Showing Scorpia the Vines

by yoursfemmely

Summary

Scorpia needs some guidance to go to the next level and Perfuma is happy to oblige. Turns out Perfuma has a lot of experience and that Scorpia is ready to explore much more than she's ever imagined.

Someone posted a meme that Scorpia and Perfuma are both bottoms and I BEG TO DIFFER. Perfuma is a top. A very skilled, enthusiastic, and encouraging service top who delights in sex-ed, body positivity, and all things praising and pervy.

Or: Scorpia learns what she wants and how to ask for it from a loving, patient, and surprisingly kinky teacher

Notes

I hope you these endlessly positive pervs! :)

Also, fun fact (maybe?), I wrote this at the same time as some of my earliest pieces and the storyline gets a lot more development as you go! Stick around for chapters three and four, in particular if you really want to get into Plumerian world building, lore, personal histories, etc. Also, all that hot stuff that’s tagged (and much more), too, duh ;)

Chapter One: In Good Hands

It took many an endearing blush, giggle, and entirely over-enthusiastic declaration of attraction before Perfuma and Scorpia finally kissed. Since then, it seemed to be all they wanted to do.

In truth, though, what they really desired was tucked in the shadows between the kisses—the quivers radiating between them, the hunger in their lips, and the way they breathed hot and heavy against each other's skin.

During one of these many enthralling kisses, they were pressed against a tree in the shade, rough bark scraping against Scorpia's chiseled back. Perfuma was grabbing at Scorpia's thick hips, grazing her thumbs on her hip bones, squeezing her tightly with her nimble hands. It was absolutely perfect but Scorpia suddenly jolted back at the sound of a jovial Plumerian sweetly heckling, "Get a hut!"

The passerby winked, clearly not judgemental and rather playfully cheering them on; still, Scorpia was flushed with embarrassment.

Perfuma giggled warmly and placed her palm on Scorpia's armored cheekbone. "Don't let them make you uncomfortable, Scorpia." She glanced towards the ground and then looked back up tenderly into Scorpia's eyes. "What do you think, though? It sounds pretty nice to me."

Scorpia felt a nervous lump in her throat. She had a vague idea of what being truly alone together really meant. Nothing sounded better than exploring without being constrained by these oh-so-in-the-way clothes. She wanted that, very much, but her lack of practice, especially in offering pleasure, made her feel insecure. Still, as hesitant as she was, she tentatively agreed. Her desire outweighed her hesitations.

So, here they were, secluded in a private corner of Plumeria, distanced from the central parts of the kingdom. They'd been making out a bit. Snuggling, too. Perfuma was going on about her day: she'd performed a tea ceremony and group meditation, followed by a feast of party kale and edible flowers.

Scorpia gulped at the thought of the strange food. She was really trying to get used to vegetables but so far had only been able to slightly tolerate some roasted roots cooked with something they called coconut oil.

Thinking of more appealing things, Scorpia honed in on Perfuma's fragrant hair and took in a deep, shaky breath. It wasn't the most graceful change in topic, but her longing took the lead and, nervously, she somehow managed to ask, “Uh. Um. Should we get undressed? I’d like to, but only if you would. Honestly, I have no idea what I’m doing...”

Perfuma softened her gaze and gave Scorpia a calming smile. “Thank you so much for expressing your apprehensions and opening us up to the next step. I don’t want you to worry at all. I am very experienced here and delighted for the opportunity to guide you. You know, we have regular rotations of sexual activities as a part of our community here in Plumeria. You are in very good hands.”

“Well, I am VERY happy you know what you’re doing, that is a huge relief. I hope I’m not disappointing... I just want to do whatever I can…well, within my limits...” Scorpia held up her pincers and scratched her head.

Perfuma placed a finger on Scorpia's lips. “Shhh,” she said in a soothing tone. “It’s okay, darling. Breathe. Let’s do some tantric grounding work together. I’m going to start by taking off my clothing to allow your focus to be on desire. I’d like you to as well, if you’re comfortable with that.”

“I am,” Scorpia replied. “Uhh. VERY much so.” Well, she was very interested in seeing Perfuma naked, at least.

Scorpia looked around and confirmed that they were safe in their hut, away from prying eyes. She began to fiddle with her clothes. They were normally easy to remove, but currently seemed practically glued to her body. Perfuma, on the other hand, quickly shook the straps off her shoulders, sending her loose dress falling to the ground.

Scorpia's jaw slackened at the sight. Perfuma may as well have been glowing as she stood there. Scorpia was so frozen in place that it took her a moment to notice she was stuck in a tangled mess of her clothes and she looked pleadingly towards Perfuma for help. With a warm, confident smile, Perfuma reached over to help her finish taking them off.

Perfuma effortlessly sank down onto a small pillow on their blanket. As she crossed her ankles—knees falling apart—Scorpia couldn't help but notice the slightly parted lips between them. They had a subtle glisten in their beautiful folds. She firmly bit her lower lip and widened her sparkling eyes.

Scorpia was much less graceful in her movements and sat up stiffly, her legs together, and knees up high. Perfuma made subdued eye contact and reached out to touch Scorpia's knee in an attempt to calm her nerves.

"Alright," Perfuma started saying, sitting up tall and letting her shoulders fall back. She placed her hands palm up on her knee and took a nice deep breath before beginning. "First, I need you to focus on some self-compassionate breathing. Let's try it together. Why don't you place your legs somewhere comfortable? I recommend my position if it works for you." Cautiously, Scorpia moved her legs to the same position, pulling a pillow underneath her. With her muscular frame, she struggled a bit to cross her legs the same way, but she managed to spread them in a way that worked while still keeping them slightly closed.

"Great, that's just perfect, Scorpia! I'm so glad you found a way to make modifications to your liking." Perfuma paused until she was sure Scorpia was settled. "Alright. Let's do some deep breathing. In for five, and out for seven. Breathe in self-love...and breathe out self-negativity...If you like, you can try to buzz your lips on the way out!" They did this in harmony together, although Scorpia ended up laughing at the buzz and they both giggled a bit. "Yes! That's perfect!" Perfuma said in an enthusiastic tone. "Let's get our energies moving!"

"The next step is to engage your first chakra, right between your legs! Feel that warm rush. That area has a beautiful name! It's your root chakra. Isn't that just wonderful? Focus all your energy there. Imagine it as golden light expanding and contracting, inside and out, then spreading gently around your thighs. Let it glide down their outer sides, around your knees, the fronts of your shins, over the tops of your feet and toes.” Perfuma let out an audible exhale. “Mmmmm. May I touch your feet, love?”

“Of course,” Scorpia said, blissfully, as she closed her eyes.

Perfuma placed her hands lightly around Scorpia's feet letting her thumbs press into her arches, right into the crook just below her big and second toe. Scorpia sighed as waves of relaxation rolled through her body right into Perfuma’s touch.

“Good job, Scorpia! Focus on my thumbs darling. Keep breathing.”

As Perfuma pushed and massaged the area harder and harder, the tender points began to ache painfully, but in an oddly pleasant way that soon honed her focus, diving her deeper into the pressure.

“So, so good, my love. I can feel your energy flowing right to me! Now notice the tendrils growing out of the earth that I’m bringing to you.” Green and twisted vines grew from the ground and wrapped gently around Scorpia’s feet, still held in Perfuma’s hands. They grazed her so gingerly that it tickled.

Scorpia flinched and laughed a bit in response and Perfuma took note, changing her approach and expanding them outward. “Scorpia, I want you to connect with the vines. Feel their energy even at this distance. You can move at any time. I’ve expanded them so they won’t make contact with you—unless you’d like—but I want you to connect to their life force. Do you feel them?”

Scorpia focused all her senses around her feet, expecting to feel nothing, but then slowly feeling an almost electric buzz breaching the seemingly empty space between her feet and the tendrils. “I really do. That’s amazing! You’re amazing. ” Scorpia said breathily.

Perfuma’s voice was measured and focused. “Thank you, darling. Now imagine the roots that they attach to and how deeply they go into the earth. I’m going to let them take shape in place of my thumbs so that they touch you, okay?”

“That works great for me. This feels so awesome!”

The tendrils continued to grow and push against Scorpia as she felt her energy flow into them. Perfuma explained how the roots go deep into the ground, connecting to the trees, and that, with each breath, the two of them and all others in Etheria were bound together with nature if she chose to feel it .

Perfuma then ventured a bit further. “One way to connect to them, even more, is that they could hold you down. Would you like to try that? It would make me so happy to see you held by them. I can free you at any time with just a sweep of my hand and a thought. I will keep you safe.”

Scorpia’s eyes shot open and her heart rate increased in response to the unexpected, but very alluring, offer. She cautiously nodded, slowly affirming. “Yeah...I think I’d really enjoy that.”

Perfuma thoughtfully nodded back, clearly pleased as she scanned Scorpia's body, crafting her next steps. Her hands opened wide and the vines began to grow and twist around Scorpia’s ankles. She then asked Scorpia to ‘spread her arms out wide,’ and more vines emerged and wrapped tightly around her pincers. With a raised eyebrow, Perfuma inquired, “Does that feel okay?”

Scorpia nodded. “Yeah, uh...so far. Let’s...uh...keep going and see?” She gulped a little. I’m safe, I’m safe, she reminded herself.

As the vines wrapped around her they began to bloom pink and purple flowers. Perfuma was beaming. “You are just so beautiful, Scorpia. Thank you for trusting me with this.”

“Mmhhmm.” Words were starting to fail Scorpia as she let her tension release into the binds.

“Now, I’m noticing you’re having a hard time speaking. I think we need some ground rules. Scorpia, I’m going to need you to say ‘yellow’ if you need me to slow down and check-in, and ‘red’ if something is wrong and I need to stop completely. If we’ve checked in after a red and you’d like to start again, then I want to know you feel completely safe so I’m going to need you to give me your words alright? Something like ‘I’m alright now, let’s keep going,’ okay?”

“That sounds great,” Scorpia mumbled contentedly.

“Excellent. You are doing just so good, Scorpia! I’m so proud of you!” Perfuma radiated with pride as she praised her. “So, alright. Before we go any further, I just want to confirm—are you open to this becoming sexual? I really want to make sure you have a say in all this and don’t make any decisions you regret, and I also would like to have lots of fun! My hope is to do lots of things and have you tell me if anything isn't working by using our rules, okay?”

Scorpia's eyes sparkled again. It's possible they'd never stopped. “Yes. Yes. You are so considerate Perfuma. Really, you’re just wonderful.” She looked down a bit shyly, and then worked up the courage, "Can, I, uh...will you kiss me?"

Perfuma cheerfully accepted and moved her mouth to Scorpia’s, giving her a long, deep kiss. Scorpia hungrily kissed back and started to feel heat pooling in that place Perfuma had called her root chakra. The warm flood increased as she felt Perfuma’s small, tight chest graze her wide pecs—her nipples running over Scorpia with hot sparks of sensation.

“Well, with that settled, let's get started!” Perfuma said excitedly. Scorpia swore she saw a mischievous delight in her eyes. The last time she'd seen that particular look was at the underwater soirée after she sang. That was the night when she knew she wanted Perfuma, and in the months since, Perfuma had told her that while she’d started to get inklings of desire warming between her legs in that same moment, it was her heart that had swelled when Scorpia insisted on staying behind to protect them—to protect her—from Prime’s afflicted masses.

Perfuma’s radiant glow started to morph into something serious—almost sinister—with that glint in her eyes sharpening. She started to run her fingers down Scorpia’s chin, over her throat, down her bountiful chest, her sternum, and along her belly. She stopped to linger in wide circles around her navel, taking in the beauty of Scorpia’s firm and wide sides—the glory—and kneaded her hands into its softness and strength. “Your belly is beautiful,” she said warmly, but also assertively, leaving Scorpia to blush as she felt her body seen and loved for its size.

With that, Perfuma bounced her fingertips down to the crease just above Scorpia’s curly hairs, white as the top of her head, and slowly began to twirl her fingers through them. Scorpia inhaled sharp breaths and let out soft moans as she went.

“You’re doing so marvelously,” Perfuma said. “May I go further?” She asked, glancing up for confirmation. Scorpia nodded.

Perfuma turned her hand, palm facing Scorpia, and slid all of her fingers down her damp lips. As she did this, she beckoned the roots binding Scorpia's ankles to slowly pull apart, spreading her legs further and revealing the slickness between her thick thighs. Perfuma used her whole hand to hold and cup Scorpia’s swollen lips, moving in firm circles as Scorpia let out small, sharp breaths.

Perfuma moved both hands—one covered in slick wetness—over to Scorpia’s thighs, slowly, but deliberately spreading them further apart. She locked her eyes with Scorpia’s as she slowly began to bring her face between them.

“I’m so excited to taste you,” Perfuma said, both sultry and with her normal pitchy delight.

Scorpia could only whimper and beg, “Please. Please.”

Perfuma raised an eyebrow, again with that mischievous delight, bringing her breath to hover millimeters away from Scorpia, never breaking eye contact.

Her tongue was soft at first as it met Scorpia’s pronounced and throbbing clit, but regardless of the lack of pressure, Scorpia still let out a guttural groan and tensed against her binds. Perfuma began slowly and intentionally, deepening every movement of her tongue as she went and then alternating back and forth with her intensity. She reached her hands under Scorpia's legs and hips as she went, gripping and squeezing to hold her in place as Scorpia started to rock and buck more intensely.

Scorpia started pleading, "Wow. Please. Don't stop. It's so good! More!"

Perfuma brought a hand just under her own chin and began to push two fingers inside as she continued sucking and licking Scorpia's throbbing, huge clit. Scorpia started letting out high-pitched gasps as Perfuma licked and gulped up her gushing fluids, rhythmically swishing and pushing her fingers in and out, angling her fingers up with each inward push.

Scorpia's thighs began shaking, twitching, and flexing. Perfuma felt her tightening down around her fingers harder and harder. Scorpia's toes started flexing to a point, her limbs pushing against the vines forcefully. As she came she let out a moaning scream, squeezing around Perfuma until her legs dropped and her muscles released.

Perfuma started to pull back and slow down but continued to make small movements with her tongue and fingers as Scorpia flitted and jumped. But just as Perfuma started to stop, Scorpia interrupted her with an "Oh, OH, oh wow. uhh, I'm still going..ohh."

"Oky! Wndrfl!" Perfuma tried to say, still muffled between her legs and continuing.

"Ohhh, ohhh, yess. UH, can you do more??" Scorpia gasped.

Perfuma nodded against her, moving harder, and pushing her fingers deeper.

"MORE—uh—please!"

Perfuma nodded even more vigorously, her tongue rapidly flicking Scorpia's clit, and pulled back just slightly to bring another finger inside. She continued as Scorpia bucked against her even faster. Perfuma got wetter and wetter by the moment and moaned into Scorpia as she fucked her. She wanted to be inside her even more and she felt like Scorpia could take it.

Pulling back and moving her other hand to Scorpia’s engorged clit, Perfuma started deftly moving her thumb and forefinger up and down on her, exposing the head of her bud with each motion. As she sat up, she started moving her other fingers deeper into Scorpia and tested whether she could fit her pinky in along with the other three that were now tightly bundled together. “More?” She asked Scorpia, who was sweating, thrusting, and panting.

“YES. YES. PLEASE, as much as you want. Keep going. Fill me!”

Perfuma did as asked, filling Scorpia, pushing her pinky tightly with the other fingers, her hand shaped into a cone, with her palm facing at a diagonal to the side—pushing deeper, and deeper with each thrust. Scorpia’s wetness filled the cup of Perfuma’s hand as it gushed out of her. After a few minutes, Perfuma felt another wave of an orgasm tightening around her hand. She slowed just a bit but continued when Scorpia frantically nodded for her to continue.

They did this again and again, each orgasm widening Scorpia’s muscles more and more as they released. Noticing yet even more space to fill, Perfuma tucked her thumb into the puddle filling her palm, and pushed in up to her knuckles, and held in place. Scorpia’s eye widened and jaw dropped, and she let out the deepest, gruffest groan she had managed yet and held up a finger to pause.

Perfuma patiently waited until Scorpia gestured for her to continue, then resumed with small incremental motions. It wasn’t long, though, before she felt a new swelling, unlike the others, and Scorpia’s muscles expand even more, practically pulling Perfuma’s hand deeper inside her with each thrust until Perfuma was in all the way up to her wrist.

As Perfuma continued pushing and pulling back and forth, Scorpia thrashed wildly against her restraints. She was swearing, screaming, and crying out in every way possible, but never muttered a yellow or a red. Every other word was a resounding ‘yes’ to continue and Perfuma wouldn’t have dreamt of stopping.

As she pulled in and out, she felt each push sliding in deeper over her knuckles, back and forth with the width and depth of Scorpia knowing no bounds. That warm filling sensation continued to push against her hand from the top and Scorpia screamed for her to hold still deep inside. "Plea-se, pplll—eeass—e, LICK ME," She sputtered.

Perfuma dove forward, sucking Scorpia up and down, and persistently flicking her tongue on the peak of her clit as she went. Perfuma’s hand at this point had gone numb from Scorpia’s powerful muscles, but it didn't matter. All she cared about was Scorpia getting the pleasure she deserved for being a true friend and a wonderful partner. She wanted to open her to all her sexual potential and it was a gift she was capable of giving.

As Scorpia shook uncontrollably, Perfuma felt a hot liquid pour over her wrist and spray on her chin and chest. It was uncontainable and continued to flow as Scorpia wailed. Her muscles clenched and released again and again as tears streamed uncontrollably down her face from the intensity. With one final release—covering Perfuma entirely—Scorpia’s every muscle dropped.

Perfuma waited patiently in content silence, her other hand on Scorpia’s belly feeling it rise up and fall shakily. When Scorpia’s eyes finally opened, she let out a quiet, “Wow…just wow.”

“I know, darling. That was just so lovely. You are incredible and did such an inspirational job! I want to come up to you but I want you to be ready for me to take my hand out. Are you ready for that?”

“Oh boy.” Scorpia sucked in a deep breath. “Give me a second.”

“You take all the time you need,” Perfuma said supportively.

Mentally, and with a small flick of the pinky on her free hand, Perfuma started to slowly release the binds around Scorpia and push them back into the earth. Twisted marks were left indented on her ankles. Scorpia let out a sigh and then immediately clenched around Perfuma’s hand letting out a small, “Ow,” and then admitted, “Oh wow. I’m nervous.”

“That is completely normal, but Scorpia! You have got this! I’m going to walk you through it and it’s gonna be okay. Remember how we practiced before. Say it to me, 'You—Scorpia—have got this.'"

“I—Scorpia—have got this!’

“Yes!!” Perfuma exclaimed gleefully. “Alright. Now, I’m going to need you to take in a nice deep breath right now. We’re just practicing. Breathe in.” They both took long deep breaths together. “Wonderful! Now did you notice that as you breathed in your muscles relaxed, just a little? I felt it! It’s okay if you didn’t notice though. All sensations and feelings are welcome here.”

Scorpia’s voice trembled slightly, “No, no, I did. I felt it.”

“Fantastic! Now, we’re going to do it together one more time but this time I want you to take another nice deep breath and then push me out as you exhale, okay? Whenever you are ready.”

Scorpia nodded. “Okay, I am.” With a big breath in and push out, Perfuma pulled her hand slowly out in harmony with Scorpia’s strength. Scorpia furrowed her brow a bit in discomfort on the release, exhaling with both relief and longing when the hand was free. An absence lingered in the blissful ache that was left behind.

Perfuma crawled up to Scorpia, laying down on her chest and resting her arm across her. Scorpia pulled her in close with a tight squeeze. They laid there, chests rising and falling as Perfuma wandered her fingertips soothingly on Scorpia’s breasts.

“You were amazing,” they said simultaneously. Scorpia chuckled as Perfuma giggled, wrapping a leg over Scorpia’s thigh, and nuzzling her closer. Scorpia couldn’t help but notice Perfuma’s hot wetness against her leg.

“Next we’ll have to teach you about how you can be inside of me!” Perfuma said excitedly.

Scorpia's smile dropped as she glanced towards her pinches.

Feeling Scorpia’s energy shift, Perfuma made sure to offer some intrigue and comfort and pushed up to look into Scorpia’s eyes. “Oh no, let’s not dwell on the negative. There is so much positive to find! I have my ways and so many ideas! Just you wait and see.” With a wink, Perfuma ground her pelvis onto Scorpia. “Just you wait."

Scorpia awoke, finding Perfuma still nestled at her side. She wasn't quite sure when, but at some point they'd drifted off—spent from previous efforts. Light was bathing through a crack in the canvas door of the hut, leaving an illuminated sliver that spread across both of their thighs. She took a deep breath, which stirred Perfuma awake. After a brief kiss, and tandem yawns, they peeled apart—just enough to be able to sit up.

Wordlessly, Perfuma flicked her wrist towards the ground, bringing up dark green leaves that soon grew fruit resembling plump red hearts, decorated with small seeds. She gently plucked one and took a bite that dripped dark red juice down her chin and hand. "I'd love for you to try this Scorpia. It's delicious and will get your energy back up a bit," she offered, breaking the still silence.

Scorpia suspiciously eyed the deep red fruit that Perfuma brought to her mouth, but as the flavor exploded on her tongue, she was pleasantly surprised by its sweetness. "Wow! That is SO good!" She exclaimed, lips reddened and mouth agape.

"It is! Isn’t it?” Perfuma said, smiling proudly.

After they ate a few more, Perfuma moved a hand to Scorpia’s face and pulled their noses together, lips barely touching, breathing together softly. Soon, they embraced in a kiss, mixing their sweet, strawberry-covered lips with the saltiness of their skin. Their tongues danced together until all flavors of the succulent fruit were gone.

Out of the corner of her eye, Scorpia glimpsed a scarlet drop that had found its way to Perfuma’s chest. She offered a pointed look towards it and asked, with uncharacteristic confidence, “May I?”

“Oh yes!” Perfuma giddily replied.

Perfuma leaned back into Scorpia’s bicep, pushing her breasts towards her. Scorpia brought her mouth just in front of Perfuma’s dainty chest, and licked her lips. Perfuma’s slender frame melted into Scorpia’s broad arm as she lavishly licked up the sweet nectar. She sucked and kissed her skin a bit before pulling away with a wet smack. Scorpia pulled Perfuma into a strong embrace and they began to tenderly kiss in a way so intimate it transcended above every sense but taste and touch. Soon it became more passionate as they pressed their hungry mouths deeply into each others, moaning with each caress of their tongues.

Perfuma bent back, offering a kind smile, and then slightly biting her lip. She spoke almost shyly at first. “I want to show you how to pleasure me in so many ways.” Scorpia nodded with each word as Perfuma continued, returning to a confident tone, and bearing an almost imperceptible smirk. “I think you’ll be surprised at our options, but how about we start with the obvious? I want you to taste me. To use that nimble tongue, just like you did now, to bring me pleasure like I brought you. It’s perfectly alright if for any reason you’d rather not, but it would be my honor to feel you worship between my thighs. I’ll walk you through everything and even teach you some things before.”

Scorpia gulped, but it wasn't because of her fears of inadequacy—it was from her utter desperation to comply. It was from how carnally she yearned to provide for this beautiful woman who was the antithesis of everything she'd known in the past. Perfuma was genuinely kind, giving, and, mostly importantly, wanted her as much as she did in return. Perfuma could help her rewrite the definition of what it meant to give someone pleasure.

Scorpia smiled broadly, eyes welling up with joy, tinged with the bittersweet juxtaposition of her past. "There is NOTHING that would make me happier! I am open to anything you'd like and wherever you take me. I trust you with my whole body…and honestly, my life…" The words almost caught in her throat as she trailed off, softly reflecting on the way Perfuma never gave up on her while she was controlled by Prime, and defended her against harm when she was completely out of control. This woman loved her and believed in her. With absolute fervor, she confirmed, "Perfuma, whatever the ride, I am in!" She didn't realize how literally her words might be taken.

Perfuma squealed with delight. "Oh, Scorpia. I just can't believe this! You are so brave! Just remember your safe words, alright? I know you said anything, but we can always stop. I want you to tell me anything whatsoever that you need. Of course, that includes whatever that sounds exciting to you as well! I am so excited to teach you! Eeee!!"

The way Perfuma spoke was always laced with so much enthusiasm that if you didn't listen to the content of her words, you might just assume she was talking passionately about something entirely wholesome like baking or knitting. But no, Perfuma's mastery of pleasure transcended prudish rules.

After an enthralling kiss, Perfuma propped herself against a pile of fluffy pillows, and spread her legs wide apart. "Alright, you muscled beauty, let's start by taking a look." She used two delicate fingers to pull apart dainty, slick lips. Her tone became instructive, yet still laced with giddy vivacity. "This right here is my clitoris. Is it a beautiful bundle of ever-so-sensitive nerves and a huge source of what can push me over the edge! This will be your main focus for our first activity. I'll want you to start softly and explore and then we will try more specific motions and pressures. Mine is much smaller than yours because our bodies are delightfully different!" She paused to admire Scorpia's enthralled expression.

"These other areas are my labia which include inside and outside ones. On you, your outside ones are plump and luscious and your inside ones are smaller and thin, but on mine, my outside ones are more subdued and small, but my inside ones are marvellously ruffled! Again, these are just ours and there are so many beautiful combinations! I hope together we can discover many more varieties on adventures with others!"

"Do you see all that, darling?" Scorpia nodded intently while taking internal notes, feeling the heat building—yet again—right in the wet folds Perfuma had just described. Perfuma continued teaching in a delighted tone as she slightly dipped her fingers inside the opening below, causing Scorpia's clit to throb.

"Now, here's an area that's also very exciting. It can go by many names. Technically it's called a vaginal canal or a vagina, but that's not very sexy. I often call it my hole, or even just inside, or the place where you're filling me, just like how I was filling you there before. That seemed like it felt very nice, yes?" She smirked, clearly knowing the answer.

"Oh boy! YES, it DID." Scorpia confirmed energetically while her cheeks reddened and she felt every inch of her begin to blaze.

"Wonderful, my love!" Perfuma exclaimed, still seemingly oblivious to Scorpia's increasing desire. "A little more education before we move on." She pulled her legs even further apart and Scorpia widened her eyes in awe. Her mouth watered with need. Perfuma continued nonchalantly, making a waving motion over everything she could see. "Now this is considered my vulva. It's everything you can see on the outside. I also enjoy calling everything all together my cunt, but no need to use that. I may, though! Also! Oh Yes! A delightful tidbit is that I used to have very different looking parts, but thankfully we live on a planet with magic that helped me have exactly the parts that I was truly meant to have!"

She paused to glow proudly, and then forged ahead. "Do you feel ready for what's next?" Scorpia nodded with fierce passion. Her body felt electrified with desperation and she was doing everything in her power not to beg to begin. "Eeee! Oh, I am so delighted, Scorpia! Oh! First, I almost forgot one thing and it's very important!" Scorpia's eyebrows shot up and she could hardly manage to pace her breathing as Perfuma continued. Is this actually torture? Is she trying to torture me with education?

"I don't usually have multiple orgasms at once like you do. It is an incredible gift you have, but for me, they just take a bit longer and sometimes a variety of positions and activities. In fact, sometimes they don't happen at all and that's perfectly alright! For me, it's all about the pleasure along the way."

Scorpia nodded vigorously, her mind pleading. Please, please. She hoped her actual words would be more articulate, but when she spoke she found herself rambling. "That sounds wonderful. Any way I get to touch you is wonderful. Wonderful. So, so, wonderful!"

"Excellent!!" Perfuma said passionately, grasping her hands together with a loud clap. "As I said before, we are going to start with you tasting me. I think you'll like it."

Scorpia radiated with excitement. "I SO think you are right!" She said, while internally rejoicing. It's happening! It's really happening! She cautiously brought herself to her knees and slid her body forward until she was face first with Perfuma's center. Perfuma's intoxicating aroma was unsurprisingly laced with notes of earth, grass, and musk. Before Scorpia continued, her face sunk with concern. She wanted to lay her arms under Perfuma's legs. "My pincers. Will they hurt you?" Without another word, Perfuma was ready with a thick blanket to lay over her armored claws.

“I’ll be just fine, my love. I know you would never hurt me.” She paused. “Unless, of course, I asked you to.” There was that mischievous look once again and Scorpia began to enquire, but Perfuma stopped her. “Shhh. We’ll worry about that later,” she said, offering a wink that caused an unfamiliar flutter in Scorpia’s chest.

Scorpia focused back on the beautiful canvas before her, kissing one of Perfuma’s lanky thighs, and glancing up for approval. “Please, go on.” Perfuma encouraged.

Her first lick was a fumble and she winced, ready for the reprimands of her past, but none came. As she cautiously continued, she found more confidence with each stroke of her tongue. Perfuma emboldened these efforts with small, pitchy moans, muffled by her closed mouth. She gently rolled her hips into each licking caress. “That’s so good, my love. Keep going. Just a little to the left.”

As Scorpia followed her instructions, Perfuma’s moans became slightly louder and sharper. Scorpia could feel wetness building against her chin. “Okay, bring your tongue to my hole, please, taste my juices.”

The nectar that met Scorpia’s tongue made her moan loudly, reverberating into Perfuma. It danced on her taste buds, slicked her lips, and she swallowed it down between each gesture. Each motion beckoned more to flow in her mouth.

Perfuma continued her instructions and allowed Scorpia to get to know each part of her. She had her move her tongue through her labia then back to her clit—each time trying different combinations of strokes, sucking, and pressure.

Eventually Perfuma stopped her. Both of their bodies glistened with sweat. “I want to try something new. Sit up on your knees, hip-width apart.” When she complied, Perfuma began to beckon new vines from the earth that wrapped around Scorpia’s thick thighs and up around her pelvis. They continued to wrap under her ass and around her wonderfully wide hips, weaving together and joining at the front of her mound. Then, just in front of her clit, a smooth purple vegetable began to grow and lengthen.

Perfuma clasped her hands together at her chest and beamed with pride. “Oh, Scorpia! It’s perfect!” Scorpia looked a bit confused. “Darling, don’t worry. You’re going to love this!” Perfuma said with encouraging giddiness. “Just lay back for me. I’ll do the rest, for now.”

Scorpia laid back on the ground while Perfuma looked her up and down and made slight adjustments to the vines holding the shiny vegetable in place. She made sure there was a nook for Scorpia’s clit to settle inside, to make it feel like a natural extension of her. Perfuma even grew an extending, smooth, curving part that started to slowly fill Scorpia back up like before, which made her quiver and moan as it expanded inside of her.

Perfuma brought her legs across Scorpia’s lap and pulled her wet lips apart till her clit stood out firm and wanting, the glorious bud at the tip announcing itself as the motion pulled back the hood. As she hovered, she used her other hand to adjust the smooth purple length to meet her entrance, but she didn’t glide down. Not yet. She rolled the tip between her soaking lips, right at her opening, continually pushing it in just slightly and then pulling back.

Scorpia’s eyes kept shooting back and forth from Perfuma’s face to her hands and spread lips—feeling the pressure come and go—so close to finally being inside her. She was desperate, and wanting, but summoned the patience for her teacher to let her in. Scorpia groaned as each grab and each touch pushed against the sensitive and throbbing part of her cradled inside the nook of the slick, purple extension. She started to worry that Perfuma would never give in. But finally Perfuma relented — sliding down, thighs slightly shaking as she went. She began to move up and down, rolling her hips forward each time she reached the bottom. Her eyes squeezed shut in concentration as she took deep breaths followed by slow, soft moans.

“How does that feel, my love?” She opened her eyes to see Scorpia with her jaw dropped, and her eyes wide and sparkling. Her gaze was fixed as she watched herself fill up Perfuma’s petite frame, pushing the smooth sides of her pincers into her lover's luscious hips as a means to guide her motions.

“You’re incredible. Incred—ible. It fe—els…ahhh!”

“Oh good, mmm.” Perfuma’s words were so measured and calm and her movements so rhythmic. She almost seemed like she was getting a massage and in a perfect state of mediation.

Scorpia wasn’t as controlled and yet another of her boundless orgasms broke through. She pushed deep into Perfuma and held in place as her muscles braced around the overwhelming waves of pleasure that overcame her. She felt Perfuma push forcefully right back into her until she continued, with Scorpia now pushing her hips even more intentionally upward. Glistening sweat started to appear on Perfuma’s brow. Her chest flushed pink ever-so-slightly and her perky nipples swelled and hardened as she picked up the pace.

“You’re filling me up so wonderfully, Scorpia. It’s so natural. It’s like you were made to be inside me. I can’t believe we’re finally here. I’m so honored to feel you—in-side…me,” she faltered almost imperceptibly, much to Scorpia’s delight.

Scorpia could only moan with a slight whimper in response, focusing on each stroke and breathing in deep to slow her pace, taking notes on tempo from each rock of Perfuma’s hips. She felt another tiny spasm in her depths, reveling in the feeling of her muscles clenching around the part of the vegetable that was filling her.

Perfuma reached down to her wetness with dainty fingers and started to play between her lips, rubbing circles counterclockwise on her clit, slow and deliberate. Scorpia was in awe of, and somewhat confounded by, how calm Perfuma was—how focused and mindful. She rocked back and forth almost like on a swing—carefree, savoring each stroke.

Scorpia suddenly felt a deep urge to have something in her mouth. She was desperate to taste Perfuma's flowery nectar, her skin, any part of her. She seemed so damn far away, even as she rode atop her. Not knowing how, but delirious with want, she pleaded, "Can I taste you somehow?" She expected denial, but Perfuma nodded rapidly, looking strikingly less measured. "Oh! Of course, my darling! Of-uh-course! Than-k y-ou for ask-ing!" She panted her words in staccato.

She quickly switched the hand that was diligently circling her clit and leaned just a bit forward. Her fingers headed towards Scorpia's mouth and landed wetly on wanting lips. Scorpia opened her mouth, allowing it to fill with the delicious taste and pressure of the digits. She sucked every bit of delectable juice off them as Perfuma moved her long fingers in and out and deeply towards Scorpia's throat until she gasped for breath. Perfuma almost brought them away, but Scorpia clasped her lips tighter around them—sucking them in place, bobbing her head up and down, her muscled neck precisely controlling each motion as she continued to thrust her hips, filling Perfuma.

Both of them had their eyes squeezed shut, focusing on sensation, feeling every motion. Suddenly, Perfuma's cool and collected demeanor broke and she gasped out, practically screaming, "Scorpia, I've wanted you. so. badly, for. so. long!!" She ended with a booming moan, so loud it reverberated from the depths of her being. Scorpia looked almost frantic from arousal at the shift in dynamic and gaped in response, releasing Perfuma's fingers, which she then dragged down Scorpia's chin and throat, leaving a trail of wetness. She was already so consumed with Perfuma's unbridled desire that the gesture took her over yet another orgasmic ledge—but before she could even complete the waves that overtook her, Perfuma fell forward, landing her hands on Scorpia's chest with surprising heft.

The impact shot Scorpia's eyes open to their widest and hurtled the air from her lungs. She joined Perfuma in a choir of uncontrolled moans, Scorpia's coming out in breathy gasps. She reveled in the enthralling pressure of Perfuma's weight on her, the way it stole her breath, the handprints threatening to redden, how their hips still thrusted in perfect synchrony, the way they both were filled.

Timidly, between sharp moans and hitched breaths, Scorpia implored, "Umm,—ahh— can you—oh wow—push into my chest a bit harder?? I think—I really—." Stuttering breaths interrupted each word and she let out another huge, pleasured groan as one of the thrusts rubbed her just right. "I need more!!" She practically screamed the words.

That wicked grin that Perfuma had only slightly shown all those times before suddenly brightened with hunger. She dug in hard and pushed even more of her weight into Scorpia's heaving chest. "Yes, yes! YESSSS!" Scorpia let out with each gasp. The pressure on her muscled chest made her slightly dizzy as she somewhat strained for breath, but... somehow—it was wonderful.

Panting out her words, Perfuma managed a stern reminder. "Remember—your—safe w—ords!!" She continued sharply moaning and pressing her hips into Scorpia so deep that she could grind her clit against her. Scorpia made sure to nod and affirm, bathing herself in the rough and heavy sensations.

"Yellow!! But—keep—going!" She cried out. And Perfuma pulled back a bit letting her fill with air before getting a nod that she could push back down and steal it once more. At the same time, Scorpia drove herself in faster and deeper, the aubergine inside her thickening, and she brought up her knees to thrust even more into this incredible, downright sex goddess on top of her.

"I think…I'm gonna…cu—umm!" Perfuma moaned the words, almost vulgar from her lips, as her hips still vigorously thrusted. Scorpia could feel Perfuma's walls tightening around the length as she magically coordinated the squeezing of her own muscles to the purple object around Scorpia's hard clit. "Cum with me, Scorpia!! Can you?" It was both a demand and a question.

It was no problem at all for her as they bucked together and Perfuma rolled her hips in tight, shaky motions, riding the wave of muscle contractions inside. Scorpia was full-on bellowing as she came, a harmonizing baritone with Perfuma's soprano cries.

As the sounds unearthed from their bodies, something else rumbled out from the ground around them. Roses were growing tightly at their sides creating a canopy above them. The thorns scraped against both of their legs, but Scorpia noted that it didn't hurt per-se, it burned delightfully. In fact, she couldn't help pushing her legs harder against them as they grew, deepening the sensation.

They both collapsed as they finished, Perfuma falling right on top of Scorpia as the purple makeshift toy practically sprang out of her slick center when she descended. Their chests pressed together and their heartbeats pounded against each other through their skin as Scorpia held Perfuma in a tight hug on top of her.

Scorpia marveled at the nest of roses they found themselves in and the fiery sensations searing on her skin. Perfuma barely seemed to notice her scrapes. "Umm, WOW," were the only words Scorpia could muster. "Uhh. Perfuma? Does, uh, there's roses all around us. Is this normal?"

"Oh yes! My best orgasms come with lots of blooms," she said casually, sighing blissfully. "The roses are new, though. Hmm," she cooed as she directed some petals to rain upon them. She glanced at the scrapes on their legs, "Are you alright?" Her eyebrow crept up in a way that Scorpia couldn't quite decipher as concern or intrigue.

"I, um, I'm better than alright. That, uh…stinging…and the uh, the chest thing—"

"Breath play—"

“Uh, ya, sure…the..uh…brr-eath play, you said?”

Perfuma nodded. “And well, also compression play,” she added with a dreamy sigh.

“Uh, yes. Mmhhmm. Sure. Very, uh wow…Can we do more of all of that??” Scorpia asked vigorously, somehow managing to sound both excited and afraid at the same time. Asking for what she wanted still made her incredibly nervous, but she was desperately yearning for more with every inch of her being in a way that was impossible to ignore or contain.

Perfuma giggled. “Of course! I have a few things in mind already.”

Her fingers delicately swirled on Scorpia’s skin as she moved her mouth to Scorpia’s firm chest and dug in her teeth. Scorpia’s eyes shot open widely in response. “Oh. OH BOY. ohhhh. Umm. YES. oh. uh…Can…you…please go harder?” Her cheeks reddened with shyness but the staggering sensation blurred the embarrassment away. Perfuma did as she asked, nodding with her teeth still sunk in place, much to Scorpia’s surprised delight. It hurt so good. Scorpia pulled her chin to her chest, holding her breath for just a moment, tightly whimpering, as she warmed to all these wonderfully overwhelming new sensations. Her head was spinning and her lips trembled. What the hell have I gotten myself into?

Chapter Summary

> Our lovebirds venture into town for a sweet night together. Perfuma gets to put her love of hitting people with flowers to use.

Chapter Notes

> Hey!! Welcome back! This chapter, in addition to our normal sex and sex-ed, has some plot that doesn't involve it, too! I hope you love it :) Get ready for lots of sweetness and, of course, hotness and more kink-sploration, as well!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

When Scorpia had initially considered the idea of opening the door to sex, she had no idea it would be more akin to opening a dam. The endless possibilities of what they could do made her mind reel. Even more dizzying though, was contemplating the mystery of all that she couldn't even imagine. It baffled her that there could be so much more than the incredible things they'd already done. The anticipation was overwhelming. But, as lovely as their bodies felt—covered in rose petals, dew of sweat, and engulfed in a cloud of pheromones—eventually they needed a break and, begrudgingly, they pulled on clothes and headed into the village for a shift of scenery.

Some Plumerians were gathered around a small fire pit and seated on fluffy cushions when they arrived. They were drinking hot tea that billowed steam from the cups clutched between their hands. Perfuma and Scorpia were welcomed into the circle and a shirtless man with wavy, greenish-blond hair and pink tattoos offered them some of the tea. Perfuma explained to Scorpia that it was brewed from dried herbs she'd grown herself and giggled under her breath with amusement as Scorpia attempted to restrain her gag reflex. Scorpia didn't want to be rude to the earnest man, so politely accepted it, but was certain she would not be drinking the weird, dirt-smelling stuff. Instead she just held it carefully, letting it warm her pinchers while she appreciated the fire.

The heat from the flames enhanced the already peaceful and buzzing state Scorpia was in. Perfuma sighed blissfully and tucked herself under Scorpia's thick arm, nuzzling against her chest as Scorpia pulled her in tightly. Everything was obscured beyond the reaches of the fire; but within the circle, bright points flickered with each lick of the flames, casting both light and shadows on those around them, painting them in a glowing mix of bright amber and orange.

Perfuma's hand casually fell to Scorpia's lap, hooking onto her inner thigh. It was a benign motion; certainly more intimate than a friend, but not inherently sexual either. Still, the simple touch was utterly grounding and intimate for Scorpia. She felt an unexpected lump in her throat. A catch. A feeling of immense safety and unfamiliar closeness. The recurring overwhelm of experiencing something she didn't know that she needed until having it.

Tingles radiated out on Scorpia's skin from the point of contact as Perfuma swirled her fingertips against that clothed, but sensitive skin of her inner thigh. She gently rested her check on the top of Perfuma's head and let out a contented mmm as she melted into the embrace—bathing in the sounds of the townspeoples' chatter and the smell of woodsy smoke around them.

After some time, the others began to slowly drift off—some by themselves and others in pairs or trios. And eventually, Perfuma and Scorpia were left alone with the last breaths of the flames.

As they enjoyed the cracks and pops of the fire and heat meeting the nighttime chill, Perfuma brought her lips to Scorpia's chest; kissing her pecs, heating the crook of her neck with hot breath, and ghosting the chilled tip of her nose against the warmth of Scorpia's skin. She pulled back to look Scorpia in the eyes and they both just smiled warmly as they gazed at each other. They began to kiss. Soft, slow, lingering.

Perfuma's other hand was now resting between Scorpia's thigh hovering dangerously near her still wonderfully aching lips. Scorpia was concerned about being so out in the open. Although the Plumerians who'd gathered with them had wandered away, they could still be heard chatting and rustling in nearby huts—some still visible out and about in the distance, futzing with things they needed to organize or put away.

Perfuma's hand inched even closer towards the radiating humidity at Scorpia's inseam. With a whisper of a touch, she brought her fingers up and down on the fabric. Scorpia stiffened a bit and let out a small, breathy gasp. "Uhh. Perf-mm-fuma? Are…is this safe? Oh wow. That feels so good." Her words were quiet and she trembled with each of Perfuma's teasing strokes up and down against the cloth.

Perfuma kissed her chest and gripped her other arm around Scorpia's waist. "Mmmm. You feel so wonderful. And we're perfectly safe. Even if someone saw us we still would be, but no one's paying attention and we just look like we're innocently enjoying the fire." She ran her palm up, grazing against Scorpia's now hard and bulging clit. "Unless…" She pushed her palm against her with light, but firm circles. "You want me to stop?" Although she couldn't see it, Scorpia could almost hear Perfuma's grin.

"Um. Wow. Oh. Yeah. No—Please. No. Don't stop." She almost squeaked the last bit and was shuddering from the skill of Perfuma's hand. "But. Oh boy. Will you-uh-keep an eye out?"

"I'll do my best, of course," she said, hand rubbing just a bit harder.

Having received the go-ahead, Perfuma brought her fingers to Scorpia's waistband and glided her hand down and in-between the slick, voluminous lips below. She began gradually stroking her clit up and down between her fingers as Scorpia's hips ground into the cushion below and quivered against her touch.

Scorpia tucked her chin tightly to her chest, making every effort to purse her lips shut in order to stay quiet and evade any attention. As their motions built together, Perfuma scooped her other hand under the hem of Scorpia's shirt and lifted it up, exposing her heavy breasts. Grasping one firmly, she began to expertly suck on Scorpia's nipple, her mouth working in diligent coordination with her hand working masterfully below.

Unsurprisingly, it wasn't long before Scorpia came—throwing her head back when it happened, almost choking on her gasps as she tried to contain them. She jumped a bit as she heard a pan clatter in the distance; her breasts still exposed; Perfuma's hand still pulsing against her clit; a strange thrill of almost being caught.

Perfuma pulled away her hand slowly and the fire flickered, blowing smoke towards them as it died down. "Smoke follows beauty," Perfuma cooed, smiling serenely towards Scorpia as she sucked her fingers squeaky clean.

"Well, I'm gonna say it's following you then," Scorpia retorted playfully—but still awkwardly—quickly changing the subject before Perfuma could respond with more than a wrinkled nose. "You are really, really good at that, you know?"

"Aw. That's very kind darling. It's an honor to give you such pleasure."

As the air cooled more, goosebumps appeared on their arms and they put out the fire in favor of seeking warmer shelter.

"How about we find our way to some nourishment? I could use something to eat. What about you?" Perfuma asked. Scorpia adamantly nodded in agreement.

The kitchen was warm when they entered. There were stone-carved countertops, a wood-burning stove and oven, and some sort of magical icebox that glowed with blue, sparkly energy. Perfuma grabbed one of the many pots hanging from the ceiling and started foraging around in the icebox. She pulled out a huge stockpot and then ladled a thick stew into the smaller pot. Scorpia skeptically eyed the substance as she did this, but lately Perfuma had been better at learning her tastes so she tried to hold back her judgment.

As the stew cooked, Scorpia noticed she was actually enjoying the aroma. The final result was a hearty concoction with flavors that swirled around Scorpia's tongue, delightfully warming her belly.

"I can't believe I lived on ration bars for so long! That was delicious!" She hugged her belly, grinned enormously, and let out a resonant sigh.

Perfuma was humming by the sink, cleaning up the dishes. hhmm..mm..hhmm. "Aww, that's lovely darling. I'm so glad you enjoyed it." mmm..hmmm. "Maybe someday I'll get you to enjoy all the vegetables!" She smirked over her shoulder and then continued humming.

"UHHH. Well…I don't know about all that. But some are starting to grow on me." Scorpia's eyes shot open. "Oh. Wow. I guess one actually has grown on me!" They both burst out giggling.

"Well, I guess we can always just keep doing that, instead!" Perfuma winked and came over to cup Scorpia's face and give her a tender peck on the lips. "Shall we head back? My hut is only a little ways from here and unlike the other one it has a big lush bed!"

Scorpia stretched her arms out and yawned loudly. "Yeah, that seems like a good idea. If we don't I might just fall asleep right here."

They wandered back to the hut wrapped in each other's arms and slightly stumbling as they went. Perfuma clutched a small package at her side. Scorpia's energy was fading quickly when they arrived, and she flopped onto the luxurious bed, peeling off her clothes and quickly crawling under the covers. Perfuma lit a candle and Scorpia watched her attentively, taking in the way she closed her eyes and whispered towards the flame. After a min or so Perfuma bought the candle to the nightstand and smiled warmly as she joined Scorpia in the bed.

"That seemed kinda serious. What was that?" Scorpia asked with curiosity, genuinely unsure of what she'd just witnessed.

Perfuma ran her fingers through Scorpia's hair, delicately separating the strands. "Every night I take time to thank the planet and the earth for the magic and resources it has given us. I thank the heart blossom for continuing to thrive. I express gratitude for my home, my community, the princesses, and everyone who makes up this planet and the universe. I ask the unknowable sources, binding us all, for continued peace and unity within the trillions of worlds and the people upon them and to show me the path towards wherever I may need to head next. And I also make sure to note any immediate things I'm thankful for such as you, this beautiful connection, the trust we're building between our bodies, and the glorious expressions of pleasure we're discovering together."

"Um. Wow. Every night?" Perfuma nodded her head softly and slowly blinked. "Hmm. Um. Can I try?"

"Of course, my love." Perfuma turned around and lifted the candle by the handle that extended from its brass, tapered base, and brought it in front of Scorpia. "Go ahead. You can speak out loud or in your mind. Either works."

Scorpia cleared her throat, glanced at Perfuma, and noticed her pulse quickening. "I..I, well. So, I'm definitely very thankful for all the pleasure and the connection…and trust…like you said." She felt her cheeks heating. "I'm grateful that I'm starting to understand that…I…might deserve…I don't know if that's the right word…" Perfuma nodded encouragingly. Scorpia cleared her throat again. "I might deserve better than I've thought? I dunno. Maybe. I dunno." She glimpsed up again at Perfuma who just looked back at her lovingly. Scorpia's cheeks were downright burning. "And I'm grateful, for, you know…" She sped out the last works. "All my friends and the planet and universe."

Perfuma's eyes watered and she set down the candle. "Oh Scorpia! That was just beautiful. I'm so proud of you."

"Uh huh. MMhmm." She tried to take a deep breath to calm her nerves. It turned out that saying those things out loud was a little too much, apparently.

Perfuma beckoned Scorpia's head to her small chest and wrapped her up in her arms. She swirled her fingers gently on Scorpia's neck and ran them softly over her hair, taking in the smells of campfire on her skin, until they both lulled themselves to sleep.

The next morning Scorpia awoke to loud noises of drums, joyous laughter, and singing. It was a bit jarring, but the sense of being startled was quickly soothed by the sight of Perfuma dancing naked around the hut. It was both adorable and extremely sexy to Scorpia, who found herself jaw agape and with her eyes sparkling. Catching Scorpia's eyes, Perfuma clapped her hands together in excitement. "Scorpia! You're awake, my love! Are you enjoying the drums?"

Scorpia furrowed her brow. "UMM. They're kinda loud, but uh, sure, yeah, they're all right. YOU, you look really nice, though." Her face softened into a dreamy smile as she stared in wonder at Perfuma.

Perfuma continued to dance and raised an arm high in the air, proclaiming, "As nature intended!"

"Well, it seems I am a BIG fan of nature. Let me tell you. WOW."

Perfuma cocked an eyebrow. “Are you interested in doing more than telling me?”

Scorpia’s eyes widened. “UM. YES. Yes! I’d love that. Please come here!”

Perfuma giggled and spun over to the bed. “You know…,” she said sneakily. “When the drums are this loud, there’s really not much they can hear. Any interest in exploring some more of those things that hurt so good?” Perfuma brought her face right up against Scorpia’s and flicked her tongue against Scorpia’s quivering lower lip. Scorpia pushed her mouth forward, clasping her lips to Perfuma’s with a hungry greed that Perfuma returned. Between each opening of their lips, she repeated, “Yes. Yes. Yes,” into their kiss.

The first thing she felt was Perfuma’s fingernails digging in lightly just below her collarbone. Soon, she felt the sensation drag down her chest, leaving a burning trail behind. The scratches reddened against her light skin.

“Same rules as always?” Perfuma checked.

“YES. Yellow, red. I will let you know. Right now, just more, please. I trust you.” Please. More. More, she internally begged.

“Sit up.” Perfuma said firmly and Scorpia quickly scurried to a seated position. Perfuma pinched her chin, pondering her options. She instructed Scorpia to place her arms out against the bed frame and summoned vines that bound her to it.

Inching forward, Perfuma brought her hand to the top of Scorpia’s head, running her fingers through her soft white hair, and then grasping it firmly near her scalp. She cranked Scorpia’s head upwards to view her calculating look, dripping with control. “You gonna be good for me?”

Scorpia tried to rapidly nod but couldn’t move her head from Perfuma’s tight grip and instead cracked out her confirmation. “Yes!”

“Goooood,” Perfuma said in a smooth sing-song voice.

While still holding tight, Perfuma used her other hand to run fingertips down the side of Scorpia’s face, tracing the underside of her jaw, and gliding down the front of her throat. The touches barely made contact, which sharpened Scorpia’s desperation even more intensely. Perfuma circled the nook between Scorpia’s collarbones and slowly opened her thumb and middle finger around the base of her neck, her hand wrapping around it.

Scorpia’s eyes closed and her head spun, feeling completely pliant in Perfuma’s grip. She exhaled as if melting into a hot bath. She could only manage to mouth the word “wow,” because the skill of making sounds had dissolved away. Almost just a memory.

Perfuma’s voice broke through her bliss. “More?”

“Yes,” she managed, breathily forming the syllable.

Perfuma continued to praise her, tightening her grip around Scorpia’s neck while still grasping her hair. She pulsed the sensations—only putting pressure on the muscular sides of her neck—creating the heady effect of stealing her breath without the danger of pressing on her throat. The pulses dizzied Scorpia over and over with each squeeze—the feeling of lightheadedness coming and going. “Pat my back quickly three times if you need me to stop,” Perfuma said—her sweet but firm teaching voice returning.

“Yes,” Scorpia breathed out again. It was all she could manage.

After some time, Perfuma let go and scratched down Scorpia’s neck and chest. She gripped huge handfuls of her supple tits, kneading them deeply as Scorpia pursed her lips tightly together. Perfuma’s nails continued down her belly, around her hips, along the tops of her legs.

“I’m gonna slap your thighs.” It wasn’t a question. Scorpia took in a shaky breath.

At first, the slaps were a light and fast pitter-patter on her inner thighs, just to warm the skin. Perfuma was intentional and rhythmic, closely watching Scorpia's reactions. As she felt heat building against her hands she switched to her first decisively harder hit. Scorpia flinched into her bonds at the sensation and let out a small "oof." Perfuma firmly held her hand in place where she'd hit, pushing against the sharp tingles that resonated between them. "You alright?" She asked. Scorpia nodded intently, encouraging her to continue.

Perfuma resumed, hitting back and forth on each thigh, inside and out, up and down, leaving no spot unattended. Each hit almost matched the beat of the drums, intensifying in tandem. Some hits were sharp on the surface, others deep. The sensations lingered and spread. Scorpia's skin grew pink and Perfuma began to drag her nails over them leaving even pinker marks on the reddened surface. So far, Scorpia hadn't asked her to stop, just continuously let out sharp moans and punctuated them with words like WOW and OH, but eventually she hit her peak and said, "Yellow." Perfuma halted and began to gently knead the sensitive skin, even offering some small kisses against it.

"Are you done with the pain or just this, love?"

"Uh, wow. OOF. Uh. Just this. I think." She bashfully peered into Perfuma's eyes. "Um. Maybe, uh, something on my back?"

"What a wonderful idea!" Perfuma released Scorpia from her bindings only to have her turn over and be bound yet again to the bed frame, facing away from her.

Perfuma ran her hands all over Scorpia's chiseled upper back, waist, and sides. She mixed soft touches, massaging grips, and light trails of her nails in a way that made Scorpia almost shiver. And then Scorpia heard it. Something twisting and cracking from the earth out of view as Perfuma's hands slid off of her. She was left to just wait for what was next and take in the sounds of drums, singing, and laughing in the distance. She listened with bated breath to the rustling noises on the bed behind her as Perfuma hummed.

Out of her view, Perfuma was crafting an impeccable implement. It was a perfect harmony of thud, sting, softness, and fragrance. "Get ready for some magic, my love," she cooed.

Perfuma brought the newly handcrafted flogger above Scorpia's low back and slowly teased the tendrils up her spine. Scorpia marveled in the sensations. Supple. Fragrant. Cool…Hot? Something was definitely warm—positively heating up by the second.

"Uh. Perfuma? What am I feeling?" Scorpia was only mildly alarmed. The strangely tingling warmth was entirely intriguing, but it was unlike anything she'd ever felt before.

Perfuma flipped the tendrils backward over her shoulder and leaned forward, breathing into Scorpia's ear. "Those my love are called stinging nettles. They're going to warm and sting, more and more, even after we're all done." Her peppy voice was smothered by smooth, erotic tones. She was clearly enjoying this. "You're also feeling some vines. Feel anything else?"

"Uh. Yeah. There's uh, something kinda soft, but that also sort of tickles? And something smells really nice, too."

"Ah yes. Good noticing! That, my love, is lavender. It is very fragrant and has pretty purple flowers at the end."

The leftover sting continued to blossom on Scorpia's back and she inhaled the calming scent. "I wanna feel more."

"So good with your words, Scorpia," Perfuma praised. She began to flick her wrist, moving the flogger bouquet in a figure 8 motion that switched gentle hits side-to-side on her upper back—occasionally flicking her naturally armored shoulders, and skilfully landing on wanton muscles. Each hit landed precisely with a light thwack that sent bits of lavender flying across the room and sprinkling around the bed. Scorpia released her nerves into the rhythmic and sweeping contact.

Perfuma began to switch up her motions—sometimes surprising Scorpia with yet another soft brush of the flogger, other times incorporating harder, deeper thuds flung from over her shoulder. She constantly kept her guessing.

Scorpia's mind was swimming—overloaded entirely by the anticipation, sting, and the hollow reverberations that came with each thump against her wide, muscular back. She was engulfed in the continued burn from the nettles. It went on and on. Thud after thud. Sting upon sting. Lavender aroma filling the air. She felt like she never wanted it to stop.

Scorpia was wailing by the time they began to wind down—panting for breath between each hit. She'd relented, saying "yellow,' but quickly realized that she was actually done all together; so Perfuma guided her down onto the bed and gently stroked her hair and the back of her neck. Perfuma poured water into a large bowl on the nightstand and soaked a cloth inside. After squeezing it out, she let the excess drip over Scorpia until she laid it flat over the bright red skin on her back, allowing it to cool the burn. Perfuma kissed her on the head and pulled herself against Scorpia's side and they stared lovingly into each other's eyes.

"That was soooooooo nice," Scorpia slurred.

"I'm so glad," Perfuma said with a smile, softly petting her. "You took that so beautifully."

Scorpia could only make sleepy murmuring sounds in response.

The drum circle seemed to be dying down. As much as Perfuma had said it could cover up the noise, it likely wasn't enough to drown out what they'd just enjoyed. But no matter. Plumeria was the kingdom of orgies. Some of the cheering from the drum circle had likely even been for them. And deep down, Scorpia knew they had probably heard her and, though she was somewhat confused by it, she found herself flushed with intrigue at the thought of being witnessed. She considered that maybe, sometimes, acts like these were meant to be shared. She wasn't ready yet. That she was sure of. But she wondered if maybe, given the right guidance and encouragement, someday she could be.

Perfuma reached over to the nightstand once more and opened the package she'd brought with them the night before. It was full of berries, nuts, and cheeses and she encouraged Scorpia to sit up and try some. Yet again, Scorpia found something that tasted good and rolled the delectable flavors around her taste buds. As they savored the snacks, their bodies remained intertwined, touching at every point possible, slacked into each other with satisfaction.

"So, uh. Perfuma, I'm...thinking...that, uh, maybe people heard us...and uh...I was kinda, maybe, into it? I don't really wanna explore that yet…but maybe…Maybe once I've learned a bit more?" She looked up at Perfuma, eyes wide, her expression tightened and nervous.

"Ohh! Scorpia! Of course. Just let me know if you ever want to delve into some options. There's always opportunities here. But of course, absolutely no need." She interlaced their fingers and kissed a spike on her shoulder. "Meanwhile…you know…I quite enjoy receiving pain, too. Would you be interested in some things you can do to me? I know how worried you've been about your pincers, but what if we could do some things that show you they can be quite lovely? We could even play around with your powers."

Scorpia glanced over at Perfuma. Oh BOY. She's smirking. What does that even mean? My pincers?? My powers?? No. She can't mean that. Scorpia didn't think it was possible to use these things as assets but, with all she'd seen, she trusted Perfuma to show her how. Still, she thought, Seriously, HOW? For now, she was a little too afraid to ask. "Um. Wow. Okay. If...uh...you say so." She blushed deeply and took another bite of cheese. If you say so. FUCK.

Chapter End Notes

This whole fic has ended up so much longer than expected! Thanks for your continued support! I'm excited to bring you more soon! ❤️

My continuous and neverending thanks to caminante for beta-ing!! And my thanks to other magical friends who helped smooth things and brainstorm!

Also, so sorry this is taking so long to update! I like to make things confusing and overly complicated so, of course, I started a whole other WIP and have another ongoing one. I LOVE this journey we are taking together with these two sweethearts and I would never abandon it in a million years! It just might be a min! I even have half of it written already but got distracted. Feel free to check out my new Catradora AU WIP meanwhile (or any other pieces) and follow me on twitter for updates and a ton of SPOP content: @YoursFemmely

Update (10/12/2021): The chapter is almost done! The draft is finished but I just need to do beta-ing and subsequent edits! BUT expect it within the next week or two! 🥰

The Icing on Top

Chapter Summary

> Our sweet pervs are back! Stay tuned for Plumarian history and lore, Perfuma's backstory, tender journeys, and all that deep support and love we'd always expect from these two. They're still gonna get filthy, of course. Nothing can stop the raw electricity these two can bring. Those may or may not be puns…
> This chapter has way more developed plot than any of the others and is wrapping us up! Enjoy!

Chapter Notes

> HI!! Omg Hi. Firstly, for those of you sticking with this and returning, thank you, thank YOU! You're the best! Had some catradora brainrot (okay still do, but these babes deserve love, and this chapter has been living rent-free in my head—and scattered notes—for MONTHS and demanding attention!). I am really proud of the progress these two made and am so excited for you to read!
> Endless thanks to VividSeal and tshjortile for being the best beta's and cheerleaders ever!
> Heads up: I changed the format of this chapter to separated perspective shifts rather than switching randomly as we go. They are noted by dividers. Dividers with more space are perspective and scene changes. 🥰

Perfuma let out a huge, contented sigh, and then vigorously shook out her upper body—buzzing her lips as she did—before letting her arms fall. "Mmm. Well, it is time for my morning tea ceremony and meditation. I typically enjoy this on my own just to get centered for the day. Will you be alright while I'm gone?"

“Oh. Yes. Of course. Take all the time you need. I’ll maybe go explore a bit?” Scorpia said, almost as if asking for permission.

Perfuma placed her hand gently on Scorpia’s chest. “That sounds like a lovely idea. If you need anything, everyone is very welcoming and should be able to help. I’ll come find you when I’m done.”

Scorpia wandered until she stumbled upon a shady alcove where the air smelled fresh, damp, and undeniably mystical. Twisted trees were adorned with beautifully ruffled mushrooms that had shimmering blue light glowing around their edges. Sparkling crystal points growing right out from the earth were scattered around the edges. One tree even had a strange scorch mark that Scorpia brushed her pincer over in fascination. As she looked around the canopy, she could’ve sworn she saw a small, rainbow-winged lizard flitting in the branches above whose wings looked suspiciously similar to Swift Wind’s.

It was peaceful here. The leaves rustled, dappled light decorated the forest floor, and the crisp air felt cooling against the hot, still-stinging marks on her back. She sat down on a low, twisted trunk, closing her eyes, and resting her pincers in her lap.

As she listened to the sounds around her, the townspeople’s voices fading into the distance, she noticed a small swishing noise that she soon recognized as water. She sat there, listening to it’s nuances: the way it rippled back and forth, slapped against the shore, and rhythmically filtered through the rocks. With each breath she drank in the energy around her, noticing her powers building like an internal buzz that yearned to escape. Slowly, she opened her claws, watching closely as she produced a small red spark of electricity between them.

Perfuma adjusted her teapot and cup on the tray before her, running her fingers over the warm steam and breathing in the grassy notes of the brewing tea leaves. She deeply cherished the porcelain set. It had been passed down princess-to-princess, generation-to-generation, forged with Plumarian-sourced clay and glazed with magical pigments in Mystacor. The result was a collection of intricately scalloped tea-ware, ethereal white in color and dappled with endlessly swaying purple flowers.

Perfuma deeply inhaled, softly closing her eyes and elongating her back, and imagined an invisible string pulling up from the top of her head. As she let her shoulders fall back, a rush of energy poured down her spine and then flooded out around her. A bed of moss took its place as she connected to her powers.

Perfuma's tea ceremony wasn't just a way to get centered—it was a way to deeply connect with the past, ground in the present, embrace the unknowns of the future, and to remind herself who she wanted to be each and every day. It wasn't always easy for her, but this practice helped her soothe the anxieties that would inevitably come up, especially in sweeping moments of uncertainty where things felt out of her control. The more she kept her practice, the more it could be a touchstone when she started to get lost in her fears. In her hardest moments, she could do her best to remember the calm it brought her through practice, swiftly helping shift her towards her capacity to make better choices. It didn't always work, but it certainly helped.

The longer Scorpia sat in the clearing, the more she focused on the noises of the swaying water in the distance. With a big stretch, she stood and peered through the branches to her left until she saw a small crack of light. She started to weave through the trees, the sharp armor of her shoulders and stinger catching and scraping as she squeezed through narrow openings, a cool breeze beginning to kiss her skin. After endless twists and turns, a clearing opened before her, revealing a beautiful, shining lake, so reflective that she had to shield her eyes.

When she finally adjusted to the brightness she saw that it wasn't just the water shining, but the whole beach, which was covered in brilliant, multicolored crystals. A small child off in the distance was collecting them at the edge of the shore.

Scorpia waved wildly, enthusiastically yelling, "Oh, hi!! Hello there!" She walked over, carefully balancing herself by moving her tail back and forth and spreading her arms out wide as she traipsed across the shifting terrain.

The small child was smiling widely when Scorpia came over, their teeth full of gaps, dancing rainbows bouncing across their skin from the crystals. "Well, aren't you the cutest!" Scorpia said as she dropped to an eye-level squat with the giggling kid. They couldn't be more than five or so. "What are you doing out here all alone?"

"I came to collect crystals!" they rejoiced proudly, as they shoved a dark red stone between Scorpia's pincers. "This one looks like you!"

Scorpia giggled softly. "You are so right! Thank you! It is so pretty, too. I am definitely keeping this. You know it even kinda looks like my runestone…" She muttered as she inspected it.

The kid scrunched up their face. "Wuzzah roo-stone?"

"Oh! Of course! You wouldn't know. Hmm. So, you know the Heart Blossom?" The kid nodded vigorously, enthralled. "Yeah, so that's where Perfuma—er—Princess Perfuma gets her powers for growing plants, yeah?"

"Yeah! Duh!"

"Well, there's a gem on it—a runestone—that is the source of that power. Lots of princesses, like me, have their own as well, but each looks different and creates a different kind of power. Mine's called the Black Garnet and it looks a lot like THIS beauty."

The kid's eyes sparkled. "Yous a princess?? And yous can do magic, too? Can I sees?"

"Oh! Uh. Sure. You know, I was just messing with it, let's see. Stand back, okay? It can be dangerous."

They nodded a bunch and plopped onto the ground, face full of wonder. Scorpia stepped back and closed her eyes, taking in a deep breath until she sent sparks wrapping in circles around her claws.

"Whoa!" the kid said, voice full of awe. "Again! Again!"

"Ah, maybe in a minute, but first, what's your name?"

"I'm Cyprus."

"Well, hello Cyprus, I'm Scorpia! Do you know how to get back to town? I seem to be kinda turned around…" Scorpia trailed off, looking around for something the least bit familiar.

"Yeah! Duh! Iz not hard. But I wanna see more magic." Cyprus pouted.

Scorpia sighed playfully, "Okay fine, but then back, deal?"

"Deal!" Cyprus yelled.

The journey back seemed longer than her expedition through the trees. They walked along zig-zagged paths, some with pressed down plants from others clearly having traipsed through before, but many with unbridled, weaving vines, seeming untouched by passersby. Scorpia wondered if maybe she shouldn't have put her faith for directions in this small child as she noticed the moons shift throughout the sky.

"Hey, Cyprus, buddy. So, are you sure you know the way?" Scorpia asked delicately.

"Yuh! We're almost there, don you smell duh spices?" They asked, looking at her like she must of hit her head as if it was clearly the only useful way to track anything.

Scorpia took small sniffs of the air, finding unfamiliar, yet tantalizing smells that did seem to be nearing. Had Cyprus just been leading them all along with their nose? That's actually pretty amazing, she thought to herself as she started to hear faint voices in the distance.

Finally, they reached a break in the trees. It was just barely wide enough for Scorpia to squeeze through, unlike Cyprus, who stretched out their arms as they gracefully sprung over the exposed roots between the trunks. Cyprus spun around as they trotted off backwards, calling "Nice to me you, Scorya!" then ran towards a group of adults, flinging themself between them and yelling, "Mamas! Papas! Pomas! Moppas! I metta anotha princess!!" They all chuckled sweetly, jostling Cyprus's hair and turning to Scorpia to wave to her in the distance, beckoning her over.

Stretching leisurely, Perfuma stood, tidying up her things and placing them on their prospective shelves, before she headed to the vegetable gardens. While it would be easy for her to just grow the town's nourishment anywhere she felt like, it was much easier for the townspeople if she grew it near the communal kitchen.

The crops were looking great when she arrived, just needing some extra replenishing here and there. She checked the request list to see what else she could add, flicking her wrist and humming as she grew each one; corn, sweet potatoes, jackfruit, and mushrooms—the non-glowing varieties, that was. She plucked an apple off a tree and took a juicy bite that dripped down her chin as she headed towards the smells of savory breakfast porridge.

As she walked up, she found Scorpia laughing with ten or so village folk seated on a large blanket, shaded under the Heart Blossom. They all had full bowls and Scorpia was thanking one of Perfuma's many grandparents for something. She seemed to blush as if caught for a fraction of a second when she saw Perfuma, shifting her eyes momentarily and then gleefully calling her name, patting the seat beside her.

"Have you tried this? I mean I'm sure you have, but just, WOW!" Scorpia said enthusiastically as Perfuma settled down, nodding a thank you to the chef, Rose, as she handed her a bowl.

Perfuma giggled. "Yes. It's actually a traditional Plumerian recipe. I was taught how to make it when I was a child and the former princess was the one growing all our plants, before I even knew I'd someday be one." She paused as the thought distracted her and waved towards Rose, who reached towards her and brought their hands together, making loving eye contact. "Love, I just replenished that garden so we should be all settled for the next few days. Let me know if I missed anything or if you have any requests." Perfuma placed her other hand on top of Rose's and gave it a squeeze. "Oh! And have you met Scorpia yet?"

"In fact, I have," she said sweetly, with maybe even a flash of a smirk. "We were just having a lively conversation about some of our history."

Perfuma looked back and forth between the two, a quizzical but excited look of curiosity in her eyes. "That's fun! Learn anything interesting?"

"Well… for one, I learned that there are a lot of areas in Plumeria I haven't seen," Scorpia replied, a glint in her eyes. "I would really like to take you on a walk somewhere… If you're up for that?"

Perfuma was very intrigued, and a bit tickled by the romantic gesture, even if she knew every nook and cranny of her kingdom. Exploring would likely be different with Scorpia at her side. "That's very sweet, Scorpia! I know of some nice—"

Scorpia cut her off, which was surprising in itself, to say an even more out of character statement: "Actually, I have a place in mind, but I just want to take you, no questions. Okay?" She leaned down to whisper in her ear, "Would you… maybe let me blindfold and carry you there?" A soft pink blush rose to her cheeks and she looked away shyly.

Perfuma was completely caught off guard by the bold request. All this mystery and firmness was unlike Scorpia, but she played along, agreeing and going back to working on her porridge, occasionally giving Scorpia suspicious side-eye out of her view. Eventually she sighed, giving her a sweet kiss and leaning against her when she'd finished her meal. While listening to the conversations around them, her mind began racing around the possibility of where they might be headed. She inhaled slowly to calm the nerves rooted in anticipation, and the unfamiliar feeling of letting Scorpia take charge.

After they finished cleaning up, Scorpia looked towards the ground, smiling at the sight before her. A vibrant geometric path was radiating along the earth, starting at her feet, heading out as far as she could see until it faded away in the distance.

Before Perfuma had joined them, an elder had gifted her source of the markings: a small, powerful rock, and she honed in on the buzz of it's magic tingling in her pocket. She replayed the words they had told her—"This is programmed to go to the place we discussed. The path to your destination will light up along the ground using the First One's markings.

In her other pocket was the second gift—a long silken cloth, just the right length to cover Perfuma's eyes and tie below the flowers at the back of her head.

As they reached the hut again, Scorpia pushed back the curtain door excitedly. "Oh, Perfuma! I am just so excited that you're up for this!"

Perfuma looked a bit nervous and Scorpia swore she heard her voice slightly shake and increase in pitch. "Of course, Scorpia! I'm, uh, very glad you're taking initiative!" She cocked her head to the side. "And, um, you know where you're going right? Do you need any help or anything?"

"I'm alright!" she said proudly. "Elder Clover gave me a GPS… said it stands for, uh—"

"Oh! A Geological Path System!" Perfuma said excitedly, followed by a gleeful squeal. "It's ancient knowledge and they've been passed down for generations! That was so kind of her. I wasn't actually sure we had many left…"

"It really was! And oh wow. I didn't know! I hope it's alright that I have it…?"

"Of course it is! You are welcome to whatever it is you need here! You're a member of this community now, as much as anyone else," she said distractedly.

Perfuma nervously futzed a little around the hut before agreeing to go and putting on the blindfold Scorpia handed her. She felt a tender pang of sympathy for Scorpia when she'd told her she'd wished she could secure it herself.

Scorpia scooped her up soon after, draping Perfuma across her arms. She felt so weightless in her muscular grip that she barely noticed the bouncing as they traveled. Soon she felt leaves brushing by her arms as the voices faded in the distance and Scorpia began making various confused-sounding hmms that made her continuously want to leap down and lead the way.

"Scorpia?" she began to inquire the further they got, cautiously breaking the silence. "You know I could very easily guide us. Is the GPS malfunctioning at all? You can just put me down and I can help. Wouldn't that be easier?"

"I mean. Yeah. Sure, I could. But I really want to surprise you. And I don't mind figuring it out. Can you trust me? I've got this, Perfuma." She sounded somewhat unconfident, but Perfuma sighed and pressed her face against Scorpia's perfect pillow of a chest.

"I'm so sorry, Scorpia, of course," she whispered against her skin. "I'm just not really used to letting people be in charge this much." She focused on the image of her morning tea flowing into her cup to re-center herself.

"I actually am doing this just for that reason! I want to do something for you. We're almost there anyway."

She felt Scorpia crouch down and noticed the light of the moons shift away quickly. The feeling of a curtain of vines slipped against her arms for a few feet as the sounds of rushing water began to near. Soon she felt fine mist caressing her arm, then drifting away. Where in the world… Oh. It can't be. No one knew besides…

"We made it!" Scorpia said proudly, setting her down and carefully slipping off her blindfold.

Perfuma almost started crying. Before her was the one spot in Plumeria that still felt like a secret. It was a place that only one of her mothers—Adair—had known of, and had often taken her to as a child when she was overwhelmed and afraid. Even back then she'd been deeply affected by experiences of any conflict and they would come here and meditate together, simply listening to the rustles and the sound of the tiny waterfall nearby. You could only find this area through a secret, hidden passage that went underneath it. The passage led to a small, mostly dry area enclosed by rocks, but still open at the top, revealing the many-mooned sky.

It was also where she'd discovered her powers when she'd begun to come alone. They were only blips at first. Tiny clovers, eventually some moss, algae, and single leaves of seaweed. Not significant enough to bring up to any of the village parents. Many of the children of Plumeria had slight powers as kids, but most grew out of them. Hers, however, kept growing, enough for her to know that she certainly wasn't a boy and might very well be the next princess.

It wasn't that gender really mattered in Plumeria. People presented and identified all sorts of ways here and bodies weren't limited by any particular form either. Specifically, Plumerians were imbued with plant magic, so in the cases where form didn't fit, one could simply go to the princess and ask to be grown and changed with ease. However, with the exception of a nonbinary princess a few generations back—Azalia—and a handful more whose names she'd never known, historically, most princesses had been women.

It was then that everything finally clicked and she could claim what she'd known for some time but hadn't ever been sure. First, that she was a woman and was ready to ask the current princess to help change her form. Second, that she would be the next one to take the power of the Heart Blossom and guide the people of Plumeria.

“Scorpia, how?” she asked, looking around with wonder and hooking their arms together.

“Clover, I think their name was?”

Perfuma’s eyes went wide and then she began laughing. “Of course! Clover was my Ma Adair’s favorite parent—well, we don’t do favorites here, so shhh… but I wonder… maybe she used to take Adair here as well.”

“I can’t really say, but she told me to take you here and said the rock was programmed, so maybe it was always hers for going here?” She shrugged. “Do you like it?”

Perfuma flung herself at Scorpia, throwing her arms around her neck with so much spring that her legs wrapped around her waist. She pressed her lips against Scorpia’s so firmly that she almost knocked the thick princess right over.

Scorpia kissed her back just as passionately, her arms squeezing Perfuma close until they both finally gasped for breath. “I… uh, am thinking that’s a yes?”

Tears stung the corners of Perfuma’s eyes and she pursed her lips in attempts to hold back each tear that wanted to flow free as she pecked Scorpia’s lips. “It’s perfect.”

Scorpia was beaming with pride. “Oh, man! I was a little worried you weren’t gonna like it or be surprised but wow. I am just so happy you think so! Would… you like to sit down?”

Perfuma just nodded, letting Scorpia pull her in as they reached the ground.

“So… What is it that’s so special about this place for you? Elder Clover didn’t really say much, besides to take you."

“Well…” she started, telling her all about coming there as a child with Adair, the magic, the revelations, and the discovery of who she was in all the ways.

Scorpia nodded along the whole time, often with amazement, questions, and simply just trying to keep up.

“So, you don’t just have two parents here?” It was the only question she could manage to start with.

Perfuma giggled. “We don’t! Every child in Plumeria is made of anyone who desires to contribute. It’s through a ceremony we call Panalia. For it, we gather in a mass ritual of desire. You can connect sexually with as many or few as you wish. We have many sexual gatherings here, but Panalia focuses on fertility. On that day, if you desire to carry a child or contribute, you can reach to touch the Heart Blossom runestone and say your intentions. At the end of the ceremony, you can go back to the runestone and offer the energy created by you and your partners. Then, once all have offered theirs as well, those who want to receive the collective energy back can do the same. If you want to be pregnant, no matter your gender, you can choose to take that on with the energy you accept and the process begins, almost like a shared pollination. So, as you can see, no one or two people is a parent in Plumeria. It’s anyone who wishes, regardless of if they participate in the ceremony. We are all connected to the Heart Blossom, as well. It is she who decides who the next princess is and nothing else. Bloodlines do not exist here.”

“Wow,” Scorpia added breathlessly. “That’s, whoa… SO COOL.”

“It is, right?” She smiled wistfully and glanced off towards the water, reaching out and flicking her fingers until small algae patterns began to form on the rocks at the edge, slowly creating a small castle, then glanced up towards Scorpia. “I used to make these all the time when I’d come here. Some of the first magic I ever really started to grasp.” She sighed loudly and cleared her throat. “Sometimes I miss how easy things were then. No responsibilities. Nothing to command, choose, or replenish. Nothing to solve. I could just do what I wanted for hours and come home once I was ready.”

"You know," Scorpia said thoughtfully, "that's really why I wanted to bring you here. With the blindfold and all that. You've just done *so*much for me and I am really into giving and haven't gotten to do that much for you. You're so brave, and smart, and keep yourself so calm, aware, and kind. Like you just seem to know everything… it's kinda overwhelming."

Perfuma didn't say anything for long enough that Scorpia worried she said something wrong. "Scorpia," she finally began softly, "I actually have a lot of fears, and I get overwhelmed constantly when things don't go my way. I know you've seen it before. You just saw a bit of that on the way here. It can be so hard for me to let go and trust anyone to be in charge. I've had to be so on edge and ready most of my life because people rely on me.

"Yes, I hid my powers at first because I didn't know what they meant, but eventually it was because I was scared of all the pressure that would come when I ended up ruling an entire kingdom. I had so many parents caring for me, but once that happened, I had to be a leader. Leaders can't risk breakdowns. Leaders have to be teachers, not taught. I, at least, eventually found an outlet through battle, though. Who knows where I'd be if I'd never joined the Princess Alliance. Probably still afraid and leading my people to be the same…"

Scorpia pulled her closer.

"You know all my practices?" Perfuma continued. "The gratitude, the tea ceremonies, even acts like providing you pleasure? I do all those things to ground and connect to the earth and myself—because it almost feels like I'd just float away if I didn't."

"Wow. I, uh, had no idea. I mean, I know that you get worried and protective, but I've never had to be in charge like that. It sounds like a lot."

"It's fine, Scorpia. I can handle it." Perfuma said, stiff and unconvincing.

Scorpia looked at her knowingly, fully aware that Perfuma needed her, and wanting to offer her so much. "Remember… you know how I was 'the muscle'? How you let me take care of you then and be in charge?"

Perfuma looked at her shyly and nodded.

"Perfuma, I can be your powerhouse, too. I need to. I don't know how to not care for you back. You are so good to me—"

"Oh, Scorpia, you don't need to worry about me! You don't owe me anything! You've already given me so much! Watching you grow through your fears and the unknowns. Putting words to your desires. And you've given me so much pleasure, too!"

"…Well, sure. Yes. And I love that. I get it. But I want to offer you things, too. I kinda started thinking of some things I'd maybe wanna try. Like, some of the things you mentioned. Are you, uh, maybe interested in that?"

Perfuma studied Scorpia's eyes and nodded nervously. "What are you wanting to explore? I can help guide—"

"Actually, maybe I can try to take a bit more of the lead?"

Scorpia could hardly believe she was offering all this. What she'd been taught in her life was to step back and go with the flow. Follow orders. Self-sacrifice. Never ask or take up too much space—especially not as much as her physical form. It was the only thing that had kept her safe when her whole existence had been boiled down to loss and being forced into compliance and acceptance of her entire reality getting torn away so young. At some point it had just become normal.

It was time though. She was no longer the abandoned child forced into service for her captors and disconnected from her rightful powers. She was strong, and not just externally. She'd always had power, regardless of who possessed the supposed source, and she was undeniably loving. Here she was with someone cut from a very different cloth, but somehow such a similar outcome. Kindness. Love. Desires to give.

And so much anxiety and fear just bubbling underneath it all.

There's a fine line between supporting each other and relying on someone to hold you up, but within their desires to love and that fear was a way that they could be a reminder to one another of the earth beneath their toes. What she saw before her was someone whom she could help truly release. For once, she was starting to feel confident in what she had to offer. If Perfuma wanted it, she was here to bring her that much-needed release.

Perfuma had been quiet for some time, eyeing the ground, connected to Scorpia through touch only—a hand on her thigh. She looked up and nodded tentatively at Scorpia with a fragility about her that momentarily echoed her history with the space.

"Okay. I'm open to that. What exactly do you have in mind though? I need to know more first. I don't want to feel rejected… I just, that's what I'm ready for." Her voice was soft and nervous.

"I totally get that," Scorpia said, pulling her in for a light (for her) squeeze. "What about—if you're open to it and of course you can change your mind—but I was kinda thinking… maybe we could go back to the idea of playing with my powers? If you would even still be into that. It seemed like maybe you wanted to but I'm not sure? I want to know what you want, too. I was playing with them a bit earlier and I'm feeling pretty in control of doing small things with them. Will you trust me with that? We can start with other stuff, too, or not do that at all, you know… whatever you want."

A number of expressions crossed Perfuma's face, none of which looked like disinterest. There was some shock, desire, and a small pull back with an evaluative smirk. Eventually, she trailed her fingertips down Scorpia's arm until finally settling on a tender and entirely receptive look.

"I would love that, Scorpia… if you still walk me through things?"

"Of course!" Scorpia felt a bit relieved. As much as she liked the idea of letting Perfuma completely let go, she was still out of her depth. She wasn't entirely unprepared, but she figured she'd have to prove that in one way or another. "I have been paying attention and am totally ready. All the same rules. Yellow, red, and, oh, please tell me what feels good and doesn't!"

Perfuma giggled. "I don't think you need to worry about that. I'm pretty good at that part."

Scorpia nodded. Of course she was, and what a relief. Well. I guess I have to actually do this now. She's so beautiful. Wow, she thought.

"Will you lay back on me? Maybe, if you want, I can scratch you? I'll do it lightly, I promise!"

"That sounds so lovely, Scorpia," she said blissfully as she settled her back onto Scorpia's chest and looked up at her.

Scorpia pulled her close and looked back, both gazing into each other's eyes with a wordless bond of trust that was followed by small nods and then a slow, deep kiss. Perfuma twisted towards her slightly, draping an arm around Scorpia's neck to bring herself closer. As their lips pulled apart, amorous smiles brightened their faces.

"I love you," Scorpia said softly.

Perfuma slightly trembled in Scorpia's arms. "I love you, too. So much. And I'm so excited that you asked for this." She looked down and then glanced back up. "And thank you." It was vulnerable in a way Scorpia had never seen from her.

After kissing Scorpia's chest, Perfuma leaned back against her. "I'm ready. Maybe start on my arms?"

Scorpia cleared her throat and took in a deep breath. You've got this. "Okay. Yeah. I've got you." She gave her another squeeze and tentatively brought the tip of her pincer to Perfuma's lanky forearm, then paused. “You’re sure? You’ll tell me if it’s too much?”

Perfuma took in a deep breath and her body noticeably softened. “I will, love. Thank you for asking.”

Scorpia wrapped her left arm around Perfuma’s waist and tucked it under Perfuma’s right arm to lift it up, bringing her right pincer back again, and finally settled down the sharp tip, moving it just slightly.

Perfuma let out a restrained mm.

“Amazing Scorpia, keep going. I can handle it.”

Nodding, she continued, pulling the claw up further towards Perfuma’s elbow.

This time the mm was longer and slightly higher, accompanied by the smallest shiver. “Yes. Just like that. More.”

Scorpia began to lean back, guiding Perfuma onto her left bicep and dragging her claw further up towards her shoulder, then across her chest—just under her collarbones—then back down her other arm. Perfuma sharply exhaled as the point lifted from her skin, a long pink trail left behind. Her eyelids fluttered as she looked up towards Scorpia. “Again.”

The more scratches Scorpia made, the more they both relaxed into a rhythm. Perfuma would cry out in response to the sensations, some more tender and surprising than the rest. She’d occasionally even squeal in response to the most intense ones, leading them both to erupt with laughter. Soon her dress was bunched around her waist, exposed legs practically pinstriped, her breasts decorated with artistic swirls that left her nipples attentive and jutting.

Things became more silent and slow as Scorpia began gliding her claw back and forth on Perfuma's sternum, watching her rock her pelvis and whimper. The lanky princess's eyes were pressed shut as if she could only handle focusing on one sense at a time. She finally let out a breathy sigh that ended in a sweet, satisfied sound before she spoke in a quick, begging mumble.

"I'm ready. Use your powers. Start small. Where you are. I trust you." She whimpered as Scorpia paused.

"Oh, really? You're sure?" This was it. This was the test. "I won't hurt you? You'll tell me if it's too—"

"Scorpia!" she mewled with desperate want. "I am. I will. I promise. Please." She arched her back, pushing her chest firmly against Scorpia's claw, making it dig in, and she rocked her pelvis in response.

Scorpia nodded quickly a shaky inhalation, lifting her claw in the air—causing further noises of complaint—to create small sparks. With wide eyes, she looked into Perfuma's to confirm and was met with dilated pupils and her mouthing yes.

Scorpia watched Perfuma's face as she lowered it towards her chest, only looking down once she got close so she could verify her precision. She decided to start small. With just a…

Tap.

Perfuma yelped. Well, almost yelped. She made a noise that could only be described as a yelp and a gasp all at once. Her hand was wrapped around Scorpia's back and she dug in her fingers.

"I'll tap you twice if I need you to stop, otherwise go. Explore. Just like you were doing before. Keep going."

Scorpia reassured herself again and traveled her claw to just under Perfuma's breast, gliding it along the curve with bursts of sparks. When she went to the other side, she followed a mirrored path, but this time in a quick swipe with one extended shock that made Perfuma throw herself forward while crying out, followed by quick taps. “Pause,” she said quickly, taking a deep breath and then letting out a long sigh. “Okay. More.”

Scorpia started to drop back into a rhythm, following so many of the lines from before. She watched Perfuma’s reactions closely, learning how to pace, pausing to kiss each spot that led Perfuma to tap, and continually noting the speeding-up thrusts of her hips.

She kept easing her claw lower down Perfuma’s belly and then chickening out and rerouting back up or switching to her legs, regardless of the begging cries Perfuma bestowed her with.

Groaning—possibly in annoyance—Perfuma swallowed and lasered in on Scorpia’s eyes. “I’ll be fine. I can take it. Please. But let me be just a little in charge?”

Scorpia swallowed but gave in with a nod and Perfuma looked downright ascended. She grasped Scorpia’s pincer and glided it down until the tip was hovering just a few inches away from her clit. “Okay. Nice and easy. Just a small jolt. I’m gonna close my eyes and let go of you. Your call.”

Suddenly, the idea became less scary to Scorpia. The fact that Perfuma wanted this so much. The fact that her pelvis continued to tip back and forth like a rocking wine glass ready to spill over. The fact that she could hear yet another of her brilliantly tantric yelps when she finally…

Zap

“AAhhhhhhhh, YES! Again! Longer!”

This time she let the sparks crackle in the air, feeling Perfuma quiver in her arms, before jolting it towards her, making her cry out even louder.

“Lower!”

So Scorpia zapped Perfuma's entrance, then switched things up with her inner thighs. She even caught herself sweetly shhh-ing Perfuma.

"Let it out. Let me take control," followed by more unpredictable zaps, rendering Perfuma into putty.

Perfuma finally tapped out with not two, but more like twenty rapid-fire taps. "I need you to fuck me. I'll help but you can do the rest, I promise. I'll let you." She looked at her with carnal yet caring passion.

Scorpia looked around, suddenly unsure but receptive as the ground began to rise, bearing a soft moss below them. Perfuma flicked her wrist so quickly to pull of Scorpia's clothes with vines and then dress her hips with the makeshift strap-on from before that the muscular princess almost fell over.

"Come here. In me. Right now," Perfuma said hungrily, spreading her legs widely to face Scorpia, showing her the dripping view she'd up until now only been witnessing from the side. Fuck, how she wanted to fill her.

Just as fast as she'd been adorned, Scorpia brought herself above Perfuma, kissing her deeply, Perfuma's hand thrusting down between them to grasp the purple length and line it up with her entrance.

In one swift motion, she grabbed Scorpia's hip with her other hand, pushing her inside as they pressed their bodies together. She wrapped her legs around Scorpia's ass, toes grazing against the base of her tail, digging her nails into Scorpia's still-red back, from this morning, as they both moaned together. Scorpia's face was buried in Perfuma's neck as she panted against it, kissing and sucking, the taste of Perfuma's skin full of sweetness.

"Grab onto my hair? If you want to," Scorpia offered through gasps.

Perfuma latched on quickly, lacing her fingers tightly and pulling, seemingly turned on even further by Scorpia's pleasured responses as her moans increased.

Scorpia began pumping her hips faster, meeting Perfuma's thrusts as she slid back and forth inside her. She could feel the tension of Perfuma's muscles loosening and contracting with each rhythmic in and out, and in and…

The tip of Scorpia's tail latched onto the stone floor, screeching against it in tandem with Perfuma's deepening scratches against her skin and the feeling of her muscles firmly holding in place around her length.

"Yes! Yes!! Yess!! I'm coming, Scorpia! Fuck, YES. Harder!"

As Perfuma released a long, bellowing moan, Scorpia cried out with her, continuing and continuing as Perfuma clenched her whole body, seemingly forgetting to breathe, strangled moans barely escaping, her face turning red until finally releasing a wild, untamed note that echoed all around them and—

Collapsed.

Scorpia slowed her hips, slipping out and onto her back beside Perfuma as she scooped up the very limp princess in her arms. The moss cooled the still-stinging marks on her back from the flogger and she flinched with a small hiss as she settled. She'd all but completely forgotten about her back until then. Even when Perfuma's nails had been digging into her marks, all she could focus on was the way her lanky lover had writhed beneath her muscular form.

Perfuma spoke almost indistinctly against Scorpia's skin. "You alright, love?"

"Oh, yeah. I'm fine." She kissed the top of Perfuma's head. "Feeling my back sting. It feels so nice. How are you feeling?"

Perfuma hummed and peered up at her with half-lidded eyes, barely able to hold up her head. "Lovely. Just lovely. Thank you, my love," she murmered. "I really needed that. It's so incredible that you did all this."

"It's really nothing compared to all you've done for me. I want you to feel good. It's so nice and amazing and just so, whew. You are very sexy, you know that? Do you need anything? I love you so much, you know. You're just so great."

Perfuma giggled warmly at Scorpia's elaborate enthusiasm in a soft, barely audible way, and returned to nuzzling against her lover's chest, noting the hot tingles radiating up and down her back and the swishing incomprehension of her thoughts. "I think I just want to bask right now. Let's just be here with each other." She absentmindedly placed a hand on Scorpia's breast and swirled her fingertip over her nipple.

Scorpia let out a sigh of relief, along with a small, pleasurable shiver, and pulled her closer. The lapping of the water and their deep breaths were all that could be heard as they lay there, timeless.

Eventually Perfuma yawned, beginning to stretch a leg over Scorpia that bumped into the aubergine she was still wearing. They both laughed and Perfuma willed it away as quickly as it had arrived and slid on top of Scorpia, pushing their bare skin together, and gave her a kiss. "Want to head back? It's getting a bit chilly here in the shade."

Scorpia just nodded, a smitten look on her face, and sat up, bringing Perfuma with her as they both slipped back on their clothes, but not before tenderly kissing each of Perfuma's nipples.

As they left the rocky enclosure, warm light hit their skin, the bright lake covered them in reflective sparkles. It shone so much that it was hard to see the path ahead, but to Perfuma's relief, at least she could be the one to navigate them back this time. Today, however, there was an obstacle she was unprepared for that had been obscured by the shimmer, and they screeched to a halt at its edge. Perfuma hadn't been out this way in some time and it seemed some of the streams had changed course and that the tide had settled down for the day, leaving a wide, muddy barrier.

As Perfuma lifted her hand to create a path or bridge, Scorpia halted her. "Wait, wait! I can just carry you across! Let me?" She clasped her pincers in the air, pouting towards Perfuma.

"Oh! Darling, that's sweet but it's very easy for me—" She started to lift her hand up again but Scorpia went to stop her again, smiling widely and moving forward, her arms out.

"C'mon! Remember? Let me be your muscle again!" She pouted even more, with a small, playful shimmy of her broad shoulders.

Perfuma smirked, "Okay, fine!"

Scorpia scooped her up, stepping forward and then, eyes widening in shock, slipping immediately. Luckily, she landed in such a way that she was still holding Perfuma up in the air, preventing her from smacking down with her. "Oh. MY. GOODNESS! Are you okay?? Oh god, I am so sorry!!" she exclaimed, inspecting Perfuma like she might have broken her, but instead she was just laughing.

Perfuma grabbed some mud and threw at it Scorpia's chest. "See! I could've built us a bridge, love."

"I am just so, oh wow, no, are you sure you're—"

Perfuma chucked more mud, laughing yet again and pouncing on Scorpia, shoving her back in the mud. "Just had to be in charge, huh?" she teased, giggling as she tussled with her until Scorpia finally started laughing, too. "I think it's only fair that you let me take over a bit now, don't you think?"

Scorpia laughed, looking slightly bashful until finally locking eyes with Perfuma, who was beaming at her, caked and spatted with mud. Suddenly, they were pulled back together like magnets, messily kissing, not caring about the smells and taste of the dirt, Perfuma's thigh sliding between Scorpia's naturally, as if it was the only place it ever was meant to be.

Her dress rode up again, her bare cunt wet against Scorpia's leg, wanton lust returning, filthy in a whole new way. She pressed against her, crashing their lips deeper, muddy hands swimming through Scorpia's blond locks, staining them with desire as she rocked their pelvises together, her thigh pressing against Scorpia's sex with the same motions. "Scorpia, mmm. What do you think? I want you. I need more of you, I know we were focusing on me, but please let me do something for you. I want you in my mouth so bad and to have you feel my gratitude. But I also just need you. Please?" she begged, locking their eyes.

Scorpia's pupils went wide and she swallowed audibly, nodding pliantly with affirmation. Perfuma quickly took the cue, pulling off Scorpia's pants in the bright, warm clearing. She groaned into Scorpia when her lips settled around her hard clit, sucking her back and forth, her tongue flicking along the underside, making her yelp. She was so fucking wet and Perfuma reveled in the smell of the earth around them, even when she could taste it, even when locks of her muddied, long blond hair fell inward, attempting to get in the way.

She looked up as she vigorously continued, pulling away just for a moment. "Fingers??"

"Yes!"

She slipped between Scorpia's soaked labia and inside her wet sex, feeling Scorpia's muscles squeeze hello as she began to push them in and out, thrumming upward, then back and forth again. Occasionally she peeked open her eyes to watch Scorpia's beautiful belly and full breasts sway with her motions.

Like the last time Perfuma had fucked her, Scorpia didn't hold back as she came, again and again, feet slapping the mud and sending sprays of it all around, as her sweet juices gushed along with. Perfuma even helped Scorpia watch her by forming a platform underneath her back and head so she could look down on her as she vigorously fucked her. It also was a great way for Perfuma to look up and catch her face when she'd pulled away, continuing to fill her and use her other hand to stroke her clit, watching the light as it emphasized her mud streaked muscles and shone through the few bit of her hair that were still platinum.

Once they were able to stand and Scorpia had pulled her pants back on, they wandered over to the lake, drunkenly bumping into each other, Perfuma looping her arm around Scorpia's and stroking her pincer blissfully. When they arrived, Perfuma ran up a small ledge and gestured for Scorpia to join. "C'mon love, the water is deep here!"

"Uh, um. I'm alright, I'll just…" Scorpia dipped her toes in and cautiously moved forward with a grimace, tensing in response to the cool water.

Perfuma shrugged, sending her dress flying over her head, and lengthening her arms into the air in a point. She dove, carefree, into the water with an excited squeal, yelling, "I feel so alive!" before she pierced through the surface. When she burst back up, she ran her fingers through her hair, watching the mud dissipate into the water, before swimming over to Scorpia.

Scorpia never fully entered the lake but splashed her arms and clothes, removing some, but not all of the mud.

As they traveled back to town, the light wind lapped against their wet clothes, and Scorpia slightly shivered. It was enough that it took her a moment to remember that their day wasn't finished and neither were her plans. Sneakily, as they entered the center of town from behind the Heart Blossom, Scorpia quickly pulled Perfuma towards the hut. “Will, you, uh, come with me here to help me find some extra clothes?”

Perfuma looked at her quizzically but came along anyway, lifting up a very obvious extra set of clothes when they arrived and tossing them her way, watching her change while wearing a wistful expression.

“Do you smell something, Scorpia?” Perfuma inquired shortly, sniffing the air. “That aroma! Mmm! It’s delectable!”

“Oh! You’re so right! I’ll go explore, you just wait here! I’ll be right back!” Scorpia tried to hide her nervousness, but didn’t feel like she was very successful.

Perfuma confirmed this by looking at her with confusion once again, but obeyed, to Scorpia’s relief.

Moments later, Scorpia flew back through the door. “Okay, it’s ready! C’mon!”

“What is—”

As she rounded the corner, a large crowd was gathered, huge smiles on their faces.

“Surprise!!”

Perfuma looked quickly towards Scorpia and then everyone else, overcome with glee, but also perplexed. “Hello! And what is—”

The crowd stood aside, revealing a giant, three-tiered cake with white frosting, covered in rose petals.

Scorpia rested her pincers on Perfuma’s shoulders and leaned down to whisper in her ear. “They’re our rose petals, but the town did the rest.”

“Scorpia, how did—”

There was no time for her to respond as the townspeople were surrounding her with hugs.

“Perfuma!” someone said, loudly calling everyone’s attention in a beachy Plumerian accent. “Perfuma, you are just like such incredible leader. Like, this morning Scorpia was talking with us about all you do for her and, we, like, realized how much you do for all of us, too. It’s totally time that we gave back, so like, we worked together to make this small token of our appreciation. This cake isn’t just for the sweetness and such. Like. It’s a symbol of how much we want to honor everything you do for us. We totally see it. Thank you. We’re gonna be, like, so much more appreciative now. Whatever you need. In fact, we’re making a committee where we can divide up tasks to keep the town going. If you’re willing to figure it out with us, we totally wanna know what we can do to step up. You deserve a break and stuff.”

Perfuma couldn’t stop crying and let everyone embrace her again, this time embracing them back, hugging and kissing as many as she could. When she finally tasted the cake it was delicious, the rose petals adding the perfect touch.

When the commotion died down a bit, she sat with Scorpia, looking up at her in awe. “I can’t believe you did all this.”

“I mean, oh you know, it wasn’t all me. They all helped so much. I mean. You have a really amazing town. They’re all so great. I just wanted to show you some thanks. They did the rest.”

“Scorpia, you’re too modest. You initiated all of this. You found a way to surprise me and bravely take charge. You also helped me remember that it’s okay to accept being cared for. I love being a warrior who holds my own and I love teaching and satisfying you, don’t get me wrong, but I almost forgot what a giver you are. Thank you for helping me remember my values of keeping my heart open. It makes me vulnerable, sure. But it doesn’t make me weak, and I have to remember that it’s worth it.”

Chapter End Notes

That's a wrap, friends! Well, okay, there might be a sequel at some point for an orgy, but it'll be on the back burner for a bit! I think you can subscribe to the series to get updates on that! It will also give you updates for when I do more podfic recordings!

Thanks so much for taking this journey with me. What do you think about how things ended? Any ideas about where their relationship will develop from here, or what things will look like for Plumeria after this? I'd love to hear any and all of your thoughts, reactions, or what you enjoyed! Your feedback makes me endlessly happy!

Oh, and fun fact! This is my first completed multi-chapter work!! Wee!
