A Long Way From Etheria

by ProteinBlob

Summary

The Best Friend Squad travels through space in an attempt to befriend and make peace with other worlds. They also take this time to revel in each other's company. What else will they find out there, however?

Chapter 1

“And you’re sure that everything will go well? The ship isn’t gonna break down or anything, is it?” Asked Catra, looking over Entrapta's shoulder as she was in the middle of working on ‘Darla’.

“Yeah, yeah, it’s gonna be fine!” Assured the mechanic, not even looking up.

Catra let out a sigh, “It better be.” She crossed her arms as she glanced out the window, seeing the Brightmoon courtyard outside. She could see everyone out there bidding Adora, Bow, and Glimmer goodbye. She didn’t bother going, not like they’d be pleased to see her. But it didn’t bother her all that much.

She just remained inside the ship, waiting for Entrapta to finish, and for the others to return. Glancing down, she rest her hand on Melog as she stood there.

Meanwhile, outside, the trio was bidding farewell to the rest of the alliance.

“Are you sure I can’t come with you.” Asked Swiftwind with a slight whine, bowing her head against Adora’s.

“Sorry, Swifty. Someone’s gotta stay here and make sure Etheria’s safe. Plus, we don’t have any pens to keep you in.” Adora informed, earning a groan from her steed.

“Very well! I shall do my duty and see that Etheria is protected!” Swiftwind pulled away, striking a pose as he did.

Mermista groaned at the sight, “You guys are so lucky you don’t have to deal with him.” She said, turning to Bow, who couldn’t help but chuckle at the situation.

“Yeah, make sure to be careful.” Scorpia added from behind her. She glanced at the ship, knowing Catra was already inside.

“We will, don’t worry. And we’ll make sure Catra’s safe too.” Bow assured.

“Thanks.” Scorpia smiled with a sigh.

Glimmer held her father close in one last hug before pulling away to look in his eyes.

“Are you sure you have to go, dear? I could just go in your place if that’s better.” Asked Micah, holding her hands tight.

“I’m sure, dad. Besides, if we’re gonna reach out to other worlds, I’m sure they’d prefer to see the leader first, right?” Glimmer gave his hands a squeeze before letting go.

“I’ll be careful. I promise.” She assured, taking a step back.

“Alright, dear. I know you will.” Micah smiled as he watched the three of them begin to step on the ship.

“You better kick alien butt!!” Frosta cried out as she watched them, the rest of the alliance waving goodbye.

The trio stepped inside the ship, waving everyone else goodbye as they did. Their luggage was already inside the ship, thankfully.

Bow made his way to the main deck, where Entrapta and Catra were. “How’s it going so far?”

“She’s still working on-“ Catra started.

“Got it!” Entrapta hopped to her feet, turning around to Bow. “Autopilot program is fully operational.” She informed. “But are you reeeeally sure I can’t come with you? Just in case there are any otherworldly wonders I can witness??” She asked hopefully.

“Sorry, Entrapta. Maybe next time. We kinda gotta keep it at a minimum.” Bow answered sadly, earning a whine from Entrapta.

“Very well. But you better promise me next time!” She said before walking past everyone else and out of the front entrance of the ship.

Bow took the liberty to sit in the chair Entrapta was just in, adjusting the ship’s settings so they can lift off.

Adora and Glimmer entered the room as well, Adora wrapping an arm around Catra’s waist. Melog nuzzled against the blonde's wave, earning a chuckle from her. Glimmer took the liberty to look over Bow’s shoulder, watching him work.

“You sure you know how to pilot this?” She asked.

“Don’t worry, Entrapta taught me how before. At least, how to get it off the ground, and land it.” He assured, the ship now starting to move and lift off the ground.

Everyone else stared out the window, watching as the alliance, along with everyone else that was there, waved them goodbye. Further and further the five of them left Etheria.

In a matter of minutes, they were in outer space, already a good distance from Etheria.

Glimmer stared out the window, watching her home planet get smaller as they drove further. A faint sense of sadness filled her, even though she knew she would be back someday.

She felt a hand on her shoulder, finding it belonged to Bow. Immediately she nuzzled against him, a soft sigh leaving her as she did.

Bow wrapped his arms around her, rubbing her back softly as he caressed her. “It’ll be fine. Things are gonna go great, and we’ll help people out.” He assured softly, rubbing her back before pecking her forehead.

A smile formed on Glimmer’s face, nuzzling more into Bow’s chest as she did. “Thanks, babe.”

He couldn’t help but blush at that, as well as feeling her hands on his back.

“Well, I dunno about you, but I’m gonna get some grub.” Catra yawned, stretching her arms up before heading to the dining room, Melog following suit. Adora began following her as well, just as hungry.

Bow looked down at Glimmer, who was still nuzzling against her. “Wanna take this to our room?” he asked softly, leaning to her ear.

Glimmer chuckled with a grin, “Yeah, I do.” She answered before suddenly warping the two on top of her bed.

A soft grunt left Bow as they landed on top of the bed. Immediately, he felt Glimmer cuddle against him as they laid down, a soft sigh leaving her as they did. Her eyes were closed as she nuzzled against him.

Bow wrapped an arm around her, a smile on his face as he laid in bed with her, just relishing in the other’s warmth.

She wanted to take her mind off it, off everything really. The mission, her responsibilities, everything. And she had a great way to do so.

Glimmer reached a hand down to Bow’s thigh, cupping it lightly as she began to slowly rub it up and down.

He let out a soft hum, looking down at Glimmer’s hand as it caressed his leg. Immediately, he could feel himself starting to get excited.

“What are you doing?” he asked softly, looking over at the young queen.

“Nothing~” She responded with a chuckle, already noticing him starting to pinch a tent in his pants.

Bow just let himself get hard, biting his lip as he felt Glimmer's hand travel up and closer to his hardness.

The queen opened her eyes, lightly gripping his erection through her shorts and began to stroke it. She reveled in the moans and whimpers the other made as she did so.

Bow grit his teeth, eyes slammed shut as he tried his best to silence himself. Occasionally he arched against her hand, gripping the sheets tightly with his own.

"Mmm! Glimmer~" He moaned softly, suddenly feeling her let go of him. He found himself panting hotly, watching the other intently.

Glimmer opened her eyes before reaching down to pull the archer's pants down. Biting her lip, she grabbed the hem of his blue pants before pulling them down along with his underwear.

Bow lifted himself up slightly to assist in it. His cock popped out as he laid down, throbbing and dripping with pre cum. He glanced over at Glimmer, who was eyeing his hardness.

So many thoughts ran through the queen's mind on how she should go about this. There were plenty of ways she could have fun with him~. Her thighs pressed together, her sex tingling in anticipation.

She decided to continue stroking him off, reveling in the feeling of his hardness in her hand, not to mention the sounds of Bow's bliss beside her.

"You're so big~" She whispered into his ear, "I bet you just wanna pound my tight little cunt with this thing, don't you?~" She teased with a grin.

Bow just kept muffling his moans, gripping the sheets under him tighter.

“Tell me.” Glimmer commanded softly, “You wanna wreck my pussy, don’t you Bow?”

He hesitated for a few seconds, grunting softly as he occasionally arched against her strokes. “Y-Yeah…I do.” He exhaled; his cheeks flushed after admitting.

Glimmer chuckled playfully, flicking his ear with her tongue. “Well, if you’re a good boy, you might just get to~”

She glanced down at her hand as it stroked the other off. Pre trailed down on her fingers, coating her knuckles in the clear substance.

After a few more seconds, she began to slow her strokes until finally, she stopped. Bow was panting hotly, eyeing Glimmer in confusion. He didn’t say anything for now, not wanting to ruin his chances to fuck her.

She pulled her fingers to her lips, licking them clean and sighing in bliss. The taste of his pre cum on her lips and sending chills up her body.

“Hey, Bow, I got a surprise for you~” Glimmer smirked, holding back giggles as she hopped off the bed.

Bow watched her intently as she began stripping in front of him quickly. She took off her boots and pants, tossing everything to the side. She continued until she was in her underwear, marveling at her impressive frame.

She then pulled down her panties, exposing her wet and eager sex to the other.

He eagerly waited and hoped that this meant he would get his reward. Instead, he watched with confusion as Glimmer hovered a glowing hand up to her crotch.

“I learned a fun, new spell~” She chuckled, her crotch starting to glow as well, getting brighter by the second.

Bow shielded his eyes, looking away before the light started to dim down. When he turned to face Glimmer, his eyes widened as he saw what was hanging between her legs.

A smirk spread across Glimmer's lips as she stroked her hard, thick cock. "Alright, now get on your hands and knees~" She commanded.

A chill ran up Bow's spine, his cock throbbing and aching for pleasure. He didn't hesitate before getting into position in front of Glimmer, ass presented to her. In the process, he took the liberty to remove his top, his muscular physique on display for her.

Chuckling, Glimmer stepped behind her lover, smacking her thickness against his buttocks over and over. "Fuck, you got a nice ass~" She teased before lining the tip of her member to his asshole.

Bow grit his teeth, gripping the sheets under him once more as he readied himself for her. He'd been pegged plenty of times in the past by Glimmer, so this shouldn't be too much of a stretch.

"G…Glimmer~" He moaned, cock throbbing and dripping onto the sheets of the bed.

The queen delivered a hard smack to the other's rear, making it jiggle and causing Bow to cry out in ecstasy.

Finally, she gripped the other's hips before pushing herself inside him. Gritting her teeth, she pushed herself deeper and deeper in his ass. She dug her nails into his hips as she kept going deeper, until finally she was all the way in.

Both of them were gasping for breath, getting used to each other as they stood there.

Bow's head hunched over; his cheeks flushed as he glanced down at himself. His dick throbbed and dripped with arousal, the feeling of Glimmer's cock in his ass sending shivers of ecstasy throughout his body.

After a few more seconds, Glimmer began to pull herself out of the other's ass. Once she was halfway out, she slammed back into him, a shrill moan leaving both of them as she did.

The young queen repeated the process, now slamming into her lover over and over. Each thrust earned a moan between both of them, Bow gripping the sheets for dear life as he pushed against her.

His mouth was agape, moan after shrill moan leaving him with each thrust Glimmer gave him. With gritted teeth, he relished in the feeling of her thick member inside him. His cock throbbed and ached, desperate for attention that it wouldn't get any time soon.

"Ohhhh, fuck~" Moaned Glimmer as she began to press her chest to Bow's back, hips thrusting faster and faster.

"Glimmerrrr~" Cried Bow, pushing his ass against her member.

"Bow! I'm gonna cum~" She moaned out, eyes slammed shut and her teeth gritted tight. The sound of her hips slamming against his grew louder and more frequent until finally, with one more thrust, the queen began pumping her load inside him.

Both their moans filled the room as Glimmer kept shooting her seed inside him, holding on tightly to the archer as she did.

Bow cried into the air, feeling the queen's warm, thick jizz inside him. His legs shuddered and buckled under him as he felt it fill him up.

After a few more seconds, Glimmer pulled herself out of Bow, shooting a few glistening ropes onto his backside. Soon, she was laying behind him on the bed, gasping for breath as her cock began to go limp once more.

Bow collapsed on the bed as well, his cock aching for climax as he laid limp. Cum leaked out of his ass as he remained sprawled on the bed.

She took his hand, squeezing it tight and looking him in the eyes. With her other hand, she reached down to her cock, both glowing for an instant before her member disappeared. Her vagina was on display once again, dripping wet and desperate to be filled.

"I think you've more than earned this~" She teased with a chuckle before turning herself around so her pussy was in his face

Reinvigorated, Bow pulled himself up the bed and towards Glimmer. He kept pushing himself until finally, he was looking down at Glimmer, his cock lined up with her entrance.

His chest pressed against hers, hands resting on her hips as he prodded her entrance.

"I love you~" He said lowly.

"I love you too~" Glimmer grinned before pecking his lips. "Now how about you destroy me already?~"

"Gladly~" Bow said lowly, grabbing her hips before slamming himself deep inside her, both of them moaning out as he did.

A smile settled on Glimmer's face as she held on to Bow for dear life, her legs wrapped tightly around his waist as she felt him slam inside her.

The young man wasted no time as he happily plowed into her. His ass was still dripping her seed as he fucked her against the bed.

He then lunged his lips to hers, kissing the queen deeply as he slammed deep into her sex. The feeling was unlike anything he ever felt before, making all that teasing before worth it.

Glimmer's eyes rolled back; her moans muffled against Bow's lips as they kept kissing. Her arms wrapped around his body, nails starting to dig into his back as she clung for dear life.

The bed creaked slightly under them as Bow kept slamming into the queen, each thrust earning a grunt from him.

She kept crying out ecstasy, toes curling and nails digging into the other's back as she pushed against his thrusts.

"Mmf!~ Glimmer~ G-Gonna cum!~" He warned, thrusts picking up as he gripped her hips tighter.

She braced herself for what's next, heart racing and sex trembling for his release.

Huffing hotly, it only took a few more thrusts until Bow's orgasm finally hit. A pleasured cry left him as he slammed into her one last time, cock pumping his load into the queen.

Glimmer cried out as well, climaxing with her pussy this time as she held on to the other for dear life. The warmth shooting inside her made her heart race, a smile forming on her face as well.

The two remained rigid, holding each other in a vice grip. It wasn't long before the moment passed, and the two lay limp once more. Bow found himself sprawled on top of Glimmer, panting hotly as he pulled himself out of her.

Their breath graced each other's chest and neck, the warmth of it sending chills up each other's spines.

Blindly, they reached for each other's hands, finally managing to grasp them.

A content warmth washed over each other as they laid in the other's embrace.

"Hah, figures. Haven't been on here an hour and those two are already going at it like rabbits." Catra teased, sitting across her chair in the dining room. Melog curled up beside it.

"Well, I can't imagine they get many chances alone. I mean, I'd definitely want to take advantage of the situation~" Adora remarked, glancing over at Catra knowingly.

The Magikat cocked an eyebrow, “Is that right?~ Well maybe sometime later, okay?” She stretched upward with a soft grunt.

The blonde just chuckled, feeling Melog rub against her, purring as well.

Meanwhile, the navigation on the autopilot suddenly changed, its course altered away from the nearest planet and instead going somewhere else. A completely different direction.

Chapter 2

Chapter Summary

> Catra and Adora get a moment of privacy, and they're eager to take advantage of it.

A few days had passed since they had left Etheria, and they had yet to land on any planet. They passed by quite a few, but from how Entrapta programmed the ship, it was only supposed to land on places with intelligent life on them. Although, the fact that it was so many was a bit concerning.

That didn't matter much, however, as space navigation was the furthest thing from the passengers' minds.

Adora hummed against Catra's sex as she ate her out, hands resting on her rear. She arched against Catra's mouth, feeling her lap against her own cunt. The two of them were laying on the bed, with Catra on top of Adora as they happily ate each other out. Both were completely naked and enjoying the other's body. Melog remained outside the room, pacing around as she found herself grinding against the floor.

Catra kept her eyes closed as she ate out Adora, grinding herself against her mouth as she kept a firm grip on the blonde's legs. It had been so long since the two had a chance to go at it like this, and they were going to take advantage of it. They continued to enjoy the other's tastes; moans muffled against the other's sex.

Eventually, Adora pulled away, gasping softly as she looked up at the ceiling. She could feel Catra pull away as well, both their sexes tingling.

"Everything okay?" Asked Catra, looking down at the other.

"Yeah, I'm fine. Just need to catch my breath." She assured, feeling the Magikat's tail brush against her chin. A chuckle escaped the blonde as she caressed the other's back.

“I’m just happy that we can finally get a chance to relax.” She grinned with a sigh.

“Uh-uh, remember we gotta talk to other planets and all that.” Catra retorted with a smirk. Not that she cared about any of that, but she loved to be a tease.

Adora rolled her eyes, “Oh, they can wait. Besides, we still haven’t found any planets yet.”

“Yeah, kinda weird, huh?” Catra remarked, glancing at the door, as if expecting something to interrupt their fun.

“Well, I’m not complaining. Means we get to spend more time together~” Adora reached her hands to the other’s hips, lightly caressing them as she started to lick against her sex once again.

Catra bit her lip as a moan escaped her. Instead of eating Adora out as well, however, she quickly turned so she was looking down at the blonde, sitting on her face. The other certainly didn’t seem to mind.

Adora’s tongue kept running up and down the Magikat’s sex, hands now cupping her thighs as she pulled her closer.

“Mmm~” Catra sighed, hands resting on the blonde’s head as she kept her pulled close to her sex. She rocked against her lips; eyes shut as she savored the feeling. Her claws pressed against the other’s scalp as she rocked against her mouth.

The blonde continued to eat her out, eyes shut as she hummed against her lower lips. Her own sex was starting to tingle as well, getting wetter as the taste trickled down her throat.

Minutes passed as the two kept going at it, with Catra grinding faster and harder against Adora’s face. She bit her lip tighter as she edged closer to climax, pushing against her head against the bed as well.

Adora shoved her tongue as deep as she could inside the other's circling and exploring her inner walls eagerly. The sounds of Catra's moans kept her motivated, her tongue picking up speed.

"Ahhh!~ Adora~" Moaned Catra, shooting her head back as she wrapped her legs around the other's head, forcing her crotch closer. She was getting closer and closer to orgasm, her moans becoming shriller and more desperate. The only thing on her mind was the thought of cumming against Adora's lips.

The blonde could feel slick running down her chin as she kept eating out Catra's sex. Her hands continued to massage her legs, tongue going as deep as it could. She found herself bucking into the air occasionally as well.

"Gonna…cuuuum!~" Catra warned, hunching over as her legs tightened around Adora's head. Her core tightened up, bracing herself for climax as her claws dug into the other's scalp.

Adora tensed up for a moment, but she kept eating the other out, wanting nothing more than to get her off.

After a few more minutes, Catra's strained whimpers turned into cries of pleasure. They filled the room as her body instantly became undone, going limp on top of the other. She laid on her back on top of Adora, gasping hotly into the air.

Adora slowed her licks to a stop, pulling away from the other's sex. A smile formed on her face as she looked up at Catra. "Did you like that?~"

Catra kept panting into the air, sweat running down her body. She could only a manage a nod before tilting her head down at the other.

"Glad you liked it~" Adora caressed the other's legs as she watched her. A sense of pride filled her, happy to have made her feel so good.

As much as Catra loved the sight and feeling of Adora against her, she wasn't quite ready to settle down just yet.

With her second wind, the Magikat hopped off the bed, earning a gasp from the other.

"Alright, Adora, how's about we make tonight interesting~" She asked, now standing in front of the bed.

Adora turned over on her stomach, facing Catra. She tilted her head in confusion, "What do you mean?"

"Well, I was thinking maybe we could take turns using that little spell you got?~" She asked with a knowing grin.

It took Adora a few seconds to realize what Catra was talking about. A blush then formed on her cheeks, "Ohhh, you mean that one~" She chuckled, now sitting up on the bed before hopping off in front of Catra.

"I can, but I gotta be She-Ra for it."

"Well then get on with it~" Catra crossed her arms, leaning against the wall with a grin.

She watched as the other's body began to glow, shrouded in light. Adora went through her typical transformation, Catra giving a yawn at how long it was taking. But eventually, She-Ra was there, towering over Catra.

The Magikat looked up at her with a knowing grin, "You can have it first. I can wait." She assured, reaching a hand over to rest on the other's hip.

"If you say so~" Adora grinned, reaching a hand down to her crotch. Taking a deep breath, a form of light sprouted out from her crotch, protruding out towards the other. The light then faded away, showing the young woman's newly formed cock.

“Mmm~” Catra licked her lips as she stared down at the thick, throbbing member. Her sex was already getting wet at the sight of it. “Fuck, you’re big~” She remarked, starting to get on her knees in front of her.

She wrapped a hand around her shaft, just barely managing to get her fingers around her thickness. Slowly, she began to stroke her off, earning a moan from the large woman.

“Ahhh~ Catra~” Adora moaned, watching and feeling Catra jerk her off, her cock throbbing and dripping as she did. The tip of her member was pointed right at her mouth, and it took all she had not to shove it in.

However, Catra took it upon herself to tease the tip with her mouth. Her tongue circled around the end of her shaft, a smile on her face as she eyed up Adora. Her hands continued to stroke her off as she sat in front of her. The sounds of her moans sent shivers of pleasure up her spine.

“C-Catra! Please!~” Begged Adora, a hand now resting on the other’s head, prodding her cock against her lips.

“Mmm~ I bet you wanna put it in so bad~” The Magikat teased, hands continuing to stroke her off as her tongue played with the other’s cock slit.

“Ahhh!~” Adora cried out as precum dripped from her tip. Her grip on the other’s head tightened, sweat running down her muscular body. Her other hand bunched into a fist at her side, shaking as Catra finally began to take her length down her throat.

The feeling of the thick rod stretching her throat out made Catra shiver in hesitation as well as pleasure. Her eyes remained closed as she pushed herself further down her cock, all the while her cunt quivered and dripped with arousal.

Little by little she took more and more, feeling Adora’s grip tighten on her head, and hearing her moans becoming shriller and more excited. It made the feeling of her throat being stretched out so worth it.

Adora kept gasping hotly, trying not to force Catra all the way down, allowing her to go at her own pace. The feeling of her warm, wet, tight throat around her shaft made her legs shake. Sweat ran down her form as well, cock throbbing and dripping inside her.

After a few more seconds, Catra eventually took the whole thing, humming around the woman's cock as she did. She opened her eyes as well, looking up at Adora as she rest her chin above her balls. Her nose pressed against her pelvis, taking in the scent of the strong woman.

Adora was panting hotly at the feeling of the Magikat around her cock. Her entire body shook as she kept a firm grip on the other's head. Unable to hold herself back, she began to pull away from Catra's mouth.

A confused hum erupted from the Magikat as she felt her pull away, eyes widening in concern. Unable to pull back, she couldn't help but start feeling a bit panicked. Her muffled cries grew louder and panicked as she saw Adora pull back more.

With one slam, Adora forced herself all the way inside Catra's throat once again, a pleasured cry leaving her. She continued to plow into her mouth, moan after moan leaving the woman as she did.

Catra hummed and gagged around the massive member but found herself unable to move. She started to get used to the sensation, even starting to enjoy it.

Her eyes now started to close, getting into the rhythm of the other's thrusts. The feeling of her slamming down her throat was less uncomfortable now, thankfully. If anything, it was starting to turn pleasant.

Adora found herself hunched over now, thrusting down Catra's eager throat. Her grip on the other remained tight as her cock throbbed and dripped inside her.

"Mmm~ Catraaaa~" She moaned, thrusts starting to pick up. Adora could feel herself edging closer to climax, eager to pump her load down the other's throat. However, Catra had other ideas instead.

With a firm grip on Adora's thighs, Catra managed to push herself away from the other's grasp and cock. Coughing at the ground, she took a moment to catch her breath.

A gasp left the blonde, concern now replacing arousal. She stood there with a hard, throbbing, wet erection. "Catra! A-Are you okay?!" She asked, worried that she might have hurt her.

Gasping for breath, the Magikat looked up at the other. She gave a nod before choking out a 'yes'. She then started to climb on top of the bed once more, laying on her back with her legs spread.

"I just figured you'd rather shove that thing somewhere else~" She grinned, reaching down to spread her lower lips.

Adora turned around to face the other, admiring the sight of the other splayed out for her. A grin crept on her face as she lined up the tip of her shaft with the other's entrance. A soft hum left both of them, followed by shrill moans as Adora eagerly began pushing herself inside Catra's sex.

She pressed her chest against Catra's, grunting hotly as her lubed shaft began to slide in and out of the other. Moan after moan left Adora as she eagerly began slamming herself into the Magikat.

All the while, Catra wrapped her arms and legs around the other tightly, moaning into the air. Each slam against her sex sent waves of pleasure throughout her body. Her nails dug into Adora's back, holding on for dear life as she felt the other's massive member fill her tight sex up.

Adora wrapped her arms tight around the other, not wanting them to slip away or let go. Each thrust she gave brought her closer to climax once more. She hoped that this time, she could actually finish.

"Ohhhh, fuck!~ Adora!" Catra cried out, holding on tighter to the large woman as she felt herself edging close to orgasm. "Cum in me!~" She practically begged with a smile on her face.

As she heard those words, Adora grew more invigorated, slamming faster and faster into Catra, eager to fill her up. Her cock throbbed and ached, pre dripping inside the other's sex as Adora kept going at it.

Her moans grew more shrill, and her hold on Catra was tighter as she picked up the pace. Her eyes were slammed shut and her teeth gritted as she finally hit that high. As both their moans filled the bedroom, Adora thrust a few more times inside Catra before pumping her load deep inside her.

A pleasured cry erupted from the large blonde as she kept pumping load after load into the other. The way her sex tightened around her length was so amazing that she couldn't bear the idea of pulling out.

Catra could feel herself starting to distend from the massive load in her cunt, but she was caught up in bliss that she didn't dare pull away. The feeling of Adora's warm load filling her made her dissolve into orgasm as well. A shuddering moan escaped her as she limply held on to the larger woman. Her eyes rolled back in sheer bliss before laying limp on the bed.

After a few more seconds of climax, Adora throbbed the last of her load into the other, feeling what couldn't fit inside her slide past her shaft and onto the bed. She was gasping for air, her cock now starting to go limp as she laid on top of the Magikat.

It didn't take long for her to recuperate, thankfully. Being She-Ra does have its perks. She began to pull herself off of Catra, then started out of Catra's sex, standing in front of the bed as she watched cum seep out of her.

Catra opened her eyes, panting softly as she looked up at her partner. "Man, you really filled me up, didn't you?~" She asked, glancing down at herself. She couldn't help but find herself entranced at the sight of the shimmering seed leaving her.

"Mhm~" The blonde responded before resting a hand on her dick, disappearing in a shimmer of light. "Now it's your turn to return the favor~"

Catra was already chuckling at the idea of that, sitting up in front of her. She practically grew hungry at the idea of having a cock.

After making sure that she was drained dry of cum, Catra shakily stood up in front of Adora. She looked the other in the eyes, more than ready to get her cock.

"Well, you're excited, aren't you?" The blonde teased as she looked down at Catra.

"Yeah I am! I want a dick so bad!" Catra playfully whined, leaning back so her pelvis was sticking out.

Adora couldn't help but chuckle at her enthusiasm, "Alright, alright. Just gimme a bit." She assured, reaching down so her hand was right in front of Catra's pussy.

A quick flash of light formed there, and just like that, Catra was sporting a cock.

The Magikat covered her eyes briefly, opening them when she saw what was between her legs. "Aw, sweet!" She beamed, reaching down to grab it and start stroking it. Immediately she found herself whimpering and moaning at the sensation.

Adora bit her lip, watching the other have fun with her newfound cock. The look of pleasure on her face sent shivers up the blonde's back. "Don't have too much fun, babe. Don't you still wanna have fun with me?~" She teased before bending over on the bed, looking back at the other.

Catra immediately snapped out of her pleasured haze, eagerly rushing behind Adora before lining the tip of her cock with her pussy. Her hands reached for the blonde's hips, giving a firm grip and earning a soft hum from the taller woman.

"Fuck, I've been waiting for this a long time~" Catra remarked lowly, looking down at Adora's rear, grinding herself against it for a few seconds before prodding her tip against her entrance.

"Then come on already~" Adora retorted, spreading her legs more for the other, bracing herself for her length. No doubt Catra would be very energetic.

She wasted no time, slamming deep into Adora's cunt with a pleasure cry. Adora's moans shot out of her as well, gripping the sheets tightly as she felt Catra start thrusting into her sex over and over.

"Fuuuuuuck!~" Cried Catra, claws already digging into Adora's sides. Her own hips were moving on their own, slamming quickly and deeply into the other's cunt. The tight, slick, warmth enveloping her sensitive member was driving the Magikat up a wall. The only thing on her mind was plowing into the large blonde in front of her.

Sweat ran down her body as she kept gasping for air, her chest pressed against Adora's back as she kept slamming and plowing into her. Her eyes slammed shut as pleasure kept hitting her. She could already feel herself edging closer to orgasm.

"Adoraaaaaa!~" Catra moaned out, "G-Gonna cum!"

"Already?" Adora asked softly, though wasn't too surprised. This was Catra's first time with a dick after all. "Well, come on and fill me up already!~" She beckoned with a grin, looking back at the other.

A few more shrill moans erupted from the Magikat before slamming into Adora once again. Her head shot back in a moan as she pumped her load deep inside her. With every throb was another shot of seed deep inside Adora's sex. She held on to the other for dear life, panting and whimpering as she rode out her climax.

Adora shuddered at the feeling of the other clinging tightly, not to mention her cumming deep inside her pussy. Her heart raced, happy that she could make Catra feel good like this.

A few more seconds passed, and Catra laid limp on top of Adora's back. Her dick was still inside the other as she was catching her breath.

The blonde let her rest, a smile on her face. She could feel the other's cock getting flaccid inside her.

Catra mustered enough energy to pull herself out of Adora, rolling over to her side. She opened her eyes to face her lover, smiling as she took her hand.

"Thanks, Adora. I love you." She leaned over to peck her lips.

"I love you too, Catra." Adora kissed back before turning She-Ra off, and with it, Catra's cock.

The two then embraced each other before fading off to sleep.

Arriving at Eternia

Chapter Summary

> The ship is being pulled toward an unknown planet, but Adora might find something she had been missing for so long that she missed desperately.

Catra nuzzled her chest against Adora's a smile on her face as she snoozed softly against her. Adora was fast asleep as well, chin resting on top of Catra's head. Another day passed, and they still have yet to find any habitable planet. It was a bit concerning, but none of them were complaining. Just another day to relax and spend time with their lovers.

Melog curled in front of the bed as well, humming softly as she dozed away. This didn't last long, as the sound of footsteps picking up began to bring the shapeshifter out of its sleep.

There was a sudden knocking at the door, making everyone in the room wake up immediately. Adora and Catra's eyes shot open before turning to the door. Melog's head shot up as well.

"Guys! Get up! We have an emergency!" Bow cried out from the other side of the door.

Adora hopped out of bed quickly, slipping her clothes on as fast as she could. Catra just yawned, taking her time as she stretched out on the bed before even bothering to get dressed. She watched her lover open the door, seeing Bow out in the hall, a worried look on his face.

"What's going?" Asked Adora anxiously, quickly tying her hair up.

"Well, we're heading toward a planet." He explained, not too shocked at the lack of concern on the other's face.

"Uh, yeah? We're supposed to be doing that." Adora remarked, unsure of why Bow acted all concerned.

“Yeah, but we’re being pulled towards it!” Bow added frantically, making his way to the front of the ship, Adora behind him. Soon, Catra was making her way behind the blonde along with Melog.

“Will you calm down, arrows, aren’t we supposed to be heading towards planets and stuff?” Asked Catra with a yawn, hands resting behind her head.

“Yeah, on the course Entrapta charted out for us.” He explained, glancing back at the Magikat. “But we’re not on that course anymore. In fact, we haven’t been on that course for the past few days!”

Adora and Catra shot their heads at Bow, shock and frustration on them.

“Well, hasn’t anyone been checking the map where we’re going??” Adora asked tersely.

Bow remained silent, glancing away anxiously, “I was…busy-“

“Oh, good job! Now we’re gonna get captured because you wanted to get off!” Catra exclaimed, rolling her eyes, a hand resting on Melog.

“Like you’re any better!” Bow shot back at her. “I don’t see you checking up on how we’re navigating space!”

“Guys! Stop it!” Adora commanded, “Fighting isn’t getting us anywhere! First we need to find out where we’re headed.” The three then entered the main deck, Glimmer already there and staring up at the planet through the window. She turned to Adora, concern on her face.

Adora then rushed to the control panel, moving Glimmer aside before pressing a button. “Darla! What’s going on? Why have we suddenly gone off course?” She asked anxiously, gritting her teeth as she looked down at the console.

A few seconds passed, and there was no response from the ship.

“Darla! Answer me!” Adora demanded, all the while the ship was getting closer and closer to the surface of the planet.

Still, there was no response from the ship, and they were heading closer and closer to the surface of the planet.

“What’s happening??” Glimmer asked, turning to Adora.

“I don’t know!” Adora snapped at her before looking back at the front window. The ship was now being pulled down through the clouds. Once they were past it, the four of them got a view of what looked to be a large golden castle, somewhat reminiscent of Castle Brightmoon. Although, the structure and set up of it was more angular, looked to be made of brick rather than steel.

The sky was a light pink as well, and they could see green grass and trees lining on the outside of the castle grounds. Not only that, but what looked like a large village sat on the base of the hill the castle was on.

They didn’t have time to take it all in, though, as the ship was forcibly being docked into what looked like a landing bay, and Adora could see that there were other ships there too. They looked so similar to Mara’s, but something about them just screamed that they were new.

“Adora!” Catra cried out, pointing down to the ground where they were due to land. There were what appeared to be guards looking up at the ship, aiming spears at it as they landed. They had blue helmets that covered their faces and orange body armor with green arm and leg armor. Catra gripped Adora’s hand tightly, nervous as they began to slow their descent to a stop.

Bow turned to the entrance of the ship, his bow and arrow at the ready as he heard the doors open.

“Bow, put it down.” Glimmer said softly, prompting a confused hum from him. “This is supposed to be a peaceful negotiation. We can’t show hostility.”

He was a little confused, he thought Glimmer would try to fight through all of them. Guess she learned a lot from her father. In any case, he did just that, watching and hearing the guards from outside rush into the ship.

About six of them ran inside, spears aimed at the four of them. “Halt! What are you doing with this aircraft?” One of them commanded in a deep, regal voice.

Glimmer was the one to speak, “We come in peace. We were just traveling through space when we were suddenly pulled towards this planet.” She explained. “Why did you drag us here?”

“We have done no such thing. We only use our tractor beams in times of extreme emergency! Why do you have this ship anyway? These can only be piloted by Eternians!”

The four of them let out a soft gasp, the remainder turning to Adora for answers.

A chill ran up the woman’s back as she heard that word, something about it made her feel some sort of ease.

After a few seconds of contemplation, she took a breath. “I found and activated this ship.” She said, “So…I guess that means I’m an Eternian?”

As soon as the man shot his head towards the blonde, his stance started to soften, a soft gasp leaving him. Slowly, he began to approach Adora, which didn’t set too well with Catra, as evidenced by Melog’s glare and red mane.

He stopped about two feet in front of her, pushing a button on the side of his helmet, his face coming into view. He looked to be an older man, in his 50s it seemed, auburn hair could faintly be seen on the side of his head, but what was more prominent was his mustache of the same color. His eyes scanned Adora, almost in disbelief.

“You…You look just like him…” He remarked softly, prompting a confused hum from Adora.

“What? Like who?” She asked, now noticing some of the other soldiers behind him talking amongst themselves.

Glimmer and Bow glanced at each other anxiously, holding their hands tightly, unsure of what to make of this.

“Hey! Mind telling us what the hell is happening?” Catra spat, now getting the mustached man’s attention.

He cleared his throat, “Well, there’s no easy way to say this; so it’s probably better that we escort you to King Randor.”

“Oh. Well, alright then.” Adora said, a smile forming on her face, relieved they won’t be imprisoned, it seems.

“Unfortunately, we’ll have to bind you all. Just to be safe.” This wiped the smile off Adora’s face.

“Are you serious? We’re not gonna try anything.” Catra groaned.

“Still, precautions are necessary. You lot are still newcomers here.” The man said, a steely look in his eyes as he glared at Catra, who returned the tense look.

“Catra, just calm down. Let’s just go along. I’m sure it won’t last long.” Adora assured, resting a hand on the back of the other’s back.

“Are you kidding me? You’re just gonna let them take us prisoner here?” The Magikat turned to Adora, confusion on her face.

“Listen, Adora has this under control. She’s not gonna let us be held prisoner here.” Bow assured, turning to Adora hopefully.

Catra crossed her arms in a huff, “Fine, whatever.” She said, turning back to the mustached guard.

He gave the command for his soldiers to bind the four of them, arms tied behind their backs before being marched out of the ship. Before that, however, Catra instructed Melog to wait outside the castle just in case something was up. And like that, the four were being escorted inside the large, golden building.

Once inside, Adora found herself in awe of the interior design. Everything was shimmering gold, and most of the carpets and curtains were colored pink. As she looked around, she couldn't help but find herself feeling a bit…nostalgic?

"Ugh, talk about ugly. Who designed this place?" Catra whispered back at Glimmer, who just chuckled in response.

"Guys, we need to set a good example. We're in enough hot water as it is." Bow said just as softly. "Look, something is going on here with Adora and them, but I think it might be a good thing."

"Quiet down!" One of the guards said, shoving the back of his spear against Bow, prompting a groan from the archer as he followed behind Adora.

It wasn't long before they were being escorted through a pair of large doors, being opened by a pair of guards. The mustached guard walked ahead of the others, leading the line of people up to what looked to be the throne room.

Two thrones sat side by side on a pink rug, on each of them sat a man and a woman dressed regally. Like a king and a queen. Beside the king floated what appeared to be an enchanted jacket with a hat on top. Adora could have sworn there was a pair of eyes right below the brim of it.

The king had short, blonde hair that faded with his beard, and was wearing a red robe. He had a crown on his head as well, but the most striking feature was his piercing, blue eyes.

The queen beside him had brown hair, and a green dress that was woven with red floral patterns. Her own eyes were more hazel, and were focused intently on the new batch of people in the throne room.

“Hm? Duncan, what is this?” Asked the king, turning towards the mustached man, then to the newcomers.

“Your highness, these are the people that the incoming signal was coming from.” Answered Duncan, getting on one knee in front of the throne.

The king’s eyes landed on Adora, who looked right back at him. Without any hesitation, he got up from his chair, quickly approaching Adora, stopping a couple feet from her.

“Darling? What is it?” Asked the queen beside him, who got up and approached Adora as well. However, once she got a good look at Adora, she found herself taken aback, her eyes wide and mouth agape.

Adora was paralyzed, looking between the two of them. Her heart was racing, and she could feel tears start forming in the corners of her eyes. This was the first time she’s seen these two, but she knew immediately who they were. Mindlessly, she said the first thing that came to mind: “Mom…Dad…?” She said softly.

Catra, Glimmer, and Bow turned to each other, completely baffled and surprised upon hearing this. “WHAT?!” They all exclaimed, watching as Adora was suddenly embraced by the king and queen. Although, Bow did manage to catch the floating being beside the throne quickly flying away out of the room.

Adora, the king and queen all had tears running down their cheeks, embracing their daughter for a good few seconds before pulling away.

“I can’t believe it. It’s really you.” The King sniffled, a smile on his face before wiping his tears with the back of his hand.

“I can’t believe it either. I have so many questions!” She immediately lit up, unable to wipe her tears up as she looked between the two. A smile remained on her face.

“Duncan! Unbind all of them please.” The queen commanded, turning to the captain.

Soon enough, all four of them were free of their binds, Catra shooting a glare at Duncan before taking Adora’s hand in her own. Her gaze didn’t soften when she turned to the king and queen, though.

“Oh, and who’s this?” The king asked, looking back at Catra.

“This is Catra, my girlfriend.” Adora said, wiping her eyes quickly before saying it, a feeling of pride welling in her as she said.

“Well, nice to meet you.” The king beamed, extending a hand to Catra, who just swatted it away. He had a surprised, bewildered look on his face.

Adora turned to Catra tersely, “Catra, what are you-“

“So you guys are First Ones?” Asked the Magikat, glaring between the two.

The king turned to his wife, “First Ones? Well, that’s new.” He remarked. “Wait, where have you-“

He didn’t have time to ask his question, as suddenly the front door slammed open, in walking a young, blonde man wielding a rather large sword.

“Father! Orko told me something was going on here and I-“ The young man stopped in his tracks as he locked eyes with Adora. In a flash, his sword disappeared, and he approached her and his parents.

“Adam! Great news!” The queen beamed, “Your long-lost sister, she’s right here! Isn’t that amazing?!” She beamed, watching as Adam stopped in front of Adora.

Both of them were silent as they stared into each other's eyes. It was like looking in a mirror, only they were the opposite sex of course.

Glimmer and Bow stood there staring, mouths agape as they eyed up both Adora and Adam. The resemblance was uncanny, the blue eyes, blonde hair, even their toned physiques were shared.

Catra remained silent, stewing in her own frustration. As upset as she was at the whole ordeal, she could only imagine what it was like for Adora to finally experience seeing her real family.

"…Sister…" Adam remarked, a smile on his face as he extended a hand out to her.

"My…My name is Adora." She introduced, taking his hand in his. However, she was shocked that instead of shaking it, he pulled her in for a sudden headbutt.

Adam couldn't stop laughing as his head collided with hers, and neither could Adora for that matter. She got up from the floor in a fit of giggles, resting a hand on her forehead.

"Man, you really got me!" She teased, nudging him in the hip.

"Well, I just figured that you'd know what I was thinking." Adam teased back with a chuckle, the others in the room eyeing the sight in confusion.

Adam turned his father, a smile on his face. "This is wonderful news, father! This calls for a celebration!" He beamed.

"I couldn't agree more!" The king nodded, "A feast to celebrate the return of my daughter!" He announced before turning to Duncan. "Have the chef make us the finest Eternian meals! Only the best for my Adora!"

Adora couldn't help but feel her face flush red. She would figure she got tired of people heralding her and treating her like a big deal, but this was way different than everything on Etheria.

“Adam, why don’t you show Adora and her friends to the guest quarters?” The queen advised.

“Of course, mother.” He nodded, “Right this way!” He beckoned the four of them, making his way out of the throne room with a bright grin. Adora and the rest followed Adam down the hall.

Soon, Adora and Catra got rested in their room for the night while Bow and Glimmer got their own room, the blonde sitting on the pink sheets splayed on top of the bed as she stared out the window. For the entire time, she had a smile on her face. She couldn’t believe it, she was home.

“Ugh, don’t tell me you’re actually enjoying it here, are you?” Catra groaned, leaning against the wall with her arms crossed, prompting Adora to shoot a look her way.

“What’s gotten into you? Seriously, why can’t you just be happy for me that I’ve found my family?” she spat.

“Adora! These are the same people that threw you through a portal and abandoned you! They made the Heart of Etheria!” She stepped closer to Adora, poking her in the chest as she said that.

Adora gritted her teeth, smacking Catra’s hand away. “Do you think I don’t know that? You think I forgot about all that they did to Etheria, to me, to all of us?” She then took a breath, face softening.

“Catra, I understand it’s weird to think about. But they are still my family. Maybe they’ll tell us more about it and we can see it from their perspective. Okay?” She reached a hand to her shoulder, a pleading smile on her face.

Catra sighed, shrugging her hand off, “Whatever. Sure.” She said tersely, the smile on Adora’s face fading.

A knock on the door made her jump a bit, turning to the door.

“Sister! Dinner is almost ready!”

Chapter 4

They had all joined in the dining room for a feast, the large table already adorned with various foods and drinks. Adora found herself a bit overwhelmed at the sight of it. As was Glimmer and Bow. Catra looked less than amused, knowing what these people have done with Etheria so long ago.

The four quickly sat down, the king beckoning them to feast to their heart's content, which Adora, Bow, and Glimmer eagerly did. Catra didn't look hungry, despite her growling stomach. Her arms remained crossed as she turned to the side.

Adora and Catra sat beside each other, as were Bow and Glimmer. The King and Queen sat at the front of the table while Adam sat on the other side of Adora, eating just as much as she was.

A few minutes had passed into the feast before the soft tapping of glass could be heard, earning everyone in the room's attention.

"If I may, I would like to propose a toast. A toast to the return of my daughter, Adora, princess of Eternia!" The king proclaimed, raising a glass of a fizzy, pink drink.

Beside him, the queen joined in his toast, raising her own glass with a grin. "Head, hear." She added.

"Yes, father! It's wonderful to have my long last sister with us at last!" Adam beamed, holding up a glass as well before turning to Adora with a grin.

Adora swallowed a large bite of food as she faced the three of them. "Y-Yeah, it's great to be back." She said half heartedly.

Catra rolled her eyes with a groan, doing her best to resist the temptation of food in front of her. She reached a hand down beside her chair, petting Melog as she curled up beside the chair. On the way to the dining room, she called for her.

Immediately, the king could sense something wasn't right with Adora.

"Does something trouble you? Is the food not to your liking?" he asked, setting his glass down.

"No! No! The food's delicious! It's just…never really been one for people doing so much for me." Adora sighed, sitting up in her chair, hands folded and resting on the table.

"Nonsense, sister! It's the least that can be done with your arrival here!" Adam beamed, sipping his drink. "I'm overjoyed that you'll be staying with us as well!"

Adora's eyes widened in response to that, Catra shooting a look to Adora as well. Even Glimmer and Bow stopped their eating as they heard the prince's words.

"Staying? No, no, you got the wrong idea, I'm not gonna be staying here. For good, I mean." Adora asserted, much to her family's confusion and worry.

The king sat back in his chair, "Why not? That's why you're here, aren't you? To return to your home?"

Adora took a deep breath, a steely look in her eyes as she turned to her parents. "No. We've come here from Etheria to establish an alliance with any planets that may need assistance."

The king remained silent for a second, unblinking as he brought a hand to his chin. "Etheria?...Why does that sound familiar?..." He mused, eyes glancing to the side.

Suddenly, Catra got to her feet, slamming the table in front of her, plate and silverware rattling as she did. "Because you people turned it into a weapon! The Heart of Etheria project. You all were content with destroying an entire planet just to make a new weapon!" Catra snarled, glaring at the king and queen, her claws digging into the table. Melog got to her feet as well, letting out a hiss as she glowed red.

The king was unfazed by this, still thinking about it. After a few seconds, realization hit him and he sat up in his chair. “The Heart of Etheria project…from over a thousand years ago?” He turned to Catra, concern in his voice.

“Yeah. Well, recently it was a problem for us. But we took care of it, no thanks to you.” Catra spat, now relaxing her grip on the table, but still glaring at the king. She could feel Adora reach a hand over to hers.

“Oh, my goodness…” The King reclined in his chair, looking down at the table as he brought a hand to his forehead. The queen at his side consoled him silently with caresses to his back.

Catra found herself a bit surprised at the other’s reaction, not expecting him to act so sullen. She sat back down, glancing at Adora before turning back to the king.

After a few seconds, the king sat up, turning to Catra, hands together. “The Heart of Etheria project was one of many antiquated projects to turn planets into living sources of fuel and energy to fight our enemies. We had tried many times to find ways to restore that energy after we had used it, but made no progress.”

Adora and Catra tensed up as they heard him out, glancing at Bow and Glimmer on the other side of the table, who were listening intently as well.

“However, we’ve made sure that these planets had no wildlife or people that would be severely impacted by the project, should it not go as planned.” The king continued.

“Yes, father, I recall in my studies.” Adam added, “In Etheria’s case, the Eternian Mara was assigned to survey the planet and report back anything that would take it off as being a contender for a Heart project.”

“She took to civil action and telling her superiors at first, but they wouldn’t listen. They insisted that Etheria was brimming with energy, and it was worth the risk." Adam explained. "So, Mara took to revolution of course. And I'm sure you all know what happened next?" He turned to Adora, who gave a nod.

"Yeah, we know." She added, "Mara warped Etheria to Despondos, and later on, I was sent there."

"Of course, we've moved on from those old ultimatums of energy harvesting and instead use more clean alternatives that don't hurt any planets." The king assured before standing up.

"But on behalf of the actions of my ancestors, we are deeply sorry for what happened." He bowed his head in Catra and Adora's direction. The queen and Adam then joined him in prostrating themselves before them. "If there is anything we can do

Adora's face lit up in a blush at the sight of them all bowing. "H-Hey, you don't need to-" She felt Catra hold the back of her hand up to her face, telling her to be quiet, all the while the Magikat looked between the three of them, amused.

"I suppose I could forgive you for this. It was a long time ago, after all." Catra mused, watching the three straighten themselves up. All the while, Catra finally began digging into the food as well, not bothering with a utensil.

Adora let out a low sigh as she glanced at Catra. She then turned back to her father. "I still have a question." She said, earning their attention once more.

"What happened with me? Why did you send me away while Adam remained behind? How did I get to Etheria in the first place?" She asked, hand clenched into a fist on the table.

The queen let out a sigh, looking down at her plate before turning to Adora. "It was many years ago, when you were still a baby. Our home was being invaded by the forces of Skeletor. Try as we might, we were nigh powerless against him. All that mattered to us was that you two got to safety, so begrudgingly we sent you two away in escape pods." She explained, looking between her two children.

"We didn't know where they would land, but we were confident we would find you two." The queen continued before gesturing to Adam, "Adam was only sent out as far as a few planets from here. Lucky for us, he was being taken care of by the peaceful Ghoza people."

She then turned to Adora, "As for you…we've tried searching as far as we could for you but yielded no results. We scoured every corner of the galaxy for where you might have ended up, but nothing. We never would have guessed you would have been warped to Despondos." She folded her hands nervously. "Eventually we lost hope that you had survived, so we simply moved on. We're sorry." She looked down, shame on her face.

"No, it's okay. I understand." Adora assured. "But I'm alright. I landed on Etheria and I…I grew up fine." She nodded, a smile on her lips.

The king felt a smile on his face as well, "Yes. We're overjoyed to see that." He remarked.

A warmth filled Adora, relieved to see that her family was just as wonderful and accepting as she hoped them to be. And so hospitable too.

"So tell us, sister, of your exploits and trials on the planet Etheria!" Adam beamed, turning to his sister with bated breath.

"I too am curious about what you've experienced there." The queen added, the king beside her resting his elbow on the table, all eyes on the young woman.

For the remainder of the feast, Adora regaled his family with stories of her exploits in Etheria. She told them of her troubles in the Horde, discovering she was She-Ra, fighting off the Horde invasion, even how her and Catra came to be. Needless to say, they were all engaged and amazed at what the young woman had to say.

After dinner, it was off to the courtyard, both Adora and Adam eager to duel each other and test their might. They clashed swords, the sound of metal colliding with one another filled the air as the two battled. They each had a determined grin on their faces as they dueled.

Catra, Glimmer, and Bow were cheering for Adora of course, with the king and queen cheering for their sun to win. In addition, Duncan was there to supervise the fight, silently hoping Adam would win.

"You're pretty good." Adora praised, her blade pressed against Adam's as they pushed against each other.

"So are you, sister! I'm elated that I can finally duel you like this. However, there's no way you can win against me!" He boasted, sweeping his right leg towards Adora's.

She dodged it in the nick of time, backing off a few feet from him. Both of them were out of breath, sweat running down their bodies as they stared each other down.

"Can't win, huh? We'll see about that." Adora then took a deep breath, standing straight up before holding her blade to the sky. Her friends watched excitedly, knowing what was to come.

"For the honor…of Greyskull!" Adora cried out, her blade shining brightly. In an instant, She-Ra stood where Adora was, a smile on her face as she turned to Adam. Her companions cheered for She-Ra, while the royal family watched in awe.

"What do you think? Impressed?" She asked, turning to the stunned, young man.

Adam stood there, his mouth agape and sword in hand. That didn't last long, as a smile formed on his face, laughter leaving his mouth.

“Hahahaha!! Oh, this is wonderful!!” Adam cheered, much to Adora’s confusion.

In the next moment, Adam held his own sword up, looking Adora in the eyes. “By the power of Grayskull!” He announced, his own blade growing bright along with Adam.

He became more muscular, donned in a black leather vest with a grey harness with a red metal insignia in the middle. In addition, he wore a pair of dark grey pants with navy blue boots. He was also as tall as She-Ra too.

Glimmer, Bow, and Catra sat there with eyes wide as they stared at Adam, unable to believe their eyes. Adora was in the same boat, her arms now slack as she witnessed the transformation.

Adam couldn’t help but laugh at the situation, “Impressed?” He asked, “Weren’t expecting this, were you?” He stepped closer to her, sword at his side.

“This is He-Man. He-Man allows me to increase my strength and capabilities. I discovered it whilst exploring Eternia and found this sword.” He held up his blade to her, holding it with both hands. “Ever since that day, I now protect this world with every ounce of my being.” He explained.

“Wow…just like me!” Adora beamed, eyes lighting up at how similar the two were.

“What a coincidence.” Adam mused before delivering a punch to Adora’s stomach, knocking her towards a wall as he did.

Adora didn’t take long to get up, charging at Adam with a growl, sword held up as she brought it towards him. “Cheap shot!”

Adam blocked the attack with his blade, a grin on his lips. “All’s fair in battle!” He said before sliding back, reeling his sword in his hands before aiming it at Adora.

She blocked it with her own blade, her teeth gritted. The force of the collision of their blades, combined with the magic they possessed, caused a tremor to erupt from them, knocking those watching the fight down, as well as cracking some of the floor they were on.

As everyone else got to their feet, the king promptly marched toward them. “Alright, you two! That’s enough for now.” He said sternly, the other two turning to him in confusion.

“What?! But father, we haven’t even started!” Adam whined, pulling his sword back, along with Adora. They both then changed back to their original forms.

“If you two battle here in your powered up forms, you may very well destroy this castle.” He remarked, much to the two’s disappointment.

“Sorry, your highn- er, dad.” Adora remarked, still not used to the fact that she had her father right here with her.

The king looked toward Adora, stepping closer before resting a hand on her shoulder. “I understand this is a lot for you to take in. But I just want you to know that we’re here for you if you need anything, okay Adora?” He asked, an assuring smile on his face.

“Okay.” Adora nodded, feeling herself being pulled in for a hug.

The king then glanced at the sky, noticing how dark it was getting. “Night is coming. Come on, let’s head inside.” He announced, letting Adora go before making his way inside with the queen.

Adora turned to Adam, who gave her a smile and a thumbs up. “Thanks for the fight.” He said as he put his blade away.

“No problem, same to you.” Adora held a hand out, taking Adam’s, the two giving a firm handshake before colliding heads in a mutual headbutt once more.

The Etherians approached the group, Catra wrapping an arm around Adora and nuzzling against her cheek. They then began to make their way back inside as well, Glimmer rushing up ahead to the king to see if he couldn't get him to discuss negotiations between their kingdoms. Bow couldn't resist himself and began to follow Duncan, pestering the older man with questions about what Eternian technology and weaponry is like.

Adora and Catra decided to retire early for the night, thankful that they felt at peace in the castle.

"Are you sure you have to leave so soon?" The king asked as he embraced his daughter, pulling away to look her in the eyes.

"I'm sorry, dad. But I gotta head back to Etheria. They need me." Adora assured, getting teary eyed.

"Well, don't you think you'd rather have a more…modern ship?" He turned to the ship the four arrived in, watching as it was being packed up with Eternian foods and some weapons for Bow to fawn over.

Glimmer relaxed in her room, content at how well negotiations went. She couldn't wait to tell everyone back home about what happened here.

Catra waited in the cock pit, watching Adora talk to her father. It was so strange, but she was happy that Adora managed to find her family.

"Yeeeeah, we're good." Adora assured. "Maybe next time I get here, we can try it?" She suggested.

"Yes…next time." The king grinned, leaning over to peck Adora's forehead. "You be careful out there. And keep fighting the good fight." He pulled away from her, watching as Adora made her way towards the ship.

“I will! Thanks! I’ll see you all real soon!” Adora assured, waving off to her father as she rushed back to the ship. She could see him, her mother, and Adam all watching as Darla began to lift the ship up, the four of them inside.

An ache filled Adora’s heart as she could see Eternia getting smaller and further away as they ascended into the sky. Tears began to run down her face as well, a few sniffles leaving the blond. She wiped them away quickly.

“Hey, come on, don’t be so down. We’ll come back sometime later.” Catra assured, resting a hand on the other’s back. “We’re just gonna head back home and try to get everything ready for next time. Okay?” She hoped that would cheer her up.

Adora turned to Catra, rubbing her eyes with the back of her hand once more. “Yeah…alright.” She nodded, taking her hand as they stared out into the stars. Darla was piloting them straight back to Etheria, back home once more.

Micah pinched the bridge of his nose, a sigh leaving him as he looked between the three of them. Glimmer, Adora, and Catra stood in the throne room with baby bumps, faces flushed from embarrassment. Bow leaned against the wall, face in his hands as he was under scrutiny as well.

A few months had passed since their first trip into space. The fun they had had finally caught up to them, leaving the three expecting. They could only hide this from everyone before they figured it out. Luckily, it was Micah that was the one to confront them about it.

Micah then turned his focus to Glimmer, “Didn’t I tell you to make sure you wear protection?” He asked, prompting a groan from the young woman.

“Yes, dad, you did.” She answered.

Adora and Catra looked at each other, tensed up as realization hit them: they were going to be parents. They would need all the help they could need. Luckily, there was an entire alliance to help them out.
