Summary

Adora and Catra live together since they left their boarding school, but now Adora is moving states to attend her dream college and live with her current girlfriend. Catra, afraid of being alone, tries to manipulate Adora into staying with her, even if that means she has to bring up their troubled past and their stressful former affair. What they don't expect, though, is that the world is about to go into a long and traumatizing lockdown.

Notes

Hey, this fanfic brushes into the topic of covid-19 and lockdown, so if that triggers you... maybe skip this one :) Also there's emotional manipulation and cheating... yup.

See the end of the work for more notes

The wind banged loudly against the windows—it was freezing cold and the apartment's heat system had to be faulty, of course. Catra was wearing three layers of clothing, wrapped inside a heavy blanket, and she still couldn't stop trembling. Their TV was turned on the news report while Adora finished packing her stuff.
"This covid thing is scary", she mumbled. Catra didn't answer. "Are you really gonna give me the silent treatment?", Adora asked, annoyed. "Fine, then. It's not like I'm leaving tomorrow."
It's exactly because you're leaving tomorrow, Catra thought. Maybe you should stay, she wanted to say. Maybe you should stay with me.
"I'll help you with your luggage in the morning", Catra ended up saying. "I'll go with you to the airport."
Adora looked worried. Her stupid blue eyes were shimmering with tears. Catra looked away.
"I'm not abandoning you", Adora said. She sat by Catra's side on the couch, trying to reach her friend's cold hands, but Catra didn't let her. "I just…"
"Found someone better."
Adora widened her eyes, surprised.
"No! I found someone who was willing to live a full life with me! Who was willing to move states so I could go to my dream university. Not better, just…"
Catra rolled her eyes.
"Yeah, yeah, everything has to be about you and your stupid needs and dreams."
Adora gulped down audibly, clearly nervous.
"I would have gone anyway, Catra, you know that. Huntara is a plus."
"Whatever", the little brunette girl stood up, still holding the blanket close, and walked away.
Adora stared at the TV not really paying attention. She couldn't understand Catra's behavior since she had told her that she'd be moving away. Adora was so damn dedicated, she had been studying hard her whole life to be able to attend a good university and now Catra was being such a stupid brat?! She was the one that ended things between them after all. She was the one that didn’t want to commit to Adora, to be official. Catra wasn’t in the right to be this upset! Well, what was Adora expecting, though? Catra had always been such a pain in the ass, since kindergarten, so fucking stubborn and selfish. But guilt tripping Adora? That was way too low, even for her.

They moved in together after high school with their tutor’s inheritance money. Shadow Weaver, the grim nickname the two girls had given her, decided to kill herself as one last act of emotional manipulation when they were seniors. Adora wouldn’t call her family, even though they were blood related. Shadow Weaver had been a manipulative, toxic and abusive aunt, and Adora didn’t remember her fondly. Neither did Catra, obviously. Maybe being Adora’s real aunt made Shadow Weaver a little softer on her, but poor Catra suffered a lot under her care. After the car accident were Catra’s parents and Adora’s mom had been killed, Shadow Weaver legally adopted Adora and received Catra in her boarding school only to show them her true colors: a fucking bitch. She was the owner and principal of a boarding school that was actually just an orphanage for troubled girls.
Maybe that was the root of Catra’s commitment issues. Well, not maybe, Adora was sure. They were only six years old when their parents died, Adora didn’t really remember much of her mom, but Shadow Weaver’s claws were imbedded in her brain. Catra had it so much worse, though. Adora kept living with her after they broke up because she knew her best friend, now ex... whatever they were…, wouldn’t know how to take care of herself. But Adora needed to live her life, right? She didn’t owe Catra anything. Not after the way she was treated by her.
Rage filled her up, and Adora stormed to Catra’s room. She opened the door with force, making a loud noise. Catra let out a scared hiss-like sound.
“What the hell, Adora!”
“What are you doing?”
Catra looked confused.
“Scrolling through Tik Tok?”
“No, Catra. What are you doing? All of this… The way you’re acting! Why? Why do you want to punish me? You never wanted me! You said that with all these words and still I remained by your side! Because whatever happens, I love you so much! And I know you love me, not the way I wanted you to, but you do love me, so I don't understand why you'd be so fucking mean. You've never even met Huntara. You never wanted to, even though she is so good to me. She actually likes me for who I am, she doesn't want me to change or to…"

"You think I don't like you?", Catra interrupted Adora's monologue. She looked almost hurt, putting her phone aside and adjusting her poor posture.
"I don't know, actually. I know you love me somehow, but I'm not sure if you like me", Adora responded.
Tears clogged up her throat.
Catra's head was a mess. How could she ask Adora to stay without seeming weak? Adora always took good care of her, but she needed her to know that she could be independent. She could do things on her own and be by herself. Asking Adora to stay, then, was out of the question. That's why she was being so ridiculous. Adora had to notice.
"Of course I like you", Catra mumbled. Her heart was pounding aggressively inside her chest. "How could you think that?"
Adora let out a dry, sarcastic laugh.
"I wonder why!"
"I'm just worried, okay?!", Catra raised her voice. "Because you've already forgotten about me once and—"
"Forgotten about you?", Adora questioned, appalled. "When the fuck did I forget about you, Catra?"
"Two years ago, when you decided to live with those stupid friends of yours. We didn't speak for three months!"
"Because you were being an asshole. I moved in with them because that apartment was closer to community college, you know that. And I invited you to come with me, but you're so stubborn! You'd have liked Glimmer and Bow! And, also, I didn't forget you. You were the one that wouldn't answer my calls or text me back. Yeah, I gave up after a while… but then guess what? You successfully manipulated me into moving back with you, so… What are you complaining about?"
Catra was shocked at those words.
"You really think I manipulated you? You didn't want to come back?”

Adora suddenly softened her expression. She shook her head a few times.
“No, I mean… No, yeah… I wanted to, I missed you, Catra, but I could have kept living with them, rent was way cheaper, and…”
Catra stood up quickly, dropping her phone on the ground. She thought Adora had come back because she was in love with Catra. And Catra… Catra was… No!
“Okay, then good luck with fucking Huntara and fucking university and fucking cutting me off your life because I’m such an evil manipulator asshole, right?”, she spilled out while shoving Adora out of her room.
“That’s not what I’m saying”, Adora tried to fight her off, but Catra slammed the door on her face.
Catra went back to bed, incredulous. She knew she wasn’t a good person. She knew she had issues, and she knew Adora deserved much more, but she wasn’t prepared to hear it from Adora. Tears blurred her vision. She was alone once again. And worse: she realized her behavior was growing closer and closer to Shadow Weaver’s.

It was impossible to sleep. Not only because of the horrible cold weather, freezing even with a pile of blankets on top of her, but because Catra’s eyes wouldn’t let Adora rest. They were special—one blue, another a yellowish shade of green, and the hurt… The hurt they couldn’t hide…
Even though they grew up together, they never felt like sisters. Shadow Weaver would make that very clear to them both. She always had a sharp comment to throw at Catra while caressing Adora’s blonde hair. Not that she was never mean to Adora—when they became teenagers, she realized everything Shadow Weaver did was somewhat mean. The shared trauma had kept the girls closer… and torn them apart.
That hurt, that sorrow, that sadness in Catra’s eyes took Adora back to the horrible time they spent with their tutor. That look of distress was Catra’s trademark. She was always so incredibly sad. Adora tried to cheer her up, to see the silver lining in those traumatizing experiences, but Catra had always been a pessimist. She checked the time, it was already 1 a.m., and her flight was scheduled for 8 a.m., so she didn't really have much time. Adora would never forgive herself if she left things the way they were, though. She cared too much about Catra. With that thought, Adora jumped out of the bed and walked to Catra's door. She was nervous, but she had to do it, she had to let her know—

The door opened suddenly. Catra looked as restless as Adora, very much confused.
"Oh, I was just gonna get me a glass of water", Catra started, but Adora cut her off.
"Listen. Whether we want it or not, I'm going away tomorrow. That doesn't mean I'm leaving you; you can always visit, and I'll come here too. You'll always be important to me, maybe the most important person of my life, and it'd just fucking kill me to leave things like this. I don't wanna fight, I just want to understand you. I know terrible things happened to you—to us, even—, but that doesn't mean you can act the way that you do. You can't be reckless and arrogant and selfish and rude, you can't play with other people's feelings just because you were abused, and you can't push me away because you're scared of… whatever! The bad part is gone, we should be enjoying our lives right now, you should be happy for me that I'm finally going to university, I am always happy for your achievements, you're such a smart little…", she couldn't finish.
Adora burst into tears desperately. Catra was petrified—she didn't know what to do or say. It was her fault that Adora felt so bad, of course. She knew she was locking Adora up, she was cutting her wings. The bound between them was harmful to Adora. She was past all the heartache, but here was Catra being the one to pull her down again. She was a weed, a malignant tumor creeping in Adora's life.
"Adora…"
"I love you, Catra. Things would have been easier if you had the guts to love me back."
"Adora…"
"I have to live my life, so you can't—"
Catra stopped Adora's sentence with a kiss. She stood on tiptoe to be able to reach the blonde's shoulders, pulling her tight and aggressively. Adora didn't reciprocate the kiss, she just froze.

"Catra, I…"
"Shut the fuck up", Catra whispered and kissed Adora again.
Adora didn't hesitate this time. Whatever was happening, her body was in full control, her mind elsewhere, trying to figure out if that was a dream. Catra's bitter taste seemed real, though. And Adora had been so thirsty… only now realizing how much she had self-control for not kissing Catra every single time they were this close.
Catra rolled up her index finger on Adora's shirt's neckband, avidly climbing up the blonde's abdomen with her other hand. All that was between their skins was that stupid piece of fabric, and Catra had missed that feeling… Adora had a particular way of dealing with her repressed feelings, mostly anger, and that was being a gym rat. Catra never complained, of course. She'd even join Adora sometimes, but that girl had the urge to work out every day. She was very muscular, defined, and Catra would always stare at those strong attractive arms whenever Adora wore a tank top.
Adora pushed Catra into the room, going for the bed. They collapsed together, Adora immediately going on autopilot and pressing one of her knees between Catra's legs. She knew exactly what to do to make the brunette lose herself. They had years of practice, even sometimes during high school when all the other girls were already asleep. It felt forbidden somehow, though they weren't related, but they kept that relationship as a hot secret until they finally moved out. Catra was the one to call it quits, of course. She was too scared of her own feelings. In that moment, however… she was absolutely useless. Catra wasn't strong enough to make Adora stop, to tell her that she was way better off without her. Instead, Adora's clever tongue had lit a fire inside Catra's stomach, going down her thighs and reaching the tip of her toes.
Adora, on top of Catra, kissed her neck harshly. Those would bruise for sure, but Catra didn't care. It was awesome, it felt amazing, Adora's soft lips always knew how to make her feel good. Catra eagerly started pulling Adora's old shirt up, and the blonde obeyed. She took her clothes off—really, just that shirt, because she wasn't wearing a bra or pajamas pants, even though it was freezing. Adora liked to sleep in boxers, and Catra thought it was extremely sexy.

"God, you're hot", Catra said, out of breath, arching her back so Adora could take off her orange pajamas. It was cold only for a few seconds, Adora laid on Catra's almost naked body not giving a damn about her weight and the overwhelming pressure she'd cause.
Catra's inner thighs were burning with desire, she could feel a puddle forming on her panties. Adora was always dominant during sex, something that Catra simply adored. Adora had to be in control of every single thing in her life, sex wouldn't be different. The blonde girl loved that. She loved watching Catra let out purr-like sounds of pleasure, she loved tasting her and feeling her and having her—these were times when Catra would just let go of her walls and allow herself to be taken care of. Adora started her way down Catra's body with neck kisses and hips squeezes. She stared at Catra's small breasts with perky brown nipples and dragged her front teeth across the dark skin, making Catra moan. Adora sucked both of her breasts mercilessly, and Catra audibly enjoyed that. She was grinding her thighs against Adora's knee slowly but with much intensity.
"Touch me", Catra said, breathing loudly. "And see for yourself how you make me feel."
Adora's whole body burned hot when her fingers found Catra's soaking wet panties. Catra moaned with that warm touch.
"Shit", Adora said in a low voice, smiling. That was so hot for Catra, that she could only try to move her hips faster to make Adora understand.
Suddenly, Adora jerked back and adjusted their bodies together right in the middle of the bed.
"Pleeeeeease", Catra begged in a breathy cry.
Adora's eyes were almost completely black when she stared at Catra. Her pupils were like a predator's, it like she was… angry. Rapidly, Adora put Catra's on her stomach against the bed, gathering her wild frizzy hair in one strong grip. Adora pulled with force and Catra rose her hips, moaning loudly.
"Fuck", she said. Adora responded with a hard slap on Catra's left butt cheek.

The brunette's body trembled almost in a fever, and she grabbed the sheets.
Adora pushed Catra's black panties to the side and teased her entrance with the tip of her fingers. She smiled at how that light touch was torturing Catra. That's what she fucking deserved.
"You're only gonna finish when I say so, understood?", she whispered in Catra's pierced ears, still pulling her hair. Catra only nodded, biting her lower lip.
That's when she felt herself being penetrated by two fingers. She lost all the remaining strength her body was gathering and fell onto the bed, but Adora pulled her back up. The blonde curled down her fingers and moved slowly inside Catra.
"Fuck, Adora…"
She received a hair pull and an even harder slap. Adora's pace fastened as well as Catra's hip's movements, and she was biting down her own tongue to keep quiet. That touch ignited all of her kinks and desires.
"I want your tongue", she pleaded. "Please!"
"Shut up", Adora responded, but she loved when Catra told her what to do. "Turn around", she demanded.
Catra laid on her back and spread her legs for Adora, already drenched in sweat.
"Wait, do you still…?", Adora broke character for a second. She reached for the drawer right beside the bed.
"The last one", Catra said impatiently.
Adora opened the last drawer and found Catra's beloved toys. Catra smiled when Adora showed her handcuffs off and skillfully bounded Catra's wrists to the bed frame. Without a word, she crawled her way down Catra's lean body and put the brunette's thighs on top of her shoulders.
Catra's pussy was always steamy hot. Adora had no trouble taking off her panties before diving in. Her long tongue caressed Catra's clitoris in wide circles.
"Wow…", Catra moaned softly.
Soon enough, Adora introduced a finger, then a second one, then a third one. She thrusted them hard inside Catra, that was so out of her mind that she sounded like a cat in heat, Adora never stopping her quick tongue. Up and down, up and down…

"Oh, fuck", the brunette said after two minutes. "I'm gonna…"
Adora stopped everything she was doing.
"No, you're not", she almost growled.
Catra's legs were shaking uncontrollably, her frustration being almost too much to bear.
"Adora, please…"
"Shut up. Wait a minute".
Adora left the room in a hurry, coming back with her red strap-on in hands—one that Catra had been fucked with many, many times. Adora put on the strap right in front of Catra, and that was so extremely fucking hot.
"I'm gonna uncuff you, but do not fucking touch yourself, understood?"
Catra nodded.
Adora took off the cuffs and threw them on the ground.
"I wanna restrict you myself", she whispered.
Catra almost turned into jelly right there. She helped Adora put the dildo inside her, then Adora's left hand went straight to Catra's throat while the left one bounded her wrists together. Adora was so good at that, her hips moved like it was no big deal, even though her face was completely red and sweaty. Catra heard a little buzz, and she grinned, realizing that Adora had put a bullet vibrator inside the strap. One of the sexiest things in the world was Adora's low moans. She would rarely ever let Catra do something to her, but when she did… Catra had a blast. She much preferred being fucked by Adora, but the expression of pure pleasure on the blondie's face was unmatched. Adora had that exact expression now. The harder she pounded against Catra, the more intense her moans got.
"Please", Catra begged once again.
"Fuck", Adora moaned. "Wait…"
She kept going as hard as she could. Catra was already seeing stars, her head spinning fast.
"Okay, touch yourself", Adora demanded, letting go of her wrists.
Catra stroke her clitoris in the same rhythm as Adora, and soon enough she felt the explosion coming through.
"I can't take it", Catra cried. "Please! Please?!"

Adora fell on Catra, still moving her hips back and forth but a bit inconsistently, and the brunette bit the blonde's shoulders to keep herself from screaming out loud.
"Okay", Adora said. "You can…", she let out a gasp. "You can cum."
Catra's whole body caught fire in the most intense and lasting orgasm she had ever had. Adora fell by her side and put her hand inside the strap to turn off the vibrator. She felt a wave of pleasure coming through her legs and belly and then heart and head—she had calculated perfectly the moment they would orgasm together, and it was… fucking amazing. They breathed together beside one another, until Catra's heartbeat started to go back to normal.
"Jesus, Adora. You were inspired tonight", she said.
The blonde didn't answer.
"Adora?"
When Catra turned her head, she saw Adora putting her clothes back on very seriously.
"What are you doing?"
Adora didn't respond once again.
"Hey!", Catra stood up and grabbed Adora's hands. "What is this?"
Adora wouldn't look at her.
"Are you… embarrassed?"
"Yeah", Adora mumbled. "At how fucking stupid I am."
Catra froze for a second.
"What do you mean?"
The blonde shook her head.
"I'm still going tomorrow, you know. What you did here… what you…", Adora stopped herself and looked away. "I fell right into this trap again, but this is the last time, Catra. I won't end up in your bed ever again. I already said what I had to say, so… is there anything you wanna say to me?"
Catra got scared by this side of Adora. She sat on the bed, feeling the cold creep in, and wrapped herself in the blanket.
"Hey, sit here", she tapped the spot on her side.
Adora obeyed, but she still wasn't making eye contact.
"I know I've been awful to you. All I ever did was because I was so scared of losing you… And… I know it doesn't justify my actions. I am toxic for you, I'm well aware of that. I just… can't let you go. 'Cause if I do, I let myself go too and who the fuck would I be without myself? I'm not a good person. I'm selfish, just like you said. But this… this right here, this time… it wasn't part of a game, Adora, I swear on my life. Why do you think I've never wanted to meet Huntara? I'd be so jealous, I…"

"Huntara", Adora repeated, widening her eyes. "Shit. Shit, shit, shit…"
She tried to stand up, but Catra didn't let her.
"Adora, please!"
"What, Catra?", she started to cry. "What else do you want from me?"
"I love you!", Catra basically yelled. "I always have! But it's difficult for me! And I want you to stay more than anything in my life! Please, Adora", she was crying too. "Stay."
Adora looked down.
"You have a way of crawling under my skin, it's not fair", the blonde whispered.
Catra stroked Adora's straight blonde hair. She usually had it in a high ponytail with a stupid tuft in the front. Catra loved when she let it loose.
"I don't wanna ruin your life", the brunette whispered.
Adora finally looked at her, and she seemed surprised.
"How would you ever do that?", she asked, but it didn't really sound like a question.
"I already did it… so many times." Catra's throat clogged with tears. "And you know what, you'll be a great engineer. I know that."
Adora put her hands on her face.
"Shit, Catra. Why are you doing this now?"
Because finally the threat of losing you is way too real…, she thought, but didn't say it out loud.
"I…"
"It doesn't matter, Catra. I'm going."
Silence reigned for a few seconds.
"Yeah, I know", Catra admitted. "And you're not gonna break up with Huntara, are you?"
Adora looked extremely sad.

“I’m not.”
Catra gulped down, devastated. What could she do, though? Adora deserved better.
“Fine”, she said. “But please… will you sleep here with me tonight?”
Adora wasn’t expecting Catra to ask her to stay—not for tonight, not ever.
“I’m gonna get you a glass of water. Be right back.”
Catra laid back while Adora was gone. She was so stupid. When Adora came back, Catra drank the cold water and pulled her close. They intertwined their legs, craving each other’s warm, and covered themselves with two blankets. They fell asleep fast, spooning like true lovers.

Adora’s alarm went off at 5:30 a.m. She had slept only for four hours that night, she was exhausted. Catra was heavily sleeping by her side, and Adora felt bad for having to leave this early… but she did. She rubbed her tired eyes and gently pushed Catra’s arm away, crawling out of the bed as silently as she could. She was starving! So Adora prepared herself a quick breakfast, only avocado toasts and a giant cup of coffee. When she was finishing everything, Catra’s door made a squeak and the brunette walked out in her orange pajamas.
“Hey, Adora. Damn, it’s so cold”, she said with her raspy morning voice.
“Hey, it’s too early, go back to sleep”, Adora advised, but Catra didn’t listen.
“I’m gonna help you, remember?”
“You don’t have to, I mean it.”
“I know, you idiot. But I want to. Oh, avocado toast!”, she grabbed Adora’s last piece and devoured it.
Adora looked annoyed.
“Hey, c’mon.”
“Is there more of this coffee?”, Catra ignored Adora’s lament.
“You can make some more.”
“Blergh”, Catra shook her head. “Why don’t you put salt on your food? It’s always so bland…”

“Too much salt is not healthy, Catra.”
“Alright, but no salt is a cowardice.”
Adora tried not to laugh.
“Okay… Look, I have to take a shower. There are more avocado slices in the fridge if you want.”
Catra pouted.
“I’m gonna wait for you”, she said.
Her eyes were a little red and droopy, her face still with pillow marks.
Adora smiled and left the kitchen, going for the bathroom. It was indeed really cold—stripping down was almost torture, but she hadn’t taken a shower after having sex and Adora could still feel the sweat staining her skin. She turned on the water as hot as possible. Halfway through shampooing her hair, the door opened and closed quickly. She looked at Catra, in shock, while she took off her clothes and went inside the shower box with Adora.
“What the fu—”
“One last time, okay?”, Catra said, pushing Adora against the wet wall.
Their damped bodies glued to one another as magnets, and soon Adora had her hands underneath Catra’s long hair, kissing her so passionately that their lips got sore. There was something about making out while completely wet that turned Catra on. She licked Adora’s neck, shoulders and breasts, receiving moans of praise from the blonde’s wide-open mouth.
Adora grabbed Catra by her chin and tossed her to the other wall, getting leverage.
“We don’t have much time”, she said.
“We don’t need it”, Catra moaned back.
Adora kneeled and put her tongue on Catra’s pussy.
“Shit”, Catra said, and pressed Adora’s head against herself.
Adora put two fingers inside almost too harshly, and thrusted them inside Catra, making a wave movement. Catra knew she wouldn’t last for long.
“Announce it”, Adora demanded.
Catra pulled Adora’s wet hair as the climax approached.
“Please, make me cum!”, she yelled.
Adora slapped Catra’s left inner thigh in response.

“Fuck, I’m cumming”, she said.
Adora fastened her pace as Catra rode her fingers off. She trembled and jerked her hips forward one last time. It was a fast but intense orgasm. Adora stoop up, breathing heavily, and put her two fingers inside Catra’s mouth. The brunette sucked on them very slowly. Adora’s clitoris was pulsating with violence in the rhythm of her heartbeat. Without a word, she finally washed out all the shampoo off her hair and started applying conditioner.
“Stop”, Catra said. “My turn.”
She tried to touch Adora’s clit, but the blonde got away.
“What’s wrong?”
“We just…”, she stopped at the sight of Catra’s confused eyes. “I mean, I don’t have time.”
Catra seemed a bit offended by that, but she nodded.
“You don’t want me to…”
“I would love that”, Adora interrupted. “But not right now.”
Catra bit her lower lip and looked down.
“You think it’s not cheating if you’re only giving, not receiving?”, the small brunette girl asked.
Huntara’s face came up uninvited to Adora’s head. Fuck. I’m a bad person, she thought.
“It’s not that”, she managed to say.
“Whatever”, Catra mumbled while getting out of the shower box. “We have, like, forty minutes to get to the airport, so… hurry up.”
Her feet touched the cold floor of the bathroom.
“Shit, why is it so cold!”, she exclaimed and wrapped herself in a towel.
Adora couldn’t believe everything that had happened last night and now… that… Oh, God. It wasn’t like she didn’t want to be pleasured by Catra, she dreamed about it every day. But Catra had some kind of point in her statement… She’d feel horrible if she actually let Catra go down on her or something else… Huntara… Damn it. Huntara was such a nice person, she was so good for Adora. Catra was right about something else too. Adora was a total idiot that simply loved a good self-destruction behavior and an unhealthy addiction. Catra had that role for her.

They were about to leave the apartment when Adora's phone rang.
"Hello", she picked it up.
Catra observed the blonde frown.
"Oh, really? But… I mean, when is it gonna get back? What?! But I have to be there this week! My classes are gonna start… Wait, what? Really? Oh, my God. Well, alright. Thank you for calling", and she hung up.
Catra was confused.
"What happened?", she asked.
"They cancelled every flight until further notice. Can you believe it?!", Adora sounded angry.
"But why?!"
"I guess this covid-19 thing is serious. Lemme check one thing", Adora said and unlocked her phone. She read something on its screen and widened her eyes. "My school classes have been postponed! Fuck, turn on the TV!"
Catra ran to the living room and found the remote. She turned on the news.
"We're going into lockdown?!", she yelled.
Adora and Catra exchanged concerned looks.
"Guess you're staying here for a while, Adora", Catra said in a deep, rough tone.
Huntara's name showed on Adora's phone screen. She was calling now after sending dozens of texts that Adora hadn't seen yet.
"Babe, are you seeing this? Did they cancel your flight?", Huntara asked through the phone speakers.
"Yeah… I guess I'll have to stay here for now", Adora responded.
Secretly, Catra smiled.

End Notes

I'm definitely gonna write more about this AU! Hope you guys liked it!
