Summary

It's been exactly too long since Cyrus and Lyra did the horizontal tango and Cyrus intends to correct that.

That's it. That's the "plot."

One Month After the Coup Attempt

Cyrus felt like he was losing his mind.

It had been about a month since his return to Halfmoon following the coup attempt and things had been hectic, to say the least. After spending about a week recovering in the infirmary, there was the matter of getting Little Lion settled, Lyra's official coronation, his coronation, all of the funerals and memorial services, dealing with the grief of them losing just shy of their entire family—it just went on.

All of this was to say that Cyrus was exhausted. While he had known that he would be King-Consort one day, he had thought that day was far off, that it'd be a peaceful transition of power from one generation to the next. Instead, it was messy and chaotic and more than a little terrifying.

But that wasn't what was making Cyrus feel like he was losing his mind. No, the cause behind that was the fact that, despite the idle planning that he had done while escaping the Horde, he had not once had sex with his wife. In fact, now that he thought about it, it had been nearly two months since they last canoodled. He was as taut as a watch spring.

It wasn't that there was a lack of desire—Cyrus would never get tired of worshiping his khai'tel's body—it was just that the grief had been too raw and they had been too tired to do more than share some lazy kisses as they cuddled up against each other for the night. Hell, they didn't even always go to bed at the same time!

But enough was too much. Cyrus desperately needed to come undone under his wife's tender mercies and he needed to feel the soul-deep satisfaction of doing the same to her. He needed to celebrate the fact that, against all odds, they had made it through that horrible night alive and well.

And so Cyrus had hatched a Plan™. It was a simple one but, in his experience, simple plans tended to be the most effective since there were fewer ways for them to go wrong. The Plan™ had been thus: work with Percival to make sure that Lyra could get to bed at a reasonable time and then, well…

The second the door to their room was closed, Cyrus pinned Lyra against it, his mouth hot and insistent against hers. She was clearly startled for a moment but her arms quickly wrapped around him as she pulled his body flush against hers and deepened the kiss, opening her mouth to allow Cyrus' tongue access when it brushed against her lips.

Cyrus moaned softly at the taste of his wife, at the heat of her pressed so close against him. But it wasn't enough. He wanted them both to be bare so that way he could press closer still, so that way he could feel her golden fur glide against his own. He wanted, no, needed to become one with his khai'tel yet again.

It seemed that Cyrus wasn't alone in feeling this need for, as he was pulling up Lyra's tunic, she used her claws to cut through the back of his own tunic before cutting the shoulders off and tossing the ruined fabric away.

Cyrus couldn't help the shiver of desire that ran through him at his wife's impatience to get him naked. Nor could he deny that he was now painfully erect.

They finally stopped kissing long enough for Cyrus to pull Lyra's tunic off of her. While she was quickly removing her jewelry and carelessly tossing them to the floor, he smirked and sank to his knees before pulling her pants and underwear off in one go.

"Bed?" Lyra panted out as she looked down at him and kicked away her clothes, her amber eyes glowing in the dim light of their room even as they rounded out to become dark pools of desire.

Cyrus smirked up at her and said "Hold on tight, love" before picking up one of her legs and throwing it over his shoulder. Her hands immediately went to his head where they tangled themselves in his mane as she leaned her weight against the door.

Cyrus let his eyes languidly trail down his wife's glorious body, admiring the way her breasts swayed slightly as she panted for breath, before coming to a stop at her center. She was already wet, the fur around her pussy dampened from her slick, and the sight threatened to turn Cyrus feral.

But Cyrus was nothing if not a man with indomitable willpower so he managed to avoid diving right in to enjoy the tantalizing feast that lay before him. Instead, he placed hot, open-mouthed kisses against the inside of Lyra's thigh as he slightly unsheathed his claws and carefully ran them up the back of the leg she was standing on.

Lyra let out a soft moan that was music to Cyrus' ears as her grip tightened and her legs trembled. That moan turned into a sharp gasp as he squeezed her ass, letting his claws dig in just a tiny bit—not enough for it to hurt her but enough for her to feel it.

"Cyrus," Lyra moaned out as he set about fondling her ass. "Don't tease me." Her tail wrapped around his wrist and tried to tug his hand higher.

Cyrus smiled up at his khai'tel. "Whatever my Queen desires," he said before giving her a quick nip on her thigh. Lyra yelped but that quickly gave way to a moan as Cyrus moved his hand higher to start massaging the base of her tail.

No longer able to fight off the overwhelming effect of the scent of Lyra's desire and how it was making his mouth water, Cyrus placed one last kiss on Lyra's thigh where he nipped her before diving in. The taste of Lyra's slick upon his tongue made Cyrus moan in pleasure as he started lapping at her, making sure to pay extra attention to her clit. He had eaten his wife out plenty of times before but the taste was still positively divine.

Cyrus lapped up Lyra's juices, alternating between long licks against her folds and more targeted swipes with the roughest part of his tongue against her clit. Lyra was moaning and keening and occasionally mewling as she trembled against him and seemed torn between wanting to push her hips forward into his mouth or back against his hand.

Lyra released her grip on his mane with one of her hands and held it out so Cyrus obliged by taking his hand off of her thigh to instead intertwine their fingers together. Lyra squeezed his hand tight like it was a lifeline as her moans became broken cries of his name when he took her clit into his mouth and started to lightly suck on it.

This was when the magic of the imprint really started to shine. It was more than just love but more, it was the bonding of two (or more) souls. As Lyra came closer and closer to climax and the barriers that everyone naturally had started to fall, Cyrus could feel more and more of her. He could feel the wild beating of her heart, feel the way her mind glazed over as the pleasure overtook her, feel the outpouring of her love and desire for him. He could feel the darker parts, too, where she still grieved for her lost family and feared for the continued safety of those that remained and for her people.

By the time this night was through, Cyrus was determined to wash away that pain and fear with his own love. The heart of his heart, the center of his entire universe, would know peace again if only for this night.

Lyra was close—very close. Cyrus could feel it through their bond, could tell through the way her trembling grew worse, the way her moans and keens became higher pitched and her mewls more desperate, the way her pussy clamped down on his tongue when he inserted it into her. She needed just a little more, just the slightest push to make her go tumbling over the edge and Cyrus knew exactly how to give it to her.

With his mouth fully around Lyra's pussy, Cyrus gave her tail a sharp tug as he started to purr. The combination had Lyra screaming Cyrus' name as she came, her fluids gushing into his waiting and eager mouth as he drank them down. He slid his free hand down to fondle her ass some more before gently massaging the leg she was standing on as he continued to lightly lap at her. He continued his gentle ministrations for a fair bit to extend her orgasm for as long as possible until he felt her growing too sensitive through their bond.

With a degree of reluctance, Cyrus pulled away, panting heavily as he rested his head against Lyra's thigh and surveyed his wife. She was an absolute mess, her own breath coming hot and heavy as she stared down at him with unseeing eyes that were so round they were almost completely black. Her golden fur was fluffed up from her orgasm and her dark hair cascaded down her front as she leaned forward. She was also purring up a storm, the sound loud and deep and filling the entire room.

As far as Cyrus was concerned, she had never been more beautiful.

Cyrus stood up with a grunt of effort and wiped off his mouth before resting his forehead against Lyra's. They stayed like that for a moment, Cyrus getting his breathing back under control as Lyra slowly but surely came back to herself, before Cyrus moved to rub his check against his wife's, his purr rising to mingle with hers.

Cyrus rubbed their cheeks together for a moment, making sure that their scents were well and truly mixed, before pressing a soft kiss to the base of Lyra's ear. Lyra let go of his hand and wrapped her arms around his neck before whispering into his ear in a sultry tone, "Ready for your turn, my love?"

Cyrus chuckled softly. "I've been ready all day, my Queen." In truth, he was fit to burst. It would take a not inconsiderable amount of willpower to keep himself from cumming too quickly.

Lyra pulled back just far enough to smile at him. "Let's not waste any time, then." Her hands slid down his chest and to the waistline of his trousers. He was about to move to help her take them off when there was a brief flash of fire and his trousers and underwear were instantly reduced to ash.

Cyrus was stunned for a moment before chuckling again. "Well, someone's impatient," he said cheekily even as heat rose to his face.

Lyra gave him an unimpressed look as she cast a quick spell to clean him off. "My love, it has been two months since I last got to have you. It's taking everything I have in me to not push you down and ride you until you're firing blanks."

Cyrus' breath caught as his cock twitched at the imagery. He'd really like that. "What's stopping you?" he asked after he found his voice again.

Lyra gave him a smirk that was all fangs, one that never failed to make his heart do funny things. "Oh, I'm going to but I want to save the best for last. I have other things I want to do to you first."

"Then go right ahead. I'm yours to do whatever you wish with, my Queen."

Lyra placed a hand on his chest and gently pushed him back until he found himself sitting on the edge of their bed. Lyra smirked down at him as she ran her eyes down him, drinking in his form before coming to a stop on his throbbing member. She licked her lips and Cyrus thought that she was about to return the favor but was surprised when she sat down next to him instead.

Lyra cradled Cyrus' face in both hands as she kissed him passionately, moaning as she tasted herself when her tongue entered his mouth. When she broke off the kiss, she caught his lower lip between her teeth and gave it a slight tug, drawing a moan out of him. She then moved to kissing down his jaw and to his neck, interspersing her kisses with small licks and light nips.

"Lyra," Cyrus' voice was breathy and rumbling as he tilted his head to give her better access. "Now you're the one who's teasing. I feel like I'm about to explode."

Lyra moved off of Cyrus' neck and carefully took one of his ears between her teeth before giving it a slight tug, drawing a high pitched whine out of him. "Relax, darling. I'll take care of you," she whispered. She then leaned back, a sultry smile on her lips, before spreading her legs.

One of Lyra's hands trailed down her body, Cyrus' hungry eyes glued to its every movement, before reaching her dripping center. She let out an exaggerated moan and she rubbed her hand along her folds, smiling at the way Cyrus swallowed and his eyes widened. Once her hand was well and truly coated by her own slick, she leaned over and rested her head on her husband's shoulder as she brought that hand to where Cyrus needed it most.

Lyra kept her grip loose at first as she pumped Cyrus' shaft a few times, letting her slick coat it. Once it was well and truly wet, she gave the base just above his sheath a firm squeeze. She then started to move her hand again, keeping the pressure mild and her pace languid. It wasn't nearly enough to get him off, she knew, but that wasn't terribly the point at that moment.

Lyra moved her other hand, the one that was between them, down Cyrus' arm until she wiggled in between his hand in the bed so that way she could interlace their fingers once more. She let out a blissful sigh, a purr rumbling deep in her chest, as she took in the way her husband's breath picked up slightly, the way he seemed torn between closing his eyes to focus on the sensations or keeping them open to take in the sight, the way his hand slightly clenched around her own.

Her khai'tel's member was hot and heavy in her hand, pulsing in time with his heartbeat. His scent was all that she could smell as she tilted her head to bury her nose into his neck. The only sounds that filled the room were her purr and his soft sounds of pleasure. She could feel his walls tumbling down, feel his love and lust for her slowly wash through her. It was a blissful experience for her and one that she had desperately needed after all of the stress that she's been under.

"Lyra," Cyrus breathed out, his voice somewhat desperate.

"Hm?" Lyra hummed against his throat.

"Please," was all he said in response.

Lyra couldn't help but smile. "Please what, my love?"

"More. Harder. Faster," he panted out. "I-I don't know how much more of this I can take."

Lyra placed a light kiss against his neck. "My brave warrior. My proud King. You're so good for me, good to me." She picked her head up just enough to kiss his temple. "I'll take care of you. I promise."

While Lyra didn't increase the pressure or pick up the pace, she did do something else that she knew that her khai'tel thoroughly enjoyed. With just the tiniest bit of concentration, red-gold fire flashed along her hand causing Cyrus to gasp as his eyes snapped shut. It was a somewhat precarious balancing act, what she was doing, but it was one she had plenty of practice with. Though her hand was wreathed in fire, the heat was controlled in such a way that it was nothing more than pleasantly toasty, as he had once described it. The combination of the inherent danger of the act coupled with the pleasantness of the warmth, the shock of the cooler air when she moved her hand away, and the display of effortless control over her power did things for him.

It still wouldn't be enough to get him off, though, and that was a fact that Lyra knew. His breath quickened slightly, his hand clenched hers just a little bit tighter, and she could feel his muscles tense as he stopped himself from jogging his hips. After a bit of this, a high pitched whine broke free from his throat causing Lyra to smirk slightly.

"Do you want to cum, my King?" she whispered into his ear.

"Y-yes. Please. P-Please let me cum," he begged her. Hearing her strong, proud khai'tel be reduced to begging under her tender mercies made Lyra's core clench around nothing and made her feel a certain emptiness, one that would be filled soon enough.

"Anything for you, my love." Lyra let go of Cyrus' hand and let go of her fire as she maneuvered herself until she was kneeling between Cyrus' legs, his dick eye level with her. She then reached out and intertwined their hands again, wanting to maintain that connection.

Lyra leaned forward and began to rub her cheek against her husband's member, scent marking it and claiming it as hers as she took in the heady musk of his desire coupled with her own. She looked up into his dark green eyes, darkened further still by desire, and slowly licked a long line from the base of his dick to the tip.

Cyrus let out another high pitched whine as he clenched his thighs and a bead of precum appeared at the tip of his member. Lyra kissed it before licking her lips and giving his dick another long lick while squeezing it at the base. Once she reached the tip, she took it into her mouth and began sucking on it while lavishing it with her tongue as her hand resumed its motion.

In no time, Cyrus was panting, weakly calling out her name interspersed with cries of "Love you"s, and struggling to keep still.

He was close, oh so very close, and Lyra quickly weighed her options as to how to get him there before deciding to return his earlier favor.

Taking a deep breath through her nose, Lyra let go of Cyrus' member and took it all the way to the base in her mouth, the head of it poking against the back of her throat, before purring.

The effect was immediate. Cyrus cried out as he came, his free hand shooting out to fist into Lyra's mane. Lyra kept her breathing even through her nose to fight down her gag reflex as she gladly swallowed her husband's seed, pulling back slightly after a bit to let it hit her tongue so she could have a proper taste.

Once Cyrus' orgasm came to an end after a few more squirts, Lyra leaned back and let his dick slide out of her mouth with a pop. She looked up at Cyrus and smiled. He was panting heavily, his eyes unfocused as he stared down at her with a goofy smile on his face. It was now his turn for his post-orgasm purr to fill the room.

Lyra got up and sat back down on the side of the bed, snuggling into her husband's side. She wrapped her arms around his and laid her head back down on his shoulder while twining their tails together. After a moment, Cyrus leaned his head against hers and brought his free hand over to lay it on top of one of hers. It was pleasant, just cuddling with each other like this. Especially since their heart-bond was now well and truly open on both sides, giving them a sense of oneness that was borderline euphoric.

Eventually, Cyrus turned his head to press a kiss into his wife's mane and asked, "Are you ready for more, my beloved?"

"I'm always ready for more of you," Lyra replied as she craned her head back to give him a lazy kiss on the lips.

"Let's get up in the bed, then."

As one, the couple crawled up into their bed before Cyrus had Lyra lay down on her back. Cyrus crawled on top of her and kissed her deeply before saying, "Let me worship you, my Queen."

Lyra kept her eyes closed as she hummed and nodded and wriggled around a bit to get more comfortable. Cyrus kissed her again long and slow before rubbing their cheeks together, doing the opposite side from where he first did this. He then gave her a kiss right on top of her scent gland and then, after some thought, got to work grooming her face.

Cyrus closed his eyes as he worked, occasionally pausing to give his precious khai'tel a kiss whenever the love in his heart was simply too great to contain. He let some of his body weight rest on top of Lyra's, pushing her down into the fluffy duvet and practically covering her completely with himself. Lyra let out a blissful sigh as he did this, a beatific smile on her face as she let herself fully relax for the first time in ages. Her purr was so deep and loud that Cyrus swore that he could feel it in his very soul.

Eventually, Cyrus finished his grooming and gave his wife one more kiss on the lips before kissing down her neck, interspersing his kisses with bites that had her crying out followed by soothing licks. Once he got to her collarbone, he shifted his stance a little before using his impressive core strength to hold himself up so his hands could get to work exploring his wife's body. He searched for anyplace where her muscles were still a bit tense and expertly massaged them until his khai'tel was practically a puddle.

Cyrus was nothing if not an excellent masseur, at least when it came to his wife.

Once Lyra was sufficiently relaxed, Cyrus continued on his journey of kisses downward until he came to his wife's breasts. Now, maybe Cyrus was a little biased but, as far as he was concerned, his wife had absolutely perfect breasts. They were just big enough to where they didn't fully fit into his hands and were the perfect balance of firm yet yielding, soft yet strong, and the fur covering them was as soft as a kitten's mane. Her dark nipples were already pebbled so he wasted no time in taking one into his mouth and gently sucking while he fondled her other breast.

Lyra moaned in pleasure as her back arched, pushing her chest into Cyrus. His own purr now was involuntary as he smiled before lavishing her nipple with his tongue and occasionally giving it a careful nip that made her cry out. After a bit, he stopped and kissed his way over to her other nipple while switching what arm he was holding himself up on so that way he could keep fondling her.

Cyrus kept this up until Lyra was starting to writhe a bit beneath him, panting and occasionally moaning out his name. At some point, her hands had come up with one gently scratching at the base of his head with her claws while the other lovingly pet down his back. She was careful to avoid his scruff lest he go totally limp and collapse on top of her.

Cyrus could tell thanks to their fully opened bond (and also years of experience) that Lyra was about at her limit as far as her breasts went so he kissed his way back up her body and to her waiting lips before laying down on his side. He brought one hand up to cup her cheek, smiling as she instinctively nuzzled into it, while the other slid down her stomach and to her core.

Lyra was soaked, the fur around her pussy and inner thighs matted down with her slick. He ran his fingers through her folds a couple times, watching as she squirmed a little, before finally bringing his fingers to her clit. He rubbed and circled it with slow motions, keeping a steady pressure throughout. Much like she had just done to him, he was planning on dragging this out a little.

"Cyrus," Lyra moaned out as she squirmed some more, trying to get him to press down a little bit harder or maybe move a bit faster (or both).

Cyrus softly shushed her as he started stroking her cheek with his thumb. "I love you so much, Lyra," he breathed, wanting to keep the atmosphere light and tender. "I love you more than I have words for. You're the best thing that's ever happened to me." Lyra whined a little as her hips jogged slightly. Her amber eyes locked onto his and the overwhelming love and desire in them stole his breath away.

Wanting to provide his khai'tel a bit more relief (and also wanting to be closer to her), Cyrus let his fingers move down and dipped one into her center. He wasn't the least bit surprised that he felt almost no resistance so he quickly added another before tenderly thrusting in and out of her, adding a slight curl to his fingers as he pulled out to get that certain place on her inner walls that drove her wild.

"You make me better, you know," Cyrus continued. "I was such a wild person when we met, getting into so many duels and thinking that I was better than everyone else. I thought that what I had was what I was owed, that of course I had good things because I was the best. I was such a little shit when we first met." None of this was news to Lyra, of course, but Cyrus still felt compelled to say them, to try and put words to his love for this magnificent woman that he was blessed to be able to call his own.

"Cy—ah!—Cyrus! You ma—mmm!—make me b-better, too!" Lyra managed to return through her various noises of pleasure.

Cyrus gently shushed her again before placing a feather-light kiss on her lips. He then brought his thumb up to work at her clit while he continued the steady thrusting of his fingers, his coordination more than good enough to do both at the same time.

"I sometimes still can't believe that you chose me even before the imprint happened. I'll wake up with you in my arms and think about what a wonderful family and life we've built together and just be absolutely floored that I was somehow blessed enough to have this, to have you. I never want to take your love or your presence or our family for granted. I want to be thankful for them every single day, every single second. And I am."

Tears were starting to gather in the corners of Lyra's eyes, overwhelmed as she was by the pleasure and Cyrus' outpouring of love, so he leaned in and kissed them away before they could fall. He then ramped up the speed and pressure a bit, pushing her closer to the edge.

"C-Cyrus! I-Inside! N-Need you inside!" Lyra cried out.

Unable to deny his wife anything, Cyrus removed his fingers and swung around until he was on top of Lyra once more. He stroked his dick with the hand that was still coated in Lyra's juices a few times before lining himself up and slowly pushing in. Lyra's walls were warm and welcoming, wrapping around his member perfectly and squeezing like they didn't want it to leave. Cyrus wasn't a particularly religious man but becoming one with his precious khai'tel was the closest he's ever come to a religious experience.

Lyra wrapped her legs around Cyrus' torso and her arms around his neck before twining their tails together and Cyrus set a steady pace. His plan for this night had been one of unbridled passion, of fierce lovemaking, but the overwhelming amount of love that he felt for the goddess beneath him demanded that he do something slower, gentler, and far more loving.

Cyrus kept the pace up and soon Lyra was rocking her hips to match him, pushing him that much deeper into her. Their lips found each other and Cyrus started to lose himself a little in their union. With their bond fully opened and their souls so deeply connected, it was getting harder and harder to tell where one of them ended and the other began. The first time this had happened to them, it had honestly been a little scary but now it was a supremely comforting and joyous experience as their hearts and souls found their way home to each other.

Cyrus wasn't entirely sure which one of them started it first but the pace was soon upped. The air was filled with obscene sounds as Cyrus' dick slid in and out of Lyra's pussy, the sounds punctuated by their moans, mewls, cries of each other's names, and various words of love.

They were both close once again, Cyrus' dick throbbing that much more while Lyra's pussy clamped down that much harder. Cyrus' thrusts became a bit more uncontrolled as pleasure started to overtake him until, eventually, they went tumbling over the edge together, crying out each other's name. Cyrus' seed, hot enough to almost scorch, poured into Lyra as her pussy spasmed as though trying to milk every last drop out of him, her legs locked tight behind him to keep him from moving.

Once their shared orgasm came to an end, Cyrus collapsed on top of Lyra as she let her legs and arms fall limp. Their post-orgasm purrs filled the room alongside their heavy pants as they struggled to return to themselves and nuzzled into each other.

After some time, Lyra managed to gather herself enough to kiss Cyrus' cheek before saying, "Love you."

Cyrus returned the gesture. "Love you, too."

After a few moments more, Lyra wrapped her arms around Cyrus' neck again and leaned up to breathe into his ear, "Cyrus?"

"Hm?" Cyrus returned, pressing another kiss to her shoulder.

"Breed me."

Cyrus' eyes widened as those words awoke something atavistic within him. Lyra knew what effect those words had on him, what they turned him into, and so she wasn't the least bit surprised when he suddenly growled, low and possessive. He hooked his hands underneath her knees before pulling them up until she was practically folded in half, her legs on either side of her head. He then bit down on her neck as he continued to growl, the pressure not enough to truly hurt but enough to act as a warning that she should stay still and take it.

Cyrus started up a brutal pace, hammering into her hard and fast. The new position let him go so deep that Lyra could feel the tapered tip of his penis kiss her cervix every time he bottomed out and it was driving her crazy. The way the bulbous protrusions underneath the head of his dick scrapped her walls, the way their hips slammed together, the way his claws dug into her thighs a little, the tiny hints of pleasurable pain, the way that the love of her life was aggressively claiming her—it all came together in a delicious cocktail that left Lyra's head spinning.

It wasn't often that Lyra bottomed—Cyrus was actually a bit more submissive than her in the bed—but something about the idea of ceding control to her khai'tel tonight just felt right. That and she did think that it was high time that he bred her again. She wanted another kitten.

That being said, the next time they had both the time and energy for marathon sex, she would be making good on her earlier words and ride him until he was shooting blanks.

Thanks to both his incredible stamina and the recency of his last orgasm, Cyrus kept up the pace for what felt like hours. Lyra's voice was starting to go hoarse from all of her cries and exclamations as several smaller orgasms wracked her body. She was overstimulated, hypersensitive, feeling every single centimeter of Cyrus' dick, and she knew that her pussy would no doubt be very sore once this was all over but she couldn't bring herself to care. The pleasure was overwhelming, every single one of her senses and every fiber of her being filled with nothing except Cyrus Cyrus Cyrus.

Despite wanting it to go on forever, Lyra knew that she was approaching her limit. She could feel a big orgasm coming and knew that it'd completely wipe her out. Thankfully, she could tell that Cyrus was approaching his limit, too. His tempo changed from controlled to erratic and the strength of his thrusts somehow increased. It was as though he was seeking purely his own pleasure now, seemingly uncaring about the woman beneath him that he was desperately trying to breed.

(Lyra knew that this very much wasn't the case—even in this primal state, Cyrus was still in control enough to keep things pleasurable for her—but the fantasy was nice.)

Eventually, Cyrus released the hold he had on Lyra's neck and roared as his hips slammed into hers one last time, the head of his penis pressed tight against her cervix as he unloaded everything he had in him. The feeling of his dick pulsating inside her with every strand of cum it unleashed, of his seed splashing against her cervix and possibly into her womb, was enough to push Lyra over the edge. She screamed as the contractions of her pussy milked Cyrus for every last drop and her own fluids gushed out around his dick.

Their mutual orgasm lasted for what felt like ages, more and more of Cyrus' seed spilling into Lyra as she trembled beneath him. Eventually, however, it came to an end as Cyrus collapsed on top of her and her legs hit the bed as she went slack. They both were panting heavily, their eyes clouded and their minds blank as they both purred as deeply and as loudly as they could.

After a few moments, Cyrus grunted as he rolled off of her, Lyra hissing as his penis slid out of her frankly abused pussy. He just laid there on his back and struggled to catch his breath.

"You… You doing okay, love?" Cyrus eventually managed to ask, his voice distorted from the strength of his purr.

"I'm going to be very sore in the morning," Lyra began, her voice somewhat scratchy from all the screaming and also distorted by her purr, "but it was totally worth it. Can you get me some water?"

"Sure thing, love," Cyrus replied before rolling over to the side of the bed and standing up with a grunt of effort. He stumbled slightly, his legs feeling a bit like jelly, but he managed to keep his balance as he walked off to their kitchenette to fetch a glass and fill it up with water.

When he returned, Lyra pushed herself up into a sitting position with a groan before taking the glass and greedily drinking the water down. “Thank you,” she said as she set the now empty glass on their bedside table.

“No problem,” Cyrus returned. He took in the absolute mess they made of their duvet and said, “We need to clean up before we pass out. Can you cast the spell or do we need to do this the old fashioned way?”

Lyra frowned as she thought for a moment. Her mind was still hazy and her hands were shaking slightly. The spell needed to clean up was a simple one but, in her current state, she wasn’t sure she could manage anything more complex than the drying spell so— “The old fashioned way.”

“Right,” Cyrus said with a nod. “Be back in a tick.”

He walked into their bathroom and grabbed a wash cloth before turning on the sink, letting the water run long enough to get warm before wetting it. Thus prepared, he returned to their bedroom where Lyra had laid back down before crawling between her legs once more.

Cyrus first wiped off the duvet before gingerly wiping off Lyra, starting with her thighs before carefully cleaning her pussy. Despite being as gentle as he could possibly be, Lyra still winced and hissed at the contact, causing Cyrus to reflexively apologize.

Once Lyra was sufficiently cleaned of their sexual fluids, Cyrus cast the drying spell first on their duvet and then on Lyra. He got up once more to deposit the washcloth in the dirty clothes hamper before returning to bed one last time. He found that Lyra had moved things around so that she lay underneath their blanket so he crawled in after her.

With Cyrus now laying down on his back, Lyra rolled over onto her side and pillowed her head against his shoulder and draped her arm across his chest as she tangled their legs together and twined their tails once more. She let out a blissful sigh as Cyrus wrapped his arm around her and pulled her impossibly closer.

"Think that got you pregnant?" Cyrus asked as he felt his eyes grow heavy with sleep.

Lyra hummed softly. "If not, I guess we'll just have to try again."

Cyrus chuckled as his eyes slipped closed. "I love you," he whispered softly.

"I love you, too," Lyra murmured back as sleep finally overtook them both.

Their future might be one that was wrought with uncertainty as their status quo had changed drastically but, for tonight, everything was perfect. So long as they had each other, everything would be alright.

End Notes

Why, yes, this is the story of how Caspin was conceived. Why do you ask?
