I Love You Too, Idiot

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/30446754.

Rating:
Explicit

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationships:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Porn with Feelings, Plot What Plot/Porn Without Plot, Post-Season/Series Finale, Smut, Like That's Literally It, Just Pages and Pages of Smut, okay maybe there's some, Fluff, and, Comfort, Enthusiastic Consent, consent is cool, Masturbation, Vaginal Fingering, Adora Has a Penis (She-Ra), Girl Penis, Penis In Vagina Sex, No Refractory Period, Like FR Get Out of Here With That Weak Sh!t, I Can't Believe I Wrote This, LORD forgive me!

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2021-04-21 Words: 11,331 Chapters: 1/1

I Love You Too, Idiot

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/30446754.

Rating:
Explicit

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationships:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Porn with Feelings, Plot What Plot/Porn Without Plot, Post-Season/Series Finale, Smut, Like That's Literally It, Just Pages and Pages of Smut, okay maybe there's some, Fluff, and, Comfort, Enthusiastic Consent, consent is cool, Masturbation, Vaginal Fingering, Adora Has a Penis (She-Ra), Girl Penis, Penis In Vagina Sex, No Refractory Period, Like FR Get Out of Here With That Weak Sh!t, I Can't Believe I Wrote This, LORD forgive me!

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2021-04-21 Words: 11,331 Chapters: 1/1

I Love You Too, Idiot

by With_Any_Luck_Anonymous

Summary

When she finally reached the door to their room, Adora pushed on it with a heavy arm, almost stumbling forward as it opened. The smell hit her first – warm and musky, almost sweet. She couldn't quite place it, her brain working at half-speed like the rest of her body. It was thick and oddly familiar and… oh.

or: Adora walks in on Catra and things get spicy

Notes

Hi there!

This is my first time writing fanfic AND first time posting work on the internet, so bear with me. The POV goes back and forth between Catra and Adora and skips back in time a bit / overlaps, which I hope doesn't mess with the flow too much.

Anyway, I freaking love these two and I hope I can do them justice. Enjoy!

PS Please mind the tags. If you don't vibe with any of them, turn back now :) I tried to tag this properly, but let me know if I missed any.

See the end of the work for more notes

The day was so long. Adora made her way back to her and Catra's room, the pastel hallway seeming to stretch on forever. It took so much effort to stay upright and she contemplated just flopping on the floor and sleeping there for the night. It was so tempting. Her feet felt like concrete in her boots and her eyelids like metal shutters. But Catra.

No, no. She couldn't sleep here; she had to see Catra. The thought of sleeping next to her, curling into her arms and burying her face in the soft tangle of Catra's hair. That's what she wanted.

When she finally reached the door to their room, she pushed on it with a heavy arm, almost stumbling forward as it opened. The smell registered first – warm and musky, almost sweet. She couldn't quite place it with her brain working at half-speed like the rest of her body. It was thick and oddly familiar and… oh.

Her eyes finally adjusted to the dimness of the room, a faint glow streaming in through a giant window. As if some greater power had orchestrated this moment the moonlight framed their bed perfectly, drawing her attention to a most beautiful scene - a divine masterpiece. Catra lay sprawled across the disheveled sheets, her head thrown back and eyes half shut, lost in abandon. One hand dove between her thighs while the other lay between her teeth, stifling her moans into soft mewls. Her hips bucked in a steady rhythm as her tail thrashed underneath her. She was so beautiful and gods the obscene wet sound that met Adora's ears made her breath catch.

Adora couldn't tear her eyes away. She couldn't move. All she could do was stare with her mouth agape. Catra's hand sped up and her breath came in shallow pants and gasps between moans. It was a siren's song, beckoning Adora. The weight in her legs redoubled, blood rushing to her stiffening member. Freefalling. That's what it felt like. Or perhaps drowning - sinking into heady cacophony bombarding every one of her senses. As her legs threatened to give out she lurched backwards. The heavy motion brought the door closed, latch falling into place.

Clack!

Catra froze. Her head whipped to the side to meet Adora's gaze, pupils blown wide in a way she'd never seen before. Adora opened her mouth to say something. She didn't know what, but words, perhaps. It didn't matter. Whatever she might have said slipped from her mind, cut off by Catra's keening as her hand started to work again. Her eyelids fluttered but she never looked away from Adora.

The warmth stirring between her legs was hot now, urgent.

Day had faded to night and still Adora was out. It was like that these days, Catra supposed. They had defeated Horde Prime and Etheria needed help healing – needed She-Ra. "Well I need Adora", Catra grumbled, crossing her arms and stalking around the room. It had been like this for months now. She was worried about her girlfriend! Of course Adora had to be the hero. Always putting others first. She could never want anything for herself – she only gave and gave and gave.

Catra dropped heavily onto their bed with a sigh and looked towards the door, longing for the familiar sight of that stupid red jacket. She knew her hopes were futile. Every night these last two weeks Adora hadn't returned to their room until Catra had fallen asleep – usually on the chair near the window – waiting for Adora. Naturally, Catra would wake up in their bed (where Adora had moved her) to see the exhausted blonde getting ready for the day. Dark circles had grown impossibly darker under Adora's eyes, their blueness now tinged with a weariness Catra despised.

I'll have to have another chat with Sparkles. The last time had gone…poorly. It ended with lots of yelling and fists slamming into tables. A fight between "Etheria needs She-Ra!" and "Why can't you see that this is hurting Adora!" Had she really learned nothing?!

Catra growled and clawed at the air feeling helpless, looking towards the door again. Nothing. The magicat pouted and closed her eyes. Why is it so gods damned quiet?! In all honesty, Catra hated how quiet Brightmoon was at night; only the bugs made noise. In the Fright Zone, night was filled with all sorts of sounds – the distant thrum of machinery, the incessant buzz of the emergency lights, the pipes running along the walls that shook with steam...or maybe rats...she wasn't quite sure.

But this? The room was almost silent without Adora. Without her breathing. Without the mumbling as she read over paperwork. Without her soft snoring and occasional sleep talking. And the last time she moaned in her sleep.

A blush burned across her face, the skin growing warm. Catra remembered waking up to the sound, Adora still asleep but almost whimpering. Their covers had been pushed around and Catra's eyes were drawn to Adora's hips where her boxers tented. She shivered at the memory, feeling a melting sensation between her legs.

When they were in the Horde, she always - okay, almost always - slept at the foot of Adora's bed. This had happened before (on several occasions, actually), but Catra simply turned over and tried not to think about it too hard. By morning her curiosity would get the best of her. She couldn't help but ask Adora what she'd dreamed about, pretending to be none the wiser. Sometimes Adora couldn't remember, other times she'd turn bright red and ramble on about gods know what.

But that night, in Brightmoon, Catra dared to find out. She had held her breath, waiting. Adora moaned again, a little louder, her hips moving ever so slightly. "Adora," Catra whispered. Nothing. "Adora!" she whispered louder, nudging the taller girl's shoulder.

Adora's eyebrows furrowed with another twitch from her boxers. Catra flushed deeply, wondering if she should just let it be and try to sleep. But how could she? Blue eyes fluttered open and squinted into the darkness. “Catra?” Her voice was rough with sleep and arousal.

Catra’s skin felt hot. Too hot. Like fire under her fur. “You….” You, what? What could she say? Hey Adora, you were fucking moaning in your sleep again…hey Adora, you’ve got a boner the size of Prime’s ship. Catra’s eyes flicked down briefly.

The unspoken words were somehow found in the silence. Adora looked down, drawing a short breath before, “Oh”.

Even in the dark Catra could see her face turn a deep red. She didn’t look back up to meet Catra’s eyes, instead moving to pull the sheets back up around her waist.

“What were you,” the words came out a breathy whisper and the rest died in her throat. She shouldn’t have asked. She knows she shouldn’t have asked, but gods she wanted to know! What could do that to Adora? She had to know…maybe she even hoped she was the reason. All of her senses were screaming.

“I-,” Adora didn’t finish her sentence. There was another twitch and Adora screwed her eyes shut.

More silence.

Catra felt like she was going to burst. The fur between her thighs was damp - no, wet - with want as the smell of her own arousal drifted up. Can Adora smell it, too? Her stomach flipped at the thought. She shifted closer, bringing her face just inches away. Adora's breath ruffled the delicate fur on her cheeks and sent goosebumps down her arms. In the small space between them the world fell away.

The thought of their first kiss flitted through Catra's mind. At the Heart Adora’s lips had been soft and pliant, yielding to her. Every kiss they shared since held its own kind of magic. Some were warm and slow like sunbathing on a summer's day. Others were heated and demanding, making up for lost time.

“Can I kiss you,” it was a quiet request, filling the air with a tension nearly palpable. Her lips almost brushed against Adora’s, fingers falling lightly against a reddened cheek and sweeping away a few blonde strands. Adora had surged forward, capturing Catra’s lips and winding her hands through the brown tangles behind the magicat's ears.

Catra opened her eyes. Alone again. She groaned and rubbed her hands over her face. It was hot to the touch and she could feel a pulse at the apex of her thighs, the sensitive bud begging for attention. Another glance towards the door left her heart sinking further. Please let Adora come home. She sent a prayer to any god that would listen. Just let her walk through the doors. Right now.

Stride over to the bed with that certain confidence….

Okay, so they hadn’t actually done it yet, but a girl could dream, couldn’t she? Catra let her hand brush over her abdomen before slipping into her sleep shorts. What if it were Adora’s hand. The intrusive thought sent a shiver down her spine that collected in her core. She closed her eyes and let the image shift in her brain. Adora leaning over, her hand trailing down, down, down…. Catra smirked, Adora would probably gasp at how wet she already was already...the outline of her member straining against her pants....

The night she had woken Adora up, they’d made out and touched a lot, but Adora wasn’t quite ready to take that next step. She was afraid, Catra could tell, so she didn’t push it. They had time. This was just the beginning. Catra could go slow – wanted to go slow – for Adora.

Instead, Adora had awkwardly excused herself to the restroom adjoining their room. And (oh!) the sounds. Only a magicat could hear the small sounds coming through the door and drifting across the room. Catra had listened with her heart pounding in her chest at the tiny moans and grunts and sharp inhales Adora made. She'd let her hand wander, moving her fingers around her clit in time with Adora's panting. She covered her mouth to try to quiet her own. She wanted to hear Adora. Sadly, the beautiful sounds were short-lived. Adora whined one long note before, "Catra".

That was all it took. Catra went toppling off the edge, heat bursting from her core and spreading from the crown of her head to the tips of her toes. Her legs closed around her wrist as her lungs fought for air against the hand clamped tightly over her mouth. She rode wave after wave of release, her head dizzied and fogged. As the room came back into focus she finally fell limp against the bed, attempting to catch her breath and compose herself before Adora returned.

Catra moaned at the memory, her fingers working in a tiny circle against her clit. She let them roam farther, lightly tracing her slit. Fuck! Everything was so sensitive! She trailed a single finger up and down, collecting the slick that gathered there before pressing into herself. What if it were Adora's? She couldn't help but gasp, her hips jolting up to meet her hand. What if that night Adora had returned before I was done? Seeing Adora standing in the doorway, her scent drifting into the room….

Catra groaned. She was wound so tight. Needed release. Her clothes twisted up and clung to her lean frame. It was constricting, like being trapped in Hordak's lab as the air was ripped from her lungs. With her breath coming in shallow pants, she kicked off her sleep shorts and tore at her top.

Adora. She fell back into the covers, drawing in a long breath through her nose. The scent of Adora and her own arousal filled the room. Fuck she needed release. It almost hurt she wanted it so badly. Her fingers returned to the sensitive bud and she startled at the touch. A slew of expletives broke the uncomfortable silence saturating the room. She let her mind drift back to the other sounds – one in particular...that sweet, soft moan when she dreamed-

What does Adora dream of? The magicat closed her eyes and let herself believe it was the same thing she dreamed of. Catra trailed her hand back down to her entrance, sliding in two slick fingers. Her eyes shut tight with the sensation, the stretch, the fullness. Letting her mind believe it was Adora….

When she began to move again her hips rutted up, grinding her clit against the heel of her palm. She tried – and failed – to stifle the moan that burned her throat. It's so fucking quiet! The whole damn castle probably heard that! Catra bit into her hand, canines lightly puncturing the skin. The sting brought a new wave of pleasure and she let her fingers pick up speed, whimpering. So close. So fucking close!

She thought of Adora – her broad shoulders and toned muscles, the elegant curve of her back and strength of her hips, the blonde hair that framed her lovely face and those inexplicably beautiful blue eyes. She was stunning, perfect even. And Catra had seen Adora naked enough to know she also had a beautiful co-

Clack

Her stomach dropped. Icy panic flooded her veins and tightened around her throat. Her eyes darted to the door. Adora.

For a moment, she wasn't sure what to do. Should she continue? Should she stop? The images dancing through her head of Adora in the doorway. Now it's real. She gasped and the fingers still captive between her legs twitched. Fuck! Her head rolled back against the pillows, eyes half-lidded. She wanted Adora to watch. And now Adora was watching.

Her eyes raked over Catra's body, mouth opening as if to say something. That's when Catra saw it, the outline of Adora's cock, hard and bulging. The shape of it was distinct behind the tight fabric of her pants. Catra shuddered and moaned, letting go of the hand between her teeth.

It was all so much. She drank in Adora's gaze, fixing her eyes to those bright blue ones. Her hand worked faster between her thighs. The sound of it was almost embarrassing, and the smell…. The scent was heavy in the room, somehow stronger than before. Heat curled in her belly as a weightlessness traveled along her legs.

She tried to keep her eyes open, she wanted to watch Adora, but it was labor to do so. Her hips lost rhythm, stuttering out when the tightness in her body became impossible to move against. Every part of her was on fire. She was close. So close.

Her breath was lost in the mewling and moaning escaping her lips. She pried her eyes open, fighting to keep them from rolling back again as she searched for Adora. So close.

The foot of the bed drew downward and Catra caught sight of Adora from between her legs, almost between her feet. So close.

She was watching Catra's hand, a deep flush running down her cheeks and disappearing under the white shirt that clung to her muscular frame.

Starbursts

Heat exploded out from Catra's core, sending a thrill of lightning through her limbs. Her whole body convulsed and her eyes fell shut. Her legs clamped down around her hand, but it wasn't just hers; the heat of Adora's palm burned against her thigh, fingers splayed with her thumb lightly gripping the back of her leg. The feeling of it made her toes curl and she all but sobbed. Her walls pulsed and spasmed around her fingers, slick dripping out around the digits.

Was it seconds? Minutes? Hours? She wasn't sure, but the sensation of her orgasm rocked through her like waves against the shore, slowly ebbing until there was nothing but warmth. Finally, Catra's legs trembled and fell open, too weak to lift off the bed. Everything felt like jelly. She didn't dare remove her fingers though, still sensitive and pulsing occasionally with tiny aftershocks. It was becoming easier to breath and for a moment she just laid there, wandering what she might see when she opened her eyes. Adora was still there, she could sense that, but….

Adora made an uncomfortable sound, almost a grunt, and Catra lifted her head.

A few strands of blonde hair had slipped from her ponytail, swaying back and forth with her breath. At first Adora was staring at Catra's very exposed center, barely covered by her hand with her fingers still buried inside. If Catra weren't so warm already, it might have made her blush. Adora's hand moved to her crotch, adjusting the member quite clearly outlined against her thigh. Adora tensed and whimpered – honest to gods whimpered, then looked up, meeting the magicat's half-lidded gaze. Her expression was that of cadet caught with their hand in the ration bars box. Catra was about to laugh; she didn't think it was possible, but Adora blushed harder.

"Catra…" It was both a question and a statement, breathy and low and needy and FUCK! "That was...you're so beautiful," she barely breathed.

Catra didn't respond, shifting nervously and letting her eyes wonder around the room as she grumbled some response. Yeah, she liked seeing Adora gawk at her (it made her feel powerful) but saying it out loud? It was…she didn't know how to feel about it.

“Catra, I-,” Adora’s words came out a bit rushed and clumsy, “I love you. You know that, right? I love you.”

There was silence as Catra processed the words.

“Yeah,” she mumbled, “I love you, too.” The words were still new. Foreign. It was easy to say it the first time with emotions running high and the world at stake or whatever, but now it just made her feel…exposed. More exposed than she already was. Like a prey being stalked by a predator. Only there was no predator; there was only Adora. Beautiful, too-good-for-her-own-good, Adora.

Silence.

Adora’s eyes flicked between Catra’s lips to her chest to her legs…. Her face contorted and her hand moved to her pants, attempting to ease her discomfort even a little. “I-,” there was a pause, “w-would you want….” Her voice was rough.

When her brain had finally processed it all, a new energy filled her chest and seeped down into her legs. Catra had seen her. Catra knew she was there, and yet she didn't stop. Her eyes held Adora’s and the whole thing just…Adora didn’t have the words for it. Couldn’t comprehend the mixture of emotions popping around in her head. Want. Love. Lust. Need. Awe.

She had never seen Catra like this before. She had…heard, kind of, before. It was during their time as Horde cadets. Catra would sleep in her own bunk every now and again, and Adora always felt guilty. The guilt wasn't from anything she'd said or done explicitly, but because she always became…aroused listening to Catra’s panting and the soft squeak of the metal springs. A twinge of shame twisted in her stomach like a knife. It made her feel like a pile of hot garbage. It was wrong, like she was violating Catra's privacy even in a room full of cadets. It made Adora want to run away, to hide in the locker rooms or showers or hallway or anywhere else. But then Catra would know and she'd hate Adora. In the end she would just shove a pillow over her head and hope Catra didn't notice the flagpole in her sleep shorts.

After watching that, though…. Catra knew she was there. Catra wanted her to see. Adora shuddered, watching the blue and gold irises disappear as Catra's body grew ridged. Even at this distance it was like magic. Her eyes. Her physique. Her scent. Her sounds. All of it tempted Adora closer. She took a hesitant step forward, then another. She wanted to see Catra's face as she came undone. Another step. It was breathtaking. Exquisite torture. Another step. She couldn't help but fall under the hypnotizing rhythm of Catra's hand, finger plunging in and out with a slick sound.

Without looking away Adora fumbled with the laces of her boots, toeing them off while trying to keep her balance. She crawled up onto the bed in the space between Catra's feet, the claws tearing tiny holes into the sheets. What would it feel like? Wet…warm…. Adora's mind raced. Her eyes moved between Catra's face and her hips, trying to take it all in. Her member pulsed and twitched, needing release from the cramped confines of her trousers.

She reached out...

Her thoughts were cut off by Catra's moan, her body seizing and legs slamming shut with Adora's hand still there. It hurt now. Not her hand, but her cock. Her head swam. Heat suffused her skin and the tired ache she felt walking to their room was gone, replaced with something primal. She watched Catra's spasming until it subsided and her hand was freed. It was like nothing Adora had seen before.

What do I do now? She couldn’t think. Couldn’t breathe. Couldn’t move.

Her shaft strained, as if trying to rip through the rough material. Adora moved to reposition the aching member, but when her hand slid over the sensitive tip! Stars above! An embarrassing sound left her lips. Oh no.

Maybe Catra hadn't heard that. Maybe she's so lost in her own world that she doesn't hear anything. Adora's eyes darted up from where she’d been staring between Catra’s thighs, suddenly aware of herself. Guilt knotted up her throat and a sick feeling gripped her stomach. Catra’s chest rose and fell in slower and slower succession, but she was looking at Adora. At first, she thought Catra was going to laugh, the hint of a smile playing at the edges of her lips. There was a playfulness there that made Adora's heart squeeze.

She loved Catra. Loved her to the ends of Etheria. Now she wanted Catra. To feel her. Taste her. To let her know how much she loved her, not only in this moment but every moment leading up to it and every moment they would have after. “Catra,” she didn't recognize her own voice; it sounded off. "That was,” she searched for the right words, “you’re so beautiful.”

Catra didn’t say anything, her eyes looking anywhere but at Adora. “Yeah, sure,” the words were almost unintelligible, “whatever.”

Adora faltered. Did I say something wrong? Did I do something wrong? In a moment of terror she feared she'd overstepped. The blood rushed in her ears and dread crept into her chest. “Catra I-,” but what if it scares her away? What if I mess this up? What if it’s not enough? Adora swallowed that fear, “I love you. You know that, right? I love you.”

Catra stared at her blankly for a moment with almost a shocked expression. “Yeah.” Adora wasn't sure, but she thought she could make out a faint blush on Catra’s cheeks, “I love you, too.”

Now what?

"I-," she couldn't put words together. How was she supposed to express everything she was feeling – to dictate every thought racing through her mind. "W-would you want…."

Something changed in Catra's expression. Hesitation was replaced with something more…wild. Her eyes glinted, dark with a near animalistic ferocity.

Catra slowly removed her fingers from between legs, leaving a trail of slick along the thicker fur over her mons. She brought the fingers up to her mouth, sucking them clean one at a time. Her eyes bored into Adora's as she hummed. The blonde gasped and couldn't stop the moan that tumbled from her lips. One last pop and Catra finished her ministrations. She reached up to cup Adora's cheek, her scent lingering with the bedewed touch. It was maddening. Her claws slid out carefully, slowly, the tips lightly pricking at Adora's skin.

"What do you want, Adora?" Her voice was like honey, smooth and sweet. A damp thumb drifted over Adora's lip.

She wanted Catra, every part of her, everywhere. She wanted to kiss her until neither of them could breathe. She wanted to show Catra how much she loved her, how much she needed her. She wanted to see Catra come undone again and again and again. She wanted to bury her face in Catra's neck while her cock was bur-

Catra sat up and brought her lips to Adora's, gently moving against them. She willed her brain to follow, but her lips were sloppy and her focus jumped from one thought to the next. "Princess?" Catra's voice was sultry. Adora couldn't stifle a shiver; she secretly (okay, maybe not so secretly) liked the pet name. She willed her last remaining brain cells to function. To make words.

“You.”

Catra laughed (stars above what a glorious sound!) and pulled Adora to her – over her – and she fell between Catra’s legs. A hiss blew through her teeth when their hips crashed together. In that moment Adora was thankful for the years of training and exercise. They paid off as she held herself up on her arms, bracketing Catra as they kissed. It was fevered. Rushed with sparring tongues. Catra caught her lip with a canine, pulling a needy sound from the blonde. Her hips moved in slow succession, grinding into Catra’s. The slick trickling from Catra's sex leached through Adora's pants, the heat of it dissolving any semblance of cohesive thought.

One of the magicat’s hands ran up Adora’s shoulder, her neck, finally reaching around behind her head. With skilled fingers, she drew a claw through the band holding back Adora’s hair. “Oops” she laughed against Adora’s lips as the gold curtain descended around them. Her hands carded through Adora’s hair and raked down Adora’s back.

She moaned into Catra’s mouth, hips moving faster. The tightness growing in her lower stomach ached. There was almost nothing between them. When Catra arched, her body curved into Adora’s and pressed every inch of them together. The feeling was unlike anything else. Better than relaxing at Mystacor. Better than defeating Horde Prime. Better than all of the food and celebrations after liberating Etheria.

“Wait,” Catra breathed against their kiss, her hand pushing into Adora’s chest.

Adora pulled back, instantly terrified. “Oh crap! Are you oka- If I-,” Had she gone too far? Had she hurt Catra? Was it too much? She searched Catra’s face while attempting to sit up.

“No, it,” Catra grabbed her shirt and held Adora in place, “it’s not that. I’m fine. I just,” she ran a hand through her hair. Her eyes flitted between them. Adora could make out the faintest red tinge under Catra’s fur – a flush that covered her face and neck, spreading to the tops of her breasts. Adora watched her chest as she breathed, soft breasts pressing into hers with every inhale. She wanted to kiss them, to taste them, to-

“I want to see you,” Adora brought her eyes up to meet Catra’s mismatched ones, “all of you.” The room was silent save for their ragged breathing. “I want to touch you. I want... I want to feel you”

Adora’s mouth went dry and her shaft twitched. Catra's eyes immediately flicked down between them where their hips met. Oh gods she felt that. It was somehow awkward and exciting all at once.

Adora shifted out of her girlfriend's arms to sit back on her knees. Catra’s hands grabbed at the form-fitted shirt and she looked up, questioning.

“Yes,” was all Adora could manage. The shirt was peeled off and claws scraped across the bare skin of Adora’s abdomen.

Catra leaned forward, placing feather-light kisses across the pale, smooth expanse. In contrast to her claws the touch was so gentle. She could feel the light brush of eyelashes fluttering against her skin. Fingers trailed over the lines of Adora’s muscles – no claws, only soft fingertips. Catra's eyes moved from the faint outline of one scar to the next, placing a soft kiss over each one. It was so intimate, so tender. It was a lot. She didn’t even realize how much she had wanted this. How much she needed this. One hand wound into Catra's hair while the other wrapped around her shoulders to pull her close. Adora closed her eyes and pressed a kiss to the top of her head. For a moment they just stayed like this, a purr bubbling up from the magicat and filling the room with a soft hum. Home. Tears burned the corners of her eyes and Adora straightened to wipe them away, hoping Catra wouldn’t see.

When a rebellious drop fell before she could catch it, it splashed onto Catra's cheek. Her head snapped up, concern written across her fine features. "Adora," she reached a hand up to wipe Adora's eyes, "hey, hey, hey, what is it?" She moved out from under Adora and sat up on her knees. "We can stop, we don't have to do anything, it's okay."

Adora deflated. Great. She'd ruined it. Ruined this perfect moment because she was too freaking emotional. "I'm sorry," she sniffled. Like an absolute baby!

Catra smiled, "hey, no, it's alright." There was a pause, "come on Adora," she gave a weak smile, "talk to me."

Adora inhaled deeply, letting out a shaky breath, "you just…it was…." She felt like Light Hope when she glitched. "The kisses were really nice." She wiped her eyes again, clearing away the last tears.

Catra looked relieved and shook her head with a quiet chuckle, "You've gone soft, Princess," she poked Adora's stomach, feigning malice before giggling and pulling Adora into a kiss. It was slow. She savored the taste of Catra's lips, ignoring the added saltiness from her tears.

Catra's hand traveled from her jaw to the back of her neck, carding through the blonde hair and tugging it lightly. She pulled Catra more tightly to her, craving the feel of their bodies pressing together. A purr resonated from the magicat's chest, vibrating against Adora's ribcage and making her smile. It was becoming hard to think again as Catra filled her senses. Her taste. Her sounds. Her feel.

She couldn't get enough. Her arms crushed around Catra, ravenous lips wanting more. Claws raked down her scalp, her neck, her shoulder, her back. Stars above she loved that. She'd sparred with Catra before and been scratched, but this was different. The intention was different. The sharp points caught at Adora's skin with just the right pressure, barely breaking the surface to leave little stinging lines that faded to warmth.

Catra brought her other hand up Adora's side to her chest, grabbing one breasts through her taught elastic bra. Adora groaned then gasped as her claws pierced the fabric. It sent a flash of heat down to her hips. "Catra."

The magicat pulled back, a sly smile dancing across her lips, "yes, Princess?" the words vibrated with a purr.

Adora had to close her eyes to focus. Warmth flooded her cheeks, spreading down her neck and across her chest. How was she supposed to tell Catra that more than anything right now she wanted to throw her back on the pillows and…focus! She shook her head, as if to shake away the images flashing behind her eyes. "I," she opened her eyes, "I want…." Her sentence trailed off, watching the smile on Catra's face turn more and more devious.

"Oh, please do go on," Catra raised an eyebrow.

"I want to," No, that's not right. "I-," Adora wasn't good with wanting, it was her fatal flaw, apparently. And anyhow, how was she supposed to say it without sounding like some Horde soldier who only wanted a quickie. That's how things had been in the Fright Zone, but not here. Not now. Horde Prime was gone, the Fright Zone was being remodeled, and she loved Catra.

"-want to fuck me?" Catra finished Adora's sentence for her.

Adora nearly choked. Catra was bold. She was bold bold. Adora didn't even know what to say. In truth, yeah, that's pretty much what she wanted, but Catra didn't have to be so…crass about it.

"Oh come on, Adora!" Catra let out a peel of laughter, but when Adora didn't respond (admittedly still a bit shook, and then soaking in the happy sound), it faded. Her smile faltered.

“No!” Please don't stop! She hated seeing Catra upset. "Wait," she shook her head, processing the words, "I mean yes." She took a breath and ran her hand through her hair, attempting to put it in place, “Yes, I…I do…want that….”

Catra smiled playfully again as she wiggled a brow at Adora, “Well in that case….” She all but lunged at Adora, their teeth knocking together when she pulled her into a heated kiss. Claws dug into Adora's back as Catra moved to the corner of her mouth. Open-mouthed kisses traced the sharp angle of her jaw until a hot breath brushed against Adora’s ear. “I can’t wait to play with you.”

Her voice was low, seductive. Adora moaned just thinking about it, letting her mind hurtle through countless scenarios.

Catra planted a kiss at the base of her ear, trailing down the column of her neck. Her lips brushed over Adora’s collarbone, nipping the soft skin. Adora’s breath caught in her throat and she wanted more. Her fingers wound into Catra’s hair, subconsciously massaging and pulling Catra closer.

“Needy, needy,” Catra mumbled against Adora’s chest. Her fingers followed a lazy path up to the elastic band of Adora’s bra, claws scraping as they slipped under. She squeezed Adora’s breast and her eyes flew open to look down at Catra. The nipple was raised, apparent behind the thin fabric. Catra’s eyes held hers, daring her to look away. She slowly brought her mouth closer, her lips closing around the perked button before-

“Ah!” Adora yelped but the hand in Catra’s hair held her firmly. Teeth punctured the fabric and grazed the sensitive skin beneath.

Catra smiled around the nipple before her brows furrowed. She withdrew her hand and Adora wanted to cry at the lost contact. “Can I take this off?” Mismatched eyes glanced at Adora’s bra.

Adora nodded. She could barely breathe. There was so much tension everywhere. She didn’t even wait for Catra to move, instead grabbing the elastic band herself and pulling it over her head.

She took delight in the little gasp that elicited from Catra. Before Adora had the offending piece of clothing off her arms, Catra rushed forward, fixing a kiss to her chest, where the failsafe had left an intricate scar – heart.

She let her hands return to the softness of Catra's hair, tugging lightly. Catra hummed and brought her hands to Adora's ribs, framing her breasts. She purred and pressed kisses along the sides before sucking a nipple into her mouth. Stars it was so warm! Adora held tight to Catra to keep from falling while her tongue laved around the rosy bud. So wonderfully textured. Catra's hand moved downward, nails leaving thin angry lines down the her stomach. Adora's hips jumped, searching for friction. Catra laughed, letting go of her nipple with a pop. She looked up at Adora with her usual mischievous grin. May I? Her eyes seemed ask, fingertips curling into the top of Adora's pants, waiting.

Adora let out a shaky breath and tried to form the word an answer, but nothing came out. For so many years she'd had to hide this, stomping down any feelings she had for Catra. And now? Now Catra was there, right in front of her. It was just…so much. Old habits die hard and this might be the hardest…no pun intended. Did she want this? Yes. But did it terrify the living daylights out of her? Also yes. She tried again.

"Yes."

It was so quiet she wasn't even sure it was audible; barely a whisper.

Catra held Adora's eyes, slowly dragging the pants off her hips. Down her thighs. Almost halfway there. Stars it was so slow. It felt like an eternity. The pull of the fabric was uncomfortable and Adora tried not to move. Down, down, down until finally. Her cock bounced free. The air was cold and Adora sucked in a breath when the tip brushed against the warmth of Catra's stomach. With a startled sound the magicat looked down.

Catra had seen Adora before; communal showers in the Horde never left much to the imagination. But she'd never seen Adora up close. Fuck it seemed so much bigger! Maybe she'd just never seen Adora so…turned on. As she stared at it, it twitched and moisture beaded from the tip. The head was broad and Catra noted that the color matched the soft pink of Adora's nipples.

She didn't even know what she wanted to do with Adora. Her hands, still latched to Adora's pants, wandered up to her hips. Taste her? Touch her? Feel Adora inside-

The thought made her shudder with anticipation. Her hands tightened, claws biting into the soft supple skin at the blonde's hips. Adora groaned and her hips rutted forward, her cock sliding up Catra's front.

"Oh gods Catra, I'm sorr- I didn't mean t- it jus-," Adora immediately withdrew with a string of apologies. Catra could barely hear her, though. Without a second thought, she took Adora's shaft in her hand, dipping her head to bring the rosy tip into her mouth, her tongue sliding over the soft skin.

"Fuck!" Adora's hands went to Catra's shoulders for support. Her hips drove forward, searching for heat. I made Adora curse, Catra smiled to herself. It brought her great satisfaction. She could feel Adora's abdomen billow with every breath. She sucked lightly, testing, teasing. The sound Adora made was absolutely filthy. Catra moaned around Adora's tip. After all these years….

"I-," Adora gasped and stuttered, straightening and shifting away "Catra, I-"

Adora had never felt like this. She didn't know exactly what to expect but it wasn't this; this was so much better than any of her dreams. And when Catra's claws bit into her hips, fuck. And the feeling of Catra's warmth against her cock…fuck. She hadn't meant to, it just happened. She had wanted to be controlled, to take things slow. But every nerve was singing. She was trying to follow Catra's lead, but when she felt the wet heat of Catra's mouth…the ridges of the magicat's tongue against her…

"Fuck!" Her head swam and her vision seemed hazy, dizzy. Every muscle in her body clenched, trying desperately to maintain control, to keep composure. Then she was in Catra's mouth again. Her arms gave out and she crumpled around Catra.

And that's when Catra moaned.

It was over. Adora knew she was done for. Her resolve stripped away in the tremor of Catra's moan vibrating along her shaft, her hand squeezing lightly, reflexively.

"I-," Adora tried to find the words, to warn her, to pull away "Catra, I-" Catra let Adora fall from her mouth and looked up, her eyebrows furrowing, but her hand still gripped Adora's cock. She made to ask a question, but it was too late.

"Catra," Adora groaned, her hips moving once, twice, into Catra's hand before she came. Her head fell back and her hands reached for Catra, trying to hold on to something, anything to hold her to this world. One found her shoulder, the other winding tight into the hair just behind her ear. Gods it felt so good. She didn't realize how much she needed release. Her hips continued their rhythm into Catra's hand, her moans turning into soft grunts with every thrust.

When the pulsating stopped, she finally let her head fall forward to meet Catra’s gaze. Her hand was still wrapped around Adora’s softening shaft, staring at it. Adora shifted under the scrutiny, unsure of what Catra was thinking. Her eyes followed a lazy trail up Adora’s front, lingering on her breasts before meeting Adora’s eyes. Her cock gave one last twitch, the bead streaming down the tip, the shaft, and onto Catra’s hand.

That’s when Adora noticed the white strings lacing across Catra’s breasts and abdomen. A mixture of pleasure and shame swirled in her gut, “Oh, Catra.”

She gently released Adora's length, inspecting the release that dribbled down her hand. Tentatively, Catra raised the hand to her lips, tasting. Adora shivered as Catra looked up at her. Her eyes flickered to Adora's lips, the promise of a kiss.

The bed dipped as Catra shifted up onto her knees, tail swishing in wide patterns behind her. She pulled herself close to Adora, melding their bodies together. Like two puzzle pieces finally falling into place. Adora delighted in the feel of the magicat's warmth and delicate fur.

Their lips moved with practiced synchrony, pulling needy little noises from the other. In their kiss Adora could taste herself on the rough texture of Catra's tongue.

Catra's knees slid apart and she ground her hips into Adora. Maybe it was just her imagination, but she would have sworn she could feel Catra pulse against her cock sandwiched between them. Adora swallowed a tiny moan from Catra, offering her own as a hand came up to fondle her breast. Catra's other hand squeezed Adora's wrist before lacing her fingers overtop. She pulled Adora's hand to the tight space between their hips.

She gasped. Catra was soaked. She’d never touched Catra like this, never felt her with such intimacy. Sure, they had trained together, fought together, shared a bunk, and at this point even made out! But this…this was a new feeling.

And Adora had no idea what she was doing.

Catra must have sensed her hesitation and drew back, eyes heavy-lidded. The hand at her breast moved up to her cheek when their eyes met. “Adora?”

Adora felt small, “I jus- I’m not exactly sur- I mean…I don’t…I don’t know what to do,” she fumbled for words and they tumbled out in a mess.

Catra’s expression softened and she kissed Adora, a caress, really. “Don’t worry, Princess, I’ve got you.” There was something electric in her voice, soft and murmured against Adora’s lips. “Do you feel that?” Her hand guided Adora’s, her fingers brushing against a hard bump. Catra’s tail wrapped around Adora’s thigh, the fuzzy tip brushing against the base of her shaft.

Adora pressed her fingers against the bud, trying to feel it’s shape. “That?”

"Fuck!" Catra gasped and her face crinkled. Not in a good way. Claws sliced into Adora's hand involuntarily. NO! Adora winced and regret knotted in her chest.

I hurt her.

Again.

"Okay" After a long pause Catra finally opened her eyes, “Yes, that’s it,” she licked her lips, “it- it’s just really sensitive right now…just…gently.” Her eyes drifted shut.

Adora nodded silently, though Catra couldn’t see. She let Catra guide her again, rolling the button in a small circle with the pads of two fingers. She watched as Catra’s expression relaxed and a purr began to resonate from her chest. When her eyes opened a haze had settled amongst their colors. The swell of her lip caught behind a pointed tooth and she pulled Adora’s hand further between her legs. Adora groaned. Warmth dripped over her fingers and impelled a twitch from her cock. There was a certain intensity in the way she watched Adora, searching her face as she…oh.

Fuck.

Slick heat enveloped Adora’s middle finger - all the way to the knuckle - while Catra’s lips parted in a sigh. Adora’s cock moved again, regaining firmness and pressing into Catra’s front. Her curses rumbled with a purr. Adora’s heart raced, watching Catra, listening to her. Catra tugged at her finger, pulling out before pushing back in.

Then again.

And again.

Catra was fucking herself with Adora’s hand. The realization stirred something in her belly.

“Please," Catra whispered, "Please don't stop." Her eyebrows pinched together and her whole body seemed to vibrate, "Kee- oh fuc- keep doing that.” Adora obeyed. She wouldn't stop. Never wanted to stop.

Catra’s hand trailed up to Adora’s stiff length, "Ah!" fingertips caressed the sensitive underside, "Catra!"

She only hummed, reaching back down to gather the slick that dripped around Adora’s fingers. When her hand returned it was wet and warm and fuck. Adora paused, her breath catching. Catra whined at the loss of friction and grated into Adora’s hand. Silken walls pulsed around Adora's unmoving digit, sucking it. Adora let out a breath, beginning her cadence again in time with Catra's strokes.

The awkward angle made Adora's arm cramp, but she didn't care. Looking down between them she watched her finger disappearing into Catra's center and Catra's hand (was it always so small?) moving in time along Adora's shaft. She let her hand wander up Catra's side and across her breasts. Adora flushed feeling the short downy fur - now dry - in stiff spikes from her release.

At first, Adora palmed one breast, then the other, feeling the nipples perk into the center of her hand. Her fingers lightly trace the outline of one breast, thumb brushing against the nipple. Catra's mouth fell open, mewling. Adora pinched one of the hard buds between her fingers, gently pulling and rolling it.

Catra's eyes flew open then rolled back, arching into the touch and squeezing Adora's cock.

That wasn't even the best part, though. The finger stroking into Catra's core was squeezed, her walls tightening and pulsing around the thick digit. Adora growled. Actually growled. The sensation was just so…damn it there wasn't even a good enough word for it. Perfect? Glorious? Etheria-shattering? She bent her head to capture Catra's lips, hooking a finger under the magicat's chin to bring her up for a kiss.

It was greedy. Normally Catra was the one to take the lead but Adora could hardly think. She needed Catra. She teased the tip of her tongue across Catra's lip, tracing over the swollen edge. She was rewarded with a whine as Catra's lips parted, her tongue rolling in tandem with Adora's. Long fingers ran through the hair at the base of Catra's ear, breaking their kiss with a light tug.

"Catra," it was the only thing she could say. The only thing she could think of. Catra filled her senses but she wanted more. Adora tugged again, this time with more intent, kissing at her jaw. The soft fur tickled her cheek and was unbelievably soft against her lips. She kissed down Catra's throat, finding the pulse point before nipping and sucking.

"Fuck," Catra keened. Her hand flew to Adora's shoulder, holding her in place.

Adora's hips lost rhythm for a few strokes as she tried to think. She was on fire. In an attempt to focus, she took a page from Catra's book, "N-," she tried to catch her breath, "Now loo-," Focus! "look who's needy."

"Shut up," Catra tried to counter, but her words had no bite. Her hand moved down Adora's arm, following to where it worked between her thighs. "More."

It was a quiet demand, little more than a whisper. She wrapped her hand around two of Adora's fingers, quickly bringing them back into herself in one swift thrust. A guttural sound left the magicat's throat before rising in pitch to a moan that Adora swallowed with a sloppy kiss. She was tight, so tight. And warm. And wet. And…. She couldn't think of anything else. She wanted more. The thought of Catra stretching to take the fullness of her shaft, down to the hilt…. Adora groaned.

She felt hot all over, especially the skin Catra touched. The ache in her stomach was becoming more and more difficult to ignore. Adora dropped her head to trail kisses down Catra's neck and across her chest. The move was awkward; she was just tall enough that the motion set her off balance, but she brought one of Catra's breasts to her lips. Her teeth raked across a dark nipple and Catra cried out, pressing into her mouth.

The sudden shift left Adora falling.

Her hands darted out, searching for stability.

With grunt and a yelp, Catra landed on top of her.

They stared at each other before a wide grin broke across Catra's face. She shook her head then started to laugh, propping herself up on her elbows. "You good, Princess?" Her smile was bright and it made Adora's heart flutter. All she could do was smile back.

Catra stared at her lips, her laugh turning into a purr. Adora sucked in a breath at the feel of it. Down her whole length – pressed between them with the tip resting almost between Catra's breasts – she could feel every shake of Catra's laughter and the purr that followed.

Fuck Adora's hands felt good. Her fingers were bigger than Catra's, and when she moved to take two... She all but lost it. Then Adora's lips were at her throat, her breast, her nipples. The feel of teeth against the tender skin. Her body sought more.

Cue the fucking inconvenient fall.

She cried out at the sudden loss of Adora's fingers and loss of balance. Toppling over she landed sprawled over Adora. It was like déjà vu, reminding her briefly of the old days. How many times had they fallen like this? She looked down at Adora, laughing with the odd familiarity of it all. "You good, Princess?"

Catching sight of Adora's goofy grin, Catra laughed again. Oh, what a mess. Something surged in her chest. Gods she was in love with this idiot. Then Adora gasped, sucking air between her teeth. Catra sat up, immediately hyperaware of Adora's cock squished mercilessly between them. "Oh, shit, are you okay?"

Adora nodded, "Yeah, I jus-," her voice was quiet, "I could feel you purr and it…wow." She smiled crookedly.

Without thought, Adora's hands rubbed up and down Catra's thighs. Catra's eyes wandered from Adora's face, over her breasts (which are too fucking perfect, by the way), finding Adora's length resting in the centerline of her abs. The pink head bobbed with Adora's breathing. She could see Adora's pulse in a vein that ran along the shaft. She let her eyes follow it down to the base. Down between Catra's thighs. She was mesmerized. She suddenly felt empty, the thought of Adora's fingers no longer there, wanting something more. She rolled her hips forward ever so slightly, mumbling a slew of curses when she felt a pulse. She wasn't quite sure if it was her own, or Adora's, but at this point, did it matter?

"Fuuuck," Adora growled the word out, long and drawn, as her fingers dug into Catra's thighs. She watched as Adora's head fell back and her hips rose, nearly lifting Catra off the bed. The motion slid Catra up her abdomen, up the length of her cock.

Catra couldn't manage words when she felt the tip slide through her folds, the whole of the movement having drawn her clit along Adora's shaft. When Adora dropped her hips again, Catra watched her slick cover the underside of her girlfriend's cock.

Adora pushed her hips up again, moaning low and pulling Catra down harder. She steadied herself on Adora's chest, above her breasts, walking the precipice now. Her body was alight with the heat furling in her core. She watched Adora, her head thrown back and utterly lost. She couldn't take her eyes off Adora's face – her features a mixture of agony and ecstasy. Moisture beaded from the head of Adora's cock and Catra thought of her first release. Inside. What would that feel like inside?

Adora froze and Catra's eyes widened. Oh, shit….

Adora's shaft pulsed below her. It made her ache. There was a long silence as Adora slowly raised her head to meet Catra's wide-eyed stare. She wasn't sure if she had blanched or blushed, but Adora's gaze made her fidget. It was so intense. "Wha-" Adora's voice was only a whisper between panting breaths, her brows knitting together "what did you say?"

She'd said the words out loud. Gods be damned she'd said the words out loud! Catra opened her mouth then closed it. Adora swallowed and Catra's eyes follow the motion. "That…wasn't supposed to be out loud."

"Insi-," Adora looked somewhere between dazed and awed. Her head fell back against the bed again, her hands moving to push through her hair.

She wanted this, wanted it desperately. Be brave, Catra. "I- I want to feel you…inside." The last word came out as a squeak. Her hands trembled but she wasn't sure if it was from excitement, anticipation, embarrassment, terror….

"Fuck, Catra," Adora's eyes dart between them and she licks her lips, "are you sure?"

Catra nodded quickly, but neither of them move, both unsure of how to proceed.

"I," Adora started, "I love you, Catra." Her hands rubbed Catra's thighs again, subconsciously trying to sooth herself.

Catra laughed nervously, "You said that already, dummy."

An almost bashful smile slowly spread across Adora's face, "I know, I just," her fingers squeezed Catra's thighs once, "I want you to know that."

Catra shook her head, relaxing. Adora was just so sweet. The magicat pretended to scowl, "Well stop it," she flashed her fangs, smiling, "it's gross." She laughed and leaned down, kissing Adora's temple.

"Too bad," Adora giggled, "I love you! I love you! I love you!"

Catra laughed with her, the movement shaking her from where she sat perched atop Adora's hips, "I love you, too," she rolled her eyes, "idiot." When she leaned down again she captured Adora's lips and twined her fingers through the blonde's hair. The kiss was slow and passionate, interrupted every now and again by giggles. When Catra finally pulled away, they gasped for air, chests heaving.

Nervous tension slowly crept back into Catra as neither of them spoke. She could sense it in Adora as well, the way her jaw worked and her hands fidgeted.

Adora looked up at Catra, her lips red and kiss-swollen, "ready?"

Catra's head spun, but she nodded, "slow…." Her tail wrapped around Adora's wrist.

Adora sucked in a breath and lined herself up between Catra's thighs.

The kissing was great, but Adora was unbelievably uncomfortable. The air was cold and now, with the anticipation of sinking into Catra's warmth…she shivered. Catra pulled away, and Adora waited, trying to catch her breath. She was nervous, like really nervous. So many thoughts were running through her head. What if she was bad at this? What if she hurt Catra? What if she finished too early? What if Catra didn't fin-

She mentally shook herself. No, she was She-Ra! She had saved all of Etheria! She had destroyed the Horde forces, fought clones in the void of space, defeated Horde Prime! I can do this.

She searched Catra's face, "ready?"

Catra had nodded quickly, then paused, "slow," her voice trailed off, tail twisting around Adora's wrist.

Gods she would try. She held the base of her cock with one hand, the other gripping Catra's waist. Slowly, ever so slowly, she guided Catra down. Adora bit down on her cheek as the tip glided through Catra's silky folds, her slick dripping down onto Adora's shaft.

Adora's nostrils flared and every muscle coiled to still her hips. She wanted nothing more than to plunge upward, take Catra in one swift thrust. She couldn't look away, watching as she slowly, slowly slipped into Catra's core. She watched her stretch to accommodate Adora's girth. So tight.

Catra gasped and her claws sunk into Adora's ribs just below her breast, enough to draw blood.

Adora yelped and instinctively jerked back. When she did, her hips curled up and Catra's knees slipped, sinking over halfway down Adora's shaft with a short, strangled cry.

Adora didn't move, searching Catra's face. "Oh, shi-! Fuck! Catra, are you ok-" Adora's thoughts were cut short with her realization.

Catra didn't move. Her body had gone stiff and her eyes shut tight. Her mouth open, lips forming a silent 'O'. Her breath came in short pants that shook her chest before giving rise to a high-pitched "Fuck!" that drew out into a moan, "Adora!"

Her walls fluttered around Adora's cock, sucking Adora in further. Down, down, down. It made her head swim. The tight, pulsating feeling left her breathing ragged and she wanted so badly to yank Catra down – to wrap her entire length in Catra's slick heat. Adora nearly cried, her fingers gripping the bed sheets to try to ground herself, clinging to what little restraint she had left.

The pulsating slowed and Adora swore her vision was blurry. She barely even notice Catra was now looking at her through half-lidded eyes. She made no motion to remove herself from where she sat impaled on Adora's shaft, the entire length buried inside her. Adora could feel the warmth of Catra's slick trickling from around her base and onto her abdomen and thighs. She wanted to look down, to see where Catra had taken her to the hilt, but she knew that would be her undoing. Instead, she stared at the ceiling.

Catra was already close, and she knew it. Even before Adora had grabbed her cock, she knew it. But fuck, the feeling of it pressed against her slit, probing for entrance. Catra nearly fell apart before Adora was even in.

When the tip finally…. The feeling pushed out any cohesive thought from Catra's brain. It was hard to remain still, to let Adora guide her. She watched the muscles in Adora's arms, and the repeated flexing and relaxing of her abs. She slid farther and farther. The stretch was delicious, only slightly uncomfortable the deeper she went. But Adora's cock was girthy, like, really fucking girthy. She gasped at the sensation, a mixture of pain and pleasure.

Her hands tightened, claws digging sharply into Adora's sides. Adora had shrunk away, her hips driving up into Catra. She was suddenly full. So full. So absolutely full and she could feel the pulse of Adora's cock and…. What followed can only be described as the most intense orgasm she'd ever felt. Fuck, she wasn't even sure if it was just one, it might have been two, three, maybe ten?

Adora was saying something, but Catra couldn't hear her.

She felt herself squeeze around Adora but there was no give; everything was so tight. It felt impossible as Adora slid in deeper and deeper. By the last surge of her orgasm, her hips finally came to rest against Adora's, fully seated.

It took a moment for Catra to come down. She could hardly speak, hardly breathe. Before the aftershocks had even stopped, her eyes focused on Adora. She looked…desperate?

Catra leaned forward to meet Adora's eyes and shuddered when the motion pulled her up Adora's shaft. Adora made a choked sound and bit her lip, her eyes falling shut for a moment. She gave the blonde a questioning glance. "Adora?"

Adora grunted and swallowed thickly. Her hands bunched the sheets so tightly her knuckles turned white.

"Adora?" Catra moved her hand to Adora's face, encouraging those stormy eyes to meet her eyes. Adora's jaw was tight and she stared at Catra almost helplessly.

“Catra, I,” her face scrunched, “Catra, I’m so close.” Her mouth was drawn into a thin line, the words coming out as if she were hurt.

Okay, and? Catra was confused. What is she waiting for? She almost asked the question aloud.

Control.

That’s what was stopping her. She just always has to be so controlled, doesn’t she? Not daring to step out of line; always doing what she’s told, even in the face of utter bliss. Catra sat back, reclaiming the last few inches of Adora’s length yet again.

“Catra!” she looked panicked now, her eyes searching Catra’s face.

Catra leaned up again and Adora shook. Adora’s skin was hot and dewy, the sweat sticking blonde hairs to face. Catra nuzzled into her, wrapping into her scent and lightly kissing up her neck. She brought Adora’s ear between her teeth before kissing it gently. “It’s okay, Adora.” She smiled when Adora whimpered, “I’ve got you.” She reached behind her with on hand to grab Adora’s hips, pulling them up towards her. She liked how Adora’s eyes clouded and a long, low groan fell from her lips. It made her feel powerful. She could do this to Adora*. She* could bring the mighty She-Ra to submission. She pushed Adora’s hips down, then pulled them up again.

Catra abandoned Adora’s waist to grab a breast, earning a soft moan. Her hands went to Catra’s hips as she started a rhythm, slowly stroking up into Catra. “Good girl.”

Adora cried out and her hips snapped up hard into Catra's. Her fingers flexed and her expression wavered between pain and pleasure. Liquiform heat filled Catra's core and seeped out around Adora's shaft as it began plunging faster. Dulcet wet sounds filled the silence between Adora's keening and Catra's ragged breathing.

She loved it.

Loved the symphony they'd composed as their bodies melded together.

Loved the feeling of being stretched and filled.

Loved watching Adora splinter and fall apart in the most beautiful way imaginable.

Ever so slowly Adora's rhythm abated but it never quite stopped. Catra's heart fluttered erratically in her chest as she pressed more kisses into the soft spot at the base of Adora’s ear. "-so good for me, Princess. You're so beautiful," she found herself lavishing Adora with praises, not even sure when she began doing so. She trailed kisses over Adora's jaw until returning to her lips.

It was brief, the moment cut short as Adora began stroking into her again. She pulled out almost completely before sinking back in. Then again. Her rhythm stuttered with a low moan. Then another long stroke. And another. Her pace grew quicker with a need not yet satisfied. Her arms locked around Catra's waist as her breath rushed against one feline ear, "Gonna," Adora swallowed thickly, "come again."

Catra cursed and swore she saw stars. Her clit ached with every roll of their hips, grinding the sensitive bud into Adora. Her cock slipped in and out fluidly with their mingled release. The fur on Catra's thighs lay plastered to her skin and clung to her lover. Adora’s hips moved faster, each thrust becoming harder than the last until the sound of skin slapping skin drowned out Catra’s whimpers. She winced into Adora’s neck, thankful she couldn’t see her. In all honesty, she ached, both from arousal and from soreness. It didn’t matter, though. She was in love with the way Adora sounded – nothing but a steam of moans, curses, grunts, and (her favorite) Catra.

Catra rose up, hands planted on either side of Adora. She bent down to kiss her, drinking in all of the lovely sounds. Adora’s movements became jerky and her lips made no effort to kiss Catra back. She reached a hand down to her clit, working it in rough circles as Adora's cock dove deep into her core. A thrill ran through Catra; she wanted to see her, wanted to watch Adora lose control before Catra plummeted into her own euphoria. “Come for me, Princess.” The words were high, rattling when their hips collided.

Adora gave one last hard thrust, the force of it nearly unseating Catra as she cried out. Her eyes rolled back and her mouth opened and closed with high-pitched moans. Her brows furrowing and relaxed in turn. So beautiful. Catra felt her body stiffen, her silken heat quivering around Adora's shaft. It sucked at her, drawing Adora in as deep as possible. Her hips rutted against Catra with less and less strength as warmth filled Catra's core again. She could feel Adora’s shaft twitching and throbbing, her release spilling out where they joined.

Adora’s hips barely ground against hers as the pulses abated. Her chest moved up and down more slowly, inhaling deeper. The steely arms wrapped around Catra began to relax.

Finally, all movement ceased.

Adora’s eyes slowly fluttered open and she looked up at Catra. “Wow.” Adora’s voice was a bit hoarse but it made Catra laugh.

The corners of Adora’s eyes wrinkled with her signature goofy smile. Of course that would be the first thing she says. “I fucking love you,” Catra shook her head and wrapped her hands around Adora’s face, leaning in to kiss her.

Adora kissed her back weakly before pausing, “Are you okay?” She gave Catra a concerned look, her hand absently stroking Catra’s back.

“Perfect.” Okay, so maybe she wasn’t quite perfect. After all, Adora’s full length, though softening now, was still buried in her down to the base. Adora moved to rub the spot behind Catra’s ear, and her hand shook. Catra grabbed it, glancing over Adora, "I think the better question is are you alright?"

Adora laughed and pulled Catra back down into a kiss, "Perfect." She ran her hands through Catra's hair before dropping her head back with a content sigh. "I love you, too."

"Alright, alright," Catra rolled her eyes, "that's enough of the mushy stuff." Catra rose up on her (admittedly super shaky) knees, slowly drawing herself off Adora's length. The feel of it almost made her curse. They both watched, neither making a sound. There was a slight, wet slap when Adora's shaft came free, falling against her stomach. Thick strings of release followed it, slipping out of Catra's folds and dripping down her thighs onto Adora. Catra gasped and Adora moaned. They both stared in amazement and satisfaction.

Adora was the first to break the spell, lifting her hand and drawing a finger along Catra's slit up to her clit, pressing lightly. It sent a shiver down the magicat's spine and her tail wrapped around Adora's wrist. She repeated the motion a few more times before looking up and wiping her hand on her stomach. "What?" Catra tried to make her voice teasing but a slight quiver gave her away, "Not gonna try it?" Adora's eyes widened and she blushed down to her nipples. "I highly recommend it," she gave Adora a wink.

"Catra!"

"What? I'm just saying." She bent down, nipping the puffy ridge of Adora's bottom lip, her tongue sliding to caressing the shape of it. Adora's mouth opened immediately, welcoming in Catra's tongue.

She felt Adora relaxing and her lips gradually became less responsive. Laughing to herself Catra pulled back. "Hey, anyone home?"

Adora never opened her eyes, only smiled and hummed a response. Catra planted a kiss on her sweaty forehead before crawling off the bed and heading to the bathroom.

As she passed the mirror, she caught a glimpse of herself. Her fur was mussed and damp and her hair flew in every direction. It would have been embarrassing if Adora hadn't looked the exact same. She smiled, considering the mess they made before grabbing a washcloth from the cabinet. The water was warm as she worked to clean herself. It wasn't as good as shower, but it would have to do for now.

With washcloth in hand, Catra quietly padded back over to their bed. Adora hadn't moved in the slightest. She only cracked open one eye when Catra sat down next to her and began cleaning up the mess.

The blonde smiled and grabbed her hand. "Thank you, for everything."

Catra leaned in to rest her forehead against Adora's, "You, too, 'Dora." She peppered her with light kisses, smiling as her expression relaxed. Adora's breathing slowed and her hand fell away from Catra's.

Not particularly concerned for the outcome of the rag, Catra chucked it to some unseen corner of the room, curling up against her girlfriend's side. She nuzzled into Adora's neck, savoring the familiar scent and warmth. As she found her own sleep, her chest began to rumble with a purr.

Yeah, she was definitely going to have to talk to Glimmer about giving Adora more time off.

End Notes

How was it? Was it okay? I've never really written wlw smut, but trying not to overdo the pronouns and finding descriptors (that I liked) to express who was doing what, was WAY harder than I imagined.

If you have any comments or suggestions let me know :)

Hope you have a great day!

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!