Super Pal Trio

by Midnight_Owl2

Summary

Scorpia keeps trying to flirt with/impress Catra. It's becoming increasingly obvious that Scorpia has a crush on Catra and it's driving her insane. Why can't Scorpia see that Catra's heart belongs to Adora. Catra loves Adora... isn't it obvious! Catra needs to find a way to put an end all this to it before she crushes her friends heart. If she doesn't Catra feels that she might explode.

Notes

This fic is an extra chapter to my original fic: Together at the End of the World. To understand this fic, I highly advise reading Together at the End of the World first.

TATEOTW readers - This extra chapter happens between Chapter 6 (Dryl) and Chapter 7 (Sting of Emotion). This chapter explores how Scorpia flirted/tried to impress Catra and how Scorpia came to learn that Catra was in love with Adora. It was obvious to some but not everyone. Hope you enjoy.

See the end of the work for more notes

"I'm not sure how much more of this I can take Adora. It's practically torture."

I'm currently lying flat on my back on the bed in mine and Adora's quarters. Adora is standing at my side, leaning against the bed post whilst she listens to me rant.

I have loved every minute of being a force captain so far. I love getting to boss people around and be in control of demanding situations. Its where my strengths lie. The only downside to the promotion is that I've been working with Scorpia a lot more. It's not necessarily a bad thing, she's a good force captain, but her attempts at flirting with me and trying to impress me are increasing. We were testing one of Entrapta's new bots yesterday and it kind of… well… exploded! To be real that nothing new, most of her robotics have been exploding recently. I could have easily dodged the debris and I was about to when Scorpia barged me out of the way and started attacking the malfunctioning robotics, making sure to over exaggerating her movements and checking in on me to see if I was watching. Oh I should have mentioned that Entrapta's new robotics involved experimenting with a series of First-Ones crystals. One caused all the other robots to malfunction and go hay-wire. That's how the 'Scorpia protecting me' situation came about. It's not like I can't protect myself. There's also other stuff going on like when Scorpia literally appears out of nowhere… NOWHERE! Sometimes I just want some alone time or some time that's just me and Adora. Adora's too nice to see what's going on and I'm glad that she and Scorpia get along, I really am, but I just wish that Scorpia would get the message that my heart belongs to Adora. I'm not even making it difficult for her to see that.

Adora chuckles besides me, "Why don't you try and talk to her, you know set some boundaries if it's bothering you that much. You know she'll listen."

"I have tried Adora, I really have tried. I've manged to get her to stop hugging me from out of nowhere after so long, I can just about live with the nickname she has for me. I'm sure she might have broken a rib or two the first time she 'ambushed' me out of nowhere."

"Oh don't be such a dramatic."

Adore moves to sit besides me on our bed, looking down at me with those beautiful blue eyes and her gorgeous smile. If only she knew the real reason why Scorpia flirting with me bother me so much.

Scorpia, she's a good friend but I don't have any feelings for her other than friendship. Besides, my heart belongs to Adora, it always has and it always will. I wish that there was some way I could make Scorpia see that that wouldn't completely crush her.

"If you want maybe I could try talking to her."

"No Adora its fine. I don't want to put you in that position. This is something that me and Scorpia need to discuss. I'll have to try and think of a way to do that, but also being careful that it doesn't completely crush her exoskeleton."

Adora laughs at the remark. I love finding ways to make her laugh. I reposition myself, sitting up so I can better see Adora in all her glory. If only she knew how much I love her.

CLINK, CLACK, CLINK

The air vent door on the roof swings open and a face all too familiar appears…

"Catra! Are you coming to see how these new robots work out. I'm picking up a signal that the Rebellion is in pursuit of my new creations so now would be a good time to test them out. Oh, hi Adora didn't see you there."

I should have known that would be Entrapta. You hear her before you see her.

"You know you can use the door right. You don't need to sneak around. You're not a prisoner."

"Oh I know that but going through the vents is far easier. I can get all the tools I need for my creations without disturbing anyone. So are you coming or not?"

Sighing, I stand up from my position on the bed, getting myself ready to leave… "Sure thing Entrapta. I'll be there in a few minutes."

"Great. I'll see you there. Oh by the way, Scorpia is looking for you."

"Of course she is." I sigh, my tail swaying side to side in a frustrated manner.

With that Entrapta closes the air vent door and I hear her making her way further down the air vents. Adora stands besides me and places a hand on my back between my shoulder blades.

"Do you want to join us?"

"Nah I'll be alright. Besides, I wouldn't want to intrude on 'Super Pal Trio' night."

"Don't you start with the shit. You know much I hate us being called that."

Adora giggles, "You like it really." If I being honest, it doesn't bother me as much as it used to.

"Why don't you contact your 'Best Friend Squad' pals why I'm with the others. You know, have you fill on the action."

Sparkles and Arrow boy have become quite friendly with Adora over the comms pad. They talk to her more than me as Adora is the one who knows most about what's going on with regards to Horde developments.

"Yeah, don't say that every again." Adora cringes at the group name but I know it doesn't bother her to much anymore. I like teasing her.

I moved to make my way to the exit but Adora calls me…

"Hey Catra, before you go can I ask you something?"

I turn to find that Adora appears flustered and nervous about what she wants to ask. Now this is interesting.

"I know Scorpia flirting with you annoys you, and I won't lie it annoys me too…"

Wait? Did Adora just say it annoys her too?

*"…*But why does it bother you so much that someone likes you that way?"

"Oh Adora, wouldn't you love to know?"

It bothers me because I love you Adora. My heart belongs to you. Why can't you see that?

With that I exit our quarters, both mine and Adora's cheeks are bright red.

--

"Hey Wildcat, there you are I've been looking all over for you."

"So I believe."

I enter Entrapta's lab, better known as the 'Super Pal Trio lair' and take my seat in the middle of both Entrapta and Scorpia.

“Good you’re finally here. You’re just in time too. Our robots have detected the Rebellion and they’re about to attack. This is sooooo exciting.”

I know all too well that Entrapta’s new invention, despite being made from First-Ones tech, stands no chance against the Rebellion because Adora and I told Sparkles and Arrow Boy everything they need to know about this new invention. Still, it will be nice to see them in action.

Before the action can even begin, Scorpia makes a suggestion…

“Hey before this starts, maybe we should, I don’t know capture a picture of all three of us together to remember this moment. You know, capturing Super Pal Trio moments that we can then share stories about when were older.”

“I’m not usually one for pictures but I do have a new device that I want to try so now seems like the perfect opportunity.”

Entrapta’s and Scorpia’s eyes fall to me… “Whatever. Just take it then it’s over and down with.”

The flash from the camera stings my eyes but I don ‘t let them know that. Entrapta’s machine makes three copies of the image so we all have one.

"Oh wow this is great. I'm going to keep this next to my bedside so you know, it's close to my heart, like many other things."

Scorpia gives me a flirtatious looks and nudges my side. I ignore her and keep my attention on the screens, watching the action unfold.

Plants, Arrows, Sparkles, Ice, Wind, Nets and WATER!... I hate water... are all aimed at our bots but they're proving to be quite the challenge to destroy. It's almost as if the technology Entrapta has used has made them indestructible. Screams and cheers are made from Entrapta and Scorpia. I'd also get in on the action but I'm not in the mood right now. I feel uncomfortable to be honest. The air feels tense.

BOOM

Two bots down, two to go, although one is severely damaged so it may be worth blowing it up at this point.

"Enjoying the show Wildcat? I mean don't get me wrong these bots are pretty impressive but none of them seem to be as strong as you. I bet if it was just you and me up against these bots, maybe even the Rebellion, they'd be taken down in minutes. What do you say? Do you maybe want to give it a try one day? You know just me and you in the training simulations kicking some holographic backside."

I can't deal with this, not tonight…

"Look Scorpia, that would be fun but training is something I either do with my squadron or with my training partner, Adora. We're similar in skill and Adora is good competition for me, I wouldn't ditch her for that."

I know what Scorpia is really looking for is an opportunity to get me alone so it's just me and her. I don't mind training with Scorpia with others around, like duel squadron training sessions, but I'm telling the truth when I say if I want to do one-on-one or individual training, I'd do it with Adora. Sparring and training simulations are a 'me and Adora thing'. Scorpia looks a little disheartened at this but presses on, not getting the true intention of the message.

"Yeah totally get it. You know, maybe we could arrange some sort of me and you thing you know. I mean I get it you and Adora are best friends and all but maybe we could do something similar. I know a lot of good places we could go and hang and talk and stuff. I think it would be nice to get to know each other better and maybe find out what we have in common; what are like and dislikes are."

"Okay Scorpia, look. You're a really nice person and a really good friend but I think we need to have a talk about…"

BOOM

"Oh come on! I spent ages working on that bot!"

Now only one bot remains standing. It’s the one that how low energy readings. At this point it's just easier to destroy the thing than allow the Rebellion to get their hands on First-Ones technology.

I get up of my seat and head over to the robotic communication pad, tapping the self-destruct button on the remaining bot.

“Do you have too?” Entrapta asks, hiding behind her long strands of purple hair. I really need to ask her if her hair is one of her inventions or if it is like some sort of princess magic.

“Don’t worry Entrapta. Catra’s right. We’ll find some more tech and you’ll get to create even better machines. Our Wildcat is smart, intelligence and quite amazing if you ask me. There is anything she can’t do.”

My fur starts to bristle. I have quite enough of this. I’m done being nice. Scorpia needs to back off. Frustrated, I spin around and face an anxious Scorpia and Entrapta. It’s becoming increasingly difficult to keep my cool. My claws are slightly unsheathed and my face feels like its turning an angry red colour.

“Hey urm Catra, are you okay?” Scorpia asks out of genuine concern.

“No Scorpia I am not okay! I’ve tried being nice and I can’t take it anymore. I’ve been trying to let you down easily and you still don’t get it. I don’t know what to do anymore.”

Scorpia looks at me confused... “Hey Wildcat, it’s okay. I was only trying to be nice. If you tell me what I’m doing that’s upsetting you we can fix it.”

Finally I’m starting to get somewhere with her but I'm now not quite sure what to say.

“I’m afraid its not that simple Scorpia.”

A few moments of tense silent fall between us, that is until Entrapta speaks up and looks towards me…

“Oh is this because your in love with Adora?”

“WHAT!?” Scorpia and I simultaneously shout and Scorpia leaps from her seat.

“Did you really not notice?” Entrapta directs this question to Scorpia. “All the evidence is there. They way Catra behaves around Adora, the fact that they have known each other all their lives, the fact that Catra hates it whenever anyone else is near Adora. Not to mention that Catra’s pupils dilate when she sees Adora, I wouldn't be surprised if her heart rate picks up too. There are many more reasons to this conclusion that I could give you but we’d be here forever. All the evidence suggests that Catra has deep emotional feelings for Adora. All the data is there and I don’t need to tell you that data never lies.”

My ears lie flat against my head and my tail wraps tightly around my right leg. One of my arms moves to hug myself whist I hide my face with my other hand. I can’t believe someone, a princesses no less, has called me out on my feelings for Adora. Thank stars Adora’s not in the room right now, there’s no telling how she’d react.

“Catra is this true?” Scorpia asks, I can hear her heart break in her voice.

I sigh deeply and remove my hand from face so I can face Entrapta and Scorpia. Scorpia appears to be shocked and I’m not surprise. Guess there’s no hiding from the truth.

“Yeah Scorpia it’s true. I love Adora.”

Scorpia practically squeals and pulls me into a bone crushing hug.

Wait she’s not mad?

“WILDCAT THAT’S GREAT. I’M SO HAPPY FOR YOU!”

I break out of Scorpia's grasp and leap onto all fours on the floor, before standing to dust myself off.

“So you’re not upset?”

“Well upset, maybe a little bit, jealous is a better word for it but over everything I’m really happy for you Wildcat. Why didn’t say anything before? If I had known I wouldn’t have tried flirting with?”

“Because Scorpia it’s not that simple. I didn’t want to hurt your feelings. I wanted to let you down easy but I didn’t know how?”

“Is that why you’ve been avoiding hanging out?”

“It’s complicated. It’s only part of the reason why I’ve been avoiding hanging out. I didn’t want to hurt your feelings by telling you that I don’t feel the say way about you as you do about me. You’re a good friend Scorpia but when you kept flirting with me I didn’t know how to tell you the truth so I shut you out instead.”

“Well I guess I did come on a bit too strong and I’m sorry about that.” Scorpia responds whilst rubbing her claw across the back of her neck.

“Thanks Scorpia. I mean it I really do. But the main reason why I was avoiding hanging out with you, both of you, is because I like spending time with Adora. She’s been there for me from the very beginning and I’ve been in love with her for a very, very long time. Now I come to think of it, I was probably in love with her before I even knew what love was.”

Scorpia looks at me with sparkles in her eyes and a beaming smile on her face.

“Stop it, don’t look at me like that.”

“Sorry, it just so romantic. I’m a sucker for romance. Does Adora know about your feelings for her?”

My ears once again lie flat against my head… "No. Adora doesn't know."

Scorpia's smile fades and it seems as though I have got Entrapta's attention too. Might as well tell them everything they want to know before they question me further.

"Adora doesn't know because I don't know how to tell her that I love her. Also, it's not safe to tell her that I love her you know - this is the Fright Zone not the 'Make Out Zone'. We all know what happens to those who have go against Hordak's laws on fraternization. I can't risk it. I can't lose Adora, she's my world, my everything. If keeping my love for her a secret means that she's safe then so be it. I love her so much it hurts. It hurts that I can't tell her how I feel about her."

I end up sitting myself down on the couch that I once got up from, overwhelmed with emotion.

"I don't know what to do anymore."

I want to cry but I refuse to, not in front of these two and definitely not in front of Adora. I don't fear crying in front of Adora, Adora has seen me cry a few times before, but breaking down in front of her when my breakdown is about my feelings for her is not something that'll be easy to explain.

I feel Scorpia sit down next to me and she starts to rub circles on my back with her claw.

"Hey Wildcat, it's okay, I get it. Adora means a lot to you and you look out for each other. I understand how scary being in love can be, but love is very powerful. It can be scary to tell someone you love them but I imagine its worth it, especially when she loves you in return. I'm sure Entrapta will agree with me. Right Entrapta?"

"Totally agree. Besides love is like science, it's full of possibilities but until you experiment with them you'll never get a result."

“So what am I an experiment now?” I ask sarcastically, giggling slightly at my own remark.

“Technically no, but theoretically yes. Besides who’s to say Adora doesn’t feel the same way about you… data never lies.”

Entrapta smiles and proceeds to pat me on the head with her arm of purple hair.

“Thanks guys, I mean it. Talking to you both has surprisingly helped, relaxed me a little bit. It feels better to get some of that off my chest.”

“Anytime Wildcat. So do you think you might want to tell Adora about your feelings for her now.”

“I’d love nothing more than to be able to tell her Scorpia, I just don’t know how to or when the right time to do so.”

“Well, if you want, me and Entrapta can help you figure something out. I’d love to help and I’m sure Entrapta would too?”

“Oh absolutely, it would be an excellent opportunity to observe social behaviour within the Fright Zone.”

“Alright but before you get ahead of yourselves I refuse to be a part of any social experiments. I don’t want Entrapta spying on me or Adora. That would be creepy and unsettling.”

Scorpia laughs and Entrapta looks a bit upset. I mean it though. I don’t want anyone spying on us, that would just freak me out and make me anxious.

“Okay, well be sure to update me so I can log the data. I’ll probably be working with Hordak on his new inventions for Salineas anyway so I wouldn’t really have time to observe you.”

Since that night, Scorpia and Entrapta have been helping me gain the confidence needed to tell Adora about my feelings for her. We’ve been hanging out a lot more too, sharing stories, having a laugh and genuinely a good time. I have come to realize that my feelings for Adora make me strong. I'm fairly confident that no matter what happens, I will be telling Adora that I love her for her very soon.

End Notes

Hope you enjoyed reading the extra chapter of Together at the End of the World. Scorpia may have been a little heart broken but above all wants her Wildcat to be happy.

Catra was so ready to tell Adora about her feelings for her but the events that occur in Chapter 7 (Sting of Emotions) and Chapter 8 (Salineas) meant that Catra only confirmed her love for Adora later in the fic. Please comment and let me know what you think. Hope you enjoyed reading it.
