Afternoon nap

by machabubblecat

Summary

Adora's just gotten home after being away for a week at a work conference. Both she and Catra have missed each other terribly while they've been apart, but now they're reunited.

aka

smutty, fluffy, couch sex! (with feels) brought to you by Ikea.

Notes

Sooooo I write smut when I'm stressed, and I'm having a bit of difficulty finishing my other, multi-chapter fic. So uh, here's 4k words of very smutty smut (with fluff and feels).

If it helps, this Catra and Adora are in the same AU as the other fic, except here they've been together for like 5-ish years and know each other... really well eyebrow waggle but you don't have to have read the other one first. Enjoy!

See the end of the work for more notes

The quiet click of the door woke Catra from where she was curled up on the sofa. Late afternoon sunbeams warmed her body, and she relished in the cozy feeling. She wasn't nearly awake enough to bother opening her eyes, but she still swiveled her ears in the direction of the noise.

"Ohh!"

Catra chose to ignore the soft cooing, even as it made her heart skip a beat. Nuzzling further into the nest of blankets surrounding her, she mumbled, "Adora?"

"Hi, baby, I'm home."

A familiar weight dropped down next to her, causing her to grumble at the cushions getting displaced. She poked her head out to nudge against Adora's leg, blinking slowly as her girlfriend's face swam into focus.

"Mmf. Missed you," Catra said groggily, letting her head fall back into the blankets. She was unable to keep her eyes open.

A soft kiss between her ears made them twitch.

"I missed you too."

Adora squeezed Catra's shoulder gently, then got up from the couch. "I'm gonna take a shower and wash the airplane smell off of me, be right back."

"Okay," Catra breathed. She smiled to herself as she slipped back into slumber.

The next thing she knew, a warm body was settling behind her on the couch, and the distinct scent of Adora's body wash (she loved the "clean laundry" smell) wove around them. Catra stretched out from head to toes, shuffling backwards to press herself sleepily against her girlfriend.

An arm snaked around Catra's middle, just below where her oversized t-shirt had ridden up a little, and fingers lightly scratched her belly. She felt a feather-soft touch of lips on the back of her neck, which then curled into a smile. "Nice shirt," Adora whispered into Catra's ear. "I love how my stuff looks on you." Her lips began pressing a path along Catra's jawline.

"I told you I missed you," Catra murmured, punctuating her sentence with a yawn. Her tail wrapped around Adora's thigh as they lay back to front on the couch. "How was the conference, and your presentation?"

"Oh, it was fine," came Adora's voice from behind her. "Went really well, actually. But strangely enough, I had a hard time concentrating throughout most of the workshops today," she said coyly. "Any idea why that might have been the case?" The hand beneath the stolen shirt gravitated up Catra's ribs just the tiniest amount, as if by accident.

The reminder of their heated phone conversation late last night, with Catra in their bedroom and Adora hundreds of miles away in her hotel room, each of them gasping into their speakerphones, ignited a jolt of heat low in Catra's belly. She couldn't help twitching a little at the memory, making Adora chuckle into the nape of her neck.

Suddenly more awake, but determined not to give in too easily, Catra feigned ignorance. "Huh, that's weird. No idea why," she said as she arched her back, pushing her butt firmly into Adora's hips. The quick intake of breath in response was gratifying, and Catra smirked. "Maybe I need a refresher."

Adora began kissing up the side of Catra's neck, sucking softly at her pulse point with just a hint of tongue and teeth. It sent shivers up Catra's spine. "That I can do." Adora's voice was low, almost a growl. Her arm tightened around Catra's chest and a hand crept up to knead lightly at the swell of Catra's breast.

Simultaneously, they let out sighs of pleasure, relaxing into one another.

"You feel good," Catra said. She moaned softly and ground back into Adora, trying to press their bodies as close as physically possible.

Adora hummed in agreement. "You do too."

Catra normally liked to think of herself as an autonomous person, not dependent on anyone or anything. But the further she and Adora got into their relationship, the less the idea of needing someone bothered her. At least, as long as that someone was Adora.

Flipping around to face her, Catra dug one hand into the loose, shower-damp hair at the back of Adora's neck, relishing in the fact that it wasn't constrained in a ponytail. Pulling them together, she drew Adora into an open mouthed, messy kiss. Their tongues met in a warm, wet tangle, and Catra lost herself in the sensation of smelling and tasting Adora, of hearing the little moans and gasps that she released into Catra's mouth. Feeling Adora's hips thrust needily into her own.

The week without Adora hadn't been terrible by any stretch of the imagination. Catra had had her own work to do, and she had hung out with friends on a few of those week nights. Adora had only been a text or a call away. But the entire time, she'd felt like she was walking around with a fundamental piece of herself missing. Even though Catra detested the thought of being a romantic cliche, she couldn't deny that she felt complete now. This was where the two of them belonged at the end of every day-- wrapped up in one another, and away from the world.

Needing to be even closer, Catra turned them so that Adora was on her back, gazing at Catra with a goofy smile that was at odds with her eyes, darkened with desire. She laid her body on top of Adora's, tangling their legs. Pressing her thigh up between Adora's legs, she smiled at the warmth she found there.

"Oh god," Adora choked out.

"You're wet as fuck, princess," Catra said with delight. She started up a slow rhythm, grinding on Adora's leg and pushing her own into Adora.

In response, Adora grabbed Catra's butt, pulling her down harder onto her muscled thigh as they gradually ramped up the speed of their movements. Their breaths quickened and became heavier as they rocked together. But it wasn't quite enough.

"Want me to touch you?" Catra panted.

Adora nodded furiously, and Catra propped herself up on an elbow and slipped her other hand inside Adora's joggers and beneath her briefs. It was so wet that her fingers met with zero friction. Finding the hard nub of Adora's swollen clit, she began rubbing in slow, torturous circles, and was met with an immediate reaction.

"Catra, yes, fuck!" Adora threw her head back, her hands dropping to the couch and clinging to the blankets for dear life. "Oh my god, I missed this so much, I missed you so much," she mumbled between moans that were becoming increasingly breathy and high-pitched.

The heady smell of Adora's arousal sent desire thundering through Catra's veins, fizzling in her head, and she bent forward to bring their lips back together. Her tongue swept inside Adora's mouth in time with the movements of her hand, and she occasionally ground her hips down in order to find some measure of relief.

Adora's hips bucked up into Catra's fingers, seeking more pressure. "Please," she panted into Catra's mouth. "I need your hand, please."

Familiar with the request, Catra quickly complied, cupping her hand around Adora to give her a surface to rub against. Adora didn't enjoy penetration, but she absolutely loved grinding on basically any part of Catra-- her leg, hand, or ass, to start-- and she particularly liked sitting on Catra's face. Maybe they could do that later.

Adora groaned in pleasure as her hips kept jogging forward, her clit finding contact against the flat of Catra's hand with every thrust. She spread her free leg until it dangled off the side of the couch, opening herself up even more to Catra's ministrations. "Fuck, Catra, I'm gonna come, don't stop," she gasped.

Having Adora laid out before her like this, wanton and begging, trusting Catra to take care of her, made Catra's head spin. Tears pricked the backs of her eyes, and she hid her head in the side of Adora's neck for a few moments, breathing in her scent as she continued working Adora over.

Catra was so turned on by this point that she knew she had ruined her underwear, but she ignored both that and the soreness in her wrist, increasing the force and speed of her movements. Pulling back to look down at her girlfriend's face, she saw Adora's eyes scrunched closed as she chased her pleasure, releasing involuntary groans that bordered on sobs. The motion of Adora's hips grew frantic as she approached her imminent peak.

"Open your eyes, princess. I want to see you come," Catra husked out.

Brow furrowing with the effort, Adora managed to open her eyes for the barest of seconds, locking their gazes, before her orgasm hit. Her back arched off the couch as she cried out her ecstasy towards the ceiling.

Catra loved having Adora come on her hand. She loved knowing that Adora was wet for her, that Adora needed her, and that she could make her girlfriend feel this damn good. Catra felt the rhythmic pulsing of Adora's center as she kept gentle pressure on it, slowly easing her through the comedown.

After a gloriously long moment, Adora came back to earth, and her back rested on the couch. She kept her eyes closed as she blew out a breath. "Oh my gosh, Catra. Oh my gosh." She repeated it a few times before finally loosening and relaxing into the couch cushions.

Chucking, Catra gently drew her hand back out of Adora's pants, making her squeak and jump. When Adora opened her eyes, Catra smirked, saying, "Welcome home, princess." She made a show of licking up from her palm to her fingers, sucking each one briefly before moving on to the next one, maintaining eye contact the entire time.

Adora's mouth fell open and her eyes widened, pupils dilating as she tracked every movement of Catra's tongue and fingers. She licked her lips unconsciously.

"How are you feeling?" Catra asked, setting her damp hand on top of Adora's tank top.

"I feel fantastic, thank you," Adora said, smiling affectionately. She looked down at both of their clothes. "Maybe a little overdressed?"

Catra grinned. "I completely agree." She rolled back onto her knees and ripped off her shirt, discarding it on the floor and leaving herself only in boy shorts. Adora promptly froze, eyes quickly flicking between Catra's chest and the undoubtedly wet spot on her underwear as if not knowing which one to focus on more.

"Holy shit, I will never get tired of that," Adora said. She stood up from the couch and took off her tank top and joggers, giving Catra a moment to admire the play of firm muscle along Adora's shoulders and arms as she undressed. It had been years since Adora had played soccer in college, but she had maintained a dedicated regimen of strength training and various movement exercises. In large part, it was due to Adora's job as one of the curators at the Eternia Museum of Art, a desk position that left her with a lot of restless energy.

Catra was more than happy to reap the benefits of Adora's daily routines. Her gaze roved up and down Adora's body, now only wearing briefs, and imagined her tongue following the same path as her eyes. She licked her lips in anticipation.

"You look good enough to eat, princess," Catra said teasingly from the couch.

Adora raised one eyebrow. "Oh, do I?"

Sitting down again and facing forward, Adora guided Catra to straddle her. She brought her hands to Catra's sides and grazed them up and down, sighing contentedly. "You're gorgeous, Catra," she murmured.

Even after years of being together, Catra still couldn't help the full-body blush that overtook her anytime Adora complimented her. Clocking her visible reaction, Adora smirked.

Catra had to regain the upper hand in this situation, so she bent down and kissed Adora again, feeling the soft plushness of her lips. Then she moved down to Adora's pulse point, allowing her teeth to just graze the delicate skin there, eliciting a small moan. And as her final move, she brought both hands up and around the back side of Adora's head, scratching at her scalp.

The effect was instantaneous, and Adora melted into the couch, groaning in bliss. "Catra…"

Catra chuckled, and asked, "You like that, don't you?"

"Yes… so good…"

However, Catra's victory was short-lived. After just a few seconds of this, Adora regained control of her body and sat up, guiding Catra into a heated kiss. Her hands skated up Catra's ribs again, this time reaching her breasts, squeezing them firmly. She then proceeded to pinch Catra's nipples between the finger and thumb of each hand.

This was Catra's kryptonite. Twin jolts of sensation shot through her, in a direct line to her clit, and she cried out involuntarily.

"Ah! Adora!" Her tail shot into the air in a straight line, and to her utter embarrassment her fur even fluffed out a little.

"You like that, don't you?" Adora parroted back in a low voice, not stopping the wonderful, almost painful pinching and kneading.

"Eh, I donno, it's oka-- aah!" Catra's attempt at being nonchalant about the whole thing quickly dissipated with another pinch, this time with a slight twist. Having an extremely attentive and detail-oriented girlfriend, who made mental (and sometimes written!) notes on every tiny reaction she had to a slew of different stimuli was going to be Catra's downfall.

Now she was the one holding on for dear life, and she clutched Adora's shoulders to keep herself from collapsing forward. She decided to concede the little power struggle between them in favor of more immediate priorities. Much more immediate.

"Fine, I guess-- ah! Gods, yes, I like it," she said, almost in a whine. "Now please, touch me, Adora. I need you." She angled her hips forward pointedly.

"Since you asked so nicely," Adora agreed, grinning. However, instead of taking pity on Catra right away, she guided her to turn around so they were facing the same direction, positioning Catra to sit between her legs in front of her. She brought her arms around Catra's waist, holding loosely. "This okay?" she inquired.

"Yes," Catra almost whimpered. She was so turned on that she felt swollen and aching between her thighs, and she pressed them together in hopes of relieving even a small amount of tension. Her hands, which were grasping Adora's thighs, squeezed the hard muscle there.

"Okay, great," Adora said cheerily. "Now, spread your legs."

Catra did, and then Adora lifted her own legs, hooking them around Catra's and holding them open. Catra experimentally tried to close her legs, and was completely unable to shift them more than a few millimeters. "Oh, fuck," she moaned. Her clit twitched, aching for Adora's touch. Catra had gotten herself off plenty in the past week, but it just wasn't the same.

"Still okay, baby?" Adora asked. Her thighs flexed as they kept Catra in place on the sofa, helpless to move. It was hot as fuck.

"This is hot as fuck," Catra blurted out.

Adora laughed from behind her. "I thought you might enjoy this. I've been thinking about it all week." She used her nose to brush aside Catra's long hair, kissing the nape of her neck. "Ready?" She remained otherwise motionless, waiting for Catra's go-ahead.

"Oh my god, please, yes!" Catra said, not caring about how desperate she sounded. Her higher thinking was out to lunch, with the only thought processes remaining located between her legs. And they were loudly demanding relief.

Adora's hands came up and began squeezing Catra's breasts again, and she nipped into the meat of Catra's shoulder muscle. Catra was about to lodge a complaint about the lack of meaningful contact, but then one of Adora's hands found its way inside Catra's boy shorts.

"Fuck!" For one mortifying second, Catra thought she was going to come. Taking a few deep breaths to steady herself, she managed to stave it off for now.

"God, you're so wet," Adora muttered, almost to herself, as she pressed lightly down on Catra's clit. Her fingers moved downwards to collect more slick, then rubbed around her clit again, flicking it gently from side to side. "You feel so fucking good."

"That's how much I want you," Catra panted out. "That's what touching you does to me."

Adora made a muffled sound in response, and her hips jerked forward into Catra's ass. "God, Catra, I--" she broke off, as if unable to find the words, but her hand inside Catra's underwear began pressing down more firmly, moving in tight circles.

"I love you. I love you so much," Adora mumbled. Her free hand came around to grasp Catra's jaw and gently turn her head so they could meet in a kiss. It was sloppy, and wet, and really fucking good. Adora was thrusting her tongue deep into Catra's mouth, and along with everything else going on, it was the last straw, catapulting Catra past the brink.

"Oh-god-fuck-I'm-coming!"

Catra writhed in the strong grip of Adora's legs and strong hands as her vision darkened momentarily in the throes of her release. One of Adora's hands continued helping her ride it out, and the other gripped the back of her head, pressing their foreheads together. But Catra hadn't reached the heights she knew she could, the heights that she craved. In fact, despite her orgasm, she was almost as aroused as she had been before.

"Adora," she cried out. She craned her hips forward in a silent plea for relief.

"I've got you, Catra," Adora reassured her. "Now, let's get these out of our way, shall we?" In one fluid motion, Adora somehow managed to unhook her legs, pull Catra's boy shorts off, toss them aside, and then resume their previous position.

"Please, Adora, I need you. Inside me." Catra was agonizingly turned on. She spread her legs even further apart to emphasize her point.

"I've got you," Adora repeated, and she slipped two fingers inside Catra with almost no resistance. She tucked her head into Catra's shoulder, looking down as she moved slowly in, pressing her palm to Catra's clit, and then just as slowly pulled out.

"Yes, Adora!" Catra arched and strained in pleasure, throwing her head back. However, when she brought her head back down, she realized that they were positioned perfectly facing the TV media cabinet. Which just happened to have doors that were mirrored. Catra could see herself practically on display, Adora's legs holding her open as her hand steadily pumped in and out.

"Oh, shit," Catra muttered, unable to wrench her eyes away from the sight in front of her. She clenched down on Adora's fingers reflexively, and Adora turned her head towards Catra.

"You okay?" she asked. Speechless, Catra just continued to stare at the cabinet doors, Adora noticed where her eyes were locked, and smirked.

"Aren't you glad I pushed to get that one now?"

Catra fleetingly recalled an ill-fated trip to Ikea, when they had argued over which media cabinet to get for their living room. She hadn't been a huge fan of the mirrors back then, but in the end, she had given in to Adora's puppy dog eyes.

"I feel like I'm being punked and winning the lottery, all at the same time," Catra said honestly.

Adora didn't reply, but Catra could see her mischievous smile in the mirror as she sped up the movements of her fingers, angling them against Catra's front wall each time. She would have rolled her eyes, but, well, she had other, more important priorities right now.

"You're so good at this," Catra groaned. "But I need more. Please."

"Of course, baby," Adora said. She carefully added another finger in a glorious stretch, and brought her other hand to Catra's clit, rubbing in double-time. It was everything Catra wanted.

"Yes, fuck, so good. Harder?" Catra gasped. She could feel the hints of her orgasm hanging tantalizingly just out of reach.

Adora ramped up the force and speed of her thrusts to a pounding tempo, grunting slightly with the effort, and Catra could feel Adora's center behind her, pressing into her ass. She was soaking through her briefs, and when Adora let out a small whimper, Catra luxuriated in the knowledge that her girlfriend was getting off on getting her off.

Deciding to help her along, Catra began speaking in the low, husky tone that she knew drove Adora wild.

"You feel so good inside me, princess. You know just what I like and how I like it."

Adora froze briefly, then whined in response and resumed pumping her hand between Catra's legs.

While struggling to find more words in the midst of her sensory overload, a thought struck Catra.

"Did you-- ah! Did you like hearing me get myself off last night, thinking of you?"

"Fuck," Adora moaned helplessly. "Yes."

"Would you like me to get myself off here, for you? And let you watch me in the mirror?"

Adora's hips twitched. "Yes," she choked out.

With great effort, Catra reached down to Adora's wrist and gently pulled her fingers out of her, managing to not cry out at the loss.

"Put your hands on me, princess, and enjoy the show." Catra met Adora's eyes in the cabinet doors, holding her gaze steady, then pushed three of her own fingers into herself. Catra and Adora moaned simultaneously, and Catra began pumping, first slowly, then more quickly as she sought to catch up to where she had been a minute ago. With Adora watching every movement, eyes wide and mouth slightly open, it didn't take long.

"How do you like that, princess?" Catra panted between moans. She pushed back against Adora as she thrusted, never letting up, driving herself to the point of no return.

"Good, so good," Adora huffed out. Her hands tightened on Catra's hips, pulling them back to rub against her center. "I'm really close--" she cut off with a broken groan, which only propelled Catra closer to her own peak.

"Me too," Catra gritted out. "Touch my clit? I'm gonna-- I'm gonna come soon."

Without hesitation, Adora brought a hand back down and began rubbing in earnest, looking down now to watch both her and Catra's combined efforts.

"Catra… you're beautiful like this. So fucking beautiful," she said reverently.

Catra had been keeping her eyes trained on their reflections so that she could watch both of them come together, but in the face of Adora's words, she was defenseless in delaying her orgasm any longer. Her eyes snapped shut as it hit her, powerful in its immediacy.

"I'm gonna come, Adora, I'm-- fuck! I'm coming!"

Catra wailed loudly as her body suddenly stiffened, and she clenched around her own fingers as she thrust them as deeply as possible to maximize her pleasure. She bent her head back into Adora's chest as successive waves rolled through her, satisfying in their depth.

At the same time, Adora cried out with her own release, shuddering behind Catra. Through it all she kept her fingers pressed to Catra's clit, until Catra finally collapsed, her head hanging down in relief and exertion.

When Adora finished coming down, she unwrapped herself from Catra, and guided them both to lay sideways on the couch, holding Catra close. Nuzzling into her hair, Adora inhaled, releasing the breath with a satisfied sigh. For several minutes, they both simply lay there, letting the moment of bliss and reconnection wash over them.

Catra turned around in her arms, content to simply look at Adora's face, shiny with perspiration. She drank in the sight of her girlfriend, her person, and was filled with immense gratitude, not for the first time, that they were able to live life together.

"I love you, Adora," Catra whispered.

Adora's eyes opened, still hazy from recovering, and her mouth quirked up in a smile.

"I love you too, baby," she said.

Catra leaned forward and met Adora's lips in a kiss that was a slow, warm tangle of lips and tongue, leisurely moving and gliding against one another. After several minutes of this, Catra felt Adora's mouth gradually slow, then stop, and her head began laying more heavily on the couch. A light snore emanated from her, making Catra chuckle.

She gently repositioned Adora so that she was laying on her back, then rummaged around behind them on the floor for the blanket, which had fallen off at some point in their activities. Covering both of them with it, she threw a leg over Adora, hugging Adora's arm between her breasts and intertwining their fingers. In her sleep, Adora hummed happily, and Catra smiled. She tucked her nose under Adora's jaw and closed her eyes.

"Sleep well, princess."
