Cold Feet

by TheStarGayzingEtherianCollection (TheStarGayzingEtherian)

Summary

The night before her wedding, Adora is finding herself full of doubt and hurt, haunted by what happened a year ago and wondering if she really does deserve to marry Catra. Despite going against normal tradition… Adora knows she needs to see her bride before the wedding. (Catradora, Canon, Hurt/Comfort/Smut, Follow up to "For The Woman Who Has Everything".)

Notes

See the end of the work for notes

Adora should have been happy. Emphasis on the should have. After all, tomorrow she was going to be marrying the love of her life and getting the happily ever after she'd always deserved with Catra. What young woman wouldn't be elated at the thought of her wedding day?

And yet… All Adora could feel inside of herself was anxiety and stress. Not from the wedding itself, no no, Glimmer and Catra had already taken care of the preparations. No, this anxiety came from somewhere else, a deep feeling of unease and unworthiness that had always been inside Adora.

Despite it being over a year ago and Adora knowing she should have been over it by now, the hero of Etheria was still deeply haunted by the events of her birthday, when Horde Prime had returned and forced her to live in a dream world while he nearly murdered her friends and conquered the planet all over again.

Adora was still hurt by the fact that she had to give up that perfect dream world to save her friends. It had truly been a paradise for her there, married to Catra, Angella having never been lost, her and Catra having a child together. There was no war, no hurt, no pain… and yet, that had been what had led Adora to realise it wasn't real at all.

But it was the pain of having to give up her happiness that was making Adora still wonder if she was even worthy enough of this happily ever after. That her family, whatever life she and Catra could build together could be taken away in an instant. It was like a wound that no matter how much Adora wanted it to, wouldn't close up.

She'd tried her best to push all of this unease to the back of her head, but tonight, as she lay in her bed alone… she couldn't stop thinking about it. She… She was scared and she knew she couldn't go through with the wedding like this.

While Etherian tradition dictated that the couple getting married weren't supposed to see each other before the wedding, Adora knew that it wasn't something that explicitly had to be followed. Besides, Adora had never exactly been the biggest follower of traditions and rules anyway… And she desperately needed to see Catra.

Pulling herself from her bed, she threw on a dressing gown and crept out of her room and down the hall to the guest room where Catra would be sleeping that evening. Fortunately, it was late enough that no one else was around, not even Glimmer and Bow making any midnight snack runs.

As she made her way to Catra's room, she dreaded what her fiancee's reaction would be. Part of her hoped Catra would be understanding. She knew her better than anyone else… but another part of her feared Catra would be upset, that all the wedding plans she'd made would be for nothing.

Eventually, Adora arrived at Catra's room, raising her hand to tap on the door. She hesitated for a moment, wondering if she was just overreacting and should have just gone straight back to her room and headed back to sleep. Sleep always did wonders for her in regards to her mental state.

But Adora knew these worries would raise their ugly head again and she wanted to nip this in the bud tonight, so the wedding tomorrow wouldn't be ruined. They'd spent so long planning this and Adora wasn't one to let good plans go to waste. She wanted this hurt to end and Catra was the only one who could help her.

Tapping her hand on the door, Adora gave in. "Catra… are you there?"

She heard the soft rustling of blankets in the next room and a groaning from the beautiful woman inside. She heard the sound of soft footsteps, as the door opened in front of her, Catra looking at her. Even when she was half asleep in the middle of the night, Adora still found Catra breathtaking her, her mismatched eyes glowing in the low light.

“Adora…?” The sleepy catgirl mumbled. “What… What are you doing here? Don’t you know we’re not supposed to see each other till tomorrow?”

“I know but… Catra, I need you right now,” Adora responded, shakily. “Please… I'm… I'm not okay.”

“Eh, fuck it, come in,” Catra said. “Traditions can go to hell anyway, you’re more important.”

Adora had to smile at Catra’s snark as she walked into the room. Catra let her sit on the bed and Adora felt Melog plop her head on her lap. The alien feline purred, nuzzling into Adora, making her relax a little. Both of her favourite felines giving her comfort was another thing that did wonders for Adora.

“So what’s this that’s gotten you in such a state, babe?” Catra wondered. “Wedding jitters?”

“No… kinda,” Adora began to attempt to explain. “I… I don’t know if this is right, if I should really be going through with this. I… I want to call off the wedding, Catra, or maybe postpone it… I don’t know, but I can’t do this tomorrow, I just can’t. My head… god I feel so fucked up inside.”

Now was the moment of truth, the moment where Adora would find out which side of her brain had been correct about its predictions regarding Catra’s reaction. To her relief, Catra wasn’t upset. If anything, Catra was more concerned about her well-being more than anything else.

“You… You really want to call off the wedding?” Catra wondered.

“I… I don’t know,” Adora replied, still unsure of herself, her thoughts deeply conflicted. “I just keep thinking about what happened on my birthday, when Prime came back… what if it all gets taken away from me again, Catra? I can't lose you… nor any of our children if we have any."

"Adora," Catra said calmly, caressing her cheek. "You already killed the biggest nastiest bastard in the universe. And even when he came back, we still took him out. I don't think there's gonna be anyone worse than Prime out there."

"But you and our child could get sick of some disease that can't be cured, or something happens to the planet or… I'm sorry I'm overreacting."

Catra shook her head. "No, No, No Adora, you're perfectly valid in what you're feeling. I'm just reassuring you that… that's not gonna happen."

"It's… It's not?"

"No, because you know something about yourself, Adora?" Catra asked. "You're the strongest woman in the universe. Not just because you're She-Ra… because you've never given up. You've had to make sacrifices at times, yes… but at the same time, I know you won't let those fears of yours happen. You'll fight to your dying breath to keep me safe and you know what… that's kinda hot if you ask me."

A light giggle came from Adora.

"Now, does that make you feel a bit better?"

"A little," Adora admitted. "I'm still… feeling a bit worried inside."

"Then… maybe I should remind you of what you'd be missing out on if you didn't marry me tomorrow." She gave Adora a playful wink.

Adora blushed bright red. Should they really do that before the wedding? Everything she'd heard was that couples were supposed to make love after their wedding… but they'd already broken half a dozen of those traditions anyway by now. One more wouldn't hurt. And knowing how much Catra loved her would definitely be able to bury her insecurities.

"Yes," Adora whispered, gazing fondly at her fiancee. "I'd… I'd like that."

Catra then leaned in closer, Adora's consent being given. She tilted her lover's chin up and gently pressed a kiss to her lips softly. Adora sighed, giving in completely from the moment Catra's lips touched her own. Catra started to deepen the kiss, reaching forward and helping Adora out of her nightgown.

Whimpering, Adora felt Catra's hands travel down her body, feeling her muscular form, their touches worshipping the blonde's body. As they travelled down, they slowly found themselves peeling away Adora's underwear, two of Catra's fingers gently brushing against her lover's wetness.

Adora gasped and Catra smirked, loving how little it took to make Adora aroused. Aggressively, Catra kissed Adora hard and pushed her down onto the bed. She quickly pulled off Adora's underwear, taking a moment to admire her fiancee's nude form. Adora blushed adorably, trying to hide her face a little.

"You're all mine, Adora, until death do us part," Catra whispered seductively, before she pounced down and kissed Adora again. Adora moaned as Catra began to kiss her neck, then her now exposed and bare breasts, slowly and lovingly travelling down her body towards her lower region.

As Adora looked down, she finally saw Catra arriving at her folds, the felid licking her lips in delight. She whined in anticipation, wanting Catra to just get it over with already, but Catra just smirked back at her, teasing her knowingly. Adora was now putty in Catra's hands, just as the felid wanted her.

Having teased Adora long enough, Catra finally took Adora's lower lips into her mouth, devouring them. Adora moaned and cried out in joy, grabbing the bedsheets as Catra's tongue slid over her folds and inside. Waves of pleasure and delight surged through Adora, the blonde even crying a little.

Catra kept up the pace, not wanting to disappoint her love for even a second. She loved how Adora tasted, how perfect she was to her. Adora had spent her whole life trying to show how perfect she was to the world, but to Catra, she didn't need to. She was the most beautiful girl in the whole damned universe as far as she was concerned.

Still moaning, Adora felt all the pain and hurt wash out of her as she was tasted and eaten. Whatever magic Catra had, it was working. Adora felt like such a fool to not want to marry this woman, to deny Catra's touch and pleasure. She wanted this amazing beautiful woman in her life… and to be her wife.

The taste of Catra's lips and tongue against her clit made Adora shudder. She could tell she was close, it wasn't a secret that Catra knew just how to bring her to her climax as quickly as possible. The key thing was though… how much was Catra going to make her come in that moment.

Her tongue still focusing on Adora's bud, Catra looked up hungrily at the woman she loved, watching her writhe and arch forward in pleasure. It delighted Catra to see Adora this way, letting go of all her worries and just surrendering to every inch of her love. Because as Mara had told her, Adora was very deserving of love.

Sweat beading down her brow, Adora panted as she could feel her orgasm getting closer and closer by the second. By Mara, Catra's tongue was amazing. She felt Catra's hands firmly grab her thighs to pin her down, but Adora wasn't going to be moving anytime soon. She was in paradise as far as she was concerned.

Growling into Adora's bud, Catra knew her fiancee was on the verge of coming. She was practically on the verge of screaming in joy. So much adorable whimpering and moaning, it was like music to Catra's ears. And she wanted to hear more of it, more of the beautiful melody that came from Adora's voice.

“Catra… Catra… CATRA!!!” Adora cried out.

And then, Adora came, hard. Her juices gushed from her wetness like a river and she shook heavily with pleasure, her whole form tingling with ecstasy as her eyes shut tightly. She eventually came down from her high and panted, lying back down on the bed, feeling Catra eagerly cleaning her up.

“Mmmm… you did so well for me, Princess,” Catra purred, licking the juice from Adora’s folds and bud. “My beautiful wife.”

“We’re… not married yet,” Adora whispered with a little giggle.

“And I thought you were wanting to call off the wedding,” Catra remarked with a smirk.

“Not anymore… I… fuck Catra will you marry me?”

“Gladly,” Catra responded, full of love.

Adora’s steel blue eyes then shot open. “Then in that case, why don’t you come back with me to my room so I can take you as mine?”

Catra suddenly blushed bright red at the dominant tone Adora’s voice had taken. Oh, she was definitely in a good mood again if that side of her was making an appearance. The felid’s ears drooped a little as she shyly played with her tail, watching Adora sit up, a smug smirk on her face.

“Well, kitten?” Adora flirted, in a tone that made Catra go completely weak.

“Oh… fuck yes,” Catra finally got the words out.

Grinning, Adora then jumped off the bed and scooped her true love into her arms. Catra flushed red as she clung on to Adora, the blonde carrying her out of the guest room and down the hall. Traditionally, carrying the bride over the threshold was usually done after the wedding, but Adora and Catra by this point didn't care. They wanted each other, badly.

Rushing down the hall with Catra in her arms, Adora practically barged the door to her room open and quickly shut it behind her once she set Catra down on her feet. With the door closed, Adora quickly pounced on Catra, grabbing the felid's face into her firm hands and kissing her as deeply as she could.

Surrendering completely, Catra kissed back, holding onto Adora as the blonde pulled off her nightgown and underwear with her hands, exposing her nude, fur-covered form for her fiancee to see. Parting from the kiss for a moment, Adora took a moment to drink in the sight of Catra.

She always looked so precious when she was in her submissive mode. And Adora treated it like a precious treasure, since Catra would only feel comfortable like this with her, allowing herself to be the vulnerable one. And since Catra had taken good care of her just now, Adora was more than happy to return the favour.

Gently kissing Catra again, Adora pushed her lover onto the nearby bed. As she and Catra lay down together, Adora's fingers gently found their way between Catra's legs, brushing against the opening of her very wet slit. As she touched the softest part of Catra, the felid mewled a little.

"I'm… so horny…"

"Oh, I can tell~" Adora whispered. "I love it when you're like this."

Catra mewled again and Adora then reached to her neck and gently left a bite on Catra's furry skin, sucking on a bruise. Catra moaned adorably, surprised that Adora was the one to bite her for once… and that she would be so bold as to give her a hickey the night before their wedding.

"People… will notice that…"

“I’m counting on it,” Adora rumbled. “I want them to know that you’re mine, beyond the ring I'm gonna put on your finger.”

“Oh fuck… you’re so fucking hot when you’re like this.”

Her fingers then slipped into Catra, muscular fingers that curled up within the felid right away. Catra gasped and moaned, clinging onto Adora as the blonde kept fingering her in and out as fast as she could. The wetness of Catra’s folds already provided more than enough lubrication for the fingers.

Still clinging on, Catra moaned and whimpered as she was fingered by Adora powerfully, the blonde’s other hand wrapped around her and holding her in place as she kept up the pleasure. Adora partly wanted to transform into her She-Ra form for this, but knew it’d be best to save that little treat for the actual wedding night.

Faster and faster, Adora kept up the speed of her fingers, slipping a second into her lover. With two fingers, she knew that would be more than enough for Catra to handle, the felid still clinging on. Giving fully into her desire for Adora, Catra’s claws gently scraped at Adora’s back, digging into her.

Once Catra would have been ashamed to have hurt Adora again, but Adora had reassured her enough now that nothing Catra could do would hurt her ever again. A little blood trickled from the deep marks on Adora’s back, but Adora didn’t mind, knowing her healing powers would take care of that.

Catra moaned louder and harder, so Adora then kissed her as deeply as she could with her fingers still thrusting into her love. Catra still moaned loudly, muffled into Adora’s mouth as the blonde buried her fingers deeper into the catgirl. Catra felt like putty in Adora’s hands and at that moment there was no place she’d rather be.

Very soon, Catra could start to feel her own orgasm begin to rise. She pulled out of the kiss for a second to breathe, before she looked lustfully into Adora's eyes. She was unable to form any words, but Adora still knew how desperately she wanted to come. And then Adora picked up the speed a little, thrusting harder and faster.

Moaning loudly in gratitude, Catra arched herself forward, trying to push more of herself over Adora's fingers. She kept panting heavily, mewling as she could feel the orgasmic wave within her growing larger and larger, barely able to keep it back. She was so desperate, so needy.

"Adora… ADORA! FUCK!"

Adora just grinned and thrusted her fingers in faster. "That's right kitten… come… COME!"

"I'M COMING!" Catra screamed and then… she did.

A wave of beautiful juice came from Catra's folds and gushed over Adora's hand. Catra whined and mewled as she came down, Adora just smirking smugly, making the felid just blush deeply. Adora leaned in closer and kissed her fiancee lovingly, so very proud of her for coming.

"Good girl… such a good girl…"

"Thank you…" Catra weakly sighed. "Thank you…"

"Now let me do round two and eat you out," Adora rasped hungrily.

"Please…" Catra panted, still needy.

"Well… since you did say please like a good girl," Adora flirted, before she bit the other side of Catra's neck, making the felid squirm and scream as Adora sucked on another bruise.

"Not fair…!" Catra whined.

"Yes fair, because well, I couldn't just leave only one side of your neck marked now could I?" Adora replied with a wink.

Then, as Catra lay down, Adora travelled down her lover's body, focusing on her breasts for a moment, kissing them and squeezing them softly, hearing Catra whimper as she did so. She even buried herself in the big tuft of fur between Catra's breasts, loving how soft that particular part of fur felt.

Kissing down Catra's stomach, Adora eventually reached her lover's moistness. It was clear Catra was still dripping wet, the felid wiggling a little as she desperately wanted Adora to eat her out. And while it was cute to watch Catra wriggle and be needy like the little brat she was, Adora knew she had to put the girl in her place eventually.

So then, she dove down, tasting Catra's folds with her lips and beginning to lick and eat the felid out. Though she much preferred using a strap or fingering, Adora did love to taste Catra and feel the sweetness of her lover's nether regions against her own lips. She focused on the folds, the fur surrounding them and the delicious bud that was nestled above them.

Catra moaned hotly as she felt Adora begin to focus on her clit, feeling the blonde flick it with her tongue. As Adora kept eating, Catra reached down and threaded her fingers through her lover's long blonde hair. Screaming and moaning, Catra desperately wanted Adora to make her come again.

Was this probably going to happen every night after they were married? Catra certainly hoped so because as far as she was concerned, this was some of the best sex she'd ever had in her life. She gripped the sheets with her free hand, while her other hand was firmly and fully focused on Adora.

"Keep… going… don't stop…" Catra managed to pant out a few words, but Adora had no intention of stopping. She firmly grabbed Catra's hips with her hands and pushed her down to hold her in place, as the tongue tasted every inch of Catra's wetness. Her true love, her beautiful wife-to-be, she deserved everything Adora could give her and more.

Hearing her lover's breathing grow huskier by the second, Adora picked up the pace, hearing the moans grow faster and faster. She growled into Catra's folds as she aggressively ate her out, pouring all of her strength and passion into this single, devoted act of love.

"Adora… I'M COMING AGAIN!" Catra screamed with a loud mewl. She shook heavily as she came again, hard and beautifully. Sweat dripped from her brow as she came down, feeling as though Adora had taken her to the stars and back again. As she sighed with wonder, she felt Adora gently cleaning her up.

Moments later, Adora climbed up and spooned Catra into her arms, sighing with love as she held her favourite woman in all the world. Catra purred softly, Adora humming in turn, both of them feeling content in that moment. Tomorrow couldn't come any sooner, the day when the two of them would be married.

"That was amazing," Catra whispered.

"And you are amazing," Adora replied. "I don't have any regrets about marrying you tomorrow."

"Glad… I could help," Catra murmured sleepily. And then, she drifted off in Adora's arms, and Adora soon did the same, both of them having much more pleasant dreams.

The next morning, as the sun shone in Adora's bedroom, the blonde's eyes flickered open. Excitement filled her as she knew that today was her wedding day, the day she'd been waiting for for so very long. As she sat up in her bed, she looked over at the sleeping Catra, still in the nude from the night before.

She reached down and stroked behind Catra's ears, grateful that she'd been there for her that night. She knew she wouldn't be feeling as good as she was at that moment if Catra hadn't comforted her and finally buried those damned insecure feelings that had plagued her for over a year.

And Adora wanted to reward Catra, to thank her for that. Sure, today was the happiest day of their lives and that would be a reward unto of itself, Adora still wanted to do something special, something for Catra and only her. And then, she spied something on the mannequin beside her bed and it gave her just the idea.

A few minutes later, Catra's surprise was prepared. Adora slowly walked to Catra's side of the bed, looking at her lover lying in the nude. She partly didn't want to wake her but… well, she did want Catra to see her surprise after all. She reached down and gently petted Catra's cheek.

"Psst, Catra," Adora whispered. "I have something for you."

"Mmm… what?" Catra sleepily groaned, opening her dazzling eyes. When Catra laid her eyes on Adora, said eyes widened to the size of the moons in the Etherian sky and her jaw dropped fully.

Adora… looked absolutely perfect. The blonde was wearing her wedding dress, a gorgeous white ballgown with beautiful golden patterns on the skirt, bodice and poofy shoulder straps. Long gloves covered Adora's arms, a tiara rested on Adora's head, her hair was worn a little longer than normal and a gorgeous silky veil was draped over her face and trailing behind her, little crystals etched into it.

Catra blinked, a soft blush forming on her cheeks. She… She couldn't believe her eyes when she saw how beautiful Adora looked in her dress.

"I'm… I'm still dreaming right?" Catra asked.

Her bride giggled. "No, I'm really here. We practically destroyed every wedding tradition last night so… I figured why not let you see your blushing bride right now."

“I… I think I’m the one who's blushing here,” the flustered catgirl responded. “Holy hell, you look great in that.”

“Why thank you~” Adora flirted.

Climbing off the bed, Catra slowly walked closer to Adora, pinching herself a couple of times to reassure herself that this was really happening. She’d known Adora would look amazing in her wedding dress, but not this perfect. Part of her wanted to just march her down the aisle already so they could be married, but she’d settle for this private moment the two of them now had.

“Can… I kiss you?” Catra asked.

“Yes, you can,” Adora whispered, reaching forward to lift up her veil just a little bit. Catra then moved in closer and took the veil into her hands, before going underneath it. As the gauzy screen surrounded her and Catra’s heads, Adora wrapped her hands around her love, as Catra then leaned in and kissed her deeply.

Adora deepened the kiss, holding her nude lover close in her gloved arms as they began to make out beneath the veil. Both of them felt so deeply happy, that today had finally come, that from this day forward they would wives, united forever and nothing to ever tear them apart again.

Still kissing, Catra kept pulling Adora close, knowing she would cherish this day for the rest of her life. She slid her arms all over Adora’s gorgeous dress as they made out, feeling as though her own wedding attire would probably pale in comparison to this. But all of that could wait, she was just enjoying the fact she was making out with her bride.

But while the tender moment lasted for a while, it, unfortunately, didn’t last forever… as then the door to Adora’s room suddenly opened.

“Hey, Adora, don’t panic but I couldn’t find Catra in her room and-” Glimmer then saw the two of them kissing. Adora and Catra suddenly pulled from their embrace and Catra quickly removed herself from under Adora's veil.

"Uhhh… hey Sparkles!" Catra exclaimed, very embarrassed. Both she and Adora were blushing now, feeling very, very awkward.

Glimmer just laughed. "I should have known you two would do something like this. Decided to get some traditions done early, did you?"

"Something like that," Catra excused. "Adora was getting cold feet and she came to me and well…"

"One thing led to another…" Adora added.

"It's… It's fine," Glimmer accepted, rolling her eyes and sighing. "But Catra needs to get ready for your wedding."

"Right, right, I guess I do," Catra admitted. "Want me to put some pants on or?"

"No, I'll just teleport you," Glimmer groaned. "At least you both are happy, that's the main thing."

"Thanks, Sparkles," Catra said, before walking over to her. "I'll uh… see you in a bit, Adora."

"Don't keep me waiting too long," Adora teased. "I can't wait to see how you'll look."

Catra smiled fondly, before Glimmer yanked her hand and teleported them away. Adora just sighed and sat on her bed, looking out of the window. It would probably be a few hours before the ceremony, but she knew those few hours would feel like an eternity for her. But she'd waited so long to be with Catra again and long enough for this day.

She could manage a few hours. And the wait would definitely be worth it.

End Notes

Got another pair of fics to wrap up the year with! First up, some Catradora smut that's a follow up to a fic I posted waaaay back in January... but you don't need to have read that one to get this one.

If you liked the fic, please be sure to comment!
