Summary

No villain with superhuman powers in New York City could handle Spidergirl.

But, a specific feline can.

Notes

Short oneshot of Spidergirl Adora and her girlfriend Catra<333

See the end of the work for more notes

Her back goes against the concrete wall with fervor, her ribs being cracked in this movement rough enough to leave scratches in her skin and bruises too tricky to bear by such pain.

Fuck.

Adora screams in pain. It's so much that she needs to concentrate on not fainting and losing consciousness in front of him, Dr. Octopus, with his titanium steel tentacles and precise claws in grabbing her shin and throwing it in the opposite direction.

It was at the climax of the battle. When Norman Osborn - New York's newest mayor - is kidnapped by his best friend, Otto Octavius, Adora dons her suit at lightning speed and sets out for Times Square in an attempt to stop Otto and his evil plan for revenge. It took seconds for her, to use her web-shooters to swing through the streets of New York City and arrive at Times Square just in time to save the mayor and the city from destruction.

But it was too much. Otto was too strong. His four mechanical arms were much stronger than Adora Grayskull remembers seeing in his designs and the way the strong claws pierced the concrete and levitated the man towards her in a quick, agile, and direct manner sends a chill through her spine.

Adora Grayskull, research assistant by day, Spidergirl at all times. She is the only person possible to prevent the kidnapping and whatever was the final plan of Dr. Octopus with the mayor, for having superhuman powers after being bitten by a radioactive spider at the age of fifteen.

She's been in the vigilante business longer than a teenage girl would be expected to handle. Today, at twenty-one, she has enough experience to be loved by the neighborhood, acclaimed by civilians, and possibly irritating enough to the police and her archenemies.

No villain with superhuman powers could handle Spidergirl. The Lizard, a man who transforms into a reptile twice her size, had his body trapped by webs and hung from a pole, with an annoying being and her exuberant red and blue costume taking a selfie with his face upside down, in an attempt to piss him off.

Adora Grayskull could list countless villains that she defeated and guaranteed a sure arrest, ridding the streets of New York of their evil plans and the will to dominate the city - or obsessively destroy it.

But what could New York do to her, while she is feeling the strength slowly drain out of her body, her vision starts to become more and more blurred, and her enemy prostrates himself in front of her with a cynical smile and not a scratch on his face?

“Give it up, Spidergirl.” Dr. Octopus says, the voice hoarse and ripping in his throat - perhaps from all the thirst for revenge. “You can't stop me, you never will!”

Adora coughs, her red and blue web-patterned suit (the classic) with exaggerated rips and holes down her torso, revealing her skin bruised and dusty from the streets of New York. Half of her mask was torn, ripped off by one of the claws on the steel mechanical arm in an attempt to split his head in half.

A fair amount of blood escapes from the cough, spreading the stain on the floor of her clear defeat. The adrenaline in her body is not able to withstand such pain and little by little, her body accepts that defeat is evident. Adora feels the survival instinct, feels the need to throw her webs across the buildings and run away to recover and not die like a dog in the street, but she can't. She committed to New York, and she wasn't going to give up that way.

She would die trying.

The mechanical arm grabs her neck and lifts her through the air with no difficulty. As the metal tightens dangerously, she feels her skin pierce little by little, and her airway is completely blocked, making her unable to breathe. Adora futilely grips the mechanical arm, trying at all costs to maintain her survival and allow some air into her lungs, but it is too strong. Her superhuman strength is depleted by taking so many blows and not being able to recover from them, and the shortness of breath turns her face so red that it's becoming purple.

Until, as a last resort, she throws a web on the man's face and his usual sunglasses, making it impossible for him to see and immediately distracting him from splitting her in half like a twig.

Otto drops her body to the floor, an indignant, irritated snarl escaping his mouth. Adora falls anyway, but recovers in quick seconds, with a few necessary coughs to catch her breath. Before Otto can get the web off his face, Adora tries to throw a tight rope from her web to the nearest building to swing it a safe distance, but Otto is faster.

All that can be heard is the snap of the web coming off her wrist, and the mechanical arms gripping her abdomen and pinning her to the nearest wall.

Adora groans in pain once more. The sound rips through her throat and it's a second before she passes out in front of the maniac man. “You will not run away from me!” He yells through gritted teeth.

“Fuck-” Adora whimpers in pain. She can feel her bones breaking little by little and she feels without any strength to raise her arms and stop that maniac. Without any plans, she tries to appeal to the personal side of the man in front of her. "Otto, that's not you! Everything you've done, all your projects have been to save lives! Not to take them!"

"You don't understand what it's like to lose everything!" Otto rages, his face gets closer to Adora, and her mask is split in half. Her identity is not fully revealed, and Otto is too insane to connect the dots that the one over there is his assistant. "You don't know what it's like to be betrayed by your best friend, what it's like to be belittled, what it's like to be treated like shit!"

The steel claws grip Adora's body tighter, and the blood spurts out of her body like a sponge. All the rips, bruises, cuts, and hard knocks that send a thick line of blood running from the top of her head to her chin sting and beg for an end, either dying or running to the rescue.

"Shit-!" She screams, agonized enough to echo throughout that street full of light screens and helicopters trying to support Spidergirl in recovering the mayor of New York. "I will destroy this city and all the people in it for taking everything from me!" Otto exclaims, a cynical, manic laugh cutting his throat. "Starting with you, Spidergirl."

This is the end of Adora Grayskull. The blonde can't think of anything else. In her mind, images of her aunt who raised her with so much care and love play like the last movie watched, images of her girlfriend, Catra D'riluth-- the girlfriend who adora kept away from the media.

She feels something bitter in her mouth. She doesn't know if it's her blood dripping on the titanium claws, or if it's just the feeling of knowing that she won't be able to say a few last words to her girlfriend and her family, before reaching the sad end of her life, and ending up here, her legacy as a super-hero.

Adora closes her eyes and her head surrenders. The body is too weak to fight, and the mind is weakened by lack of power. Not even her 'super regeneration' powers can withstand such injuries and all Adora Grayskull can think is that this is the end of her. With her head down and blood streaming down to her chin, Spidergirl comes to terms with her tragic history.

At least she knows she died trying to save innocent people's lives and she'll die a hero.

Otto has a bizarre smile on his face as he notices how Spidergirl has a defeated face, and an equally worn-out body.

Adora Grayskull did what she could for New York, and now, she hopes New York will do the same for her after her death.

Until…

"Say goodbye to everything you once-"

A shrill ring cuts Otto's speech in half. It's like a cell phone notification that distracts both figures in an epic battle over there. Adora, opens one of her eyes, confused to the extreme by the sound, and stares into Otto's face, shaken by the cut climate.

He shakes his head, trying to compose himself again. "Say goodbye to everything you once-"

One more ring.

Both are distracted by the ring.

"S-Say goodbye to everything you've ever-" Another ring. "Fuck! What's that noise?!"

"Looks like someone forgot to put their phone in do not disturb mode before destroying the entire city in revenge." Adora can't help what escapes her mouth, making Otto irritated to the extreme.

He presses Adora with his claw against the wall some more, and she lets out a grunt.

"Wait a minute!" Otto exclaims, and with his arms - the non-mechanical ones - searches his coat pockets for his phone. He finds it, lifts the device, and spends a few long seconds scanning the notification screen and finding nothing.

One more ring.

"Not mine," Otto says, and Adora sneers at the scientist.

"You're not even good enough to kill me, eh."

"Shut up, you!-" He squeezes again, but another ring distracts both of them.

"Damn guys, yall can't be serious!" Adora says loudly, Norman Osborn in the background and his soldiers confused and strangely embarrassed. "Nobody thought of putting their phones on no disturb before coming to fight evil? That's disrespectful-"

One more ring. And then Adora realizes that the numb feeling in her left thigh isn't because she's about to die. And yes because her phone is vibrating tirelessly.

Oh.

"Wait a minute," Adora says lifting one of her fingers, even with almost zero strength, and trying very hard to pull her phone out of her pocket, she succeeds after a while, and Otto glares at her with deep hatred. "Oops, it's mine."

"You-!"

They were messages from Catra, she managed to see before being thrown across the street, destroying several LED panels and sparks bathing her completely when her body crashed against the screens. Her phone slipped from her fingers, being thrown a few meters away from her, and even with so much pain, the need to know why Catra sent her so many messages engulfed her body with adrenaline and filled her with worry.

Her expression was enough to make anyone anxious - except Otto. Adora was apprehensive to the extreme, eyes wide and her heart, which before was struggling to beat just once, was pulsing restlessly in her chest in an obsessive nervousness to understand what so afflicted Catra. She agrees to die miserably on the streets of New York, but…

She threw a web toward the phone, pulling it to her in seconds. Otto was nervous on the other side, the distance he hurled Spidergirl was greater than expected, and when his four mechanical arms started to walk towards Adora...

Adora could see what Catra's messages were all about, with her trembling fingers and pale face.

Five photos where Catra is showing her naked body, with Adora's lab coat on her body.

Five photos in which Catra has her perky breasts, her lips parted with a provocative smile displayed on her cell phone screen.

It is enough to make the face once so pale with anxiety and worry, to burn all over and be filled with a redness, not of her blood outside the body.

Adora feels her entire body tingle and heat up. Her eyes were captivated and impossible to be distracted from the images and details of her girlfriend's own body. Lush, sensuous lips glistening with what Adora believes to be lip gloss, exposed nipples retracted into her perky breasts, her slim waist hidden by her lab coat as lingerie left her ass exposed which Adora loves so much.

Five photos that spark something in Adora Grayskull.

Five photos make Adora feel something hard and forget that she is about to die.

Otto was faster. He grabbed Adora's legs with conviction and lifted her through the air. The device she was typing so much on was lost in the middle of the floor, the screen breaking into several pieces, making it impossible for Adora to continue writing her messages to her girlfriend when her archenemy lifted her off the ground without any kind of problem.

Catra's images escape her vision and Adora feels immediate despair. "No!" She screams indignantly, quickly pressing the button on her palm to activate more webs and fetch the broken device back. But Otto forbids her by sparing no efforts to take her to the ground once more. Concrete cracks and breaks strong pieces with this action.

"You are insufferable!" Otto screams with resentment, and when he raises his mechanical arm once again that holds Spidergirl by the heel, he is surprised by webs involving his mechanical arms.

Several clicks can be heard, as the silk threads wrap around the titanium arms in quick and precise movements that are impossible to follow with bare eyes. Suddenly he doesn't recognize who he is battling against, since Spidergirl was clearly defeated and immobile, and now, who is immobilized, is him.

Spidergirl says nothing, just lands a straight punch on Dr. Octopus's jugular without measuring any effort, which knocks the man's sunglasses off by force. It's strong enough for Otto to feel a throbbing pain shoot through him, and his body is thrown to the ground by the lack of strength to keep standing. His mechanical arms disabled and tied together, rendered him useless in that battle. Spidergirl is aware of this, and before her fatal wounds seem to have turned into small scratches. With the strength she regains, even with all her ribs broken and a severe concussion to the head, Adora manages to land one more precise punch and perform her acrobatics to keep Otto trapped in her webs.

In Otto's mind, all that passes is the thirst for revenge and the clear goal of ensuring the destruction of New York by his claws. In Adora's – Spidergirl, all that goes on are the warm memories of when she took her girlfriend's breasts in her mouth, while her hands squeezed her thin waist.

And that gives her supernatural strength in her arms, and especially in her dick, which little by little becomes hard as a rock.

Otto tries to fight back, but his mechanical arm still is a powerful and fatal weapon, which breaks the silk of her webs and tries to hit Spidergirl with a blow, but is unsuccessful, since the other three arms are still immobilized.

Otto growls irritably, and with the fatal claw tries to tear the web from the other restrained arms, but Spidergirl is faster. She delivers a kick so strong that it knocks the man to the ground, destabilizing him with its metal tentacles. The steel dragging across the ground makes sparks, and a trail of cracked concrete marks the history of that fight there.

Adora surveys her surroundings and tries to think of a fast enough plan to end this fight once and for all.

Because in her head, the five damn pictures of Catra in her bed with no clothes on torment her and leave her red cheeks and her dick even harder.

It is possible to see even above her suit, the bulge growing even more.

If Adora was asking New York to repay her for all her favors, Catra is the best favor New York could grant her.

After another kick to Otto's chest, Adora lands on the ground with a backflip, quickly turning around in a defensive pose. She wastes no time in pointing her wrists at Otto, squeezing the device in both of her palms, squirting thick silks from her web towards Otto, to further bind him.

Dr. Octopus coughs as the air is forced out of his lungs with such a neat blow. The pain was so great that his consciousness soared to heaven for a few seconds before his fury and indignation dragged it inside his body once more. He refuses to lose to Spidergirl, who was once in his metallic clutches.

When the webs reach Otto's body, Adora with her right hand, shoots a jet of silk at the wall of an adjacent building, to gain some distance and elaborate her plan. The web trapped in Otto's body expands into a net, and in a sequence of motions, Adora swings around Otto and creates relentless webs of her silk around the man and his four mechanical arms, trapping him each time more and completely containing him from moving, forming a small cocoon by her web, walking around it with her powers of sticking to flat surfaces, further reinforcing the white tissues by squeezing the palm with her device, enveloping her enemy like a true spider around its prey.

Otto is too stunned to understand what was going on. Bit by bit of restricted movement there's nothing left for him but to scream in rage and frustration. His eyes, previously hidden by his glasses, are red with pure fury. The face, so far without scratches, now has battle marks along its entire length, proving a close battle.

Now he was the loser.

"H-How?!" It's the first agonized scream to come out of his throat. Yunjin, in acrobatics, lands on the ground with yet another flip, and her half-exposed face has a bloodstained, torn-lip smile at the corner of her mouth. "H-How did you manage to defeat me?! H-How did you get so much strength…?! H-How…!?"

Otto couldn't see much of Adora, he was too cocooned in his web like a mosquito that gets tangled up with the wrong spider by flying too high around the corners of the wall, blurring his vision with fury. What he can see is his face being crushed to the ground by the foot of the vigilante, and with quick squirts from her device and her strong arms, she completely contains him by sticking his cocoon on the asphalt of Times Square.

Task force teams arrive at Spidergirl's signal, do their job, and point heavy rifles at the defeated scientist's face, while their hostage - Norman Osborn, bound and injured, is rescued by elite soldiers.

Out of the corner of his eye, and the sideways glance, Otto sees Spidergirl with half her identity exposed and smugly smirking, looking down on him with a tent-like bulge in her suit. Her blonde hair cascades down her back and shoulders, and her defined abdomen, with several serious injuries, is exposed by the torn suit.

"I’m just too hard ."

The people of New York have their cell phones raised to the sky as they see a half-red and blue dot flying between New York City's skyscrapers with its web jets strong enough to swing and perform acrobatic stunts through the air.

Spidergirl made her appearance on the streets after the news showed her victory against Otto Octavius, and those who see only a glimpse of Adora Grayskull, try at all costs to capture the moment to carry with them for the rest of their lives and share with loved ones, that one day, they got to see their favorite super-hero live and in color.

Adora Grayskull whenever she could, would help the neighborhood. It's not news to anyone around that city, who has the famous Spidergirl as a constant customer. It's a traditional custom, after fighting crime, to do good deeds to receive the warm smiles that remind her exactly why she does it. The reason why she risks her own life to save the city countless times.

But now? Adora can think of nothing but setting foot in her own home.

Her dick in her costume, still hard as a rock, left Adora pathetically as she swayed through the air in her usual somersaults and poses. It was embarrassing to make a public appearance like that, and especially even harder to swing through webs with just one hand, since the other, tried at all costs to hide her shame.

Her mind filled with five damn pictures of Catra.

It's even pathetic the way she is, just by seeing pictures of her girlfriend without clothes. She feels like a boy going through puberty, with hormones raging, and a constant need to relieve herself in the nearest bathroom. This is enough to make Adora blush. She's Spidergirl, the most feared vigilante among New York's criminals, why is Catra D'riluth enough to leave her a horny mess that can barely stand swinging in her webs?

Fortunately, her speed is always exceptional and the path to her own house never takes longer than necessary. It's fast enough that in the distance, her eyes already capture the window of her apartment, and the emergency stairs outside. It's the immediate relief that runs through her body, and the looming anxiety that builds for what awaits her inside.

The tip of her cock begins to twitch.

When Adora is about to land, her body ends up going at a much faster speed than expected, and it's a rumble that echoes through the neighborhood as her steady feet hit the metal of the emergency stairs. It's a sound loud enough to startle the entire building, but since it's New York and thunderous noises are part of the fast-paced routine, Adora goes unnoticed.

But it's by putting her feet on firm ground, the adrenaline has been drained from her body. All of a sudden, the muscles become sore to the point where it becomes impossible to move, the broken bones make a point of paying special attention as they hurt to the point where Adora feels that her ribs are tearing her skin, and the concussion she suffered becomes create hallucinations in her head.

When looking out the window of her apartment, Catra is in front of the sofa with apprehensive eyes staring at the news, fully dressed.

The speed was so high on landing that Adora slammed into the window, and her shoulder - possibly dislocated - caught Catra's attention with the blow in the same instant. Adora has to hold one of her shoulders with an agonized expression. Her face was all bruised, and her body was exposed by the tears of the suit.

Adora is standing at the emergency exit, with the window closed, patiently waiting for her girlfriend to react.

Catra notices the figure on the other side and gets up in a few seconds. Scared and apprehensive eyes with the sudden arrival.

Adora felt her entire body begging for care and immediate rest. It's a pain so severe it squeezes the air in her lungs and the need to breathe grows more and more anxious. Adora tightly grips that rag she calls a mask, taking away by force from her face and freeing up a little more room to breathe, leaving her blonde hair tousled in the movement.

Her face forms an obvious grimace from the pain and Catra opens the glass window for her girlfriend to pass.

“Shit,” Adora mutters, walking into the apartment she shares with her girlfriend, the pain in her shoulder becoming a little more unbearable. “Adora!” Catra holds her girlfriend's face at the same moment she can feel the other's warmth. Her eyes roam the length of Adora and terror sets in her gaze at the sight of so many injuries. "What happened?!"

“Otto freaked out,” Adora starts as Catra carefully stroked her bruised cheek. The pad of her thumb passed over the tear at the corner of Adora's mouth, seeing the swollen flesh there. Adora hissed at the same time, forcing a soft 'sorry' between Catra's lips. “He used a mechanical arm design and implanted it in his own body, I could see how the core of the whole thing was connected right into his brain…”

Catra listens intently, her eyes following the smear of blood running down Adora's temple to her chin.

“What will happen to Oscorp now?” Catra asks, despite everything, relieved to have her girlfriend in her hands. Even if in pieces.

“I have no idea…” Adora murmurs, her hand still gripping her shoulder. Her speech is sincere and nervous at the same time. “I just know that Otto gave me trouble. I felt like I was going to die.”

“I can see it…” Catra responds immediately, taking a step back to analyze the ripped suit, showing part of her wounded and strained abdomen. Until Catra notices Adora's weaponized bulge in the suit and raises one of her eyebrows. “Should I worry about this?”

"What, this?" Adora smiles as if she isn't in enough pain to knock out an ordinary human. “This is your fault.”

"My fault?" Catra smiles for the first time in Adora's presence. "What did I do?"

Adora doesn't answer. Her eyes are directed to Catra's body, and it's seconds for the girl to understand what her girlfriend is talking about.

“You're such a perv.” Catra rolls her eyes and gives Adora's shoulder a light push, but the girl's shoulder is dislocated, and pulls a pained moan from her girlfriend's mouth. "Sorry!"

Adora needs a few seconds to recover from this, drawing air between her lips and enough concentration to make the pain go away. When her eyes meet Catra's, she lets out a sigh. “After teasing me so much, what are you going to do about it?”

"Me?" Catra asks, and Adora nods with a smirk. “I'll take care of you. You have a huge gash in your stomach, 'dora. We are not going to do that anytime soon.”

"But-"

"No!" Catra demands, and before giving her girlfriend more comfort, she moves away and points to the sofa. “Sit down. That was before I knew you were nearly ripped in half.”

Adora rolls her eyes when Catra gets lost in the apartment, and before sitting down on the sofa, she heads towards the closest corner of her house, using all the remaining strength of her body to thrust her shoulder towards the wall and put it back in place. She manages without much difficulty, despite the excruciating pain. The bang is loud enough to get Catra's attention, who doesn't know what happened, but assumes it's her girlfriend being reckless.

“I said sit down!” Catra once again demands, and in her hands, a first aid kit.  "Fine!" Adora responds in defeat, plopping down on the sofa and making herself comfortable on the furniture. Suddenly, all the softness of the sofa swallows her, and she has to let out a relieved sigh.

Catra seems pleased with her girlfriend's behavior. She gives a happy nod while wetting the cotton with alcohol, and carefully taking it until initially, in the opening of Adora's belly. It looked ugly, the exposed flesh and the clotted blood around it leaving Catra's face pale with worry. She swallowed hard before carefully running the cotton around the edges of that cut and slowly cleaning that area.

Adora's exposed abdomen didn't make the job easier for her, since when she gently touched the icy object in her hands, it contracted several times, making Catra anxious. She is afraid to make any move and cause her girlfriend enough pain to lose consciousness, but Catra seems to have forgotten that she is dating Spidergirl.

When the cotton swabs across Adora's skin, wiping away any kind of bacteria that could cause a troublesome infection, Catra notices that little by little, Adora's tissue is closing and healing automatically at a speed seen even by the naked eye. It was even fascinating, how the wound closed slowly and visibly, and the alcohol-soaked cotton - now stained with blood - seemed to provide the ideal support for that process.

Catra watches it in wonder, and Adora with her eyes closed and hands behind her head for support, thinks of several horrible scenarios to keep her dick flaccid in front of Catra.

Catra's mismatched eyes look up slowly over the area exposed to the ripped suit. She doesn't see anything too serious, she just sees her girlfriend's defined muscles and body slender enough to make her cheeks flush for a moment. What she does is pass the wet cotton over the small scratches, delicately analyzing how some areas of her body with purple bruises scattered throughout the area." Does it hurt?" Her voice escapes low as her fingertips slowly squeeze her girlfriend's bruises. Adora shakes her head, eyes still closed to avoid getting a privileged view of Catra. "Good to know."

The murmur sends a shiver through Adora's body, and Catra sees it. Adora needs to think about all the old ladies she once helped in her Spidergirl service or the fact that The Three Stooges are all dead to keep her cock limp and still in place. The memory is too sad to be able to feel horny.

But Catra is like the devil, and the devil doesn't stop working until they have what they get. When she finishes cleaning the wounds on her abdomen - salivating hopelessly on her girlfriend's muscles - Catra shifts her focus to Adora's face and the wounds there.

Doing so sitting next to Adora is difficult, as her girlfriend pulls away from the wet cotton with each brush stroke on her skin with an agonized hiss. Catra mumbles stressed and in one precise movement, sits on Spidergirl's lap and fervently cups Adora's chin in one of her hands.

"Hey!" Adora groans in pain, her jugular still tender from the blows she took from a mechanical metal arm. Or being tossed back and forth across the concrete in Times Square. "Sorry…" Catra mumbled shyly. She decided to kiss the area in an attempt to ease the pain.

Her eyes focus specifically on Adora's temple. There it seemed to have been too serious, and the concussion was enough to immediately worry Catra. The cotton makes its way there and finds a small cut with clotted blood, but all the blood spilled to the chin is enough for Catra to wonder if Adora has hemorrhaged.

"Doesn't it hurt?" She asks quietly again, concentrating on cleaning up all that trail. "No," Adora mutters with her eyes still closed. She decides to remove her hands from behind her head to hold her girlfriend's slim waist in her lap. "You know that if I go to sleep, I'll wake up feeling brand new, right?"

"I'll still take care of you," Catra says confidently, the cotton finishing its work in that area, and her eyes move to Adora's lips. The corner of her mouth, once a cut that left her lip swollen, now looks like a scratch. Adora's lips are back to normal and are as naturally full and appetizing as ever. Catra feels the urge to give her a quick peck but controls herself, wetting her own with the tip of her tongue to distract her from the absurd urge to stick their lips together.

But it was difficult. Especially when all that's on her mind is how Adora looks sexy with traces of a close battle, with bruises peppered all over her face, and light cuts across the bridge of her nose, the browbone, the corner of her mouth, and scratches in her muscles.

She settles down on her girlfriend's lap, moving minimally with her waist, feeling Adora's bulge through the suit.

"I'm just going to do some bandages and you're going to rest, okay?" Catra says with dissociated eyes and a clouded mind. She needs to focus on not giving in to her instincts to kiss her girlfriend in this situation. Adora just mumbled a yes, even though deep down her intentions were different.

"Can you make a firm band across my ribs?" Adora asks after a few seconds, and Catra is too busy looking through the first aid box for what she needs to pay attention to the question. "Mhm," She answers anything until she computes what that question means. "Wait, why?"

"I think Otto broke them all…" She says with a pained grimace and Catra's eyes nearly pop out. "Relax! I'll heal quickly, but I'd like a bandage to help…"

Catra thinks of several lectures she could give Adora for the way she lives her life as a vigilante. Catra can easily say that she has good words to say on the tip of her tongue about how this life is not healthy, how she puts her own life at risk several times, and that at some point this will be fatal enough that one day, she will not return home, and leave her weeping like a soldier's widow in war.

But that's not Catra's life, and knowing the girlfriend she has, she knows that she would say anything and keep her life as a superhero without being able to see herself outside of her Spidergirl identity. Because Adora can't see herself if she's not wearing this red and blue outfit.

And Catra understands that.

And what she does is tend to her wounds with an alcohol-soaked cotton pad and bandages over her deepest cuts.

Catra carefully bandages Adora's most worrisome wound, the one on her abdomen, and for all the superhuman process, it's still a lengthy process that needs time and space. Catra offers the time and space, and ensures with this bandage, that the body manages to heal it in time with nothing to get in the way.

She had to bend a little in her girlfriend's lap to do her job. From tending to Adora's wounds so much - that's the core of dating a superhero - Catra took basic first aid and nursing training, knowing exactly how to treat those wounds with what she had in her special box with all the care to Adora Grayskull.

Catra squirted some anti-inflammatory medicine that would help it heal before laying a gauze over it and sticking the tape to keep the bandage tight. Still sitting on Adora's thighs, Catra was able to pay attention to that forbidden area, being close to her girlfriend's defined muscles once again with her face.

She ran the tip of her tongue over her lips in an attempt to keep them moist.

"Done." Muttered satisfied, Adora opened her eyes for the first time in that interaction to look down. Her abs are flexed and defined, she has a bandage near the right bone of her pelvis.

"Thank you, princess." Adora smiles, turning Catra red.  "Now let me make your ribs bandage," Catra says promptly, looking at her side of the couch in the first-aid box for the bandage she would use to wrap Adora's body. "I'm going to need you to take off your suit…"

"Without paying for dinner first?" Adora says with a smile, lifting her back off the couch to zip down her suit. Her previously dislocated shoulder, still sore, makes it impossible for her to fully unzip it without feeling uncomfortable pain. "Can you help me?"

Catra sighs. The bandage roll gets lost in Adora's lap, and she carefully approaches her girlfriend. One of her hands held the back of the other's neck, carefully caressing the area while the other zipped down her girlfriend's long and scarred back revealing how much the dermis was full of scratches and bruises, which gave an immediate chest pain in the woman with short hair.

The zipper reaches the end where the suit was ripped and does not need to go down any further. The area Catra needs is clear, and the sleeves of the suit slide down Adora's strong, muscular arms, revealing the black sports top that hides her breasts.

"Uhm," Catra looks away sheepishly as if this is the first time she's seen Adora without clothes on. The blonde raises one of her eyebrows at her girlfriend's unusual embarrassment. "I'm going to need you to take off your top."

Adora shifts from the sofa once more, pulling her sporty top off with some difficulty from her body. Catra tries to help but the result she wants is achieved without her support. Adora's breasts are bared and exposed. Catra stares at them longer than she should, the tip of her tongue wetting her lips for the third time in the night.

"Perv?" Adora says with a sly, cocky grin. Catra rolls her eyes at this and tries to focus on rolling the bandage roll across Adora's ribs instead of the comment. "Shut up." She murmurs focused on involving the other's body with precision. The first roll is used.

"If you want a taste you can start by kissing me."

"You wish." Catra hisses, eyes focused on running the second roll around her girlfriend's ribs. "This can hurt a little…" She tightens the band and Adora gives a high-pitched grunt of pain.

"You could be more gentle,"

"Do you want me to be gentle or to be sloppy?"

"I want you to give me a sloppy head."

Catra punches Adora in the shoulder. She immediately complains about the pain and a painful laugh escapes her lips. Catra immediately rolls her eyes at her girlfriend's idiotic teasing and bites her lip.

"I hate you."

"You love me too much," Adora smiles, her eyes staring at her girlfriend's concentrated face and she feels the absurd urge to stick her lips together in a quick and stolen peck. But she held in, or she'd have her shoulder dislocated once more by a harder punch than any villain, coming from her girlfriend.

"You wish," Catra repeats the line as she finds herself focused on her task. The last roll is finished and Adora is properly bandaged with some discomfort in her torso. The bandage seems to grip her lung tighter than Otto's claws.

"You do, though." Adora exhales, allowing herself to rest once more with her back pressed against the sofa. The arms go back behind the head, flexing the muscles automatically. Catra sighs and relaxes her shoulders into her girlfriend's lap. Still sitting on top of Adora's thighs. "Yeah?" She asked raising one of her eyebrows. "And why do you think that?"

"Well…" Adora, with her palms extended and too big for any normal person, takes possession of Catra's waist, carefully pulling her closer to her, dangerously fitting the other into her pelvis. One of her hands holds the hem of Catra's shirt, playing with the fabric while the eyes stare at her torso with fervor. "You sent me five pictures of you naked while I was mid-fight, you know, to cheer me up,"

Catra rolls her eyes. "That doesn't mean anything."

"You send naked pictures to anyone you want to cheer up?" Now the one with the raised eyebrow is Adora.

"No!" Catra responds promptly, a breathy laugh escapes her throat and her face turns red. "So what does that mean?" Adora asks and Catra shrugs. She doesn't have an answer for that and prefers to remain like that, quiet, in her girlfriend's lap. Her hands carefully roam Adora's shoulders, sliding in a caress over the exposed expanse of her skin until they reach the crook of her neck, where her fingers curled into the blonde hair at the nape of her neck. "You know what that meant to me?"

"What?" she asks curiously. The tension of all the worry is now slowly melting away as she has confirmation that Adora is well taken care of, by her own hands. Her eyes are distracted by the scarred collarbone, but she soon returns to staring at Adora's face in intense eye contact, when she sees her girlfriend already staring at her.

"It meant the world." Adora gives a weak laugh, suddenly, her confession sounding too sincere and too intimate. "I was giving up, like I knew for sure I was about to die. But when my phone started to blow up with notifications and I saw that it was you? I gathered strength from hell." She reveals the events of the battle with a proud smile. "Then I saw what you sent to me…"

"I gagged a bit when you replied," Catra reveals, her cheeks tinted in red. "I never thought you would stop mid-fight just to see my, uhm, nudes. I just looked at the news and you were fighting for your life."

"You're so fucking hot," Adora says abruptly. Little by little, Catra can feel something poke between her legs. "I got a boner mid-fight, are you aware of this? What you do to me?"

"I'm aware you're getting a boner right now." Catra raises one of her eyebrows and Adora looks away.

"And what are you gonna do about that?"

"Should I do something about that?"

A silence of a few seconds ensues. Catra looks at her expectantly, and Adora looks at her as if she has thousands of thoughts in her head.

"You take such good care of me, you know that?" Adora's intense eyes turn tender and her palms tighten around Catra's slim waist once more. The subject change takes Catra by surprise. It's almost a passionate confession, the intensity turning Catra's cheeks red. "I know that for sure," Catra replied, melting into her lap and approaching their faces intimately. "You probably would be dead by now if it wasn't for me."

"You're right," Adora says simply, the eye contact becoming intense once more. "Look what you do to me."

Eye contact is broken as Adora looks down, revealing the bulge in her suit as her cock starts getting bit by bit more and more rigid in place. Catra feels it very well between her legs, and a smile cannot be contained in her mouth.

"Shouldn't you take care of me?"

Catra ponders. Her eyes are fixed on Adora's bulge which little by little becomes even more visible and marked by the tight suit, showing off its lines, thickness, and size as it slowly becomes harder. She gnaws at the corner of her bottom lip and with one of her hands, she wraps her heat around Adora's length.

Spidergirl - Adora Grayskull, releases an immediate sigh.

"I just did, didn't I?" Catra asks, her eyes still fixed on Adora's bulge. "I cleaned your wounds and took care of your ribs. What else do you want me to do?"

"I want you to do me."

Catra approaches carefully. The smug look on Adora's face falters for a second when Adora can feel Catra's breath hit the edge of her upper lip. The distance was too dangerous for anything else and all her eyes see now is Catra's mouth, and how she wants to stick her lips to it at all costs.

"Yeah?" Catra whispers, her voice sly and low in a way that sends shivers through Adora's body. The dick in Catra's palm hardened more and twitched. "Mhm," Adora responds loudly, the air escaping her lungs in the process.

“I’ll think about it.”

No dialogue of any kind is exchanged after this. What is exchanged is a seal of lips that melts into a sloppy kiss, which over the seconds becomes hot and intense. The sore mouth gets an immediate sting from the intense contact but the sensation makes it all better. The sting of the moment urges Yunjin to reach for more of that pleasurable pain and carefully pull the other's waist closer.

Catra needs to let go of Adora's cock if she wants to better position herself in that lap. What she does is run her fingers through her girlfriend's golden locks, and pull the strands of hair with specific care while slowly nibbling Adora's bottom lip and moving her hips along her bulge.

Adora gives a satisfied sigh almost immediately.

Her lower lip begins to throb, aching from the way the mouths fit, and becomes intense with the seconds that develop between the couple. Catra doesn't stop moving her hips, even in the smallest way, and Adora doesn't stop squeezing her small and manageable waist.

The position was perfect for Catra to bring perfect pleasure between her core and Adora's cock. Her continuous movements warmed up the atmosphere in that apartment little by little and Adora could swear that her body was about to burst into flames.

With great power comes great responsibility. That's what Adora has always heard since that radioactive spider gave her a good bite on the back of her neck, where now, Catra's claws glide deviously and sensually enough to send shivers down her body from the scar that changed her entire body, the direction of her life.

But no one told her about how dating Catra weaver would be more complicated than dealing with thousands of innocent lives and saving them from imminent danger from madmen on the streets of New York.

Because after such an intense battle, where her wounds are fresh and in a slow healing process, her body heats up to the point of combustion. Adora feels like she's about to evaporate and vanish into the atmosphere when Catra's waist makes the perfect circular movements for her cock to become rock hard.

Sweat gathers on the top of her head and suddenly the room is too hot . The unbearable hot spot. Her face burns dangerously and her hands seek refreshments on her girlfriend's skin when they dribble her clothes to fervently hold her dermis with her hands. Adora fears she has a fever.

Catra sighs into the kiss at this. Adora's heat is contagious enough that the intensity of her movements on Adora's lap becomes more precise, stronger, and more intense . Catra is looking for more, and Adora knows it when the new pair of scratches on her body come from Catra's sharp claws on the back of her neck.

The mouths are separated by a thread of saliva. It cracks when Adora throws her head back for air that isn't intense enough to make her dizzy. Catra bites her lower lip at the sight and looks away at her girlfriend's ripped body, with defined muscles and the band wrapped around her torso. The speckled bruises and the scars of past battles.

All being enough for Catra to feel something ooze between her legs.

"You look so hot," Catra says, a sigh completes her sentence as she devours Adora with her eyes.

"I feel so hot," Adora replies, head still thrown back. "Can I touch you?"

"You always can."

Catra lets out another sigh, this time satisfied with the answer. Her fingers gently trace the bruises and scars on her body, the scratches and smears of blood that Catra isn't sure is Adora's blood or someone else's.

Her eyes scan the strip, scan what they can and every definition of muscle that makes up Adora's ripped body. The body that wins fights, regardless of how much she gets hit.

And Catra feels her pussy throb.

Adora's body shivers as the tip of Catra's index finger travels down a perilous trail between every core of her abdomen until it reaches Adora's pelvis. There Catra needs to focus on making a crucial decision to satisfy her own needs, and Adora's, because through all the red and blue attire, the cock suffocated by the tight fabric cries out for her attention, and Catra, cries out for its attention.

Her fingers make the best choice for the couple. She grabs hold of the suit and pulls it off to reveal Adora's gray boxers, her dick suffocated by the cotton fabric where its red head pokes out.

Slowly, her body disengages from Adora's lap, and carefully kneels in front of her, her positioning being between Adora's legs, where her small hands make their choice to rest on the blonde's knees. Adora, who had her head thrown back, finally pays attention to Catra when she feels the small body break away from hers, facing that sight that is enough to make her cock twitch.

“You look so hard,” Catra mutters, her right hand sliding dangerously down Adora's length and Adora has to let out a heavy sigh, restraining herself from moaning as if it were her first time with a woman touching her.

“I feel so hard.”

Catra smiles at the identical exchange of dialogue. The tip of her rough tongue draws her lips, like an insatiable hunger as she observes the hard lines that mark Adora's member through those underwear.

Catra's fingertips held the hem of her boxers and slowly slid the fabric down, revealing little by little the size and thickness of what Catra never gets enough of having over and over again. Despite her habit of observing the impeccable details that are already engraved by her with such adoration, The feline will never be able to get used to Adora Grayskull unearthly size and thickness.

When the cotton fabric releases that hard, contained member, it springs out in all its glory, hitting hard against the defined abdomen, causing a crack to echo through the house. The snap of skin on skin, and a low chuckle rips from Catra throat.

Adora has red cheeks.

“This is all because of me?” Catra is enchanted and asks, her right hand slowly squeezes the member's thick body, pulling it close to herself in an attempt to keep it upright and in front of her.

Adora holds the whimper at the top of her throat, placing her hand behind her own head to give her some support. “Y-yeah.” She tries to answer firmly, but her voice fails a little. Catra began to stroke the length of her cock adoringly.

“So cute,” Catra murmurs, her fingertip pressing against the red angry head. She decides to stick the cock's body to her cheek, kissing the length, and finally looks into Adora Grayskull eyes "So, so cute."

“S-Shut up,” Adora says breathlessly. Her cock twitches and Catra smiles. The sight is dangerous enough to feel that overwhelming, suffocating heat wash over her entire body and the air she breathes, and Adora feels like she has to throw her head back once more.

“Make me.”

When Adora heard those words roll out of Catra's mouth, her head was thrown back in a movement slow enough that Catra found it too sexy to not bite her bottom lip in arousal. Adora's eyes locked onto hers. There's the hard-on at its strongest intensity, and Catra can't resist the tease of sloppily lolling her tongue, dangerously close to the red angry head of Adora's cock.

Adora sighs heavily.

What she does is remove her hand from behind her head and confidently hold Catra's short hair, deliberately pushing her face towards her member just like that. Catra smiles satisfied. Adora's cock enters her mouth without any difficulty, carrying out her indirect request.

Catra concentrates on the task of keeping what she can of that length in her mouth. Adora does nothing but caress her scalp with her long fingers as Catra takes her time to envelop the full size as best she can, a little drool accumulating in the corners of her mouth and her determination to pleasure her girlfriend filling once more.

Adora can't hold back the husky moan that escapes when Catra has the tip of her tongue wrapping around the head of her cock with a skill never seen before. It's light enough that Adora's eyes roll back and her hand tightens more fervently on Catra's hair.

And Catra loves it.

She breaks away from Adora to release the head of her cock in a hickey that sends an erotic crackle across the room. She licks her lips to remove excess saliva and concentrates on handling that pole with her right hand in an attempt to maintain the pleasure, stroking that length and taking moans from Adora's mouth. Her eyes shine when she feels the veins that jump in that cock between her palm, the way that the cock was wet and smeared her hand with a mixture of saliva and pre-cum makes everything even more appetizing for the feline.

Eyes fixed on the flashing red head, the tip of her lips drops an adorable kiss there. Her tongue wastes no time wrapping around the redness once more, circling and teasing unique sensations in every untamed territory of her tongue on that luscious glans. The underside of her wet muscle, soft and sensitive, sends shivers down Adora's entire body as she rubs itself and delivers the most sincere pleasure one could ever feel.

Her mouth does an exceptional job. She envelops and swallows what is offered, minimally separating to allow a good amount of saliva from between her lips to run from the tip of the glans to her palm, which holds the base of Adora's cock, returning to masturbate that erect member while taking it again in her mouth.

Adora lets out a rasping moan, which reaches Catra ears like the best melody ever.

What her tongue doesn't encircle, her right hand strokes with a caress slow enough that Adora's eyes are riveted on the action of her mouth. It's too torturous and too pleasurable. Adora's body tightens, and it shows in the way her muscles tense how lost her mind is in feeling just that.

Catra releases the tempting cock once more. With intense eyes, she stares into Catra's face and slowly taps the length of Adora's wet cock against her cheek, eliciting an angry expression on Adora's face – which she knows very well is not what the girl is feeling.

The image of Catra slapping her dick in her face leaves her vision blurred and an unnatural tightness in her abdomen. “Fuck-” Slips through her lips and she has to close her eyes tightly to not see that image anymore. “F-Fuck I-I-”

Adora takes a deep breath. Very deep. It seeks all the concentration in the world not to allow her to come so fast with just that.

“Babe?” Catra calls out with a laugh, noticing how her face gets dangerously wet from pre-cum. Adora was nearby and Catra knew it. “Are you gonna cum?”

“S-Shut up!” asks Adora with a whimper, the corners of her eyes filling with tears as she concentrates so hard.

Catra pulls away, letting go of the member and seeing it hit the contracted abdomen with some force. Another erotic snap echoed through the room. Now, she slowly removes her tight shorts and her shirt, revealing her entire naked body to Adora in seconds.

Adora feels like she is going to pass out. “Don't fucking cum yet,” Catra demands, knowing from the redness of Adora's cock head and her face how she's about to explode just at the sight of her body.

Adora concentrates, takes a deep breath, gathers all the strength she can, and nods. Her eyes fixed on Catra's perky breasts and how her nipples were hard for her. Her mouth waters and when her eyes scan between the girl's legs, Adora sees the inside of her thighs glistening.

Catra returns to sit on her girlfriend's lap. Still, on her thighs, Catra can feel her intimacy pulsing in anticipation and the sudden need to feel the pleasure wrap around her core.

"You're so hot," Adora whimpers, large hands soon grip the feline's waist and pull her close in seconds. Her mouth is lost in placing wet kisses on Catra's scarred collarbone, the tip of her tongue circling down to her nipples where she nibbles in a way that brings Catra a spasm and a high-pitched groan at the sensitivity. "So, so hot."

"Shut up," Yet another dialogue that repeats itself and Catra fails to see the humor as Adora's swollen mouth leaves her senses confused. Her skin crawls, cries out, and firmly urges more of Adora's hands, her intimacy begs and cries for more and all she can do is squirm from the pleasurable and torturous touches. "Can I put it in?" Adora asks in an exasperated way. When Catra notices, her chest is covered in red marks and her teeth hang in that area as she gasps her own words. "Can I please put it in?"

"Protection first," Catra mutters overstimulated. Eyes rolled into the back of her head and the feel of her girlfriend's warm mouth made her hips squirm automatically. "Now."

"Trust my pull-out game," Adora mutters, her right hand letting go of Catra's waist to grip her cock and guide it to Catra's entrance. "F-Fuck you're so stupid-" Catra lets out between gasps and her eyes widen as the red head brushes her swollen clit. "Fuck!" The pleasure is enough to instantly set her body on fire. Her limbs tingle and everything feels so hot that she can feel a bead of sweat trickle down the hollow of her back.

"Can I put it in?" Adora repeats the question. Mouth still making Catra's breasts sore from sucking and pulling it with her teeth. "Please?"

Catra doesn't respond with words, what she does is deliberately grip Adora's fingers and force her hard cock inside herself, and the sensation is unique enough that her mouth is kept open and any sound in her throat is hidden, cut in half with such pleasure. Adora herself couldn't hold back the groans. It's a desperate sequence that Catra worries almost instantly, but when she realizes it, her girlfriend nibbles on her bottom lip so hard that a trickle of blood trickles carefully across her bottom lip.

Catra doesn't have the strength to show her concern. What she does is roll her eyes and let an exasperated groan escape her throat and the urge to melt on top of Adora grows colossally, as a hard cock penetrates her soaked entrance and makes her insane.

Catra feels all that firm, big, thick length fill her in a way that digs into the deepest places of her, emotionally and physically. It's a size that annoys and dissolves into a pleasure so great that it fills the corners of her eyes with tears, when everything seems too much, on point, just right . Before she can think logically, her mind is only taken by pleasure and the feeling of wanting more of that dick itself.

Adora can see, as the feline forces her size further into her greedy entrance, the bulge rises in her abdomen.

"S-Shit, ador-ah-" Escapes in a breathless, exasperated manner. Catra can hear the desperation in her tone. "ador-ah-, ador-ah-, adora-" She repeats like a mantra. A dangerous mantra that leaves the mind of the aforementioned clouded.

Adora concentrates the steely taste of the blood in her mouth reminding her every second that she needs to hold back. But it's hard when her girlfriend calls her like she's a fucking god. Catra finally manages to feel her thighs touch Adora's attire. The entire member inside of her, fills her in the most pleasurable way possible, removing a tear from her eyes that dissolves on her cheek.

Hips move without a command being necessarily given. It's the way Catra understands that her body has an owner, and it's not herself. Her hips made slow, circular movements, eliciting more unique and specific sensations throughout her body, and the way Adora held onto her breasts as if she were a newborn.

Her eyes close when all that movement is enough to drive her crazy and all logic to run from her brain. Catra cannot reason or plan. All she can think about is how much more she needs to feel.

Her movements continue to rotate her cunt around that pole that is Adora's dick. It's a concentration she gains by focusing on rocking her hips back and forth, as she did a few minutes earlier. It's the specific move that satisfies their urges and wets Adora's suit with her liquid.

Pheromones burn through that apartment, everything exudes the intensity of that moment and it leaves both their minds clouded. Both concentrated on the sensations, the touches, and the feelings that the wet core engulfs the erect member.

Adora needs to concentrate on not feeling her conscience slip through her fingers. It was driving her crazy, the way those slow, sensual hips make movements that have her cock suffocated by her hot, stupidly wet pussy. Her will is to grab Catra's waist and leave it suspended in the air, before simply penetrating with all her strength and reaching her orgasm in the most needy and desperate way possible.

But she controls herself. She takes a deep breath and observes the slow pace that Catra adopts in that intense moment and allows herself to enjoy what she can. Her cock is sore from the hard-on that surrounds it, and for a moment, Adora forgets that a couple of hours ago she was on the brink of death.

Until, Catra spreads her hands on Adora's muscular abdomen, and slowly, starts to move up and down on her firm member.

That's enough to draw a long-suffering groan from both girls.

“Fuck, babe-” Adora exasperated and it was evident in the way her eyes glistened in desperation that this was too good. The walls that swallow her slowly caress up and down her hard cock and she feels her balls tense. Adora takes a deep breath and throws her head back in a drawn-out groan.

Catra follows with her meek moans and exasperated sighs. Her eyes roll inside her skull and her vision becomes blurred with tears from how good that contact was. Goosebumps cut through her body with each bounce on top of that member and with desperate urgency, Catra feels the need to speed up.

And that's what she does.

Properly supporting with flat hands on the firm cores of Adora's belly - taking care of the bandage and the wounds scattered there, The feline accelerates her speed, starting to ride Adora as if she were on a horse. Her hips sway in just the right way and sway in a precise rhythm, melodic enough for the slaps around that room to be erotic and steady to drive Adora insane.

Little by little Catra feels her eardrums close and her body's blood pressure lower, but she keeps consistent. Her rides are a physical exercise that causes the sweat on her temple to mix with the tear that dissolves. Catra is feeling it all and her mouth won't stop vocalizing about it.

“F-Fuck Adora-ah, y-yes!” Desperate cry. Eyes squeezed shut, head down, and concentrated on riding. “Mmm, r-right there- ‘m so f-full, mmm.”

“Oh god-” Adora choked on her word. Her staring eyes as she watched how it all was making her face red as a tomato and her body hot as magma.

Catra was in her sexiest form and Adora didn't know if she was resilient enough to take it. Her cock begs for release, the way Catra's cunt engulfs and surrounds it turns her moans and grunts into desperate whimpers and the arousal drips like sweat over her entire body. She feels every muscle tingling with goosebumps and feels every pang of precise rocking deliver a pleasure that is stronger than any smack of Otto's mechanical arms.

Adora is about to cum.

Until she feels something wet in her abdomen.

Catra, with her head down, notices a red stain that grows exponentially on the freshly applied bandage over Adora's wound.

She was bleeding.

The stained gauze makes Catra feel immediate concern, and with it, stops her movements abruptly. “S-Shit, 'Dora you're bleeding,” Catra says breathlessly. Tirelessly she sucks air into her lungs and her eyes go to the blonde's face. Her hair was messy and wet with sweat, partially hiding her face with so much movement she was doing.

But Adora has a gaze intense enough to scare Catra.

“Who said you should fucking stop?” She exhales suddenly, hands grip her waist tightly and with her supernatural strength lifts Catra's body into the air, enough until the tip of her cock is the only thing inside the feline's entrance.

“B-But baby y-you’re bleeding, I-” Her speech is cut off when Adora slams her body down towards her thighs, meeting Catra midway with a hard thrust. The feline feels a scream rip her throat from the pleasure provided in her sensitive spot. “Fuck!”

"I," Adora gasps, yet another hard thrust lifting Catra's body into the air and meeting her halfway. "Don't," One more. "Care."

Another. Catra has tears in the corners of her eyes and can't say anything but babble lost in pleasure and precise thrusts.

Blood grows on the gauze, wetting part of the bandage with more fervor as the movements become more intense. Catra is sure she will have a lot of trouble walking by the way Adora is not taking pity on her with her strong thrusts and Catra remembers for a moment that her girlfriend is Spidergirl.

The supernatural force that has no mercy penetrating her body in all its power makes her mind dizzy and the erotic sounds muffle her eardrums. Her moans come out choked and with every slam of Adora's thighs against Catra's ass, it's all getting too much for her.

Pleasure engulfs her body in shock waves that make Catra's entire body shudder and spasms grip her limbs. Her wet pussy tightens around Adora's cock and heavens , she swears she can feel the head of her girlfriend's dick rearrange her organs.

The bulge appears in her belly in Adora's constant movements and she has to concentrate on keeping herself firmly in place because the feline's body melts and the scream that rips from her throat is loud enough to worry the neighbors.

Catra can feel every cell in her body agitated by the way Adora's cock enters her hard. She can feel every sensation of touch, hearing, smell, sight, and taste. She can feel how her mind closes and her eyes surrender to pleasure and become as meek as a tamed cheetah. She can feel her limbs giving away and the only force holding her steady is Adora's strong scarred arms with flexing muscles, squeezing her waist as tightly as if she were a ball of clay about to be molded.

Catra can feel everything. Especially, the relentless way her girlfriend's cock hits her sweet spot.

Handing over the sensation and constant shocks in her body, Catra is exhausted. Everything tingles, burns, wets. The erotic sound and pheromones flooded her mind. Her red pussy, used, taken advantage of. Her body is delivered. Catra is delivered.

The meek eyes, above so much eyelid rolling and wet strands of hair stuck to the forehead, stare at Adora's closed face that concentrates on her actions. She can see how the bruised abdomen tenses, how the furrowed brow makes her look sexy, and how her hair sways with every force her body exerts upwards.

The sash still fastened tightly across her torso. The face with its scratches and bruises at the corner of the lip, brow, and bridge of the nose. Scratched neck - by Catra, and bruises spread like galaxies across her pale skin, skin now red and sweaty from exertion.

Catra is in love once again.

" 'Dora-ah" It comes out as a sob. The tone is whiny and sly in a way that makes her adorable. Red face and explicit pleasure for her expression. "Ador-ah 'm so f-full-'m so full-" A few more adorable sobs. Her speech is interrupted by a precise thrust.

That sight was enough for every nerve in Catra's body to settle into a single consensus that she was at her limit. Her body allows her to relieve what it craves to the extent that it constantly goes in and out, and it's too much. It's enough for a crucial mess to engulf both girls on the couch to the point where it spills onto the carpeted floor. Catra makes a mess and her thin screams echo through the apartment along with the spasms that try at all costs to get away from that constant pleasure to clog it up.

"Fuck-" Adora lets out in exasperation, it's almost a hot sigh that knocks all the air out of her lungs. "Fuck, fuck, fuck, fuck-!" She repeated it countless times in desperation as she concentrated on her movements. Catra still tries at all costs to pull away while ruthlessly wetting Adora's entire lap with her orgasm, as she squirted all over her.

And when a final grip around her cock is executed, when Adora's thighs meet Catra's ass and her cock is buried deep in Catra's entrance, the movements stop. A long, drawn-out moan rips from her throat, as Adora's cock twitches and expels all of its thick, hot liquid inside Catra. “You s-stupid-” Catra tried at all costs to break away from Adora, punching her on the shoulders and scratching the back of her neck with claws, but she was so weak that it didn't make any difference. “Y-You said y-you would pull out!” She says in nervous hiccups, her body still exhausted and her legs shaking. The feline feels the sobs move through her torso and she's squirming too hard to care about anything. What she does is melt into Adora's body and bury her face in her girlfriend's neck.

Adora, exhausted from so many continuous movements, has her head thrown back, gasping for air through her dry lips.

Catra, upon composing herself, takes her face off her neck and takes her skin off her girlfriend's extensive body. What she does next is to remove Adora's dick from her cunt, and the thick white liquid flows in absurd amounts between the inside of her thighs and her girlfriend's lap.

Adora sees the damage she has done.

“Aw, fuck.”

this is so different from petunia flowers (on your skin and mine) but im sorry i couldn't resist the urge to write smut and the idea...

i wanted adora to cum webs so bad but like she would clog catra's hole
