Sparkles & Tears

by DraceDomino

Summary

Something happened to the sky in Etheria just a few days ago. A ripple of magic caused a blood red streak across the heavens, reminding everyone that just because Horde Prime has been defeated, that doesn't mean the world is free of danger.

Queen Glimmer is doing her best to get some rest during these stressful times, but she doesn't have reason to fear: her mother is coming home. Sure, she's a little...twisted now. Who wouldn't be after the nightmares she endured in the space between dimensions? Sure, her wings are dark and ominous and her body's become a playground of wicked chaos...but she still loves her daughter very, very much.

Chapter 1

Sparkles and Tears
-by Drace Domino

Nothing could keep her away from Etheria. Away from Glimmer. It didn't matter how much Angella suffered during her long trial caught in between dimensions, nor did it matter how much she had to sacrifice so long as she achieved the goal of returning back to her daughter's side.

The space in between dimensions was not the oblivion that she once feared - in reality, it was a twisting abyss of nightmarish shadows under constant assault by brilliant light, a space where everything and nothing happened all at once over endless years, a place where time's meaning crumbled into nothing and mere thought was brought into existence upon letting it cross one's mind. A haven for both nightmares and dreams made manifest, and a region where one's strength of will was deeply connected to their chance at survival.

Mara didn't make it - that much, Angella knew by now. The former She-Ra was simply too devastated over the betrayal of Light Hope to endure the rigors of this chaotic space, and she gave in to it's cruel void of mercy as soon as the agony began. A heroic end to be sure, considering what it accomplished...but it was not the same end that Angella wished for herself. Her fate would not be that of a woman rendered into ether amidst violent winds. Her fate would not be that of a forgotten name in Etheria's lore - another footnote of the lives lost in service to it. No. Angella was meant for better things.

Her bloodline was meant for better things.

The evening that Angella broke from that grim space in between realities was one that set the imaginations of Etheria's people alight. A sudden crack of thunder so loud that it could be heard across the entire planet's surface filled the air, accompanied by a shot of blood red light that flashed in the sky above. A burst of vibrance so fierce and intense that those unlucky enough to see it fell to their knees with an overwhelming illness, and even now, days later, the sky remained dark and that streak of red still hung in the sky. Etheria had accomplished so much - surviving the grim plans of Light Hope's people, resisting the invasion of Horde Prime, but now? Now, people across the world were worried what this new horror meant for them.

Neither science nor magic were able to determine the cause of the clash. Castaspella and all the mages of Mystacor were left baffled, while a redeemed Hordak worked tirelessly alongside Entrapta's side in the hopes of unravelling the mystery. This new, united Etheria was at a loss - ever since the sky cracked that strange night, nothing had actively happened, but it was the overwhelming sensation among its people that some grim fate was on their horizon.

They had nothing to worry about. They were in no danger. In fact, it was a time to rejoice.

Their queen had finally returned.

Glimmer hadn't tossed and turned this much since before the end of the war. The queen of Brightmoon had been living a blessed existence since the fall of Horde Prime, but those months came to an end the day the sky broke. Her days were filled with hourly reports on whether or not anyone had discovered any clues, and all of her friends - Adora, Catra, Bow, and all the princesses - were on constant search away from the castle, hoping to get one step ahead of any possible threat. It took every ounce of willpower within Queen Glimmer to stop herself from joining them, but she was a young woman that learned her lessons well - a queen could not abandon her duty.

Just as a queen could not abandon her family.

“Glimmer…”

As the voice filled Glimmer’s royal bedchambers that night, the young woman jerked up from her nervous sleep, eyes wide and heart immediately racing. She was clutching the sheets up against her otherwise naked frame - hiding the curvy figure of a queen against any possible spies within her sanctum. Still blinking the sleep from her eyes, Glimmer wasn’t entirely sure she had actually heard anything - long, restless nights had a tendency to come with hearing things this late in the hour. With her eyes narrowing and a hand lifting to emit a subtle light source, Glimmer quickly scanned her quarters from one corner to the next, before finally sighing and allowing the light to die down once more.

“Nothing there,” she murmured, and slipped gently back down onto the mattress, resting her royal head on a pillow comfortable enough for a queen. It was still strange not sleeping in her loft in her old bedroom, but...this was her mother’s bed. Ornate. Large. And sadly, unoccupied if her daughter didn’t claim it. As Glimmer slithered under the sheets once more, her bare legs tucked upwards, her knees nearly touching her chest as she pulled herself into a fetal position. “Just...just need to get some sleep. We’ll figure out what this is all about in the morning.”

Once more, she quivered below the blankets, and a wave of worry crashed against her body in an increasingly familiar sensation. The rigors of duty were harsh - always hoping to be a good leader to her people, always hoping to stop them from ever suffering again. And Glimmer, who so very much looked up to the woman that she thought was once lost, always felt as if she was failing her. Failing...her beloved, dear, flawless mother.

But such a fear was silly. How could Glimmer ever disappoint Angella? How could such a lovely, beautiful, tempting daughter ever fail to catch the eye of a fallen, twisted angel?

“Glimmer, darling…” Once more the voice returned, and this time, it was there to stay. Spoken hot and wet against the back of Glimmer’s throat, it came as a newfound presence pressed direct atop the young woman, pinning her to the mattress in a fluid motion. One second, Glimmer was fidgeting underneath the sheets and trying desperately to sleep...the next? She was flat on her back, wrists held against the bed as she stared helplessly at the face above her - a face of her very own mother, speaking in tones just as twisted as her new appearance. “I’ve come back to you…”

“M-Mom?!” The pain in Glimmer’s voice was apparent almost immediately, along with the stinging tears at the corners of her eyes. Angella was indeed pinning her naked daughter to the bed and looming above her like a predatory beast, but that was only some of the trauma the new queen had to immediately absorb. The mere face of Angella was enough to break her heart all over again, but what was pinning her now was a clear reflection of what the former rule of Brightmoon had been through - and the creature that the other dimension twisted her into. “Mom, what--is that really you?! How? Wh--what happened?! You’re...Mom, you’re hurting m--”

“Shush now, sweetie,” Angella cooed, and as she did so her wings began to stretch out wide to block the girl’s vision of the rest of her royal bedchambers. Those feathery wings once so flawless and beautiful were now tainted as black as oil, with feathers that were matted and molting in a constant state of distress. Angella herself was very much a twisted shadow of the woman she once was - kind eyes now burning with a strange red light and her smile stretching unusually wide and cruel. Scars lined the sides of her forehead at the temples as if reality itself had tried to shatter her like an egg, and those scars pulsed with energy as the queen’s hand stretched down along Glimmer’s curvy figure. Motherly digits walked down the center of her daughter’s breasts and idly across her belly, pausing only to trace around her belly button while the woman herself rumbled with dark laughter. “No questions, Glimmer. Mother will explain everything in time.”

Glimmer winced underneath the contact, trembling and helpless as she was. She was so stunned that she didn’t even think about using her powers to teleport away from the other woman’s grasp until she felt digits at her belly button, but when she did so those birth-given abilities failed her in spectacular fashion. Her fingers sparkled without effect and she was struck by a surge of malaise - not all that different from how she felt in the days before Angella's passing, when her power would run low and she'd be in dire need of a recharge. The old queen was back, after all, and the princess had no need for such power.

"Mom, what...what are you doing…" Glimmer whimpered further, her eyes lined with tears and her cheeks hot and red as she felt Angella's fingers finally tease the tuft of pink glittered hair just above her nethers. The younger woman tried to squirm away from the contact, but even with a single wrist free was utterly unable to push Angella off of her, with the towering woman keeping her pinned by sheer presence. "Don't...M-Mom, whatever happened, we can fix it, I'll just...I'll go get She-Ra an--"

"She-Ra is not the protector of Etheria!" Angella suddenly snapped - her sweet tone turning towards one of grim and wicked fury, complete with a burning heat in her eyes and a sudden pulse to the crack-shaped scars on her forehead. When she saw how Glimmer winced underneath the loss of composure Angella quickly softened herself, though her fingers continued their twisted march to her daughter's nethers. "Now...dear Glimmer...give your mother a kiss. She missed you so very...very...much."

Glimmer's heart broke as Angella advanced, practically unable to see through the burning tears just as her body could only barely process what was happening. Her mother was back! She no longer had to be the queen before she was ready! Their family was whole again! It was everything she'd ever wanted since the dark day that they lost Queen Angella, but...but this? It was frightening, it was heart wrenching, it was downright painful for Glimmer to see her mother in such a twisted state...and all of that suffering struck her even before the kiss. Before Angella's head leaned forward to her daughter's own, her sultry lips began to part, and a black, serpentine tongue crept from her mouth with a shocking deftness and length.

“M-Mom don’t, don’t please do-mmmphhhh!” Glimmer was left muted and muffled as Angella’s mouth pressed against her own, and truly began her violation. Those oil black wings flapped a single time as Angella’s matching tongue swiftly rushed into her daughter’s mouth, darting forward and showing just how long and devious it could be. With surprising speed it tackled Glimmer’s tongue and swirled around it like a constricting snake, and after it held her in that fierce grip it worked even lower. Glimmer convulsed and shook with wide, sobbing eyes as her mother’s tongue probed her throat - lashing violently against the sides of it, pushing so far forward that it bulged the girl’s neck from within. The bare princess flailed and whined and begged for mercy with silent sobs, but none was given - her mouth, her throat, and in that moment, her pussy - all helplessly offered up to Angella’s passions.

Two slender fingers, the same two that in years past would tuck Glimmer’s hair dotingly behind her ear, now penetrated her just below that tuft of glittering purple hair. Quick and clever they worked within Glimmer, squeezing past the girl’s resistances and entering her down to the hilt of Angella’s hand. Once there, the older woman’s fingers played - stretching and curling, tickling and teasing, coaxing from her beloved daughter a nectar that should’ve never been present between the two. Glimmer flailed and fought against her mother’s advances as best she was able, whether it amounted to kicking her legs in futile resistance or doing her best to push at her shoulders. She even tried to wiggle her tongue free from the wild way in which Angella had claimed it, but no matter what she did, everything was useless. Queen Glimmer, one of the true heroes of Etheria and the daughter of the great Queen Angella, had been bested by this monster that was once her mother.

And all it took was two loving fingers and an affectionate kiss.

Glimmer had no idea how long the sinful, stolen kiss with her beloved mother lasted. Time seemed to freeze for the young woman as her naked body was pinned by that of Angella's, with two devious fingers working inside her rapidly-spasming nethers and a curious, hungry tongue tracing the inner-workings of her throat. Glimmer's eyes had closed as she tried to cope with that terrifying moment and to steal herself of the sight of her mother in such a twisted state - trying desperately, achingly, to think about the woman that Angella used to be.

And the longer the kiss continued, the more and more Glimmer started to realize - this really was her mother, through and through.

Angella had always been stern and overbearing. The type to demand that things under her roof went the way that she decided. Strict and forceful when needed, and not above using her powers to counteract Glimmer's own when the young princess became too...rebellious. And while being forced naked to the bed was an entirely new form of punishment than simply being sent to her room, this was hardly the first time she felt helpless underneath her mother's authority.

And yet...Angella had also always been loving. Never refusing a warm embrace from her beloved daughter even when they were fighting, and so often wanting to be close at her side. Well, there was no closer than the two women were right now, and it was safe to say the love that Angella was doling out to her offspring was greater in that moment than it had ever been. The workings of that long, serpentine tongue, the twitching of those slender fingers, the heavy press of Angella's bare breasts against Glimmer's own...everything the older woman was doing that grim night was reinforcing one simple truth: Angella loved her daughter very, very much.

As the moments continued to pass, Glimmer's resolve started to weaken. First by her toes curling and her thighs starting to quiver, her folds responding to the digits inside of her by squeezing a little tighter upon them. It wasn't long after that Glimmer's attempts to wrench her tongue free of Angella's own soon shifted in their focus as well, and instead of attempting to wiggle itself free, that tiny pink muscle was pressing back against the coiled black thread that was her mother's own. Even Glimmer's hands - formerly pushing against Angella's shoulders in a failed attempt to shove her away, started to glide flat across the fallen angel's figure, sweeping down her back and eventually pulling her into an embrace. It was tentative. It was frightened. But it was still a clear sign that even though she was massively disarmed by this sudden midnight assault...a part of her was still happy to have her dear mother back.

The difference between tears of sorrow and tears of joy didn't seem all that wide a gap after all.

The kiss between mother and daughter continued until Angella broke it - gently at first, with her lips leaving Glimmer's own but remaining desperately close. For a few seconds after her tongue continued to play, sweeping the depths of Glimmer's throat before snapping back into its own inviting cave. From there, the grim visage of the shattered Angella started to shift, and while her fingers began to pull from Glimmer's nethers she slowly started to swivel into position, with something else rising between the pair.

"Such a lovely young woman you've become…" Angella cooed, nuzzling the blushing Glimmer's cheek, offering her a flurry of kisses across plump, soft flesh. Her retreating two fingers were now coated in a glistening layer of shiny nectar - the genuinely sparkling juice of her daughter. Angella lifted those fingers high enough for Glimmer to see them shine, just before dropping both hands to hitch behind her knees. The soft and affectionate words continued as Angella lifted her daughter's legs, pulling back her hips just before suddenly nudging them forward with a renewed authority. "And you'll give me daughters every bit as glorious."

The words came punctuated with almost too many thoughts for poor Glimmer to process. Even the haze of the incestual assault was pierced by the throaty promise that Angella intended to breed her, but Glimmer couldn't dwell on the concept for long before she felt the slippery proof pressing at her folds that Angella was entirely capable of doing so. With a sharp yelp Glimmer gazed down between their naked bodies and shuddered at what she saw - a large, throbbing, member that was anything but angelic. It was pitch black, so much so that Glimmer could only see its shape and size thanks to the glistening layer of nectar that it was coated in, reflecting what literal natural light still played in the room. It looked more canine than Etherian - sheatheless and slick, with a flared tip and a particularly hefty swell near the base. Glimmer whimpered in pathetic fashion, but by that point the poor princess was far too addled to resist...and far too weak to fight back. She could simply look up at the face of her beloved mother, fractured and twisted though it was, and offer a tiny, helpless whimper in pursuit of mercy.

"M...Mom...Mom, I'm...I'm scared…"

Angella simply purred, offering her daughter the same kind coo she did so many times in the past, although this time flavored with the heated presence of a slick length grinding back and forth across the plump folds of Glimmer's pussy. That noise of gentle comfort carried on until the tip of her strange, demonic length was wedged against Glimmer's entrance - holding there for a heated few seconds before the older of the two rulers had a chance to speak. Before she did so, she drew in a long and desire-filled breath of her daughter's hair, and Glimmer could feel Angella's cocktip twitch against her nethers as she did so.

"Mother will protect you, Glimmer," Angella half-whispered, half-growled against her daughter's throat. "Just...as she...will make you hers."

And with that, the darkness of the night was pierced by Glimmer's sudden, sharp moan - a noise that couldn't tell if it was born from lust, heartache, or a delicious combination of them both.

Glimmer's voice filled the air as she was fiercely penetrated, with her mother's jet black length squeezing inside with a single strike. She slowed briefly as the heavy bulge near the base of that intimidating unit pressed against her daughter's pussy, but with a bit of extra pressure it worked itself inside and swiftly knotted within her. As Angella pulled back Glimmer could immediately feel the purpose of that extra girth - keeping her mother locked inside of her like a hound desperate to mate, ensuring that the fertile womb of her beloved offspring wouldn't be able to escape her intentions. It certainly ached at her entrance when Angella pulled back, but as the older woman pushed forward Glimmer could feel her entrance struggling to accommodate it, with warm, pink walls squeezing down and slathering that oily knot in sparkling nectar.

Angella herself hissed with delight as she found herself inside of Glimmer, and her hands slipped down across the girl's arms and shoulders, passing down to hold her cheeks just as she did in the old days. The mother between the pair leaned down to nuzzle their foreheads together and even offer a sound of gentle comfort - a brief glimpse into their old relationship before this new one took over. It was a moment of sweetness that only lasted for a precious second or two before Angella's lips parted anew, and this time, Glimmer's moved to match her motions.

"M...Mom...Mom, it's...it's so big…" Glimmer whined as their mouths inched closer and closer again, and when Angella's wicked, snakelike tongue darted forward, she didn't resist. If anything, the young lady offered her own pink muscle up as a sacrifice, and as Angella once more entwined around it the girl shuddered from the contact. Her voice still continued, muffled though it was by the impending kiss, and even though there was still burning conflict inside of her the words were nonetheless genuine. Frightened, but genuine. "...I...I love...you…"

Angella didn't respond verbally, choosing instead to properly seal the kiss between mother and daughter, just as she pounded forward to properly hilt herself within the girl. Her enormous, slippery black dick wedged deep within the smaller woman's folds, with that twitching cockhead nuzzling the entrance to Glimmer's womb as if fiercely demanding entrance. While her tongue creeped out to dominate the girl's throat in much the same fashion, Angella allowed a hand to drop from Glimmer's cheek with a certain destination in mind. She walked her delicate digits over Glimmer's shoulder, paused just long enough to grope at her breast and tweak a sensitive nipple, and then passed over the younger woman's belly - the spot that after that night was fated to be stretched with the weight of a baby of twisted, wild chaos. Her delicate touch's purpose wasn't lost on Glimmer, who gave a pathetic whimper as she clung to her mother's arms. Even after all this time without Angella guiding her, even after all she accomplished as queen of Brightmoon, Glimmer was still so very, very ready to let the woman that raised her call the shots.

From there, Angella allowed her primal passions to carry forward, doing something that the old her never would have fathomed. She scooped Glimmer's legs up with her forearms hitching below her knees, forcing the girl to spread to further accommodate the reckless, hungry thrusts that she offered. The sound of moisture filled the air as a sopping wet slit was claimed by a massive cock, with Angella's knot serving as a constant reminder that her purpose that evening wasn't just to rape her daughter...but seed her, as well. With every pull backwards Glimmer gasped and groaned against the lewd kiss being forced literally down her throat, with her mother's serpentine tongue tickling her all the way down her gullet. And though Glimmer's eyes were still wet from tears and her heart still racing in a fractured mess of trauma, the princess still hung her arms around her mother's shoulders - trusting in Angella's love, if not her madness.

Though in truth, Glimmer doubted that they were two different things anymore.

The bed squeaked constantly underneath the thrusts offered between mother and daughter, with Angella's voice rising high and heavy as she continued. When she gasped against Glimmer's open mouth the young woman was treated to the scent of static and ash - and a burst of breath that shifted between the heat of a scorched desert and a frigid glacial plain. When Angella began to pull back upon the kiss, Glimmer actively found herself resisting it, with her fingers tight upon her mother's shoulders until that wicked tongue escaped her throat and darted behind Angella's lips once more. From there the kindly mother of Brightmoon nestled her nose to Glimmer's throat, and offered her a long, tawdry lick as she whispered in a growing, primal voice.

"More...more, sweet Glimmer," Angella cooed, just as her arms lowered to entwine around Glimmer's waist. "You...will give your mother...more!"

Glimmer didn't know how that was possible at first - at least until her mother suddenly spun her around on the bed. The princess actively shrieked as she was lifted and flopped face-first against the sheets, her arms and legs flailing briefly just before her plump royal tits crashed down to the mattress. Most aching of all was the girth of Angella's knot deep within her, keeping the older woman completely inside of Glimmer while she suddenly spun around, driving home to what obscene degree her pussy was stretching to hold her. Glimmer barely had a few seconds to push her hands and knees underneath her before Angella continued her assault, suddenly slamming forward with renewed vigor as she pushed her own hefty bust to the back of her daughter's head.

"Yessss…!" Queen Angella practically roared as she drove forward with relentless fury, slapping against Glimmer's curvy backside so loud that the clapping noise filled the room with every sharp impact. She stretched her hands forward to overtake Glimmer's own, pressing her palms to the back of her daughter's hands and forcing them down into the mattress. From there, her fingers twisted and interlocked with Glimmer's own, and as she offered that brief semblance of kindness Angella forced her mouth flush against Glimmer's ear, whispering in a growing, undeniable, wild heat. "I'm close, darling...so close...Mother loves you so very much!"

Glimmer's heart caught in her throat, and she stared ahead at the royal headboard with wide, soaked eyes. The young woman could do little more than squeak and whimper as she was stretched around Angella's massive member, especially when her mother began to pump particularly hard with her wings flapping on every other thrust. Each time the sound of those pitch black feathers tearing the air could be heard they were accompanied by a sharp pump forward, and Glimmer could feel herself penetrated - violated - deeper than she ever imagined. Her fingers were still locked by those of her mother's from above and she could feel Angella's breath hot against her throat, and while the older woman pushed closer and closer, her lips finally parted one more time. That serpentine tongue returned, though this time it sought Glimmer's throat from the outside - slinking out and coiling around the sweat-glazed neck of her daughter. Just before it tightened, just before Glimmer could feel it cinch around her muscles to make the moment of release all the more intense, the princess managed to squeak a few words past her trembling lips, offered up with boundless love to her returning mother.

"I'm so happy you're back, Mom!"

Angella celebrated hearing those words by allowing her tongue to go rigid and tight, seizing upon Glimmer's throat with a choking, ferocious grasp. It was enough to make the princess buck and convulse, slamming her backside against the larger woman's lap and wedging the knot of her glistening demon cock as far inside as possible. While Glimmer's body betrayed her completely and she started to shudder in a forbidden climax, Angella simply hissed with wicked glee...and began to unload her seed straight into her very own daughter's womb.

It rushed forward without hesitation and without shame, pumping through the wet black muscle of Angella's shaft, splashing into the fertile valley of the princess' cunt. Burst after burst of creamy white nectar surged within her, pumping far more than any normal load and certainly offering more than enough to do the important duty of breeding Princess Glimmer. Angella's lips pressed flush to Glimmer's cheek to offer her a series of messy kisses and desperate whimpers, and the entire time her tongue continued to dangle from her maw to remain coiled around the girl's throat - tightening and loosening again and again, always making sure that Glimmer had just enough breath to remain conscious as she was filled.

It went on for a few long and glorious moments, during which time Angella's hands remained locked on Glimmer's from above, holding her daughter in a white-knuckled grasp. Her cock was lodged deep with her knot constantly twitching inside of her, sometimes softening and sometimes growing, depending on how the feral, broken angel's passions went. There was a steady dripping sound that filled the air just barely above the noise of their depraved breathing, a constant flow of excess cum that squeezed from Glimmer's pussy and fell to the sweat-stained sheets below. There Angella held her daughter, knotted and claimed like never before, and only when she was sure that her own passions were finally satiated did Angella allow her tongue to loosen. It slithered away from Glimmer's throat and right back into its owner's mouth, which quickly turned to press another short, tender kiss to the cheek of her daughter. It was a moment of motherly affection and doting love - from a nuzzle of Angella's nose to how the older woman pressed down against her from above, encouraging Glimmer to lay flat on her belly and breasts and use her mother as a blanket.

The entire time Angella stayed inside - lodged down to the hilt, her cockhead still pressed taut to the entrance of Glimmer's cum-flooded womb. Soon those black wings closed about them both and Angella's hands tightened upon her daughter's own even more, whispering in loving fashion as she brought her shattered visage to the side of Glimmer's cheek.

"We're finally together again, Glimmer," Angella cooed, and offered words that Glimmer had spent her life trying to earn from the older woman. "I am so very, very, very proud of you."

Glimmer quaked underneath the weight of the fallen angel, her mind still spinning and her heart both broken and bolstered in equal measure. She knew she was just impregnated by the monster that emerged from the space between dimensions. She knew that her body had been befouled and claimed by something twisted and evil. She knew that her kingdom - maybe even all of Etheria - was now in danger.

But she also knew that her mother had come home, and that meant more to her than anything else in all the stars above.

"Thank you, Mom," Glimmer finally whispered, her throat red from the previous embrace of Angella's tongue and her eyes weeping nothing but tears of joy. "I kept Etheria safe...for you."

The End.

Chapter Two

Chapter Summary

> It's the morning after Glimmer was visited by a twisted, evil, void-infused version of her mother in the middle of the night. She still can't believe what happened - or maybe she just doesn't want to admit what Queen Angella did to her. Unfortunately, deep down she knows...it's not over yet, and nightfall is just a few short, tense, hours away.

Sparkles and Tears
Chapter Two
-by Drace Domino

Glimmer woke up in the morning exhausted, ashamed, and… motherless.

"M…Mom?" The word escaped from the back of her throat even before she opened her arms, her arms stretching out only to find no body there to embrace. Not the warm, soothing presence of the mother she used to know nor the twisted frame of the monster that fucked her hours ago - her arms simply fell flat against the mattress with nothing between them. As her eyes opened and Glimmer met the morning sun with a sour squint, the queen's head gently turned from side to side, taking stock of her early thoughts. Everything that seemed to happen overnight was so vivid, and yet…despite Angella's promises to continue claiming her in the morning, she wasn't there. Despite the scent of her mother that was so vivid and crisp mere hours ago, now there was only the distant aroma of breakfast cooking in the servant's quarter. And despite the memory with crystal clarity of her body being used, her holes being filled, and her womb being awash in her mother's spunk…Glimmer didn't feel any stickier.

"Was…was it really all a nightmare?" The queen wondered aloud as she gently sat up, clutching her blanket to her chest. She was still bare below the covers, but for the life of her she couldn't remember if she'd gone to sleep that way. As a hand glided up across her forehead and into her hair, Glimmer gazed towards the nearest window, sighing softly as she watched the light pour in to herald a new day in Bright Moon. Her castle. Her kingdom. Her home. A soft sigh escaped her as she soaked in the sight, her belly twisting to knots as she found herself dwelling on the memories that still seemed so very, very clear. "What's wrong with me, having a dream like that?"

Deep down, she knew that she shouldn't beat herself up. She was a young woman whose mother had been wrenched from her arms in a time of great strife for her kingdom, thrust into the lap of responsibility far before she was ready. And she had done an admirable job - easily doing more than could have ever truly been expected of her. It was only natural that she'd have some… emotional dilemmas to sort through, between the trauma of both parents being pulled from her and the title that had been thrusted on her shoulders. That, combined with the unique talents that came from her status as a Princess of Power, forged a potent cocktail of distress that could easily make even the worst nightmares feel manifest. Glimmer gave a gentle, somber laugh as she kept staring out the distant window, a tiny smile creeping on her lips while she spoke.

"Well, I…I still miss you, Mom," she admitted, and from pure instinct squeezed her thighs together below the sheets. "But I guess it's better that it was all in my head."

And in truth, Queen Glimmer wasn't convinced - neither of her own words, or the mere idea that the last night's experience was truly just in her head.

It was a lingering, teasing thought that persisted throughout the queen's day. While she showered in the morning, it felt like she couldn't quite get clean even after a half-dozen scrubbings, though she was admittedly stricken with guilt over the vividness of her incestual sex dream. At one point, she even noticed that her nipples had stiffened and her arms rose with goosebumps while thinking about it, though it was easy enough to put the responsibility for such a reaction on the hot water and the fragrances fresh from Plumeria.

What was harder for Glimmer to rationalize away, however, was the rest of her day. The creeping sensation that hidden eyes were upon her as she sat on her throne. The squirming touch of fingers across her spine while she sat through another royal meeting. The lingering feeling that the memorial statue of her beloved mother had smiled at her, albeit briefly. A short glimpse in the mirror that made Glimmer think - if only for a brief second - that she looked like she was carrying the tiniest of belly bumps. Not even her royal lunch was free of stress, for as Glimmer drank down a goblet of the finest juice in all Etheria, she couldn't help but think…it tasted a little like her mother's kiss from her nightmare.

What she had initially dismissed as a lingering nightmare shifted throughout the day, pushed deeper into her mind with every strange experience and every shivering sensation that put her back in the mindset of what happened on her mother's bed. Queen Glimmer might have been inexperienced, she might have been young, she might have been impulsive…but she was also wiser than her years suggested, and had been close enough to twisted, foul magic to recognize it when it dared whisper of its presence.

By breakfast, Glimmer suspected that she was the victim of a mean-spirited magical prank. By lunchtime, she was running under the assumption that it was no mere jest, and an actual attempt at unnerving the queen of Bright Moon. An assault - either for political or personal reasons - designed to hurt her with magical manipulation. By dinner, she was sure that the fingers along her spine and the whispers at the edge of her ear, the fleeting hint of a tongue across her thighs or breath across her nipples, were full-blown magical manifestations with nothing short of truly malicious intent.

And by bedtime, Queen Glimmer stepped into her chambers with her eyes narrow, her chest puffed out, and her father's staff firmly in hand.

"Mom?" She spoke the word as clear and as vividly as she would have if her mother was still alive - because in that moment, she knew it to be true in as twisted a way as possible. "I know you're listening, Mom. Come out."

It ached her to say it - evidenced by the tears that broke from the corners of her eyes and danced down her cheeks, only to end it sparkling light while they fell. She was sure that her previous nightmare was anything but, just as she was sure that the sudden chill that filled the room was no simple, benign breeze. Her mother was there, and a split-second later, her mother's hands were on her shoulders.

"You have only to ask, my sweet Glimmer," Angella's voice was wicked, demonic, and sounded as if it echoed from the deepest well in Etheria. "Mother is never more than a desire away from you."

Glimmer's staff fell to the floor with a thud, and the young woman froze in place. Even though she'd marched into her room that night with the full expectation of the shadow of Angella's return, the mere presence of her mother was enough to stun the young queen into a state of tragic helplessness. The hands closing over her shoulders tightened as Angella pressed against her from behind, towering over her with a hungry, predatory presence that was akin to being smothered under a chilling layer of burning snow. Though her touch was cold Glimmer yet twitched with a heat building between them, her throat tight and goosebumps rising on her flesh while Angella purred in a menacing tone.

"We've so much more to do tonight, my precious daughter," the twisted true queen whispered, and with a subtle buck of her hips reminded Glimmer of just what she sported between her thighs.

An enormous cock unlike anything ever sported by man or woman before her - enormous in nature with ridges along the sides and a bulging, thick knot. All the better for keeping herself hilted inside the precious treasure that was her flesh and blood. As Queen Angella continued to loom, her radiant hair fell down the sides of her face and even cascaded around those of Glimmer's - surrounding her like a curtain that threatened to close about her face and consume her completely. Sure enough, when Glimmer let her head tilt upwards to see her mother's eyes, they were burning with a demented darkness and her smile intensified - stretching the corners of her cheeks into something beyond what she once was. "There is no time to waste in celebrating our love."

Glimmer barely made a squeak as Angella gripped her all the tighter, and the fallen mother suddenly exhibited yet another new talent. As she bucked her hips forward she not only grazed Glimmer's power but briefly tapped into it, forcing the girl to blink them both all the way across the room and to the bed beyond. In that darting teleport amidst sparkles of darkness, Glimmer had been immediately stripped bare, and she landed flat against the mattress with Angella pressed atop her. From standing tall and ready to battle to naked, prone, and shivering - that was the weakness that Glimmer had in the face of the true queen of Bright Moon. That was the fragility she had in the face of Angella's newfound, corrupted power. That was…the love she had for her mother.

"M…Mom, Mom, please…d-don't…"

She begged because she knew she was helpless, but she didn't entirely know what she begged for. Did she want Angella to stop? Did she want the creature that wore her mother's face and wings to return to the abyss it crawled from? Did she want them to return to a normal exchange between a mother and daughter, with Angella constantly yelling at Glimmer for her rowdy behavior? Or did she want those creeping fingers to keep working down her chubby figure, that throbbing, glistening, mind-bending cock to keep twitching against her belly, and that gaping maw to keep threaded forward with a jet black tongue? In the end, it didn't really matter what Glimmer wanted. Bright Moon was still the domain of Queen Angella - shattered or not - and the queen would take anything she desired no matter how profane.

Angella's tongue snaked forward, extending far past any reasonable measure to give a long, appreciative slurp of her daughter's cheek. As if emboldened by that flavor, it suddenly darted ahead and moved for Glimmer's throat - wrapping around it once, twice, three times before seizing her all the tighter, with the excess of that powerful black muscle bending upwards towards Glimmer's mouth. Only then, with the tip of Angella's tongue in Glimmer's line of sight and the girl's cheeks already going red from being choked did that corrupted body change once more - her tongue bulging at the tip and reshaping itself, forging into a cockhead before pushing against Glimmer's silently screaming maw.

"M-Moo--mmpmhhh!" Absolute fear and terror were painted across Glimmer's face as her mother's licking prick squeezed to her mouth, and when she offered the slightest bit of resistance the length of tongue that was coiled around her throat tightened in a…corrective fashion. She brought Glimmer to bear like an unruly hound and rewarded her obedience by offering some slack around her throat, only so she could occupy it with the rest of that tentacle-esqe appendage. Before long, Glimmer found herself caught in a nightmarish kiss with her mother, her own tongue battered by Angella's oral cock, her senses reeling from the taste of oily precum and her body desperately fighting for breath.

But of course, that was nowhere near all Angella had in mind for her beloved daughter - nor was it the depths to which Glimmer would be overwhelmed by her. Gentle and motherly hands passed across Glimmer's naked body while the girl flailed and fought mid-kiss, retracing the places she'd fondled her throughout that long day of glancing teases. She caressed her daughter's gloriously plump breasts and unwillingly stiff nipples. She smoothed her fingers across Glimmer's adorable love handles, appreciating her chubby frame with absolute relish. And then, with profound delight they hooked below Glimmer's knees and lifted them upward, forcing the pink-haired would-be queen's thighs to spread and her pussy exposed to the nightmare beast that came for her. While that ridged and bulging cocktip grinded across her folds as if to promise just how deep and brutally she'd be fucked and a tonguebound dick scrubbed at the inside of Glimmer's throat, Angella's voice filled the air. She had no need of her mouth to speak, after all, with her affectionate whisper echoing in Glimmer's head - as soothing and as sweet as when her precious daughter first lost her father.

"Do not fear, and do not weep, my beloved Glimmer," Angella cooed, just as she began to squeeze her grotesquely demonic cock against her daughter's quivering folds. "Mother will never leave you again."

As if she needed to say as much! After all, everyone in Bright Moon knew how much Queen Angella desperately loved her family.

The penetration of Queen Glimmer was somehow even rougher the second time, with Angella's knotted length slowly working its way inside, purposefully making sure that her daughter experienced every last second of it. It was slow and methodical and offered with such an intensity that Glimmer had no choice but to focus on every passing inch, her folds slowly spreading around that gargantuan unit and every ridge and angle across its surface. Through it all, Angella's tongue continued to probe the depths of her daughter's throat, weaving down to the point that she was bulging it from within and leaking a dense precum all the way down Glimmer's gullet. And though Glimmer cried the entire time, her sparkling tears dancing with every passing second, her hands still found a way to reach upward and cling to her mother's shoulders. Desperately holding onto her just like the first time Angella spread her wings to fly her around Bright Moon - needy for the older woman's comfort, even in a time of such trauma and fear. Maybe, just like during that first childhood flight, she'd come out of this a stronger woman.

Or maybe she'd be shattered entirely. It wasn't even clear if Angella knew which yet.

EIther way, the true queen rumbled with pleasure as two of her cocks were fed to Glimmer, stuffing her from separate ends and stretching those wonderfully tight holes. Both her tongue and her hips shifted back and forth to drive home just how thoroughly she could dominate her, though the latter of the two only moved so far as to threaten pushing the knotted base inside - the enormous bulge that Glimmer was outright terrified of feeling wedged inside of her. Angella seemed to delight in teasing her with that fate all as she relished Glimmer's spasming entrance around her cockhead, so much so that her voice filled the girl's head again with lusty whispers that carried that twisted echo.

"Glimmah, Glimmah, darling…" She sounded almost like her old self in tone, nearly disapproving but only in the most motherly and doting of ways. "You're fussing far too much! Don't be so afraid, you silly girl!"

Not that Glimmer could help it, of course. The sight of her quarters - the queen's royal chambers - was melting away on either end of the room. Draperies and paintings seemed as if they were fading into darkness, shadows coalescing from the corners to reach up and completely overwhelm her. She could see shadowy fingers pulling at the sheets to draw them tight across the mattress, just as when she gazed up into Angella's eyes the merciless visage made her feel like her very soul was being yanked over some obstinate, unyielding stone. The girl quaked and sobbed and shivered, but still she clung to Angella's shoulders, her legs lifted in the air and her pussy steadily claimed by a unit that was ever-focused. Before long her voice broke into a spastic cry as the knot suddenly came for her, and Glimmer actively violently bucked on the bed as it reached within her depths.

Though Glimmer was left convulsing and shaking in the wake of taking that horrid knot, her belly already slightly bulging and her sobbing escaping from around the corners of Angella's tentacletongue, the queen herself was relishing in it. Angella even lowered a hand to pet her fingers across the girl's bulge over her tummy, cooing once more in the frightened young woman's mind before moving to properly thrust within her.

"Ohh, how lovely you look like this," she cooed, and wickedly reminded her beloved daughter of a worried thought from last night - a venomous, sinister promise that was enough to make the girl's heart batter against her chest. "You'll look even more radiant carrying our child."

And with that, Angella let loose. With every ounce of power within her twisted and corrupted body, the fragmented shadow of the once-kind queen threw her lusty fury into her daughter's shaking frame. That knotted and demonic cock surged inside of Glimmer, scrubbing at the sides of her walls and forcing a young, chubby body to take every last inch. The cock inside of Glimmer's throat was engaging in similar brutal treatment, coiling around Glimmer's tongue like a mating serpent all while the tip spasmed in the center of the girl's throat. And Angella, with her eyes rolling back in her head only to reveal a wave of rolling shadow, started to actively groan.

Glimmer was left in a state of raped confusion as she heard her mother rumble, wondering - hoping - that she was already about to peak and that this twisted nightmare was nearly over. And in truth? She was half correct. Angella was indeed about to cum, but in no way was it nearly the end of the brutally long night that had yet to truly begin. In fact, it wasn't even the cock filling her royal pussy that was unleashing itself.

Angella's twisted tongue-dick suddenly bucked and rolled, whipping within Glimmer's throat and surging even deeper. It swelled so vividly that Glimmer could witness it growing thicker and thicker towards her mouth, and with a strangled sob the girl was forced to feel the impending load of cum creep from outside her mouth to within. Her cheeks were left puffed and strained, her throat bulged and distended even before Angella started to spurt, and when the queen did, her tongue-dick had been shoved so deep inside her daughter that it was deposited squarely into Glimmer's belly.

Heat absolutely surged through Glimmer, and from sheer reflex and fear the girl tried to blink away, hoping that her magic could somehow save her. Unfortunately, every time she tried a crashing wave of shadow danced across her body, intensifying it all even more. Flashes of heat and chill, blinding strikes of light, jolts of electricity that sent her tender body spasming - they all cascaded against her again and again as Angella's tongue flooded her belly with spunk, and continued to squirt with an inexhaustible load. The flavor of Angella's cream was once more a forced treat upon Glimmer's senses, and it flooded her so thoroughly, so completely, that her throat was left wallpapered with that white spunk and it soon began to escape from her nose. Drooling it out over her face and from the corners of her lips, Glimmer simply stared at the merciless expression of Angella, who caught sight of her daughter in profane distress and merely relished it.

"You have never looked more beautiful, Glimmah…"

It was clear that Angella believed it, too, since it was at that point that she started to fuck her daughter with even more ferocity. The bed absolutely screamed underneath their combined weight - or at least it did, until shadowy hands reached from the corners of the room to stabilize it, keeping them both secure. It was through their grim hands that the bed maintained throughout the impending brutality, with Angella pounding back and forth within Angella's slit and drawing strangled, suffocated screams from her daughter's stuffed maw. The longer she pounded her the thicker and more dense that twisted knot inside of the royal pussy grew, until finally, with a savoring whisper that echoed in Glimmer's mind, Angella announced the inevitable.

"Yesssss, yesssss, Glimmah…" The word echoed with raw affection and unbridled love, even if it was all tainted with soil and filth. With depravity, decadence, and soulless hunger. "Right into your womb, my darling! Ohh, the creature you will bear for me! The glory you will birth!"

Glimmer didn't know her own young body well enough to know just how deep her womb was, but…she was certain that Angella's cock had reached it. It felt like walls within walls were stretched and spread around that massive unit, and the poor girl froze in place with cum still shivering down her nose and from the corners of her mouth, a muted wail caught in her mind as Angella started to unload. What flooded the girl's pussy was measured in gallons rather than ounces, and it was launched inside of her with a ravenous, reckless, unbridled glee. Straight to the womb of the new queen of Bright Moon, Angella delivered to her daughter nothing short of volatile spunk - saturating those fertile spots of the fresh young woman and marking her as a broodmare for the twisted creature's desires. And it was while she released that payload, while the knot actively felt like it was spinning inside of Glimmer, while that cockhead was releasing burst after burst of cum, that Angella pushed Glimmer into a climax of her own.

Baneful, regrettable, heartbreaking - but still, a climax. The pink-haired, throat-stuffed, violated girl gave in to her peak in that moment, her pussy finding a twisted joy in the way it was so recklessly used. As Angella's cum flooded Glimmer's belly and the heavy white spunk surged from her folds in the overflow, the girl simply…lost herself. Hands clutched at Angella's shoulders, her mouth could be heard to greedily slurp around the tongue-dick stretching her throat, and through it all there was a twisted noise adjacent to joy echoing from her. Insane laughter? Broken glee? Joyful moans? Any of those and more were existent inside of her, and when Angella's tongue finally started to uncoil from Glimmer's throat and pull out of her mouth once more, it gave the new queen a chance to speak. Her eyes were half-lidded and cum still escaped from her nose and mouth with every breath, but she let her fingers spin into the hair of her mother as she pulled their faces close.

"M…Mooooooom…" She spoke the word through a blend of sorrow, joy, terror, and excitement, and gave a big, heaping, greedy swallow of cum that rose into her mouth from her throat. After forcing it back down into her belly she nudged their foreheads together, just as they did in ages past when Angella was kind and benevolent - and Glimmer was an innocent girl that knew nothing of lusty madness. “Mom, I’m…I’m so glad you’re back…so glad you still love me…”

This time, there’d be no waking up in the morning feeling as if it was all an unfortunate nightmare. This time, Glimmer would sleep and rise knowing that she belonged to this twisted, corrupted vision of her mother.

And she would wake with a crooked, demented smile slathered in the cum of a demon.

The young queen was given no chance to recover after the first creampie that her mother delivered to her. Mere seconds after Glimmer spoke of how much she missed Angella, the winged creature suddenly scooped her hands underneath the girl’s backside, flipping her over for yet another round of demented pleasure. Glimmer simply gave a groan of bliss as she sagged against the mattress, pussy and mouth drooling cum in equal measure as Angella’s knotted cock rested atop Glimmer’s curvy backside. It oozed its own line of cream down, striking Glimmer’s tailbone and slithering all the way along her spine, just another marking of cream for the royal girl that had been twisted into a slutty plaything. Angella’s smile was wicked and wide as she pawed her hands over Glimmer’s rump, cooing in delight as they stewed in the moment of heated passion.

“Mmm, my lovely Glimmer, there’s simply so much of you to enjoy,” she whispered, and waited until Glimmer looked back over her shoulder to continue. “Fortunately, your mother has no limitations on how she claims you.”

It was in that moment that Glimmer was left to gasp, watching as Angella’s already bizarre cock shifted within the darkness. Shadows seemed to melt across the surface of her unit only to suddenly split in two directions, and in a mere second or two Angella’s rod had doubled itself. A perfectly identical pair now snugly extended from Angella's lap, neither one smaller than the first she once wore there, each one glistening with raw excitement and determined to stuff themselves inside of Glimmer's holes. And Glimmer, with a submissive look and a heavy blush underneath the tears on her cheeks, found the strength to whisper and whine while her hands stretched backward.

"A…Anything you want, Mom…" She gave in to the expected desires of Angella, pressing her fingers to the curvy flesh of her rump and spreading herself as much as she was able. She left her tight rear pucker exposed just above that cum-oozing slit, giving Angella access to a pair of targets with an open invitation to enjoy them both. Though Glimmer looked ashamed and even a bit afraid, there was nothing but love in her eyes for her mother - or at least, the abomination that her mother had become. "Please… please use me, Mom, use me until there's nothing left!"

Angella's smile only intensified in light of her daughter's unflinching loyalty, and sought to do just that. Without a single word of thanks, she leaned back to line her units up against Glimmer's entrances - one nuzzling that overfilled pussy that led to a cream-blasted womb, and the other pressing to a taut back door that had yet to be violated. When she started to work herself inside, she once more went at a pace designed to force Glimmer to experience every bit of it in crystal clarity - the stretching, the straining, the way her muscles screamed as they were forced to accommodate two gargantuan knots. Even in the midst of her mindbroken joy, Glimmer was battered by waves of fear and ache - sobbing into the pillow, apologizing to her mother for not being able to handle her better, and all the while pushing herself back in a desperate bid to take both cocks.

And once they were inside, thanks purely to the ruthless might and merciless nature of Angella, the knots kept both enormous units locked inside of Glimmer for what came next.

In truth, the unfortunate young woman was left completely overwhelmed, her senses obliterated and reality melting away as she was fucked in both holes in tandem. Her pussy and ass were stretched tenuous and tight around the dual cocks of her beloved mother, and no amount of screeching or sobbing or begging would help her bottom handle such a claim any easier. Her cum-filled belly bounced while she was fucked, her young breasts grinding harshly against the sheets, her arms and legs hanging limp while her frame was suspended purely by the knots stuffed so vigorously inside of her. When Angella tired of fucking Glimmer from behind, she smoothly scooped her up into her arms and held the girl aloft, pressing Glimmer's back to her breasts even as both cocks continued to drill her. And it was there, held in the air and still fucked without ceasing or mercy, that Glimmer found Angella's wings slowly closing around her…and she knew that she was safe in the embrace of her corrupted, shattered mother.

Though her young frame snapped up and down, though her cum-bloated belly was slapping against her breasts, though her lower holes both ached from the strain as they were assaulted by unflinching knots, Glimmer still managed to look up to the towering presence of Angella and whisper, with nothing shy of pure devotion.

"M…Mom.." She begged, amidst sweat and tears and spunk that still smeared her face. "Mom…love you, Mommy…"

"You haven't called me that in years," Angella cooed, though despite the sweetness in her voice, didn't stop thrusting for a second. "Glimmer, my angel, we've never been as close as we are now."

The impending climaxes spread across mother and daughter were downright suffocating. The loads of cum that Angella forced within Glimmer's holes made the girl feel as if she'd never be able to teleport again, so heavy she'd become with spunk. Her belly bulged and her eyes rolled back in her head, and even amidst her moaning she could be heard to gurgle on the cum that packed every part of her - saturated through and through, turned into little more than a seed-soaked doll for the twisted pleasure of this demonic presence. And even as her ass and pussy struggled to make sense of how vigorously they'd been filled, even as Glimmer's body ached in constant orgasm drilled with ruthless efficiency, the girl remained loyal. Loyal to Bright Moon, loyal to her mother, and loyal to herself.

Because this? This was all she'd ever wanted. And it was so wonderful of Angella to show as much to her.

It was hours later that Glimmer was laying flat on the bed again, her body fully packed with spunk that churned inside of her with nearly every breath. She had both hands stretched out to wrap around the bases of both fo Angella's cocks, while her pussy was currently being violated by her mother's extended, tentacle-esque tongue. In twisted madness amidst the shadows the two gazed into each other's eyes, with Glimmer paying doting attention to the two members from Angella's lap and the elder of the two allowing her tongue to scrub and swirl within a pussy that had been well used throughout the evening. Over the course of those long hours, the moans that escaped Queen Glimmer's quarters had been enough to alert everyone of the truth of things: that Queen Angella had indeed returned, but instead of usurping the rule of her daughter, she would share it.

Bright Moon had two queens now, and soon, a plethora of princesses as well - freshly bred into the fertile womb of Queen Glimmer. The pink-haired girl knew as much as she tended to the cocks of her mother, licking each one in tandem before gazing at Angella with an addled, mindbroken gaze in her eyes.

"Mommy? You'll be here in the morning this time, right?"

Queen Angella simply smiled, stirred Glimmer's pussy with that tentacle tongue of hers, and allowed her corrupted voice to tease the back of the girl's thoughts in one more promise.

"Every morning, every hour, every minute," she swore. "You will never be free of me, dear Glimmer."

It was even more controlling and dominant than when Angella used to send Glimmer to her room, and yet…the young queen gave a giggle of excitement, relishing the promise of constant control without a trace of shame. A girl needed her mother, after all, and she was so, so lucky that hers had returned across oblivion and nightmares.

End of Chapter Two.

End Notes

Scandalous! I like writing ships like these. Honestly, incest tales are something I wish I got a chance to write more often. Always a fun topic to tackle when you just wanna write something really depraved and filthy. It's too bad more series don't have outrageous hot mom figures like Angella.
