Summary

Set in the middle of season two.

Entrapta works through the technical difficulties of being with someone nearly twice her size. Hordak realizes that there is more to sex than the emperor of the known universe had taught him. Neither of them has a clue about romantic relationships.

Entrapta is lying on her back under a console, wires hanging down around her and an array of tools held in her lavender locks. That isn't an unusual sight. What is unusual is the lack of motion and her uncovered, slightly glazed, and unblinking eyes staring directly at Hordak.

Looking over his data pad, he asks softly, "Are you feeling well? You've been staring at me for the last five minutes."

She blinks rapidly and quickly drops her welding mask over her face. "Sorry! I'm just having a really hard time concentrating."

She shimmies out from under the console, stands up, her hair reaching for the duct, and stammers, "I, um, I just need a little break." With a quick motion, she's in the duct and rapidly moving away.

Hordak sets his data pad down on a workbench. This is the first time Entrapta excused herself, but he's noticed the sideways looks and her general distraction over the last several days. He needs to figure out what is bothering her so he can remedy it quickly and continue their work.

Entrapta makes it back to her room in record time. Even though she didn't use the door to gain entrance, she makes sure it's locked. Hordak had caught her staring at him! She's never been fixated on a person before, but with his glowing red eyes, unusual features, and elaborate armor, he looks like the sexiest cyborg imaginable. His raw intelligence and technological prowess certainly don't hurt anything either. It's impossible for her not to obsess.

Her first exposure to him was through video screens, while intriguing, it paled in comparison to the first time she met him in person. Afterward, she inquired with Catra about his sexual availability, but Catra just laughed and said he would split her in two. That sent Entrapta down a rabbit hole of very specialized research.

She sits down on her bed and opens the bedside drawer; it holds the material representation of her current side project: a huge blue dildo and a half used bottle of lube.

She used the most accurate datasets available to model, hopefully, a realistic replica of Hordak's penis. She hasn't actually seen the real thing, so she used the top end range from the data to make sure that, given the opportunity, the real thing would fit. It had taken every moment of her free time, over a dozen bottles of lubricant, and finally, earlier in the week, she accomplished the stage one goal of her side project: taking the entire thing with no pain or discomfort.

When she was still working through the first stage, it was easy to stay focused while working alongside Hordak. She had the evening and morning reminders of what damage could occur if she was unable to control all the variables. Now that she has mitigated the possibility of injury, those morning and evening exercises no longer help her to stay focused.

The second stage of the project is to initiate sex with Hordak, but her fear of rejection makes her hesitant to proceed. She's never been with a biological entity before.

She closes the drawer and starts pacing around the room.

A tendril of hair produces her tape recorder and presses record, "Hordak log 58. Problem: Delaying stage two is causing unforeseen impacts to focus and productivity severe enough to endanger my continued welcome and access to Hordak and his sactum. I need to figure out how to proposition him, or i'll be forced to move back to my own lab; alone." The tape recorder makes a loud click as her hair presses the stop button.

Entrapta flops down on her bed and considers what action is most likely to produce the desired outcome. Tendrils of her hair reach out, their ends making soft grasping motions as if to pluck the best ideas out of thin air. Given how he interacts with his subordinates, she doubts a coquettish approach would do anything more than anger him. He is a man of science; he values her as a scientist. The direct approach is the most likely to succeed.

The purple tendril holding the tape recorder swings back toward her mouth, loud click sounding again, "Proposed solution: Negotiate sexual intercourse as part of standard lab routine."

Entrapta stands up, considers the vent, and walks to the door. Though her negotiating skills aren't strong, Hordak has proven to be accommodating in all other regards. A tendril of hair reopens the bedside table, removes the lube, and stashes it in her overalls. With a deep breath, she opens the door and heads back toward the sactum.

Hordak is considering the mess made of the console and what the goal of her work is when he hears the door open. Entrapta walks in, welding mask up, brows close together, jaw closed tight.

"I've come up with a solution to overcome my distraction: I require regular sexual intercourse with you." Entrapta states it like she's asking for better rollers for her chair or more elaborate tiny rations.

He isn't unfamiliar with such things, Horde Prime requires the same thing from his clones. In truth, helping with that is a mostly pleasant task, but he isn't sure how it works with a female. He considers her form and determines that as long as she uses only a single smaller tendril of hair for penetration, he should be able to accommodate her.

"Define regular." He says in an equally even tone.

"Once daily with the possibility of more as needed." Her eyes sparkle as she considers the possibilities. Back home, she would engage with specially modified robots whenever she hit a roadblock or while waiting for an experiment to finish. That didn't always translate to once a day, but approximately averaged that.

"What specific activities do you have in mind?" He queries.

"Oh, you know, primarily vaginal intercourse, occasional oral sex, and maybe some light cuddling. Oh, and kissing too! Definitely kissing." Her voice is excited, and she makes hand motions to indicate each action. She flashes him her biggest closed eye toothy smile.

Through animal studies, he is familiar with vaginal sex. From Horde Prime, he has a thorough understanding of oral sex, but what are those other things?

"I must warn you, I do not possess a vagina, and what is cuddling and kissing?"

"No, silly, I have a vagina! You'll put your penis inside it for vaginal sex. Cuddling is like hugging lying down. Kissing is when you touch your mouth to another person's mouth. The best kisses involve tongues!" She practically vibrates.

This is unfamiliar. Only Horde Prime engages in penetrative actions. He considers her again, this time as a recipient. Her animated hair makes her seem large, but her frame is small, her hips narrower than his, and her torso short.

"I doubt penile vaginal intercourse would work with our size difference, but I'm willing to perform oral sex and kissing whenever you need it." He states earnestly.

"Don't discredit vaginal sex so quickly; I'm fairly certain I've overcome that obstacle!" This time, she gives him an earnest smile that slowly morphes into a hungry leer as her eyes drift down his body.

This is very familiar. He feels the blood flow into his penis. He suspects that all of Prime's clones are genetically conditioned to respond to that specific look as there has never been a time when it didn't elicit sudden sexual arousal and an overwhelming need to please. He sashays up to her and drags his index finger down along the edge of her chin.

"Where do you have in mind?" He asks breathlessly.

"Well, sex is usually performed on a bed. We could go to my room." She drags her gloved hands down his chest, her expression intensifying.

"My room is closer." He practically moans.

"Lead the way, lab partner!"

She can't believe how successful that approach was. The change in his demeanor, after reassuring him of her intercourse capabilities, has supercharged her libido. Eyes glued to his swishing cape, she follows him to a blank wall. He pushes on it and reveals a hidden room.

Inside everything is the same shade of dark grey. The ceiling glows from green tinted lights set into the molding. There is a large bed with a single lonely pillow, a wardrobe, and a vanity set into an alcove with red lights ringing the mirror. An opening into a tiled room hints at a bathroom.

Hordak removes his cloak and tabard and places them neatly over the vanity chair. He adjusts the thin cloth at his groin, freeing his erection and sits down on the bed facing her.

His penis is wider than anticipated. The difference in length is negligible. It is white at the reasonably sized tip down to the overly wide base, with sharp blue lines running up the shaft, his large testicles are blue. The shape is similar to expectations, but without the pronounced head that etherian males usually possess. Greater length would pose a serious issue, but Entrapta decides the girth problem can be tackled in situ.

Captivated, Entrapta removes her gloves and stretches her fingers as she moves toward Hordak. A hand of purple hair touches the center of his chest and pushes him back flat on the bed. With her bare hands, she encircles his shaft. He lets out a soft moan. The click of the tape recorder is unmistakable.

"Hordak log 58. Negotiations were successful. Moving on to sexual intercourse. Hordak's phallus is approximately 1.34 inches greater in circumference than anticipated. Length is as anticipated. Firmness and pliablity are within acceptable parameters. Problem: previous exercises have not stretched my vaginal canal sufficiently, and full insertion will take approximately 18 minutes to avoid tissue damage and possible muscle injury. Solution: immobilize Hordak for the duration to assure injury avoidance. " The tape recorder clicks off.

"Will you allow me to hold you down while I work my vagina around your penis?" She asks sweetly while gently stroking his shaft.

"Yes." Functional control of his body retreated with her first leer and is unlikely to return until she is satisfied. For now, he is stuck as a passive observer.

A purple whirlwind of hair quickly discards all of Entrapta's clothes into a pile on the floor and gently sets her welding mask on top. Her eyes linger on his erection; it's as big as her forearm. With a final light squeeze at his base, she announces, "I should empty my bladder to maximize my vaginal capacity."

She quickly dashes into the tiled room. It is indeed a bathroom. It is spotless, the shower and the sink hold multiple tubes and bottles all lined up neatly. She quickly uses the toilet and then considers the toilet paper. It's not very sexy or hygienic.

"I'm going to clean up first. You stay right there and leave the armor on!" She calls out to him as the sound of the shower starts up.

She grabs one of the bottles with the word soap on the label and quickly cleans her armpits, vagina, and ass. The bottle she leaves open and places back near where she grabbed it from, bubbles running down its exterior and around the bases of several other bottles. He hears the water shut off far sooner than he would be able to clean himself. She considers his overly large robe but instead opts to use his more appropriately sized hand towel, dabbing dry and discarding it on the floor.

Entapta comes loping back into the bedroom. Hordak's eyes follow her bouncing breasts.

"I'm going to need you to readjust. Lie on your back in the center of the bed with your legs tight together and your arms loosely over your head." She rummages in her overalls as Hordak moves into position. She produces the half full bottle of lubricant.

Entrapta assesses Hordak's new position as tendrils of hair move her onto the bed. Satisfied, she straddles his thighs just above his poleyns and the stockings he wears underneath.

"Do you think you'll be comfortable in this position for the next 20 minutes?" Entrapta asks.

"Yes." Hordak breathes.

"Great! I will apply the lubricant." She pours out a dollop onto her hand and works it all around his shaft. She smears some on his armor, but all he is able to do is moan. She considers what is left and then adds more to her hand, rubbing it around and inside her vagina. She closes the bottle and places her lube coated hands on the cables running along either side of his chest, the feel of slick metal under her palms familiar and exciting.

"It's time to restrain you. Please don't strain against it; I don't want either of us to get hurt." The tendrils of her hair rope around his arms, legs, and lift them gently to grasp his torso, shoulders, and neck. Only his thighs, hips, chest, and head are left exposed. The hair squeezes him lightly and then relaxes slightly. A soft popping noise that lasts over a minute surrounds him before ceasing.

"The bonds have been reconfigured, and I will not be able to release you without reverting the process. I programmed a twenty minute safety release, but it takes approximately 82 seconds to fully disengage. Attempting to break free before then is ill advisable." The wild smile she flashes him with that last sentence is frightening, but all he is capable of is staring at her mouth and licking his lips.

"Hordak, you are the sexiest person I've ever known. I've been fantasizing about this since we first met!" Entrapta confesses as she eagerly crawls up his body, grabbing his shaft with her right hand and placing her left hand on his chest. She slowly lowers herself onto him, taking in just over half in one steady glide before it becomes too tight to easily move down. She readjusts her hands on his chest, lube hand prints showing where she's been. Her hips lift slightly before coming down in a circular fashion. She repeats this motion, gaining fractions of an inch with each iteration.

Hordak closes his eyes, his mouth hangs open, and he is aware of deep moans coming from somewhere. The intensity is unlike anything Prime had done with him. The feeling is similar to when Prime would occasionally brush against a part in his rectum, but this sensation is constant and not accompanied by any pain. It is better than Horde Prime's light.

Entrapta continues with the slow lift and grind. When she is just over three quarters of the way down the cacophony of Hordak's moans, wet squelching sounds, and the constant hum of machines pair with the intense feeling of her vaginal cavity straining against his massive erection and threaten to bring her over the edge. She can only deliver on her twenty minute promise if she can hold off an orgasm until after she completes the task of taking him in all the way. She is so close, and Hordak's vocalizations are not helping.

She is too short to try and silence him with a kiss. Releasing him enough for him to sit up on his elbows would be dangerous for her vaginal integrity. She decides instead to place her hand over his mouth, "Shhh."

She anticipated the feel of his breath, but the soft wet tongue swirling on her senstive palm is completely unexpected. It is too much. Her entire body tightens. She has the presence of mind to pitch forward onto his chest as she painfully spasms around his thick cock. Her fully stretched pelvic muscles desperately trying to contract around Hordak's impossibly large phallus.

Hordak misses her hand as it falls away from his reach, but the intense pulses around his shaft trigger an entirely new experience. Deep guttural noises escape his mouth as his shaft swells and starts pumping into her. It is the most incredible thing he has ever felt. Is this the feeling a god is able to derive from the body of a clone?

Entrapta regains her senses, determines that she is not damaged, and assesses the quantity of ejaculate that is oozing out around his still half buried shaft, "Huh. Well, producing an heir is a checklist item." The council reminds her of that fact at every annual meeting.

She pulls herself off his softening member and sits back on his thighs. The rapidly forming puddle underneath her is slowly wicked away by his knee high stockings.

"That didn't quite go to plan. Do you have any idea what your refractory period is?"

"I do not."

As his sense of agency returns, he finds the strength of her hair and his complete helplessness deeply troubling; he is unable to do more than breathe and move his mouth and eyes.

She lighly caresses his shaft with her fingertips. "We should investigate," she says with a hungry smile. The blood rushes back into his penis.

"Wow! That is fascinating! Okay, lab partner, I think we can still hit our deadline."

This time, when she glides down his shaft, she nearly makes it all the way down, and instead of slow lifts and grinds, she uses simple lifts and drops. On the tenth iteration, he feels the lips of her labia on his balls. On the fifteenth, he feels the tip of his member hit something firm at the back of her channel.

That soft popping noise surrounds him again. The tendrils of her hair slowly release him and start undulating across his body. They're everywhere, but they seem particularly interested in his face and ears. A single tendril of hair separates from the silky purple ocean flowing across his body to push his hips up into her.

By the time the popping stops, Entrapta is no longer moving up and down. She is now sitting on his lap, strong thighs helping her to grind down against his hips.The tip of his penis is grinding against the back of her channel.

Her fingers trace his armored arms while his hands caress her toned thighs. Her head is pitched so far back that all he can see of her face is her chin. Hordak's cock firmly tracing tight little spirals against her cervix is the most amazing thing she has ever felt. She wants to live in this moment forever. Her breathy moans turn into the same guttural noises that he had made earlier. lt feels like he's pressing pure bliss into the center of her and then it spreads to her whole body. She losses herself to the most powerful orgasm she's ever had.

As she starts to fall backward, Hordak catches her and rolls them so she is on her back. Still inside of her, he slowly starts to thrust into her quivering channel. Her eyes are closed, she's drooling, and her hair occasionally ripples, but is mostly still. He regains conscious control of his body. Even with her now relaxed muscles, the feeling is exquisite.

He picks up the pace and arches his back to bring his mouth to hers. He has seen people kiss, but he has never done it before. He presses his mouth to hers, and she stirs, opening her lips slightly. He cautiously dips his tongue into her mouth. Her eyes flutter open, and she sucks his tongue in.

The unexpected feeling is so intense that Hordak loses control, his hips start wildly pounding into her. Entrapta angles her hips up to match him and presses her heels firmly against his ass, forcing him in deep. With her mouth she alternates the amount of suction applied to his tongue. He realizes she is mimicking the sensation her vagina produces during the period when it convulses.

Hordak's hips stutter, and he forces his shaft all the way in, grinding against that place Entrapta was so infatuated with. She pulls away from his mouth to rub her face against his chest, delicious whimpers escaping her. They tip over the edge together. He is barely aware enough to keep the bulk of his weight off her. As he finishes emptying into his beautiful, dangerous scientist, he hears the click of her recorder.

"Hordak log 58. Conclusion: Sexual intercourse with Hordak has proven to be a resounding success! My body, while somewhat sore, is undamaged, and fully relaxed. My mind is again free to consider our work, and I successfully negotiated once daily, with the possibility of more as needed, access to partnered sexual release." She decides to add her other observations in private, and the recorder clicks off.

Entrapta's hair gently lifts him out of and off her body and sets him down on the other side of the bed. She hops out of bed, purple tendrils sorting her clothes. He watches ribbons of his ejaculate stream down her inner thighs as she dresses.

She smiles at him brightly, "Come on, lab partner, we have so much work to catch up on!" She bounds out of the room, and back to the console she tore apart that morning.

Hordak, laying in a wet spot from earlier, considers his soaked sheets and sticky armor. He decides fully automating the cleanup process is now their highest priority.
