensation of Catra's tongue inside her and Catra caught on quickly. Catra dipped her tongue back to her slit and then pushed it in. Adora moaned and pulled slightly on Catra's hair, her heartbeat picking up speed. Catra kept moving her mouth and eating Adora out despite her reactions. "More. Catra, please." Adora whispered staring at Catra and enjoying the show.

“Please? I haven’t heard you say that word in a long time, princess.” Catra teased and dragged her left hand’s claws down Adora’s back and ass. Catra retracted her claws as much as she could and then brought her pointer finger to where her mouth just was. Adora leaned back down and her eyes fluttered closed when she felt Catra’s finger push inside her.

Catra started moving her hand, letting her head get pushed down by Adora and continued paying attention to her clit while being mindful of her claws staying retracted. Adora started rhythmically moving her hips meeting Catra’s motion of pulling her finger out and then pushing it back in. Catra kept doing the same movement when she pulled her finger completely out and then pushed it back in with her middle finger.

“Catra, faster, harder, just- more.” Adora said, out of breath and desperate.

“Awh. No please this time?” Catra said but ducked down back to Adora’s cunt licking it and from time to time pressing different shapes on her clit.

“Stop teasing me-aahhh!” Adora moaned, pulling at Catra’s hair and clenching the magicats head between her thighs. Catra stared at Adora in shock. The girl just decided to suck on her clitoris and push her fingers deeper to make her girlfriend feel good, not make her cum. Adora leaned her head on the headboard of Catra’s bed and laughed at the expression on Catra’s face.

“Thanks for that.” Adora laughed and tried to relax enough to let Catra pull her fingers out to no avail. Catra pressed kisses on Adora’s abs that tightened under Catra’s breath and slowly pulled her fingers out once the waves of pleasure had died down on. Catra got off Adora’s body so the girl could lay down properly on the bed.

“I wasn’t planning for you to cum so quick but you seem to be full of surprises.” Catra chuckled and dropped her body against Adora’s once the blonde had laid down in a comfortable position.

Adora wrapped her arms around Catra and pulled the comforter over them to wrap the two of them with warmth.

“I’m sorry! I haven’t had time to, you know... And I ended my relationship with Huntara over a year ago.” Adora laughed and pulled Catra close to her who then pressed her face into the crook of Adora’s neck.

“It’s fine. Because right now I’m happy as ever, and really tired but besides that.” Catra said and laughed with Adora, feeling really giddy. Adora pulled Catra’s face away from the crook of her neck to look her into the eyes and smiled at her.

Catra pulled Adora towards her and pressed her lips against her girlfriends. The kiss was full of smiles and giggles but the girls were happy and safe with each other. And with those thoughts, our favorite lesbians fell asleep holding each other close.
