Good Girl

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/62359831.

Rating:
Explicit

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Catra (She-Ra), Adora (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Semi-Public Sex, Begging, Biting, Vaginal Fingering, S&M, Top Catra (She-Ra), Bottom Adora (She-Ra), Dom Catra (She-Ra), Sub Adora (She-Ra), Grinding, Catra is Bad at Feelings (She-Ra), Catra Has Issues (She-Ra), Hate Sex, Alternate Universe - Canon Divergence, Power Dynamics, Dirty Talk, Adora Has A Praise Kink (She-Ra)

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2025-01-19 Words: 7,976 Chapters: 1/1

Good Girl

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/62359831.

Rating:
Explicit

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Catra (She-Ra), Adora (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Semi-Public Sex, Begging, Biting, Vaginal Fingering, S&M, Top Catra (She-Ra), Bottom Adora (She-Ra), Dom Catra (She-Ra), Sub Adora (She-Ra), Grinding, Catra is Bad at Feelings (She-Ra), Catra Has Issues (She-Ra), Hate Sex, Alternate Universe - Canon Divergence, Power Dynamics, Dirty Talk, Adora Has A Praise Kink (She-Ra)

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2025-01-19 Words: 7,976 Chapters: 1/1

Good Girl

by Asphyxia

Summary

Canon divergence; Catra has been avoiding Adora since she was captured by the Horde, but she can only keep it together for so long before her complicated feelings toward her reach a boiling point during an intense, emotionally charged encounter. (diverges from the episode No Princess Left Behind)

Notes

Happy birthday Adora! With ten minutes to spare here is my yearly explict birthday fic. Apologies if the setup is a little shaky, this was very experimental and a lot kinkier than my usual stuff and it's honestly downright filthy but I had fun with it!! Alternate title is Adora Has A Praise Kink: The Fic

Second chapter is already mostly done and will go up sometime in the upcoming weeks :) I also have a new chapter of each of my other multi chapter fics. Writer's block is finally ebbing

Honestly, as irritating as it was having to put up with Adora living in the Fright Zone now that the two were enemies, it was nice watching her squirm.

At first, having her back in the Fright Zone had made Catra so angry she couldn't see straight. She'd gone back to her Force Captain quarters and ripped the mattress off the bed, thrown the bed frame against the wall, torn the life out of her pillow and needed to have Scorpia pick up a replacement for her while she was picking up a new toothbrush for herself. At first, she'd been so convinced that now she was going to lose everything since stupid, simple, perfect Adora was back and now Shadow Weaver would have no reason not to strip her of her rank and force her back to cadet. For a few days, she waited with bated breath, daring Shadow Weaver to make a move to usurp her. However, when nothing happened, she started to relax.

It took seeing Shadow Weaver storming into the Black Garnet chamber after leaving Hordak's inner sanctum from a meeting with him, clearly agitated and furious, for Catra to relax completely. She watched from the steel beams overhead and then leaped to the floor to watch from the doorway as the sorceress stormed over to the runestone and lifted her hands almost rabidly up to it, looking helpless, slumped, defeated. So Hordak wasn't going to let her have her way? Of course not. It made the most delicious kind of sense. Adora had defected, well and truly defected. Sure, Hordak didn't know that she was the new, ridiculous princess that'd been giving them the ringer lately. But it was obvious from the fact that she'd been gone so long, that she'd infiltrated the Fright Zone to rescue that stupid sparkly prisoner. She was only here now doing Shadow Weaver's bidding under the threat of Glimmer being eliminated unless Adora complied.

Catra wasn't sure what Shadow Weaver had done to smooth things over well enough to allow Adora to even stay, even just as some strange sort of hostage, but it clearly wasn't enough to put things back the way Shadow Weaver wanted them. Honestly, she knew it was probably only a matter of time before Adora hatched some sort of plan to get she and her friend out. She wasn't sure exactly what Shadow Weaver was even expecting.

It made Catra want to laugh.

Her anger turned into the most electrifying, placating kind of satisfaction, watching Adora wander around with her brow furrowed. Clearly Shadow Weaver's attempted memory wipe had had some adverse effects despite it not actually working; Catra would watch her sometimes, from a distance. She would stop in the middle of what she was doing—sometimes latrine duty, sometimes training exercises, sometimes just doing pushups alone beside her bunk because no one wanted to talk to her—and she would clutch her head for a few moments at a time and then glance around, bewildered, like she didn't know where she was.

Finally, she was suffering the way she'd made Catra suffer, and it made her feel a kind of peace, almost. It sowed peace on the surface but something about it made a hunger blaze underneath, one she was hard pressed to ignore. It was close to what she deserved for abandoning her, for throwing her away like she was nothing. For replacing what they'd had together with those stupid sparkly princesses and their dumb magic. Just thinking about it made her blood boil.

It was a delicate balance between her blood-churning rage toward the blonde whenever she thought of how she'd left her…and underneath a kind of strange pity toward her, the resurgence of love and tenderness that she still kept pressed down in the oldest parts of her heart. It was difficult to ignore from time to time, but when she made sure to focus on everything that had happened since she defected instead of the old memories, it made it just the slightest bit less painful.

Catra didn't even give Adora the satisfaction of speaking to her. She would make a cursory appearance at training drills, the bare minimum of what she had to do to fulfill her obligations as Captain, and she would only waltz in when Adora was well and truly deep into the motions, so there would be no chance for her to come over and confront her. She would catch her watching her, and turn away dismissively, not giving her the dignity of her acknowledgment. It would feel so good, she knew, to scream at Adora, to tell her how much she hated her, how she wished she hadn't come back, how she deserved all of this for the way she left Catra, but she wouldn't give her that. She didn't deserve her time.

On this particular day, Catra had just gotten back from leading a raiding party, and she found Adora easily, wanting to check in on how miserable she was. Adora wasn't allowed out of the Fright Zone for obvious reasons and Catra knew it must have been infuriating on some level, even if she wasn't back in the Horde by choice, to her to watch her team leave without her, under the command of Catra.

*I have what you always wanted, Adora. And I hope it hurts you so much.

Adora was furiously going at a punching bag in the locker rooms, and Catra watched her with a smirk on her face. It was clear she was frustrated and miserable. Adora didn't handle not being everyone's favorite very well, apparently. Catra watched her hungrily, a dark stripe of desire spiking down through her middle.

Adora's hair was coming loose from that stupid poof of hers and strands of it were sticking to her sweaty forehead. She was clearly giving these punches her all. Her chest was heaving and her face was contorted with concentration, a delicate frown on her stupid pretty face. Catra hated that she still found Adora beautiful, even in all of her treachery. It made her sick. Suddenly, seeing her suffer and squirm wasn't quite so fun anymore. It just reminded Catra all over again of how before she'd left, she wanted that idiot so badly that she would have done just about anything for her, and how it had all come crashing down around her when Adora made it clear she cared more about that stupid Rebellion than about her.

She was just about to leave, go and retreat to her quarters when suddenly Adora froze mid-punch. Catra's tail flicked curiously and waited just a moment longer to see what she might do.

It turned out to be a mistake, unfortunately. That was abundantly clear when Adora's head swiveled in Catra's direction, her pale eyes fixing themselves on Catra in her place among the beams high above the rows of green lockers. There was no way she was seeing her. How could she possibly have picked her out so quickly?

"Catra?" her voice rang out with an echo in the empty room, and Catra leaped to the ground, her heart hammering, and darted out of the room. No, no, no. Adora seeing her wasn't part of the plan. This wasn't what she wanted. Catra sprinted down the hallway with all of her impressive speed, not wanting to head back to her own room and get cornered in there but unsure of where else to go. She'd always been faster than Adora, and it wouldn't be hard to lose her. If she ran down enough of the endless corridors, took enough random turns, Adora would never be able to catch up to her.

It was lucky that the Horde prioritized physical fitness above all else; Catra was only winded enough that she had to rest for a few moments by the time she skidded behind a support girder at the end of one of the more disused hallways in the 7th sector. Her lungs gulped greedily at air that reeked of overheating machinery and something chemical and she was grateful for the cold of the metal wall behind her, soothing her sweaty back. There was no way Adora would be able to follow her here. She was too fast and too unpredictable. There was no way she…

Dammit. The sound of Adora's boots hitting the floor in the distance met her sensitive ears. There was nowhere to run from here without giving away her position, so she stayed put, hoping Adora wouldn't bother coming this far down.

"Catra!" she called out, and the sound of her voice absolutely infuriated her. There was impatience in that tone, annoyance, and it was somehow almost worse than if she'd sounded worried. So she didn't even have the decency to pretend she cared, was that it? "I know you're down here. Come out! I need to talk to you."

And I needed you to stay. We don't always get what we want, princess.

Catra stayed silent, and the calls of her name grew closer and more insistent.

"CATRA!" she was practically shouting now, and she sounded… angry? No, Adora didn't get to be angry with her. Not with what she'd done to Catra. When the sight of that stupid ponytail swished around the side of her girder, Catra bristled.

"Leave me alone!" she hissed, not caring about the look of hurt that flashed briefly over Adora's pretty features.

"You think you can just avoid me?" She demanded, and the anger in Catra's belly flashed hotter.

"Why not?" Catra hissed, pressing away from the blonde as she drew closer. "Why would I talk to you? I'm a Force Captain now. I don't have time to waste hanging around with a cadet." It was easy to think of something cruel to say with all the resentment that was bubbling up inside her like a well of magma, molten and angry and ready to destroy anything in its path. Adora's expression didn't change.

"We can't just let Shadow Weaver get away with this!"

"Don't tell me what I can and can't do!" Catra snarled at her. Adora scowled back. "And what do you mean we? Last time I checked there stopped being a 'we' when you left."

"You can't possibly be okay with this! Who knows what she could be doing to Glimmer in there? I've tried to get in but she's keeping it too well guarded. We have to figure something out. Catra, please!" she grabbed Catra by the shoulders at that, inadvertently pushing her back harder against the wall, and something twisted and snapped inside of Catra then, something hungry and cruel and wicked. Something that she would fear if she wasn't already so caught up in her own misery. She was in too deep to even care.

With one quick, fluid motion she switched their positions, grabbing Adora by the arm—not gently—and slamming her into the wall instead. An indignant squeak left Adora's lips as she made contact with the metal and Catra's lips curved upward in a measured, cruel smirk. Her hands clenched tightly around Adora's upper arms, holding her in place. Adora's eyes were burning with questions and confusion and something that looked almost like amusement before Catra laughed viciously, as unkindly as she knew how, and that faded.

"You're so used to getting your way, aren't you?" Catra asked her faux-playfully, her contempt worn proudly on her sleeve, shining through her front of familiarity easily. "Always getting everything you want. It must be awful. Me, being promoted to Force Captain, you not even allowed to go along on raids. It must sting, huh? Me getting everything you want and then refusing to help you? How does it feel, Adora? How does it feel not getting what you want?"

The look of fury in Adora's eyes was so obvious that Catra almost laughed. It was incredible, seeing the girl who had gone from her lifelong best friend to powerful glowing princess reduced to what she was now. Helpless and bewildered and miserable. Utterly alone and lost just like Catra had felt when she first left.

"I…" she stammered, and Catra threw her head back and laughed.

"You're so pathetic like this, Adora. I almost wouldn't recognize you if it weren't for that ridiculous thing you do with your stupid hair."

Seemingly reflexively, Adora reached up and touched the aforementioned poof with one hand, easily shrugging off Catra's slowly slackening grip with her own powerful arms, and Catra's blood boiled at that. No, she wanted Adora to feel powerless, lost, out of control.

“Catra, why are you acting like this?” Adora asked softly, the anger that had colored her face only moments ago gone and replaced with confusion and hurt. “This can't actually be what you want! You’re being…”

“Mean?” Catra hissed. Oh, Adora. Do you seriously still think we’re friends? “I’m always mean, Adora. Get with the program.”

“Well yeah I know you're mean,” Adora assured her, that infuriating self-righteous attitude of hers grating on Catra’s last nerve. “But you're acting like you don't care about people getting hurt. I know you, Catra. You can be a brat sometimes but you’re not—”

How dare she? How dare she talk about what Catra was and wasn’t when she hadn’t even been around to see it? Catra clawed at her face, not enough to draw blood but enough show her how angry she was. “Shut up!” she told her, and Adora’s expression was unreadable now, pained and lost and upset in a unique way that made Catra’s heart pound in her ears. The small sound that escaped those pretty lips when the claws grazed her skin twisted Catra’s stomach; it could almost be a sound of pleasure if not for the context. That pooled heat in a whole different place and Catra hated her for that.

"Just shut up! You don't know anything about me anymore! You left! You don't get to talk like you know me!" Adora tried to push away from the wall but she stopped her, shoving her back. In the process Catra inadvertently moved her leg in between Adora’s and her thigh pressed to the apex between Adora’s. Adora let out a sharp breath and her eyes widened. That reaction gave her pause. With her sensitive ears she could hear Adora's heart starting to pound.

“Catra, what are you…”

“Shut. Up.” Catra said it pointedly. She pressed her thigh a little harder between Adora's legs, and the blond let out a tiny moan. Her cheeks flushed immediately, and Catra was caught all at once between rage, tenderness, and arousal at the situation.

"Wow," Catra muttered, her scowl slowly melting into a smirk. "Are you seriously getting turned on at a time like this? That's pretty messed up, Adora. I always knew you were kind of a freak, but I didn't know you had weird kinks like that."

"Catra!" Adora's voice was an octave higher than normal. "It's not a kink! I–"

"You what?" Catra asked. She pressed her thigh into her again, and Adora bit her lip this time, clearly trying to hold back her reaction. "If it isn't a kink you wouldn't be getting turned on. And you wouldn't be into this. What is it about this that's doing it for you? Me yelling at you? Me hating your guts? Or me dominating you?" She ground her thigh against her again while Adora was distracted and this time a full moan escaped. "Or a little of all of it."

"I don't know," Adora admitted, a little breathless. Her cheeks were red and that thudding heartbeat was even more audible now.

"But you like this, right?" Catra whispered it in her ear, nipping at her earlobe a little.

"Catra…" Adora whispered.

"Admit you like it and I'll do more." Back when the two of them were best friends in the horde Catra never would have dreamed of making any sort of move on her. The fear of rejection or of ruining things between them was far too real. But now things were already ruined, and the way Adora was reacting made it obvious rejection was the furthest thing from her mind.

"Catra I…"

"If you admit it you get to find out what happens next."

Adora shivered. "I like it," she admitted. Catra growled softly in her ear, shifting a little closer. She began to roughly grind her thigh against Adora's crotch, madly and without rhythm, just a furious motion that held none of the buried and horrible tenderness that she felt toward the other woman.

Adora gasped softly and she leaned her hips into the sensation, her hands coming up to grasp at Catra's waist. Catra snarled and stopped long enough to grab Adora's wrists with one hand, slamming them against the wall above their heads and squeezing them tightly, holding them in place. She knew Adora was definitely strong enough to break through from any hold Catra could possibly put her in, but it felt good to have the upper hand anyway. It was more to show her who was boss anyway. To show her that Catra held all the cards this time and perfect Adora, the favorite, was at her mercy right now.

With Adora's hands sufficiently dealt with, Catra resumed her grinding, staring directly into Adora's eyes as she did so. Adora's mouth fell open and she met her gaze. It was taking nothing, absolutely nothing, to get her panting and to rip tiny moans from her throat. And this was just Catra's thigh. Catra watched her, lust and anger and disgust pooling in her chest as she thought of all the things she wanted to do to the woman in front of her.

She wanted to utterly destroy her, to rip her apart. To expose her vulnerable heart and body to the cold air and leave her as broken as she could. But she couldn't. All she could do was grind her leg harshly against her clothed sex, watching her come apart so easily that it would be almost funny if it wasn't so desperately, infuriatingly hot. Adora was straining her head forward, trying to kiss her, and Catra kept her lips just out of reach, beaming when Adora whined desperately.

"Wow," she told the blonde with a fresh smirk that had Adora scowling just a bit through her cloud of lust and need. "You're so goddamn easy. I can’t even believe it. What would Shadow Weaver say?”

Adora balked at that, and Catra laughed impishly. “Don’t…talk about her right now, Catra.”

“Why? Because you don’t wanna think about what she’d say if she knew about this? Because then she wouldn’t think you were so perfect anymore? Because you’d be ashamed you’d let someone like me turn you on like this if she found out?”

“Of course not!” Adora gasped shrilly, genuinely catching Catra by surprise. “I’d never be ashamed of you, Catra!”

Something warm stirred in her chest, then, and Catra snarled. She leaned forward and bit Adora’s neck, four sharp points threatening to break the skin but falling just short. Adora keened, her body twisting closer, hips seeking more contact, and Catra couldn’t believe it. Adora really was a freak, wasn’t she? Moving to the other side of her neck, she bit her again, and Adora moaned wantonly.

“You’re so damn loud. I’m surprised. You were always so quiet when you thought I couldn’t hear you fucking yourself in the bunk at night,” Catra whispered against her neck, and Adora let out a very clear indignant sound that made her roll her eyes as she removed her leg from between Adora’s and laughed at the whimper of protest that tore from her lips at the loss of contact. “Keep it down, okay princess? That’s the only way I’m not gonna just stop right now. I don’t want anyone to see me like this with a cadet.” The deliberate word choice was meant to hurt the blonde, but she just nodded feverishly, determination setting her features.

"Don't stop. Please." Adora whispered.

Catra tugged the button of Adora’s pants open with one hand and latched her mouth back onto her neck as her fingers wandered below the waistband and slid over her plain, almost rough standard issue underwear. Her hand moved slowly. She wanted to break Adora, wanted to shatter all of her perfectly measured self-control and leave her a mess physically just like she'd left Catra emotionally. When she found a wet spot over the cotton she purred devilishly into Adora's neck, her fangs grazing her jugular.

"You're already so wet," she marveled out loud, nipping at her jugular again. "I've barely even done anything yet."

"It feels good," Adora defended herself indignantly.

"You'd better not finish before I even get past your underwear," Catra hissed.

"It's not like I'm trying to," Adora whispered, and Catra bit her a little harder, a quick bubble of rage clawing its way up her throat all over again before she swallowed it and kept her teeth on her gentle enough that she wouldn't draw blood.

"If you get too close before I'm ready for you to come, I'll stop." Catra purred, not kindly, her fingertips tracing the lines of Adora's labia through the fabric of her underwear. "I mean it." Her voice turned into a cruel growl at the end and she bit her again, one fang nearly using enough pressure to pop through the top layer of skin before she pulled back on the force.

The larger situation they found themselves in was so complicated, but there was nothing complicated about this moment between them away from the war or about way Adora lurched into her touch as Catra's fingertips dragged lightly over her, claws still unsheathed with the barrier of fabric protecting Adora's sensitive areas from the sharpness. For a moment Catra lamented that she wasn't able to exchange verbal barbs with the blonde like she did in battle as she caressed her through her increasingly soaking underwear. With Adora this wound up Catra could probably say whatever clever thing she wanted and Adora would just take it. The fury she had in her while the two of them were on opposing sides was gone and she was just a mess for her, just yielding and open and trusting and soft in the way she could have been toward her all the time if she'd never left in the first place.

The thought of that twisted Catra's gut and made her eyes burn but she ignored it, swallowed it, bit and licked and sucked at her neck more as she pushed the hypothetical down and tried to focus on anything else. And so she focused on Adora instead. The heaviness of her breaths fluttering over Catra's hair, the way her wrists twisted helplessly under Catra's hand, the heat of her under her fingertips. The way her wetness spread further and further over the fabric as Catra barely even touched her was intoxicating. She could smell her arousal and it didn't do anything to quell the insatiable heat between her own legs as Adora whimpered and struggled to get more friction.

"You shouldn't show how eager you are so easily," Catra purred, pressing her fingers harder against her for just a split second and making her whimper pathetically, chasing the pressure that was so cruelly denied her. "It makes you vulnerable. Easy to manipulate."

"Are you manipulating me?" Adora's voice was playful, but her laugh broke into a moan when she massaged her roughly again, just for a moment.

"Do you want me to?" Catra nipped her ear, drawing a tiny bit of blood now that she was biting her in a less sensitive area than her neck and licking it away quickly with a swipe of her tongue. Adora moaned again. A visible shudder ran through her.

"If that's what this is then yeah." Adora was clearly trying to sound cheeky but when she was this breathless the effect was less than impressive.

"You're a freak." Catra giggled against her ear. As much as she wanted to be cold with Adora, warmth bubbled up in her chest when Adora giggled along with her and she reflexively nuzzled against her, making Adora hum happily. No, no, no. This was all wrong, dammit. She wanted this to be taking control from Adora, wanted to break her and make her a weak, helpless mess. This was starting to feel like making love and the tragedy of it crashed through her stomach in waves of emotional turmoil so intensely that she almost cried out. It hurt. Here Adora was, twisting under her fingers like she'd never left at all, like she hadn't thrown her away like she was nothing. Catra snarled, making Adora give a startled jerk, and then she started rubbing her hard and rough with her fingers. Adora gasped and started grinding against her hand almost immediately.

"Catra," she whimpered. There it was. Delicious. She drew back and looked at Adora's face. Her eyes were squeezed shut and there was sweat beaded on her forehead, her brows knitted and her lips slightly parted. She looked beautiful and messy and hers. Sure, Adora had thrown her away in a second, like everything they had shared and been through meant nothing to her. But right now, none of those stupid princesses mattered. Right now, Catra was all she had and this was all that mattered and all Adora was thinking about. Right now, Catra had her right where she wanted her, and in this moment she was no longer that glowing, shining eight foot tall warrior. Now she was completely powerless and she was coming apart for Catra, only for Catra.

Catra growled, nipping roughly along her jaw as she stopped the harsh rubbing through her underwear and shoved her hand under the waistband of them, her fingers trailing through the nest of coarse curls before tracing teasingly, achingly slowly along her lower lips. Adora was so wet she could already feel it before she even slipped her fingers between. She was so wet for her, only for her.

"You feel good, Adora," she hissed approvingly, and Adora moaned noisily at that. Catra bit her ear again. "Keep it down," she scolded, mentally filing away that apparently praise did just as much for her sexually as it did in general. "If we get caught I'm gonna kill you."

"You could, huh?" Adora whispered, and the excitement in her voice made Catra raise an eyebrow.

"Do you seriously like that I could?"

"Hmnnn…" Adora mumbled incoherently. By this point Catra had sheathed her claws and slipped a single fingertip between the folds of her labia and she was exploring fervently, carefully avoiding her most sensitive spot as much as she could and focusing instead on just feeling every slick, smooth inch of her, brushing against her entrance, over every fold of her and marveling at the wetness that had gathered even on her outer lips.

"Use your words Adora, or I'll stop."

Adora whined softly at that. "Yeah I…like it. When you were biting me earlier I was thinking you could so easily bite me on my jugular and I'd die. It'd be so easy for you to kill me, but you wouldn't." She sounded breathless, eager, excited. Catra laughed a deep, unkind laugh.

"Yes I would," she told her very honestly, remembering the rage she felt every time she crossed paths with that insufferable She-ra on the battlefield. "I definitely would. I'm just not going to. Not unless I feel like it."

She wasn't sure why that seemed to do something for Adora, but it did. She thrust her hips against her hand and Catra smirked, returning her mouth to her neck and biting her again, a little harder than before but not enough to draw blood. Adora really was a freak. She continued her pointed avoidance of touching anything that would give Adora actual stimulation and she was huffing indignantly, trying to grind her hips around, but Catra moved forward, taking one of her legs between hers and leaning to press Adora's backside against the wall with the force of her body, the force of her strong hips holding the blonde steady.

"You think I'm gonna let you off that easily?"

"You're…a jerk," Adora whispered harshly, and Catra laughed roughly. Adora tried again to wiggle her hips but Catra pressed her own harder against her, stubbornly holding back a moan at the friction of Adora's thigh against her own crotch.

"I sure am, princess," Catra growled, her finger trailing back to the source of Adora's wetness and circling it slowly, methodically. Adora groaned softly, clearly holding back after Catra's warning, and briefly Catra wished she didn't have to. She focused on circling slowly around her entrance, occasionally pressing enough to almost push in before withdrawing again and just going back to her teasing, drawing circles through her wetness, pointedly drawing the letters of her own name though Adora would never know it.

"Ca…tra…" Adora's voice broke in the middle, and Catra purred a little, nipping at her neck up and down, not caring that many of the nips fell over the fabric of her high-necked shirt.

"What? I'm not gonna do anything unless you beg me, Adora. If you beg good for me, if you ask very, very nicely, then I'll consider giving you more. But you have to earn it."

"What?" once more Adora's voice was an octave higher than normal, and Catra snickered cruelly. "Catra that's not—"

"Not what? Not fair? Life isn't fair, Adora. If you want things from me I have to feel like you've earned them." Adora had always had a thing about being good enough.

"I'm not…gonna beg you," Adora hissed helplessly, and Catra found her pulse point and sucked. That little bit of resistance, that shred of pride and determination that reminded Catra of just how stubborn and tightly wound the girl falling apart under her hand was made her current state just that much more delectable. Adora tried and failed once more to thrust against her finger, and Catra shook her head, her lips still latched onto where she could feel that infuriatingly righteous and pure heart hammering wildly out of control.

"That's where you're wrong, Adora. You are going to beg me. You are. That's just the way it is. If you beg me, then I'm going to fuck you, right here and right now until you come for me like the good girl I know you are. But if you don't beg, I'm going to walk away and leave you here, exactly like this, and I'm not ever going to give you what you want. It's your choice, Adora. You have exactly thirty seconds to beg me to fuck you. If you don't, then I'm outta here."

"Catra!" her voice was high and exasperated and Catra pulled her mouth from her neck, admiring the nice mark she'd left behind. Watch her try to explain that to anyone who might notice. It was well above the safe line of her shirt. "I won't—"

"Yes you will," she whispered almost sweetly, relishing the pure indignance that managed to mark Adora's face even through the veil of pure lust that made her eyes glassy and her pupils wide. Perfect. She was so perfect like this. Catra couldn't get enough. For a long moment they simply locked eyes, Adora's brows trembling with embarrassed fury as Catra continued to touch her relentlessly and teasingly, slipping her fingertip inside her just a little now and then to remind her of what she was missing. "You will or you get nothing, remember? Don't you want me to fill you up, Adora? Don't you wanna feel me inside you? Don't you want to come?"

Adora swallowed, hard. "Yes."

"Then be a good girl and beg me for it."

Catra hadn't even been counting in her head down from thirty to zero, because she knew Adora was going to break. She'd gotten her past the point of no return. There was no going back now. Adora was proud and stubborn, but she was also a horny, desperate mess who was heaving against Catra's touch even now. Her cheeks were flushed and her hair was escaping more and more from her poof and plastering to her sweaty skin.

Catra began to touch her more purposefully, almost lovingly, and Adora was whimpering shamefully and struggling against Catra's hips holding her into place. Catra thrived on the way she was coming apart and she started to slowly grind herself against Adora's thigh, still making eye contact with the blonde. The soft gasp that broke through Adora's lips was enough to send more heat straight between Catra's legs and she started up a slow rhythm of her grinding, Adora watching her angrily as Catra gave a soft but theatrical moan, tilting her head back.

"This feels so good," she told Adora purposefully, earning another scowl from the former number one enemy of the Horde. "Mmmm, Adora. You're really missing out."

"Catra," she groaned helplessly, annoyed and furious and clearly turned on enough to be almost at her breaking point. Catra laughed, grinding herself harder against her thigh and moaning breathlessly, needily, in a way she hoped would make Adora break. Catra could feel Adora jerking just slightly against her hand, practically begging her to take her, but that wasn't enough. She needed her to beg her with her mouth. She could be ten times as stubborn as Adora was.

"Mmm…it feels so good to be able to get off whenever I want," Catra purred, eyes still locked purposefully with Adora's as she ground herself rhythmically against her thigh, relishing the stimulation that started to build her own arousal more and more. "It must be awful just having to sit here and watch me and not get anything for yourself. It would be so easy too, if you weren't so damned stubborn. Too bad I'm gonna have to just walk off and leave you here like this, horny and miserable and desperate when you could have had me."

Adora moaned softly, arousal mixed with frustration as she glared furiously into Catra's eyes. Catra smiled menacingly, purring for a few seconds as she continued to grind furiously against her. The heat between her legs starting to build to an ache, spurred on by the soft sounds that escaped the blonde's lips. Slowly, ever so slowly, she slid her finger up to Adora's clit, rubbing two tiny circles over it and relishing the moan that broke from the other woman's mouth. Her clit twitched under her finger, so needy and denied stimulation that Catra felt she could probably topple her over the edge with just a few more strokes.

That was all she would allow her though, and she stopped stimulating her and went back to exploring everything that wasn't her clit, sliding easily through her wetness and giving another quiet theatrical moan.

"Your move, Adora," she whispered, licking her lips. Adora was still glaring at her, her face set into a determined frown but the desperation was building behind it, and Catra wasn't at all surprised when her eyes fell shut, her brow knitting harshly as her head bumped against the wall behind her.

"Please, Catra," she whimpered, all of her restraint suddenly gone as she crumbled before her. "I can't take it anymore! Please! Please just do it!"

"I don't know if that's good enough. I think it needs to be dirtier than that, don't you? That's not really begging. That's asking."

Adora sighed, the desperation audible in her voice when she spoke again. "Please, Catra. Please, please fuck me I am begging you. Please. I need you to do this or I'm gonna die. Is that it? Is that what it's gonna take?

"Good job," Catra purred approvingly, leaning forward and nipping a slow trail along Adora's jaw as she slid her finger back to the source of Adora's wetness and pushed inside. Adora gasped raggedly and it turned into a soft moan as Catra slid in up to her second knuckle and started to explore her from the inside. She was so incredibly wet that Catra swore she could come just from the feeling of the slick heat of her. She stopped grinding against her for now, not wanting to come before she was finished with her. Now that she was actually getting something Adora was letting out a series of filthy, restrained moans that sent the kind of heat to Catra's crotch that she'd only even fantasized about. It was never like this when she got turned on by fantasies.

"Mmm, you feel so good." Catra whispered, rewarding Adora's surrender to her with the praise she knew she always craved so desperately. Adora keened at her words, her hips trembling, and Catra moved back to the spot over her pulse point she'd marked earlier and started sucking and biting it again, her finger exploring her greedily along her front wall. She found a spot that felt slightly different against her fingertip and when she pressed there Adora twisted her hips harshly against hers, almost enough to dislodge Catra's hold on her.

"Oh, is that it? Does that feel good?" she purred, and Adora nodded enthusiastically.

"Yes."

Catra started massaging that spot in small thrusts, alternating between putting enough pressure there that Adora gasped and moaned in that quiet and restrained way that threatened to push Catra over the edge and touching it so lightly that Adora whined in protest. It felt indescribably good to have this amount of power over her, over this woman who had always had more power over Catra than she wanted to admit. There was no trace of the powerful warrior who taunted Catra at every turn. The only one here was Adora, and she had broken completely, and only for Catra.

She withdrew her finger—earning a whine of protest from Adora—and pushed two in this time, all of Adora's wetness making it go in easily. Adora reacted even more strongly to that and Catra breathlessly thrust her fingers in her, making sure to curve them over that spot at every push. Adora was gasping and rocking her hips, and Catra was giving her enough leeway to do so because she relished the way Adora was chasing her pleasure that only she could give her, knowing she was falling apart like this only because of her.

"Catra," she gasped breathlessly, her wrists struggling weakly against her grip. There was no way Catra was going to let her hands go and she doubled down on the hold she had on her, thrusting her fingers with just that much more intent. Adora was absolutely a mess now, her breathing ragged and her gasps and moans coming in faster increments. Catra realized with amazement that she could faintly hear her fingers thrusting around in Adora's wet center and she moved back to watch the other woman. Her eyes were squeezed shut and her cheeks were flushed. At this point most of her hair had come loose and plastered to her face. She looked like a mess, a beautiful mess, and only for her.

Catra stopped thrusting her fingers in her and instead pressed her two fingertips solely to that spot that made her quiver around her, applying a steady amount of pressure there and there alone and beginning to rub along it harshly, not letting up or allowing her even a moment of respite where she slid her fingers anywhere else. Adora whimpered her name again, her glazed eyes opening and meeting with hers. Catra watched her lips, her eyes, as she moaned and gasped and babbled her name and she could tell she must be close. By now Catra was grinding against her thigh again and her own sounds were mixing with Adora's as she rubbed furiously, almost violently at the spot inside of Adora that had her grinding her hips back against her.

"Catra, I need…" she'd never heard Adora's voice like this. She sounded raw and broken and needy in a way she never could have even imagined in her fantasies. She was fascinated by this new side of her, but not nearly as fascinated as with what she was going to say next.

"You need what, Adora? Use your words," she said, more condescendingly than she meant to, but Adora didn't even seem to notice.

"Please I…I need…you to touch me…"

"I am touching you, dumbass."

"No I mean I…ah…I need you to touch…uh…I need…I can't…"

Catra's lips twisted upward, wickedly. "Your clit?"

Adora moaned softly at Catra saying it so bluntly, and she nodded feverishly.

"Please…I need you to touch it…please Catra…please…"

Catra chuckled softly, shaking her head. Adora's eyes widened in horror.

"Catra…please I…hmnnnn…I need you to…please…why?"

"I don't think I will, Adora. I know you're doing super well with this whole begging thing, but I don't think I will. I think you're gonna have to just come like this. And if you can't then that's just too damn bad."

"You're…evil…" Adora managed between moans, and Catra laughed harshly.

"You have no idea, princess. You have no idea how evil I am." She doubled down on her efforts, massaging her relentlessly in that spot faster and relishing in how Adora's body was starting to tremble. Catra had never been able to come just from fingering herself before, and she wasn't sure if Adora was going to be able to manage to do it either, but she was curious to see if she could manage to get her off like this. If she could then it would be the most delicious victory she could even imagine, and the idea excited her so much that a shiver ran down her spine. She leaned forward and captured Adora's earlobe between her lips, sucking and nipping at it as Adora gasped and squirmed under her touch.

"I want you to come for me like this, Adora. And I know you want to do what I want. I know you're so eager to please. I'd love to watch you just shatter around my fingers." She drew back to look Adora in the eye again and her eyes were only half open now, her pupils wide and her eyes out of focus, barely even looking at Catra. The sounds tearing from her mouth were higher now, more desperate, and Catra drank it in, drowning in it, falling further and further from the edge of sanity as she massaged and rubbed and fucked that spot that made Adora into nothing but an absolute mess around her fingers. Her own hips were fluttering mindlessly as she rode Adora's thigh in desperation, drunk on the noises she was making and the hot wetness of the slick inside her, the way her walls twitched and shifted around her fingers as she drove her closer and closer to her breaking point.

"I don't know if I…can…I've never…done that before I…don't think I can do that Catra please please touch me I need you to touch me I can't take it I'm gonna die please please please touch me please touch me Catra please…" Adora was begging mindlessly by now and Catra refused to relent, staring her down as she continued her onslaught inside her. This was really going to happen, wasn't it? Adora was really going to come like this. The way she was gasping and grinding against her hand, the way her words and moans were getting messier and less coherent…she was really getting close. Catra could hear her own heart pounding in her ears.

"Of course you can. Come for me, Adora. Come for me right now, like a good girl." The harshness in her demand of right now was more than she meant for, but it clearly had its intended effect because Adora's walls clenched around her then. Catra's eyes widened as she watched Adora's orgasm crash over her. Her eyes fell shut, mouth opening in a long series of desperate breathy moans and cries, strands of golden hair plastered to her red face and her body shaking as her walls fluttered and clenched around her fingers over and over again, almost tight enough that it was painful to her finger joints but Catra couldn't find it in her to care.

The way Adora looked when she came, the fact that she was shaking and jerking her hips around, still clearly searching for stimulation to her clit she couldn't find even as she came in crashing waves of pleasure that only Catra could ever give her…it was all enough to push Catra over the edge. She came with her, her own desperate sounds mingling with Adora's in the stale air of the forgotten corridor, the pleasure ripping hot and tight through her body, spreading out from her center and reaching all the way to the tips of her toes. Grateful to not be denied the stimulation she craved like Adora was she fucked her thigh with reckless abandon, grinding her clit against the firm muscles of Adora's thigh through their layers of clothing and feeling wave after wave of heat and pleasure crash through it at the perfectly rough stimulation that she took from Adora with every shuddering crash of her hips.

As Catra began to come down she rocked out the last of her aftershocks, locking eyes with Adora as the blonde's eyes opened. Adora was still fluttering around her fingers, clenching and unclenching out of control as she drew out the last bits of pleasure Catra could give her and when she finally dropped her head down to her chest, her breaths coming in heavy and shaking gasps, Catra moved to release her thigh from the tight grip of her legs, ceasing the push of her hips pinning Adora to the wall. She released her wrists too and Adora rubbed at them lightly, her chest still heaving. She looked beautiful like this, her cheeks flushed and sweaty, her hair matted with sweat and a little drool at the corner of her mouth.

"You didn't have to pin them so tight you know," Adora told her pointedly, a note of irritation in her shaking voice. She still didn't have any fight in her though, and it was obvious. Catra had won. "It kind of hurt."

"Would you have come so hard if it didn't, though?" Catra asked her, and Adora glanced away from her quickly. So Catra was right. She filed that information away for later.

It was at that point that Adora glanced down at Catra's hand in her pants. Her fingers were still buried deep inside of her. Adora looked back up at her eyes, raising an eyebrow questioningly as if to say 'are you gonna stop now or?'. The answer was no. Catra began to thrust her fingers leisurely inside the blonde again, exploring every inch of her all over again and marveling over how much wetness had gathered all the way to the base of her wrist. Adora moaned a little but shook her head.

"I don't think I can do that again."

"Do what? Come?"

Adora nodded. “I didn’t even think it would work like that once. There’s no way I could do that twice.”

Catra paused in her thrusting to rub achingly gently at that spot inside again, smirking at her enemy. Adora’s breath caught sharply and Catra chuckled.

“I guess we’ll see about that. Unless you don’t want to try.”

“N-no, I want to try! Don't stop.”

Catra licked her lips. “Good girl.”

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!