Summary

"You know I love you, right?"
The blonde jock smiled faintly, trying to hide their furrowed brows. "I love you too," A cracked, unsure voice answered – much to Catra's concern.
"Wanna talk about it?" Catra asked softly.
"Not really." They answered quickly. At the quirk of their girlfriend's lips, Adora sighed, defeated by the pressures of their own mind. "It's just the same as usual."
"Dysphoria kicking your ass again?"

There are many definitions of love: a deep affection for something, or someone. Sometimes it's the act of caring and giving to someone else. It's said to be like coffee, bitter and sweet. Others say it's a losing game. But what does it mean to Catra and Adora?

Notes

Heya!
Here's my work for the SPOP Big Bang 2021 edition! Massive thanks to @Amitola12 for helping me with this, and @Candycornsnake for arting this piece.

I hope you enjoy! :)

See the end of the work for more notes

Catra didn’t notice it at first. The time Adora was taking in the bathroom –way shorter than usual– or to get dressed –way longer than normal. And then it all clicked when Adora got out of the bedroom they had been sharing for years, dressed in that oversized olive hoodie so worn out its colors started to fade away, basketball shorts, and sports socks. Today was just one of those days.

Today was a day when Adora was feeling dysphoric.

Catra's partner was testing waters with gender, and had been asking Catra and their friends about trying out they/them pronouns, just to see if it fit. Of course there had to be some adjustments, but Catra didn't mind at all. The name issue was pushed away for now, Adora not feeling so sure about changing it all, and that was okay.

"Hey, handsome. That shower was nice?" Catra asked with a smile, scrolling on the bottomless line of her Twitter feed. She lifted up her eyes when she heard a grumble instead of an answer. Adora was on their couch, hidden under a pile of blankets that screamed I feel bad about myself. Catra did her best to continue on like nothing was amiss, trying to get a feel for the situation and figure out exactly where her beloved was currently. "Are you mad because I clogged the shower drain again with all these thick curls?" She passed a hand through her curly, dark brown hair, flashing Adora a smile brighter than the sun. Maybe a light subject would do this time.

"I cleaned it babe," Adora simply answered, hugging a pillow against their chest.

It looked like this time it would take a little more than a joke about Catra's ball of hair in the shower drain to brush this bad feeling away. "You still up for that movie later? We can totally do something else if you prefer," The brunette offered, embracing a new tactic- spending time together with just a smidge of distraction added in. No, a dumb movie wouldn't ease their mind entirely, but also getting lost in another world for a couple hours wasn't a bad start. Or anything else they might want to do.

Adora shrugged, fidgeting with the fringe along their pillow friend. "No, I'm still up for it."

"Okay, sweetheart. You know I love you, right?"

The blonde jock smiled faintly, trying to hide their furrowed brows. "I love you too," A cracked, unsure voice answered – much to Catra's concern.

"Wanna talk about it?" Catra asked softly, moving gently towards whatever was so paining her love. She appeared to be staring at her phone, only half-listening, but that was a guise purely for Adora's comfort. Maybe if they didn't feel quite as perceived… but then also heard and listened to? It was the best Catra could come up with for the time being.

"Not really." They answered quickly. At the quirk of their girlfriend's lips, Adora sighed, defeated by the pressures of their own mind. "It's just the same as usual."

Catra put down her phone, focusing on the situation in front of her. Adora needed her. "Dysphoria kicking your ass again?"

"Yeah. It's… It's exhausting." They pressed their face into the pillow they'd been holding, breathing steadily through their nose.

So, so tiring. It seemed like all Adora did any more was sleep, but they were running against a debt they could never hope to pay off. Things just… Didn't feel right, even if nothing was wrong.

Catra moved in close on the couch next to them, but was careful to not touch. She didn't think that Adora would react poorly to a hug, but also she didn't want to startle them. Catra scanned her mind, searching for the right words. How she wished she could just take a fragment of their discomfort, even for an afternoon. Anything to alleviate what so ached in them. "I know this has got to be a workout, babe. And you know better than anyone out there that any workout is exhausting." She winked at them. "Especially for someone who, even after years of training, still moves like a snail."

"Pfft," Adora finally chuckled, unable to resist their girlfriend's charming snark. The jabs were loving, Adora appreciating that Catra was the type to let them wallow for long. Maybe the brunette flitted to and fro across the mat while sparring, agile and lithe, but she always seemed to be in Adora's corner when they truly needed her. "Maybe, but when I land a hit, I at least hit hard."

Adora wasn't completely out of the woods yet, but making them laugh was a good first step. Catra had always liked their hearty smile when they did, the way it widened from ear to ear especially when Catra would make a fool of herself in for them. With each year that passed, their laugh had become more confident, louder, and brighter and that sound was just music to Catra's ears.

Seeing Adora coming out of their shell had been a work several years in the making. Years ago, two teenagers met during their yearly medical check-up oh so generously provided by the orphanage they grew up in. The two of them had become friends almost instantly at that meeting more than fifteen years ago, tried and true partners in crime. They were always messing with the other kids, rushing in the kitchens at night to pilfer anything tasty they could reach, and taking pictures with one of the very first numeric cameras (peak technology in the 2000s, a heavy antiquity by now) was their idea of fun and happiness. When Catra received the news she would be adopted a year later, separating them both, the two of them had celebrated by drinking their first bottle of vodka. The day after that life decision, Catra wasn't sure if the overwhelming nausea was due to them being hungover or if it was because they would be parted, she thought at the time, forever. It was a dark day when they last hugged goodbye, but time passed ever on. Catra graduated high school, and she found a full-time job as a bank teller, living out her life with her cat, Melog, in her own place.

Years after their last hug that day in the orphanage, Adora had literally bumped in Catra in the middle of the street. Adora was cycling, looking behind them instead of in front, and Catra was getting out of her car with a bag full of groceries. She hadn't noticed the reincarnation of Flash Gordon speeding towards her. And after they patiently endured the first wave of insults from the harried, rightfully ticked off brunette, it dawned on Catra just who she was scolding. Adora's hair was shorter, yeah, and the rock-hard muscles under that V-neck shirt were new (but definitely intriguing), and they'd grown into a jaw so sharp the smaller woman wondered if the blonde had been directly cut out from marble. But there was no question. And if she wasn't hella gay before that fateful day, the sight of a grown-up Adora would've coaxed the last whisps of Catra's heterosexuality from her body on the spot. After the impact and first apologies, the two older companions had decided on seeing each other again, Adora's treat, because they couldn't lose their friend again. And just like the first time in that run-down physician's office, it didn't take them long to be glued to each other again and ever since.

Being with Adora just felt right to Catra. Their first hug had been like coming back home after years of absence. Their first kiss had been a firework of happiness – and Catra's therapist was already shipping them so hard after their first date that Catra had trouble remaining serious during the rest of that session.

Who knew the childhood friends and partners in crime would become just partners, after all this time? (Everyone but them was what they both heard the most often from their friends and loved ones, but hey, they got there eventually.)

Catra smiled at the memories, and moved to cuddle with Adora. "Hey you goof," She snuggled herself into the crook of Adora's neck, her ultimate happy place.

"Hey, cuddle bug," Adora answered with half a smile, relaxing as they draped an arm around their love.

"Only with you," The brunette added with a small kiss to Adora's cheek.

A few minutes passed in comfortable silence, both content in embracing each other. It was so wonderful to be curled upon on Adora, snug and safe in their embrace. However, the longer Catra lay pressed against her love's body, the more distinct a certain odor became…

Finally, she could take it no more. She gently placed a hand on Adora's jaw, stroking as she lay out against their strong chest. "Babe?"

"Hm?"

"When was the last time you washed your binder?"

"Urr…" Adora tried to count. Which meant too damn long .

"That's what I thought. You stink," Catra pinched her nose theatrically. Adora didn't laugh, just hugged Catra tighter, hiding their face a little. Shame, Catra figured, and not at all her goal. "Hey, look at me," She said, holding Adora's chin between her fingers. "I don't mind, I just want you to be comfortable. You're safe with me here, and we don't expect anyone over today."

The blonde sighed. "I know… I know I'm safe. It's not you – ugh, I hate this damn body."

Catra's heart felt heavy. She couldn't even imagine what her significant other was going through, but she could try to alleviate the pain, make it bearable. "Turn on the TV for me?"

Adora obeyed, though was vastly confused by the topic change. They watched as Catra stood up to lower the blinds, not saying a word or questioning what was happening. But as a low level of dark entered their living room, Adora had to check. "You know it's 2pm right, honey?"

"Oh, I know."

"Okay. So why are we in the dark...?" Adora wondered.

"Because my love, I want to wash that cloth that's nearly adhered to your skin so it becomes a binder again after a good soak in soap, and I figured the dark would make it easier for you to take it off right now. We can watch whatever movie you want while it does and your rib cage will finally breathe." Adora knew Catra was right that the binder needed a bath, even if they were reluctant to remove it. Catra couldn't help but notice the flash of pain across their face, the forced smile, their ocean eyes twitching. "I know I'm asking a lot but… Do it for me, please?"

"Don't make that face, Cat."

"What face?" Catra accentuated her pout and pleading eyes, knowing exactly what her beloved meant.

"The cute face that makes me want to listen to you and kiss you." Adora rolled their eyes, hiding their fondness. Catra was making this as easy for them as possible, but stubbornness was one of Adora's most endearing(ly annoying) qualities.

Catra's pout turned into a smirk. "I don't see a problem with that."

"Shut up," Adora retorted, finally relaxing.

"Make me," The brunette challenged.

Adora cupped Catra's face gently and brushed their lips together, enjoying the jolting sensation even after years of dating. Both were past the first moments of love and sexual tension, so wide it could be sensed within a five-feet perimeter– that feeling replaced by a sense of coming back home, of love growing in a different way, as far from boring as could be if you asked the two lovebirds. Their relationship wasn't a smooth ride and that was okay too. What they had was a mix of affection and companionship, facing difficulties together instead of throwing them at each other (something they used to do when they were younger, and Catra was happy they were past that), and both were proud of this statement alone. They'd earned their happiness and would fight anyone that disagreed to this.

Catra wanted to prove to her lover how much she loved them, how much she cared, and hoped this would show through her actions day in and day out. Programming the coffee maker along with Adora's favorite mug next to it so they could have a warm cup effortlessly every morning, rubbing their sore shoulders after a day of hard work and chest binding, not to mention all the time they spent together with dates in town. She annoyed them for kisses all day long, simply unable to get enough of her person. This was how much Catra cared about Adora, and she wanted to make her point heard today again.

So the brunette crashed their lips together in a gentle, but more insistent manner. A silent I love you , and a promise of more adventures to come across together, as one. She smiled into that kiss, and Adora felt it, responding with an echo of fondness. Their foreheads met as their lips tore apart, both of their eyes closed, Catra's hand still on Adora's cheek.

"I love you."

"Love you too, babe. So much," Catra's smile brightened as she said it. "You have no idea."

"Maybe a little bit," They giggled, "you know, getting to know me and still being there after all these years and years of puns."

“We were having a moment. Don’t ruin it," The woman warned. “ especially not with your jokes.”

Adora raised their arms in mock surrender with a goofy smile. They knew she was right, and who were they to challenge their girlfriend’s threats? They certainly knew better than that.

“Good. Now kiss me again, you dork.”

Adora happily obliged the demand, pulling Catra closer. The brunette shifted their position on the couch so she could end up on top of her partner, legs intertwined under the blanket they were sharing. Their kiss deepened, Catra’s tongue brushing Adora’s lips. Adora noticed Catra asking for permission to go further and responded to the silent plea, their tongues moving together. Hands wandered on familiar grounds. Catra’s on their defined abs, Adora’s on Catra’s butt.

“Sit up.”

Adora complied, their hands holding Catra’s waist to keep her against them. “So bossy today.”

“Like you’re complaining about it. Can I?” she asked, pointing at Adora’s sweatshirt. The blonde nodded and raised their arms, not trusting their voice all of the sudden to express consent. Catra kissed their forehead and lifted the shirt slowly. Her partner shivered at the sudden loss, exposed to a pair of considerate heterochromatic eyes. Catra kissed Adora’s chin, her hands resting on their abs. “Can you remove that for me, please?”

They nodded – and wiggled awkwardly – to remove their binder. Catra smiled fondly at the bare chest in front of her.

“You’re beautiful,” she said, kissing their jaw. “Wait, are you flexing?!” she suddenly asked, feeling their biceps under her touch.

“No,” They shrugged, a little embarrassed, but with a hint of pride. There was just something in Catra’s eyes as she laid her eyes on Adora's arm…

"Fuck. They're getting bigger then," Catra answered in awe. Adora just smirked with a knowing gaze. There's my babe right here , the brunette thought.

"We both know you like them big." At least if those things hidden in our bedroom are any clue…

"Them, huh?" Catra moved her hand up from her lover's jaw, so instead it was cupping their cheek. She rose up and looked Adora right their big, blue eyes. I don't care about the other thems. I just like this one them a lot," Tears were threatening to spill from those eyes she cherished, but Catra continued. Because Adora needed to know without a doubt how she felt for her they. "I like a buff them opening tricky jars for me. A kinda cocky them who brags about their girlfriend to coworkers all day long." She peppered each compliment with a kiss on Adora's shoulders, torso, jaw, lips. "I love when my gentlethem takes me out to dates, stargazing on cold nights all warm and cozy when we're cuddling together." Another barrage of kisses. "I love my handsome partner, because they're so tall and muscular." Adora shifted at the mention of physical traits. It was nice to hear the things that they kinda liked about themselves highlighted, but it was also just hard to hear. Those things just seemed so small against the tide of all the stuff they didn't like. However, since it was coming from Catra, Adora found they were able to shove aside their doubts a little easier. "But you know what I like more about them? They're smart, even if they're an idiot."

The blonde jock hid in the crook of Catra's neck, her body covering their bare chest. They couldn't help but tuck themselves away for a moment. Hearing compliments on a good day was a workout, nevertheless today. But as Adora continued to breathe in the soothing presence of their beloved, letting the intention of the words wash over them, a healing balm against the hurt they felt about themselves. Catra liked them, just as they were. What an incredible thing…

“What's on your handsome mind, babe?” Catra wondered, kissing their jaw again. Maybe she’d gone too far. Compliments could be such a double-edged sword. As magnificent as she found her partner to be- so kind and strong and loving and beyond attractive, hearing those things wasn’t always easy for her Adora.

“You… Really like the way I look?” They craved their partner’s reassurance as much as they recoiled from it.

Catra brushed past her knee-jerk reaction of providing a snarky remark. There was a time for jokes and this was certainly not it. She breathed in, letting a honeyed smile play across her lips. “Of course I do, silly. I don’t know anyone who would reject someone as hot as you are, and it’s my pleasure to take a horny look at it everytime. But,” she clarified, “I know you’re asking if physical traits matter to me. They don’t, and you can present yourself any way that you want to. I love you for who you are.” she kissed their lips shortly, but pressed firm to really drive home her point. “Not who you pass as.”

Her hand was still on Adora’s cheek when they nodded. Their shoulders dropped, relaxing a little more. When Catra asked if they wanted to put on their shirt again, Adora nodded their affirmation to that plan. Catra let them get dressed again and briefly left to throw the greasy, stinky rag drenched with days upon days worth of sweat in a basin, adding more than a generous amount of laundry detergent to let it soak for a few hours. They really should look into buying them a second one. It wasn’t cheap, but also Catra couldn’t put a price on her partners mental- and physical, well-being. She’d look at the budget; Adora might protest but...

In short order Catra returned to the couch, settling in next to Adora. They murmured for a moment about movie selection, before she waved it off, encouraging her partner to put on whatever would make their heart happy. That was her sole focus; Adora’s comfort and just being with them. Okay, as she continued to sit next to them, feeling their warm and calloused hands caressing her thigh up and down, getting higher with time passing maaaaybe comfort wasn't her sole focus...

Adora –never one known to sit still for hours with no complaint– found it even more difficult to focus once Catra began to return the favor by carding her hand along the muscular quad of the delicious hunk they were curled up next to. She did love being a distraction. Every stroke reached higher so much that Adora was beginning to huff, opening their legs slightly, and buck their hips into Catra's hand. It was something Catra found cute, because the big strong goof she was in love with was always weak under the brunette's touch. Cute… And hot , she found herself smiling at the thought. Finally unable to take the heat herself, Catra traced a litany of random designs into Adora's inner thigh, as she rasped out, "Y'know babe, I'm glad you're wearing those sweat shorts."

"How come?" Adora smirked, pulse racing as Catra continued to touch them. They knew exactly what kind of games their love played. The answer was obvious to the both of them. Adora just liked when Catra said it; her voice low and throaty, just dripping with want. And if they knew their girlfriend, that wasn't the only thing dripping by this point.

"Easier access to a certain someone's thighs," Catra purred, her light brushes turning to a tantalizing squeeze. "They also show how you're working out, and I love feeling you against me like that, babe." Catra didn't know what was more appealing; the firmness of Adora's muscles, the contraction of their thighs just for her, or the beginning of those baby patches of blonde hair that made them so euphoric– on their legs, and their baby treasure trail beginning to form shyly– she just loved that bit of her partner like she did the rest of their body and mind. "Jesus, you could just crush me with your thighs and I'd thank you for it," she giggled at the mere excitement of the idea. To be in between Adora's legs, surrounded by the comforting mass of their thighs… Her core was pulsing just at the memories. But what was even better was that if Catra kept playing her cards right, they might make a few new dirty memories this afternoon.

Adora joined her laughter. Laughing with Catra always relaxed them so, a simple joyous comfort they seldom found from any other source. They were certainly feeling tense, but unlike earlier, the tension was low in their stomach and more of a hunger...Particularly as they regarded their oh so sexy girlfriend.

As Adora sprawled out a little, crooking an arm behind their head with a lazy smile, Catra preened inwardly. Oh, she was so winning. Adora only adopted that particular pose when things they were convinced they were about to get some. Her handsome they wasn't wrong on that front, but Catra could afford to be a little coy about it. "Can I lay my head here? For the movie," She added, gesturing towards the tops of Adora's crush-me thighs to demonstrate where she wished to rest.

Sure. Rest.

The short-haired blonde chuckled, feeling more heat build more in their low abdomen. Clever, babe, real subtle. "Sure, for the movie," They retorted, patting their thigh to invite further touch.

Catra happily did so, laying her head on Adora's thigh. She bunched up the loose shorts a small ways, wanting there to be nothing between them (even if they were supposed to be watching a movie, Catra couldn't help but crave the very feel of Adora). Without thinking much about it, she planted a kiss on the bare leg reverently, hand resting on Adora's warm, comforting skin.

"Catra…" Adora hissed. 'Fuck."

Oh. Her they was even more worked up than she originally thought if that small peck garnered that reaction. A new flush zip-tanged straight to her center, near panting at the way Adora had said her name. She followed up the small kiss with another graze of her lips, breathing across the landscape of Adora's muscular thigh. "Is that a plea... or an order?"

“Careful what you wish for,” Adora warned; a hollow threat all around as the blonde squirmed under the barest touches of their one and only. They both knew what was going to happen, but well. It was fun when Adora was in charge.

“Looks like you already know what you want, handsome.” Catra arched a smile as she saw Adora’s hips raised once more, the blonde so obviously wanting Catra’s mouth to move just a little more south of its current position. As far as the brunette was concerned, their enby babe could shove her face wherever they wanted- but Adora was far too polite for that.

Until they weren’t.

The wink that followed surprised Adora, but they decided to play along Catra’s game and played with her hair, running their fingers through the long locks. “Can you handle it?” They raised a brow, a clear challenge they knew their girlfriend would rise to.

“Can you ?” The brunette answered back without skipping a beat.

It sounded like a dumb battle for dominance, but the game and teasing was half the fun for Catra and Adora both. The warning, Adora’s hand in her hair, and the possibility to get fucked on the couch was enough to get her soaking, and now was no exception. Adora’s responding groan added a little something more, a silent “go ahead, I dare you.”

Catra was happy that after all these years, Adora was still the same respectful, shy person who always asked –even silently– to get more intimate with her. If she were honest with herself, she would notice how it made her melt every time, wondering what she did to deserve such a gentle partner. But instead, she pushed the limits of their silly little game and bit Adora’s thigh just hard enough to get the reaction she wanted.

Adora hissed at the nip, jerking their hips without thinking. “Fuck, Catra–” they groaned, pulling her hair to keep her close to them. “What’s the matter with you?”

“Awww, did that hurt my big strong they?” She winked at them, sticking her tongue out, knowing how perfectly incensed the mocking would make them. “Just showing you who’s boss around here.” That should do it, she thought. That should be the last trick to get them to take the lead and fuck her senseless. Like Adora would ever shy away from the chance to prove that they could top her. Exactly what she wanted.

Adora breathed in for a moment, the small snap of pain from their girlfriend’s teeth still smarting, but far more pressing was how badly they wanted this devilish woman. Catra knew how to press all their buttons, but in return? Adora knew just how hard of a press Catra liked. “I’ll show you who’s the boss you brat,” They finally said, pulling her hair and into a deep kiss.

The kiss was hungry, desperate, and both their tongues met and fought– a battle won by Adora. As they deepened the kiss, Catra sat up on her partner, legs around their waist. Without batting an eye, they switched places to have Catra lay on the couch, legs wide open, completely offered to Adora’s will.

This was exactly what she wanted, and nodded her approval to the cerulean eyes asking for permission. As they got the green light to go further, Adora bucked their hips against Catra and grinded on her.

Catra’s throaty moan was loud, and Adora’s groan echoed her, just as loud. The brunette jumped at the warmth that her lover’s hand provided, caressing her up her chest, from under her v-neck shirt.

“Off,” the blonde demanded, lifting the fabric. Catra grinned and took her sweet time removing her red cloth, knowing that a certain pair of eyes paid real close attention to her every move. Silence followed, before Adora whispered “you’re gorgeous,” still amazed after all these years together.

Catra chuckled, ignoring the blush deepening on her cheeks. “Not tired of me yet?”

“Not yet babe,” they cooed. Dork . “I love you, Cat”

“I love you too, ‘Dor,” she simply replied, kissing them. Catra shivered, not knowing if it was due to the cold air on her bare skin or the gentle contact of Adora’s hands on her breasts. “Now can you please go down on me?”

Adora stopped, looking at her right in the eyes. “Did you just say ‘ please ’?”

Of course you dummy. But I also know what you’re asking now, Catra thought to herself.

“Yes. Please Adora,” she insisted, wrapping her legs around them and squeezing tight. “I need you.”

“Need me what?” they said.

“I need you to fuck me, right here, right now. Please, babe…” she implored, her hand pulling their face closer to her chest. Catra needed to be touched, and she needed to be kissed, and she wanted that fast .

"Bossy and needy– oh my, Catra." They said. Adora was always a teaser and, thankfully for Catra, a preacher: with one gesture, their hand unclipped her laced black bra –a push-up today, and the brunette was thankful she'd picked that one this morning– kissing her at the same time. Catra's hips jerked at the expert move, and she needed more.

Luckily for her, Adora provided the silent demand. The blonde's free hand landed on her butt, and they pulled her with a mix of force and gentleness, having her core hump on their thigh and sending jolts of need between her legs. And this was increasingly frustrating for the Latina.

"Adora, I said please ." This silly little word meant a lot to Catra: she said please as often as she said sorry.

"And I heard you all these times. Let me tease my girlfriend properly."

"Hurry," she hissed. Catra was never a patient one, and Adora loved messing with her regarding that silly little detail.

They hummed in delight, savoring each of Catra's impatient huffs and despaired thrusts on their thigh. "You're always so good to me," they said reverently. They peppered Catra's chest with kisses, lips humming on her smooth olive skin, Catra's warmth contrasting with Adora's callused hands on her bare chest. Even after years being together, they still managed to give her goosebumps with just a touch at the right place and time. "I can't believe you're mine," they added between kisses.

They didn't need an answer to this, and simply took one of Catra's nipples in their mouth, tongue playing with the hardening peak.

"Fuck," the brunette shivered. She loved the way her partner always took the time to praise her, claim her, and take control of the situation. One of Adora's hands, cupping the breast that wasn't worshipped by their tongue, lowered between Catra's legs, teasing her through the fabric of her skin tight leggings, only to meet dampened cloth– really, Catra was almost ashamed to be so wet already. Without thinking, she spread her legs to give more room to Adora's touch, show them she's theirs, and theirs only. Catra sighed as she heard a soft pop, followed by the cold grasp of air on her nipple. Quickly, two fingers started tweaking the hard point, leaving Catra a whimpering mess. More…

Her toned stomach – all these painful years of gymnastics were worth the defined abs she'd earned – was peppered with kisses, each second of skin-on-skin contact being a wordless promise that she'd have one hell of a good time.

"You're so beautiful Catra," Adora added, inhaling Catra's scent. She didn't have time to answer though, as they dived right between her legs.

"Jesus fuck!" she yelped, which made them chuckle, but didn't stop them from circling her clit with their tongue. It was a trick Adora remembered Catra loved: toying with her clit once, and tease her some more. Instead she had been teased too much already, and she needed their god damn tongue now . Instinctively, she grabbed their hair and pulled so they could stay between her thighs. Adora groaned with arousal, hands locked on Catra's thigh.

"You like that, don't you, Cat?" they hummed with delight, lips caressing and kissing her core.

"No, Idiot. You're torturing m–otherfuck!" she interrupted herself as a certain someone kept toying with her clit, peppering it with kisses. This had to be one of their stupid self-challenges, have Catra swear as much as possible. Which was embarrassingly working.

Their pace changed though, Adora's tongue alternating between making slow circles and sucking her clit– taking their sweet time and enjoying each second of Catra's hips bucking in their mouth. And it felt so good to Catra, feeling the blonde's warmth around her, above her, making the right moves to drive her crazy in the best of ways, whimpering their name, the tension between her legs growing.

Flashes of heat ran through her body. Adora's face was flashing red, growing hotter as Catra got closer to the sweet release of the orgasm that was about to –finally– happen.

Adora tightened their grip on Catra's thighs, pulling her closer to their mouth. They could feel Catra's legs trembling, her desperate bucks against them, and Adora did their best to fasten the pace. When they added a finger inside her, Catra pushed her head back on the armrest. It was almost too much – her swollen bud pulsating in their mouth, her inner walls craving Adora's fullness and Adora's moans vibrating against her… "Adora please …" she begged. She couldn't say she needed to come, but her body said enough. It was at Adora's mercy– proving that point by adding another finger inside her, her body more than ready to take it. This was what sent Catra on the edge, and when her body finally gave in. Her whole body tensed, instinctively scratching Adora's scalp, pulling them closer to her core. Catra gasped for air, and yelped "Adora, fuck… Yes, yes, yes Adora…" as if her life depended on it. It did somehow, as she tried her hardest to breathe, and also not kill her partner. Flashes of heat echoed the pulses between her legs, her wetness dripping messily on Adora's chin, more, way more wetness than usual, but that didn't seem to bother them, on the contrary. Catra, on the other side, was mortified.

"Oh my god…"

"You can call me Handsome," Adora smirked, locking their gaze with Catra's, who suddenly palmed her face to hide from that cocky blonde jock. She'll never hear the end of it, she knows it. She'll be labelled as that girlfriend who squirted on their face forever.

"Oh fuck me."

"That a plea or a demand?" they retorted, shit-eating grin on their face still.

"Don't ruin it," Catra just groaned. She could barely feel her legs, still panting from that blissful orgasm, smooth olive skin beginning to mark where Adora tightened their grip. She sat up at the sight, genuine disbelief on her face. " Aw, come on!"

Her partner, eyebrows lifted and mouth shaped in a O at the tiny marks, shook their head back to reality and started kissing the tiny bruises softly. "I'll kiss it better," they said between two bruises. "Even if I like marking you as mine."

“Is this what it’s all about? Showing off I belong to you? A ring would do, you know” she remarked, hoping the big bad angry eyes she was making would hide the hopeful smile at the thought of marrying Adora. This would be a topic to explore further together, later…

Of course Catra would pretend to be annoyed. But deep down, Adora knew she didn’t want to show she wouldn’t mind going further in their relationship. It showed, at the display of her half-hidden shy smile, her cheeks reddening at the mention of a ring. Adora grinned back. The ring was safely hidden in a secret pocket of their jacket –stitched for the occasion with the help of their friends– and was waiting for the perfect occasion . All they needed now was to plan the perfect date… Adora kissed Catra’s thigh again, hoping their cover wouldn’t be blown. Kiss now, plan later …

“Hey stud, as much as I love being a pillow princess, I’d like to touch you too,” the brunette said. “If that’s okay with you,” she added with a soft voice.

Adora, feeling the pang of discomfort at the idea of being touched, hid their face in Catra’s body. Perfectly manicured hands –that was Catra’s signature look. Always sharp, almost feline in some ways– scratched their messy blonde locks. Patience and understanding in a comforting gesture, they were always so relieved Catra and they didn’t need words to understand each other.

“You know,” Catra started with a shaky voice, which made Adora look up, “There’s something I’ve been thinking about.”

“You always think about stuff Cat,” they just answered, because they didn’t know where this was going.

“Shut up,” she squealed and crossed her arms, a sudden blush taking over her face. “When Fuma and I were shopping the other day she bribed me into a sex shop and they’d just received that new toy. I saw it and bought it… And yeah, I think you’ll like the new addition to our collection.” Stars above, Catra was so beautiful she was flustered. “It’s in the bedroom, so how about we move the hot stuff to a comfier place? And if you don’t like it you can always give it to someone’s Secret Santa at the office.”

They giggled at the idea but nodded. Just seeing didn’t mean they’d have to do anything besides servicing their girlfriend today…

The two partners left the couch in its (poor) state and walked towards the bedroom. Catra, still naked, rolled her hips in a tantalizing way for the few feet separating them from the bedroom. Adora believed it was on purpose to be that sexy, but they didn’t mind. Walking behind her was a treat, really. As Catra passed the frame, she turned back to Adora and offered her hand to an unsure blonde. “You coming?” she asked with eyes screaming “I love you”.

Adora took her hand in theirs and was led to their king size bed as Catra reached out their old, green US backpack on the bottom shelf of their wardrobe. They smirked: every single queer probably had that backpack that contained all the kinkiest items one could think of, and Catra and them weren’t an exception.

The brunette was holding a new dildo in her hand, one Adora has never seen before. It was double-sided and looked like a feeldoe, but… different too. The skin color was matching Adora’s, with the tip slightly redder and– “Oh,” Adora gasped, noticing the small hole. “A squirting feeldoe.”

“Wanna hold it?”

Adora nodded once again, curiosity taking the best of them. Catra put it in their hands and rumbled in the backpack again, letting the blonde jock investigate.

It was erect like every feeldoe, rather hard –good to go both ways, which was nice– but was covered in a soft silicone tissue which felt almost like organic skin. It seemed reactive to warmth and movement, as it responded well to the few tentative strokes Adora was giving.

“I was waiting for the perfect opportunity to show you this… It’s charged if you wanna… You know.” Catra offered, face redder than Adora’s.

“Can I… Can I try it?” they asked. “Please?”

“Of course hun, that’s why I bought it,” the brunette smiled fondly. “I have a question, though.”

“What’s up?”

She got closer to Adora, pushing them on the bed at a teasingly slow pace. The temptress was close enough to have her skin radiate warmth against Adora’s body, and her breathing caressed the blonde’s locks in a way that made them shiver. The rasp of her voice was lower than usual, both in volume and pitch. “Can I help you wear it?”

They gulped. Having Catra kneeling between their legs, touching their cock… Was more than appealing. It was hot, and maybe they wouldn’t mind being touched that way. Adora’s thighs opened at Catra’s gentle caress. She smiled at them, sparks of happiness and arousal in her mismatching golden brown and cerulean eyes. “So far I would take that as a yes… Am I right, Handsome?”

They nodded back. Who in their right mind would refuse that kind of offer?

“That’s what I thought,” she purred, playing with the fabric of their shorts. “This needs to go. I wanna see my thembo’s body…” she said. “The socks too,” she pointed, and Adora obeyed the demand.

The socks gone, Catra lowered their shorts slowly. The chill air entered in contact with Adora’s skin, who shivered. It wasn’t a bad feeling, on the contrary: it was just a sign they were about to fuck their hot girlfriend, and they shivered with eagerness, not cold. Catra pointed Adora’s clothes again, this time at their boxers –a simple black model with a suggestive banana print– and they nodded their approval once again, resulting in the brunette lowering them down with her teeth.

Catra, kneeling down the floor, lowered the fabric and removed it, keeping her gaze locked with Adora’s. The sight was more than appealing: it was ridiculously hot, if you asked them. The sweet mix of yearning and the myriad of kisses coming back up Adora’s legs left them panting, Catra enjoying the effect she had on the blonde.

The Latina took her time to tease them, alternating peppering their inner thighs with kisses and scratching lightly. Given the length of the new toy, she had to slide a finger inside them, and minutes later, when they were ready, tentatively add a second to help them put on the shorter part of the feeldoe. The tension building up between Adora’s legs had them become increasingly more aware of Catra’s effect on them, feeling their core dampen under the brunette’s touch. Catra winked at them with a wide smirk before she dived lips first into Adora’s wetness.

“Shit,” they hissed. “Feels good… You feel good Catra…”

A soft moan vibrated within their core. “Ready for it?” she asked, head lifting slowly.

Adora nodded. They gave Catra the cock after she got back from picking something in the backpack.

“This is gonna be cold,” she warned in a soft voice. The soft pop of the lube tube resonated, followed by the discrete spurt. Slowly, her fingers teased Adora’s entrance once again, coating the shorter end of the cock with lube. With what was left of the lube, Catra pushed two fingers once, two times inside them to coat their slit, and smiled with satisfaction. “Shouldn’t be a problem putting your cock on… You’re soaked.”

“That’s what you get for teasing me and coming so loud everytime,” Adora blushed.

Catra scoffed, more amused by Adora’s frustration than anything else, and stroked the smaller end of the feeldoe to make it as easy to take on as possible. Adora placed themself on the edge of the bed, legs wide open, offered to Catra’s sight and moves. And there was something arousing about it, to be under her complete control, somehow. Frustrating, also: they wanted to take the lead here.

Catra pushed and pulled the toy slowly, teasing them. It was out of question for her to go all the way in one single push and possibly hurt them. Adora fell on their elbows to make it easier to take the smaller end of the dildo, and when the bulge finally popped fully inside them, they couldn’t help but groan with pleasure. The dildo stretched their inner walls in the best of ways, and the fullness that followed took them some time to adjust to. Catra waited patiently, still on her knees– she had a dreamy smile as she looked at her lover.

“How’s that feel?”

“Amazing,” they smiled with emotion. They looked down and saw the extension of themself, and it was a little overwhelming at how weirdly good they felt compared to the usual ‘meh’ they thought of themself. The blonde wiped the tears from the corner of their eye, knot already formed in their throat. “I’m sorry. It’s so dumb to cry for that… It’s just a plastic toy.”

“Hey stud,” Catra stood up and rushed to sit beside them. “It’s not dumb at all. Does it feel right wearing it?” she asked. Adora nodded, crying even more now. “Then that’s what counts. Plastic toy or not…” she planted a kiss on their jaw, “if it makes you happy wearing it then I’m happy too.” Catra took Adora’s cock in her hand, and stroked up and down slowly. Adora bucked their hips and moaned at the feeling. The silicone skin was warming up already, and they could feel absolutely everything, like it was part of themself. Catra’s grip on their cock, the smaller end clenched inside them, their clit humping on the ridges for a complete stimulation… Catra’s warmth, her fingers clenching the length.

“Hands off me,” she demanded. “I want to tease you some more before you fuck me, so keep it together now.”

Adora couldn’t deny the order, and withdrew away from her, suddenly realizing their hand were caressing her thigh. Catra took advantage of her partner getting comfortable to stand up and put on some music to set in the mood. Still naked, she rolled her hips to close the curtains and switch on the bedside lamp. Suddenly, the room became cozy and more prone to sensual activities, and she grinned at Adora.

They gulped.

She had that face when she had a plan in mind, and would do anything to reach her goals– today was about to be one of those days.

The song playing inspired Catra to slow dance above Adora, teasing them with a few caresses here and there. Adora didn’t know what was the hottest– her wolfish grin, or her butt grinding against them, or maybe her walking away as soon as they were trying to touch her.

Catra’s eyes lit up by the bedside lamp were sparkling, staring at Adora’s ocean eyes in a carnal manner. The brunette had a wonderful time slow dancing in front of her partner, teasing them by touching herself right in front of them. With a wicked smile, Catra teased her nipples, hardening them in front of the blonde. Swaying her hips, the temptress winked one last time before she turned her back to Adora. Slowly, she leaned on Adora's thighs and grinded her butt against the blonde's cock. Back and forth, the motion was slow and steady. Catra knew what she was doing, and she was enjoying each second of it. Adora, too: feeldoe or bio cock, they would've been hard in both cases already. Catra was so indecent grinding against them like that, thick locks of hair falling on her back, dampened heat between her legs humping…

The brunette moaned as she entered in contact with her lover's crotch, so ready to be fucked already– and all Adora needed was to fill that pussy. But Catra had other plans in mind. She turned to face her lover again and licked their inner thigh, eyes still daring them to take the lead. She tentatively tried to lift the hoodie they still had on, but pushed her hand away, feeling ashamed still.

Catra didn't push and got on her knees, smiling patiently at Adora. She grabbed their cock with confidence and started stroking, playing with the extension of their body. They couldn't help but hiss at the contact of Catra's hand wrapped around them, and she moaned in return– each stroke up and down touching the right spot each time for Adora.

To say Adora was needy was an understatement. And it didn't help that Catra wrapped her mouth around their cock, licking the tip slowly. From the tip, she licked her way down Adora's cock, licking the base and tasting Adora's wetness.

"Holy fuck Catra!"

She moaned with satisfaction, mouth still busy between their legs. A soft pop resonated and Adora could feel their pulsating need rise with Catra's moves. She looked up with an innocent smile but devilish eyes. "What's wrong, babe? You know I like to drive you crazy…"

"I–I can feel it… I can feel you…"

She kept kissing and stroking and touching Adora's shaft with expertise, moaning between each kiss planted that sent shivers down Adora's spine. "Oh yeah, what a nightmare."

They groaned. It was almost too much, feeling her play with Adora's cock, licking her lips and savoring each second of how needy they were already. "You're such a brat."

Such a brat , they called her. Catra smirked, her grin only widening at the name. Those hungry eyes screamed Adora's need to fuck her senseless, and despite her first climax already she felt soaked enough for a second round already. "Your brat," she added. "You just taste so good, 'Dor…" sweet as honey . Adora's scent was sharp with sweat –that damn hoodie's fault– but it wasn't something Catra was complaining about right now. The hoodie would eventually leave when Adora feels more comfortable with themself. That was her goal, and playing the wild cat seemed to be working on her lover. She decided she would test the waters a little further, maybe see if Adora responded well to some more teasing.

She fastened the pace of her hand, stroking faster. Adora squealed, desperate and craving for more, and was growing frustrated she didn't let them take her. "Attaboy," she winked. "You look so good when you want to touch me."

Adora couldn't hold it any longer– they needed some relief. "Catra…" they warned. No more being patient now. They needed more, here, now. And Catra was about to give it to them. She just needed them to let go of their last barriers…

"You remember our codes love," she said. "Red for stop, orange for uncomfortable…"

"Yellow for willing to try, green for go." They completed. "I really need to fuck you."

Catra nodded. "Don't be gentle then," she told them, laying on Adora's side, legs wide open. "You know I can take it."

This was all it took to shatter the last seed of doubt and discomfort in Adora's mind.

The blonde kissed her roughly, body on top of hers. And it felt so good– Adora finally let go of their own restraints. Carnal energy irradiated from them. Their pupils completely darkened with desire, Adora's tongue played with Catra's, but soon turned into a battle of dominance. The heat between the brunette's thighs rose, and she craved contact with her partner's skin. She could feel the heavy shaft grind on her entrance. She wanted– No. She needed to be fucked hard and fast. Catra slid a hand between their bodies to take their cock and slide it inside, but Adora's hand stopped her midstream.

"No," they growled, hips bucking back. "You don't get to tease me and have it your way without payback."

Fuck , Catra whimpered, wetness flowing more abundantly between her thighs. Adora held her wrist firmly and grabbed the second, lifting her arms above her head. Catra was now hands tied by Adora's grasp, at their complete will. She bit her lower lip, back arching in their direction.

"Acting bossy with me," they kissed her neck with a grunt. "When you're the one in trouble."

"Oh, I'm in trouble?" Catra smirked.

"Brat," they blurted. Adora was barely vocal in bed, aside from letting escape a few moans and huffs. Hearing them being so vocally frustrated was music to Catra's ears, and as delightful as it was new. She hissed as their teeth sunk in the crook of her neck, soon replaced by a light suction. This would leave a hickey, and the thought of bearing Adora's mark on her neck was more than arousing.

"Fuck… 'Dor I have a meeting tomorrow," she moaned.

They lifted their head, raising a brow. "Should've thought about it before you toyed with me, babe…" With their free hand, they cupped Catra's breast, thumb hardening her nipple. Their touch left a trail of goosebumps on her bare skin, their warmth contrasting with the cold air on her chest. Their hand lowered at a painfully slow place, brushing her toned stomach, and removed their hand, ghost of their warmth still present on her pulsating core.

Catra expected fingers to tease her entrance, but stifled a moan when Adora ran the head over her slit, their dick rubbing on her clit. Catra shuddered with expectation and eagerness, and reflexively bucked her hips in Adora's. They were careful enough to move back as she tried to hump on them, despite the evident need in their eyes.

They made sure to pin Catra on the bed with all their weight, spreading her legs open to make more room for them. Catra could tell they were rock hard even under that feeldoe, and it was taking all of their self-control to keep teasing her. With their dick coated in Catra's wetness, they started pushing the head inside but never fully went in, to the brunette's despair.

"Adora… I need you...."

"You need me to do what?" they groaned, readjusting themself on top of her.

"To fuck me. I need you to fuck me," she pleaded, fingernails digging impaitently into their back.

"There's still something missing, babygirl…"

“ Please fuck me!” she emphasized, growing impatient. Adora smirked at the sight, their cock playing with her entrance once again.

“You’ll be good to me?” they asked, pulling out.

“Yes!”

“You’ll let me take what’s mine?” they pressed down onto her.

“Yes!”

“You better be,” they warned, and bucked their hips with one strong thrust.

The rough push sent shivers down Catra’s back. Her inner walls stretched in the most delightful way, thankful Adora gave her time to adjust to the intruding fullness inside of her. “Fuck, you’re big…” she hissed.

“I– fuck ,” The blonde moaned in response, lost in the dazzling sensation of finally being inside their lover. “You feel so good…”

And so did they. Every inch of them going back and forth was almost overwhelming. Adora’s sharp jawline was near Catra's ear, and hearing them panting and huffing with each thrust felt dazzling. The sensual soundtracks kept playing, slow rhythm establishing the pace Adora would go through… But minutes passed and soon Catra craved for more . She'd adjusted to her lover's girth, and as much as she loved the slow dance, she bucked her hips, desperate for more contact. "Babe… Faster," she demanded.

"Stop… Doing that," Adora hissed. “I can feel everything…”

Catra smirked even brighter. “Can feel that, too?” she purred, clenching as tight as she could around Adora’s cock. Their hips missed a movement and their body crashed on Catra’s. She echoed their moan, pleasantly surprised at the reaction. It was so hot to see Adora being themself with her, their shoulders lowering, and their face letting go of their frown. For a second she expected them to hide in the crook of her neck, but their dark, hungry eyes came back even wider.

Then everything went so fast– the blonde flipped her on the bed, her backside now offered to them. Adora made sure Catra's face was planted in the pillow that used to be in front of her. With the brunette's thick wavy locks in their hand, and despite the rough play, nothing happened.

"Green," she muffled.

Still nothing.

"Adora…"

A loud clap resonated as they spanked her, quickly followed by her very vocal gasp. "I told you to be good Catra," they explained, rubbing her buttcheek. "And you keep being a brat."

"I'm sorry," she retorted, not sorry at all.

"We're gonna do things my way now. No talking, no teasing." Another spank, lighter this time. "On all fours, now."

Anything for you, Catra didn't dare to say. She obeyed their demand, her slick walls ready to take Adora's cock again. She could feel how needy they were, readjusting their position behind her. Catra leaned her hips forward. She knew she should be patient, but the teasing had been going on for so long…

“Look at you… So desperate for my cock…”

The Latina didn't know who they were whispering to, themself or her. She didn't mind though, as the sensation of fullness slowly popped back inside her. Adora’s hands grasped her hips and locked them tight against them, their thick cock back where it belonged, inside . The indecent dance of their bodies in sync, skin on skin, was intoxicating. The muscle spasms, Adora’s hips jerking as they got lost in Catra’s body wrapped all around them… Feels so good , Catra couldn’t manage to phrase, but could be heard in the cracks of her raspy moans. She couldn't help but be aroused by her hair suddenly being pulled and Adora rutting behind her, the heat of another orgasm threatening to explode in the following minutes.

Adora kept thrusting deeper and harder, muttering obscenities behind her. It felt so good, and Adora was so good at this. Years of being together meant that above the deep connection, the blonde jock knew how to please her, which way to thrust to sent Catra on the edge, and they proved it again today. She loved it when Adora had it their way, giving her all they got, taking physical control over her. They never stopped giving, even when they were tired and their body aching like now. She knew their body by heart, and noticed the wobbly legs from fucking her so hard.

Their pace fastened and Catra heard some ruffle behind. Then something falling on the floor. Finally, the hoodie was gone. Her partner felt comfortable enough to get naked around her, and the thought alone sent jolts through her spine. Adora didn't grab her hair again, but instead placed a lock behind her ear. Catra could hear Adora's panting breath more intensely, their warmth radiating closer and closer.

"You're so fucking hot from there… but I need to see you come for me baby."

Another rush of wetness ran down Catra’s legs. It was a miracle she hadn’t flooded the bed yet. She whimpered as Adora pulled out, selfishly wanting to keep their cock inside, but shifted on her back as she was asked to.

When she saw her partner’s red face, Catra couldn’t help but grin. “Hey Adora.”

“Hey Catra,” they answered, smiling fondly.

Their signature greeting, as their friends liked to say about Catra and Adora. These were the first words they liked to tell each other, and they all took different tones depending on the situations but ultimately gave the same feeling for Catra– home . It was the words she liked to shout at them when something exciting was happening, when she was feeling sassy, when she needed them to fix something she'd broken again, or when she just needed a hug. This was just another proof –voiced, this time– that they shared that deep connection, two little words that were just so much stronger than I love you's.

And that just meant the world to both of them.

Adora positioned themself above Catra and kissed her slowly. The salty taste of sweat was there but ultimately the kiss had that particular taste that was ultimately Adora's. They smiled as they kissed, Catra's hand framing their cheek to keep them as close to her as possible.

The blonde lifted her legs and put them on their broad shoulders and Catra found herself under Adora's control again. They buried their length inside her again and both gasped at the contact.

"You're so tight…"

"It's all for you, babe," she whispered, kissing Adora again.

Catra took Adora's shaft back and forth with ease. Seeing them from that angle accentuated their muscular shape, their look of frustration as they prevented themself from coming too fast. With each thrust, Adora's body rubbed on Catra's swollen clit. She wouldn't be able to hold it much longer, and neither would they.

"Adora…" she pressed, her nails scratching their shoulders and upper back. "Please…"

"Say it," they huffed, pumping as hard as possible.

"Fuck– I need to come… Adora!" Catra whined. "Please!"

“Come for me baby…” was the last thing Catra heard from Adora’s husky voice before the tension that had been building up for what felt like hours finally burst into waves of pleasure.

Catra’s back arched and her hips bucked in Adora’s, needing them closer. And it felt so good that it almost hurt– but she needed more . “Adora! Fuck – inside! Please come– ah!”

Finally, Adora tensed and released a loud groan, crashing down Catra’s body under them. The blonde slid a hand on Catra’s right and found the pump laying in bed, shaken by all the ruffles but still triumphantly there, and squeezed hard. Thick spurts of warm fluid splashed inside of her, pushing Catra to her climax. Adora kept thrusting hard as long as they could, selfishly rocking their hips to outstretch their own pleasure. That’s it babe… You can take what’s yours…

The blonde kept muttering Catra’s name, unable to say anything else.

Eventually, the frantic rutting slowed down to lazy humps and died down, leaving the couple exhausted. Catra smiled fondly at the sight of her partner, face planted in her boobs, all sweaty and panting– and most importantly naked . This was her victory for the day. The brunette affectionately scratched their scalp with fingertips, knowing all too well this would make them sleepy. With no surprise, Adora groaned with satisfaction, peppering kisses down Catra’s chest with a lazy grin.

“Hm?”

“Did you plan this all along?”

“Only the making you feel good part. The rest is just a bonus.”

Adora scoffed at her answer. “You…” they moved slightly to meet Cata’s eyes with a loving gaze, “are insufferable.”

“Oh, me?” she purred, feigning innocence.

The blonde kissed her gently. “And you know it,” they insisted.

Each move sent tingling sensations down their still sensitive core as Adora started to move back, but Catra stopped them with a hand on their butt, keeping them close. “Don’t pull out just yet. I like to have you inside.”

Pink colored their cheeks and their smile brightened, sparkles of love in their eyes coming back at their full potential. “How do you get away with all that teasing and getting on my nerves?” they asked, giggling.

“Hah, years of practice,” Catra grinned back. “That, and you love me. Helps plenty.”

“Of course I do,” they chuckled.

“And I love you too,” she simply answered with a smile, kissing them slowly.

Some people say love fades away with time passing, but Catra disagreed with that matter. Love was only a word that people have been trying to define for thousands of years, attempting to frame its definition into something relatable to all. But this feeling was so private and intimate, and took so many forms… To her, love was in this pair of blue orbs looking at her with such fondness. It was in that mug of coffee offered in bed every morning. It was in the kisses stolen at a friend’s party before anyone noticed the couple was gone for too long already. It was in the tears they shared on some nights. In the rare moments of tension that made her realize how deeply attached she was to her partner. Love was there when she offered support to help her best friend and lover to get closer to who they really were, to order them euphoria-inducing items. Sometimes love was just there, and sometimes love was earned. And she thought, as she was sharing a kiss with the love of her life– it was all worth it.

One more thing about love– Sometimes…

It took years of practice.
