My Alphas

by MoonGrey

Summary

Bow is an omega in every sense of the word, and Glimmer just waits for the moment his Call and Heat awaken to finally bond with him, but things turn out a little differently than she expected. Lemon, light bukkake, reverse harem(?) Glimadobowtra.

Notes

This is not my first omegaverse story. So I have my own omegaverse "rules".

"Wolf" or "Wolf brother", is the wolf within them. Also the lycan form when people transforms. Depends on the context.

Yes, people turns out to anthropomorphic wolfs or lycans during the night, from twilight to sunrise. it's not voluntarily.

Status is their condition: alpha, omega or beta. There are also ranks or castes within all status.

Only Alphas have a "Voice", powerful extension of their consciousness and will, they can emit articulate thoughts and the more powerful they are, the higher their rank. When an Alpha bites and bond with their mate, the couple can hear their thoughts and feel their mood, no matter the distance. The omegas and betas can only extend this "voice" with their mate alpha.

"Pups" are the human teenager with their firts and weak zeal or heat, which reveals their Status. After some heats, five or seven, comes the Call or the "real" heat and it clams for someone to saciete it. Omegas calls for Alphas to take care of them, and Alphas prefer omegas and submissive betas for posses them.

So it is.

I hope you enjoy this.

Things had not happened overnight.

Adora's wolf had woken up so late, to the point that Catra had actually believed she was her promised omega. Everything called her, her inherent goodness and even her smell told you that Adora would be a powerful and beautiful Omega. Now they would never know if the sword could somehow influence the final verdict, but Adora became an Alpha of Alphas, and although her Voice was unparalleled, the blonde rarely used it.

Her stink of Alpha was another reason why Catra had given up going back to her, she felt cheated and outraged in many different ways. And although the unions between Alphas were rare, they were possible, and admitting that not only the heat, the hormones, the smell, were what called them to be together, with pride aside, they could finally be at peace. They deserved it. They deserved the opportunity. Catra and Adora are now together.

The instinct was strong and at some point they had arguments, nothing that didn't end in delicious make-up sex. That, and the fact that Adora had decided to largely relinquish control to Catra, not only because Catra had always needed more dominance within their relationship, but because Adora felt perfectly in tune with her feline Alpha's desires and fulfilling her whims was what made her happy.

The next thing that came to balance their surroundings a bit is that Bow was one of the cutest Omega pups. Catra had to go against all of her instincts when they fought in order to attack him, and now that they were on the same side, she was able to satiate her instinct to protect him almost freely (not that she was going to tell anyone that she felt the need to protect Omega's cub). In their new little pack).

Glimmer was a point of danger in itself. With very powerful instincts, and bred to rule, it was only natural for her to be an extremely dominant and territorial Alpha, and during the time that Bow was still a pup, Glimmer had already somehow claimed him for her own, although all of Alpha's instincts left her. invited to protect him, he knew that when his zeal and his wolf finally awoke, he would be hers.

It had been hard for her to accept another Alpha as close to Bow as Adora turned out to be, but the blonde was so soft, trained to resist her instincts and only use her Voice and her pheromones to subdue reluctant soldiers, that little by little her relationship with Glimmer settled, as Adora did not compromise her dominance. However, the times after Angella's fatal fate had been a severe test. With the full power of the Moonstone now on Glimmer, her instincts had gotten out of control and that had partly helped her clash of personalities. Adora was so used to obeying and cutting her instincts that it was the only thing that had prevented a confrontation between the Alphas for supremacy, which could have ended very badly.

Adora, who all her life had moved among the main Alphas of the Horde, including Shadow Weaber herself, had learned to overcome her Voice, and as far as possible her pheromones, receiving very hard training for the same. She got shocks every time she let her instincts get the better of her. She had been trained, educated and raised, whether to be a dominant Omega, a Beta Alpha or the most powerful of the Alphas. As time passed and her wolf did not awaken, her training as a Beta was intensified.

Hierarchy within the Horde was very important. Not just any Alpha could command, and not even being an Alpha guaranteed you a place among the Force Captains. So that was an advantage in itself for Adora, she knew how to obey other Alphas without compromising, and at the same time make herself obey those in her charge. She was very versatile in that sense.

So during the space trip, the rescue of Glimmer, the subsequent rescue of Catra, and everything that had followed, had only cemented the bond of the pack. Glimmer and Adora would already die to protect Bow, for being his best friend, and the most cute and cuddly puppy of Omega, and now Catra would also use all her resources to protect him, as one more member of the pack.

Bow wasn't at all worried about when his call came through, when his heat and his wolf awoke. He was with Glimmer now and totally sure of his world and his reality. As much as Adora and Catra were together, whether it was destiny or a love far beyond life and death, he was certain that his bond with Glimmer was just as sacred and unbreakable, having overcome what they had overcome. And Bright Moon's queen, as territorial and instinctive as she was, and having her wolf awakened during the course of the war, had never tried to quench her jealousy with anyone. She was sure her Omega was Bow.

Bow felt totally safe and whole within his pack, which was officially made up of the Best Friend Squad 2.0, they were sure that Bow's wolf would soon wake up, because he was already close to 21 years old and that used to be the maximum age in the one that woke up the wolf brother. They expected it, because they knew that an adult omega would be the complete balance that a pack as powerful as theirs needed.

Nothing would prepare them for what happened once Bow's Zeal awoke.

They were on a mission to finish subduing the Crimson Waste and build a settlement for the Hordians who had settled there, so She-ra's help made things a lot easier and Catra's claws expedited the construction, for which they agreed. they use the remains of the spaceships army and large remains of ancient creatures.

The first to spot it was Catra, who was a good 100f from Bow, Glimmer was teleporting around helping move things and Adora was on the other side of the camp, discussing things with Huntara. And yet, Catra barely made it in time to stop four other nearby Alphas from pounced on Bow, who was hot and curled up on the ground. Only the self-control the Horde also instilled in Catra, and her strong pack bond, kept her from pounce on him.

As soon as Adora noticed the commotion, she rushed to see what was happening and used her almighty Voice of She-ra Alpha to drive everyone away. Catra's fur was standing on end and her hair was frizzy, her claws had extended and she was coiled around Bow, protecting him with her body. Only then did Adora catch the scent. The delicious smell. A virgin omega in heat, a Heat as strong as he had ever smelled.

Catra had to growl at Adora too, to get her to react. She herself felt her erection growing. But Catra was not an animal. She was an Alpha perfectly in control of herself. Adora reacted and called Glimmer over the communicators Entrapta had built for them.

"Glimmer, it's an emergency, Bow…"

"What's wrong with Bow, where…?"

Adora and Catra had now to protect Bow, who was still curled up on the ground, from Glimmer. The smell had swept away all rationality in her mind. Glimmer just knew she had to impregnate this luscious, virgin omega.

For the first and only time, Adora used her Voice against Glimmer. As soon as the queen was subdued on the ground, Catra finally stopped crouching over Bow, who had taken her by the wrist, with a pleading look. The cat's self-control had almost gone to hell. Bow's pheromones were on full blast.

“Glimmer, I'm going to let you move, but you have to control yourself. We have to take Bow to Bright Moon”.

“Yes, yes, I'm sorry. It's too much… But I can control myself, I promise.” The growls in Glimmer's throat had died as soon as Adora had explained the situation.

She-ra stopped pressing her with her Voice. She got up, took She-ra by the hand, who in turn took Catra's hand, which was holding Bow, and the four of them disappeared in a cloud of pink sparks.

They came straight to the isolation chamber, where Alphas with little self-control but who didn't want to satisfy their heat cycles by sleeping with any willing omega anyway, used in the castle. The scent of Bow's pheromones all too soon filled the room.

Catra's erection was already more than just annoying. She-ra was already noticeably aroused as well, and Glimmer was quick to follow. Bow had already started stripping off his clothes due to the heat stroke he was experiencing. Her smooth dark skin glowed and the three Alphas present thought that they had never seen anything more beautiful and tempting.

Catra took a step toward him, and then Glimmer growled at her, and She-ra stepped between them, but her body slightly crouched toward Bow. It was a triple front that only the slight memory of their bond as a pack prevented each one from jumping to the neck. The mating and dominance instinct was the strongest right now. But it was Bow, their best friend, their omega, and here were two Alphas of the Horde, lured by pheromones from the age where their status might awaken. And it was also the omega with the most powerful and delicious heat that each of them had ever smelled.

The three of them locked together, looking at each other, hardly paying attention to Bow's errant movements, until Catra felt Bow brush his tongue against the marked head of his erection through the thin fabric of her pants. She moaned so slighly at the light lick that all of She-ra's self-control went to hell and soon the blonde took Catra's hand to rub against her own erection, Adora let She-ra go and Glimmer was so shocked, watching as Bow took the feline erection out of its confinement, not hesitating to start savoring it with delight. Catra was no longer able to stop herself, she let herself be done by Bow, stroking his head through his curls with one hand, and with the other masturbating Adora, who was busy removing Catra’s jacket and shirt, while also removing her own clothing. After a hungry kiss between the hordians, Adora turned to see Glimmer, her eyes cloudy, full of desire, enjoying Catra's caresses on her hard and throbbing member and Catra enjoying the blowjob that Bow was lavishing on her. Still nothing compared to the ones she received from Adora, but she would be kind. Catra was aware that it was Bow's first time. Adora extended a hand to Glimmer, inviting her, even extending her Voice until it brushed against Glimmer's consciousness to show her that all she wanted, at this point, was for everyone to enjoy themselves, and that they would respect that Bow was really Glimmer's.

With her own member already begging for attention, Glimmer let herself go and reached for Adora's hand, which she squeezed lovingly before kissing Bow's shoulders and quickly getting rid of her clothes. Now all together, a mass of hands helped each other to finish undressing. Bow couldn't be happier and lubricated. He had three great Alphas all to himself. Soon, all three of them were surrounding Bow, who was taking turns between the three huge erections in front of him, completely taken over by instinct. Glimmer was finally enjoying not only the sensation of Bow's tongue and hand on her erection, but also the incredible sight of seeing Adora kissing Catra, and how the cat was leaving reddish lines on the blonde's skin with her claws, arousing her, soon the scratches would be deep enough to draw blood. As the Alphas basked in their Omega's attention, evening was slowly falling.

Little by little, the changes in their status and the fall of night began to make themselves felt the growth of muscles and fangs.

When Bow had all three of them well lubricated with her tongue and throat, Glimmer leaned back on an ottoman and Adora and Catra helped carry Bow to her. The queen rubbed her own erection, eager to satiate her desires. Catra and Adora carried Bow holding him by the thighs and he held onto their shoulders, wide open, kissing Catra with a tenderness that only he would be able to provoke in the cat, while Adora carefully caressed her entrance and began to insert her thumb bit by bit, because of the position, Bow was very tight and Adora's cock throbbed from sinking into that sheath.

"Bow, good boy, you're so tight… Now we're going to take you to your Alpha" Adora whispered in his ear while Catra continued devouring his mouth and Bow moaned, all flushed, with pleasure. Catra dug her claws into his leg, deep enough for delicious pain, but not enough to split his skin. This pup wasn't ready for that yet, but Catra would be gentle and dedicated.

"Please, please, please… I need…" Bow could barely speak, now feeling Adora's two fingers inside him, Catra's playful tongue and the Voices of the three of them, surrounding him, teasing, protecting him.

"I know, I know, good boy. You're ready." Even Glimmer was getting wet at Adora's words. She had never imagined her friend in bed. She would let Adora and Catra lead them because they already had a bit more experience, but it was Glimmer and Bow's first time.

At last, Adora slipped out of him, and they gently pushed him into Glimmer, until he was all over her. It was the true paradise. Glimmer could barely control herself, lest she move so fast and end up inside him already. She wanted Bow to enjoy himself. She wouldn't be a selfish Alpha to her amazing and cute Omega.

Catra and Adora gave them their space and then Catra felt the familiar touch of her girlfriend's hand on her long hard cock. Adora was masturbating her as they moaned between kisses and listened to the delicious sound in the background of Bow bouncing off Glimmer, who had put her heels up for better support and penetration.

The boundaries between the Voices of the Alphas were breaking down, and they could feel the echo of Bow's flesh opening hot and hungry on Glimmer's cock with each dip. Catra's veined rod begged for the same kind of attention and Adora didn't make her wait as soon as she felt her desire, slowly moving down the feline's body, she opened her mouth and relaxed her throat to let her Alpha fill her, on her knees. On the ground, with her hands caressing the fur on the cat's bottom and with Catra's tail wrapped tightly around her forearm, she knew her place in the world. With one claw, Catra snapped Adora's hair tie free, and once free, threaded her fingers through the blonde hair to control the pace at which Adora's head had to eat her cock.

She started slowly, letting Adora's tongue caress her hungrily, licking her better than a lollipop, but little by little the intensity began to rise, Adora didn't complain, she felt the sting of the claws on her scalp and let go. Her hot and wet tongue welcoming Catra's cock, there was nothing more delicious for her. At one point all that could be heard were the moans of Catra, Bow and Glimmer, Bow's claps bouncing, and the wet sounds of Adora's throat.

"Adora, you're the best, yes, like this, baby, eat it all. Don't let a drop out" Catra was having her first cumshot of the night. As Adora masturbated, she gulped down every drop of her Alpha's cum with delight. The blonde looked adoringly at her Alpha, as soon as she finished swallowing the bittersweet feline semen, she turned around, lifted her butt and offered her pink entrance to her Alpha.

"Please, Alpha, fill me, breed me”.

“That's my pup, you know what I like. Good girl. Such a good slut for me" Head resting on the rug, Adora was anxious. There was nothing like Catra taking her after drinking her cum.

Catra's voice was silky, and her Voice enveloped Adora, teasing her, subduing her. Catra knelt behind Adora, forced her to lower her abdomen even more without lowering her butt and finally began to enter her, once she felt her head warm between Adora's folds, she entered with a single thrust. The blonde was forced to lower her hips further before the cat's thrusts, her erection imprisoned between her own belly and the soft furry material of the rug. Catra grabbed her by the hair and Adora could barely contain herself.

"I want to hear you, pup.” Catra orders “You're mine” Her whines getting Adora to subspace. Her claws drive her crazy.

“I’m yours, Alpha! Such a good and powerful Alpha for your puppy” That killed Catra, after years of wanting to hear Adora moan her name, it was heavenly music “More, please, more” The blonde's tight ass twitched fiercely around the Catra's hard erection, which with each thrust went deeper and deeper, acquiring a fast and deep rhythm. She grunted with satisfaction, she would fill the mighty She-ra with her milk again.

Catra left Adora for a moment, listening to her sad groan at the loss, to settle a little crossed over her, almost in a horse position, and now yes, fall deeply on top of her. Adora used all the strength of her thighs and abdomen to hold the position and Catra used her hands to open her buttocks so she could watch herself slide in and out of Adora. Neither of them could last long before coming. Adora spilled her hot milk against the carpet at the same time that she felt Catra's cum fill her, bathing her insides. The fact that Catra possessed her from behind, like any other Omega, made her too hot.

"Come clean up this mess, pup." Adora crawled over to the cat and again drank straight from the fountain.

Bow moved slowly over Glimmer, enjoying the sensation, eating her breasts and her lips, it was all tenderness and Glimmer was so hot, she loved it. Couldn't ask for a better omega, ever. Bow had stood on his own two feet and was now going up and down harder on Glimmer, hitting a spot inside himself he didn't know he had. With the increase in his desire and pleasure, his pheromones also rose, calling to the other two Alphas presents.

Catra was no longer holding back, letting out all her Alpha pheromones, she had already subjugated Adora in that state where her mind was only a reflection of Catra’s desires, and soon the Omega and the other Alpha would be in the same state. In front of a more experienced Alpha, Glimmer couldn't do much, except to be so excited and relaxed, feeling protected, one of the most important things between Alphas to fully enjoy.

Adora was thicker than Catra, so the cat positioned herself behind the Omega and led Adora forward with Glimmer. The princess of power and the queen looked at each other for a second, before Adora slowly kissed the queen. Bow stood still at the indication of the Voice of Catra, totally impaled by Glimmer, he felt how Catra's finger forced him to further stretch his recently virginal entrance.

"Good omega, you want to please your Alpha, right?" Catra's pheromones were relentless. The archer could only moan and gasp decadently as he felt his entrance invaded by a second finger, slowly in and out.

Catra was a demanding but careful Alpha who enjoyed giving as much pleasure as she received. Adora could perfectly attest to it. While Bow was still impaled on Glimmer with his butt raised as high as possible towards Catra's fingers, Adora kissed Glimmer and caressed her full, soft breasts. The texture was very different skin to skin than fur on fur or skin on fur. Soon it would all be fur.

"Are you ready for me, Omega?"

"Yes, yes, please give me more! I'm so wet for you, Alpha"

"Beautiful omega" Catra praised. She wasn't sure of Bow's kinks, but a little praise is always welcome. After lubricating her cock a little more with Bow's excretions, she got behind him, with one knee resting between Glimmer's heels and little by little forced her omega to open up to receive her and Adora helped him by massaging the brunette's erection lovingly. And saying more sweet words in his ear. Bow was so tight and stretched around Catra, that he almost came just finished filling it, took a deep breath and began to slowly come out again, two, three more times, until she slid easily.

Glimmer could see her own member being rubbed by the feline member in a delusional sensation. Her moans echoed with Bow's, who couldn't feel happier than at this moment, with three powerful Alphas taking care of him so thoroughly. His call was barely being sated, his heat not yet quenched, and he knew it wouldn't be until he was knotted.

Adora enjoyed the sight for a few moments, then brought her swollen cock back to Glimmer's mouth, which she received without question. Adora was gentle and still as Glimmer's inexperienced tongue explored her with delight, enjoying the salty taste of her latest cum. Little by little she was putting more into her mouth of the blonde's reddish cock, feeling with pleasure how its thickness expanded her jaw and touched the entrance of her throat.

The afternoon continued its course and the lupine attributes were becoming more noticeable, among them more instinct. Bow no longer knew how many times he had come, being filled so deeply by his Alphas, because it was clear they had crossed some line. In her mind and instinct, there was no longer any difference between Glimmer, Adora, and Catra. He needed all three of them on and in him. So while he was filled by the cat and the queen, and the queen devoured Adora, she ate him with kisses, closing the circle.

The knot of the three was beginning to grow and the need to cum inside a hot and tight Omega was driving them crazy.

Now Catra was on the ground, with Bow on top of her and Glimmer behind him. They had switched positions after Glimmer came the first time.

Adora had taken her place while she recovered, further expanding Bow, who was now able to safely receive Glimmer and Catra. Adora had returned the queen's favor to feel her harden again between her lips. Now Adora was kneeling behind Glimmer, preparing her entrance, opening slowly.

The three knots were ready. Bow moaned in need. Catra held back as much as she could, letting Glimmer's knot be the first one felt by the archer, but still penetrating it. Catra's hand lovingly masturbated Bow and Adora whispered sweet and hot words to Glimmer, while her own knot was making its way through the queen's entrails. At some point Catra and Adora had agreed to make their first time totally memorable.

When Glimmer's knot was all the way inside Bow, Catra began to press, not to button, but just for her sheer, hard pleasure, moving her hips as Glimmer held on to Bow's shoulders, feeling her tight knot being stretched by Catra’s shaft in each thrust, slow and deep, and her ass being filled and expanded by Adora's thick cock.

"Good omega, good boy, Bow, you're so tight and wet. You’re so good to all of us”.

“Catra, your cock feels good… More, more" Glimmer begged.

“I'm ready, Alpha” And while Adora said those words, the night finished falling.

With the nightfall, the transformation took place, with everyone being so instinctive, they didn't need to stop. The fur grew on all of them, on Catra it grew thicker. The legs and feet changed to form the mighty paws, the claws sinking into different bodies as instinct filled everything. With Adora's knot well inside Glimmer, the blonde took her by the pink tail that had just emerged and Glimmer growled with pleasure.

Bow's walls tightened and trapped Glimmer's knot and Catra's cock inside him so tightly that the two Alphas came, followed by the blond wolf. Guided by sheer instinct and Bow's call, Bow bit Glimmer right on the curve of the neck and shoulder, closer to the neck than the shoulder, she in turn bit him on the right shoulder, and Catra from the front in the left shoulder, but closer to the chest, and Adora bit Glimmer on the left shoulder, just above her little wings.

Neither knew what they just did.

Catra and Adora had already bitten each other.

But none could be happier. Now Bow had the three greatest Alphas to take care of him.

Adora came inside Glimmer, but her knot wouldn't go down and her instincts told her why. Catra carefully eased out of Bow, leaving him knotted with Glimmer. She carefully approached Glimmer's entrance and while Adora held the queen's tail, Catra began to lick gently at the entrance, helping Adora to get out without tearing the queen apart. Little by little, and with a lot of patience and affection, they managed to do it, with the help of a sleepy and relaxed Glimmer.

Bow was very tired, but instinct also sustained him. Once Adora was free, she went to the omega and began to attend to her entrance with her long tongue, asshole had had an unconventional premiere. Catra stayed with Glimmer, petting her and telling her what a good girl she had been, purring for her, which she had never done.

After receiving his Alphas in pairs, Bow's ass had no issue with a single cock, even if it was Adora's thick cock in her wolf form, Bow was also a big brown wolf. Adora rammed him carefully and powerfully, slowly entering and leaving him, after a few moments, she pushed her hips hard to knot him and when she felt his walls claim her, she came inside him, spilling her hot milk, sure that her seed would germinate in this beautiful omega. Adora kept thrusting until she was dry and only then did she lie still, waiting for her knot to drop so she could get out.

Before that happened, Bow bit her hard on the right bicep, mixing her blood and saliva, to which Adora responded with a growl and bit him just above the mark Catra had left, while Catra and Glimmer bit each other too. To complete the circle, Catra led Glimmer over to Adora, and the blonde grunted in pleasure again as she felt the bite on her right shoulder.

End Notes

I just want Catra and Adora to take care of me.
