Help Me Out

by farstarz23

Summary

Prompt: As much as Glimmer loves her boyfriend, Bow, she can't help but feel that his bedroom skills have been… lacking lately. Hopelessly frustrated, she searches for help, only to find it through her best friend, Adora…and her girlfriend, Catra

OR: For educational purposes, Glimmer watches Catra and Adora have sex.

Notes

A/N: This is basically just Catradora smut with a touch voyeurism/exhibitionsim and a little bit of Glimbow thrown in the mix. Most, if not all of the smut is in chapters 3 so if you're just here for the sex (no judgment), go there! I hope you enjoy this filth that my brain created :)

CW: Trans top Catra, Bottom Adora, Brief descriptions of recreational drug use, Exhibitionism/Voyeurism, Dom/Sub Themes.

See the end of the work for more notes

Chapter 1

"Dor, I just don't know what to do", Glimmer sighed, looking helplessly into her friend's sympathetic blue eyes.

Although it had been a while since she had seen her best friend, Adora was the first person Glimmer called when her little "issue" had grown into an enormous, increasingly frustrating delema. It barely took two rings of the phone before Adora picked up and listened to all her troubles. And like the beautiful, kind, and painstakingly loyal person the blonde was, she listened to Glimmer rant about one thing and one thing only… Her boyfriend, Bow.

Usually they weren't the type of girls that talked non-stop about their relationships, in fact, they usually made fun of the people who had nothing better to do than talk about their partners. But this time, it was different.

Trust her, she loved Bow. More than anything. He was her high school sweetheart and she adored him just as much now, if not more, than she did then. She still saw fireworks when he kissed her and goosebumps still prickeled at her skin when he touched her. Bow treated her like a queen and put her before everything. She couldn't ask for a better boyfriend. Glimmer was 100% certain that she was going to marry him one day. He was undoubtedly her soulmate.

But lately, she couldn't help but notice something was lacking. No Bow wasn't treating her any differently; and no he wasn't acting like a jerk. His performance in the bedroom, however, was another story…

To put it simply, he couldn't get her off to save his life.

Normally, sex with Bow was wonderful. He had the body of a God and Glimmer loved touching him just as much as he loved touching her. And because they had been together for so long, they were very in-tune with each other's bodies. Bow could make her knees weak with a single touch; he knew where to kiss her, how to kiss her, everything to make Glimmer shudder and see stars. He was soft and careful, always checking to see if she was alright. Usually that kind of sweet, gentle loving was all Glimmer needed. Usually with a soft spoken 'I love you' against the shell of her ear and the easy thrust of his hip against hers, Bow could take her to cloud 9- and she loved it. Which is why-for the life of her- Glimmer could not understand what was going on.

Lately those sweet, loving caresses just weren't doing it for her. It wasn't like she hated it, she still very much enjoyed the way he would whisper how much she meant to him, or how he would touch her tenderly and tell her how beautiful she was. But for some reason, it just wasn't enough. Even if she felt close to something, she just couldn't get that extra push to tip her over the edge.

Now, it was getting to the point where every time they had sex Glimmer was almost expecting not to have an orgasm. No matter what, sex with Bow was leaving her extreamely frustrated and dare she say it… Disappointed.

Which is why after nearly a month of increasingly unpleasurable sex, she needed help. And who better to go to than her best friend, Adora.

Contrary to when they first met, Adora was never shy about her sex life; Glimmer could probably thank her best friend's girlfriend (and Adora's lack of a filter) for that. Before, Adora had been reserved, nearly virginal when it came to sex. Any mention of the subject would make her face spark bright red to the tips of her ears and words jumble in her sputtering mouth. Adora had barely wanted to tell her doctor that she was sexually active, let alone Glimmer or any of her other friends. Then, along comes this mysterious girlfriend and suddenly the blonde was freer than a bird.

Now, she never hesitated to tell Gimmer about all the sinful things she did with her girlfriend. Adora had even joked that her partner was doing a wonderful job of railing the repression right out of her. Glimmer never thought she would see a day where Adora, of all people, would leave her feeling like she needed to bathe in holy water.

Nevertheless, she figured if her best friend was comfortable showing Glimmer her nudes and telling her all about how her girlfriend licked cake icing off of her tits, Adora wouldn't have any trouble helping her fix the problem that was slowly chipping away at her sanity.

So here she was, sitting in a crowded Brightmoon University coffee shop, looking helplessly at her best friend, begging for answers.

"Aww, it'll be okay," Adora cooed, reaching over to lay a hand on top of Glimmers. She gave it a gentle squeeze. "Things like this happen all the time, especially to the couples who've been together for like, ever."

"I just don't get it." Glimmer sighed, pulling her hand away to comb it through her fluffy pink hair. "Like is something wrong with me?" she couldn't help but whine like a petulant child.

Adora chuckled, taking a sip of the hot chocolate steaming in front of her. "Glimmer, calm down. Nothing's wrong with you," she said coolly.

"Well it has to be me!" Glimmer exclaimed. She huffed and slumped back in her seat, crossing her arms. "Because Bow hasn't done anything different from what he's done before."

"Well…" the blonde stretched out her words. "Maybe that's the issue." Adora said, setting her hot chocolate down.

"What do you mean?"

Adora shrugged her shoulders. “Maybe you guys need to change it up a little bit,” Glimmer furrowed her eyebrows and tilted her head, confused. “You know, add a little spice into the mix...” The blonde tried, playfully rolling her eyes when Glimmer’s eyes narrowed, again confused. Adora sat back, lifting one of her eyebrows before speaking. “Glim, what exactly do you and Bow do when you guys have sex?”

Glimmer blushed, shifting in her seat so Adora wouldn’t see the heat crawling up her neck. While her best friend may have felt newly liberated and comfortable sharing every little detail about her sex life, Glimmer was still a work in progress. She had barely even said anything and she was already red in the face.

The pink haired girl hesitated, swallowing thickly before she decided to speak up. “Well we usually start with some kissing,” Adora nodded and waved her hand, motioning her friend to keep going. “He’ll kiss my neck… a-and uhm, he’ll touch my waist. Usually by then I start feeling things… uh- tingly, I guess.”

Adora smiled. “Good. So he can still get you turned on?”

“Oh yeah,” Glimmer nodded quickly. “Getting me started isn’t the problem… It’s just -uh- finishing that’s the issue.”

“Okay, keep going.” Adora said. “After you start touching and kissing, what happens?”

“He’ll usually ask if I want to do something,” Glimmer glared at the playful smirk Adora flashed her. “Because he’s a gentleman.. And consent is sexy.” she added.

“Oh yes! Of course,” Adora said with a giggle. “But I’m just imagining Bow curtseying with your hand and saying ‘would you like to have relations, m’lady’,”

Glimmer shook her at her friend’s fake “scholar” voice, though she couldn’t help but laugh a little because she could definitely see Bow doing something silly like that. And he already called her his ‘queen’. But that was beside the point.

“Adora, c’mon,” Glimmer whined.

“Okay, okay,” Adora laughed, raising her hands in surrender. “Keep going. After he asks- like a gentleman- what happens next?”

“Well, we’ll usually get up and walk to the bed,” Glimmer said, “Then we’ll get undressed and uhm- he’ll kiss me again and kinda, I don’t know- feel me up? Then he’ll lay me down and we’ll kiss some more.”

“Does he ever kiss you anywhere other than your neck or your lips?”

Glimmer shook her head, shifting her gaze downward as her cheeks flushed bright red. And just when she thought they couldn’t get any redder. “Uh-uhm… N-no, just those two. He’ll kiss my boobs sometimes but mostly he just kinda likes to touch them.”

“What?!” Adora exclaimed, leaning forward. Glimmer jumped back at the sudden outburst. “So he doesn’t even like, eat your pussy?” the blonde asked incredulously, furrowing her eyebrows.

“N-no.. No he doesn’t,” Glimmer shook her head.

“Do you suck his dick?” Adora asked, her dark eyebrows raised and her tone sharp. Welp, that had definitely earned them a few turned heads. But Adora could care less. “Please don’t tell me you suck his dick. You know, unless that’s your preference, you should never be sucking a person’s dick if they won’t eat your pussy. That's the law, Glim.”

Glimmer’s mouth dropped open, her head shaking rapidly as she moved to put her hands over her best friend’s mouth. “Geez, Dor, could you keep your voice down?” she whispered sharply before smiling guiltily at all the curious faces looking their way. Adora only rolled her eyes and moved away from Glimmer’s hand. The pink haired girl sat back in her chair and cleared her throat. “And no, no I do not suck his-... dick… we don’t put our lips near each other’s genitals.”

“Okay then,” Adora heaved a heavy sigh. “What happens next?”

Glimmer cleared her throat. “Usually by that point, we uhm- start, I guess?”

“You mean he sticks his dick in you?” Adora deadpanned. Good Gods, it was like 0 to 60 with this woman. Why did she have to be so damn blunt all the time?

“Uh.. yeah,” Glimmer coughed.

Adora rested her chin in her hand, tapping her index finger against face as her pink lips lifted into a smirk. “And how does that feel?”

Glimmer sat back and thought for a moment. It didn’t feel like the best thing, but it hurt or anything if that’s what she was asking. “Good enough,” she answered with a shrug.

“Glim,” Adora sighed. “He should be working you up to the point where that moment should feel fucking amazing…You should feel like you wanna cry and cum all at the same time because it feels so good. And that goes for both of you.”

Glimmer shrugged again, rolling her eyes at her best friend’s exaggeration. “It’s not like...bad,” she said.

Adora pursed her lips. Her girlfriend was practically a professional tease; she would work the blonde up to the point where she’d nearly be in tears by the time the other woman decided to put her out of her misery. Adora couldn’t fathom the idea of not feeling anything less than heaven when her girlfriend finally started fucking her. So, to hear Glimmer say that it was only “good enough” let her know that this was even worse than she thought.

Nevertheless, the blonde nodded and kept listening. “Okay, what’s next?”

“Well, once we start, he’ll go slow and ask me if I’m okay… After I tell him I’m fine he’ll go a little faster, tell me I’m beautiful every once in a while, a-and that he loves me.” Glimmer flashed a tight smile. “It’s sweet.”

As much as she loved his sweet words, Glimmer couldn’t help but feel a bitter flash of disappointment at the fact that they weren’t working anymore.

“Well as sweet as it is, it sounds boring,” Adora said bluntly. “Does he ever ya know, get a little rough? Do you guys even switch positions?”

“Oh uh- no, no he doesn’t,” Glimmer shook her head, her heart stuttering in her chest at the thought of her sweet, gentle Bow being rough and demanding with her. “And I get on top sometimes but it's usually just while we’re kissing.”

“And what usually happens towards the end?”

Unknowingly, Glimmer rolled her eyes. Gods, where to even begin about the end? For Glimmer, there was no end. No big finish. No grand finale. Rather, it was more like an unfortunate, extremely frustrating halt. Like a roller coaster that comes to an abrupt stop right before it hits the big drop; or a car stopping right in the middle of a busy highway right as it nears the exit.

“Well…” Glimmer trailed off, shaking her head for a moment. “Bow will speed up, but it’ll be a little.. uh- sloppy, I guess. But it’ll be because he’s about to ya know…”

“Cum,” Adora finished for her.

Glimmer nodded silently, she prayed this would be over soon. She didn’t want to keep talking about the ins and outs of her sex life, she just wanted to know how to fix it, for Gods’ sake.

“After a few more thrusts, he’ll tell me he loves me again… Then he’ll -uhm-... finish.”

“And do you finish?” Adora asked, her blue eyes shining with a playful type of mischief. Glimmer looked at her with a fiery glare.

What the hell kind of question was that? Of course she didn't finish! That was the whole reason she was even sitting here getting badgered about her sex life. What was Adora thinking? And she even had the nerve to laugh? Glimmer had to keep herself from smacking her friend upside her pretty little blonde head. "I'm kidding, Glim." she snorted.

Glimmer rolled her eyes, "Well it's not funny," she huffed, crossing her arms against her chest. She let out a sad sigh. "I'm really struggling here, Adora."

Glimmer pouted, she dropped her hands into her lap to fiddle with her thumbs as she felt her heart ache heavily in her chest. She didn't think she could go another month of living like this. Of course she could always just get herself off, but Glimmer wanted to fix this. She wanted to be enamored with her boyfriend again, not frustrated and increasingly disappointed every time they had sex.

Adora's eyes softened, her hand reaching over to grab her friend's. She spoke softly. "Glimmer, have you told Bow about any of this?" she asked. Somehow Glimmer felt like Adora already knew the answer.

She slumped her shoulder, a weary smile stretching across her lips. "No," she sighed before hastily speaking before her friend could say anything. "I don't want to hurt his feelings! He's just so sweet and the little smile he gives me afterwards, like he just looks so proud and in love.. I can't bring myself to tell him.." Glimmer looked down at the table. "Plus, I shouldn't bruise his ego just because something's wrong with me."

"But that's the thing, honey," Adora grabbed her other hand, gazing softly into her friend's eyes. "Nothing's wrong with you, I promise." she smiled warmly. "Have you ever thought that you might just be a little bored?"

Glimmer sat back, letting her hands slip out of Adora's. She didn't understand, Bow could never bore her. Well, sure he had his days where he wasn't particularly exciting, but didn't everyone? He was talented and smart, he could entertain her for hours just by talking about his day. How could she be bored?

"No, not really. Bow's not really a boring person."

Adora chuckled, shaking her head. "I didn't say he was boring. Just…" The blonde trailed off for a moment. "Think about it… I mean you two do the same thing in bed every time. You never change it up. It's always gentle and sweet. Trust me, Glim, it's beautiful that he's so careful with you but where's the spontaneity?" she asked, her eyes lighting up. "Where's the teasing? The foreplay? The dirty talk? Gods, where's that rough, filthy sex that makes your toes curl just thinking about it!"

Glimmer blushed for what seemed like the hundredth time today. Adora's big blue eyes were wild and excited, her lower lip pulled in between her teeth. She could practically see the filthy images running rampant through her best friend's mind.

"I-I don't know," Glimmer stammered.

"I mean just think about how amazing it would feel if Bow threw you on the bed and just went to town on you,"

"I-I've never really thought about it," She shrugged, ducking her head shyly. "I always thought the soft and sweet stuff would be all I needed."

"We'll you know what I think?" Adora leaned forward, she looked around to check for prying eyes before bringing her mischievous gaze back to Glimmer.

"N-no?" Pink locks swung as Glimmer quickly shook her head, shifting away in her seat.

Glimmer did not like the look on Adora's face right now. She hated the way the blonde bit at her lip, one dark eyebrow rising before she spoke. "I think what you really need is for someone to show you’re missing out on,” Adora’s lip slowly curled into a smirk. “And I know just the person to do it.”

She knew she was going to regret asking this.

“Wh-Who?”

Glimmer held her breath as Adora leaned closer, her smirk curling further into that devilish smile she knew all too well.

“Catra.”

Chapter 2

Glimmer nervously fiddled with her thumbs as Adora led her down the long, oddly dark hallways of what she could've sworn was supposed to be a dorm. Why the hell was it so dark? She knew Horde Towers wasn't the best building on campus, but it felt like she was walking down an abandoned alleyway rather than a dormitory. Trash littered the floors as the dim lights flickered; lines of graffiti covered the paint-chipped walls and cracked windows- and why did it smell like rusting metal? Of course, Adora's sketchy girlfriend would live in the seediest, most rundown dorm on campus.

Catra Weaver was a mystery to Glimmer.

Literally.

In the 6 months that Adora and Catra had been dating, Glimmer hadn't met her once. Of course Adora had shown her pictures and told the tale of how they met (something about a frat party and Catra's friend Scorpia) and she couldn't even count the amount of stories the blonde had told her about her and Catra's sex life. But other than that, Adora's girlfriend was no more than this vague character that Glimmer, at some point, had started to think Adora was making up. But, apparently Catra just wasn't too big on mingling with new people, and Adora wasn't the type to push anyone to do things they didn't want to do.

Glimmer didn't really blame Catra; from the sparse information that Adora had given her, she knew that Catra wasn't the kind of person she would normally associate herself with. It's not that she didn't like her. Hell, she didn't even know her; and if she made Adora happy, there wasn't a reason to cast any judgment or immediately write Catra off.

However, Glimmer could still be... skeptical.

So, to say she was nervous was an understatement. She didn't even fully understand what was going on. After Glimmer and Adora left the coffee shop, the blonde practically dragged her best friend across campus to Catra's dorm. For whatever reason, Adora thought the solution to the problems with Glimmer's boyfriend was her girlfriend . And she had yet to even tell Glimmer what was going on in her twisted mind.

"Dor, I'm not sure this is a good idea," Glimmer said, her voice quivering slightly as her eyes flickered nervously around the hallway.

Adora, confident as ever, simply smiled at her friend, blue eyes twinkling with a smug glint. "You're gonna be fine, Glimmer. I promise,"

"Seriously, Adora, does she even know we're coming?" Glimmer asked.

"Of course she does! I texted her," Adora said, gesturing to her phone. "Catra's chill." She added, her ponytail swinging as she happily led Glimmer down the hall.

"But I literally don't even know her," Glimmer returned, running a clammy hand through her short hair.

"Trust me, you'll love her," Adora smirked.

Glimmer couldn't help the pang of anxiety that flashed across her chest at the way the Adora practically purred those words. By the time Glimmer could open her mouth, they came to a halt at Catra's door. Unsurprisingly, it was covered in graffiti marks, dents, words and stickers that were less than appropriate. Her heart pounded as Adora brought her hand to the door, knocking lightly.

Swallowing the lump in her throat, Glimmer straightened her back as she heard footsteps approaching the door. She knew Catra probably wouldn't care about her posture but she certainly didn't want to look as scared as she felt. As hesitant as Glimmer was to meet her best friend's nefarious girlfriend, her mother had always told her first impressions were everything; and she needed Catra to see that she was willing to take any help she could give her.

Then, the door opened, finally revealing Catra in all her glory.

Glimmer couldn't help but let a little gasp slip past her lips, her eyes going wide as her jaw practically fell to the floor. Fuck, those pictures Adora had showed her did not do Catra any justice. Glimmer didn't exactly know what she was expecting to see when that door opened, but it certainly wasn't that.

"Hey, Adora,"

Holy shit.

Catra was fucking hot.

She was taller than Glimmer -everyone was- but she wasn't taller than Adora, only standing 3 or 4 inches shy of the blonde. But just because she was short didn't mean she wasn't intimidating. She had a lithe frame, smooth tanned skin and a constellation of freckles that dusted over her nose and cheeks.

Her lips looked full and soft- stupidly kissable, according to Adora.

Catra's brows were dark and well groomed, despite the healed scar that ran through the middle of her left one. Glimmer didn't even want to think about how she got that. Her eyes, on the other hand, were two different colors, one a blue-green that bordered on teal and the other a rich amber that Glimmer guessed if the sun hit her just right, it would shimmer like gold. They were beautiful, but that wasn't even the best part about them; Catra's eyes were deep, a little mysterious- dangerous even- and surrounded by long, curled lashes that could bring even the strongest person to their knees with a single flutter.

She had wild, wavy hair that sprouted in all different directions; it was shaggy, just barely reaching shoulder length and falling over her eyes. Glimmer could tell it was in that awkward stage of growing it out -too short to style, but too long to trim without chopping it all off- but, it really didn't matter because somehow, Catra managed to pull it off.

Despite her stature, Catra's hands looked strong. Not that they were oversized and rugged or anything, but rather firm and steady, like she worked with them often. Glimmer wondered if she was an artist of some sort. Her long fingers were decorated with silver rings and a set of sharp, neatly manicured black nails, long on all but her middle two digits.

Glimmer didn't even have to wonder why.

She wore a tight burgundy colored tank top that allowed Glimmer's eyes to trail across the expense of her slim, yet toned arms that were covered in an array of tattoos. Catra's legs were in a pair of skin tight black jeans that were littered with rips and tears. The pink haired girl swallowed heavily as her eyes settled on the thick bulge that sat below her belt. Even though she hadn't even met Catra, Glimmer knew all about the heat she was packing in her pants; because Adora being, well… Adora, she didn't hesitate to tell her best friend how well-endowed Catra was; as if Glimmer didn't already notice the way she limped and hobbled around campus after a night in with her girlfriend.

Gods, it would be just like Adora- the woman who already looked like some type of otherworldly, goddess-warrior princess- to go out and fall in love with someone who was so good-looking it almost hurt.

With that said, Glimmer could have easily ogled Catra for another hour, however, her train of thought was derailed by the sound of her best friend happily chirping beside her.

"Hi, baby!" Adora beamed at the sight of her girlfriend, swiftly letting go of Glimmer's hand to wave excitedly at Catra.

"Hey, princess," she all but purred, her voice smooth and silky, yet husky.

Catra flashed a smile, even though it looked more like a lazy smirk with one of her unnaturally long canines peeking out from behind her lip. It was then that she reached out to pull Adora into one of the hottest kisses Glimmer had ever seen.

Both women moaned as their lips met. Glimmer felt her face go hot as she watched Catra's arms loop around Adora's waist, her hands flexing as they squeezed the blonde's ass. Adora squeaked and smiled into her girlfriend's mouth, her fingers moving to scratch at the back of Catra's neck. Catra's tattooed arms tightened around Adora's waist, letting a throaty growl slip past her lips as she pulled her girlfriend further against her body. Adora sighed a dreamy sigh against Catra's lip, sagging into her girlfriend's arms.

Glimmer's eyebrows shot towards the sky when she caught a pair of sharp incisors biting at the swelling pink flesh of Adora's bottom lip. She bit down gently, smiling at the way the blonde moaned before releasing it with a slick pop. Adora seemed to be catching her breath as her eyes fluttered open, Catra's eyes followed, connecting with her girlfriend's sparkling baby blues.

Glimmer felt speechless.

Bow had never kissed her like that. Even when he was at horniest, everything was gentle, sweet and sometimes even a little awkward. He never grabbed her like Catra had grabbed Adora. His hands always stayed at her waist, only squeezing just enough to remind Glimmer that he was touching her. Even when he pulled her close, it was never rough and needy; he was always careful. His lips always remained gentle, never moving past a tender press against hers. Never did he tug or bite at her lips, nor did he kiss her as deeply as Catra had kissed Adora. Of course Glimmer still enjoyed kissing him, sparks still flew behind her eyes and her heart still skipped a few beats; she didn't think that would ever stop, but she couldn't help but wonder what she would feel if he had ever kissed her like that.

Wetting her lips, Glimmer's heart pounded as she continued to watch them. She felt a little pervy, just watching two people make out, but for some reason she couldn't find the strength to look away. Adora's hands had migrated from Catra's shoulders to her stomach. The shorter girl moaned as Adora's palms slid against the ribbed fabric of her shirt, short nails scratching at the lean muscles that resided there. Catra's hands squeezed her girlfriend's ass harder, chuckling as Adora let out a shaky little sigh against her lips.

It wasn't until Glimmer caught Catra's tongue slipping in between the blonde's lips that she cleared her throat. "Ahem- uhm.. A-adora? Hey, yeah I'm still here," she said quietly.

At the sound of her best friend's voice Adora snapped out of the daze that Catra's kisses had always managed to put her under. Catra let out a little hmph that made the blonde giggle against her lips, she pecked them before pulling back.

Still, they took a moment to just look at one another; two-toned eyes gazing softly into darkened blues.

"Hey, you" Catra whispered, nuzzling her freckled nose against Adora's.

"Hi," The blonde whispered back, smiling widely.

Glimmer couldn't help but smile; she could see the pure love and affection radiating between them. It was sweet, and even a little surprising. She knew Adora was a big softie, but Catra- who looked like she may or may not have killed someone in a bar fight- looking at Adora as if she were the only girl in the world, was surely a sight to see.

She cleared her throat again, choosing to ignore the way Catra rolled her eyes before completely pulling away from her girlfriend. Glimmer couldn't help the way her heart jolted in her chest when Catra suddenly turned towards her, blue and gold eyes shining with mischief as they scanned her from head to toe. She leaned against the door frame, crossing her arms. Glimmer tried not to focus on the way Catra's tattoos rippled as her lean muscles flexed against her chest. The tanned girl pursed her lips for a moment, crossing one leg over the other. Glimmer's gaze dropped to the floor, unable to keep up with Catra's intense gaze; she took subtle notice of the way Catra's scuffed black leather boots dragged across the floor as she moved.

After what felt like hours, Catra finally spoke up. "You must be Glitter," she drawled, a playful smirk tugging at her lips. "I've heard a lot about you."

Glimmer huffed, looking up to meeting Catra's mirthful eyes again. "It's Glimmer," she glared.

"Well nice to meet you, Shimmer," Catra jested, that sly smile still pulling at her lips. Glimmer huffed, crossing her arms over her chest. "Hey, no need to get testy. I'm here to help, aren't I?"

Glimmer narrowed her eyes. If Catra was going to be an asshole the whole evening, she could just turn right around and figure this mess out on her own. She was pretty sure there was some shitty People Magazine article out there that could help her better than this jerk would.

Luckily, Adora was her saving grace.

The blonde shook her head and snorted before reaching over to swat her girlfriend on the shoulder. "Catra, be nice," she chided before turning towards Glimmer. "She's just messing with you, she can't help herself."

Glimmer felt a small sense of relief wash over her when Catra laughed, it was a high-pitched squeaky laugh that was actually kind of cute. The shorter girl grabbed her girlfriend's hand from her shoulder, pressing a sweet little kiss on Adora's knuckles. "I'm sorry, Glimmer ," she said, putting emphasis on every syllable of her name. "I was just trying to lighten the mood. How about we go in? Get a little bit more comfortable, hm?

Catra flashed her a lopsided grin, but Glimmer didn't miss the way she winked before tugging on Adora’s hand and leading her into the room. She still wasn't sure about this, every voice in her head was screaming at her to turn around and run while she still had the chance; but she knew running wouldn’t fix anything.

And she had to fix this.

So with another huff, Glimmer ran a shaky hand through her hair before stepping into Catra’s room.

It was oddly big for a dorm room, perhaps it was because there only seemed to be one person living in a space made for three. Surprisingly, it was somewhat clean. The full sized bed tucked in the corner wasn’t made and various articles of clothes and shoes were scattered around the floor, but it wasn’t as cramped and cluttered as Glimmer imagined it would be.

Catra’s room actually had quite a nice aesthetic to it. She had a pair of dark red curtains slightly drawn and lights strung across the wall that bathed the room in a soft yellow glow. What would have been boring beige walls were covered in posters, framed artwork, and a multitude of polaroids. Glimmer smiled softly when she noticed that most of them were snapshots of Adora. She also had a picture of the blonde cuddling with a little black kitten framed on the nightstand next to their bed. Across from the bed was a small bookshelf and a desk. Finally, in the oddly dark corner of the room, farthest away from their bed was a dingy looking couch, a vinyl record player, and a vintage TV set with an even more vintage looking electric guitar propped up against it.

“Do you play?” Glimmer asked quietly, pointing to the guitar. She knew it seemed a little random, but Bow played guitar. She found it comforting that Catra may have shared the same skill; it made her seem like less of a stranger.

Catra looked over to where she was pointing, “I know my way around a lick or two,” she shrugged before pointing to the instrument. “Stole that bad boy off the back of a truck in high school.” she smiled proudly.

Of course you did, Glimmer wanted to say, instead she only nodded, flashing a tight-lipped smile before lowering her gaze to the floor. She resisted the urge to snort at the bright yellow shag rug underneath her shoes. It spanned across the majority of the room and stood out like a sore thumb. It was bright, ugly, and no doubt Adora’s contribution to the room, but somehow, it fit.

“Well.. this is a nice place you got here,” Glimmer said. “You don’t have a roommate?” she asked. She knew it was a stupid question, considering there were clearly no signs of anyone else living there. Sue her for wanting to break the ice a little bit.

Catra shook her head “Not unless you count your bestie over here. Can’t seem to get rid of her,” she smirked, giving Adora a playful pat on her ass as the blonde sauntered by.

Adora rolled her eyes, an amused smile on her face. “Don’t act like you don’t beg me to stay, kitten,” she cooed. She stopped for a moment to peck her girlfriend on the cheek before continuing her journey to the dresser that was pressed against a wall by the bed.

“You know I’d keep you here all day if I could, baby,” Catra grinned and sent the other girl a wink, then she pushed herself upright to root through the drawers of the desk that she had been leaning on.

Glimmer laughed gently at their banter, watching for a moment as Catra filed through her desk before switching her gaze to where Adora was changing out of her clothes.

Her hair was down now, blonde locks finally free of the tight military-grade ponytail she wore everyday.

It was kind of amazing to see how subdued and comfortable Adora seemed in Catra’s room. Glimmer swore she could count the amount of times she had seen Adora relax on one hand; she was always buzzing around and on-the-go, somehow managing to be frantic and sporadic yet hyper-focused on any given task. For heaven's sake, Glimmer had to remind her friend to sit down and eat every once in a while.

But here, in Catra's room, she seemed calm, cool, and completely at ease. It was like as soon as Adora stepped foot into Catra's space, all of her worries slipped away and she could finally relax. It was nice.

Glimmer watched as her best friend pulled her shirt off. Adora shucked the shirt into an uncharted corner of the room, her bra, pants and shoes quickly following. And there she was, standing free as a bird in nothing but a pair of tight, lacy, blue boy shorts that left absolutely nothing to the imagination.

Glimmer wasn't too proud to say that Adora's body was a fine sight. All of her time spent in the gym had gifted her with a beautiful and well muscled physique. She had curves in all the right places: a trim waist, outrageously defined and marbled abs; and an ass so nice you couldn't help but glance when she walked by. Her tits were soft looking and full, topped with pretty pink nipples that stood taut from being exposed to the cool air.

Glimmer also couldn't help but notice the variety of red hickeys littered the blonde's frame; they spanned across her chest, trailing down her stomach before disappearing into her underwear; some looked bright and new while others seemed to be fading, ready to be replaced with more. Her face went hot, she had practically been gawking at Adora. Sure, it wasn't anything she hadn't seen before seeing as the blonde often sent her nudes asking for "approval", but something about seeing her in Catra's room, with the intimate air and low light, made her blush.

Luckily, she wasn't the only one staring. Catra had stopped looking through her desk for a moment, focusing her attention on Adora. Catra leered at Adora, her two-toned eyes following the blonde's every movement as she dug through the dresser. She seemed to be admiring her work, biting at her bottom lip as she ogled her girlfriend with a hunger so strong, Glimmer could have sworn she was seconds away from pinning Adora against the dresser. It wasn't until Adora pulled a large graphic T-shirt (one that undoubtedly belonged to her girlfriend) over her head that she seemed to snap out of her daze.

Catra cleared her throat, shaking her head slightly before speaking up.

"So, Glimmer," she started. "I hear you're in need of my assistance." Catra stood with a little wooden box in tow and closed the drawer of the desk. Bi-colored eyes flickered over to Glimmer as she pulled what looked to be a rolled up joint from the box. She leaned against the desk, bringing the little white stick between her lips smiling around it as Adora sautered toward her, a blue lighter in tow.

"I uh… yeah.. I-I need some help," Glimmer stammered.

Catra's split eyebrow lifted. "And what for, might I ask?"

Adora handed Catra the lighter, Glimmer heard it click to life as Catra took the first drag of her joint. The blonde flashed a contented smile as she all but draped herself over her girlfriend's back; she pressed a sweet little kiss to Catra's freckled cheek, resting her chin in the crook of the shorter girl's shoulder. Catra's lips stretched into a dopey grin as Adora wrapped her arms around her waist, enjoying the feeling of her girlfriend's nails scratching gently at her sides.

Glimmer licked her lips, shifting her weight as she nervously gazed into Catra's reddening eyes. She didn't think she could tell the unfortunate tale of her sex problems again. She'd had a hard enough time telling Adora the ins and outs of her less than riveting sex life, and that was her best friend. She couldn't even begin to imagine how she was going to tell the girl she hadn't even known for ten minutes.

Glimmer stammered for what felt like forever, opening and closing her mouth as she desperately tried to find her words. Luckily, the sound of Adora's sweet, dorky laughter sounding through the room came to save her.

"Oh, would you cut it out," The blonde rolled her eyes at her girlfriend and pinched at her ribs, giggling when Catra let out a little yelp. "Glim, don't freak out. She knows why you're here, she's just giving you a hard time," The blonde shook her head, sending Catra a playful glare. "And please sit down," she pointed to the couch. "You're fine, I promise."

Glimmer followed her friend's instruction, stiffly lowering herself onto the couch. She crossed her legs to keep them from bouncing anxiously. Catra let out a chuckle at her obvious discomfort. Glimmer watched as the tanned girl took another drag of her joint before silently handing it off to Adora. The blonde then removed herself from Catra's back and made her way to the bed, joint in hand.

Catra stood up from the desk, sauntering towards Glimmer. "So, you're having some trouble getting your rocks off, huh?" Catra asked, a playful smirk pulling at her lips.

"Uh, yeah," Glimmer nodded meekly, a sad sigh slipping out of her mouth.

"Hey, it's okay," Catra said. For the first time today her voice was soft and sincere. Glimmer looked up, feeling a small sense of relief at the warm half-smile the other girl flashed her. "It's nothing to be ashamed of. Shit happens, ya know," she shrugged. "So how long have you and Boy been together?"

Glimmer rolled her eyes; purposely calling people the wrong name must've been Catra's thing. That, or she really liked working Glimmer's nerves. "It's Bow," she corrected, even though she knew the other girl was well aware of her boyfriend's name. "And almost eight years. We've been together since freshman year of high school." she answered.

“Damn! No wonder the rivers are running dry,” Catra laughed.

Glimmer frowned, knitting her brow in confusion. How could she be feeling this way? They had been having sex for years! It wasn’t like she was any less attracted to him, she wasn’t bored with him; and she still loved him like crazy. So why couldn’t she get there with him anymore?

“I don’t understand,”

Catra sighed, “Sparkles, sometimes when you’ve been with someone for so long, you just fall into this routine. The same thing over, and over, and over again- and sometimes you don’t even realize it’s happening- but if you don’t change it up, somebody’s bound to get bored.” she said with a shrug. “It’s nothing to worry about. It just means you guys are ready for something new.”

Well, that made sense.

“Thanks,” Glimmer said, letting out a little chuckle. “It’s just been.. Really, really frustrating.”

“Don’t I know it,” The tanned girl snickered, “A few days without busting one and I’m ready to sock someone in the face.” she said, smirking.

A snort came from where Adora was lounging on the bed. “More like ready to torch a building,” she spoke up.

The blonde had moved from the desk to the middle of Catra’s bed. She was lying on her back with her phone in one hand and the joint Catra was smoking from in the other, the little stick hanging loosely between her fingertips. Glimmer watched as she brought the joint up to her lips and took a long, slow drag, her hazy blue eyes gazing at Catra.

Jeez, Adora was SMOKING now too? Oh they would definitely have to revisit that later on…In the meantime, she brought her attention back to Catra.

“And this is coming from the same woman who went on a silent strike for a day because I was too worn out to go for round six,” Catra shot back with a playful roll of her eyes.

Round six ?

“Oh please, kitten,” Adora scoffed. “I knew you were faking it. You just wanted to stop so you could catch the new episode of The Bachelorette,” the blonde said with a teasing smile.

Glimmer snickered quietly. Huh, who would’ve thought big and bad Catra was a sucker for cheesy reality TV?

“Hey, Derrick worked hard for that solo date with Caroline. Sue me for wanting to see where he was gonna take her.”

“Whatever helps you sleep at night, babe,” Adora snickered and lightheartedly rolled her eyes.

“Shut up, dummy,” Catra said affectionately, waving Adora off with a playful swipe of her hand. The blonde girl only laughed before taking another puff of her girlfriend’s joint. Catra turned back towards Glimmer. “Anyways, as I was saying… It’s nothing to be worried about.” She felt her heart speed up at the devilish smirk that slowly curled at Catra’s lips. “All we need to do, Sparkles…Is show you how you need to be fucked. ”

Glimmer gasped as Catra’s eyes flashed, a dangerous flicker of light shining in her eyes. She took a step closer, suddenly towering over the smaller girl. She raised her hand to grip the arm of the couch, slowly leaning forward until her face was mere inches away from Glimmer’s, their noses practically touching.

Glimmer couldn’t help but snap her wide eyes down to Catra’s mouth, her lips were stretched into a sly, toothy grin. If her brain wasn’t busy short circuiting, she probably would have noticed how good Catra smelled or the little tattoo she had hiding behind the freckles on the edge of her cheekbone. However, all she could focus on was the way Catra’s two-toned eyes were burning into the very depths of her soul.

“I want you to see what Arrow Boy should be doing,” she spoke slowly, a sultry lilt finding its way back into her voice. Glimmer gulped. “And none of that soft lovey-dovey shit either, Sparkles. You need to see what it’s like to be taken . I’ll show you the hard, rough, dirty sex you’re supposed to be having,” Catra all but growled. “I’m gonna show you what it’s like to be thrown down on a bed and teased until you’re begging to be fucked within an inch of your life.”

Catra finished with her eyes wild and her sharp teeth bared. Glimmer felt a chill run down her spine, but she didn’t have time to enjoy it. Shortly after that fleeting flash of desire, her heart dropped ten feet into her stomach.

Wait, what did Catra mean by that?

How exactly did she plan on showing her?

Glimmer's eyes bulged as she caught the predatory look in Catra’s eyes and the wicked little smirk that pulled at the corner of her lips.

Wait a minute…

Holy shit! Was Catra trying to have sex with her?!

Glimmer shook her head, sinking further into the couch, trying desperately to distance herself from the other girl’s devious gaze. She couldn’t bear the thought of cheating on Bow; with her best friend’s GIRLFRIEND no less. Sure, Catra was hot, and yeah she was having some trouble getting her rocks off with Bow, but she would rather have bad sex for the rest of her life than hurt him like that.

Also, how was Adora okay with any of this? Did she know Catra was trying to sleep with her? Was this part of Adora’s plan all along? She had only asked for advice, not sex with her sketchy girlfriend.

“I-.. I-I can’t,” Glimmer stuttered, her heart pounding against her rib cage.

Catra leaned away, lifting her split eyebrow. “What do you mean ‘you can’t’, Sparkles?”

“I can’t cheat on Bow,” Glimmer said firmly. “I won’t.”

It was then that Catra finally backed up, standing upright, her arms folded against her chest.

A thick silence hung in the air. Catra tilted her head and furrowed her eyebrows, her face scrunching as confusion settled over her features. But it was only for a moment. Glimmer shrunk in her seat as the wicked smirk and that mischievous shimmer in Catra’s eyes returned. Glimmer caught the slight twitch of her lips before the room filled with hysterical laughter.

Glimmer wrinkled her brow, looking between Catra and Adora as they cackled, nearly doubling over in laughter.

“Oh fuck,” Catra wheezed, wiping at a tear that fell from her eye, her shoulders shaking.

“Glim, what?” Adora cackled, sitting up in Catra’s bed as she held her stomach.

Catra regained her composure, her red cheeks puffing with the last bit of her laughter. She looked at Adora, letting out a little giggle before turning back to Glimmer. “Wait, you thought I was gonna fuck you?” she asked incredulously, wiping at another tear. “Trust me Glitter, you’re cute and all but I would rather give up my left testicle than have sex with anybody that’s not blondie over there.” Catra said, gesturing to Adora.

Adora cooed and placed her chin in her palms, blue eyes sparkling as she gazed at her girlfriend. “Aww, thank you, baby,” Catra turned to wink at her.

Glimmer groaned as she felt a sickening wave of embarrassment crash into her stomach. Of course Catra didn't want to fuck her. What the hell was she thinking? Dammit, now she felt bad for assuming Catra was the type of person to just willingly cheat on her girlfriend; and even worse for thinking Adora would put them in that type of situation.

Nevertheless, Glimmer let out the breath she didn't know she was holding in. Even though she felt bad for assuming the worst, she was still relieved that Catra wasn't trying to sleep with her.

However, now that the air was clear, she was still confused.

"So, if we're not gonna…" Glimmer trailed off, gesturing between her and Catra.

"Well…" Catra smirked, looking back at Adora who was gazing at her girlfriend with her lip tucked in between her teeth.

Suddenly, it dawned on her.

Glimmer shot up from the couch, her wide eyes shifting frantically between Adora and Catra.

"Wait! You want me to watch you two have sex?!"

Catra turned back towards Glimmer and shrugged. "Well would you rather sit here and watch cheesy, fake porn?"

"Well no," Glimmer said, shifting uncomfortably. "Bu-But I don't know if I'm comfortable with watching… that, either."

It was then that Adora got up from the bed, pressing what little of the joint was left into a small ashtray on the nightstand. The blonde practically glided across the room to stand by Catra; she seemed to be glowing like the mythical goddess Glimmer swore she was. She flashed her friend a soft smile before settling behind Catra, her strong arms around her girlfriend's waist.

“Glimmer,” Adora spoke up, her voice soft and calm. “You don’t have to do anything you don’t want to. You can leave right now and we can go on like nothing ever happened. But I- we- really just wanna to help you.”

The blonde pressed a lingering kiss to Catra’s cheek, smiling against her soft tanned skin. Glimmer tried to listen to her friend’s comforting words, but she couldn’t because she was too busy trying not to focus on the not-so-subtle movement of Adora’s hands fiddling with the fabric of Catra’s shirt.

Catra’s eyes fluttered when Adora placed a soft kiss under the firm line of her jaw, her pearly white teeth flashing as she nipped at Catra’s neck. Glimmer watched Adora’s hands roam across Catra’s stomach for a moment before gripping the bottom of her tank top. Catra let out a quiet moan as Adora untucked her shirt. Glimmer’s eyes caught a brief flash of tanned skin and the toned lines of muscle on Catra’s stomach as the blonde’s hands slipped under dark red fabric. The shorter girl slumped against her girlfriend, sucking in a breath as Adora pressed a searing line of kisses across her jaw.

Stars, did they even care that Glimmer hadn’t even agreed to watching yet?

“Fuck,” Catra huffed. She shook her head, briefly coming out her Adora-induced haze to look at Glimmer. “Yeah, n-nothing to worry about Sparkles,” her voice was strained and tight, just like the front of her jeans. Adora paid no mind to Catra trying to speak, she was too busy trying to suckle the skin off of her girlfriend’s neck. Catra groaned as Adora’s hands moved south, her nimble fingers teasing at the zipper of Catra’s pants. “Think of it as- fuck, Adora, hold on- a learning experience.. A live demo of sorts..” The last of Catra’s words were lost to a deep moan as Adora’s sneaky fingers squeezed the front of her jeans.

Adora let out a little chuckle, only low enough for Catra to hear, warm breath ghosting over the shell of her ear. She looked at Glimmer, her pupils blown and an unmistakable desire swirling in her eyes. “Trust me, Glim, we won’t even know you’re here,” Adore turned her attention back to Catra. The blonde gave Catra’s bulge another squeeze, placing a hot kiss behind her girlfriend’s ear before whispering in her ear. “And with the way you fuck me, I’ll be lucky if I can even remember my own name.”

Catra moaned. “Fuck,”

Glimmer found herself at a loss for words. One part of her wanted to storm out of that room and never speak of this ever again; but, another part of her- a big part-was seriously considering this. She couldn’t deny that watching them might actually help. And like Catra said, it was going to be a learning experience, a lesson she could take home to Bow.

But would she be able to look at Adora the same after this was all said and done? At the moment, it might seem like a good idea, but what would happen when she had to walk out of this room knowing she had seen her best friend in her most intimate and vulnerable state? They had been friends forever. Glimmer had told Adora things that she could take to her grave; but was this going too far? Was there a line they would cross that they could never come back from?

A rough moan interrupted Glimmer's frantic thoughts. She brought her attention back to where Adora was practically assaulting Catra’s neck with slow, yet, searing hot kisses.

“Look, are we gonna do this or not?” Catra growled, her hands balling into tight, restrained fists. “Cause if I’m not touching you in the next two minutes, I’m actually gonna torch something.”

Glimmer gulped as Adora’s darkened blue eyes peered over Catra’s shoulder. Her lips never left her girlfriend’s neck, she only lifted one of her dark eyebrows, gazing at her friend.

This was all up to her..

She took a deep breath and closed her eyes for a moment. As much as her mind was screaming at her to run out that door and never look back, Glimmer knew she needed this.

With a shaky sigh, she opened her eyes, her body lowering itself back down onto the couch. She settled her gaze on Adora before giving her a subtle nod.

It was now or never.

Chapter 3

Chapter Notes

A/N: Time for the good stuff! The POVs in this chapter jump around a bit because I didn't want the sex to be all from one perspective. I tried to transition them as smoothly as possible but if it reads weird, I sincerely apologize!

Also, please don't hate me for interrupting some of Catradora's sexy time with Glimmer's introspection about her own sex life. The poor girl is just learning :')

Adora's lips stretched into a smile against Catra's shoulder at the slight nod of Glimmer's head. She felt a pleasant shiver course through body that settled wetly between her legs. She placed one last searing kiss to her girlfriend's freckled cheek before tapping Catra's stomach.

It was show time.

Catra's two toned eyes fluttered open, glancing briefly at the pink haired girl. She sent Glimmer a sly smirk, shooting the pink haired girl a quick wink before turning to face her girlfriend.

In a flash, she grabbed Adora by the hips and pulled her into a rough kiss. The kiss wasn't long, but it was hot; and passionate enough to make Adora moan and arch her back, pressing her body tight against her girlfriend's.

One of Catra's hands trailed from Adora's hip to squeeze at the soft, pliant, flesh of her ass while the other moved to bury itself into blonde locks, briefly massaging her scalp. Catra bared her teeth, her fiery blue and amber eyes gazing hotly into Adora's. Suddenly, her fingers tightened in her girlfriend's hair. Then, with a sultry purr, Catra tugged. It wasn't hard enough to hurt but just enough to yank Adora's head back and expose her neck.

"Catra," Adora moaned, craning her head back even further as Catra leaned in to place a hot trail of kisses up her throat to the base of her ear.

Catra's sharp teeth tugged at Adora's earlobe, a breathy hiss slipped past her lips when the blonde's hand slid down her body, her nimble fingers only stopping to squeeze at the bulge that pushed at the front of her pants. Catra let out a growl, her hands falling from her girlfriend's body, but only for a moment. She surged forward and gripped the fabric of Adora's shirt, tearing it away from her frame in one swift motion.

"Fuck," Catra groaned, her eyes glued to Adora's chest, mesmerized by the way the blonde's full tits bounced with each labored breath she took. Catra smirked as she pulled her own shirt over head, throwing it to the floor before bringing her lust-ridden eyes back to Adora's body. "You're so fucking hot. Get over here." Catra growled and pulled Adora into another hungry kiss, yanking the blonde's body against her own, her rough hands settling over Adora's ass once again.

Suddenly, Adora squealed, erupting in a fit of giggles as Catra- in a rather impressive show of strength- lifted her into the air. Immediately, she wrapped her legs around Catra's waist, her sweet laughter giving way to more moans as a series of hot open-mouth kisses trailed across her chest. Her eyes fluttered as Catra's warm breath settled over one of her tits, hovering just slightly before she closed her mouth around her nipple.

Adora felt a sharp spike of arousal shoot straight to her already aching pussy. "Fuck, Catra," Adora whimpered, hands reaching to pull at her shaggy waves of hair. "Oh yes baby, right there."

Catra flashed a sly grin as she continued mouthing at Adora's breasts, she pulled the blonde's nipple between her lips, enjoying the way it stiffened in her mouth.

She loved this feeling… Adora in her arms, those full soft tits flush against her face. Catra worshiped them. She kissed, licked, and sucked at her nipples just as passionately and thoroughly as she would her lips or her clit. She only wished she could further Adora's pleasure.

Catra desperately wanted to reach up and squeeze the lone pink bud that wasn't in her mouth or sink two fingers into the pussy she knew was already wet and ready to be fucked. However, before she could put any of her plans into action, she felt Adora's fingers in her hair, tugging just enough for her to pick her head up and release the blonde's nipple with a slick pop.

Adora caressed her girlfriend's jaw, giggling softly at the disappointed little huff Catra had let out. Catra would suck at her tits all day if she'd let her; but, as much as she absolutely adored the feeling of her girlfriend's skillful tongue laving over her nipples, Adora wanted to kiss her. The blonde gazed hotly into Catra's bi-colored eyes, smiling softly at the love and adoration (alongside raw lust and desire) she saw swirling in them.

Then, Adora surged forward to press their lips together…

Meanwhile, Glimmer's mouth felt dry.

Probably because she had been sitting with it hanging open for a solid three minutes.

True to their word, Adora and Catra hadn't so much as looked in her direction. They were in their own little world. With Catra's lean muscles and tattoos flexing, and Adora's long blonde hair fanning over them like a curtain, they looked like they had jumped straight out of some softcore indie porn scene. Everything was so intense: the lust in their eyes, the passion of their kisses, the urgency of every heated moment they shared.

Glimmer couldn't help but squirm in her seat, suddenly acutely aware of the dull throbbing that had settled between her thighs.

But that was natural, right?. Anyone would get a little.. squirmy, watching two insanely attractive people getting frisky.. right?

The way Catra practically worshiped Adora's body sent a shiver down her spine and a pulsing between her legs she never thought was possible. Strangely enough, she didn't feel as scandalous or perverted as she thought it would. In a weird way, she was actually sort of learning from this. Seeing those possessive hands; the sensually, yet, greedy kisses; and unabashed, raw passion were showing Glimmer everything she didn't know she needed.

A deep moan interrupted her wild thoughts, forcing Glimmer to bring her attention back to Catra and Adora.

They were still kissing.

Even though Adora was suspended in her arms, Catra was practically putty in her girlfriend's arms. She panted as Adora pulled back, her dilated two-toned eyes falling heavy with desire as the blonde ducked her head to kiss her neck. Glimmer shuddered at the gruff moan that left Catra's lips as Adora's tongue reached out to paint a hot, wet stripe up her girlfriend's neck before her lips ghosted the shell of Catra's ear.

"Let me suck your dick, baby," Adora purred, her voice just above a whisper.

Glimmer gulped. She didn't know if she was supposed to hear that, but it was loud enough to make her ears perk up and her body lean closer to the edge of the couch...

"Oh fuck yes," Catra groaned.

With a slight turn of her head, Catra captured Adora's lips for one last kiss before carrying her towards the bed. As soon as the back of Catra's knees hit the bed, Adora climbed out of her arms, laughing gently at the eager glint in her girlfriend's eyes. She looked as excited as a kid in a candy store. Adora gave the shorter girl a gentle shove, pushing her back onto the bed. Catra hit the bed with a soft bounce before propping herself up on her elbows.

She pulled her bottom lip between her teeth, watching as Adora sunk to her knees and tossed her long, blonde locks over her shoulder.

"Guess I should have kept my hair up," Adora jested, chuckling as she ran her hand over the thick bulge that was a twitch away from ripping the front of Catra's jeans.

Catra let out a breathless chuckle, her hips bucking when Adora squeezed gently at her cock. "Then I wouldn't have anything to hold on to," She reached up and ran a gentle hand through her girlfriend's hair.

"Aww," she cooed. "Poor baby can't get her dick sucked without handlebars," Adora giggled, jutting out her bottom lip as her nimble fingers popped the fly of Catra's jeans and unbuckled her belt.

Catra rolled her eyes, a playful smirk pulling at her lips. "Oh ha-ha," she drawled sarcastically, "Talk your shit while you still can, blondie. Don't know how well I'll be able to hear you with my cock stuffed in your mouth," Catra grunted, her hips thrusting sharply into her girlfriend's hand. She smirked when hungry blue eyes flickered to her cock, her mouth clamping shut. Catra chuckled darkly. "That's what I thought… Get to it, princess."

Adora sucked in a gasp, a shiver racking through her frame at the rough tone of Catra's voice. Fuck, she loved it when her girlfriend got like this. The rugged growl that left Catra's lips was almost like a promise; one that guaranteed she wouldn't be able to keep count of the number of orgasms she was going to have by the end of the night.

The blonde let another chill run down her spine before moving to unzip Catra's pants, wasting no time in swiftly releasing Catra's dick from the confines of her jeans...

In her corner of the room, Glimmer felt her eyebrows shoot toward the ceiling.

Holy crap, Adora could fit all that in her mouth? Catra's cock wasn't ridiculously big or anything, but she was well above average. Her dick was long, slightly curved and darker than the rest of her tanned body.

Jeez, no wonder Adora was so chill when she was with Catra. Between the weed and that going inside of her almost every night, Catra's room might as well have been cloud nine itself…

On the other side of the room Catra sat reclined in their bed, shuddering as Adora's warm hand made contact with her cock. She had been rocking a semi since the moment her girlfriend had shown up at her door with her glittery friend in tow. Now, her dick was practically pounding, all the blood in her body seemed to be pooling at its head as Adora's hand stroked up and down her length.

"Holy shit, baby. I feel like I'm gonna bust already," Catra groaned, her hips flexing as Adora's free hand ran up her taut stomach, blunt nails scraping gently over her skin.

Adora smirked, lust-ridden eyes watching as Catra's cock practically jumped towards her mouth. She winked before grasping her girlfriend's dick, holding its drooling head against her pouty lips. The blonde placed a teasing little kiss on the tip before parting her lips, and slowly closing them around her girlfriend's cock.

Catra's reaction was immediate.

"Oh shit," She moaned, her eyes rolling back at the feeling of Adora's soft mouth suckling at the head of her cock. Sparkling blue eyes gazed up at her and a rough moan spilled from Catra's lips as Adora started bobbing her head. Slick, wet sounds joined the steady stream of Catra's moans as Adora worked up and down her dick "That's so good, 'Dora. J-just like that," she groaned, her hips rising and falling with shallow pumps to push her cock deeper into those warm, wet, lips. Her head felt like her head weighed 50 pounds and vision was getting a bit spotty but dammit, she was determined to keep her eyes glued to her girlfriend.

Catra hissed, her stomach quivering as she watched Adora take a moment to pull back and lick a long, hot stripe from up the length of Catra's throbbing cock. She sealed her lips once she reached the top then continued sucking. Her head bobbed harder and faster, while her hand fisted Catra's cock in between strokes, searching for the rhythm that would make her girlfriend's legs shake.

Catra bit her lip, watching intensely, in awe of the way her Adora's lips stretched around her dick, effortlessly taking her, inch by inch.

"Gods, you look so sexy, baby," she cooed, her hand caressing the back of Adora's head and fingers running through those soft golden locks...

Across the room, Glimmer couldn't help but be amazed at her best friend's... abilities ; she felt like she should've been taking notes. The way Adora bobbed her head, adding in little twirls of neck and expertly placed flicks of her tongue and wrist was nothing short of perfection. There was even a moment where she had sunk her mouth all the way down to the base of Catra's dick without so much as a gag or cough.

And fuck, was it hot.

Once Glimmer had gotten over the initial awkwardness of watching her best friend get down and dirty, it really was a riveting experience. By now, she was squirming in her seat, painstakingly aware of the arousal that had gathered in her underwear.

Catra definitely wasn't wrong about Adora being sexy. Even with a penis stuffed in her mouth, Adora had somehow managed to look sinfully hot. Somehow, she had managed to keep her pace, controlled and steady, unfazed by her girlfriend's bucking hips. Her hair was tousled, flaxen locks falling wildly yet perfectly over her sculpted shoulders; her pink lips were pouty, wet, and shiny as they stretched around her girlfriend's cock. She hadn't taken her eyes off Catra once, even with her pupils blown, Adora's pretty blue eyes were sparkling, gazing up at Catra with all the burning love and desire she could muster.

The blonde was a gorgeous picture of submission: on her knees, a perfect arch in her back, even a content smile on her face as she all but worshiped Catra's cock. Glimmer could even see the patch of wetness that was staining the center of Adora's panties and making them cling to her folds.

Catra didn't stand a chance…

The hand in Adora's hair had gone from gently caressing her girlfriend's locks to gripping and pulling, roughly guiding Adora's lips up and down her dick as deep moans and groans poured out of her own lips.

Adora didn't mind. In fact, she was enjoying herself so much that the fingers of her free hand had slid inside her panties, moving slowly across her clit as her girlfriend's cock pumped in and out her mouth.

A gruff moan tore through the room as Catra's hips and back arched away from the bed, pushing her cock deep into Adora's mouth, leaving it to rest deep in her throat. Adora moaned around Catra's cock, the vibrations pulling an electrifying chill down her spine.

Her legs shook at the feeling of Adora's nose pressed tight against her pelvis. She practically wheezed when the blonde pulled back again, hollowing her cheeks as she brought her lips toward the head of Catra's cock, seemingly unfazed by the fact that it was just in the back of her throat.

"Adora," Catra moaned, her eyes squeezing tight. "Oh shit, baby, I'm gonna cum," With that, Adora sped up. Her hand moved in tandem with her mouth, swiftly stroking the length that she couldn't quite reach at her new tempo. She moaned as Catra's hips pistoned sloppily against her face, helpless whimpers spilling from her girlfriend's lips as she hurdled towards release. "Keep going. Fuck! Don't you dare stop," Catra growled.

Adora happily did as she was told and kept her pace, the fingers between her own legs moving faster as Catra's grip on her hair tightened. The blonde looked up, watching intently as Catra thrashed and squirmed, lost in the pleasure only she could provide.

Feeling that intense stare, Catra opened her eyes, her two toned gaze connecting with the magnificent steely-blues looking up at her. They were sparkling with a mind-boggling combination of unwavering adoration, love, and lust. It was enough to make a polarizing shiver rack through her frame. Never in her life had Catra met a woman who could make her heart flutter when she was seconds away from a soul-snatching orgasm.

The next thing Catra saw was a devious little wink before Adora's hot mouth sank down her cock once more, this time, swallowing as it reached the back of her throat.

That was when Catra saw white.

Tanned thighs quaked against pale cheeks as an earth shattering orgasm tore through Catra's body. Her fingers flexed in Adora's hair and her toes curled in her boots, mouth falling open in a silent scream as hot streaks of cum shot from her cock and landed on Adora's tongue. She moaned weakly at the feeling of Adora suckling at the sensitive tip of her dick, her tongue peeking out to lick away the cum that she hadn't been able to swallow.

"Holy fuck," Catra wheezed, her hips stuttering weakly as she rode out the final waves of her climax. Her vision returned just in time to see Adora placing one last kiss on her cock before pulling away to wipe her lips. "Gods, baby," Catra let out a breathless chuckle, flopping back onto the bed.

The blonde giggled, watching the few tremors of aftershock pass through her girlfriend's slumped frame. She felt the familiar swell of pride bloom in her chest. Sucking Catra off was the one of the few times that Adora could render her girlfriend completely useless, even if it was only for a few moments.

She knew better than to think they were done; because even though Catra's body was limp, her dick was anything but.

"Did you like that, kitten?" Adora asked, her tone coated in faux innocence. She smiled smugly as she ran her hand up her girlfriend's thigh, pulling a weak thrust from Catra's hips.

Catra propped herself up again to meet Adora's smug gaze. "Loved it." She flashed a lazy grin, "Thank you, princess," Catra purred, letting her heavy yet desire-ridden eyes travel down her girlfriends body. Her gaze immediately darkened as she caught sight of the hand still stuffed in Adora's panties. Then, just like her cock, Catra sprang back to life. "Come here." She ordered with a crook of her finger.

Adora visibly shuddered. She moved without hesitation, crawling over to her girlfriend, then rising to her feet once she reached Catra. Adora straddled her hips, sighing quietly as she finally slid her buzzing body over her lover's. She moaned at the feeling of Catra's naked torso against hers, reveling in the feeling of her girlfriend's hard, sensitive nipples rubbing against her own as they came together in a heated kiss.

Catra groaned, the taste of herself fresh on Adora's tongue making her head spin. Rough, possessive, hands ran down the smooth expanse of Adora's back before settling on her ass. She slid her hands underneath flimsy blue lace and squeezed, enjoying the feeling of the blonde's soft, pliant flesh bulging between her fingertips.

Catra loved everything about Adora's ass: its perfect size, its shape, how soft it was, the way it bounced a little when she walked. She especially loved the cute little way Adora would squeal and squirm and when she smacked it.

Speaking of..

Adora squeaked at the same time one of Catra's heavy palms landed on her ass. She gasped, her lips tearing away from Catra's as her body registered the sudden contact. Adora couldn't help but whine, pushing back into Catra's hands as a helpless little moan pushed past her lips. The initial sting of Catra's hand had given way to a pleasurable throbbing that pounded through her core. She rolled her hips against Catra, desperately searching for something that would soothe the ever growing ache between her legs.

"Fuck, Catra," Adora whimpered. She sat up, her back arching as she pushed her ass into Catra's hands, her already overstimulated body asking for more.

Catra smirked, her split eyebrow lifting as she rubbed over her girlfriend's heated skin. "You like that, princess?" she asked. She raised her hand, hovering over Adora's ass for a moment, waiting for just the right moment to smack.

Adora gasped, her breath catching as Catra spanked her again, her second blow landing in the same spot as the first. She wouldn't be surprised if there was a glowing red handprint on her asscheek by now but Adora didn't care. The blonde rolled her hips when the next smack came, a fourth and fifth quickly following. Her pussy clenched in time with each harsh yet delicious blow. By the sixth, Adora was all but vibrating in Catra's lap, her head swimming- drowning- in the pleasure her girlfriend was so graciously supplying.

"Baby," she whined. Her gaze found Catra's as her heavy head dropped. Even through her haze, Adora still managed to get butterflies as she looked into those blue and gold eyes. "I love you," she wriggled her hips, silently rejoicing when her aching pussy finally found a purchase against her girlfriend's cock. "You make me feel so good.” A meek whimper escaped her lips when Catra’s hip bucked, her dick dragging against the wet fabric of her panties, nudging her clit. She let her eyes flutter shut, taking moment just to get lost in the feeling of Catra’s cock between her legs, hips grinding down to feel its hard ridges press against her aching cunt.

“I love you too, princess,” Catra said softly. She gazed at the beautiful woman astride her lap, gently running her hands up the blonde’s sides. She gripped her waist, bi-colored eyes rolling back as she pulled the blonde firmly against her cock. “You know you’re my good girl. You’re so beautiful, baby.”

Adora shivered at the praise, a sharp flash of heat shooting through her body as Catra’s long nails dug into her skin. Her own hands had moved to run up the firm expanse of her girlfriend’s stomach, her fingers deftly tracing the tattoos etched on Catra’s smooth skin.

Adora opened her eyes, her gaze meeting Catra’s in a heated stare. “You mean that?” she whimpered with a roll of her hips. Catra’s sweet words had managed to make her heart and her pussy throb. If Adora hadn’t been so turned on, she might have cried.

“Of course,” Catra cooed. “You’re my fucking world, Adora.” Her words gave way to a groan at the sinfully slow swirl of her girlfriend’s hips, nearly yelping at the feeling of Adora’s heated cunt grinding back against her cock...

In her corner of the room, Glimmer had gone from squirming in her seat to sitting at the edge of it, straining her ears to hear the words Catra and Adora were whispering against one another’s lips.

There was something about the intimacy of this moment that made Glimmer’s heart pound wildly against her chest. Bow told her he loved her all the time during sex- she always looked forward to that part- but it was never like what she was watching.

With Catra and Adora, their loving declarations almost felt like foreplay, all lust and desire put behind their words pushing them that much closer to the edge.

It made her head spin.

Though, her sudden lightheadedness did keep her from returning her focus on the pair. They are still whispering to one another, Catra's husky voice sounding through the room once again...

"You ready for me, baby?" She asked, her words accentuated by the slow grind of her hips. "Hm, you want me to fuck you?"

Of course she already knew the answer to that question. At this point, Adora's flimsy panties were soaked through and she could feel the blonde's clit throbbing heavily against her own pulsing cock. Catra knew it wouldn't even take much, she could have her girlfriend cumming in minutes with a few well placed shifts of her hips if she really wanted to. She could even slide the blonde's panties to the side and let Adora ride her until she was seeing stars.

But, (much to Adora's chagrin) she hadn't done nearly enough teasing.

Catra wanted the blonde to be a wreck by the time she fucked her. She'd be the perfect picture of desperation as she begged for Catra to absolutely destroy her: squirming and writhing on their bed, throwing her head back, moaning and crying out in sweet relief when she finally slid her cock into that wet, aching pussy.

"God yes," Adora pleaded, her eyes falling heavy as Catra's fingers tugged at the edge of her underwear. They had been on for far too long and were undoubtedly ruined.

Luckily, Catra was feeling somewhat generous; she couldn't let her girlfriend suffer for too long. She tapped Adora's thigh, signaling for the blonde to lift her hips so she could slide the soaked blue fabric down her legs. Once they were off, Catra flung them into an uncharted corner of the room, giggling when Adora shuddered and sighed as she reveled in the feeling of cool air against her heated skin

“There you go, love,” Catra purred, raking her eyes and hands across Adora’s newly exposed flesh...

..Gasping quietly, Glimmer felt the rush dry air fill her gaping mouth, her eyes wide. Adora was completely naked and she couldn’t look away. She followed the trail of Catra's long, manicured fingers, watching as they slid up the backside of Adora’s thighs, leading Glimmer’s eyes to the one part of her friend’s body she didn't think she would ever see: Adora’s pussy.

In all honesty, it was kind of beautiful; pink, plump, and clean shaven, save for the neat little thatch of damp coppery hair on her mound. Plus, she was absolutely soaked. Adora’s arousal covered the expanse of pussy, Glimmer could even see shiny droplets that pooled at her entrance before rolling down to coat the inside of her thighs. Wow. She knew Adora was a pleaser, but had she really gotten that wet from sucking Catra off?

Maybe Glimmer would have to rethink the whole ‘no-mouth-near-genitals’ thing…

On the other side of the room, Catra was still teasing Adora; yet, she wasted no time bringing one hand to her girlfriend’s pussy, the other resting against her ass. She couldn’t help but moan at the feeling of her fingers gliding easily through warm slick as she gently cupped Adora’s cunt.

Catra couldn’t recall having ever felt Adora this revved up before. She hadn't even really touched her and, yet, the blonde was already drenched. Her pussy was coated in her arousal, her clit was hot against Catra’s palm, pulled back from its hood and searching for attention it so desperately needed.

Maybe Adora was feeling extra needy today… or maybe it was because of the prying eyes watching from the corner of the room. Catra always suspected her girlfriend might have had a bit of a exhibitionist side to her (and now that she thought about it, the blonde did always come a little harder when they fucked in front of the mirror). Either way, Adora was practically putty in her hands, her pussy wet and ready to take anything Catra was willing to give.

She had Adora right where she wanted her.

“Gods, princess. You’re soaked.” Catra said as she slid two fingers up Adora’s slick folds before settling them against her clit and pulling a heavy moan from the blonde. “You like me here?”

Adora jumped slightly at the feeling of Catra’s fingers sliding over her clit. After what felt like hours of teasing words and those rough hands working her into a frenzy, her little nub had been all but screaming for attention; she could even recall it throbbing almost painfully within the confines of her panties as she sucked Catra off. But now, she was free and her girlfriend’s fingers had finally started to give her what she needed, rubbing her clit in wide, painstakingly slow circles, applying just enough pressure to make her shudder.

It felt amazing; but it wasn't nearly enough to make her come.

She needed to be fucked. She needed to feel those long, dextrous fingers filling her, curling deep inside of her, and mercilessly hitting the spots that would put dots and tunnels in her vision.

“Catra, please!” Adora whined, her hips moving in an helpless attempt at putting her girlfriend’s digits where she needed them. She spread her legs wider, pushing her ass into Catra’s hand, hoping it would goad her into doing something- anything.

Catra smirked, lifting her split eyebrow as her fingers slid from Adora’s clit to her slick entrance. She watched her girlfriend with hooded eyes as she ever so slightly dipped her digits inside. She couldn’t help but take pride in the way the blonde shuddered, cunt pulsing and clenching around the tip of her fingers. “How bad do you want it, princess? ”She husked.

“So bad,” Adora whimpered. “Sucking your cock made me so wet, baby. You know it won’t even take long for me to cum..” Praying she could break Catra’s resolve, she pulled herself upright in her girlfriend’s lap, knowing her abs were flexing beautifully as she did so. She braced herself by pressing one hand into Catra’s stomach as the other settled on her own breasts, fingers trapping a taut, pink nipple. Adora looked down, a wanton moan leaving her lips as she flashed Catra the most seductive eyes she could manage. “Please, kitten.”

Adora bit her lip, pride swelling in her chest as Catra’s eyes widened and her jaw fell slack. A beat of silence passed before she finally gave in.

Adora resisted the urge to smirk; Catra always did love a good show.

“You don’t come until I tell you to,”

Two fingers slid easily into Adora’s pussy, bringing about lewd, wet, noises that were quickly followed by a series of moans from the blonde. She couldn’t help but smirk at the feeling of her girlfriend’s wetness spilling onto her hand. Catra was certain that if she weren’t two fingers deep inside of her, Adora’s cum would have been pooling on her stomach by now. The brief thought of Adora’s hot pussy sliding against her made her shudder, but she didn’t want to waste anymore time. Catra made quick work of pumping her digits in and out of her girlfriend’s slick cunt, pressing deeper and deeper with each stroke.

“Oh fuck, yes,” Adora whimpered.

Her head was spinning. She wouldn’t even be surprised if she was drooling by now. Catra’s fingers felt fucking amazing. They pushed and pulled inside of her, all the while her palm cradled Adora’s clit, applying just enough pressure to make stars dance behind her eyes. Adora’s pussy clenched around Catra’s fingers, her hips bucking as her girlfriend steadily increased her pace and all but hammered her curled fingers against her front wall. Adora knew she wasn't going to last long. She could already feel the heat pooling in her stomach, that deep pressure building, more than ready to be released.

"You like that, princess? You like my fingers deep in this pretty little pussy? Hitting all your spots?" Catra asked gruffly, her fingers searching for the spongy spot that would make Adora shudder on top of her. "You're so wet, I can feel you dripping down my hand… Imagine if it was my dick. What if I just slipped it in right now? Made you ride me until you're begging to cum around my cock? I bet you'd fucking love that," she teased, smirking when she felt Adora's pussy clench tightly around her fingers. "Do you know how good I'm gonna fuck you, baby?"

A strangled moan sounded through the room as Adora slammed down against Catra's fingers. Her ears were ringing but that didn't stop her from hearing the sinful words that had left her girlfriend's filthy mouth. "Yes, you're so good, baby," she answered, a helpless whimper soon following as Catra's fingers hit another spot deep inside her.

"That's right, baby. I'm the only one who's can fuck you like this," Catra said smugly. "Tell me you're mine," she ordered, her free hand coming down to punctuate her command with a harsh spank against Adora's ass.

The blonde squeaked, her body jolting forward, but she didn't hesitate. "I'm yours,"

"Again,"

Another spank.

"I'm yours,"

"Again,"

Another spank.

Adora didn't think she could hold on much longer. She looked down, her hooded blue eyes connecting with the dual colored irises that had been watching her so intensely.

"I'm yours," The blonde whined. "I love you, baby. Please ."

Catra didn't wait. With a deep thrust, a sharp curl of her fingers, and one last rough smack against the blonde's ass, she growled. "Come for me,"

Bright white light flashed behind Adora's eyelids the moment Catra spoke. Her body went rigid on top of her girlfriend before breaking out into a vibrating shiver as the hot waves of release crashed onto her. Adora sobbed, her pussy clenching sporadically around Catra's fingers. They continued to thrust inside of her, relentlessly curling against the spot that made her squirm and writhe against the body beneath her.

Adora's eyes squeezed shut when she felt Catra's dexterous fingers carefully slide out of her only to swiftly reposition themselves on her clit. "Fuck- Catra!" she yelped.

"That's right, keep cumming for me," Catra purred. "Good girl." …

At the sound of Catra's voice, Glimmer all but melted on the couch, barely containing a meek whine as she watched Adora fall apart under her girlfriend's fingers. The blonde was a mess, her whimpers and moans amplified in the haze of Catra's room. Alongside the symphony of Adora's moans were the slick noises of Catra's fingers rubbing relentlessly at her girlfriend's flooding pussy. Glimmer could see the deep red blush that had spread to Adora's chest as she threw her head back, her orgasm still ripping through her

She almost couldn't believe it. As exhilarating as it was, Glimmer's mind was scrambling, trying desperately to figure out how Catra had managed to make Adora come on command- only around a couple of fingers, no less. Glimmer made a mental note to figure that out as she continued watching with rapt attention.

They were kissing again, letting out deep, heavy moans as their lips moved together. Catra's hand had moved from Adora's pussy and found its way back to her asscheek. With Catra's hand out the way, Glimmer could see just how wet Adora was, her cunt glistening in the low light of the room. She could even see the slight clench of the blonde's slit as Catra's hands rubbed softly at her ass, adding in a light squeeze or two...

They pulled apart with a pair of breathless moans, their eyes still connected. Adora flashed a little smirk as she wrapped her hand around Catra's cock, watching as her girlfriend's eyes fluttered, a meek whimper falling from her lips.

"Fuck," Catra groaned, her hips grinding into Adora's hand. In the three minutes that it had taken to make Adora come, her dick had gotten harder than ever, throbbing almost painfully against her stomach. Listening to Adora beg for her and feeling that hot pussy clench and cum around her fingers had Catra feeling like she could burst any minute. Now, with the blonde's devious grip on her cock, her head was spinning.

Adora knew exactly how to work her over, applying just the right pressure, pulling at the base, stroking slowly, and squeezing at the head.

As much as she loved it, it wasn't enough.

Catra was ready to be balls deep inside of her girlfriend.

She needed to sink into that slick pussy. hear those pretty moans fall from those even prettier lips, watch her ass and her tits bounce as Catra fucked her into the mattress, and finally, feel her cunt pulse when she let Adora cum around her cock.

Catra grunted and pushed her cock into the blonde's hand. She gazed at Adora with hooded, yet intent eyes. Then she spoke, her voice low as she gave her girlfriend's ass a firm squeeze. "You ready for me to fuck you, princess?"

Adora's eyes lit up, a glint of pure excitement striking her darkened gaze. The blonde looked at Catra through her eyelashes as she continued to pump her shaft, a slick line of precum hitting her palm. She silently prayed that this would be one of the last moments she could form a coherent thought.

Despite just having an orgasm, she had been more than ready for Catra to fuck her. Even before Glimmer called, Adora had been daydreaming about the moment when she could come home to her girlfriend, let Catra bend her over their bed, and just rail her. Judging by the look in her girlfriend's eyes, her dreams were about to come true.

In a flash, Catra sat up from the bed, gently pulling Adora's hand from her cock before flipping their positions. She flashed a sly smirk as the blonde hit the bed with a soft thud. Yet, she didn't stay down for long, raising to her knees to watch as Catra tugged off the rest of her clothes. Catra practically purred at the sight of the blonde waiting for her, with her blonde hair tousled, full tits heaving with anticipation, and her thick, muscular thighs, slick with arousal, rubbing together in a poor attempt at quelling the ache that only Catra could soothe.

Stars, Adora was fucking perfection.

Catra liked to think if she didn't have a desperately horny girlfriend waiting on her (or a raging hard-on) she would've taken a moment to sit back and just marvel in Adora's beauty.

But she could do that later.

"Elbows and knees- ass up, princess," Catra ordered, pointing a manicured finger towards the top of the bed with a slight nod of her head. "And don't forget to put that pillow under your hips."

Adora let out a tiny moan before scrambling to follow her girlfriend's directions. She could feel Catra's unwavering and lustful stare burning into her as she assumed the position. Slowly the blonde bent forward onto the bed; she leaned forward on her forearms, the full globes of her ass raising as her back bowed into a perfect arch. Adora bit her lip to hide a smirk as she heard the hitch of Catra's breath, shortly followed by a sharp hiss. Then with a shift of her knees, Adora spread her legs wide, putting herself on full display…

Glimmer, who found herself captivated with the scene that was playing out in front of her, watched with rapt attention. Her wide eyes settled on Adora, who was looking back at Catra with heavy-lidded eyes, her hips raised and her legs spread wide in invitation as she watched the tanned girl stroke her cock.

She liked to think if she wasn't so turned on she'd be a little confused because she never expected Adora to be such a bottom ! She was so used to the blonde's meticulous planning of every single moment and detail of her life that it was almost jarring to her seeing her best friend so subdued. This was the first time Glimmer was seeing Adora completely surrender her control.

What was it about Catra that made Adora so submissive and willing to let go so easily?

After that question, Glimmer couldn't help but wonder if Bow had the same qualities as Catra? She didn't see many similarities between the two. However, she did recognize the love and adoration that Catra held for Adora. In between the heated moments of rough touches and dirty talk, Glimmer saw instances of softness. The same lovestruck glint that was in Catra's eyes when she called Adora a 'good girl' was the same one in Bow's when he told Glimmer he loved her.

Glimmer didn't think she could be as submissive as Adora, but she did find herself intrigued with Catra's dominance. Her mind was reeling. She hadn't even realized that her subconscious mind had been projecting herself and Bow onto Adora and Catra. Before she knew it, Glimmer was the one with her face buried into the mattress, while Bow was behind her, ready to take what was his. She almost closed her eyes and let her mind fall further into the fantasy, however, a sharp and sudden gasp snapped her out of her thoughts.

It was Adora, looking debauched as ever…

Catra was still behind her, taking her sweet time as she ran a pair of leisurely fingers through the blonde's slick folds, reveling in the way her girlfriend's body was all but vibrating under her touch. Adora's vibrating quickly turned to full on tremors when she replaced her fingers with her cock, its weight resting snuggly against Adora's pussy.

Catra placed one of her hands in the dip of Adora's spine, stilling her for a moment. "Are you ready, baby?" She asked, her heavy two-toned eyes doing their best to gauge the blonde's reaction as she pressed the tip of her cock against her girlfriend's entrance.

Adora was past words at this point, only able to offer a pleading whine in response as her hips desperately chased the cock nudging at her pussy.

Apparently, that wasn't enough for Catra, because at the same time her girlfriend grunted out a firm "Look at me," an even firmer hand wrapped around the blonde's arm and pulled her upright, pressing her back firmly against the body behind her. Adora couldn't help the pathetic moan she let out as Catra grabbed the underside of her jaw and turned her head so their eyes could meet. "You heard me, princess," she said, a devilish grin pulling at her lips. "Are you ready? Yes or no?"

"Yes," Adora nodded feverishly. "Please, baby."

The smirk on Catra's was the last thing Adora saw before her vision gave way to stars. Eyes fluttering shut, Adora's mouth fell slack into a heavy sob as Catra finally gave her everything she had been waiting for…

On the couch, Glimmer watched the moment Catra slid into Adora with one sharp yet calculated thrust. It was then that she recalled her best friend's words from earlier in the coffee shop.

" That should be the best feeling in the fucking world… For both of you! You should feel like you wanna cry and cum all at the same time because it feels so good."

The way the blonde's body shook before nearly falling slack with pleasure was enough to tell Glimmer she hadn't been exaggerating. Catra hadn't even moved, keeping her hips pressed tight against her girlfriend's ass as her lips pressed hot, open mouth kisses against the side of Adora's neck. Yet, the blonde looked like a woman possessed, with her eyes rolled back to the whites and her body convulsing as if she were already on the verge of an orgasm...

Behind her, Catra held Adora close as her hips pushed forward, her cock finally surrounded by that tight, wet, heat that she had been all but anxious to sink into. She buried her nose in the crook of Adora's shoulder, wanting to breathe in her girlfriend's very essence. Gods, everything about this woman was perfect. From her painstakingly beautiful heart of gold to the way her pussy fit Catra's cock like a glove.

She couldn't get enough.

Catra let her fingers caress the skin of her girlfriend's reddened cheeks before her grip on the base of Adora's jaw tightened. That earned her breathy moan and a sudden clench of the blonde's cunt around her cock. Catra smirked against Adora's shoulder, giving a gracious rock of her hips as her free hand traveled to the front of Adora's body. Her fingers skimmed over those delicious abs before coming to hover over one of her nipples. Catra wasted no time, squeezing the ample flesh that accompanied that perfect pink peak, fondling and caressing until it hardened under her fingers.

"Oh fuck," Adora breathed out, her hands reaching out to brace themselves against the bed. She bared down, nearly sitting back on Catra's lap to feel everything that amazing cock had to offer. Catra was finally inside of her, and although she hadn't moved much, Adora swore she could feel every vein and ridge as her girlfriend's cock throbbed, pressing heavily- deeply- against every inch of her walls.

"You like that?" Catra taunted with another shallow jog of her hips.

"Fuck. Yes, baby," Adora answered through a strangled moan.

Catra only hummed in response, now focusing her attention on speeding up the delivery of her thrusts. What once was the slow and steady jog of her hips had become sharp, deliberate snaps of her pelvis against Adora's ass.

All Adora could do was hold on and feel.

The change of pace made her groan, her hips bucking back to meet Catra's harsh thrusts. They had just started and Catra was already railing her exceptionally hard- Gods, was it amazing. Adora's cunt pulsed with each rough push of Catra's cock, spearing inside of her, gaining more power and speed, thrust by thrust. The blonde's mind had gone blank, unable to form a coherent thought. She was certain if Catra were to ask her another question, the only answer she'd get from Adora was some pitifully unintelligible noise.

Catra's dick was working her into a frenzy. Every sensation felt heightened and she could feel everything ; from the pinch of Catra's fingers on her nipple to her cock that was pushing against all the places that made her vision blur. Every single nerve was on a live wire. Adora's body was a fire that Catra had no plans of extinguishing anytime soon.

In fact, Catra was determined to fan that flame.

With a grunt, she sped up her thrusts, her dick pistoning even faster inside Adora's pussy. The fresh wave of wetness that welcomed her cock made Catra press her teeth against Adora's shoulder, her own moan muffled by the smooth skin beneath her lips.

Her girlfriend was so fucking hot , it almost didn’t make any sense.

Catra let her eyes flutter shut, as her hips continued to ram into Adora, losing just the slightest bit of her rhythm as both of her hands moved to lavish her girlfriend’s body in the attention it deserved. She removed one of her hands from the underside of the blonde’s jaw to join the other at Adora’s nipples. Together, they squeezed, pulled, and delivered sharp pinches that made Adora squeal. She continued to mouth at the blonde’s neck, her teeth leaving bright red marks in their wake. With a particularly rough bite, Catra pulled her hands away from Adora’s tits, ignoring the tiny groan the blonde let out in favor of sliding her palms down the expanse of Adora’s body. Catra’s hands came to rest between her girlfriend's legs, manicured nails scraping lightly against shaking thighs as her fingers settled against Adora’s pussy.

The wanton noise that followed was enough to send Catra’s desire into overdrive. Adora’s hips chased Catra’s fingers, her cunt clenching immediately after Catra’s fingers grazed her clit. She cupped Adora’s cunt, wetness practically spilling around her digits as she timed her thrusts with tight and quick circles drawn by her fingers.

Adora whined, her eyes squeezed shut. She was willing herself not to cum, trying hard to ebb the flame that was sparking hotly in her body. She could feel it growing and growing, the tightening coil in her stomach, ready to snap. But alas, all she could do was throw her head back and pray to the Gods that would let her cum soon, put her out of her misery before she had to start begging.

Until then, she held on, her fingers digging into the sheets below as Catra continued to plow into her.

If her ears hadn’t been ringing, she probably would’ve noticed that their bed had started matching the rhythmic clap of Catra’s hips against her ass. At some point, Catra had also changed the angle of her thrusts, her cock now nudging mercilessly against her front wall. On a particularly rough thrust, Adora yelped, one of her hands moving to slap against the hand Catra was using to grip her thigh.

"Oh my Gods," Adora sobbed, her fingers mindlessly intertwining with Catra's .

"Look at my girl," Catra purred, chuckling darkly against Adora's shoulder. "You're so pretty when you take my dick, baby."

Catra sucked at the blonde's skin, breathing heavily through her nose as Adora's pussy pulsed against her cock in response to the praise. Adora may have been holding off beautifully, but Catra was pitifully close to cumming. Every clench of her girlfriend's cunt was sending her closer and closer to the edge of what she already knew would be a toe curling orgasm. Usually, Catra prided herself in being able to last, but something about Adora in this moment (not to mention the watchful gaze lurking in the dark corner of their room) had her cock pulsing and her balls clenching dangerously fast.

But she refused to rush this, she couldn't run the risk of Adora's orgasm not being around her dick.

So with a determined grunt, Catra pulled her hand away from Adora's clit. She ignored the whine of protest that her girlfriend let out in favor of sliding her hand up the blonde's body. Catra made sure to tweak one of her nipples one last time before moving her hand to the back of Adora's shoulders. Then, she shoved the blonde down onto the bed, smirking as her girlfriend's face hit the pillow with a soft thump.

She stayed upright, her hips never missing a beat even as she reveled in the surprised little yelp Adora had let out at her sudden roughness. From this angle, Catra had the leverage to put more power and speed behind her thrusts. She grabbed hold of Adora's waist, pulling her girlfriend's body to meet her pumping cock, her pelvis clapping harshly against the blonde's ass. Catra didn't bother holding back her moans and groans at this point. Especially when she looked down, her eyes nearly rolling back at the sight of her dick sliding in and out of Adora.

The view was perfect from top to bottom: the sharp arch in Adora's back; the ripple of her asscheeks, red and bouncing with the force of Catra's thrusts; and the most tantalizing image of all: her cock, slick and shiny with Adora's cum. Catra's teeth clenched sharply at the seemingly endless strings of wetness that clung to her dick as it pumped in and out of her girlfriend's pussy.

"Fuck," Catra hissed before delivering another rough thrust, angling her hips in a way that made Adora grip at sheets beneath her.

"Catra!" The blonde squealed, slight warning in her tone. Her thighs were shaking and her pussy nearly had her girlfriend's dick in a chokehold, spasming as Catra continued fuck her into the matress. Her body was trapped mercilessly between an onslaught of sensations. In this position, that long cock was hitting all the right spots and pushing her clit into the pillow beneath her hips with every thrust. Adora didn't know how much longer she could last. With fiery white specks dotting her vision, the burning coil at the base of her belly pulled tighter and tighter, threatening to snap with every thrust of her girlfriend's hips.

A long whine fell out of Adora's lips, a needy attempt at getting Catra's attention without having to outright scream 'I'm about to cum!'. It seemed to work because not long after she let out that little noise, she felt Catra shift behind her, hunching over, as her hands came to rest on either side of the blonde's head. Adora felt herself sink deeper into whatever fucked-out space her mind had descended into as Catra's soft tits pressed against her back, sweet lips ghosting her shoulder. If it were possible, Catra's dick felt even deeper in this position, now fucking her with short, shallow- but no less precise- thrusts.. a telltale sign that Catra wasn't too far behind either.

"Is my princess close?" Catra murmured against the shell of Adora's ear. She pressed a hot yet gentle kiss to the tip of her girlfriend's shoulder blade, her sharp canines following, scraping lightly against tempered skin.

"Yes," Adora answered weakly, craning her neck to meet Catra's lips, her head resting against her girlfriend's shoulder. She raised one shaky hand before reaching backwards to tangle her fingers in Catra's shaggy locks and keep those beautiful lips pressed against her skin. Adora arched her hips back as well, desperately needing to feel every of the cock inch that was pressed inside of her. She could feel Catra's dick throbbing at this point. Adora knew her girlfriend's body begging for release just as much as she was. Gods, she wanted it so badly. Not just for herself; she wanted to feel Catra moan against her, sink her teeth into her, cum inside her. "Please."

Catra delivered a rough pump before holding her hips still for a moment, pressing deeply into the blonde beneath her. She smirked against Adora's neck as she squirmed and chased her cock, a cute little whine falling from her girlfriend's lips. Catra slid one of her hands into the one that wasn't tugging at her hair, tangling her fingers with Adora's in the sheets. She squeezed gently, making sure that she had Adora's undivided attention before growling out. "Tell me you love me,"

Catra punctuated her request with a sharp and deliberate thrust that rocked her girlfriend's shaking body.

Adora's response was immediate. "I love you," she sobbed.

"You love me? You love my cock?" Catra purred, delivering another deep thrust. "Again,"

"Fuck, yes," Adora whimpered. "I love you, baby."

Another thrust.

"Again,"

"I love you!"

Catra smiled against Adora's shoulder. With a tender kiss to Adora's red, sweaty cheek and one last hard thrust, she started jogging her hips again. Her movements were a little sloppy, but she was stroking harder and faster than she had the whole night. Catra was done teasing. She wanted to make Adora cry out in sweet relief and finally feel that beautiful pussy cum around her cock. Plus, her balls were clenching and her cock throbbed painfully, all but jumping inside of Adora and more than ready to finally let go.

It was time to put both of them out of their misery.

"I love you too, princess." Catra purred. "Make sure you say my name when you cum, baby."

That's all it took for the strangled cry of her girlfriend's name to leave lips.

"Catra!"

Adora's cunt clenched hard around Catra as she came, nearly locking her dick in a vice grip. Both of her hands tightened, the one buried in Catra's hair tugging as a blinding flash of heat burst through her body. The coil in her stomach finally snapped into a million pieces. She let out a silent scream, her body stilling before breaking out into full tremors, aftershock wracking her frame. She vaguely recognized the sound Catra coaxing her through her orgasm but the words sounded muffled and distant, hidden behind the sirens blaring in her ears.

Behind her, Catra continued fucking Adora, moving her hips as much as her girlfriend's spasming pussy would allow. Her own release was seconds away, white spots dotting her vision all the while her balls seized as the heat boiling in the base of stomach reached a fever pitch. Catra squeezed her eyes shut and pressed her teeth against Adora's shoulder, managing a few more thrust before her hips stilled and she finally came. She groaned against Adora's shoulder, body shaking as shots of cum painted her girlfriend's still clenching walls.

"Fuck," Adora groaned, head falling back down the pillow. The feeling of Catra's cum shooting into her seemed to prolong Adora's orgasm. Her legs shook, her cunt still pulsing around her girlfriend's cock.

After a moment, the hand in her girlfriend's hair fell limply onto the mattress while her other palm still rested inside Catra's. The intense waves of pleasure were finally starting to calm, ebbing into tiny ripples of aftershock that occasionally wracked her frame. Adora's body felt heavy but she had floated back down to earth enough for her to register the feeling of her girlfriend still draped over her- still inside her-, pressing light kisses interspersed between the labored breaths that puffed gently against Adora's cheeks.

Adora nuzzled into Catra's kisses, giggling softly as she wriggled her ass back against the body behind her. That earned the blonde weak jerk of her girlfriend's hips and short, yet sharp hiss. Nevertheless, she continued kissing her. Adora craned her head back to meet Catra's lips, ignoring the awkward angle that made her neck ache. She reached up to caress her girlfriend's soft, tanned cheek and kissed her with all the love and affection she could muster.

"Mmm," Catra hummed against Adora's lips before pulling back for a moment. "You did so good, baby."

She felt the blonde's pussy clench in response to her praise. As tempting as it was to follow that clench with a jog of her hips, Catra remained still, pressing gentle kisses against every inch of soft skin that her lips could find. They both knew well enough that their night was not over. Adora alone had at least four more rounds in her before she would finally tap out (six, if Catra worked her up enough).

But right now, she was spent.

Sex with Adora was always spectacular and immensely satisfying but, there was something about today that had her cumming harder than she had in a while. Catra didn’t have the energy or mental capacity to connect that it probably had something to do with Adora’s sparkly little friend watching them from that corner. She didn't even want to think about what that might say about her… or what new kink she might have to add to her list. For now, she wanted to put all her focus and attention on Adora.

“I can’t feel my legs,” the blonde giggled into the pillow beneath her. “Or remember my name.”

Letting out a hearty chuckle, Catra placed one more soft kiss on the blonde’s lips. She sighed gently before pushing herself up and (sadly) away from the blonde below her, groaning as she slid out the tight wet heat that had milked her cock for all it was worth.

They didn’t stay apart for long. As the weight of Catra’s body shifted away, Adora rolled onto her back, releasing a quiet sigh of relief as the tension in her back and legs dissolved. She quickly made room for Catra’s lithe frame to slot in between her legs, humming softly as her girlfriend settled against her, head resting against her chest. She reached up to run gentle fingers through the sprawling waves of brown hair that she had been tugging at for most of the afternoon. Her lips stretched into a smile as Catra nuzzled into her chest, a noise that Adora could only describe as a content pur rumbling from her lips. She let her eyes flutter shut for a moment as Catra placed soft yet hot kisses in between her breasts. The blonde let out her own contented sigh, her neck craning back as she felt her girlfriend’s velvet lips start to kiss their way up her neck only stopping once they had settled below her jaw.

Adora’s eyes fluttered back open, she reached for Catra’s cheek with a singular finger, tilting her chin towards her so their lips could meet. It was a short kiss but one that conveyed all the love and adoration Adora held for the woman between her legs.

They pulled back, gazes linked.

“Hi, baby,” Catra cooed.

"Hi, my love," Adora responded, her fingers pushing away Catra's overgrown bangs as she placed another peck against her girlfriend's lips.

"So that was fun, huh?" Catra said with a wiggle of her eyebrows.

Adora giggled, "I had the time of my life," she said. "We should do it again sometime."

Catra nuzzled into the blonde's neck once again, running her hands up Adora's thighs as she pressed hot kisses along her jaw. Her dick jumped at the little whimper Adora let out when she slid her hands down and her grip settled on that magnificent ass. She could feel Adora's pussy, still hot and wet, press against her stomach. She moaned ant the feeling and dug her fingers into the deliciously pliable flesh of the blonde's ass, pulling her closer, her cock now lifted back to life between them.

She never questioned how she could go from zero to ready to fuck less than five minutes after soul-shattering orgasm. Maybe Catra needed to thank the same lucky stars that had given her such a perfect, sexy, loving girlfriend for blessing her with the stamina and recovery she needed to keep her satisfied.

But that didn't matter right now. All she knew was that they were on their way to round two and Catra was more than ready to go; and, by the looks and sound of it, Adora wasn't too far behind.

Catra's kisses grew hotter, her touches bolder and her dick even harder than before. Adora, whose hips had started moving in shallow undulations, her pussy sliding ever so slightly against her girlfriend's stomach, whimpered as she licked a hot, wet stripe up to the base of the blonde's ear before speaking in the low, husky tone that always managed to make her melt.

"Mhm.. you think Sparkles enjoyed the show?"

Adora's eyes snapped open. At the mention of her best friend, the sex-induced fog that was covering her brain cleared for a moment. It was in that moment that she realized she hadn't even so much as given Glimmer a second thought. Honestly, at one point, she'd forgotten she was even in the room with them. In her defense, she usually had a hard time thinking about much of anything when Catra was busy plowing her into the mattress; but now that that was over, she felt terrible for not checking in on her best friend.

Adora sat up, ignoring the little grunt Catra let out in protest of being shifted. She looked toward that little corner of their room, now completely darkened by the evening's setting sun. Adora furrowed her eyebrows. She noticed it was oddly quiet. Surely by now they would've heard some type of shifting as Glimmer moved to leave or bid them goodbye. She prayed to Mara that her friend hadn't gotten so scandalized that she'd been sitting frozen in the corner, traumatized and regretting everything.

"Shit, Cat, we totally forgot about Glimmer. What if she's over there scarred for life or something?" Adora whispered, her wide eyes finding Catra who seemed to be unfazed by her sudden panic.

In fact, Catra was rather distracted, too busy using their new position as an opportunity to start a trail of hot kisses down Adora's body. She ignored the little fuss her girlfriend was making in favor of worshiping the marbled abs that graced her torso. Her lips pressed over every inch of Adora's satin skin, her teeth scraping lightly over the marks she'd already made. Alongside her mouth, her hands crept lower and lower, skimming over the blonde's squirming hips before settling on her thighs. The hoarse little moans and broken whimpers slipping past Adora's lips let Catra know that her worries about her friend were quelling, replaced by the overwhelming feelings of lust and desire only Catra could provoke. She placed another searing kiss onto her stomach, smirking as Adora let out another whimper, this time lowder, needier.

Adora's head turned towards the corner again, her gaze unfocused and fleeting as her body started surrendering to Catra's teasing.

“Glim?” She called out weakly, her eyes fluttering towards Catra as she used her tongue to trace a slow yet blazing hot circle just below her belly button.

“Relax, I’m sure she’s fine, baby,” Catra spoke up, though her words were distant and muffled as her mouth continued their descent, kissing, biting and sucking at the soft skin between her lips. She paused, but only to look up at Adora whose eyes were already on her, dark and heavy with desire. Catra couldn’t help but smirk again. She had Adora right where she wanted her. “Now be a good girl and let me eat your pussy.”

“I- oh fuck..” Adora bit her lip, casting one more curious glance over to that dark corner, her voice small and wavering as she spoke. “Uh, G-Glimmer? Y-you all good over there?”

Her words strained and quickly faded into a breathy moan when Catra’s head finally settled between her legs. Then, once those rough, possessive, hands spread her thighs, Adora knew she was done for.

It was too late.

She had fallen back under her girlfriend’s spell, the haze of Catra’s touch taking over her mind and body once again.

By the time Adora felt that long, wicked tongue weaving its way through her folds, her eyes were closed, her head was thrown back and she was too far gone to realize there was no answer.

BONUS

Glimmer fell onto her mattress with a heavy thud, her chest rising and falling rapidly as she tried her best to catch her breath. Her body was flushed red and shining with a slick sheen of sweat, causing the dampened pink locks on her head to stick to her neck and forehead. Her body felt limp, yet just as floaty as her head. She wasn't sure if she could feel her legs quite yet. The only thing Glimmer seemed to be aware of were the sharp twitches that were still wracking her frame as the orgasm that she had been chasing for months slowly ebbed away, leaving her utterly wrecked yet thoroughly satisfied.

Well, that and the heavy breathing of the person next to her. She rolled over to her side, facing the man who had just railed her within an inch of her life.

Bow was just as sweaty as she was, looking over at her with wide yet amused eyes. “Wow,” he breathed out.

Glimmer reached out to lay her palm over his chest, squeezing his pec as she let out a breathless giggle. “Wow indeed,”

They both let out giddy chuckles, brief silence falling over them as they came together in the middle of their bed. Bow pulled her into his arms, her head tucked safely underneath his chin as those strong arms wrapped around her. They laid there, content in each other's arms; Glimmer had almost even fallen asleep, spent from being worked up and over. For weeks, her body had been so wound up, it had no idea what to do now that the springs had finally snapped. She was minutes away from dozing off. That was, until Bow spoke up beside her.

“So not that I’m complaining, but where did that come from?” He asked with a breathless chuckle, his own body still buzzing.

Glimmer felt her face grow red with blushing heat. Until now, her brain hadn't really even computed how she'd gotten to this point. One moment she was sitting on a dingy couch, squirming as she watched Catra Weaver plow her best friend into a mattress, the next she was bursting through the door of her apartment and dragging her boyfriend to their bedroom. She recalls pulling him into an intense kiss, all but shoving her tongue into his mouth before telling him something along the lines of: " I'm gonna go down on you, then I need you to throw me on that bed and fuck me. From behind. Hard." .

The rest, up until this moment, was a blur.. A hot, sweaty, rough, earth-shatteringly sexy blur.

Safe to say, Bow had done a wonderful job following her orders. He didn't even miss a beat, enthusiastically fulfilling her every repressed sexual want and desire. Stars, with the way Bow was fucking her, it almost felt as though something inside him had been waiting to released as well. He seemed more than happy to take the reins once Glimmer's brain stopped functioning… and Gods, did he take those reins.

Glimmer shivered, holding on tight to the sweet and oh-so generous man in her arms. At some point, she knew they did need to have a real and honest conversation about all of this (including the part about how watching her best friend get mercilessly teased and fucked by her girlfriend riled Glimmer up so much that she practically ran to their apartment and demand that her boyfriend do the same); but for now, she just wanted to bask in the afterglow with her Bow, content and tucked safely in his embrace.

Glimmer cleared her throat before looking up at him, her eyes glittering with pride and adoration as their gazes met, "I uh, just missed you is all," she said, caressing his chest.

Bow raised one of his eyebrows, an amused little grin stretching at his lips. Glimmer knew better than to think he'd bought that but he was gracious enough to leave it alone for the time being. He laughed gently and gave her a good-natured shake of his head before leaning down to press a soft kiss on her forehead. Worn out, he let out a heavy yet calm sigh, pulling Glimmer closer as his eyes fell shut, and he drifted off into a peaceful slumber.

Minutes later, when Bow's body was heavy against her own and little snores were falling from his lips, Glimmer took a moment to untangle herself from his embrace. She reached over to grab her phone that had been thrown haphazardly onto the nightstand next to their bed. She unlocked it and went to her messages, quickly finding Adora's contact.

With all that Glimmer had seen and learned about her best friend today, she knew that Adora and Catra were probably well into round three or four by now (with at least two more to go), which meant she probably wouldn't be getting an answer anytime soon. Nevertheless, Glimmer sent Adora two message:

Glimmer: my legs are still shaking, i can't believe you and Catra can do this six times..

Glimmer: but seriously, me and my shaking legs love you so much. Thanks for helping me out ❤️
