Berserker

by Xenakis (IceRosesCrown)

Summary

Adora feels like she's a bit tense during sex, too worried about doing things right and whatnot, so she comes up with an idea to fix that… But keeps it as a "surprise" for Catra.

Or

Taller than before, there stood Adora- No, not Adora. She-Ra. An infected She-Ra, her body full of bright red veins and, in her face, a feral smile with sharp fangs.

Notes

The levels of experimental of this fic are impossible to meassure TT-TT

I really really hope you like it, WideGrin BigChin!!! It was a real challenge and I super enjoyed it, I swear >v<

Oh, and it comes with some art!!! :D

When Catra left the room to get ready, she had left Adora handcuffed to the crossbar, already fully naked, except for the leather harness strapped to her body.

They had gotten it custom made for Adora, not too tight, just enough to highlight her form.

And now, she wanted to surprise her. Wanted to see her eyes open wide and her brain completely melt when she walked back in with her new gear…

But the only one with eyes wide open was Catra herself.

Taller than before, there stood Adora- No, not Adora. She-Ra. An infected She-Ra, her body full of bright red veins and, in her face, a feral smile with sharp fangs.

What had happened!?

—A-Adora? Did you touch anything?

—Hey, Catra…

Her voice sounded hoarse.

Strained and guttural.

—He-hey, Love, what-what… happened?

—Come closer, Love…— she only replied.

—A-Adora— Catra called again, worried, yet walking closer. Suddenly, the leather suit she was so proud of felt out of place. —I'm here.

—I'm ready for you— she whispered.

—What? But… you aren't going berserk?

—No…

—Then how…

—Catra— Adora interrupted, her voice sounding almost like a growl. —It's not the same… It's better.

—What do you mean!? Did you do this on purpose!?— Catra asked, sounding betrayed. —Did you do this without telling me!?

—I-I… hoped you'd like it— she explained, now sounding ashamed. —I can… undo it— she assured her, seemingly struggling against something.

Now Catra felt ashamed too.

Looking away, she uttered —Yeah, I- Please undo that and let's talk, yes?

Catra sat on the bed and looked down, took a deep breath, and closed her eyes.

It took her a moment, but soon enough, Adora was back there.

—Ca-can you unlock the cuffs?— she asked, her voice back to normal.

—Oh- Yeah, so-sorry.

Once free, they both sat on the bed, not daring to look at each other at first.

—I… wanted to give you a surprise.

—I know, Love, but… I wasn't expecting- How did you do that?

—Remember I asked Entrapta for those handcuffs?

—Wait. You asked her to infect them!?— Catra guessed.

—Yes… and no. I was curious about the possibility of controlling the virus, since she said it's just… coding. She said she could do that, and, uh, I may have mentioned wanting to, uh…

—To use it for sex?— Catra completed, seeing her blush furiously.

—Yeah.

—Adora, I did tell you Entrapta's experimental sex toys don't sit well with me— she reminded her, albeit smirking.

—I-I know, but…

—But?

—We tested it just enough to make sure I have control of myself at all times.

—Really? Did you test whether you stay in control when highly aroused? During and after orgasm? — Catra questioned her, brow raised.

—So you don't like it— Adora sighed, head hanging low.

—No- I-I mean, I do like it, trust me. But… I'm scared to lose you… or, well, I don't want you to feel guilty if you lose consciousness and hurt me.

—Tha-that's why I asked her to put the virus in the handcuffs! So I will necessarily be… you know, restrained.

—You know those can't be strong enough for She-Ra and much less for berserker She-Ra.

—Actually…

—Adora, what are those handcuffs made of?

—E-Entrapta says it's some super hard First Ones' Tech, and…

—Okay, wait, stop. Why didn't you tell me!?— Catra insisted, standing up and giving her a pained look.

—I swear I only wanted to surprise you, a-and… I didn't want to, like, end up arguing like now.

—Adora, you should have told me. You know how it is, without trust, how can we- Ah… I know you trust me, and you were only thinking about surprising me, alright?— she went on, making herself calm down and sitting back next to Adora. —But I need you to keep surprises to a minimum in this area. Like, new gear and outfits are a good surprise. Entirely new "toys", experimental stuff, that's something we need to agree on.

—You're right— she nodded. —I'm sorry, Catra. I- Well, I understand if you want me to return the cuffs to Entrapta and get regular ones.

—Nah, forget it— Catra dismissed her. —I just want two things: first of all, some kind of fail-safe for that infected berserker mode of yours, so that I can turn it off if necessary.

—Of course. She surely can do that.

—And second, I don’t want you to destroy that harness. So don’t turn into She-Ra while using it— she laughed.

—Deal— Adora giggled.

As agreed, the couple went to Dryl the following day, and Catra shared all her concerns regarding the infected handcuffs.

Once Entrapta confirmed there is absolutely no way Adora can accidentally break free, not even as an aroused, infected She-Ra, Catra seemed quite relieved. However, she still asked for a way to "turn off" the infected state herself just in case; she wouldn't feel comfortable otherwise.

The Princess agreed without hesitation, apologized for keeping it from Catra, and offered to craft them some new gear too, as compensation for the oversight.

That way, after a few days, the couple was ready to try again, no surprises this time, and better equipped.

Naked again, save for the new harness, the size of She-Ra, she let Catra handcuff her to the crossbar like the last time.

—Now, wait until I'm back before activating it, Adora— she requested. —I'll go put on my suit and be back. Can you do me that favour?— she asked, teasing.

—Of course— She-Ra smirked. —Don't take long, though. Wouldn't want me to fall asleep, right?

—You better not, Princess— Catra laughed, already leaving the room and heading for the bathroom. Soon enough, she returned, and leant against the door-frame, posing enticingly with her leather suit on. —Hey, Adora…

After swallowing, she stammered —Do-do I- Uh, a-activate…

—Now you can, yes— Catra nodded, smirking as she approached her partner step by step, reveling on Adora's expression.

How she had waited for this reaction. To see the desire in her partner's eyes and that spark of lust.

Flustered, She-Ra shook herself out of her trance and tapped the upper left cuff to let the controlled virus infect her.

Her reddened face was soon replaced by a feral expression, and Catra noticed her fangs became just slightly sharper.

—Come here, Love— She-Ra growled. —Let me taste you.

—Now, now— she replied. —I will decide when you're allowed to bite me, Dor— she pointed out, heading to a closet from where she pulled out the matte-black leather muzzle Entrapta had made for

She-Ra. —Be nice and stand still while I fasten this, alright?

With only a growl and a smirk as reply, Catra approached and secured the muzzle, kissing it where She-Ra's mouth would be.

Pleased with the sight, the magicat bit her lip for a moment before deciding her next move.

Time to tease her a bit.

With carefully controlled strength, Catra brushed her claws down She-Ra's chest between the harness' belts, lower until reaching her abdomen, and pressed her hands against her firm muscles while kissing and lightly biting She-Ra's right nipple.

—Catra…-- she growled, closing her eyes.

She wanted more, but the magicat wouldn't give it to her just yet.

Humming and closing her eyes too, she moved her hands to the sides of She-Ra's torso, trailing the edges of her muscles, and moved to the left nipple.

Catra had been wanting to feel Adora like this, as She-Ra, to prove she could love that form too.

She wanted to get rid of her hatred for She-Ra, of her fear.

She wanted to make She-Ra hers.

She wouldn't dare ask for it just yet, but since Adora came up with the idea on her own…

Obviously, the last time she wasn't ready, but now she had had time to properly prepare… and it was going better than expected.

At least, until Catra's hands felt She-Ra's body tense.

Opening her eyes, she took a step back and noticed the harness was at its limit.

—A-Adora, return. Transform back— she pleaded.

—Not yet… I'm…— she gasped, overwhelmed by her arousal.

It was like being drunk.

—It's gonna break, Adora. Return now— Catra insisted, already reaching for a small device on the night-stand next to the bed.

She really didn't want to use that fail-safe so soon, but…

The harness snapped.

Catra cursed under her breath, no longer hesitant and rather furious.

—No-- She-Ra whined, lowering her head.

—I told you it would break! But you never listen!— Catra barked, enraged.

Immediately transforming back, Adora looked up at her with pain, making her realize her mistake and cover her mouth.

—I'm… sorry.

—I-I didn't mean… Ah… Don't apologize— Catra sighed, feeling frustrated. She was going to sit on the bed, but remembered the handcuffs. —Let me just… release you.

Both felt ashamed now.

Adora took off the muzzle while Catra finally sat on the bed, and then joined her, albeit looking away.

—You're right. I didn't listen— she admitted.

—No, you were- I mean, it was still wrong to… yell at you, Adora. You weren't being stubborn; you were in ecstasy, aroused, and I suddenly wanted you to… stop it. A-and now the harness is…-- she began, but trailed off.

—Catra… Can I ask why this is affecting you so much?— Adora asked, concerned.

Now, that was a great question.

—I think- I'm a bit sensitive or something, I don't know— she sighed. —I just want things to work between us despite everything that happened. It's just a harness, but it's also- I feel like our relationship could snap like that too if I do anything wrong— she admitted, looking away.

Adora placed a hand on her shoulder and waited for Catra to lean closer.

It took her a moment, but she finally did, and so Adora hugged her, feeling her warm tail curl around her leg.

A few things came back to her as she silently held Catra, and then she realized what the underlying matter was.

They had originally bought the first harness from Entrapta specifically to distract Catra from the scars in Adora's back, as she hated seeing them.

She never scratched or bit too hard because she loathed the idea of hurting her again, leaving more lasting marks.

—I understand— she finally said. —But, remember, Catra. I chose you. As long as you choose me too, I know things will work.

—Yeah, you're right— the magicat nodded, holding back tears. —I'm sorry.

—If you really are, then please let's do something because I can't wait any more to fuck you in that suit— Adora laughed.

—Oh, really?

—Yes! I promise we'll get a better harness for next time. Now, just…

—Of course, Adora— Catra smiled. —Take charge now— she nodded, moving to sit on her lap and kiss her.

Lust reignited, Adora let her hands wander around the lustrous leather covering Catra's body, until her fingers found the opening between her legs.

They kissed desperately as Adora thrust her fingers into her partner, roughly, increasingly faster, reaching deeper each time until she made Catra break the kiss and moan loudly.

Throwing her head back, she gasped and shut her eyes, moaning Adora's name and holding tightly onto her.

She didn't stop until Catra was satisfied, breathless, and only then did tenderness replace roughness. Adora laid her in bed and knelt to lick her carefully, occasionally kissing and sucking, letting her partner recover while still quenching her thirst for her.

When the couple visited Entrapta once more, this time asking for something sturdier than a leather harness, the Princess was delighted to take the challenge.

She proposed crafting a new one with the same material as the handcuffs, but more flexible, and wrapped in leather so it would look and feel like a regular harness. It would take her at least a week, but they didn't hesitate to accept the offer and patiently waited for it.

It'd be worth the wait.

They arrived home with the new harness feeling giddy. With teenage-like excitement, they could hardly wait to fulfill their fantasy at last.

As soon as they closed the door, Catra jumped to kiss Adora for a moment.

—Should we get rid of these clothes?

—You bet— Catra smirked. —I'll get ready and meet you in our room.

—Don't leave me waiting for too long— Adora requested, before planting a quick kiss on her lips.

With that, each went their way and quickly prepared.

Catra put on her suit once more, while Adora got naked and transformed into She-Ra before fastening the new harness around her torso.

Then, the magicat walked into the bedroom showing off her body, approaching She-Ra step by step, never breaking the eye-contact.

—Ready, Dor?

—Absolutely-- she nodded, blushing. —I can't wait anymore.

Catra let out a dainty laugh and handcuffed She-Ra to the crossbar.

They were getting anxious, but neither wanted to worry the other, so they both told themselves that, this time, it would work.

They had to trust.

—Let me get the muzzle first, and then you can activate it— Catra told her. She-Ra nodded without hesitation and obediently waited for the order. When the muzzle was in place, the magicat finally smirked and told her —Time to set the beast free.

Burning with desire already, She-Ra triggered the infection.

Catra was starting to enjoy the sight, even if a part of her still feared her.

However, nothing like being aroused to forget those fears…

Like the last time, she began teasing She-Ra, tracing her muscles, carefully brushing her claws down her body, little by little approaching more sensitive areas, drawing low growls from her.

As arousal picked up, Catra could see and feel She-Ra's muscles tense… but the harness held.

Catra smiled softly for a second before lust overtook her.

Bolder now, she kept teasing She-Ra, making her struggle against the handcuffs, growling for more.

That was when the magicat first noticed how, despite She-Ra being massive next to her, there was nothing to fear. She had finally lost that visceral reaction. She knew she was safe, she wouldn't hurt Catra, even if she weren't restrained… and that feeling further aroused her.

While her hands continued to wander around She-Ra's muscles, and her fangs grazed sensitive skin, the magicat deliberately pressed her body closer to her partner, wanting her to feel the leather against her burning skin.

Catra wanted to push the limits of Adora's arousal… and was delighted with the result.

A surge of magic shook She-Ra's body suddenly, surprising the couple for a moment when they noticed what had happened.

—I can… do that?— she growled, breathless.

—I won't complain— Catra smirked. —Who needs a strap when you have that?

Already erect and covered in red veins, She-Ra had summoned a dick of her own.

The magicat bit her lower lip and looked back at her partner with burning desire; she needed it inside her.

—Can I?— She-Ra grumbled.

—You must— Catra scoffed, placing both hands on her shoulders. —Make me scream, Dor.

Focusing all her strength on her hips, She-Ra pushed forward, making her partner whine as she penetrated her. Once the magicat nodded, she began thrusting, trying to find a rhythm, and making an effort to keep the passion from blinding her completely.

Loud moans and delighted screams filled the room; their names echoed between growls and gasps; heated passion fueling them until they ran out of breath…
