Notes

See the end of the work for notes

Lying alone, blindfolded and bound hand and foot with a set of the Horde's good restraints, the ones you'd need Scorpia's – or She-Ra's – strength or Entrapta's hair to escape from, Adora knew she was in a lot of trouble.

She didn't realize how much trouble, though, until she heard a familiar soft clicking sound drawing closer. She knew that sound. She'd known that sound almost all her life. She didn't dare say her old friend's name, just in case—

She felt hot breath on her face, and then Catra spoke with an unusually sultry tone. "Hey, Adora."

"Catra?"

Adora felt hands grab her breasts, squeezing hard through the fabric of her jacket. "That's right," said Catra, her face still close enough for Adora to feel her breath. "But if you haven't forgotten me, that means you must have abandoned me."

Catra let go, then raked her claws down Adora's front, ripping through fabric with unnatural ease but somehow not breaking the skin beneath. "I got the drop on Shadow Weaver. She isn't in my life any more, and I'm learning things."

"Things?" asked Adora. Catra had never been like this before.

"I can make my claws cut what I want, and not cut what I don't want." Catra pulled apart the ragged ruin of Adora's jacket, shirt, and bra, leaving her breasts exposed to the chilly air of the cell. "Right now, they can't cut you, no matter how hard I push."

Adora gulped. "I don't..."

Catra pinched Adora's cold-pebbled nipples between her claws. Adora could feel how sharp they were, how easily they should have pierced her flesh with how hard Catra was squeezing. "No. Matter. How. Hard."

Adora wished she had the sword. Even being able to sense where it was would make her feel better. "Please, Catra, let me go. Or even come with me!"

Catra let go of Adora's nipples with a decidedly unhinged giggle. "Oh, I'll come with you. If you're good. I'll come without you if you aren't."

Adora felt her pants come apart around Catra's claws just like her jacket, and it finally clicked what Catra was up to. "I don't want this."

"I didn't want the things you let Shadow Weaver do to me, either." Catra's claws trailed lightly down Adora's abdomen. "Don't worry too much, though. Shadow Weaver hated me, but I don't hate you."

The one good thing about her legs being bound, Adora decided, was that it made it easy to keep her thighs tight together as Catra's claws approached her crotch. "What do you want, Catra?"

"You, Adora. I want you to never leave me again." Catra tried to push her hand between Adora's tensed thighs. "Forever, Adora. We'll be with each other forever. I'll love you and you'll love me."

"If you love me, why are you hurting me?"

Catra moved her hand back up, ghosting lightly over Adora's abs, and pinched her nipple again. "Because you hurt me first. You ran away and left me with Shadow Weaver. But she's gone, and you're back, and Entrapta made me a box for that stupid sword that led you astray."

A new pain blossomed in Adora's breast, making her cry out as wetness started to spread from her nipple, and then Catra's breath was hot on her face again. "See. Just for a moment, I wanted to cut your flesh," said Catra. "I'll make sure to get that looked at afterwards. It's less bad than a lot of what Shadow Weaver did when she still had lungs."

Catra pulled away entirely, leaving Adora once more unsure of where anything was. "Catra?" she called. "I'm cold. It's cold in here."

Adora could hear cloth rustling, and Catra muttering to herself about something. Adora tried to think positively. It had to be possible to get out of these restraints without titanic strength or prehensile hair. Surely they weren't perfect?

Catra pounced on her, and Adora felt bare skin against hers where her clothes had been torn away. "Catra? Why are you naked?"

"Because you're as good as naked."

Adora felt Catra's small breasts pressing against her own, smearing out the blood from her wounded nipple. "I don't want to be, though. Please, Catra, if... if you want me to do... things for you, I will, just, I'm not ready yet."

"I wasn't ready to deal with Shadow Weaver on my own, but I had to." Catra's claws slipped under the side of Adora's ruined shirt and pressed into her skin without cutting. "But do you promise me that you won't run away, and that you'll stay with me, and you won't try to go find that stupid sword, and you'll be with me forever?"

"Catra, I can't—"

Her side hurt. Her side bled.

"Say the promise. Every word. Promise it with all your heart. I can't undo your cuffs if you don't promise."

Adora licked her lips nervously. "I promise... I promise that I won't run away. I promise that I'll stay with you. I promise that I won't try to find that stupid sword. I promise that I'll be with you forever."

She barely got the last word out of her mouth before Catra's tongue was inside it.

End Notes

Not the best few hundred words I've ever written, and not at all what I'd ever have expected to find myself writing as my first attempt at She-Ra fic, but the prompt was harder to get coherent inspiration for than I'd expected.
