A Not Entirely Boring Morning

by Gappila

Summary

Mornings can be boring at the castle, but Adora always has plenty of ideas to make them more interesting.

Mornings were always very calm in the castle. Already settled in their office, Catra and Adora were reviewing the previous day's files. Before everyone started their workday, it was the perfect time to catch up on their backlog of paperwork. At this hour, they also had plenty of time to get ready before their meetings for the day.

Even though Catra dreamed of sleeping in, her eyes invariably opened at five in the morning every day. Years spent in the horde had left her a few old habits. But it wasn't all bad. This way, they always had enough time to have breakfast and get to the castle. A few months earlier, they had moved into their new home just outside town. It was barely a fifteen-minute walk to their office, so it was ideally located for them. Besides, the place was quieter than the castle and gave them more privacy since their wedding.

Their former bedroom in the castle had been converted into a cozy office. There were two convenient desks and a large meeting table in one corner of the room. Catra had insisted on repainting the room in a sober gray, because she couldn't really work surrounded by flashy colors.

Dropping a thick file onto her desk, Catra let out a deep sigh, "We've already discussed the northern trade route a dozen times." She had spent nearly an hour going over the contract which she already knew by heart. Even though they had already solved all the issues, some topics always seemed to come up. Their first meeting of the day would start in twenty minutes, but she was already tired.

"I know, but there are just a few details left," Adora agreed, glancing at her while reading her own file. "The meeting is only with Glimmer, isn't it?"

Catra checked her tablet, "Yeah, it's only Sparkle. I hope that won't last long."

Staring at Catra for a while, her wife finally placed her file on the desk. “You should talk about her with more respect,” she said, giving her a challenging look.

Catra raised an eyebrow and gave her a skeptical look like ‘Seriously, you want to do this at just seven o’clock. Can’t you keep it in your pants for two minutes?’

Waggling her eyebrows, Anita shrugged sheepishly. Catra ran her tongue over her lips and didn’t think for even half a second before making up her mind. Clearly, none of them could keep it in their pants.

“I think Sparkle is a respectful nickname,“ Catra said, slumping into her chair.

“We’re in her kingdom, and she’s your superior. So no, I don’t think it’s appropriate. You should call her Queen Glimmer,” Adora said in a firm voice, giving her a stern look.

Catra felt a wave of heat between her thighs. In this kind of moment, a firm Adora was always a sexy Adora. “I don’t think so,” she said in a drawling voice.

Adora got up from her chair and walked around her desk to stand next to her. “Catra, I’ll ask you one last time. Glimmer is the Queen,” she said in a warning voice.

“You don’t call her Queen Glimmer, do you?” Catra said, folding her arms defiantly against her chest.

“Maybe Sparkle is-”

Before she could end her sentence, Adora reached out and firmly grabbed her right ear. With a quick movement, she twisted it between her fingers. Catra whined and furrowed in surprise and pain. It was quite painful, but Adora knew exactly how to grab her ear without hurting her.

Tugging on her ear, Adora forced her to stand up. "I warned you, but you never listen," she said, heading for the bathroom.

Catra staggered behind her, having no choices but to follow. In the bathroom, Adora released her in front of the sink and gave her a severe look, placing her hands on her hips. Catra immediately rubbed her ear to relieve the pain. Her ears were fragile and the burn of Adora's grip remained sharp, but at the same time she felt moist between her thighs.

After a while, Adora grabbed a bar of soap from the sink and waved it in front of her, "I'll help you speak more respectfully."

"You don't-" Catra started to protest, but stopped when Adora began to reach for the ear.

"Yeah, I don't think you want to talk back to me," Adora said with a wry smile, dropping her hand. "Open your mouth and stick out your tongue. We'll clean up your bad manners."

Catra hesitated a second too long and Adora's hand was already on her ear. When she felt her ear twitch, she immediately opened her mouth and Adora released her. Turning on the tap, the blonde ran the soap under the water and rubbed it with her hands. She then grabbed the back of Catra's neck and held the bar of soap under her eyes.

As soon as the soap reached her tongue, Catra frowned as the sour taste washed over her. She hated the taste of the soap and knew she would still be feeling it hours after. At the same time, she was mesmerized and aroused by her wife's deep, hungry blue eyes. Adora meticulously scrubbed her lips, tongue and mouth with a delightful look.

"Close the mouth," Adora ordered after a while, as she seemed satisfied with the result. Catra bites into the bar of soap still between her lips. Then Adora turned to clean her hands. “That’s much better, isn’t it? You look a lot less sassy.”

The taste on her tongue was particularly disgusting. With every breath, the smell of the soap filled her nose.

Adora undid and pulled down Catras’s pants, leaving her in her simple, already wet panties. She opened the medecine cupboard above the sink and grabbed a large wooden hairbrush. After looking Catra up and down for a few seconds, she said, “Turn around, hands on the sink.”

Catra complied without hesitation, faced the mirror and placed her hands on the edge of the sink. She knew what was coming next and couldn’t help but feel a wave of excitement run down her spine.

Her wife gently rubbed the back of the hairbrush against her bottom, “The soap is for your lack of respect, and this is for challenging my orders.”

Raising the hairbrush, Adora caught Catra’s gaze in the mirror with a wry smile. Catra could hold back a groan when the hairbrush hit her bottom for the first time. Without giving her time to compose herself, Adora continued to spank her firmly two dozen more times. Moaning with each slap, Catra felt her ass burn up and her panties moisten uncontrollably.

When Adora stopped, she let Catra catch her breath for a while. The blonde admired her wife’s bottom, brushing it with her fingers. Then she leaned forward and whispered in her ear, “You’re a peasant in the midst of royalty. You own us respect and obedience. Don’t forget it, Kitten.”

Catra nodded slightly, wiping her slightly damp eyes.

Putting down the hairbrush, Adora wrapped her arms around her wife’s waist. She kissed the back of her neck, then slowly slid a hand under her panties. Catra stiffed at the soft touch between her thighs. With the other hand, Adora removed the bar of soap from her mouth. Even though the taste was still there, Catra felt relieved to let this disgusting thing leave her mouth.

"I hope you'll behave better now, won't you?" Anita asked, as she began circling her fingers around Catra's clit.

Catra moaned at this touch, leaning against the blonde, "Yes, yes, everything you want Dora."

"I'm Princess Adora for you, commoner. Why must you give us a title?"

"Because I've to show respect to my superiors," Catra huffed, biting her bottom lip.

"Exactly, you're nothing more than a servant here."

Adora continued slowly, whispering in her ear, kissing her neck, pinching her nipples and caressing her clit. It was almost too much for Catra. With the sour taste in her mouth and her burning bottom, all these feelings mixed up in her mind. Under her wife's expert touch, the pleasure rose quickly in her. She could think of nothing else. Her breathing increased and her whole body seemed on fire.

She wasn't far from coming, when someone knocked on their office door. Adora froze immediately, then slowly withdrew her hand with a vicious smile. Catra opened her eyes wide, when she realized. She felt her legs shaking and grabbed the edge of the sink to control herself. She needed to come, she really needed to.

"No, please Dora, let me come," she begged in an imploring voice, breathless. "Please, I need this."

"If you behave yourself with Queen Glimmer, I'll let you come tonight," Anota whispered in her ear, as she moved away from her. "If you don't, I'll cane you severely and leave you on the edge again. But I'm sure you don't want that, do you?"

Catra groaned and continued to clutch the sink in an attempt to calm herself down, "No, Princess Adora."

"Very well, clean your face and respectfully welcome the Queen."

Catra groaned, but didn't talk back. Adora knew how to drive her crazy, Catra couldn't get enough of their games. However, it was sometimes terribly frustrating.

Running a hand through her hair, Catra inwardly cursed Sparkle for always being early at their meeting. She grabbed a towel and quickly wiped her face. Then she turned on the tap and leaned forward.

"Stop," Adora said next to her, folding her arms against her chest. "I didn't tell you to rinse your mouth. You'll keep the soap during our meeting. I hope this teaches you some manners."

Making a face, Catra pulled up her pants and bowed to Adora, "Of course, Princess Adora."

With a broad smile, Adora turned away and left the bathroom. Catra looked at herself in the mirror. Her clothes were a mess and her face was bright red. She tried to compose herself despite the fire between her thighs, her sore bottom and the sour taste in her mouth. She thought this meeting and this day would be long.

When she stepped out of their office a minute later, Glimmer was in the hallway. Leaning against the opposite wall, she was reading on her tablet. Catra looked around to make sure no one was there, then headed for her.

"Queen Glimmer," Catra said in a humble voice, bowing formally. "Princess Adora is ready to receive you."

Looking up from her tablet, Glimmer cocked her head and raised a puzzled eyebrow. She stared Catra up and down for a few seconds, then groaned.

“Oh star, no, stop that right now,” Glimmer said, running her hand over her face. “Can’t you both keep your strange kinks out of my castle?”

“I don’t know what you're talking about, Your Highness,” Catra said, still bowing.

“You’ve still got soap on your neck,” Glimmer said, pointing at her. “And straighten up you look stupid.”

Catra snorted with a high-pitched laugh as she straightened up. She wiped the last soap stain from her neck with a wry smile.

“Can you at least keep your fantasies away from me?”

Catra tapped her chin with one finger, as though pondering the question for a few seconds. “I remember one Queen, but I’m not naming any names, who asked us to watch them when her husband banged her against the war room table a few weeks ago.”

“I- It’s not-” Glimmer stammered, blushing and looking around to make sure there was no one in the hallway.

“Believe it or not, this prudish Queen was moaning in a quite obscene way as she begged for anal at the end.”

“Enough! Or else-” Glimmer said, her face completely red. “Or else I’ll demand that your wife whips your ass.”

“Better, much better, Sparkle,” Catra said, giving her a knowing smile and turning to step into the office.

“Oh shut up,” Glimmer said, rolling her eyes and following her inside.
