A Hard Day's Work Deserves a Reward

by Anonymous

Summary

After a frustrating day of diplomatic negotiations, Adora finds her girlfriend asleep in their bed and decides it's time to play a game.

Notes

This work features consensual non-consent. No negotiation is shown, but both parties are completely on board with everything that happens.

Exhausted, Adora made her way back to Mara’s ship. It was late into the night, and she was drained from a long day of negotiations. She had been working with Glimmer and the council these past few weeks, going planet to planet to discuss trade and helping them get back on their feet after Horde Prime’s defeat.

The room Catra and her shared on the ship was sparse, but that was how they preferred it, both conditioned by the Horde to have minimum items. They technically were offered a suite on the planet they were currently helping, but there was something reassuring about coming back to a familiar room, especially after a hard day.

The king from Sennone was… well, he was a pompous ass, to be honest. He didn’t like the thought of magic, likely because he was worried about anything that would upset his authority.

His son, however, was much more pleasant, just with less diplomatic power. The day had been filled with back-and-forth, mainly between Glimmer and His Royal Pain, with Catra chiming in as the Queen's advisor. Bow was playing as peacekeeper, while Adora tried not to glare everyone into submission. She chose to stay mostly quiet during these talks, too aware that she was an active reminder of how powerful magic could be.

After some diplomat made a snide remark about Catra’s competence, Adora was sure the Magicat had left claw marks on the upholstery. Catra had finally called it quits after many hours of negotiations, giving Adora a look and forgoing their offered room in the palace altogether to retreat to Mara’s ship.

By the time Adora was able to extract herself and make it to their shared room, Catra was fast asleep.

Her girlfriend’s hair was still in its ponytail, a testament to how tired she truly was. She had stripped out of her jumpsuit and was just in her undergarments.

Adora toed off her boots, pausing at the foot of the bed to simply watch for a moment.

Catra's breathing was smooth and peaceful. It had taken months after the war ended, countless nights of holding each other and chasing away nightmares, for Catra to stop naturally curling up into a ball in her sleep. To stop resting so defensively. It was the only reason Adora was able to get this close without claws at her throat.

As she watched, her girlfriend arched in her sleep, tail flexing—drawing Adora's attention downward. Catra's pert ass was hidden beneath her underwear, but she still looked so enticing, lying on her stomach loose and spread out.

A small smile played on her lips as she thought out a plan. Bow and Glimmer were in their room in the palace, meaning the ship was Adora and Catra's tonight. She shrugged off her jacket, setting it near Catra's face.

Adora tiptoed back to the hull to grab some rope, vowing Bow could never find out about this. She created an easy loop as she made her way back to the bedroom, wondering if the Horde ever guessed their knot lessons would be used for something like this.

Stepping back into the bedroom, she took a deep breath to get into character.

In a flash, she slipped the loop of rope around Catra's right ankle and lashed it to the footboard of the bed.

Catra's left leg swung back reflexively as she jolted awake, claws out. Adora caught it at the ankle, eyeing her girlfriend for any sign that she wasn't in the mood tonight. She imagined it was only the scent of Adora's jacket by her face that saved Adora from being shredded to bits. The jacket was practically their safe symbol; this was a game they had played before.

Catra retracted her claws, a clear sign to Adora.

Let's play.

Catra began to struggle against Adora's hands as she pressed her to the mattress. Adora had to fight hard to keep Catra pinned on her stomach, all but tackling her to affix her left leg to the footboard as well.

Catra snarled when she must've realized the exposed position this left her in, her legs completely spread and pinned. Her tail lowered to protect her intimate bits, playing shy.

Adora would make sure she couldn't play shy for long.

Before Catra could get any ideas on escaping, Adora grabbed her ponytail to wrench her head back, one knee digging into her shoulder blades.

"If it isn't my lucky day," Adora drawled, dodging another swipe of claws. "Finding a Horde soldier all the way out here." She yanked Catra's hair a bit harder as the girl squirmed underneath her, throwing curses. "What's a Force Captain doing all alone, unprotected?"

Catra threw an elbow back, nailing Adora in the ribs. "I can protect myself!"

Adora winced at the impact, but her heart sped up with excitement. She smiled; her girl was not going to go down easy tonight.

"Obviously not, if you were this easy to capture," she taunted.

Adora knew every aspect of Catra's fighting, having trained along side her for years, and then battling against her for a few more. She knew the smaller girl could have had the rope in ribbons by now, but didn't. The faith she was putting in Adora, the mutual trust to play this game of theirs, made her heart leap into her throat.

“What the fuck do you want?” Catra’s tail lashed as she spoke. It curled some, caressing Adora’s wrist gently, then went back to twitching restlessly—signaling that everything was okay.

Adora scratched at her scalp once, just enough to hear the Magicat gasp. “Let’s start with something easy,” she taunted, voice sickly sweet. “What’s this month’s security clearance code?”

“Like I’d tell you.”

Adora stroked Catra’s bare side lightly, teasing at the skin where her tank top had ridden up. She enjoyed the full body shiver of her girlfriend underneath her.

“Let me up!”

“Hmm.” Adora’s grin was nearly feral. “I’m gonna go with no.”

Quick as a flash, Catra’s left hand swiped, claws retracted but still dangerous. She scratched Adora’s hand with blunt nails where it was tangled in her ponytail, enough to redden the skin.

Adora hissed in pain. “Bad kitty.” She grabbed the wrist as it came for another swipe, keeping Catra’s torso down with the weight of her knee. With her free hand, she tugged her belt loose from her pants.

Catra quickly found her wrists crudely tied together at the small of her back. She had no leverage to do anything other than squirm. Adora paused for a moment, checking the tightness. Catra obligingly flexed her fingers, then went back to thrashing and snarling.

Looking down at her handiwork, Adora wondered what it said about herself that the sight of her girlfriend struggling and helpless made her core tighten.

“You’re going to tell me what I want, Force Captain, even if I have to drag it out of you.” Adora ran her fingers up Catra’s tail, then tugged once at the base.

Catra arched into the touch, trying to hide how much it affected her. Adora could feel her panting.

“The access codes,” she prompted again. Adora ran her fingers under the band of Catra’s compression tank.

“Don’t touch me!” Catra twisted at the waist, nearly throwing Adora off.

Well, that just wouldn’t do.

With a small thought, Adora summoned her sword, the noise catching her prisoner’s attention.

Catra froze, then grit out, “Don’t you dare.”

Adora chuckled. “Careful, Force Captain,” she cooed. “We wouldn’t want an accident, would we?” She slid the point of the sword under the back of Catra’s tank, cutting the fabric from the bottom up to between her shoulders.

All the while Catra trembled beneath her, trying to hold still to avoid the blade.

The piece of clothing came completely off with a few more tears, leaving her captive topless—the stripes on her back fully exposed.

“I wonder,” Adora mused, “how long it will take you to break.” With that, she snaked her hand under Catra to rest her hand the girl’s stomach.

“I wont.” Catra’s voice shook.

Adora smiled. “So brave.” Her hand started to gently stroke at Catra’s tummy, loving the feel of the muscles jumping under her touch. “But you have no leverage here, no back up. You may as well just tell me what I want to know.”

Catra was getting impatient, her tail flicking. “Or else what?” she taunted, a clear sign to for Adora to get on with it.

Well, Adora wasn’t one to back down from a challenge. She slid her hand up from Catra’s stomach to her breast, watching as her girlfriend thrashed face-down. Her wrists flexed in their binds, but she couldn’t stop Adora as she found and tweaked a nipple teasingly.

Catra squeaked. She tried to arch away from the pain, but Adora followed her to pinch again, this time twisting slightly.

Adora sat the sword on the bed in Catra’s view, a clear reminder to behave. She then used the hand under Catra to haul the girl up back onto her knees, pushed back-to-chest against Adora. Adora kept Catra pinned against her, snaking both arms around to grope at her chest.

Catra gasped at the sudden change, which morphed into a startled yelp when one of Adora’s hands came down to drag her nails down a breast. Catra threw her head back, chest heaving, and Adora could just see her panicked eyes from this angle, slightly unfocused and blinking rapidly.

She inched one hand back down, across Catra’s stomach, to toy with the line of her panties. Catra’s head shook frantically, a plea tumbling off her lips, but Adora ignored her in favor of slipping her fingers past the band.

Catra tried to clamp her thighs shut, but her ankle bindings kept her spread.

Adora laughed as she slid her hand all the way inside the other girl’s underwear, delighted at what she found there. “Naughty kitty, are you wet?” She could feel the heat of Catra’s cunt, and the slickness between her lips.

Tears of shame gathered in Catra's eyes, and she renewed her struggles against the other girl's hold. But Adora was too strong.

Adora dipped her fingers through the wet heat she found, then retreated higher to circle Catra's clit.

Catra almost moaned.

"What would your squad think if they saw you like this, Force Captain?" Adora kept her voice detached, unaffected. "Spread out and panting like a bitch in heat."

"Fuck off," Catra panted, unable to make the words sound more stern. She couldn't catch her breath.

"I'll stop if you give me the codes." Adora tweaked her clit again, just to hear her squeal. "Or maybe… that's not the way to motivate a filthy girl such as yourself." She slid her fingers lower, slipping two into Catra's cunt while using the palm of her hand to grind against her clit.

Catra clenched around her hand, a hiss escaping her lips.

"Maybe I should only give you release if you cooperate. If you beg."

With that, she removed her hand, leaving Catra empty and panting. Her hips twitched once, twice, chasing the sensation.

The room was silent for a beat as Catra attempted to get her breathing under control.

"Well?" Adora prompted.

With a flash of irritation, Catra found she wasn't ready to submit. She bucked back, hard, and Adora lost her balance momentarily.

Catra dove for the sword, twisting her middle to try to grab at it with her hands still bound behind her. Just as her fingertips touched the cool metal, Adora wrapped one hand around her bicep and hauled her away.

Catra found herself again lying face down, and this time Adora's hand tightened on the back of her neck to keep her there.

"Fine," Adora panted. "If that's how you want it."

Adora grabbed the torn cloth that was once Catra's tank top, ripping a strip and tying it around Catra's mouth. Catra tried to shake her head, to resist, but Adora’s hand returning to gently tighten on her neck dissuaded her of that notion.

She let out a muffled scream once it was tied, as Adora's attention soon turned to literally ripping the panties off her body.

Adora felt a thrill shoot through her at the sight of Catra's exposed behind, her spread legs doing nothing to hide the wetness clinging to her pussy lips. The Magicat tried to cover herself with her tail—and well, Adora couldn’t let that stand.

Adora grabbed her tail and forced it out of the way, pinching a cheek when Catra resisted. The girl only struggled harder, thrashing back and forth under her and panting into the mattress.

Adora hummed thoughtfully. This beautiful girl. Hers.

And hers for the taking.

Adora picked up her sword from the bed, making sure Catra saw the movement, before moving it behind Catra’s back and out of her sight.

With a thought, Adora reduced the magic sword to nothing but the hilt, the blade disappearing so it couldn’t do any accidental damage.

Still, Catra didn't need to know that. Adora grinned.

"Easy now," Adora crooned, allowing the end of the hilt to gently drag around Catra's tail, then lower toward her cunt.

Catra gave a full body flinch, squealing slightly.

"I'd hate to cut something as pretty as you on accident."

Catra's legs stilled, trembling. Her chest heaved with quick breaths.

Adora smiled. "Good girl." At that, she let the hilt dip in slightly, running against Catra's entrance.

Catra whined against the gag, and Adora obliged, pressing in more. Her eyes couldn't look away from where the metal was sinking in, being swallowed up greedily by Catra's wet heat.

The pair paused here, both catching their breaths.

Eventually, Catra ground back against where Adora was keeping the hilt in her, a grunt forcing its way from her throat.

Well, Adora wasn't about to let Catra get away with that. Grinning, she raised her free hand and slammed it down on Catra's ass, while she ground the hilt harder into her girlfriend.

Catra wailed, hands flexing as if she were dying to be free and take matters into her own hands.

"Did you forget who's in charge here?" Adora's voice was sweet, completely opposite of how she was fucking the girl bound beneath her.

Catra shook her head frantically, little pleas escaping from behind the gag. The hand not holding the sword lowered to rub small, unhurried circles into Catra's clit. Catra nearly lifted off the bed with the force of her jerk.

The sword's handle made obscene squelching noises as it lazily fucked in and out of Catra. Adora tilted the metal down, making sure to rub the raised end over the sensitive spot of Catra's front wall, delighting in her moans. Adora knew Catra's orgasm was soon approaching.

She stopped just as Catra started to tense her tail, a sure sign she was about to come.

The girl beneath her sobbed, hips jerking slightly to chase the pleasure.

"Are you going to cooperate now?" Adora asked.

Catra panted, ears pinned back and eyes wet with frustrated tears.

Adora pumped the sword once, twice, just to hear Catra scream, then paused again.

"Mm, mmm," Catra yelled from behind her gag, her body practically shaking.

Adora reached down to tug the gag out of Catra's mouth, mindful of her sharp teeth. The girl's mouth opened and closed, dazed.

"The codes," Adora reminded her.

"Fuck," Catra ground out. "Echo niner one dash delta. Now you better—aah!" Her demand turned strangled as Adora grew the metal inside her, thickening and lengthening it as she rapidly fucked into her captive.

"Good girl," Adora laughed at Catra's outraged moan, and dug her nails into the back of Catra's neck as she held her down, helpless.

Catra jerked against the mattress, screaming as she tumbled over the edge. Her orgasm was violent, her cunt pushing the toy back against Adora's hand as if trying to expel it. Excess fluids shot out around the metal, soaking Adora's hand.

As Catra lay twitching in the aftershocks, Adora grinned. "Slut."

Catra only moaned in response, unable to move.

Adora loosened the belt around her wrists, gently unfolding her arms while Catra hummed. Slowly, she dragged out the hilt from Catra, her greedy walls unwilling to let it go. Once it was free, she transformed it into a dagger to slice the ropes holding Catra's ankles.

Catra rolled onto her back, smiling as Adora rubbed at her ankles and calves, working back the circulation.

"Everything feel okay?" Adora's voice was soft.

Catra quirked an eyebrow. "I don't think you came, Rebel Scum. Maybe I haven't learned my lesson just yet."

Adora laughed. "You're insatiable." She crawled over Catra, straddling her waist as she finally began to undress. She pulled off her top, tossing it somewhere in the corner of the room.

Catra immediately reached for her exposed breasts, huffing when Adora smacked her hands away.

"Baby, just let me—"

"Did I say you could speak, Force Captain?"

Catra swallowed. She shook her head.

Adora gathered Catra's wrists and pressed them above her head, squeezing once in warning. "Keep these here."

She lifted herself, wiggling out of her bottoms, and finally bared her own heat, the cool air not doing much to soothe the ache. She ground down against Catra's core, causing both girls to gasp.

Catra lifted her hands, and moaned when Adora immediately pressed them back down with her weight.

“Kitty can’t listen?” Adora practically purred. “That’s okay. I’ll help you.”

Keeping Catra’s wrists pinned, Adora knee-walked up to the top of the bed. Catra’s eyes flashed as she realized what Adora was doing, her breath speeding up.

Adora spread her legs over Catra’s face, eyes fluttering at the feel of Catra’s warm breath against her core. Catra tried to lift her hands again, the little shit, but her arms were held down by Adora’s folded legs.

“Bite me and I’ll smack your clit so hard you cry,” Adora breathed, then lowered herself onto Catra’s mouth.

Catra didn’t even pretend to be anything other than eager, moaning as she lapped into Adora’s wet heat. Her nose brushed against Adora’s clit, forcing out a little gasp.

“This is all you needed, isn’t it?” Adora raised a hand to play with her own breast, pinching and rolling a nipple just as she had done to Catra.

Catra made some attempt to answer, but the words were lost to Adora’s folds.

Adora grinned. “Just a bad kitty, needing someone to put her in her place.” She ground her hips in little circles, giving Catra just enough room to take quick breaths before she had her face full again.

“And this is your place, isn’t it? Under me. Serving me.”

Catra moaned, and the vibrations against her cunt made Adora shutter. Her eyes closed as she chased her own pleasure.

She was close, but not there yet. She needed… she needed…

Adora got no warning before one of Catra’s fangs scraped against her clit, sending a line of fire up deep into her core.

Her orgasm was wrenched out of her, her pussy fluttering against her girlfriend's eager mouth below, riding out the waves.

When she finally came down from her high, she looked down at where Catra was mostly covered beneath her. The girls eyes screamed a challenge, and Adora could swear she felt her smile.

"Oh," Adora panted, "you're going to regret that."

Summoning her magic to her hands, Adora created a band of light, lifting off of Catra only to press her back down—collaring her to the bed with magic.

"Wait, Adora, no—"

She briefly saw a look of panic cross Catra's face as she realized she couldn't lift her neck, but without a called out safeword, Adora wasn't stopping.

Knowing Catra couldn't get away, Adora now took her time. She lifted Catra's legs, finally allowing her true strength slip through, and none of Catra's thrashing about even registered.

"I didn't even bite you, it was barely a tooth!"

Catra was slowly folded in half, her knees ending up by her ears, while her pleading was ignored. Adora spared a thankful though to Catra's flexibility.

Two more bands of light were summoned, each holding a knee down in place, leaving Catra's entire cunt raised and exposed.

"Adora, please don't, I won't—"

Adora's hand slapped down on Catra's clit, the sound echoing in the room, and Catra howled. She tried to wiggle out, but there was nowhere to go. This was the type of play they couldn't do unless they were alone on the ship, because Catra was incapable of being quiet during her punishments.

It really had been too long since she was able to have Catra like this, completely at her mercy.

Adora slowly raised her hand again, waiting until Catra's eyes had fluttered back open, and then slammed it back down on her target. Catra's clit was a bright red, hard and peaking out of its hood as Catra screamed.

Still, no tears though.

Adora was a woman of her word.

Again, she raised her hand, delighting in the desperate look in Catra's eyes. "Stop, stop please, no don't—AHH!"

This time after the smack, Adora kept her hand on Catra's cunt, grinding down. Catra's clit must have been on fire, yet she still moaned and tried to rock against Adora's fingers.

"You're such a fucking slut." Adora laughed at Catra's sob. "Grinding on my hand with your abused little clit."

She circled the poor nub with her fingers, drawing another wail out of Catra.

"Still," she mused, "I couldn't have hurt you that badly if you can still hump my hand. I guess I just haven't hit you hard enough yet." She gave Catra a vicious grin, delighting in the panic and fear she saw there. Her eyes were shiny, but her cheeks were dry.

"Adora, no, I'm sorry—I'm sorry, please, stop." Catra panted, but still didn't safeword.

With her left hand, Adora sunk three fingers straight into Catra, who fluttered around her, still soaked from her earlier orgasm. She teased her pinky at Catra's entrance as the girl gasped, mouth gaping.

Adora curled her fingers up at the same time as she slapped Catra's clit hard, one final time. The girl's scream was overshadowed by her cunt spasming around Adora's fingers, another orgasm overtaking her.

Tears streamed down Catra's face as she came, gasping around sobs and quaking in the aftershocks. Her eyes were wide open, unseeing.

Adora gently removed her hand, melting away her magic restraints with a thought. Catra collapsed without her bonds, a boneless heap on the bed.

Smiling, Adora lay next to her girlfriend, gathering her in her arms and pressing Catra's nose into her neck. It took Catra a few moments to come back to herself, still panting.

Eventually, Catra must've found the strength to lift her head, her lips seeking Adora's. They kissed lazily, each catching their breath. Catra shifted on her side, then jolted and gasped when her closed thighs jostled her abused clit.

She pulled back slightly to give Adora a half-hearted glare, the effect lessened by the tears still clinging to her lashes.

"That's going to be a bitch for sitting through more negotiations tomorrow," she accused.

Adora only smiled, intertwining their fingers. "I did warn you."

"Please," Catra snorted, "You just needed to get your anger out over King Dickhead. And you had to beat your poor, defenseless girlfriend to do it."

"And you liked it."

"…and I liked it."

The pair giggled, relishing in just holding each other close. Adora's blinks eventually grew longer, the length of the day catching up to her. Catra kissed her forehead, then each cheek, then finished with a kiss to her lips. Come morning, they would have to rush to shower, and Catra would have to hunt for a new pair of (non-ripped) underwear. They had long days ahead of them, but here, in the dark of their bedroom, they could simply just be.

“I love you.”

“I love you, too.”
