The Cat's Meow

by Imasuky

Summary

Adora ensures that Catra's caterwauling won't bother anyone else.

Adora made her way carefully down the halls of Castle Brightmoon, back pressed against the wall, and a bag held close to her chest. She looked around each corner of every corridor she passed, before rolling between the gap, and then, for good measure, checking around the other side's corner, too.

Finally, at the end of the 2-minute walk that her subterfuge had stretched out to a quarter of an hour, Adora made her way to her room. She was lucky: it seemed that no one was around at the moment, and with what she was carrying, she didn't want to it any other way. It would be far too awkward if they wanted to know what she had in the bag she was clutching as tightly as if her life depended on it.

Adora did what she incorrectly believed to be a smooth, inconspicuous diving roll into her room, and poked her head out the door to make sure she had been unobserved. Satisfied that she had remained incognito, she slowly scooted back and withdrew, closing the door with her until just one eye was peeking through the crack. At last even that was obscured, as the door clicked shut.

"What are you doing?" Catra asked, standing behind her with arms folded, as she looked down with a mixture of mild amusement and annoyance. It was her expression for when she was unsure just what sort of nonsense her girlfriend was up to. She found that she wore it a lot.

Adore bolted upright and aggressively shushed her. "Not so loud...! I want to check one more time." She pressed her ear against the door.

Catra sighed and walked over to the bed, sitting down. "Check for what?" she asked, as she looked down at her claws, acting as though she didn't actually care. She hadn't yet decided whether that was the case, but she wanted to get a head-start on her disdain if it was.

Once a few seconds had gone by, Adora stepped back, apparently satisfied with the nothing that she had heard from the other side of the door.

“Alright, we're all good,” she declared, breathing a sigh of relief.

“Once more...good for what?” Catra asked, not putting any particular effort into hiding how irritated she was getting with this.

“Well, you remember the last time we were...um, intimate?” Adora asked, blushing a bit.

“Intimate? Intimate, intimate..." Catra mused, putting her chin in her hand and thinking hard, eyes wide and guileless. "I guess earlier, when you gave me a kiss on the cheek before going on whatever errand you've been doing. Right?"

"Err, no, not that," Adora told her, shaking her head. "I mean...you know...more intimate. Like...like full intimate. You know...?"

"More intimate than a kiss, got it," Catra confirmed, nodding sagely and making a show of thinking even harder. "Then you must mean this morning! Yeah, waking up after sleeping in the same bed together is pretty intimate."

Adora's discomfort could not have been more plainly stamped on her face at this point. "No! I mean, yeah, it's, it's intimate, and I love it, but I mean...I mean...MORE intimate! The most intimate!"

"Yesterday when I painted your nails?"
"Catra..."
"Yesterday when you painted my nails? Sorry about the scratches, by the way."
"Those weren't just scratches, and no you aren't, and that's not what I--"
"I helped you do your hair up a couple days ago..."
"Catra!"
"Asked to borrow your shirt last week."
"CATRA!"

"Didn't ask before borrowing your underwear the next day..."
"Ca--! I...! Y, You--!!!"

"Ohhhhh," Catra said with exaggerated realization, barely able to contain her glee as she watched Adora barely hold in at least 3 different kinds of emotional meltdowns, "by "intimate," you mean when we were fucking."

"Yes! Obviously!" Adora cried out, hands thrown up in exasperation even as she blushed at the crass way Catra had put it.

Catra went back to smugly examining her claws. "Well, how was I supposed to know that was what you meant? You said "intimate." That's not the word I would use for a situation where half the castle barged in on us because somebody can't keep from screaming dirty talk and howling like a wild animal when she really gets going."

"THAT WAS YOU!" Adora exploded, covering her face as she recalled the humiliating event and shaking with aggravation. "YOU WERE THE ONE DOING THAT!"

"Uh, yeah, never said I wasn't," Catra scoffed. "It's called a brag, Adora. What, I'm not supposed to take pride in enjoying sex? How dare you slut-shame your girlfriend."

Adora rolled her eyes, clearly done engaging with Catra's shit. "ANYWAY, I think I've got a solution to that."

Catra's tail flicked lazily. "Oh, and what could that be?" she asked with a playful smirk.

Adora reached into the bag, and pulled out its contents. She held the item out proudly, grinning ear to ear.

Catra blinked. “Is that...is that a ball gag?” she asked, scrutinizing the bright red ball with black leather straps on each side with a tilt of the head and a raised eyebrow.

“Yup!” Adora answered, clearly satisfied with herself. “Since you're so...vocal...I thought this might make it easier. I...really don't want a repeat of last time.”

Adora winced as she remembered almost the entire Princess Alliance bursting into their room, thinking, from Catra's wailing and screaming and cursing, that she'd been under attack. Glimmer and Bow had teleported in, and from how clumsily and hastily clothed they seemed to be, it was pretty obvious that they'd been interrupted from their own, clearly quieter, fun. Scorpia and Swiftwind, meanwhile, had come crashing through the window. And almost at the same time, Frosta has bashed in the door, accompanied by Mermista and Seahawk.

The wince only deepened as Adora unwillingly also recalled the reactions.

Glimmer and Bow apologizing,
Scorpia and Swiftwind cheering them on.
Frosta asking several questions.
Mermista passing Frosta's questions off to Seahawk.
Mermista regretting passing Frosta's questions off to Seahawk.

And Catra laughing at it all. A bit like she was right now, in fact.

"I still say we could've kept going," she declared with a smirk. "Probably could've gotten your moody water witch to join in, even. We both know she's gotta be desperate for some good--"

"Mermista's not our agreed-upon theoretical third!" Adora snapped.

"You know, when I got you to agree to that, I didn't think your pick would be someone trapped in another dimension," Catra groused, but decided to drop it, knowing how touchy and complicated her girlfriend's feelings about the former queen were. She turned her attention back to the ball gag in Adora's hands, and batted at it skeptically. "Anyway, this isn't going to work, Adora. Maybe I won't be able to scream specific words, but there is no way some little chew toy with straps can keep up with my volume level."

Adora pulled it away defensively. "This isn't just some "chew toy," Catra," she protested. "I had Entrapta make it herself! It's got...um...some sort of thing in it that cancels noise, or something. I...kinda zoned out. But it can take every decibel you can dish out, and more."

"Oooh, sounds like a challenge," Catra replied with a smirk. "And wait, you asked Entrapta to make a sex toy? How did that go?" She snorted with mirth. "Does she even know what sex is?"

"I just asked for something that could stop you from talking, and you know, it was the funniest thing...she seemed to find that reason completely plausible!" Adora told her with a smirk of her own. "And I'm sure she does...although I'd personally rather not think about what she and Hordak get up to in their spare time."

Catra shuddered at that thought. "Okay, that just made me as dry as the Crimson Waste," she griped.

"I can fix that," Adora declared as she began to strip. Tossing her clothes away pretty quickly, she struck a pose to show off her lean and toned figure. Her skin was as pristine and scar-less as though she'd just been minted that morning; a benefit of her powers as She-Ra. Every inch of her figure was sculpted and chiseled to perfection, and her nipples were bright pink and perky. Between her legs was a small, well trimmed patch of soft blonde pubes, just the slightest bit poofy.

"Still dry?" she asked knowingly.

Looking down at her crotch, Catra nodded gravely. "Yup. Think we're gonna need the big guns to get me going."

"I'm not turning into She-Ra," Adora told her with a sigh.

"Come ooonnnnnn, just once...please?" Catra begged with a purr.

“Catra, I am like ninety percent sure I’d break your neck,” Adora argued, not for the first time.

“And that would be the best way to go!" Catra insisted, her tail flicking. "Besides, you can just use your power to bring me back! What's the big deal?"

“No means no,” Adora replied with finality. "Now undress, and put this in. Maybe not in that order, either.” She tossed the gag to her girlfriend.

“Fine, Force Captain,” Catra acquiesced with a cocky smirk. "Like it's gonna matter. Tech or no tech, we both know I'm more than this little thing can handle."

She got up and began to strip, revealing that her figure, like Adora's, was sleek and lean, although the thin layer of fur that covered her slightly obscured just how toned Catra's body actually was. But it was still easy to tell that she was fit, and powerful. And incredibly attractive. The soft swell of her breasts were covered by a lighter bit of fur than the rest of her body, enough that her nipples slightly poked out from it. They were a dark brown that stood out from her light orange coat, especially enticing to any woman who might observe them. Down between her legs there was a much darker patch of brown fur, dense and shaggy.

Lifting the ball gag, Catra rolled her eyes and put it in, snapping it in place. It flashed pink for a second.

“Say something sarcastic and annoying,” Adora suggested.

Catra began to gesture as though she was talking, but there was no sound at all. She stopped, eyes wide in absolute shock, and then began to gesture more resolutely. Her cheeks fluctuated and air flowed out of her nostrils harder and harder, and Adora realized that her girlfriend was attempting progressively louder screams, each one to completely no avail. She began to redden with indignant anger at the toy.

“Oh, wow. That works great!" Adora exclaimed with a pleased clap; she had half been convinced that Catra was right and it wouldn't be able to handle the girl's sheer biting sass. "I should have gotten Entrapta to make one of these for you ages ago.”

Catra made a rude gesture.

Ignoring it, Adora walked up to Catra and pushed her down on the bed. Easily lifting her legs up over her shoulders, the blonde let a smug smile spread across her face.

“Will puss-puss be good?” she asked teasingly, as she gently kissed Catra’s thighs, feeling the silky fur and warmth beneath them. She found, unsurprisingly, that Catra had been lying, and was, in fact, already quite wet, more than ready enough for the kind of fun that would really give the gag a stress test.

Catra gave a silent glare, but that soon melted away as Adora used her fingers to part the tufts of fur and expose Catra’s clit, a small pink bud that peeked out from her orange fuzz. Kissing it, she giggled as Catra’s tail whipped up and smacked her cheek softly. Licking and sucking at her clit, Adora gently added her fingers, sliding them into Catra’s cunt. She hooked them, and stroked the place she knew to be her girlfriend's G-spot, as she swirled her tongue in a circle around her clit.

Catra was writhing, her tail thrashing around madly as her claws dug into the sheets. There was the sound of cloth ripping as she tore into them. Not an uncommon occurrence, but it was an interesting pleasure to actually hear the tears being made; by this point, Catra would normally be completely drowning such ambient noises out with her squeals and curses. Looking at the feline woman's tensed, wild-eyed expression, it was clear that she was screaming in bliss at the pleasure Adora was giving her right now.

Adora pressed her attack further. She began stroking her girlfriend’s G-spot more forcefully, and sucking her clit harder. She lifted her own hips, and put her free hand between them, stroking along the lips of her pussy, and slapping her clit now and then.

In spite of having devoted herself to working Catra up, Adora found that she herself was already on the edge from all the anticipation for this moment, and it wasn't long before Adora found herself falling into release. Moaning as she came, she gave Catra’s clit a gentle bite, and that was enough to send her over the edge, as well.

Both women shuddered for several long, blissfully quiet moments, as they savored the rush of pleasure, and its happy aftershocks.

Once she was recovered, Adora stood and grinned. “Well with the test run a smashing success...there’s an idea I’ve been wanting to try for a while, but I knew you’d be too loud.”

She held out her arm, the gauntlet on her wrist turning into a sword for a moment, before, in a flash, it reappeared on her waist in a new shape: a strap-on dildo. The golden bands secured around Adora's hips shone faintly, and the shaft was a sleek golden hue as well, with a pleasant but not thankfully not girthy length and thickness...but what stood out the most were the small barbs that ran the length of it. They were small, and not particularly sharp, but certainly stiff enough that the effects would be undeniable.

Catra’s eyes went a little wide at the sight of them. Her cheeks worked, and Adora knew that the girl was trying and failing to communicate some strong thoughts on this turn of events.

“I know the last time I used something like this, you said it wasn’t quite enough for you. So I did some...” Adora blushed, “...research...and, well...”

Catra, to respond, got up on all fours, lifted her ass up, and flicked her tail as she purred. Both girls blinked in surprise at hearing it, and Adora realized that the sound had made it around the gag because it came from Catra's chest. Interesting; Adora decided she liked a scenario where Catra's only option for audible communication was her approving, purely positive purrs.

Adora grabbed Catra's hips and lined up the tip of the toy with her girlfriend's, by now, very wet cunt. Thrusting forward, Adora drove the full length into her, letting the semi-spines scrape roughly against her inner walls.

Not wasting any time, she began to fuck hard and fast; she knew that Catra liked it rough, and she was going to give it to her just the way she wanted! Pumping her hips with all her might, Adora used one hand to reach up and fondle one of Catra's tits, while her other hand grabbed the base of her tail and gave it a firm yank. The way Catra's back arched and her hackles raised made her pleasure and her delight at the shock of pain clear.

If not for the gag, bless it, she'd be yowling so loud half of Brightmoon would be bursting in right now, and the other half throwing their boots at the general vicinity of the girls' room.

As she worked her hips, she could tell from the shuddering and clawing up the sheets - well, mattress, by now; the sheets were just scattered tatters at this point - that Catra was building toward a very powerful orgasm.

But she wanted to make her really cum like never before.

Releasing her tail, Adora leaned in and blew into Catra's ear softly. "Get ready...bitch," she half whispered, half grunted, before moving down and clamping her teeth down on the scruff of Catra's neck. She knew that Catra liked to bite her during sex; she had plenty of memories of needing to cover her neck afterwards...and less in the "hide hickeys" way, more in the "apply pressure to stop the bleeding" manner. She figured that turnabout would be fair and very welcome play.

And she nailed that prediction spot-on. The moment Adora bit down, every hair on Catra's body went stiff, her tail whipping like mad as she ripped so deeply into the mattress that she her claws were getting caught in the springs. She whipped around and slammed Adora down, pinning her in a writhing, shaking, silently-screeching mess, scratching Adora across the chest a bit in helpless throes of pleasure almost past her ability to tolerate, as she rode Adora and drew out her most intense orgasm to date.

Adora hissed a bit at the stinging pain across her breasts, which only fired up Catra even more. Leaning down, she pressed her tits into Adora’s face, and Adora took her cue, sucking them. She then bit one of Catra's nipples, softly but not quite gently, and Catra let out a silently yowling shudder as the fresh pain-pleasure drove her over the edge again.

After she at last finished, she rolled off Adora, panting a bit as the blonde spat out a small clump of fur and winced at the still-stinging scratches on her chest.

“Okay then...time for you to finish the job for me,” Adora informed her, as she recalled her sword into its normal form.

“And I think today I'm going to give you what you want.”

Holding her sword up, Adora uttered the words of power, albeit a bit softer than usual. “For the Honor of Greyskull!”

In a brilliant flash, she transformed into She-Ra, though as she was nude already, the clothing did not appear as it usually would. In her altered state, Adora now stood significantly taller, and her already toned and lean figure had become even more muscular and defined.

Catra grinned as best she could around the gag as she took in the perfect body of the literal goddess standing in front of her. Every inch was perfectly sculpted in terms of both power and beauty. Between her legs was a neatly trimmed patch of golden blonde pubic hair, shaped into the same pattern as the symbol that would have adorned her uniform's chest, had she been wearing it.

Straddling Catra, She-Ra made a quick move to remove the gag, and then pressed her cunt down over her mouth. “It's a bit low-tech compared to the gag, but I think this will still do a good job at keeping you quiet!” she declared, as she rolled her hips just a bit.

Catra began to lick right away. Her tongue was roughly textured with tiny spines that scraped against She-Ra's skin, and if the latter had still been merely Adora, it would have been far too intense to stand. But as She-Ra...Catra's rough, spiny tongue just added an extra, delicious layer of stimulation.

She-Ra moaned deeply as the barbs of her girlfriend's tongue caught against her clit just the right way to make her really shake hard.

"Mmmh...leave it to a cat to know how to lick a pussy!" She-Ra gasped.

Catra reached up and raked her claws along She-Ra's thighs in annoyance at the joke. It just made her clench tighter against the feline.

She-Ra began grinding harder, pressing down with greater intensity as she grew closer and closer to the brink of orgasm. Pressing down, she clenched hard, and cupped her hand over her own mouth to muffle a scream as she came. As her body trembled and shook, there was a loud cracking sound.

She jumped up quickly, only to fall to her knees, as her legs were still weak from the orgasm.

"Oh no...! Catra, are you okay?!" She panicked, sure that she had just broken the girl's neck, a fear amplified by the fact that Catra's tongue was hanging out limply.

And then Catra began to laugh uncontrollably.

"Hahahahaha, gotcha!" she chortled. "And thanks for that! I had a major crick in my neck that you finally popped."

Turning back into Adora, she grabbed the gag and shoved it back in Catra's mouth.
