Long Distant Cat Lovers

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/58886152.

Rating:
General Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Catra (She-Ra), Adora (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Catra is in Love with Adora (She-Ra), Lesbian Catra (She-Ra), Human Catra (She-Ra), Alternate Universe - Modern Setting, Long-Distance Friendship, Friendship/Love, Alternate Universe - Teachers

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2024-09-12 Words: 2,169 Chapters: 1/1

Long Distant Cat Lovers

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/58886152.

Rating:
General Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Catra (She-Ra), Adora (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Catra is in Love with Adora (She-Ra), Lesbian Catra (She-Ra), Human Catra (She-Ra), Alternate Universe - Modern Setting, Long-Distance Friendship, Friendship/Love, Alternate Universe - Teachers

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2024-09-12 Words: 2,169 Chapters: 1/1

Long Distant Cat Lovers

by Jadethecorn

Summary

Catra and Adora are Childhood friends in an Alternative Universe. Both grew up in an unhappy environment, managed to find happiness and worked hard for their careers together. Now Catra became a support role for children from broken homes in schools to help them to have a better support system than she had. For her to become a fully trained teacher she has to spend some time in a school abroad. While Adora made her dream come true to travel around the globe and help Women fight for their rights. Always separated from each other a relationship never seems to work for both of them. That leaves them to only dream about it. Maybe all they have is a long-distance relationship and never aware of how much they mean to eachother.

Notes

It was actually raining today and I got the urge to cuddle with someone and so I just made a one-shot up in my head while listening to music but I am not sure if this will be a one-shot because then I got the idea with Catra being a Teacher so maybe I'll make it more and I am also hiding a bit from writing a chapter 2 for another fic because I heard about the curse of writing the first chapter of fanfic and now I'm scared xD

A girl worth fighting for
Two Queens in a kingsized bed- girl in red
I See the light Tangled

That's the songs I listened to. I yes am super gay lmao

I didn't know how addicting it can become to write on here but it's SO EXCITING

See the end of the work for more notes

Catra sat on her Desk contemplating the way she should take care of her class. Being a teacher helper wasn't as simple as she thought it would be, being placed in a different country not what she expected and having children to fool around as much as she used to do, was more exhausting than she was prepared for. But she was up for the job and guiding the young through the toughest time in childhood,her destiny. Who could take care of the kids better than her? They have all been through awful life experiences and trying to fit in now. Catra knew what that felt like. And she wouldn't let them be neglected as much as she was. It made her sad to know that this job was only temporary if unlucky just a year or perhaps in luck 3 years but that also meant, these kids eventually would be abandoned again. So she has to make sure that she builds them up. Give them the tools they need to go on further in life, build trust in themselves and be able to trust others. Sometimes in life, when they believe in the future they will find their trust in someone else. The Teachers were too busy to take care of emotional support, so the kids only had her to rely on after class and beyond homework and lectures.

Getting the opportunity to work in a different country should've been exciting to her, but it meant also leaving behind the most precious thing. It wasn't a home or friends but just this one blonde girl who probably travelled more than she did and still occasionally came by to say hello and tell her a little story about new adventures. But now she doesn't get even those tiny moments with her for a good long time. And not a week after she arrived at her new temporary home she missed her so badly that she started writing little letters.

Not really some you would send out. Adora didn't have a home to send letters to. She could've sent it to a friend of theirs but the fear of them reading through the mail made her too anxious to do so. And Adora also didn't believe in having an email or a phone to call to. So for now it's an occasional Postcard from Adora to her place but nothing to send a reply to. They both agreed it would be hard not communicating but when they saw each other again they would go on a long trip together to make up for it.

So Catra wrote letters that would just lay in a little box for now. But it still felt nice to her. Because whenever she took the pen in her hand and imagined the words she would speak to Adora and write them down, she felt close to her and could feel her presence. It doesn't matter if Adora would ever read those words but in her heart, those words and their energy would reach Adora regardless. Somehow they would.

Tonight She was in the mood to write something more serious than usual. It could've been the rain outside that made her feel so lonely and longing for her friend to be there with her or the ambient feeling she got after listening to her favourite music that had a more romantic touch to it than she was aware of. And the decorations of Halloween-themed things outside because it was October. Fall season for them both was when they usually spend time together watching scary movies and eating the most disgusting snacks they can find as tradition what wouldnt happen this year.

But she was particularly missing her tonight and had to write it down.

"Dear Adora,

Sometimes when it rains I get so wonderful melancholic. It is my favourite weather of all. Have I ever told you that I always was able to smell it when rain would come? It's funny because I never thought about it too much, that it could be something others can't do. Maybe that's why it makes me love it so much. The smell. When the rain, drops off of little leaves and grass, it always gives a certain aroma of freshness. It has its very own lovely scent. I think it's one you can't put in a perfume bottle. I know they exist. Perfume or spray, really anything with different smell sets, titled Rainy Day or something similar but in my opinion not a single one can imitate it the same. I mean I am easily fooled by these ASMR videos, pretending to be rainy sounds, which turn out to be just cooking noises coming from a pan. I think imitation of sounds is easier than smells. Some from my childhood like a fresh worked-on field of weeds or the certain one from the old Pool we swam in at a little beach I used to visit with you, you just can't imitate them.

The truth is, we all experience smell differently ,so you would have to study me or any person singular and their likes and dislikes to be able to make just this one perfume that will also just be working for one person. If I was someone who makes perfume I might try that but just to get to the point. Rain is unique to me and brings me joy just by being there when it pours and I can sit there and let it just be. And I think it also can make me feel so at peace. For a Moment, I can close my eyes and feel. But lately, it's been different for me. I used to close my eyes and imagine a world full of peace. I wondered what the world would be if we weren't there. And It was just nature that had control over the world and what peaceful Rain there would be. When the smells of the ugly industries were gone the rain wouldn't taste so bitter and all the machines and gas and toxicity wouldn't make it sting and painful. I wondered if animals ever took a moment to let the rain fall on them and experience joy or calmness. They would have so much more space and wouldn't need to always have to fight for every piece of land we leave them.

Lately, I thought about something else. How you came into my life. I think before I was aware of what I felt for you, i would just looked at you. Something similar to thunder and lightning when you sit down on a balcony and suddenly it's crashing and roaring over your head and it's so scary but so exciting too. Your heart pounds so loudly when it happens. I smile when there is stormy weather. I want to see it and hear it but it also makes me fear for my life when it comes too close. Just how you scared me. Because I was alone and I loved to be alone. I was just in my little bubble but you crashed into it. So scary and so beautiful. Stunning and breathtaking and so bright. A wave of electricity that flows through my body. Painful because it made me so aware of how unaware of myself I was but so energising and I just wanted to jump through the roof. I feel like every time I look at you I just get more and more addicted to it. I know I get so overwhelmed with life and sometimes I am just so in pain and sad I lose myself and I lose the strength to be here and I get scared of losing you so much that I detach myself. But then I see you again and the dark clouds lighten and you're back in front of me and my heart learns to fly again. And with every passing day, I want you to be with me more. So much. That these little periods that I detach get meaningless. They Don't matter. We are beings that change so much. It's impossible to not lose each other sometimes. But I don't care about it. All I want is you with me.

And when it rains. Adora, when it rains. I want you with me. I want to snuggle up underneath a blanket and feel your legs gently over mine and your arm around me. I want to kiss you. And hold you and feel your heartbeat. Lean on your shoulder and close my eyes. Take a nap with you and be close while you dream. I can't imagine anything better and nothing I long for more than your warmth. Warm me up on a cold stormy day. I want to take deep breaths through my nose when I cuddle up my head on your neck. And kiss you gently. Nudge you with my nose. And brush through your hair with my fingertips. I just want to be held and I can't think of any other comforting arms than yours. That's what rain does with me now. Hoping for something like this and dreaming about it. And even though it seems so impossible for me that this dream can come true. It still makes my days brighter. Im scared that you don't feel that way for me too. But I think somewhere in another universe we must be this close. Because I get so overwhelmed by these feelings for you that it must last for more than one lifetime. Somewhere you and I may look different and life is different but we are together and I get to hold your hand. Because I can feel your hand in mine sometimes. And I can feel your presence so much that I think you are right next to me. We are connected somewhere. Just not here. Not in this universe, this timeline, this life.

Rainy days are so bittersweet. I love you so much. I mean I don't know if my words reach the meaning of what I am trying so desperately explain. It's the fact that I want so much now and I have wishes and dreams and demands on myself and goals to reach. I am something now. And I want to be more. And it's because my ambition is to go forward in life. I see you and the path you are going and I am so excited to see you rise and follow your dreams step by step I don't want to stay behind. I want us both to heal from our past and make the world ahead, ours. Not in a ruler or dictator kind of way. What I mean is. You and I can become the strongest woman we want to be. And I won't stand still and just see you go onward.

First I fell in love with you and now I want to fall in love with myself and when I am going to succeed in my goals I want to see your beautiful face smile and see you succeed too. And when you and I are old and grey. Sit on a balcony looking out into the distance and enjoy our last rain. I don't care what we are but you are the person I want to be close to till my last breath. I know it can be scary to have someone close to you. I know you struggle with people seeing every side of you. Never let anyone see your weak side. But I want you in any shape or form. I want you to know that I can give you space if you need it but I don't fear seeing you sick and angry and frustrated and fail over and over. I see myself every day and I fail and I become weak and I hate myself for it sometimes. I have no patience for myself or empathy and I can be cruel and I can hurt people. I know when your body gives up and you force yourself to at least take care of yourself to not need any help. I want to see you in all your phases. Be mean,be weak, be annoying. Bother me and push me away and let me back in and tear apart your whole world. Change drastically however you want I will always love you.

Crazy, how a little rain makes me all mushy and talk this way but I can't bear keeping this to myself all the time. I want to scream it to you but I'm afraid that might scare you away.

I don't know how to Finnish this off but when we meet again just know I will probably love you just a bit more like I did everyday, since you came into my life"

She set aside her pen and layed down to sleep. Tonight she was crying a bit before she was able to fall asleep, hugging a plush that was a gift from Adora.

End Notes

This is so Gay and cringe and gay
I don't apologise

Also titel ideas I had xD but they just didn't fit the mood

-Wet-Cats Smell nice
-Teachers Pet (you know cuz she is a cat person :0

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!