When our eyes met

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/29990505.

Rating:
Mature

Archive Warning:
Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings

Categories:
F/F, F/M, M/M, Multi

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationships:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra), Bow/Glimmer (She-Ra), Mermista/Sea Hawk (She-Ra), Adora & Glimmer (She-Ra), Adora & Catra & Shadow Weaver | Light Spinner (She-Ra), Adora & Bow & Catra & Glimmer & Melog (She-Ra), Adora & Catra & Finn | Adora/Catra Child (She-Ra), Perfuma & Scorpia (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra), Shadow Weaver | Light Spinner (She-Ra), Angella (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Bow (She-Ra), Scorpia (She-Ra), Light Hope (She-Ra), Mermista (She-Ra), Mermista's Butler-Guard (She-Ra), Sea Hawk (She-Ra), Perfuma (She-Ra), Horde Prime (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Fluff and Angst, Fluff and Smut, Romantic Fluff, Drama & Romance, Romance, Drama, Angst, Sex, Rape/Non-con Elements, Implied/Referenced Rape/Non-con, Minor Character Death, Cute, Falling In Love, Love Confessions, True Love, Forbidden Love, LGBTQ Character, LGBTQ Female Character, Homophobic Language, Explicit Language, Abusive Relationships, Verbal Abuse, Emotional/Psychological Abuse, Gay Sex, Swordfighting, Hermaphrodites, Oral Sex, Kidnapping, Beating, Unplanned Pregnancy, Forced Pregnancy, Death, Child Death, Slow Romance, Cute Kids, Princes & Princesses, Alternate Universe - Medieval, Morning Cuddles, Morning Sickness, Morning Kisses, Morning Sex, Teenagers, Teen Angst, Teen Romance, Teen Crush, Sleepy Cuddles, Teenage Drama

Language:
English

Series:
Part 1 of Whatever it takes

Stats:
Published: 2021-03-12 Completed: 2022-07-17 Words: 360,878 Chapters: 60/60

When our eyes met

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/29990505.

Rating:
Mature

Archive Warning:
Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings

Categories:
F/F, F/M, M/M, Multi

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationships:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra), Bow/Glimmer (She-Ra), Mermista/Sea Hawk (She-Ra), Adora & Glimmer (She-Ra), Adora & Catra & Shadow Weaver | Light Spinner (She-Ra), Adora & Bow & Catra & Glimmer & Melog (She-Ra), Adora & Catra & Finn | Adora/Catra Child (She-Ra), Perfuma & Scorpia (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra), Shadow Weaver | Light Spinner (She-Ra), Angella (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Bow (She-Ra), Scorpia (She-Ra), Light Hope (She-Ra), Mermista (She-Ra), Mermista's Butler-Guard (She-Ra), Sea Hawk (She-Ra), Perfuma (She-Ra), Horde Prime (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Fluff and Angst, Fluff and Smut, Romantic Fluff, Drama & Romance, Romance, Drama, Angst, Sex, Rape/Non-con Elements, Implied/Referenced Rape/Non-con, Minor Character Death, Cute, Falling In Love, Love Confessions, True Love, Forbidden Love, LGBTQ Character, LGBTQ Female Character, Homophobic Language, Explicit Language, Abusive Relationships, Verbal Abuse, Emotional/Psychological Abuse,

Gay Sex, Swordfighting, Hermaphrodites, Oral Sex, Kidnapping, Beating, Unplanned Pregnancy, Forced Pregnancy, Death, Child Death, Slow Romance, Cute Kids, Princes & Princesses, Alternate Universe - Medieval, Morning Cuddles, Morning Sickness, Morning Kisses, Morning Sex, Teenagers, Teen Angst, Teen Romance, Teen Crush, Sleepy Cuddles, Teenage Drama

Language:
English

Series:
Part 1 of Whatever it takes

Stats:
Published: 2021-03-12 Completed: 2022-07-17 Words: 360,878
Chapters: 60/60

When our eyes met

by 101firegirl, Gigi571

Summary

Catra is the princess of the Horde, a powerful kingdom, spreading terror and misery to the rest of the nations of Etheria. Her mother, Light Spinner, a wicked sorceress, is trying to rule over the whole world but she finds a strong warrior.. a knight coming by the name Shera, who is preventing her plans from becoming true. Would she go this far to use her daughter to push her enemy out of her way during the still peaceful days? Will Catra lure the knight away for her mother to succeed her goals?

Notes

———————— ⋆·☆·⋆ ————————

Gigi here!

Hello everyone! This is my first Catradora fanfiction in this platform, It started as a roleplay with 101firegirl, though we've decided to add some things and make it a fanfiction

I hope you'll enjoy it !

Small update! I'm working on rewriting the story so I can make it easier to read. Soo you will notice some changes on the paragraphs or maybe on the way I write some chapters. It is going really good so far and I always accept your comments. Your opinion is important! <3
The chapters with ❤️ mean that they have smut in them ,the ones with ♡ have non-con, the ones with 💀 has death and gore

———————— ⋆·☆·⋆ ————————

Just a glance

"There's a letter. An invitation,your majesty"

A messenger began to talk, having been given the right to speak further by the woman in front of him. The glow of the lights illuminated the queen's face, making her look evil. Having the power of dark magic made the woman fearsome. It was a great reason for her enemies as well to tremble on the sound of her name. Her eyes were a light green colour. Her slim silhouette sat on her throne while a hand was playing slowly with a foggy cloud between her fingers. She didn't have the patience to listen to the whole invitation the man was reading. A quiet sigh escaped her red velvet lips and looked down at the man. He could already feel these green eyes piercing his, a really uncomfortable feeling he always had every time he went to this Kingdom. He could only wonder what this woman had done to everyone in there to be so obsessed and loyal to her. The man cleared his throat thickly as the woman brushed her black hair back and stood up before finally speaking.

"The Bright Moon brings boring messengers every single time… get to the point. I don't have more time to waste" Her kingdom and the kingdom of Bright Moon.. were standing on shaking ground. The relationships she had with the queen of that kingdom, Angella, got ruined from the time she got sent away because of her summoning dark magic. After that the only thing the black haired woman wanted was to see her under her command and she was close to achieve that.

"Queen Angela is inviting the queen and the princess of the Horde to her palace as well as the rest of the queens, kings, princes and princesses. It's a big celebration accompanied by tournaments, masquerade balls and feasts. Her majesty wants to know your—"

The man got interrupted by the noise of the door opening on the other side of the room.

"Are you serious!? For real, mother!? You brought yet another prince to me? I told you countless times to — Ah… hi…?" The young brunette princess said as she walked inside the room. Her cat- like ears laying back against her head and her eyes looked at the messenger before the man bowed to her. Her mismatching eyes looked up at the queen. She was still so frustrated about all this but she tried to at least control herself even if she was late.

"I'm sorry… for the interruption…" She continued.

"Catra, you knew I would have a meeting…" Light Spinner walked down close to her and placed a hand on her shoulder in a gentle manner. Catra could feel that she was mad at her. "We are invited to the palace of Bright Moon ,my dear… I'm sure it will be.. More interesting than staying in your champers …" The older one spoke again.

Catra loved to write books. She could write for hours and that's what she was actually doing but now with her mother scolding her about it… she couldn't do anything else than follow her in that palace. She already knew that she would try to force into marriage. Her eyes looked away and nodded "Of course… I'll come with you if you want to go" She spoke as a smile formed on Spinner's face and she took a small step away from her. She needed to get out of this place for fresh air after all. "Excuse me again, I'm leaving you two to discuss" She bowed and walked away, letting the other two to talk. Light Spinner looked at her as she walked. Her eyes returned to the man to make sure he got the message and finally left. Catra on the other hand got prepared for their trip. She gently placed some clothes in her travel bags as she informed her maid to help her. Her companion joined her with some guards as well.

This night was slowly passing by. Catra's night was peaceful but her mother decided to ruin it. The last one walked inside the room as she set down some papers "what is it? I've been taking care of my things already… I suppose you're not going to stay so polite on the same table with Queen Angella.." Catra spoke with confidence. As much as she knew that if she made her mother really angry she would be in trouble she felt lucky enough to risk it. Her blue and yellow eyes looked up at her and crossed her arms over her chest while laying on her bed.

"But I will be… being polite is the only way sometimes ,Catra… you will learn that in time but.. you won't be fooling around once we arrive. Not writing or reading… it's a good opportunity for us to act, not only for your wedding but for the kingdom's expansion… I've been informed that a special guest will be there and I'm going to need your help" Spinner approached the feline and touched her cheek as the princess pulled away and her ears twitched.
"I'm not taking part in any kind of war between you and your enemies…"

"What you don't understand, Catra, is that my enemies are my kingdom's enemies ….which means that all this will go on you one day.. You don't want to rule during war don't you? That's why I'm rushing to find a good prince ,my dear… so I can make it easier for you to rule over a great nation " The brunette looked away, she really didn't want to have war with everyone in this land but… marrying with someone just because she would expand the grounds and have allies made her stomach sick. The queen said no more though ,leaving her to her own thoughts as she could feel herself getting tired after a while. The light of the moon was brushing her features softly and gave her a beautiful dream.

That same moon seemed to guide a lone knight. Long blond hair tied into a ponytail and armour ready to take every strike as she walked through the woods. Her fellow knights rushed to the palace of Bright Moon while she was dealing with several Horde knights around the Bright Moon’s grounds that made her part away from the rest of the group. After all the fights she rode into the castle’s courtyard early in the morning her tired form was almost crawling down off the horse and walking inside the halls to get to her old friend, Glimmer. That friend of hers happened to be the princess of the castle and she immediately rushed towards her when she heard Swift Wind, the knight's horse, in the courtyard.

She had so long to see her that she actually missed her a lot. "Adora !!!! You're finally here!" The princess cheered and embraced the taller one.“Well look at you!You didn’t change at all, I must say.” She commented. The same words came out of her about Bow, a friend of hers and a great knight as well. Adora chuckled and rubbed the back of her head.

“Thanks ah I would like to stay and talk for the rest of the night and the next day till the night's masquerade but ..you know… I am tired because someone left me behind to deal with these Horde soldiers…” Adora hummed in reply.
She clearly spoke the last words with a more aggressive tone since she looked at Bow who was just dusting off his armour and chuckled before he gave her a kind smile. “Ah you know we couldn’t stay there because of three… four Horde soldiers” He explained.

“There were more than three, Bow… Next time you will be the ones fighting them, not me”Adora raised an eyebrow and crossed her arms over her chest.

“You have the sword, Adora… We don’t have it” The man quickly replied back and wrapped an arm around the princess “So, princess, where are we going to stay for the whole day till the ball begins? The tourneys will start tomorrow according to your mother” He was close enough to her to not call her mother by her title. He and Glimmer seemed to always have had a close relationship and he had stayed by her chambers last night so he had to change rooms. Glimmer's purple eyes looked at him and smiled at the touch before she gestured to them to follow her.

Their chambers were downstairs. The whole palace was bright inside with a light pink, white and a gold combination. Huge hallways were guiding them deeper into the building. The first floor was where the nobles and princesses with princes would stay for these days while the knights wouldn’t stay by the side of the princesses nor even on the same floor. Glimmer’s hand showed them their rooms, one on the left of the hallway and the other on the opposite side, on the right. “Choose and get inside. Mother got everything prepared for you two to relax after the long trip." Glimmer added and gave Adora a small smile before walking away "I will be downstairs for a while. Some nobles have arrived."

After leaving them behind, Bow walked his way inside the room. Adora on the other hand placed some bags of hers on the wooden bed and leaned against it after undoing her armour. Her blonde hair was tied up which she quickly let down. She closed her eyes and took a huge breath to nuzzle against the mattress. Being a knight made her want to take part in the tourney so she would do it when she got the chance to talk to Queen Angella but first of all..she needed some rest. The nap Adora took was a full day's sleep. She literally slept till the middle of next day.

The evening had arrived and her muscular form was laying down on the bed carelessly. Her eyes tiredly opened up so she could stand up and head off to meet with Glimmer and Bow. Servants were making the preparations for tonight's masquerade for the whole day. Adora managed to add herself into the tournaments of the next few days, though when the rest of the guests began to arrive she wasn't ready. The blonde ran into the bath house, cleaning herself as fast as she could before preparing her outfit and mask. She had just enough time to get everything ready before she had to get dressed. Once she was dressed up, luckily allowed to wear a nice dress suit rather than a dress as per the usual for those of her gender, she put her mask on before rushing to make it in time. She also made sure she had her introductory card on her too. Many of the knights in the kingdom of Brightmoon had been allowed magical weapons, after proving themself worthy. Adora was the latest to prove herself, earning herself the title and sword of She-ra, Knight of Power, so she decided to go by that rather than her true name.

On the other hand, Catra didn't have to rush for anything. She and her mother had already arrived early in the palace to get ready. Their bags and clothes were set into the wardrobes by the servants and Light Spinner got the chance to stay alone in her own chamber. Catra would get ready on her own. Her maid got her a nice velvet red dress which would gently wrap around her torso and a perfect pair of short gloves. Everyone, especially her mother, wanted this ball to be perfect. Light Spinner was on to something big, Catra could see that. She had already given her a strange… order about a special guest being introduced by the name of Shera. She knew that Shera would be there and knowing it was her mother's enemy she could tell she wanted her out of the way for a couple of days so she could work on her plans. The thing was that…. Where and how would she find the woman her mother was talking about?

Early that night the princess was ready. Her cleavage was shown as her hair was half tied up and the rest forced to become curly, laying down on her shoulders. She carried her matching mask which was a must for the occasion and stepped out of the room with her short heels. She hated these shoes but.... She couldn't say anything to her mother. There would be many men.. handsome ones, wealthy ones. She couldn't 'miss' that opportunity as the older one would tell her. The night would be long. The woman stepped inside the huge ballroom. People were dancing, drinking and chatting. All this noise was making her sick sometimes. So many eyes looked at her but she didn't like anyone in there. They all seemed so...fake. The brown haired girl didn't want to have any part in this party even though plenty of the guests wanted to have a dance with her. She declined almost every invitation. Her eyes looked away every time they tried to make a move during the dance. She didn't like the whole idea of finding the 'chosen one' for her at a party. She couldn't choose someone who she knew for five minutes… Her ears twitched when she heard the sound of her favourite music to play. She leaned back to her seat, hissing at her mother's eyes that fell on a guest that just arrived and offered gifts. "No.." She murmured, knowing what her mom's expression meant.

Adora for her matter was decked out in white and gold lining. Her kingdom was the richest one so of course she would have a rather lavish outfit to show off such wealth. She wore a matching mask that only covered her eyes and nose. Her hair being done up in a high ponytail and a few strands being left down by her face. Adora wore simple white dress shoes, though she had barely managed to keep them white. She was really looking forward to this night. The guests, the drinks and food. The nice music.. Everything was perfect. The knight was standing there a bit nervously as she arrived late. She noticed and winced but approached the announcer with her card just apologising for being late. She knew all the attention would suddenly be on her. Her jaw clenched just slightly, knowing she also probably looked very much like a male, at least from far away. She hoped her pony tail and the bulge at her chest would help dissuade the idea after she got among the other guests. The announcer took her card after just giving her an annoyed glance, before clearing his throat and speaking.

"Knight She-Ra, the Knight of Power from the Kingdom of Brightmoon"

As soon as she was allowed to leave she did. She managed to keep her pace down to a normal one as she walked down the stairs, head held high and arms by her side. She was looking around for her friends though she was unable to spot any of them due to the masks and the mass of people in her way. Thankfully her height definitely helped. The only one who noticed her was the feline princess. She was… stunning. How could she not notice her? Even if she thought it would take her hours to find Shera she spotted her immediately and she wouldn't miss the chance to speak to her. She couldn't fail to succeed on a simple task her mother gave to her. Nothing would go wrong if she approached her but then again....

How do you approach someone who looks like an angel in disguise?

Are you ready to dance?

Catra’s eyes fixed at the entrance while dancing slowly with a prince who asked for a dance and she couldn't refuse in front of her mother. She was so surprised by Adora’s looks that she almost remained with her mouth open for a few seconds. A knight coming late? How unusual, yet the woman didn’t seem to care at the moment.

The shorter one bowed at the man she just got forced to dance with and smiled before she walked away from him. She didn't want to dance with any of them but that knight who got her attention, forgetting everything about the words of her mother. By approaching the taller woman she looked up at her and spoke after raising up her voice due to the music being too loud in the ballroom.

"Did you get the invitation late?" Her lips a soft red colour, to match with her dress as a short smirk formed on her face. Adora was at that moment taking a drink from one of the servants who were walking around to offer them treats and drinks. She murmured a quiet thank you to them, as she did, taking a sip when she heard someone behind her. "Hello there—" Adora didn't know the shorter one was a princess till she turned around.

"Excuse me, I didn't even introduce myself , I'm Catra, the princess of the Horde Kingdom" The brunette smiled as the blonde turned around before giving her a gentle but nervous and shy smile.

"I bet you've heard my name and full title by the announcer, I'm Shera" The blond one chuckled and bowed, touching the princess' hand to place a kiss on her. She was a really beautiful woman Adora could tell. “Pleased to meet you, princess. To answer your question, I arrived late yesterday. I almost didn't have enough time to get ready since I stopped to help someone on the road. The rest of my party left me behind, so I arrived late in the palace and then… I had to rest... But I don't mind. I still made it here after all."

Bright, sky blue eyes looked down at the other from under the golden mask. Her own face had very light makeup, just enough to slightly emphasise her jaw and cheek bones while helping to make them look more prominent and 'strong', though she hadn't bothered to bind her chest, so she clearly wasn't trying to pass as masculine. She didn't include the pony tail. The princess scanned her from head to toe while she was answering. She couldn't go out of the door of her chambers unless she put on her corset, so it was truly a surprise to see a woman being dressed up like that even though… She found it interesting.

"Different customs. Women and men alike are allowed to dress as they choose. As long as they cover the most important areas" Adora broke the silence, taking a sip once more. Catra's mismatching eyes looked up at hers.

"I see..well...what a nice company you had then.. to leave you alone to get the work done, right?" Catra's voice was smooth and calm as she joked "Ah they knew I could do it, though an unexpected extra addition had been added to the problem, which is why it took longer than it was supposed to" Adora explained.

The other one wanted to dance with that knight. She was so...interesting but ...she wasn't sure what to do. The man was asking for a dance not the woman though...they were both girls. Her ears were shown. They were down to avoid the noise and her tail slowly waggled under the dress. Adora noticed her ears before realising just how loud it was. She lowered her voice and hoped to make it a bit more comfortable for the shorter woman. The knight smiled as she continued, knowing by the look in her eye that she cared more about what everyone would say than herself having fun. "For once stop worrying about what others will think. Do what you want to do. I know for sure everyone from my kingdom won't bat an eye, along with most of our allies" The blonde spoke and she was right, after all they were all wearing masks.

Her hand raised as a gesture for her to dance with the princess when she accepted it she grinned wider, gently leading her to the dance floor, hesitating before placing her hand on her waist. For a moment she was worried about making her uncomfortable. Catra's eyes looked up at the other and smiled kindly at her being thoughtful of holding her waist. It was just a dance. She didn't have to worry about it. Adora smiled back down at her, gently taking the lead in the dance while keeping her touch on her, guiding rather than forcing as Catra's steps were steady and began to dance with her. The brunette's eyes were staring for too long in these blue ones. The knight's eyes were so.. beautiful. She blushed when she noticed that she was staring for long, fingers tensed and looked away from these magnetising eyes. Adora stared down into the shorter woman's eyes, just as mesmerised by the blue and gold. A silly smile formed into her lips as they were the only ones showing. In return, Catra broke the long eye contact as she gently tried not to squeeze her. "Your eyes are really... Beautiful" She didn't want her to feel uncomfortable by the compliment, but she just couldn't help but admit the truth. Her slim yet curvy silhouette slowly moved in front of her and gave her a small smile while dancing. "I didn't expect to have great company for tonight, to be honest" She added after a while.

"So kind of you~But I really have a nice time .... Haven't been in a ball like this before" The knight had been in more....boring ones... She chuckled as they would come close and not at times, she continued to dance all the way around with her. Her eyes looked down at her when the dance would end and bowed.

Catra wished for her to stay there for longer.. "I've been having a wonderful time... Definitely the best ball I've been into..." She bowed in respect to the knight when the dance ended and took a step back "Also… I'm glad that I've made your evening more enjoyable" she continued as the blonde one would lean forward, taking her hand into her two and gently placing a kiss on it. Before they part ways, though, the taller one would remain close to the feline. "I will...see you again " She added as she wanted to spend more time with her even though she was a knight..

"I'm looking forward to it, princess…" Adora raised her hand, backing up to disappear into the crowd. A slight smirk was on her face, as she watched the princess walking off to where her mother would be. They couldn't share more words, more steps on this dance since the music had stopped. They separated so none of their companies would get suspicious. Actually Light Spinner already saw them together but that was her plan after all.

The knight couldn't believe that she would have fallen for someone she didn't know at all, but she felt her heart pacing every time their eyes met. She was sure that the feline felt that connection as well but she didn't want to risk it all from the beginning. Eventually, she found her party then before walking over. Bow raised an eyebrow as she could tell that he saw everything "I saw you flirting with that princess… You know you'll never have anything more than that interaction, right?.." He didn't want to be mean but… that was the truth and it was actually more realistic. "..Her mother would rather kill you than allow a simple knight to marry her daughter. No matter how high a ranking the knight has"

Adora sighed at his words, looking back at where the princess was. She winked when she saw what was happening, being already able to tell that her mother had seen them together and disapproved of it. She knew her friends could tell if she had fallen for that princess but she tried really hard to not show it. She looked back at them then, shrugging "Perhaps not, but she seemed interested. Perhaps once she ascends to the throne I will have a better chance" She joked, looking at princess Glimmer “Hey..Glimmer? What can you tell me about the Horde Kingdom?”

The princess narrowed her eyes ,that was truly random and she didn't know where to begin. "A money and power hungry kingdom, to be honest" The purple haired shrugged gently and continued. For her friend to be interested so randomly about that kingdom something might have happened so..she was worried about her. "They've conquered most parts of Etheria. Their queen and my mother had a conflict years ago and now the Horde are just quiet and peaceful I guess..for moons now... Mother is afraid of them making a sneaky attack but she still has hopes that we could work things out as you can see. She invited their queen and princess as much as I know...I didn't hear their name getting called by the announcer yet so they might not come. I've also heard its people are as mean as their soldiers. Hungry for power and blood for whoever dares to stand in their way... Many kingdoms made small alliances so they would not get completely destroyed by them...the Horde has enough power already to make other queens and kings sign papers willingly but.... I'm not sure their people will have great lives under their commands”

Adora’s smile fell at these words of the princess of BrightMoon. How could the brunette that she had just met own such a kingdom? The girl seemed so sweet ,so shy even..! Her eyes stared at the ground. She wanted to ask more but she was afraid. This news was worse than having her wings pulled out of her back. She knew she loved the feline. "Why do you care to know more about the Horde anyway?" Glimmer continued to talk in the background. She noticed her face getting paler the more she was talking about the Horde so..she had to ask.

"Because I met a princess....and that was the Princess of the Horde Kingdom I just flirted with..." Adora hesitated but spoke again.

At that time, Catra’s eyes were looking at her mother and then on the floor. She knew she would have to play it dumb but the truth was that the blonde one was truly charming. She knew only by the looks of her mother’s face that she saw them dancing and that she clearly didn't like what she saw. Ears perked back and arms wrapped over her chest "What?.... Do I have to dance only with the ones you choose? The knight asked me for a dance. It's nothing special. Also I’m working on this brilliant idea of yours… She’s Shera.. " She puffed, not being able to speak the truth in front of people and glared at her mother who simply did the same and sat back down to her seat

"Oh really? Did you see what she was wearing? Is that who you want to dance with? You could dance with other princesses if it was the normal thing to do, don't you think? I didn’t tell you to go show off to everyone that you two are close… it will cause more confusion and suspicions. On the other hand.. I’ve seen your look, young one.. Don’t think that I’m stupid to not notice her and your stares… " Her mother spoke out and huffed "You know there are plenty of things for you to do to ruin our reputation. Be careful with your choices"

"Just enjoy the ball, mother.... You don't have to start an argument here…There’s nothing going on between us, okay? I was only dancing with her because it would be rude to reject her offer" The younger leaned over the table and rested her head on her hand while having her elbows on the table. She was confused as to why she was feeling this warmth in her chest when Shera was around her. It was her job to just keep an eye on her but now she couldn't take her eyes off of her! After some minutes, she finally made peace- at least for now- with her mother and would start to have a taste of the food in the ball. As the time passed by, the brunette was peeking between her hair locks to see the great warrior. The older woman would start again to murmur about her making bad decisions and she couldn't stand the sound of her voice anymore so she stood up. She also needed to refresh her makeup so she made that excuse to slide away from her mother.

Catra walked into the bathroom to check if everything was alright, though her slim form was feeling too tired in her dress. Adora, on the other hand, was glancing back at Catra at that moment when she left. She noticed she had disappeared and sighed quietly. She looked at Glimmer, before bringing her drink to her lips and finishing her glass in two gulps "Ah..... Look Glimmer.... I'll be right back..." She stated coldly. Adora was pretty serious this time... She felt like she wanted to just drown her worries of Catra being her enemy and not someone she should dance with..even more to flirt with. She loved to flirt with the girl. She loved how her hands felt on hers. How their moves in the ballroom were perfectly matched. How she swung her with swift but soft moves. How her slim yet curvy form was dancing like a feather in the wind, letting her to guide her to the next move. She couldn’t take that scene out of her mind. These mismatching eyes pierced through her ocean blue ones.

She was so deep in her thoughts that she forgot how to walk. She snapped out of it quickly and headed for the bathroom slowly with Glimmer furrowing her eyebrows and stopping her by holding her from her wrist "Hey just — Just be careful .....you shouldn't be overwhelmed by it but.. just keep your eyes open.. and don't drink" She huffed knowing that she could drink the whole bottle.

Adora paused for a moment at the last comment and shook her head "I have a tourney the next few days. I can't afford to have a hangover. Don't worry." She said as she made her way to the bathroom. She let her hair down the moment she got in there and was about to take her mask off when she saw Catra and paused. Catra was leaning on the counter of the sink, trying to calm down a little by the music and the partying of everyone but her. She hated that she was already in the age to marry and her mother was ready to give her off just because of the kingdom's sake and the alliances. A quiet sigh escaped with the mask still on but soon her ears would twitch up to the sound of the door opening as Adora came inside.

"Princess... Well I didn't expect to see you so soon" The blond smiled at her playfully, keeping the mask on as she watched her and bowing slightly.

Catra could only bet that she looked nice under that mask. Her hair though was just amazing, so long and light blonde.. she hadn’t seen such bright colours before. It was rare. Clearly she forgot every worry of hers within a moment when she saw her. Her eyes looked away at the comment and smiled a little bit "Yes. I needed some time off the crowd..what about you?" She wouldn't reveal how she watched her all the time in that party but she could tell an excuse to leave from around her mom easily.

Adora would chuckle, feeling that they felt the same way about crowded places." same for me… " Her eyes looked at the woman, not able to tell if she was good or bad. She heard enough about her from Glimmer… she couldn't help but be both disappointed and curious as to how this princess could even do any harm to her or to anyone. A shaky breath was taken and she continued. This time her tone was soft, not wanting to accuse her for anything or her to feel like she was getting attacked. "I am going to be honest.. I have not heard many pleasant things about your kingdom... Is your mom as...." She paused "as they say? I suppose it is the only respectful way to put it... I know it's sudden..but.."

Catra furrowed her eyebrows, not knowing what exactly they were saying about her mother but… since she talked about her mother she didn't know how to respond to that. "I don't know what the others say about us, but no... If they spread bad rumours, they're wrong..People talk before they think and mostly their judgement is way worse than the reality" She murmured and leaned in closer to the mirror to apply her lipstick. Even if Shera seemed to be bothered too much about the things she's heard, the feline couldn't care less. Sometimes others being afraid and respectful was the best choice but she didn't want the blonde one to be afraid of her or something like that "Anything else you want to ask?... Did you see my mother and you asked me about her?"

Adora quickly realised she had hit sensitive territory in asking about her mother. She paused before moving to stand beside her. She wanted to trust her. She wanted to flirt and banter with her like she was before she had been told those rumours. She paused before deciding for herself just who Catra was. She wouldn't let rumours ruin any chance she may have. "I did see you talking to her.. And I noticed you seemed irritated. I just wanted to offer you a chance to stop thinking about it.. Should you want to spend the rest of the ball with me and my friends?" She offered, smiling gently at her from the mirror "I.. Can't really understand what it's like being a princess.. But I know it's not as easy as people make it out to be. So.. I want to offer you a chance to forget about it for a while. To be yourself, free of judgement."

A chuckle escaped Catra's lips at her words. Her fingers gently tapped on the lipstick and took a small breath to give a look at the taller woman. "… mother can be irritating sometimes.. and I can come with you... But don't you think anything will change.." The girl's ears were up. She was feeling comfortable with her even after that question. She didn't want to stay with the older one. It was too boring.

The knight let out a quiet, relieved sigh while smiling and offering her arm to her "Dont dash my hopes just yet princess. Let a girl have her dream for at least a night, yeah?" She smiled back at her, before realising her hair was still down. Her eyes widen for a moment before she lift her arms, hastily pulling it back up into its high ponytail, pulling a few strands down again and making sure the little poof was in position before offering her arm again "My apologies, Princess Glimmer would gut me if she knew I took my hair down before the ball was done”

Catra’s eyes looked at her while tying the hair up and she gave her a small smile in response "You look better with them down. Not that you're not just as charming with it down... But" She trailed off, not wanting to be rude but she preferred these golden hair down for some reason. She began to walk out so she could join these friends of hers, only for Glimmer to get worried. Especially when she saw Catra with the other one. What was Adora thinking? Glimmer could believe that Adora was really stunned by the news that she heard about the Horde but this....this was madness. She brought their princess to them. Didn't she get that none of them would want her around? The purple haired girl looked at the princess from head to toe, glaring at her mostly and wrapped her arms over her chest when they arrived .

"Glimmer, Bow...Perfuma, this is Catra. Catra, this is Glimmer, the princess of BrightMoon. Bow my fellow knight and Perfuma the princess of Plumeria" Adora spoke for the shorter one when they arrived close. Catra bowed and gave them a nervous smile. She didn't use to talk to many people "It's a pleasure meeting you...~"

"Adora.... May I speak to you .... Privately ..." Glimmer was obviously pissed off. Her glare was fixed at the tall knight before grabbing her by the hand to walk.

Will I see you again?

“What is it?!” Adora couldn’t help but growl out the whisper, her eyes looking down at Glimmer and crossing her arms over her chest.

“I told you that she is the leader of the worst damn nation and you’re still around her? You brought her to us ! You really want to get killed or get us killed? What are you thinking?” She hissed. Her eyes looked at her only to give her a small push on her shoulder

“Hey- I've decided that I'm not going to let rumours tell me what to think. I'll judge her myself. Now, if you'll excuse me.." The blond bowed slightly before turning and walking away, irritated at Glimmer, but she knew they would eventually work through this. Glimmer couldn’t hold her back, she couldn’t tell her anything other than stay behind and glare at the woman. Her eyes looked at the woman while she was leaving and took a small breath before tightening her fists to walk back to her friends and that… feline.

Adora was still mad. Catra could see it so she would wrap both arms around her left arm. Blue eyes looked down at the feline who was offering a smile at her. The cat girl didn't know if she should feel comfortable around these people or not even if something told her she was..not welcomed there. Her guard would be up again. Her eyes scanned her surroundings as ears would tilt up and still remain close to the only one she felt more comfortable with, Shera. She had a word or two as the time passed by. She didn't think they were as judging as she thought or they weren't because she was in front of them. She didn't know what they would say if she wasn’t around. Adora, in the meantime, noticed that Catra was still staying close to her and she made an effort to include her into the conversation. She always had a hand on her arm or their shoulders were brushing against each other only to reassure and comfort her or at least she was trying to. She kept her voice quieter than she normally would have, though still audible for everyone as she didn't want to irritate Catra's ears, especially with her being so close to her. Seeing she still didn't relax. She paused before bending closer to her ear to murmur "Would you rather go walk around the garden? I've heard that it is open for exploration for the party members" she spoke in confidence while Catra was already thinking of how rude it would be to attempt to walk away

"I'll go grab my coat." The princess hummed after excusing herself for leaving. The girl went back to her own seat to grab her cardigan and see her mom dancing with ..someone. A tall man with white and hints of silver hair. He must be someone with power, she guessed.

Catra walked to the door made of glass, to open it and go outside. She supposed Shera would have been there too, so it wasn't that she would be alone to call her guards. She quickly covered herself with the coat, hating the cold weather, as always. Her tail slowly moved and a silent purr escaped her throat at the heat that she felt.

Adora was already waiting outside so when Catra came out, she smiled gently and offered her arm to her again "I noticed you weren't really comfortable with my friends. I figured you might prefer somewhere else instead"

"What? No...no they were ...lovely... I'm not used to being around many people… so talking to them or.. starting a conversation is difficult" Though the opposite happened with Shera. She would always think of something to tell so she could stay around her.

"You seemed uncomfortable, is all. You weren't talking much, and staying close to me, ears constantly shifting. I probably should have asked you up front..." She followed as she moved around though, just as eager to stay close to her as Catra had been to her.

Catra cursed herself under her breath. Why was it so difficult to hide any emotion? Her ears were always going to give her out just like they did now and many times in the past. "I would be fine, but... thanks, I like it more here" She breathed out in a sharp tone, nuzzling in her coat. Her eyes looked at the garden while walking forward. Orbs glowing in the dark.

Adora noticed her irritation at that and smiled "You're good at masking. Don't worry. I'm sure nobody else noticed. I've just-... I've just been very good at reading people. Or at least their body language." She nodded to her thanking her, just smiling "No need to thank me. I just wanted to make sure you were comfortable. I did not want to ruin your night at the ball after all" Catra cut her sentence quickly when she said that "No ..no, in fact, I bet you can't ruin this night, it's the best ball, I told you already." Her eyes looked up at her only to take a short breath to change the subject

"... The night's so cold.... Aren't you cold?... Didn't you bring any coat?" Adora could give her hers at any time. Thankfully, the night sky was beautiful to watch and some lanterns here and there were making it possible for Adora to see the road since Catra could see in the dark "Oh, the fabric of my suit is thick, it keeps me warm enough, I'll be alright" She smiled gently at her, noticing her eyes, unable to keep from pausing to admire them for a bit. The feline at that moment was leaning to smell one of these beautiful flowers. This palace really had a great garden. Maybe it was the fact she had a great company for once but she didn't know. Adora on her side saw her lean in to smell the flower and she smiled but looked away.. She saw some blossoms on a tree branch up above their head, reaching up to gently pull it down and sniffing at a blossom

"This place is bigger than I expected" The princess whispered. Her arms wrapped around herself and she fixed her dress to sit on a bench in the middle, glancing up at the sky and letting out a sigh. She patted the seat right next to her after taking a seat "Aren't you tired of standing all the time? Though you seem to be a strong one, I've seen a lot of knights being so weak... You really look like the whole definition of one ,Shera.." That comment made the blonde one giggle, gently letting go of the branch and seeing her sit down; she couldn't help another giggle that bubbled up her throat. She really was giggly with her, wasn't she? She sat down by Catra though leaving her legs open, sitting like the fighter she is with her back straight and posing confidently and self assured. She looked at Catra, raising an eyebrow

"I'd flex for you but the suit would cover it up..." she teased, smiling "...but you don't earn the title Knight of Power by being weak. Though I have to use the sword given to me to use the abilities that come with the title... I have magic in me now as well, which most definitely helps"
Catra had seen plenty who were weak to flex power, money, attitude and charm. This girl wasn't that type of person it seemed, at least she didn’t come up straight to flex anything to her. She chuckled noticing she was all so cheerful around her, at least she didn't seem so giggly when she was with her friends and that said a lot to the feline "So you use that magic to be more powerful?" Was that a tricky question? She really wasn't sure if that knight got the title while practising or just sitting back and using that magic to be strong.

"Oh, no... All it really does physically is amplify my own strength. And I have to.. well, transform for it to take place. I can't just wave a hand and destroy an army you know?" The blonde chuckled, smiling "It's a sword. And…well, actually it chooses who wields it just as much as the Queen does. I have it sitting as a bracelet right now. I wont pull it out though, I don't want someone to come along and believe I'm threatening you or something... But before I got the Sword I had to earn it. Had to prove myself." Funnily enough for the feline, she didn't have any magic going on in her, she was just an Etherian, princess or not. She didn't have all these sparkles or super strength or ...anything like the rest of the royals.

Even if she was a princess which was alone a reason to have a magical power, well… It seemed it wasn't her thing? She wasn't chosen. Even a knight got chosen by a sword... Her lips made a small sad smile. She couldn't let her thoughts about this ruin her mood. "And how did you prove yourself worthy?" Her ears perked up. She was curious, but not because she would try to fight her.

She was only interested in hearing stories of others having powers and such.

Adora’s smile faded slightly when she heard her question pausing "The village I was living and training at had just been attacked.. I managed to hold them off until more soldiers came and drove them off completely. That's how I met Princess Glimmer, actually. I saved her life in that battle. She had been visiting a friend that lived there under cover.. Ended up saving her life a few times.. After that I was taken to the capital to train there. First battle I saved more people... I guess I didn't really prove myself as much as I did show who I was as a person...? The sword doesn't choose people who lust after power or do things for their own personal gain" she paused "..If I sound like I'm bragging... I apologise, I'm not trying to brag or show off to you.." The knight hesitated before scratching the back of her neck, revealing that some of the hair at the base of her neck had been shaved off into an undercut, the hair short, kept close to her skin. Adora hadn't mentioned that she had nearly died that day, and had been left with more scars on her body then she believed she would get for the rest of her life, though none had left scars on her face, having preferred to go for the larger target that was her body.

Catra for all this time was listening to her while staring at these blue orbs, noticing her hair as well this time and tilting her head a little. She did expect her to have scars, after all being a knight is a difficult job if you do it properly. Her hands placed on her own lap and shook her head when she finished "No no, don't worry about it. I asked you to tell me after all.. you're only replying, that's all" She knew that some day in the past her kingdom and Bright Moon were at war but she didn't know Glimmer so she didn’t say anything when she met the princess. "But I'm the only one making the questions.. Do you want to ask anything?" She didn't know what to expect. She wanted to learn more but by asking her questions would make Shera more suspicious of her.

The blonde paused for a moment, before looking at her "This may sound odd but... What is it like to be a princess? I know it's not as easy as everyone makes it sound... So tell me about it. The good, the bad... I want to know... Though you don't have to answer, and I won't expect every little detail about your life. If you don't want to answer, please, just tell me and I won't push" she smiled at her.

Catra's eyes looked at the ground, feeling her bones finally getting warm and she gently shrugged "I don't know how exactly to answer that... Most of the princesses have magic powers so that comes with more respect to their name. Whoever has more power physically , politically, money or magic is more respected in the meetings of the kingdoms whenever we don't have war of course." She paused for a second to take a small breath. She didn't start complaining about her own problems. "Good thing is.. that you can travel around if you want, far away and not worry about not having enough food. For example, you learn calligraphy and how to speak or stand up properly... Though we're supposed to be leading every war which means.. you can't have many friends. You can't walk around the enemy's grounds... You can walk alone around the kingdom only with a guard or guards because not everyone likes the way you lead... You can't drink or eat at a party without the fear of consuming something poisoned.. Can't like someone of the enemy kingdom.. or fall in love with someone because you only have a few choices.. " She hesitantly said the last words "You see.. When we are in the age to marry we have to get someone with the same wealth or power as ours and it's a difficult situation for some... Queens and kings decide who the princess will get according to what kingdom the other is ruling over and how good his reputation is.. princesses don't have a say in all this" She hummed tapping her dress with her thumb. Her nervousness was visible since she knew she had a liking for the woman beside her whose smile soon faded more and more while she was talking.

Adora felt frustrated for her, for the lack of freedom. She wanted to put a hand on her shoulder to comfort her, but she knew it would be better to keep her hands off her. She was a knight and just like that her hopes were dashed. She was only a knight. She knew she wouldn't have been able to move on… but it was nice pretending, at least for a bit, that she had the freedom to be with her "I... Am sorry to hear that... I wish you were able to choose who you want to marry... Without constantly fearing for your life and the life of others..." She wasn't pitying her though, just offering support, acknowledging the fact that she didn't think it was right "I believe that the choice on who you marry should be completely up to you, no matter if you are nobility or not. I didn't come from anywhere special... orphan girl who was found and taken in. I got lucky, I suppose..." She paused before looking at her "If there is any way for me to assist you, don't hesitate to ask for it" She smiled gently at her then, offering her hand, but not forcing her to take it.

Remembering the reality of the situation didn't help Catra either. She smiled nervously and sighed before she held her hand. She didn't have a say in this, but she would do what she could for her to be with the one she had feelings for, even though she thought that with all the things she said Shera would step away and not even attempt to make a move further. She ruined the whole effort and she knew it. Eyes looked away and a deep breath was taken, wishing she didn't speak at all in the first place. "Yeah... I will tell you... You know ... it's getting late and I should be going .." She tried to avoid staying with her and watching her getting more and more disappointed because of the nature of her being a princess "I bet your friends will search for you too"

Adora though saw the regret. She smiled gently again, squeezing her hand, lifting it gently then, pressing a small kiss to the back of it before standing up, offering her arm "If you must go... Then, may I have one more dance before I have to wait til the morning to see you again?" She smiled at her, genuine and happy. She wanted to show her that she still wished to spend time with her and that she still enjoyed the time she had spent with her "And if you cannot provide me with one more dance... Then how about.. where I will be able to find you tomorrow during the tourney?" Catra’s ears were down, by a smooth move she stood up by the help of Adora, but soon she cheered up and nodded

"Probably with the rest of the princesses. We don't sit in the same place with the others ... For obvious reasons... but we can dance too.. The carriage can wait" She chuckled. They would stay for the night in the building not too far away, as well as the rest of the princesses and nobles.

As they walked together, Catra could still hear, even if she was outside, the music from inside. The music was still slow, her hand held hers as she stopped some steps away from the door and tugged the hand so she would be pulled back. Adora yelped slightly, spinning on her heel and looking startled for a moment at the sudden stop, before smiling at her, stepping forward to be closer "We can dance here?". Due to the fact it was a cold night, not many people would see them, but the princess didn't do it for others. She wanted to stay alone with her more, dancing was a good option out there.

"That would be a perfect ending to this night, Princess" The knight moved into position with her when the next song started, once again hesitating before putting her hand on her waist. She smiled at her and started the dance, leading her through it with a grin, just looking down at her from behind her mask. Catra followed her, even though they would be closer than the first time, her eyes fixed up to the blonde ones behind her own mask. The waltz was slow and their chest touched, hands in position as they danced in a walking way. Their cheeks were hidden thankfully, because they couldn't hide their blush, due to the nature of their mask. Adora’s mask just covered her eyes and part of her nose as well, barely reaching below her cheek bones, so her own blush was open to be seen, not that she minded that. The feeling of their chest touching sent butterflies in her stomach, just continuing to look down at her as she danced. She wished she could lean down and capture her lips in a kiss or steal her away from the party for longer, though she knew she wouldn't be able to. She let herself be content with this dance and the possibility of interaction later. They both wished they could be together for the whole night, but at least they would do so for as long as the music played. The knight still had her hopes, since she knew there would be a feast every night after all the tourneys for days, then another party on the final day before everyone would leave. Perhaps she would get more time with her after all. She also noticed a longing look coming from Catra, and paused for a moment while wondering if she wanted the same thing that she did. She also noticed their breath misting and mingling in the air and she smiled gently.

"I'm looking forward to seeing you fight...I hope mother wont find an excuse for me to not come if she sees us around together again" The princess broke the silence, eyes flickered from her lips to her eyes. Her form was still pressed against hers. She wanted so much to kiss her under the stars. She gave her a nervous smile "....but still I'll find a way to sneak out "
"Perhaps I'll bring you a flower, dedicate a fight for you just to help you rebel" The blonde chuckled gently, her voice just as soft as she looked down at her.
They were definitely holding this position for longer than necessary, but for Adora it felt like time had stopped, just looking down at her with a blush on her face. Her pupils slightly dilated and felt the smaller woman's body pressing against hers. The smaller one knew that she held her for longer than necessary as well but she didn't care at all. She wanted to be close to her, to hold her for more than the music required. Her eyes looked at her and a small smile formed at her. "I'd love that... But I don't think you will help the situation... We will make it more uncomfortable if everyone sees you offering a flower to me" She giggled silently and leaned close, as the music played and her eyes glimpsed in the dark. Her eyes flickered once more from her eyes to her lips as Adora stated, "But it is customary for a knight to dedicate at least a single fight to a princess... I would be expected to do the same.."

Their lips were inches apart, Catra’s head leaned closer. Adora saw her lean close and hesitated but slowly leaned in a bit closer as well. Her head tilted slightly and eyes started to close. She was giving her plenty of time to pull away. Catra almost touched her lips softly like a feather but her giving such an opportunity to lean away made her actually do it in the end. The warrior’s stomach filled with butterflies. Her eyes fell closed for that one, sweet moment while committing it to memory as thoroughly as possible. The princess pulled back slightly and she took a deep breath in, realising she had been practically holding her breath for most of that encounter. Catra’s hands let her go and fixed her mask nervously. "W-We.... We will meet again..." She smiled nervously and bowed kindly before she turned around on her heel. She could feel her heart skip and beat faster when Adora and her were so close.

"We will, Princess. I guarantee it." Adora offered her a weak, nervous smile, bowing in return to her and just standing there for a moment. After she left though she touched her lips with her fingertips before smiling softly. The feline couldn't help but hold her dress in order to go up these stairs to get inside. Her eyes searched around the ballroom for her mother but she couldn't find her yet.

Meanwhile, when Adora turned around to head inside she could feel someone staring. It was the queen being on the short balcony not too far from the spot they were dancing. She lowered her hand then. Her smile faded as she just watched her bright blue eyes piercing through the dark. She scanned her for only a moment before looking away. She headed back inside the ballroom before grabbing another glass of wine and walking back to her friends since she had practically completely sobered up since her last drink. It wasn't alcohol making her giddy now. Even with the worry of her mother seeing them, there was no way to prove that they had kissed especially when they barely even touched lips anyway. Adora walked back to her party in a light daze, lost in her own mind as she thought mostly about Catra while smiling.

At the same time, a man walked by her, avoiding to meet the blonde's eyes and headed to the queen of the Horde while talking to her in a silent tone. The queen’s fists clenched but she still smiled gently at the man as she nodded. Did they spy on the couple? Catra couldn't even imagine what would happen if they did. Her eyes never found her mother after all but only the thought of them getting caught together again by Light Spinner was unsettling. The queen almost stumbled on the princess once she stepped inside the hall. Her eyes were looking down at her with a glare as she was guiding the girl outdoors to their carriage. "You're getting distracted… that's not your job, Catra." Light Spinner exclaimed as Catra took a seat inside and leaned against its window to rest. Her eyes were half closed and she took a small breath before sighing being clearly bothered by the words of her mother.

"I'm not. But your plan won't work if you end up introducing me to men who are willing to marry me...I'm not interested in any of them. When will you understand that? How can I distract her when I have you around me forcing me to see other princes?"

A silent chuckle escaped the queen's lips. She didn't plan on marrying Catra with that knight. "I've already found a way to get her out of the way. Then all this land will be for our kingdom. So we'll need a great alliance after her unfortunate death. I never told you I would give you to a knight...especially this knight. From now on you can step back.." The queen's tone was so smooth yet Catra's ears perked up. Her heart skipped and she glared at her

"I'm not going to kill her.. neither will you. We can work just like that and I could... I don't know… marry her to make an alliance? Just like how it happens with everyone. She won't be able to attack our soldiers. That would make the job easier!" The brunette was in love and the mother knew it.

The older one glared at her and her fists tightened before hissing "Think again about our reputation then what you just said and you'll find the answer to your words. You're going to do as I say till we leave this place or else.."
Catra glared at her. Her heart beat faster and her eyes pinned on her mother's. She didn't know what to be more afraid of; that she would lock her in if she even attempted to meet that knight again without Light Spinner knowing or that she was planning on killing the woman that she cared for. Catra remained in the carriage. With her and her mother in the same vehicle at this moment only the silence could bring peace.

A lucky Charm

When the ball was reaching its ending, Glimmer finally found the blonde woman who was still thinking about that kiss. Especially the cold feeling on her chest when she saw Catra's mother staring at her was something she could not forget easily. Her eyes were fixed on the ground, tapping her finger on her lips while sitting on a small couch in the room. Her hair was now in a low ponytail and her breathing was steady until the princess of BrightMoon jumped beside her.

Bow was following her with a glass of wine in his hand as his eyes scanned the blonde warrior. "You look… tired? What happened?" He asked casually and stretched. Glimmer though could tell that the look on her face a few seconds ago was one of someone who was kissed by their crush even though now Adora seemed more serious than before.

Glimmer was already tired of trying to bring some sense into her, she would leave soon as well to go to her chamber "Did you kiss her?" She tried to sound more calm even though she was too disappointed to hide it.

Adora just gave her a nervous smile, looking away and scratching the back of her neck "I mean she leaned in first... And we were both sober.... Though I think her mother saw us dancing out there..." She cleared her throat "So I may be in trouble here but we'll see how this goes" She took a big drink out of her glass and exhaled deeply "after this I'm heading to my room. I need to sleep if I'm going to be fighting tomorrow. And don't worry. This is only my third glass, within an hour or so between this one and the last one. I'm not drunk, not even really buzzed" Adora laid her head back as Bow almost cheered in excitement. He didn't find it wrong, though he knew that it was truly risky to be in a relationship with that girl.

"You are so stupid..... Why didn't you pull away? This is too. dangerous. Adora..!" Glimmer huffed and held her hand. She was worried, too worried to say the least. "These people are dangerous. You can't risk it. What if she's on to something? What if they both are after you?" She looked up at her and gave her a concerned look. How could the warrior be so mindless to go straight into danger?

Bow was second to warn his friend even if he.. Kind of approved of this. "Adora…..Glimmer is right. We have to be careful….. especially now that they live several steps away from here.."

The blond knight took a sharp breath only to grunt in disbelief. "Glimmer it was only a kiss! And barely even that!" While being irritated again, she pulled her hand away and looked at her for a moment before finishing her drink "I'm going to bed..." She walked away then, excusing herself from the ballroom quietly. Why to stay in a place where nobody would understand that she saw something in that girl. She saw her worry. She saw disappointment in her eyes and she knew that she could change it…. Glimmer didn't understand it all though. She wouldn't understand.

The princess couldn't believe her friend was getting magnetised by someone like Catra. She was too mad to insist for Adora to stay.
At the same time, the princess and the queen of Horde arrived at their chambers. Catra was getting some help from her maid to take off her dress and her corset as well before getting ready for her bath. Thankfully, she was all alone in the room. Light Spinner didn't stay with her since she already had her own room for these days. The maid was already preparing the feline's bath and soon enough she would relax in her tub with closed eyes. She didn't like her mother's plan ..she wanted to somehow be able to prepare the blonde one so she could have her eyes open but...she was a knight she...didn't have to give her a warning, right? She knew how to protect herself, right? For a second she touched her lips. They were so close in that last moment but why didn't she make that move..? The thought of Shera getting hurt because of her made her sick. Her eyes opened, touching with her hand some of the soap in the tub and taking a deep breath. She couldn't stop thinking about her...neither could Adora.

For her own sake, Adora let down her hair when she entered her room practically marching through the halls of the main castle to her temporary room. She pulled her mask off and let out a sigh as she rubbed her nose and eyes for a moment. She felt dizzy but that was maybe because of the sleepiness due to the drinks. After getting inside her room. She stripped and changed immediately into some sleepwear. She knew she would dream of Catra tonight and that only made her smile as she laid down after making sure the door was closed. The difficult previous days..the argument with Glimmer. Everything seemed to be going so wrong but at the same time so good when Catra was around. The feline was so cute. She was so fragile as well, nothing like Glimmer said. Adora's eyes closed and her form laid carelessly on the bed. It was rough but nothing was rougher than the floor. Her breaths were so heavy that she almost felt she would die there. Her hands tiredly pulled her blanket up and finally she was able to rest. Her thoughts were all about the brunette till she fell asleep while feeling the warmth of her blanket around her body.

As the minutes passed by, Catra passed out only by the troublesome thoughts of hers. She was tired of the dance and the whole argument with her mother. Suddenly she began to feel cold. The water began to get colder as the door was knocked. "Your highness, is everything alright?" Her maid called out as a grunt escaped Catra's lips and she stood up.

She wrapped her slim form in a towel and replied quickly while walking out "I slept in there... I'm slightly cold... " She whined quietly. Her ears were down as she moved quickly inside her room only to meet her governess instead of her maid. She smiled brightly, dashing into her embrace as she tightened her arms around her "what happened? Did my mother call you too?"

"Something like that….but as I can see ,I can't let you be alone with your maid...she will make you sick.." The older one rolled her eyes and brought her a warmer nightdress to wear and a thin blanket. “Rest, I will light up the fireplace" She spoke again while holding some logs to light them up.

The feline curled in the bed and closed her eyes. "It's a one day trip....I bet she called you to keep an eye on me.." She growled.

"why do you say that?" The older one sat down on the chair beside the bed to look down at the princess. Her hand raised to fix the feline's hair back

"We… have different plans about a warrior here.. I met someone and she doesn't approve of my decisions….she wants to...get them out of the way" Catra knew the woman would never tell anything to anyone, especially her mother. Somehow she was the only one Catra trusted so much and felt more like family than her own mother. The princess’ eyes closed in disappointment and her ears perked down.

"You know how she is, Catra… She is suspicious and… sometimes she acts strategically and doesn’t see how you feel about all this. Can you not think about this right now? It’s late.. It's time to sleep..don't make me force you " The older one joked while bringing a chuckle on Catra's lips as the young one nodded. She felt so ...safe with the woman around her.

“Good night~” She whispered as Catra closed her eyes and laid back on her bed so she could sleep after a few minutes. Her daydreams of Shera would come to life in her dreams as it seemed. A small smile was forming from time to time and nuzzled into the pillows till the night slipped away for both the princess and the knight.

Early in the morning, Adora was up just before the sun while cleaning and polishing her armour in the courtyard with the rest of the knights. She rested in the sunlight as it warmed up the day. She was meticulous in her caretaking of both armour and her sword. Even though her sword never seemed to get dull in the first place she still made sure to take care of it. The tourney would last over three days. The first rounds would be no magic and first blood. On the last day though the rules change. Anyone with magic can fight, including some princesses and it was until the others yielded or couldn't get up. Adora finished up her care and stood up then worked on stretching and a light workout to get her body prepared while wearing a simple light tunic and pants. Her hair was up in its ponytail again as she practised against a dummy. She kept her moves light. She didn’t do anything too exhausting to save her energy for the main fight ahead. She had had a small, but well balanced, breakfast while planning on small snacks between each battle to keep her energy up. She knew if she ate a large meal it would only make the fights harder for her. She did have a full training program for the morning unlike the feline who woke up only to have the maid prepare her clothes for the main event.

The royal put her clothes on so she could finally go down stairs to get some breakfast. She walked through the halls with her companion beside her. Her mother didn't seem to be there, so she would be going to eat without her. Even though the place was huge, she could still find the knight among the others, or at least that's what she thought. The woman took a seat in the huge table with the rest of the guests but she didn't want to have any interaction with a probably wrong person, so she didn't walk up to a blonde haired girl she saw earlier. She only began to eat when her companion left her alone.

Adora was obviously there by that time. Her eyes fixed at these pointy ears of the feline as she took a few steps before sitting right next to her. “Hey princess… Long time no see?” She joked, noticing how these golden and blue eyes sparkled at the sight of hers.

The princess smiled brightly causing the blonde to do the same “Good morning, knight”

“My real name is Adora… so you aren’t stuck calling me knight or Shera.. They’re only titles after all” She knew her by the name of Shera so Adora had to make sure she knew both of her name and her title. After last night’s events she couldn’t resist but be too cheerful around her. She was officially interested in her after all. Her hand brushed her brown hair and took a short breath while playing slowly with a strand of hair.

“Interesting name~” Catra smirked and continued. “Did you have a peaceful night?”
A small scar was running through the knight’s eyebrow down to the top of her nose that got revealed now that she nodded at her question and turned her head completely to look at her. “I did, luckily. I slept well.. How about you?” She took a sip of her wine and continued her food.

"It was warm in my room thankfully, so yes..~ Are you ready for the fight?" The princess knew that she had been fighting for a long time so it was obvious she had a scar. Her eyes scanned her face, even if she had that scar it didn’t mean it was making her less beautiful. Nobody came up to her to talk so honestly, or even to flirt so smoothly with her.

“I got up early, managed to get some maintenance done on my armour as well. I.. don't have an apprentice yet, so I still have to do everything myself. Though I don't mind." The blonde smiled at her, taking a sip of her wine once more. Though it had been hard to tell before she had a few small scars on her face and hands. Her fingers thick and calloused as she held the cup, smiling gently at her

"Hm sounds nice... I can tell that you will win already though~" There was no doubt that Catra wanted to boost her confidence with her words.

Adora chuckled softly while resting her arms on the tables.Her muscles were bunching and flexing under her shirt, though she wasn't doing it to show off, rather to grab a small snack to nibble on since everyone else was still eating "It's good to know I have your confidence to back me..."

Catra’s bites on her food paused and she took a sip of her drink. "My mother will come to watch as well so ..~" She was obviously nervous about the whole thing since she knew that the older one had plans for the warrior.

Instead of the blonde being nervous as well she smiled at her while noticing her play with her hair and watching her for a moment "Then I suppose I'll have to offer that rose to you. Dedicate a fight or two to you" She winked, causing the other one’s small smile to grow wide.

Catra’s eyes flickered from the empty plate of hers to the girl before she shrugged gently "You like to push your luck I see" She said, still that smile was bright. Even if she was supposed to be serious about this she...just couldn't stop smiling around her. Her heart felt like it beat only for that woman. She loved her.

The warrior laughed softly in return before finishing her drink and setting the glass down "Perhaps... But I've survived doing so this far.. Maybe I'm getting cocky, but I think I've earned at least a bit of it" Adora still had butterflies. It felt so... natural talking to her, like she had known her her entire life. She felt comfortable around her in a way she didn't even feel comfortable around her friends. Even her cheeks turned a bit pink as she broke the silence once again "I'm glad I got to see you without your mask finally.. You're just as beautiful without it as you are with it"

Catra’s slim body leaned back on her chair. She loved how she was talking or moving around the place.. even her scent was magnetising. She didn't care about the muscles."Thanks...~... I have to say the same about you too. You're really charming" She smirked and bit her bottom lip coyly making the taller one’s cheeks flush red while wishing she was the one to bite these lips. The time was passing by and the rest of the knights were ready to go. "You should go I guess..~? If you wish for some good luck I can give you a charm before the match?" The princess spoke when she noticed every knight leaving.

Just staring at the princess' lips for a moment made the silence feel the space between them but Adora quickly realised that and she cleared her throat, nodded and stood up. "Right, right I probably should.. Ah... But I would love a good luck charm from you"
Catra tried so hard to not blush. Her eyes looked up at her and smirked only to lean gently against her to talk in a silent tone. "I'll be on the balcony then, before the fight..~"

By the lack of space and the feeling of the princess so close to her, Adora thought that her breathing had stopped. "I'll be there as soon as I can" She managed to breathe while watching the other walk away. She wanted so much to chase after her. To grab her hand and kiss her.. Catra though didn't give her that opportunity yet. The slimmer one walked away and leaned against the wall behind her. She was planning on doing what she did not dare to do several hours ago. It was her time to make a move. After so many hours of thinking last night she realised that she...was flirty but when the other one made a small move she rejected it. She was so scared that she would hate her this morning because she pulled away but seeing her smile and hearing her cheerful voice planted hopes in her.

It was the first time Adora put on her clothes so quickly in her life without said life being threatened. Her heart was beating fast in excitement. Her form sliding under her armour and rushing, without wearing her helmet, outside of her room. She arrived fifteen minutes earlier to the balcony. Her palms were sweating from nerves as she walked around nervously. This time Catra was late but...it was worth every single second. The princess was wearing a bright red and white dress with a simple ribbon holding her hair back as she scanned the place before approaching her. She wanted to be sure that her mother wasn't around this time so she wouldn't see what she was ready to do.

"I'm so sorry I'm late—" The brunette hummed with a worried expression.

"No need to apologise princess, I understand" Catra was stunning. Adora’s legs were so numb that she couldn’t walk towards her. The feline gave her a nervous smile. Then she stopped in front of her and wrapped her arms around her to embrace her, making her pause as she brought her arms up to her waist. Having her chest against hers made her needy. She wanted more of her but she couldn't have it. The princess’ eyes looked at the other and smiled slightly as she leaned close to her and gave her a quick kiss on her cheek, close to the corner of her lips. Even this was really risky for her.
"Good luck...~" She whispered close to her.

Adora stepped forward to meet her in the middle with a smile as she stopped in front of her "I'll win them for you, princess." She froze for a moment, holding her cheek and making the shorter one lean against the affection, nuzzling her cheek against her hand in return. The other one smiled widely when she saw her lean close to her. She was so cute.. but she had to pull away since she would already be late "I'll see you there" The princess continued.

Adora grinned before turning around to leave. Her steps halted when the other girl called her again. ”Wait.. Take this first…” She handed her a small necklace. She had it since she was small and she really thought it brought her luck…

Adora smiled and took it only to wear it under the armour. “I will wear it all the time… Thanks” She gave her a quick kiss on her cheek and pulled away to leave while her ponytail was bobbing side to side until she finally disappeared from sight.

A rose for my princess

The princess had a long day ahead and she knew the tourney would be a lot more than just Adora’s duel. Her mother was already on her seat while waiting for her daughter who arrived late. Her eyes looked up at her and gestured to her to sit down. She was angered and Catra could feel that. She knew her too well to not be able to notice if Light Spinner was mad or not. Her hands fixed her dress as she sat down and took a small shaky breath. She knew her mother was furious because of two reasons; her being late and the duel that Adora was willing to fight for Catra’s hand. Even if she felt like someone was stabbing her stomach she found the guts to speak first "Where have you been this morning?"

The older one crossed her arms over her chest "Do I really have to tell you?"

"I thought we would eat together for once....that's all honestly... I'm sorry for asking.." Her ears were down and her eyes looked at the arena. Her reply and the longing look in the feline’s eyes made the other one more interested to know what she was thinking.

"You're really focused on these knights lately, Catra" She calmly stated after a while as she observed the young one

"I'm simply interested in today's fights. It's not a bad thing... Is it?" The girl hissed in return.

“Hm? When did you start to have that interest? Yesterday?” The sorceress spoke in a cold tone as her purple eyes fixed on the mismatching ones of the feline.

“Will we enjoy the tourney or will we argue? If you care so much about our reputation it’s not good for others to see us arguing. Don’t you think? I refused to follow your plan so don’t start blaming Ad- Shera again for my decisions. She has nothing to do with it.”

The older one clenched her fists because of her statement while watching the knights walking into the arena. The crowd was cheering. Her eyes wouldn’t even meet the young ones. “I think you’re underestimating me, Catra. Did you really believe you could hide things from me? Did you think that I didn’t see you last night?”

Catra felt like her heart had been stabbed. It was a cold sinking feeling as her hands were cold and her eyes looked up at her. Her glare was visible through her hair strands. “So what? I bet you saw nothing happened… she’s just distracted that’s all…”

“I saw both of you getting distracted, but we’ve had this conversation already and I told you you won't be allowed to go near her again.. yet there you were right beside her.” She hissed but at that time the horn blew for the knights’ introduction as the first name was Adora’s because of her ranking. The announcer gave her and the rest of the knights time to offer a flower or other form of endearment to any of the princesses sitting there in the front row. Even though it was Adora’s turn to walk, Bow walked out since Shera didn’t show up just yet. He offered a red chrysanthemum to the princess of BrightMoon and her eyes looked surprised at the flower. A soft blush forming on her cheeks. Even though they knew each other for long she was stunned by his offer. Her lips made a huge smile and she leaned against the counter that separated them in excitement. Second in line was Adora who just mounted Swiftwind, her white horse. She waved to the crowd with her head held high and proudful. Her helmet was under her arm, smiling at everyone. She was playing nice as she noticed the princess she was in love with. She rode in front of the princesses, pausing in front of Catra with a smile and offering her a simple red rose to show her true love.

"My first fight shall be for you, Princess."She left it at that, moving forward again to line up with the other Knights and patting gently at Swiftwind's neck.

Too many had been fighting boring duels in front of the feline to have her hand, to have that ‘yes’ even from her mother yet the princess had never been so amused and flustered as now. Her cheeks had a bright pink colour as she tried to hold her excitement back. Her heart was beating fastly and that knight.... would be only in her dreams for longer as it seemed since her mother was keeping an eye on her. She couldn't cheer for her during the fight but she could applause if she did win.

Her mother on the other hand knew what was going on and the fact that her plans would get ruined because of Catra made her more furious than she already was. Her eyes scanned the knight from head to toe as if she tried to memorise her moves. She was quick, not as quick as others but her strength was indeed something noticeable.

The fight started after they had dismounted. The on-horse duels will happen the next day. Once Adora hopped off she lifted her helmet, putting it on and approaching the knight. They grabbed each other's wrists, before stepping back and readying themselves while waiting for the fight to be started. As soon as it was, she stepped forward to swing only to reveal that she was most definitely aggressive in her fighting style. She was pushing and driving the other knight back, forcing him back into the wall. The other knight grunted in return. He didn’t expect her to be so aggressive yet but he gave her a rough hit with the back of his sword. The thudding sound echoed in the arena as he kicked her off him with his boot. Her eyes closed for a moment but she didn't give back. She drew her sword to hit on him, letting out quiet and sometimes louder grunts as their armour was getting hit. The pain travelled through the steel even if they didn't actually stab through them. Steps mixed. The sand between their feet raised up thin clouds but the nobles could still watch and enjoy a fair fight, something Catra hadn't seen in ages. After several hits and quick steps towards the man the blonde growled softly and pushed him against the wall before raising him up just a little. She gave a thrust to his hand so his sword fell down and wounded his arm just a little bit to win. Some of the crowd was cheering others were displeased because of the bets they were having behind closed doors yet they all came to say that the first blood was Adora’s. She stepped back and lifted her sword up. Her eyes met Catra’s, grinning under her helmet and panting softly.

The princess wanted to have a better view. She wished she was one of these useless nobles around them, so nobody would pay attention to her. She wanted to cheer but her hands clapped in excitement. She had her eyes always pinned on her. The woman grinned brightly at the outcome of the fight as the blonde one took off the helmet and helped the other knight up. She told him something that the others couldn’t hear before she walked over to stand in front of the princesses and other royals with a bow.

The queen of the Horde, on the other hand, knew there was something going on between these two but she didn't want her daughter to be with a knight like her. She wanted this knight out of her way and the only way to pull her out of the fight was an ‘accident’. She didn’t care about Catra's relationship with her. Her purple eyes looked down at the knight, clapping when the woman was bowing. She couldn’t show that she disliked her.

Meanwhile Adora was slowly leaving the ring while knowing she would have to fight for the rest of the day till the evening. As for Catra, she didn’t realise that the time ran by quickly. She felt like with every hit on the armour of that woman she was going crazy. She wanted to jump down and take part in this but first of all, she didn't have the strength to do it and second of all..she was a princess.

It was nearing nightfall. The sun still shone so the last two champions were to face each other. Adora and a Knight from the Horde, Scorpia. Someone with muscles the size of Adora's head. She was part of Light Spinner's personal guard, Catra knew her true nature. She was a sweetheart who could fight when necessary. Looking at how smaller in size Adora was, everyone could assume she would lose. Scorpia wasa giant compared to her, standing at 6’ tall to Adora's 5'10, but Adora didn't seem phased. She grinned under her helmet as she got ready. She had devoted every fight to Catra, including this one. She wasn't ready to lose her streak now. She would win this for her, as she had won all the others.

It was the last battle yet the feline was still impressed instead of bored to death. The blond one was fighting for hours and she was still so energetic..? Catra actually believed Adora would lose over Scorpia. Right when the fight was about to begin a thought crossed her mind. Her eyes looked down. Something wasn't right.. Scorpia didn't take part in such events. Her eyes looked up at her mother for just a split second, did she make this up? She didn’t even know.

The other muscular woman soon attacked once she got the chance. Her attacks were not like Adora's. She tried to hit the best places to inflict more damage and win. The blond one was impressively strong even though it was late and she got into a lot of fights in just one evening. Adora grinned under her helmet, lifting her sword to block the attacks. This time her tactics would change, circling the lwhite haired woman slowly. She kept her sword pointed at her. Finally after several hits of their swords she saw a point of attack. She lunged forward. Sword point first just trying to nick her skin to get the win.

The other woman stepped back, dodging the attacks and at the same time trying to hurt her. Her eyes looked down at the shorter one and quickly drew her sword. She aimed for her torso this time so she could knock her down since she found a revealed spot between the armoury.

Adora quickly changed where her sword was heading. Instead she forcefully moved the larger woman's sword aside before stepping inside her strike range once again to attack. Scorpia's sword thrusted once again against the other as she used her feet and tail to bring her down. As for the other, at first she kept an eye on her tail and light on her feet. She knew she wouldn't have time to block it but in the end she fell down. Adora turned into a roll to move herself away just barely managing to not get stung before she swung her sword. She saw, out of the corner of her eye, that Catra was nervous. She couldn’t address it. She couldn’t even look at her knowing she would just put herself in danger if she did.

The princess was already too anxious. Her wide eyes were staring at the fight especially when Adora fell to the ground. She didn't know if she looked at her or not since she still wore her helmet. The blonde’s armoury was already damaged by the rest of the fights. It was obvious the woman would have a difficult time. Scorpia dashed in and quickly rolled so she would either hit her with the sword or her tail.
"Adora-!” The princess whispered too softly for the queen to hear.

The crowd was shouting; some for Scorpia, others for Adora. The knight heard the crowd’s shouts. They gave her strength. She held her ground up until right at the last moment when she dove to the side just enough to roll up behind her. She spun and slashed her sword across her back. She cut through the armour and just barely managed to scratch her enemy’s back. She panted roughly, having the slightest bit of red on the tip of her sword now. Scorpia gasped at the hit. The strong thrust made her kneel. She placed her sword down only to pull herself up again. Knees were shaking. She wasn't done, not until one of them was down for good. With a quick move she rolled on her heel. If her hit was successful she would give another deep cut on the blond's chest but she would also take a step forward to give the unsteady woman a kick. Adora’s eyes widened at that. They were supposed to fight until first blood was drawn. She knew she pulled it. She watched it drop off the tip of her sword. Why wasn't she yielding? She had just barely scratched her, not enough to do any serious damage. Maybe it was sweat? She thought. She moved out of the way of the attack. She spoke quickly to stop before either of them got seriously hurt "I drew blood, knight. You have lost!" Someone could say it was an accident or a misunderstanding but the white haired woman had other orders. She pretended that she didn't hear because of the crowd and continued with her attack.

It didn’t take too long before Catra understood what they were saying but she could obviously see that Adora was taken back by surprise. Her eyes narrowed as she stood up when the white haired warrior decided to use her strength and abilities so she could get seriously injured. The princess couldn't do much. Her heart was racing as she gave a glare at her mother's calm yet interested in the fight expression. Something was going on and she had to stop it.

Adora realised this wasn't just a tourney anymore. Her helmet got tossed away and she stepped back. She grit her teeth while wondering if she would have to take the loss to have the fight called off or to transform just to get her to stop. Scorpia was hitting her from behind when she tried to catch a breath and think of what to do. Her lips let out a loud grunt. The sword hit her ribs since her armour was almost torn in pieces at this point. Adora’s grip tightened around her sword and her eyes glared at the other. She managed to stand up. She was ready to raise her sword in defence on the incoming attack but it only dodged the first one. The other’s tail thrusted against her, without stinging her. She hit her on the chest just below her cleavage. The blond’s head tilted back at the attack and for a second she thought she wasn’t able to breathe. Her breaths were sharp as the noise of the armour hitting the floor and the sword being thrown some inches away from her hand echoed in the ring.

Catra’s eyes widened. She couldn’t lose in an unfair fight especially when one of them played fair. She stood up. The only thing she could do was to cancel the fight and by that..she would go to the queen of BrightMoon who was unaware of all this cheating. When she took a step though, Light Spinner’s hand grabbed hers to pull her down. “Where do you think you’re going?” She hissed “Aren’t you here to see that knight?”

“You’re the one who put Scorpia in there” Catra growled back at her “I’m not going to let you ruin this tourney because of your war issues” She was so thankful that everyone was too focused on the fight and didn’t pay attention to them, else she would have exposed her in front of everyone. The brunette pulled her hand back to her torso to turn around but soon she could feel herself getting stopped by the sorceress' magic. Her breath stopped. She had used her abilities on her again in the past. She unwillingly sat back down on her seat as her lips let out a quiet grunt

"Make a move. I dare you…" Light Spinner had plenty of strength to make her heart stop if she wanted but she didn't yet. Her tense hand calmed down and she let go of the girl who she controlled a few seconds ago. "...I said you're done with that knight and that means also protecting her. Your job is done here, Catra."

The feline took a sharp breath and glared at the woman. She kept her fists down on her dress "Why? What's the worst thing that can happen? You already want to kill her"

"Do you want to join her? I won't lie to you, if you won't grow up I'm not going to hesitate. I'll throw you away"

Catra had been living in the Horde for her whole life so she knew how 'good' the peasants were. If they saw someone like her without guards around she wouldn't make it alive or her life would be a living hell. Her ears fell and her eyes looked down at her dress.

On the other side, Adora forced herself up. She stumbled back before trying to gain enough strength for yet another attack. She couldn't keep up. By a quick blink of an eye she saw Glimmer's serious glance over her. She saw how worried she was but she still thought that all this was planned. Her feet took some steps back with a huge inhale. She swallowed thickly to lift and hold her sword up in the air, just levelling her eyes on the larger woman "I have drawn blood. She's refusing to yield!" She yelled with all her strength.
The other knight halted as the shorter one spoke and gained the attention of queen Angella and continued to speak "From my understanding this is a fight to first blood. I suggest you yield, knight." She hissed. The queen stopped the fight immediately and the announcer called the winner's name out and loud. Adora's lips didn't smile. She just stood there while panting softly. She hadn't gotten many cuts but she had definitely gotten knocked around a lot and hard. She stumbled slightly before heading to grab her helmet which had been knocked off. She walked in front of the princesses, bowing in front of them once more. She knew that someone wanted her dead or at least severely injured. She would have to be more careful in the tourneys now. Some would applaud the winner while others would not. Catra wouldn't applaud, she was happy she won but what had happened didn't allow her to even be happy for the knight's victory. She didn't know if she got injured or not after all.

After she was excused, the blonde slumped in her chair in the tent where she kept her supplies. She didn't bother to strip out of her armour with a painful grunt. She was wondering if she should transform for a moment just to regain some energy and heal up a bit before realising she had no good reason to and just transformed her sword into a bracelet. She set it aside and slowly removed her armour.

The tourney was over.

The princesses were already leaving but Glimmer would ask everything about this last battle.
Bow on the other hand ran close to the warrior. His eyes scanned the bruises on her body. "She really gave everything she got in this match huh..?" He hummed while rubbing the back of his neck.

Adora rolled her eyes in return "I've had worse.. I just need a good night's rest and good food to fill my belly….maybe a few goblets of wine too" She chuckled at that before sighing "That woman was out to kill me. Or at least severely injure me... Which means someone she works for wants me dead. I heavily doubt it's a personal grudge. I've never met her until now..." She sighed before sitting down when all her armour was off. Her tunic was sweaty due to the leather top between her tunic and her armour. She let out a deep breath and hissed as her ribs and back were in pain because of all the bruises. At that moment she and Catra finally glanced at each other. The feline knew all this was happening because of her. Scorpia was a Horde knight. How could this possibly end up good? She was glad she was alive.. but that didn't mean that she was in no danger. Catra only turned her head away when she saw that a doctor was around.

“The doctor should really have a look at you, Adora .... Your armour got a lot of damage... you are covered in bruises" Bow didn’t let the girl go yet. The old man approached to see the girl’s scratches and wounds. He wouldn't comment about the bruises since she was all covered in them.

Adora smiled at Bow and put a hand on his shoulder "It's just bruises, Bow. I'll be just fine. Sore, but fine. Now c'mon we have a celebration to attend" She replied quickly with a chuckle. "I know you worry a lot but turn that brain off for a bit. I’ll survive the bumps and bruises”

Bow rolled his eyes in return before he looked at the rest of the men leaving for the celebration. "Fine” he said, gesturing for the doctor to leave “... Do you plan on going to that party in a tunic?" He chuckled and perked up an eyebrow. "Let's get you into something better than this, okay? Everyone will be looking at you after all" He spoke while guiding her inside their chambers.

The other one grunted heavily but followed slowly into her room before closing the door behind. She then undid her tunic. She had her chest bound. She had stripped like this plenty of times in front of him so this wasn't new to her at all.

"aren't you looking forward to that celebration, Adora? What happened? Don't you want to see the one who’s got your heart? Isn’t that the girl you gave the rose to?” The man spoke once they were alone in the room and leaned on the door. He could tell something was bothering her..a lot.

"Perhaps... Glimmer will kill me if I tell her any more than what she knows but yeah.. She is always in my mind.. I can't lie to you... and she’s definitely not someone most people would approve of and you know it..." Adora shrugged. She took the tunic he offered and pulled it on after using a wet rag to wipe her body down. She wiped the sweat off her skin and grunted quietly while dressing up.

"That's not unusual for you. Many people don't like any of your choices" He chuckled in return. Even being a knight was weird for a woman. His hand rubbed the back of his neck and took a seat on the chair close to her.

The woman laughed softly at his words. She shook her head and glanced back at him "That is true... Most people don’t ..but... This one is different. And if I'm wrong that will cause a lot of pain.. so I-... Have to be careful, I suppose.”
He knew she had eyes for the Horde princess but at the same time she was in danger while being around her. A playful chuckle escaped Bow’s lips as he smiled at the woman “Everyone tells you it’s wrong and you keep fighting for her.. Aren't you a rebel now?"

"I do believe I've been a rebel most of my life, Bow" She finished getting dressed and looked at him with a wide grin before speaking again.

"Ready to crash my own party?"

Sweet love but painful death 💀

Catra took a seat beside her mother when the dinner was ready. Her eyes scanned the place for any sign of the warrior but she didn't see her anywhere yet. Her worried heart almost jumped out of her ribcage when she actually saw the woman walking inside with the other knight keeping her company.

Angella stood up, raising up her glass and smiling brightly. She gave the best wishes to the winner, congratulating her for her victory. Catra couldn't stand up to go talk to her. Their eyes met while she was wishing they could get closer but they both had to remain in their positions.

Adora thanked the queen with a slight bow and she sat down, looking away from the princess she loved. Her eyes noticed Catra's ears tensing up when they began playing music and smiled brightly at how much she wanted for her to be beside her and calm her down. Adora got comfortable in her seat and began to eat and drink. The princesses were chatting and giggling. All of them as well as the queens were having a great time yet Catra couldn't have fun. The thoughts of her mom making this fight look like an accident made her sick. She still noticed that her mother was kind of tense. It looked like she was not done yet with the knight. Her eyes looked at her and then at her plate.

After several minutes of music and songs the servants served them the dessert. The knights were all sitting together at the same side of the table. The woman beside Adora was just like her. Too rebellious to be a princess or a peasant. Her hair was bright blonde and her brown eyes looked at the other knight as she leaned playfully against her to poke on her shoulder.

"I see you've been staring at the princesses and princes. You've spotted anyone good lookin'?" She smirked teasingly and chuckled as she gave her a small smile while taking a bite of her cake.

Adora looked over at the poke before laughing softly and nodding "Aye, I have. Though I have about as much of a chance as a snowflake has in hell... Her mother would never allow her to marry a knight. So... I have to admire from afar"

"You're somethin' else! A princess not even a prince— wow!" The girl laughed but Adora chuckled softly just nodding at her surprise.

"Yeah, I am definitely an odd one, but it's normal in my kingdom. We have plenty of same sex marriages.. What about you? I'm sure I'm not the only one who has high hopes to look at a princess.. you can't be unseen in the field after all.. You're ruthless. I'd be scared to face you in the arena"

The brown eyed girl chuckled, taking a bite of her own before glancing at the other warrior who looked at the man beside Glimmer. A good looking prince who had red hair and was about several inches taller than them. Her eyes met his and then a small smile formed on her face "I've met my prince. To be honest he told his parents about me but I didn't have the guts to meet them yet.. I may be ruthless in the ring but ask me about nervousness in front of a prince" She joked and rested her head on her hand. Her eyes looked up at him and then at her "But... who knows. If we have to fight I won't give you a chance to stand up" She teased obviously making the other one grin

"That is if you can get me down at all. Now I'm quite looking forward to a good fight!" After a small pause of them chuckling Adora would continue

"Anyway...That prince definitely seems to be good. One thing I'd suggest you though is making sure you learn who he is as a person... You don't want to dedicate yourself to someone you later find out you don't like."

"I think he's the one for me..you know what they say..love at first sight.... About the princess.. you are more than an honourable knight, Adora. I bet her mother will get convinced that you are a great person" she breathed out at first and continued to eat her dessert.

"Thank you... I hope you find your happy ending.. You seem really sweet, you deserve it." Adora spoke again, returning her focus on her food and drink.

They both continued chatting about tomorrow's tournament, almost planning on their next fight and how they would both try their best so they could bring honour to the name of the ones they loved. After all, all the fights were dedicated to the princesses and the princes. Adora's eyes were fixed on her own plate when she emptied it before she noticed the other coughing. At first it didn't take her attention but this new friend of hers looked like she couldn't breathe. The light-blonde-haired girl felt a slight burning in her stomach. Her lips let out a silent cough and held a napkin against her lips. Her eyes though looked at it noticing that some blood got spit as she coughed. The girl wasn't soft to just panic only because of that but she got anxious when she felt her insides burn. A grunt escaped from her lips as the girl curled in her seat because of the unbelievable pain. The knight beside her heard her as well leaning to see what happened but he couldn't obviously know. He stood up quickly calling the queen so the music would stop and a doctor could come to check up on her. Meanwhile the girl's pain grew only bigger as her breaths became sharper. She felt like she got multiple stabs in her guts as blood rolled down her lips. Adora widened her eyes when she curled up standing up at about the time the other knight did. She helped her off the chair before she fell off of it. She knelt beside her as the professional looked her over, getting worried now as she watched her and touched her shoulder "Hey, hey, focus on me, okay? Focus on me. Take deep breaths with me, okay? Ready? In... And out.. C'mon, you have to stay calm, or we won't be able to help you"

The prince, who was the girl’s lover, noticed the noise coming from them and quickly ran to her "Emma!" He called out while being clearly worried about her.

The girl got pale and clung to her own shirt. Her pain would only get worse while the doctor was trying to examine her. Her nose and mouth was bloody and the old man couldn’t do many things to help her. The doctor knew she got poisoned but he didn’t know how. He tried to give the woman medicine but he didn't seem to be optimistic about the younger one’s health. "The food got poisoned" He began with everyone standing up in shock. Emma’s glance met Adora’s. It was too ironic the fact she had so many plans for the next day but she wouldn't live longer than a few seconds. Her hand was taken by the man who loved her. His eyes were tearful as he leaned close to her whispering while the rest of the servants would immediately take all the plates away to be examined.

Some of the nobles were in shock not knowing if their desserts were poisoned or not but the girl couldn’t even speak. She tried to save a few breaths as long as she could due to the pain on her chest.

On the other hand Catra didn't come closer to them. Her ears went down and her eyes widened as everyone would stand from their seats. They couldn't do anything. Adora sat back before leaning forward.

"We have to try and get it out of her system, we might be able to save her.." She looked at the professional hoping she was right about this. She was almost sure that it was too late for her so she stood back. She let her spend the last of her time with her prince. The logical part of her brain noticed the similarities between them. The body build, the blonde hair, the same ponytail, clothes because of them duelling several minutes prior.. She couldn't help but wonder if she was supposed to be the one laying on the ground and searching for help.. Being all bloody and gasping for air. Someone really.. Really wanted her dead.

"I'm afraid we cannot .. judging by how quick this poison travelled...she cannot be saved.." The man whispered to the young one and helped the rest of the guests including the Queen to calm down. As for the other one she had fought too many battles that could have killed her easily yet in this one she couldn't even fight back. The pain was unbearable as she whimpered to the prince and she gave him a small defeated smile as let herself rest. Her eyes got closed by the young man. He couldn't hold back but cried over her dead body. The floor was covered in blood since the woman lost too much of her nose and mouth. The princesses were more... familiar with such things yet Catra didn't know who could have done that. She didn't see the girl but she was sure she was a knight by the place she was sitting and her attire so..maybe a rival from the duels?

Adora on the other hand teared up and covered her mouth as she watched her die there on the floor. She looked up at Catra wondering if she would be able to figure out what she thought based on her expression. Her skin pale and eyes filled almost with fear before looking away again.

She walked away quickly to find Bow and Glimmer. She wanted to make sure they were okay and that they knew she was okay too. She found Bow first who almost ran to her "I need to talk to you and Glimmer alone, as soon as possible" She breathed out as the man furrowed his eyebrows. He quickly followed her but they couldn't go far since some guards were called by the Queen to lock the palace. No one could leave nor come inside for the rest of these days till they find out who got the woman poisoned. Glimmer's thoughts were the same as Catra's. The princess looked up at the warrior and quickly responded "What on Etheria just happened!? Who was that girl?" She spoke when she finally saw Bow and Adora rushing close to her.

"She was a great knight, I could admit she is— she was as good as Adora..." Bow quickly wrapped an arm around the princess' waist to embrace her. She was truly scared. What if everyone in this table had some poison in them?

"Who did she beat up to poison her?" The princess whispered frustrated and let out a quiet huff. Adora guided them to a corner of the room so they could have some space. The three of them were away from the crowd so now they could talk freely. Adora though had the exact opposite opinion and.. she had to admit this one was more horrifying.

"I.. Glimmer I think I was the target. She's built just like me. She has the same hair, the same skin colour and apparently just as good as I am.. The only thing that was different was our eyes and the fact that we sat right next to each other doesnt help..." She paused, taking a deep breath before adding "Someone wants me dead. Someone really wants me dead. At my last fight I drew blood a long time before I finally called out that I had won because she wasn't yielding... I know she had to have felt it. It was the slash on her back and yet she kept fighting..." She spoke quickly and quietly, a bit nervous, but managing to hide it.

Glimmer widened her eyes. She was right. If she was saying the truth about the fight then there was no doubt. The girl looked up at her and tried too hard to not sound as mad as she truly was. "I warned you and you were too blind to see..! I told you you shouldn't even have a word with people from the Horde" She started. If she continued she wouldn't even stop but she took a quick breath to calm down.

At that moment, Catra noticed that her mother was talking with some other queens and she found the opportunity to slide away and walk close to the group of the other three. The fact that the feline did that made Glimmer growl under her breath "Haven't you already caused enough problems?"

"What are you talking about? I didn't even know this woman.." Catra was clueless. She was there only because she wanted to make sure Adora was alright but.. she didn’t know what they were talking about.

“Adora, close her mouth or I will" Glimmer couldn't hold herself back but spoke up. An innocent died because of the relationship between these two and she couldn’t blame anyone else but them.

Adora flinched slightly when she started talking to her, just looking away for a moment as she listened to her while trying to keep from snapping at her. She did have a point.. But it couldn't have been Catra's fault. She turned around when Catra spoke. She was nervous for a moment before speaking "Glimmer you're speaking to another princess.." She paused then looked at Catra and continued in a more silent tone to make sure her mom didn’t hear "we... Think I'm being targeted. With that last fight and how that knight wouldn't yield when I clearly won…. and with the fact that the knight who was just poisoned resembled me damn near to the point of possibly being my twin, I-... I think someone wants me dead. And... I think it may be because of my.. Relation with you"

Glimmer didn't care about the other being a princess or not. Everyone had their limits and after she explained she hissed back. “We all know who’s trying to kill you, Adora..! She is not a princess, she’s a killer!”

"Glimmer if you don't stop insulting her I swear to the goddess I-.." Adora clenched her fists as her blue eyes glared at the shorter one but when she was ready to storm out to her Catra stepped in the conversation. She had her eyebrows furrowed and her eyes looked down. She really didn't have anything to reply but she knew from the abilities of her mother that she was indeed capable of killing someone. "Maybe it's better then to stay apart..? I don't want you dead.. I don't want any of you dead... I can't help more than stepping away from all of you..." She hated saying this but she knew that it triggered her mother seeing her with Adora. She looked up at her and at the other prince who was mourning for his lover before she blinked and turned around. She knew this man could have been her now. She also knew the threats she brought when she stepped into the palace and refused to help her mother further but all this was meaningless now. She would have to stop her mother alone this time unless she wanted to be the one mourning the death of her beloved.

Adora could feel that the other one was scared. Scared of her dying? Scared of her being the reason an innocent knight died? She didn't know. She paused and took a deep breath before looking at Catra. “Lets just talk somewhere else” She held her hand and walked away with her for a moment. The knight stayed close enough to the crowd to not make it seem suspicious as she spoke softly "I know it wasn't you... But I-..." She hesitated, not wanting to say who she thought it was. She could be killed for it after all. “I'll just be more careful. We can be more careful. I don't want to lose you so soon after finding you..." She spoke softly and looked down at her. She wanted to touch her. She wanted to hold her hands or cup her cheeks but she knew that was too much of a risk. She noticed her look over at the prince "We just need to find who's trying to do this and stop them.. Before they can hurt anyone else”

"I already know who it is... The thing is.. I can’t do anything to help..... And that girl didn't have to die....but here we are. I can't stay here and do nothing...once the guards will let us go I'll leave ..and make sure that the one who's trying to hurt you will leave too" the feline hissed. Her arms wrapped around her as they walked. Her eyes fixed up at the Queen that just spoke up.

"Queens ,kings , everyone will have a guard or a knight by their side for this long night. Nobody will stay alone so ...you won't have to worry about your safety..Guards and knights you're ordered to do your job but not protecting only yourselves but the princesses as well"

Angela continued as to who would go with whom. She heard the other knight’s questions since most of the guards were already deciding who they’d protect till she reached the couple and looked at the blonde one.

"Will the Knight of power be able to protect a princess?" Someone could say she had doubts but she had to make sure the princesses and princes would be in good hands. Catra's ears perked up to look at her. Glimmer was around to see as a glare formed on her face. She had Bow to protect her but no, Adora couldn't be such an idiot to risk everything and protect the princess of the Horde. Even if Glimmer wished for her the best and to be as far away as she could from the feline, Adora ignored all this and bowed her head to the queen.

"Of course, your majesty. I'm willing to help however I am able to."

Only then did she lift her head again to look at her. She assumed she would be assigned to Catra. She didn't want just any guard protecting her. She had to know she would be safe. No matter what Glimmer thought. She trusted Catra. She couldn't help herself. Some part of her just knew she was telling the truth
"Then you shall protect the young princess "
"Yes your majesty."

A beautiful dream♥

The feline furrowed her eyebrows and looked at the knight in surprise. Why did she do that when she was clearly suspicious of someone targeting her because of her relationship with her? As the Queen walked away and allowed her guests to continue with their night Catra looked up at her in worry.

"What are you thinking!?"

"I can handle myself. I don't trust anyone to guard you and if I am the target then no one else will be at risk of being hurt. Because they won't target you, but me." Adora looked at her for a moment "I will not leave your side. I-..." She paused, about to say something she might regret before adding "care about you. Deeply. I'm not risking you getting hurt. Even if it saves my own life. I want to be beside you. I'm not going to cower in a corner because someone wants me dead."

“You know you're going into the wolf's mouth right?.... Begging it to eat you alive” Catra hissed while not being able to understand how easily she was taking such risks in her life.

"Well I wouldn't say I’m begging but I've had my head in a wolf's mouth before. Very well trained actually" Adora joked and cracked a soft smirk.

The feline's eyes flickered from her eyes to her lips and she sighed because of the stubborn woman’s answer. "I care about you. That's why I tell you to step back" She grunted in surrender while walking around the room. Her mother was already upstairs. "Listen, just....agh... be careful please.."

Adora took a deep breath and looked at her when she said that she cared about her "Let me take care of you. I can take care of myself too" She smiled gently at her while following her upstairs since the princess was tired as it seemed. "Good thing I have my sword on me. Even though my armour is too dented to use right now I'll still be able to stand guard."

"You're not going anywhere like this ...." Catra held her by the wrist to guide her up to her room. She couldn’t allow her to stay on guard like this. She had no armour but only a sword. The warrior just blinked in confusion as she was dragged along by her though she let it happen. She just quietly followed behind her when she realised she probably didn't smell all that great. Catra didn’t seem to care since she held her close to her.

As Adora stepped in her chamber she could say that this was clearly not just a bedroom. The room had its own living room with a balcony and a thin paper wall to block the sight of the king-size bed. The fireplace was close to the couch and warmed the whole room up. The bathroom was in the door right on the left. A maid would greet the two girls while bowing. "My lady, your bath is ready I... apologise I didn't know you would bring company. Should I bring a second blanket?" The woman spoke with Catra shaking her head in response

"No no ... Call my companion... I'll need to send a message and I can't leave the room right now" Catra didn't do anything other than walk away from her and take a seat at her small yet sculptured desk. Then she grabbed a pen to write. "Do you need a bath?- what am I asking. You were fighting for a whole day.. " she turned to the maid who was ready to leave the room but got stopped by the feline "Bring a towel for her and then leave" She commanded and turned again to her desk. Her tail slowly creeped by her dress as the knight lifted her hands and shook her head.

"No, no I'm- I'm sure I'm fine. I wiped myself down before I joined everyone for dinner. I don't need a bath.." Adora didn't seem to be able to convince the princess otherwise and sighed in defeat "I'm not sure this is what the Queen meant by assigning me to you, princess" She teased softly while watching her. The gold bangle around her wrist was falling out into view from under the tunic's sleeve. It was clearly made of much richer material than even the best knight would have been able to afford. She paused for a moment and glanced at her tail before looking away "If you um-.. If you'd like to change into something more comfortable I can wait outside"

The feline's ears perked at the sound of her voice as she was focused on that letter. Eyes looked at her and gave her a small smile "No, I'm fine, I'll change later" She smiled and finished writing only to wait for her companion to arrive. It didn't take long since her companion was right in the next room. The maid bowed to the women telling them that the bath was ready and left quickly after closing the door behind her. "Get in the bath I'll bring you something to wear for now"

The blonde nodded and looked up when the maid came up to thank her. Realising she wouldn't be able to say no to the princess, Adora let out a little sigh. She hoped she wouldn't bring her a dress as she headed into the bathroom. She hated leaving her alone while knowing that she would be at risk the longer she left her. She had to admit that she did stink. As soon as the door was closed she stripped. At first she hesitated but she eased herself down into the water. She closed her eyes and let out a soft, relaxed sigh as she rested her head on the edge for only a few moments. She sat up and got herself to work by cleaning herself up quickly so Catra wasn't alone for long.

Catra on the other hand sent her letter to the Queen of the palace only to ask for new armour plates and obviously the queen agreed on helping her. Servants of the castle brought new armour for the knight. The parts were a little bit smaller in size than a buff man's one so…they might be decent for Adora to put on.
Satisfied by that, the princess leaned against her seat while thinking that she could sneak a small peak at the woman. She really had weird thoughts sometimes. The girl shook her head and took a deep breath before telling her maid to set the fire and leave. Adora could say that she was indeed bossy around her servants but that was her role after all. After a bit the warrior jumped out of the tub before grabbing the towel quickly and drying herself off. She wrapped it around herself and poked her head out

"I um... Princess? I-... I need those clothes... If you don't mind..?" Adora had poked her head out right after the maid left, looking at Catra from behind the door. The towel wrapped around her chest and hung down while she was holding it by a knot. Only her head, neck and shoulder were revealed from behind the door.

The other one jumped up quickly and cursed herself under her breath before she walked to choose a tunic for the woman and the other things she would need, forgetting about her habits and bringing a corset for her to wear "There you go"

"Thank you so much... I did need a bath" The warrior giggled "I'll be out in just a moment. I just need to get dressed" She hesitated before stepping back. She thought she closed the door but it just bounced open barely much more than a crack and just enough to peek inside as she got dressed. She dropped the towel, letting it hit the ground with a soft thump. She set the clothes aside for a moment as she started wrapping her chest first while her hair was still down over her shoulders and still damp. The feline turned around before her ears twitched at the sound of the door opening.

"Don't Catra" She whispered to herself but after some breaths she couldn't help but lean close. She looked at the other coyly as her cheeks flushed red. She couldn't hold herself back honestly. Her eyes scanned her muscular body; how her arms moved and her perfectly built body stood still in the room with her muscles flexing in every move. The beautiful view was cut short as she quickly ran to her bed when she saw the woman turning to leave the bathroom. She was too red for the other one to not notice. Adora was so hot…

The blonde pulled on the pants and the shirt before pausing to look at the corset. For a second she wondered if she should try putting it on before changing her mind just bending down to grab it before heading out "Hey uh.. I don’t- I don’t know if you meant to give this to me.. Um..." She wasn't sure how to say she wasn't going to wear it without sounding rude.

“oh- I... I'm so sorry. I forgot" Catra chuckled and took the corset away before looking at her. She could admit that she was so tempted to embrace the woman but it would be weird. She wanted these muscular arms around her so much but she couldn't ask for that.

Adora chuckled as well and scratched the back of her neck. "No, no it's okay. People forget it all the time, don't worry about it.." Catra’s eyes looked at the armour and pointed at it "I've got you a new armour... You can't stay on guard without armour..." She said, making the other turn to look at the armour. Her eyes lit up slightly as she walked over before quickly moving to inspect it. She made sure it was all in good condition.
"Thank you... I should really keep a backup set of armour for situations like this.." The other chuckled softly but let her disappear into the bathroom so she could take a bath as well. The only problem was that...the maid wasn't there and Catra couldn't take off the corset "Um... Adora? Can you help me with my corset? My maid must be ready to sleep" The princess hummed and made the other hesitate before stepping inside

"Oh- I- right! Right yeah.." The blond blushed softly. The knight got flustered but she reached out and got to work by undoing the laces. The brunette placed her brown hair to one side so her neck was exposed. She could feel her torso relaxing but she had to admit that having Adora so close to her made her feel her heart beat faster. A quiet grunt escaped her lips as she felt the tight laces being undone and she gave her a smile. "Thanks....~" She waited of course for Adora to leave so she could undress completely. Eyes flickered from her eyes to her lips. She felt so warm because of her. She wanted so badly to hold her close and kiss her right now but she didn't have the will to do so. It was already too dangerous for her to make a move right now…

As for Shera she stood close to her and paused for a moment. She wished she could wrap her arms around her and press soft kisses to her neck and shoulder… She drew herself out of her daydream after finishing unlacing Catra’s corset but she paused for a moment before letting go and taking a slight step back. When she looked back at her and smiled she just blushed more. She gave her a nervous and quite flustered smile back. Adora was trying very, very hard not to let her eyes wander even though she desperately wanted to. She also wanted to let her hand wander. Realising she was kinda staring at her she cleared her throat before mumbling "I um- I'll-... I'll leave you to bathe now.." She quickly turned and walked out of the bathroom. Her face was still flushed.

Catra couldn't believe this was happening...a quiet breath was left and gave her a short nod. She didn't want to give her a reason to stay. Her eyes looked at the woman before she closed the door behind her. "My..." She whispered and took a deep inhale. She slid in the tub slowly cleaning up after such a big day. Her eyes closed as well while enjoying the freedom of her body in the water. After not too long the woman took a short step out so she could finally dress up in her white nightdress and walked out to her bed. She warmed herself up by the fireplace before wondering where the knight went.

Did she start her job already by the other side of the door? She laid gently on the mattress while still thinking of the woman. She couldn't help but grunt since she really hated it when her mind didn't obey her words. By blowing the candles off the room got filled by its soft smell yet she didn't care about opening a window. She wasn't sure if she was allowed to do so after all.

As for Adora when she finished helping Catra she hesitated but walked over and put the armour on. She checked the fit before grabbing the bracelet and pulling it off, transforming it into her sword. She spun it once while glancing at the bathroom before stepping out of the room. She left the door cracked to make sure she could hear her if she called for her while she stood guard. She heard her leave the bathroom and relaxed a bit before going back to glancing up and down the hall every once and a while. It had been a while since she had been stuck on guard duty. Usually she had her daily practice then was free unless there was a meeting between the princess, queen and their knights..

It was a very peaceful night, nothing was happening and the princess couldn't sleep. Her thoughts started to be about Adora. How much she loved her yet she knew nothing about her. She wanted her to live with her without worrying about someone killing her lover. That dead woman could be her.. she just couldn't compare herself to that prince ...it was too much for her. Her eyes were closed but as long as she thought about Adora ,she couldn't help but curl on her bed. She missed her already... But she couldn't have her. She stood up and peeked through the cracked door. "Um.... Knight?" She hummed and looked at her. Even if the blonde one was with her uniform on, Catra could still picture her naked back and these strong arms of hers. Her ears perked down "Are you..alright?"

Adora for her matter had plenty of practice staying up long nights like this, exhausted but staying on her feet. Every couple of minutes she was glancing up and down the halls to check for movement while nodding at the servants who passed to light some of the lights in the hall. She was then again focusing on her job. When Catra approached and opened the door slightly she turned to look at her. She hesitated before nodding and smiling gently under her helmet "This isn't my first time on guard duty, princess.. I will be alright. How about you? You seem upset, is something wrong?"

"What? No.... I'm fine if you need anything..tell me "

"Of course, princess." Adora spoke quietly with a reassuring smile. The feline smiled nervously and crawled back to her room biting her lip at the sight. Adora under these dim lights was too beautiful..stunning almost. She knew her mother wouldn't approve of that if she knew that the Queen let that certain knight guard her daughter but she was thankful she didn't know it yet.

She laid again on the mattress letting out a quiet sigh as she daydreamed of the blonde one from the other side of the door. She closed her eyes after some minutes of being able to accept the fact she wouldn't sleep. Her eyes opened, glimpsing in the dark as she crawled a hand on her nightdress. Her head got foggy while feeling herself getting more needy. It was too late and she was alone so ...it wouldn't matter if she touched herself, right? The girl bit her lip as she whined quietly when her fingers pressed against herself. Cheeks were flushed and her legs spread just a little while her lips let out silent hums of the knight's name. She didn't think she would be heard. She wanted the knight so much. She wanted her to touch her like that, to feel her skin against hers. Wanted her breath to brush on her darker toned body. “M-My knight...~" She panted quietly and her hips pressed against her fingers again.

Adora let her own mind wander a bit while wondering if Catra really was okay… or if she just couldn't sleep. She knew what that felt like though her mind stopped when she thought she heard something. She focused all her attention on it. It wasn't until she heard the soft moan from inside the room that her eyes widened and let out a weak gasp. She bit her lip and hoped she didn't hear that even though she knew a magicat's ears were sensitive. Hearing her moan out for the knight only furthered the blush on her head and only increased the heartbeat between her legs. She swallowed as she tried to focus even though it was definitely much harder after she realised what Catra was doing.

The princess was too focused on what she was doing than on the opened door that she left behind. Her eyes were closed as the bed made a noise when she moved her hips. Hand pressed lower for her to feel her fingers getting deeper yet she panted heavily. "Take me .....please.." She whispered for herself only to imagine as she had taken off her underwear completely.

The knight had to close her eyes for a moment just letting out a low groan. Her own breath got a bit heavier as she listened to the woman's whines. Her eyes closed but it didn't help since it only let her imagine what she was doing.. imagine what she looked like..

squirming under her own touch. She cursed softly before deciding to risk it all. She turned and walked into the room while taking off her gauntlets after she made sure, one hundred percent sure, that the door was completely closed before just walking over to the bed. She spoke in a steady and quiet tone. Her voice was a bit rough because of how she was currently feeling

"I heard you call me Princess... Are you trying to tease me?" She pulled her helmet off revealing how dilated her pupils were and how flushed her cheeks were "Because if so, it worked"

Catra got caught by the knight. She closed her legs just a little even if she was shameless at this point. Her body was needy and she couldn't help but bite her bottom lip while her glowing eyes were looking at the blonde one "A-and what are you going to do? Stare at me?" She whispered with a weak smirk as she could feel shivers running down her body. Her voice was soft and needy at the same time making the other groan softly at the invitation.

Adora stripped her armour as quickly as possible before moving onto the bed. She kissed her all the way from down her thigh to her abdomen as she pulled her hand away from between her legs making her whimper. She only replaced it with her own. Her tongue licked the fingers of the feline to have a taste of the sweet cat girl and bit her bottom lip when she felt how wet she was before speaking softly "Fuck.. princess… All of this for me?" She moved on top of her, moving her lips to her neck while kissing and lightly nipping her skin. She dragged a fingertip over her but not pushing it in yet just teasing her with it. Her fingers trailed on her curvy body as her eyes scanned her. Her left elbow helped her stay still above her and her fingers touched her breast since she wouldn’t slide them inside of her yet. Her fingers played with her nipple and her lips occupied the other's.

The brunette bit on her lip and trembled at the touch. She had clearly made the sheet under her wet but she couldn't care less at the moment. Her head tilted. Her arms placed on the woman's shoulders and chest pressed against her hand. "I - I couldn't hold back, knight..... I.... peeked when you've been dressing up and...ah touch me please.." She moaned not loud enough for others to hear. Her back arched and she cupped her cheek to bring her up so she could look into these beautiful blue eyes before kissing her back.

Adora breathed heavily against her. Her own hips bucked slightly against her leg while letting out weak groans. When she heard she had spied on it only made her flush. She nipped her neck before mumbling "I suppose I'll have to punish you for looking at something you weren't given permission to" She whispered against her skin. Her warm breath brushed it and made her shiver. She guided her hand low so she could push a finger into her and curl it. Then she groaned when she felt Catra's walls around her finger. She was trying to stay quiet herself.

The feline whined and her hand reached up to brush her hair back. She could feel her lips getting dry because of how long her mouth was open to moan and help her control her breaths. She could feel the other pressing her hips against her leg while she was speaking. "Y-you're talking to a princess..... I can do whatever I want, knight..." She replied in a demanding tone. Her hand touched on top of the hand that was taking care of her and gasped when she entered her with that finger. Her legs trembled a little as they tense a bit "I... I want you " She whispered close to her while her breaths were still heavy as her head tilted to the side to make more space for her to kiss and mark.

Adora lavished her neck and shoulders in kisses and nips. She had to be careful to not leave any marks on her skin, sadly, though she wanted to mark her so badly. She chuckled softly when she felt her tremble just mumbling in her ear

"And yet here you are. Gasping and trembling under me with only a finger.. Fuck you're tight.. You wouldn't be able to take me just yet kitten" She pressed her hips down just enough to reveal the bulge in the front of her pants now. She was panting softly against her skin, thrusting and curling that finger.

"Ah my.... please" The princess choked at her own saliva and moved her hips against her hand only to bite her again. She also wrapped her arms around her so she could be as close as possible. "Do...do it.. please I need you" She moaned and reached down to help her place her length against her entrance. The brunette licked her jawline only to give her a small kiss and lean in closer. She was making the blonde let out a relieved whine as Adora used the slick on her hands to help lube up her own member, letting Catra guide her in.

Adora’s head went down into the pillows with her lover’s head while gasping and groaning. The blonde tried to make sure she went slow as she pushed in though it was hard for her to keep from just pushing in all the way. She nodded when she told her to be sure to push out but then she rambled softly under her breath "Fuck... thank you... T-thank you..." She held the pillows tightly while her muscles were tensing as she made sure she went slow on her. She let out a relieved groan when she was finally all the way inside, just sitting there for a moment.

The feline couldn't believe this was really about to happen. She loved the girl so much to stop her and herself now. Her hips pressed against her muscular arm, especially when her body tensed she gave her a gentle lick. She was tight. It was her first time doing something like this and she knew better to save it for someone she truly loved

"Agh-.... Adora..." The brunette whispered while clinging on to her well-built shoulders. She tried to breathe steadily to not make it more difficult for her to enter. It was painful yet pleasurable at the same time. She loved how cute she was. How dominant she could get but more importantly.. She loved her scent and strong form above hers. Her voice and breath brushing her skin.
"Agh...m..move" She commanded when she noticed that she stayed inside for too long. Her legs spread so she could have better access.

The knight panted softly as she sat there for a bit, both for Catra's own comfort and to make sure she doesnt release so soon after pressing into her "F-fuck Catra... Y-...you're so tight..." She whined softly and opened her eyes when she kissed her. Her mouth opened to breathe and face flushed bright red as she looked down at her. She finally slowly started rocking her hips. She let out another groan when she felt her and leaned down to kiss her shoulder while mumbling "... You're so beautiful..." The knight said. The other's shoulder gently pressed against her lips to kiss.

Catra's hand cupped her cheek and rubbed her gently to give her a small smirk "You're the beautiful one dear..... I love you" She looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her cheek before she pushed herself against her member to go deep inside her again. "Agh I want you so badly..." She admitted and pressed again and again on her. Both of their bodies were starting to get sweaty as her legs gently wrapped around her waist and tightened around her.. “I love you too.." Adora mumbled in reply while pressing soft, reverent kisses to her neck and shoulders. To anyone else it would look like she was the dominant one. The one in control but she was a mess above her just trying not to fall apart completely as she moved on top of her. She was speeding her thrusts up and grabbing her hips to hold her still while groaning. When she wrapped her legs around her it only made her tighter "Fuck... Y-you have me.. All of me.. I'm all yours, princess.."

Catra shivered and moaned again and again. She loved feeling this way. Her eyes closed tightly and she gasped while holding her close to her. Her insides were burning in pleasure. She was happy and Adora could see it from her eyes. "And I'm all yours.... Just continue please..." The feline begged while looking up at her and continuing to move her hips on her length again and again as she whined in need. Her moans would faint out while holding her close as her juices were leaking on the sheet and covered the other one. The many thrusts made her too sensitive and she soon trembled and squirmed at the same time "Adora...~" she moaned in relief. She was at her limits at that moment.
The blonde laid her upper half on her just panting and bucking into her desperately now and holding her close. Noticing how sensitive Catra was getting Adora used her thumb to rub her clit while panting against her "... you feel so good.. I-... I'm getting close.." Her legs were placed on the mattress. The princess' eyes closed and her grip got tight only to give her a small kiss on her forehead.

Catra grunted while she was rubbing her. She moaned and clung to her tighter. Fingers tensing and sharp nails piercing through the warrior's back as one leg now wrapped around her waist and her tail slowly curled around her strong arm. "I-I don't want this night to end..." She whispered and whimpered softly at the touch while the other one grunted in pain and pleasure by these nails on her back. Adora continued thrusting fast and hard before finally pulling out, groaning as her liquid landed on Catra's stomach just barely managing to pull out in time.
Even though she finished, the blonde one pushed her fingers in while quickly thrusting and curling them. She wanted to bring her over the edge with her while gently biting at her neck hard enough for it to be felt but not hard enough to leave a mark. "You're mine" She bit her a little bit harder this time while trying to focus on working her through and down from her orgasm. Adora panted softly as she pulled her fingers out finally when she saw the girl squirming and trembling under her touch, just lifting her fingers to her own lips and licking and sucking them clean. She loved this too much. She laid back with closed eyes while breathing heavily.
The princess' hand gently crawled back and gave her a small smile after a few moments of them heavily breathing against each other's skin. "I can't ..believe we've actually done that" She whispered as the blonde sat down beside her. She was happily hugging her close and closing her eyes just wrapping herself around her and mumbling "I love you so much princess... I don't want this night to end either…"

The feline was purring quietly. She was in love and this was such a dreamy moment. Her eyes looked up at her and she purred close against the crook of her neck. She curled up on her ,her eyes closing as she nuzzled gently ".... I love you~ I love everything about you..your sea blue eyes. Your voice.. your scent..I don't want you to go..." The fireplace was warm enough so she would only seek for her scent as she planted her face to her chest.

Adora smiled while bending down to press a small kiss to the top of her head between her ears. She held her against her and leaned her back against the headboard of the bed. She was sweaty and probably stinky but Catra seemed to enjoy her scent. She giggled softly as she planted her face in her chest then mumbled.

"I do too... But that's alright..." She paused before adding "If you want... Last day of the tourney I'll give you one of my shirts.. So you have something that smells like me" She smiled softly while running her fingers through her hair. She looked down at the mess between her legs with a soft chuckle. The feline smirked, obviously half satisfied by what she said. Her eyes closed and nodded to the offer. “That would be great..... But you know I wish we could actually be together.. I don't know if I'll even see you again..." She looked up at her before she planted a kiss on her lips.

"We will... I know we will. There will be more tourneys. More balls. More chances…” The knight got interrupted for a second as Catra looked at the door which she thought her lover had left half open. “Hopefully no one heard us…"

"I'm sure they didn't... That door is thick and I made sure it was closed... I can stay for a bit longer before I have to go back out, so c'mere.. I want to hold you" Adora murmured and gave her a small nuzzle. Her eyes closed and finally enjoyed the peace and quiet.

"I'll need a bath .." Catra murmured when she saw how messy she was.
"..I can get a wet rag to wipe you up until you can take a bath" The blonde’s spoke in a soft manner, gently nibbling on her ear.

"Yes please?... I can't really be all dirty like that" The feline smiled nervously and leaned close to give her a small kiss on her chest which travelled up to her cleavage.

"But I'm still glad I even got the chance to be by your side like that... " The knight finally let go to get her the wet rag. She knelt beside her and pressed a kiss to her forehead before gently wiping her clean. Once she was done she set the rag aside just scooping her up into her arms again. Adora held her tighter for a moment and closed her eyes. She was content to hold her close for a bit. She loved how protectively she was holding her even though she had to be the one who should be protected. Her eyes closed and silent purrs escaped the other's lips as her grip loosened. She was tired all day and after such a night… Adora sat down on the bed again, pulling her onto her lap and closing her eyes. She held her until Catra fell asleep while gently running her fingers through her fur. She curled around her protectively while mumbling

"You're mine, kitten... Whether your mom forces you to marry someone or not... You're mine.. And I'm yours" With these words the two of them slept in silence as the warmth between them was too smoothing.

The night would pass by slowly. For half of it they were embracing each other. The other half was with Catra being all by herself under her blankets. Adora could say that the next day she didn't even feel guilty of their previous activities. Her eyes looked at her when she stood up slowly to not wake Catra up and looked at herself in the mirror. She walked out of the door so nobody would suspect a thing and guarded in silence. Adora was exhausted but happy. She was running through the memories of last night over and over while smiling to herself as she stood there.

The hours passed by and the princess woke up too. She prepared herself for the day. She was clearly happy and everyone could see it. She walked outside and gave the other a small smile.

Adora's eyes sparkled when she saw her and her hand fixed her hair up "You had a great night, my lady?" She spoke while the other was fixing her corset

"Yes...in fact it was one of the best I've ever had" Catra whispered. Another knight approached the blonde one to tell her to go down with them for breakfast "The princesses will get their breakfast ..." The man hummed when the other knight approached though she looked up, nodding her thank you "I will wait for the princess and accompany her to her breakfast first. But thank you for informing me" Adora explained quickly.

"You're welcome, have a great morning" The man smiled before walking away. The princess wore a light purple dress with matching gloves. She had to look good after all. Her eyes looked at the knight while feeling her heart skip for a second. She expected a bow from the woman, especially in front of others. Catra grinned at the knight making her smile back from under her helmet and bowed before standing straight again.

"I will be accompanying you to your breakfast before leaving for my own. They seem to have decided the royalty eat separately now" Adora’s heart raced. She was a bit upset at the separate breakfasts but she would be able to see her during the tourney today anyway.

"In different rooms? How so?..... After the last incident you should have been able to at least be close to us" Catra replied in confusion making the girl shrug at her question. She shook her head and watched as her companion walked close to her to touch the woman's hair "My lady ... This is not a proper look for you. Didn't your maid fix your hair?"

"She didn't... I wanted to let them all down and simple.." The feline spoke and curled her hair on her finger.

"But the Queen will be there and your mother will get upset" The old woman spoke, causing a feeling of nervousness up her stomach.

"I.... I see... I'll be right back" Her ears perked down and she took a seat to get her messy hair fixed.
Adora though stepped forward "Here. I help princess Glimmer with her hair all the time. Allow me?" She offered but didn't touch her unless she gave her permission.

"The maid is capable of doing that, knight. The princess is in good hands after all -" Her companion though was caught off guard since to her surprise she heard Catra talking "You can come in, I'd like to see something different than the usual" She commanded while making the other two fall in silence and bow. Her eyes stared at her reflection in the mirror before looking at her companion. "You can go, both of you, I've heard mother sent some new letters to bring me the dresses. Go get them" The two maids obviously obeyed. They were stunned to say the least since she was so comfortable with the knight. They left them alone with the door closed.
Adora smiled gently just nodding and walking over to remove her gauntlets and gently setting them on the desk by Catra. She 'accidentally' flexer her hands for her by that move while smiling under her helmet. Once the two maids left she just chuckled and leaned down to kiss the top of her head before mumbling. "You don't care anymore if it's obvious we're close do you?" She teased but got to work on her hair. She was glancing at her through her mirror.

"Having you to fix my hair isn't something unbelievable.... Though I think that..yes .. I'll try to do my best and convince my mom about you after all.." She yawned quietly while tilting her head to the side and exposing her neck at her. Maybe it was on purpose. Catra loved to spend time with her and she wouldn't stop now. She made the other pause for a moment and smirk before leaning down to kiss her bare neck.

"Behave, kitten. Don't rile me up before breakfast." She chuckled before going back to her hair while focusing on fixing it up for her.

"Hm but I'd prefer these lips to touch my skin” She looked at her through the mirror once again before she pouted quietly "No one sees us here..." She was tempted and she gave more access to her long neck. They should be going due to the queen not being able to wait for long.

Adora found the opportunity to lean down and nip at her skin before pulling up causing a soft whine to be left by the other's lips "We don't have enough time till breakfast" She finished with her hair. She kissed her shoulder and mumbled "C'mon... How does it look?" It looked nice but Catra really wanted to be by her side now more than to go downstairs for that breakfast.

"It looks amazing, thanks" She was ready to stand up when Adora didn't allow her to do it all alone. She offered her hand to assist her up from the chair, sneaking a quick peck on the cheek before she pulled her gauntlets on. She walked over as she pulled out her sword from its scabbard just transforming it into a bracelet by slapping it onto her wrist. She walked just behind her as she accompanied her to her breakfast. The woman bowed to her once again right before she entered and spoke softly "I hope you enjoy your breakfast, princess." She paused, standing up and smiling at her from under her helmet. The feline nodded quickly, noticing her mother being nearby and waved at her. At times she leaned against the table touching her neck gently to the spots she kissed her and remembering these beautiful moments.

Bow on the other hand noticed the blonde's expression and approached her when she walked and took a seat close to him "Morning there" Even though she was exhausted she was clearly elated. She grinned still as she headed in for breakfast, piling her plate high this time and looking at him "Good morning Bow! How was your night? Had fun guarding Glimmer?"

"fun? No, it was rather quiet and tiresome to be honest. You'll tell me everything about your time with the princess" He smiled, wrapping an arm around her shoulders and joined her on the table.
Catra, on the other side, was cheerful which caused a glare from Glimmer. What happened and she was so happy about it? Maybe spending the night with a certain knight?

The mage stood up and guided herself towards Adora..She couldn’t even think of them being together last night. She had some...news that she was sure they wouldn’t be...fun to announce to the blonde one. She knew that all of this was a trick. Catra came to Adora’s life just too quickly… Last night though she got a letter that was proof of what she believed about that princess. She could protect her if she didn’t fall for her for good this time.
"Hey... Adora?" She hummed and poked her so she could take her attention. The knight at that moment was just shovelling her food into her mouth. She was starving... and she was extremely thirsty. She looked up when she felt the other one poking her. She was confused for a moment "I- princess Glimmer, what are you doing here... Aren't you supposed to be eating with the other royalty?" She sat up then, swallowing her food thickly and having her eyebrows furrowed in confusion as she looked up at her

“Yes but... Agh Adora ..we have to talk and I can't eat unless I speak with you.." She truly didn't want to talk about it now but ...she had to as she noticed the change in her expression. "You guarded that Horde ..princess I see" She hissed under her breath. When she noticed how she was devouring the food she changed her mind. " after you eat ... I'll wait for you under the main stairs in the hall"

By the tone of her voice the blonde’s smile faded "Will you stop trying to subtly insult her? It's getting annoying, Glimmer. She's a princess just like you are. And just because her mom is-... Her mom.. doesn't mean that she herself is bad!" She paused before taking a deep breath and just standing up "I've lost my appetite anyway... Let's go talk." She growled while following her to a distant corner in the hallway of the palace so they could get away from the crowd.

"Just listen to me for once Adora... " She started and sighed, knowing she would lose her appetite anyway. Eyes fixed up at her. Catra saw them walking away but she couldn't do anything than.. stare before they vanished in the hallway. Glimmer pulled out a paper once they were alone "I've found a message from Shadow Weaver. The mother of that princess you've been up to. I wish I had stolen this earlier. " She hummed hesitantly but in the end gave the paper with the sign of the Horde on top of it. She wanted her to know where she was heading and she couldn't believe that Adora was so blind to not see it. "She sent this to someone to kill you but.. she clearly refers to the princess too..they planned all this ,Adora.. to bring your guard down and trust her.. They came here for this, they want you out so they can ruin our kingdom.. " She knew she was hurting her but… she couldn't do anything else to wake her up than show her the truth by this letter "she explains how Catra did her part of the job and now they're already planning on how to take you out of the way.."

Adora was irritated at first until she saw the paper, hesitating before slowly reaching up to grab it. She didn't want to open it at first but finally she did, reading through the letter. Once she finished it she just stood there, hands shaking slightly and tears in her eyes. Glimmer was right… She was there for nothing else than to pull her away from her duty to protect the others. Yet such a way was… cruel to be used. She loved this woman. She really did. "I-... I really thought she loved me... She-... Last night I.. I-I didn't just guard her... Glimmer this-.. This has to be a lie... Right...?"

Glimmer's eyes looked worried at her. She approached only to embrace the girl and show some comfort at least. She knew she didn't listen to her but ..she didn't deserve to be treated like that. A sigh escaped her lips. "I...don't think it is.. Adora.... You see the way she writes everything. She clearly said that their whole plan was to get you and kill you. But.. they ordered someone else to do it.... It seems princesses can't kill,who knows…." She rubbed her upper back and tried to make her feel less in pain. "I'm here for you ..okay? Bow doesn't know anything yet because... I found it last night... My guard brought me the wrong letter and... " She was indeed out of words.

Adora though couldn't believe it.. there had to be an explanation. Catra wasn't like this…. She pushed her away when she tried to hug her, shaking her head "Don't-! Don't.. Please I don't-... I-I.."

She just looked down at her, being heartbroken "I- I love her, Glimmer... I-I really love her... I thought-... She-... I made love to her l-last night and she-.. And this morning she-.. told me she would try to- to convince her mom to let us be together... That-... she couldn't have faked that... S-she couldn't have faked h-..her reaction to my touch.. T-... To the way she fell asleep in my arms I-..." She finally started crying then her head hung and tears fell on the note she held loosely between two fingers.

Glimmer was too surprised to talk. "You did what-!? Adora, you knew her for ...two days!... I told you these people aren't good. Of course someone can fake it! Her mother was already talking about her daughter's marriage last night and this morning. What were you thinking? These people want you dead...they will use anything they have Adora...you protect a whole land back in your Kingdom. Do you think they haven't got their eye on you? It's a war-making kingdom not a peaceful one..!" She tried too hard to not yell at her. She was broken and she could see it "I know all this seemed to be true but... Please snap out of it ..... Snap out of it before it's too late..!"

The knight flinched slightly when she raised her voice, just looking away as she spoke to her. Her tears still rolling down her cheeks while speaking softly "She-... She used me..." She couldn't say anything else just turning her back to her now and starting to walk away even though she wasn't going back to breakfast. She was still holding the note tightly, heading for Catra's room. She was not sure if she was pissed off or if she was going to break down. She just reverted back to what she knew. What was drilled into her head since she was little. Be a good soldier. Push your emotions away and punch them out later.

A broken Heart ♡

"Adora..."

The princess of BrightMoon looked up at her and tried to not let her alone but...she needed to be alone. Glimmer didn't say anything but went back to the dining room so she could continue her breakfast even if she was worried about her friend. Adora got to the room just setting the note on the same desk she had done her hair at. She nearly slammed it down as she did before just grabbing the edge of the desk and leaning on it with a bow of her head. She was finally alone and hopefully the princess wouldn't be back before she left so she took some time to just cry. She was holding onto the edge of the desk and shaking slightly as she did while letting out weak sobs.
Catra on the other hand looked at Glimmer returning to the table but...Adora was nowhere to be found. She just heard the chats of her mother and the rest of them talking about yet again her marriage but she didn't comment on that..not yet. "Um... Mother I'm going upstairs" murmured at the woman and stood up

"Oh prince Chris just arrived. Do you want to show him the place, my dear?" Light Spinner spoke suddenly and held her by the wrist. The girl furrowed her eyebrows and pulled her hand away.

"What is he doing here...-?" She glared.

"We've signed the alliance's contracts of course. We need your signature and his only before the marriage"

Catra's eyes widened at that. How could she not know about that? She has met a lot of princes to think that her mom would actually get to choose this one. He cared only about money and the name of his family. Her heart skipped "I.. will stay alone for a while... I'll help him later" She breathed out heading upstairs to her own room, she still didn't know where the blonde one vanished.

"I can't believe she actually did it... I.. I don't want to get married, Da- " The girl stepped inside the room as she talked to her companion "Adora-! I thought you left. Weren't you hungry?" She almost jumped to walk close to her inside the room. Her ears tilted in excitement. By the time the blonde had finally gathered herself up again she had found a piece of paper and a quill to write a note of her own. She was in the middle of writing it when Catra came in and she looked up. Her face was puffy and red from crying but she stood up quickly just crumpling the note she was writing and backing up when she tried to approach her, lifting a hand.

"Don't... Don't. I know what your mother wanted you to do." She paused just looking at her "well congrats... You managed to make me fall for you... Guess you failed in the second half though didn't you." She just watched her for a moment before realising that she was going to start crying again. She just walked out, throwing the note in the trash as she did and closing the door hard behind her. A part of her wished Glimmer was wrong.. The other part knew that she was right. Her tears started to build up and finally fall as she walked away.

The feline's eyes got wide, her ears fell back down at the woman's words "No — Adora... Adora please let me explain" She reached to hold her hand but she walked out after dodging her hand. Her heart was in pieces. How did this note come to her hands in the first place? Her eyes looked down at the paper and blinked as she harassly slammed the door. Why did everything have to go wrong today.. The feline didn't know what to do..should she run behind her? Should she stay there? She quickly ran out of the room to catch up on her. "Adora please wait -!Please... Listen to me..!" She almost cried out and walked to approach her at least "Yes... I.. I was supposed to make you fall for me but... But not only I couldn't kill you.. I loved you..and I still love you, that's why I can't do it... I can't let my mother kill you either" Her words were cut since she was trying to hold back her tears "Please... Trust me, I.. I never lied about loving you... I loved every single time I spent with you …"

"How do I know I can trust that?! How do I know you aren't just trying to fix this so you can kill me!" She looked at her, not bothering to hide the fact that she was crying "I should have known though.. The knight that tried to kill me was from the Horde... And then the same day I'm almost poisoned... Maybe Glimmer was right... She told me not to trust you... S-she tried to warn me..." She shook her head "Maybe I should have listened..."

"No!... If I wanted to kill you I would have plenty of chances to do so... I didn't.. I won't do it ,Adora.. please don't leave me" The feline cried in between her last words. She loved that knight so much that she couldn't let her go. She wanted to hug her ,to trust her again...but it seemed too much to ask for after this. The feline nervously held her hand with both of hers and looked up at her.

"I… I'm scared, Catra…" Adora let her take her hand though it just sat limp in hers she was about to speak when the other one interrupted her.
"Please give me another chance to prove it..." The magicat spoke out while trembling. She was ready to continue but got interrupted by her future husband who just walked upstairs and saw her cry while wondering what was happening.

"Is everything alright, princess?" He glared at the knight. He was sure that this knight must have done something to her.
The warrior pulled her hand away, standing straight up and sniffling "No sir... I apologise.." She paused again before just stepping back and bowing to the both of them " if you will excuse me..." She turned around then before walking away and putting her helmet on to hide her face. She didn't want anyone else to ask about what just happened as she walked through the halls. She was just going to get ready for that day's tournament..somehow.

The feline's eyes stared at her leaving before she turned her focus on the prince. She had to find out how to explain all this in a small lie but she couldn't exactly do that. Her mother walked there with the young prince's father ready for the contracts of their alliance. Catra wasn't even prepared for it. A lot of things happened in just one morning.... She felt like the whole world was falling apart and she couldn't do anything but stare.. The two parents had already decided for their daughter and son to get married officially but they couldn't do it there so this typical action would take place after the tourneys. Meanwhile they would share a room and the guards would again have the same job according to the Queen of the palace. The danger was still present after all even if Catra knew who caused it and…. She was getting more worried about her own future at this point than seeming to care about the panic around the castle.

Early in the evening the feline, accompanied by the prince, sat on her casual seat to watch the tourney. Adora got ready for the tourney quietly now while remembering if this was the on-horse battle now or mostly jousting though there would be some combat. She was all ready and prepared when she was finally called out. Once again riding Swift wind though this time she didn't even glance at Catra as she rode past. She saw the prince and how he was now sitting next to her.. She could put two and two together. She just tried to focus on the match now even though it was clear her performance had gone down. Even if it could be blamed on the lack of sleep Adora knew the reason and so did Glimmer. She had been so happy this morning ... She had barely won that jousting match but wouldn't be put up again for a bit so she decided to head back to her tent to nap before her next fight.. Or at least she would try to do so.

Catra knew the cause of all this bad performance as well. Her eyes looked away and sighed. She was the cause of all this and she would lose the tourney because of her. Her eyes looked down and tried to avoid speaking at all. She wasn't interested in the tourney if Adora didn't fight..if Adora didn't fight for her. The prince made some attempts for her to cheer up but she just couldn't do it. She looked at him with a nervous smile and a small bow before she stood up. "I'll go get some sleep... I'm sorry, I'll join you tomorrow ,okay?" But the man didn't let her go alone. He would follow her to their room even if she didn't need company.

Bow noticed the change in Adora's mood once the tourney ended and they entered the dining room...she wasn't like this in the morning… but Glimmer refused to tell him what happened. Adora was second this time. She didn’t exactly win but..second place was just fine for her at the moment. Bow would sit beside her, lean close and place an arm around the knight. "Adora... Maybe you should rest... The Queen ordered us to guard the princesses tonight as well...but you're a mess.... Maybe you should tell her to sleep" He was as worried as Glimmer and the night would be long. Maybe there was no room for partying after the tourneys for Adora.

The music echoed in the room as people were chatting and having fun but Adora just..didn't feel good. She didn't respond to Bow and just stared down at her food. She was nibbling slowly on it so it looked like she was at least trying to eat though she definitely drank wine. A lot of wine. She wanted to forget, to move on, though she knew she never will.

"I'll be fine, Bow." That was all she said before allowing herself to drown her sorrows in the wine and just hoping she wouldn't hear them that night the way she hoped no one had heard herself and the princess. With how close the prince was to Catra all the time she knew she wouldn't be able to talk to her even if she wanted to so she just lost herself in the wine and put a little bit of food in her stomach.

"Will you even be able to guard anyone..? Look at you.." The man spoke again. He thought she would at least listen to him but he would only back down after seeing her like that.

"I said I'm fine, Bow!" She paused for a moment at that and ran a hand through her hair "I'll be fine. Just-... Just go dance." She waved him away before filling a flask with wine so she had something to drink tonight. She was wondering if she could slip away to sleep before having to guard again. But until then she just sat there at the table while drinking her wine and staring at her plate. She should have known that a woman as amazing as Catra would have been sent to kill her... Someone she finally felt a connection with. Someone she could finally bring herself to care about. At least she knows she was a stupid, love-struck idiot who should have listened to Glimmer the first time.

At the same time, Catra joined the celebration as the prince was already in the room. She didn't look around nor searched for her woman. She only sat down beside him before leaning in her seat. The man tried to convince her to drink or eat but she would only have some wine as she smiled a little at him to not be rude or draw suspicions that she wasn't happy around him. The winner of the tourney was praised by the Queen just like she did with Adora last night. Her ears perked up once the queen had stood up, ordering for the music to play as the rest of the nobles would smile brightly. Whoever drank their drinks they would stand up, ladies and gentlemen, to dance in the ball room that was located right next to the dining room. The feline found the opportunity to look at the knight and paused for a moment. That melody was almost just like the one they first danced to. She could remember how cute she was ,how gentle and well mannered around her yet she couldn't make a smile appear on her face anymore. After pushing her plate away the blonde prince would smile at her standing up to invite her for a dance.

"No.. I want to stay and drink some more, if you want you can dance with one of the other ladies. I honestly don't mind that" The feline looked up at him and then down at her glass. She took another sip before she had been pulled up by him as he chuckled "Nonsense, I can't dance without you" She was so close to telling him to not dance but she remained quiet and sighed as she held her dress when the man guided her to dance.

Her arms wrapped around his shoulders just getting in position yet the girl would move awkwardly as she felt his hand going slightly lower than she expected

"We're in public.."she hissed. Her ears went down as she tried successfully to hide her expression and mask a glare.

"We're married—"

"Yes but it's rude, now get your hand up again" The girl continued as she could finally move freely to the music. How she hated that she didn't dance with Adora...but she did deserve this since agreed to trap her even if she ended up truly falling in love.

Adora looked up when she saw Catra getting up. She was just watching as they went over to dance before taking another big drink of her wine. She saw how low his hand went and how uncomfortable she seemed though she assumed it was still acting to try and get her to step in and take over.. to get her to trust her again. Eventually she just looked down again with a soft groan into her hands. She got up just barely managing to keep herself from stumbling or swaying too much before heading to find somewhere to nap. She had to guard the two of them that night.

By noticing the other living Catra's ears perked. Why didn't she even approach her today... Her eyes looked away but the dance would end soon since the girl was already feeling like she wanted somewhere to just be with Adora. To try and talk to her. To explain once more that she is in fact in love with her... But she would get the same answer. No one would want her. They were all afraid.. all scared because of the fame her kingdom had. Who would even go near if they were scared of their lives? It always ended up with everyone leaving because of that. Only a fool like that king would give his son to someone like her. She was different. She had a bad reputation and everyone feared her. Maybe that marriage was the best solution for her problem but she was not happy with it. Her thoughts almost brought tears to her eyes while she was sitting on the table. The man started to get impatient while he was waiting for the girl's knight. It was late and they couldn't leave without their knights. Queen's orders. "You'll be around.. just let's go. The knight won't come... probably" Catra knew he was too coward to protect her if anything happened but she couldn't stay there waiting for Adora who wouldn't come.

Bow noticed them talking and the prince getting mad already. He ran to the bedroom of the blonde's to wake her up. After all she drank...a lot "Adora?" She groaned softly when she heard Bow but she got up as she stumbled over and opened the door while being clearly irritated

"What. Can't a girl sleep in peace?" When she was told what time it was she cursed and jumped off the bed. She went back to quickly pull her armour on and managed not to fall as she got it on. She grabbed her sword before quickly heading to the ball. Realising they had left she walked quickly in hopes that she would catch up with them. She did. They were not too far from their room just bowing deeply "I apologise, your majesties.. I had planned to rest before another long night and had slept in too long.."

"If the princess did not have someone to go back to her chambers would you have left her waiting for a knight just because you were sleeping?" The brunette was about to speak but got stopped by the man's angry talk. Her eyes looked up at him and then back to Adora before she shook her head.

"She was guarding my room last night, then the tourney.. it's obvious a knight would need some rest" Catra replied quickly.

"She's a woman guarding the princess, of course she would need sleep..... What was the queen thinking when she told her to protect you..? She's obviously unable to do that. I'll go talk to her tomorrow. My wife won't have this excuse of a knight by her side" he hissed and walked past the knight

"She's an honourable knight and actually good at her job everyone needs some rest.. I don't need another knight-" The brunette continued looking at the knight before walking by.

"I can't let you risk your life because of her. She has one job if she's not doing it right I will be the one calling a guard for you, my princess. They are supposed to protect us and not sleep while on duty. Just come.... no one will touch my queen as long as I'm here. I told your companion to prepare your bath. It's too late and you look tired.." he continued.

At first, Adora grit her teeth but didn't say anything just following along with them as he talked. She got only more irritated the longer he talked before finally she snapped at his last words. She drew her sword out and put it to his throat before speaking. "Your majesty.. I would suggest you watch what you say about your wife and her guard. I would hate to have to defend her from her own husband. If you doubt my abilities just understand that I could beat you in a fight with my hands tied behind my back and no sword in hand. So I suggest you watch what you say. Just because you are married to her does not mean that she is your property. Have some human decency." She put her sword away then bowed once more "I am Knight Adora, also known as She-ra. The Knight of Power. I assume you know what that title entails?" Both the man and the feline widened their eyes in surprise. Catra couldn't help but step forward a little, touching the sword just in case. She knew Adora didn't accept such behaviour but drawing her sword to him was too much.

"You should watch your mouth while talking to a royalty. No matter which title you have, you're still a knight." The man glared at her as he took a step closer to the edge. He was a coward to fight her but in words he had a lot to say. Especially when the other was just a knight. He was ready to speak again but Catra wouldn't accept another word.
"Just stop. Both of you. I'm tired. I want to go to my chambers" she hissed.
"She raised the sword on me. She should know her place and ours. I can't believe you didn't say anything to her." He glared at the woman.
"She didn't raise the sword on me or anyone yet... Neither she will again" Catra looked with a serious expression at the knight. What was she thinking.. "Apologise to him..." She pointed at the man. She couldn't do something nor take her side on this. He was higher ranked than her..

Adora paused but lowered her sword then turned it into a bracelet once again. She was still staring him down though "He should be the one apologising to you. I will not apologise when I am in the right. I do not care if he were a king or a slave. He is your husband. His duty is to care for you, not put you down. Now I suggest we get the two of you to your rooms before it gets too late. There is still one more day of the tournament left and I would assume neither of you want to miss it? It's the most brutal one. No holding back. Using everything in your arsenal and I plan on participating." She looked at the two of them while still being irritated "My job is to protect the princess. You come second to her. Don't forget that."

"Adora, stop..! He's not putting me down and you should show some respect to him as well" The feline glared at her. She turned on her heel and if she didn't move they would argue again. "Let's go.." she continued while walking to the hallway. She was taking quick steps as the other one attempted again to hold her by the waist even if she moved away.

The man approached her wrapping his arm around her and leaning towards her anyway "Just calm down... I didn't want to raise my tone in front of you.. I'm sorry" The woman rolled her eyes. She knew that this was not the case but clearly he couldn't find any wrong in his attitude.
"It's fine. I'll just get some more rest and I'll be better" she felt too uncomfortable around him but especially when Adora was clearly steps behind them and he was touching her. The knight grit her teeth but didn't say anything. She just followed behind him while watching him closely as he touched her which only pissed her off more. She was obviously moving away, obviously nervous. Why didn't he care?
Once they got there Adora opened the door for them though she glared at the prince as he walked in "Have a good night, your majesties. I will see you in the morning."

Catra walked in with a nod as the man would glare back at the knight. She didn't like him nor did he like that knight so the feelings were mutual as it seemed. Her mismatching eyes looked at them and pulled him inside with a huff as she closed the door behind. "You should really stop paying attention to my guards and servants.. I and the Queen chose them for a reason not because we just liked their looks.” She hissed as she untied her hair and looked up at him

"You know I'm right, Catra. They don't know their place and you've allowed it to happen.." he murmurs but soon she just walked past him to close the door behind her or so she thought since Adora made sure for the door to be cracked once again..just in case.

"Then I should be the one to yell at them, not you..."

"There's a reason we are married. It allows me to judge them as well. I know what's good for you, princess" he continued while placing a hand on her cheek to cup it and smile at her but the girl didn't reply. All this was a mess that she and ...mostly her mother had made and she knew it. She looked up at the man before turning her head away to turn around. “I still have a say in this. You don’t have to be so mean to them.. If I want to order them to do something for me I’ll tell them myself.”
“Alright… I’m sorry again, my love.” He leaned down, placing a kiss on her head between her ears. Her eyes closed as she successfully undid her corset alone and pulled away to walk into the bathroom

“I’ll need some time alone..” She mumbled and closed the door behind her before jumping in the water. The smooth feeling of the warm water brushing her skin helped her calm down a little. She wished for the other woman to be by her side tonight too.

Adora couldn't hold herself back while listening and gritting her teeth at the previous conversation of the couple. She managed to stay in her spot though. She already hated the prince. She knew she wouldn't be able to stay around her long enough to put him in his place and teach him some manners. For now she was just standing there and fuming. A part of her hoping that someone would try to attack them so she could take her anger out on them. She gritted her teeth as she stood there before taking a drink from her flask. She was hoping the wine would calm her temper.

After some minutes the princess would wear her dark coloured nightdress only to get out and point to the tub with her hand while walking towards her wooden desk "You can go in if you want, I'll just write a little and lay down" She hummed as he followed her words

“Alright.. If you want anything please tell me..okay?” He whispered, cupping both her cheeks in a carrying manner
“Yes..of course I will” The girl smiled nervously before he left her alone. She finally had some silence. The feline stood up from her seat. She took a breath while brushing her hair back and looked at the door. She approached only to pause for a second with her hand on the doorknob. She wanted to ask her if she was alright but she hesitated... She didn't want to make her cry again. Her eyes closed and turned around to walk back to her desk and continue to write an old book of hers. At least she had some time to focus on something else. The time passed by quickly, Catra stood up to lay down on the bedside. Her eyes looked out of the window of the balcony and she leaned against her pillow while embracing her blanket. She was truly nervous. That nervousness only made her stand up and pace inside the room. She had taken that letter that Adora held and cut it into pieces but it didn't help. She was in love with her and she couldn't take her out of her mind. Her fists tightened while remembering how she hit the very same desk. How she slammed the door. How angry and heartbroken she was because of her. A soft exhale escaped but she didn't know what else to do than stay in silence..
The man would only approach from behind wrapping his arms around her slim waist, the same slim and soft waist Adora once held. Her eyes raised from her book to look at him from the mirror before touching his hand

"Are you done with the bath?" The girl spoke in a quiet tone. She didn't have any feelings for this prince but it wasn’t that she hated him. He probably didn’t have a crush on anyone else. "Yes...do you feel better?” he spoke softly.

“Kind of…..it’s been a rough day. Don’t think that it’s your fault. I had a bad morning”

“Hey….don’t worry so much about it.. The morning belongs in the past, my princess. We should look at the future...our future~” The man kissed her jawline from behind his arms gently caressing her sides.

“I'm already making plans for us. After the tournaments we can go to my kingdom, away from everything and everyone…just us with our heir to have some relaxation since... You seem too tense in this castle.." He was right. Her body was tensed especially while he was talking so close to her neck. The girl took a sharp breath as he was the one planting kisses on her instead of her knight. She turned her head to the other side to avoid him but she was already trapped by his hand touching her chin

"I..I am..but don't worry about me so much. I can take care of myself just fine.. After the tourneys I told my mother to go back to the castle so I can take care of some unfinished business.." she smiled and turned around. He took a step further though and trapped her between him and the desk. His hand cupped her perfect skin and gently caressed her with his thumb before letting a soft chuckle at her comment.

“Trust me. Being safe in my kingdom and relaxing under our guards’ protection is better than work.. I will show you everything. The waterfalls, our gardens with all kinds of flowers.. You’ll be my queen. I’ll let you think about it though..we still have a day or two to leave from here” When his hand crawled lower to pull her up by her hips she clung her fingers on his shoulder in surprise. She didn't expect him to pick her up, especially to place her on the desk. “Please calm down..” He hummed against the crook of her neck while leaving some kisses on her neck

“Look- I’m going to order a cup of tea… I will calm down for sure..~” A nervous smile formed on her lips. Her hand pushed him away just a tiny bit so he could stand on the ground. "We're married now, my princess.... you don't have to be worried nor count on tea to calm you down" He whispered. He wouldn't obviously wait for any approval from her to continue since he had already picked the slim girl up and placed her gently on the bed while kissing her lips.

"The door-" The feline got trapped under him
“You closed it earlier, my love~” He carefully reached down on her body by placing kisses all the way from her leg to her thigh where he could finally guide her legs more apart. He gently nibbled on her but soon he gave in to his more lustful side. He was craving for her to please him rather than doing anything for her to feel more comfortable around him or for her to feel good in general.

The girl at first could at least think that this could be Adora touching her but as soon as he began suckling and biting on her she couldn’t help but tremble. He didn’t care to make it easier for her to calm down or please her just like Adora did in the first place. He pulled her dress up as he lowered his own trousers and towered the girl to go straight to the point. He made the feline moan quietly and her grip to tighten on the sheets. He in fact had entered the girl too quickly for her to even get used to it yet her eyes closed tightly and her legs tensed at the feeling. He leaned against her kissing and nibbling on her cleavage. His hands held her waist steady as he moved quickly above her. The movement between them was too forced to match as the princess pulled herself slightly up to get off the man’s grip who was already enjoying the feeling of her body being against his.

“Just- Go slower, please-” The brunette almost cried as she felt her body aching way too much for her to keep a low voice. He didn’t seem to even listen to her as he only cupped her cheek to smile at the girl while thrusting deeply yet roughly against her and trailed his fingers on her lips “Hush you’re going to wake everyone up…..not that I would care though... I’m not sure how everyone will look at us tomorrow” He only joked as he gave her several thrusts while panting while making her head tilt and her teeth to bite her own hand to keep her voice down as she whined in pain. She knew he didn’t care but this was too much for her. She also knew that her mother would look at her suspiciously if all the princesses were giving weird looks to them tomorrow. The man continued though and scratched her hips while holding her. When he reached down to rub with his hand her other entrance she gritted her teeth as her sharp nails almost pierced through his skin on his upper back. She made the man growl and forced her hand off him while pinning them above her head. Another hand landed on her throat forcing it against the pillow and causing her to choke

“Don’t be mean now… I don’t want to force this mouth close, princess” He panted as her lips let out a hiss. She couldn’t do much though. Her mind only thought about the woman behind the door who was supposed to guard her.. but from who? The criminal who attempted to kill the knight or this husband she would have to live with? She was trying to stay as quiet as she could for both her and the guard's sake as the man pulled her to force her on her four so he could have a better hold of her by grabbing her tail and making her cheeks flush red. She was too sensitive there and nobody touched her tail till now. Her eyes widened and gasped when she felt the man entering and thrusting inside of her once again.

The guard heard them talking. Heard what he was saying and what he was doing. How he talked about an heir and about taking her away. How she was tense and needed to relax in the first place. She heard everything even after the candles were off. Some tears started to fall under her helmet while just staring at the ground. She should have done what Bow said. She shouldn't have guarded her tonight. For a moment she thought about abandoning her post or bursting in and throwing him off of her. He clearly didn't care whether she was being pleased or not. Adora held the hilt to her sword tightly but managed to stay there.

After some minutes he would hold the feline close to his chest as he finished. She slid away after a while when she made sure he was asleep. She was whimpering and grunting as her own pillow was scratched by her nails after their minutes of 'passion'. She’d stand up. The wooden floor cracked as she managed to walk to get her black robe to put on. She was ashamed even if she did remain quiet for others to not hear. She was feeling dirty. Her eyes looked again to the man before stumbling a little and opening the door for her to slide out while ignoring the guard and walking to the hallway as quietly and steadily as she could. She embraced herself with her arms as she nuzzled for some warmth in the robe. Her legs felt numb while unconsciously just walking and being careful to not stumble somewhere else too.

The knight looked over when she walked out. She hesitated before following her as she put her flask away. She caught up easily but hesitated and offered her an arm even though she didn't say anything at first. When she finally did speak it was soft and she was trying to hide the fact that she had cried again. "I heard. He didn't do very well, did he." She paused for a moment before adding "I hate that I still care about you. I shouldn't. I know I shouldn't. I guess you're damn good at your job." It seemed the drink did its work to numb her.

"Don't follow me around.... And don't talk about any of this to anyone..... " She tried her best to remain quiet yet she failed. She couldn't believe what she had heard coming from the knight's mouth. Her steps were still painful. She was both hurt and angry at the fact she thought all this was an act. "I do not need your pity....I want some time alone..." She trembled slightly as she forced her throat to not whimper. She was both heartbroken and in physical pain. "Guard my room..I want to stay alone"

It didn't take long for the blonde to fall for her yet again.. even if at first she hesitated for a moment. She gently pulled her into a hug while tearing up again as she held her "I'm not pitying you... and I can't leave you alone... I am to guard you.. And I will protect you with my life if need be..." She paused again. She looked down at her while cupping her cheek "I'm sorry I didn't believe you... And I'm sorry I couldn't go in and stop him..." She kissed the top of her head. Adora kept her arms around her "I'm so sorry…"

Catra's eyes looked down at the ground and her body tensed while being in the other's embrace. "Y..you didn't have to believe me ...nor stop him... He's my husband after all...right ...?" The girl's voice cracked as she couldn't stop her tears from falling down her cheeks. She whimpered while saying her last words though. She couldn't believe she would have to spend the rest of her days like this. Her hand placed on her shoulder and tried to push her away faintly "I deserve this Adora.. everyone's scared of me... My future kingdom is the worst, I know... Making war is the best thing we do... I just.... Everyone is afraid of having relations with me or my kingdom... This prince was the last my mother saw and agreed on having ties with.. I didn't expect anything else. I... I just didn't think it would be so bad..." Her voice cracked and her hand rubbed her eyes as she tried to stay standing. "He's just..." The girl had lost her words. She didn't know how to describe him.

Adora didn't let her go. Instead she held her tighter and pressed a kiss to the top of her hair "I don't care that he's your husband... He has no right to treat you like that... You aren't a broodmare, just there to have his heirs..." She sounded angry now but she wasn't angry at her, just at her husband "You don't deserve this... I wish I could take you away with me... I wish you could be mine.."

"I would only cause more trouble to you..... And I don’t want that.... I'm so sorry I didn't tell you any about this earlier.... But you were angry....I.. I messed up and now.." She cried quietly and leaned into her neck to dig her face in. Her body felt tired as her eyes closed "And now I'm just paying the price.... But you're not safe yet.." she wanted to tell her about the plans her mother was working on but she just didn't know where to begin.

The blonde one held her close as she talked while closing her eyes and shaking slightly before mumbling "Maybe... Maybe tomorrow I'll prove to your mom that I'm strong enough to be worth marrying you.. Maybe you can convince her to let you leave that boy…"

"I don't know.... I really don't think I can convince her.. she's already signed everything. I did too.." Only a duel would be worthy if the prince wasn't afraid of the knight and still..her mother hated Shera and she wouldn’t allow her to marry her unless it was for Catra to backstab her. She took a big inhale and continued "I... I want to go out.." She breathed out after a few seconds but the other held her close while rubbing her back and mumbling

"You'll freeze if you go outside like this, princess..." The feline shook her head and paused for a moment before she uncovered herself to show her the blood stained nightdress with her thighs being as well painted red at some spots. She smiled to hide her pain.

"I'd prefer to freeze than feeling this" Her legs closed tightly while trembling. Her arms embraced herself as she was scared she wouldn't be able to make any heir but she would only die if he continued like this.

Adora's eyes widened for a moment when she saw the blood before she growled "I.. go out" even though Catra said that she got picked up by the other as the blond one spoke again. "You shouldn't be walking if you're hurt that bad. C'mon, we can go to my room for a bit. I'll clean you up and get you a clean nightgown... I think I have a few..." She carried her as she was speaking softly "Just let me take care of you, princess... I'll get you some warmer clothes and we can go outside for a bit"

The brunette groaned in pain but she didn't refuse to follow her. Her head leaned against her chest even if it was the armour she could still feel the warmth of her embrace. "Fine..... I don't care about the time.. anyway" She hummed. It was true since she got the knight with her nobody could say anything to her, neither the prince.

After several steps Adora got to her room and opened the door with her hip to lay her on the bed. Her room was small with just a bed, a small desk and a window. She had a little bathroom but she didn't have enough room for a large tub. It was barely enough for her to stand in and wipe herself off. She grabbed a wet rag as well as some clothes for her to change into before sitting beside her and hesitating "I-.. Do you mind if I um..." She just lifted the rag as an explanation.

"R..ight " She couldn't feel more ashamed than now. The feline would spread just a bit her legs as she allowed her to help her clean her up.

Adora could see the scratches on her thighs and hips even the red private parts that were slightly irritated. The blonde flinched slightly at how bad it was. She could see how both of her entrances were hurt as the girl tensed every time she touched her with the cold water. She remained silent though as she didn't want to ask her about it. Once the taller one finished, she leant down to press a gentle kiss to her stomach while allowing any wounds to scab over on her own. She had grabbed her loose but warm pants so they won't irritate her wounds anymore and a night gown for her to change into once they came back. She noticed how ashamed she seemed and moved up; kissing her cheek before hugging her tightly and closing her eyes "I'm so sorry he hurt you... I-I should have stopped him... It's not your fault... And you have no reason to be ashamed of this okay...?" She kissed the top of her head making the other nod before setting the clothes beside her "I'll wait right outside so you have some privacy okay? If you need anything don't hesitate to call me.. I have some bandages if you want to wrap up your thighs"

"Yes.....thank you, Adora" Catra breathed out as she leaned close to her only to give her a small embrace. She missed her but she couldn't have her. Her eyes looked up at her and continued "You couldn't help me this way... It's better that you didn't come in" She admitted after a while and looked at the pants. Maybe she could change into...proper clothes once she was in her room. Her slim body got the clothes Adora offered and after not too long she walked outside. Her eyes looked up at her before she began to walk outdoors. Adora was so tired but at the same time she wanted to be with Catra for the whole night till they slept just like the last time

"I love you.... I know you're scared but I do love you, I'm not..lying to have you dead.." The feline spoke quietly.

“I wish I could help more.. Maybe I should challenge him for your hand... I'd even fight a champion of his since he seems like too much of a coward to fight me..." Adora spoke softly while looking down and remaining silent. When she said she loved her though she looked up before pausing for a moment "I-.... I love you too... And... I am still a little scared... But, as stupid as it may be, I’m going to trust my gut... And I’m going to trust you" A chuckle escaped her lips. The girl’s eyes stared at the knight as she leaned against her.

"I'm sorry... For everything...and thank you for trusting me again.... You won't regret it.." She spoke but stood on her feet as she raised and placed a peck on her lips "Why don't you challenge him then? I can't tell who's going to fight who but you can try.... I will pray for you to win..." Catra smiled and planted her face to the crook of her neck.

The blonde haired looked at her for a moment before just smiling. She wrapped her arms around her and kissed her "I don't have as much riches as he has.. Or land... That doesn't bother you..?" She cupped her cheek then looked down at her. She was worried she would be disappointed by how little Adora had. Even though she was such a high ranking knight she refused most of what was offered to her. She was feeling that she didn't deserve the riches or land they wanted to give her

"no.....I don't care about it....really I don't.... I'm tired.. I just want someone who loves me and.....won't hurt me...or be afraid of me" She answered while trying to not tear up. Her eyes looked up at her and tried slowly to nuzzle in the embrace. Her arms were always so soft and gentle.. her eyes closed and she gave a small kiss on her lips once again. This time she didn't hold back.

"If you don't then... Then I would willingly fight for your hand 100 times over if it meant I would be allowed to call you mine..." The knight smiled gently before kissing her softly and mumbling "You have to earn the trust of my friends though... Bow will be easier... Princess Glimmer will be hard but-... But I believe in you... Best thing you can do is prove to them that you really care..."

"I'll try... I promise.." Catra would do anything for her.

Adora smiled and held her close while hesitating but pressing a soft kiss to the base of one of her ears "Your ears are so cute..."

The feline smiled and wrapped her arms around her tightly, chuckling at the comment. Ears perked up at the sound of her voice "Thanks..... " No one had said this and the girl appreciated it a lot. Her husband didn't care as much to compliment her but at least she would get complimented by her knight. Her fingers clung on her and she took a small breath "I... Have to go back to my room.... I don't want to leave your embrace ,Adora..." She held her in need. She was scared to be around the man after what she's been through. She got scooped up though immediately

"There.. Now you can relax in my arms... I have a nightgown you can borrow until I can get the other one cleaned up." Adora smiled and kissed her gently before taking her back to her room and adding "If he ever pushes too far again... Call for me, okay? I don't care if I get in trouble for it. Call for me." She rubbed her back as she carried her back to her room. "Do you want some bandages for your thighs so you can at least not have to worry about getting irritated while you sleep...? And maybe a little bit of wine to help dull the pain?" She paused before adding "if you want I can take a drink of it first.. So you know it's not poisoned"

"No no... I know it's not poisoned .... Just... The bandages ,nothing more or less.. if he tries anything I'll call you I just... I'm not sure you can do much really.. he'll tell you about the whole being-my-prince or future king thing. I love you... I don't want you to get hurt because of me …"

"I love you too... And I would break all of my bones a thousand times over if it meant you get the life you deserve... Besides as She-ra I can heal just about anything... It just may take some time"

"I know you would... But if he asks me I can't take your side, Adora.... I can't " She murmured and sighed while wrapping her arms around the woman to give her a small last kiss. Blue eyes looked at her and leaned away, giving her a small smile "I'll do what I can..." she whispered and made the other one chuckle again

"I can defend myself, princess…" she paused, remembering the other was more worried about what the prince would tell her "If he starts again..I'll tell him about how the king and queen in my kingdom loved her so much... How they only ever had one daughter.. And how the Queen refuses to remarry after his disappearance..." She paused and cupped her cheek only to kiss her softly, right there in the hallway "If he can't treat you right he doesn't deserve to be king. For anybody. Because if he can't treat his own wife right he won't treat his people right either..."
Once they got to the room she got her the nightgown and continued "You shouldn't be worried about him or me… just worry about yourself and make friends with mine.. Alright? I can't have Glimmer killing me herself for forgiving you.." Adora giggled softly and kissed her forehead before setting her down "I know it's not as good as any of yours but it's better then nothing... I'm gonna need to take your pants off to bandage you up though." She paused before smiling gently.

The other one nodded quickly and tried with her help to put on the nightgown before rubbing with her thumb the side of her cheek. She loved the feline too much to see her in pain..

After that she guided her back to her room since she wrapped the other's thighs with bandages and smiled softly. She kissed her one last time for the night outside of the door room. "I'll see you in the morning.. Goodnight, sweetheart.. I'll challenge him after the tourney... And after I win...you 'll be mine"

"Goodnight, my knight." Catra smiled and embraced her tightly before walking back inside. She left the other one to take a sip of her wine and stand on guard again. She took a huge inhale, sliding under the blanket of hers and turning her back to the man beside her. Knowing that Adora still loved her.. and didn't think of her as a liar gave her strength. The woman slept peacefully even if the prince was beside her. She was obviously dreaming of the woman outside of the door.

Backstabbed

The sunlight entered the warm room. The couple was still sleeping but Catra woke up earlier than expected. The maid didn't even arrive in the room to wake her up.. The feeling of the man behind her wrapping his arm around her and nibbling on her shoulder made her think at first that it was Adora but realisation came after and she quickly opened her eyes almost jumping up "Don’t touch me!... Last night you've gone too far" The girl hissed and stood up while glaring at him who just rolled his eyes “You're overreacting…. Calm down. You’ll wake everyone up” He grunted roughly and stretched on the bedside with a quiet yawn before rolling on the mattress to get dressed. Her mismatching eyes looked at the door which was yet again cracked open by Adora since she told her to ask for her help if she needed it. Catra whined at the uneasy feeling from her wounds from last night but she was too excited to see what would happen with the knight. If she was about to fight to honour her or not. Her mother’s plans on killing her wouldn't change but she would have to either run away or ...she didn't know.

Her eyes looked at the man before she covered her curvy form with her purple robe. "I'll go get dressed ..." She announced while walking toward the door where she opened it and gave the knight a small smile "Can you call my maid?" She questioned quietly and looked at the woman. She had already chosen what to wear and she needed help with her corset and the whole dressing up. Even though Adora was getting irritated by their conversation she was glad he didn't push her further. When she asked her to call for her maid she paused before nodding.

"Yes your majesty. She should be here soon judging by what time it is but I will make sure she is" She spoke formally before mumbling for the prince to not hear "Are you comfy with me leaving you alone with him..? It'll only be about 10 minutes"

The feline smiled at her concerns. She only placed a hand on her shoulder and rubbed her to show she would be alright "Don't worry... Go. I'll be fine" She didn't feel comfortable with him but that didn't mean she wouldn't have to stay alone with him for a while. She only pulled away and closed the door behind her. She walked to the room only to find the man in the bathroom so she took off her clothes. She stared at her thighs while remembering how Adora had treated them and smiled slightly. Her eyes looked at them for a couple of seconds, touching the bandages and daydreaming about the girl till she snapped out of it and decided to put on her shift dress. She chose her favourite light purple over the knee stockings to wear and sat down to put them on. They were decorated to her ankles with the symbol of her nation and her hands tied up her white garters just above her knees. Her short body slid inside her white petticoat only to place her corset on her torso and wait for her maid to help her. The woman wanted to wear a beautiful lilac dress with long sleeves and an opening for her cleavage to show.

The knight came back only a few minutes later. She ran into her companion at about the halfway point between the two rooms, escorting her there not so subtly in a rush. She knocked on the door before opening it and allowed her companion to enter, just freezing for a moment when she saw her. Her eyes widened slightly before clearing her throat softly. The feline was only with her purple corset loose and her white petticoat. It was the first time she saw her without having her corset tied up so..she was..stunned. The night they came close it was too late to see her body with clothes on. How beautiful she looked with such colours on her; she only wondered.

"I was right, your majesty.. I caught your companion on the way here.." She paused before bowing "I um-... I'll be right outside the door if you need anything else... And will accompany the both of you to breakfast once more"

"Thank you... I only need some help with my dress and we are ready to go-"

"Catra, you shouldn't appear to knights like this" The woman got interrupted by the man as he glared at the knight. He clearly didn't like that girl. She was too manly for a lady to be and too rebellious for her position.

The feline looked at him and crossed her arms over her chest "I'm wearing my undergarments.... The corset is not as important.."

"Nonsense... get out" The man ordered the knight.

The knight just looked at him for a moment before just closing the door behind them "I am a woman just as she is no matter my build or how I act. It is no different than a man seeing another man in a state of undress. So I suggest you get off your fucking high horse before I knock you off it." She was irritated again and placed herself between Catra and him. She was glaring from under the helmet since she knew he wouldn't dare to try and fight her.

"I suggest you recognise who is able to send your head off your body..."

"Come on... you've been acting like that for the whole evening ....now don’t ruin my morning as well" The brunette grunted
"My love, you see she's—"
"No, she's not... Just stop arguing and get a break already....”
“Get out, knight.." He huffed and looked at the woman making her grit her teeth just standing there and glaring at him for a moment before speaking out.
"Just because you are royalty doesn't mean you're worth a hair on a rat's ass. Don’t forget that. Coward." Adora turned then just bowed to Catra before speaking "I will be waiting outside, your majesty." She turned and walked out. "Oh and if I hear you hurt her again your head will be the one rolling on the floor."

"Nobody hurt her. Now shut your mouth" The man huffed and wrapped his arm around Catra only to tug on her. She leaned away from the man though. Her eyes glared at him as she turned her back so she could finally get dressed properly. The companion sent a maid to help her with everything and obviously she did not have a say in all this. Catra finally walked out with the man behind her after some minutes, managing to ignore every move of his to continue what they had left last night. Her eyes looked at her knight and gave her a small smile to make sure she wouldn't attack the other.

She was so cute with this lilac puff dress yet sexy at the same time. Her cleavage was shown for the blonde one to see and her hair was pulled back and tied all up. Adora stood beside the princess while her hand was resting on the hilt of her sword but she took a deep breath to calm herself before gently smiling back. She looked forward once again and guided them through the halls. The feline clearly dressed up for her even if she didn't know what colour she liked. Catra gave some glances at the woman and playfully brushed her hair which landed on her shoulders towards the girl's direction. Adora smiled softly when she saw how dressed up she was. She mumbled a compliment just barely loud enough for her to pick it up as she looked forward again. The feline's ears twitched back as she felt the man's hand on her hip.

"Stop it." She hissed in a whisper. She was embarrassed of the eyes that would see him acting like that. When the knight noticed how she reacted she looked back at him.

"You are in public. Stop behaving like a young squire who has seen a woman for the first time and his hormones are ruling his body rather than his thoughts." The knight was irritated once again at how he was behaving. He was a child in an adult's body.

"Hopefully you won't be barking for long. We will leave soon” He spat out in return. She was making him want her dead with every word but Catra was her princess to protect so he could stay only in words.

As they arrived into the ballroom and the table she glared at the man "She's right though.. I told you to stop plenty of times... Now is the time.." Catra huffed but she would begin to eat to have at least some food to focus on than the feeling of her body aching while sitting on her chair "Adora.... Do you want to sit with us?" She pointed out politely for the prince to stay without words. The knight eating with them..?

“Catra, are you serious? I thought we talked about this last night. The knights don’t join royals’ to eat” The man glared Adora noticed the stunned expression on his face and turned to him. She was taller than him as she looked down while growling out "Insult me one more time. I have honour, unlike you. I have tried to be patient. I have tried to be respectful. I have also tried to warn you. So this is your last. Chance. Treat her like a human being or I will put you in your place." She looked at him for a moment longer before turning back just nodding when she asked if she wished for her to eat with them "I would love to, your highness.. Thank you for the invitation."

‘Your highness’

The princess felt so good hearing these words. She was always so charming. So polite from their first dance.. her eyes looked at her with a glimpse. "Perfect.." She allowed her to sit right next to her. The prince was already eating while she was having an eye on Adora "You need sleep ... You... Didn't sleep well yesterday..." The magicat hummed while making the man glare at them

"Catra, you only need another knight.. that's all. This is clearly a mistake don't you see?"

"She's the best knight in here....and I know it.. I've seen her fight before. She’s doing her job greatly and I’m not going to replace her”

"She sleeps while on duty! This is something serious, princess. I’m sure Queen Light Spinner sees it as well..I’m here to give you everything, my love, not to have an excuse of a knight to guard you. I can call my guards to do their job for the rest of the day"

"She was tired. It was obvious she would sleep... Don't you sleep?"

"Her job is to be with us and protect you, my princess. Not to sleep on a bench" She couldn't help but huff while holding herself back to not continue this. Her hand just grabbed some bread to eat. "You know I'm right. The girl is clueless. I can bring the best ghards from my kingdom to guard you if you want. You'll see they're doing a better job.." he continued.

"I don't want to see any of them ...do you even listen to what I say? She's the strongest and she deserves a seat on this table..even be my guardian too"

The man though wouldn't be able to hold back. The girl was proving again and again that something was going on with that knight and that only drove him crazy. Adora kept her head down at first. Her anger steadily grew as the fight broke out even if they were silent for the others to not hear. She grit her teeth while trying to focus on eating and drinking but suddenly the man would lean towards the princess to hold her by the hand and force her up, making her gasp in surprise. Her tail puffed up and she flattened her ears.“We need to talk..” He almost growled and walked towards the door from behind. Adora was left alone but she couldn’t hold her anger anymore. If he would attack her she would obviously protect her no matter the cost. The knight stood up when they both vanished behind the closed door and excused herself since it was rude to stand up while the others were still eating.

"Tell me now. What's going on between you and this low life" The man growled at her. He didn’t have any more patience to be all kind to her. His hand still wrapped around her wrist tightly

"Nothing! I've learnt to respect everyone, not just....the royals. That's all" Her mismatching eyes looked up at him only to hiss at the feeling of his grip. Her short fur puffing slightly.

"That's such a lie. Did you have an affair with the pathetic knight!?” She blushed too much to respond. His voice was louder than expected and her lips let out a quiet gasp as he pushed her against the wall. Her hands were trapped by the man’s grip. He was taller than her but that wasn't the problem in the whole situation. She didn't know what to say. She wasn't as 'pure' as her mother gave her to him and she couldn't burn the contracts between the families or cancel the whole contract. Her mismatching eyes looked up at him but it was already late for her to reply. Her silence was her answer and he knew it. "You're loud… Keep it low unless you want everyone to know..I don't care about lying to you, Chris"

He took a deep inhale before he placed his hands down and brushed his hair. "You will come with me anyway.. I'll talk to my father to send my guards for our protection and then we're leaving-"

"The queen gave her orders. As long as we're here she's my guard. My mother told me to join her after the tourneys" The feline hissed out while tightening her fists in her anger and her tail was still puffed underneath the dress.

"Queen Light Spinner gave me the consent to change this excuse of a knight, Queen Angella talked with her as well. As for the trip back to the Horde, she told me it will be better for us to stay by my kingdom for a while. She has some important things to do and she'll need her space"

Catra's ears fell back. What was all this for? How could Queen Angella take back her decision? How could her mother let her go with him? She was married but that didn't mean she would never get to go back to her own house again and away from him. "You're making all this up.. She never leaves me behind and queen Angella-"

The man held her by the wrist tightly when the other attempted to leave "Go ask them yourself then but do not call me a liar again. Unlike you I've made my way into this marriage clean" He warned her while tightening his grip and making her skin marked as the girl hissed behind her teeth.

It was just the right moment as the blonde haired girl opened the door to make her way quickly behind him and saw her sword almost appear in her hand. The tip pressed against his throat just barely enough to break the skin "I suggest you let her go. Now . She is not a slab of meat. She is not a piece of property. She may be married to you but you do not own her. Nor do you own or control me. I do not care that you are a royal. You still bleed the same colour as me or any person on the street." The woman growled out. She didn't care to be quiet or not. He went too far and she couldn't hold herself back anymore. "I suggest you learn to calm your temper and behave like a man and not a boy. I've always hated spoiled royalty but this is a whole new level"

The man clenched his fists but did pull his hand back for the princess to lean against the wall behind her "Princess I suggest telling your guard to back off. I don't want to go tell queen Angella that her orders were disobeyed" The man didn't care anymore. The only thing he cared about was to have the princess in his kingdom away from this knight.

"Adora.." The feline cocked her head for the other one to put down the sword. While placing the sword back she gave her a confused expression. Her eyes fixed at the princess but she took a slow breath while trying to keep her anger under control. The man shook his head and sighed only to wave at the younger one and walk slowly to the staircase "I'll be upstairs. I have to change clothes for the tourney. I would advise you to come as well, princess"

Catra though didn't have the mood to even reply to him anymore. Her head shook in denial and rubbed her wrist "Go. I'll come after breakfast" She mumbled even if the food would be taken away as the time passed by. After Adora made sure they were alone she furrowed her eyebrows and looked at the brown haired woman.

"What happened? Why did he say that?" Adora hissed quickly.

The other one sank her hands in the hidden pockets of her dress before she pulled out her gloves to hide that mark of her wrist.

“I… I don’t know...Queen Angella told my mother that you will not guard me anymore. Chris will call his guards to help and…We will leave tonight or..tomorrow morning….”

“What?! F… First of all, she would never change her words..I know queen Angella too well for these to be her words! Secondly, didn’t you tell him you will leave with your mother or.. I misheard?”

The feline’s arms embraced herself as she bent her knees a little bit to lean against the same wall. She couldn’t even feel her legs because of her anxiety. “She changed her mind. He told me I’ll go with him to his kingdom after BrightMoon… not only I will lose you but I’ll have to go with him!” The girl’s voice almost cracked at the last words as Adora leaned against her. Her arms wrapped around her tightly- protectively even

“Hey… hey calm down. He’s probably bluffing or your mother doesn’t know what that man has done to you yet. You should go to her..That’s what I am going to do as well…. Please calm down at least. We have plenty of time to think about something, okay?”

“ We don’t! When he brings his guard I won’t be able to see you again..He knows we’ve been close..and he won’t -”

“You have a say in all this, Catra.. you’re a princess. You can do whatever in Etheria you want..” The blonde capped her cheek and rubbed it with her thumb.

“I can’t. In Horde the laws aren’t as free as in your place. When I sign a contract I’m his… He owns me till the end no matter what he does” The princess trembled in her arms but she leaned closer while nuzzling her face against her neck.

“I’ll see what I can do then… I’m not letting you in his hands...but firstly we have to talk to the queens..okay?” Adora was giving her hopes at least. Her fingers tightened around her then brought her head on top of hers and kissed her between her ears while rubbing her upper back slowly. “Now...do you want to go? We can meet again before the tourneys. If he’s right about Queen Angella...though I doubt it..” She whispered leaning away after the brunette felt like letting her go “I’ll go talk to my mother too…” Catra didn’t sound so hopeful though. Light Spinner hated Shera so the feelings will be the same about Adora too. The shorter one turned around while being ready to walk but she got pulled back by the knight.

“Wait..” The blond haired whispered while leaning close to her and placed a kiss on her lips before she smiled down at her “I’ll see you later..”
With these words the women walked opposite paths. The knight walked quickly into the room where the nobles were just chatting and drinking while soft music played in the background. The girl was ready to approach the queen but she got stopped by the princess of BrightMoon

“I’ve been searching for you for the whole day.. Perfuma wanted to talk to you about some problems she has with her kingdom.. the knights aren’t as strong as they should be so I assume she-” She got stopped by the blonde one at once “Glimmer-...sorry but tell her I’ll go meet her later, okay?”

“Why? Did something happen?”

“Yes… Yes, something serious happened in fact. Can we talk later? I don’t have time right now.. “Adora tried to leave but the other wouldn’t let her go.

“Hey, does it have to do with that princess again?”

Adora grunted silently. If she walked around while chatting with others she wouldn’t have the time to act before this prince and her sweet princess left. “Yes!” She growled desperately almost “Yes it has to do with her, Glimmer. Your mother told her mother that I’m not allowed to guard her anymore. That prince must have told her something about me to pull me away from her” The blonde huffed in anger and clenched her fists letting the other one speak.

“The prince didn't even talk to my mother.. I did” Glimmer wrapped her arms over her chest. Her answer was worse than the knight could imagine. She could tell that Glimmer would get mad at her hanging around the princess of the Horde but she would never expect something like this.

“What?” Adora was in shock. Her eyes widened and her fists clenched.

“Yeah.. I knew you would be stupid enough to follow her around and she would end up digging her nails onto you once more. She’s been lying to you and you are still blind. Did she put a spell on you or something?”

Adora’s body felt like trembling. Her head was aching by how frustrated she was at the moment. She couldn’t even keep her voice low as she glared at the shorter one. “That man is using her just to produce an heir. Do you know how badly she got hurt? Why did you do that!? I bet you didn’t know a thing but even if you did you wouldn’t even care! Just because she made a mistake doesn't mean she deserves this! I can’t believe how selfish you are. You only want to do what you think is good for others. You could ask me! I know I fell for her at the wrong time but… But I love her and that doesn’t change because her mother wants me dead..!"

Glimmer stood there still while looking at the girl and attempted to reach to hold her hand when she was about to turn away to leave “Wait Adora I-”
“I have more serious things to do than waste my time with you here. Catra needs my help and I will do anything I can to fix this mess you’ve made.. Once all this is over I expect an apology” The woman whispered the last words. She was mad. More mad than she already was about the prince some seconds ago. She felt as if she got back-stabbed by her best friend but she couldn’t pay attention to this betrayal. She had to fix everything not to argue with Glimmer but to free the woman she loved.

I love you

Catra didn't even have the strength to ask her mother about this. She knew she wanted to kill the woman she loved but also she wanted her to marry someone like that man. She didn't care about her happiness. She cared only about the power of the kingdom and nothing else.

The slim woman walked up the stairs. She felt so weak. She just wanted everything to go back to normal. As long as this man appeared, nothing went well in her life. Her eyes fixed on the door of her own room while standing there and staring at it. After a few seconds she snapped out of her thoughts and pushed the door open, wishing to find no one inside. She walked inside, laid on her bed and closed her eyes as she was alone, thankfully, in her chamber. She missed Adora...she missed her touch. Her sea blue eyes..her beautiful hair.. everything seemed so far away but she was right there.. a floor underneath her. Her eyes opened and she sat down with a sharp breath before continuing to help herself calm down. With a soft move the woman glanced out of the window. She stood up to lean close to her wooden desk and enjoyed the beautiful mountains in the distance. The beautiful pink cherry blossoms outside the palace and the colourful yet cloudy sky. She loved it when the weather was cloudy and windy. It somehow felt like all this wind was blowing all her worries and thoughts away. Her ears twitched when she suddenly heard the door knocking behind her. A slow breath was taken "Come in" She spoke faintly. Her lips made a bright smile when she saw her governess walking inside the room

"It seems I'm around less than your maids are, young lady" The older woman spoke with a smile when the younger one ran to her and embraced her tightly
"Why….. I'm so glad you're here…" Catra mumbled against her chest.

"Your mother wants me to help her around and...." The woman spoke softly as the other one hissed.

“She just wants me to be alone with my...husband. We have to talk...really I don’t trust anyone here any more….” Catra’s face dug in the other’s chest and nuzzled close. Her tail even wrapped around her own thigh since she couldn’t move it off her dress.

“I have the whole day to catch up with the news, my lady.. don’t worry, okay? Take a seat and I’ll bring you a cup of tea to calm down” The woman whispered with a smile and pulled away so she could leave to join her later.

•. ✶_____⋆☆⋆

The hours passed by but Adora didn’t even have a small chance to talk to the queen. She didn’t want to be rude so she didn’t walk up to her to interrupt her conversations with the other guests. The time for the tourney was slowly coming and she knew that would be the last time she would see the woman she loved. She had to get ready for the battles. She would have to take the princess away and fix all the mess Glimmer caused but she didn’t know how. She was running out of time. Her head felt so heavy. She wanted to just go upstairs and grab the woman to steal her and run away but all this would be too low for her. She wanted to prove to her she could stand by her side and be worthy of the position she would have, not just run away. She walked straight to the girl’s chambers, passing by the queen of the Horde and almost growling under her helmet. When did she even put on her helmet or...or her armour? She didn’t know. She was too busy focusing on the problems to notice the time flying by. She practically ran to the door, ignoring the look of the other’s mother and knocked on the door. She found the princess alone in the room. Her governess was by the bed talking about...something. Adora didn’t even care to hide her love for the princess.

The feline stood up and turned around on her heels. She didn’t know if she talked to the queen. She could see only disappointment in these blue eyes. Her eyebrows furrowed. Her ears twitched down “What happened…?”

“Nothing…. I didn’t have the chance to talk to her and… Catra..” The knight’s voice staggered when she spoke her name. She was in pain. She loved her to the moon and back and now she was losing her. Her taller form took a big step closer and embraced her tightly. Her arms clung around her slimmer body and her face got hidden by her hair. She placed a kiss on her scalp “I don’t want you to go… I don’t care if he is your husband or not I just want you for myself and only…”

Catra on the other hand blushed at the pull. They were in front of her governess and she...really felt weird. “A-Adora… We...can do his conversation alone” She pointed at the older woman who let a quick chuckle escape her lips.

“My lady, I’ll leave you two alone…” She spoke as she stood up and slowly walked away.

“Thanks Daniella” Catra smiled nervously as the other one opened the door to leave, bowing at the sudden arrival of the queen of Bright Moon and her...husband. Catra opened her eyes wide. Her ears perked up and she took some steps back to her desk after gently pushing Adora aside.

“You wanted to see me, Catra?” The taller woman stood steadily. The ends of her beautiful heavenly pink dress touched the floor as her magenta hair laid gracefully on her shoulders.

“Yes she did...I’m sorry for the interruption, your majesty” Adora bowed slightly. It was either Adora saying the truth or Catra. The man beside the queen growled at the view of the warrior in the room with the feline.

“Why is she here? I think I told you she’s not welcome here nor is she your guard anymore. My father’s guards arrived at the palace so we will have some peace finally”

Adora didn’t have anything to lose anymore. Her eyes glared at the prince who pulled the princess away from her and clenched her fists “I’ve warned you once. I’ve warned you twice. Do not touch her like she’s a piece of meat and drag her around!” She almost yelled. Her anger boiled inside her

“And I told you plenty of times you’re not worthy of telling me what to do. Leave my wife’s room right now .”

Her eyes flickered from his eyes down to his hand that held the feline’s wrist tightly. She wouldn’t leave. She was sick and tired of obeying him. She was tired of her being more soldier-like. Her blue orbs had a glimpse in them when she reached her hand, grabbing his wrist as tightly as she could and making him gasp as the feline widened her eyes.

“Adora-”

“A real man respects his wife. A true ruler is smart enough to not hurt his queen because he needs her and she needs him. An honoured prince is gentle to his woman and doesn’t hurt her. I bet you’re none of these since you’re making her unhappy and forcing her to make heirs for your own benefit” She hissed at him as the prince pulled away. The feline looked away shamefully. She couldn't believe they had such a conversation... In front of the queen. She shouldn't care since Adora was right but at the same time, Angella didn’t have to see Adora getting so mad... This made her feel worse than better.

"S-Stop... Both of you" The feline almost whined.

The man though would only talk again "I never hurt her. The main point of being a king is having an heir. If she's not even able to have one it's useless to have her as a wife. You wouldn't talk like that if you haven't-..." The man glared at the woman and tried to not continue as he came to know they actually did something more than being a knight and a princess.

"You really think you never hurt her?! She walked out to me and she could barely stand! Her nightgown was stained with blood because you only care about yourself you selfish little fuck!"

Catra’s ears perked down. Her eyes looked up at her and tried to walk closer to stop her but she got stopped by the man. That was the last straw for the blonde woman as the man was talking about how wrong she was and how his guards were better than a woman pretending to be a knight "I challenge you, Prince. Fair fight for her hand. You can choose a champion of your choice. I will fight for her myself. I'm not a coward unlike you."

The man hesitated but he chose one knight of his own. He obviously was a buff and tall warrior. The best warrior he had. He never lost a fight as they said. He brought glory to his kingdom and he was already in the right armour for a fight. The prince looked up at her with a smile on his face to reply to her “I’m looking forward to seeing you lose a battle you started.”

Catra didn't know what to think of first. That they made her feel worse than better? That the woman was as sweet to challenge the other to fight for her hand?.. She was staring to the ground with a defeated expression on her face. "Can you...now stop…? Queen Angella, I’m so sorry for..all of this" Her eyes looked up at the older one who only shook her head

“It’s not your fault, princess Catra. I’m sorry to hear what happened..” She spoke clearly when the prince left them three of them alone after bowing to the queen. Her hands touched Catra’s shoulders “I’ve been informed that knight Adora was not worthy to protect you..yet here she is. Not only wanting to protect you again and stand beside you as a knight but wanting to fight for your hand. The best warrior shall win” The older one had spoken, looking back at Adora who was trying to calm herself down after all this

“Your majesty...No matter what happens in the fight I won't leave princess’ safety up to that prince..” She warned. Her blue eyes looked at the queen who was now walking away in silence. She didn’t expect a reply.

"I'm sorry. I couldn't let him hurt you anymore..." Adora whispered softly and sat on the bed, placing her elbows on her knees.

"I... It's fine... She knows. I....wasn't prepared for this..." Catra was so troubled and afraid of her reputation dropping. She didn't trust anyone, not even the queen. She slowly approached her to wrap her arms around her head and guide her against her torso to embrace her "I love you... I hope you didn't make a mistake..”

"I love you too... And I didn’t make a mistake, okay?" The blonde smiled softly but left it at that. She didn’t want her to feel uncomfortable but she was brought to her edge. Catra slowly brushed her hair to comfort her and took a sharp breath. They were all alone and her affair was slightly pointed out to the queen..if this went to her mother’s ears she was screwed.. She got pulled off her thoughts when she heard the other one yawn under her arms.

Her eyes were looking down as Adora chuckled “I'm sorry.. It's been a long couple of nights"

Catra looked down at the girl and smiled but her thoughts didn’t let her rest in that beautiful moment "I don't want you to get hurt by anyone, Adora" She was obviously worried for the safety of that fight "I know it's random but I care about you.." Her ears twitched down and let out a quiet grunt when she was ready to bend to embrace her. She couldn’t kneel at all either.

Adora on the other hand stood up and offered a hand to support her while letting her lean on her a bit if she wanted. She looked down at her before just smiling "I'm a knight, Catra... I’m gonna get hurt. I'm used to it..." She guided to her desk and placed a kiss on her forehead before cupping her cheek. "Well we are safe here you don’t have to worry so much... and if you'll allow me to admire you for a moment..." She paused before just staring down at her, kneeling on the floor and holding her hands in between of her own. "You look incredible... and I do believe you were purposefully teasing me by having me come into the state of undress you were in.." She mumbled before yawning again and covering her mouth.

The shorter one chuckled at the realisation of hers and smirked playfully. Her eyes looked up at her and she leaned close to her. Soft purrs escaped her throat while having her arms wrapped around her. "I didn't... But I'm glad you like me...I tried to cheer myself up and ...the dress came up in my mind. Do you really like it?" She hummed coyly.

The other flushed softly, but wrapped her arms around her waist. She was happy to hold her close and allow her to stand up. Then she kissed her between her ears gently before mumbling "I love it... You look incredible in it... Though you also looked amazing in my tunic and pants last night. So I suppose you just look amazing in everything." She looked down at her with a soft hum while noting the way she was purring, which only caused her to smile more.

Catra chuckled and avoided looking at the knight before she gave her a playful push. "I don't think I looked as good in these pants... It suits you better...~" She grinned and looked up at her before she stretched gently "I miss holding you and not the armour.." She huffed as she really had to see her without it from the last time they spent the night together. She was hoping to see her like that soon once again "Do you want to stay here and rest?"

"That would be lovely... As long as you can make sure I wake up in time if I fall asleep?" Adora mumbled as the feline nodded and started to walk towards her bed but got interrupted by the door knocking. Adora was surprised by the person behind the door. It was Glimmer...in Catra’s room and obviously she was ready to begin an argument.

Glimmer was actually disappointed. She couldn't believe this woman fell for her again. She had seen nothing. Catra could have lied to Adora and easily she would fall for it. She knew she was in love. The pink haired walked inside and crossed her arms over her chest "Adora... Can..we have a moment?" She looked at the feline who stopped at the call and looked back at Adora before she glanced at the princess. She motioned with her hand for her to go though.

Adora paused for a moment before replying to her. "You can talk to the both of us, Glimmer. She already knows you don't trust her." She glanced at Catra, before looking back at Glimmer "Besides... I can't leave her alone"

"Yeah right. Because she's in 'danger' " She scoffed and looked at them with a glare. "Are you seriously not able to see that she lied all along?" She hissed as Catra would only glare at the woman and place her arms on her waist. Her ears flicked up "I'm not lying. Adora is smart enough to see through people, unlike you.. you've got only one reason to not like me. To hate me, but I didn't lie about loving her... She was guarding my room and she knows what I've been through... She treated my wounds. She knew who I was and did not judge according to my kingdom's fame." She hissed leaving the princess speechless.

Adora grit her teeth for a moment, before forcing herself to calm down. "Glimmer, I told you already... Last night she walked out of the room barely able to stand because of what he did. I took her to my room, bandaged what I could and gave her a nightgown to put on in replacement because hers had blood all over it. She wasn't lying to me when I saw the wounds myself.. when I saw how she couldn't walk. Don't you see how he's treating her? How he's been talking shit about me and her both. About how she's only useful for producing heirs and how I'm not useful at all because I'm a woman when I am one of the highest ranking knights in our kingdom. Second only to the actual captain? You've helped him pull me away from her just because you care for yourself and your kingdom… I don't know who's trying to use who anymore.." She paused, before taking a breath and standing straight. Her fists clenching "Glimmer I held her while she cried. She talked to me about trying to convince her mother and how it wasn't likely to happen but that she was going to try... And you know what? If she's this damn good at acting then so be it, because I love her. I just want her to be safe... I want her to be happy. She's miserable with him and her mother and I can see that. The way her ears go back when she's uncomfortable. The way one of them always tracks him when he's close. How she flinches when he reaches for her and her fur puffs up a bit. How her tail will lash and her pupils narrow.. She's good at hiding it. I'll give her that... She's good, but you know that I'm good at detecting when people are lying... I've done it before, Glimmer... And I truly.. Truly believe she's telling the truth... I think that's why her mother has been so desperate to try and kill me herself... Because Catra couldn't, or wouldnt.."

The purple-haired princess looked at her and again to the feline. She was... Starting to get convinced. Catra could see that. She didn't look at her with hatred but was trying to be more..friendly? Was that the word?

The feline looked away and took a short breath. "Adora told me to try and talk with you and a knight named Bow. Maybe we could.... Leave that hatred aside.. I can't tell you or force you to trust me... But we can try to talk sometimes.. I don't have many people around to talk to. You see.." She hummed Glimmer couldn't say no to it but she would be suspicious of her "I'll think about it… I hope all this is truly a good decision that you've made…. I don't know if you're under a spell or not but..I hope you won't lose your life for someone who doesn't love you just like you do.." She spoke before walking slowly away. She had to think.

After she left Catra looked down and then at the blonde one. "Adora… thanks" The feline whispered and inched a hand closer to hold hers as the warrior smiled gently at her.

"It went... Better than expected. Glimmer is already close to being convinced which is.. Surprising. That would have been more than enough to convince Bow. I know he's always willing to meet new people and make new friends no matter where they come from. He doesn't have a mean bone in his body... Glimmer I'm.. Surprised she started getting convinced so easily though.. It's not a bad thing, not at all.. Just surprising" She smiled gently at her, before yawning softly and covered it with her other hand.

Catra though guided the knight back to the bedside before laying down. Her ears went down while feeling her pain increase as she sat down but she hid her whine with a huff. She laid down to the soft bed before patting her lap "Come, you'll need sleep before the fight...and I want you to win and survive this... I'll let you lay on me. Consider yourself lucky" She obviously joked. Her self-esteem was already too low after all that happened during these days to say something like that seriously.

Adora noticed the whine of pain, but she didn't say anything. She stripped herself off her armour and sat down beside her with a soft smile. When she offered for her to sleep on her she giggled and kissed her cheek before mumbling "No.. But only because I know it'll irritate your wounds. Why not lay down with me? I promise, I'll keep everything chaste"

"I won't be in pain... only my hips are aching... but you'll lay on my thighs" She chuckled and kissed her gently before she leaned close to her and pulled her close. Then she kissed her cheek. She wanted to kiss her lips but she resisted for now. Her eyes looked up at her and pulled her close "Come here now..~" She wanted to make her feel comfortable for once.

Adora giggled softly under the barrage of kisses, just cupping her cheek and kissing her softly before hesitantly laying her head on her lap and closing her eyes "Fine.. But if it hurts don't hesitate to push me off, okay?" She yawned though, already struggling to keep her eyes open as she laid on her lap.

The other's hand slowly brushed her beautiful long hair. Her fingers trailing through her hair. Her eyes looked at her and smiled when she noticed how sleepy she was. Her head leaned over the woman to give her a small kiss on her forehead. "Okay ... I will... Just relax... I'll be here for you okay?" Catra smiled and continued to brush her. Her eyes closed as she continued to brush her hair, making the other nod and let out a quiet "mhm" in response. She was truly falling asleep. Her body relaxed almost visibly as she laid her head on her lap. She slept all the time till the beginning of the tourney. She had to be woken up so she wouldn't miss the tourney. The challenge would take place after the main event, so she didn't have to worry about being awake during the tourney.

The feline didn't know if she wanted to wake her up before the beginning of the tourney or not but she was indeed looking forward to this fight..they were both as good and she hoped Adora was actually stronger. Her eyes looked down at her before she finally spoke. "Hey Adora..? Wake up" She whispered while caressing her cheek from above her. Her hand was smooth. Her lips touched her nose to place a playful peck on her. One thing was sure; Adora was adorable while sleeping. She even fought in her sleep, judging by her moves. The knight though grumbled softly, just turning to bury her face into her stomach. Her arms loosely wrapped around her. Though when she started getting kissed she slowly opened her eyes and looked up at her with a soft smile.

"Mmm... Hey, my lady..." Adora mumbled, before lifting a hand to cup her cheek and guide her down into a kiss. Her eyes were still closed.

The princess continued to caress her hair while humming quietly at her "Don't you want to wake up yet? The tourney will begin...unless you don't want to join" She chuckled and kissed her lips .. it felt like a dream honestly. She really wished for such a day. Alone with the love of her life..staying at home and doing nothing but cuddling.

The blonde girl sat up slightly, just laying her head on her shoulder and nuzzling close. "I'd much rather just stay here all day with you and cuddle... But I swore that I would participate in them all. unless I'm injured... So we gotta get up..." She kissed her while lingering with her touch, before continuing "We'll have plenty of time after I win the tourney and the challenge, I promise"

"Do you really think you can win..? I think that you shouldn't participate in the tourney..you have to be calm and collected...also you have to not be tired... They'll win...and-" She got cut in the middle of her words by the other who leaned closer to her to give her a small kiss. Her eyes looked at her and smiled into the kiss. She was too worried to be there to watch.

"I'll be there for you if you need me... If he touches you, I'll kill him..I don't want him to hurt you …My Mentor was Mara... I'm sure I'll be alright.." Adora paused "and if you really think that's best then I'll stay out of the tourney... This is the last day.. And the hardest battles... Both due to exhaustion and soreness from previous battles, as well as the fact that.. Well you fight till one of you passes out or literally can't fight back" She shrugged, before looking at her "If he's smart he'd hire someone to have killed me during that brawl... Deaths happen a lot in the last battle of a tourney... So it wouldn't be looked too deeply into... It may be better for me to stay out of it. so I have a better chance with the challenge" She thought about it again and cupped her cheek before helping her up. "Do you still want to watch? Or just stay here until the challenge?"

"The tourney? I don't know.... I don't want to watch anyone but you.... I prefer to stay here with you sleeping on my lap.." Catra chuckled and caressed her slowly. Her thumb rubbed her cheek gently "His knights won't take part in the tourney.." She added as couldn't help but trail her fingers down on her chest to rest there. She didn't hold her lustfully. She loved her and adored the way she was talking… walking. How she knew how to fight or protect whoever she wished without thinking twice.. Her eyes looked down while enjoying that she was still calm and less tired. "Did you sleep well?"

When she moved her hand down to her chest, Adora just tilted her head. She turned it to press a soft, almost reverent kiss to her shoulder and mumble "I slept better than I have in years... Your thighs make wonderful pillows"
A giggle escaped the princess' lips. Her head turned to look at the woman and her hand cupped her cheek once again before leaning in to kiss her lips. "I really feel bad though... I'm with the prince and .... I touch you ... you touch me .. I feel like I'm sleeping with two people at the same time but I don't want to... I want you and only... " She hummed and gave her a small apologetic look. Turned to plant her face into the crook of her neck. "Especially last night.. I wished I could imagine it was you who touched me… but I couldn't"

"Just because you signed a piece of paper doesn't mean you owe any loyalty to him.. Even if you do ..you shouldn’t especially with how he treats you." When she talked about last night, Adora just sat up and pulled her to move her so she was sitting sideways in her lap. She put a hand on her head to run it through her hair "I would never hurt you... I would never be that rough unless you explicitly asked me too... And I would stop as soon as you showed any sign of discomfort, or told me to stop... I'm not a monster..." She mumbled, speaking softly into her shoulder as she held her.

The girl’s ears perked up when she pulled her on her. “I know you're not... I also know that I miss your touch, Adora..." Her breath brushed the woman on her neck as she turned so she could face her.

Adora nuzzled close to her and rubbed the back of hers. “... You'll be mine officially soon enough anyway.." She pressed a few more kisses to her half naked shoulder. She was content to just hold her close now while rubbing her back "As soon as you heal up... No time before that. I don't want to make it worse or open the wounds again.." She kissed her cheek then.

Even the touch of her lips against her shoulder made the princess feel warmth. She was so gentle, so warm towards her and caring "I love everything about you .....how gentle you were from the first time we met... You could really get the heart of everyone but me...? As if you knew it was difficult for us to be together, as if you live only for the challenge" She whispered and made the other smile and giggle when she said she lived only for the challenge

"Maybe I do... But the more challenging the more rewarding the reward is... And you're worth any struggle I may have to go through.” With that answer Adora made her cheeks flushed red. She was so kind.

Her hand held her cheek only to pull away and place her forehead against hers with a small smile. "If we make it I want to come to your kingdom... I want to see your place... Mine is...not fun" Catra hummed and tilted her head so she could place kisses on her lips in between her words. She was too needy to ignore her own heart. Her eyes looked up at her and soon closed to rest her forehead against hers. "I will give you again this lucky charm to win the fight" She said in a playful tone.

Adora cupped her cheek "You can live with me.. I usually just stay in a room in the palace though" She giggled when she was sometimes interrupted with kisses, but definitely didn't complain. She was just smiling and kissing her again properly after she was done, before letting her snuggle into her "Well my lady, I thank you for such a powerful lucky charm.. I am sure that it will turn the tide of battle in my favour" She giggled and peppered her face in soft kisses.

It was Catra’s turn to giggle. Her eyes looked at the woman and gave her a small kiss on her lips. The last one for now. "It will… after all you still have the necklace I gave you… that works more than my kisses.. don't worry about the room. I can make us a huge palace to live in" She smirked. That was true. She had the gold and power to do so. Her eyes looked at her only to force her to lay down ,now reaching to cover them up with the blanket "Let's sleep again.... I've locked the door and you'll need a lot of sleep to get yourself going in the battle" She really cared for her being healthy and not just fighting and guarding her as the prince was saying.

"I don't need a palace to be happy... I could build a house too. I have the lands and the funds.. But I enjoy being close to my friends... And it helps cut down on travel time for meetings and such.." Adora explained and let her guide her into laying down. She nuzzled into her neck and chest before wrapping her arms around her as she pulled the blankets over them

“we...won't we live together?" Catra didn't want to sound bad. She didn't know that she would have to leave only to stay with Adora and ..her friends. Her eyes looked away and then tried to continue without judging it "Well we can go on a trip too..! I've heard Mystacor is really nice" She hummed and looked at the woman. She loved these blue eyes too much to miss yet she would close her own eyes to rest.

"Of course we will, my princess... If you'd rather live out of the palace we can... ah..I'm sure Bow or Glimmer will come get us if we sleep too long.. Maybe I should make sure... Get a maid to give them a message... I don't want to get up though..." Adora groaned, stuck in a dilemma now. She was pondering it over in her head.

Catra thought about it for a moment and smirked before she placed a kiss on her head "Don't move I'll go call the maid" She breathed out as the other one spoke and stood up

"Wait! Catra you aren't supposed to go alone-!" The princess was already gone though, and she sighed while running a hand through her hair.

Catra knew that she wasn't in danger, after all her mother was the one who actually tried to kill Adora. She wanted so badly to find some peace with her knight. To live together. To sleep and wake up by her side. She loved her.. She would return after some minutes only for her to slide under the sheets with an uncomfortable hiss.

“What's wrong?” Adora looked at her and gave her a concerned look

“Nothing...my corset and...all is kind of ….uncomfortable to lay on” She chuckled and turned to the side so she could actually get a little bit comfier and look at the other one who was ready to talk “Just sleep okay? I’m not going to change into my nightgown right now..The maid will come to wake us up” With that the girl nodded and smirked, giving her a small kiss on her lips

“I love you..” Adora spoke before closing her eyes.

I could die for you

It was late in the evening when Catra and Adora got separated by the voice of one of Catra's maids. The time had come. Thankfully Adora got plenty of rest. Her body felt so heavy at first but light as a feather later. After leaving her princess she put on the armour she once gave her. She didn't have servants or...anyone to bring her any armoury. Her steps were quick towards the ring. She wanted to win. She knew she could do it but the only one she was thinking of was Catra… She was meant to fight for those who cannot. Catra was one of these people she protected days ago even if she was a princess. She had everything; a palace, wealth, maids and servants.. She thought princesses were the lucky ones of life. Everything was easy in their lives but..as it turned out Adora was wrong. The rules, the fact she wasn't able to do what she wanted; to marry who she loved… She wanted to free the feline from that kingdom. To take her back to her home and give her everything. To live peacefully… One hand tightened around the sword… the other one reached to hold the necklace Catra gave to her for luck. It was a good moment for her to have some luck. Deep inside her she was anxious. She was afraid of the possibility of her losing… losing Catra, not the fight..

The gates opened for the two warriors to walk in the ring. The crowd was cheering; some for the blonde knight and some for the other black haired man who just put on his helmet. He then guided up his sword. He stood there still, sword raised as his brown eyes looked down at her smaller form. A soft chuckle escaped his lips, since the other girl was truly shorter.

Adora on the other hand, raised up her sword in the air immediately letting out her magic to transform her into Shera. Her body got stronger, muscular and taller than her usual height. Her eyes glimpsed in a light blue colour as her sword's pointy edge aimed at the man after she bowed slightly to the queen of Brightmoon.

“The battle shall begin” The magenta haired woman spoke as she looked down at the two warriors.

Adora’s eyes looked at the woman she loved. She gave her strength and at the same time she glared at how the prince was holding the feline. She was so beautiful. So stunning at the woman’s appeal. She didn’t have much time to focus on her. With a swift move she pulled herself back so she wouldn’t get hurt by the blade of the other. She didn’t know what magic power he had or if he didn’t have any magic in him. The man made a false attack intended to elicit a response from the blonde one. He made her create an opening for him to attack. He swung his sword to hit the woman on her shield, almost scratching the woman’s ribs. She caught herself before she fell. A grunt escaped her lips at the hit but at the same time she took a huge step. She steadily made her sword scratch his thigh. He had a lighter armour, making him an easier target but at the same time making him quicker than the girl. By taking a short step back, she raised her weapon swiftly slashing the air on its way as she aimed to hit his neck.

The man raised the sword quickly to deflect the attack. His arm forced an attack immediately by thrusting against the woman’s right shoulder. The one that carried her blade. Her eyes widened in pain. Her lips parted making a sharp grunt escape her throat but she couldn’t fall back. Instead she pulled herself away, placing her sword’s edge on the sand under her feet and breathed heavily. The man didn’t miss a chance. He spun around his sword before delivering his blow on her. It was when the woman made a huge smile appear on her lips. He thought that would make the attack stronger? That was something she had seen plenty of times. Many swordsmen believed that but.. it was so wrong. Mara taught her good back then.

The woman parried the attack. She thrusted her sword back and forced his blade to swing off his hand. A loud moan built in her throat. The wounded shoulder got a really heavy thrust when she blocked his attack and she didn’t have the strength to raise up her blade and stab him.
He found that split second to grab his sword again and pin her against the wall since he used only his sword to bring it up to her neck. Her arm was in pain. More pain than she had thought. She was a warrior. She knew she would get hurt, gravely wounded as well since she had fought in wars. That made her able to sustain many wounds without dying or even being so soft as to feel pain with a stab or two. Obviously if she wouldn't get hit on her lungs or organs. The girl growled at the pin. Her back smashed on the wall. Even with the armour on the thrusts were able to cause her slight pain. Her blue orbs looked down at his sword only to see her own blood for a second as he pulled it away and attempted to thrust against her stomach this time. She quickly pulled her sword up. Brought it to the height of her abdomen and held its blade with her left hand, blocking the thrust with a faint pant. Her eyes widened when his sword disappeared into thin air only to reappear on his left hand and stuck her ribs. She felt her breath getting stopped by the hit. The smell of blood mixed with sweat made her realise that he managed to slide the blade through the armour and stabbed her. Her breath cut short for a moment. Her adrenaline forced her to find the strength to raise her foot up and give him a rough kick on his guts, throwing him back to the ground.

The crowd was yelling, for her, for the man. She couldn't understand which name was called the most but she didn't care to find out. Her vision was blurry. Her breaths were sharp even after she pulled the blade off her ribs with a loud groan. She could feel the blood boiling inside her. The burning sensation of her open wounds made her for the first time feel more exhausted than ready to fight back. She rested just for a second against the wall. She managed to pull her heavy body off while dragging her sword to the ground.

The man wasn't close to her so he couldn't make an attack. He summoned his blade and quickly stood up as he saw the woman marching at him. She had all the strength she needed after that small pause even though her body was aching like never before. Her sword got held by both her hands as she ran, placing it low while running. She knew he was good enough to block her attack but she didn't hit his shoulder. Instead she faked it so she could finally get him to open his abdomen and give her the opportunity to strike. With a rough thrust the woman stabbed the man's belly as she slid her sword through his arm. A cry escaped her lips as he moaned out in pain and hit her upper back with his elbow, forcing her to fall down. He didn't attack though. The blonde didn't miss a second and stabbed his thigh before she knelt. He fell close to her as well due to the wounds on his leg. Adora's vision became even worse, some raindrops began to fall and that made her let out another silent sigh.

She couldn't breathe through her nose anymore. Faint pants and sharp breaths by her mouth were taken before she whined and helped herself up by the sword. Her eyes opened and brought her blade to the man's throat. The edge was piercing through his skin. She didn't want to kill him. He was wounded and she knew it but...so was she. She couldn't fight for a reason she did not understand. Her body felt like burning and a moan let out of her lips as she slightly bent her knees. She soon realised the man wouldn't lose since he summoned his sword on hand when the woman looked so weak. Her eyes flickered at that second and thrusted in the man's neck, piercing through the protective armour and leaving him there laying in a pool of his blood. She soon stood up, raising her sword up and finding the strength to at least show the queen that she won. She couldn't even hear the shouts of the crowd; the applause and cheers of them. Only a faint image of them standing up to celebrate the victory of hers.

A blurry figure ran down to the ring. The feeling of her head aching and the rain mixed with the already blurry vision of hers made it worse to identify who was there. The next thing she could feel was that figure running towards her. Her eyes widened in pain as she got embraced. Her body changed. She went back being the Adora her friends knew as the magic started to fade away for now. She heard the sword cling when it hit the wound. Her grip was too weak.

"Adora.." Catra whispered in relief while wrapping her arms tighter around her and pulling her helmet off to kiss her lips.

“C- Catra….Did I win ?” The woman panted faintly and rested her head between the feline’s hands as she was cupping her cheeks “Yes….. Yes you did!” She cheered quietly, not caring to kiss her again now. Everyone could see and she couldn’t care less about it.

As soon as she gave her the second kiss though the blonde almost passed out, leaning close to her “M..My body is aching…” She groaned as the princess tried to guide her inside quickly. Bow was the second to come by as the crowd would walk away. He couldn’t join them since he saw how terrible Adora looked. Two men pulled the body of the dead man inside the tents and Bow ran towards the couple “Adora what’s wrong” He breathed out quickly but he helped Catra make the blonde one lay down.

“She’s wounded...and can’t breathe. I..is that a normal thing to happen?” The brunette was getting anxious already as more of the servants were coming in the ring to help.

“No...princess.. Help me pull off the armour, please” The man was worried and that made the feline even more concerned. By placing away the armour they could both see how deep the cuts were but most importantly..they were infected.

“I will go call a doctor. Princess stay with her, okay?” Bow looked at the feline who got her ears down as she nodded and knelt beside the knight.

“I’ll be okay, my princess…” Adora chuckled and coughed at the pain she felt. Her hands felt so warm in between the two of Catra’s.

Her worried mismatching eyes stared at her and cupped her cheeks gently to rub her thumb on her. “If you survive this.. I’ll kill you” She couldn’t hold her tears back. The blonde was so pale. She couldn’t even imagine her staying alone after what they've been through.

“If you want. I’d gladly die by your hands, my lady” The knight smiled with closed eyes. Her body ached too much to chuckle. It felt too weak. Her thumb brushed the palm of the other’s hand and brought it up to place a kiss upon it.

"I did it... I won.. You're all mine... And I'm all yours…" Adora hummed in the silence of the place and looked up at her only to bring a smile on the feline’s face

"I love you" Catra repeated several times as she tightened her grip around her hand

"It's just a few scratches, Don't worry..-" Adora paused for a second, looking down at the wounds she tried to heal up. She used her magic abilities to make the wounds and cuts disappear but they didn’t "They shouldn't still be bleeding... They should have scabbed over by now. I.." She trailed off into a coughing fit now as she turned her head away. When she finally pulled her hand back. She saw blood on it and just stopped for a moment "The-... The blade had poison on it… that’s why I can’t heal it...and my shoulder is burning….that prince.." She growled under her breath and tightened her fist.

The other woman widened her eyes. Thankfully she didn't have to call a doctor as well since Bow brought him there just in time and stripped the spot of the wound to see how much the poison had gone through. Two servants had already helped Catra to walk Adora inside of one of the tents and laid the warrior on one of the camp beds.

"She still has time. The poison is slow. I'll go find if any of my medicines are reacting to it, princess" The man bowed quickly rushing away to get his bag of medicines.

The feline though didn't leave. She almost teared up. The worst thing that could happen just happened and she couldn't do anything to help "Y... you'll be fine, okay…? I promise I won't let you go" She held her hand tightly and brushed her hair slowly while looking at her skin. It was truly becoming reddish. The wound was purple as the warrior tried to take a deep breath, transforming into She-ra and letting out a little sigh while trying to help the situation. She concentrated on healing up instead of the pain but it didn’t help at all.

"It-... It's not healing it... Why am I not healing... She-ra should be able to heal... Well... It's slowing it down at least..." Adora spoke softly to herself. Seeing how worried Catra was though, she just smiled gently and wrapped her arms around her "Hey, hey it's okay... I'll be okay. We'll find something to fix it and I'll be okay” She paused to cough weakly and cup her tearful cheek “I love you"

Only by the thought of being the last time she would hear these words, Catra felt worse than better. "I-I love you too..... Stay still ... I won’t leave your side...okay?" She said with a sad smile on her face. Her hand continued to caress her while she was laying there. The poison seemed to be slowly affecting more skin as well. She could feel that it got more difficult to breathe as her skin got a purple-ish colour upper from the wound. The princess was only looking at the doctor going again and again to him to check if he was finding anything but she didn't bring any good news yet.

Adora tried to hide how much it was affecting her, just smiling gently and holding her while she was there. She continued to speak softly to Catra, clearly more worried about keeping her calm. Eventually she just held her tighter when she tried to leave again after a while. "Hey... Hey, bugging the doctor won't help okay...? Just.. Stay with me. I'll be okay" She was still able to sit up but it was getting harder for her to breathe. She eventually just sat Catra on her lap so she could lay her head on her shoulder, mumbling "I'm gonna have a wonderful scar after this heals up..." She was struggling to breathe normally, but she was still trying to hide it from her.. If she didn't get an antidote she would be dead by the morning.

The princess whimpered when the girl hid her face on her shoulder. Her eyes closed as she clung on her protectively. "I only want you to stay alive... I don't care about having a scar or not..." She cried while holding her close. She loved her...too much to let her go now "I love you ..but you have to rest...." She hummed and let her lay down. Her hands pulled the thin blanket up so she could actually get her to calm down and not waste a breath.. She could see that she was struggling to breathe but she...didn't want to be so selfish around her. "I won't go far... I promise"

"I-...I'll be okay... I'll be okay..." Adora smiled gently up at her, though when she forced her to lay down she just lifted a hand for her "Please-... Can you cuddle with me...?" Her face was paler. She knew she would get bad news though when the doctor entered for the last time, telling them that unless they had the antidote there was nothing he could do other than ease her pain. She looked away for a moment, before just nodding "I don't know who would have it other than the knight himself... Or whoever gave him the poison... And I can only think of... Of two people..." Adora looked at Catra then, knowing she wouldn't be able to confront either of them.

"I'm... I'll go talk to them.... If we have just a small possibility of you getting healed... I won't waste it, no matter the cost.." Catra didn't miss a second. She wiped her tears off her eyes and stood up "Will you let me go..? Or do you want me to be here with you?"

The other one took a deep, shaky breath while holding her still for a moment longer before just nodding, letting her go "Dont-... Don't take too long.. Please I don't-.. I don't want to be alone..." She didn't add on the rest. She didn't want to die alone if Catra didn't get the antidote.. She wanted to have her beside her at this difficult moment but she knew she couldn't hold her back. She coughed up some more blood, into a napkin this time, just smiling gently at her "I'll be right here... Not like I can run off on ya…"

The princess' watery eyes would stare down at her, knowing what she meant. Her eyes looked away only to pull herself away and run off. "It won't take long... I promise"

Adora sat up when she started walking away "wait, Catra... I-... I love you…..” her words became a whisper as she clenched her fist continuing as if she was listening “I don't regret what I did at all... just hurry up…. this shit hurts" She continued to herself.

Her steps were quick. Her breath was shaky as her fists were tightened to her sides. The feline walked to the hall as she could see her mother chatting casually with some other nobles. She glared at her while approaching and held her by the wrist "I have to talk to you" She hissed. Her ears were back and she pulled her away from the rest, into the hallways of the palace. "Do you really think this will work!? What did you do to her!"

“I did nothing, actually...this boy.. I have to say he is truly a good man.. What do you want, Catra. I told you there’s no way I’m leaving this peasant to destroy every possibility of me getting my hands to BrightMoon” The older woman growled at the other. Her purple eyes got a sparkle in them as she spoke about the blonde warrior.

“This is not only about the war anymore! Don’t you understand?! I love her! She fought for me!” Catra was furious at this point. Her eyes pierced through the sorceress’.

“And I do not care. I warned you..and you didn’t listen. She won the battle, congratulations to her” Light Spinner turned around only to get stopped by the teared up princess.

She couldn’t do anything to prevent her from killing the one she loved. “Tell me what you want. Whatever it is but don’t let her die. Not now. I want her and only her. She’s the one I love and the only one who treats me nice for once… Just ask for anything other than separating us. I’m begging you!” She knew Adora would be running out of time and if the poison infected her more.. she didn’t know if there would be a turning back.

On the other hand Adora was trying to believe Catra would find someone.. Do something. She was just too weak to do anything at this moment.

"What happened to you-?" Glimmer's voice echoed in the room as she ran towards her. She got more worried because of her pale face. She didn't know what to say as her eyes looked down at her. "Did the doctor come by?"

"Yeah.. Yeah the doctor came by... The-.. The sword had poison on it... Catra is... She's out trying to find the antidote... Either her mom or the prince has it... So I-... I just have to hope she gets it in time..." Adora smiled slightly at her, though the smile was truly a tired one. "I'll be alright though... Don't worry about me... And don't try and blame Catra... Okay..?"

Glimmer couldn't hold back but tear up as she fell on her to embrace her. She couldn't get worse... Her eyes closed and soon enough she could only speak "When you'll get back to normal.... I'll punch you" She cried. Bow would come in next to take a seat right next to the other two. He didn't find anything and the doctor didn't have any news.

The Horde princess walked inside, making Bow look up at her and stand up before running to her "Do you have it?" He breathed out quickly only for her to nod quietly. Her ears were down instead. Her eyes looked at the blonde one while the doctor was giving her the antidote. The brunette gave Adora a nervous smile as she approached.

"C'mere... I'll be alright.. I'd ask for a kiss but my mouth is all bloody" Adora chuckled softly as she looked at her from afar. She reached up to take her hand once she got close enough "I knew I could count on you... I knew I'd be okay... Thank you Catra…" She whispered, still letting out a soft cough.

"You're welcome.... But... I'll have to talk to you later ...maybe when you'll feel better" Catra replied to her before giving her a small smile. She really tried her best to look as happy to see her alive as she would if all this didn't come with a price. Her eyes looked down at her and she slowly brushed her hair with her right hand.

Adora's friends would stay there looking at them till Bow approached to check up on her from time to time till he convinced Glimmer to leave the two alone. The blonde one would need rest after all but she noticed the fact Catra was so… nervous and just sat up further. She winced but didn't say anything "Let's talk now... All it's gonna do is worry me and I won't be able to rest... So c'mon..."

"Just lay down first and I will tell you...." Catra hummed at first and kissed her nose playfully while trying to cheer her up a bit. "My mother wanted to get your sword... Or take some land if you wanted to live.... So.. I didn't know what to choose... Only thing I said was that she can have some land..instead of your sword. I can't lie to you and give them to her because I said so… I told her to give me the antidote and that you will choose when you will be able to stand up… and...she agreed...surprisingly" Her mismatching eyes looked away while avoiding to meet her eyes.

"She can have some of my land. I have plenty anyway. She cannot have my sword... It wouldn't work for her anyway. The sword chooses who wields it and it won't choose anyone new until I die or I willingly pass it along. Even then that doesn't mean it'll accept the new person... She can have some of my land…" Adora smiled a little bit and touched her chin to make her look in the eye. She wasn't mad. How could she be mad at her? She saved her life.

Catra's ears perked up. She was surprised she willingly gave her land to the Horde. That was something Catra didn't expect "I... I thought you would step back..." Her eyes flickered from Adora's eyes down to her lips before she sighed and leant against her to embrace her. She was so scared of losing her that she didn't know what to think about such a deal. Was it good….or?

"Thank you…" Adora held her close after pulling her onto the bed beside her and closing her eyes "I would do anything for you... If that means losing some land...it's fine.. I'll give her the unpopulated land... Or if she insists on taking land where some people live I'll help them move before she gains control...even if she finds out I will see what to do later" She kissed the top of her head and smiled brightly "You aren't gonna lose me over a bit of land. The sword though. We may have a bit of a problem" She teased, though she was clearly joking to try and lift her mood while cupping her cheeks "Besides... There's nothing that I couldn't protect you from... Okay?"

"and she knows that, Adora..... She bets that you would do anything for me... She won't let you take your people away. I know her too well. The contracts won't be easy to deal with... That's why I'm all worried...I don't want her to force situations on you because of me....I hate it" Catra didn't lie about that. She loved her and she knew her mom would take advantage of that love.

"Hey... Right now it's still my land. I can send out orders for people to move now so she can't get to them... And if anyone is there and tries to escape I'll take them in" Adora smiled gently at her "And she is not forcing anything on me... I don't mind giving up land as long as I can protect the one I love"

The princess nodded quickly before she leaned in to give her a small kiss on her forehead "I'll let you rest...unless you want me to stay with you"

Adora noticed her ears go down and she lifted a hand to gently, hesitantly pet them while holding her "Don't you dare... I want you by my side okay...? I want you near... I want to be able to hold you and kiss you every day, okay?" She paused to cough gently "I love you...and I'll never get tired of having you around..."

The feline slid close to her and closed her eyes while she was getting the head pats. Her throat let out soft purrs and her eyes closed while leaning close to her to enjoy the affection that she got from her. Finally they were together. Her hand slowly crawled around her, rubbing her softly while holding her close. "I love you too.... And I want you to be happy. No matter what happens to me. I want you to be safe.." She knew a knight couldn't always be safe but now she could change that or at least try. The slimer one laid on the other and relaxed. Purrs were silent and her ears twitched back while holding her close. "I'm going to ask if I can take you to my room... It's way warmer than here" The girl stood up slowly while caressing her healthy shoulder gently as the blonde one nodded and letting her go.

It was nightfall. Adora was drifting between being awake and asleep. She curled up on the camp bed while grumbling about how uncomfy it was. She suddenly heard a chuckle as she opened one eye to see the brunette accompanied by two servants "My knight?" She whispered and leaned against her gently to wake her up so they could go “You can come to my chamber...I bet the bed will be comfier” She smiled as the other grunted while standing up.

The blonde got helped by her and the servants so in a couple of minutes she was sitting on the masterbed. Her eyes closed as she let out a silent growl because of her shoulder and ribs "I love you" she whispered. The maid was turning on the fireplace and the princess smiled and placed a soft kiss on her scalp. She brought her a rag as her second maid would help her undress the knight so she could clean up the dirt off her.

“You really don’t have to-”Adora insisted.

“Hush...you’re not going to sleep like this.. You ‘re dirty.. Since you’re so wounded the doctor said you shouldn’t apply water on the wound” Catra breathed out and continued till the woman was clean of dirt and blood. Her hand cupped her cheek and kissed her forehead before standing up. She ordered one of the maids to prepare her bath and take the bucket of water inside. The other one was meant to undress her as she walked to close the huge curtains of the window. It was clearly one of the best views Adora had of how fragile Catra’s body was but at the same time she noticed how much she was restrained in this corset.

“I will force you to not wear a corset. You’re starting from tomorrow” She joked in a gentle tone as the woman wore a robe to cover herself up and smirked down at her

“That’s not going to happen.. Now rest. Silvia I told you to bring Adora a clean shift …grab one of mine” Catra hissed and walked back in her bathroom “I will be back” She hummed for her and closed the door behind her. She wanted to do that shower as soon as possible and so she did.

After some minutes the feline slid under her blankets. Adora was half asleep at that moment and she placed a kiss on her cheek. The warrior could only feel the feathery touch of her princess. Her skin was so ….soft. Her face dug into the other’s crook of her neck “You smell so nice…” She truly smelt like bergamot. Her eyes closed and kissed her lips.

“Thanks..Didn’t you sleep?” She smirked and cupped her cheek.

"I love you... I'm so glad I met you…” Adora ignored her question and smiled

"hush... You need to sleep...or I’ll make you " Catra chuckled and leaned close to her only to give her a small kiss. She couldn't help but rest close to her. They were kissing and cuddling as the brunette was purring silently at the affection. She wrapped her arms around her waist before they slept in each other’s arms.

I need you♥

The next four nights would pass by peacefully while the rain was making its way on the window. It was nearly a week after the woman's successful battle and her wounds began to heal up fast. The nobles and queens with their kings didn't leave yet because of the storm. The roads were all too dangerous to ride by even for the carriage and horses. As for Adora and Catra they began to spend some time together and they ended up sleeping together in Catra's chamber. They both got to learn more about each other. How they imagined their life would be after they get married.

One morning the feline's ears were down as she was all curled up on Adora. She was scared of the sudden sounds of the thunderstorm but she didn't wake up. Instead she felt the knight's arm around her to comfort her through the night. The morning would come and a soft purr echoed in the room. The princess was quite loud but Adora didn't care at all. She opened her eyes and placed several kisses on her cheeks and chin.

"Good morning, my love~" The blonde smiled as the other continued curling upon her and wrapping her tail around her waist. "I bet you won't be leaving soon with your mother...it's still raining" She looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips.

Catra smiled at the kiss with closed eyes "Thankfully we will have more time together… I can tell her to come with you when you will be leaving.."

"No she won't agree with that… she still hates me, remember?" Adora hummed silently and kissed her lips before pulling away.

"I have to go for breakfast ..I'll call a maid or one of the servants to bring you something to eat" The feline sat on the bedside before standing up and rubbing the back of her neck.

“I can stand up, princess… don’t worry so much about me” The other chuckled and stood up before she walk close to the other one “Someone needs a massage” She whispered and leaned close to the feline’s naked shoulder to pepper her with kisses and wrap her arms around her while holding her gently and rubbing her ribs

“Hm...Of course I need...especially from you..” She tilted her head when she felt these hands up to her shoulders, gently and softly massaging her. She sat down on her chair in front of the desk as the other one began to add some pressure and made her let out a grunt. “I love your hands….” She hummed, making her chuckle and closing her eyes.

The knight smiled while looking at her through the mirror and gave her a small kiss on her neck “I will join you… Now do you want me to help you dress up?” She murmured and gave her another kiss before she pulled away.

“Yes, I’d love some help” Catra stood up and walked up to the wardrobe to choose a sacramento green dress. She grabbed her corset and white stockings.

The woman took a seat on the same chair while the blonde one was admiring the beauty of the feline. She knelt down and held her leg gently. Her lips touched her skin with closed eyes while slowly putting on her stockings and tying up her garters on her thigh with a gentle touch “So smooth and fragile..” She whispered and kissed her inner thigh while eyeing the scratches that were now fading thankfully “I’m so glad you’re mine now” She whispered against her skin making the princess blush.

“If you continue like this we won't go downstairs...we will do other things than eating” Catra giggled quietly and leaned back on her seat before she felt the knight placing her hands on the arms of the chair to bend close to her and give her a kiss on her lips

“I prefer staying with you than going to eat~ I can spend hours kissing you“ She whispered and gave her a small kiss on her neck

before nibbling on her skin while having her cornered on her chair. She pulled her up so she could help her with her corset “You’re really here to tease me, right?” The feline smirked as she wrapped her waist with a nod for her to tighten the ropes on her back.

“I’m speaking the truth though, princess… I have to admit that I’ve missed this skin against mine even if I slept by your side tonight..” Adora paused while tying the corset. Her blue eyes looked at the girl’s upper back leaning again to press her lips against her and making her lay her ears flat. Her purrs were heard once again while she was still close to her. Her tail was wagging and wrapped around her arm while she was kissing her.

The knight’s stronger arms wrapped around her waist to turn her around and push her lips against hers. She was hungry for her lips. “Adora-” Catra whispered.

“mhm..?” The knight guided her back on the bed while gently laying her down again and kissing her all the way down her neck. Her cleavage was exposed making her leave some marks on her tender skin and making the princess tremble at her touch.

The feline tensed her legs as the other one was on top of her and between them. She wrapped her arms around her to brush her hair slowly. Her hips moved up against her as she whined. “I missed this…” She breathed out but the blonde stopped as soon as she felt herself being turned on.

“C...Catra I can’t… I’ll hurt you if I continue..”

"I’ll be fine... I'm going to feel... just like how I did four nights ago.... I want you...it's so difficult to resist..." She whispered and leaned close to her to give her a small kiss on her lips. She kissed all the way down her neck and bit her on her skin, loving how that soft skin of hers tasted… "I love you...and I love everything about you..I want you to hold me and... Kiss me like you did the first time.." She looked at her with her unique eyes, her need clearly visible within them.

Adora flushed at that, returning the kiss only to tilt her head when she kissed down her neck, letting out a little gasp when she bit her skin "I-its the middle of the morning... A-and I can't-" When she told her to kiss her she eagerly leaned in. She held her hips and pulled her close. She kissed her hungrily but still gently.

"No... It still aches..and I don't want to make it take longer to heal.. I can do something else though.." Catra hissed as she guided her under her. She went down on her while kissing her under her gown. She touched her gently and brushed her fingers on top of her member as she obviously knew that the girl would have been hard already by the kisses and bites. Catra closed her eyes and licked her coyly. She didn't know if she wanted her to continue or if she was doing it right.

She made the other's eyes widen slightly as she realised what she was going to do "O-oh I- you don't-have to-.." Adora gasped though when she touched her, her hips bucked slightly and closed her eyes "O-oh..fuck Catra.." She blushed, embarrassed at how easily flustered she was "d-don't stop.. Please." Her member twitched, fully hard already. Her abs flexed slightly when her hips twitched. She was trying to buck but she kept them still for her.

Catra knew she didn't have to do it but...she wanted to please her. Knowing from herself she could tell that treating her would make her feel a little relieved since their last time together. Her slim form was down on her.Her lips embracing her as she did suckle on her and her eyes looked up at the woman's cute expression. Her tail was wagging slowly and ears were pushed back. Silent purrs escaped her throat while she was now beginning to focus more on her to please and rubbed her sacks gently while doing so, forcing a groan out of her mouth.

The blonde tried to keep her hips still while looking down at her for a moment before getting too flustered and just letting her head fall back. She groaned as she tried not to buck too much "Ffuck-...." She moaned when she started sucking her. Soft gasps came out and she gently put her hand down to touch her head while her fingers were running through her hair.

Even if it was a kind of submissive position, for a princess especially, Catra didn't care at all. She could see Adora praising her every day... Her hands caressed her thigh and gently continued to do it. She wanted so much to make her feel good that she couldn't care less about herself or image right now. Her lips continued to brush her and soon enough she took a small breath and pulled away "D..do you like it?"

Adora nodded and looked at her with a blush "D-don't-.. Don’t stop.. P-please…" Catra’s lips let out a huff and quickly leaned against her to continue her job. She made it as good as she could so she could feel every inch of hers going down her mouth. She didn't want to stop either. Her member twitched, gasping again as she still tried not to buck but she used her hand to gently guide her head back against the pillows again. She was embarrassed about the fact that she was already close. Adora was trying to suppress soft groans and moan while panting softly “F-fuck.. I-.. I’m close…"

Catra’s eyes closed and her head moved just a bit faster up and down on her member while warming her up with her mouth. She wished she could give her more but for now she should be fine. She forced herself into reaching her base as she touched her skin with her lips and a groan escaped her mouth while suckling on her sweet skin. Fingers gently squeezing her teasingly so she could make her release.

As soon as she forced herself to reach the base the blonde tried to mumble a warning. Her back arched as she came. Her eyes closed tightly as she let out a groan. When that happened the princess would pull away only to rub her and get her chest dirty by her lover. "You're quick... But I love it"

When Adora finally recovered enough to open her eyes again she looked down at her, noticing her chest was dirty she giggled softly.

She gently reached down to pull her up and kissed her with a mumble "Thank you... You really didn't have to do that though.. I don't want you to get worked up.."

The princess whined. She didn't want her to touch her while being so dirty. Her eyes looked up at her and leaned gently at her touch. Her hand caressing her slowly. "I know ,but I really am not getting worked up...I want to do it so.... I feel good when you moan because of me" She smirked at the other one who just giggled and pulled her closer.

Adora kissed down her chest, clearly not caring that it was dirty. She then tried to kiss her, only to whine when she pulled away so Catra could get a cloth to wipe her chest off the dirt. "Hey I wanted a kiss.." She pouted, sitting up and wrapping an arm around her waist when she returned.

The woman chuckled at her comment. Her hand pushed her playfully as she noticed that she didn't care about kissing her even if she was dirty "Don't you kiss me while we're like this...." She whined. As a princess she did care a lot about her being dirty or not yet the knight didn’t as she could see. Catra’s hand cupped her cheek and sat on her only to lean in and nibble on her lips. "Here you can have your kisses ,my knight..~" She breathed out only to give her a small kiss on her lips. Her slim, curvy form leaned close. Her hips pressed and against the woman's even though it itched just a tiny bit. Her eyes looked up at these blue orbs only to wrap her arms around her and kiss her lips. She slid her tongue coyly into that kiss and tilted her head to the side. Her tail slowly wrapped around the hand that touched her waist. Her ears twitched back as her needy lips deepened the kiss and her thumb gently rubbed her more muscular shoulder. "A..Adora..I..." She whined faintly between the kisses.

Adora blushed softly when she was kissed, hoping she didn't notice that she was getting hard again, though her breath hitched when she whined "I- I don't-.. I don’t want to hurt you-..." She kept her arms around her though, wishing she could take her right then and there.. wishing she could claim her as hers just as she did the night before.

The other girl's eyebrows furrowed and she leaned close to her to give her a small peck on her cheek as the space between them was just too hot to not make the girl sweat. Her mismatching eyes opened to look at hers this time and she crawled a hand up on her chin. "We... We can try...?" She chuckled at her own stupidity at that time. She knew she would be in at least pain but believed that she could handle it. "If you hurt me accidentally I'll tell you.." She smiled after her words as her hips could forget the pain and press against her knight's.

The blonde panted softly as her lips were a bit swollen from the kissing. Her face flushed as she looked up at her before just nodding "F-..fine.. Just-.. Let me use my fingers first okay..? I want to make sure I wont hurt you too bad..." She nuzzled into her neck, pressing soft kisses and nips to her neck.

Catra could only nod at the offer. Her tail was still wrapped around her wrist and her hands were still placed on her shoulder while she was nuzzling on her neck. Her lips planted a kiss on her cheek and she crawled a bit away with still spread legs so she could if she wanted to touch her. "I don't mind it at all...just touch me" She hummed in need and caressed her cheek with one hand. Her cheeks were already blushed making her lover giggle softly.

Adora smiled as she moved back, though she made sure that she stayed on her lap. She put a hand on her thigh and just kept it there for a bit, leaning in to kiss and nip at her chest. She eventually inched her hand forward, hesitating before slowly pressing a single finger in and pausing to be sure she was alright. She let her finger sit there for a bit before she slowly started moving it, continuing to play with her chest. The brunette whined silently but she didn't stop her,a silent moan escaped her lips, guiding her hand down to hers to touch it gently and bite her own lip.

Catra tilted her head up while enjoying how good her lips felt against her chest. Her eyes closed and her pants and grunts broke the silence sometimes. It wasn't as bad as she expected it to feel. Maybe most of the pain didn't come from that entrance of hers so she could indeed feel good while ignoring that small bit of pain. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips after tilting the blonde's head up. "I love you.." She whispered while making the other bite her lip as she watched her.

Asora's pupils dilated heavily just watching the different expressions cross the magicat's face. When she tilted her head up she blushed and took in a small gasp, before adding a second finger slowly just leaning in to nip her chest again "Fuck.. Fuck I love you too…"

The princess shyly moaned while feeling the second one coming inside her though she would only lean forward. She began to ride her fingers as much as she could. She loved how that felt. How cute Adora was or how good she knew to please her. Her eyes looked up at her in need and moved her head to the back of her head to guide her kindly "Just continue... Please" She murmured and leaned more against her.

"Fuck… you feel so good around my fingers... Can't wait to be inside you..." Adora mumbled as her free arm wrapped around her waist and held her close while fingering her slowly. She continued to mumble about all of the things she wants to do to her.

These words made Catra more needy. Her voice whispering such things was making her so wet that she actually couldn't resist but felt better by her fingers inside her. "M ....my.. please... I want you inside me" She whimpered and opened her eyes to look at these blue ones while she was continuing to please her. Her eyes were closed and her moans escaped at some point.

A soft groan echoed when she asked for the blonde one to be inside her but pulled her fingers out so she could give her what she wanted. She held her hips and guided her down slowly while letting her move at her own pace. She groaned when she felt her around her member again while closing her eyes and resting her forehead on her shoulder. Catra sitting on her made Adora wrap her arms around her waist to just hold her there for a moment.

The brown haired woman took breaks while lowering herself onto the blond, but she was really willing to take all of her. Her hips moved all down after some moments as a whine escaped her lips and her body shivered by the pleasure. Her arms wrapped around the woman and leaned in to place a kiss on her lips after forcing her head up from her shoulder and letting it rest there again. Her lips would place kisses on the blonde's ear and cheekbone while she was resting her head there. Her mouth opened only to take a breath and start to move up and down on her while riding her slowly and carefully since she felt a bit unpleasant. But she would get used to it after a while. She whispered sweet nothings to the woman, but also how much she wanted to give her everything. To be hers and to feel her like this everyday.

Adora bit her lip, but managed to stay still just offering her arms as a way to help support her weight, since she knew that her thighs were still injured. When Catra started moving she just let out another groan and gently moved a hand between her legs. She was careful to keep her touch gentle in case that area hurt but she gently rubbed her clit as she rode her. She wanted her to feel good. She panted softly against her skin, pressing soft kisses and nips to her skin, mumbling "You're all mine... And I'm all yours. All yours.."

Catra trembled and ran her hand down her thighs as she felt her clit being rubbed. She whined softly and moaned at the feeling of hers. She loved how good it felt..how perfect her fingers were working on her body. She looked up at her and gave her a small smile as a drop of sweat ran down her forehead. Her cheeks were flushed and eyes looked up at the woman only to give her a small kiss to her lips and tug on it playfully "Of course you're mine.... I don't want you to leave me... I want you to stay here and ...kiss me.. touch me even every day.."

Even her voice was making Adora blush as her hips pressed against her fingers that rubbed her while the feline was moving on top of her. The blonde also realised that she was too weak while being around her. She could make her release too easily and quickly if she wanted to. Adora panted softly as she spoke, pressing her face into her skin "I-I'm close-... I-I- fuck I'm close... Catra.. C-catra..."

Catra tugged her sharp nails against the skin of her shoulder while getting closer as her hips moved up and down on her length. Her breast gently bounced against her under her shift. Her eyes closed and her head tilted to the pleasure that she felt all this time. Her nails almost ripped her clothes while she was holding her close to her and making the other one groan at the feeling. "I want it... Please... "

The blonde one leaned in and bit her neck gently. She tried to hold out for as long as she could though it didn't last long. By gasping and bucking finally as she came, pressing as deep into her as she could and forcing the feline to moan out in both pain and pleasure as she released as well. Adora laid them down and cuddled close to her while breathing heavily. She kept herself inside her though as she laid down with her and closed her eyes. "We can clean up before breakfast…"

Catra was feeling really tired. The ecstasy of their love making only made her lay down while shivering by the feeling of Adora being still inside her as her legs wrapped around her. Her hands placed on her cheeks and caressed her slowly "Yes... I.. am too tired to stand up right now.." She whispered and leaned against the pillow. Her brown hair was messy already so it carelessly laid on the pillow

"Good... I did it right then..." Adora chuckled in response while holding her and closed her eyes before yawning again. She loved the feel of her body against her. She loved the soft feel of her fur on her skin.

"Hey..... Adora... ?" Catra murmured and leaned away only to give her a small peck on her lips and moved her hips so she could remove her from inside her with a whimper. She was thankful that Adora got her so wet. Else she would have been in more pain than pleasure. Catra looked up at her and smiled kindly "Let's have a nap...okay? It's early.. even my maid isn't here now that I think about it" She chuckled and made the other smirk up at her.

"I would love to take a nap in my wife's embrace…." For the first time the blonde could say that she felt so... Important.

Actually Adora made her feel plenty of things. Important was one of them. Someone finally needed the princess too. "Rest,my knight" She whispered as her hand was brushing her hair while holding her close to her chest so she could lay on top of her and rest her head on her bosom

"Mm... Mhm?" She looked up at her but adjusted how she was laying, holding her close and nodding. She kept her arms wrapped protectively around her. Her back was bare naked with no blanket over anything but her lower half. She let Catra guide her head onto her chest, closing her eyes and yawning softly while holding onto her.

The princess' hands crawled, forcing the blankets up so she could be warm. She leaned against her only to give her a small kiss. Adora looked so sexy, her muscular body laid on Catra's curvy one. Her eyes closed and she gently caressed her.

The time was passing by while both of them were falling asleep. The feline's arms were still wrapped around her protectively. The knight usually kicked and punched in her sleep, but holding Catra and feeling like she was protecting her kept her from sleep-fighting.

The hours began to slide away when a knock on the door was heard. Instead of one of the maids of Catra's, it was Bow. He knocked again, making the knight inside the room yawn and rub her eyes slowly. Only when Bow came in, she started to wake up but wasn't fully up yet, just groaning and nuzzling closer to Catra's chest. She cradled her closer instead and mumbled into her chest "Mm go 'way... 'M comfy…"

"A.... Adora that's... Princess Catra's bosom, please.... Wake up-" He felt uncomfortable to be around while they were both almost naked as the girl nuzzled against her future wife. He couldn't see the feline's chest but he could see the feline's leg, her shift and corset as well. His hand pushed the knight then to wake up as Catra furrowed her eyebrows and yawned.

Feeling Adora nuzzling against her chest made a small smile to form on her face. Adora just groaned again while trying to slap his hand away before laying her head on her chest again. She was already awake, grumbling under her breath and just pressing a soft kiss to Catra's collar bone. She pulled the blankets up so they would be covered before she turned onto her back to look at Bow, chuckling "I'm surprised Glimmer isn't the one waking us up. She'd probably come in with a bucket actually so... Maybe it's a good thing she didn't"

"She ... You know her. She needs her time to accept things" He shrugged gently and chuckled before he noticed the girl raising the blankets "I'll go but, don't be late" he spoke again.

Catra clearly enjoyed these kisses on her collarbone and pressed herself against her by arching her back. She loved how good this felt and how she knew all of her spots.. The brunette leaned close to her and gave her a small kiss before she cupped her cheek and opened her eyes to look at the man who was walking away. "Oh my…. He saw me like this?!" She gasped.

"It's Bow, Catra…. calm down, okay..?" Adora whispered, peppering her cleavage with kisses and licks "Lets go...you have to get ready and I think you'll need your maid since I have to get ready too. I'll leave...even like this" Adora pointed at the pants making Catra giggle

“I’ll give you a dress…..it’s better than someone seeing you like this…” The feline hummed and looked up at her only to give her a small kiss on her lips

“Not a corset..just the dress” The knight ordered as she felt the other sliding off her grip and giving her a white dress.

“Go go …. we have to hurry actually...they will start eating before us” Catra chuckled forcing her to finally leave after dressing up.

The maid arrived some minutes later, preparing her lady and applying a light colour on her lips before she fixed her hair. The woman was ready to go downstairs when she noticed Chris walking towards her. He wasn’t pleased at all but she tried to avoid any contact with him at all cost. As she walked past him, she realised her breathing became easier but she would get cut short as the woman’s hand got pulled behind and a yelp escaped her lips. She didn’t know if it was the prince who grabbed her or a guard of his since they both were walking by. She tried to yell but her voice didn’t come out. The only thing she could feel was a sharp pain on her head before darkness took over.

Kidbapped 💀

Chapter Notes

> Yes it's supposed to say "kidbapped" and not "kidnapped" trust me. You'll understand at the end of the chapter :)
> -101firegirl

Adora was walking down the hallways. The girl had already put on a pair of dark red pants to match colours with her vest as the undershirt was white. Her hands began to fix her hair up on a high, tight ponytail while she was walking towards the princess' room. She was looking forward to guiding her lover, soon her wife, down to the table where everyone could see that the feline was hers and only. All these days she was getting more and more weak under the bed sheets. Adora walked all the way down the hall, taking a deep breath and finally knocking on the door "Princess, let's go. We will be late" She called out but with no response. Her eyebrow perked up, opening slowly to see if there was someone inside. She walked around the room, checking in the bathroom as well but… Noone was there.

Adora remained silent for a moment while thinking that she may have gone down earlier but...didn't she inform her? They used to go together.. Even when they were just a princess and a knight. Her eyes scanned the room to see if she left any note before she walked outside again. Her hand brushed the back of her neck. She didn't know what to do ..should she go and see if she was at the table already? With quick steps the warrior arrived at the dining room with the rest of the nobles but the princess was nowhere to be found. Her eyes fixed at the queen of the Horde but in a few seconds she flickered them to glance at the prince. He was calm, eating while the chair of the feline was empty. Instead of taking a seat on her usual chair she guided herself towards Glimmer as she bends towards her "Hey...have you seen Catra?"

"What...no? Weren't you with her? Bow told me he found you two together" Glimmer furrowed her eyebrows and looked at her only to let her continue.

“No...I left her alone earlier today….I went to her room to escort her but..she wasn’t there” Adora started to get worried about this.. she had a strange feeling. Her eyes looked down at her friend only to give her a small sigh. “I’ll go look out for her..-”

“Hey Adora, wait..what if she’s out, walking? I mean…. you shouldn’t get all anxious. She’s fine, just relax and eat...you’re finally able to walk around the palace without worrying about your wounds getting worse. Take it easy. She will be with a maid or someone”

Adora looked down at her but she could feel that something was just...too off. Light Spinner was rather concerned as well. “Glimmer, I know when something is wrong-”

“You love her I get it, but that doesn’t mean she needs you so much. She has maids around her all the time...Just stop worrying so much and calm down for once.. Sit down” The knight paused for a moment. That moment was when Bow would arrive and wrap an arm around her shoulders

“Come. Eat first. You need it. If you don’t see her after breakfast we can go look out for her.” Bow knew how to calm her down sometimes. He showed that he actually cared for her and not that he just wanted to make her forget the princess.

She nodded slowly and tried to offer him a nervous smile “I’m sorry Bow… I really worry about her” Adora explained and looked up at him in worry.

“I know.. but you should calm down..it’s still early..come with me. My princess needs some space, your princess as well~” He smiled at her and pulled her with him to join the rest of the knights on the table “we have vanilla cake~” He cheered while making a smile form on her lips and chuckle “Do you think it will be tasty?” The man obviously hurried up to make her seat and held a fork “Dig in and you’ll see” He smirked.

The first one to stand up was the queen of the Horde. Instead of waiting for longer to enjoy the music she walked up the stairs with a guard beside her. Adora looked up at her while noticing she was in a hurry.

"Bow.. I will have to go now" She didn't wait for a reply and ran behind the woman. Her hand placed on her sword, making it be a bracelet so she could be alerted if the sorceress would try to attack or something. Her eyes stared at the woman, following her so she could see where she was going. The prince was still in the dining room so they wouldn't be able to talk so… at least she would be able to ask Catra's mother if she saw her or...something like that. Instead of spying on her she walked on her and bowed just a little "Your….majesty, I've been looking for princess Catra.. I can't find her and I was wondering if you saw her around here.." She didn't know what to expect but the older one only glared at her

"I thought you were supposed to guard her…." Light Spinner paused with Adora interrupting her immediately

"My apologies. I was in bed all this time and I, for once, left her alone to prepare herself for breakfast. When I was back she was nowhere to be found.." She continued making the sorceress glare down at her and taking a soft breath

"I'll go find queen Angella in case she knows something.." The black haired spoke

"Alright… I will find her" She looked up at her only to give her another bow and take several steps back. She didn't expect she would actually speak to the princess' mother but.. there she was. Putting the fear away and finding the guts to talk, even telling her that it wasn't her fault completely that the young feline is lost. Adora didn't know where to look first. She searched from the bottom of the palace to the nobles' chambers. She took Bow with her even if Glimmer felt that they wouldn't find anything. The day was passing by quickly but there was no sign of the young princess. Light Spinner was already in Angella's throne room to discuss. Catra was nowhere and even she was mad at the failure of Adora to guard her properly or find her during the day.

The knight was in love with that woman. She wanted her to be her wife. To live a simple life… She couldn't think of herself without the feline anymore. She wanted to find her.. No matter what would happen or what deal she would have to make with the kidnappers of her lover. She was already dreaming how tight she would hold her. How her purrs would echo in the room while she would be rubbing her. Adora was already in need of her attention...She needed her embrace. Her touch. Her princess' brush on her hair while resting her head on her lap.

"She can't be in the palace….You searched every single room!" Glimmer hissed at the blonde one and tightened her fists "Maybe she left..or she went out and got lost…"

"No, Glimmer. I asked every guard if they saw her around and they saw nothing….. Is there any room I haven't checked in.. any hallway to lead under the palace...I've gone even under the palace to see if someone hid her in the dungeons….I.." The blonde sighed and brushed her hair poof which was messy at this point. Her heart was beating so fast. She knew she wouldn't leave...There was no reason for her to leave.. They were so sweet together early in the morning...Why couldn't she find her..

"What if someone kidnapped her….out of the palace? I'm sorry Adora..I mean..it would be possible but I mean.." Bow tried to cover it up since ...making her more anxious wasn't something he'd like to do.

"Bow...you're not helping" Glimmer glared at him and took a small breath before placing her hands on Adora's shoulders. "Look, we will find her ...Let's look again, okay? I bet you didn't check in the guards' rooms. They even have an open room to have access to the prison so…"

Adora opened her eyes at that time. The same time that she saw the prince walking down the stairs with one of his guards. Her eyes narrowed and returned her glance down at the woman again "I have to go..Glimmer search with Bow..please..okay..?" The blonde said while running towards the man. She didn't show herself. Instead she spied on the man who was walking now to the lower parts of the palace. When she saw in which door he walked through though she turned around only to find herself between two guards of his. Her eyes widened for a moment only to summon her sword but at the same time she got pinned by one of them, pressing her neck against the wall and making her choke. Her eyes closed, coughing violently as she got kicked on the stomach by the same man. He wore his armour which was a huge benefit and the shorter one couldn't hit him at least for now. Her hand ,instead of touching his that was choking her, gave a rough punch on his face. He didn't wear a helmet and the girl was again on her feet. Her eyes flickered so she dashed over the other one to pin him down, summoning her sword and stabbing him. She had the other one knocked off as she felt her magic flow in her veins. Her form became bigger and the girl's eyes gleamed a sky blue colour. She knew she couldn't trust that prince in the first place but she...really didn't expect him to do something like kidnapping someone. She quickly opened the door, wishing there would be a room just as Glimmer said but.. there were two hallways that she didn't know where they ended. Her eyes looked at them. Cursing under her breath and tightening her fist around her sword when she heard a yell. The voices and noise was helpful because of the echo in the hallway.

On the other hand the princess was trying to get free as long as she woke up. She was in a dark room. Her hands were tied behind her back. The prince knew that the feline would be able to rip the ropes off her wrists as soon as she could and he couldn't risk having the woman fighting with these sharp nails of hers.

The woman tried to get free. She whined as her mouth was closed with another rag and hissed.

“Didn’t I tell you to close your mouth?” The man growled and slapped her, making her let out a cry. Her bangs were falling carelessly in her eyes but she didn’t care about it at all. She tried to crawl closer to the wall so she could at least avoid the man’s second hit as he moved his foot to give her a kick. “Did you think I would let you leave with that peasant?” The man bent over to grab her by the collar of her dress. Her feet were tied up as well and she was not able to leave. The prince would take a sip of his drink, throwing the bottle away only to lean closer to the woman who he just got her pinned on the wall to give her parted lips a small kiss as the girl tried to pull away. Her head gave him a strong hit on his forehead when he was so close, making him fall back and groan in pain.

“You whore” The prince growled and tried to stand up. He was both drunk and dizzy because of the hit.

Catra fell almost to her knees. Her forehead was aching but she wouldn’t give up. She yelled as much as she could. She crawled all the way to the door and managed to crawl to the hall but the other one was right behind her. He gave her a rough kick on her abdomen, making the girl cough and whine in pain

“You don’t listen at all huh? Yell as much as you want..you’re not going to get away from here..” He warned. Catra growled at him and tried to cut the cloth her hands were tied with. Her eyes closed as she could feel yet another pain building on her guts as she felt the second kick. Her form twitched and bent. Her knees almost touched her chest in pain but also to protect herself but she could already feel her body burning. Her eyes closed tightly. The man stopped. She paused, panting and trembling while trying to not cry.

“I told you to not touch her….I shouldn’t even kill you…..'' Adora's sword pierced through his chest as he coughed blood. Her hand thrusted the sword once more. She wanted so much to torture this man. To make him feel the pain he caused to the woman laying down. She knelt quickly at her and cut the ropes off the woman’s wrists and legs. Her eyes looked at the woman who was trembling " Catra…I'm here….I'm here don't worry about anything…" She whispered close to her while embracing her but Catra's hand placed on her shoulder, letting out a sharp moan

"A-Adora..Please. Call the doctor- Take me out of here.."

"What ..why what did he do?Are you wounded?" She pulled her up, making her lover cry out in pain.

"J-Just take me to the doctor. I'm bleeding"
The warrior widened her eyes when she noticed the floor as well, making herself feel worse than before because she killed the man. She wanted to hang him. To stab his body, every corner of him while being alive. Even burn him alive if she could. But she didn't have the chance. She took her all the way up to her bedroom, yelling out for a doctor when she saw Glimmer while holding Catra close to her. She placed her down on the bedside, slowly rubbed her forehead and gave her a small kiss on her lips. "What's wrong, princess..what did he do… did he touch you again?" She didn't mean only kicking her obviously but if he did touch her like he did on their first night.

"N-No I …….Adora...please don't call my mother..."

"Why not?! She got worried sick about you, Catra!" The woman glared at her and cupped her hands. Her eyes fixed on her mismatching ones when the princess took a short breath and trembled as she let out a chuckle

"She wasn't worried about me…I..I'm carrying a child, Adora…..I..I was...I-" The girl grunted in pain and pinned her nails into the sheets.

Adora stared at her. She...didn't know what to say....that she was worried because of the blood loss and the pale skin of hers.. That she was...pregnant and she knew nothing about it? "S-stay still the doctor is here I will... not tell anything until the doctor takes care of you" With that the woman walked out of the room, she leaned against the door.. Why didn't she tell her anything? What was she supposed to tell her? Her mother couldn’t be so..mean, right..? She couldn’t just want to see if her daughter’s child was okay and not care about her. Her eyes stared at the floor. Was she even ready to take care of a child? She...was anxious. She couldn’t feel her feet anymore when she heard Glimmer’s voice in the distance

“What happened?”

“He….held her captive in one of the rooms you said...I found her wounded and..he was.. kicking her and hitting her. I heard her voice and I managed to get there in time. She lost too much blood but..I learnt something I...don’t know how to feel about..”

Glimmer narrowed her eyes at the pause. “What do you mean?”

“She’s pregnant or….or was…. she told me to not tell her mother that she got wounded like that.. because she will hate her I suppose or...something… Glimmer please don’t say anything. I don’t know if she really is afraid of her knowing that she lost the child. If she really did… She was too scared because of the bleeding and I don't want Light Spinner to make the situation worse…” Adora hummed and looked down at her, making the BrightMoon’s princess nod. Glimmer was really..shocked by the news. Both of them were silent while staring at the ground till the pink haired looked up at her and took a short breath.

"I'll go talk to my guards..they will still be searching. I hope everything will be okay... I don't want her or you getting hurt... Even if she's from the Horde" She hummed and started to walk away.

After some minutes though the doctor opened the door before he looked down at the blonde one “She needs rest” He breathed out but he said no more to her. He would probably inform the queen as well about her daughter. He instead took some steps only to get stopped by Adora

“What about the child? Will they both be okay?”

The man looked down at the blonde. He remained silent for a moment before he bowed his head “I couldn’t save them both….For now the princess has to remain calm and get plenty of rest.” He didn’t say more than that.

Adora looked up at the man before she looked back to the door. She couldn't tell him to not tell anything to the mother though ...she just let him go, believing that the doctor had probably given her medicine so she could not feel pain and probably sleep. Adora couldn’t let her alone. She walked inside, kneeling beside her lover.

The feline was already tearful. She knew what was happening already. She knew she would have to announce all this to her mom once she would have the strength. “I can’t tell her something like that, Adora….. She stopped caring about us because of this child...not only because she took something that was yours… It was the first time I saw her so happy when I told her that…I had a baby..I can't tell her now that all this is over...”

The knight furrowed her eyebrows. She couldn't see the brunette so depressed, so scared. Her hand slowly brushed her hair and took a soft breath. “..we will find something out..I promise.. The doctor said you need plenty of rest. Let me deal with your mother and let yourself rest...” The knight noticed the woman was too tired by all this. She didn’t want to make her more tired by her presence at this time. She kissed her lips and rubbed her cheek before she stood up “Rest, my princess…” She spoke, making the girl nod in defeat and close her eyes. She was so pale ...she wanted to stay by her side but she also knew that she would have to announce the bad news to the queen instead of letting the doctor do so.

Stay

Adora's mind was foggy. Her eyes stared at the ground while walking into the castle's halls. She was ready to talk to Light Spinner since she knew that it wouldn't make any difference if she was the one telling her the bad news. She looked up at her from afar and she took a deep breath, trying to remain as professional and calm as she could.

"Queen Light Spinner.. I bring bad and good news..."

The woman walked closer. She didn't bow. She didn't feel the need to do so rather than just bowing her head quickly and looking up at her woman who furrowed her eyebrows. The girl looked up at her, then away. She didn't feel good. She felt like slowly her power and will to tell the truth was sliding away while glancing at this woman's purple eyes. "Princess Catra is well. Her health is good and the prince..didn't survive...he was beating her up when I found her ...but I've learnt that she was carrying a child… I'm afraid the child didn't survive… that's what… the doctor actually said" The woman saw how her expression changed. She knew this was not what the queen wanted to hear but.. she really had no other choice. "The princess didn't want me to tell you… but please, your majesty. I couldn't hide it from you. She told me you wanted that child but please don't put the blame on her. The man was the one who caused all this.." Adora tried desperately to change the woman's thoughts into something more...friendly towards the feline and...well… her if she could. She didn't want to fight her future wife's mother.. She wanted peace and she would gain it now if she could.

The taller one glared at her. Her fists tightened and looked away while trying to prevent herself from killing the woman right now "I know well enough who's fault this is, now.. if you excuse me.." she hummed under her breath. Light Spinner walked towards the princess's room only to go in. Adora knew Catra was sleeping at the time but she could hear the older woman writing something down and soon walking away.

The knight quickly hid for the other to not see that she would enter the brunette’s chamber. She held the paper which was on the desk to read what Light Spinner was planning now after the failure of having a child with the man. Her eyes widened after some words. She was going to take her away, again? All this fight was for.. nothing? The blonde couldn’t even believe that even in this state, Light Spinner would take her with her back in the Horde. Her eyes looked at the woman who was sleeping and took a huge breath before she ripped the paper into pieces. “She won’t take you away.. You‘re mine and that’s final” She hissed.

The night went by with the knight being close to the pale feline. Her fingers brushed her curly hair and her eyes remained closed while trying to sleep. Early in the morning, before even the first light of the sun appeared, the warrior sat on the bed. Thanks to the herbs the doctor gave to the girl she didn't wake up and so the girl walked out of the room. She had fallen asleep with her light clothes on thankfully. She looked around the hallways of the palace when she spotted the queen of the Horde. The sorceress was sending her guard at the moment to help Catra wake up and called her maids as well to prepare the meds and the clothes for her. Adora walked quickly to the witch only to grit her teeth

"Why don't you let her here? I know you don't like me but trust me. The feelings are mutual.. I won the fight. I won her hand and I will bring honour to your daughter. Something that in the Horde I doubt you all have" She knew she was rude but...she didn't care. She wanted answers or at the very least… Catra to stay with her.

"You're not the one to tell me what I will do with my daughter. You better stay out of this, knight… I won't accept your victory even if it was a clean battle in the ring. I decide who she will marry —"

"and I'm here to fight and defeat them all" Adora stepped in front of her when the queen took a step to leave "I swear I won't let anyone touch her, especially if they are chosen by you…" She hissed "you clearly don't care about her loving someone but think of it from a different angle. If she marries me she won't only have the Horde to rule one day… she will have access to my grounds too… you will have it too" She hated to admit it but she had no more cards up her sleeve. She had to risk it all to not lose her.

"And what do you suggest?" The sorceress questioned as she had already sent her maids to prepare the young lady. Her eyes looked down at her and crossed her arms over her chest. The whole idea of her having the lead of so much land made her think about it twice.

"I suggest you leave us alone. Let me have my time with her… I love her and she loves me.. I don't care if you like it or not. I want her and I won't let you destroy my relationship with her. I don't have sick nor sinful thoughts for her. I want her as my wife because I carry true feelings for her. I care about her and I want to make her happy.. even if that means you'll have to get something in return. I'll send you a letter before next summer… Everything will be ready for you to take care of and.. I keep my promises. I just want peace and for you to not poison her mind again"

The other one didn't say anything at first but after some seconds she agreed with the conditions. She knew this offer was truly a huge one and she couldn't miss it. Light Spiner's eyes looked at her guard and told him to call a servant to take her bags and clothes. She would really leave without the princess.

As for Adora ,she ran back to the feline who was now struggling to not be in too much pain by the pressure of the corset on top of her shift "mother said we leave… will you come..?" Catra grunted only for the blonde one to glare at the maid.
"Stop- just let go of this shit.." Adora cursed, undoing the corset and turning her around to look at her by the shoulders "you're not going anywhere.. you're staying with me.. The doctor said you need rest and obviously corsets are not allowed…."

"But my -"

"your mom will leave us alone.. you will stay here…when you feel better...We will get married.. I don't care if I'm rushing or not.. I want you, Catra…" Adora spoke in a silent tone. How much she wanted her to be by her side, to feel safe- to make her feel safe. She looked down at her and cupped her cheek, rubbing it with her thumb kindly.

“So..so I’m staying here? She won’t take me away from you? How did you even convince her to let me stay with you?” Catra spoke in disbelief.

“She will see you every week, I can offer you a ride there. Don’t worry about that…Plus I told her you will have access to most of my territory.. it’s obvious that she agreed after that to leave you behind”

“Are you serious?!” Catra opened her eyes wide and looked at her in a serious manner. How could she be so careless? “She will want to have a word in everything”

“Yes but I’m marrying you, princess.. It’s obvious that I won't marry you alone….. Light Spinner is your mom. Which means she will try to tell you what to do..it’s up to you if you agree on what she says” Adora chuckled and poked her nose playfully. “I’m sure you will not destroy the people I protect from the horde soldiers” she smirked and placed a soft kiss on her lips.

From the time Catra and Adora were left alone behind in Bright Moon, they finally were able to live their dream. Sleep and wake up with each other.

The couple got officially married in the palace of BrightMoon after some months had passed by. The princess was stunning. She wore a beautiful simple white dress. A pair of gloves and short heels on her feet while her hair was tied up into a high bun. Her partner was dressed in something more..comfortable than the dress. She wore white pants and a suit. Her hair was tied up into a tight ponytail and a hair poof as per usual.

Her bright blue eyes never left the feline's mismatching ones. The ceremony was just as bright as BrightMoons' flag of pink white and gold. The guests with Bow and Glimmer included were waiting for Queen Angella to marry the young couple. After the ceremony they would have the celebrations for the next three days with the servants having the tables filled with food and wine. The royals were celebrating, drinking and dancing while the royal couple was spending its time alone. They shared sweet words and planned their future while on the table's edge as the queen of the palace gave them her wishes. Glimmer wasn't pleased at all by the marriage but… she wouldn't be a good friend to Adora if she didn't want to see her happy. Instead she kept her feelings hidden and Bow tried to cheer her up a little during the events.

After the marriage and the celebrations, Adora and Catra left the castle to live in a house where the princess' aunt used to live before her death. A wooden house in the woods with plenty of sources to eat. Plenty of rooms for them and the servants too. Even though Adora was used to living more simply she had to admit that Catra couldn't live all by herself. They had guards all around the huge house and a stable for their horses. Adora already had one, SwiftWind, but she caught a wild horse during their first month in the house. She and the servants managed to tame it and offer it to the princess as a gift so they could go for long rides together. The blonde didn't imprison it. She was leaving the horses in the stable only for the night so they could be safe. They finally got a peaceful life. Adora had some work every now and then. Catra had paperwork to deal with at home, she also continued to learn plenty of things about herself especially how much restrained she was in her castle back in the Horde but she could finally write books and read as much as she wanted.

The couple would take long walks. They rode in the woods and stayed under the light of the moon and stars together late at night while observing the amazing lights and colours of the universe above them. The blonde one thought that every day with the feline was just like the first time she saw her. She felt the same sparkle in her heart when she touched her. The same strange feeling when they were arguing and had the same bad feeling whenever she had to leave Catra alone in the house and go for a meeting. This feeling of anxiousness grew when the feline informed her that she was carrying a child after about two months. Her happiness was overwhelming. They both wanted a child but they didn't know if they were ready for it to come so soon since they were both..busy. Adora became overprotective after this announcement. Who could blame her actually? After what happened to the princess in the past she didn't know if she should even expect a child. She ordered more guards to protect her princess as if she was her queen already. Especially during a certain mission she felt that she would die if she didn't return home to see if the feline was okay.

It was past evening when the feline was walking around the rooms of the house finding the best place for her to relax beside the fireplace. She was wearing her shift and woollen socks. Her body was wrapped up with a blanket close to the fire so she could get more warmth. Even though she was relaxed she cheered when she saw the blonde walking closer. The other one just arrived from her two-weeks trip and made her smile at the view.

Adora paused for a moment in the doorway, before stepping forward and clearing her throat "Did you miss me?" She smiled softly, walking over to her after she had announced her presence. She opened her arms for her while being dressed in a warm tunic and pants. Her pants were just plain brown, soft and worn from riding.

The feline's ears perked up and her eyes sparkled in joy as she quickly jumped towards her to wrap her arms around the warrior "Adora!.... Of course I missed you..... You took longer than I expected.." The feline purred quietly while having her face hidden on the crook of her neck.

The blonde wrapped her arms around her and hugged her close. She pressed a kiss to her shoulder and smiled tiredly "I'm sorry, my love... Bandits again... Seemed to recognize who I was and thought they could get some gold off me."

"Bandits? Are you alright? Are you hurt?" Catra furrowed her eyebrows and immediately inspected her face and arms. She saw some scratches on her but nothing too serious, thankfully.

Adora chuckled, cupping her cheek when she started to inspect her "Hey, princess. I'm fine. I promise. I just scared 'em off. I only had to fight one" She leaned down, kissing her softly and relaxing with a smile against her lips. She ran her hands through her hair when the feline sat down again"Are you cold? Why don't we lay down together.. I missed you." She continued. It was early winter already.

"I was so worried about you...but yes… let's ..I will tell my maid to prepare your bath as well.." Catra stood up but whined at the feeling of her body being slightly heavier. She still couldn't get used to having a huge belly.

Adora heard her whine while sitting up and helped her. She pulled her up while wrapping an arm around her and placed the other on her stomach "Hey, I'm right here, love. Why don't you take a bath with me? We can cuddle and relax, and it might help with the weight of our baby.. I've heard water helps"

Catra was everyday anxious by the thoughts of Adora getting sick on that trip or.. Falling in the hands of bandits so.. having her now around her made her feel comfortable and safe. "Alright... I'll tell her to prepare a bath for two then.... Did you miss me ...? Or was there any other princess better than me?" She teased and tilted her head to the side, exposing her neck to her wife perhaps to tease her more.

Adora laughed softly, leaning down and pressing a kiss to her neck before mumbling against her "Of course I missed you, my love. There's no princess better than you.. And if I didn't know any better I would imagine you are tempting me.." She giggled, cupping her cheek again and kissing her. She mumbled afterwards "Why don't we have the maid get the bath ready so we can relax, hm?" She pointed out since she could see that with all this they wouldn't get any bath ready.

"Let's go... Relaxing with you is always a good idea." Catra walked beside her to call for her maid. Adora followed her, keeping an arm around her to offer support as they walked. She started stripping once they had everything set up. The feline looked back at her and smiled while tugging on her own clothes "Can you help me with the clothes?" She said, making Adora look over and smirk.

Then she stepped up to help her undress "Of course.. I won't ever say no" Adora hummed and let her go when she was completely naked too. Once Catra was undressed she sat there for a while. She hugged her from behind with one hand under her stomach, the other on it, gently running her fingers through her fur

"I love you so much... Both of you" Adora spoke softly and rubbed her stomach.

The feline's smile grew wide and she touched the hand that was rubbing her. Her purrs were echoing for some seconds till she leaned back at her and hummed "We love you too... And missed you way too much.. I was really worried... I know my mother won't let us be happy and that's .. frustrating... After all you've done" She whispered and turned around to look at her.

The maid would knock on the door so she could tell the couple that their bubble bath was ready and then she left them alone.

Adora was already smiling because of the purrs but also she was nuzzling on her neck, kissing her slowly. "It is... But we don't have to worry about her anymore. I'm safe, and so are you both.. I swear" She ran her fingers through Catra's short fur for a moment. Then she stepped back long enough to take the bindings off her chest, before taking her hand in hers "The bath is ready... Come on, love”

With a nod Catra followed her in. Adora could tell that her old, slim and curvy body became… only curvy because of that belly. She was not slim anymore. Her tail slowly wrapped around her hand while walking and allowed her to jump in the bathtub. She joined after a second and breathed heavily when she sat down in front of the woman with her back facing her. The warm water brought goosebumps and her short fur puffed up before she leaned close to her and nuzzled against her.

The blonde wrapped her arms around her and let her lean back with a smile as she held her "I love you so much... You know that, right? I won't ever leave you... I won’t ever hurt you.. Whether we have a son or daughter. I do not mind.. We are together.. We have a family now.. And I will always be here for you." Adora was definitely feeling sappy. She mumbled into her skin how much she loved her. How, unlike most men; especially royals, she doesn't care about the gender of the child. She was still gently rubbing her stomach as she nuzzled into her neck.

These words were as always so fluttering, so romantic. She showed that she actually cared for both the feline and the baby. "You were always so cute you know.... So charming" Catra whispered close to her while purring as her ears were back to her head. Her tail wrapped around the blonde's thigh making her chuckle softly.

Adora smiled at her purring as she held her. She was planning on smothering her in love and affection now that she was back. Her eyes closed as she held her "I usually get called soft... I love you, Catra. I'm not afraid to show you. Or anyone else." She hummed while kissing her shoulder again as she continued to idley run her fingers through Catra's fur.

"From the first sight you were so cute... The first time we met till now... I can't believe that you.. wouldn't talk to me if I didn't confess to you that I couldn't kill you"

Adora hugged her close "Of course... We got so lucky..." She mumbled as the other chuckled softly. Her fur puffed up and her shoulder slowly pressed against her.

"You don't have to go anywhere right ...? For a meeting or... something" Catra spoke after a while. She wanted to be by her side, not to stay there in the house all by herself.

The blonde shook her head and kissed her cheek "I haven't gotten any letters, but I've heard a war may be starting soon... Tension is rising and I may be called out... But until I get that letter.. don't worry, okay? I'm staying right by your side"

The brunette enjoyed the soft pecks and kisses until she heard about the war. She pulled away just a tiny bit and turned her head to look at her. "Are you sure?.... I don't want you to leave now... I thought all the kingdoms were in peace" She murmured and sighed while leaning back again. Her ear accidentally brushed her cheekbone and almost got in her eye.

Adora gently pulled her in return so she laid back again. She kissed the top of her head while rubbing her belly "Hey, I won't be leaving unless I get a letter calling me to arms. I promise I'm not leaving again so soon... And I don't know which kingdom, but I'd bet money that it's your mother.. Causing trouble again." She sighed, playing with her hair now and closing her eyes as she held her.

"You're lucky you don't have a mother like her..." Catra closed her eyes. She leaned in and gave her several kisses on her neck as she moved her hips a little so she could get a little closer. She loved her touch. Especially after she announced she was pregnant the feline was really acting like she was a mom already. Catra had gotten softer and Adora could see it. Everyone could see it.

"I don't have a mother at all, love" The blonde chuckled while wrapping her arms around her and hugging her closer. She made the water slosh around a bit in the tub, and she kissed her forehead. She didn't feel the need to search for her parents though. She had her mentor most of the time during her early days so she was still getting attention from her since she raised her up.

The princess' eyes closed and gently caressed her cheek. "I know... I know .." What could she tell? That she preferred to not have a mother like her? She leaned in, almost nibbling on her skin while feeling her close to her. Her mismatching eyes closed as she rested into her arms. She could feel like she would fall asleep.

Adora could see that her princess was both tired and uncomfortable by the weird feeling of her bigger now, bare chest. She rubbed her arms then, holding her close and kissing the top of her head "Hey... You can relax princess, take a nap. I'm not going anywhere.. We have all the time in the world" She rubbed her back, gently massaging her as she held her "I promise.. You can relax, love"

"I want to stay up..... Up all night and be with you....like before " Catra whispered in a whiny tone and leaned close to her before she kissed her lips.

The blonde giggled softly at the whiney tone as she happily kissed her back for a moment before cupping her cheek "You still need your sleep, my love. You're carrying our child now. Things will be different"

"I don't want things to change... I want to be in your arms for the whole night. To dream about us and....the baby of course..." Catra then tried to stand up so she could at least go out of the tub and be able to wrap herself inside the towel. If she would end up sleeping in the tub she would catch a cold.. Plus Adora wouldn't be able to stand up either. That's what she thought at least.

The knight stood up with her and helped her up. She offered an arm to help her still, grabbing a towel for her "But we can cuddle all night, I promise. I won’t leave your side"

After a few seconds they were dressed up. Catra was wearing her cotton white chemise with her woollen socks on. Adora put on her tunic and walked with her lover back in their bed. The feline curled into the blanket and she nuzzled against her. Adora laid down beside her and pulled her into her arms "I'm here my love.." She mumbled against her, kissing the top of her head and hugging her close "I love you, Catra."she continued

"I love you too..." The brunette whispered and leaned closer to her. She was finally able to smell her scent and that made her feel so ...relaxed and safe. Her face nuzzled close to her. Her purrs once again echoed in the room, making the other smile and yawn softly.

Adora closed her eyes and hugged her though she was careful not to press on her stomach too much "Goodnight my love... sweet dreams.." She just held her as she rested, relaxing under Catra's scent and the feeling of her purrs. She was so tired that couldn't even stay awake for a few minutes longer to whisper to her how much she loved her. How much she missed her or how she was planning the future with her. They would both fall asleep soon after the bath. Sometimes Adora was sleep fighting. Some other times Catra would wake up due to cramps of her stomach but Adora was there to comfort her and make her calm down.

As the morning came, Adora could see the feline faking she was sleeping since she didn't want her to notice she didn't sleep properly. The brunette nuzzled against her sleepily and kissed her cleavage, making the blonde one smile softly at the feeling and gently kiss the top of her head "Good morning my love..." Her voice was deeper, a bit rougher as well due to it being the morning.

Catra let out a yawn ,kissing all the way up her neck and jawline. Her ears twitched back and one brushed her jaw before she spoke. "Good morning .... How was your sleep, my knight?" She whispered in return.

The warrior closed her eyes, content to just relax there "It was wonderful, my princess.. So much better to be by your side again.." She kissed her forehead, before looking down at her and rubbing her side "How did you sleep? You aren't usually awake before I am"

"mhm... I know I...my belly was aching and I couldn't sleep.... I was awake before sunrise...." She yawned once again before she closed her eyes and curled her tail around the woman's arm. She purred and gave her a small kiss on her lips "But I'm relaxed ..don't worry about me" She continued.

The blonde put a hand on her belly then, leaning down to kiss it gently while mumbling "That's very rude of you.. Waking your mama up before sunrise. She needs her sleep don't you know?" She kissed her belly once more before coming back up to kiss her. That baby talk only made the feline chuckle at how cute she was acting. "What's that for love?" Adora wondered as she gasped when she felt a bite on her lips coming from her princess.

"For you being late last night...." She giggled and nibbled on her skin. "I love it when you're so cute and speak to the baby..." Catra spoke with a soft chuckle.

Adora was truly ready to be a mom as it seemed even if Catra wasn't so ready to...actually give birth.. She was scared. Her eyes were fixed on her lover as she was still rubbing her belly. "I know pregnancy can make women hornier but behave my love. You still have a few months" She hugged her close, kissing her forehead with a soft smile. She could tell by the way she was teasing her with these bites and kisses on her lips that the feline was getting needy already "And I'll be cute as much as you want me to.. I'm here to take care of you."

"I am...really in need of your touch I have to admit then...but I... Really get anxious about the pregnancy, Adora. My... mother sent me a letter and said that I... Should take some medicines she sent me to avoid...like... Dying or something like that. She told me it's difficult and.." She was actually scared and she couldn't hide it from her.

She made Adora shake her head quickly "don't take them. I'm sorry.. I don't trust your mother. She may have sent something that would kill our baby... If you're worried about it, can I take you to a midwife? She can answer all your questions, and you will have plenty of people beside you... Me included." She rubbed her back while hugging her closer and kissing the top of her head again "I promise you have nothing to worry about.. I've even heard of some herbs that help relieve pain"

The other woman nodded at her words. She didn't trust the things her mother sent either but...she couldn't help but still have her second thoughts. Her eyes looked down at her and curled more around her. She wanted to stay as close as she could to feel her touch but she would only pull away after a while and rest on her side of the bed. "I'd want that.... I trust you more than her....agh...why are you so heavy" The feline spoke to her belly as she placed her hand above her stomach causing a giggle to escape the knight's lips.

Adora put her hands on the other’s stomach, before her eyes lit up and she looked at her "Sit up I have an idea." She helped Catra sit up, before sitting behind her. She wrapped her arms under Catra's belly and gently lifted, taking the baby's weight for a bit "I've heard of some women who tried this.. I saw them practically melt when their partners did this so I thought I'd try." She hummed before kissing her shoulder again.

Catra felt lighter. She leaned close to her and nuzzled while she was holding her belly "You're the best wife I could ever have..." She whispered and touched her thigh while she was having her tail wrapped around her other thigh.

Adora held it for a while, humming softly as she did. "And you're the best wife I could ever have... I love you, Catra" She kissed her neck gently, looking up though when she heard the knock on the door, sighing softly.

"What is it?"Catra hissed.

"May I come in? I have to prepare the lady" The maid spoke as she added "..And some new messages arrived. Do you want to give them to you now or after breakfast?"

Catra was already tilting her head for her neck to get exposed and feel her wife’s soft lips on her but she would also listen to the maid "Maybe...after our breakfast?" She asked for Adora to tell her opinion too but she was occupied already as she went back to her very important duty of pressing kisses all over Catra's shoulders and neck as she listened to the maid.

"After breakfast.. Whatever my wife decides" Adora spoke out loud while rubbing her belly for a moment before mumbling "I'm going to let your belly down again, love.. so we can get up and get ready okay?" She warned her, before slowly letting it down, pressing one last kiss to her shoulder before getting up

The feline smiled and giggled at how affectionate Adora was. She..missed her too much."Where are the messages from? Did you look? I'm curious" Her eyes looked back at the maid who walked inside to get her lady prepared

"No ,my lady. I didn't read them.. do you want them? I've brought them just in case" The maid said as she was helping the girl to dress up into a nice dark pink colour. She wanted to add some more colour into her dresses.

Adora though shook her head. She was binding her chest not as tightly as she would if she was fighting, but she still did just for comfort. After putting on a nice dark green tunic and brown slacks, she smiled and waited for them "No, Catra said to wait until after breakfast. I haven't seen my wife in almost a month. Whatever news we have, can wait."

The feline prepared herself and finally walked to her, obviously she didn't wear a corset like that. Instead of tight her dress would be spacy to not show how big her belly was. The table was prepared already and she took a seat before starting to eat once Adora was beside her of course. "So..I didn't have the chance to ask you...what was the last trip about? Glimmer was asking me in some letters and ...she wasn’t pleased when she read that I didn't know exactly" Her ears were perked down.

Adora kissed Catra's forehead before sitting down as well, looking up at the question and sighing "I’m sorry Glimmer is so pushy with you. But there were some disputes over land and such in one of my towns. I had to go down and take care of it, which.. Ended up being longer than I expected. They had some bandit problems too that I took care of, so on" She looked up at her then "and if Glimmer is bugging you that much my love, tell me. Please, I'll get her to back off"

"she's just worried..... I may give her that.... " Catra felt uncomfortable speaking about her friends since she didn't want to go in between their relationship. Her eyes looked on her plate ,poking the food. "You know it just feels a lot better when you're around and.. they usually don't come here. I mean I don't expect your friends to come here but I've sent her sometimes and.... I don't know, maybe it's better for me to not push her. Princess Perfuma was kind in her letters but she didn't have the time to come here either and... I don't know.." She was trying to reach out somehow and make friends but she guessed it was late for her now. Her ears were perked down and took another bite of her food.

Adora noticed and just took her hand, squeezing it gently "Hey, love.. I promise it's okay. Glimmer gets worried about me, but that's all. I... Don't understand why she is so protective of me to be honest" She shrugged, before looking at her with a soft smile "Perfuma is a great person... I'd also suggest Nettossa and Spinnerella. Married just like us. They're sweethearts"

"I... Don't know. Maybe it's better to keep a low profile? I don't think anyone wants to have a princess... especially from the horde around them" Catra was already a little emotional but now with the pregnancy she was overwhelmed. She wasn't happy unless Adora was around and..she felt nobody else would like to meet her.

The blonde paused for a moment at that before kissing the back of her hand, mumbling in between kisses "Well... Maybe today.. After the letters... We can ride up to the castle.. And I can introduce you to everyone. It's not a far ride, and I have a beautiful paint mare that has the smoothest stride you'll ever find on a horse. It'll feel like you're floating" She smiled softly at her, kissing the back of her hand, then each individual finger, then the fingertips, where her claws would be. She was content to worship her body as she watched her.

The feline couldn't resist such treatment. A smile formed on her lips and she tilted her head to the side ,enjoying every moment of the girl kissing her. "I'd love that... You know you're the sweetest wife I could ever have ...?" She whispered and leant in to kiss her lips cupping her cheek with one hand. "You're my angel.." She paused before mumbling "We need to finish eating, my love" Even though Adora wanted to worship her more she was still curious about these new letters.

"I'm.. finishing it already.. let's just have a moment together ,I missed having breakfast with you around.." Catra whined silently and smiled a little while taking more bites of her food and drinking the milk she needed for the day. "The doctor said that your child will need a lot of attention once he will come .....and yes.. I don't know if the baby will be a female of course... What would you like it to be? My maid said that it may be a boy, because I have a craving for salty food " She chuckled and looked away " and...because of something else but I won't tell you ,she might be wrong " she continued with a blush and rolled her eyes.

"I have no preference on gender, my love.. Whether boy or girl I will love them all the same" Adora raised an eyebrow at the last comment, adding "And what is the other thing? You can't say that and turn back, I'm curious"

After a minute of silence and Catra avoiding to look at her she shrugged "She just told me that my breast is bigger and ...that's another sign .... I don't know if it works like that" She chuckled and leaned on her chair as she finished her food.

Adora smiled then, cupping her cheek and turning her head back "And I believe that's just part of being pregnant... Most women I see that are pregnant have a.. Rather large chest. And many have complained about it being sore, too.." She hummed, finishing her food and facing her

"yeah... I imagined it was mostly rumours" The princess mumbled before continuing "Come on I know you will love it anyway but just tell me what would you prefer" She spoke playfully.

"Honestly? I really, truly do not care. A woman can be a knight.. A son can be a royalty. I've heard of some people who are neither male nor female. I have no preference. Either way I know I will love them just as much as I love you."

Catra hummed a soft 'fine' and let herself relax. She allowed the maid to bring inside the letters after a while "Let's see what's mine and what's yours" She whispered while looking at the folders and letters while the servants began to clean up the table.

Thankfully she had brought some servants to do jobs like cleaning and preparing everything. She was a princess and the fact she was married now didn't change anything about her old life.

"This one's yours...and that one.. " The brunette pointed as the table had some letters for her to read. A small smile formed on her face as she saw that Perfuma actually replied to her and almost cheered. She was happy to read that someone really wanted to check up on her. Or that she would have someone to be friends with.

Adora nodded, looking through the letters and taking the ones that were hers. She opened one of them, reading it with a soft smile "Aw, just Bow checking in on me... That's really sweet, but he doesn't usually ask if I've been keeping up with taking care of my armour and sword... Hm.. What's this next one? ..Oh it's from.. Queen Angella.." She paused at that, glancing at Catra before reaching out and taking it. She opened it carefully and read the letter. Her smile faded

"What is it?" Catra noticed her expression quickly changed and looked at the woman in worry.

"It's.. A call to arms.. For the war.. I need to be at the castle within the next week.."

"What? No, she must be wrong. The soldiers are supposed to be in the field first. Not...not you" She had her in her arms for just a night and again she would leave ..?

"No... No knights are commanders." Adora shook her head softly "They usually amass their own smaller armies from the towns and villages that are on their land. I... Have a large army, due to everyone on my land. I lead my own men and women, with one overall commander telling us what to do. It's a tier system, and I have a few commanders to take care of the smaller day to day stuff. So on and so forth..." She sighed softly, setting the paper down and just sitting there watching for a moment and brushing her hair back "Knights lead the charges... If one knight falls another takes over their men... The more knights the better. Im.. She-ra, I can't refuse this..." She closed her eyes for a moment before looking at her "Come with me to the castle. I don't know how long this will take and I don't want to risk you being put in danger.. The castle is the safest place I know.. And we won't ride out for a few days.. I will be busy for most of it but.. I can still be there for you.."

"Adora no" The woman furrowed her brows more ,her ears fell back on her head and she quickly held her hand. "Please, I don't want to go to the castle. I don't want you to risk your life like this.

Send.. send someone else. I can have whoever you want to fight in your place! I can't lose you now" She was scared. Once again she didn't know what to do. She couldn't stay there and do nothing but accept Adora's fate. "We can find something out.. I promise just don't go to war. You're my knight " Her voice cracked at that last sentence. She didn't want her to be in danger.

The warrior looked at her then, hugging her close and shaking her head "I can't refuse this... I have one of the largest armies. If I don't join they could lose..." She hugged her close, kissing the top of her head as she held her, mumbling "I'm so sorry... Please.. Come with me to the castle..." She kissed her forehead, looking down at her and cupping her cheek still.

"I... I don't want you to leave..... " Catra hissed but looked away as she stood up. She couldn't let the woman leave but at the same time she was not going to argue with her because of it.

"My lady, do you need any help-" Her maid spoke but at the same time she got stopped by the princess who just moved past her, leaving Adora alone in the room. She was frustrated. How could Adora not listen to her every single time it was about her safety? She couldn't care less about sending another man or guard or...whoever in the field than sending her wife to die.

Kiss me before you go

Adora could see how hurt her wife was by the announcement but she really couldn't do much.. Her eyes widened for a moment before she got up as well following after her, apologising to the maid before catching up. She hugged Catra from behind, nuzzling into her neck "Hey.. Hey.. take a deep breath.. I'm sorry... I can't refuse an order from the queen... But I love you and want you to be safe... If I could choose to stay I would... I'm sorry, my love.. I wish I could stay"

"I can talk to her..! I can tell her to not take you... But you only care about what's good for them.. for everyone else but what about me!?" The feline cried. She didn't calm down at all. Her shoulder moved and she tried to get off her grip "Don't you care to see the baby? What will happen if I don't live long enough to see you? What will happen if you get killed? I'll be all alone.. but you don't think of it that way ,do you?" She continued while glaring at her at this point.

Adora let her move away while tears were forming in her eyes for a moment before she clenched her jaw "Catra it's my duty. I can't say no! Do you think I want to leave you behind?! I would give the world away if it meant I could stay by your side but I can't! I would love to stay here. I want to be here but I can't!" She paused for a moment, taking a deep breath. Her eyes were still tearful but she forced herself to calm down. Getting upset wouldn't help either of them. She ran a hand through her hair, looking down for a moment before looking up at her again "I love you. I don't want to go. But I don't have a choice... I have to be there to lead my men.. I have to be there to fight. I'm second only to the general of their army.. And even then I may be taking that role soon... Catra I'm a Knight, if a war happens I fight. I'm sorry.. I.. I should have talked to you about this before it happened.. I should have prepared you for this possibility..."

The feline's ears were down. Her eyes fixed on the other's blue ones while she was speaking. She could feel her heart being filled in pain. She tightened her fists on her thighs "Ah you'll get a higher rank too!? Perfect. If you don't die now you will die in the future..!" The woman hissed between her tears and sobbed as she tried to go into her room "I can't believe I was so stupid to think everything would be fine once we get married!”

Adora’s eyes widened then. Her tears were welling and starting to fall down her cheek. She reached up to wipe them away and took a deep breath "I don't want an argument to be the last thing we have before I go... I'm.. Gonna give you some time alone..." She hesitated, being clearly hurt but she turned and walked away. The comment about them getting married felt like a jab directly to her heart. She headed to take her armour off its stand, sitting on a bench and grabbing the polishing kit.

The other woman was also hurt. She couldn't believe she would have to go through this again but this time she knew that the one she loved would go away for war. To fight. To get hurt. To probably even die, easier than just taking her horse and going for a meeting trip. Her eyes closed as she sat on the bed. She whined and sobbed between her cries. She didn't want her to leave. She didn't want her to go anywhere and leave her in a palace where probably no one would be fond of her. She wiped her eyes after several minutes. Her eyes closed as she laid back on her bed. She clung her fist on the sheet and took deep breaths as her stomach was starting to ache after several minutes of crying.

Her servant knocked the door to quietly clean up while she was still in bed as another servant approached Adora "My lady. Do you need help with the armour? You don't have to polish it. That's why we're here" the old man said.

Adora shook her head. She sighed softly and paused before nodding "I prefer to do it myself.. But do you mind finishing? I need to check on my wife.." The man kindly bowed to her as he did as she said. The servants were there for that purpose after all. She stood up then, giving him a slight smile before heading back to the room. Hesitating outside of it, she gently knocked on the door before stepping in. Seeing she had been crying only made her feel guilty. She walked over, kneeling down in front of her and taking her hands in hers. She looked up at her though she didn't say anything just yet. She rubbed the back of her hands with her thumbs.

The feline was tired. She couldn't cry more nor could she change anything. Adora would have to leave and she would have to pray for the best. She still didn't accept the thought of her leaving even after all the cries and the small argument. When she touched her hand she looked down at her since she was sitting on the bed and pretended to be reading something to keep her mind off. "What is it.. didn't you prepare your armour?" She pulled one hand to hold the book again. Her mismatching eyes were a bit red because of the cries but she didn't want to start yet another argument.

The woman who was cleaning the room made her leave so she would leave them alone "I started... Then I realised it was a waste of time... The servants can do that.. I'm supposed to be here for you..." Adora pressed kisses to her hands again, before looking up at her "Is there any way you can forgive me...?"

"It's not about forgiving you.... You didn't sleep with anyone to ask for my forgiveness, Adora..." Catra wrapped her tail around her thigh and looked down at her. "I don't know if I want to be left behind in that palace.... I prefer being in my new home..." She tried to not start the conversation from the beginning so they wouldn't argue again.

“As long as you will allow me to assign more guards.. From the men I trust. I will let you stay here... But please.. Send letters regularly.. To me and Glimmer.. Glimmer may not like you, but if I ask her to watch over you she will" She squeezed her hands gently, looking up at her. "And I was asking forgiveness for raising my voice... You are my wife.. I should have expected you to protest when I have to leave... I shouldn't have gotten angry at you, and I'm sorry for that"

The feline sat on the mattress but she couldn't lean to embrace her head. Her body didn't allow it at all. "It's okay...I don't want us to argue... But you didn't understand me at all...and I don't want more guards. I already have plenty around the house... I'm feeling safe as long as you are around. I don't care about the guards.." She looked down at her and cupped her cheek

"I'll send you every day ..... I can't promise about Glimmer though.. I may send her when the baby comes..?" The blonde paused for a moment before nodding. She climbed up to sit beside her while still holding her hands and she kissed them once more "I want you to be safe.. Not just feel safe.. I don't want to be worrying about your safety while I'm on the battlefield.." She looked up at her, smiling gently "And..if I didn't understand, then explain it to me.. I won't say anything until you are done. I swear"

The other girl hesitated at first but she gave her a second chance. "I don't want to lose you... that's all I want. I want you to be here with me .....to be here with me when the baby will come... I don't want to be alone in this. I love you and I want to see you again ...to see you every day when I wake up and every night before I sleep" She huffed as she rolled her eyes "I thought after this trip we would have this..but I was wrong because of my mother's decision to declare war.."

The blonde nodded, doing as she promised and just listened. She squeezed her hand gently as reassurance before kissing her hands and looking up at her "You're 2 months in.. In 9 months I swear to you I will find a way to come back to you. I will be here for you. I may not be here every day but I can find days to take off.. I swear. I will come back to you. Maybe with a few new scars.. But that just adds to the appeal" She tried to turn it into a joke then, before cupping her cheek "I wish I could be here for you every night... And I promise I will respond to every letter you send.."

"I..don't need the same months with other princesses to deliver the baby Adora... I need less time, less months to do so...else my belly wouldn't get so big yet.." Catra insisted but paused at what she said. She leaned close to her and nuzzled close to her "...if you don't reply to my letters I don't know if there will be another way for me to know you're alive or not..." She obviously thought of the worst case scenario first so she would be prepared..even though she would never be prepared for such news.

Adora though paused for a moment at that, blinking "Oh. I didn't-.. I didn't know that.. How long? 6?" She hugged her close then, smiling as she held her close. She nuzzled into her, before mumbling "I'll send you those letters. I'll send them to you with messengers who have the fastest horse..."

"But...the longest is two months..and I'm on my second...I don't expect you to be here if you cannot.....I'm sure you will have to protect people.." Catra whispered and leaned on her ,giving her a small kiss on her lips. "I'm just..scared"

"You don't have to be.. relax though..that's quick.. I- uh.. I didn't think it would be that soon- I probably shouldn't have assumed it would be the same-" Adora paused then, gasping and looking down "I hope our baby has the same adorable ears you have!" She smiled, kissing her back gently before mumbling "I'll talk to Angella.. I'll try and be there. I promise. So you can curse me out for getting you pregnant" She giggled while kissing her forehead and pulled Catra onto her lap so she could hug her closer.

The other girl wrapped her arms around her to hug her. Her eyes closed and sighed when she commented about the pregnancy. "I'm scared... I know you're trying to cheer me up but I'm scared... What if the baby is sick or if the birth is difficult and complicated..." Her mother didn't help her at all either when she sent her these letters.

Adora put a hand on her stomach then. Her hand glowing a soft gold while smiling softly when she felt a soft kick. "I'm She-ra, my love... I can heal you and our child.. I have magic.. And so do many midwives. Most of our midwives are mages. Glimmer's aunt is the Queen of Mystacore.. They train and send us mages, some of which are warriors, some midwives.. I'm Glimmer's best friend.

They'll give me the best of the best.. I promise you it will go just fine." She rubbed her back with her other hand, smiling "And judging by that kick our baby is just fine.. Strong little one"

The feline leaned on her and chuckled silently only to give her a small kiss on her lips "Fine.... I will trust you..." She hummed and rested herself on her while nuzzling close to her, purring as she was finally happy with her lover around her. She looked up at her after a while of peppering her with kisses "You should send the letter... Not me. I don't know if Glimmer will send the best since it's...about me .. especially if she sees my signature. She will just throw it away"

"I will send it for you. Don't worry.. I'll ask for them personally before I leave, when I talk to Angella about being able to come back for you." She hummed, rubbing her side as she rested with her wife in her arms.

Catra was still a bit sad but all this was the best she could do and she knew it. Her eyes looked up at her and leaned only to give her a small kiss on her lips. Her hand cupped her cheek and nuzzled close to her. "I love you.... " She whispered and rubbed her thumb on her cheek.

"I love you more.." Adora replied with a giggle.

The feline was worried sick, but she wanted to enjoy the last few days with her around ..or even hours. "When will you be going?"

".. She said sometime this week.. And it's Saturday... I think she can let me spend a few days at home before I return.. I'm thinking of heading up Wednesday or Thursday... It's only a short ride" She cupped her cheek, looking at her

"Mhm....we might have some moments then.. before you leave.." She spoke in a whisper and kissed her lips again. Catra wanted her to be happy and by that she meant that she wanted her to have at least some soft moments before she fought in war. Her eyes closed while her head was laying against her chest and purred.

Adora kissed her back before letting her rest against her, running her hands through her hair and closing her eyes "Of course.. I won't turn around and run off after only just getting home so soon.. I love you. And I want to spend as much time as I can with you"

"I want that too ... I want to be with you all the time now that you're here... Even just laying down and cuddling" The brunette chuckled and brushed her golden hair as she forced them down for once. Adora really didn't like her hair down ,did she?

"Do you want to ...cuddle or ..go out to the garden for a walk?" The princess hummed softly, before pulling her closer and nuzzling into her hair, hugging her close

"I want cuddles.." Adora pouted then and ran her fingers through her fur "Naked cuddles are better though... And I mean that in a completely chaste way."

"I bet that prince wouldn't want to have naked cuddles with me like this" Catra pointed at her belly and chuckled. Her ears twitched up and she leaned against the woman kissing her lips again till she pulled away from her so she could actually remove her clothes. Thankfully she didn't wear corsets now with the pregnancy and she didn't have many layers to remove in order to lay down with her. Her tail slowly wrapped around her arm.

Adora snorted and shook her head as she stripped, before laying down and pulling her close. She situated them so they could be close, with Adora wrapped around her belly "Don't talk about the prince anymore. Especially not when we're naked in bed together" She rubbed her back then, idly drawing patterns with her fingertips as she watched her "You are so incredibly beautiful.. I don't know how or what I did to deserve you..."

"I'm sorry... I happen to wonder sometimes what I would do without you.." She hummed in return as ears twitched back and she gently kissed her forehead while feeling the woman's rubs on her skin. She loved how that felt. She was really looking forward to living in peace.. Just peace with everyone and having Adora by her side. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips while laying down. "You're the best knight I've ever met... That's why you deserve me in your life...not war... But love" She smiled and kissed her once again.

"You deserve the best I can give you... I will end the war myself, no matter what it takes... So long as I can return to you and our beautiful baby.." Adora kissed her back then, hugging her as close as she could without squishing her stomach too much.

The other girl knew Adora cared for her. She loved her with all her heart. Her eyes closed and purrs echoed in the room while she was embracing her. Her ears were still back but...she was happy and the baby was happy too. Her arms slowly folded around her like wings, protectively. "I love you.." She repeated at times..

The blond woman noticed her ears were still back and reached up, gently petting the base of one of them "I love you more, kitten.. I'm so lucky to be here.. I'm so glad I met you... You're so beautiful, wonderful and kind..." She continued to mumble her praises, reassuring and complimenting her.. something she knew she probably never got enough of since she made her purr and nuzzle closer to the hand that was petting her ear now.

Catra couldn't hold her purrs back when her wife knew just where to scratch or rub. She had her eyes closed. Her tail waggled under the blanket. "Stop talking about yourself already ... I'm none of these things...~"
Adora smiled softly at her reply. She pressed another kiss to the top of her head, continuing to pet her ears with a smile "I'm talking about you my love... You are all of these things and more... You are the stars in the night sky... The warm, soft inviting bed after months of riding. You are my comfort. You are my home... And I am so, so incredibly lucky to have you." She muttered against her, kissing the top of her head again with a soft smile. She closed her eyes again while gently rubbing her between the ear with her pointer finger and her thumb.

The purrs became heavier and she slowly nuzzled more on her touch. She wanted her to feel that she will always be there for her. "My.... You will spoil me, my knight.." Catra whispered and kissed her lips while feeling her rubs on her ears. Her eyes looked up at her and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips. Her lips travelled on her neck and all the way down her chest. She was too needy. "I'm so lucky.."

"If that's the case I'm going to spoil you rotten.. You deserve it, my love. Let me give you what you deserve" When she started exploring down her chest. She hummed softly while watching her with soft blue eyes "What are you doing love.. My lips are up here" She hummed when she felt the woman's lips lower on her chest.

Catra chuckled at that but she continued to take care of her wife's lips and neck.

Adora wrapped an arm around her waist and held her close before pushing her back gently. She kissed her shoulder, rubbing her lower back for a few moments before reaching down to gently play with her tail

"...ah" Catra mewled when she touched her tail. Her eyes slowly closed and she leaned back to rest her head on the pillow. She loved it when she touched her so....tenderly. The tail slowly wrapped around her arm and she hid her face in her hands making the other one giggle softly.

Adora pulled her hands away from her face and looked down at her before kissing her forehead as she continued to play with her tail. The blonde hugged her close so she couldn't squirm away "Hey.. Why are you hiding? Is your tail sensitive?"

"Y—Yes... As if you didn't know it already " Her fluffy skin puffed a little at the move of her fingers on her tail as it slowly waggled from one side to the other. "It...it's nice though.." She blushed and looked away avoiding looking at her. The feline let out soft mewls while resting her head on her chest.

The warrior wrapped her hand around the base of it and lightly tugged, before going back to scratching the spot. When she was kissed though, she cupped Catra's cheek and tilted her head slightly before letting out a soft moan when she felt Catra's tongue. She wrapped her other arm around her, pressing as close as she could to her. Their tongues would dance slowly while the brunette's ears were still back ,cheeks blushed as their lips combined. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small smirk only to give her a gentle caress on her cheek. "Let's…let's stop...do you want to ...go out later ? .....my... I'll need water first ...and a bath" Catra was feeling so hot to put on a dress. She leaned close to her ,nuzzling slowly against her and soon leaning away "Will you join me?" She murmured.

Adora stared for a moment but laid there for a moment. Her eyes were still closed "I hope I never get used to your lips... Wow." She finally looked at her then, rubbing her side and smiling softly "Of course.. But promise me that if you do get tired you'll tell me okay? I'm here to take care of you, so let me do so, please"

"hm I won't get tired..I was..thinking about going for a ride actually...you told me your horse won't be uncomfortable to sit on so.....I have some months to get on a horse." Catra hesitated but continued as she spoke her worries out loud. "Will you ever get tired of me? Or... Bored now that I will have a baby to take care of?" She joked since she would obviously not be the only one in there to take care of the baby. She had servants and maids to help her and ..do her job.

Adora cupped her cheeks then and kissed her all over her face "Never. I will cherish you and our baby for as long as I live, and an eternity after" She looked down at her and nodded at her question "Of course. Let's get you cleaned up first okay? Where would you like to ride? There's a beautiful waterfall we could go to?" She made the princess grin with that suggestion.

She loved it when she was so romantic and took care of her. Her eyes looked up at her and leaned in to give her another last kiss before she grunted to stand up "I was sure you would have the best place in mind for us to go.... I didn't walk around ....while you were away" She was honestly scared to walk alone. This area where she moved was way different than the horde kingdom and she had to be careful of bandits.

Adora kissed her back before getting a maid to prepare a bath for them. After a couple of minutes she returned to Catra's side. "hush now… I'm here and we can go everywhere..Now.... A bath is being prepared for us, love.. I'll get another maid to prepare the horse for us, but first let me help you"

Catra was in love with this woman. Her eyes scanned her while she was moving around the place. She just loved how slim she was. How cute she was. How semi muscular she was. Her arms only gave her a small embrace when she saw her approaching her again. "You know, you became more sweet from the time you learnt I'm carrying your baby..." She chuckled teasingly and gave her a small kiss on her lips while she was helping her up.

Adora chuckled softly as she hugged her back, looking down at her and rubbing her back. "It's only fair.. I put that thing in you, I should help you. And it gives me a reason to be by your side" She kissed her gently, before walking with her into the bathroom where the tub was.

The feline followed obviously and stood up before she leaned close to her and gave her a small kiss on the lips. Then she jumped in the tub and leaned close to her to get some warmth "Thing?... You could say baby!" She teased and giggled quietly joining her with her laughter as she slowly sat in the tub.

Just let go and fall like a little waterfall

Adora stepped behind Catra to let her lean her back against her. She nuzzled into her neck and pressed a few soft kisses there. Her hands rested on her stomach "my love.. I have a few questions.. If our baby turns out to be a magicat like you. We don't.. Really know anything about magicats and I have some questions.. If you don't mind me asking?"

The feline opened her eyes when she began to speak. Adora was thinking if that baby would be a magicat or not but Catra had to make sure she would be prepared for...both human or magicat child. Her ears twitched and she continued to lay on her while she was speaking "Of course you can ,Adora "

"How.. Well... how similar are they to normal kittens..? I know you two aren't the same, and I just want to know what to look forward to .."

"um.... We ....like to have warmth and...we have heats...we ....like ear and tail scratches" She teased "But no we don't have something special. We still like milk when we are little...I bet this baby will come out and be hungry all the time... I'm so hungry ..and I ate a few seconds ago.." She huffed, making her giggle and hug her closer while mumbling

"I was talking about the baby, my love. Like.. Will their eyes be closed? And if so.. Will they still recognize me as their mom..? Even if I don't.. Purr, or have fur.." That question made the feline giggle. Adora was too worried and Catra didn't want her to feel so stressed about it.

The girl turned her head to place a kiss on the corner of her lips "It will be alright! They will recognize you... Don't worry about that..my love" Catra kissed her lips again and cupped her cheek

"They will have open eyes I ...think?" She continued. The blonde was so cute when she was worried.

Adora smiled back for a moment and hugged her close again still, mumbling "But what if they don't recognize me... I-... Am just.. Worried I guess. It's stupid, but I am.." She sighed softly and cupped her cheek.

The other woman slowly leaned close to her and nuzzled only to place her finger against her lips. "Hush they will..they can feel who their parents are....we have a scent which is... recognizable" She whispered.

The knight nodded. One part of her was still worried, but she made herself relax. She trusted Catra's reassurance as she held her before lifting her hand to gently take her wife's. She tilted her hand, pressing kisses from her palm to her wrist while mumbling "I am ..so in love with you.. I'm sorry I'm worrying so much. I just want everything to be perfect for you"

"I want that too.... I love you and I...really want to live the rest of my life with you... I can't even think of the possibility of you not being around when the baby will come..." She didn't know what she would do if she was all alone..without knowing if Adora was alive or dead...she just wished to be by her side forever "I want you to send me letters every day...but I know it's impossible...." She whined as the other hugged her closer and pulled her onto her lap, cradling her close

"Hey.. I'll send you a letter every single day. I promise. And if I can't, I'll have Bow send you one so you know I'm still alive" She held her close, humming softly "And I'll talk to Angella... One of my commanders can take over for me while I'm by your side"

"You can do that?... I mean... That would be amazing ...." Catra leaned closer and nuzzled with her ,purring against her skin and wrapping a tail around her. "I can't wait to see you again...and for the war to actually end.... I'm done with all this hatred, Adora ...my mother can't live in peace"

Adora didn't want to comment on the ways her mother was making peace with other kingdoms so .. she didn't answer immediately. Instead she raised a hand to brush her hair "Bow is my best friend and he likes you. He'll help me out... He understands. I think he and Glimmer have something going on, but.. Ah you didn't hear that from me." She chuckled softly, kissing her forehead.

The princess nodded and chuckled at that. She looked up at her and kissed her lips. Her hands rested on her hips before she took a soft breath "Do you want to go out now? I want to really... Spend some time with you... Until you leave.." She was worried but tried to hide it.

"Hey, I'm not leaving for a few days hun. It's okay" Adora cupped her cheek, smiling at her and giving her a kiss before speaking "But if you want to go now then of course we can" She kissed her shoulder, helping her stand up.

"but you..said earlier that you would fix your armour and.. everything to get ready in these two days..." She thought she was going to leave after two days and the fact she said the opposite now made her hopeful.

"No, no the maids can do that... I'm spending my time with you while I can. I'll leave on Friday.. That gives me plenty of time with you. And plenty of time to get there" Adora helped her out after standing up and getting dried up. She looked at her and gave her a small kiss on her chin

"You're so... beautiful" Catra whispered while touching her cheek

"I'm the beautiful one? Have you seen yourself?"

"Hush ..you're beautiful...adorable and kind. I can't wait for us to be together again" Catra didn't want the war to begin in the first place but she couldn't do else than dress up and stretch with a grunt before she began to give her small kisses on her lips "Let's go ~" She smiled as she raised her hand to hold hers and walk all the way down to meet the servant and the horse of the blonde one.

Adora kissed Catra back when they were done. She wrapped an arm around her waist instead of taking her hand. She led her out. A beautiful paint mare ready to be ridden while simply standing there.

The feline was stunned by the beautiful creature. She had never met another horse like this one. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her cheek. "Will you help me up? It's not as easy as it looks" She chuckled, making the other nod and help by lifting her up and into the saddle. Adora climbed up and sat behind her "Are you ready, my love?" She smiled, and did not guide the mare until she was ready.

"Of course... Let's go" The princess spoke after a while and she leaned against the woman behind her to rest. She was riding and guiding the horse. "I want to spend every day like this ...."She confessed softly and rested her hand on the horse's neck.

Adora smiled when she leaned back against her, rubbing her stomach gently "I love you so much..." She kissed her shoulder, guiding the horse with one hand.

The ride had been just as smooth as Adora promised, almost like they were gliding rather than riding. The knight began to hum a tone ,knowing that would soothe the woman and make her more relaxed.

Catra enjoyed it indeed. She smiled and rubbed the horse's neck softly. The other hand rested on the other woman's thigh to touch her. "Will we go for rides like this one when you come back?" She hummed softly, making the other one nod in return.

It was the end of spring now, and Adora smiled at all the budding flowers. She reached up and picked one off of a tree they passed, offering it to Catra. "Of course we will, my love. We will do everything you could ever want to do and more" Her words were always making Catra's heart beat faster.

The princess smiled when she took the flower and leaned back to kiss her cheek. She loved their soft moments and Adora obviously knew it since she was attempting to have plenty of these moments while she was around "The baby will have the best knight as a mom....and they'll love you" She didn't know if it was a boy or girl..so she just pushed that thought away.

Adora smiled at her, kissing her cheek. She was comfortable letting the mare take most of the control, since she had ridden this way plenty of times. Having the princess reassure her that the baby would love her made her feel less anxious about it.

The mare headed towards a small lake with a waterfall creating a rainbow by it. The smell of fresh grass combined with the smell of flowers around made the view too beautiful for the princess to not gasp in surprise. The birds were chirping as well and the soothing sound was truly something the princess couldn't miss

"I hope you like it here... I've been hoping to take you here for a long time.. since I first met you.. I wanted to take you home.. treat you the way you deserve to be treated." Adora kissed her forehead, hugging her close before getting off the mare and wrapping her hands around her to help her down as well. Once Catra was off but stunned by the amazing waterfall, she tied the mare to a branch, before holding her hand.

"You know you were my hero ....and still are.. I'm glad I met you at that ball.." Catra hummed and gave her a small kiss on her lips, nibbling on her bottom lip playfully. "Yet my mom is taking you away.... leaving me to have the fear of having you dead..."

Adora wrapped her hands around Catra's waist, hugging her close and leaning down to kiss her when she saw her leaning up for a kiss. She rubbed her back "I know my love... I or Bow will send you letters every day. They may not get to you that day due to how long they take to get there depending on where we are... but I promise to write one every day. With updates on where we are going. That way if you look on a map you will always know where I am."

Catra felt somehow better when she was talking to her about sending letters to her. She loved the fact she would still hear news from Adora and the field while she would be away.

The blonde one then smiled. She kissed her forehead and mumbled against her skin "You know, I had planned on making love to you here... but you got pregnant and I had to go away.. How about after the war is over and I'm home we spend a week here... by the lake, with our child. The maids can handle being alone for a few days and it's not like we are very far if anything urgent comes up"

A chuckle escaped the feline's lips when she continued and smirked, purring against her neck now. "We can't take the child to the lake.... they can't sleep in a tent, my love... But I can leave them to the maids and my governess. I want to spend some time with you and only..after the war ends… This place seems to be perfect... especially your plans sound even better ~" She admitted.

Adora cupped her cheek and held her close, closing her eyes when Catra pressed into her neck, just hugging her "What? Why not! We can do it in summer when it's warm all night long. I.. It's weird, to me. Just handing your child off for someone to take care of... But, if you want to spend time alone with me, then we can for a few days" She chuckled softly while trying to not push her too much.

"My love, the child won't be spending all their time around us.. I will actually let them with maids or ....mostly with my governess...even I had her. Mom didn't raise me." She looked up at her and chuckled. "They will have the best education, don't worry~"

Adora though had the opposite opinion about this. She cupped her cheek and looked down at her "And I was raised by the former captain and former she-ra. She wasn't around as much.. But when she was, she spent every minute she could with me. And now that she's gone I'm treasuring those memories... I want to spend as much time as I can with our child. I'm their mom, not the maids... Even when it's hard because I know it will be.. But, that doesn't mean that we can't get away for a few days.."

The brunette girl pulled away and furrowed her brows. She knew they would both have things to do... actually plenty of things. Adora has already had meetings, fights and war. "It's not that we won't see our child at all..we will live in the same house.. just possibly..most of the time we will have things to do..and I'm not here to educate the child... That's why I have a governess after all"

The differences between them were just showing up as it seemed. She didn't want to argue but the educating part was all on the governess as she planned.

Adora though didn't have maids or many people to take care of her. Only one and the best warrior of Etheria. She shook her head while holding her hands this time. "I know we won't but... I don't want them to just be someone that lives in my house... Someone I just see when we eat our meals together. I.. I want to be a family and I want to raise them. Teach them right and wrong. Your governess can teach them whatever, but.. Even if I'm busy I don't want to just live with them.. But, play with them, talk to them.. I want to be to them what Mara was to me." She kept her voice soft and kissed her hands. She did not want to start an argument again with Catra either “even though Glimmer likes to yell at her mom when they aren't in court I still want what they have too... You can see how much they care for each other, even when they fight. I want my kid to feel loved and safe.. Just as much as I want you to feel loved and safe. And if I can't provide that then what kind of wife am I?"

"None of the princesses have been raised by their moms or fathers or...any royal. That doesn't mean they don't talk or play with their children.. you don't have to teach them anything. That's the job of the governess. That's why they are in the house. Right and wrong can be learnt not only by you either" The feline sighed and looked up at her. She let out a grunt as she sat down on the ground. She was kind of uncomfortable but she didn't want to feel unable to do things that she did some months ago because of her big belly. "...you can do what you want .. I can't tell you what to do" She hummed in defeat after a while. She knew both of them were stubborn.

“That doesn't mean that our child has to be the same..." Adora joined her, sitting across from her so they could be face to face "Catra.. Your mother wasn't a good person.. We both know that. Customs are different here and-.. I sound horrible, I'm sorry. I don't want to fight you on this. I just-.." She paused, taking a deep breath before speaking while holding her hands now. She wasn't good with words "I grew up different.. I know that. I'm a knight. You're a princess... Nonetheless a princess from the Horde.. But I'm best friends with Glimmer and Bow. I've seen.. Plenty of different parent child relationships. Bow was scared to tell his dads that he was a knight. One of his dads was one and hated warriors afterwards because of what he had to go through. Glimmer and Angella argue all the time, but you can see how much they love each other. I don't want my child to be afraid to tell us things... I don't want my child constantly arguing with me because I wasn't there when they were younger to help them and prove that I cared. I love you, but if I'm being honest we both had really shitty childhoods.. And I want better for our child. I don't want to just hand him off to the maids like he's a pile of dirty clothing to be cleaned... For them to raise him because I can't be there. I want to nurse them and change their diapers and be there for them in the middle of the night when they're crying because they had a nightmare..."

Catra found all this too unfamiliar to judge but at the same time she felt attacked as she continued to talk. Her eyes narrowed and took a small breath before she wrapped her arms over her chest. "You can be whatever you want to be honestly" She didn't want to fight with her and she wouldn't continue to talk about this topic anymore, especially the last sentence of hers hit her harder than she thought it would. She wasn’t a pile to be cleaned. She knew her mother wasn't the best but she did things for her to judge and take decisions "anyway.... Do you think the water will be cold?" She changed the whole conversation and knelt to check the lake's water. Her hand raised to touch the water and her tail puffed.

Adora though paused for a moment, answering her question and staying where she was sitting just to watch her wife "It.. Should be warm. The water is always nice and warm here.. Especially in the summer."

The feline’s ears were back even if she was curious about the water. Her tail waggled slowly from one side to the other. Her eyes looked down at her reflection only to let out a heavy exhale. She was nervous. "Hm..." She didn't say anything other than touch the water. It was actually cold. Her fur puffed up and tail as well "Okay I won't go in there" she mumbled making the other one giggle, reaching over and hugging her close

"I'm sorry if I upset you. We don't have to talk about it again right now. Lets just enjoy the time we have together okay?" Adora smiled at her, kissing her forehead gently "You know I love you, right?"

"I don't want to talk about it again ...not now or ever... Adora. Arguing isn't nice in front of the child." She murmured and looked away before she tried to get free. "Love you too.." She continued. She was grumpy but she was sensitive anyway during these days. It wasn’t as easy for the blonde to catch up with how easily she was getting offended or sad.

The blonde one let her go, moving away so they had some space between them, just looking at the water before nodding "Yeah..

Okay. I'm sorry." She was upset now too. She took her boots and socks off and dipped them into the water, focusing on that instead even though the water was cold.

"what are you doing...?" Catra's curious by her nature. She looked at her while fixing the ribbon of her dress. She wasn't going to get less grumpy but she could understand that the blonde would get mad because she didn't want to talk about it.

Adora shrugged in return "Dipping my feet. They get sore after a while. I think I need to get a different sized pair of boots. The cold water feels good"

The silence after this only made the situation worse. Catra felt bad for making her mad but at the same time she couldn't accept the fact she called her a pile of dirty clothes. She stared at the water before she crawled close to her only to wrap her tail around her arm. Her eyes looked away. She didn't control the tail so she would only continue to wrap around her arm and faintly caress it.

Adora looked up for a moment. She lifted her hand and gently played with her tail while looking back at the water. She didn't keep it from moving, just fidgeting with the fur on it, twisting and petting, so on and so forth. She was sad to find they had such a major difference of seeing things but she really didn't want to stay away from her child just because Catra had called her governess over their place.

"I..... I'm sorry" The brunette finally whispered too quietly. Her eyes looked away. The heavy feeling slowly left her stomach. Her tail was playing slowly with her fingers and between them.

"I know. It's okay. You get grumpy sometimes but you're pregnant. I still love you. I'm not gonna leave `cause you got irritated at me a few times" The blonde looked at her and smiled again while scratching her tail gently "Do you want a hug?" With that she expected and saw the other one nodding coyly and crawling back to her. She hugged her close and rested her head on her shoulder. "Do you want to talk about it? Because if not then I can always start telling you how much I love you"

The princess chuckled sharply at that. She felt like letting all the feelings out with a cry. She didn't like it to be so emotional and so mean to Adora but she really got...kind of offended by her words.. Did Adora think she was a pile of dirty clothing to be tossed by her mom to the governess? She knew every noble had such treatment and it was....a good thing. She was tired, upset at their argument, devastated and anxious by Adora having to leave again for war and the possibility of her not coming back. Yet there she was fighting with her for ..no reason as it ended up. She let out a sniffle as she dug her face into the other's neck and wrapped her arms around her. "I don't know..... I think telling me how much you love me is better....?"

The knight took a deep breath and smiled. She was glad she cried now and she didn't just let all her emotions inside. She smiled softly, rubbing her back gently and holding her close while speaking softly "I love the way your fur feels.. It's so soft and smooth.. Even if sometimes it gets in my nose or mouth" she giggled, making the other chuckle as she was hugging her tightly "I love your hair.. It's so soft and fluffy.. I love your adorable little ears.. How they twitch and move to follow me around the room when we're talking... I love your eyes. How they light up in a dark room.. When they light up when you see something new, or try something new.. How excited you get when I come home.. I love cuddling with you at night, with your head on my chest and arms wrapped around me. I love your tail when it wraps around my arm or leg when you can't hold my hand. How it flicks back and forth when you're focusing on something.. I love your purring. I can always tell you're happy when I hear it... It always calms me down." She cupped her cheek while looking down at her and mumbling "You are the light of my life. I love you so..so much. I couldn't live without you" There were so many words that expressed how much she loved her but Catra really couldn't open up like that.

"You know I couldn't live without you either, Adora.... Even if I get mad at you sometimes...I really can't help but become happy when I see your beautiful sea-blue eyes... When you hold me tight...and you tell me all the things that I feel when I see you but... I can't put them into words...I love how protective you are around me.. and I really can't help but feel lost when you're not around...you're everything to me" Catra tightened her grip just a little while looking at her with a pouty expression. She leaned close and nuzzled while purring. Her eyebrows furrowed when she noticed the other one tearing up too now with a smile on her face "Hey don't-" She gasped at the sudden kiss that got placed on her lips by the woman. A sharp pain though made her cut the kiss short and grunt as she felt her belly aching. It was probably a cramp but it made her ears twitch down.

Adora put a hand on her stomach. Her hand glowing gold and she mumbled "Hey.. I've got you my love. It's okay. Just relax and let me take care of you..." She gently rubbed her stomach with her glowing hand, soothing any aches and pains as she held her "Is that better?" She spoke again as the girl relaxed against her and let a relieved exhale.

"I wish you could help me during the pregnancy like this..." She whispered and relaxed more while leaning close. She was so.....glad she had magic powers sometimes..

Adora kissed the top of her head while humming softly and closing her eyes "I'll be here for it. I swear to you I will... No matter what I have to do" She hummed softly while closing her eyes and nuzzling her back. She ran her hands through her hair while making the brunette close her eyes and rest her hands against her as she was almost laying on her at this point. She rested her head on the woman's lap. "Should we go home…?or.." She hummed and caressed her thigh. "We can stay here for a bit longer if you want, my love" Adora continued while petting her hair and holding her hand on her stomach.

The brunette nodded with a hum. She loved the pets and she was already relaxed against her body so it didn't take long for her to actually fall asleep. The perfect sounds of the waterfall, the wind that was blowing through the leaves and the soft pets of the blonde one. Her purrs would continue as the time passed by. She felt so..safe while being around the warrior so she just decided to sleep instead of trying to keep herself awake. "Hm.... Adora..?" She whispered when she felt her head dizzy and yawned quietly. She noticed her knight was leaning her back against a tree.

Sometimes Adora was watching her, other times she was watching the water fall as she got lost in her thoughts. When Catra spoke though she looked down with a smile, gently scratching her scalp. "I'm still here, my love. I'm right here. Was that a nice nap?"

"mhm.... I will miss this... Can we do this till you leave? Every mid-day come here and take a nap?....Maybe next time I can bring a blanket ...the ground is rough" She grunted softly and tried to sit beside her but Adora pulled her close and onto her lap to embrace her and help her warm up while nuzzling to her.

"Of course we can. Every day, I promise. And why don't we bring two, one for under us and the other so you won't get cold"

The princess smiled brightly at the idea. She would finally spend some time with her wife and in a beautiful and peaceful place..all alone. "Do you...want to leave ..? Or... Stay here for more cuddles? I'm getting slightly cold.." she spoke again though as she truly felt her body being colder than expected. The sun was going down slowly so the wind was getting colder.

With that, Adora rubbed her back. She stood up and took Catra with her in her arms before kissing her cheek "Of course my love. Let's get you back where it's warm" She spoke in a soft tone and helped her mount up the horse with her coming next to guide them back home.

This is war

The couple spent as much time as they could together while the war was still at its beginning. Adora was so focused on taking care of Catra that she almost forgot she had to leave in two days. Not one week or two… just some days. They went again and again to that waterfall. Catra was enjoying every moment of them being together. They went for riding in the forest, they even went fishing. Catra wasn't exactly familiar with it but Adora made sure to show her her tricks.

It was the last night with them together. Adora was cuddling her wife, having her head placed on her chest and listening to her heart beat in order for her to sleep. She had her hand on top of her belly to touch her and rub it with her thumb. Her eyes closed and the soft purrs of the other one echoed in the room. It was a silent night yet she had to break it. She "I'll miss you my princess…" She hummed sleepily.

"You'll send me letters… I wish I could come with you.. to protect you" Catra whispered and gently trailed her fingers on her stomach.

"That's my job, my love..I won't be late.. I promise" She whispered, planting several kisses on her neck and letting out a soft exhale. She felt so anxious about this war. This battle seemed to be more intense than every fight in her life. From the time she met Catra her life had finally a different meaning. She had to protect her even if the feline said no. She felt that this word she gave to her to be there for her meant to fight for her till the end when Catra only wanted her to be there by her side. To talk to her and wake up beside her everyday. The two of them slept by the light of the candle beside them while being covered by a thin blanket made of cotton to be warm enough, but not too hot for the season.
When the morning finally came, Adora leaned down and kissed Catra's forehead to wake her up "I could barely sleep... I don't want to leave you, my love..."

"I don't want you to leave either ...I love you... "Catra was awake already. She couldn’t sleep for the whole day since she felt that the woman would leave her without saying a goodbye.

The blonde hugged her closer. While she was holding Catra to her chest she rested her head on top of Catra's before mumbling "I must get ready to go... If I am going to make it in time I need to go by mid day at the latest..." she cupped her cheek then, looking down at her "Promise me you will stay safe... Please"

Catra loved her and she couldn't let her go so easily even though she knew she would have to. Her eyes closed and kissed her torso. Her scent was calming her down.... She crawled her finger on her torso while she was speaking, then sat on the bedside and gave her a small smile "I will.... But I want to make sure you will be safe and sound.... I'll be..waiting for you okay..?" She whispered, making the other look up at her.

Adora pouted when the feline pulled away and sat up. She sat up with her, just to hug her again as she pulled her close "I don't want to let you go yet.. Can we sit here for a few minutes? Please?" She hugged her close, pressing soft gentle kisses to her neck and shoulder "I'll be safe... But I will end this war as soon as possible”

"It's not up to you and only, Adora.... But I know you will...you will do it for both me and the baby" Catra hummed and leaned close to her only to give her a small kiss on her lips. Her slim silhouette laid close to her and nuzzled to her torso. "I love you... I want to give you everything and ...." She paused and remained close to her. "I want to spend as much time as I can with you... But ... At the same time I don't want to think that you will leave..while having you in my arms." She let out a sad sigh.

Adora nuzzled into her neck, hugging her a bit tighter "Shh.. Then don't think about it, my love.. I'm right here. And I'll be back soon. I promise you." She leaned in, kissing her gently then as she held her. Though, when she finally had to get up and get ready she pressed one final kiss to her shoulder before speaking "I have to get ready now my love.. Otherwise I won't make it on time"

"I will write to you...don't forget about me, okay?" The princess furrowed her eyebrows and stood up to give her a small kiss on her lips to join her maid so she would get dressed.

"I could never forget you." Adora paused for a moment, kissing her hand before letting her go so she could go get ready.

Catra was ready to escort her out after a while. She was trying to not cry while seeing her walk away and sitting on the mount. "I love you..Kill them all" She hummed and gave her a sad smile while touching her thigh. She knew war was difficult and she didn’t want to think she could lose her so easily.
When Adora saw her trying not to cry she couldn't help but tear up slightly, taking her hand and squeezing it gently "I will. This one's for you, my princess." She gave her a rose, like she had in the tourneys before letting her go and looking back at the couple hundred thousand of men who were gathered outside. "Ride out men! We make for brightmoon!" She called out before heading out while riding Swiftwind once more.

The feline couldn't help but tear up when she gave her the flower. She knew she still had her lucky charm and..she hoped it would give her luck... Her eyes looked up at her and smiled brightly. It was fun when she yelled like this and let out a soft chuckle. She walked back and waited there till she disappeared in the horizon and in between the men that had gathered not too far away from the house. The yells from the men and the sound of the horses running echoed and almost made the ground shake underneath them as they rode off to defend BrightMoon and defeat the Horde.

The first few nights and days were painful. Catra missed her wife’s laughter. How she treated her.. Even her presence in the room. She felt all alone even if her governess was still around. Her belly was growing and her anxiety of what she heard from her mother about pregnancy grew as well. She wanted her to come back but even the late replies of her lover were making her think that this moment wouldn't come any time soon. Everything seemed to go smoothly till the blonde began to not send enough letters back....or any letter in general. That happened in four weeks.. The brunette was waiting everyday for a letter. She was sending letters but ....no reply got sent back... She was closed in her room and didn't talk to the servants at all. She couldn't believe Adora didn't have a free second to write that she was at least alive.

Bow was writing at first when her letters disappeared, saying that she had gotten too busy and asked him to send some until she had free time after the battle. After the day of the major battle no new letters came in for another week before finally a note from the queen herself arrived with the messenger walking his way into the princess’ house. Catra didn't know what to expect...why was it from the queen and not her lover?.. Her eyes looked down to read what it was saying instead of having the messenger read it for her. She was in her living room at that moment after all and her governess and companion were there as well.

‘I wish I could be contacting you under better circumstances.

Adora has been captured by Light Spinner. Bow saw her get taken. Adora had requested that if anything happened to her, that we take you in. I have a carriage on the way for you, and a room already set up.

We will get her back.’

Catra couldn't believe that. She stared at the paper but she only threw it away. This ..couldn't be happening. Adora was strong. Hell she was the strongest person she ever met. She didn't want to leave her new home. She didn't want to be taken by the other Kingdom.. But she didn't have many choices. She couldn't stay there because Adora wanted her to be in Bright Moon. Also if someone would have any news about her wife she would learn it too. She wouldn't have to wait for any letters. The feline sighed, ordering her maids to prepare her clothes to be taken with her on her trip. "Please come with me too...I don't want to be all alone" she spoke to Daniella, her governess, while she was getting ready in her room

"my lady, of course I will if you want.. I know this won't help but.." the older one hummed and cupped her cheek with a smile. "..I think lady Adora will be just fine… okay? Even captured. She's strong..she can take care of herself.. You should calm down else you will harm the child too..don't you care about them?" She spoke softly and caressed her cheek so she could comfort her somehow.

Catra gave her a nod and looked down at her with a small smile on her lips. "Thanks… I will try to think that she's okay… I'm just worrying about her being hurt….. and I love her. I don't want Light Spinner to just.. kill her"

"She won't and you know it… now… please calm down, you and the child" The governess was always so kind around her. She truly cared for her and she could tell that the young woman was really worried about her lover.

Catra knew this war wouldn't end soon but..she would have to take care of the baby. For Adora. The brunette listened to the older one. Daniella didn't have to try too hard to convince her to go to Bright Moon's castle for the second time in her life. By the end of the day Catra got treated for her belly aches and her tired body before their travel to the castle. She had Daniella by her side to escort her all the time, stopping the carriage at some points of the road for the pregnant one to rest and feel less sick. Catra got a lot of cramps and sickness from the short trip. She hissed once they were finally in the castle's garden and headed to the entrance while being still in the carriage. The other brunette looked at her and touched her shoulder gently "Your highness, how do you feel? Do you want me to call a doctor once we arrive?"

"I feel like I want to die… Everything hurts.." Catra huffed but shook her head at the other's proposal. "No… I don't want any doctor around me.. I'll just need something to drink.." She looked at her only for the other one to sigh softly and help her up.

"Lets get inside… You need some rest.."She hummed and continued. "I will bring you some chamomile, it should help."

Catra followed the woman inside the building. Angela wouldn't stop her though, she knew a trip like that would make the woman exhausted. She also knew that she was anxious and stressed about her lover on the battlefield.

As the days were passing by no letter from the blonde one was received. Catra did send a lot of letters to her mother in an attempt to make her change her mind.

The Horde queen only grew more and more powerful. They didn't know how but since she got Shera… she could use the sword.. somehow. She couldn't use it as a physical weapon but absorbing the magic inside of it was the best thing she could do and so she did. Bright Moon without Shera was doomed. The Horde soldiers reached grounds they could never imagine and after a month they were way too close to the royal grounds even.

Once the war was coming to its end, Light Spinner decided to meet the blonde one in her cell. She hated her with all of her heart. The fact she took her daughter away from her was making her even more furious.

Adora had chains around her wrists to hold her hands above her head so she was hanging from her wrists. Her tunic was dirty and stained in blood. Her hair was all messy covering her face sometimes. Her skin was dirty and scarred as her body was way too thin due to the lack of food.

After these several days Adora woke up yet again with a groan. She was tired and in pain already. They stripped her down to nothing but rags. The blonde one would see a man walking around the small room they had her. He had plenty of tools to torture her, but it also was kind of obvious that she has several wounds on her body, burns even that would itch now.

"Leave us alone" A female's voice echoed in the room as the man walked away after bowing to the older one. "Ah... Shera... I'm truly disappointed by your performance on the field. I've been listening to men from the war. Did you get softer after the days with my daughter?" Light Spinner hissed.

Adora's blue eyes cold and hard, stared at him as if she was planning the man's murder. Those eyes then turned to the woman when she spoke, just sneering at her and growling out "you have no right to talk about her. Not after how you treated her. I swear to all that is holy if I ever get my hands on you. You're fucking dead. You hear me?" Adora yelled in frustration and looked up at her. She wanted to immediately grab her sword and cut her in half. She had done all these things while they weren't a couple but even after these duels, they lived with the fear of Light Spinner getting mad at something. Now there she was. Captured without knowing if Catra thought she was dead or not.

"And bring pain to her? Are you that evil?" The sorceress chuckled and ran her fingers on the tools. She was so close to just kill her right then and now but she would only grab a knife and press its edge on her neck "You're not worthy of my daughter, yet you blinded her in the first place...she was pure and now....." She hummed before she scratched her jawline with the blade. She made it bleed and then grabbed her by the hair. She paused but continued

"You're lucky I'm not going to kill you. You can thank me for that" She smirked before she cut a tuft of hair, obviously making it dirty. "I can't say that others will believe that you're not dead though" She continued.

The blonde sneered at her as she ran the knife along her neck, still glaring at her even as she cut into her skin "I'm not afraid of death. You will never be able to use my sword. And your daughter will never come back."

It was common for the soldiers to be considered dead only because of the tuft of hair. The woman called two warriors this time. One of them was higher ranked. Bright moon had a lot of warriors. Angella couldn't remember every single one. She inspected the woman's body only to notice the necklace the feline gave to her. A huge smile twisted her lips "This is not yours..." She hummed and took it from her torso, giving it and the tuft to one knight "Her name is Shera ... Adora too. The news I want you to deliver is that..she's dead, okay? You will be a common BrightMoon warrior.... We have plenty of armoury from them after all... Plenty died in this fight so grab an armour and run to their queen. The force captain will give you the map... You know what to do. Now go"

Adora lunged forward. Her muscles strained against the chains "Give that back, you bitch! You don't even have a heart do you?! I never corrupted her! I showed her a love you could never have given her! I showed her that I cared! I treated her like a fucking person! You won't be able to stop me. Eventually I'll get out and I'll prove you wrong. I swear to the gods I will kill you myself. And I will not give you the mercy of a quick death. I'll promise you that."

Light Spinner rolled her eyes and chuckled "You're talking to a queen.. but who do I speak to… you're not going to see your princess again.. and will make sure of it." Did she know about the child? Probably but she didn't care about her at all.. "After all Catra won't even think that you're alive"

"You're no queen! You're just a salty little bitch who thinks she deserves something she should never have! Catra believes in me. Catra will know. Just you wait. I will get out of here”

"You won't go anywhere, dear ..after I'm done with you you won't know where else to run and hide" She hissed but she wouldn't continue to talk. The queen sent the men away so they could get to work on her plan. She, on the other hand, was reading a new spell that would make sure this was the last time she sees Adora.

The knight for her matter kept straining against the metal. She let out furious screams even as the metal dug into her skin, straining and wearing herself out so her voice eventually gave out just like her muscles. She sat there sweaty and exhausted while panting and being unable to speak. She knew deep inside that Catra would believe that she was dead, if she didn’t escape in time and this messenger arrived earlier ...she couldn't even think what the princess would do..

The sorceress started the spell, humming the words as Adora could slowly feel her skin burn. Would she really kill her? Now she couldn't even move to defend herself somehow.
Adora found some strength to yell in pain when she felt the burning growing up. It was unbearable. The only thing she was thinking though was Catra. Not even herself. She was her wife. The love of her life and she would be a mom too..she couldn't leave her now. As the spell was cast she tried to scream out while trying to curse her. She tried to break away from the chains but she failed. In the end she rested on her knees. Her back arched and head went back as she let out a pain-filled broken scream.

→»————ლ◆ლ————«←

The warrior arrived at the Brightmoon not many days after he was given the tuft and the necklace. Angella couldn't believe it when she saw the proof of Adora's death coming from an ally warrior. How would she tell Catra about this? She was already pregnant. She was too sensitive for something like this.

The feline though didn't stay in her room. She was wandering around the castle and it happened to be outside the door when the messenger arrived. She stared inside the throne room. She did not recognize the hair but she couldn't unsee the necklace the queen was holding. She walked inside only to continue to stare at the queen who slowly approached her. The brunette leaned against the wall.
Did she feel okay? No.
Could she keep herself up? No.
Adora was supposed to just help with the war. To be there when she would have the baby in her embrace….Now she would be left all alone?
The girl felt her knees buckling as her head was heavy. Her vision got blurry and the last thing she heard was her name being called by the older queen.

A Strange Yet Familiar Face

Adora disappeared. The chains fell and for a moment the room was empty. A flash of light and another person who looked like Adora was there. She was.. Noticeably different however. She didn't have the scars the knight Adora did. Her hair was up in her ponytail and she was dressed... Oddly. Wearing blue jeans and a t-shirt with the beginning of a baby bump visible. She was unconscious though. She slumped back against the wall where the Knight had just been screaming.

Light Spinner narrowed her eyes but she didn't pay much attention to take care of that new life that was brought there by the spell she performed. Her eyes scanned her but soon she called the guards. She ordered them to throw her in the woods if she survived the night she would be lucky.

They did exactly that.

They picked up the unconscious woman and rode into the woods to throw her somewhere in the dark of the night.
After several minutes the girl felt the cold of the wind brushing her skin. A shiver ran down her skin as she was dressed up with no warm clothes for such weather. Her eyes opened and she rolled onto her side. She wrapped an arm around her belly. Her first concern was her child. Her second was the raging migraine and… She groaned. "Catra..? Where am I..?" She lifted her head finally. She squinted as she looked around before pulling herself up and mumbling to her self "how in the fuck did I get into the woods" She started shuffling through them while heading towards Brightmoon simply by luck. There were already some paths to open the ways for the carriages so she followed one of them. The blonde girl finally saw two figures in the distance. She didn't know who was there but they looked like a woman with a taller man by her side were wandering around. Her blue eyes opened and almost stubbled by the feeling of her head aching.

The brunette widow was on a late night walk. It was tonight that she got informed about the knight's death and she just..couldn't stay in the palace. Queen Angella allowed her to go out only with a guard to escort her. The doctor had made a mixture of herbs and gave it to the woman since she wouldn't even be able to walk after an announcement like that. The herbs were mostly numbing her pain. Her thoughts were about the blonde knight she lost... but she couldn't cry. It seemed the doctor did help a lot to numb all this pressure. Her eyes were looking around and she was covered by a woollen cloak to be warm. When she saw a figure far in the woods her guard stepped in front of her and stopped her till she saw the other blonde. She looked...so much like Adora but...was less muscular. Every scar seemed to not be there either. She was dressed too weird..weirder than just wearing pants. The fabric was... different. "Okay... Now I'm seeing things.." she whispered and placed a hand on the guard who didn't leave her side. It seemed that she wasn't the only one seeing the girl.

The man was holding a torch and walked towards the stranger.

Adora kept an arm around her stomach. When she saw the castle all tall in front of her her eyes widened "Where am I...? Where's the city...? The cars...?" When she saw the guard and Catra behind him she didn't notice the dress or her pregnant belly yet. Her eyes widened as she called out her name and approached her "Catra! There you are I-.. Why-.. Why are you wearing a dress I-... Oh... You uh.." She just stared at her stomach, looking down at her before looking up again "You're not my Catra"

Catra's ears perked up when she heard her talk. Her voice was the same as her knight's but… Her accent was way too different. "That's what we all wear... You're the one wearing weird clothes.." She narrowed her eyes and looked at her from head to toe. " It's obviously...a misunderstanding.. I'm Catra... Princess of the Horde kingdom... And you're standing there not only not bowing but looking way too similar to my...my deceased knight" She glared at her. Her arm wrapped around her stomach as the guard placed a hand on his belt to where his sword was, just in case.

Adora though shook her head. Her arm was still around her stomach. She had a really thick accent too. The Catra she knew would never wear a dress either. "Catra wouldn't be caught dead calling herself a princess. She choked me out the first time I tried to call her that." She paused when she said knight, then looked at the guard "Aw fuck I'm in medieval times... Fuck fuck fuck... I'm pregnant this can't be happening" She was so screwed if anything happened with the child while she was there. Her eyes fixed on the ground and she took deep breaths to calm down even if she didn't find anything good to focus on. Her body was cold and almost trembling at this point.

The feline furrowed her eyebrows and she placed a hand on the man's shoulder to allow her to go closer. She wasn't ..a threat. That girl was scared. Her ears perked down and walked closer "What's your name, stranger?... I...don't understand what you're mumbling about but... I..won't harm you. Where do you come from?" She was more curious than scared. She knew the guard was not as good as ..Adora was but at this moment she couldn't think about it. Even the memory of her knight's tuft painted red made her stomach and heart ache.

Adora had her hair up in a ponytail, including the little poof in the front like her knight did and the same cool blue eyes "Adora... Adora Greyskull. I'm Catra's wife. And currently carrying her child...I'm from Arkansas. Country girl. Grew up with Catra in a foster home.. Shadow Weaver raised us and.. Well she's dead now but she was a horrible, abusive caretaker..." She paused, looking up at her. The little children obviously came up with that nickname. "I need to get home... I need my Catra... And you need your Adora…" she slowly started to understand that that was all a spell or… some twist between the eras. Even in her era there was magic and she knew that this could probably happen if someone tried but now...she was too scared to find all this fascinating. She looked up at her and took a soft breath as the other's ears twitched up.

Only the enemies or people who didn't like Catra's mother called her that. Everyone was calling her Light Spinner. "Don't you —...agh here my mother is Light Spinner...she's called 'Shadow Weaver' only by enemies or...people who don't like her as a queen...." She remembered that she was coming from another place so she.. just didn't argue about it.

The blonde blinked at that with a giggle "Me and Catra called her Shadow Weaver. She.. Wasn't a good person so we nicknamed her that. Glad to see it's still true here..."

Catra took a step back though when she continued to speak "I don't know what brought you here... I guess there's a way to go back...but..do you want to come with me? Wolves are out at the time and ..I don't see you carrying any sword.." For a second she stared at her. She looked so much like her knight... Thankfully she was still calm by the herbs she was given else she wouldn't even find the blond woman. "If you don't want to come with me you can search for a way back to your home alone" She turned her back to her then since she was so kind and offered to join her because she was pregnant. Else she wouldn't be around her so much.

Adora winced before nodding and quickly walked over to her "Yeah I-.. Sure. Yeah I guess I can come with... Better than being alone with wolves…" She almost joked.

"exactly..." The other one hummed quietly and took a breath when she felt the sharp cramps coming back. She touched her stomach with a grunt.

"Princess, what's wrong?" The guard leaned to check if the princess was alright.

"I'm ..I'm fine just let's go back. I need some rest..." The feline was getting sleepy as well because of the side effects so she would walk a bit quicker. Only by the thought that not only her knight was long gone but she would give birth all alone in a foreign place made her feel.... uncomfortable.

Adora could see that Catra was in late pregnancy. She noticed that she was uncomfortable and stepped closer, offering a hand "May I? I'm pregnant too.. I've been getting as much advice as I can from doctors and you.. Well to be honest you look like you're about ready to pop. I'm only two months in so I still have..." she pauses to figure out how many months that was before starting up again "seven months? I believe so.. Though I was told it may be quicker because my wife is a magicat.." She let Catra take her hand, gently rubbing the back of it with her thumb "I know you don't really know me.. But you're still Catra.. Your Adora isn't here but I am. Let me help you, please?"

The feline looked up at her and pulled her hand away. She reminded her of her knight. Her attitude at least was just as kind as hers. Her ears perked down and started to walk away "I'm in the late second month...I'm expecting the baby to come one of these days...." She spoke as the weather became windy. Her clothes were thankfully warm unlike Adora's clothes. Was she warm or..cold? The weather was different from the country Adora was coming from. Catra's eyes looked at her and took a small breath "You don't seem to be well dressed... Where is your tunic or....woollen clothes…?" She spoke and continued to walk through the woods."The weather is too cold even though it's spring…"

Adora was trying her best to hide how cold she was. She kept a hand on her stomach instead. She had been dressed for a summer day exploring the Fright Zone, not a cold spring night. After a particularly hard shiver after a blast of wind she looked over at her and shook her head "got taken in the middle of a summer day. Not exactly dressed for the cold... But I'll be okay until we get inside I'm sure." She looked at her then while giving her a soft smile.

The feline noticed she was shivering. Her glowing eyes looked at the man who was walking some steps behind them and stopped to order him to take off his woollen cloak. She wrapped it around the other woman to keep her warm. "You shall be fine now…."

The other one tried to switch the subject into something more safe. She looked up at her and nodded "thank you….. also congratulations for the baby.. I'm sure everything will go perfect for you. I can't wait for my baby girl.. What gender are you hoping for?"

"I was thinking of a boy.... My governess and maids are telling me that it might be a baby boy so.... I don't know .... I'm mostly thinking of how to raise them now... Adora wanted to raise them simply with only me and her around and I wanted the opposite. To let my governess take care of them till they're old enough to take a title. Perhaps Adora could teach them how to fight if it is a boy...or if she was alive..." Her eyes didn't meet hers. She was walking straight to the palace now. The Bright Moon's castle was huge and so they followed the guard who knew exactly where to take them.

"She is alive. How else would I be here? We must have traded places. And.. I understand what she wanted to do. Children need their parents. Me and Catra were foster children.. Meaning we didn't have parents. I.. Know what it's like to grow up without parents and... I wouldn't want that on any child.. So.. Maybe you should listen to your knight"

Adora had a point but the princess could never be sure about her knight being alive or not ...unless she saw her with her own eyes in front of her. "She can't be and.... Let's not continue to talk about that... Doctor said that I shouldn't talk about situations that are causing me pain and.. this topic is. I've been informed of her death before the sunset..." She hummed and walked inside the palace.

Adora could see how huge the castle was. How many candles and lanterns were placed. Guards were everywhere to protect the royals. Catra would search for queen Angella but since she didn't find her anywhere she ordered her guard to call her for her. "I will take the woman in my chamber for now but please inform queen Angella about all this... She will need a room too" She continued as the man bowed and walked away quickly.

Adora truly believed that the knight wouldn't be dead. She couldn't be. They might have gotten switched. She was looking around with amazement at the castle. Her eyes were wide while walking deeper into the hallways. She paused for a moment before quickly following after her while looking around. "you….really live in a palace ..wow…" she couldn't hide the fact she was witnessing something like this

"this is queen Angella's palace actually.. I lived in a house in the woods so we would be all alone with our servants." The feline spoke in a soft tone and walked all the way into the room for her to take off her woollen coat. "You can borrow a shift if you want to change… I have plenty in the wardrobe" she pointed out .

Adora was tired and cold…. She accepted the offer immediately and opened the wardrobe to wear one of the shifts with long sleeves. She didn't care to undress in front of the other since the girl was ….. literally her wife just from another era.

The feline called her maid to help her undress. She has been left with her shift as well and crawled under the blankets. Catra couldn't believe anything like that could happen. She had the woman's tuft on the desk next to her bed with the necklace she gave to her. Now this woman was here looking exactly like her deceased knight.. Her eyes looked around the room before she called for her maid and ordered her to light up the fireplace since it was truly a cold night. "I have another shift if you want me to give you... Or a tunic?" She had brought Adora's clothes too to wait for her.

The other blonde just nodded, sighing softly. When she was offered the shift she shook her head gently "No thank you. I'm plenty warm in this" she lied. She wasn't actually warm with just the shirt but she didn't want to bother the woman. She was about to pop. She should be resting.

The brunette was confused at how the girl could be warm enough with just...a t-shirt but she didn’t question it. Her eyes scanned her and soon she laid down on her bed before she looked away

"I'll wait for queen Angella to show you your room.. just do what you want. The bathroom is there" She was not going to sleep till the older one arrived in the room after some minutes. "Queen Angella" Catra bowed her head as the queen walked inside to see the blonde one

"Greetings… my apologies I interrupted your rest, princess. Who is...this?"

"Her name is ...Adora ..she says she's from ...somewhere, I don't know where exactly but she's pregnant and I found her in the woods.. can she have a room...somewhere to stay for the night?" The princess hummed while fixing her pillow

"I....of course.. she will have guards obviously but.. I'll speak to her. Do you want me to call the doctor or.. your governess?" She looked at the young one who was obviously shaking her head in denial.

Catra didn't want the queen to be bothered by her after all.

When Adora saw Angella though she smiled brightly "Hey Angie! Er, Angella... How's Glimmer?" She stood up with a nervous smile, almost forgetting about the fact the woman was a queen here.

The feline glared at her. She couldn't believe she was actually talking to her like that "she's the queen ...agh... Just take her out please. I want to stay alone..." Catra hissed and crawled on the bed

"I'm used to her being my step mom. I'm sorry" The blonde winced.

Angella was actually impressed by her words. She was more impressed that the woman knew her daughter's name. She walked with her out of the room to let the feline rest and she looked down at her. "Who are you? How do you know my daughter's name...." She spoke calmly while walking.

"I'm Adora.. Nice to meet you. Or.. Well this.. you. I'm not the same Adora you know and... Catra can't seem to understand that.. I'm guessing some sort of magic made us switch places. Which means she's alive because it didn't happen on my end"

"I understand magic but... This one is.. different. You're from another world? Still..... that doesn't mean our Adora is not dead... BrightMoon soldiers never lie.. there has to be some sort of a..misunderstanding or…" The queen paused while walking towards the other room "..Let's.. not talk about this now… it's late. You have to rest too. This will be your room. The guards will be right on the other side of the door in case you need anything" She spoke quickly

"..thanks ,your majesty. I don't really know what happened here.. but trust me I can help" Adora continued and looked up at her with her eyebrows being furrowed.

The queen nodded and gave her a small smile "our war is none of your business, young one… I believed Shadow Weaver did something to cause all this... But we have tomorrow to talk about how you came here and how many possibilities are there for our knight to be alive." She took some steps and gestured to her.

The night would be long. Adora left Catra behind. Her eyes fell closed as the minutes were passing by and she slowly fell asleep by the sound of the fireplace in the room.

≻———— ⋆☆⋆ ————≺

Early in that same evening the sound of footsteps made the warrior wake up from her deep sleep. Her new scars were aching. Her body shivered but she couldn't help but open her eyes to find herself in a different building… A way more different building actually. She wasn't in a cell or in a palace. The woman noticed a feline looking like her wife but at the same time she wasn't her.

Catra had short hair. Her clothes were just simple leggings scratched open to the knees and at her ankles. She wore a dark red shirt with a small opening to her chest as well and a pear of black gloves. Her fur, her tail and hair puffed up. Adora didn't know if the woman was there to play a joke on her or...who was she even.

Catra's eyes scanned the woman while slowly leaning close to her. Her scent was .. different but Gods.. she was too stinky for her to go any closer. She poked at her with her foot "Hey...you?" She hissed. She didn't know where Adora was but...she must be somewhere close.

"Adora!!!? A ..weird looking girl is here..damn she looks... Uh like you, I guess. Is this Shera tricks or something" she yelled in case she could help her.

The knight groaned, rolling onto her side and letting out a few dry retches before coughing and letting out a groan. Her voice was weak and barely there since she had been screaming too much. She made herself get up though. Her clothes ripped while showing many, many various scars as well as plenty of muscle under the drab brown rags. She stared at Catra for a minute while giving her a confused look "Catra...? Where's.. Our baby... Am I too late..? Where am I... What did she do to me..?"

Her words made the feline freak out. "What baby? Adora is having our baby and... Who the hell are you? How do you know my name!?" Ears perked up as she was all puffed up and her nails were showing. "Agh where's Adora when I find weird looking people...You're late on what? You're ..in the Fright Zone... obviously. We are having a trip. Me and Adora" she continued but when she said the last words her ears perked "Who...who are you?"

Adora quickly came to the conclusion that she got transferred somewhere else and cursed loudly while running a hand through her hair "fuck! What the hell did Shadow Weaver do? Where did she send me?!" She turned, looking at her then "Where am I?

When am I? You aren't my Catra... My Catra is at home with Queen Angella. She’s two months pregnant.."

"Shadow Weaver....? Shadow Weaver is dead.... Thankfully.." The brunette always felt her heartbeat growing faster when she heard this name. Her eyes looked away.

"What? No. She- she's alive she's the reason I'm here are you kidding? She captured me during the war. She wants to make my wife think I'm dead and sent me here I-... Fuck I have to get back to her…"

"...Catra.. pregnant? What are you talking about? My wife is pregnant and...she was somewhere around here.... What did you do to Adora!?" She almost yelled.

"I am Adora! I'm just not your Adora! I'm She-ra. Knight of Power sworn to serve Queen Angella and her daughter, Princess Glimmer. I met my wife Princess Catra of the Horde Kingdoms at a ball and tournament and fell in love with her. Her mother tried to make her marry a man and instead I challenged him for her hand and won. I took her home as my wife before I was called off to war against her former kingdom.. I-.. Fuck... She's due in a month. I promised her I would be there for her...and she probably thinks I'm dead …!"

"You.... You mean that ...if you're here... Where's my Adora?" She widened her eyes. If that was a spell she couldn't believe that they switched. If the ..knight Adora was here… Her Adora was..back in time!? "Adora !!" She yelled running towards the door to search for her woman. She couldn't find her anywhere... Her eyes searched for her but she couldn't find her... She was so ready to panic. "My wife !... She's pregnant... Fucking Shadow Weaver! Even dead she still causes a damn mess!" She yelled Adora stepped after her, grabbing her arm gently "She's not here. I'm the only Adora here. She.. Must have traded places with me.. Which means... Unless Shadow Weaver let her go she's.. In a dungeon cell... But she's smart.. She would know it's not me.. If she was unconscious like I would she'd either leave her be or take her and dump her somewhere.. Panicking though won't help her. Magic brought me here and magic can take me back. Where's Queen Angella? Or Glimmer's aunt, Castaspella and the Mages?"

"In a fucking cell!? Are you kidding me!? She's pregnant!! I have to find her.. I can't leave her all alone in a damn dungeon cell!" Only that possibility drove her crazy. She began to walk towards a certain direction while mumbling some curses under her breath "They're not here ...they're like.....far" She hummed when she asked her. It would take them hours to get there..

"Shadow Weaver probably let her go. She's fine. As long as she made it to another kingdom before dark. They may recognize her as me and take her in." She followed after her then and when she said they were far she shrugged "Get me a horse and I can get you there. If only we had Swift Wind.."

Catra placed her palm on her own face "I can't believe this is actually happening..... A horse?" She perked an eyebrow and continued to walk as she was heading now to her car.

Obviously the machine made the other woman freeze in place

"We don't have horses .....we have cars ...ah...machines to go to other places? Just....get in the car" She hummed and pointed at the dark grey car being parked on the left side of the road. She would really have to take care of a clueless woman right now and she didn't even know if her wife was alive in that place.

Adora took a deep breath but she didn't make a move instead she shook her head "I'd rather have a horse. I don't know what that is but it looks weird. Where do you even sit on it? Where's its eyes? What the hell is a machine?"

Catra glared at her and pointed in the car. “Get. In. The. Car.” She looked up at her and said, "You sit in here and you just wait for me to drive it...please just...don't tell me to walk all the way there...it will take us a month!" She growled even though she understood her anxiety of getting in there.

She knew how to ride horses, not… such things. Adora just shook her head again, crossing her arms now "I'll take my chances with a horse. Get me a horse and I'll get you there in a week. I swear it. I'm not getting in that death trap"

At that moment Catra knew she would have a difficult time convincing the woman to get in the car. Her anger issues would kick in if she didn't accept the offer for a car ride "You're so stubborn... Just get in the car. It's not a death trap. How else would I be alive by now?! Just get in. I'll open the window and that's all! There are no horses anymore..we have no war or...swords to fight or...knights or anything like that!" Catra hissed as her ears perked up and sat down.

Adora crossed her arms at that. She paused for a moment before sighing. She walked over and tried to figure out how to open the door. Once she did she sat down. Without buckling of course because she didn't know she had to "There. Happy?"

"Yes…" She huffed. Her tail puffed when she heard her cell phone ring and...it was Glimmer. How could she even tell her that Adora was lost and she was bringing back a ....weird version of hers. "Ah...hey.... Glimmer" She murmured while leaning towards the seat and buckling her belt up. Her ears perked down and she looked at the road. "Okay don’t start panicking if we move, okay?" She spoke to Adora and then on the phone. She started the car and began to drive quickly while talking to Glimmer about this weird thing that happened.

Glimmer couldn't believe that Adora switched with someone else but Catra obviously would take the knight to her or her aunt to fix all this mess.

The knight noticed her buckle and hesitated before copying her. She managed to figure it out after a bit of fumbling around. She was still focused on the belt when she started moving and she squeaked before quickly looking up and grabbing the car door "Oh I don't like this..."

The feline was scared of her just..jumping out to the road and getting hit by other cars. "can you please not die!?" Catra hissed as she didn't notice where she was holding from and she locked the door. "If you jump down you die ,okay? We will have to travel for days..so just... cooperate with me!"

"I wasn't planning on opening the bloody thing! And where in the nine circles of hell is that music coming from?" The blonde held onto the door tighter. She grabbed onto the centre console. "I'm not holding onto the opening thingy! There's ah- a handle thing! That's the open thingy and here's a handle I'm holding onto the handle!" Adora huffed while looking at her in irritation but positioning herself on her seat "You're overreacting..."

On the other hand the magicat was obviously going to panic since the other one didn't know anything about the whole car thing. "I'm not overreacting! My pregnant wife is in a damn dungeon. You are here instead of her and I have to deal with you being stuck in the old era where you come from! And all this is because of Shadow Weaver!" She hissed and huffed at the woman while trying to drive at the same time with her mind being filled with nothing but anger.

How could this woman cause them trouble even now?

"She's fine! Trust me! Shadow Weaver probably won't even recognize her. And if she does she's obviously not me. She'll be dressed differently and apparently pregnant. She's fine. And I told you I wanted a horse." Adora looked over at her again, irritated still but trying to keep her calm as well.

"And I told you we don't have horses here... What don't you understand?" When she was yelling or frowning… her ears were twitching back. That was kind of the same move the princess was doing back in the other’s homeland as Adora noticed.

The blonde hesitated for a moment before speaking softer "I didn't mean to upset you. This is just.. All very new. My wife is pregnant too, you know... And she thinks I'm dead.. Imagine her reaction to finding another version of me.. I need to get back to her as soon as possible. She's due in a month... Maybe less depending on how long I was in the dungeon..." She sighed softly, leaning back "How are there no horses... Did they all die off or something?" She tried to change the conversation.

Catra on the other hand looked away. She felt bad for her. She didn't know what she would do in her position..if her wife was in the other feline's position. She nodded and continued her way. It would be a tiring day today she could tell but for Adora's sake she would do anything. "I'm sorry for yelling too.. and we don't use horses out here anymore. We have cars to travel around...so....how's... Your wife? I mean.... The last time you saw her?"

Adora paused for a moment before just nodding. She looked out the window. She was more relaxed in the car now though still nervous. "Upset that I had to leave. I had just gotten back from taking care of a problem in one of my villages. I was called out to war. I spent as much time as I could with her.. And I swore to her that I would be there for her when she gave birth... I can't... I can't break that promise." She looked at her then, pausing once more "Even if there aren't horses here they must be somewhere. I would be much more comfortable on a horse..." She continued about the horses though. Thinking about Catra made her heart ache already.

"It's not legal to ride a horse out in the streets....but...about your Catra she will be fine... I'm sure you'll keep your promise..just calm down and we will find a way to send you back" Catra continued and looked at the road in an attempt to make the girl calm down for now.. She didn't know what else to do at that moment.

Adora flexed her hands as a nervous fidget "Shadow Weaver has my sword... I feel naked and- and weak and vulnerable without it.

I don't ever take it off I-... Fuck.." She sighed softly and took a deep breath, trying to force herself to relax even as her own panic started to kick in.

"Hey...hey, everything will be okay. Now we need to calm down...and you'll see that nothing is gonna happen" Catra continued to take care of the issue for now as she continued to talk about the things in this new world. During their trip they talked about the many differences they had and Catra promised that once this all ends she would find that spell to just travel back to them one day. The minutes became hours and the two would have to rest. Adora didn't know how to drive and Catra was too exhausted to continue. She instead parked the car close to a motel to rest there for the night.

Adora would...really need some clothes so for now Catra made her wear something that she used to wear which...wasn't the best idea compared to how muscular the other was. "We leave early in the morning." She spoke in a soft tone to the other who didn't wear the new clothes for now.

Adora looked at her for a moment before just nodding. She groaned and stretched. She was still wearing quite literally rags, torn to the point where it barely covered the essentials and was dirty as all hell. Turning to look at her again she just nodded once again "alright. I'm not very tired though. I'll be up by morning to wake you up if you aren't already up."

"Look… I paid for one room but don't tell me you will stay dirty….I couldn't pay for two…. I mean....you will touch anything and die.... Ah come… " She puffed after a moment of silence. Leaving her alone in this place was...too risky. She also offered her the clothes of Adora's this time in case they were better than her own but… she wasn't sure if she would fit in either. She couldn't lie; these muscles were hot while being out exposed.

Adora paused at the offer of clothes but shrugged and pulled the rags off. Her chest was still binded but as per usual, without underwear. Though she didn't seem bothered being revealed in front of anyone. She continued to get dressed.

Catra widened her eyes, tail puffed up and she turned around to not look "Are you kidding me? Why don't you wear any underwear? You just undress in front of me without any underwear…? perfect..." She hummed and tried to just avoid looking at the woman. She noticed everything though. They had plenty of differences she could tell. "Maybe you should.... Get a shower too.....you're bloody..." She didn't say anything about the woman's smell, thankfully.

"I don't.. Know why it's such a big deal. I change in front of others all the time?" Adora tilted her head at the mention of underwear, looking confused "Undergarments? Why? I have no need for them. My chest is bound. I don't see the problem." She finished getting dressed and was only more confused "What's a shower? Are there no baths?"

"uh....something like that but..quicker.. don't tell me I'll have to clean you up" She murmured but stood up to guide her into the small bathroom to lean point in the tub. "Strip and get inside" she actually didn't believe she said that ...her cheeks flushed red.

The other girl was still confused but she just shrugged and did as she said. She stripped, pulling everything off, including the wraps around her chest before turning to her. Her body was crisscrossed with scars, including one across her chest from her duel. Some were large, many were small. She didn't seem very shy about her body at all as she stepped into the tub.

Catra stared at her. Her ears flickered as her blush grew deeper. How.... amazing was this woman...She looked at her for some seconds before she turned on the shower where she leaned close and let the water brush her skin. It was really different from back in the knight's days. The water had pressure and hit her skin instead of her being inside the tub and just laying and relaxing in there "Just grab the shampoo there and brush yourself with the sponge" She continued to point everything out so she could understand what to do. It was really weird having...another Adora around. She was also stunned by how many scars she had though she didn't even comment on this or how much different their bodies were.

Adora though didn't seem to notice that. She was more focused on the water, jumping when it hit her. She looked up and then quickly spluttered as it hit her face. She turned her head away and wiped her face dry with a hand, blinking the water away with a huff "What the hell? How do you get it to come out of there? Where is it coming from? Is it magic?" She looked at her then. Her hair was soaked while sticking to her skin now. She was just standing under the water.

The feline rolled her eyes back and grabbed a sponge and the shampoo only to apply it on her body and start brushing her skin "Yeah it's magic...now stay still and...please clean yourself up… just like how I am doing it. Here take this" She couldn't obviously clean up the woman ...She had some... private parts that she didn't want to touch so she just showed her by rubbing the sponge on her arm.

The warrior hesitated before she took the sponge and just nodded. She started to scrub her body down, working the blood and dirt of her skin until it turned red and the water turned brown. When she was finally done she paused for a moment to just soak in the water, closing her eyes and relaxing. "I like these.. Showers. Much more relaxing than bathing. Though, nothing will compete with cuddling with your loved one in a bath" she mumbled, imagining just how her princess' touch would be. She missed her. So many weeks without her in the fields made her feel needy.

The feline on the other hand was looking away at the floor while the other was taking a shower just in case she did anything stupid and fall. When she heard her speak though she did understand how the other woman felt. "Mhm.... Adora is...always getting cold in the tub" she chuckled and wrapped her arms over her chest "so... I usually just walk in and cuddle her to warm her up and ....you know.... She's so sweet... And cute ...sometimes a complete idiot but I love her.." she joked ,daydreaming while having her back turned on the other. Tail was slowly moving while thinking of the blonde girl. How she missed having her even if ..the knight was there.. she wasn't the one she met and fell in love with.

Hearing this made Adora chuckle softly as well "Catra always whines for me to join her in the tub. As if I'd ever say no to her.. We stay until the water turns cold sometimes, just holding each other. We spend as much time as we can touching. Whether it's holding hands or cuddling... I... Do it so that.. If I ever get hurt.. That she knows that I still love her. And that I always will. If she ever doubts me she has these... Memories of me patching up her wounds when her first fiance was... Too rough with her, trying to produce an heir. When I duelled a man for her hand... That's where I got this big scar on my chest. The blade was poisoned. I survived though, thanks to her getting the antidote." She looked at her for a moment, before sighing "I need to be there for her. I promised. But... Until then I can be here for you. I owe it to the other me.. For dragging her into something that didn't involve her. Or you, for that matter."

Catra was surprised by all the things she said. Her eyes stared now at the woman as she gave her the towel and wondered how much the woman had been through to be together with the other.. self of hers. "Why didn't she just...marry you in the first place? I mean... Here we can break up if we want another partner.... Plus this guy would be in jail if he did something like that by now" She hummed "do you just...duel everyone back in your home..?" She was confused but also that was..really 'romantic' someone of her era could say. Fighting for the one you love is something romantic that didn't exist there.

"Her mother made her marry him. To expand the kingdom and such. She's a princess and I'm just a knight. Forbidden love and all that. Brightmoon is much less strict about that and most can marry who, and whatever gender they want. But.. Her kingdom didn't believe in that. Her mother just wanted power." She paused for a moment before chuckling "Well, I did meet her during a tourney. But yes, if one is already married and it was an arranged marriage you must duel them for her hand. Though, I fought a champion of his rather than him himself. Coward." She huffed since she still was feeling the anger from these moments even if they took place months ago.

"ah and here I have only proposed to her..... Now who's a better wife?" Catra chuckled softly and looked away before she walked into the room. "Ah I don't have anyone to fight though, I'm sure you did the right thing... If she was about to get married to someone she didn't want.." These words brought her another thought in her head. She remembered that the other self of hers was..... a princess. "How could the other me be like.....a princess? What the hell" she couldn't even picture that.

Adora chuckled softly, shrugging as she listened to her. Her hands grabbed the towel she threw her some seconds ago and started to dry her body "Her mother is Queen of the Horde Kingdom. It makes her a Princess. I'm still just a knight, even if I'm She-ra" Adora managed to figure out how to turn the water off then she looked at Catra again "so.. do you mind if I borrow a nightgown? or whatever you folk wear to bed now?" she held the towel to her chest, though it was more just because she didn't know where to put it than wanting to cover herself

"I placed my wife's pyjamas on the counter.." The brunette mumbled and looked up at her only to gesture at her to jump off the tub "Let's go to sleep" She hummed and gave her a yawn as she tried to slowly crawl on the bed and point at her to the other side of the bed.

Adora got dressed even though the shirt and pants were a bit too small for her. She winced and sighed. She laid down on the bed as well and paused "this is so soft...." even though it was comfortable she couldn't sleep. She was too worried about her wife.. who knows how much time had actually passed. What if she already gave birth? These thoughts didn't let the girl sleep at all.

Catra purred while being half asleep and continued to enjoy the fabric against her skin. She knew Adora was alright ...she had faith that she could take care of herself even if she was pregnant. She missed her already but ...crying about it wouldn't help anyone. She needed to be collected and make good decisions. Angella could help, even Glimmer's aunt could help get that spell cancelled so with these thoughts she curled up on the knight and mumbled softly.

"Good night "

Two different worlds ❤️

The morning came with the young princess being wrapped by her blankets. The birds were chirping and her shift was mostly covering her torso and belly rather than her legs because of how much of an uncomfortable sleep she had. She whined and she turned around but gasped seeing the loose hair of the blond beside her.

"A- what are you doing here !?" She yelled while looking at the other pregnant woman and sat on the bed. For a moment she could mistake her with her warrior and she… didn’t want that.

"I- I couldn't sleep… I mean..alone. I'm sorry I sneaked in" Adora was sleeping by Catra's side in her times and...old habits couldn't be forgotten because of this situation.

The brunette scanned her from head to toe but didn't say anything other than sigh and brush her hair back. They would have a lot to talk about as it seemed. "Okay…. We have a meeting today so… you'll just need to get ready"

"I will but…. I have no other clothes...and it's cold." Adora explained coyly.

The other one stood up then and opened her closet to give her a shift to wear, a corset and the upper shifts. "These will do their job for now… wait .. you'll still be cold without any stockings.." she hummed and continued to search.

Adora though was confused. She didn't know what to put on first. She had seen movies so.. she just took the corset first after taking her clothes off.

Catra gave her a loose corset to fit her belly size but the blond still didn't know how to put it on so she just huffed. Catra looked up at her and rolled her eyes back. "Put on the shift first...else the corset will hurt your skin… but you don't have to tie it up so tightly either. Let me help" she continued and helped her to tie it up after letting her wear the shift.

"I can wear a bra too… I mean it will do the same work and you wear it only on your chest" She could see the feline was confused and pointed at the bed where she had thrown the bra. "you don't have to wear anything else under it and just wear this and a warm shirt or… dress in your case"

"What? You don't protect your body with something? A shift…? You are crazy" Catra shook her head immediately. She wouldn't let this thing touch her skin. "..just get ready we will be late if you keep…- stop poking the corset" she noticed she was poking the bone of the corset only to sigh. Her ears went down in frustration.

"Okay okay.. Sorry. That's the first time I saw a corset- I mean..a real one" The other one admitted and began to dress up with her help of course.

Catra would get ready and they would both walk to the meeting room. Adora could see Angella, Mermista, Perfuma too but Glimmer and Bow weren't around so she had a strange feeling about all this. She didn't know what to do or...should she even speak?

Angella stood up after taking a sip of her glass and looked at them while continuing to speak to the others "...what I fear the most is that Shadow Weaver will try to attack now....better than before....and we do not have Shera to guide our warriors.." She paused for a second but she would continue to speak. “We don’t have many soldiers. The Horde uses poisonous arrows. Queen Mermista, I know your father fought the Horde and is now without us but I invited you here to help. The Horde is surrounded by land and sea. If we both attack at the same time their soldiers won’t have a certain plan.. I assume. Even your father fought them by land so…. this will surprise them.”

Catra remained quiet though. She leaned more in her seat, making Adora wonder how she didn’t offer any help to their plans.

The meeting didn’t end in an alliance.. For now. Queen Angela would try again in the next meeting but the other princesses didn’t want an encounter with the Horde again.

After the meeting Adora walked quietly in the hallway while being beside Catra. She looked up at her and took a deep breath before finding the words to speak. “Why didn’t you help? Queen Angella wants to help you find your Adora and win the war…. I bet you want the same… Shadow Weaver knows the spell that brought me here..and you know all the ways into the Horde.. it’s your kingdom after all”

The feline took a small breath and sighed “I know they want to help...but they will also want to help their kingdoms to get the upper hand in this war...I don’t think revealing all the paths into the Horde would be a good idea….” She was still thinking of it as a war where none of the sides wished for peace without a price. She couldn’t give up her country. She didn’t know if they would take advantage of the hidden paths.

“Yes but even if you don't tell Angella just sneak in with Glimmer? I'm sure she will help if you need her help, which you do..” Adora seemed to have hit a soft spot there as the feline hissed

“Princess Glimmer and I dont have the same ...connections as your Glimmer with your...uh ...Catra..” All this sounded strange but made sense in a way. “She doesn't like me and ...honestly the feelings are mutual. I live in this palace only because my wife told Queen Angella to take me in so I would be safe…. Even if I would be safe in my own house… but Adora was always overreacting…” She felt her heart skip by the idea of finding her wife again. She wanted so much to see her again. To hold her tight and embrace her. She didn't want to believe she was gone and even if she didn't trust the blonde girl at first she...began to feel like she knew more than her and she got a point when she said she switched positions with her knight. By all the walk and their conversation Catra began to feel tired. Her knees and feet were heavy.

Adora could see so many differences between these worlds "I mean… Glimmer can be challenging as a friend sometimes but...she's a nice person...I know things are different like….. my Catra would have killed me if I called her a princess...but ...that's who you actually are..and you're way more...soft than my wife too" She smiled but it faded when she noticed the other one slowing down her pace "Is something wrong?" She asked in worry and wrapped her arm around her to help her up.

"Y..yes I'm just tired… I'm sorry I had no sleep and...I believe that's all. I will go get some sleep. I'll be fine" The feline smiled kindly. She really felt that she would fall to the ground anytime soon.

Adora helped her sit down on her bed once they were in her bedroom. Catra laid down with a sharp grunt. Her belly was aching and she couldn't hide it. Her eyes closed and she turned to her left side. "Can you call my governess..? Her name is Daniella and her chamber is on the first floor. First room on your left hand"

Adora obviously wouldn't refuse that. She nodded quickly, knowing the feline was in her late pregnancy she felt like she had to be there for her even if she wasn't her wife. She got up, quickly walked towards the room she said that woman would be and knocked the door.

An older lady, close to her fourty's, opened the door. Her hair was dark brown yet her eyes had a strange light green colour. Her eyes stared at her for a moment. Ears were elf-like, hiding under a cap. She was wearing a more simple blue dress that hid her legs and feet.

"Um….excuse me I ….Catra told me to call you.." She lost her words while staring at the taller woman.

"Of course. Is her highness alright?" She looked so much like Adora- the knight Adora that she froze for a second.

“Yes she is fine. She had a stomach ache and she wanted me to bring you up to her” The blonde one noticed her staring and she continued “I’m Adora….but..not your Adora… as much as I know she is a knight. I’m just a citizen. Shadow Weaver casted a spell.. Queen Angella will try to find a spell to make things go back to normal and..” The girl continued to talk and talk mostly because she was anxious. Meeting someone she had never met before in her life made her nervous.

Daniella chuckled at that and nodded before interrupting her “I understand. But you have some similarities with lady Adora" She commented kindly and looked at the half open door “I’m pleased to meet you. But I should be going. Take care” She bowed her head to show respect as she had to walk up the Catra’s room.

Adora didn't know what to do anymore. She missed her wife but also she felt useless. She had to help them somehow but she didn’t know how. She looked around the hallways, wandering around the palace when soon after several hours as it seems she saw the brunette walking in the hallway towards one of the many balconies of the place.

The feline had laid down and enjoyed the beautiful silence till her thoughts were again slowly coming up to her head about Adora. She tried to think of anything that would make her believe that the blond woman from the future was telling the truth but even if that happened..Her wife wasn't around anymore. She was gone and replaced with that girl. She was all alone on her due month. After some sleepless hours she stood up and put on a robe before walking in the hallway. She could already feel her eyes watery. She needed some fresh air so that's why she went out of her room. She didn't notice at first the other woman so she just leant against the bars of the balcony to take some breaths to calm down a little.

Adora paused. Unsure if she should try and comfort her or leave her be. She walked out, finding her and clearing her throat "Hey.. Uh.. Sorry if I'm bothering you.."

The feline's ears twitched at the sound and she looked back at her. She was really mean to the blond earlier and..she felt bad about it. Her eyes looked again off the balcony and took a breath "No, you're not... I'm sorry I was mean last night.... It's been a hell of a day.." She murmured

The other one walked over and stood beside her with a nod "I figured... My Catra is probably worried to death about me.." She sighed while looking out off the balcony as well.

The princess sighed while touching her stomach. "Yeah ....don't worry she should be fine ..searching for a way to find you and bring you back." She whispered

"I know your Adora is searching for you too. You have to trust me on this. I wouldn't be here if she wasn't alive. I swear it" Her blue eyes fixed on her mismatching ones and dark eyebrows furrowed.

"I don't know who to trust. You're just a random woman ..said to be brought from another world. That's...even more unbelievable than my knight to be alive at the end of the day... I wanted her around… She said she would be by my side and the next sunrise she cancelled everything to go to war.." Her ears perked down. A tired exhale escaped her lips. She was mostly exhausted after all this time without the blonde one. "She was less busy when we met...." Her voice cracked but it was the truth. She didn’t imagine that it was only because there were tourneys and the knight’s program was less busy.

Adora though offered her hand to her but she didn't force it "Do you want a hug? I.. I know I'm not her...but I'm as close as you can get right now.."

The princess looked at her hand and took a sharp breath before she leaned close to her. Catra’s arms embraced the woman and just had her eyes closed. "Why aren't you asleep...?" She continued after a moment of silence. She smelled almost like her Adora though this time with the overlay of ..shampoo… and deodorant.

"I can't sleep very well... Slept off and on until you passed. I.. Wasn't sure if I should come out. But I'm glad I did”

It took Catra a while to slide away from her. Being curious about her scent, the feline looked at her and asked "What kind of perfume is this?" They had some perfumes, soaps even with flowers but ....without such an intense smell.

Adora giggled softly at that, letting go of her and watching her "I don't wear perfume. Just body wash and shampoo.. Trust me, it does wonders for you. Makes your hair and skin softer and healthier. It helps you smell better and so much more. Look into it"
"Look into it...? Where ? I mean.... I have the best maids and alchemists.. " Catra looked up at her in confusion "If Adora comes back.. and is really coming from the place you live I want one of these shampoos" She mostly joked since she wasn't even sure if she was away or..dead.

"Honestly I'm not sure. I never really thought to figure out how soap is made or what goes into it." When she made the joke the blonde one laughed softly and smiled at her "If she's anything like me she'll probably bring some with her without being asked. Just.. Make sure she sends them to someone who could figure out what's in it and make more. Like the mages"

"I bet she won't even think of bringing any....if she is alive she would rather run to find me or ..find a sorceress or someone to make her come back to me..." She turned around to lean against the wall as she could feel a pain growing in her stomach. Her breaths were steady but deep to try and make the pain go away "I... I think I will need more of these herbs..." She whimpered.

Adora then hesitated before putting a hand on her stomach, letting She-ra sooth the pain. "Do you know when the baby is due?"

"I don't know...honestly... Anytime in this month.... Maybe one of these days" She hummed and looked away.

“Now c'mon.. it’s late into pregnancy. You should be resting. You've started experiencing nesting right? er... needing to have everything cleaned and looking nice? Because if so then you're definitely close. It happens with humans too. I haven't gotten there yet but I've been told that it's going to happen" Adora smiled and helped her walk all the way back to her room.

The brunette was surprised that she knew all these things. "Yeah... I know it's one of these days... I'm just getting too anxious .... Adora won't be around..and... I don't want to be alone" She felt alone but she couldn't help but lean with a grunt against the bed to lay down under the blanket once they arrived.

"If you want I can be there? I know I'm not her still.. but I can still help. You just felt me help with the pain.... that is if she doesn't make it in time?"

Catra hesitated at first but she agreed. She could tell that she was truly speechless by how she expressed her emotions so easily. Even if she didn't know her she was so kind and she seemed to want to help “Thanks.... Sure you can. You..really helped me already....."

"I should.. Probably leave you be so you can sleep now.." Adora smiled gently after a while of waiting and soothing the pain.

Catra patted the mattress "Come" She offered and when the woman was beside her she would wrap her tail around her unconsciously. “If you wish, you can sleep here...the bed isn't small and.. I don't fight in my sleep." She joked.

Adora hesitated again, before nodding and heading over. She laid down beside her on the bed and got comfy "Thank you... I couldn't sleep very well on my own.." She laid down beside her with a nod, curling up on her side. When she felt the tail wrap around her she couldn't help but relax. It made her forget for a moment that she wasn't home and that it wasn't her Catra she was sleeping with. She slept much easier now while closing her eyes and relaxing as sleep took over.

Catra was so tired that she fell asleep quickly. Adora had the same scent and only by the feeling of the blond around she calmed down and finally slept till morning.

═══════ ≪ °❋° ≫ ═══════════════ ≪ °❋° ≫
═══════════════ ≪ °❋° ≫ ═══════

The knight on her behalf slept lightly. She was fighting in her sleep and woke up in the middle of the night a few times from the nightmares with gasps. A sigh escaped her lips and she ran a hand through her hair.

Catra heard her heavy breaths but managed to sleep for two hours straight. The last time Adora woke up she looked at the clock. It was too early for them to start their trip. “What’s wrong?” She spoke softly, turning around to look up at her.

Adora shook her head, laying back and putting an arm over her head “What if more time had passed then I thought... What if she's already had our baby and I wasn't there for her.. What if she-... She didn't make it.. through childbirth. I can't.. I can't rest.. Not knowing if she's safe or not." She sighed, turning to look at her then.

"Why wouldn’t she make it to childbirth? Adora... Calm down...I think your Catra will be completely fine.. if my Adora is around her she will make sure to help her.. just relax a little bit and you'll see that you have no reason to be worried" Catra hummed, mumbling some curses under her breath since she couldn't understand what could even go wrong. Pregnancy wasn't so ..... difficult these days.

"There are so many things that can go wrong.. We have the best mages with her but- even then.. they can't always fix everything..." Adora huffed and tried to take deep breaths to calm down a little.

"hey.... Will you calm down? Or is it too difficult for a knight to do so? Nothing will go wrong...she's with the best mages..you said it. Now..sleep" Catra hissed and sat on the bed, rolling over to face her and wrapped an arm around her waist. She then rested her head on her clavicle. She was more... muscular. She loved it. Some quiet purrs escaped her throat and she nuzzled close to her. Her tail slowly touched the woman's arm, almost wrapping around her wrist.

Adora managed to sleep this time though while listening to her purrs for a couple of minutes. Sometimes in the middle of the night she was turning over and wrapping an arm around her, getting close to her as well since the sound and mostly..the feeling of Catra’s purr was the same.

Catra didn't hold her in a romantic manner. She missed her wife just as much as this knight missed hers... But for now she didn't have another choice. She had to make her sleep and let herself sleep as well. She enjoyed the feeling nonetheless and soon the morning would come. Her eyes opened and she rubbed one with her hand before looking at her with a soft smile "Morning .." She mumbled and sat on the bed, purring while stretching.

Adora groaned softly in the morning and for a moment forgot she wasn't home, just whining and reaching out for her "come back to bed... 'M still tired... Too early.." She pouted, obviously thinking she was still home. Her hair sprawled out on the bed and shirt riding up slightly

"Adora.... I'm not your princess" Catra hummed and yawned while poking her gently to wake up.

The blonde one grumbled, sitting up then and shooting her a half-hearted glare. She ruined her dream.. She stretched with a sigh and pulled the shirt down with a huff "These clothes are weird.. Are they supposed to be this small on me...?"

"well... Adora was wearing these... My Adora. Which means you're too muscular" She chuckled in return and leaned away only to purr against the sheets for a little and then obviously stand up to get ready. They should really get going if they want to be able to see their wives. "Come. We need to....find clothes for you...we have to go eat too.." She has some plans so... She had to fix the...dressing thing first.

Adora chuckled, looking at her with a raised eyebrow "Does she not work out?" She stood up and stretched. The fabric barely held together when she did and she winced "And yeah... I definitely need some clothes... But won't it take too long for them to be made?"

"To be made?" The feline paused for a moment "wait… You're actually waiting for someone to make the clothes? Don't you just go to the stores and buy one or two shirts…?" She had to expect that this Adora would be clueless but she actually didn't believe that this was happening back in the day. "Adora was working out till she got pregnant.. We don't want to risk losing the child....does...Catra work out or....fight with you? I mean...she's a princess but she can fight, right?" She wondered if she was just a little bit like her. Were they even similar to anything?

"Well.. Yeah we have to go to a tailor and wait for them to make it… and.. No. My Catra doesn't fight. She's a princess. According to others she's supposed to sit there and look pretty... But Princess Glimmer can.. Maybe I should look into teaching her..." Even though she couldn't fight she didn't blame her. Her role was to really sit behind the army and watch as she takes the decisions for them. She was a leader not a warrior. The knowledge she had was mostly about politics and strategies about war.

"Ah we have not many things in common then" Catra paused and thought for a second as she noticed that the other was lost once again in her thoughts "Okay.... We can't let you out like...this...But I may be able to leave you alone for just a few minutes and go buy something for you to wear.....will you be a good girl and stay here?" She didn't trust the look on her face but she didn't have many choices..

The warrior nodded, sitting back down on the bed and looking up at her. When she was called a good girl she blushed softly, pausing before clearing her throat and just nodding "Yeah, yeah I'll be good. Um. I'll stay here then" Why did she feel so… warm at such a call? The princess never called her like that before yet this woman was there, expressing her familiarity and all these emotions that were hidden by her wife.

The feline noticed the girl's blush but she tried to not pay too much attention to it because she would start teasing her and they wouldn't end up in a good position. She only smiled and walked off. It took her some time till she actually found some clothes for the size of the blonde one. She walked quickly back to their room and kicked the door open "Tell me you didn't touch anything- or set a fire or-..." The cat girl was actually getting more and more thoughtful of letting the knight all alone into a room with ....a tv and ...water in it while she was away.

Adora ended up working out though. First some planks, push ups, sit ups..all these because she was bored. She was working up a good sweat by the time Catra got back. She was in the middle of the plank when she got back and she lifted her head, muscles flexing and her body was clearly sweaty "I got bored. I didn't touch anything. I promise" She got up then with another stretch "That was quicker then I thought" She was in a foreign environment, even if she was curious to know how all these things worked. She was scared that she would destroy something.

The feline looked down at her. Her cheeks were all flushed. She stared at her from head to toe before she threw the bags on the bedside "Ugh... Your clothes. Go to the bathroom and change.. I'm hungry and we...will have to go soon if we want to be in Casta's house in one or two days.." The good old Catra had returned. She was too blushed to look at her. She was truly an incredible sight to have in her room.

Adora casually nodded while standing up again and pulling some clothes out of the bag. She was a bit confused but decided not to ask. She headed into the bathroom to change as she was told since she didn’t want them to be late "You sound like a commander. Almost feel like I should call you ma'am" she laughed before shaking her head as she walked into the bathroom. She closed the door and changed.

"If you wish to call me like that I wouldn't mind~" Catra actually liked that so she smirked. She fixed her shirt down as her tail slowly waggled. She took a seat on the sofa and waited for the other one while playing on her mobile.

Adora chuckled softly at that response. She pulled her hair up into a ponytail and shook her head "Yes ma'am" That feline was truly something different from the woman she loved and married but what could she tell? She liked her.

The feline chuckled, finally she had some fun with this woman.. She pointed to the door once she was ready too. She stood up and walked towards it so she would head off to the car "Let's go eat something... I'm starving.." Catra guided her to the car where she would drive to a nearby coffee shop.

Adora needed more time to get used to this machine as it seemed since she was clinging tightly on the seat.

After several minutes of driving the two women arrived at the closest store to eat. "So... What would you like to have? I don't know what you guys are eating there" Catra whispered while walking inside the building, opening the door for her and gesturing to her to go in. Once she took a seat on the table she leaned against it before she ordered for herself a simple coffee and some soft breads.

Adora, though, looked at the menu with a confused expression on her face. "I.. Don't know what any of this is... Um... Just order something for me? Maybe something meaty if they have it?" She didn't seem to notice the waitress who was staring. She was instead looking intently at the menu trying to figure out what everything is. Her eyebrows furrowed and nibbled at her bottom lip as she thought.

The feline perked her ears up in guard to just check if that waitress would try to do anything. She knew she was married.. but still things can happen. Her eyes looked at the woman when that waitress approached. "An omelette.. orange juice…bread and don't forget my marmalade.." She huffed, noticing that she was paying more attention to the blonde than her. Now that really made her feel ..angry. She didn't want anyone to go on and flirt with Adora.

The blonde one though, gave the waitress a soft smile and set the menu down before looking at Catra again "Thank you. That sounds really good actually." She didn't feel like talking to people would make anyone jealous. She was...never jealous after all so she couldn't understand its meaning.

The brunette looked away for a few seconds. This waitress was making her anger grow. Even though she was trying to buy some time and talk to the warrior, Catra almost hissed a 'thank you' and nodded so she could leave.
Adora leaned back again and looked around, speaking softly "How are they lighting this place? More magic?" she looked back up at her friend then, head tilted slightly. She was acting at some points almost like a golden retriever.

"It's... Electricity actually.. it's really something you shouldn't be so amazed at but.... it's cute" Catra smirked when she saw her reaction to everything. She picked up her phone to see if anything would work for her own Adora in that world..She even tried to see if she was able to send her a message or....or something. Her eyes looked down at the table and her tail slowly wagged "Do you have ...bars and such in your world?" She asked and leaned against the table.

Adora tilted her head, seeming not to understand but just nodding like she did "Riiight.. Electricity yeah uh.. I.. Don't know what that is." When she asked about bars she looked confused for a moment, tilting her head "Are those like pubs and taverns? Because if so then yeah! I don't drink much, though, to be fair. I have a job to do. I can't do that while drunk."

Catra wouldn't go further to explain how electricity worked...not now or never… She raised her eyebrows with a small smile “Me and Adora were going for a drink quite often...But, you know before getting all this plan to have a child” She shrugged softly and smirked before clapping her hands together "Okay okay.. tonight you'll drink. You're in the damn future you're not going to just stay sore and all emotional" She chuckled as her ears were up in excitement. She knew that the girl wouldn't have another choice than to follow her "Hey. Will we have that damn omelette or you’ll stay there staring?" The feline caught the waitress who was still looking at the blonde. Even if Catra was shorter and kind of smaller than the knight she had a big mouth that caused the girl to turn around and go to take their plates immediately. She soon placed them on the table, apologising
"do you stare like this to everyone who's coming in this store or do you want to piss me off? We're here to relax not have two fucking eyes staring at us" Catra hissed. She had anger issues as the knight could tell

Adora widened her eyes in surprise "Hey! Don't talk to her like that!" She looked up at the waitress and said "I am so sorry about that.." She turned back to Catra "why are you so angry? She wasn't hurting anyone.. You need to relax. Honestly it's okay." She sighed and took her drink, as well as her plate.
The feline perked an eyebrow and crossed her arms over her chest. “You want to tell me that your princess lets people stare at you like this? ah please…” She glared at her and poked the edge of her cup while the waitress was walking away. " Adora.. that's not okay. You can't just walk around ,minding your own business and have eyes staring at you for whatever reason" She hummed and took a sip from her drink. She really didn't like to have people looking at them ,or Adora.

"Why isn't it okay? All she was doing was looking.. You're acting like you're the one who married me." She paused, before sighing softly, looking at her food "You don't have to snap at them. But if it really makes you uncomfortable then you should just ask them to stop staring. If they don't listen. That's when you snap." She took a bite of her food then let out a groan, closing her eyes "Oh my goddess... What is this called again?" It was delicious. It had to not be just eggs in there.

"you're still someone who has a wife... They can't just ignore that... " Catra hissed and looked up at her only to give her a small smile when she commented on the taste of the omelette and took another sip of her coffee. "It's eggs with spices....here.." She hummed and pointed at the phone where she was actually showing her a video of one cooking the omelette. "It's easy to make. I bet you have chickens in your home" She joked and looked up at her, reaching again to her phone so she could find more things to show her.

Adora looked at the screen and her eyes widened. Quickly she took it out of her hands to tilting it "What the fuck kind of magic is this??" She paused before looking at her again "wait! No, no this is-.. Electricity? Right?" She seemed so excited, so eager to get it right.

She made the feline chuckle and nod "something...like that. You can send... Uh messages in here…..letters(?) and even pictures. Look." She smiled and turned the phone into the selfie mode only to snap a picture of them both. She actually...wanted so much to have a picture of hers to show it to her Adora… and remember the day "Here, look at you" She smiled and showed it to her.

Adora took the phone after the picture while looking at it in amazement before looking up at her "This is.. stunning..." She looked back down at it again, looking at herself in awe.

"I know... But even if I give you one you would run out of power..." The other hummed and she was... actually right. The phone would run out of battery at some point and these people wouldn't know how to make it work again. "I can still give you one to just mess around with pictures... Or ..maybe a camera" She thought of a Polaroid at first. She grinned widely at her idea and finished her food quickly "Okay okay I will buy you a camera. The thing that shows yourself and then several papers for the camera sooooo you will always have pictures! Let's go!" She held her hand, paying for their drinks and food before running outside and back to the car.

"Alright! You'll um... Have to teach me how to work it, but that sounds fun!" Adora followed after her "Then after this we have to keep going."
The brunette nodded quickly. She didn't want to be late so she quickly found the store and bought one with plenty, way too plenty of films. She would have only this time to get her something to remember and she knew that Adora would have a great use of it. She wished she could make a film last for more than once but ..she couldn't do anything else than buy her many.

Adora stood with her while she was buying things, looking around the shop like a kid in a candy store, smiling as she looked at all of these different things. Then she followed her outside.

"So you place this here.. and then you push this button. You have to watch though from this small window" Catra tried to explain while now sitting in the car. She gave the camera to the woman and leaned on her to make sure she was learning. "Every time this small paper will come out blank you will have to wait for some seconds until it will start showing the picture. But I ...didn't find any more papers so...if I see any other store I will.. go buy you some more to have when you leave" Somehow she felt sad she wouldn't see her again, explaining all these things to her was...fun.

Adora focused, nodding as she explained it to her before taking it, backing up "I want a picture of you! For-.. For practice." She scratched the back of her neck, holding the camera carefully in one hand.

"Of me? Hm okay, take the picture" She smiled knowing she would probably make it shaky "Hold your hand steady and see through that small window-thingy then just press the button" She tried to help her a little and she continued to look at her, ears perked up in excitement as her tail was playfully wagging.
The blue eyed nodded and did as she said, looking through the window and holding her hands as still as possible as she took the picture before looking at the paper that came out "When will I be able to see it?" She looked at her again, still confused a bit on how it works.

"Wait a little" The magicat smirked as the paper would have colours after a while, forming the picture of the feline. She did a great job for a first try and the girl smiled brightly "ooooh nice ~ Maybe you should be a photographer back in your days..I can search to find how they make these films" She hummed and looked up at her, giving her a small nod before starting the car again.

Adora huffed when she was told to wait, just staring down at it. When she saw something start to appear her eyes widened "Catra! Catra look, it's showing up!" She smiled while still holding the picture and camera in her hand.

"This trip will take us another night for sure...tonight I'll search for the film." The other one meant she'd search on the internet but.. She didn't want to explain how that worked right now. "I told you..ah I was sure you'd like it...I'll really try to find a way for you to have enough films for a lifetime" If she could just order so many films for her she would do it but... okay she wasn't rich and she didn't know if she would be able to take all these with her. Adora though leaned over to hug her tightly "Thank you... So much.."
"Whoa- Hey! I'm trying to drive-" The magicat gasped but stayed comfortable in her embrace. She would continue to drive till the late evening, arriving in a smaller town than the previous one.
"Sorry! Sorry I got too excited" She winced and pulled away, looking forward again, before looking at the picture with a smile. The other one chuckled but she didn't have any other choice but to make a stop for her butt's sake and for herself to get some air. "The Bright Moon is close to this town...only six hours drive" She yawned quietly and looked at the woman "Will you come with me? I'll go have a drink.. I'm a bit tired of driving.." She admitted.

Once they got there Adora stretched and stepped out as she began to follow her.
Catra smiled and got her into a tavern. The whole town was truly like it was coming from a western film. The woman took a seat and she looked at the man before ordering a beer. Her mismatching eyes would fix on the female though since she had to be careful to not lose her. "Okay.. what are you going to drink?" Meanwhile Adora was looking over the options for a minute. She was not entirely sure what she should choose before just ordering the same thing Catra got "Same thing as you. I don't recognize most of the drinks here.."
"alright~" She smiled as she pointed at the male for two bottles of beer. She would only lean against the small bar as she then looked at some men failing on riding a mechanical bull some metres away from them. "They're so stupid" She whispered and smiled, enjoying how everyone was just falling down.

The blonde looked back at them and snorted "How are they so bad at that?" She paused, before getting up "I have a horrible idea. Don't try and stop me." She walked over to the puppet then, quite literally ordering the men to move. When asked how difficult she wanted it she said as difficult as possible.
"what are you doing-" The feline was ready to pull her back but she was too fast to go to them and she huffed in embarrassment. She was there for two days and she would go back to her house with broken limbs ... To her surprise, the knight was truly good at this. Was it because she knew how to ride a horse or ....the girl didn’t even know but she was indeed stunned by her skills. A bright smile formed on her lips. She was truly risky for a knight. Her eyes looked at the woman and tried to remain calm while the other one was holding the puppet tightly by the leash. "My.... " She whispered to herself.

The knight hopped on the bull then, grabbing onto the horn and just nodding to the man to start it. When it finally started she couldn't help but let out an elated laugh. Her legs pressed tightly against the bull to keep herself still, but even then that did not completely stop her from moving. Her hips rocked with the movement of the bull, keeping her head as still as possible while only fighting the movement enough to keep herself on the bull. She was on for a few good minutes before she got tired of it and leapt off the bull instead. She landed and brushed her pants off with a chuckle "And that is how it's done." She walked back over to Catra then, smug as hell over proving herself better then the men and sitting back beside her.

Catra was still with her mouth open but everyone was cheering for the girl who jumped off the bull and obviously she won several rounds of liquor. "That was awesome!" She giggled and looked up at her only to give her a tight hug "Amazing" she was truly surprised by her. Her eyes looked up at her and she gave her a small kiss on her cheek. "You really have to teach me how to ride" She smirked as her tail was wagging back and forth.

Adora laughed softly as she cheered, shaking her head as she walked back. When she was hugged though she was surprised. She looked down at her only for her eyes to widen and a blush to form when her cheek was kissed. She chuckled softly at the innuendo of the request, shaking her head "I would have if you got a horse like I had asked you to. But no you had to be stubborn and choose your metal death trap instead." She took her drink then, sitting and looking at her. She was a bit sweaty and tired from the ride, but also floating high on endorphins right now and soon alcohol. This woman was honestly hot, she kept surprising the brunette every time.

Catra’s eyes looked up at her and gave her a small smirk "Well we won't be able to get a horse..." She murmured and looked away since she had more...dirty thoughts on that topic "Anyway...let's drink!" She cheered and kicked these thoughts away, giving a toast.

"This is good... Much better than most I've had back home." Adora took another drink after another and leaned on the counter "So.. Tell me more about your world, and your customs! I'd love to know everything you can teach me"

Catra grinned and shrugged "We have Christmas...Easter for celebrations. We enjoy the snow when we have some" She chuckled "Our technology is ...way better than yours as I can assume..don't you have lights or something?" She was clearly curious so she leaned close and started to drink from her beer. She loved its taste.

Adora shrugged, leaning on the counter "We have candles. Some lights that can be illuminated with magic, but most just use candles" She kept just sipping at her beer rather than truly drinking from it, watching her with a soft smile.

"wow....you're really romantic back there" She chuckled and gave her a small smile while continuing her drink. "Ah I'm not sure if I would like to come back there.... It seems so..... Difficult to live and not ..die because of a cold" She looked at her and she leaned closer before she slowly wagged her tail "And how do .....like... Communicate?"

Adora tilted her head, chuckling softly as well "It's really not that bad. We have fireplaces to keep us warm. Warm clothing and blankets. Though we barely get cold enough for snow at Brightmoon anyway." She tilted her head then at the last question "What do you mean by communicate? As in long distance? We write letters of course... Send them via messenger on horseback. Sometimes birds if we don't want them intercepted. Though of course birds can be shot down if you're good enough with a bow.." She shrugged, taking another drink then. The alcohol started to get to her a bit now

"..and how does your princess know that you're...alive or how the war was going? What Shadow Weaver told you she will do now?" She hummed in return and took another sip of her drink. It was getting her a little as well but Catra could handle more. She ordered another round for them both.

"I.. Sent letters to her every day. About how I was.. where I was.. And if I couldn’t I had my friend, Bow, send one for me. Until I was captured in battle..." She sighed, finishing her bottle then with a shrug then "I'll be back with her soon though"
"I hope so....by tomorrow I think we will be in Casta’s place and she will surely know what to do or how you will be able to go back" She closed her eyes, taking another huge sip of her drink and looked down at the table. Low-key she felt bad for her but she couldn't do anything... "Hey...to our wives and their small babies~" She raised her glass and smiled happily. She knew Adora was alright. She knew she was only just a little bit heavier than usual and she wouldn't have to be scared of her being giving birth back there.

Adora laughed softly, lifting her glass in the toast as well with a smile "To our families." She took a drink then, sighing softly.
A man came up then, putting a heavy hand on Adora's shoulder "You sure rode that bull well there chick. Got me wondering if you ride other things just as well."
Adora just sighed softly, and didn't even turn to look at him "Sir, I would suggest you get your hand off me and go find someone else to bother."

The feline's eyes looked up at the man and she gave him a glare. She really hated it when this was happening... "Are you kidding me now.... Fuck off" She spoke to the other one who wouldn't leave just yet. He was still hitting on the blonde one and she would still not get his hands off her. "I would suggest you to not touch her if you don't want your hand to be broken" She hissed.

"Or your nose." The other added on taking another drink before standing up and turning to look at him. She stood eye to eye with him. "I'm not interested. I have a wife. Leave me be or I will break your nose."

He scoffed "Playing hard to get huh? That's okay sweetie. I can play this game."

Adora just sighed, setting her drink down and as she promised she pulled her arm back and swung. She then hit him hard enough to knock him on his ass. She was able to fight in full metal armour. She could throw a heavy ass punch.

Catra's eyes widened when she saw her punching the man and chuckled "Wow... I mean- Adora ... We... Really can't stay in here now" She tried to stay serious even though it wasn't an easy thing to do and gave her a hand to pull her close "The rest will come and ...before we realise it we will be kicked out"

"Why would we be kicked out? He came at us first. I don't want any trouble but he won't back off." The other one sat down again. She looked at him before looking at Catra. "Besides I can handle a few men who think their balls are bigger than their mom's tits." She leaned closer to him then "Try anything like that with any of the women here and it won't just be your nose that's broken. Got it?"
The man would crawl away but Catra couldn't risk it now. She knew that they would get kicked out of the bar if she continued. "Just calm down. Here we have laws even for punching people's faces... As much as I like to kick their asses we can't start fights" She hummed as she bottomed up her drink with a loud grunt. She looked up at her and gave her a small smile "Wanna go to the car? I'll grab another two bottles of beer to get home, hm? Actually.. to a motel but.. yeah" She hummed and stood up. She was a little dizzy from the liquor.

The blonde one huffed in disappointment before finishing her bottle and getting up again. She nodded in agreement and put a hand on Catra's arm to help her stay steady. "Should you um.. Control that thing while intoxicated?" She looked down at her then while being a bit worried "This is why I want a horse... You can ride them while intoxicated and be fine"

"Goddammit... You're really a fan of horses.... " The other chuckled and looked at the bar woman who happened to know where they could spend the night. Catra was told that a motel wasn't far. She got a paper and soon she would get out as she read the street number. She looked at her and gave her a small smirk "Lets go~" she murmured with one bottle by her lips to drink.

Adora rolled her eyes, laughing softly at how unstable the woman was "I don't think you should be driving like this, Catra." She took the bottle from her as they walked out the door. Adora was looking for the car but there wasn't any car parked there.

The feline didn't have a problem with driving for now. Her eyes fixed on the warrior and gave her a small peck on her cheek. Yes, she was affectionate sometimes when she was drunk but for now she had to focus on something else. She ....really couldn't find the car... She looked everywhere but no sign of the car "Oh my.....are you kidding me right now..." She hissed as her fists tightened and she growled out loud. "Someone stole my car!?”

Adora at first, ignored the kiss on the cheek even as she blushed. When she couldn't find the car she winced, sighing softly "I can just carry you there. You said it wasn't too far and it'll be faster without you stumbling along" She sighed "Told you we should have gotten a horse”

"hey... I'll be fine walking by myself too, you know..." The feline puffed and began to slowly walk forward. "Well it's... Uh two blocks from here" she pointed out. She couldn't believe she would have to borrow a new vehicle in order for them to go back to the bright moon. "That's why I told you not to mess around with men like that jerk"

"Are you really trying to say that they stole your car? Because if I ever see him again I'm willing to give him worse than a broken nose." Adora walked beside Catra for a bit before looking down at her "You're too slow." She picked her up then, scooping her up into her arms without even stopping. Now she was walking faster down the road.

The feline let out a yelp when she picked her up. She was really dizzy by the drink but it seemed that Adora was not under the effects of the drinks.. "I'm not! You have to turn on your left now. The room I've got us is there and..... Wow you're so cute from down here~" She giggled as her hand touched her cheek. She held her bridal style so she could see her.

Adora shook her head but followed her directions to the room. She paused though when she called her cute with a blush "And you, my dear friend are drunk." She finally found the room and got them inside, taking one of the drinks Catra grabbed from her before setting her down on the bed.

Catra chuckled and curled all up on her when she let her down only to give her a small smirk "And how do you know that you're not the drunk one?" Now she was talking nonsense but she didn't care at all about it. She liked Adora, she looked like her wife and she was... actually her wife but from another century. Her eyes looked up at her, purring slowly.

"Because you're the one flirting with me." Adora raised an eyebrow as she looked down at her before taking a drink"You know I'm not sure if this would be cheating or not. You are still Catra, but you're also.. Different."

The feline leaned up to wrap her arms around her and guided her to sit on the bed "I bet it's not... We're just a little bit different because of the years but pft.... we're the same" She snorted and smirked at the girl before she leaned close to her and nuzzled. She purred and wrapped her tail around her wrist while her hand was reaching out to take the bottle. "I want some too"

The blonde pulled the bottle away from her but let her sit down with a shake her head "No, Catra. You've had enough. I'm still only buzzed. This will probably be my last drink though." She put a hand on her shoulder to keep her where she was. She was looking at her as she held the bottle out of reach.

The other whined and pouted "Why!? I want some more...." She puffed childishly and frowned only to look at her and cross her arms over her chest. Her tail was wagging and she looked up at her only to give her a small kiss on her cheek.

"You are.. Really affectionate when you are drunk, Catra." The warrior took another drink before offering it to her "One drink. Only one, okay?" She sighed, laying back on the bed then. Even though she was sideways it still felt good to relax so she closed her eyes.

Catra smiled widely before she pulled back and took a huge sip from the bottle. Then she let it down and gave it to her to finish it. "Go ahead~...I'm not affectionate though.... and I'm not drunk..just a bit dizzy" She lied leaning close to her and almost laying on her chest. Her head rested on her chest while her ears were listening to her heartbeat.

The blonde rolled her blue eyes, finishing the bottle up and setting it aside with a chuckle "You are.. Most definitely drunk... And very affectionate.. It's cute..." She giggled, running her fingers through her hair "You're just like my wife.." She hummed, holding her close though with a smile. Then she kissed the top of her head.

Catra’s ears perked at the kiss. She leaned so she could kiss her between them and purred happily while her tail was wrapping around her thigh. Her eyes closed as one hand coyly crawled under the woman's shirt only to remain on her well built abdomen. She wanted so much to undress her..to feel her body against hers. "Am I?" She whispered in a soft tone.

Adora took a deep breath. Muscles tensing as Catra's hand moved over them, looking down at her "I-.. Catra.. I don't think we should be doing this.." Even as she said that though she cupped Catra's cheek with a mumble "Don’t um.. Don’t you also have a.. Penis too? How would.. How would this even work?"

"I have a what…?" The feline looked down at herself and chuckled, shaking her head "No no...it's ... a long story I can't explain it now" She hummed and gave her a small kiss on her chin before she pulled away to sit on her lap "So...should we do this or..." She mumbled while placing kisses on her neck.

The warrior looked confused but didn't bother to question it. She was too distracted by the kisses on her neck. She put her hands on Catra's waist and sat up "I... Fuck.." She just pulled her head back and kissed her properly. A bulge already forming which she was almost certain Catra could already feel since she was sitting on her lap now.

The cat girl blushed because of the drink and the feeling between her legs. Her hips gently pressed against hers so she could start to add pressure on her and make her feel how much she wanted this affection. She whined and leaned more against her only to kiss on her lips this time. Teeth cut her bottom lip softly and suckled the spot. She wrapped her arms around her as she only wanted one thing. "Yes...exactly" She hummed and pushed her down before she pulled off her shirt. Her nails teasingly scratched her body as her legs spread so she could top the woman and ride her after removing her panties.

Adora groaned softly at the rocking of her hips. She bucked up and put a hand on the back of her neck as she was kissed. She held her close and whined when she bit her lip as her eyes closed and body pressed up into her. She let her lay her back though, cheeks flushed and eyes half closed while whining at the scratches even as she arched her back slightly "Oh fuck.. I-Is sex with you always this good..?" She panted softly, fully hard by the time her underwear was removed. Her arms were by her side and held onto the sheets. Adora happily let her take the lead.

The feline was mostly a dominant one but when her wife was turning into Shera she was indeed too submissive to begin with.

Her lips made a smile and nodded softly to answer her question and gently touched her member while laying on her. Then she gave her kisses and suckles on her lips and neck. Her tongue licked her down to her clavicle where she would suck on her skin to make it red. She loved how it felt. Her hand soon got replaced by herself. She would slide down on her before sitting down and riding her slowly with soft moans and whimpers in the beginning.

Adora preferred to be submissive but of course her wife seemed to as well so she took the top more often than not. She didn't realise she was into being scratched and bitten like she was until now, though, she has had Catra scratch her before. When Catra finally touched her member she moaned softly and bucked into the touch, gasping and tilting her head for her. Her muscles tensed as she moved. She was bucking into her hand until she pulled it away and made her whine at first. Though that whine turned into a moan as she sunk down onto her. She gasped and was still as she rode her. Her eyes closed and head fell back while still holding onto the bed tightly "F-fuck.. Fuck, Catra.. Oh goddesses..."

The feline grunted in pleasure as she continued to move her hips up and down on her while marking her ribs with some scratches. Her sharp nails were causing her skin to bleed. She would soon have more scratches than her own scars. Her back bended so she would have better access to her neck and collarbone. She nibbled on her and gave her left breast some attention. She squeezed her and massaged it gently “Someone's the cute one now.." she whispered close to her ear while riding her.

The other one moaned out as she was scratched again. She gasped out her name once more as her back arched before whining again. When she started nibbling on her neck she tilted her head, finally putting one hand on her hip. She just moaned her name again softly in response, turning to look up at her. Her pupils were blown wide and her face was flushed "Fuck.. Y-..you're rougher t-then.. Fuck.. M-my Catra.." She seemed to struggle to get the words out. Her head fell back again as she bucked up into her now.

Adora made the brunette whine when she was making these rough thrusts but she didn't back off. Catra continued her work as she let out a chuckle "Really?" She nibbled on her earlobe and whispered in a seductive way “Is that a good thing or a bad thing~?"

"Fuck.. Good.. Very good... I-I have to ask her to scratch me.. N-never been deep enough to draw blood” She started to buck her hips to meet Catra's thrusts while holding onto her hip tighter now. The other hand still fisted in the sheets, knuckles white from how hard she was holding them.

The other woman could see how turned on the other was so she played with it. She sat down on her, keeping her inside her and nibbling on her neck. She gave her some bites sometimes and sucked on the exposed skin. Her nails gently wrapped around her shoulders as her ears were perked back. She could feel her twitching inside her and that made her let out a mewl.

Adora whined when she stopped moving and bucked up into her. "Please.. P-please don’t stop.." She continued to rock against her still with soft pants and whines.
Catra moaned at the feeling of the other forcing herself deeper. Her cheeks were flushed and her glinting eyes looked down at her before she began to move her hips more against her at the same pace. She just loved it...she wanted more. Her eyes closed and her head tilted back when she truly hit a certain spot. Her nails sunk in her shoulders and moaned out her name in a trembling manner.

Adora’s back arched again "F-fuck.. Catra.. Close... Oh goddess.." She put both her hands on her now with another moan while pulling her down for a kiss.
The feline smiled at that. Her eyes looked up at the woman before she gave her a small kiss on her lips. She wanted to know if she was pleased or not and by this reaction she could tell she was really into what she was doing. She moved her hips up and down a little quicker as she reached her limit after several thrusts. She moaned in ecstasy and clung her fingers on her. "A—Adora....." The woman panted. She couldn't even speak.

The other dug her fingers into her hips as she got closer. She gasped out her name. Her back arched and pressed her hips as deep as she could as she came while she was holding her as close as possible. She breathed heavily with closed eyes and relaxed when her climax was over.

The magicat slid away only to lay on top of her and nibble on her collarbone and all the way up her neck. She felt relaxed.. "This night couldn't get any better..." She whispered between her kisses. She wrapped her arms around her and hummed before cupping her cheek with a smile. "I noticed I was...different from the other me, huh? To the better or the worse?" She grinned while slowly biting her bottom lip, tugging the spot gently. She knew she made her moan loud and that was only the beginning. "Someone was into getting hurt." She continued.

Adora kept her hands on her hips, chuckling softly "If you meet her, I would rather die than having you admit that I said you were better.." She watched her bite her lip for a moment before looking up at her "And someone really likes to hurt." She smiled though "Is there anything else you're into? I'm.. Curious"

The brown haired girl chuckled at her comment and continued to place some pecks on her lips "Hm.... tail scratches and ear rubs if you count them as a turn on." She smirked playfully and nuzzled close to her while purring. She was truly comfortable on top of her "I... usually am the one tying this blonde cutie up soo... I'm not sure... I do have a thing for her other form though.. Shera is truly hot" She mumbled making the other giggle softly

"That's just like my wife.. She loves it when I play with her tails or ears." Adora hummed before pausing "Tying? Like.. Tying her up during sex? That's.. A thing?" She looked confused then "And I would turn into She-ra.. But I dont have my sword..."

"Yeah it is~ Just like how you like getting scratched. Didn't you tell her anything about that?" She hummed and poked her chest only to bite her "And..my Adora doesn't need a sword to become Shera. She just..becomes" She could tell the other one wasn't as familiar with the magic in her as her Adora was.

The blond shook her head "I don't.. I didn’t know sex could just be for.. Enjoyment. I didn't even realise that I would like being scratched.." She gasped softly at the bite, responding by gently grabbing the base of her tail "She doesn’t.. Need her sword? Is there any way I could learn? I usually keep my sword on my arm as a bracelet."

The feline gasped in surprise by the grab of her tail. It was sensitive as always. She bit her lip and chuckled "I don't know how she could teach you... I'm sure if you focus on yourself and let the magic fill you. You will see that Shera is not the sword. You are the Shera." She quickly spoke and slowly crawled herself away. She would try to make her let go of her tail only for her to not get turned on again. "What do you mean you didn't know sex could be for enjoyment? For what else could it be?" It was her turn to be confused "I promise you, grab your princess like that during sex and she will melt under your touch... Adora's been teasing me a lot about it too.... Tails and ears are ...just weak spots sometimes"

The blue eyed woman chuckled at her reaction and kept her close. She grinning now as she watched her "For us, sex is just for.. Producing children. I didn’t know that you could have sex just for... Well, fun. Of course I make sure that she feels good. I don't want to hurt her like her husband did... But I didn't know that it could just be for fun"

"I mean.... You... Never touched her because you just.. felt like it? Never had sex because you were needy? Or because of her being needy? Only when you decide to have children you have sex ?" She was so confused at that but she couldn't get her mind off that hand down there. She slowly pulled her hips away a little to avoid making the needy noises.

The other finally let go so she was just holding her hip instead and rubbed it with her thumb "Once or twice... Before I left for the war. But she is pregnant and whatever she needs I give to her. Whether it's her weird cravings.. it’s space during mood swings... I give her whatever she needs and once that was me. Though to be fair she started it by sucking me off."

"oooooh that's a naughty princess you got there" She giggled in return. "I mean.. here we date someone. If we like them we might even go with them…have sex without being married while being just in a relationship. Did you not even touch her before the wedding— Actually did you get married or...Light Spinner didn't allow you to?"

Adora laughed softly and shook her head "She is and I love her just the way she is. But uh... Yes we did have sex before marriage.. The day before she found out she would be marrying the prince actually. Her mother tried to poison me and failed. She poisoned a woman who looked like she could be my twin. Though she had brown eyes I believe. Anyway, because someone got poisoned, every knight participating in the tournament was assigned to guard a princess that night and I got, well, Catra." She continued on with the story, glossing over some of the dirtier details at the end though before turning to her "When I won the fight with the prince's champion I automatically got her hand. We had a small ceremony when we got to Bright Moon, but we married quickly. And soon we will have a child together... I.. Want to raise the child myself, while Catra wants to let the maids do it.."

Catra was listening to her carefully, clearly looking at her and waiting to see if she would continue to talk "Wow...that's a lot for some weeks.... And now she's.. pregnant. So... You could have the baby any time now?"

The other paused before nodding with a soft sigh "Yeah. Apparently it takes three months. Not the nine I thought it would... We have the best doctors and mages with her and now that Adora.. She can heal like I can right...? She can soothe pain and fix wounds..?"

"she can heal and ...as much as I know her powers are limitless though there will be a delay of power since she went back in time" Catra shrugged and looked up at her. "Don't worry... you should try to just have sex with her if you two feel like it " she continued making her nod and pull her closer with a huff

"You arent worried about me getting you pregnant right? I don't.. Really know how it works but it's possible.. considering I got my wife pregnant. There are... A lot of things I don't actually know..."

"It's okay.... Don't worry. It's not so easy to get pregnant.... I've been taking some...uh... Do you know what pills are? They make you not able to have a child" She breathed out and gave her a small kiss on her nose in a playful manner.... Her purrs were echoing in the room.

Adora paused and tilted her head "You mean like herbs? There are herbs that can do that? Is it.. Permanent?" She smiled at the kiss to her nose, pulling her in to kiss her gently.

"No....but they can do that for some....days. Soo you'll be fine...don't worry about it much, blondie~" Catra chuckled and purred while nuzzling more and having her body resting on top of hers. Her hand slowly caresses her arm while breathing calmly at this time. "They're something like herbs I guess...I don't know how to describe it" She admitted as the girl closed her eyes

"Alright.. It’s okay. This is.. Incredible... All of this future technology and advancements... I'm glad I kept that.. Camera on me. That's what it’s called right? I didn't lose that"

"Yeap exactly like that. We could have more pictures but I don't know if I will find other films..." Catra mumbled and looked up at her only to cup her cheek "Hm.." She hummed and slowly sniffled close to her neck. She really had the same scent as her wife but she didn't want to compare them. Her eyes closed and she rested her head on her neck only to slowly fall asleep at the sound of the other's breaths.

"It's okay.. I'll treasure them. And hey, maybe our mages can find a way to duplicate them. I'll set one aside for them.. See if they can figure it out." Adora hummed before falling quiet. She let her sleep and fell asleep as well by the feline’s purrs and quiet snores.

The Return Home

The morning came slowly as the chirping of some birds echoed in the motel room. Catra didn't expect to see herself drunk and on top of this certain Adora. Her eyes opened and pulled up quickly "Damn...My head is aching..." She hummed in distress and stood up. For a second she thought about what she had done but she..didn't care... "Agh....we really have to get going.....Shit I have no car..." She remembered and cursed under her breath while slowly standing up. Her head was aching and her eyes fell closed every time she yawned.

Adora groaned softly as well and stretched. Her back arching slightly before she sat up as well. She rubbed a hand over her face and looked up at her "Well... What a night..." She realised she was still naked and looked for her clothes "We do need to get going. If you're hungover, drink something. You seem to have easy access to clean water everywhere so drink some of that. I'm used to it, so I'll just work through it. We need to go now if we want to get anywhere before night”

"I'm fine... I will be okay we just...need to get dressed real quick and.... find a way to drive to Bright moon... we are not far...but we will need a car ..." she admitted only for her to start walking into the room, dressing up and giving her a quick glance before she point at her to dress up as well. They were both naked after all. After getting some water, she would brush her hair off her face and make a quick call by her phone. Obviously she didn't expect Adora to understand. "Scorpia..do you still have the motorcycle I gave you last year...?" She knew the girl was living around these streets, so she would have to just take it back since she needed to get to their destination before the night falls.

Adora got up and got dressed before gathering what little they had as Catra got ready. She was fully prepared to walk her way to Brightmoon, since she was used to having to walk and ride around.

Scorpia answered quickly, smiling when she realised it was Catra "Wildcat! Hey! Yeah I still have it. It's in our garage. Why? Worried I sold it off?" She giggled through the phone then called out to Perfuma, saying that Catra was calling while Adora just sat and waited for her.

"Ah... they stole my car in this stupid town... I need it for now. Can I have it for like...two days? I'll only need your address again...I don't remember it" She really didn't want to start a conversation with the woman since she had things to do.. Her eyes looked at the blonde one pointing to get up and follow her. She already waited for her to send the address.
Scorpia agreed, giving out her address. She asked if she should come pick them up instead but Catra refused.

Adora stood up and nodded, walking over to her "Who is that?" Scorpia gasped softly when she heard the voice of the warrior from the other side of the phone "Adora is with you?! We'll come pick you up then. Don't worry. Where are you?"

"No!" Catra couldn't waste time to explain what happened with all this Adora thing right now. "Listen. I will just come to grab the bike then I leave with Adora.... we really can't be late today.." She hissed while glaring at the girl who asked her who that was. She rolled her eyes and continued to walk all the way to the door and outside. There was no time to waste at this point.. they were just too close to not arrive today... and Scorpia would obviously slow them down.

Adora lifted her hands, huffing and stepping back and leaving her be. Though she did follow her outside. Scorpia paused before nodding "Alright, alright. I'll have the bike out and ready then for the both of you. I'm guessing it's an emergency?"

"yeah... You can say it's something like that. We can't waste a second, Scorpia... I promise once things will get better I'll pay you a visit with Adora" Catra mumbled and looked at the map on her phone. It wouldn't take them too long to get there as the woman had hung up the phone and gave the blonde a small pat. "You'll be fine ridin’ my old baby. We will get there faster and you....may die on the road" She commented jokingly to Adora and smirked as the bike was out. It was a clean black matte Suzuki with a seat where they could both fit thankfully.

Adora just followed her. Her back was straight and her things were thrown over her shoulder. When they got there though she paused at the bike, confused "How.. Do you ride that? Like a horse?" She looked at her, ignoring her comment about dying on the road. She knew Catra wouldn't put her in danger or not on purpose "As long as we get there I don't care how"

"Yeah, something like a horse. Come" She chuckled and jumped up on the bike only to start it and pat on the seat from the back "Jump up" She breathed out and looked at the woman. Her eyes scanned her as she climbed up as well "hold on me, okay?" She spoke before the woman began to drive quickly. The wind was blowing her hair back but she was kind of careful with it since she had the blonde behind her.

Adora walked over, throwing her leg over and sitting down behind her. She wrapped her arms around her waist without hesitation. She lifted her legs up for her too since she figured her feet shouldn't be dragging on the ground. When they took off she squealed and held her tighter but kept her head up. At first she was terrified as she held onto her mostly because of the speed, lack of.. Well any protection and because they had nothing holding them there. After maybe fifteen minutes of riding though she relaxed a bit, smiling as she looked around "This is so awesome!!!" She almost yelled making Catra chuckle when she heard her cheerful attitude

"Bet no horse goes so fast, huh?" She chuckled. Her eyes sparkled. Honestly she was more of a fan of bikes than cars. She just used the car from the time Adora got pregnant for...more protection. "Does it feel like riding a horse?" She spoke loud to hear her.

Adora was laughing and resting her head on her shoulder. Her eyes gleamed and her lips let out a little bit of a manic giggle "Not at all! This has like a.. A rumbling roar and- and a horse just rocks back and forth! This is so cool!!" She squeezed her again, grinning ear to ear now as she held on her.

The feline chuckled, smiling brightly while enjoying the fact she liked it. She leaned forward only to give her a small kiss on her cheek before continuing to drive. She really didn't care that she got yelled at by others about going fast. She had to get to the Bright Moon today and no one would stop her now that she had her bike. "I'm glad you like it more than the car... I'm a fan of this babe" She said as the other one was holding her closer.

"This is so fast! We'll get there in no time!" She smiled while looking around and just admiring the view as she laid her head on her back.

Catra's tail slowly wrapped around her waist while she was resting her head against her. She honestly would love to make her stay longer...under other circumstances. "That's true. We will arrive earlier, now... now just sit there and enjoy the ride"

Adora nodded when she was told to sit back and enjoy the ride. She leaned against her and let Catra take control. She closed her eyes for a bit and just... Enjoyed it while she could. Maybe she could look into ways to get back and forth in time easier... Without trading places so they can visit each other?

The hours that would take with the car became one hour and some minutes. She would park the bike as close to the sorceress' house only to quickly jump down and knock on her door.

Adora got off when Catra did, walking up with her and looking around "This is Mystacore? It looks.. Very different." She hummed but didn't say anything else, standing almost like a bodyguard beside her. Old habits die hard and all that.

Catra was feeling strange to have her behind her and stand there like a guard "Bright Moon and.. You really have to go back…. maybe standing like that will be more appreciated there.. I'm getting creeped out " She spoke while having her tail all puffed up.

Adora realised and relaxed just nodding as she forced herself to drop the guarded look and stand beside her instead.

"Catra! How are you!?" Glimmer's aunt, Castaspella, obviously cheered and looked confused at the blonde one. "And.... Adora ...looks....different... what happened?"

The blonde smiled kindly and offered a hand to shake, though it was thicker and more calloused then their Adora's hands would be. She figured it would just be better to stay quiet and let Catra do the talking.

"What happened with her?-"

"This Adora is...agh Shadow Weaver switched the two Adoras.... She comes from another century.... We have to send her back and bring the real Adora here...! Can you help me?" Catra hissed quickly and sighed while entering the house. Casta was still staring at her.

"Wow this is so cool... Oh, by the way hi! I'm Adora, um... I'm a Knight from Brightmoon, sworn in under Queen Angela. You're Castaspella right? Glimmer's aunt? I've heard about you from Glimmer but I haven't had the opportunity to meet you yet." Adora looked around the house while following and gave her a surprised look. It was cosy but at the same time so ….different than their houses back in her days.

Casta smiled a little in return "It's so nice to meet you too, Adora. You're as talkative and full of energy as our Adora you know~" She wanted to make her stay for longer and maybe offer her something to eat or drink? "You must be starving. Are you sure you want to hurry? We don't know where Adora might be... you will starve" She looked at her in concern but got a glare from Catra in return.

"I'm sorry, but my wife is probably only days away from giving birth at this point and I have to get back to her to be there for her and our baby" Adora refused and rubbed the back of her neck. She was still anxious about Catra giving birth without her by her side.

"Really, Casta. Can you make a quick spell or….something like that to send her back? I want Adora back too…" Catra wanted the blonde one to stay but she understood that Adora must be too worried about her wife's safety at this point so she made the older one hurry.

The black haired woman agreed in the end, offering a seat on her couch while she was reading through the pages of some books. It was a difficult spell to cast and find but she remembered she had read it before somewhere in her books.

═══════ ≪ °⁕° ≫ ═══════════════ ≪ °⁕° ≫
═══════════════ ≪ °⁕° ≫ ═══════

The same morning though Catra had a rather weird feeling. She was feeling sick. Her stomach was in pain and she didn't want to eat anything or drink. The princess was only laying in bed and covered by a blanket. Did she catch a cold? Probably, but the doctor couldn't know till she got any other common symptom.

Adora slept for a while longer. She was clearly not used to getting up early, though when she finally did it was with a groan, a yawn, and a big stretch as she sat up "Are you alright..? You don't look too good" she furrowed her eyebrows in curiosity.

The other grunted in distress. When Adora woke up it was the time when the doctor was walking away and she shook her head. She felt like she wanted to puke…

The blonde put a hand on her stomach then, letting it help with the pain "What is it? Nausea?"

The feline leaned back. Her head felt heavy. "I have no idea...maybe.... The doctor didn't know what to do.... He gave me a portion...that's all" She looked up at her, soon she would rest back and close her eyes "I just want it to end... I'm so tired..." She whined. She was typically alone so...she was starting to get too emotional again.

Adora moved closer and let her lean against her. She kept her hand on her stomach "This may be a uh.. Personal question but it's important. Did you feel your water break?" She paused, realising she might not understand what that means "it uh, it feels like you wet yourself.. But it's not pee and it happens.. Right before you give birth"

The feline wasn't embarrassed at such questions. She shook her head and closed her eyes. "No, I'm just feeling dizzy and... I don't know.. maybe the pressure of all these days caused this..." She didn't move. The hand that was on her belly actually made her calm down a little and she took a sharp breath "Thanks... I know you don't even know me but you're..really trying to help.."

"Catra... I've explained this before.. I'm Adora. Just not your Adora. I have a Catra of my own back home..this is the least I can do for the other me.." She sighed softly, letting her rest against her.

The girl on the other hand, would close her eyes to get a little more comfortable but at the same time her head felt like it would explode. "Can you call the doctor...I don't feel better and.. It seems to be getting worse..."She hummed and touched her forehead.

Adora nodded and got up, heading to find the doctor after reassuring her that she would be right back. Once she found the doctor she walked over "What herbs are you giving her?"
"It's this one, young lady.." He looked down at her and pulled out his medicines, pointing out the one that he had used for the princess to not fall into depression. "It's the best we have. The princess was already feeling better" He knew the woman was coming from the future or....something like that but he didn't say anything. Angella told the news to everyone. "...They're called poppy seeds. The princess took the same dose today too but she got sick so....she won't be taking any till we find out what's wrong. Perhaps the baby caused all this sickness" He hummed mostly to himself, keeping some notes on his small book.

"What- no that's not the baby! She's a magicat not a human. She can't have poppy seeds!" Adora gasped in surprise. How could they not know that? The girl grabbed the seeds and continued "If you want something for the pain try Catnip, or Cat Thyme, but not poppy seeds. It could kill her if you gave her too much. Or at the very least put her in a coma or cause her to give birth to a still born." She paused, sighing and making herself relax before rubbing the bridge of her nose. "From now on ask me before you give her anything other then what I just told you please"

"Alright...What should I give her for now then?..." He asked as he did keep notes. She must know more than him about this as it seemed.

"If you don't have Catnip or Cat Thyme, then just hold off on the herbs for now. I can cover it just fine myself. I need to get back to her now to make sure you didn't give her too much." She headed back to the room then. She was getting worried now that she knew what they were giving her.

The feline was already taking heavy deep breaths. Her eyes opened when the woman looked up at the maid who just entered the room. She made her tea and she leaned in to give it to her but the feline felt too weak.. She didn't speak. She was just laying there..her eyes closed and tried to calm down a little while sipping from her tea when she saw the blonde one. "I’m feeling..better" She lied.

"You don't look like it... They were giving you poppy seeds which is... Well poisonous for magicats. I gave him alternates to help but they didn't.. Have it I'm guessing. So until then you have to work with what I can help with.." Adora sat down beside her again "How are you feeling? And please be honest... Too much poppy seed can really hurt you and I need to know what it's done so far"

"Poisonous!? Is my baby alright!?" Catra immediately panicked. She didn't care about the rest but she was more worried about the child. She...she already lost another child once. She doesn't want that to happen again. "I....I feel like I want to ...throw up....and my head is aching....my stomach too."

"Your baby is fine. I promise. I know they are." She walked over, sitting beside her and putting a hand on her stomach again to help with the pain and nodded "Just make sure to drink and eat a lot. Flush your system out and you'll be okay. You have me here to heal you. It wasn't too big of a dose.. Don't worry, okay? I'll help you. Catnip and Cat Thyme will help as soon as they have some. And yes I know what that does, but it's the best option I can think of right now"

The princess called the maids to help a little with moving around. "lets..... agh.." she hummed again all of sudden and tried to not put more pressure on herself..

The blonde one helped her up as well. Her hands glowing to help sooth any pain "you can walk around for a bit but you still need to rest often. We can walk to the balcony so you can get some fresh air?"

Catra leaned close to the woman. The pain was truly getting less intense when she touched her belly but she was still trying to keep herself warm so she put on her robe first before she followed her outside. Her eyes scanned the beautiful garden of the kingdom "I can't find any way to thank you.... Do you need anything I can give? Queen Angella is still working on that spell so.. you'll be sent in your own home soon"

Adora just smiled softly, shaking her head and standing beside her to help her up as she stood on the balcony "No... No. I'm just happy to help. If it's too bad I can carry you back inside? I'm.. Pretty strong despite how I look" She said with a soft chuckle and a smirk.

"I don't think you should.... I'm heavy. I know it" The brunette didn't feel comfortable when her Adora was carrying her around while she was pregnant either. It was obvious she wouldn't want the random Adora to pick her up.

The other girl giggled softly, transforming into She-ra with her ponytail up high and her long blonde hair swaying gently. "I'm sure I can handle it. Come on, let's get you back to bed if it hurts so much to stand here.. Or I can just hold you for a bit"

The princess on the other hand was stunned by the beautiful woman. She had never seen her Adora being like this. Her uniform was different and her hair was all down and curly. Her eyes scanned her from head to toe as a soft pink colour formed on her cheeks "I... You can hold me for a bit...? Yes... That'd be nice.." Her ears were down due to the pain and the feeling of liking the girl's appearance.

Shera laughed softly and picked her up, cradling her in one arm and pressing a hand to her stomach to soothe the pain with the other. Unlike the Knight Adora, she glowed all the time and was.. Significantly taller as well.

Catra was all flustered. She really liked that new form. Her eyes looked up at her and leaned close to her. "You are really beautiful..." She looked at her and gave her a small smile.

Shera looked down at her, blushing when she called her beautiful "I-.. I um.. I.. Thank you...?" She was flustered now too as she tried to avoid eye contact.

Catra looked away too, trying to stop the feeling of warmth in her cheeks. A soft purr escaped her throat and she leaned against her more, nuzzling close to her.. she missed doing this with her Adora.

The warrior princess giggled softly and kept her close, looking back out at the garden and letting her nuzzle against her "Do you want to go back to bed, Catra?"

"Yes... I'd like that.." She whispered and nuzzled slowly as her tail was wrapping around her arm.

Adora nodded, hugging her closer and rubbing her belly gently as she took them back to bed before laying Catra down. Then laying down herself as she kept a hand on her stomach to keep the pain away and to be sure that the poppy wouldn’t affect the baby.

The princess on the other hand was laying now tiredly on the mattress and had her eyes closed while leaning close to the blonde one. "How do you know about all this? Even the doctor didn't know.."

"My wife is a magicat too... Our medicine is... Very, very advanced. You aren't human so the rules are a bit different for you. Just like how you probably can't have milk or at least not a lot without getting an upset stomach right? Magicats are lactose intolerant. So, all milk does is upset your stomach." She wrapped an arm around her, looking down at her with a soft hum "A good thing for pain tolerance with humans is weed. You can smoke it, make it into food and it works.. Kinda like how catnip will work for you. Though, different strands will cause different reactions in people so you have to get the right kind of weed for that. Because the wrong kind can.. Well make someone think they're dying even if they aren't"

"I...was drinking milk during the whole pregnancy....That's why sometimes my stomach felt weird..?" She had no idea of all this. Her eyes looked up at her blue ones and she took a small breath before closing her eyes, focusing on relaxing from the pain while the other one was doing a good job on easing the pain.

"Yeah probably. Chocolate also isn't very good for you. It can actually act as a poison if you have too much" Adora hummed as the girl's tail wrapped around herself and her ears fell softly on the pillow.

"I want something for me too, not only..normal people" She didn't know how to explain it since their medicines were only what they used on humans. "Maybe you should write to me about everything I can't eat or ..drink...just in case-" The girl stopped before continuing "Do you know how to write? Sorry I assumed you know.." Since...not every woman knew how to read or write these days, she had to ask.

"Everyone is taught how to read and write where I'm from. It's.. a law, children have to get an education, whether it's from home or from a school. I know how to read, write, do maths, science and even some basics of another language, as well as history"

Catra was surprised that the girl knew so many things. She laid tiredly on the bed and nuzzled on the blanket while holding her tight "Then you will write everything!" She commanded jokingly

"Whatever my princess commands" The other one responded, obviously just following along with the joke with a giggle.
A bright smile appeared on the magicat's face, remembering that her knight was calling her like that. She was looking forward to seeing her again… she wanted to hug her and not another self of hers.. "You're amazing" She whispered and chuckled as she pointed to the desk in the room "I have a book there...a notebook. You can write them there, whenever you want...the child will be born and I have to know what they will be able to eat and not get sick.."

Adora laughed softly and held her close. When she pointed to the notebook she nodded, rubbing her back "I'll do that later.. After you're asleep maybe. I don't want you to be in pain"

The princess found it really sweet of her. She looked at her and nodded, knowing that she wouldn't be in much pain as she could have been if she wasn't there. Her eyes closed and she began to trail off to sleep. Once Catra was finally fully asleep the blonde was careful to make sure not to wake her when she stood up. She made her way over to the desk and got to work on writing do's and don'ts for Catra and the baby.

The morning went away just like that, with them both now sleeping till the late evening arrived. The feline was awake. Her sickness was getting better because of Adora and her powers to heal her. She was sitting down on her desk while writing some things, mostly signing up some papers to send them to her mother. She was getting worried that she wouldn't see the woman again and now it was truly a time for the feline to speak up to her.

Adora stayed in the room with her, staying by her side in case the cramps kicked in again so she could be there to help her. Right now she stood behind her as she wrote, gently massaging her shoulders but keeping out of her way "The list I wrote for you is right over here on the desk by the way. It's everything I could remember"

The woman looked up at her and her ears perked up only to smile a little at her "You know you shouldn't do all this... I told you I'll be fine. "She meant all the extra care she was offering. She stood up only to reach for the paper but she felt a sharp pain on her belly instead. She gasped and touched her stomach, grunting at the sudden pain and looking at the blonde one "Adora-.." She spoke and gave her a worried look. It seemed that her water had broken.

When the other realised what was happening she helped her up, leading her over to the bed so she could hold onto one of the posts "Stay there! Or, maybe pace a bit but if you do make sure you hold onto something so you don't fall! I'm going to get some midwives!" Adora ran out of the room then, making the other gasp

"No Adora-" The magicat reached up but she left. She didn't want to stay alone at that time. Even if she didn't have her lover...she still had Adora to be by her side.. She laid down while taking several deep breaths and trying to hold back her pain.

When the blonde found a maid she stopped her, asking her to go get Catra's midwives before running back so she could be there with her. She put a hand on her stomach to soothe the pain though she didn't get rid of it completely. It was important for Catra to be able to tell what was going on.

The maid called out the midwives to help the woman as the girl was feeling less in pain. "Calm down and breathe deeply, my lady" The woman spoke as the feline whined. It could take hours for the baby to come out to the woman's hands so she had to just make her calm down. She noticed how Adora was pregnant as well and the older midwife smiled "Is this your first child?" She spoke to her

"Oh, right. Yes, yes this is my first child. I'm glad I can be here to help her too"

"Will you be around for us to take care of your birth as well when the time comes? My Lady's will take some time… judging by the situation" She pointed down at her and gave her a small smile. It was really difficult at the time to give birth mostly because of complications.

Adora shook her head "Oh no. I'm expecting to be home before I'm close to being due but thank you for the offer. I'm just here to help her get through this. I can heal so I'm here more for moral support and to help with pain

"We could take her to the bath... Warm water will make her calmer and it will be easier for the child to come" Another younger midwife spoke at the woman as she could hear the feline's grunts slowly fainting. She wouldn't be in great pain in less than a few minutes.

Adora noticed how long it was taking and shook her head "We need to get her up and walk for a bit. I'll help with the pain but she might need to walk. It helps with dilation and it might help this go faster. Your water has broken right Catra?" She looked down at her then, squeezing her hand gently.

"I don't feel like...walking at all.. I'm good here" Catra whined out and leaned her head back on the pillow. This time she was indeed calm, no pain, just discomfort but at the same time she felt the cramps getting intense sometimes. It did take a long time for the girl to deliver. Some hours later the girl would yell out in pain as she pushed. The midwives helped her as much as they could as the girl dug her nails into the sheets while cursing under her breath.

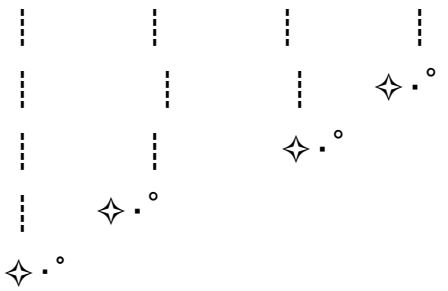

The blonde girl's powers began to not be as effective as earlier. It seemed that Castaspella began to summon the spell but the warrior's magic powers would be not effective anymore.

Catra's hand only reached to grab hers for a second. She didn't know what to do. Would this Adora leave too and she would stay all alone? The older woman continued to encourage the girl to push further. It wouldn't take too long for the first mumbled cry to be echoing in the room. Her ears twitched and the same hand that was holding Adora rested down on the bed.

Adora stayed beside her, holding her hand tightly and letting her do what felt right at the moment. She was healing the pain as best as she could while not completely numbing her. When she felt that it had stopped working though and she realised what was going on her eyes widened and she mumbled "no no no not now.. I can't go now. Hold on" she tried to fight it. She gritted her teeth and strengthened her healing. She focused on her and fought against the pull of the spell. She was so close. If she could just hold out long enough…

Mismatching eyes fixed on the blue ones and she gave her a soft tired smile as a thank you for her help. She was scared of staying alone but if there was a single chance for her to see her knight again after such pressure she wouldn't hold her back. She closed her eyes and took a deep breath as the cries continued and one of the midwives took the baby to wrap it into a clean towel. She didn't even have the strength to look at it at the moment or even see if Adora was gone or not.

As soon as Adora was certain both Catra and the child were safe, she relaxed and closed her eyes, letting the spell take her away and hoping that she would be replaced by the proper Adora. She put a hand on her stomach to protect her in case she fell the wrong way, as a way to protect her still unborn child.

The knight groaned, shifting just slightly but didn't wake up for another few minutes. When she finally lifted her head, she rubbed her eyes. Her vision was blurry before she realised where she was. In the hallway of BrightMoon’s castle. She quickly ran around the halls only to hear the cries of her wife and opened the door of the room with a loud thud.

Catra was lying on bed. The midwives were away, leaving only both of them in the bedroom and especially Catra resting after giving her some healing herbs for the girl to calm down. The right ones this time. She was exhausted and the feline was too warm so she had a cloth on top of her forehead to cool her down.

Adora was thankfully in the castle and now right beside the bed. She relaxed when she saw her, smiling softly and cupping her cheek. She leaned in to kiss the other one, assuming she was asleep though she was gentle, moving slowly and only whispering "I missed you, my love"

The girl's eyes opened and smiled, slowly nuzzling close to her. "I.... I thought you were dead...." She whispered and whimpered at the feeling of her body feeling so uncomfortable from all the hours she was dealing with the pregnancy "You're here to stay...right..?" She continued with a cracked voice and leaned in. She didn't have any bed for the child so for now a huge basket with warm blankets was on the wooden floor beside the bed.

Adora held her as close as she could. Of course she was careful of her lower half as she hugged her and kissed the top of her head "I'm here.. I'm right here. I'm not going anywhere. I promise" She smiled at her, cupping her cheek and looking down with tears in her eyes "The other Adora was here to help right? Everything went okay?"

"I will be okay... I have.. just a fever... I will be okay.." She leaned close and trembled softly against her while trying not to cry of happiness. She was finally there. Finally alive, beside her. She was talking to her and holding her protectively once again. Her arms wrapped around her as a soft sniffle escaped. "You're alive…" The girl spoke, making the blonde one tear up as well

"Yes, my princess… I'm right here… I won't leave.. I was so worried.. I'm so sorry I wasn't here earlier.."

The brunette shook her head and let out a soft chuckle "Don't apologise, please… she was helping me till she left... she didn't help with the.. second one though..." She hummed and smiled just a little, pulling away to look at her.

"The second one?" Adora looked down at her, confused "What second one.. You-.. You mean we had twins..?"

The feline nodded and smiled before she leaned close to her to give her a small kiss on her lips "I didn't expect it either... we have them here.." she smiled a little and tried to sit on the bed.

Adora helped her up, kissing her again with a grin and once she made sure she was stable and alright she leaned over to look at her children. She teared up again when she saw them. She got down and scooped them both up gently, holding them as carefully as she could and grinning "They're beautiful.."

"yes ..... They both have the same ears..." Catra murmured and leaned in to give her a small peck on her cheek. "I love you ...." She could feel how warm the feline was. She was pale and weak. The children were a boy and a girl. It was rare but so was the magicat. The girl had platinum blonde hair with small cat-like ears and two green-ish eyes that glimpsed just like Catra's. Her skin was more like Adora's, not pale but not as dark as Catra's. The boy on the other hand had a darker skin colour. His hair was dark brown and his eyes were blue. They both had a short tail for now.

The other girl smiled before looking up at her again "I'm going to get you some water and something light to eat and then you need to rest, okay?" She kissed each child's forehead, smiling and looking down at them "I'll be right back cuties... You just wait right here.." She gently laid them back down, swaddling them up in the blankets and leaning down to give Catra another kiss "I'll find a maid to do that alright? I'll only be away for a few minutes. I promise you"

"I don't want you to leave.... Even for these minutes... I missed you... I really thought you were dead...." Catra was scared.... She leaned away from her and rested back on her.

The babies were sleeping and smiled when they felt the kiss of the other mom. "Don't take long..."

Adora held her close, rubbing her side and kissing the top of her head "I won't be long... And I'll come right back. I don't care if the queen herself orders me to come see her." She kissed her again before finally getting up, heading out to find a maid as quickly as possible. She found one and asked for some lighter food stuffs like bread and a soup as well as some water. The thoughts of her wife being safe and sound in their bedroom and herself being finally home after almost a week made her feel so much relaxed… relieved almost. She could finally embrace Catra and that was all that mattered to her.

(Update)

Hello! Its 102firegirl here. Im sorry about the slow updates, ive been off on vacation, and GiGi may be losing power here soon.

Im sorry for the delay, and we'll get to work on the story as soon as we are available. Ill keep posting updates as needed, and as i get new information!

The good old days

Chapter Notes

Hey Gigi here!

I'm back and thankfully able to write more often. I was dealing with some black outs because of the fire here in Greece so I couldn't keep on writing but now everything is alright and they stopped the fire <3 I know the whole planet is burning and I hope everyone is alright and safe! See you in the next chapter <3

The hours were passing by and as soon as the sun raised Catra opened her eyes. She had an awful sleep. She was waking up all the time in the middle of the night. She held Adora close to her in fear that she would be gone if she didn't hold her so tightly.

The blonde one stayed beside her, keeping her arms wrapped around her even as she slept. When she finally woke up though she mumbled, kissing the top of her head "Good morning, love... How did you sleep?"

Catra didn't know what to do to keep herself calm and off the feeling of uneasiness. Her touch became light and she looked up at her only to shrug "I... Didn't sleep… I don't feel good.." She murmured and dug her face on the crook of her neck. Smelling her scent was soothing but she could still feel drained when the baby girl began to cry. "She must be hungry.." She grunted and pulled away from her wife so she could hold the child up against her.

Adora helped her up, kissing her forehead before leaning over to get them both. Since the boy seemed to be upset when his sister wasn't around, offering the girl to Catra. She looked down at the young boy then with a smile, gently rubbing his stomach with a finger, letting him kick and squirm as he wanted too.

The feline looked up at her and took a soft breath when she felt the baby begin to drink from her chest. She rubbed the smaller head of the baby as she looked now at the blonde one. "He really has your eyes... Actually she has more green eyes than her brother...and her ears aren't exactly like mine.. I think" She added and observed the small child.

The other one smiled softly at the boy, rubbing his chest now and letting him play with her hand. "Yeah. It looks like the little boy has little bits of green in his eyes too... They're beautiful. Both of them." She smiled gently and kissed her cheek "We make gorgeous babies, don't we?"

"Of course we do.... I'm not sure if I want to make more... At least for a while" She smiled nervously since she was truly tired already to get pregnant again. Her eyes looked at the boy and she smiled as she could see that he was occupied with that hand of the blonde and didn't cry for milk yet. "You're gonna spoil them just like how you did with me" She joked and tried to push aside the sharper voice of hers because of the lack of sleep.

Adora smiled softly, looking up at her "That is completely up to you. If you only want two then that's all we will have. Apparently sex isn't.. Just for making children. As soon as you're healed up enough I'm spoiling you too~" She grinned, kissing her cheek again and leaned against her gently "I'll continue to spoil all three of you. Because you all deserve it." She looked at her then, kissing her nose gently "I love you."

"You.... You know I was just ... Feeling weird when I was with the babies in me, right?" She found it weird. The fact she was talking about sex like it was used for something else... "But I'm okay now! And I will make sure you're all safe..."

Adora shook her head though, after all this explanation from that future Catra she had her mind focused on pleasing the woman she loved rather than just ...using sex for children "I know my love. But that does not mean that I'm going to force you into anything you are not ready for or dont want." She held her close, kissing her cheek "Ill explain the sex thing more later, after the little ones are asleep again." She smiled gently at her, pausing for a moment to just admire her by scanning her perfect form from head to toe, pausing on her lips that she missed so much.

The brunette felt her cheeks flushing red when she noticed the woman admiring her. She had long to see her like this and it always brought her a slight red colour on her cheeks. "What?....am I so beautiful while feeding the child?" She chuckled ,feeling already better now that she knew Adora was beside her ,her Adora not anyone else.

The girl giggled softly, kissing her gently and nodding "You are beautiful no matter what you do, say or wear." She cupped her cheek, admiring her for a moment "Goddess, I missed you so much..."

"I missed you too.... I thought I wouldn't see you again" Catra looked down at the child and leaned closer to her. The boy was starting to sob though and the feline would look at the little baby girl to realise she was sleeping with her small palm on her chest. "They're so cute...even though they're noisy" She sighed ,holding the other one with her hand and cupping his body with one arm to bring him and feed him too.

The other girl nodded, leaning closer to her once again and letting Catra lean against her rather than the bed. She took the girl from her when the boy started to make a fuss. She gently rubbed her chest too. "They are very noisy... but don't worry about me leaving again, okay? I promise you I'm not going anywhere. I'll fight tooth and nail to stay by your side... if they want me somewhere it better be somewhere I can take you with me." She ran her fingers through Catra's hair then, just holding her close and cuddling her as much as she could, more affectionate than usual due to the separation.

The feline obviously didn't pull away. She loved that she was so affectionate and cuddly. She slowly nuzzled against her and gave her a small kiss while having her boy in her arms. "As much as I want to stay optimistic, Queen Angella told me that after your disappearance my mother became stronger...the Horde took more and more ground" She admitted and gave her a worried expression. She was scared of having her being sent away again.

The knight sighed softly, rubbing her back and kissing her forehead again "Catra, I don't have my sword... I'm not as useful on the battlefield as I used to be. Until, or unless we get it back I don't believe they'll be putting me in battle. If anything I'm going to be possibly training more recruits to send to the front lines instead.." she looked down at her, cupping her cheek "it's alright. I love you, okay? I'll stay here for you. I don't want to leave you"

After a small pause Catra spoke again. "fine.... " She whispered and purred while feeling her light touch. She loved how soft the woman was now. It was truly what she wanted for her, to be healthy and to stay under her watch because if not... She would rush to the field again. "How was the battle going while you were there...? Did you win?" It seemed that the last letters of hers never arrived in her hands.

The other girl held onto her still, speaking softly "I'm guessing my last letters didn't arrive... but yes. We were winning right before I got captured. I don't know about after I got captured but it was going really good when I.. yeah." she kissed the top of her head "I don't want to talk about this though. I want to focus on you and our family"

Her ears perked back when she paused and remained close to her nuzzling her back against her chest "I'm sorry... I wish I was a warrior to protect you in battle sometimes.." She let out a whisper and kissed her lips "You must be hungry though... Do you want to call the maids or a servant to bring us something to eat?”

Adora kissed the top of her head "my love, you're perfect the way you are " she paused and continued after a short breath. "no, no, I'm alright. I just want to be here with you. I think he's done eating, love. Do you want me to take him?"

"hm... Sure" The feline looked down at the baby as he was just resting his head now on her chest with closed eyes. "Such a cutie...even though they hurt some hours ago .. they're worth it" She smiled and chuckled "But you would like me to be a warrior, wouldn't you?" She breathed out.

Adora smiled softly, carefully taking him from her so she wouldn't wake him up, cradling them both close to her chest then. "You can be whatever you want, my love. Though... I would find it attractive if you could beat me in a fight" She chuckled softly, leaning in to kiss her cheek and mumbling "You're perfect just the way you are"

Catra leaned close and purred at the feeling of the woman's affection. She opened her eyes only to give her a soft peck on her kiss and pull away from her. "I will learn and will beat you in a fight then." She joked and looked up at her only to sit and take the babies to let them sleep. She made the other one giggle and smirk

"mmm.. I can't wait for the day that happens" she replied quickly when she saw her standing up she followed her.
"I'll go tell the cook to make something for us to eat.. I'm hungry.." She hummed and stood up with a deep breath
"no, no love, you need to rest. What do you want?" Adora refused to let her go and held her hand softly.
"I don't know ... I'm just hungry...whatever you want" The feline chuckled at her reaction even though the girl was still tired and she could see it but at the same time she knew Adora must be tired as well. "Hey... After you tell them to prepare something.. come back here, okay?" Her ears perked back.

Adora nodded, keeping her close and kissing her before helping her sit back down again, Then she turned to walk off. Right as she got to the door Catra spoke again and she turned back with a smile "right back, I promise. I'll be back before you know it" she then stepped out to look for a maid again, finding one as quickly as she could.

The feline remained in the silence of the room. She glanced at the window which was now half open because of the wind. She walked to it ,leaning close to it only to rub the back of her ear. She was... Worried, deep inside even if she knew Adora was there she was feeling so... Strange. Her mother was the one who caused all this war and she knew that she had to just... Let go and accept that she would have to live with her causing war every now and then...

When Adora was still in the hall though Angella happened to walk there as well. A small smile formed on her lips "I'm glad you're back"

Adora looked up at her and smiled, nodding her head "I'm glad to be back. Though.. she still has my sword."
"So I've been informed.. unfortunately" Angella hummed and she noticed the girl when she saw a maid and went by to stop her "Excuse me. My wife and I are hungry. Could you bring some food up to our room? Thank you" she let her go then, turning back to Angella "I have twins now.. a boy and a girl."
"Congratulations, young one...I hope you have plenty of time to see them.... For now, Adora, because Light Spinner having your sword is... Really serious..." She spoke after a while, making Adora nod and letting out a sigh
"I promised Catra I wouldn't leave her side and I'm useless without my sword, without she-ra. I don't believe I would be much use other than a commander, or a trainer here at the castle." she looked up at her then "I'm sorry ma'am but I'm not ready to be on the battlefield just yet."
"I know .... But at the same time they have real power with them... Can you speak to the commanders? To suggest a way to defend our land, else they will enter the Bright Moon in two days.." The queen was really worried.. she couldn't lie about that. Light Spinner was too powerful and her army was even stronger this time.
"Two days.. Yeah, yeah I can talk with them. I can start training new recruits too, if that would help. I can't sit around doing nothing, even if I'm not useful on the battlefield any-.. At the time." She corrected herself, standing straight as she watched her, a good soldier as always.

The woman smiled at how good the woman was on orders. She nodded and rubbed her shoulder before she took a step back "The best soldier I have. We owe you, Adora" She murmured and began to walk away.
The blonde smiled softly at the praise and nodded, giving her a short bow before turning to walk back to the room after thanking the queen.

Catra on the other hand was still on the window, glancing at the beautiful view of the sun and the tail wagging slowly.

Once Adora got in the room, she walked up behind Catra and wrapped her arms around her, kissing her shoulder "My love. You shouldn't be standing yet.. you should still be resting. I talked to the queen. She won’t send me out to battle. Instead I'm going to talk to the commanders and give them advice. I may be training new recruits too, but I'm staying here."

The feline's skin puffed at the affection. She didn't expect such treatment but she didn't mind that in the end. She smiled and leaned against her, pressing her shoulder and body against hers to feel the warmth "I'll be fine.. I just wanted to see the view.... That's all" She hummed and looked away.

Adora closed her eyes and nuzzled into her neck, helping to hold her up if she insisted to stay standing "at least let me help you then. I don't want you pushing yourself too far too fast, okay?" she pressed a few soft kisses along her neck and shoulder, more as a sign of affection than anything with an ulterior motive.

The feline closed one eye, enjoying the kisses and purring audibly while feeling her skin being peppered with kisses. She smiled brightly and nuzzled close while being needy for more affection. "The sky is so beautiful... I wish we could go to that waterfall you said long ago"

The knight smiled as well when she felt her start purring again, pressing her full body against her for comfort. Of course she was still helping to hold up some of Catra's weight. She nuzzled her neck again, kissing it once more "someday we'll have a full picnic out there at our waterfall. The kids can be old enough to stay home alone so we can do whatever we want for that day. I promise you, that I will spoil you rotten the moment I am given the chance"

The princess smiled and blushed softly but she pressed against her more. She didn't know how she felt so...warm inside now that she was around her… now that she had her arms wrapping around her and providing the care and affection she wished for days now. "I will too... I could actually spoil you anytime, not only in the waterfall... Once this war ends we will both be able to move around freely"

Adora nodded, smiling until the war she referred to triggered something in her. She tensed slightly and even looked confused. She stared out of the window now, eyebrows furrowed creating small wrinkles in between them. Within her mind though she couldn't focus. Fuzzy memories of.. something, kept appearing and disappearing before she could make any sense of them. Her eyes now flicked about slightly as she tried to figure out what was going on, but before she could it was gone. She hadn't been squeezing very hard, luckily, but even then her grip had tightened during that moment, to which she made herself relax again and nuzzle into her "of course. We can spoil each other...and the kids of course."

Catra felt the woman's tensed grip and looked back to her but when she called her name she didn't answer. She furrowed her eyebrows, ears perked back and eyes fixed on hers. "Adora...?" She said again after she finished her sentence but she got interrupted by the door knocking in a way that got her surprised and puffed up. "Yes come in" She breathed out and tried to take a short step back as she looked to the servant who brought them their food. He placed it on the short table, bowed and left. Catra was still worried about her lover "What's wrong?..."

Adora tensed more when the door got knocked on but relaxed as soon as the servant came in. Turning to look back at the servant for a moment she just nodded to him, before turning back to Catra "Nothing, my love. I just.. got lost in thought for a moment. I'm sorry. I'm alright." She didn't want to worry her, especially when she herself didn't know what was going on. She assumed it may just be some side effect from the previous spell, hopefully one that will go away soon.

The female looked up at her and nodded before she cupped her cheek and placed a kiss on her lips "I love you..." She whispered and took some steps only to look at her and sit on the bedside to eat with her. She really couldn't believe she would have her around for longer than a day. "Maybe we could go for a ride... ? Swift Wind is here so... We could go together somewhere far from the duelling grounds." She spoke in a calm manner and smiled at her, ears perking up again.

Adora smiled and sat down beside her, kissing her back happily and pushing the previous experience away from her mind. "my love you just gave birth to twins. I'm surprised you're as energetic and able to move as you are. Though.. Now that I think about it, if the other me was here healing you, you'll probably heal sooner than expected because of it.."

"No...it's because of you being here, not the other you ,Adora.... If you weren't here... If you were dead I would be thinking only about the children to live for.... I'm glad you're here and...we can do things together even in situations like this" She looked at her ,slowly leaning against her as her tail wrapped around her arm making the other wrap her arm around her.

The blonde rubbed her side gently as if to soothe her "I'm here, I promise. I'm not going anywhere. I love you, Catra. We can do as much as you want, but I don't want you getting hurt"

The feline shook her head and continued to eat. She was glad she had a woman who loved her and cared for her. She leaned close and rested her head against her after some minutes before she slowly crawled away to stand up "Let's go... I bet there will be more waterfalls than one close to our house...right? You know this kingdom so I expect you to guide me, knight" She smiled playfully as she had too long to call her like that. Actually she had to call her a knight since they got married. It was when she began calling her by her name and it was for the best.

The woman smiled softly when she called her a knight. She leaned in to press another soft kiss to her lips and cupped her cheek "oh there are hundreds. I know a beautiful spot up on top of a cliff. It's perfect for watching the sunset. Should we bring our children or not?" She started eating then as well, planning to take her as soon as they were done eating, though of course taking it slowly so she would not be hurt further.

"I don't think we should have them around.... I love them but ... I want to have you for myself... I'm greedy, what can I say" Catra chuckled and looked up at her only to pepper her neck with sweet kisses and nibbles while purring. She was still pale but not as much as yesterday. "Should I bring my swimsuit? Or a shift..?" She stood up and smirked.

Adora let out a happy hum at the flurry of kisses on her neck, nodding with a smile "I can ask a maid to watch them while we spend the evening out then." she finished up her food, then gave her a soft kiss "swimming sounds like a good idea actually. Though if you plan on teasing me you wont get much out of it. You know we cant do anything for at least a few weeks after you've given birth, even if the other me has sped up your healing"

"huh? That doesn't mean I can’t tease you though" She joked and smirked widely only to give her a small kiss on her lips. She brushed her hand over her perfect cheek and glanced in these ocean blue eyes of hers. "Now go, my knight. I have to prepare myself~" She murmured and gave her a playful smile and a wink. She was tired of these last two days but she wanted to do things with her and she couldn't wait. She was so hyped to spend time with the blonde one which made her more energetic.

The other girl huffed at the comment, cupping her cheek and kissing her in return before getting up "I will be back soon with a maid." She gave her another quick kiss on the cheek before getting up and once more heading out to find a maid, this time one to care for their children.

The feline would wear a simple white with green dress as she would have the help of her maid to fix her hair up tight. She would also apply a little colour on her lips. She felt like she was actually not beautiful enough for the knight. She met her and she was gorgeous that night at the ball. Dressed nicely and wealthy, flirty in some way but now.. she was pregnant for these months, tired looking and pale. She couldn't look at herself in the mirror like this. Even her once slim waist was now a little bit bigger than before and she took this as an opportunity to finally wear her corset after months without. Her thighs were slightly different and she couldn't help but get angry when the maid wouldn't pull further the strings of the corset. She remembered how slim her waist was and she wouldn't accept any other body type just because of a pregnancy. "Don't you have strength or something? Just a tiny bit tighter and it will be fine" She hissed at the other one. She knew they were going to the waterfall or… to swim but she had long forgotten the swimming part when she saw herself.

The maid who Adora finally found though smiled brightly and bowed her head at the knight "Of course, they will be fine. Don't worry at all about them, lady" She bowed again before she headed to take the children. Adora nodded, relieved a little and walked with the maid back to the room. She was planning on changing into a simple tunic and pants, though for a moment she couldn't help but worry, wondering if Catra really wanted her. Of course she knew she did but she couldn't help having her doubts. She was insecure.. Catra was a princess. She must have been used to being lavished in wealth beyond imagination and she can’t provide that. She was wondering if she would be good enough for her. She stepped into the room and when she saw her putting on a corset she just stepped forward, gently guiding the maid aside and taking the strings. She just undid the corset and took it off her before pressing a kiss to her shoulder "My love, you know you don't have to wear these. You're beautiful just the way you are. I- Is that make up?" she paused when she noticed her lips before looking up at her eyes again through the mirror "we're just going for a swim, love.. you don't have to get so dressed up. It's only going to be us there. You have no one you need to impress considering I'm already blown away by your beauty every day" she cupped her cheek then, kissing her softly.

The feline furrowed her eyebrows when the woman undid the corset and held it by one string as she looked at her through the mirror as well. Her ears perked down and her eyes fixed on hers "I'm not.. I'm huge... Look at this waist... These thighs... " She whined and clung to the corset before she let out a sigh "I'm not trying to impress.. I want to be just how you met me.. I hate feeling like this.. I'm not even good looking anymore. My skin is ugly. My body is fat and I'm always lying in bed... I don't want to see myself like this .. I don't want you to see me like this" She almost cried, her voice cracking but she didn't care about the maids being there. She had already learnt that they were just staff.

As soon as she said she was fat Adora covered her mouth, looking her in the eyes. "You are not fat. You are not huge. Your skin is beautiful and you're lying in bed because you just gave birth to twins. You are absolutely perfect just the way you are okay? Glimmer is still bigger than you are. She isn't fat or ugly, is she? So, neither are you." She hugged her then, holding her close and squeezing her as much as she could without hurting her "I love you and you're drop dead gorgeous, okay? Fucking stunning, incredible, out of this world."

Catra was slightly tense in the beginning of the hug but she calmed down a little after her words. "I'm not as good for you as I was in the beginning.... You're perfect... A beautiful warrior. So sweet and kind even when I don't deserve it and... I want to change all… this" She meant her looks since her character was difficult to change at once. Her eyes looked up at her and cupped her cheek gently "I love you... I want to be the best for you .." She whispered, as the other squeezed her gently.

"Don't talk about yourself like that. You are the best. No matter what you look like. I don't care if you gained weight, lost it or stayed exactly as you are now. You. Are. Gorgeous. You are just as good now as you were then. Perhaps even more now because you are well and truly mine." She looked down and cupped her cheek as well "I.. Worry sometimes too. That I'm not good enough for you. But I promise you that you are good enough for me"

Catra shook her head at what she said and chuckled softly. "You, out of all people, shouldn't even question it, my knight.... You've done so many things for me ... Hell, you've even fought for me... You're more than worthy for me and my love" She placed a gentle kiss on her lips and smiled. She would try to avoid thinking of her weight gain and took the corset from her hands to give it to the maid

"I just... I worry that because you're a princess there are.. Well, things I can't give you. I can't.. Shower you in riches and silks and castles though I definitely would if I could. But, I love you just the way you are and how you will be in the future and how you were in the past. And I know you love me just the same." Adora spoke again in a low tone and sighed.

Catra on the other hand shook her head "hey... I didn't search for someone to provide me with wealth... I think I showed it to you before..else I wouldn't have married you" She spoke before pulling out a white tunic and trousers from the closet. Then she placed them on the bed. "Here.. I will... Need another dress and short trousers" After some minutes she would be ready in a light pink short dress and a pair of pants under it with matching colours.

Adora took the shirt and trousers for herself, changing to put them on before heading to pick up the little ones. She cooed softly to them while she waited for Catra to be done. She smiled, leaning down and nuzzling one like she's noticed Catra doing with her, giggling when the girl grabbed at her nose. She let her hold on for as long as she wanted before she pulled away finally, looking up to the maids “They were fed recently, but considering they're only two days old they may get hungry again before we get back." She looked to Catra's maid then "If you could get a nurse maid to wait in here with her, that would be lovely. Just in case they get hungry. You can't separate them either. If you're only holding one the other will cry until they're picked up. So, if you want to lay them down it has to be together" She couldn't help herself now, wanting to be absolutely certain the children would be okay while they were gone.

The feline giggled at the woman's worried speech and smirked at the warrior. She walked up to her and she touched her shoulder gently. "Adora ,you're so cute when you're worried about the children... They'll be okay, my love. Don't worry about them" She smiled and gave her a small kiss on her lips before she walked towards the door with her perfect ‘swimwear’. She covered herself with a robe. "Let's go. We will have some time for only ourselves"

"But- I-.. Okay.." She huffed, laying them back down since they were asleep anyway. She kissed each forehead before getting up to follow her out, wrapping an arm around her waist. She led them through the castle to the stalls, guiding Swiftwind out and smiling as she got him ready "He's going to be a rougher ride then the mare are you sure you're ready?"

"You were the one saying he's soft, not me." Catra chuckled and rubbed her hand on her arm. Swiftwind looked at his owner and made a small noise. He was really happy to see the woman again. "Aw...~ Someone else missed you too"

Adora smiled and hugged his head before rubbing his nose "I missed you too, big guy. You've been cooped up in here for too long, haven't you? C'mon lets get you ready to go, yeah?" She smiled, slapping his shoulder though of course it was more of an affectionate pat even if it sounded like a solid hit before heading to get the saddle and blankets all set up.

The horse did make more happy noises but Catra only chuckled at the reaction and waited to prepare the horse to ride. Once they were done she would only wrap her arms around her wife’s waist and nuzzle close to her while riding.

"I want to hold you for the whole ride" She whispered, making her giggle as she let Catra sit behind her so Catra could hold onto her. Adora turned for a moment and kissed her before she faced forward and got him going, heading for the cliff she had talked about.

The princess held her gently, her cheek resting on her shoulder sometimes while their hair was waving to the wind. Her eyes closed but as they arrived she would only let out a sharp grunt and jump down off the horse "It feels weird... My body is weak but I feel so... Relaxed" She spoke as she walked.

The other one joined her as she got down after her. She left Swiftwind just to stand there. She knew he wouldn't wander off and she turned to Catra, wrapping her arms around her and kissing her gently before walking with her "Yeah.. It’s okay though, I'm here. I love you" She smiled gently and rubbed her back, stopping about a foot away from the edge of the cliff and looking out over at the beginning of the sunset.

..And just like that their evening would be filled with kisses, pecks and love words while remaining close and even swimming together down to the waterfall after their walk. The brunette would cling to her, mumbling about how much she loved her. How much she wanted her to be by her side and how she wished for her to sleep with her every single night. She made her lay down on the grass as their wet bodies rested on each other.

Adora though would start to feel the warmth of the thin and short fur of her wife. She was cuddling her closer by wrapping one arm around her and kissing her head. The sunset was just as beautiful as Adora’s golden locks since they were actually getting more emphasised while the sun was brushing her bright colored hair. Her blue eyes began to close. The tiredness of the war, of the worries in her head and the feeling of relief because she had her princess in her arms made her feel sleepy. Even though the grass was rough compared to their bed, Adora fell asleep quite quickly and Catra had long gone to sleep with her head resting on the warrior’s chest. Her heart beat made her calm down and her warm touch made her feel safe enough to let go of her thoughts and loosen her grip on her tunic.

The Fall of Brightmoon ❤️

The lovers would remain close and always together for the next few days. Catra was taking care of her paperwork from her own land and the servants who worked there. The maids would take care of the children when Adora and Catra could not give them what they needed. Queen Angella did as she had said to the blonde one. She gave her the opportunity to train the new soldiers. They would obviously be in the front lines and most likely the ones who would die first if anything happened.

Adora was out training them a few weeks after that first incident with the flashes of the battlefield. She was sparring with one of them. The most talented of the group so far. He was showing the most potential and she was using him to show the others some moves before letting him try it out on her. He.. Royally fucked up, making it easy for her to disarm, and 'kill' him as she knocked him down on the ground "What the hell was that?! Sadon you're better than that! How did you fuck that up so badly, huh? I-.." She stopped, realising what she was saying and paused, offering her hand to help him up "I'm... Sorry. I shouldn't have gotten so upset. It took me a few weeks to master. You did better than I did. You show a lot of potential, kid. Just dont be stupid okay?"

The queen happened to walk by. Adora was trying to make things right so she just looked at her and crossed her arms over her chest while observing her. She could feel that she was kind of.. anxious because her sword was still missing and it was… a rather powerful weapon.

Adora noticed the Queen, nodding at her before going back to training with them, though it wasn't long before she snapped again. She chews him out for not following orders now. She had to reel herself back in though she was clearly getting frustrated partially because she knew she shouldn't be getting so upset over these mistakes. They were easy mistakes to make and ones she had made countless times in her training.

Angella was still there to see how this was going but furrowed her eyebrows and approached her only to place a hand on her shoulder when she felt that she was ready to burst out again on her. "Adora. Is something wrong?" She spoke steadily and calmly, making the other pause a moment before just shaking her head

"No. I'm just.. I don't know. I'm getting frustrated. Maybe I should take a break for the day.." She sighed, looking over the recruits. “Spar amongst yourselves if you would like. The lesson is over for today."

"okay... Go. I know teaching is difficult and must be intense but don't overdo it.." She looked down at her and turned her head away to give her some time for herself "I heard princess Catra wanted to see you" She was obviously lying but she and Catra had a conversation about how Adora was really off these days.. and she thought she could calm her down. She was usually too tense, lost to her thoughts even.

Adora paused before nodding "Right. Thank you, your majesty. Now.. If you'll excuse me." She bowed deeply before leaving the room, looking for her wife. When she found her she walked over and hugged her, nuzzling into her with a mumble "I’m getting angry more often.. I don't know what's wrong with me... I had to stop training because I kept snapping at the recruits..."

The feline was currently laying in her king-size bed and resting while reading a book. She noticed the woman walking up to her and nuzzling, making her let out a small chuckle "It's okay... Maybe it's because of the war...or because you don't have your sword.. but I bet they will find it, love" She hummed, cupping her head and brushing her hair with her fingers while guiding her head to rest on her breast. "Why did you snap at them now though?"

She relaxed against her, closing her eyes and hugging her close, letting her wife soothe her now "They.. Made mistakes.. Simple ones. Ones I've made hundreds of times... And.. Part of that frustration and anger was because I knew I shouldn't be getting upset... I feel wrong..." She curled up into her, hiding her face now and hugging her tightly. Of course she was careful not to hurt her.

"I know my love....but... You should calm down and let all the worries go away... Once you feel calm you'll see that you shouldn't blame yourself or the others for their mistakes...they learn and you're here to teach them" Catra spoke calmly and kissed her forehead ,slowly caressing her to make her relax "I'm here for you, okay? You can't be mad all the time okay?"

Adora tried to relax but she couldn't stop thinking, just nuzzling into her chest and holding her close "I can't stop thinking.. My head won't shut up.." She groaned, shoving her face further into her chest instead.

The brunette brushed her hair more and gave her a simple kiss before she embraced her, letting her stay on her chest "Hush and notice where you're laying. What did I tell you before? When you rest on my chest all the worries will go away~" She said playfully as she wrapped her tail around her arm, making the other one smile gently, curling around her and hugging her closer

"My brain won't shut off.. I-... I keep thinking that I'm going to hurt you or.. Or the kids, I-... I dunno.." She sighed, looking up at her "Your chest is really comfortable though..."

"Hey... You would never hurt me... Or the kids... I'm happy with you.. " She murmured and took a deep breath before she purred. "Hm...do you want to see what's softer~?" She hummed in a teasing way. It was really not too early for them to have some time together. "The children are sleeping.." She smiled, obviously she was more than happy to make her mind go off her thoughts. If she couldn't do it with words she would do so with actions.

Adora blushed softly, smiling though and put a hand on her waist to pull her a bit closer and moved up to her neck instead "Mm.. Maybe I do. But you have to be quiet so we don't wake them up.” She sat up slightly then, looking up at her and rubbed her side.

"You know... I've been thinking about what you said like a week ago and.. maybe we could try that. If you want we could always try making love just because.." Catra was kind of shy when she was touching her like that. Her tail slowly wagged, "Who told you that you do it because you want and not only to have a child?" She was just curious.

The blonde pulled her a bit closer then, looking up at her and smiled softly, leaning up to kiss her then and moving to lay over her. She held herself up above her. She leaned in to kiss her again, mumbling her answer in between other kisses "The other you..." She moved her lips down to her neck then, gently kissing and biting "Like we did when you were pregnant.. You wanted it but I can't get you pregnant if you already are, right? So it was just because you wanted too" She smiled gently, looking down at her again "I've... also heard of um.. Other things that can happen during sex..." She blushed then, looking away.

The princess felt shy around her when she was talking about sex. She knew that Adora was the only person who would ever see her naked. Her mismatching eyes looked away and then back at her blue ones "What other things can happen? What do you mean?" She could feel the heat between them. Her tail rubbed slowly the same spot on her upper thigh while she was talking.

Adora hummed while guiding Catra's hands above her head then, pinning them there with a hand and looking down at her "I've ah.. Heard of one partner being tied up during sex. And.. Apparently it’s not.. Weird to like pain during sex." She leaned down then to kiss her again, cupping her cheek with her free hand and pressing her knee against her.

That only made the brunette let out a soft grunt but she didn't want her to stop. She wanted to continue as she would soon begin to brush her hips against her knee. "You've...learnt a lot in the future..." She hummed and kissed her lips before she whispered "I don't know if it's weird..do..do you want me to do anything? You know I want to please you too..." She murmured tugging on the hand that was pinning hers down on the pillow.

The knight giggled softly, holding her hip then with the hand that was just on her cheek as she nipped at her neck "Relax, okay? And tell me if anything hurts. Pleasing you pleases me. I want to make you feel good too." She smiled, kissing her cheek before mumbling "Is this okay? Or do you just want to do it the way we always have?" She stopped then, waiting for her answer, not pushing her to choose one or the other. She was.. Eager to try some new things but she didn't want to force her into it either.

The feline's breathing became heavy. She was turning her on since she knew exactly where to kiss or nibble. Her hands tensed just a tiny bit and she spread her long legs to make space for her. "Let's try it okay? I'm sure you'll be as amazing as always..~" She whispered and wrapped her tail around her waist.

Adora smiled and pulled her a bit closer then, kissing her again, a bit harder but still being careful. She held her hips still once again as she pressed her body against her. Only after she got the feline well and truly turned on did she sit back onto her knees, undoing her belt to turn it into makeshift cuffs, looking at her though to be sure she was comfortable with it before she put them on her.

As she saw she didn't have any problem with it, Catra allowed her to tie her up but she leaned close and stole several kisses from her feathery soft lips. She whined when she was still not inside her but she did try to remain as quiet as possible. Her eyes looked up at her between the kisses and bit her bottom lip. "I love you..." She whispered, making her giggle.

Adora leaned in and kissed her properly before stripping her first, then herself "I love you more, but you must learn to be patient..." She hummed, lowering herself between her legs so she was face to pussy with her.

The girl blushed deeply when she saw her down at her hips. She reached down with her tied hands only to caress her hair and spread her legs more. "Please... I can't be too patient when it comes to you..." She bit her bottom lip and pressed her hips against her mouth in need. The cat girl was truly trying to make her continue with this even if it was teasing her already.

The blonde giggled, just pulling further away "Uh uh, keep your hands above your head for me, kitten." She didn't move until she did as she asked and only then did she start trailing kisses and nips up her inner thigh, watching her as she marked up her thighs. Finally, she put her hands on her thighs to keep her legs open before she licked a strip up her pussy, wrapping her lips around her clit and sucking. Her eyes were still locked on Catra's.

The woman shivered and felt the need to move her hands down on her head but she didn't do it for now. She had to be patient and good for her. "I love it… ah... My... Adora, please continue" She almost begged and tensed her legs slightly when she felt the woman's lips against her skin "I want you so much.... Your touch.. your voice" She whispered.

"Shhh my love. I have to get you ready first. I don't want to hurt you" She went back down to her clit then, planning on making her orgasm at least once before letting herself enjoy this, focusing now on bringing her to her peak. Catra was already really wet, Adora could see that but she really didn't hide the flushed cheeks of hers.

The brunette moved her hips up and down while feeling these fingers inside of her. She gasped in surprise when she felt them twitch and trembled under her touch. Her arms just bending as well as her knees while making her at least go deeper. Catra's grunts of pleasure were escaping her mouth while being thankful the kids weren't in the same room as they.

The knight giggled, kissing her thigh again "Shhhh... You have to be quiet, love. You don't want to wake the children, do you?" She grinned, going back to her clit and sucking harder than before and adding a second finger now, curling them up to hit that sensitive spot she remembered.

The princess trembled more when she spoke. Her need to moan, to call out her name was huge. She looked down at her with apologetic eyes and whined when she hit the spot again and again. “I—I'm close ....agh.."

"Cum for me, Kitten." She moved up then, drawing her into a kiss. She sped her fingers up and used her thumb on her clit instead. Her kitten came when she felt the woman's fingers pacing. She trembled and moaned under her breath while trying to keep quiet. Her hands in the end rested on her head to tub on her hair as she pressed her hips up for her to continue. After some thrusts she laid back, slowly panting "My..... Adora..ah..that was amazing"

Adora’s free hand held onto her hips without restricting her movement, enjoying the feeling of her bucking and falling apart around her. Once her orgasm was through, she pulled her fingers out, sucking one finger clean and offering the other finger to her.

The woman blushed at that move but sucked the finger clean while letting out some pants of pleasure. "My love... Come here" She whispered only for her to crawl her tied hands down and around her neck so she could gently pin her nails on her bare upper back. She was ready to take her in.

Adora leaned closer, blushing softly as she felt her mouth around her finger and pulling it away once it was clean. "I'm coming, love" She smiled, blushing harder though when she felt her nails and just pausing for a moment "I- uh." She cleared her throat, leaning in to kiss her and mumbling "Don't be afraid to use them"

The feline's ears perked up at that. She actually asked for it? That was strange but since they had a small talk about them talking about things they wanted ...new things that they wanted to add during their love making. She didn't get too surprised. "Then I must" She teased and gave her a slow scratch on her scarred skin. So many battles that she knew she had a lot of scratches and scars probably.

The other one gasped softly and let out a little whine, closing her eyes for a moment as her face flushed. She grinded against her a few times, nuzzling into her neck then "I want you... Fuck..." She grumbled, nuzzling into her neck and nibbling on it. She pulled back so she could line up "It's been a while.. Are you ready, my love?"

"More ready than I thought....please I want you more than anything else " They truly had months to do it. Her mind was foggy and she knew that all this was only the beginning. Adora made her wait for too long but there was no way she would wait any longer. Her eyes looked up at her and her hand gently touched her cheek to caress it in a careful manner. "I missed you.. I missed this‘" She said, pushing her hips against her and gave her a small kiss on her lips.

The blonde smiled brightly, leaning into her touch with a hum before holding onto Catra. She was slowly pushing herself into her and groaning softly, her head fell forward again "Oh fuck.. Catra you feel so good.." She panted softly, keeping herself slow for her.

The feline bit her bottom lip but didn't pull away. She instead pressed herself down so she could help her a bit even if her movement was restrained by the cuffs around her wrists. She whined, wrapping her tail around her thigh and biting her lover's bottom lip while holding her close from her upper back.

The blonde panted faintly and pushed her hips down on her to slide more in her with a soft grunt. She groaned, bucking slightly and pushing further into her. Once she finally got all the way in she waited and then started thrusting, her face still in Catra's neck and hands on her hips.

The brunette groaned at the feeling but she moved at the same pace while the woman was thrusting inside her. Her eyes closed and her head tilted back to the pillow while feeling her insides burn in need. She could feel how wet she was for her. Her eyes opened as she gently wrapped her legs around her waist.

When she opened her legs Adora sped up, panting softly and nibbling at her neck now. She held her hips still while groaning and her eyes squeezed shut. "Catra.. Catra oh fuck.."

"A-Adora.... please... agh I want more" She closed her eyes and let out some moans while holding her tighter this time, scratching her skin rougher. She panted and let her guide her hips.

The knight moaned as she scratched her, gasping and bucking again, harde as she took a deep breath. She got rougher, even letting out a sort of growl. Her head was getting fuzzy, starting to forget where she was or why she was being so gentle. She got rougher again, holding her tightly.

The magicat's moans became rougher and more sharp this time. Her eyes closed tightly and she whined in both discomfort after a while but she placed her hands on her chest "A- Adora... C..can we change position?" She said while panting.

Her moans echoed in the room, making the blonde stop when she heard her say her name. She paused for a moment, panting before she finally nodded, sitting up again and trying to focus as she pulled out with a soft groan so she could move. Once she was on her hands and knees she knelt behind her and pushed back inside, groaning again and holding onto her hips still.

Catra positioned herself better than before. Now her tail slowly wrapped around her wrist and moaned when she pushed inside her. She grunted and panted while gasping under her breath. Her eyes opened while her still tied hands were tensing under the hold of Adora's belt "A—Agh-." She whimpered and called out her name again.

Her wife moaned softly, waiting for a moment then using a hand to gently rub at the base of her tail to help her calm down and only once she was certain it would be okay she started rocking her hips. She used her hands to keep her hips still.

Tail puffed and Catra’s purrs filled the room while moving behind her. Her ears were up and her eyes opened to look down on the pillow. She gasped quietly and pressed herself further.

Adora chuckled and thrusted harder now, biting her lip and groaning softly "Fuck, you feel so good... Like that huh..? Good kitten..." She held her hips a bit tighter. Her head started to get fuzzy again.

The girl’s lips parted as she tilted her head a little while feeling the thrusts on her hips. She moaned sharply, falling just a little on the bed and bit on her pillow. "Ahh-... A- Adora" She moaned. Her voice cracked in between.
The other closed her eyes. Her head lowered as she focused on her moves. She held her hips tightly, not yet hard enough to hurt her "ah-.. ah f-... feels so good..." she couldn't quite remember now. The instinct to seek more pleasure started to get harder to ignore. She leaned over her now, pressing against her back.

Feeling her breast against her back made the feline shiver. Her eyes closed and her tail slowly wrapped around her wrist. Her hands being tied all the time made her needy of the woman's touch even if it was a rougher one. Was that normal? She didn't know but she felt good even if the thrusts became quite uncomfortable and made her let out some huffs "S..slow down a bit" She whispered and grunted against the pillow as the other rested her head on her shoulder.

Adora nuzzled into her neck. She groaned softly, but got herself to slow down only able to keep slow for a few minutes before she started speeding up again, getting worse the closer she got while nipping at her neck.

The feline's pale skin got some bites from the woman as well as her skin got slightly red on her neck and shoulders where the woman was biting her. Her moans were choked at some point. She whined, feeling the woman twitching inside her. Her legs felt weak after a while as she came.

Adora dug her fingers into her skin, groaning out "mine" over and over against her skin. She was panting and thrusting hard, clearly having no intent on holding it out. It took a few more minutes before she finally finished, pushing deep inside her and giving her one last bite. By the time her orgasm was over she was barely able to hold herself above her. She had to put her arm down on the bed beside her to keep herself up and even then she struggled, panting as she came back to it. When she saw the bite marks, she paused, confused "did.. Did I do those..."

The other woman let out soft cries when she went too deep yet she wouldn't give her a single moment to doubt that she liked it. She came just some seconds before her. Her thighs trembled and body shivered at the feeling of her inside her and being so rough. Her eyes closed and she bit her bottom lip before she rested her head on the pillow and bent her waist to lay down. Her legs felt weak.. breaths were heavy "Y..yeah… You really like biting me..huh?" She whispered breathlessly and rolled on the bed to look at her. Some of her marks were visible from the front since she bit on her neckline and shoulders. "Ca..can you untie me?.. I want to hug you" Ears perked down and she looked up at her.

Adora paused for a moment before just nodding, untying her and laying down. Seeing all the marks on her body her expression visibly dropped. The same happened with her mood. She just wrapped an arm around her and pulled her close, curling around her "I hurt you.. I'm so sorry I hurt you.. I.. I didn't know what I was doing.. my head got.. fuzzy.. I didn't realise what was going on.. I'm so sorry.. let me take care of them.." clearly still feeling guilty. She got up and got some supplies, giving her a mug of water before sitting down and taking care of her wounds. She paused when she saw the marks on her hips, remembering what the man did to her. She grit her teeth and got back to putting a soothing ointment on it, setting everything aside and pausing then. She felt that now familiar anger rising up at herself. She just sat with her face in her hands "what's wrong with me.."

The feline noticed how much her mood dropped. Her eyes looked up at her and shook her head at first but when she was ready to speak she was already gone. What happened to her and she was feeling like this? She knew Adora would never hurt her and...she didn't. It was just during their moment... How could she possibly blame herself since she was the one giving her the right to touch her like that? When she returned and was taking care of her wounds Catra touched her hand and turned around her head to look at her "I don't want you to blame yourself... Adora I scratched you too.....deeply as well...please we can't regret things we do during our... Bonding time" She chuckled and leaned close. Her naked body touching hers and wrapping her arms around her shoulders "My Adora... I love you ... As you said I'm yours and you can do anything you want on me as long as I'm not hurt... I liked the bites...and I liked scratching on your skin but... Now it needs some treatment too" She continued and placed a kiss on her forehead.

When she compared it to the scratching Adora just shook her head "it's not the same! I-... I hurt you. You didn't ask for it and I-.. I can't... I couldn't stop myself. I couldn't control myself. What if I hurt you worse next time? like-.." she paused, just shaking her head with a sigh while remembering the feline being so hurt by that prince. "I'm sorry.. I'm.. angry. At myself. I-.. when I helped you after he.. well had his way with you. I know I'm overreacting but I still hurt you.."

The girl's ears perked back and she slowly caressed her cheek, guiding her face to dig in her bosom and slowly caressed her hair "Stop thinking like that... You're nothing like him ... Please. Stop thinking like that. You were amazing..." She murmured and leaned close to her before she nuzzled close to her "My love, you're the best lover.. you're the best knight ...the best wife and the most caring one.. You were just stressed and you couldn't control it... I didn't mind it at all. I liked the feeling of you being so...rough on me" She said while blushing but the other shook her head again and hugged her close.

"Am I? I keep getting angry.. I hurt you.. my head feels.. fuzzy I can't-.. I can't focus sometimes. I dont think I'm okay..." she nuzzled into her neck after taking care of everything, just holding onto her. Now she was scared. Scared she would accidentally hurt her. Hurt the kids. She took her and laid down with her, kissing her cheek and nuzzling into her "I hurt you.. and.. I'm getting so angry.. I'm sorry. Am I overreacting..?"

The brunette noticed that she was all stressed. Her arms wrapped around her more protectively this time to bring her close to her and kiss her forehead. "I love you, my knight... You're getting all worked up with the stress that you have..." She hummed, making her lay on her chest and wrapped her arms around her shoulders "You have to relax... You've been through a lot and I know it's difficult... Maybe staying out of even training soldiers would help..." She hummed and brushed her blonde hair.

The other one shook her head, nuzzling into her neck and closing her eyes "I'm sorry... I probably ruined it for you. I'm sorry. I feel so stupid.. I can't control this... I.. hate it.. I can't control it. I can't control myself because I'm not myself and I don't know why and- and I'm scared. I hurt you because I couldn't control myself. What.. What if it happens again while I'm holding one of our babies? what if I hurt you too badly?" She sat up again. Her face hid in her hands "I can't even sit still.. I'm-.. I'm confused and anxious and something is wrong but I don't know what's wrong! And that makes me angry because I don't know what's wrong and if I don't know what's wrong I can't fix it and it's only getting worse so if I can't fix it that means I'm going to get worse!"

Catra stared at her, for a moment she was scared too.. She didn't know what to expect. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips "We'll fix it...okay? You will not hurt me or the children, okay?.... Please, my love. You really need to calm down..." She offered her hand as a comfort and pointed on her bare chest "Lay down and sleep, okay?" She hummed and caressed her cheek carefully. "You are Shera. You can't be scared because you feel strange"

"I-I can't.. I can't focus.. I can't focus because it's fuzzy. I'm just-.. something is wrong.. I-.. I need sleep.. yeah.. need sleep.." Adora tried to lay down again and relax. She curled up while she was still able to keep still. She couldn't help but keep her mind going though she couldn't quite focus or hold onto one thought or another. A small part of her realised that these seem to happen in episodes and that eventually this one will fade. Until it did though she couldn't sleep and couldn't relax. She was just laying there now, panicking though she couldn't show it anymore.

The cat girl could feel her lover's heartbeat beating fast at some point. She was so worried. Her arms slowly unfolded and she slid her to the other side of the bed. "I'm going to call the doctor… I'll tell a servant to make some tea... Please try to relax till the doctor comes, okay?" She whispered and attempted to get up so she could call the maid of hers. She would order her to do both of calling the doctor and preparing the tea for Adora.

"no- no, Catra don't..- don't call.. anyone.. I.." she couldn't keep track of her thoughts. She couldn't explain it. More visions of the field appeared and she whined, hearing a voice but it wasn't Catra's. She closed her eyes, covering them with her palms to try and get away from the field but it didn't help. It was getting better though. The thoughts were not as fast. Were not as fuzzy. She tried to explain again "when.. get overwhelmed.. panicky.. this happens... it.. speeds.. passes.. it passes.. just... wait.. please. Can't think.. will.. will tell.." she had tried so hard to hide these from Catra. To keep her from worrying but she couldn't help it when they happened and now that she realized sex caused them or the damage she caused during sex.

Catra on the other hand didn't understand. She didn't understand anything honestly. She touched her shoulder, clearly she was scared of Adora going crazy or.. what if something was indeed going wrong. The fact that her sword was missing wasn't a good sign and especially with her mother probably having it. Her eyes looked at the woman only to crawl back and look down on her hands "I'll be right beside you then..." She felt so useless…

Adora held her close, hiding her face and just hugging her and forcing herself to take deep breaths. She was trying to force herself to calm down, closing her eyes as she laid there. She curled up eventually though she calmed down. The episode has taken a lot out of her. It wasn't long after she calmed down that she fell asleep, naked as the day she was born while hugging Catra as close as she could without hurting her. Her grip relaxed when she fell asleep, no longer looking troubled. But after a bit she started to sleep-fight, which wasn't anything new.

That was truly not something new. It was instead something that made Catra feel that she was probably feeling better. Her eyes closed and she continued to brush her hair while holding her close.

Adora’s dreams became more like visions. She could see Light Hope telling something but she couldn't hear the words.

Catra on the other hand slowly fell asleep with her tail all wrapped around her.

The blonde one didn't wake up until about an hour later, nuzzling into her gently when she woke up with eyes still closed. "Mm... Catra..?" She held her a bit tighter, nuzzling her and wanting to make sure that she was really there.

The feline was still sleeping. She didn't wake up when Adora did so the blonde one would meet Catra's sleeping expression while her purrs were echoing in the room. Her tail was wrapped around her thigh and her hands were as well touching her so she could feel she was around.

Adora relaxed and with the help of Catra and Angella she managed to feel better for the rest of the day.

The next few days, though, went about the same. Every once and a while an episode would start and she'd lose herself for ten, fifteen minutes maybe before she would calm down and have to nap. Today, it had jumped up to two hours and when she woke up from her nap she paused, sighing and getting up. She packed up some things, waiting for Catra to wake up. When she did she walked over, sitting beside her and kissing her cheek before hugging her close "I’m... I think I need to leave for a bit... I need to figure out what's wrong with me.."

The feline was really trying to help her. To see through her problems but it seemed that she couldn't help at all as the days passed by. The babies became more needy for them both not only her and having Adora be so … out of herself made her anxious. At that moment when she sat beside her, she looked up at her and tightened her fists "Are you serious now? Why am I here? To not help you? To just see you like this and then do nothing? Tell me what's wrong and we can do something...together" She furrowed her eyebrows and tried to make her stay. She couldn't let her leave again..

"I can't explain it.. You.. Help. You do but I need to know what it is. I have to go, Catra... I promise you I'll be back. I'm not leaving forever... Just a few days. I just... Need to be away from everything." She paused then, looking up at her "I love you. And if I didn't think I had to do this I wouldn't.. I don't want to go or leave you three I don't-... I don’t trust.. Anyone here anymore... And I know something is wrong but I'm spending too much time worrying about every.. Maid, and servant that comes in. Worrying that the people I used to trust are going to hurt the people I love and... They won’t.. I don’t think so... But.. I can’t.. Focus on that and figure this out..."

"And you decide to leave me behind? Again? You don't even understand that I worry about you. I came here for you . I was pregnant and got in the carriage to come to Bright Moon because you wanted it. I thought you were dead for days!" The feline couldn't let her thoughts be only in her head. The words slid out of her mouth quickly and hissed while standing up to throw her robe on her. "Don't you think it's time for you to do something for me? To listen to me? I know you're worried and all anxious but so am I. I don't want to see you like this but I'm here to help and fix it, not let you leave and run away!.."

Adora looked shocked for a moment, just watching her before looking away. She was upset but didn’t say anything yet "Catra I hurt you! I've nearly hit you! What if I hurt the kids? What if I have another episode while I'm holding them? Or- or what if I'm cuddling you one minute and- and hurting you the next. I can't control myself and I'm scared!" She paused. Her hands were shaking "I'm trying to listen to you.. I’m trying to talk to you but I can't focus! I can’t even fucking think! My head is so, so full and- and fuzzy and everything isn't right and- and I'm getting angry I want-.." She lifted her hands, trying to get something out but she couldn't and with a cry of frustration she turned away, running a hand through her hair.

“I'm here! You didn't hurt me, Adora! You only had a moment of passion back in bed... we both were sure this would happen and I did scratch you.." Catra hissed and held her tight only to give her a small worried look "I want to be by your side.. you're not alone in this...by kicking me out you're pushing everyone aside... Please....stay here" She hummed and cupped her cheeks.

"Yes I did! I could barely slow down when you told me to! What if next time I can't? What if next time my hands aren't on your hips but your-..." She stopped. She was shaking as she stood there. She was too scared to even wrap her arms around her. She closed her eyes, trying so hard not to give into the anger. She clenched her hands into fists and waited so she wouldn't say anything harsh "I can't. I'll only be gone a few days. Three at the most. I’m not leaving you for months at a time this time.. I'm not running off to fight. I just need time to think. Please.. Can we just stop talking about this?"

"No we can't..! Because you always leave me behind..!" The feline understood that she was scared but.. she couldn't just let her go.. Instead she took a step forward and held her by her arm "I'm sick of not knowing what's in your head or even if I know to not be able to help somehow... You're always distant, hiding your own problems but I'm not here to just 'be your wife' and raise the children. I'm here for you and if we're not able to get over a short period of pressure then why are we even married?" She yelled almost at that. She was slightly whiny but she couldn't help her tone to sound heavier. She was losing the woman she loved.

"Catra stop." Adora tried to turn away and when she wouldn't let her go she turned again, lifting her hand and almost hitting her before quickly stopping, just looking at her for a moment. Realising what she had almost done she quickly pulled away, just pushing clothes into her bag now "I nearly hit you and you still want me around? I am not going to become that kind of wife. I can't control myself. I barely stopped it. I'm going for two days. That is all. I'm not staying here and letting myself hurt you." She paused for a moment, looking up at her "I love you. And that's why I'm doing this. We have kids so we can't be worrying about me. Only two days."

Catra's eyes looked up at her and huffed only to remain quiet. Her breath almost got sharper as if to hold back a building anger. Her eyes stared at her packing up before she shoved down a crystalline glass that she had placed on the table not too far away from her. "Go now then! Leave! I don't care! I don't give a damn" It was truly the first time she saw the brunette so mad. Catra's steps were rough as she walked towards the hall to leave the other alone in the room. She would start packing her own things to go back to her home later..

Adora paused, before she finished packing. She looked at the doorway to where Catra was. She was not sure if she should try and talk to her or not. She eventually walked over. The bag was thrown over her shoulder "Catra..?"

The feline was in the hall, furious already. Her steps were as heavy as before and she paced down the hall, planning on going to the children and taking them home already. When the girl spoke and she heard her, she hissed "Get the fuck out. Leave" She couldn't tell her what to do in a palace she didn't own but....she was so mad to hold herself back. She was sick of her proving to her that she was useless.

Adora's blue eyes widened when she hissed, just pausing for a moment before taking in a shaky breath and looking away "I'm sorry." That's all she said before she stepped back. She paused before walking away, heading to grab Swiftwind after writing a note for her then another for the Queen, asking her if she could send some more protection for Catra since she knew she wouldn’t stay there after this argument. She headed out then, giving the note to a guard to give to the queen and leaving the note for Catra on the desk. She grabbed Swiftwind, getting him ready before riding out and looking back one last time.

The feline didn't even read the note. She didn't stop the blonde one either. She packed her things as the other was away. Her hands held the basket of the two small babies so she could place it on the bedside and get them ready with some blankets. It all happened quickly and she looked at the door where queen Angella stood

"You're not leaving all by yourself, princess.." she said

"Yes I am... I'll take my maids and my guard back. I've called them already" she murmured and looked down at the babies

"Whatever happened between you two there is no way I will let a princess with two children get in a carriage and leave. We have war, princess Catra. It's too dangerous" She didn't say anything else about it. Angella was right, the bandits, the war, everything was too risky for them to go home.. After the next few days the things didn't get any better. Catra was more and more angry with what happened but at the same time she was scared.

The BrightMoon's bordered lands were already taken by the Horde. They were too close to the palace and Shera was nowhere to be found.... It wasn't just two days as Adora said. It took longer for her to see the blonde and she actually expected it. Catra didn't write any letters because she didn't know where she was. She instead had already thrown away the last message of the warrior.

Adora was riding out while taking the road to her old house, though on the way there before she got home she pulled off the road and headed into the forest a little ways where there was a small river. She made camp there, partially so she could check and make sure that Catra rode by. Even if she couldn't be seen. She tied up Swiftwind, got supplies for a small fire for the fifth night, as well as got a bed and covered area ready before just sighing and laying by the river. She closed her eyes and relaxed. She let the vision come to her now rather than fighting it like she usually would. The feline never rode past there. She didn't even leave Bright moon in the end. Adora had the same vision; Light Hope appeared to her only for her to stare at the woman. The blonde was standing in her room in Bright Moon while the taller woman was looking at her.

"This is not the right path, Shera " The woman spoke. Her gaze was sharp as always.

A Great Defeat

Adora looked around in an attempt to find where that voice was coming from. Then she saw a taller woman. She was slender. Her orbs were barely visible. Her skin was darker but…she didn’t know if that woman was in her dream or she was… real. She was confused "Who are you?! What do you mean it's not the right path? Why are we in Brightmoon?!" She was angry now, stepping forward "And why the fuck are you messing with my head?!" She could see that they weren’t in the forest anymore. They were in the castle’s yard.

"I'm Light Hope. I guided you to the sword, Adora.." She looked at the blonde and took a short breath. "I'm the one who connected you to the sword. You're the new Shera and you shall take the right path to move on to your goal. The true power of Shera is not the one you're carrying right now" She paused for a second "You trusted the ones who wanted to use this power. To use you and not the ones who would make you move forward to the next step. Where's the sword, Adora?" She said after yet another long pause.

"I-... I lost it. The Horde took it from me when they imprisoned me in battle. I haven't been able to get it back.. We've been losing... But- why, why are you messing with my head? I hurt my wife because of you! I nearly hit her because of you and now I-... I might lose her because of what you've done to me!" She was angry at her now as she stepped forward "My wife is my world and I might lose her because OF YOU!"

"You won't lose someone you've lost already ,Adora.. I did nothing. The visions were clear but you refused to open your mind and let me explain. She ran away because she didn't want you anymore. The princess of BrightMoon spends all her time around Catra in the palace. Do you think she's treating her just like Glimmer told you? Do you think that Queen Angella wants you around because you're a good knight or a good soldier in the battle? She's losing without you, Adora. They all want to just use you. That princess you call your wife as well. Do you think she doesn't know where the sword is? She keeps sending messages to her mother. She knew everything you've been through yet now that things don’t go as she had planned.. She wanted you to leave with her without the sword. Without Shera... Everyone wants you because of the sword." The woman spoke sharply and let the images of the feline write down these messages. But one certain scene was still repeating while glitching. There the girl was getting not captured but killed by the Horde soldiers. “Now you left her and your only chance of getting the sword back is gone. Light Spinner has it and if you were smart enough you would go by her side..”

The blonde one’s eyes widened. Her hands were shaking as she listened. She looked away from her now before closing her eyes "No... No no no She can't be dead she-.. S-she can't be dead! You're lying! Y-.. You have to be lying.." She let out a soft cry, shaking, before looking up at her "They aren't using me.. They wanted me before I had the sword.. Right...?"

"Everyone knows who Shera is ... especially when they are an angelic being, Adora. Catra was the princess of the Horde. Bright moon needs you to defeat the Horde and didn't expect Catra to leave the palace. Queen Angella insisted that the princess had to stay so she would die. She knew this would happen, Adora. The queen doesn't want you to be in love with the enemy. She was displeased with her and your choices. She wants her and the queen of the Horde out of her way." She insisted on showing more glitchy images to the woman.

"They.. They used me... Pretended to be my friend... I-I.. I thought they were good... I thought I was better at telling when people were lying.." She was getting overwhelmed again, starting to panic. The images were so real so...close. She left Catra alone and she knew it took her more than three days. Catra was waiting for her and she ...she left. She let her die. "And-.. And Catra.. Why.. Why did the soldiers-... Why is she gone.. She didn't do anything wrong... What about our children? Our babies? Are they-.. Gone too?"

The woman didn't speak, letting the long pause answer her questions. Her eyes looked at the hologram only to speak again "They were all slaughtered. The princess is a traitor from the Horde's side. To follow you and your wishes to stay in the BrightMoon's palace is a huge decision for a princess of the Horde. She risked it and lost because she thought she was safe. As safe as you told her"

Adora let out a sob, falling to her knees then bending forward. Her forehead was on the ground as she sobbed. Her body was shaking with each cry. Eventually though, that sadness turned to anger. She got up and punched a tree as hard as she could while her hands were shaking. She paused before looking back at her "How do I get my sword back? They are going to pay for what they did"

"who? The Horde? This is your mistake Adora.. you trusted everyone blindly" She was speaking without emotion, after all she never had any emotions. Her eyes looked at the woman before she continued. "Light Spinner has your sword. She held it so no one from the BrightMoon could get their hands on it."

The woman stopped then, confused "But... The Horde is bad.. They hurt people? Shadow Weaver treated her daughter horribly. How are they good?!" She shook her head, looking away "There's no way they're good..."

"She treated her like that because she fell for you. You were with the Brightmoon. Their queen was manipulating you all and you didn't realise it. Light Spinner didn't want her child to get into this mess.... Which she ended up in.." The woman showed her the queen of the Horde talking ,almost arguing with Catra about stepping in this kingdom's grounds.

Adora stopped then, looking at her for a moment before looking away "It's.. My fault... How do I fix it? There must be a way to fix this... Right...?" She looked away, running a hand through her hair.

"This is something you will find out and decide to do.. think wisely this time" She spoke with a cold tone as she vanished.

The woman would wake up on the road where she was sleeping and wait for the feline to pass by. She sat up quickly with a gasp. She paused only for a moment before getting up, packing up as quickly as she could. She climbed up onto Swiftwind, taking off at a run back to Brightmoon. While she was on her way there she was praying that what Light Hope had shown her wasn't true. The woman would come with the view of the Brightmoon being actually burning to the ground. Soldiers were still around. Houses were destroyed and death was everywhere. In the rooms there was nobody to be seen. The babies were gone ,Catra as well and the Queen. Her eyes widened before with an angry scream she grabbed a sword from a fallen knight. She stabbed it into the ground and fell to her knees. She bowed her head while crying softly. She stayed there, not caring if soldiers captured her or not at this point. Brightmoon has fallen. The Queen is gone and her wife and children are dead. She had nothing to fight for now.

The Horde soldiers obviously found her. They pointed their swords to her and quickly grabbed her to force her up and tie her up. The men tied the woman's hands together and held the rope so she would walk all the way to the Horde’s palace while one was pulling her by his horse.

Adora stayed still, letting the men grab her and move her as they needed. Her head hung and hair started to come out of her ponytail. It took them almost a day to arrive there though she would be guided to the Queen immediately for her to judge what she would do to her.

Her black hair was loose and her green eyes glared at the woman when they brought her in with a rough push. They forced her on her knees. Light Spinner stood up though, walking slowly towards her. "Didn't you do enough to get caught now?" She spoke quickly and forced the woman to bend more by her magic "I see you're a fool. Aren't you scared of your life?"

The knight fell to her knees easily. Her head bowed and most of her hair was out of her pony tail at this point. She fell forward onto her arms when she was forced down while bowing in front of her. Then she responded "I got visions. From the sword.. I left to figure them out and... When I left you attacked Brightmoon. My wife and children are dead... Those I believed were my friends.. The right side.. Betrayed me. Used me.. I have no life. You... You were on the right side all along... I.. Should have joined your daughter here.."

The woman seemed taken back by the words of the woman "You're the cause of my daughter's death and you dare to come here..? What should I even do? Killing you would be the best option I would ever have." She paused, ordering the men to pick her up so she could glare at the woman's blue orbs "Tell me what would you do in my place?" She growled. Her eyes glimpsed by the magic. Her hand was almost covered with her dark magic which was slowly building inside her.

Adora looked at her for a moment before just lowering her head "If I were you? Facing the one who killed my wife..? Kill them.. Gut them slowly.. Enjoy their screams... But I'm not you. I am still She-ra.. Light Hope showed me those visions.. I.. Don't..know what they mean but.. I don't think Brightmoon was as good as I thought it was..." She looked down again, lowering her head "If you kill me I don't blame you. You will have to find the next She-ra... Someone who is pure of heart and soul.."

The sorceress tightened her fists and glared at the woman. She had the guts to speak as it seemed even after all she's done. "Speak then. What would you suggest than torturing you to death? This is your last chance to speak.. I'm not here to waste my time on a failure like you. You've already taken the life of my daughter and you're still daring to look me in the eye." She continued as one man would forcefully raise the girl's head up again. Since she did the wrong to look at her she couldn't undo it by just bowing her head. Light Spinner wanted so much for the woman to decide her fate. This time she ordered a man to bring the woman's sword, not give it to her. "Do you think you're worthy of this after all of your mistakes?" She said while holding the blade.

Adora paused for a moment at that. Her eyes turned away for a moment before she finally looked up at her "Let me serve you as one of your knights.. As She-ra. Let me help you... Make up what I took from you as best I can... I know I will never replace her... Nor will any amount of land, people or gold... But I have nothing left to live for. Should you let me go, I would end my life... And should you keep me here as your prisoner you will gain nothing..." When the sword was brought to her she looked at it for a moment. Remembering all the times she used it in the name of Catra, tearing up as she looked away again "No. I was never worthy... Of the sword or your daughter..."

The mage looked down at her and then at the guards before tightening her fist around the sword only to try and hold her anger back. She looked at the guards then ordered them sharply "Take her to the dungeons... You will stay in there till I say so.." She hissed, more so Adora could feel the pain of losing the woman of her life and her children.
The guards took her in and forced her into the dark hallway of the cells. Voices, a constant noise and grunts or screams of the ones getting tortured was echoing in the deep room. In the first cells the woman could see only the form of a feline in one of them. She was turned on her back. Her ears were down and had plenty of deep ,sharp puts on her bare back. The door would creek though as it closed behind and the darkness returned in the room only for a torch to show them the way.

Adora looked down, part of her wishing they had killed her. Assuming they wouldn't accept her help and if they didn't kill her she would do it herself. Seeing who she thought was Catra her eyes widened for a moment. She turned her head to look at her though the memory of seeing her death came back and with any hope gone she let her head fall again as she let out a weak sob just barely audible.
The sound was loud enough for the feline though as her ears twitched and she turned around. Her eyes looked at the woman, glimpsing as she tried to speak but only some muffled yells were heard of her name. She clung and tugged on the chains but she didn't seem to get any response. Her body was already wounded and tired. Her hands tied up and feet were free but... What could she do? She was cold and honestly starving.

The men guided her several steps away from that prison cell only to lock her in before leaving. They didn't have any order to torture her or ... something like that so they did as they were told and left her there.
The blonde couldn't tell if it was Catra. Not with her mouth gagged. She just assumed it was another prisoner in here. She didn't fight back. Didn't try to get to her… just gave in. When she got to her cell she stepped inside before they could push her in. She looked around for a moment before sitting on the floor. She didn't deserve to enjoy what was there, though it was nothing but a pad on the ground. It was better than she deserved and so she refused it. She would refuse food as well. They brought food in and when they would come to retrieve the plate it was untouched.

Adora was slowly fading away.

All of Adora's refusals were reported to the Queen though ,so she paid her a visit after several days. Light Spinner looked down at the too thin body of the blonde's and crossed her arms over her chest "Trying to suicide already?.."

Adora stayed on the floor. Her head bowed just speaking softly "I have nothing to live for. Nothing to fight for. Why should I live when I have no use? No purpose." The long pause of the queen allowed her to think and continue her sentence.

"What if I told you you have a reason to fight...? I have my doubts that you will act wisely but.... I can risk it this time" Light Spinner growled and tapped the tip of her heels on the ground "Your baby boy is alive... Wounded, but alive" She said after a while to see her reaction.

The girl looked up quickly then, eyes wide "He is? Where is he? How badly is he wounded? Will he be okay?" Her dull eyes lit up again. Not as bright as they used to be.. But they were no longer blank, grey slates. They had some of her old shine back in them. A reason to fight. To live once again as she gave her purpose "Can-.. Can I see him? Please? I'll start eating.. I'll do anything you want I just-.. I want to see him... I-.. I want to take care of him..."

"eat.. and I will allow you to see him. He's well but the wound will probably leave a mark." The queen said "Now stand up ,eat and I'll let you out .." she pointed at the food which was still on the plate on the floor.

The other one nodded, getting up slowly and taking the plate of food. She didn't hesitate then, eating as if she had been starved rather than starving herself. She didn't put it down until she finished and when she set it down again she looked up at her "Please... I need my baby boy..."

Light Spinner’s lips made a smile behind her mask and nodded as she opened the door. Her guards were always by her side for they didn't know if Adora would attack. She guided her out. Her eyes looked up at her and entered one of the rooms of the palace with the baby laying on his bed. When he saw Adora though he began to cry since he really wanted to be in her arms. She could see the baby was scared already. He had a scratch on his cheek while his blue but still kind of yellowish eyes stared at her.

Adora followed her, completely focused on where they were going. She was just glad that at least one member of her family was alive. When she saw him she started crying softly again. She was rushing forward to scoop him up, hugging him close to her as she cried softly but even then she took immediately to soothing him while gently rubbing his back "Shh... Shh, it's okay... It's okay... I'm here... I'm here, you're okay..." She looked up at her, genuinely grateful "Thank you.."

"He's my grandson. I would do anything to make sure he will survive. The girl was already gone when they brought them to me" She let it slide as if she had seen them dead. Her eyes looked at her and took a small breath. "Even though I've lost a lot in this battle the war continues.. and you offered to work for me .. I can't forget that as you can see. For now I'll let you stay with your son. The guards are behind the doors if you need anything"

The blonde nodded, looking down at him again. She cradled him in one arm now, running a finger along his chest before looking up at her again "Thank you..." She sat down then in a chair with him, looking down at her and cooing gently. She couldn't purr, or mewl like Catra could, so she resorted to humming. It wasn't purring but it was as close as she could get without sounding like a complete fool.

During the next weeks she would eat and even start to work out again. She was building back the muscle that she lost. All for her son. To guarantee that he would be safe and happy.

An unexpected presence

Chapter Notes

Hey guys! Gigi here!

Hope you enjoy the new chapter , wish you have a great time and a great weekend. We're trying to update every weekend because of work soo here you go ❤️

Days were passing by to become months. The son was already several months old. In the late summer he would even be close to a year. It seemed that the magicats were growing up quicker than a normal baby. He was only a few months old and he looked like a toddler already.

The Horde was more powerful now with Shera by their side. Adora spent her free time with her son of course, caring for him and raising him as best she could in between missions. She had already gathered more scars, including a large one across her face, removing some of her eyebrow. She wasn't soft like she had been at Brightmoon. The only time that could be used to describe her as soft was when she was with her son. Her being a commander was the best thing Light Spinner thought of. What she didn't expect though was that one day she could feel a true powerful source of magic ,so she sent Adora and a group of soldiers to see what was happening. The woman seeked for more power as always, even though the whole Etheria was now in her hands… She wished for more.

"If it's a human being, bring them to me" She ordered before dismissing her and letting her investigate the forest where the source was coming from.

The blonde knelt before her as she was given her orders. Only when she was dismissed did she stand, bow, and walk away. She saddled up her horse and rode out with her platoon to investigate. The men got separated from the other woman while searching but they couldn't find anything. As she began to search the whole place she could see some footprints on the ground. Boots… she could tell.. but after some minutes she would meet face to face with a blonde haired girl ,exactly the same looks with her as she gasped in surprise.

The Catra she had met almost a year ago was behind her and a huge smile formed on her lips "Hey there, knight~" She waved slowly.

The knight hopped off, irritated as the girl adjusted her cloak. The Horde symbol painted proudly onto her chestplate, which was now black and red rather than the silver and gold it used to be. She almost drew her sword, until she heard the other Catra speak. She froze for a moment then, a part of her wishing that it was her Catra. Though knowing it wasn't she turned to look at her "What are you doing here. We're in the middle of a war."

"You are?....why do you wear this ?" She looked up at her, confused since she... did see the symbol on her. "This is..my Adora. We found a way to travel so...she wanted to see you and me to see my other self" She chuckled but she was still confused about the uniform.

Adora shook her head "Bright moon betrayed me. Catra and my daughter are dead... I.. Only have my son left. I work for the Horde now." She paused, "You should leave. Shadow Weaver told me to bring whatever was causing the magical disturbance in. But.. I don't think you want to see her. So go."

The feline widened her eyes in surprise and looked at her before she approached her. "She can't be dead... There's no way you could join the Horde - are you kidding me ?!" The feline was furious "do you think that's what Catra wants? She can't be dead" she insisted even though Adora looked saddened at the woman. "I'm sure I could... Heal the wounds.... A... Adora, do you know where she is?" She really couldn't believe the feline was dead..

"She's dead. I saw her die myself. Light Hope showed me. Brightmoon betrayed me. Used me because I'm she-ra. Shadow Weaver is protecting my baby boy, her grandson. I can't risk losing him now. He's only barely a year old." She pulled her helmet off, holding it under her arm as she looked at them "Now go. There's a refugee camp a few miles west. I'm sure there's a sorcerer there that can take you home. Maybe after the war is done I can come visit. But do not come to see me again until then." She looked away then, turning her horse and with a whistle, she called in her men, riding her horse away from them "There's nothing here boys! Let's go home."

The two women didn't answer... They actually didn't know what to do or say. Catra's eyes looked at the other girl only before she rushed behind the soldiers. They wanted to see where the woman was heading to. Probably to the Horde, so they could see if the other Catra was dead or not..

Adora didn't notice, assuming they were heading west as she told them so she rode back home on her Swiftwind, who she had found a few months after she joined them lurking around the remains of Brightmoon. She rode in front of them. Her back was straight and helmet back on to hide her scars. She paused when she entered the main castle of the Horde, where Shadow Weaver stayed and where she had been staying as well. She walked up to the throne, kneeling in front of it to give her report to the Queen. She said that she had found nothing.. that if there had been people there they must have left already. She added that she had looked around the area as well and found no signs of anyone or anything that could have caused the disturbance.

The queen didn't believe her. She knew that Adora was hurt but pure. She would still cover up someone just because they were innocent. Her hand placed on her cheek only to cup it and smile "Alright then since we've succeeded in taking control of Mystacore as well I will allow you to celebrate with the rest of the men or your son if you wish" She spoke and leaned back to her throne.

Adora nodded, bowing her head once more before standing up. She took her leave to spend time with her son once again rather than her men. They usually went to a tavern or some other place with alcohol and half naked ladies which she.. wasn't much a fan of. Not anymore at least. When she got to her room, she smiled as she saw her son, who she named Jack, crawling towards her. "Hey Jack! How's my big man" she scooped him up, smiling and holding him close. "I missed you, little one"

The young boy crawled close to her. The whole room was covered by blankets so the baby won't get hurt as some toys of his were already scratched. The boy couldn't speak but could pronounce 'm' so it wouldn't take too long for her to listen to the small yet so meaningful word. He giggled at her reaction and when she scooped him up.

The blonde one giggled at the ‘m’, repeating it back to him happily and nuzzling him. She wasn't Catra. She couldn't smell him. She couldn't purr or clean him with her tongue.. but she did the best she could with what she had. She kept her nails sharp now, like Catra had with her claws and would hum as she nuzzled him, repeating the actions Catra had done to her and that he would do to her as well. She was hoping it would be enough. She knew magicats learned to mewl when they were young as that was how they would ask for things. Adora didn't want to keep him from developing and learning everything he would learn if Catra was there. She tried her best, just hoping that it would be good enough. She let him stay naked bar a diaper of course, knowing he prefered it because of his fur.

The baby was clearly comfier with the diaper only and she could say it already. The magicat was already purring and the mewling was higher pitched yet it sounded like a small kitten. He still had the scar on his face but the baby didn't seem to care at all. Even if he was tired in the first days and even scared of Light Spinner in the beginning when Adora began to talk to her so freely and trust her he began to not be as scared as before. After all these months, almost a year they both were comfortable with each other. Adora smiled softly and cooed for him, rubbing his chest gently and smiling "my lovely baby boy... Did you miss me? hm?" she smiled and kissed his forehead, rubbing his chest still.

The baby boy, which indeed seemed more grown than just a simple human child, was nuzzling close to her. He was nibbling on her hand or finger even.

Adora was glad those teeth didn't show up yet. She giggled softly, letting him play with her hands as much as he wanted while humming softly as she sat down at her desk.

Meanwhile, the feline from the future walked quickly all the way to the Horde palace. Being able to get inside would mean that they could find what happened while they were away. "Adora...stay here okay? I'll go alone to just see and leave.."

The blonde shook her head then, following her "no. I'm coming with you. If they think I'm the other me then we might be able to get away if we get caught. If you're supposedly dead then if they see you we're screwed"

"I'm not letting you in there... You're pregnant, Adora... And we don't even have any weapons... Are you really going to just risk it?" She was serious. Catra was worried that she would get hurt. They were expecting a child...that was really...serious to just jump in the enemy's territory.

"Catra, I'll be fine. I always have She-ra remember? I promise.. Let's go in together, okay? If we do find the other you it might be soothing for her to see me again" She put a hand on her shoulder, smiling gently "Now let's go, okay?"

Catra couldn't do anything to make her stay.. her eyes rolled and she looked away before she glanced at one guard "How are we supposed to knock him down... ? And don't tell me Shera will ... You won't fight unless it's urgent " She continued

"why not? it won't hurt the baby if I'm in She-ra form. I already figured that out. I'll be okay. I promise" Adora crouched down, lifting her sword "besides, I can blast him without She-ra. Or would you rather sneak up behind him and smack him on the head huh?" She smiled at her then, lowering her sword for a moment "can you take him?"

"pft of course I can" The feline chuckled as her nails sharpened and she sneaked behind him when he was with his back facing her. The fact he was called out though made her open her eyes in surprise. The man walked away, leaving the entrance as his commander spoke. Catra looked back to the blonde and shrugged. It was.. easier than she thought.

Adora shrugged in return, walking forward as quietly as she could "where do you think we'll find her. If she's here? We're looking for the other you, right? she might be locked away somewhere" she spoke softly just loud enough for her to hear since she had better hearing than humans she knew it wouldn't be likely that they were overheard.

"yea... Maybe in the castle? Adora told me they kept her in some kind of dungeons so... " She spoke as she looked at the woman, holding her hand and taking quick steps towards the entrance. She got inside and ran to the huge building. She was taken back by the beautiful view ,even though it was the Horde she could tell she was really stunned by the outstanding, for the time, building and how wealthy it looked. The only thing she also noticed and made her suspicious was that they found no guards.. "... Adora ... ?" She spoke as they were almost to the entrance of the palace and found the knight.

The knight had brought her son out of the room. She always made sure he got to spend some time outside, holding him close as she walked around. Her back was straight as she looked like the perfect soldier, apart from the child in her arms. She heard the other Catra and paused for a moment, cursing softly "no way.. what the hell are you two doing here? I told you to leave!" she spoke in an angry whisper, walking over and finding them.

The other Adora looked at her with wide eyes. Now that her helmet was off, it revealed just how scarred and how stressful it had been for her since they last saw each other.

"Why not? I'm almost sure you all know we're here.... The best question is why my Adora followed me ...." Catra looked at the female and sighed. She was really anxious about her wife getting caught. She knew they were walking in a trap since all the guards were nowhere to be found. "Can you at least hide her? I don't care about me... But she has to be safe" She was actually scared.

The knight paused for a moment before sighing and shifting her son to one arm, just nodding "Fine. Come with me. I'll take you to my chamber." She gestured to Adora before looking back at Catra "I don't know what you're looking for but whatever it is you won't find it"

"and you should know by now that I'm too stubborn to let go." Catra hummed and chuckled as she pointed at her wife. She would then run inside the halls. She was as lucky as to find a soldier and manage to kill him so she could have his sword though the woman ...couldn't carry it. It was too heavy. She managed to not get caught up until she entered the dungeons. She was really risking everything she had. Her eyes scanned the place in the darkness but the other self of hers back nowhere to be found. Suddenly she felt a sharp pain on her back as she was grabbed from behind.

"Move and I'll cut your throat without a second thought" Light Spinner hissed. She seemed to have set all this up. The one who had the blade on her neck was only an illusion - how strong was she?!-

"So..... Other me.. this is ..your child I see?" Adora couldn't help but speak first.

The other blonde snorted, shaking her head and just turned away. She was leading the other Adora through the maze of corridors, not bothering to hide from any of the soldiers, humming softly when Jack got a little fussy. She used a hand to rub his chest again to sooth him. When the other Adora asked she looked at her for a moment before looking forward and nodding "yes. The only surviving kid of my twins.. a boy and a girl. This is Jack.. takes a bit more after his mom then me. Lena took more after me.. I.. do my best to give him what he would get if Catra was still here but it's not perfect.."

The blue eyed girl looked down. She felt bad for her, even if there was a small possibility of Catra to be alive since Shadow weaver was always lying.. she couldn't even imagine this to happen to her and her Catra or child. Only the thought of it made her heart stop. "I'm sure you will do your best... Nobody's perfect... You out of all people should know since... We're supposed to be the same person" She offered a smile. She looked at the woman and took a soft breath "He's cute ..~I'm not expecting to have twins but I'm sure you and I will make good moms" She tried to cheer her up somehow but the other just nodded, stepping into the room and kneeling down.

She let him down so he could play with his toys "Is there anything I can get you? food? drink? They don't have very good food or drink either here. Most of our resources are going towards the war rather than food and drink." She paused, before just nodding "yeah. His grandmother helps. It's hard, considering I'm a Force Captain in her army. Second only to the commander, then herself. I got my sword back too, luckily. Seems she has no need for it with me being here to use it." she shrugged, sitting down close to where Jack was playing. She knew he'd most likely end up right back in her arms, considering every time she was there he never wanted her to leave him.

Of course the child crawled close to her and gave her his toy but the other toy of his was left down on the feet of the other blonde girl and smiled while clapping his hands.

A wide smile formed on the other Adora’s lips and she knelt down slowly so she wouldn't harm the big belly of hers. "He's a cutie... But still ....do you really think Light Spinner would ever tell the truth...? Don't get me wrong... I know her too... At least my version of hers... Is pretty cruel...she would never say the truth ,instead lying was her thing" She admitted and looked at her ,still not believing she was wearing this armour.

The knight nodded, watching him with a soft smile though when the topic turned to her the smile faded once again "I saw it for myself. Light Hope showed me. She's the woman who chooses the next She-ra. She wouldn't lie to me. She has no reason to...and maybe Shadow Weaver is.. but that doesnt matter. He's the only thing I have left that's worth fighting for. Before I knew he was alive I almost starved myself." she paused, sighing "I'm glad I didn't.. I don't want to leave him without both mothers.."

"I'm sure you're doing great work though... On raising him... He's adorable " The other smiled at her and gave him a soft poke as he giggled. She really thought all this was just another trick even though... Light hope never lied- well... so bad. She could never tell.

The knight shook her head, sighing softly and looking down. Jack giggled at the poke while he was trying to grab her finger. She smiled gently as she watched him, taking her hair out of her ponytail to relax, humming gently "So.. How is your pregnancy coming along?"

"It's going great... Only some cramps which make me.. anxious sometimes. We've been through a lot to make this happen ...so... " She looked away and smiled as the baby looked up at her. "Jack has your eyes...and nose" She chuckled as the baby boy stood up on his feet ,trying to balance.

The knight nodded, smiling gently as she helped Jack stand. She gave him two fingers to hold onto, one for each hand "There you go buddy... Look at you go. He's only just nearing a year old and he's already almost walking... He's maturing so much faster then I expected" She sighed, looking down at him "He does... But if you look close enough there's little flecks of gold in there.."

"Oh?" The woman looked at the small one and gave him a small peck on his forehead as he smiled brightly. His eyes had indeed a golden colour but at the same time his fur was shorter than Catra's, maybe because he was too young yet. "Do you... miss them? I mean... it's obvious but you joined the Horde...it's serious" She looked at the small one..she really didn't want to bring her mood down but...she couldn't help but ask.

The other one nodded, holding onto Jack still while tickling his sides "Of course I miss them. Why wouldn't I? I loved them. I.. Still love them." She paused then, looking down at him "I almost let myself die because I had nothing to live for. Now I do. And it's thanks to Light Spinner that I do. I owe her my son's life. It's the least I can do, to serve her as her knight"

"..... Do you think Catra would want that? ... For you to serve her mother?" The other Adora spoke calmly to not piss her off. She looked up at her and took a soft breath before she sat more comfortably. She didn't know what took her wife so long but she would..wait for some moments till she went to find her.

The knight paused for a moment, looking away "I don't want to talk about this. What are you two even looking for?" She looked at her then, clearly already upset. She picked Jack up, bouncing him on one knee as she waited for the other Adora to respond.

"We came here to see you..and well.. Catra too. But mostly we can't just see what's wrong and let it happen... Shera fights the Horde .. she's not by its side... I've been fighting it even in my days... If something changes the past... The future will change as well.." She looked at the baby boy who was now playing with his mother. He opened his arms in need of a hug.

The force captain hugged him close, rubbing his back and leaning back, letting him cuddle up to her chest "Yeah well now I fight with the Horde. It doesn't matter anyway... I owe her. Brightmoon used me for She-ra." She looked at her, pausing "What's taking your Catra so long anyway?"

The other woman remained quiet and looked away only to shrug softly and tap on the floor "I... Don't know, I thought of letting her be for another five minutes but I'm curious...and worried" She spoke as she stood up and took some steps towards the door. "I'll go search for her... Maybe she got lost" She tried to find a stupid reason to not just freak out.

"She probably did. But you shouldn't go alone. Come on, let's go." The warrior got up, hugging Jack close as she walked and just wrapping an arm around him. The other hand was holding onto her sword. "Where was she heading?"

"You'll bring the baby with you?" The other blonde widened her eyes. She was really going to take the baby even if it could end up in a fight? "I can go alone... The baby shouldn't come"

“Yes, I'm bringing Jack with me. Trust me. I can keep him safe. It's better than leaving him alone." She looked at her then "Now where was she going? Lets go bail your wife out of trouble"

The pregnant woman was still worried about the child but she nodded at her and began to walk to the door before she opened it to start the search. Her eyes looked carefully around the halls but at the same time she took a deep breath and transformed into Shera. She knew that if she got hit like this she wouldn't be able to save the child but if she was Shera she could heal herself and the baby.

The captain looked over at her for a moment "Huh. So that's what Catra meant by you looking different..." She transformed as well while holding Jack close. Then she looked down at him for a moment before looking back up and following the other "Why aren't you telling me where she was going."

"After Shadow Weaver...." She didn't get used to calling her Light Spinner so... She would continue calling her that. "I needed proof that your wife is dead.. Adora. I really don't want to believe she's gone... But at the same time I don't want to push you.. and I hope Catra is alright too... Light Hope.... Lied to me. She said that freeing the magic of Etheria will save us from the Horde but.... It caused more trouble than I thought.. that's why I don't trust all this... Did you lose your sword or... Did you not have control over it for a long period of time?"

The knight paused for a moment at the question "When I was sent to your world it was because she kidnapped me. She had my sword and kept it until I joined her. But there's no way she could have used it or manipulated it or Light Hope herself." She looked at her for a moment before looking forward. "And what do you think happened, huh?"

"She can manipulate it... She has magic... She is powerful as well..." Adora looked still in the hall so she couldn't get face to face with any guard. "But we still can't be sure... I don't know where she could have been.... If she got captured... Where could she be?" She hummed quickly "If she got captured she would be put in the dungeon."

The other woman stepped into the hallway, just walking ahead and turning the guards away before letting the other come along. She headed for the dungeons, leading the way for her and holding the child close to her chest. She didn't want to let Jack all alone in his room but as they approached the dungeons she was regretting it.

The pregnant one was walking quickly but she continued to follow her only to lean close to her when she heard a noise. The baby was already clinging tight on his mother. He looked up at her and gave her a worried look. "Do you think she got caught ...?" She spoke in a hum. "I'm... Anxious. What if Shadow Weaver is stronger than the one I've fought ..?"

"It's fine. She'll be fine." The warrior rolled her eyes at the noise but let her stay closer, looking at her for a moment "Now c'mon." She headed down the stairs into the dungeon, kissing Jack's forehead to soothe him.

Some guards were at the entrance and they both glanced at the warrior. "What's your business here? The queen ordered no one to come in or leave from the dungeons" The man growled, thankfully he didn't see the other one since she was hidden behind the wall that had the opening to the stairs for the cells.

The Commander crossed her arms, lifting her head to look at him "My business is my business. Let me in or I will make your life a living hell. Kyle right? Don't forget you're under my command as well." She stared at him down, irritated "Let me in and I'll let you off of cleaning horse shit for two weeks. If not, I'll add another month."

"I had .. I had the exact opposite orders— I .... I mean" He looked away .... He really didn't want to clean horse shit but Light Spinner was indeed scary .. "Just go in quickly and leave... ... I think Her Majesty left... " He rubbed his neck softly

"I won't be long." The knight looked back then, to the other Adora “Come on. Let's be quick about this." Once the other Adora caught up, she stepped into the dungeons, looking around. As she walked she spoke "Where do you think she would be? I doubt she's in one of these cells unless she was caught."

"I don't know..." The woman spoke as she quickly looked at the man who was now staring at them. They were... Almost the same person. Her eyes looked around but she wouldn't remain in the dark for long. She raised her hand up and took a small breath before she summoned a small ball of glow in her hand. "You... Really want your child to have some great... images " She hummed and gave her a chuckle. Whimpers were even heard…

The knight shrugged, hugging Jack closer to her chest so that he couldn't see anything "He won't remember it. He's too young. And if this breaks out into a fight and I've left him all alone he could have been used against me. This is better." She took a turn down a hallway, pausing when she realised it was the same one she was taken down. Her mind brought up memories of that day back there and made her shiver, her hold against Jack grew tight "I don't think she's here. It's too big for us to explore completely."

"Are you sure..? Please, I can't just leave without knowing if she's here... " She huffed and tightened her fist.

Jack tried to get away from his mother's embrace but she didn't let go of him. He whined and almost cried. It was then when they could hear a familiar voice, though they couldn't tell if it was the knight's or the other's Catra. The voice was sharp. A distant yell echoed but it could have been just a random dude getting tortured. Jack, though, was still trying to get away from his mom.

The warrior looked confused at him, trying to shush him gently "Shhh,shhh hey, you're okay.. What is it? Are you okay?" She gently bounced him, looking around before sighing and kneeling "Where are you trying to go little one... What's here?" The woman looked at him and took a soft breath.

Jack slowly began to walk, small legs trembling but after a while he began to crawl.

"Adora, maybe you should take him in your arms again..." The other woman from the future gave her a small piece of advice.

The two women were still in the dungeon, following the child but soon the door cracked and Catra's governess, Daniella, ran inside. She was working now as a servant of the Queen.. every maid and servant of hers was now bound to the Queen just like they always were before Catra moved out. She paused when she saw the two women looking all the same.

The knight headed for the door and when it opened she lifted her sword. When she saw it was the governess though she lowered it, confused "You're Catra's governess.. I thought you died with her...

Why are you here? And why are you in the dungeons..?" She looked confused then, holding Jack and bouncing him once more to try and soothe him. She was not sure why he was so eager to get to the door, not wanting to get her hopes up.

"I wasn't dead in the first place.... I ... Have a lot to tell you but first of all you will have to leave... Her Majesty knows you're here... She knows she's here.." She looked at the other blonde girl and allowed her to walk through the door. At that moment though a cracked voice called out for the warrior. The governess knew things that Adora didn't but she couldn't tell the truth just yet... She couldn't let her get captured or out damaged by Light Spinner. "Leave the dungeons. Now." She insisted.

The knight girl heard the voice, immediately looking into the gap between the governess and the wall, trying to look into the cell "Who's in there? What do you mean she knows? Was Catra caught? If so, where is she? And why is my son trying so hard to get in there?" She clearly wouldn't let up, watching her closely.

"You don't have time if she gets her hands on this... Shera.. you will both die ... I saw her holding a woman who looked like Lady Catra .... but she took her to her room not in here-"

The sound of the sorceress' heels echoed and there was indeed... Only one corridor to get out and come into the cells.

The older woman took a sharp breath and she pulled them both behind a wall as she looked around when the torches lit up. "Come" She whispered and pushed them behind a short wall that separated the first cells from the rest.

Adora though squeaked as she was grabbed as she held Jack closer. She was confused when she was shoved behind the wall "I- hey! What do you think you're doing?" She went quiet though, irritated but not saying anything.

Shadow Weaver stepped in, mask on as per usual as the feline from one of these first cells turned to look over at her.

"Ahhh child... How did my guards treat you? Well?"

Welcome back

The princess of the Horde was tired. She was already starving. The lack of water as well made her body weak. Her eyes looked at Light Spinner and a glare formed on her face. Her fists tighten just a little as her voice comes out sharp "What do you want..? Will you keep me here forever?" She growled. Her torso still had her old red dress. The cloth was torn in some spots due to the hits as the back was all gone because of the whipping. Her wrists were still pink as she struggled to get free.

Shadow Weaver shook her head "Oh no dear child. I have use for you yet." She stepped closer then "Just you wait. I already have that second you. It's only a matter of time before I find the second Adora"

The brunette breathed heavily. Her eyes looked up at her and glared at her. "You'll never find her...." She hissed, but at the same time, she was in there for way too long to have the strength to fight her even if she didn't have the chains. Her hands moved just a little. When she approached she moved back, crawling almost. "W..where are my children?" She didn't care about herself anymore. She hadn't seen her babies for a year.

The other one looked down at her for a moment, scoffing "your daughter is dead. And your son is being raised by me. He will be everything you failed to be. He will be better than you ever were. He will be the reason I raised you, and he will be my true successor. You are dead to all but those here and a few servants."

Adora though had just frozen, listening to this, though as time passed she was starting to get angry, glaring daggers through the wall at her and was ready to jump through and kill her with her own blade. The other Adora was getting more anxious than ready to fight. She had her wife. The girl held on the other's hand as the governess tried to calm her down.

"You're lying... Please.....mother... Let me see them...! You've already taken everything from me, just let me see my babies!" Catra almost cried. Her voice cracked. Her hands were trying to get free. Her ears were still down. She knew that she wouldn't allow her to see Adora since... She must have said the same lies to her too. "Don't you have even a small piece of heart?! Even Adora gave you what you needed ..and you still want more!?"

The Queen growled softly, pushing her back "begging will get you nowhere! I warned you not to run off with that stupid knight and you disobeyed me anyway. This is the price, your son is mine and your daughter is gone. Adora is none the wiser. Every bit the idiotic blonde I knew she was, though she does alright in battle."

The feline tried to hold on to her dress. She tried too much to not believe her yet she..did change Adora.. her eyes looked on the floor as her tail wrapped around her.

That was it for Adora. Handing Jack off to the governess, before charging out, quite literally ramming into her, shoulder first "YOU LIED TO ME"

The sorceress though didn't get hit by the woman. She disappeared in a thick fog and she reappeared to the other Shera "You think I didn't have a plan?... You are really good at baiting people, child" She chuckled as she grabbed on the woman's wrist. Shera let out a grunt as she drew her sword though not quickly enough for her to not stun her in place by her magic.

Catra couldn't believe she saw the woman again. She was still in the corner of her cell, not knowing if she should go or not. Adora growled again, not letting it deter her. She quickly moved back to her, drawing her sword and swinging, not caring about whether she would actually hit her or not. She tried to get her to let go of the other Adora. She focused on the battle, knowing if she tried to talk to Catra she would be too distracted at the moment, so instead she was worried more about getting the other Adora free.

The other Adora sneered at her, furious. She clearly had more scars, and her hair was a bit shorter, though it was still in a pony tail, with that same stupid poof on the front.

The sorceress chuckled and smirked when she didn't back off. Her hand tightened around the girl's wrist when she pulled her sword to stab her but she instead gave her only a hard kick as the woman made them both vanish into thin air. She did use her magic powers to boost her own but now...that Shera got captured.

The knight was truly the one who caused it.

Daniella slowly took a step. The baby boy tried to get free by her hands and go to the cell where his mother was.
Adora looked at where the other Adora was before just growling softly again "god dammit..." she paused though, turning to look at her Catra then, just pausing "Catra..?"

The feline's eyes glimpsed in the dark of the room but she didn't approach. She thought it was a trick or....that she didn’t speak to her. Her eyes looked at the woman but once the governess let the small boy down he walked, stumbling sometimes on the way to his mom. Tearful, the feline bent and wrapped her arms around the baby boy. "M..my baby..." She whispered. She knew she was away for too long but didn't know how long.. She could assume it was a year already.

Adora rushed forward as soon as she saw her son, wrapping her arms around her as well, holding her close and letting out a weak sob "I thought you were dead.. oh goddess... I-I wish I had known.."

Catra let out a cry at the embrace. She tried to pull away but at the same time she wanted to hug her.. to feel her close but her back was aching too much from the scars and wounds "Adora... Leave... Go find that Adora... She will need help" The woman spoke as the governess approached her.

"Light Spinner managed to kill and absorb more power than that blonde girl thinks... She is in trouble.." her voice cracked and was still as sharp.

The blonde winced at the cry, just pausing for a moment before nodding "I-.. right.. right.. I'll be right back. I promise.. I won't leave you again.." she got up then, kissing her on the forehead before running to find the other one.

Future-Adora looked around, confused at first before just looking at Shadow Weaver "I killed you once. I'll do it again if I have to."

As for Light Spinner, she looked up at her and chuckled as she forced the girl into a barrier. She could see Catra being unconscious on the floor while the other one was reading from a book "You can try... But will you succeed?" She smirked and turned her back to slowly prepare what seemed to be a portion.

Adora didn't give her a chance. She was stronger than the knight and she was hoping that because of that, Light Spinner would underestimate her. She swung at the barrier, letting out an angry cry "I'm not letting you hurt anyone, ever again. Not in my world and not in this one."

The older one chuckled in return. With a motion of her hand she stopped the hand of hers which was holding the sword. "Do you know what's funny with your powers? You are powerful for your world... But this power is reduced in mine... dear." She hissed and gave the woman a hit with her electro power to bring her on her knees.

The blonde fell to her knees, letting out an angry cry of pain and holding tightly onto her sword "you aren't getting my power.."

"why? Because you said so? Ah Adora you're still such a fool ,trying to prove that you are worthy of the sword's magic ,yet you're nothing but a failure" Her eyes glared at the woman and began to walk all the way to the unconscious feline, giving her a kick her as she drew a circle with a glow-y mixture she made. Her eyes looked up at her before she began to read out loud the spell. Her eyes were glowing as the young girl could feel her skin burning, more because she had accepted the whole power of Shera. If she did manage to get her power her powers and strength would be lower than a simple human.

Adora tried to get up again, letting out another angry cry when she kicked Catra. She fought against it as much as she could, even as she let out a now more pain filled scream.

The scream helped the knight to find where they were. Running over and standing back, pointing her sword to blast her before she could realise she was there and gritting her teeth “back off the other me. There's no way in the nine hells I'm letting you get a hold of her power."

The older one glared at the girl. She had already taken a good amount of the other's powers and she couldn't even match her strength. "Are you sure about that?" She smirked and tilted her arm, hand making a black circle before she shot the woman with a blast. The room was truly huge so there was no need for her to worry about any damage. She let the spell take effect on the other Adora only to pull away and fight the girl, dodging the woman's hit at times even if she got her mask ripped by the blade.

Adora cried out. She got flung back by the blast just barely holding onto the sword and got up as quickly as she could. She needed to get the other Adora away from her, and soon. Instead of focusing on her she ran for the other her, though she was hesitant to cross the barrier. She expected to be trapped inside as well. She needed to get the other one out. She looked between Adora and Shadow Weaver, gritting her teeth and cursing softly.

"What, dear..? Jump in. I'm sure you will make a good power source but... What am I talking about.." She hummed, walking closer and guided a dark black arm made by the magic of hers around her torso. She tied her arms up as well to give her a hit on her head by summoning another blast of magic. It seemed that all the power she got by that new Shera was converted to match her dark magic. "You see..it's easier to get a hold of you... The sword is your brain and soul. Your sword is your heart and without it ,you're nothing but a simple knight" She growled, grabbing the woman's sword from the ground "I really made a mistake though, keeping you around.... To poison the boy's mind. He is meant to be the new king yet I held you and Catra around to enjoy victory when I could have killed you all... That daughter of yours included" The woman spoke. It was then that if Adora would look carefully she would notice the baby girl being....not hurt. The child didn't have any scars like the boy did but she was still too small to talk. She was in a small bed in the corner of Shadow Weaver’s room.

Adora squirmed against the magic holding her down, muscles straining, jerking against it and fighting with everything she had in her. Head went back and eyes shut in pain at first. When she grabbed the sword she let out another angry yell, jerking once more against the restraints. She opened her eyes again to watch her when she heard the news about her daughter. She paused for a moment, eyes widening before she let out an angry scream, lowering her head and straining harder against the restraints. She ignored what she said at this point. She could lift whole wagons and boulders. She had to hope she could break out of this if she fought enough.

The Queen pressed her more against the floor. Her magic grew stronger and the other Adora would cry out as the whole spell was ending. Her attempts to get free were limited since the sorceress was way too powerful. She didn't need any sword now. She didn't need any weapon, her magic was enough for her to destroy them both but she didn't just take the sword away from the knight. With a tough thrust and the use of her magic the sword fell in pieces down on the floor, making a sharp sound. "This was ridiculously easy...." She spoke as the once Shera faded into Adora again.

"A—Adora " The trapped blonde girl gasped. She wanted to help but she couldn't even speak. Her body fell on the ground as the magic slid away and into the hands of the Queen.

When the sword fell down into pieces the knight screamed, back arching off the floor and as She-ra faded away she kept straining, though she was clearly weaker and exhausted now. She heard the other her, trying one last time to lift her arm, before she stopped fighting just turning her head to look at her "you're a monster..." she paused, clearly about ready to give up just happy her children were alive. She watched her then, getting more worried about what she would do now that She-ra was gone, or at least that hers was. She expected to be killed..she had to make sure Catra and the children were alright first and then.. she didn’t care about her life.

The queen chuckled and looked at the girl before guiding herself towards the child. Thankfully the baby boy was with his mother "Why? Because you failed to protect yourself? Your family? This is your fault, dear...." She looked down at her and chuckled before she walked towards the baby girl "You know this time this is not going to be a vision ,knight. You will lose everything in front of your own eyes." She growed.

Adora’s eyes widened then and as she approached her daughter she started fighting again "no! NO! DON'T TOUCH HER!" she cried out. Her panic and anger ignited the magic within her. Her eyes started to glow. Once Shadow Weaver was almost close enough to her daughter she cried out her phrase, more out of desperation than anything. Surprisingly she transformed looking much more like the other Adora at this point. She looked down at herself for a moment before she looked at her then, tearing through the restraints.

The woman didn't notice the girl's change. She didn't even know she got free. Her hand rested on the child's head only to cast a spell again. This hit wouldn't miss. The baby wouldn't survive.

The knight ran forward, wasting no time this time. She ran up behind her, swinging her sword up in an arc, aiming for her midsection without giving her a chance to hurt her daughter. With an angry yell she swung the sword, not caring if she killed the woman or not. She didn't care at this point, whatever it took to protect her daughter she would do. She cannot lose them, not again, not now.

The queen eventually got hit on her back. Her lips let out a sharp gasp and she fell to the ground.
The other Adora could now stand up still. Her eyes looked at Catra who grunted heavily and stumbled almost. Her head felt heavy.

The queen got knocked but not captured. She was dizzy by the sudden hit but she soon casted a spell so she could escape. She knew when to leave and when to stay.

Adora knew she got a good hit on her, just stood there, panting softly. The knight looked down at her daughter then, scooping her up and cradling her close. She stumbled to her knees then, changing back and just hugging her close as she cried softly.

Catra hissed after waking up completely and tried to run to her wife "A..are you alright?"

Future-Adora groaned, struggling to pull herself up "I'll.. Be fine... Just.. Gimme like... A few hours of rest..." She huffed, laying back down and changing back, putting a hand on her stomach.

"You... Are you sure about that?—" She was too worried to let go of her. Her hands embraced her and picked her up close to give her a small kiss on her lips. "Babe... Just... Just rest I'll take you somewhere to rest" She looked at the blonde girl and spoke quickly "Where should I take her? Can you see if she and the baby are.. alright?" She quickly asked now that the knight had been connected with magic and the real power of Shera.

Adora leaned against her "She just.. Drained my magic.. I'll be okay... Just gotta.. Replenish..."
The other Adora looked up, nodding as she walked over "Of course. I don't think we should stay here though. Let's get my Catra and we can go. We can go to the refugee camp I told you about" She sighed softly, looking down at her daughter for a moment before looking up "Lets go"

The baby girl was too stunned by all this. She didn't laugh or cry. She was just emotionless.
Catra nodded quickly and looked up at Shera. She was always stunning every time she showed herself. Her steps were quick out to the hallway and she gave her a kiss on her forehead. "You'll be alright. We're going to rest, okay?..." She whispered as they fell almost to the governess and the princess who were walking slowly out of the dungeon's hall and into the main corridor of the palace.

"Lady Adora" The older woman spoke, taken back by her appearance but at the same time she was glad she was....alive and well.
The warrior held her daughter close, still scared this was a nightmare or a dream. She then held onto her.

As they walked, Modern Adora just nuzzled into her lover, making her purr and closing her eyes as she wrapped a loose arm around her shoulder.

Knight Adora looked up and seeing her wife all she could do was rush forward, scooping her up into a hug. Though now being mindful of the wounds on her back, pressing her face into her neck "Our daughter is alive... I have her... And I hurt your mom.. I don't know how badly.. But I definitely drew blood.. Enough for her to retreat.. We can leave"

The princess whined, almost chuckling. Her body felt so numb. Her back was wounded but Adora couldn't see her at that moment "Let's go..." She murmured in a tired tone.

Adora for her matter just scooped her up, looking at the Governess "Where is Jack?" She had clearly regained her strength. She kept Catra close to her though

"I have him ,lady Adora... The baby girl is... Surprised I can tell.." The governess looked up at her and gave her a small smile before she raised her hands to show her Jack who was nuzzling close to her. They could walk quickly to the gates, the guards had no idea of what was happening but at the same time they saw a commander leaving so... It was obvious they wouldn't stop them. "Her Highness is too hurt to walk quickly, I can take care of the two babies if you want." The older woman spoke up, wanting to help her by holding the baby girl as well in one arm so she could have the princess in her embrace.

Adora though just shook her head, pausing for a moment to scoop Catra up, holding her in one arm wrapped under her thighs, the other still cradling her daughter.

Modern Adora looked at her from Catra's arms, mumbling "Wow she's strong..."
"You are just as strong, my love.." She spoke softly and caressed her cheek while looking away from her. Did she like the other being as strong? She would never be just as strong... She leaned closer and nuzzled.
Adora smiled and nuzzled into her, yawning gently "You're strong too... I love you..."
"I love you too...Just rest...sleep and I'll be here by your side..we still can leave if you wish..to get some medical help..? Here is not the same I assume.." She sighed in worry.
The blonde just held onto her a bit tighter "Can we stay.. A bit longer..? I just need rest.. I'll be okay.."
The feline followed her and let her guide her to the woods while holding her lover. She looked around when she finally saw the tips of the short tent they had during the war.

The Knight kissed her wife's cheek "I missed you so much...." She looked up at her. She had many more scars now and that was just what could be seen from her face, including the large one cutting a slit into her eyebrow and crossing over her nose.

The feline was already resting there. She couldn't help but feel tired.. She was too weak as well.. thinner because of dehydration and almost starving... Wounded by the whips they were using often as a punishment but she couldn’t help but purr. "I missed you ... I miss you too, my love..." She hissed though as her body was aching, her tail was all wounded by pulls or even steps on it. She didn't have the time to explain anything to her yet.

The knight held her closer, pressing a kiss to her shoulder "Rest now love... I've got you" She started healing her then, her arm glowing as she did, before looking down at her daughter "I missed you too, little one.. I'm so glad you're back..." At that time the other feline looked at the knight.

"Hey... Where should I place her? Should I take her to that tent?" Catra hummed and looked up at the knight while holding on her Adora.

The knight looked at her and nodded, looking forward again. "I need to find who's running this refugee camp and talk to them. I'll be back" she kept healing her Catra as she walked, still looking around to try and find them.

There was a woman who she could speak to, thankfully "Adora... What happened?" She approached as the woman looked at the girl and tried to help her with the feline to carry her to a tent close to them. She didn't lay her down on the soft mattress but she left her sitting since the scars from the whips were deep

"Relax, your highness and I will call the doctors to see if you need any help" the older woman of the crew spoke again. Adora looked away from her, not sure she could face her at the moment. She gently laid Catra on her side, kneeling beside her so she wouldn't be far away. She put a hand on her back to help heal the wounds and at least stop the pain.
It took them a while to settle in the camp but when both of the couples were resting the doctor would walk in the tent. The man knelt down to look at the knight and took a short breath before speaking up "May I have a look?" He spoke as the other one was still thankfully feeling better because of Adora's magic.

Adora paused for a moment but nodded, moving her hand so the doctor could look "I-... yeah.. but I can heal it..." she was clearly nervous about letting anyone else around her, considering what happened to her after a strange glance of the doctor she nodded "I- yeah, yeah I can"
"not every wound is healed with magic" The man spoke in a calm tone to not offend her but it was true that the girl had some process because of the healing, though it wouldn't heal all the wounds. Once she went out of the tent the man saw the wounds, pouring some medicine for the princess to not be in pain and he wrapped her torso with a clean white cloth. The doctor also had a look at her tail and the several other scratches but the main cause of her being so weak was that she didn't eat at all for a while now.

Meanwhile the other Adora woke up. Her Catra looked at her and leaned close, kissing her cheek and nuzzling her face on her neck "Babe? How are you... ?" She was worried for her and the baby. Adora groaned softly, looking up at her "my body aches... I... I think our baby will be okay... Adora..? oh it's weird calling my own name.. can you um... can you check..? I'm too weak right now...." The feline nodded and caressed her cheek " I'll go call her ,maybe she can help .. I don't trust the doctors of this century" She joked to cheer her up and slowly kissed her lips before she pulled up and headed out to the knight "Adora? ...what are you doing out here?"

"The doctor kicked me out... says `not every wound can be healed with magic' or some shit like that..." she crossed her arms and looked away, clearly angry. She looked back at the tent again, not liking that he was in there alone with her. A part of her was worried that she would get hurt again when she wasn't around. She looked forward again with a soft sigh "what about you? why aren't you with your wife?"

The feline understood what she meant. "she... Told me to call you.... She is weak and... I know you didn't heal your wife but can you try to at least see if she and the baby will be okay?" Her ears were down as her eyes fixed up on her blue ones. "I don't have any magic powers to...do anything to help her" She really sounded like her princess while complaining that she wasn't a princess with magic.

The knight couldn't help but smile at that, putting a hand on her shoulder "you sound like my Catra.. She was always upset that the other princesses had a runestone and magic and she didn't. But trust me.. being there for her is just as good." She paused before taking a deep breath "..speaking of which.. Could you sit with my wife? please? I.. don't want to leave her alone. I don't know that doctor and.. I don't trust him"
"hey... I don't care about having magic... I just want to protect her sometimes" Obviously she wouldn't admit it and rolled her eyes but she crossed her arms over her chest and nodded at her "sure I can..~" She agreed when she finally took some steps away from her to give her a small smile "Thanks" She spoke before going inside to check up on the princess.

Adora just hummed and nodded, letting go of her again. She headed to the tent where the other her was, walking in after a moment and kneeling down beside her. It was the first time she was all alone with someone so...similar to her. It felt strange but at the same time she felt that this Adora knew and understood all her worries somehow.

Past can't be forgotten

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

"Hey, how do you feel?"
The knight looked at her and gave her a small smile.

The other one didn't want to worry Catra but she raised her hand to her stomach "I don't know...it's probably a cramp but... My stomach is aching..and I really don't know if the baby is okay or not" The girl looked away and sighed as she got more comfortable in bed.

The other girl knelt down beside her then, humming softly "well to be honest I don't know much about this.. but if anything is wrong.. nevermind" she put a hand on her stomach then, focusing only on her and her belly and her hand started to glow. She healed whatever may be wrong. Her eyebrows furrowed as she spoke again "it's weird healing myself.."

".... Yeah... Tell me more about it. I don't know if anyone else is a good healer... And..I don't trust doctors to touch me" Adora chuckled and rubbed the back of her head "You know..it's the difference between our worlds. That doctor the last time I came to the queen's palace was ready to poison Catra and... I don't want to risk it" She said as if she knew that the knight left Catra alone with the doctor and made her worry build again.

"She told me.. supposedly they didn't know but I.. I don't want to risk it. The doctor told me that there are apparently some wounds magic can't heal.. I kinda doubt that. I didn't want to leave her alone so I asked your wife to stay with her while I take care of you." She took a deep breath to calm herself before adding "I'm not sure how to really explain this but I can just.. feel what's wrong when I'm healing someone. I can feel the wounds closing themselves too. I guess that's so that the others don't have to.

I’m.. not really feeling much for your baby but you have a lot of internal wounds I'm fixing up right now."

"It is...kind of complicated to be honest. Magic can't heal everything. I will agree on that... Even though I once made Catra come back to life.. even if that wasn't supposed to happen... I didn't even know I could do this but you know.... I couldn't lose her" The woman from the future spoke and took a soft breath only to calm down and smile at the other. "You can heal but deep wounds need time and energy to do so... Which you have for now.. at the end of the day you will see that you'll need a doctor's help. You can't do it all by yourself or your magic will take over you " She hummed and sighed with the news about her wounds "thanks.... "

The warrior sighed softly, looking at her for a moment before just turning her gaze back to her "even then magic can heal a lot more and a lot faster then they can." she ignored the last part then and just focused on healing her. If she can't help the people she cares about, then what is she supposed to do? How weak is she? She sighed softly. Her thoughts stray back to Catra. Her princess of course. She'll be okay physically. She knows she will. What she's worried about is how she'll be mentally. She's learned a long time ago that certain things can mess with people's heads so of course now she's worried about her wife and if she'll be the same. If not, how different will she be?

The other blonde noticed how deeply she was sinking into her thoughts and remained quiet. Her breathing was getting easier and lighter. She felt better than before. Her eyes closed to rest back as she now relaxed on the pillow behind her. "If..you want to talk I'm here ... We're the same person I know when you're getting worried or anxious" She smiled "I already feel better.." she continued but the girl shook her head

She just tried to turn her thoughts back to focusing on Adora "I’m fine. I don't want to talk about anything. I think the worst of the wounds are healed up now... I'll stay for a bit longer to be sure though." She clearly didn't want to talk though that was usual.

She felt that..if she had to get help from others she was weak. She kept everything inside, preferring not to talk about anything and try to figure it out on her own instead.

"Adora...- That... Felt weird" the other one paused and looked at the woman who was still there healing the last parts "You should talk more... I'm the exact opposite of you in this I can tell... You can open up and let your worries out even if it's with me around. I know I can't do much to help but I will try" She looked up at her and smiled in an attempt to make her speak.

It was then when the doctor slid the tent's entrance open to walk inside and inform the woman about the other's condition. "her highness will be fine but her back will still have scars. Her back is infected by some of the wounds, her tail will also need some care. It's broken.."

"alright. I'll heal what I can then. Anything is better than nothing. I already took care of Adora. She had internal injuries but she and her kid will be fine. You don't need to see her. She just needs rest." The knight stood up then, looking at Adora "I'll get your Catra back to you and tell her the news. Just rest"

The doctors didn't have a good relationship with mages so it was obvious the man wouldn't even start arguing with the woman. With a nod he left and the blonde girl smiled at her "Thanks...really" She wished to help her though.. she wasn't even able to talk to her in peace and let her open up yet..

Catra though was about to leave but she didn't want to leave the princess alone. Once the woman was there though she looked up at her and smiled "She... Looks better...though the doctor said she has to drink and eat." Her tail slowly wagging while talking to her.

Adora nodded at her comment, giving her a slight smile "Thank you. Your wife will be fine too. She had some internal wounds but the baby is fine. I healed her up just fine. I'm a little tired but I'm sure I'll be able to help my wife too." she paused for a moment to look at her "and um...thanks..for not listening to me when I told you to leave, I guess"

Catra smiled at that. Her arms wrapped around her to embrace her. "You're welcome... I have to go.. I'm sure we won't leave just yet. Adora needs some rest and... We came here to see the whole place actually..so..." With a motion of her hand she waved at her for now leaving the couple alone and heading off to her own blonde girl to check up on her.

Adora hesitated before hugging her back, just nodding "yeah. Go spend time with your wife. We won't be going anywhere. Don't worry." She chuckled softly and let her go before heading inside.

The princess though didn't speak for now. She was resting on her one side ,back facing the entrance of the tent and her tail was forced straight by a thin, short stick and bandage on its body.

When Adora walked inside and saw how her lover was she sighed softly and knelt down beside her "Catra..."

The girl's ear twitched at the sound. She opened her eyes to look at her for a sign that she was listening. She was really tired. Her voice was barely heard. "Mhm..?" She hummed. The feline didn't know how to feel ...she was angry. Sad... Relieved that she was out of there but at the same time she was scared. She had some food on a plate to the side of the bed but she didn't touch it.

Adora put a hand on her arm to gently squeeze it "I'm so sorry.. I thought... I thought you were dead... if.. if I knew you were alive I would have gotten you out so much sooner..." she hesitated then, looking away "both children are alright. They're alive but our daughter is... in shock I guess.. I don't blame her..." she looked back at her then tearing up slightly "I'm so sorry"

Catra looked at her and a soft exhale escaped her lips. "Adora... You just left.... You never listened to me" Her voice was sharper. Perhaps it would take longer for that to heal. Her eyes looked away and she clenched her fist. "I know she lied to you. She did the same about the children. I don't know why you believed her... Is she gone?" She mumbled trying to change the subject off her.

The other winced at that, hesitating before pulling her hand away. She turned her head away as well "right... I just.. yeah... for now. I hit her pretty well in the side but she disappeared before I could see just how much damage I did... definitely made her bleed, though..." she looked away still, keeping her hands to herself now. She sat beside her while not wanting to answer the first question.

Catra knew she felt guilty. Their children got scars. She got scars too and Adora started it all because.. of visions. The princess looked away and then at her before touching Adora's face, where that new scar was placed. She felt her heart tightening "Where did you get this...?"

The blonde cleared her throat before speaking. She paused for a moment before shrugging "first training after I started working for your mother…. didn't know how hard they pushed their trainees." and how much muscle she had lost. Though she would never admit that last part to her. She continued after taking a deep breath "I.. have a lot more. All over my body." She wasn't sure if she should explain more, not wanting to sound like she was trying to gain pity from her. Instead she shrugged it off as if it was nothing.

"..... My mom... " The princess smiled and chuckled in disbelief. Light Spinner was not a mother.. She gently cupped her wife's cheek. Her thumb gently rubbed her lips "I'll need some rest...thank you.. Even late I would rather die... Then staying there..for another year.." She knew she was there for a long time. She couldn't help but thank her in the end..

Adora put a hand on hers looking at her for a moment. She clearly still felt guilty but she would never say it. She held her hand, turning her head to press a soft kiss to the palm of her hand. She then closed her eyes and leaned slightly into her touch. This felt like a dream.. she couldn't believe it was true. She looked up at her again after a moment. It was clear she had been hurt a lot. Her eyes were not as bright, as hopeful and filled with joy as they used to be. She looked tired and hurt. She smiled at her though, gently squeezing her hand.

It was obvious that the feline would notice these changes. Catra got captured. Beaten to the ground and knowing no one would hear her in there. No one would come for her nor search after her since she was considered dead. All this made her too powerless and hopeless for it to change now. She could tell Adora was different too. Sharper and more broken than even when she returned from that spell of Light Spinner but she didn't know what she could do to help her... She could barely speak. She closed her eyes letting the other do what she wanted. At that moment the governess of the princess would come inside to bring water to the brunette.

Adora watched her for a moment, hesitating before laying down beside her wife. She wasn't touching her just yet. As much as she wanted to she was worried both of rejection and accidentally hurting her. She looked up when the governess came in, just nodding to her before looking back up at the ceiling for a moment "Catra.. I know you're tired but you need to eat, please"

The governess was worried about the princess. She was the one raising her all these years. "Lady Adora... Maybe it's time for Her Highness to rest…" She obviously meant that Catra wanted to stay alone. Daniella was the only one from all of her maids and staff that was actually helping them.

The warrior paused for a moment before just nodding and sitting up so she could leave "right... I'll leave her be then." She walked past Daniella, pausing outside the tent before just finding a place to sit down close to it. Her head was in her hands and eyes closed with a sigh.

Suddenly she heard the governess' voice "lady Adora...if you allow me.." The older one approached the girl, gently placing a hand on her shoulder as she sat down beside her. "She's been through a lot.. you have been too. You have to take it slow... Light Spinner was too cruel to her this time..." She obviously didn't call her a queen or her mother this time.

Adora jumped slightly when she felt the other touching her. Her hand went for her sword for just a moment before realizing who it was, pausing before just nodding "I know. I just... I thought she was dead.. and now I find out she isn't and I-..." she paused, taking a deep breath "if she needs space that's what I'll give her. But I'm not just walking away. Not again..." she looked down again "Thank you. How are our children? Is our daughter feeling any better?"

The woman nodded and took a soft breath. She didn't know if she could help somehow. "She's alright but do not leave her Highness alone again.." The woman spoke and glared at the girl before continuing "I haven't seen her like this in years.." She spoke with concern in her voice. She made it obvious that the girl was just as bad physically and mentally before.

"Do you think I wanted to leave her alone...? Do you think I wanted for her to get captured and tortured while I was manipulated and lied to into believing she was dead!? I nearly fucking starved myself because I thought my family was dead! If you think I'm leaving her again you are sorely fucking mistaken" she stood up then, clearly angry at her for a moment before making herself take a deep breath and just sitting down again. "I'll wait here for her. If she wants to see me I'll be right here. Just.. keep an eye on her, please. I don't trust these doctors. or.. anyone here"

Daniella saw how angry the woman got and shook her head "lady Adora...I didn't say that to put all the blame on you but understand that I can not see her like this either.. I was trying to speak with you and you were too far away even in Light Spinner's palace..." She looked up at her and pointed down to sit as she did so. "I will always keep an eye on her... And the children, of course"

"I thought she was dead... and I didn’t even know you were still around. If I was there, I would spend my time with my son." she paused, gritting her teeth but she looked away "just.. watch them. please." she kept her head down then, closing her eyes to try and calm herself down. She knew she was most likely getting angry for no reason. She put her head in her hands again.

The older one looked to the horizon and blinked "If we were in the previous house I would make some tea for you" Even if she didn't know her as much as she knew Catra the older one trusted her.

"not a huge fan of tea... but thank you.. I know you mean well." Adora sighed softly, looking up at her again then pausing with a sigh again "I’m sorry for getting upset. We've all been through a lot. I shouldn't have snapped at you. I'm just... worried, and hurt I guess.."

"I don't mind that... I know you don't mean to be bad.... I'm one of the staff after all. You don't have to apologise to me" The brunette chuckled and looked at her only to stretch her back and undo the cloth off her hair that covered her slightly pointy ears. Her dark green/blueish eyes were fixed on the view of the cliff.

"You aren't a thing though. You're a person just like us. No matter your position or job..." Adora looked up at her then, giving her a slight smile "Thank you.. for watching over her.. I owe you.. and you cannot convince me otherwise so don’t try"

Daniella stopped her from talking more "You owe me nothing. That's my job. My duty is to take care of her. My life is by her side and if that means I have to deal with Light Spinner I will... She's done too much for me to try to stay quiet." She brushed her dark red hair back "It's funny....to think I was once chosen by Light Spinner to convince her to stay but teach her as well how to become a queen like her.... You had a more simple life, knight ... At least I'll give you that."

"Compared to both of yours I've had an easy life. But you won't convince me that I don't owe you anything. You're the reason I have my wife and the reason she is who she is. That's enough for me." She smiled gently at her before tilting her head "and what do you mean, chosen to convince her to stay..?" The woman was confused at these words. The governess was by Shadow Weaver's side? That made her heart tighten.

"I got called by.. Shadow Weaver as you call her. I was her friend and she firstly wanted me to come into the palace and take care of the baby girl. The Horde's real queen had a young girl who she wished to be taught how to read, write.. the basics at first and I agreed. Her Highness was so young back then" The woman was daydreaming and chuckled while leaning back to her hands "But what I didn't know was that Weaver didn't want the girl to be around just as much. She wanted me to tell lies about the king and make her hate her father but.. that didn't happen. She loved him and I really didn't pay much attention back then. Light Spinner really seemed to love the king. They had an affair.. Her Majesty learnt about it but after a week or so..she got sick.... Mysteriously.. and died. I knew who it was... and you can assume as well ,I believe ...His Majesty married Light Spinner and her Highness wasn't supposed to learn that she was the one who killed her mother.. She was supposed to believe that Light Spinner was her mother..even if she wasn't just a baby anymore to learn to love someone who's taking 'care' of her" She shrugged and dusted off her dress for a moment "I and her Highness know about her parents but none of us were allowed to call her something else... I don't know why she wanted her to call her like that.. but I can assume she isn't able to give birth to any children so…" She paused for a second and shook her head "Excuse me..." She wanted to ask her about herself too but she didn't know how or when. She also was the only one talking too much.. It made her feel bad.

The other listened carefully. She was confused for a moment but she did understand what happened now.. She was feeling sad that Catra actually got a… different relationship with Shadow Weaver than her being a mother. "maybe she tried and lost her child.. turned that to Catra instead... but I don't understand how she could treat her so horribly." She sighed softly, running a hand over her face before she looked at her "I don't know why she didn't tell me.. but I don't mind." When she spoke up again she looked up at her, tilting her head "hm? what is it?"

"I don't think she saw her as her child.. she was jealous of Her Majesty and she knew her Highness didn't like her... So she didn't care about locking her in that cell either this time.." She tightened her fist and took a quick breath to answer her last question "..Nothing I was just wondering... You're a knight... You should have had a nice life... Not an easy one.. comparing on how easily you could starve or die in battles but you didn't have enemies killing your parents and taking their place"

Adora paused for a moment, shaking her head "you don't know my story do you? I grew up an orphan in a small village. Nearly died fending off a horde attack when the Brightmoon Guards were too slow and did not make it to the village on time. I nearly died in that battle.. but it's what got me noticed. The previous she-ra took me in and trained me. She died when I was 15 and I took on She-ra in her stead. Even then that's.. nothing compared to her. I still had a relatively normal life"
After a small pause Daniella said "No… I.. didn't know. Her highness doesn't talk about the past, your past included" She looked away and smiled "I believe you will make an even greater Shera though… the student is supposed to surpass the teacher after all, not be like them" She smiled and looked back to the tent. "These... People from the future..as they say... Are they coming with us? In your house? I can send a letter to the rest of the staff to prepare a carriage to take us from here.. the house remained untouched for a year... The Horde didn't attack there "

Adora paused before nodding "yes, yes they will. They're... us but from a different world. It's.. hard to explain but it's Adora and Catra, just like us." She shrugged, looking at her still "..though.. the other me is pregnant, not Catra.. it's odd.."

The elf woman tapped on her own dress and nodded at that "yeah ... That's truly odd....anyway... Her Highness must be sleeping by now.. you can rest if you wish I'll just go write a letter to the staff of the house to prepare it. It must be cold... The night is coming and it will be colder here in the woods.." She spoke again, dusting off her dress and standing up with a grunt as she took a heavy breath. She was tired as well and older than them.

Adora nodded and got up with a deep breath before heading back for the tent. She paused just for a second "Thank you.." She headed into the tent then, trying to be quiet in case she was asleep.

Catra was in fact asleep, heavily breathing under the thin fabric while resting. Her slim body felt numb. She didn't touch the plate though Adora could see that it was still full. Her brown hair lay carelessly on the pillow.

The blonde noticed the leftovers and sighed softly, kissing her forehead before she took her armor off. She let her ponytail loose and laid down in the cot beside her, facing her for a bit before she closed her eyes and fell asleep. She didn't sleep for long though. She woke up with a gasp, a nightmare this time of losing Catra again. She sat up and took deep breaths as she looked over at her.

The feline opened her eyes just immediately at the gasp as her tail and her short fur puffed up. Her head tiredly turned to look at her "Adora?" She whispered and reached back to touch her thigh "What's wrong..?"

Adora noticed her waking up. She looked over at her as well, pausing before gently taking her hand "I-.. Just a nightmare.. I.. Thought I lost you again..." She hesitated, looking up at her then "And yours..? You didn't wake up peacefully. That's for sure..."

"I... My head is aching .... And so... All mixed with your gasp made me wake up. I'll .. drink something once at home .."Catra whispered and took a deep breath before laying back again. She rested on the mattress this time with her back touching it. Thanks to the medicine the doctor gave her she didn't feel too much pain, just a soft pinch.

"Catra you need to eat..." Adora spoke after a while and let out a soft sigh "You're tiny, love... It's.. Not healthy... You need to eat something.. Please.." She paused before looking away again "I'm not gonna pretend like I know what happened to you and I'm not gonna pretend I understand your pain... But I know you need to eat, even if you don't feel up to it. Please, Catra..."

Her ears flickered and she sighed as she rolled her eyes "You just throw on me random things... I didn't feel like eating.. that's all...." She didn't look at her due to how much she wanted to just hug her and.... Care about nothing more than this moment with them both in the same tent together. It was still too late at night. "I don't want to eat... I'm fine... If you were able to touch my mom you must have the strength to take everything back.. you can reunite the kingdoms.. I.. I'm too weak to do it.." On the other hand if Light Spinner ended up dying all this kingdom was..hers to rule "I only need some rest and we'll be good to go back home.... We'll be just fine" She really tried so hard to believe that they were going to be fine after all this even if she deep inside couldn't.

"Catra you need to eat. Starving yourself won't fix anything. I know you don't want to but you need to, please" She put a hand on her arm, looking over at her "Please Catra... You're starving, I can see it.. I can practically see your bones through your skin... I can't let you just waste away..." She paused for a moment, taking a deep breath before her hand started to glow. "If you won't eat I'm not letting you waste away… you're not weak.. you're starving."

Catra didn't know what she would do now but she did look at her for a second and hissed. She was stubborn... The feline grabbed the food to take a bite and looked at her wife. ”Happy....? Now let me rest peacefully"

Adora looked away "Catra, one bite isn't gonna fix it... Just-.. Please if you won’t eat let me at least fix it... It's not permanent.. You'll still need to eat but at least you won't be on the brink of death..."

The feline didn't say anything. She began to... Too slowly to eat and she looked away while doing so. She didn't leave the plate empty but she left some food back. "I'm sorry..." She spoke after a while. She felt bad for worrying hermaktoob…

The blonde looked at her, hesitating before just nodding "thank you... and-... and I know it's a lot to ask right now... especially after what you have been through but.. can-... can we just.. put everything aside for at least a night... I just want to hold you again.. the way I used to... I missed you so much.." she looked away as she asked it though, clearly expecting a rejection from her. She knows Catra has been through hell and back and she knew it probably wasn't right to ask her to forget about it, even for just a night. But she needed to feel her in her arms. She had to at least ask her.

The princess let the bowl down and she leaned on her only to rest her chin on her shoulder and wrap her arms around her. "I don't have to forget anything." Her face buried in her neck and ears twitched back, though Adora hesitated before she carefully wrapped her arms around her waist.

For a moment Adora wondered if it was a dream. When she finally realised it wasn't she held her tightly or as tight as she could without aggravating the wounds. She pressed her face into her neck then, just cradling her as close as she could. She curled up as much as she could around her as if she was trying to protect her from the world with her own body. She wanted so badly to cry. To finally let all of that stress and pain out but she wouldn't let herself. Catra deserved it more. Catra was still hurting. She didn't deserve that release unless Catra got it too, so she held it back. She paused before mumbling "when I was first taken to the Horde.. I was put in a cell.. I walked right past you and... for a moment I thought... I thought it was you.. but I remembered the vision I saw and I-... I couldn't let myself get my hopes up... I nearly starved myself in that cell.. refusing to eat.. I thought I had nothing to live for... I wouldn't eat until Shadow Weaver said that my son was alive..."

The feline tightened her embrace. She was finally there with her. Finally she could hold her again tightly and say that everything would be okay. Her eyes closed and she remained quiet. She remembered the only time she saw her in the cells while she was trying to yell so she could hear her… but it wasn't enough for her to turn around and save her. Fingers clung to her shift. "I saw you... I tried so hard to yell so you could listen but... You didn't... it was too noisy.. in there" The woman clung more on her. Being in the dark only to get treated like trash and hear every single moment the screams and cries of others. Then it was her turn to cry. All this made her head feel dizzy but she trembled in her embrace, trying to not cry. She never thought the sorceress would be so cruel to let her in there, especially for so long. Her ears were made to hear better than humans and that was a disadvantage at that moment.

Adora held her closer then, pressing her face back into her neck "every once and a while I thought I heard you.. I.. always blamed it off as dumb hope... my head making it worse for me while I was down there..." she nuzzled into her then, holding her as close as she could "I'm so sorry... I'm so sorry... I let you get hurt.... for so long... I-I should have known.. should have listened..." she took a deep shaky breath, making herself calm down again "if I could ever.. ever make it up to you... I'll find a way... I won't ever leave you again...."

"Just...stay with me now.. I don't want to stay alone....” Catra whispered and almost broke into tears. Her eyes closed and she slowly nuzzled on her neck "Adora?... I want us to go.. to that waterfall you said" She mumbled and sobbed. She couldn't help but think of that as a safe place for her mind to rest. Imagining how peaceful that place will be was a thought that kept her still going except for her two babies. Hands tightened around her as she sobbed and cried. She was so glad to finally be with the blonde girl.

Adora put a hand on the back of her head as she cried. She was rocking her gently. "Of course... We're going home as soon as you and the other Adora are healed up enough to travel.. That will be our first stop.. I promise.. We'll be alright.." She held her close, holding her in her lap.

If she could move her tail freely she would have wrapped it around her.. her eyes closed as she gasped and sobbed in her arms. She was so scared. She was still scared of many things. The dark. Sudden sounds and being alone even though she knew Adora was there. Her eyes closed and her arms caressed her upper back "I... I was so scared... She got the children.. I.. don't care about me.. I don't care at all.. but I didn't know if they were alive or not" She continued and tried to breathe to be able to calm down.

"Hey.. Hey it's okay, my princess... We're alright now... Our babies are just fine I promise. Your governess is watching over them. Do you want to go see them?" She kissed her shoulder gently "We're hurt.. Mentally and physically.. But we'll heal.. It just takes time... I promise we'll get through this"

"Will we..? I don't even know if you will be around next month… I'll be alone again..." Catra cried. Her head pulled away a little as she said that. She was frustrated that she had to leave every now and then… "I can't live like this, Adora...." She whined and continued to hold her by her shoulders.

The warrior looked up at her then, holding her closer "I'm done fighting. I'm done leaving you behind. I'm not leaving anymore. I-.. I can barely leave you alone with a doctor now.. I'm not leaving you again. I don't care what I have to say to the queen.

I'm not leaving you anymore. I swear to you. They can have my men under new command. I'm staying home with you, where I belong." She cupped her cheeks gently, looking up at her "I swear on our children's lives... they'll have to drag me away, kicking and screaming if they want to get me away from you again."

If the times were different Catra would chuckle at that but she believed that this time at least she was honest. Her eyes looked at her and she leaned close to her only to give her a small kiss on the lips. "I love you....." She whispered and moved to lay on her again. She grunted at the pain in her back. This time she was truly getting hurt since the medicine was off.

Adora held onto her, laying back with her and letting her rest on top of her. She kissed her back gently before letting her lay down. She used her magic to soothe the pain again "I love you too baby... I'm right here. I've got you" She stayed awake until she was sure Catra was asleep, just hugging her close before relaxing and letting herself fall asleep.

The night would be spent nicely, at least, till the feline got nightmares which made her almost scream and wake up. It would be difficult after all these days of pain and agony to be forgotten in one day because Adora was there but she would try for her and the children to wipe them away as soon as possible. Her eyes looked up at her to notice that the woman woke up because of her. The other sat up and wrapped her arms around her "Hey, hey it's okay... I'm right here..." She ran a hand through her hair "I'm right here, love. You're okay. You're safe." The girl leaned close, her eyes closing and she nuzzled against her.

“.....I...what happened... Was I too loud?" Catra sobbed and leaned in more before wrapping her arms around her to rest.

"no, no you're okay I promise. You're alright. You woke up screaming... Do you want to talk about it?" Adora kept her as close as she could, both her arms wrapped around her "I'm right here, my love... I'm right here. I promise.." Even though she was there for her Catra..couldn't talk about it. Her eyes closed and she nuzzled against her.

"..... I.." She was scared but she only dug her head in the pillow to rest there.

"You don't have to talk about it. It's okay. I'm right here, my love... I promise I'm right here.. I'll keep you safe now. I promise... I'm not letting you down again..." The blonde laid down beside her while holding her close, not caring that she wasn't getting much sleep. She was more worried about taking care of her wife, cradling her close and kissing her forehead "I'm right here, my love.. I'm not going anywhere"

"..... I don't want to be back there again..." She whispered in return while sobbing and leaning close to her, tears ran down her cheeks as her eyes closed and her arm wrapped around her. She knew Adora wouldn't allow anything to happen to her but..that nightmare was so real..

"shhh.. shhh you're okay... you're not there... I'm never letting you go back... I don't care if your mother dies and you become queen, okay? We'll tear it to the ground and build something new, something better" she rocked her slowly, closing her eyes and hugging her close. She paused for a moment before she cradled her in her lap, resting her head on top of hers and singing her lullaby gently. The same lullaby she sang to their children so long ago.

Catra's gasps and sobs continued. Arms wrapped around her and whined while trying to calm down. Her wife was there... Her eyes opened half and looked down before she breathed slowly and a little bit calmer. She loved this woman and she didn't expect herself to feel better within a day... She leaned back to look at the singing knight after a while. Her eyes scanned her scarred face and she touched her, pushing some hair off her own face. Her head leaned gently and kissed her lips.

The other stopped singing when her face was touched, turning to look at her instead. She hadn't even realised she had been crying but she smiled softly down at her, cupping one of her cheeks then. She tilted her head slightly and leaned in to kiss her back. She let her guide it, turn it into whatever she needed. She just held her close, still sitting up with Catra cradled in her lap. One arm around her shoulder and the other on her cheek. If she had to hold Catra like that the entire night so she could sleep she could. Adora could sleep later after Catra has already gotten as much rest as she needed or at least as much as she can get in a night.

The feline’s lips planted loving kisses on her lips and chin. She missed her so much but she knew she didn't sleep. Her touch was soft, not only did she suffer this time. She didn't want to be selfish. "You need to rest too..." She whispered after a few minutes of silence.

Adora cradled her close still, just shaking her head "I'll sleep in the morning... I want you to get a full night's rest.. And if that means I have to wait to sleep until today then I can wait. You've been through enough... You need the rest." She looked down at her, running a hand through her brown hair before sighing "But.. I will try and get some sleep, if it helps you feel better. I'll prop a few cushions up and you can lay on me okay? That way if you wake up from a nightmare again I'm right there before I even wake up.."

The younger one nodded and leaned close to her and kissed her once more. "Yes.. you've been through enough too because of her... I can see that" She stared at her only to place her hand on her cheek, rubbing her scar with her thumb "My knight .." She whispered like the first days of them being together, with the same yearning desire to have her close to her as she looked at her blue eyes. She was damaged too and she leaned to place a small kiss on her chin.

Adora kissed her back again, definitely not complaining about all of the affection as she looked down at her "I'll be fine... You're more important right now, my love. You've been through hell and back.." When she called her by that old nickname she smiled, closing her eyes and leaning forward to rest their foreheads together "My princess..." She replied in the same tone.

"I miss the old days..." The brunette continued in a whisper. She was still in pain and worried about her dying but...the war was something else... She leaned her forehead to touch hers and smiled just a tiny bit. "Did you..name the children?" She didn't want to talk about herself and the time in the dungeons any more.

Adora nodded, holding her close and cupping her cheek again "I did... But.. We can always change it.. Jack and Lena.. They're still young though.." She held her close while her eyes were still closed "I've.. Never been good with names... It took me a few days to choose it.."

"They're cute...~ Don't worry about it... I love them" She smiled and caressed her cheek gently before she nuzzled closer and gave her a small kiss on her lips "I don't know if you're bad with names or not but this time you did a good job" She leaned closer and gave her an other kiss on her lips before parting away from her. "Once we arrive home you will rest too.... I feel bad... "

Adora held her close then, chuckling "When I first got Swift Wind I named him Horsey. Does that prove how bad I am with names?" She laughed softly then, cradling her close. She kissed her again before holding her close "Alright... But until then let me take care of you.. Please, my love? I'll rest as soon as I know you're alright..."

The feline chuckled at the woman's abilities of naming people or.. Animals. "I am fine.... Really..." She hummed and gave her a small smile to make her feel better. "I'll be fine... Just need time to get.. over some things"

The blonde kept a hand on her cheek while holding her close "Alright... But let me take care of you, please? I'm your wife.. I love you. If there's any way I can help you do not hesitate to tell me. I'm here for you" Then she said with a smile. “I love you”

“I love you too.. but if you want to help me you have to rest first... I don't want you to be tired....okay?" She spoke softly and kissed her cheek before she laid her head against her torso. "Let's sleep… Try to.. at least" She hummed as the other nodded in return

"Alright, my love... I'll try to rest, for you." Adora propped her back up with pillows and cushions so that she could still sit up and sleep. She let Catra lay on her. She would still stay awake until she was certain her princess was asleep before she let herself drift off to sleep.

Chapter End Notes

> Hey guys, Gigi here! I've decided to draw more than before and honestly I was thinking of making this story into a manga-like comic. I'm not sure how it will end up but if I do start to create pages it will be in my Deviantart account https://www.deviantart.com/gigi969
>
> So !If you'd like to, you can go there to check it out <3 Thanks, we love you all for your support and we're so happy to see you give kudos and comments to this story that we are working on <3 Have a great day!

A new queen will rise

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

That night, the other pair from the future would nuzzle close to each other. The weather was a little bit colder than their usual nights in their town but thankfully they had blankets.

Catra was thankful that the blonde one was feeling better than before and she rested beside her, wrapping her arm around her and her tail as well. "Baby...are you okay? Maybe cold? Too warm?" She was too worried while the woman was pregnant.

Adora giggled softly, nuzzling into her with a soft yawn "Baby, hey. I'm alright. You worry too much..." She smiled gently, wrapping her arms around her "How do you think the other two are holding up... Seems like they've been through hell and back two times over..."

"Yeah... more times than we were" Catra chuckled and wrapped her arm around her more, her tail slowly curled around her belly "We should really take care here, though… the last plan.. sucked. I shouldn't leave you behind.. I knew you would search for me if I didn't appear in time" She sighed but smiled in the end, listening to the sounds of the night from out of their tent "Hey... at least it's romantic~"

"Mhm... Don't forget it.. Leave me behind again and I'm kicking your butt" The other one giggled, tickling her side for a moment

"Wha-" The feline giggled after a soft yelp and rolled her eyes in return before letting the other continue "It is romantic. Though I don't know how to ride a horse..."

"I wouldn't allow you to ride a fucking horse...What if it throws you down?" She growled and cupped her cheek "What if it destroyed your poof?" She joked making the other laugh softly

"They wouldn't put a pregnant woman in danger... Besides, if these horses are brave enough to go into battle holding men and women in full plate armour, I'm sure they can hold a pregnant woman without spooking." Adora cupped her cheek then, straddling her lap as she looked down at her "The other two wouldn't put me in danger either.. If they thought a horse might throw me off they wouldn't put me on it"

Catra saw that the blondie was serious about it and she shook her head in denial "No no no... Whatever you're thinking, my answer is no.." She puffed, her tail moved up and down, literally on her belly while speaking. Listening to her was ridiculous! She was pregnant "The knight said we will go with a carriage and you are obviously going to stay with the other me in that carriage. You're not going to get on a horse with the baby in you, okay?" She was protective..

The other one pouted "But, my love... I've always wanted to ride a horse... What if I rode the one the other Adora rides? There's no way he'd buck me off, especially if she rode with me right? I promise I'll be alright. Please?" She pouted, her arms over Catra's shoulders as she looked at her "Do you wanna tell me why you seem to despise horses so much?"

"I don't despise them.... I am just worried about you..." Catra was slowly rubbing her with her tail and side close to her only to nuzzle on her and kiss her lips. "I love you and I don't want anything to happen…" She purred.

Adora wrapped her arms around her "My love, I know you love me.. And I know you worry. But they won't let me get hurt. I promise. If a horse can run into war it can handle me riding it... At least for five minutes?" She pouted, looking at her.

The brunette couldn't say no to her when she was pouting or ...making such a cute face. Her eyes looked up at her and leaned in to give her a small peck on her lips "Fine... Fine. We will ask that knight tomorrow...okay?" She hummed and puffed as she looked away. "It's not because I like you"

Adora grinned, kissing her again before hugging her close "thank you baby! I can't wait!" She grinned, nuzzling into her "I know. Now it's late... let’s sleep, baby.. I wanna check on them tomorrow too.."

".. Agh let's sleep, my stubborn cutie" She chuckled and closed her eyes before she nuzzled close to her. She really couldn't tell if it was too warm or too cold. Catra was always warm around Adora after all.

The two couples slept past the night as the sunrise slowly started ,making the feline princess hide her face against Adora's chest. The birds were singing and her ears slowly twitched under that sound. The knight woke slowly when she felt Catra nuzzle into her, yawning and looking down. She smiled softly, gently running her hands through her hair but she wouldn't make her wake up just yet, leaving her to rest.

It took a while for Catra to wake up completely but she opened one eye to glance at her. She was thankful the warrior was there.. but she had to admit that she missed being all healthy, alone in their room. "Good morning..." She whispered and kissed her lips only to tilt her head so she could rub her ear.

The other kissed her back, smiling gently and petting her ear while she responded "Mm... Good morning, my love. Did you sleep well? After the.. Nightmares at least..." She looked down at her, cupping her cheek then.

"mhm... It felt like heaven... I remember waking up again but you were here… so ... I fell back to sleep" She admitted and nuzzled close to her only to purr even more. She loved the ear scratches and Adora could tell that she was obviously too taken back by it. Their cute moment was not going to last long since they got interrupted by the older woman from the other side of the tent who was making something for the princess to eat. She could already smell it.

"Oh... Oh that smells so good...." Adora hummed, her stomach was aching but she didn’t say anything. Catra had to eat and she would make sure she ate first before her.

"it's .... Good I guess.." The princess pulled away slowly so she could enjoy the scratch a little more.

"Just... Keep eating, a little bit at a time.. Your appetite will come back eventually..." The blonde responded, before looking at her "How is your back? As soon as it heals up enough we'll get moving." She held her close, one hand on her cheek, the other on her hips.

"Don't worry about my back so much... It's fine..." She hummed and looked down at her only to give her a small smile "I just want us to go home.." She spoke again and sighed. Her back needed to get the bandages changed today and her wounds to get cleaned up but she didn't say anything. She didn't want her to care only about her after all.... "Do you..want to check on our children?" She hummed, crawling away from her.

"Alright... we can get going after you eat a little bit. It doesn't have to be much, okay? Just a little bit.. for me?" she let her move away though, knowing better than to force her to stay close

"But I don't want to eat....-" Catra huffed and sighed after letting herself get interrupted by the girl.

"..and of course... let's make sure they're doing alright.. and we should probably check on the other us too. Their world is... far more different than ours"

The feline laid on her sides only for her to not feel the pain of her back and took a deep breath. The governess wasn't late today. She arrived in the tent early with the bowl of soup, her eyes looking at Adora.

"Your Highness, I made you soup. Do you want me to leave it here?" She spoke as she bowed her head to the princess. A soft nod was her answer and did as she said. Hopefully she will eat it.

"The doctor said you should get your back cleaned up and wrapped with another cloth ... It's better for you to do it while it's morning" Daniella spoke to her only for Adora to look at the feline. "You need to eat.. Please." She looked at the governess for a moment before looking back at her "I can change the bandages- if.. You want me to, that is…" She offered

"I bet lady Adora will be better at that than a stranger coming to hold on your wounds, right?" The governess tried more as the feline hissed in defeat. The older woman smiled as the young one didn't look at her. She left to bring other bandages and clean water in a small bucket with a rag in it before leaving them all alone.

Catra didn't look at her though she just stared away with her back turned on her. Adora just nodded, moving to sit behind her. She gently unwrapped her wounds, pausing when she saw them before she just got to work. She cleaned them up without speaking.

The feline grunted in pain when she felt the cloth unwrapping around her torso. Her wounds were aching and her ears fell back as she looked down at her thighs. Some wounds were already red. Some scratches were less red though others were just still bleeding a little. Her hands tightened their fists ,sinking a whine back in her throat.

Adora paused for a moment, putting a glowing hand on her skin to soothe the pain as she cleaned them. Once that was done she took the bandage and wrapped them before pressing a kiss to her shoulder.

The other softly moved that shoulder forward. She was so soft and gentle... Her eyes closed, she felt much better now with Adora's magic. "I bet they haven't healed yet... " She spoke after a while.

"No... Not yet. But they look a lot better. You'll be okay soon... Just.. Keep eating. You need to fuel your body. Otherwise you won't be able to heal and I have to do all the hard work." The blonde turned it into a joke at the end, rubbing her shoulder "They're a little red... But I think they'll be fine..."

"..Okay... Thanks.." Catra hummed and felt a small sigh escape her lips. She crawled her hand to take the bowl and eat some... She really didn't want to eat but she had to. Adora was around so she had to.

"I know you don't want to eat... But.. Thank you... For me..." The blonde paused for a moment, keeping her hands to herself. "I love you.."
The brunette though didn't say anything, instead she took some sips of the soup and let it down again before she looked back at her

"I'll go see if my governess sent that letter yet...she said she would.." Catra hummed, making the other hesitate before nodding and standing up.
"I'll check on our children... The Governess is in the tent next to us" She got up then "Or.. Do you want me to come with you.. it's up to you"

"No no, go check on the children... I'll go see them too" She missed them if she was honest with herself. She wanted to check up on them just in case but firstly she would part ways with her wife as she stumbled a little on the entrance of the tent before walking out. She was weak and dizzy but she could do it. She knew she could walk a little.

Adora hesitated, watching her to be sure she would be alright before sighing and walking over to visit the children. She was getting worried now. Her head was getting to her again, surrounded by strangers. She left her children alone with them and she picked up her pace, clearly nervous. The babies were just fine though. They were instead in the governess' tent so she could take care of them.

The feline was there too and she gave her a small peck on her cheek while talking to the older one. "I sent the letter.. you don't have to worry about it. They even replied and they're sending the best carriages. They have enough comfort for you and the pregnant woman.."

Adora relaxed and sighed softly, hiding the fact that her hands were shaking. She gently picked up the young girl, holding her close and cradling her "hey Lena... mama missed you.. yeah.. I know I was gone for so long..." She had walked out with the young girl, sitting on the bench to give the two alone time, not wanting to force herself around Catra. Though she wanted to be around her all the time "will you ever forgive me for being gone for so long..? I don't know if I'll be able to forgive myself to be honest, my little one..." she kept her voice quiet, not wanting to be overheard by them.. not wanting to worry either of them. The small girl looked at her and reached up to touch her hand, hers was smaller obviously though she would hold her thumb with her tiny fingers. She had more human characteristics. Her green eyes striking against the dark black of her slit pupils. Her eyes looked up at the blue ones of Adora and chuckled when she kept her voice quiet. Attempting to say a word but failing miserably.

Catra would take her son in her hands to caress his cheek while he was sleeping after making sure everything went according to plan. He began to cry though after a while. Ears perked back and her eyes looked at him. Did he not like her? Maybe he didn't remember her? She walked quickly to the blonde one as she wasn't too far and pointed at the crying baby "....um... Take him... He wants you" She spoke between his cries.

Adora giggled, wiggling her thumb gently as she looked down at her "So cute... Yes you are... My beautiful baby girl..." She looked up though when Catra approached, smiling softly "Rub his chest. That's what I did to calm him down... He needs to get used to you again... And handing him off to me won't do that.. He's more magicat than human.. You just need to remind him of who you are." She stood up then, cradling the little girl.

Catra looked at the little boy and did as Adora said to rub his chest gently while looking at him "There... There.." She whispered as the other one slowly began to calm down after several rubs. The feline leaned to give him a gentle lick only to groom that small magicat and kissed his cheek as he giggled at the feeling of her tongue on him. That made her smile too "He's cute.."

Adora smiled softly, nodding as she watched them "See? There you go.. He'll recognize you soon enough..." She hummed softly when Catra groomed him and she smiled "I.. Didn't know if you actually did that or not.. But I um.. I did my best to recreate it.. My tongue isn't rough like yours, so I used a small brush.. I got it wet and would use that..."

The princess giggled before she gave her a small smile "I didn't think you could actually lick him... But you did a good job on keeping him clean" She admitted as she continued to groom the child. The baby girl looked up at them and held Adora's hand as well.

"I don't plan on it. That's something I'll let you do." The blonde chuckled softly, kissing her forehead though before looking down at the daughter, smiling and wagging her finger. She kissed her daughter's forehead then, smiling as she let her eyes turn a lighter blue then, showing her magic "I won't let anyone take you again... Mama's back. Bigger and stronger than ever before." She smiled gently before looking up at her wife again "And.. More prepared for life.. I love you" The baby looked at her and noticed how her eyes glimpsed letting out a giggle and reaching up to her cheek with one small hand.

Catra's ears perked when she noticed that she was looking at her. "I love you too.." The woman spoke but didn't look at her; she instead looked at the child while finishing with the details. She really didn't think Adora would ever change. She wanted to help everyone and that wouldn't change because she got married. She was a knight and she knew that she would have to fight again or even leave again. She instead focused on the baby boy, smiling as he was trying to speak somehow.

Adora hesitated before she wrapped an arm around her, mumbling "I mean it... You and our children are my number one priorities... I.. Shouldn't have had to put you through what I did for me to realise that... I'm so sorry... You come first.. My family comes first." She took a deep breath then, cupping her cheek "I love you. And I will say it as many times as I need to. It’s going to be hard. And I will do whatever I can to make it up to you... But I promise you that I will always be here for you"

"Let's just.. take care of our children... I don't want to talk about anything like this now. I'm tired of dealing with the whole you-leaving-again thing.." Catra was kind of tired but really furious and in pain as the medicine was running off. She loved her but what she caused her and the children a lot of trouble to get over it in a day or two. She looked away and sat several steps away from the knight, mostly because the edge of the cliff was there.

Adora paused for a moment before she pulled her arm away. "Right.. I'm sorry then. I'll leave it be.. Let me know when you're ready to talk about it. Until then.. Whatever you need, just ask. Whether it's space or for me to be close." She watched her for a moment before sitting down again, letting her sit with the distance, looking out over the edge with a soft sigh.

"You're not a servant for me to order you to do anything... I guess you didn't know huh?" She hissed in a low tone. Adora’s words sounded bad. It felt like the feline was there to just take advantage of her. Her eyes looked to the distance. The baby boy just stared at her, placing his smaller hand on her chest while the girl was as well nuzzling close to him.

The blonde paused then, looking away for a moment before speaking softly "I told you that so that you knew that you could tell me to give you space without me getting upset at you, not because I thought I was your servant. I want to know what will upset you so I won’t hurt you anymore, and the only way I can know is if you tell me." She looked at her for a moment, angry at first "No matter our ranks we are married. I am not your servant and you aren’t mine. We are equals now"

"But we still have duties and I know we can't be like before without caring about anything other than us being together and just enjoying our time together. I still have problems dealing with things during the day...you still have to guide warriors in a war and I will have to take care of a whole kingdom now that mom is gone ..." She was anxious and nervous.. but at the same time she was scared.. The nights were sleepless and her body was in too much pain and tiredness to deal with all the work now.. she would have to go back to the Horde but not as a princess. This time she was a queen.

"No I don't. Not anymore. You're the queen of the Horde now... You can call the war off. Your mother was the one to start it. You can end it." Adora looked at her then "... and someone else can go in my stead. She-ra or not I have a family. I don't give a shit what my duties are. You and our children will always come first." She paused, taking a deep breath to calm herself "And I'll help you as best I can... I don't know much about ruling a kingdom but I can learn." Her words made the feline sigh.

She had to change everything within days. Whatever took Light Spinner years to ruin she must fix within days or the people of the Horde would start to judge her again. She had to fix her reputation. She had to fix her routine again and she felt... overwhelmed and tired already. Scared even. "I barely slept tonight..."

Adora looked at her then, pausing before sighing softly. She understood why the girl was so tense but she would try to help, no matter how long it would take. She would help her "I'll be there with you every step of the way. Do you want me to sleep with you again tonight?" She kept her question light, wanting to be sure that Catra knew it was for Catra's comfort, not because she felt lower than her.

The girl paused for a second and sighed before she shrugged and shook her head as a 'no' but she continued with words "Yes...? I don't know... I'm just scared..." She leaned closer to her. Her tail slowly moved, feeling a little bit better today but still she rested her head on her shoulder. She was scared of the dark at this point.. of loud voices.. noises and her eyes couldn't even get closed without having to be tense every time "I just feel that nothing is going to be the same again.."

The blonde one wrapped an arm around her waist when she leaned close, gently rubbing her side as she kissed the top of her head "I know.. And in some ways it won't. But I promise. I won't leave you again. I love you. I'll always be by your side... You're safe now" She whispered close to her ear

"I love you too..." She replied in a soft tone and leaned to the affection before she let out a grunt. The baby boy needed food and he began to cry while she was holding him. "I hope my governess prepared something for them… I'm glad you helped Jack.. for as long as you couldn in there. I don't know what the baby girl had been fed though.... Mother should have her servants to deal with her." She caressed her cheek and kissed her forehead softly before she pulled away from Adora.

"I don't know either... She was so.. Shocked when she saw me too... She just kinda froze..." Adora was starting to feel guilty again, falling into a bad train of thought, though it was interrupted when Catra caressed her cheek. She looked up at her then when she pulled away, just smiling gently "I'm just... Glad to be back.." "I'm glad we're together… Give them to me. I'll take them to my governess. Do you want to check on the others?... I don't know.... The other blonde girl is pregnant. I don't think she should have been here" She leaned to her and nuzzled close to her neck, making the other nod.

Adora held her close for a moment, before letting her go so they could stand up "Yeah, yeah we probably should.." She smiled, kissing her gently and cupping her cheek "I love you.."

"I love you too..." She whispered in return and nuzzled more against her only to give her a small peck on her lips and chin after kneeling close "....I missed being with you around... To feel you so close to me" She continued in a soft tone.

Adora held her closer then. Her arm was around her waist so she wouldn't hurt her back "I missed you so much.. I could never sleep right.. last night was.. the best sleep I've gotten in so long..." She held her close, kissing the top of her head then her forehead… the tip of her nose then leaving a small peck on her lips.

"I couldn't sleep at all....either. I wanted you beside me so much... To hold you close.. to touch you...." Catra continued, purring and kissing her lips while her tail was clinging more around her wrist.

"I'm right here now my love.. and I promise you I'm not leaving your side again." Adora mumbled before happily returning the kiss. She smiled at her purr, rubbing her hip gently "I missed your purr so much.. it.. always calmed me down... it relaxed me because I knew you were happy... and it made me happy. It still makes me happy"

"You are the one who makes me happy..." Catra hummed and placed her head on the other's neck. Her eyes closed and rested there to give her a small kiss on her skin. "You will be a queen too~ How do you feel?" She knew this wouldn't change anything… only add more work on her.

Adora rested her head on her's, closing her eyes and speaking softly when she responded more because her mouth was right by Catra's ears. "Honestly...? I'm just glad you're here with me... you and our kids.. that's all I care about right now..." she rubbed her side still, holding her close before mumbling "I don't wanna sound like I don't wanna be close to you right now.. I do. I really do.. but we also haven't checked on the other us... as soon as we're done we can go back to our tent and spend all of our time talking and cuddling if you want to, alright my love?"

"fine... We can ..check up on them now. I'll let the children to the governess" She sighed in a bothered tone and stood up with a grunt before she looked down at the woman and took the children in her embrace. "Do you think we will be able to ever be like before...you know...just as calm.. and relaxed.." She wondered out loud.

Adora stood up, wrapping an arm around her waist again. When she asked that though she paused "I don't know.. I don't think so... I.. Think some part of us will always be affected by this..." She looked at her then "But I'll be with you every step of the way"

"Thank you..... Really.." The brunette hummed and leaned close to her to give her a small kiss on her lips and carry the babies back to the older woman so she could take care of them. She walked out then and gave her a small smile before she took a soft step forward "Let's go see them.. maybe they're feeling better. I didn't hear any of them during the night "

Adora smiled, kissing her back before she walked with her to give their son to her as well. Once she was sure they would be alright she wrapped an arm around her and nodded, leading the way to their tent "yesterday they had me check if the other me was alright, since she was pregnant. She may just be sleeping. I wouldn't blame her for being tired after everything she went through.." she paused outside their tent, looking at her for a moment before she opened the flap "good morning. Are you even up yet?"

The other two were already nuzzling, cuddling even. Adora's eyes looked up at her and gave her a small smile before pulling herself away from Catra's touch. It was embarrassing enough. "We...are fine. I'm a little bit tired but I'm okay..~ What about you two?"

The knight just smiled softly, stepping in then and gesturing for her Catra to follow "well we're up and walking.. our kids are alright too. We'll be ready to go once her back has healed up a bit more." she sat down, putting a bit of distance between herself and the other her. It was still weird to her, sitting here talking to another version of herself.

"Are you alright ? I mean... Do you feel better?" The future version of the knight spoke as she gave a glance at the queen who just shrugged

"If it was up to me we would have been at home when the sun first showed up..." She really thought that her knight was overreacting but at the same time she felt it was sweet and cute. "We could go this evening? My governess said that carriages are here already.. and my back feels better."

"Are you sure you're up to it? I don't want your injuries getting worse because you pushed yourself further than you should have" Adora spoke softly, more just making sure she would be alright than anything else. She wanted to touch her but not push too far. She hesitated before she wrapped an arm around her waist then "I don't want your back getting worse.. but if you think you're ready then we can leave in the evening"

“My back is alright... The carriage will be just ready to go" She spoke in a sweet manner. She smiled and kissed her lips, not caring much about the others being around.

The knight blushed and kissed her back for a moment with a happy hum before pulling away and looking back at the other Adora with a nervous smile "I um.. breakfast will be ready soon, if you want to join us. I assume you both are hungry?"

"Do I have to eat too?" The princess mumbled and looked away. Her eyes looked at her and gave her a small sigh knowing the answer already.

"I'll just... go clean up my face... Can you wake her up?" The pregnant blonde pointed at the feline who was still sleeping while walking away.

Adora took a small breath and looked away. "She doesn't like to get poked." She continued and chuckled as she stood up. “At least a little bit, please. You know I'm making you eat because I love you.." she kissed her wife’s forehead before nodding and moving over beside the other Catra. She put a hand on her shoulder and gently shook her "hey.. wake up. It's almost time for breakfast. Catra?"

The princess scanned her wife, low-key wanting herself to wake Catra up and not Adora. She had several insecurities after the pregnancy but she didn't have time to deal with them. She didn’t want Adora close to that brunette.

The other feline mumbled something but after several moves she felt that unfamiliar touch. Her Adora was more kind and affectionate than this and she quickly snapped, changing their positions and being on her back pressing her down on the mattress "a-Ah... It's you"

The knight yelped as she was flipped. Head thumped on the back while looking up at the feline on top of her and keeping her hands to herself. Her eyes widened, just looking up at her "I.. um... yeah. It's me. um. c-could you uh-.." she paused for a moment, remembering the last time she had Catra on top of her like this and she cleared her throat "so uh.. breakfast is almost ready.. if you're.. uh.. hungry."

Not only her but Catra also remembered it as well. Her cheeks flushed. She was sitting in a specific place she just couldn't avoid noticing and she looked away before she jumped off her "I mean.... Of course I'm hungry, you idiot" She rolled her eyes and looked at the princess who was judging the situation.

The princess was interested in learning how to fight but the other feline seemed to know already... maybe she could learn from her. Adora seemed to... like her too.

"Where's my wife?" The future brunette pointed out so she could go see her.

The warrior cleared her throat as she got up, rubbing the back of her head with a slight wince "wow you're strong for being tiny...

but yeah, she's outside waiting for you.”

"I'm not tiny...." She huffed and hissed as she gave her a pouty look. She didn't like it when they called her like that. Adora wasn't so tall just like that night but damn she did call her like that. She noticed the knight trying to gain control again and rolled her eyes, chuckling "I bet you did wake up someone like me before." She pointed at the other feline who was still puzzled.

Adora laughed softly, shaking her head "It’s okay to be small. People underestimate you that way...and I usually wake up around the same time she does, so we have no need to wake the other. You two.. oddly seem to sleep in. I don't know how you can do that.." She shrugged it off though, taking the princess’ hand, kissing the back of it "now my love, shall we go eat?"

"we don't always sleep in... Since Adora is changing everyday.. she has to get plenty of sleep" She shrugged and looked away before she waved at them "will see you there" she continued and looked up at her only to give her a small smile and a playful purr when she saw her and walked outside.

The princess was still puzzled as to why the other one blushed so much. She pulled her hand slowly to not be rude and nodded "Yes.. of course" She wasn't in the mood to eat but she didn’t want to miss the opportunity to see them two together.

Adora nodded then, still sitting down beside her, waving back with a soft smile "I'll see you there." She looked at her wife then, taking her hand and kissing it "Are you ready my love? You know I'm going to ask you to eat a little again today"

"That's not going to happen... I'll eat now and... maybe at night..." She didn't want to eat at the moment either but she knew Adora would start complaining about it. Her ears twitched down and she looked away before she stood up and took some steps to the entrance of the tent.
The governess informed them though that the carriage arrived so anytime they wanted they could leave so Catra turned to look at her. "Travel at night?"

Adora stepped out of the tent with her, stretching and letting out a yawn before looking at her. She was still dressed in a sleeping tunic and pants, so she wasn't really ready for travel. She nodded then, putting a hand on her hip "you want to be home as soon as possible, right? We can travel through the night then and through the day. That should be enough travel to get us home soon”

“Alright" Catra smiled just a little before rubbing the back of her head "You will sleep later... right? I mean... they brought some guards... but.." She obviously trusted Adora more than the guards at this point.

Adora knew it and she nodded, kissing the top of her head gently, holding her hips "I will... I'll take a nap before we go out though so I can stay up later. I.. Don't entirely trust the guards... So I'll stay up as long as I can." She cupped her cheek then "Now c'mon love... Let's get you some food, okay?" She kissed her softly then "I know you don't want to but thank you for eating.."

The feline actually liked the fact she was touching her hips, though she preferred her touching her back or waist but she knew well that she was in pain so… "It's not that I can do anything else...you will force me to eat" She chuckled softly and rolled her eyes before walking and joining the rest of the people on the short table.

"I do it because I love you!" Adora sat beside her with a soft hum, just glad she wasn't pulling away from the touch or telling her to back off. Of course she would if she was asked. Once everything was set out, she happily piled her plate high or as high as she could while still leaving enough for everyone else.

The other Catra was helping her wife to put some more food on her plate, mumbling to her ear to eat more since they were two, she and the baby, to take care of. She was sometimes too clingy especially now with Adora being pregnant. "So knight did you snap any pictures while being here?” She perked an eyebrow as she spoke.

The knight looked up, pausing for a few moments before she remembered and smiled "I did! It took me a little bit to figure out how to change the film-things but I took a lot of pictures. They're still at home but I always keep one of Catra in my chest piece. I... Kept it when I thought she was dead.." She said quietly then, looking down at her plate. Later she took a bite before looking up again "But I got a lot of pretty pictures and still have a lot of film left. So I'll definitely make sure to enjoy it while I have it.”

The princess looked up at her. She didn't know what that film was so she looked back at the other feline "You're talking about that machine she brought home?" How could she forget. She was so afraid of it at first. She could still remember how much she didn’t like the clicking sound it made. She leaned close to her wife while poking her food after the question.

The other Catra only chuckled at the reply and took some bites of her food "We could take all together, I brought you more films~" The knight looked at the princess and smiled with a nod "Yeah it's called a camera! I taught you how to use it, didn't I?" She took a few bites as well then, before looking up at the other Catra "You did?? Thank you!"

"Yeah of course I did! I have it in my bag.. after we eat come to the tent to give them to you" She spoke in return and looked at the woman before she focused on her wife as well.

The other brunette spoke again as she nodded "I think you did... I don't remember" Adora was teaching her how to use it while trying to stay under control in her thoughts before she ran away so she.. couldn't remember many things. Back then Catra was just nodding to her to not show her that she was worried in the first place and let her mind off thinking that she was crazy or… something.

"Right that was... Before I joined the Horde. It's okay, I'll teach you again and you can take as many pictures as you like, of whatever you want." She grinned softly, squeezing gently her sides.

The other feline pulled out a picture of the knight just eating in that cafe when they were alone back then and chuckled while showing it to her. “That’s the best picture I have of you~”

Adora chuckled at her while looking over at the revealed picture "Hey, you still have that?"

"Of course I have it! It was the best day after all.... and the last day you've been there too" She sighed but smiled. That night was when they were...too close and she remembered that quite clearly. Her eyes looked only at the picture, remembering how silly Adora was back there.

The knight nodded, smiling softly "Do you remember when I showed all those guys up riding that weird fake bull in that pub? Seriously they act like they've never tamed a horse before" She laughed

"pft.. they were ridiculous... I bet I could ride that thing just fine too though" Catra smirked and poked her food.

Adora laughed softly, shaking her head "Riiight. Have you ever even ridden an actual horse? And not that... Metal horse thing?" She looked at her wife then "Oh I just remembered, there's a new horse at home I need to break in.. I’ll need to do that when we get home"

"I know how to ride in general so... I bet the metal horse thing must be easy" Catra playfully commented, making the princess curious as to what she rode so well...

…….Catra seemed to know more things than the princess did and obviously...Adora seemed to like it. When Adora said about the horse the wounded feline furrowed her eyebrows but didn’t say anything. One more horse won’t make any difference.

The warrior rolled her eyes then, laughing softly "But have you tamed a mustang? Or worse a mare? They tend to bite. And more often than not kick you off when you least expect it." She wrapped an arm around her wife's waist, not wanting her to think she wasn't paying attention to her.

"hm... I don't know.. maybe I can, maybe I can't" The feline crossed her arms over her chest only to sink in her chair. "I'm sure you can teach me though. We will stay here for a while right?" She smirked, looking at her wife.

The knight grinned then, leaning back slightly "Watch and learn from the master." She held her wife close then "You should watch too. It's real fun taming a wild horse"

The pregnant blonde nodded then, looking between the two of them "Yes, yes of course if you want to. As long as we're home for the baby's birth... I'd like to have pain meds for that." "Alright, but you're not going to try this now ,Adora... Obviously you're not able to go for a ride…" Catra spoke quickly and looked at the girl only to give her a small kiss on her lips. She was worried for her and the baby's safety.

Adora giggled "I know love. I'd rather ride a tame one right now. I don't want to hurt the baby."

The princess though would only find all this too.. interesting for her to not be a part of but how could she even take part in a conversation where she... Didn't know anything about wild horses. She knew how to ride the already tamed horses. "I'm going to lay down... I'm tired.." She spoke in a whisper and stood up with an apologetic smile on her face after a bow.

The knight looked up though when she excused herself, frowning softly "I'll.. Be right back you two. Help yourselves to the food." She gave their counterparts a slight smile before following her wife away. When she caught up she wrapped her arms around her, nuzzling into her neck "What's wrong my love? Are you alright..?"

The feline slowly pulled away. She liked the nuzzles and the attention but...she was so... Off mood. Her eyes looked up at her and sighed "I don't want to bother you all... I feel useless in the conversation and it's not that I am not... I'll rest for now... You can go to them. I'll meet you later" When she arrived in the tent she sat on the mattress.

Adora let her pull away then, frowning again for a moment "My love. You aren't useless.. We can change the conversation to something else. I don't want to exclude you from it.." She knelt down beside her but didn't touch her yet.

"I wouldn't have anything to talk about with them anyway, Adora... I just feel like.. you're the only one who is listening to me... I always felt like that" She rested on the bed, slowly curling around her pillow and sighing. "I don't mind you going out and talking with them. I will be getting some rest.."

Adora paused for a moment then, leaning down to kiss her forehead softly "They'll listen too. It's another me and another you, love.. How much closer can we get to having people who can truly understand us?" She hesitated, putting a hand on her shoulder "Last time you slept you had nightmares when I wasn't holding you. Can I at least stay with you, so you wont have more now?"

"I don't need you to hold me to not have nightmares... and they are truly different... even you can tell" The princess hummed in a soft yet bothered tone. She looked up at her and then nuzzled in her pillow. She had a point actually... The other Catra was different...and Adora seemed to like her more than her.

The blonde paused for a moment before sighing "They are.... But.. Before we started talking yesterday I talked with the other Adora.. While I was healing her internal injuries. She... She knows how I am.. She knows who I am... They may act differently on the outside but... They're still us... So.. If you won't talk to me.. Then you can talk to them.." Hearing that she wasn't needed she hesitated before standing up "I'll.. Leave you to rest then, my love.. If you need anything I'll be right outside.."

The woman nodded and gave her a small smile. Her eyes closed. She didn't want to see anyone at this moment. She wanted to stay alone but at the same time she didn't want to leave Adora with that Catra alone…

Once Adora was out the other feline noticed the look on her eyes. "What's wrong ..? You both look... upset?" She spoke.

The knight sat just outside the tent again, as she told her wife she would, getting lost in thought about how to fix it. When the other Catra approached she looked up, pausing for a moment "I don't know what I did but I upset her. I.. Think it's because we were not including her in the conversation? Or.. Maybe because I was talking to you more than her... I wonder if she was getting jealous... I've.. Never seen her get jealous before.."

"Then... I bet she's just ..kind of tired rather than being jealous?" Catra spoke with confidence before continuing "Hey...baby? Do you want to go talk to her or...Want me to do it?" She spoke to her wife and looked at the knight "Your words are always making others think twice ~" Catra winked at her wife.

The knight sighed and shrugged "We really need to come up with nicknames too, so we don't get confused..."

Adora nodded though, hesitating "Yeah, yeah I can go in and try to talk to her." She got up, heading into the tent then quietly. She was nervous but if the knight couldn't fix it then she should.

Catra chuckled at the sound of the suggestion. She really thought this would help? She wrapped her arms over her chest and soon gave her a small smile "We could actually call you a knight, since you are one .. unless you want me to call you differently." She spoke as she was walking deeper into the camp so the princess and her wife could have some privacy.

"Mm you could. I've also been called blondie. I really don't care honestly." The knight shrugged, hesitating before following her even though she wanted to stay close.

"Do you really not mind that nickname? My Adora would get bothered sometimes if I called her like that" She chuckled and looked up at her only to give her a small smile and hold her own camera "Do you want to snap some pictures?" She mainly wanted to cheer her up.

"Yes yes yes! Please?" Adora cheered almost immediately

"Of course we will!" Catra looked up at her and gave her a kiss on her cheek for the picture to be taken. Obviously she hid her soft blush because she touched her arm. She was.. more muscular than her wife and it was kind of hot. The curvy feline continued to take some silly pictures for a few minutes.

The other Adora just sat down beside the princess with a soft groan "Man this baby is heavy... So.. Other me said you seemed upset about something.."

The princess was still quiet till the woman decided to speak "I see she's complaining too now.. I'm not upset. I'm not in a good mood to talk with anyone"

The blonde could tell she was stubborn sometimes just like her wife. "Stubborn... She's not complaining. She's worried. If she's anything like me, which I'd assume so since she is me, she can't stand to see her wife upset.. And it's worse when she can't be there for her too. If you simply didn't want to talk then why not let her stay in the tent? Her happiness comes from you. I.. Saw her. When she thought you were dead. There was no light in her eyes... She was numb most of the time and angry. The only time I saw her close to happy was with your son.."

The princess shrugged at that "I know she loves me .. but now with all these things that happened.. I'm not as fun as before... I'm not talkative at all...not that I was in the first place but... Still I've changed and I don't think she likes that.... I think she likes that other Catra more..."

The blonde woman paused before nodding with a soft sigh "I've... Noticed that too. My Catra seems to like her too.. But.. I don't think either one of them would leave us. They married us... We had their children.. We stuck by them through thick and thin... And besides a.. A relationship with someone from a different dimension wouldn't work.." She took a deep breath, looking at her "I think something happened between them... But I.. I don't know what..."

Catra opened her eyes to look at her. She had the same thoughts with Adora and she found that… strange. "I think about that too... I'm not sure... What if... they.. Slept together..?" She looked away then. Her thoughts were running wild and her ears perked up at that. "What if I don't have something that she has...? And it wouldn't be so difficult for them to stick together... You are in the future.. you can travel all the time..."

Adora was now worried... more worried than before. "I don't know if it could even be considered an affair.. I mean technically it's still a version of us... But what does she have that I don't..." She was starting to worry, pregnancy hormones, as well as just her normal anxiety was getting to her "We need to prove that we're the best ones for our wives."

"I... I don't know how... I mean.. I ..have scars ,my skin is awful.. My hair is messy.. my mood is worse than before the pregnancy.. and I don't know what to do... I hate it" Catra cried almost, even though she wasn't pregnant she was still worried and anxious.

Adora scooped her up into a hug then, holding her close "What do you mean? Scars just prove how strong you are.. Your skin is just fine and your hair and mood are very much warranted given the situation" She hugged her closer, looking down at her "You're beautiful, Catra"

"I.. I'm not... I'm weak.. I can't fight.. I saw how amazed she was when Catra jumped on her... She's cheerful.. I'm not. I.. don't eat. I don't want to eat.. to talk even .. I'm tired... I want to forget everything... And not only I can't do that but I have to ignore every thought I have about what happened with these two. She left me after giving birth to run away because she needed space..." She tried to not cry.

The blonde rubbed her shoulders, holding her close since she couldn't rub her back "You're beautiful... And it's okay, honestly. You don't have to be a fighter... I.. Dont think she's as happy as she puts on... Though she's glad you and your children are back. She sees how much you're hurting.. And I know that it hurts her..." She sighed softly, still sitting down so she let Catra curl up on her lap.

The feline felt comfortable with her around and she...embraced her. "You're beautiful.. and smart and cute...." She spoke in a light tone and she nuzzled close to her making Adora blush softly, smiling gently as she held her but she did adjust her around her swollen stomach, letting out a soft happy hum

"Thank you..." She ran a hand through her hair, gently scratching at her scalp just the way she knew it would feel best.

Catra purred softly. Her eyes closed and her hand touched hers only to let out a soft hum "... I'm the one to thank you... I'm sorry I wasn't able to talk to you before.. I really don't do well with people or.. friends" She continued. If it was difficult for her to find any friend before... She was sure no one would want her now either.

Adora smiled softly, for a moment forgetting that this wasn't her wife, just nodding "Hey... You don't have to make friends. But.. If it helps you feel better, I had difficulty with that for a long time. Me and my wife fought for years before we got together.."

"You fought ? Like... Real battle or..? Arguments?" She breathed out slowly sitting on the bedside. She was now curious to find if they were actual warriors or not.

Adora shook her head "arguments... A lot of arguments.. And a bit of real fighting. We both fought each other on separate martial arts teams. I grew up learning on the team she fought for, but left and joined a different one"

"Oh... I see... So you did fight.. I don't think I could ever fight... I wouldn't fight Adora but not because I don't know how but... I was once supposed to kill her.. poison her but I couldn't do it.. instead I fell in love with her.." She intertwined the fingers of both hands and looked away with a blush, remembering how charming the knight was…

Adora put a hand on hers, looking at her with a soft smile "If it would help I could teach you... After I've recovered from having the baby of course." She continued to hold her close, pausing before adding "And... I can tell just how much your Adora wants to be able to hold and talk to you like this. I can see it... Maybe you should talk with her too. I won't if you don't want to.. But I think you should. It's a lot better to let these things out.. And it's also good to work them out with the person they're about. I'll.. Ask my wife if something happened between them... She wouldn't lie to me. I know when she's lying."

"If you... Learn something tell me ..okay?" Catra looked up at the girl and she laid back only for her to nuzzle against the pillow .."and thanks for the offer ..I think it would be great... Adora would like it too if I learn something.. she wanted to teach me too but.. I don't know if I'll be a good student" She avoided looking at her.

Adora grinned "I'm sure you'll be an amazing student... Just like I'm sure she'll be an amazing teacher." She held her hand for a moment, squeezing it gently "Now... Because I know they're going to quiz me as soon as I get out of this tent... What should I tell them? Because I know the other me will rush in here to try and fix whatever's wrong too"
Catra chuckled at how right the blonde girl was. "Just tell her I'm anxious about being the queen now.. Adora knows I'll take Light Spinner's position after all... I don't want her to get worried because I miss the days that I cannot bring back..." She sighed softly as the other nodded, taking her hand and gently squeezing it in reassurance before she got up. Then Adora headed out of the tent.

Chapter End Notes

Gigi here !

Yes I'm learning new things~ I'll probably /Im not sure/ add pictures for you to see how their children look like! Im still working on them soo if you like it I can post them with the new chapters~ <3

Soon my love, soon ❤️ ❤️ ❤️

Chapter Notes

!Warning!

A lot of Smut but there's a cute ending on this chapter

Adora promised to talk to them and she would. She would find a way to make Catra speak about what may have happened between her and the knight during her absence. She walked out of the tent and looked around for the other two. She was surprised though since they weren't right there, only making her think that there really was something going on between them.

The other two though weren't too far. Instead they were in the forest, taking some pictures of the weird trees and themselves just messing around. Catra really wanted to remove the worried expression off the knight's face so she did everything to make her cheerful again.

The pregnant one came up to them when she finally found them after some minutes, clearing her throat "Are you two having fun?"

The knight jumped then, looking back and giving her a nervous smile "Yeah.. What happened? You talked for a long time. Are you okay? Is she okay?"

"Yes.. she's kind of anxious about the things that are about to happen in her kingdom. That's all" She rubbed the back of her head though Catra could see she was lying... She approached and smiled at the other one.

"Maybe it's best for you to go ahead and make her less anxious. Take the camera ,maybe it will help?" She wanted to stay alone with her pregnant wife so she could see what was wrong for real.

Her blue eyes looked like...a mom who just caught her child doing something bad and that felt so.... Weird to her.

The knight paused before nodding, taking the camera "Thank you. For helping to keep me from worrying." She gave her a soft smile before she headed to the tent.

The other Adora waited until the knight was gone before she looked up at her wife. “So what's really going on?"

That really felt like she was a child and her mom was scolding her... Her eyes looked at her and her tail slowly wagged "I..don't understand.. What do you mean? Nothing's going on ..I was helping her to not get all anxious"

"No, something’s going on. Both me and the other Catra have noticed. You know I can tell when you're lying." She crossed her arms, looking up at her.

The feline looked away and shook her head "Is it wrong to spend time with the other you? If so..why?" She looked up at her and wrapped her own hands over her chest. She began to walk all the way back to the tent.

Adora put a hand on her arm to keep her from walking away "Catra if you tell me the truth then I wont be mad. But lie to me and I will be. Did something happen between you two?"

Catra’s ears perked down and looked away while humming "We... We were just drunk and that's… all. We had a moment ... I don't remember how it went to be honest.." She lied but at the same time she was still embarrassed to tell her the whole thing "I was scared to tell you because..... I love you and I didn't want to lose you because of... This"

The blonde paused for a moment before just nodding "I've only seen you get black out drunk once. But.. It's better than nothing. You won't lose me.. I just wish you didn't hide it from me... Is.. Is she better than me..?" Now it was just hormones talking. Instead of getting jealous or angry at her she was worried she wasn't good enough anymore.

"what? No....!... Of course not..! I don't even remember it.. of course you're way better than her!" Catra furrowed her eyebrows and wrapped her arms around her, slowly kissing her cheek gently to show her some affection.

Though Adora hesitated before she hugged her back "Right... Yeah.. I'm sorry I just-... I feel fat compared to her... I know it's because of the baby, but.. She's got abs sharp enough to cut cheese on, and I just-... Have this big lump of a belly..." She laid her head on her shoulder, closing her eyes.

Catra chuckled and wrapped an arm around her waist "It's cute... I love you like this... I like that you have this small belly ,my love... You're amazing.. you're adorable and every small detail of your body is just perfect ... I don't want you because of your body.. you should know that already." She hummed in a soft tone, rubbing the back of her head.

"It's not small though... I can use it as a table for my food at this point" Adora pouted, nuzzling her gently "But.. Thank you”

"Hey...hey at least we don't need a table for now hm?" The feline obviously joked and looked up at her only to give her a small kiss on her lips "Come now... I’m still hungry...will you feed me?" She purred, tail wagging slowly.

The blonde rolled her eyes at the joke but smiled gently, kissing her back before sighing "Alright alright.. Lets go get you some food, love" She smiled softly and held onto her waist to go get something for them to eat

"mhm! I want cuddles too... After the food" Catra hummed and nuzzled close to her.

Meanwhile, the knight was heading into the tent then. She hesitated before kneeling down beside her wife. "Hey, my love"

Catra just rested there till Adora spoke, not sure what to say at first so she just sat there for a few minutes in silence. Finally though, Adora spoke up "I love you. You know that right? No matter what?" She kept her voice soft as she watched her.

".... I know..... Things are just.. different" The feline hummed. Her eyes looked up at her and sighed, she felt so distant with her.. ever since she found her and she was back in her arms.

Adora nodded, putting a hand on hers "But I'm here for you. Forever and always." She smiled softly then, leaning down to kiss her forehead gently "Can I lay with you?"

The feline nodded her head ,making some space for her and sighing softly. She missed that night when they had that... Playful affair. She was supposed to marry someone else yet her heart belonged to her knight. She missed every second of it. Her eyes closed and reopened only to see if she was there or not. "I miss the old days... Where you would be so gentle...kind and carrying.. not that you're not now... But I feel that everything changed..”

The blonde one laid down beside her, wrapping an arm around her and placing a kiss on her forehead. She nodded when she said she missed the old days, leaning down and kissing the top of her head "It was easier... I miss them too, my love. And while we can't forget what happened we can learn and grow from them. I still love you. I always will. I'm right here and I'm not going anywhere."

"I love you... And I want to be with you in our place... Laughing and spending time together... I don't know if I will be able to do that any more" She leaned close and gave her a small kiss on her lips before she nuzzled. Her tail felt better and she slowly moved it.

Adora held her close then, kissing her forehead gently "Some day, my love... Some day we will. And until then I will be by your side to keep you as safe and happy as I possibly can"

"... Thank you..” Catra whispered and leaned close to her, allowing her to kiss her and place a soft kiss on her cheek before sliding away from her grip to hold her hand and pull her down. "..do you want to rest now? We will have a long night.” She wasn't wrong on that which made the other one smile and lay down beside her

"Of course my love.. I'll lay with you. It is warm though.. Do you mind if I remove my clothes?" she laid beside her, cupping her cheek gently. Her eyes were soft, filled with love and even admiration for her. Her hands were rough and calloused as she rubbed her lover’s sides.

Catra would have to take care of her for sure, that was the only thing she could think of right now. She had so many scars. The princess had too but.. they were on her back not on her face. "Of course I don't mind that ...though you may want to tempt me without your tunic" She tried to be more cheerful for a while to cheer her up a little.

And she actually succeeded.

Adora laughed softly, kissing her before she got up and stripped. She was still not shy about her body even with all of the new scars, some of which still pink, clearly recent ones. She climbed back into bed with her, pulling a thin blanket over them before pulling her close. She let Catra rest her head on her chest "I love you.."

The feline though did the same. She didn't want her to be alone all naked. She undid the shift and tossed it away before joining the bed and nuzzling close to her. Her back had been red by the healing wounds. She would have plenty of scars but they were all on her back. Her slim body rested on her. Her head was on her chest and her eyes closed while she was peppering her with kisses "I love you too.... I missed your touch"

The blonde one smiled softly and held her close, kissing the top of her head as she was admiring her "I missed yours too... I can't wait until we're home... when we can relax.. just enjoy ourselves" she kissed the top of her head then, smiling softly "my gorgeous princess"

"my beautiful knight…" She whispered and kissed her lips before she nuzzled close to her. "Once we rest we will just enjoy our time with the children, hm? ...and once .. I'm off work... Since I'll be a queen now...rumours are spreading quickly and if anyone finds out Light Spinner is gone they will all run to become the next ruler..." Even if Catra was alive, thanks to the laws in the Horde they would do anything possible to make themselves kings.

Adora nodded, wrapping her arms around her to keep her protected. She smiled, holding her close "of course... and.. while it's stressful I don't trust anyone else to run the Horde. You're up for it.. and I'll be here by your side the entire time." She kissed the top of her head, closing her eyes.

"Do you think I'll be a good queen ..?" Catra continued to speak in a whispering tone. She never expected to rule the Horde.. Her eyes closed and she dug her face to her chest. Their bodies touching was always soothing.

Adora smiled and held onto her, kissing her forehead gently "of course I do my love….and I'll be by your side every step of the way" she ran her fingers through her hair, doing it both to sooth her and simply due to the fact that it was soft and felt incredible.

That made her purr. Catra's eyes closed and she leaned more into the touch. She loved it when she kissed her forehead, it was so..soft and sweet. Her eyes opened only to smile at her. "My first order will be for kisses..." She purred out and smiled. "Will you..

be my knight?...The queen's knight?" She didn't know if she would want to work for her. If she would want to work for the Horde.

Adora giggled at the order, kissing her softly and mumbling "Anything for you, my queen." And when she asked for her to be her knight she didn't need a second to think about it. She looked at her and rolled her eyes. She truly couldn't refuse such a proposal "Is that even a question? Of course I will, love. I am always yours...and I'll always be yours."

Catra didn't say anything at that, instead she could tell that she felt too warm beside her. She could hear her heartbeat. She could feel her breath and her scent close to her. How could she even question her loyalty?She was so….sweet and gentle and showed that she truly loved her. The doubts had been washed away and her eyes closed. Under the blankets she could only purr in her sleep and have her head on her chest while dreaming.

Adora slept as well. She closed her eyes and rested her head on the pillow. She kept her arms around her and rubbed her upper back gently till she fell asleep. She slept through the affection. She was sleeping much better with her there, though the blanket had slipped down, stopping at around Adora's hips. She had kicked it off mostly because she had gotten too hot. A mixture of the cuddling.. the hot midday sun and the simple fact that she always slept hot. Her body was running at higher temps as she slept.

The feline didn't have a nightmare and she could tell that her fur was warming them up. She nuzzled more and purred when she felt the blonde one awake and opened her mouth to yawn. "Has the sun set yet.....?" She hummed.

The blonde mumbled something, too quiet to be understood but her voice was rough and deeper from the sleep. She paused for a moment before speaking a bit louder "Mm... Almost I think... It's getting a bit cooler... And darker..." She nuzzled into her, keeping her well muscular arms around her.

Catra couldn't resist but place some faint kisses on her arms, all along her well built abs. Her eyes were still closed and her hand slowly caressed her abdomen while her head was on her neck, kissing and nibbling on her. "Mhm... We should stand up"

Adora blushed softly at the attention, humming and putting a hand on the back of her head "Mm... If you keep doing that I'll have a uh.. Little problem.." She didn't stop her though, watching her as she explored her body.

"A little problem? Like what?" Catra acted all innocent while slowly caressing her between her legs. Her tail slowly wrapped around her member and caressed her with soft purrs echoing in the tent.

Adora’s breathing sped up slightly, turning into soft pants and looking down at her "You know what.." She let her head fall back though when she felt the attention on her member. She let out a soft moan before opening her eyes to look up at her. She cupped her cheek and kissed her softly.

The brunette smiled at that. She loved to see how cute Adora could become once she got some attention. "Hm? What?" She giggled and continued to move her hand up and down. Her fluffy tail was still wrapped around her as she gasped at the sudden kiss. Obviously she kissed her back but pulled away teasingly. Her back was aching but she didn’t want to say it because she knew Adora would only get more worried.

The blonde whined softly, pushing the blankets off her as she got too hot. She bucked into her hand slightly while being completely hard now. She let out a soft groan "I-I haven’t.. Fuck.. Touched myself for such a long time.. F-fuck I don’t think I’m gonna last long.."

Catra furrowed her eyebrows and kissed her lips only to smile at how she couldn't last long. The girl rubbed faster this time, trying to make her come too quickly. "Hey..don't be loud. They can hear us" She whispered and kissed her lips while rubbing and squeezing her.

The warrior gasped softly then, head going back and biting her lip to try to keep quiet while holding onto her "Oh fffuck..." She mumbled, panting softly as she bucked up into her hand then. One hand held onto her, the other grabbed the blanket.

The feline felt her squeezing her sides but she didn't fall back. She continued to move and soon enough she would make her come with a bright smile on her face.

The knight’s back arched as she came with a soft gasp. Her cum fell on her stomach, though some of it dribbled onto Catra's hand. She panted for a bit, not realizing someone had walked in, letting out a soft groan "Fuck that was good.."

That time though they actually got caught by the other blonde girl who was pregnant. She wanted to tell them that they were ready to go but she walked in on the feline touching her wife.

The princess' eyes widened in shame and quickly converted the blonde one "I- Adora...- I mean...you ..What do you want in here-?!" She tried to be kind but she couldn't do anything but feel ashamed they were having such an act in front of the other.

The warrior squeaked as the blankets were pulled over, fighting to push them down, sitting up and holding them to her chest. Seeing the other her, her eyes widened "Oh. Uh.. Hi?"

The pregnant woman was stunned though, not because she had caught them in the act, but because she- er, the other her had a dick. A real, actual dick. She paused for a moment before clearing her throat "I um. I was coming to wake you two up but uh. I'll just-.. Leave you two be- um.. We'll be leaving soon I think.. It's almost dark”

“of.... Of course -..."Catra didn't know how to respond to that. She was so embarrassed.. her eyes looked up at her and sighed as the other woman left them behind. "Don't they have doors in their era..." She hissed and wrapped her arms over her chest, it was such a soft and cute moment seeing Adora melt in her hand but she really ...didn't believe that would happen.

Catra was just laying on her side of the tent, enjoying the bird's last song since the night was there to stay for a while. Her eyes looked up at the blonde one who would come back soon. "Were they already up?"

"Something was up..." She mumbled, sitting down beside her before looking at her "Did you know the other me has a dick? And it is….I don't know how to describe it to be honest. I walked in on her wife giving her a hand job."

The brunette gave her a too done-look and sighed "Dah?.. I mean... I already knew but how could I say that all of a sudden..... What's wrong though, you're acting... weird”

"Wait, how do you know?" Adora turned to her then, raising an eyebrow "I'm assuming you walked in on her changing. Right?"

"I... Told you we ..had sex, Adora. I mean.. it's obvious I would know" She rubbed the back of her neck and looked away only to take a soft breath and the awkward silence filled the room.

"oh-.. yeah uh right..." The other one paused, not upset just... thinking "what... was it like? sleeping with her?" she looked up at her then, more curious than jealous at this point. She did have to admit the other one was.. pretty hot

"it was...uh .... interesting..... She is really cute in bed... And she likes to be scratched too-.. I mean you're obviously cuter but.." Catra shrugged and tail wagged. "I bet they will be embarrassed during the whole trip.." She hummed and rubbed her head.

Adora nodded "they probably will. It's not like their people run around in crop tops like ours will. They're.. much more bodily shy." she shrugged then, looking at her "did you um... did you feel it-.. her I mean? inside you or..."

"Adora..! Come on... Of course I did. We had sex. I mean.... The whole thing..." Catra yelled in disbelief and looked away before she stood up "What's wrong with you? The last thing I'm expecting to hear is that you want to touch it!" She shook her head.

"wh- I- no- I can't. There's no way she'd let me.. nonetheless her wife" Adora grumbled but stood up. She took Catra's hand to help her up considering she still had a baby.

"Oh my….you're thinking about it. Come here you dork" She placed a kiss on her lips, cupping her cheek and gently caressing it with her thumb "I could ask for one, if any of the mages can give me a dick for my wife" She joked and helped her up while walking out of the tent.

Adora rolled her eyes, smiling softly as she kissed her, humming softly "mm.. or we bring a few toys next time.. leave the kid with a babysitter and have a day of fun~"she grinned, cupping her cheek then, before adding "I think the pregnancy hormones are making me horny. It.. makes no sense to be horny when pregnant but.. damn."

The feline chuckled and leaned close only to give her a small peck on her nose this time "Who said I didn't bring one?" She smirked and pointed with her eyes at her backpack. "Also you can have your sword turn into anything to be honest so ...that could help me please my wife hm?" She continued making her blush and gasp softly, lightly swatting her upper arm

"You naughty woman!" she giggled though, kissing her again with a soft happy hum, mumbling "I might need some.. extra care tonight my love."

The feline bit her bottom lip at the mumble. She loved it when the blonde one was getting needy and she could tell she had plenty of moments during her pregnancy. Her eyes looked up at her and she smirked "You know... We will travel on the second carriage...so... We will be all alone to enjoy the trip" She smirked, their first time was in her car so.. the carriage would be something similar she believed.

The blonde blushed softly then, remembering their first time before grinning. She held her hips and kissed her softly, trailing kisses down her cheek to her neck then "mmm... that sounds incredible, my love" she nipped at her neck then before letting go of her.

"mhm~ I'll take good care of my wife. Don't worry" Catra purred and tilted her head to the side to enjoy the attention she was given and pulled back to point at the entrance of the tent "Let's go.. I bet the other two will be ready too.." She said, holding her hand and picking her bag up to walk outside again after giving her a soft bite on her lips.

Adora blushed, whining softly at the bite. She leaned up to press up against her with a soft pout "tease.." but she took her hand and got ready before following her outside.

The princess would get cleaned up quickly to head off to the carriage, helping the other one as well get herself cleaned up. She didn't have to pick up anything the governess had this issue covered up already. The babies were in small baskets with towels to be warm and soft. They put them in the same carriage so she could take care of them.

"Is.. it just me or could the other me.. not stop staring at my uh.. well my dick?" The knight mumbled once they were alone in the carriage, looking over at her and fixing her shirt as she sat down and leaned back on the seat.

"I bet she doesn't have one? Maybe you're my special knight and you have a special body?" Catra purred out and nuzzled close to her while looking in the front seat where the babies were. "She looks like you... I have to admit" She spoke about the little girl and smiled while nuzzling her face in her neck.

The blonde nodded "That would explain why she's pregnant..." She shrugged "So maybe. But still I don't think that would explain the staring.." She smiled when she saw the baby girl looking at her. "And our baby boy takes more after you.."

"Is he?... Aw you'll have three magicats" She chuckled and gave her a small kiss on her lips. Her head leaned gently on her shoulder and gave her small soft nibbles on her neck. "You know ... You're so hot when I touch you and you blush"

The knight smiled softly and wrapped an arm around her, though the nibbles on her neck made her blush more "hush... you know it always happens when you bite me.. or nibble.."

"Hm now ... You tempt me to do so... And the children are here" The princess spoke in a whisper and purred while wrapping her tail around her arm.

The other one blushed softly, still, smiling though as she just pulled Catra onto her lap, cupping her cheek "my love, they are barely a year old... they'll have no idea what we're doing.. Besides, you deserve to be paid back for my treat earlier.”

The princess gasped when she pulled her but she smiled brightly at the words of her wife."You really don't have to....~" She grinned close to her lips and eyes flickered from her eyes to her lip and back. She leaned in, nibbling on her lip as she pushed her hips against hers.

The knight grinned though, spinning them so Catra was sitting on the seat, with Adora kneeling on the ground in front of her "hush, my Queen.. let me worship you." She leaned down then, pushing her skirt up so she could gently kiss up her thighs while her eyes were looking at her.

Meanwhile the queen spread her legs for the girl to go between. She bit her lip and touched her head, rubbing her thumb on her hair and smiling at her. Her thighs weren't thick like before. "Worship me or I will punish you" She joked and slid her hips more so she could be more comfortable "You know what I've missed though...?.. you inside of me..." She admitted.

Adora knew what she said was a joke but she couldn't help but get turned on by it. Clearing her throat, she pressed another kiss to her thigh before she laid her cheek on it. "mm.. and I've missed being inside you.. but I've also missed you falling apart due to my mouth.. so how about we go a few rounds instead. Does that sound good, my queen?"

The brunette cupped the knight's cheek. She loved how soft she was but also how dirty she could speak. "It sounds good..~ It's not that I don't miss these beautiful lips against my skin after all" She trailed a finger on the woman's lips while speaking.

The blonde leaned into her hand then, closing her eyes so she was completely taken by surprise when she felt a claw run over her lips. She gasped softly, pupils blown wide and face flushed. She was also completely hard now, but she was more focused on pleasing Catra first. She kept her head where it was when she had the nail on her lips, completely flustered and for a moment not knowing what to say, or even really what to do. All her thoughts leaving her head.

The princess looked down at her. "Someone's out of words and you'll lose your chance to be a good knight.. will you please your queen or not?" She perked an eyebrow, her soft voice countered the 'demanding' role in this situation.

Adora whined softly when she said that she might lose her chance, shaking her head and mumbling "yes, my queen.. anything for you" her voice was soft, almost breathless as she spoke. Though she spoke but didn't act.

Catra’s ears folded down and she glared at the knight as she grabbed her by the ponytail only to press her against her hips. She couldn't wait for longer as the knight could tell. “ ‘Yes my queen’ but you don’t please me..." She hissed and pressed her hips against her mouth.

The knight gasped softly as her ponytail was grabbed and she was pulled against her crotch. She was looking up at her only for a moment before she mumbled an apology, not scared or upset of course. She was still very clearly turned on judging by the bulge at her crotch.

Then she got to work.

She didn't waste any time teasing her. She brought her hands up to hold onto her hips as an offer to guide them rather than control them. Catra grunted softly and let her head fall back while feeling the woman's lips and grip. The mixture of her great work combined with the thrusts of the carriage made her whimper "M-My..-" She said breathlessly, tail slowly wagging.

The knight was happy to stop thinking. Happy to serve her queen, putting everything she had into her work, watching her as she fell apart due to her touch. Her mind was still in a bit of a haze from how her wife treated her. She didn't know she could get like that, though she was most definitely not complaining. The feline gasped and whimpered while feeling the girl's tongue. She needed more than that.

After some thrusts and suckles Catra’s nails pinned on her shoulders through the fabric of her tunic and whimpered at the feeling, her hips pressed against her again and again.

The blonde moaned softly at the feeling of her nails, hips buckling slightly but once again, she focused more on Catra's pleasure than her own. She moved her hands and timed her suckles along with her hips.. letting Catra guide her, though her blue eyes were still locked on her to see how blushed she was.

Catra grunted and bit her bottom lip before she gently tugged on her again. "Ah I'm close ..” She hummed, making the other smile softly and adding a third finger for her then working for her orgasm.

Adora’s free hand was still on her hip, pulling back for just a moment so she could speak "cum for me my queen, please.. I want to make you feel so good, let me make you feel good"

"A—Adora...~" The princess whispered her name as she tensed. Her hips pressing against her and her back arching in need as she came on her mouth and fingers. She could feel her walls tightening around these fingers while the girl was breathing heavily.

The knight worked her through her orgasm, slowing her fingers but she didn't stop just yet. She licked her clean as she worked, pulling her hand away before it could get overwhelming. She licked her fingers clean then, leaning her head against her thigh and looking up at her with a satisfied emotion written on her face.

The feline panted breathlessly. Her eyes closed and her lips parted only to make herself calm down. Her head rested back as she blushed deeply by how the girl rested her head on her thigh. “I love you...." She whispered.

Adora just smiled softly up at her, pressing a soft kiss to her thigh before mumbling "I love you too, my queen" She stayed on her knees, waiting for Catra who spoke softly a ‘you’re mine’ and caressed her hair slowly “I'm all yours, my love." she smiled, kissing her cheek softly, still.. clearly rather submissive at the time, holding her close "what do you need from me, my queen?"

"I want you inside of me.... So stand up and take a seat...." She ordered, quickly holding on to her so she could stand up a little and sit beside her before she climbed up on her. "Touch me....”

Adora blushed, getting up and sitting down, letting Catra move her, taking off whatever she needed, just wanting to be good for her. She whined softly when she sat down on her, leaning up into her. She wouldn't touch her though until she was told. And when she finally did touch her, her hands immediately went to her hips, holding her close and leaning up to kiss her as she guided her hips.

The princess loved it when she held her close. She was so cute... She needed to be good at this moment. Her eyes looked at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips. She whined and moved her hips up and down on her. Her cheeks were red and her eyes closed as she rested her head on the blonde's shoulder. "Touch me more... I want more... " She whined again. Her sensitive tail wrapped around her wrist while she was guiding her hips up and down. Her nails slowly dug in her skin while riding her. "Ah.... Adora"

The blonde moaned, leaning in and gently kissing her neck, nipping at it gently, panting against her. She moved one hand to her tail then, gently petting the base of it. The other lifted up to gently play with her breast, whining and moaning softly into her neck. She pulled her in closer, bucking her hips up in time with her "Fuck.. You feel so good my queen... So.. Fucking good.. Oh goddess... Please..."

The feline closed her eyes tightly ,hands clinged more on her and she bit her bottom lip while riding her lover. "I—agh... " She moaned, her tail was truly what made her tremble at the moment. Her hips slowly tilted against the touch of her fingers on her base and almost gasped by how good Adora felt in her. "I love it..~"

She panted and fixed her hair back with one hand ,tilting her head to the side so she could kiss her neck too.

The other noticed and tugged gently, just wanting to make her feel good now. She continued to rock up into her while moving the hand that was on her chest down, instead rubbing her clit "Fuck... Ah-... Oh goddess... You feel so good..." She whined softly, gasping and pressing her face into her neck, biting down once again this time with the intent to leave a mark "Mine"

"Of course ... Of course I'm yours..." She whined and pouted softly at the feeling of her lips and teeth against her pale skin. She moaned and whispered sweet nothing close to her ear. Her eyes closed and her purrs soon were audible as she got more and more turned on by her thrusts. She couldn't resist but moaned her name louder than she expected which caused her a deep blush. They weren't in their room.. they were in a carriage. They could be heard and that made her more embarrassed than ever.

Adora groaned softly though, bucking her hips and mumbling "Mm.. Moan it.. I-I don't care.. Please? I-I wanna hear you... I don't care if they hear you.." She mumbled then, holding her close "Please my queen.. Let me hear you"

"n-No .... We're not alone Adora—ah" The girl groaned and whimpered while holding her so close. She could feel her breast bouncing a little against her since she had taken the top piece off. Her body was trembling at this point, she could feel so close right now and she would probably not be able to keep her voice down

"I don't care.. Let them hear.. Let them know you're mine~ that only I can make you feel like this." She groaned then, already close as well, bucking up more eagerly. She gasped softly as she rested her head on Catra's shoulder. When Adora became so aggressive with her thrusts the feline cried out in pleasure. Her eyes closed and fingers dug her nails into her skin. She moved her hips faster. She had so long to feel her that she felt like she was living in a dream. Her hands clung and she soon pushed against her hips ,finally releasing while holding her close. Her voice cracked but obviously she moaned out her name in a sharp exhale. Of course she was heard but ...she didn't want to even think of that right now. Her head rested on her shoulder and her ears fell back while one of them poked Adora's face due to them being fluffy and big.

The knight pressed as deep as she could when she came, gasping and moaning. She rested her head on her shoulder, panting and shaking "Agh..... Oh goddess Catra you're so good.. So damn good.." She closed her eyes and when she felt the ear in her face she just smiled. She just mouthed at it gently, humming "My pretty baby... My beautiful queen.. My world... The light of my life..." She continued to mumble, keeping her close.

Catra loved every single whisper, every single breath of hers against her skin, every short breathless word. Her eyes were closed still and nuzzled close to her. The fluffy ear continued to be in her face, slowly brushing her cheek and nose. "You're my world... My cute knight.." She continued to whisper. She could feel her heart wanting to skip off its cage.

The other woman wrapped her arms around her and held her close, smiling as she continued to mumble her praises. She had missed her so much, this was heaven to her. She smiled and kissed her neck gently where she marked, closing her eyes "Mmm... My queen..."

Her queen’s cheeks were flushed and she slowly nuzzled close to her only to give her a gentle peck on her lips. "I love you.... we don't have anything to clean ourselves up.." The old self of hers kicked in as she whispered and whined at the feeling of her being so wet down there. She leaned away and gave her a small kiss on her lips only to slowly climb off her. Then she grabbed the bench so she could sit down again. This time she wore her shift so she wouldn't sit on the pillow and make it dirty. Her head leaned against her shoulder and she placed a hand on her chest, slowly caressing her. .

Adora whined softly when she got off her lap, pouting. She would have been perfectly fine with sitting like that for the rest of the ride. She wrapped an arm around her before just reaching into a bag and pulling out a tunic "Here. It can be washed and it's kinda old anyway.. I know it's not the best but.. I also know how you feel about being dirty."

By that move Catra smiled. She really knew her or...learnt her ways after these years. She nodded and took the tunic only to remove the dirt off her and put on the clean shift. She clearly felt way better, thanking the girl and placing a kiss on her lips. "You really know me .." She said with a chuckle, making her smile

"Of course I do... You're my wife. I love you. I'm gonna learn what you like and dislike.." She kissed her forehead then. Catra's eyes closed and she nuzzled close to her ,purring while holding her close.

The night would go by with kisses and cuddles, until some bandits made their way in front of the two carriages. Of course they carried weapons. It was a big group as well so they easily ambushed them. They stopped only for the two of the guards to draw their swords in case they would attack. Catra almost woke up when they stopped. Her eyes half open now as she hummed.

Adora woke up too, groaning softly at first until she realised what was going on. She got up quickly then, telling Catra to stay in the carriage and pulling her clothes as quickly as she could. Then she summoned her sword, turned into She-ra and jumped out.

The princess furrowed her eyebrows. She was so confused and her head was foggy from sleep. After hearing the yells of the bandits to bring out everything they had to be valuable the girl opened her eyes and leaned in, holding both of the babies in her arms. If they entered the carriage she would fight for sure.

On the other hand the blonde pregnant woman took a bit longer to get up and ready, groaning softly as well "mm.. baby..? what's going on..?"

“Hn.. I'm not sure.... " Her wife, Catra, stood up and caressed her cheek only to smile at her. "I'll go see, okay? Please stay here ..okay?" She hummed ,kissing her lips and grabbing her bag to take off her whip so ..she would fight if she had to.

Adora grumbled softly, making herself get up though, shaking her head "nuh uh.. I’m not letting you go out alone..” She followed her out, grumbling softly as she did. She was more irritated at the interruption to her sleep and an irritated pregnant woman is dangerous.

Especially one with a sword.

“babe no-!" Catra hissed and jumped off only to hold her by the wrist. It was truly a fun view to watch since the other one was bigger both in height and weight. Her tail slowly wagged, "I don't want you to get hurt. I'll punish them for interrupting your sleep, okay?" She furrowed her brows and tiptoed to cup her cheeks with a small smile. "I don't want you to fight. Don't you trust me? Won’t I fight as good as you?" Now that was a tricky question. The bandits noticed the two tall women. They were..the same person but.. less muscular? They didn't know what was happening but once they saw Catra they knew they wouldn't leave easily. They called more to come since they were still hidden. The carriages' owner had to be wealthy but ...the princess of the Horde?This was a chance of a lifetime.

Adora grumbled softly, but clambered back into the carriage "fine.. kick their asses for me baby. You better come back with blood on you.. and not your own!"

→»————ლ◆ლ————«←

The knight looked at the exchange the pregnant woman had with her wife before laughing softly, looking at the bandits "you all are so screwed. I'd suggest you leave. Now."

The men didn't stop though ,some even ran to attack the feline but she obviously knew how to fight. To their surprise she didn't wait for any guard to jump in for her. Instead she cracked a smile and slashed the one with her weapon. She was quick ,jumping on one only to pierce him with her claws as the rest of the bandits would start to fight the guards. Catra hissed when one landed a hit on her but by wrapping the edge of the whip around his throat she suffocated him.

Adora didn't wait either. She transformed before she got to work. She had more training then the pregnant Adora did. She took them out quickly and efficiently, ramming her shoulder into one before she ran up, kicking another in the chest. She took no time playing with them like she usually would, though she tried not to kill them, just wanting to hurt them enough to scare them off.

The feline looked up at her only to stare for a while. She was really talented, she could see it after all. A soft pink colour appeared on her cheeks but she didn't stop fighting. When she saw one going to backstab the knight she moved her whip, hitting him roughly on his back as the man yelled in pain.

The knight didn't seem to notice, eventually changing back but keeping her sword. It was a waste to use She-ra on them, finishing off the last of one group, panting softly before she turned to the rest of them.

Only one sneaked in the carriage where the pregnant woman was to take whatever gold they had and pointed his dagger on her neck.

The pregnant one looked up at the man for a moment "weren't you ever taught not to mess with a pregnant woman?"

Catra finished them off in some minutes with the knight but she did notice the door of her carriage was open. Her eyes widened and she rushed inside to kick the man's butt and pull him out of the carriage "Don't you know not to mess with my wife?" She hissed and scratched his chest ,blood crawling off his chest and him screaming in pain as she gave him a hard kick on his ribs. She was more bloodthirsty since she didn't have as many chances to fight in the modern days anymore. “Are you alright?" She said breathlessly to her wife. Her leggings and shirt had bloodstains and her cheek got a slight scratch by someone’s sword.

Her wife looked up at her, just getting up and cupping her cheek "mm.. I’m alright, love" she kissed her other cheek, mumbling "you're kinda hot when you're covered in blood like this"

".... You know I would do it again if I got to hear this from you hm?" She grinned and leaned in ,giving her a sharp kiss and biting her bottom lip. "Oh how I want to tie you up and make you scream" She whispered close to her lips. Even if she was getting her wife wet she could tell that Adora was really turning her on when she used that tone in her voice and complimented her like that. She laid her down on the bench of the carriage and gently placed several kisses on her chest.

Adora grinned, gasping softly at the bite and laughing softly and pulling her wife in closer. Her breath caught slightly "oh fuck please.. god I want you to tie me up.. Please.." she pulled her in closer as they laid down, kissing her again and wrapping a leg around her waist to keep her close.

"I won't only tie you up, my love" She hissed softly and leaned more when she felt the woman's legs wrapping around her waist. She kissed her lips and all the way down her chest. Her hand would tie her wrists above her head with that whip of hers and she would soon lick her best and bite on her. She was turning her on so quickly.

Adora lifted her arms for her, holding her wrists together and letting her tie her up. She moaned then, hips buckling slightly as she pressed into her touch. She gasped softly as she was bitten and licked, whining softly "..mistress.. please fuck me.."

The feline grinned and crawled a hand down on her only to slide a finger under her panties and push it inside her. She added another one before she whispered how badly she wanted to break her. She couldn't obviously do much since she was pregnant but she would thrust her fingers inside this time. "Are you sure you want me to?"

The blonde gasped and moaned, bucking her hips into the touch, letting her head back, mewling softly as her eyes closed "f-fuck.. yes.. mistress... please.." she whined, grinding into her thrusts.

At that time, the knight poked her head into her own carriage then "are you three okay? they didn't get in did they?"

The feline couldn't remain unbothered by the sound of the cries by these men outside. Mostly she couldn't deal with the sound of that whip cutting through the air. Her ears were down as she clung on the babies and she looked up at her when she got inside. She was scared judging by the puffed tail and folded ears but she shook her head "They didn't... We're fine." She was scared but… so jealous of this new Catra. She was scared. She was helpless and she knew that Adora knew it too. "I just want to finally arrive at home and rest” She hummed and looked out of the window.

The blonde noticed how scared she was and climbed in. She walked over to hug her close, mumbling softly "hey.. we beat them all. We're alright. I'll get the carriages moving soon, okay? Let me just check in on the other two and we'll get going" she cupped her cheek, kissed her forehead gently and mumbling "I promise. We're okay.. you heard the whip didn't you..?"

"... Go check the others... I'm fine." The princess didn't want to show she was scared because of a simple fight. She had seen tournaments before. It was the same.. Wasn't it? Her eyes didn't meet hers when she heard the other question and tail wrapped around her own thigh. "No... No I didn't? I know we're okay.. Just go to them I'll wait till the carriage starts moving again"

The knight paused for a moment before she kissed her forehead once more. She knew she was upset but she wouldn't push her. She kissed each child's forehead as well before she got up to head out. She left the door open rather than closing it, so that Catra wouldn't feel trapped while she checked in on the other two. She poked her head in their carriage before widening her eyes "oh- I'm uh- wow okay-" she quickly backed up again, closing the door behind her, clearing her throat.

"Don't you knock the doors in this era?! What the hell!" Catra yelled in a bothered way and huffed.

The knight clearly had to learn how to knock on doors!

The knight spoke up "tell your wife that! she walked in on me and my wife before we left!"

"Agh! ... Just knock on the fucking doors ,humans ..." Catra puffed but smirked as she leaned down on her wife. "Did you walk in on them?... I will make sure your punishment will be rough" She clearly had a glimpse in her eyes. She bit her neck roughly to make marks.

The pregnant one gasped, head falling back and her back arching "o-oh fuck.. mistress.. I'm sorry- I-I deserve a punishment"

"You know you've done wrong when you snuck up on them, hm?" Catra hissed.

The knight could hear from outside of the carriage, blushing deeply. She quickly walked away and called for them to go forward once more. Then she climbed back into their carriage. "I uh. Well, they're okay. Um. Very okay."

The queen was sitting there with her children while caressing their heads and mumbling that everything was finel. She got really alarmed but all this as it seemed. When she saw Adora her ears perked down and nodded softly ."Are you..okay?".

The knight nodded, clearing her throat "I uh. walked in on them... at an.. inappropriate time." She was still flushed red while fixing her pants and taking a seat right next to her to try and calm down.

The feline opened her eyes at the sound of that and placed her hand on her cheek embarrassed "You should have knocked on the door .. I mean ... These people are different, maybe they ..liked the fight or .. something" She hummed.

"wh- I didnt think they'd have sex right after a fight I-.. fine I guess I should have knocked.. though to be fair the other me did walk in on us earlier. I guess it was about time I walked in on them or something" she shrugged, leaning down to kiss her softly.

The princess on the other hand would sigh at the news and roll her eyes before she looked away. "I will.. try to sleep again.. the babies are asleep" She spoke and took a soft breath. This time she didn't lean on her but she let her tail wrap around her arm.

Adora nodded then, kissing her cheek before she helped her lay the twins down. She sat on the bench afterwards and gestured for her to come close, moving so she could fall asleep cuddling with her.

The princess didn't want to lay on her or cuddle but she didn't have another choice since if she didn't accept the embrace she would see that she was bothered by something. "I was comfortable already though.” She hummed but leaned against her.

Adora noticed her hesitance though, kissing the top of her head "did you not want to cuddle? You don't have to" she let go of her then.

Catra looked away and she just shrugged. Her ears still folded back. "It's fine. I mean we can cuddle .. don't worry so much" She hummed and sighed, she felt like she was.. always complaining while these guests were there.. if she continued like this Adora wouldn't want her anymore. She was scared both of losing her because of her complaints and because of the fights they had.

The young knight paused for a moment before leaning in and kissing her forehead "hey, love.. if something is wrong tell me. I won't be upset" she ran a hand through her hair while looking down at her with a soft smile.

The princess looked up at her only to give her a nod "I'm just... I don't want to complain so much.. that's all... I will deal with my things alone.." She frowned and crossed her arms over her chest.

Adora cupped her cheek "if something upsets you tell me. Complaining is when you think the mantle wasn't dusted well enough after dusting it five times. This isn't complaining, I promise"

The princess took a sharp breath and sighed before she looked away. She paused for a while but she spoke in the end "I ... I got scared with the whip" She admitted and avoided looking into her blue eyes "I'm weak and I know it... I'm not as fun as that Catra.. or as good at fighting as this Catra... In fact I don't know how to fight at all..." She sighed "I don't want to be like that... I want to be useful"

The knight kissed her forehead gently but did not make her look up at her, just speaking softly "why didn't you tell me, my love.. you aren't useless.. but if you feel that way I can teach you to fight. You are so much better then that Catra.. do you know why?" she tilted her head up then, looking down at her. She was serious though as she gave her a soft and reassuring smile

"...because you're my Catra. You're my wife.. you're the one I met at a ball. The one I danced with not knowing the whirlwind you would bring into my life." She smiled, cupping her cheek "you're the one I fought for. The one I risked my life for. The one who gave birth to our children and the woman who loved me despite me being a stubborn, bullheaded woman."

The princess looked at her. Her expression was sad but...what she said caused tears in her mismatching eyes. She leaned close and embraced her. "Adora.... I miss these days so much..." She mumbled between her tears as she tightened her grip. "I want us to dance like that again... To fall in love again.. I'm scared I will lose you ...because you start to know me more and more and what if I'm not what you expected..?" She whined softly, her voice cracking and her tail wrapped around her arm.

Adora hugged her close, practically wrapping herself around her. Her arms wrapped loosely around her in a protective embrace while kissing the top of her head a few times "Hey.. Hey shh it's okay. I promise. You won't lose me... You can be yourself around me. You won't scare me off and I'm not expecting anything from you. I love you, okay? That's all I want in return. I promise, my love.. I swear to you. I will not leave you. You will not lose me, no matter what happens."

Catra felt comfortable in her embrace, as always she felt so... Protected by her… just like the first time they met... She loved her. She loved how cute she could be.. how protective she could get... She leaned close and purred only to nuzzle on her. "I want to learn how to fight... I can see how useless I am in a fight.." She dug her face in her neck. "I love you.. and I want to do more things with you Adora..." She looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips. Catra had always felt small compared to her, so skinny and short in her arms. Now with her anorexic body it was even worse. The princess was truly smaller than her, she really had to gain some weight for sure and hopefully Adora would help on this.

Adora squeezed her gently, leaning down to kiss her forehead. When she said she wanted to learn how to fight she smiled softly and kissed her forehead, just nodding "I would love to teach you... I'm pretty versatile.. I'm good with a lot of different weapons." She ran her fingers through her hair, humming softly as she held her "I love you more, my dear.. And I promise whether we go and explore the world together or simply sit in the same room as we read our books... I will always enjoy being by your side."

Catra's ears twitched as she felt her fingers on her hair. "You know... Sitting in front of the fireplace.. cuddling and reading a book while feeling the warmth of it and you against me...." She paused, daydreaming "I want to give you everything... And I will.. I want to rest in your arms. The children to be sleeping in their rooms..you singing to me to sleep..." She smiled at the last one. She really liked all this.

The blonde smiled softly at the image Catra was putting in her head, closing her eyes with a soft, happy hum "That sounds incredible... Running my fingers through your hair, eyes closed, singing softly for you..." She held her close

"Soon my love... Soon"

Feels like home

The minutes became hours and the servants of the house opened the doors when they arrived early in the morning. Both couples had been awakened by the servants. The knight woke up with a groan, sitting up slowly so she did not disturb her wife. She stretched before she looked out and smiled. She scooped up her wife then, kissing her forehead and mumbling "Go back to sleep my love, I've got you."

Catra nodded softly and kissed her neck, at least what was exposed, while nuzzling to her. She was like a baby curling close to their mother. "Mhm.." She hummed and closed her eyes.

At the same time the pregnant woman groaned softly while whining about having to get up and whining more when she saw the knight carrying her wife in the castle instead.

When the knight heard the whining she chuckled softly and looked back at her "Need a lift?"

"I'm not an eight foot tall warrior..!" She hissed and rolled her eyes when the other offered a lift "I don't think you can hold them both.. Your wife will wake up”

The warrior smiled softly at her princess, holding her close then in one arm, looking at the other and raising an eyebrow. She got that competitive look in her eye "You want to bet?" She smiled, turning into she-ra before scooping Adora in one arm, adjusting them for a moment before kissing her wife’s forehead gently and carrying them inside.

"Agh you just love to show off, don't you" Catra rolled her eyes when She-ra held her wife as well. The princess was sleeping though.

The place was actually a whole palace. So wealthy and beautiful. The servants were offering their help immediately and took their bags. The children were taken by the governess who walked up on the woman who carried the other two. "My lady, the children will need a bath and to be fed. Do you want me to let you do it?" She spoke knowing that Adora was overprotective with the two small beans.

The knight smiled softly, "Of course I do." She hummed before looking at the governess and nodding "Bring them to our chambers. I'll be there to take care of them soon. We have a guest room ready, right?"
Adora was just kinda staring at her muscles in the meantime. She hadn't exactly had the chance to admire herself when she was She-ra. So she ran a finger along a muscle, which the knight ignored.
The elf woman of course nodded and bowed to her "Their chambers are on the south side of the house"
Adora nodded "Good. Go tell the chefs to start breakfast if they haven't already, please."

The other feline rolled her eyes when she noticed her wife doing this for some muscles. "Come on Adora. You can drool over her muscles later" She hissed making the knight chuckle

"I don't mind"

Adora pouted then, looking at her wife "But I've never been able to really look at she-ra. Not while I'm here and looking in the mirror. It is definitely not the same thing"

"Agh ... Let's go .. Our knight needs some rest." Catra rolled her eyes and sighed before she let a servant guide them to their chambers, after pointing at her wife to move.
The pregnant woman pouted again but the knight put her down with a soft laugh "Happy wife happy life. Go on. You can admire them later."
Catra huffed and guided her where the servant was taking them. She got in the room where he opened the door and looked inside with a gasp of surprise. It was so... Warm and cosy. So old fashioned but obviously the furniture was all new. "Wow.... This is amazing" She admitted out loud and walked up to the bed where she would nuzzle. "Adora...? What about we take a bath now, hm?" She hummed as they would both undress to get in that tub filled with warm water, the soap, the candles… everything was so new to them, to Catra mostly. She was so amazed by all of this that she could tell the environment was rather romantic. They did stay quiet for the night after taking a bath like...the old times, as they said. Then they would only slide under the covers that were...extremely heavy...at least heavier from what they had back in their house.

The knight, on the other hand, took her own wife to their room. She gently laid her down on the bed and leaned down to kiss her forehead softly.
The sleepy feline nuzzled close to her. Her tail wrapped around her wrist when she made a move to stand up. A pout appeared and she embraced her pillow "Come here..." She mumbled, not caring if they were dirty at this point or not. She wanted to cuddle but also the babies were there too, waiting for her to take care of them.
Adora smiled softly, sitting down beside her and kissing her forehead again before mumbling "love our children need to be cared for... as soon as they are bathed and fed I promise I am all yours. For as long as you want" she brushed some hair out of her face then, smiling as she looked down at her. She put a hand on her cheek then, mumbling "my beautiful baby..”

"mm.... I don't want you to leave..." The other one mumbled between her sleep ,clinging on her tunic but her grip got loose once she caressed her cheek. A small smile formed on her lips.
The babies had their food in a bottle and a creme on the short table. The cook made them something to eat as it seemed. Adora wouldn't get bothered to make something up by herself.. The boy slowly opened his eyes to whine at his empty stomach and the girl would only try to crawl to him. They were restless sometimes. Adora smiled, leaning down to kiss her wife gently before mumbling "I promise it's just long enough to feed our children. I won't even leave the room, my love." She kissed her forehead before she moved her hand back to her cheek "I can pick up our children and sit on the bed if that would be better, my princess" She offered as the feline nodded and let go of her when she said she would bring the babies there.

Catra smiled and nuzzled on her pillow. Finally she got some serious sleep without waking after a nightmare. Her eyes were still closed as the other would leave and hold the children.
The knight did just as she told, picking up the young ones while also grabbing anything she would need before taking a place on the bed close to Catra, so that she knew she was there before she got to work.
The princess obviously didn't wake up. Instead she remained quiet while sleeping beside her and wrapped an arm around her thighs. Adora giggled softly and finished up with the babies after some minutes, laying them in bed once they were asleep before curling up beside her. She pulled her close with a soft smile, kissing the top of her head as Catra whined.
Catra's blue eye slowly opened to look at her. Her soft ears folded when she kissed her. She was acting like a kitten at this point and Adora noticed that.

The knight smiled when she saw her, laying down to kiss her softly, speaking softly "I'm right here, kitten. Don't worry." She smiled, hugging her closer.
The other girl nuzzled close to her and purred at the feeling. "Stay here... Okay?" She mumbled and wrapped her tail around her arm only to give her a sheepish smile.
"I promise, my love. I won't leave your side again" The other one wrapped an arm around her, kissing her forehead softly as she held her close.
The feline nodded and closed her eyes, slowly cuddling with her wife while breathing steadily. She had eaten just once, yesterday, but at least she didn't hear her wife complain about it. She rested there for as long as she could and leaned close to her for the rest of the morning.

On the other hand, Adora held her close, rubbing her back though she didn't say anything about her eating. Now that they were back home she hoped that she would eat more. She was the one who should take care of her wife and make sure she would eat plenty from now on.. that she would not be scared anymore and that she would teach her how to fight if she had to.

The morning would slide away with the sun slowly falling down. The princess would finally wake up and she slowly purred against the other's skin.
Adora slept for a bit longer before she woke up, nuzzling into her gently and keeping her eyes closed. "mm.. good morning my love.." her voice was, as per usual, deeper and a bit rougher as well, keeping her voice quiet to not make these cute ears of hers twitch backwards.

"Good morning...~" Catra whispered in a deeper tone in return. Her eyes were still closed and her hand touched her chest gently, kissing her neck in the meantime "I will go check if the food is ready...for you" She hummed, making the blonde one groan.

Adora wrapped an arm around her and pulled her closer before speaking softly "mm.. fuck I love your morning voice.." she smiled faintly but let her go then "but alright. I'll let you go... I'll get up and dress the kids."

"my morning voice sucks... Don't you lie" Catra puffed and leaned on her only to place several kisses and pecks on her neck. Her eyes met her blue ones and she smiled only to give her a last peck. She was spoiling her and she didn't care at all. She didn't have to hide from anyone anymore.

Adora giggled, holding her close and mumbling "no. It sounds incredible.. don’t lie to yourself" she whispered, holding her close for a bit as she was attacked in kisses that allowed a chuckle to echo in the quiet room.

The princess chuckled at her and bit her lip before she smirked at her "I'm looking forward to going to that waterfall again… and do what we've planned months ago.." She offered and kissed her lips once more before she licked her chin playfully.
The warrior grinned then, leaning down to kiss her and placing her hand on her chin "I can't wait either, my love. Soon. I promise"
The feline slowly purred but she leaned away after a hungry suckle on her lip. Even though they made love two times already, she was so hungry. She wanted so much to feel her, to feel the love she had to give and to be somewhere more..private than the carriage or their tent. "I should go.." She whispered.

Adora tried to follow her when she leaned away and when that didn't work she just pressed kisses to her neck and shoulder, grumbling "Mm.. Getting me all worked up and leaving me here..." She smiled though, looking up at her and moving so she could get up "Alright, my princess. I can wait. Go on” Even though she felt that she missed her touch and these eyes fixed on hers… she knew Catra had to start living again and she would help her with that.

"oh you will wait ,my knight... " She hummed in reply and giggled only to give her a small wave "I'll be right back!" Catra walked out of the room while going to the hallway to walk to the room of the guests to inform them about the breakfast hours there and see if they were comfortable or if they didn't sleep well. Even though she knocked on the door, she…. interrupted them in a difficult situation.

"Just get out!” The more bratty Catra hissed and glared at her only for the princess to back off real quick. She..didn't know what to tell as she rushed into her own room to look at the blonde knight "They-Uh they...are ...making love" She hummed and looked away "I knocked the door! It wasn't my fault!"

Adora was already getting dressed up and she put a cute small dress on the feline baby while humming a tone. Jack was already whining because she got to dress his sister up first and the blond mother chuckled while shaking her head. “Till now I was taking care of you and only, kiddo… Let your little sister get some affection. Will you?” She poked his nose. She noticed the small scar on his cheek and let out a soft sigh, hoping one day it will heal. When her wife stepped inside though she looked up and paused for a moment before nodding "I-.. Yeah. They uh.. They're... Different when they make love too... At- at least from what I've walked in on..." She looked away then, hoping she didn't notice her, almost admitting that she had slept with her.

"Yeah..they are indeed different....I won't go to them again..I don't want to walk on them again" Catra looked away. Clearly Adora covered it up well. She held her shift and sighed "Did you happen to see more than.. them naked or..?" She wasn't sure if she should ask for more details or not.

The knight looked up, hesitating before looking away. "I.." she paused, trying to figure out if she should tell her before she took a deep breath "no.. no I've seen.. done more than that" she couldn't face her now. She was scared of her reaction but she couldn't keep it from her any longer. She let the baby girl down and turned around even though she didn’t look at her… She couldn’t meet her eyes “I.. slept with her.... with the other Catra. Only once.. we were both drunk.. it’s when I was trying to find my way back here... she made a move and.. I accepted.." She could feel her heart beat faster. She could hear how loud that silence that followed was. She felt her hands cold.

"What"

Catra stared at her. She didn’t know how to….react to something like this. Her eyes fixed on her. Could she consider it as cheating on her or....She didn't know. Her eyes looked down and took a deep breath. "I mean... it's fine you were drunk..." she tried to find something to not yell at her or argue now. She could feel her heart aching. Beating faster and faster. It was the second day of them being together after all this...year without her. With a small move she leaned back on the door and turned around to open the door "I'll go call my maid now. Just stay here, okay?" She hummed. Her voice fading in the distance.

Adora still couldn't face her and when she turned to leave she just nodded, sitting down on the bed "right... I'll be right here then. I still have to bathe Jack.." She ran a hand through her hair before walking over to pick up the twins, taking them to the restroom then to bathe him. She was still worried that she's going to say something wrong and lose her. She enjoyed sleeping with the other but it wasn't worth losing her wife over her. She could tell she broke her heart only by the way she replied and spoke but she couldn’t think of anything that would help. On the other hand maybe she would look at it like she did, right? Catra usually didn't but they would figure it out. They always do. It just took time.. and work. And she was willing to give both for the love of her life. She made a mistake and she knew it but...she hoped that they would talk about it and...solve this problem.

Catra leaned against the door on the other side. Her eyes closed and she took a huge inhale just for her to walk all the way to her governess' room. She knocked the door and opened it peeking in to look at the older one "Hey....may ..I speak with you?.." Her tail was down, ears folded as well as she walked inside. She felt like she wasn't worth enough for Adora. Like that Catra did something better or… was better than her to lay with her. Especially during the days she was pregnant she...was different. More emotional, gained weight and sometimes she was more clingy than usual but she didn’t believe Adora would ever get laid with someone else because of her not being able to provide what she wished. She took a shaky breath as the elf looked up, smiling softly and bowed her head

"Of course you may. Come on in, here let me get you a seat" She got up, pulling a chair over so they could sit close to each other, facing the other as well "what's wrong? You seem.. upset" She leaned in to brush her hair back as she was holding a book on the other hand. She could see that the princess was still in her nightgown judging by her wearing her robe.

Catra looked up at her, a small kind smile was there and took a seat close to her before fixing her shift carefully and tapped it with her thumb "I... Adora got….laid with that other Catra.. of the future. She told me that actually..and... They made love and I... I don't know how to handle it" She felt tired already because of all the things that happened in two days but.. this now... Really made her anxious about their relationship.

Daniella listened for a moment, tilting her head "that's.. complicated. I think she believed it wasn't cheating because it was still essentially you. But.. it depends on how you see it. From what I've seen your wife sees the other Adora as only another version of herself, rather than a different person. She may think the same for the two of you." She paused then, setting her book aside to look at her "though this depends on how you see it. You see them as separate people right? They share names, your looks and possibly even some similar backgrounds and behaviours but you still see them as someone else. More a twin than a copy, right?”

"mhm.... And I .. could see that Adora liked Catra...I..think I'm jealous of her.. I really wished I was her sometimes...She's so... Perfect and ... I'm nothing in front of her.. she knows how to fight and joke around.. I bet she was even better in bed than I was" She cupped her face in despair "Why am I like this... Why do I feel so useless in front of her every time… I’m a queen she’s..she’s nothing!" She growled but the governess just smiled softly, standing up to walk closer and kneel in front of her. She took her hands gently and looked up at her

"Your majesty... She loves you. No matter what the other you can or can't do, she loves you. You didn't see her when she first thought you were dead.. you didn't see her hiding and furious at Light Spinner for lying to her about you. I saw her.. I saw just how much she wanted to hurt her.. for keeping you from her and for hurting you." She cupped her cheek then "talk to her. Trust me.. she loves you. She just.. isn't good at communication...and to be honest, neither are you. Talk to her, Catra. You both can work this out but you need to tell her about how you feel too, okay?" She didn't use the title this time. She comforted her just how she would comfort her child. She would always advise her like she would give advice to a child.

"I don't know how to tell her something like that.. Adora is... Not jealous of anyone... She won't understand it and she will think I'm mad at her if I tell her that I don't want her to go with her again.." She hummed and leaned close to her to embrace her. "She has always been nice to me.. and from the time we got married we had several fights... About the babies.. Now I don't want to fight because of this... I think I might lose her... Life wasn't so complicated before.."

"you won't lose her for this.. just listen to her. Let her explain how she sees it before explaining it yourself.. Hm.." The brown haired made a pause while trying to think of an example "..think about this like diplomacy, like working towards a truce pact. You need to listen to both sides and listen to what both sides request before you can make a decision right? Try that with her. And.. start out by saying that you aren't mad and that you just want to talk. Trust me. It'll help" She smiled softly and held her close "you two can work this out. I know she may not truly understand but she doesn't need to understand. If she cares for you she won't do anything that makes you uncomfortable"

Bringing this to diplomacy actually helped Catra more. Since she was taught for a lifetime about all these kinds of things she knew how to make it possible to combine the things she knew and this new...thing that's called emotion. "Thank you..." She smiled. Catra stood up only to feel a little bit dizzy and sat back down ,making it seem that she just didn't want to leave yet. "So... Now that.. Light Spinner is gone.. When will I return to the palace… Do you have any information?"

Daniella stood up as well and even though she noticed that she felt dizzy she didn't say anything. She simply handed her half of a sandwich she was eating before she went back to talking "well, it would make the most sense for you to return soon before someone else tries to take your place. Although you can spend some time here to rest and recover I would recommend at least sending a letter to someone you trust, perhaps Scorpia and Entrapta, the knight and alchemist you care so much for, to let them know that you are alive. As long as there are people claiming you are alive they cannot crown anyone without proof of your death.” She took a deep breath then, sitting back "Though that can be faked rather easily.. I suggest leaving for the palace soon, to be crowned as queen"

At first Cara thought of sending a letter with her signature on it to be a proof but.. hearing what the older one had to say made her less optimistic. She nodded and frowned since she would have to pack some things up. She did begin to eat the sandwich since her stomach was aching. Iit was still late midday and she didn’t have a complete meal. "Would it be better for me to leave for the kingdom though.... So many people are counting on my… decisions and I don't know if I'm ready.." She was anxious. Her real mother could always daydream about Catra becoming a queen one day. Little did she know she wouldn't be there to see her.

The brunette elf smiled softly, taking her hands again gently "You will be a great queen just like your mother. I know you will. I trust you and so does everyone else here." She gestured to the sandwich "If you don’t starve yourself to death. I do support Adora in this.. you need to eat, look at how skinny you are right now.."

The feline looked down at herself. She was right.. she saw how tiny she was and she tightened her fists. "Adora liked me like this..." She mumbled and looked up at her. Daniella was the only one who was trustworthy about everything, literally she was helping her every single time.

"She liked you when you were healthy and happy. She loves you regardless of what you look like. She won't hate you if you stop looking like you're already halfway in the grave." Daniella put a hand on hers, looking at her "I'm not just saying this to make you feel better.. You do remember how she tried to stop you from wearing corsets even though they don't harm us.. She finds them uncomfortable..and she doesn't want you to feel like that. She doesn't care how small you look. She won't care if you aren't a skeleton. Trust me. She's worried too.. I know it's hard to eat but please try. We both don't want to lose you to this.."

Catra avoided her look, knowing she was right and held the sandwich closer. "I know I just... Don't think I will be able to stop any of this... Last year I changed a lot.. even the loud noises are making me all tense." She explained and sighed in worry.

"It takes time.. but I know you can work through this.. You have us here to talk to, okay? I promise... we will help you. Now eat.. Please. At least half of that. I won't ask for much right now but I need you to eat" she put a hand on her arm, smiling gently at her "..and I don't blame you for being afraid of loud noises.. Adora woke up many times screaming.. you both have been through a lot. It's going to take time to get through it"

The feline nodded when she spoke again. "Okay... I ..I will" She murmured and raised the sandwich to eat slowly. Her stomach felt full with the first bites. She looked down ,ears folded down as well. She did not enjoy eating at this moment. She looked up at her and sighed "I don't know if I can help her with that… I'm not in her dreams. She’s not in mine to remove all these nightmares"

Daniela though looked away, knowing that if she watched her eat it might make it harder for her, so she turned her head away to look out the window "you can't be in her dreams and she can't be in yours.. but you can be there when she wakes up, just like she's there for you when you wake up." She smiled softly then "all you have to do is support her as best you can. She's your ally, and your closest friend just as much as she is your wife."

"I know... But it's difficult.. how to support her when I'm not even fixed yet... I look terrible.. I'm grumpy all the time around her.. I only think about the past..before the war. When we didn't fear anything other than Light Spinner finding us together ..now we have children. Not one but two. She wants to raise them and I want you to do that so I can have more time with her.. I've been through hell in the Horde and I have to go back again because I will be the queen... All this will come with a lot of responsibilities and I know that" She was stating all the problems one by one as the other one nodded

"it's hard.. and things won't ever be the same. That I can guarantee. But the best thing you can do is try" she smiled softly at her, holding her hand "She never had parents... remember..? She wants to be there for her kids in a way she never had"

"I didn't have either...! Why do you both have to point that out?" Catra had half of the sandwich now down on the plate. She wasn't angry but she had a pouty look on her face. "Father just ran off with the first woman who seemed better and more skillful than mom and guess what! She was the worst" She hissed "Don't I want to be there for my kids? I want to take care of them but none of us will be able to be around them all the time.." She tightened her fists now.

The older woman looked away before she sat back "I know. But you still had parental figures. She didn't. She doesn't want her children growing up barely knowing their parents the way she did.." she sighed softly, looking up at her "But.. that is something the two of you need to figure out"

"Yes but if I go to her to talk I bet we will argue or... Or I will hurt her or the opposite... I don't know how to tell this to her either..how to talk to her at all." She was good at writing but at the same time she was clueless on talking to others if it's not for a plan or.. the other is a servant. She looked down on her feet and sat down with a heavy exhale "I'm so anxious.. we didn't have the time to talk at all because of that war.. Now that we have the time I'm a coward.. " She spoke in a low tone. Her tail seemed to be healing up since it slowly moved under her short shift.

The other brunette put a hand on her shoulder, smiling gently "diplomacy, my dear. Listen to her explanation. Then explain your own, calmly and quietly. Reassure her that you aren't angry and that you only want to talk it out." She let go then "Now go on.. just trust your instinct okay? Relate this to your studies. You're a smart girl I know you can figure this out"

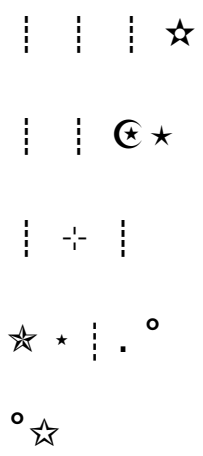

Catra took a small breath, relying on her instinct would mean to rely on her feelings sometimes and that wouldn't help. Her ears perked and her arms wrapped around her. She was the only one closer to her and the only one who felt like home. Her head rested on her shoulder and she smiled just a little bit, holding her tightly. "I will go.. thank you.. for everything"

Daniella smiled and nodded, hugging her close and speaking softly "I believe in you. You two have been through so much.. you can work through it. I trust you... now go on.. go talk to your wife." She smiled, cupping her cheek before letting her go.

The young one missed her so much but she had to leave and go back to her wife. She looked at her and tilted her head to the touch with a soft purr. "Mhm.. I will come to tell you what happened" She smiled brightly and ran away. She clearly felt better now with some food in her stomach and after… her conversation of how to talk things out.

┆ ┆ ┆ ┆ ┆ ┆

┆ ┆ ┆ ┆ °☆ ⋆｡° ☆

Gigi here!

I took the oportunity to draw a cute Daniella and small Catra since I love these two. So hope you enjoyed the chapters. More chapters will be out soon! If you want to check more doodles go to my deviantart in my bio~ <3

I won't give her my books... I'll keep reading them...
She won't take your books! Just wait for a second!

GoodBye

After the conversation they had with the governess Catra walked quickly to the bedroom where Adora was supposed to be. Adora though had fallen asleep once again, leaning on the back of the couch. An empty bottle in one hand and the twins cradled in her arms. She woke up when she heard the door open, groaning softly and blinking sleep out of her eyes. She yawned before she looked up at her, giving her a slight smile. The smile was still nervous but she tried to hide it "hey baby.. I got them fed, bathed and back to sleep.. Finally.."

The feline furrowed her eyebrows when she saw the bottle being empty. She walked closer only to take it and sniff it "What's this?" Her ears were up and her tail slowly wagged its tip. She was curious but still worried.

"It's some sort of, alternative baby food.. which I'm grateful for... they like to bite.. and their teeth are sharp" Adora smiled softly though, cradling them close then, looking down at their sleepy faces "I wouldn't trade them for the world though.. come here love.. I missed you" she looked back up at her and spoke with a soft tone.

The brunette nodded coyly and laid beside her. Her head rested on her chest, one arm wrapped around her torso "I missed you too... I'm sorry I got all aggressive... I just didn't want to hear that... I guess." She spoke in a soft tone in return, trying to talk through the problem just like how her governess told her. "But I'm fine now... Really..... Just tell me why you thought it would be fine to go with her?" She hummed, fingers slowly clinging on her "We're not the same... And you said you loved me and I know.. you wouldn't cheat on me.."

Adora leaned against her, though her smile faded when she heard what she was talking about. She looked away from her but she didn't pull away. "It's.. it's okay. I expected it.. I just... I don't know.. technically she is you.. y'know? I mean.. from a different reality.. so of course she will act a bit different.. she hasn’t been through the same things we have.. done the same things we have.. that changes a person.. defines who they are.. she didn't grow up as a princess.. and I didn’t grow up as a knight, not in that world. So of course we will be different. But.. at our core we are the same person.. The other Adora understands me.. to a point I’m not sure I entirely understand myself. And it is kinda scary.. but I think if you talked to the other you.. you would see just how similar the two of you are." She looked up at her, kissing her cheek and mumbling "I love you. I always will. And she is different. I know that. Even if not physically.. but... that's how I see it.. and I'm sorry I did that.. I know I should have talked to you.. shouldn't have done it at all... I just-.. I didn't think you wouldn't see it the way I see it now.. and I'm sorry for that"

Hearing her only made her want to talk more to her, Catra didn't care only about what she said now.. she wanted to talk as much as they did before all these events. Her eyes looked to the wooden beds of the children and took a soft breath "I just don't want to talk to her so much... I can see how different she is... How.. better than me she is. So happy most of the time that now I barely am... I'm happy when I'm around you but at the same time I feel there's an empty space between us.." She sighed and nuzzled close to her "I love you ..and I want us to talk again not.. hide. I want you to talk too... Not only me.."

Adora smiled softly then, looking up at her "my love.. you don't have to be happy all the time. After what we went through.. I wouldn't and couldn't expect that from you. I.. tend to try and just push my problems away. Ignore them because everyone else is more important than me but.. we all have our problems. We both need to work through this" She smiled then kissed her forehead "..and of course we can talk.. we can talk as much as you'd like, about whatever you'd like.. I love your voice anyway"

That last sentence made a soft chuckle escape Catra’s lips and playfully pushed her with a 'stop it' in the middle of her move. She really had to be flirty even now. "I want to talk about.. about you... How you feel ... What do you want to do from now on or..

what we could do with the children... I don't want everything to be random.. I want us to talk more about even the problems"

The blonde nodded then with a soft smile "we can talk it out, my love. As much as you'd like" she smiled, kissing her cheek "I'd like to have some part in raising our kids... but I know you don't as much as I do.. so I'll let your governess take them so we can have alone time"

"at least for now...? I mean... Really you said it too. We have things to do ..together not with the children around... I can't and won't force you to not see them of course.. we just need some alone time, right?" She took a shaky breath and nuzzled close to her only to rub her chest. "I don't know what to do though... I will… leave for the palace soon... If not in one day... and I don't want the children to come with me... Will you come?" She was anxious, especially by what the governess said some minutes earlier. She had to be quick with her actions but also not make any mistakes.

The other nodded as she held her, rubbing her hand gently "I never meant that we had to be with them all day every day, my love.. just that I wanted to be the ones to raise them, rather than just someone they see when they've been bad you know..?" She kissed the top of her head, leaning against her and speaking softly "Why don't you want the children to come? I promise you I can keep them safe... I don't want to leave them behind. No matter who is watching them... but.. I don't want to leave you either.."

Catra looked away only to pause before she spoke again "Then you should stay with them. I'll take my guards and the governess with me. I don't want them to come with me there. It won't be a good environment for them.." She knew that people wouldn't take it easy when she would arrive in her kingdom again. Her eyes closed, thinking that she would have to maybe take one or two more servants with her just to make sure she will eat what they cook and only "I want them and you to be safe and you should stay with them.. now that I think about it.."

Adora understood that she was worried about her health and their children but...she didn't want to leave her all alone… She didn't trust the guards and it seemed that the citizens and villagers wouldn't be pleased by the upcoming queen. She paused for a moment before she shook her head, taking a deep breath, looking up at her "No... No, I'll come with you. I.. Don't like leaving them behind. But I'll ask Bow to stay and watch over them as well, to.. Help keep myself calm..." She was much more worried about them getting hurt or worse while she was gone. The last time she had left them alone she thought they had died. So, of course she would be nervous. But she knew the palace was more dangerous for her wife, so she would trust that her friend could take care of them until it was safe. She kissed her cheek softly, before voicing the thoughts "I know the palace isn't safe for you. Whichever way I choose I will always be worrying about one or the other... But.. If I go with you I can ask Bow to watch them. I know he won't like the idea of me leaving them.. But he'll understand. And I trust him. He's an incredible fighter... He'll keep them safe."

The woman slowly nodded, having her around her made her feel better actually. She leaned close to her and gave her a small kiss on her chin "Really. I will be fine to leave alone too.... I will have to leave tomorrow before the sun rises.. my governess told me it would be better for me to be there than send a letter to show that I'm alive... They won't wait for long. The Horde is already without a leader for two days now... I hope nobody took my place already" As long as she was thinking more about it she was getting more and more anxious. "I hate this feeling... I don't know if I'll be as good as my mother once was... I don't know if I will even be the one taking the decisions... I don't know if they will listen to me.." She whispered. The council was obviously surrounded by men in the Horde. They were the ones giving advice to the queen though she bet that they wouldn't only give her simple advice.

Adora kissed her softly before she could get too deep in her worries, just speaking softly after the kiss "I'm coming with you. You will be a perfect Queen. I.. Don't know much but I will do my best to help." She smiled softly at her then, cupping her cheek "I promise. We will be okay... I'll send a letter to Bow when we leave detailing everything he will need. We must leave some guards here though. At least until Bow gets here." She hummed, letting go of her again just leaning against her and speaking softly still "I'm... A little hot headed though.. So I probably shouldn't speak at any meetings or anything. I.. Don't want to cause trouble"

Catra chuckled and smiled at the woman. "I know you are ..but you will be the Commander of our warriors so.. you will have to say a word once the topic changes" She let out the possibility of her being obviously involved in the meetings since she was her wife. With a sharp breath she sat on bed and grinned at her "Let's go now we have to eat... I ..ate some but... I could try eating more" Ears perked back making her lean in to kiss her softly

"Mm.. Are you sure you want me as your captain?" Adora giggled and kissed her cheek before getting up to put the babies to bed. When she said she would try and eat more she looked up at her, surprised for a moment before she smiled. She was clearly happy that she offered to eat. She laid the babies down before walking over, kissing her and holding her close. She wouldn't say anything about it though, figuring it might be better not to mention it even though she was overjoyed that she was eating. In the end she took her hand to lead her out of the room.

"I want you as my queen and Force captain~ I think I can have them both~" She smirked and poked her cheek softly before she leaned up to stand straight. She followed her up when she began to walk into the hall "You know... We're not alone, Adora... I shouldn't be wearing just my shift in front of them.." She hummed and wrapped her arms around her arm. These words clearly were able to remind the girl that some of the old Catra was still in her, and she was still worried about her appearance as usual.

Adora giggled and wrapped an arm around her waist as they walked, looking down at her "Mm.. I thought I would keep my title. Be considered your 'royal consort' rather than queen? You're the one with the royal blood not me" When she mentioned about her wearing the shift she paused for a moment before stripping down to a tunic and light pants, something usually worn on hot days around the house rather than in public. She smiled at her though "Now we match. I promise they won't judge you or your body. And if anything the other Adora will probably end up drooling over us like she did with my muscles earlier"

The feline gasped when she pulled to dress her up with the tunic. Her lips made a soft smile and she giggled "You're so silly sometimes.."

“Maybe I am silly... But I'm still your wife. You're stuck with me." Adora giggled then, kissing between her ears making her wife blush and purr quietly "You are beautiful my love, inside and out. And I would know.. I've been inside you" Adora winked, laughing softly then "But seriously... You are gorgeous. And I love you just as you are and however you will look in the future. The stretch marks on your stomach from the pregnancy, your scars.. All of it. I love you. What you look like doesn’t matter to me and no one else should dare judge their queen based upon proof of her former battles"

Catra felt her heart soften. She was really so... Kind and gentle. She loved this soft side of hers.

Adora noticed her ears and smiled a little, scratching softly between them.

The brunette’s heart felt lighter now, when she held her for a kiss she stared at these beautiful blue eyes and leaned close to her. She didn't say anything more than thank her. She was there for her. She was anxious about tomorrow and… the fact that she talked to her made her feel better.

Adora smiled, pulling her closer by her waist gently as they kissed. When they finally pulled away she lifted a hand, tapping her nose as if to reprimand her "Bad girl." She spoke in a slightly teasing voice, though now she was serious "Tell me when things upset you.. Please. You don't have to go through this alone"

"I don't want you to force you into this mess.. I really am not looking forward to going there....villagers will be around... the royals will judge everything...and agh.... it's so frustrating.." She looked away and sighed only to lean closer.

Their guests were already in the dining room so they arrived late only to sit down on her chair and wait for the knight to join.

The knight kissed her cheek again, not bothering to stop their conversation as they walked in "My love, you will be a perfect Queen. Forget about the others. Their judgement doesn't matter. You can do this and I'll be by your side the entire time." She smiled softly, ignoring the servants as they set the table.

The princess looked up at her only to give her a soft kiss on her lips back. She rested her head on her shoulder and sighed only to nuzzle "I love you... and I'll make sure you'll be safe too.." She hummed and smiled, trying now to eat the salad she was getting. She was poking it still though.

Adora kissed the top of her head, right between her ears before speaking softly "That's my job, my love... I'll be okay. And you don't have to eat all of it, just a little bit" She smiled softly before she started eating.

"I ate half a sandwich earlier… so... I feel like I'm full.. but I really don't want to not eat anything.." Catra hummed, looking at her and following her moves to eat as well but she still didn't eat it all.

The moments were passing by and the princess was still quiet. Adora was finishing her salad, before looking at the other two "We'll be leaving for the Fright Zone soon. With Shadow Weaver gone Catra is the rightful queen and we have to leave to let her be crowned before some other dipshit claims she's dead and takes her place."

"It's fine... I understand we ...actually came in a difficult situation. Adora and I will leave but... if you want to come to us or...anything.." The other brunette spoke and stood up to go to her and give her a small paper "Casta gave it to us so you will have a copy of the spell" She smiled and pointed at her own wife to go.

The knight nodded, taking the note with a soft smile "Alright, thank you for visiting. Though next time maybe we should plan it. We'll visit when things have calmed down a bit"

The pregnant woman paused before saying "Can I ride a horse before we go? I've always wanted to" She would whine for days if she didn't ride a horse and Catra couldn't help but grunt.

She wrapped her arm around her waist only to look at the knight "Can she? She really wanted it since the last time she came here" She hummed and gave her a small kiss on her cheek.

The warrior laughed softly and smiled, nodding "Yeah, of course she can. Why don't we all go out for a ride after you two are done eating? If everyone is up for it that is. I have the perfect horses for the both of you. I'm guessing you've never ridden horses before? Or, at least that your wife hasn't?" She smiled at them, holding her wife's hand then.

"None of us have actually...we could try though" Catra smiled as everyone was done eating and helped her wife to stand up. She would obviously follow her out where the knight was guiding them.

The princess took a small breath and smiled. She didn't want to drop the mood so she would go with them.

The knight noticed though and wrapped an arm around her, speaking softly "You don't have to ride if you don't want to. We won't be out for very long" She smiled softly at her then, rubbing her side as she led them to the stalls.

"You...sure about that? I'm kind of tired ... And I'd rather lay down or take care of the children" She spoke and looked up at her only to kiss her lips. "I'll be waiting for you to come. We can leave at dawn, okay?" She hummed to plan things out and she rubbed her cheek with her thumb as the other nodded.

The warrior gave her wife a quick kiss "Go take a nap my love. We'll be back soon. And don’t get yourself tired while taking care of the children.. I can do that when I'm back" She smiled softly, holding her close for a moment before letting her go to continue to lead the others to the stalls.

The feline left and went back to her room to spend some time with her little kids while the other was away. She had made a small puppet since she was expecting only one child but...she did have her old one since she was a kid to give it to the other child for now.

The pregnant one on the other hand would gasp in surprise when she met the horse face to face. She was truly excited to ride it actually.

Catra rolled her eyes and tried to climb up on it and help the blonde do so as well since she wouldn't let her alone on a horse.

The warrior laughed softly at the blonde's reaction, rubbing the horse's chin before she helped them up. "This is the same mare I let my wife ride when she was pregnant. Trust me. She's safe." She smiled then, moving and pulling SwiftWind out. She prepared him, putting the blanket, saddle, bridle and the rest on before climbing up.

The feline didn't know how to guide it. "Do you want to hold the leash, darling?" She whispered, leaning on her shoulder and close to her ear.

The knight giggled softly, pulling out in front of them with Swiftwind "She'll follow me, don't worry." She clicked her tongue, nudging Swiftwind into a walk. The mare followed just as she said she would.

Adora smiled excitedly. She was caressing the horse all along and brushing her hair slowly while she was guiding them wherever the other girl was telling "Did you name her? She's so sweet and soft" The blonde one spoke again.

"Well, one of the stable boys did. Caught him calling her Buttercup, like the flower. I think it fits so I decided to make that her name. And this big boy here is SwiftWind." She patted his neck, chuckling "He's my war horse. Sturdy as a boulder. Nothing scares him. Except for puddles. I'm still working on that"

The feline chuckled at that. But she slowly looked around. The trees, the smell and the bright sky..it felt peaceful. "Feels like I'm in a village of something..." It was true that the whole place looked like a fairytale, the flowers, the cold breeze, the clear sky. The view was outstanding.

The knight looked back at them and nodded "well you are. This is all my land. I have a few villages who live around here though I'll be giving this land back to a different knight in Brightmoon, since I'll be joining my wife in the Fright Zone. I'll of course be swearing fealty and loyalty to her. I will need to talk to Angella about releasing me so I'm not breaking my vow..." She sighed softly, lifting her head "but, it will stop the war. We will rule the Horde while my friend Glimmer and her mother rule Brightmoon."

"That sounds so nice... I'm not gonna lie...~ You two have been through a lot... What if Angella doesn't allow you to leave, though?" She hummed and looked up at her only to continue the ride.

"She will.. She's gotta. Catra is my wife. I can't serve a different kingdom and be married to her. Besides... Angella knows that I wouldn't let Catra hurt them.. Hopefully.." She sighed softly, looking forward "That doesn't matter right now. I want you guys to have a good time while you're still here"

"hey.. the weather is amazing, the forest is beautiful and I can tell Adora loved the horse... I don't think talking about this topic would even bring any harm, hm?"

Adora chuckled softly, nodding, looking up at the sky for a few moments before looking forward again, realising they were at the waterfall.

The pregnant one soon leaned back to her wife only to look at her "Hey now... That I've remembered. Did you tell Catra about.. uh your time together?"

The knight hesitated before nodding "I told her this morning. She... Seemed upset at first but not angry. I think she was.. Probably more confused then anything. She still thinks you're better than her.."

Catra perked her ears only to look down on her wife. She leaned her head only to give her a small kiss on her shoulder from behind. "I'm..sure she will be okay when we leave then. I mean ..she won't see us so often to feel like that? But you still can't change her mind I assume... If she is like me. She won't change her mind quickly.." The waterfall made the feline gasp at the first sight. It was amazing... How could they leave without going there? For a moment she was so glad she let her wife ride that horse.

"I know.. But she shouldn't feel like you're superior whether you're here or not." The knight smiled slightly at her reaction though, nodding "I'll do my best to convince her. I took her here.. Before I left for the war. We spent every day out here.."

"You really are romantic..." Adora spoke, making Catra roll her eyes but she would only help her down.

"We will stay around for a little.You can go though. We will be fine" Catra knew the knight had more things to do than just walk around with her friends. Her eyes looked up at her and waved "We have the spell so... You shouldn't miss it either if you want to come by" Catra grinned.

The knight laughed softly, getting down and looking at the two of them "you gave me that paper for the spell.. will you be leaving now?" She seemed a bit upset that they were leaving, though of course she understood that they had to go so she did not complain

"We have a copy I told you~ but we'll just enjoy this view. Adora seems to be magnetised by it" Catra laughed and pointed at her wife who was already kneeling to the water.

The warrior laughed in return "you can go in. The water's warm" she looked back at Catra then "do you mind if I stay with you for a moment. I haven't had time to swim in... well ages. It would be nice to swim"

"of course, go ahead" Catra was scared of water, more than the princess was so she did stay out of it. Her eyes only scanned her wife who remained in her underwear and got in the water. They both were frozen when the warrior began to undress to remain in her tunic. Her muscles, her body was just one to admire.

The knight took her hair out of its ponytail, shaking it out before she stripped, leaving only undergarments on. Once that was out of the way she ran, diving into the water and staying under for a while before she came back up. “why don't you join us? it's nice and warm and it's not very deep”

"She's scared of the water but really Catra come here. I'll hold your hand" The other’s wife chuckled only to give her a hand.

"Agh...." The feline rolled her eyes displeased and slowly joined them as her tail puffed up.

The knight swam closer then, smiling softly as she took her other hand "here, now we both got you." she looked at the other her then, smiling softly "so.. when is your baby due? do you know?"

"In one or two months. It seems they're healthy so I'll get to the hospital when the time comes" Adora shrugged softly and smiled at her "What about your Catra? I mean did she want to have more kids?" She hummed and embraced the feline who was now wrapping her tail around her wrist.

"I don't think so.. not yet at least. We weren't exactly expecting twins and they're still young. Besides, with everything else going on it’s not.. really safe for her to be pregnant right now"

"I've seen queens being pregnant... I mean from books? Why isn't it safe for her?" Adora looked up at her and she was interested to know more about how the things there were going. Her hand rubbed the feline's ear so she could calm down.

"It's more about everything going on right now. The horde isn't exactly.. safe.. for anyone. When we leave our children will be staying here with Bow to care for them until it's safe enough for them to join us in the castle. We can't have Catra being pregnant then her being attacked and hurt or killed..."she sighed softly, taking a deep breath "and if we took the kids they would be in danger of being kidnapped for ransom or killed off to get rid of any heirs that may get in the way of someone else taking the throne." She shrugged then, looking at the waterfall "We need to make sure that we get rid of those who are like that, while still trying to keep a functioning, healthy kingdom. Which will be difficult, since that's what everyone in that kingdom has been raised to be."

The pregnant girl could have honestly expected it. The horde didn't seem like a friendly environment for children, especially the queen's. Her eyes looked up at the waterfall and back at her. "I hope everything will go according to your plans.. I'm sure you will protect her and she will do a good job on ruling that place." She smiled a little and she stayed there, embracing the female for a little longer. As the minutes were passing by though she leaned away

"We should go hun.." Catra mumbled in her chest.

"I should be getting back.. I don't want Catra to worry too much..." The knight climbed out of the lake, trusting the sun to dry her off quickly while gathering the clothes she had removed.

"Ah thankfully we have phones" Catra smiled and they walked up to the grass ,again putting on their clothes and getting ready for their spell. She would soon embrace the knight as a goodbye.

"We'll miss you! Come soon okay?" Adora spoke and smiled at her before they let the girl leave.

The knight smiled, hugging the blonde girl back and squeezing her gently, closing her eyes for a moment before she let go. She hugged the other Catra as well to say goodbye then "I'll miss you two. Be safe and we'll visit as soon as we can. I promise." The warrior left then, guiding the mare with her, trusting that their guests would be able to get themselves home with the spell.

When she got home Adora headed to their room, having already dried off enough to put her clothes back on. Meanwhile, Catra had played with the girl and the boy, signed some paperwork she had to do and then she didn't have anything else to do.

The princess was walking around the garden at some point before the sun began to go down and then returned to her own room. The babies were in their own room. She was laying for the final day in this house and she took a heavy breath. She was feeling needy but Adora wasn't there. Her eyes closed as she slid her hand under her shift, raising it up a little while taking care of herself. Her soft pants escaped in the room.

Adora on the other hand didn't knock, since it was her own wife this time, walking in and just pausing for a moment and taking a deep breath. Her pupils darkened before she grinned. Remembering their first time, she walked over, crawling onto the bed beside her and speaking softly "you called, princess?"

The feline was whispering the knight's name or just her title while touching herself. She was laying on her belly while bucking her hips back down to her hand while she was feeling the needy feeling grow. Every time she felt so needy the blonde one had to be away? she thought, yet she felt someone add weight on the mattress as her tail slowly wagged. She whimpered softly but she soon looked up at her. A deep blush on her face as this call only made her remember how much she wanted her touch even back then "Yes... My knight” She groaned.

The blonde smiled then, kissing along her jawline, putting her hands on her waist while still speaking softly "what do you desire from me, my princess?" She smiled against her, nipping at her skin and speaking softly once more "let me worship you.. please, my princess. Let me show you my devotion." She ran a hand up her thigh then, pulling away to look down at her once more then. Her face just as flushed, pupils blown wide and eyes hazed over ever so slightly with lust.

The feline bit her bottom lip, she was so hot when she spoke in her so seductive voice. Her whispers caused her to shiver. Ears perked down and her eyes glimpsed in the dark while looking at her now. "I want you to touch me... " She turned around to lay on her back and she looked up at her to give her a pouty look. "I want to feel you inside me..my knight." Her words were shameless but... She really couldn't care right now. She was lustful and her knight was as well. Her legs spread to allow her hand to let her lover touch her this time.

"As you wish, my love"

With that being said their voices echoed in the warm room. The bed creaked quietly and their whines became moans of pleasure. Catra couldn't even think she would have been so .. lustful for someone. What she thought was too sinful was now not only a pleasure for her but for the woman she loved as well. Even though she believed the love between them would vanish after years it only grew stronger. Catra whined and rested her head down on the pillow while her hips were still up by the other's hand. One leg bent down to the mattress as they tensed while feeling herself close to her orgasm.

Adora of course had always thought sex was just for making children. She didn't know that it could be so... Fun. That she could truly enjoy herself. She also didnt realize that calling someone a title higher then her own was a turn on during sex. Of course she knew she liked being ordered around, but she didn't know that would apply to… that moment. She moaned against her, panting as she slowly lost her rhythm as she got closer, doing her best to try and stay steady "M-my queen.. I'm close.. P-please.. Please let me cum.."

Catra didn't even know why all this title calling was so hot ,by the first time she met her she used it and they...used it during sex. She knew sex was for two people when they loved each other and wanted more than just a touch on the cheek since Adora was her first. She didn't even think about children when they first made love and that was strange for her beliefs "n-No.... Not yet" She ordered ,in a more commanding tone so she could obey, her hips moved at the feeling of her going faster and soon she would let out a moan as she came after several thrusts. Panting and moaning breathlessly, Catra laid her head back as she then after a second she would cup the woman's cheek and allow her to release when she wanted.

Adora groaned, whining softly when she refused to let her but she didn't openly complain. She had to stop her thrusts when her wife finally came. She was gritting her teeth slightly and shut her eyes, fighting to keep her orgasm down. When she was finally given permission, she had calmed down just slightly. It only took her a few short thrusts before she was gasping out, face pressed into her neck and her hips flush against her wife's hips. Filling her up and panting against her neck, finally relaxing and laying on top of her when she was done.

The brunette whined softly when she laid on top of her, reaching down and slowly removing her from inside her after some seconds of her still being inside. "M...my knight.." She whispered ,caressing her messy blonde hair with one hand and kissing her cheek gently. "I.. had so long to feel like this... Even in the carriage it wasn't the same." She admitted.

Adora laid on her, her body covered in a thin layer of sweat. Sex is hard work after all "mm.. mhm.." she had to pause for a second to get her words together, before responding "no.. it wasn’t.. but the carriage was fucking great... I want.. to do something like that again sometime.." She smiled, nuzzling her neck.

"You're so dirty~" Catra chuckled and smirked at her only to give her more kisses on her lips and finally let out a soft yawn. She was exhausted but Adora may already know her next sentence "I'm going to take a bath... Will you join, my love?" She whispered and kissed her lips before her tail unwrapped from her lover's thigh.

Adora giggled softly, kissing her cheek and returning the attack of kisses happily before mumbling "you still love me.. dirty as I am.." she got up then, scooping her wife up and smiling "..and of course I will join you.. when haven’t I?" She hugged her close.

Catra giggled in excitement. She would finally bath with the girl and she actually... Loved it. "W- wait I will have to go tell my maid to prepare it first" She chuckled, even if she had a more simple life she still didn't do things alone, preparing the bath was one of them. Catra wrapped one arm around her and kissed her chin, placing a bite on her sweaty neck.

"Nope, you relax in my arms, my queen. I'll take care of everything." Adora then threw a robe around the two of them as best she could before she left to find the maid. She squeaked softly and lightly smacked Catra's rear when she bit her neck, though she giggled afterwards. After finding the maid she got her to prepare a bath. She headed back to the room with her wife, kissing her deeply before mumbling "I love you so fucking much.. I'll never be able to tell you enough.. you know that, right?"

Catra giggled at the smack. They were really acting like they just got in a relationship, didn't they? The feline leaned close to her and nibbled on the skin of her neck, licking her gently and obviously not caring about her being sweaty or something.. "And I love you more than you can imagine..... I've prepared clothes for tomorrow's trip and made sure to send a letter to.. Glimmer too..

even if she doesn't like me I guess she will be okay with the babies..." She hummed after a while.

Adora nuzzled into her neck for a moment, kissing her shoulder "hush... we aren't thinking about that tonight. I will make sure it is all taken care of, I just want you to be happy right now, okay?" She rubbed her back "We will figure everything out tomorrow and get everything taken care of."

"Okay... Okay... Let's talk again about how much I love you... Your sweet and sexy voice... Your sea-blue eyes~" Catra continued and cupped her cheek slowly rubbing her thumb on it and kissing her lips between her words.

The knight blushed softly then, carrying them back to the bed and sitting on it, situating Catra in her lap, looking up at her "mm.. that means.. that I can.. talk about how much.. I love you.. too" she of course had to pause every time she was kissed but she grinned and started responding to each compliment with one of her own in between the kisses.

Catra trailed her fingers on her body, caressing every curve of hers slowly while feeling her skin against hers. She loved how sweet they could be. How soft her kisses were and how much affection she could give her.

"Ladies, your bath is ready" The maid suddenly spoke from behind the door. She didn't get a response though but she knew that they must be busy already, so she left. Catra was too busy mumbling how much she wanted to stay there and do nothing but embrace her.

Adora happily returned everything she was given, exploring her body lightly with her hands, fingertips tracing scars new and old. Hands exploring every dip and curve as she spoke her praise when the maid called. She smiled softly against her, putting her hands underneath her wife and picking her up gently. She stood up with her to take her to the bathroom, though her full focus was still on her wife of course. She kissed her happily, easily walking around their house without needing to even look around.

The feline was so magnetised by these eyes that she couldn't look anywhere else either. She loved her. Everyone could see it even the governess knew how much Adora loved her and cared for her ...they both respected each other unlike the prince Shadow Weaver gave to the feline. Her eyes flickered from her beautiful eyes to her pink lips where she would capture them sometimes. Her head rested on her shoulder and gave her a small kiss on her cheek before she had been placed into the warm tub.

The blonde one climbed into the tub with her and sank into the water with her, leaning back with her and rubbing her back "I love you so much... I'll never get tired of you... of your smile or your fur... your purr, your voice.. your laugh.." she kept going on, kissing her again while running her fingers through her fur and making her shivered at the touch.

"I love it when you're so soft... When you talk to me like there's no tomorrow. Like we are the only ones in the world... I love it everytime" She whispered, leaning close and giving her a small peck on her lips. "I want to give you everything..." Catra mumbled. Her eyes closing and her arms wrapping around her, the water was warm thankfully and the feline would soon grab the cloth to apply soap and get cleaned.

The warrior nuzzled for a few moments before she pulled back, kissing her softly "you are my everything. Our kids are my everything... you are my world and they are my stars.." She smiled, cupping her cheek then "so long as I have my family I will have everything I could ever want"

Catra leaned close and gave her a smile. She loved everything she said, every single word was meant to make her feel better. "Come on, my love. We should get cleaned and .... Sleep~" She took a short breath and gave her a soft peck on her lips. "I love you... And our children... I love you all..." She hummed slowly giving kisses while rubbing her with the cloth to clean her up.

"I don't want to sleep... I want to spend my time with you.." Adora continued, but moved so she could clean the rest of her. She relaxed under her touch with a soft happy smile and closed her eyes "but.. if it means cuddles I am more than happy to do whatever you ask of me"

"aww cute ....~ Lets get cleaned and go cuddle for the whole night before we leave, okay?" The feline smiled brightly and continued to brush her faintly with the rag. She didn't start to clean up herself just yet so she just continued to rub her.

"Mm.. that sounds incredible... I'd love to.. yes please.." Adora kissed every part of her body before and after cleaning and rinsing it. It took some minutes for them to properly get cleaned up.

Catra jumped off the tub and after drying her tail and body off. She held her wife’s hand to guide her to their room. She wouldn't wear any clothes. She laid down on her bed and she nuzzled close to her. Her face was gently hiding in her chest as she was quietly purring during the night.

Adora smiled softly, drying herself off and taking them to bed. She kissed her forehead and closed her eyes with a soft yawn as she fell asleep while holding her close.

SnowFall

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

The next few days would be spent in the castle. People really didn't believe the princess was still alive but they… weren't happy or mad about her returning. The governess stayed behind with the two felines in the end and Adora ended up sitting on the throne beside Catra. The celebration was just for a single day for them. The villagers and royals could celebrate the rising queen for as long as they wished but…. They couldn't stay there and leave their children behind. They returned to their house, taking their children with them and the servants with the guards and moved to the castle in a few weeks. Adora's life changed...a lot. Catra being a queen meant she would have to help her with all this extra work and extra duties she had. They would do things together; get in more arguments in the next months but still they were together no matter what happened. Adora kept her head high and even though she let Catra do the most work for this she would sometimes pipe up with a solution of her own. She had gained a few new scars but it was something she wore with pride now, something to show just how far she's gotten.. how strong she is despite so many people hurting her. They had been focused on fixing the Fright-zone, shifting their attention and desires away from warfare. Even though it was difficult they were starting to see some progress. The feline queen made some progress on talking more with her wife as well. The governess was taking care of the children who were now walking, talking even and now she began to teach them how to write and read. Catra told Adora to teach them how to fight. The kingdom was already more rich than before. The war made people, villagers mostly, starve to death but now, with peace, everything went smoothly.

Once the year ended and the winter had come, the two children decided to go out to play in the snow. Adora obviously would keep an eye on them. Catra was already beside her governess so she would dress up the little girl properly for the cold. Jack was outside after quickly putting on his bowtie on the collar of his jacket and thick gloves for the cold with a coat above his clothes and boots. He almost jumped and purred in excitement. This would be their first time playing outside in the snow and he was pacing down the hall.

"Why does it take her so long!" He puffed but Adora let out a soft chuckle and picked him up

"Hey, kiddo~ Girls like Lena and mom Catra don't put on just a shirt and warm coat to keep them from getting cold. They need some time to dress up" She hummed and placed a soft poke on his cheek after fixing his bow. "You are so cute with this bow~"

"What!? No! I'm big and strong and not cute!" Jack puffed as his ears perked back

"Hey ..hey, you don't have to not be cute in order to be strong and grown up! You're my little man!" Adora chuckled playing with him as he giggled while she was lifting him up to the air.

As the door opened Catra walked out with Lena by her side who was already holding her hand. The blonde little girl wore something to match her brother as their colours on clothing was almost all the time the same. Blue with soft signs of lighter colour and small details of their kingdom's symbol was on her bowtie on the collar of her dress. She wore white gloves and Catra held her pale white muff and leaned down to give it to her.

"Ey- No mom…! I will not be able to play with the snow if I'm holding this!"
"Lena, you'll get cold..!" Catra insisted but the girl ran off to Adora who wouldn't actually ...give her anything extra to put on “Your majesty. She will be fine...” The older elf smiled and bowed her head while walking beside her. Daniella was the one to take care of them and… she was the one who was responsible for them. The children obviously ran out with Adora following just as fast from behind and giving them ideas of what to play. Jack obviously was the first one to throw a snowball on his sister’s face which made the girl grunt and picked up some snow to do the same.

Adora joined them as soon as she got hit by Lena as they laughed and ran around the backyard of the castle.

Catra was worried of them getting hurt but she after a while joined them too, inviting Daniella to play as well “Come on! You didn’t have the time to play at all while I was younger. Now it’s the time” She joked and looked at the brunette while throwing a ball at Adora this time.

The older one smiled and rolled her eyes only to chuckle at her invitation. “I want to make sure everyone is alright. You can have fun, your majesty.”

The warrior jumped almost at her wife, falling on top of her and making her gasp as she fell onto the snow layer above the grass.

“You bloody-” Catra hissed but chuckled at the same time.

“What? Didn’t you wanna play?” Adora giggled and continued till almost the sun went down.

Catra would really have to catch up with her work but she wouldn’t keep her mind busy right now with thoughts like these.. Once that time came though, the feline breathed heavily and looked up at Adora “We should go inside, love...they should too. It’s getting late and it will be freezing out here” She hummed and looked up at her only for the warrior to nod and cup her cheek softly.

“Catra..you’re cold...go inside..I’ll go talk to Daniella, alright? Don’t worry they’ll go to their room in no time” She smiled and let the girl leave as she walked all the way up to the brunette governess "Um...Could you please take them to their room? Catra got really cold and I want to keep her company… Jack, Lena, come here" She spoke loud enough for them to hear as they ran to her "Enough playing for today, okay? It's late and it will get colder...we don't want a frozen good boy~ and girl~..so go inside with lady Daniella, okay?" Adora hummed as she squeezed the children's cheek while speaking, making them giggle and nodded

"Yes mommy..just one last game okay?" Lena spoke as she soon looked up at her brother who would obviously agree with her. Daniella looked up at the woman and raised her shoulders. She just wished the game they wanted to play wouldn't take too long.. She was dressed well for a cold day but..not for a cold night.

As the time passed by and the two children ran inside with Daniella behind them -clearly frustrated by them not listening to her. They undressed and got into the tub to bathe in warm water.

Catra would steal some time from cuddling with her wife in bed to put on a robe and walk towards their room to see Daniella. "I heard some footsteps… Tell me you didn't get inside right now…."

"Your majesty… you know them.. they wanted to play and lady Adora told me to let them for one last game...it took longer than I expected. Forgive me. They become too excited sometimes" She bowed slightly as she stood straight and looked at the feline who let out a huff.

"If they feel sick during the night.. tell me, please…."

"I will. Now they're taking a bath. The maids brought some warm nightgowns for them and I'll tell the cook to boil water and herbs for them to drink. They must be freezing already. The snow fell heavily. The wind was blowing as well.. I'm not sure this winter will be easy."

Catra took a deep breath and looked up at the woman before she shook her head. "You need to go change clothes too, Daniella…

They were running around and they got cold. You must be the one freezing here. Take a break. Lena and Jack have their maids around… I'll tell them to bring tea or...chamomile for them to calm down a little. Go get yourself something warm to wear.."

The older one smiled kindly at her words and shook her head at first as she was about to speak but got interrupted

"That's an order… now go" Catra chuckled as the lady did the same and of course left after thanking her. Catra on the other hand did as she said and went back to Adora "I can't believe they stayed up and outside so late…" She huffed while closing the door behind her and sitting down on the bed where Adora was laying.

The blonde leaned up to wrap an arm around her "Hey… they will be alright. Don't worry.. They wore warm clothes and were protected so.. Did Daniella say anything else?"

"No...but I shouldn't have left you behind…I was sure you would allow them to stay out for longer.."

"Catra… they're kids.. they want to play... let them out. I promise you they will be alright.." Adora spoke softly and kissed her cheek to calm her down a little before she rubbed her arm. "Come lay with me okay? I'll take the worries away~"

Even though Catra was mad at them she couldn't resist the feeling of the blue eyed woman in front of her. She already made a comfortable place in their bed, filled with pillows and the blanket was around them already as she pulled her closer.

Adora loved to see her purr and nuzzle close to the pillows, mewling even while she was wrapping her arms protectively around her. She loved and cared for the children but….after a whole day spending with them, playing and running around she couldn't do anything else than demand for some attention and some.. time together with her wife.

"You didn't have to make all this" Catra knew she did it on purpose to make her feel more comfortable and calm down but she didn’t whine much about it. She purred, making Adora chuckle and leaned close to her as she purred close to her neck.

Blue eyes closed, an arm wrapped around the feline and her fingers trailed on her short fur. “I love you… have a good night~” The blonde whispered as she placed a kiss on her forehead and nuzzled close to her to fall asleep.

The next day Catra had work but the children seemed to be healthy, thankfully. As the early evening came, the feline had to be in a meeting with the council. The two children were sleeping peacefully in their room. They both had some training earlier that day with Adora and they were exhausted. Jack, though, didn't feel too good and he couldn't sleep for long till he woke up. He couldn't breathe with ease and his throat was in pain but he tried to hide it from his moms already. This time though this pain didn't stay only in his throat but his back as well. He felt weak.

Adora walked in with some food, smiling softly when she saw Jack awake "Hey kiddos. Your mom is still in a meeting so I decided to spoil you. You both did really well in training." She paused though before looking at Jack "Are you okay though? You didn't seem as energetic as usual.." She gave him a soft smile, wanting to let him know that it's okay to talk to her.

The boy sniffled and nodded, crawling on the bed and looking at the plates that were too high for him to see what was inside. His tail was down. "I'm hungry, mother, that's all!" He tried to stay hyped only because he knew Catra would scold him if she knew he felt sick. She warned them to not play in the snow for too long and they... Actually overdid it last night. The weather was freezing cold outdoors but Lena and him wanted to play.
Lena slowly purred as she looked up at the blonde one "Mmmh.....mom" She whined as she was still laying in bed.

The blonde warrior chuckled softly when she heard the sniffle, just winking "I won't tell your mother. What is it?" She smiled softly at him before looking over at Lena as well, humming "Did you two get sick?" She moved over to her bed, putting a hand on her forehead.

The feline was burning actually. During her sleep a fever grew and she whined softly while embracing her pillow "My head is aching...!" She whined as the boy huffed "yeah my back is aching too, stop whining you're not the only one in pain here...!" He didn't want to be heard by anyone.

"I'll help alright kiddos? I'll be right back. And no. I won't tell Catra. Eat if you can" Adora stood up and smiled softly as headed out. She got some honey and some wet rags for them. Once back in she instructed them to lay back, putting the rags on their foreheads "I'm guessing you have sore throats too, hm?"

"yes.... And my back is aching" Lena hummed and gave her the plate only to show she ate all her food "Where's lady Daniella? She ...told me she would bring us food..." Obviously she didn't trust Daniella.

Jack's ears fell back, on the other hand, while his tail was wrapping around her wrist "What did you bring,mom?" He was really curious but he...had to trust his mom and make sure she wouldn't tell Catra anything about that.

The woman shook her head "Actually Daniella is out distracting your mother so she doesn't start wondering where I am and why I've stolen stuff from the kitchen staff" She grinned, offering them a spoonful of honey "Here. It'll help with your throats"

The boy leaned close to smell it but cringed as he leaned away "It smells funny" He puffed and looked away ,turning his head away and eating his food instead.

Lena's ears perked and embraced her knees "What's that....-?" She hummed and sneezed before whining.

Adora just giggled softly, shaking her head. "it's honey, here..." She took her own spoonful before offering it to them again. She really had to find a way to feed them… else the sore throats would get worse. "see? It's not bad. It'll help your throats"

The feline crawled close to her and the spoon and sniffled on it while watching what it would do. The honey slowly started to pour down into its bowl and her ears twitched as she leaned her head forward, slowly sticking a tongue out to have a small taste. They really were acting like small kittens but she was too curious to leave it untouched. "Ew- no.... No it's bad" She pulled away and puffed, making her mother chuckle and shake her head again.

"maybe but it'll help your throat feel better with just a spoonful, my love. Would you rather have something icky right now, or a sore throat the rest of the night? I may even bring you two treats if you take it" The blonde honestly had hidden some herbs within the medicine to help them feel better. “Unless you want to call your mother or Daniella to feed it to you” She knew Catra would scold them but also Daniella had her ways to make them eat or behave in general. She was old enough and raised Catra after all.

Lena looked up at her, then down at the honey before huffing. "Fine..... But you should bring good treats ,alright?" She asked as Jack was already in line. He opened his mouth even if the reaction of his sister made him a little anxious of tasting that thing.

Adora laughed softly but nodded "I will. I promise" She offered the spoonful to him, making sure he got the whole spoon full of the honey before scooping up some more for Lena "now that you have your medicine and honey. I'll go get you those treats, okay? Go lay down and put the rags on your foreheads"

"Okay mommy...." Lena hummed and laid back with Jack only to put the rag on her forehead though when the girl would come back she could see that the rags were just a toy for them since they began to play.

Jack was on top of the other and opened the rag from its roll and placed it on Lena's face who just giggled and attempted to catch him. Even though they were both exhausted by the fever and the pains they could still play.

Adora had left by that time. She ran away and sneaked into the kitchen so she could ask the cook to give her some of the sweets she could get for her children. She came back with some sweets for them, including a slice of cake. Most of the other sweets were just small candies though "kids you need to be resting if you're sick" She smiled though, clearly not upset about it.

"She's a ghost!" The boy chuckled but he ran to the candies and cake. The girl took the rag off so she could see the cake and cheer happily before coughing. They could hear steps from outside of the room and the door cracked open.

"What's going on here?" Catra perked an eyebrow, she obviously heard the cough and looked up at her wife "Adora....sweets? Really?" She shook her head, she didn't want them to eat sweets everyday.

Adora laughed softly, shaking her head and smiled at them. She jumped when she heard her wife, pausing for a moment before clearing her throat "I uh-... you caught me- I'm sorry I was sneaking candy to the kids I just- I can't say no to them look at them!" She pouted, trying to play it off as just being soft for the kids wanting sweets "Please don't be mad at me?" She pouted still.

The feline sighed and shook her head, though she noticed the rags on the floor and perked an eyebrow "And what are these?"

"We were playing- mom Adora brought them for us to play" Jack tried to lie and rubbed the back of his neck while eating his cake.

Obviously Catra didn't believe it and after shrugging she looked up at the other female "We need to talk..." She hummed in a serious manner.

Knowing she was in trouble the blonde one winced slightly, looking at the kids for a moment though and mouthing 'help me' to them though she was just joking as she looked back at her wife. "Alright my love. Goodnight kiddos, I'll see you two in the morning" She grinned, before stepping out with her wife, rubbing the back of her neck.

The feline placed her hands on her waist as she guided her outside. Eyes fixed on her blue ones and waited in silence. "So?" She obviously waited for the girl to speak the truth and closed the door of the children's room behind.

Adora sighed softly, "The kids stayed out a little too late and got a cold." She lifted her hands quickly. "but I already talked to them and getting sick I'm sure will let them know not to do it again. The sweets were a bribe to get them to take some honey with a bit of some soothing herbs mixed in to help with their aches and sore throats, that's all"

"Oh my.... I told them to not stay out late. It's snowing outside for god's sake..." She hissed and brushed her hair back off her face. "They never listen ,do they? Neither do you. I could call a doctor, you know.."

"Catra, they're kids. You can't expect them to listen all the time. I can take care of them just fine" Catra huffed at the other’s words and leaned back on the door only for the door to open as the children ran to Adora to hug her legs.

"Nooooo not sir William! He's mean-" The kids whined at the idea of the doctor coming by and hugged Adora to 'protect' her.

The knight put a hand on each of their backs and leaned down a little "go back inside and lay down. You two need to rest okay? And put those clothes on your foreheads like I told you. If they get too warm flip them to the other side" She smiled softly at them "go on kiddos. It’s past your bedtime anyway"

"yes but.. she will call the doctor" Jack hummed and clinged on her trousers.

Catra though sighed and shook her head "I won't .... Okay? Just please go back inside ...didn't I tell you to not interrupt us when we have a grown-up conversation?" She hummed softly only for Lena to stand up straight, her shift softly puffing

"I'm a grown up too!" She pouted.

Adora smiled softly, gently ruffling her hair and watching her ears flop "you're right kiddo but we still need you to be good for us okay? you're sick and that means you need to rest a lot more than you normally would. You feel good now because of the medicine I gave you. I gave it to you so you could sleep and not wake up because you hurt" She smiled softly, leaning down to kiss both of their foreheads before adding "I promise I won't let her call a doctor. Now go on kiddos. Get to bed" Jack huffed but he nodded and looked away only to hold his sister's hand and walk back to their room.

Catra sighed and looked away only to turn around after she closed the door. "I just quit... "She hissed, hands crossed over her chest as she walked towards where their own bedroom was. She was upset obviously but more with her than anyone else.

The blonde woman put a hand on her shoulder, speaking softly "I'm sorry.... C'mon. Let's get ready for bed." She smiled slightly, rubbing her back "you have to.. compromise with them, I guess. You can't expect them to be perfect but you can't let them get away with everything either. So you compromise. You let them do something fun or give them sweets, so long as they do whatever it is you're asking of them. It's not a perfect solution but... it helps"

"no, all that helps is that it's you doing it... I don't want them to get spoiled with all the treats and you go ahead and do whatever you can for them to see you more ....friendly I guess... And they will just hate me in return" She hissed pulling her shoulder away while walking "They'll remember how bad I was... "

The other one stopped walking then, grabbing her wrist "hey, don't talk like that. Just- give it a chance. You can't treat them like soldiers. They aren't someone to be ordered around. They're their own person. You have to ask them to do something.... and if they won't.. try and compromise. Just-.. try it...at least once, my love. See if it works. It might take a few tries but it'll work. That's how I got them to eat the honey." She sighed softly "the only reason they act the way they do is because you're so hard on them. Give them room to make mistakes. They're children"

"Am I not giving them room? I don't torture them for being wrong ,Adora or throw them out to the snow...! You're acting like I'm some kind of monster" She hissed and glared at her only to open the door and walk in the room. She couldn't tell if she was mad or just upset at the fact she couldn't make the kids be good or tender around her. "You just spend more time than me around them and they like it... Obviously, you're more fun.. have more free time to do anything other than work when I just have a whole kingdom to take care of because someone ruined everything my mom made in years" She hissed and took a small breath "Where's my maid already... "

Adora flinched slightly in return, still walking after that. "I never said you are! but- god Catra I can't explain this" She shook her head, sighing softly "If you would let me do some of the work I'd happily help so you have more free time too, all you have to do is ask!" She paused for a moment "I don't want to argue anymore. I'm.. gonna go take a bath or something..."

"yeah.. just go I'll go bring some of my work.." Catra hissed and stopped trying to yell for her maid after the second call. She didn't seem to be around so she only closed the door behind in her room. She brushed her hair back, tiredly as Daniella was walking by. Her eyebrows furrowed but the feline only turned around to walk away.

The elf woman walked inside the room though she looked at Adora who was bringing some clothes to the bathroom. "Lady Adora? Do you need help? I heard her majesty call for a maid"

Adora hesitated, just looking at her for a moment but she walked away, retrieving a maid to prepare a bath for her and was just about to go find Daniella when she found her instead, pausing before she just shook her head. "no, Catra does though. She won't listen to me about the children…. takes everything I say as an insult.. I don't mean it to be.. I just-... I can't.. always put my words into thoughts and I don't know how to fix that so I guess-I-I don't know what I'm saying that makes it seem like an insult..”

The female looked at her and took a short breath before fixing her cap. Hands placed on her back and she stood there still while listening to her. It seemed that the older one would never sit down since most of the time she was around them was just walking or standing there. "And ... If you allow me. What did you tell her? To make her upset?"

The other shook her head in reply "I.. she feels like the kids hate her. I tried to tell her that they didn't and tell her how I was treating them. I.. think she's a little harsh on them but-.. I didn't say that outright I just-.. I said that they're kids and they can’t be expected to be perfect so you have to compromise with them"

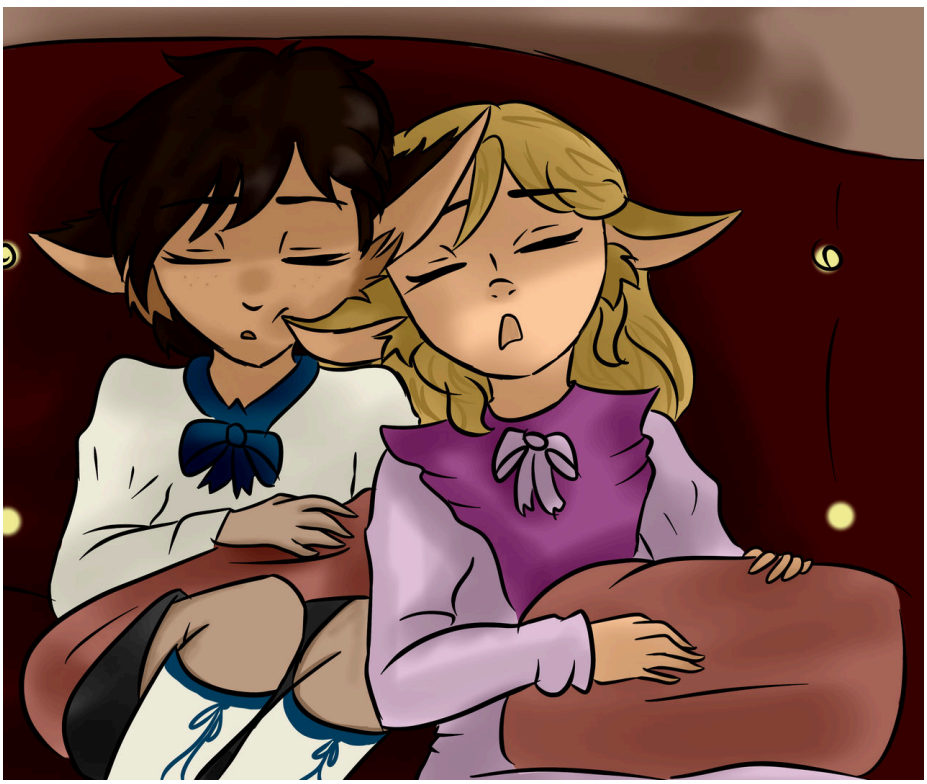

Daniella nodded at that, as if she did the right thing. "Yes.... Her majesty is.... Not familiar with the affection or playfulness you show them, lady. She doesn't know how to react in some cases. Even if you tell her to try she might be nervous... More anxious I suppose?" She hummed and looked at her only to sigh. "She's busy lately with work, so...I don't have the time to talk to her at all..... His and her highness talk a lot about her, you know but...you seemed to be rather busy these days too"

Adora nodded, sighing in exhaustion "I know... I know and I want to give our kids the best life I can... I... I'll try and take some of the workload off of her.. see if that can help... maybe once the kids are feeling better we can all go out. She needs a break from all this work." Blue eyes met hers and continued "I'll.. do what I can to help"

The woman slowly nodded and looked at the other maid. "I know you will, lady Adora. I believe that they want you two together. They do talk a lot about playing with you since they learn a lot from you. But maybe they haven't connected anything with her majesty so ..that's why they don't appreciate her concerns. She's more afraid of them getting sick or hurt than showing them love through other things such as playing with them or walking around" She admitted and looked away ,nodding her head when she saw the maid going out of the bathroom.

Adora nodded, pausing for a moment before she spoke softly "thank you. I'll.. try and talk to Catra about that" She smiled softly at her then

"Thank you Daniella. I don't think you hear it enough"

Chapter End Notes

Heyy Gigi here!

I've made a small doodle of how Lena and Jack look like !!

The Talk

After the conversation Adora had with Daniella the elf left the room and Adora stayed behind to take a bath and talk to Catra.

The queen would return to the room after half an hour and close the door behind her letting the maid help her with her corset. The room was empty but she heard the water from inside the bathtub. Adora was soaking in the bath. She was sinking into the water, holding her head underwater for a short amount of time before bringing it back up to get her hair wet and letting out a soft sigh. Hearing Catra come in though, she decided to hurry up with her bath as she took a deep breath. She walked out in a basic tunic and slacks, walking over to her and wrapping her arms around her waist. She then hugged her close and kissed her shoulder and neck gently before speaking. "I'm sorry, my love... what I was trying to say.. it came out wrong. I didn't mean to insult you and I'm sorry that I inadvertently did. When you're ready for bed can we try.. just talking this out? No yelling. No arguing. Just.. talking?"
The girl closed her eyes while taking a deep breath and letting out a sigh at the kisses. "I guess..... I'm just tired so ...why not" She huffed and let the maid undo her hair after apologising for the knight to move away from her back. She bowed deeply and undid her shifts before letting her with her woollen shift and socks. Once the maid left the feline walked towards the bed and slid under the covers only to nuzzle under the warmth of the bed ,almost making a nest of pillows and the blanket.

Adora smiled softly when she saw her wife make the nest, walking up and laying down behind her. She wrapped an arm around her and pulled her close. "Can I talk first? or would you prefer to talk first?"

"yeah... You can" She purred against the pillow or... Was it because she held her? Nobody could tell. Her eyes closed and she nuzzled while holding her pillow close to her body.

The knight paused for a moment to gather her thoughts "neither of us had a good childhood. And.. I can't say that one was worse than the other. But it was pretty shitty. It was a different situation and we both came out of it in different ways with different results." she paused before adding "I.. was lucky, picked up before I was a true adult and showed love, showed a family." She took a deep breath "you.. you weren't. At least not including Daniella. I... we came out differently, different beliefs, different goals..." she sighed "you didn't get the love you deserved. You didn't get the attention, the time to just.. be a kid and... I do not mean this as an insult, nor do I mean for this to hurt you but I think because of that it made it harder for you to connect with them. It made it harder for you to treat them differently than how you were treated. At least so radically different. I am not saying you are Light Spinner, nor am I saying that you ever will be her. But.. I think you need to realise that.. kids need to have fun. They don't always need a parent. Sometimes they need a friend, someone to confide in, someone they can trust who will listen to them. And.. sometimes they just need a play buddy. Someone who they know they can joke around and have fun with" she rubbed her sides gently. "I've tried to be all of that for them but they need you too. I know you never got that as a child. I didn't until I was eighteen, so I at least understand a little.... and I... I want to show you. If it's okay. Once the kids aren't sick.. I want to take a trip. Forget about the snow, forget about how cold it is. Just go out to have fun"

"the kids will get sick again.. probably we will too.. I don't want them to be sick even if they had fun playing outdoors ,Adora.... They are young. Even people older than us or people around our age are dying because of fever. You tend to take everything too lightly and never get worried about anything." Catra huffed and closed her eyes while hiding her face on her chest. "I don't know what else to do. I can't play with them all the time.. I don't know what to teach them because they're both getting bored when I start to speak about the things they should learn while being a princess and a prince. Daniella told me they don't like history or mathematics.. What are they going to do? I don't even know if they want to play an instrument yet... They like nothing except for fighting" She hissed. Honestly she didn't know how to play in general. She didn't have knives or wooden swords. She had a doll which was just too old to do anything so all her childhood and teen years were about learning music or to write or.... The ranks of every royalty in the palace.

Adora kissed the top of her head, holding her close and speaking softly, knowing that it was..difficult for her to be around them. "I need you to forget about that for just a moment.. We have the best mages and doctors here, as well as me. If they get sick they can be taken care of. But I don't want you to worry about that." She rubbed her arm this time and smiled at her "we can't keep them safe forever. We can only teach them to protect themselves. They're still young.. play with them while you can. Let Daniella worry about teaching them mathematics and history... we are their parents. We're here to guide them, but.. also teach them that it's okay to just.. stop and have fun. To take a break when they need it." she rubbed her back, letting her hold her close. "We can dress warmly with them, mittens, jackets, as much as you want just like before and this time we'll stay outside so we can guide them in their room.. to make sure they listen to us, okay?"

Catra closed her eyes. She felt like she couldn't tell anything else to her since she wanted to...kind of help her. She wrapped an arm around her instead of the pillow, ear twitching on her face and making her smile softly and hold her closer.
Adora nuzzled her gently and kissed the top of her head. "thank you for listening.. for letting me talk. I really didn't mean to upset you... and I'm sorry I did..."
"you're... welcome ..... I just worry about them ..if they don't study how are they supposed to protect themselves from others?" The other one mumbled
"Let Daniella worry about that. She was the one who was supposed to be teaching them right?" The blonde smiled softly before adding "bribe them. Tell them you'll only give them dessert if they finish their maths" she giggled softly then, kissing her forehead "I promise you it'll work"
"and I'll spoil them.... I want them to understand that all of this is for their own good not mine... It's for their and the kingdom's good. Jack is young. He can learn. He has to since he will be the heir of the throne, Adora" She whispered and nuzzled close to her. She was softly brushing her ribs while embracing her.

Adora nodded in response “We need to guide them just as much as we love them. But we need to show that we love them in the ways they understand. Everyone shows love differently. Learn how they show it and then show your love to them that way” she rubbed her back, looking down at her with a gentle smile.

"I will..... I will try okay?....." Catra hummed and sighed ,purring softly at the feeling of her arms around her. Her scent always made her feel safe around her so she let herself relax in her embrace.
After an hour or so ,though, someone added more weight on their bed, they crawled even under their feet under the blankets. Adora woke up with a soft groan, confused when she felt the bed moving, looking down and mumbling "who's in our bed..?" She lifted the blankets, peeking down at their feet to try and see who it was. She could see four glimpsing eyes looking at her, Lena was about to make a boo noise but she lost her chance because Adora was sleeping too lightly.
Catra on the other hand slowly wined and furrowed her eyebrows ,opening one eye to look at Adora. "What are you doin?" She hummed in her sleep, voice a little deeper.
Adora smiled softly, her own voice a bit scratchier from sleep, just speaking softly "we have little ones trying to sneak around.. c'mon Lena, Jack. Why don’t you come join us for cuddles?" she mumbled before adding. "and please don't try to startle me awake again. I nearly kicked you both. I was taught that if I was startled awake to swing before figuring out who woke me.. I don't wanna hurt you kids"

They both crawled up, Lena coughed but she nuzzled close to her before she lay down. Jack though saw his other mom almost sleeping. "I'm sorry we thought you would be awake"

"It's okay.... Just sleep" The feline mumbled and wrapped her arm around the two children, Adora could embrace them all after all. The kids were listening to their heartbeats and that made them sleep easier. Adora would have to sleep now with six fluffy ears poking on her.

The blonde haired shook her head though " 's okay kiddos.. just try not to do it again, okay?" she made sure to give each of them a kiss on the forehead, wrapping her arm over all of them and just yawned, falling back asleep. She had gotten used to feeling the fuzzy ears and though the added sets were a change, it wasn't enough to keep her awake.

Early in the morning though the feline woke up ,slowly grunting and feeling warmth coming from the embrace. She touched one of the child's forehead only to sit on the bed and slowly guide Jack again down on the pillow since he had his claws wrapped around her. She kissed his forehead too to check his temperature, both of them were warm and she took a soft breath, checking first if Adora was sleeping or not. She took two small towels from the bathroom to sink them in water and place them on top of their foreheads. "Of course you couldn't listen to me when I told you to dress up warmer.. and not stay out for too long.." She mumbled to herself.

Adora was still asleep of course, arm wrapped protectively around them all, pouting for a moment in her sleep when Catra moved away before just curling up closer, more protectively over the children. She didn't wake up until about half an hour later, yawning and groaning softly. She just shoved her face into the pillow to avoid the sunlight that had been hitting her square in the face.

The other female was still sitting on the bed ,though now she was talking with Daniella who brought her something for the children to eat.
The elf looked at the woman and bowed slightly with a soft smile.

“Good morning ,lady Adora" Even though Adora didn't open her eyes to see who was there she could tell their name by the casual 'lady Adora'.
"The children have a fever and it only went down for a few minutes..." Catra spoke as the woman pulled the curtains for the sunlight to not hit her.
Adora just grumbled for a moment but she got up, yawning "mm... good morning Catra, good morning Daniella" she looked at her for a moment as she explained "they'll probably need some more honey for their throats as well. I mixed some herbs so that helped with the aches they said they were feeling." She hummed softly, speaking softly so she wouldn't wake them up, since they needed the sleep

"For now we need something to cool them down ... They have to wake up and drink water, eat the soup Daniella brought them and keep them hydrated. The rag doesn't help as much now and I didn't want to wake them up early in the morning to place them in the tub.." Catra hummed but gently took Jack in her arms while he was sleeping. He purred and placed his head on her shoulder ,sleeping still as his smaller body was numb and arms loosely fell.
"Let me help, I'll go fill the tub with water, your majesty" Daniella spoke and walked quickly into the bathroom to prepare the bath.
"I'm so worried.... Why doesn't the fever go down...?" Catra hummed at her wife while rocking the child gently.
The other one sighed softly, shaking her head. She gently picked up Lena in return, sitting close to Catra “Give it some time, my love... they need time to rest and heal" She gave her a soft, reassuring smile "if it doesn't heal naturally on its own soon then I'll take care of it. The only reason I’m not right now is so they learn to listen to us when we tell them not to go playing in the snow at night" she spoke softly "I won't let anything hurt them"

Catra nodded and looked down at her before taking a soft breath and guiding the one to the bathroom "Bring Lena too, I can't hold both of them up" She hummed since they were obviously heavier while sleeping. She put Jack down. A shiver passed through his body but he clung on her long sleeve while she was holding him. He mumbled some words but was still asleep obviously.

Adora nodded and followed her, holding Lena easily as she walked with her. She waited for a moment before setting Lena down on the other side of the tub. She did it slowly rather than all at once while kissing the top of her head gently. The little girl smiled in her sleep and hugged her arm but she didn't wake up. She would only wake up after a while.

Catra was slowly and gently brushing Jack's head with water. She looked down at the younger feline who was now awake.

"Mom?" Lena mumbled at both of them. She felt so tired and coughed softly.

Adora kissed the top of her head "we're right here, it's okay. Your fever is getting really high so we're cooling you down that's all" she smiled to calm her down as she looked at her "just get some rest my little one, we're right here"

"mmh...I'm cold" She whined in return, making the other mother sigh

"That's because it goes higher, just rest here okay?...I told you to not stay out at night.."

"Mooom...stop, we didn't get cold because of that!" The young one puffed. Obviously they did but she just huffed since Catra was 'scolding' at her.

Adora shook her head but she didn't step in this time, letting Catra deal with it on her own, letting her learn. Instead she just kept Lena inside the tub, wrapping her arms around her. "The water is warm hun, you're burning up that's why it feels cold but we need to cool you off"

The queen sighed and looked down at Jack ,gently licking on his cheek and forehead and waking him up slowly.

The boy grunted and yawned. He felt the water under him but he opened his eyes only to purr at the licks of his mom's. "N..no stop" He grunted. His head was still aching but lowkey he liked the affection even though he told her to stop.

The blonde woman gently rubbed wherever Lena said she was aching to help with the pain, letting her rest in the water with her arms for support so she did not fall in too deep if she fell back asleep. She smiled after some seconds when she saw her wife grooming him but let Jack speak up for himself, knowing that if she spoke up it might upset Catra

"Just stay quiet okay? Relax back-" Catra broke the silence of the room.
"No ,you will let me go if I lean back-"
"Why would I do that?!"
"You are licking me.... Obviously you will just let me go when you will stop"
"No I won't ,Jack...just calm down okay? It won't be my fault if you push me away and get all wet" Catra hummed and looked at the boy. He then clung on her sleeve again and huffed ,grunting sometimes because of his back pain and sneezing.

Adora just chuckled softly, shaking her head at the two of them. "Bless you, Jack." She hummed before adding "Are you sore anywhere? If so maybe Catra can massage the area to help like I am with Lena" She looked at Catra for a moment then, trying to get them to actually talk and hopefully not argue.

"No.... I just want to go back to bed...." He huffed and looked away, pushing his hands down and making a splash of water.

Catra glared at the boy only to pull his hand "Hey- your sister is sleeping, at least respect that okay?" She hissed before the boy's hiss back
"I want to go to bed!"
Catra wouldn't deal with a stubborn Jack ,hitting the water and whining. She pulled him up and placed him down to take a towel to dry him up but he just ran off the bathroom soaking wet.
"If you dare lay down in bed like that you'll make your bed next time!" Catra yelled as she threw the towel roughly down with a grunt. She didn't speak to Adora or anyone since Daniella was still waiting outside for them to finish when the boy came out running to the bed. Catra only walked out after a few seconds for Jack to be all curled in her bedsheets. Her hands tightened and puffed "Okay that's it! If you get worse don't you start crying" before walking out of the room.

"I won't cry to you, don't worry!" The boy hissed, small teeth showing this time but the woman growled and closed the door with a thud, as his ears twitched down under the sheets. Daniella just .....stayed there quietly, not sure what she should tell but at the same time she leaned close to Jack to check if he had anything to tell.

Adora gently lifted Lena out of the water, drying her off and carrying her over with another towel. She just walked over, laying Lena in bed before she wrapped the towel around Jack and another one under him. She just bundled him up in the towel, kissing his forehead. "She's trying, you know. I talked with her last night. She's trying to do better... But she needs your help. I know you're sick buddy but she is trying." She hummed, gently brushing some of his hair back off his forehead to put a cool rag on. "Daniella, could you go talk to Catra and calm her down? I'll stay with the kids." She gave her a soft smile before looking back down at Jack, humming softly "Just get some more rest baby boy. I'll be right here if you need anything"

The boy hissed at first but he stopped after a while. "She doesn't! She's just mean..!" He huffed and whined. Head turned away and looked at the older one who just bowed deeply and walked away. He turned away for Adora to not see him and stayed under blankets.

The woman just hummed softly, running her fingers through his hair. "She.. She had a really really hard childhood. She didn't get to do the things that I let you do, her childhood was all work, studying to be the perfect queen." She hummed "But she was never taught how to be a good mother. She never had a proper example and because of that she doesn't know what she's doing.. but she's trying. She teaches you maths and history herself because that's what she was taught at your age. She thinks that by preparing you for the future.. That you'll know that she loves you." She smiled softly, still looking down at him "I'm gonna help her learn, kiddo. But I need yours and your sister's help, alright? And I know you're sick so you're achy and grumpy, so I won't hold it against you" She smiled softly before adding "But next time you can, give her the chance.. And be patient with her"

"Can't she just let me do what I want? I'm sure I'll be grounded now... You're much better than her.... She's yelling and she's all the time angry and ..and not fun... You told me you talked to her but she didn't change anything. Why should I? She could just let me stay in bed!" He huffed and nuzzled in the blankets.
"She was trying to help you hun. You didn't have to snap at her. You could have told her why you would rather be in bed instead, in a nice way." She sighed softly "Change is hard, and it's not something that can happen overnight. It takes work, but she's gonna try. Though that depends on you kids too.." She gently ran her fingers through his hair still "She loves you kids so much. She doesn't know how to show it...but that's why she seems to get so angry when you don't listen. She's scared. She doesn't want to lose either of you and she forgets that she can't lock you up in the castle like she was." She sighed, taking a deep breath in then "I know you're upset kiddo, but talking things through is always better than arguing. Even if that means the problem isn't dealt with immediately so you both can calm down"

"..... Fine I'll... I'll try" The young one sighed and looked away before he sighed. Lena was purring softly, her fever went down so she could feel herself getting a little better. Her eyes looked at her mother and nuzzled close to her.
"Mommy....why are you all yelling?" She hummed and purred more while crawling closer.
Adora just ran her fingers through her hair, speaking softly "Catra and Jack argued a bit that's all. I'm gonna figure it out. All you need to worry about is resting up and feeling all better, okay?" She smiled softly at her, kissing her forehead gently before she re-wet the rag to cool it off again, laying it on her forehead and doing the same for Jack's forehead "I love you both so much. Your mom does too, you know... she's trying to get better at showing it"

"But how can she try when she's yelling.... You don't yell" Lena hummed, Jack obviously nodding in agreement. His eyes looked at her and curled close to Lena.
"She's just no fun..." He puffed and wrapped his tail around her while laying close.
Adora chuckled softly at that "she is.. She yells because she's trying to protect you. She.. she gets frustrated easily and it's something that we're going to work on but until then I need you two to at least try and give her a chance. Please? For me?" She smiled softly at them "I love you three so much"
"Okay mom..." The twins murmured as they stayed there, staring at the room outside the blankets, playing underneath and trying to not move too much.

Catra in the meantime had a conversation with her governess and she succeeded completely in calming her down. Adora stayed with the kids, pulling up a chair beside them and sat back, just doing some paperwork while she waited. She didn't sign anything, not knowing if she could or not but she could at least read through them for her wife, tell her what they are. She sighed softly, looking up though when she heard footsteps outside the door. The feline walked inside, seeing Adora reading the papers made her walk closer. "What are you doing here?" She hummed ,bending over the desk to look at the paper.
The knight looked up, smiling softly and just kissed her cheek. "Reading through the papers. I didn't sign any, I promise. I just.. wanted to help. I um.. I ordered them into piles based on what it's about.. this one is peasants who've sent in complaints or requests.. this one is from other kingdoms, or other high ranking people, um.. and this one is just laws the council is wanting to pass" she looked up at her "I wanted to help lighten the load but I didn't want to do too much in case you were upset at me for signing something off when I shouldn't have"

Catra paused for a second and looked down at them only to rub her shoulder softly "Thank you....I am sorry I yelled.." She hummed though still for the boy to hear as he puffed while looking away. She looked down at the papers again and tapped on the pile of the complaints "You can sign these up if you want.... You can't put a signature on the ones from the council. They need mine" She hummed and caressed her shoulder gently.

Adora nodded, squeezing her hand gently "I talked to them.. we're all gonna work together to do better at talking about things, right Jack?" she smiled softly, looking at him pointedly for a moment before she nodded, setting the papers from the council aside then "then I'll get to work on these" She kissed the back of her hand

"yes....mom..." Jack mumbled and rolled his eyes while looking at them. Lena stood up and stepped on her toes to look at the desk "What are you drawing, mom?" She spoke, making Catra chuckle and wrap her arm around her shoulder to bring her close to her. Then she picked her up carefully "That's not drawing"

Adora giggled softly as well, smiling softly and showing her one of the papers. "All of the people we rule over are allowed to send in complaints. Most of the time the council handles it but if it's big enough then it's sent up to us. I read it over and if I approve it then I sign the paper and we get to work on fixing the problem. If I dont think its worth it then I dont sign the paper"

"can I write a complaint too? I have some serious complaints" The blonde little girl hummed but coughed at the feeling of her throat. "Where's my soup! This will be the first complaint!" She continued.

Adora laughed softly, nodding and pretending to sign off a paper "I'll definitely sign on that one" she smiled and kissed her forehead "I'll go get a maid to get you some soup, kitten. I'll be right back" She walked out then, finding a maid to get them soup as well as some more honey for their throats.

"yeyy~" Lena cheered and smiled brightly only to look at the older feline "Can you feed me?" She asked, making Catra let out a small chuckle and nod.

"Of course, little one" She smiled, holding her up in her arms to place her on the bedside.

Adora came back just in time to hear that, walking back over to kiss Catra's shoulder before she went back to the papers, working and letting Catra step up and take care of the kids. Adora listened though, just in case she needed to step in now even as she re-read the papers.
Catra smiled at the kiss though she didn't do anything other than feed the girl. She also gave her a small kiss even if that made Jack jealous and he tried to approach a little.

"I.....want soup too..." He hummed coyly.

Adora just smiled softly, finishing up one of the piles and setting them aside she looked up. "They should have another bowl on the way for you, kiddo"
The boy huffed but the servants did bring another bowl of soup. A jar of honey and spoons as they placed them on the desk for Adora or Catra to feed the kids. "Here.. let me help." Adora smiled, grabbing the other bowl and sitting down to feed Jack, smiling softly at him "How are you feeling today? any better?"

"my throat feels the same....but I am sleepy..."

"It's maybe because of the fever... The whole night you were burning...." Catra hummed as she continued to feed Lena. She looked up at Adora for a moment to see if she was doing right to speak but she just...wasn't sure with the kids around if she had spoken or not..... She was too anxious.

Adora just smiled softly at Catra, giving her a little nod. "That's okay hun, lets give you a bit more honey and then you can sleep again" The warrior set the bowl aside for a moment "Let's give it to you kids now so you can use the soup to get rid of the taste okay?" She smiled

"oh yesss!" The young feline cheered and coughed as the older one rubbed gently on her upper back
"Hey...take it easy with the yells Lena... Your neck will not get better if you cheer." Catra hummed and kissed her nose only to give her the honey as she made a disgusted face.

Adora just chuckled softly, smiling. Part of her was just elated that they were sitting here and Catra was.. Well actually getting along with the kids, showing her concern for them not by snapping at them but by being gentle. She smiled at her wife for a moment before she looked back at Jack, taking the bowl and spoon, giving him a spoonful as well. Then she set it aside and picked up the soup again.

The feline continued till both of them were finally done eating and laid back into the bed. Jack wrapped his arm around Lena since the girl giggled and nuzzled closer to the boy and remained there under the blankets. "Now sleep ,okay? It's too early for you to be up" The boy nodded and smiled only to close his eyes "Adora ...I'll take my papers to the office okay?" The brunette hummed for her to follow as the other smiled, finishing the soup with Jack as well, setting the bowl aside and kissing his forehead

"Your mother is right, kiddo. Get some sleep" She looked up at Catra then before she nodded, making sure to give Lena a kiss on the head too, to be fair.

Catra guided them to the office only to take a seat and look at her. "It ..went better..than I thought" She shrugged and looked away only to tap her pen on the paper.

"You did really well, my love. It's gonna take time but you'll figure it out" Adora gave her a reassuring smile, letting her sit down then, putting a hand on her shoulder "Thank you, for trying it"

"I...do it for all of us, actually..... I told you I want to have a family with you... I don't want to be… miserable for my whole life because of a war with my stepmother" She hummed in return and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips before wrapping her tail around her. Her eyes were still fixed on the papers.

"I know my love. But thank you. I love you and thank you for trying"

"I love you too.... Do you think we will finish with all this paperwork early enough to take care of the children? I can tell Daniella to take care of them or play with them though" Catra spoke and looked up at her only to sign one of the papers. "Ah I just want us to go get some rest in our house already..." She grunted, making the other chuckle and rub her arm.

"I think we can. I can work on the other pile if you want to just focus on the council men's papers?" She squeezed her shoulder "we'll get it done faster that way and if I don't know or understand something I'll ask you"

"alright...."Catra agreed before taking a seat beside her and giving her the other pile for her to sign. Her eyes closed to rest for a moment. She would begin to again sign up and read some of them. This way they both went to work almost till they couldn't work more. When they finished Adora put the papers aside where they were supposed to go before she kissed the top of her head, yawning softly.

"I'm so tired," Catra whispered, her eyes closing slowly and leaned close only to put her hands on the desk to stand up. Little did she know that Adora would just pick her up

"We have a few hours before dinner... Why don't we nap? You deserve a break, my love"

"and you deserve a wife to pay complete attention to you but you found me…" Catra chuckled and sighed only to nuzzle close to her ,tail wrapped around her knight making the blonde chuckle as she held onto her closer.

"I simply wanted a wife who loved me" Adora smiled, laying her down on the bed and joining her

"hm.... I think you found her then..." The other one spoke in return and gave her a small kiss on her lips only to close her eyes. After several pecks and rubs Catra spoke again in a whisper "You're so hot when you're so soft"

Adora pulled her a bit closer, laying beside her and when she pulled away she just looked at her "Mm... Yeah..?" She blushed softly "Yeah ~" the girl reassured her and chuckled, cupping her cheeks only to kiss her again and again. "I love you ...I'm so glad you're with me..." She continued and cuddled with her under the covers now since she wrapped the blanket around her.

The knight grinned and held onto her, pulling her close as they kissed again, mumbling "I love you more my queen" She kissed her cheek gently before holding her closer,making her purr slightly.

As soon as Catra felt more sleepy, she spoke again only to tug on her "Mhm..... Come 'ere..." She purred and held her softly.
Adora smiled when she heard her mumble like that and hearing her slur her words she chuckled softly, kissing the top of her forehead "I'm right here my love.. Lets get some rest" She kissed the top of her head, holding onto her as they fell asleep.

The day slowly slid away, Lena wasn't sleepy at all so she would wake Jack up only to stare at him. "Let's go out to play, I mean.... The fever went off sooo we can play more?"
He groaned softly, just rolling over "I'm still tiredd..." He hesitated before sighing "Do you really think she's trying..? Mom I mean..?"
"maybe....? I mean.... She can't be bad..... She's working a lot..... I miss her" She hummed and laid back down beside him to cover up with the blankets ,ears perked up. "I think she's trying to ...do something... But we can see how it goes? Mom Adora said she's trying so... She can't be lying right?"
Jack paused as he listed, before nodding "Yeah... I guess you're right... But she's always been so mean.." He mumbled, hugging the blankets close "Mom Adora doesn't lie... But she didn't say she would change..."

"she said she's trying..... Hey ..... You've been stubborn to her.... I don't know why she got all angry but she does it when we're stubborn so.....we could ...not be?" Lena chuckled and nuzzled on her pillow while trying to keep quiet.
The boy paused for a moment "We did say we'd try too... I guess we can try not to be" He grumbled still though "I just didn't want a bath.. I was tired and hurting.."
"I didn't want it either...but ...we feel better now..... I think they were both right...?" The blonde girl shrugged and reached out only to take her wooden sword to slowly move it from one side to the other
"Maybe... I guess..." Jack grabbed his own sword then, sitting up and smiling.
"hm?" Lena smirked when Jack pulled his sword and sat up. She pointed at him and stood up on the bed before she grinned "The first one who'll fall to the ground is the loser" She giggled making him grin and stand up as well "You're on!" He swung his sword, stepping forward towards her. The girl yelped and giggled as she thrusted her sword against him. Her hand moved the sword so she could hit him but she missed, thankfully not falling down but she did get hit. The prince laughed, happily sword fighting with her, giggling as he ducked, going for her legs so he could knock her down.
"You cheater!" Lena giggled and kicked the boy when she found the good moment before she smirked and pushed the sword against his chest.
He laughed then yelped, falling back on the bed when he was kicked, looking up at her grumbling.
Lena chuckled at how he fell and grumbled but tried to pick him up to push him off the bed as the rule of the game was. She had a victorious expression on her face.
He grinned, kicking her leg out from under her and pushing her off instead, laughing and lifting his arms up "I won!"
That was the moment they both turned their heads to look at the door open as the older woman stepped inside and gave them a judging yet soft glance. Daniella wrapped her arms over her chest and perked an eyebrow as Lena quickly crawled up on the bed.

"I believe that if you two can sword fight ,you are able to study your maths hm?"
"No! I… I just fell down- that's all" Lena wrapped herself with the blankets "I'm actually really cold and Jack is exhausted!"
The brunette woman approached and shook her head "You're a princess. You cannot lie. Else you will not be a good queen.. now either you let me take the toys away and sleep after having your soup… or I'm bringing your books to study"
Jack hissed and puffed quickly. He didn't want to study… he was feeling tired but.. playing was…. Different! "fine…." He huffed giving her the fake weapons and laying down to rest for the rest of the night.

Big News

The children were learning during these months how to fight, protect themselves. The queen and the knight had less arguments as they both tried to be calm and speak when they had a disagreement. One day, after almost a year, Catra would get some presents from a long distant kingdom and so she would have to stay on her seat while watching the many presents they were bringing. It was boring but when the two children of theirs entered the room cutting off the whole 'show' she chuckled behind her hand. The children were growing up faster than human ones. They were almost three years old and acted and had the looks of a seven if not older child.

"Mother, you promised to show me the daggers today!" Jack clearly agreed with his sister as they both looked at the warrior. She did promise to show them some special kind of daggers but with all the ceremonies she must have forgotten.

Adora watched all the presents go by one by one. She had never really gotten used to the attention, nor enjoyed it but she would do what she had to for her wife, even if it meant enduring many.. Many eyes upon her. Seeing her kids enter, interrupting them, she couldn't help but smile softly. She motioned for them to come closer and when they did she cupped their cheeks "I promise to you both I will show you those daggers as soon as this is over. Sadly though I must sit and watch this... But I will be there soon. Would either of you like to join us?" The kids looked at Catra when she asked them if they wanted to join. Obviously they would find it boring, even she found it boring.

"I think they won't like it, Adora, so.. go play out and I'll see if I can come to you sooner, okay?" Catra chuckled and leaned close to her only to place a peck on the cheek

"Hey.. don't stay here for the whole thing. Just relax and tell me if you need anything" Adora chuckled softly, letting the kids go then "It was just an offer, I knew they would find it boring." She hummed, taking her hand then with a soft smile, looking over at her for a moment before she looked back at the presents then, squeezing her hand gently "We already have half of everything here... This is just for show isn't it?" She leaned in close to her so they wouldn't be overheard.

"yeah... Unfortunately I cannot skip it though... Do you want to go with them?" The feline looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips before she pulled away and cupped her cheek "I know it's boring, but you don't have to stay if you want to spend time with them. We can catch up later, hm?" She continued and held her hand making her pause for a moment, before smiling softly

"..just long enough to show them the daggers... and then I'll be right back, alright, my love?" She held her hand, making sure she was comfortable before she got up, excusing herself and walking out of the room to find the children, head held high still. She was lucky her military training had taught her to walk properly already.

"of course ~" Catra didn't want to keep her there after all, this was boring and she knew it already.

Jack cheered when she finally came to them to show them the daggers. The girl smiled happily and she held Adora's hand in both of hers "I can't do the second part of the training from yesterday... It always makes me lose.." She puffed.

Adora chuckled softly at the two of them then, ruffling the young girl's hair "don't worry hun. We can go over it again today. Now c'mon, I don't want to leave your mother alone with such a boring show for too long" She smiled then, leading them to the room before opening a dresser and pulling out a small, locked box, kneeling in front of them.

Lena nodded only for them to look at the woman's dagger once she knelt and opened the box. It was so.. beautiful. White but having some glimpse of blue and gold inside that only made them remain with their mouths open. The young girl chirped first "I want it !"

"What- no!? I want it" The boy obviously refused to give it to her once Adora decided to give the dagger to them. So... They just began to fight about a simple dagger.

The knight laughed softly, lifting her hand "hey, hey children.. there's two of them. You have no need to fight" she opened another box, revealing a second "the first had been a gift when we found out Catra was pregnant.. and when we found out there were twins we had a second made, so both of you could have one." She handed them their daggers "Treat them carefully. They are tools, not toys"

The boy's ears twitched at the sound of her speaking such a weird word. Lena on the other hand looked up at her questioning about what that 'pregnant' word meant while the girl was playing with the dagger in her small hands.

Adora grinned softly then, chuckling "when you two were still itty bitty in your mom's tummy." She stood up then, ruffling their hair "put them in the box again and keep them in your room when you two are done looking at them..and please, please be careful. They are incredibly sharp. They haven’t been used since we got them"

The children chuckled at their hair getting all messed up by the young mother and nodded quickly. "I wont hurt him!" The girl cheered while almost running away with the first box as she claimed it already. The boy hissed at that, though "as if you could land a hit on me.." ears fell back watching the other one running away. He remained in there though, looking at first at the dagger and then sat on the bedside since they were in their moms' room.

Adora laughed softly then, though when she noticed the male stayed behind she knelt down in front of him "are you alright

Jack?" she was a bit worried, smoothing a hand through his hair to fix it "you can tell me anything. You know that right, son?"

The young boy nodded and he looked up at the girl. He had his hands placed on his lap while she was fixing his hair. "I ..don't know.. I feel strange... But I don't know why.." He looked down at the ground and remained quiet while trying to express his feelings. Being actual twins with the girl made them able to just feel when something was off or...going not according to plan. "Lena is .. different" He hummed making the other tilt her head slightly, before nodding, taking one of his hands

"I'll go talk to her, okay? How is she different, can you tell me? I need to know what's going on" she knew he was quiet, so she kept her voice soft, waiting patiently for her answer then.

"I don't know.... I don't know how to put it in words. She just feels different ..in the last fights she is stronger than me but not in arts..." He obviously meant the sword art she was teaching them for some time now. His hand remained in his mother's hand and kept looking down at the ground.

The woman nodded then "alright.. I'll try and see what's going on, alright?" she kissed the top of his head then "it'll be okay, I promise. Go play now, I'm gonna find your sister"

"okay.. !"The boy tried to cheer up and let everything for his mom to handle, he smiled and walked out of the room only to go to the backyard where he had his toy figures to play with. Lena on the other hand was just 'practising' on hitting with that dagger and the beautiful colours that she made with her hands were making her more excited to fight. She had a soft purple aura around these small hands, the dagger made it look more beautiful since it shone.

Catra on the other hand would find the blonde girl in the middle of the hall. She was different, not scared anymore, she knew she was strong and the way of her moving into the rooms showed that she had nothing to do with the old princess she was before.

She noticed though that her wife was ..upset. She furrowed her eyebrows and walked closer "Love? What happened?"

Adora was lost in her head as she looked for her daughter, worried and thinking out loud as she searched. Seeing Catra though, she paused for a moment to calm down "it's.. probably nothing serious. But Jack thinks that something is.. different with Lena. He said it feels weird, that she's stronger.." she paused "And you know how close they are. They can always tell when something is wrong with the other.. they know before anyone else when the other is sick. I don't.. understand. But if he thinks something is wrong, then I want to find out what"

"You should... check it out... I know he must not be wrong but… let's not get all anxious ..okay?" Catra didn't want to see her so.. worried. After all time without war or anything to harm their relationship she tried her best to feel less stressed. Her eyes looked up at her and slowly kissed her lips. She tried to cheer her up a little by nibbling on her bottom lip "I love you" She hummed.

Adora nodded, kissing her cheek, giving her a slight smile at the nibble though she was clearly still nervous about it "thank you.. I just need to find where she is right now" she kissed her forehead softly "I'll be done quickly I promise"

"in her room, love... She's playing with that knife you gave her.... Which I still don't recommend for a kid to play with... You should really stop giving them weapons.. they might get hurt.." She hissed and wrapped her arms over her chest while judging her with her look. Ears folded back and tapped on her shoe.

"I warned her, love and I want them to have something they can defend themselves with.." She kissed her forehead again, speaking softly "I promise, they won't be hurt, okay? not on my watch" She smiled and placed her hand to cup her cheek as the other one rolled her eyes

"agh... Fine...no now go.. I'll punish you later" She giggled playfully and pointed to the girl's room so she could go to see what was going on with her. Her words made Catra worried too... She couldn't lie about it.

Adora blushed softly at the mention, grumbling "don't turn me on when I'm about to talk to our daughter, jeez.." she kissed her cheek though before she cleared her throat and knocked before walking in "hey Lena, I just wanted to check in"

The woman chuckled at that. She knew already how kinky she could be, her eyes closed at the kiss and she finally let her go. The child was in the room still, punching the air and pinching it while an old doll she had became her stabbing puppet. Her heterochromic eyes looked at the woman though when she entered the room. "Mother! I'm fine, just... Playing with the new dagger you gave me" The little one smiled.

Adora chuckled softly when she saw what she was stabbing, shaking her head and walking over "I told you, the dagger isn't a toy. Save it for training tomorrow, okay?" She ruffled her hair gently, kneeling down beside her "are you sure you're okay?"

"but I like it so much.. I like the colours~"She grinned but did as Adora said and hid it behind her dress. She didn't exactly feel anything she could tell. The truth was she was feeling just like she always did, happy and playful. Her head nodded quickly "Yes, why do you ask? Jack asked me if I was okay too ...is something wrong?" She furrowed her eyebrows "I only won a fight once and everyone is asking me if I'm okay...is it so weird to win a fight?!" She pouted

"no, no it's not that sweetie it's just-.. Jack is worried is all. Is anything different? Anything at all?" she tried to hide how worried she was, though she knew something was off. She kissed her forehead, smiling softly "you aren't in trouble for anything I just.. I'm just worried. You two are my babies" The blonde one nodded and sighed before she looked away

"The only thing that's different is a new trick I wanted to show you tomorrow in the training… nothing else... really" She hummed and rubbed the back of her head before she leaned into that kiss and gave her a small hug.

Adora raised an eyebrow for a moment before she just nodded, hugging her back "alright love. I can't wait to see your new trick then" she smiled softly at her, cupping her cheek for a moment "Don't forget, the dagger is a tool, not a toy. It's not to be used outside of training. But, once you learn them well enough I will have sheaths made so you can keep them with you"

"I'm looking forward to it too...! I love it!" She cheered and grinned while having her cheek cupped. She loved the affection and she wouldn't miss a chance to not allow her to hug or play with her hair "I know mother... I won't touch them outside of training, okay?" She hummed ,her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small nuzzle on her neck. The girl put the dagger in the case again and ran to the closet ,sticking it in there to make sure she wouldn't think of it that much.

The warrior let her put it away before she gave her one last hug "I love you dear, no matter what. Now go play sweetie. Me and your mother have.. paperwork and such to take care of.. the boring usual" she pointed at her then "don't grow old, it sucks"

"paperwork? But it's fun… you just draw on papers, I saw you and mom doing it plenty of times" She meant signing up papers that she thought they were just drawing. Her eyes looked at the dead doll of hers and held her by the hand only to walk back to her bed now. Jack was still outside though so she would stay alone for a while "I'll just stay here..and play" She hummed, grabbing a brush to take care of the doll's hair.

Adora chuckled softly, kissing the top of her head before standing up "oh if only you knew.." she sighed, ruffling her hair gently and saying her goodbye before she left to find Catra again. It seems she had been worried for nothing. Though her stabbing the doll of all things was odd, it was good practice. She couldn't really blame her.

The feline was sitting on the wooden desk she had in her room. She did sign some papers while having one of her old books on the other side of the desk. She missed writing so much. The woman heard her entering the door, ears twitching towards her and looked up at her with a smile "Can you give me the ink?" She hummed looking at the short desk where she had the bottles of red and black ink.

The knight smiled softly as well, walking over to grab her one of each colour before walking back, kissing her cheek and setting it on the desk beside her, mumbling "Other than some new trick she wants to show me tomorrow during training she's alright.. You were right, I worried over nothing." She smiled then, putting a hand on her shoulder "You are right a lot though"

Catra smiled at the feeling of her kissing her cheek and tilted her head to the side, exposing her neck 'accidentally'. She was well dressed as always, though in the house she did wear a corset still. She couldn't let everyone in the palace see her...without any underwear. "I know I'm right~You should listen to me more often.... Even though in the military you are the best for me to take advice from" She smirked and tapped the pen on the paper, making only a pool of black ink on it.

Adora giggled, moving her attention to her neck happily, humming softly between kisses "Mm... I most definitely should, my queen" Noticing the pool of ink she smiled and dipped her finger in it lightly "Having fun?" She wiped it off on her wrist, leaving a mark on it.

The brunette got her attention on the kisses so it was obvious that she would not focus on writing. Though when she marked her she smirked "You're something else..." She rolled her eyes and looked up at her only to give her a small kiss on her lips. "You really are a tease..." She whispered and stood up on her seat to lean back on her desk.

Adora grinned then, giggling softly and when she sat on the desk she grinned. She stepped between her legs to press herself close, eagerly chasing after her kiss once again, even after the first one. She put her hands on her wife's waist then, looking up at her and smiling as she held her "Mm... You're the one who offered your neck to me, my love... Why would I say no to such an offer?"

"hm...you're so hungry for my neck huh? Why don't you prove it first?" She perked an eyebrow and cracked a smile while having her hands on her shoulders ,almost tugging so she could come closer. Her legs were wrapped around her waist, tail curling around her wrist.

The blonde one leaned in then, eagerly going for her neck "As you wish my queen" She hummed, kissing and nibbling on her neck, wrapping her arms around her waist to hug her close then.

"what... Ah ..what did you tell her and you left so quickly? I expected one of these long monologues of yours" Catra chuckled in return and made fun of her ways of speaking to the children. Her eyes closed ,head lifted up and she soon let out another whisper "Jeez.... Just claim my neck already.. you're so soft"She hummed ,not that she didn't love it already but she was truly ready to feel her teeth.

The other giggled softly then "Just that her dagger wasn't a toy.. And that I love her.." She rolled her eyes at the jab to the way she spoke to them, though she smiled against her, growling softly when she called her soft before she bit down. She left a proper mark on her neck then, tugging her hips closer.

A whimper followed the bite and purrs as her hips got tugged closer. The feline bit her bottom lip and her ears fell back immediately. Her eyes closed and she pressed her chest against hers "And why didn't you stay with her hm-? What excuse did you find again?" She was so clever with the excuses she could tell.

Adora giggled softly, kissing the bite to soothe it before placing another one, before she answered "Mm... Blamed it on paperwork..." She moved down to her shoulder then, biting at her skin then.

The queen smiled, still holding her hips against her. "I love your excuses ~A- Am I the paperwork?" Catra chuckled and wrapped her arms around her only to slowly push herself against her hips and feel how erect she was already.

Adora giggled "You are nearly not as boring as paperwork.." She was definitely hard, grinding her hips on her with a soft groan, continuing to bite and mark her.

The brunette grunted softly ,her eyes looking at the woman only to give her a small smirk "Of course I am way better....than paperwork." She purred and whined with the kisses only to pull away and look in her eyes "I want you so badly"

Adora smiled softly, leaning down and nipping her collarbone, mumbling "I'm all yours my queen... All yours..." She looked up at her, face flushed as she watched her "Whatever you need... I'll give you. All you have to do is tell me”

The other woman slowly rubbed the back of her neck ,caressing her hair as she let them fall loose on her shoulders while the girl was kissing and biting her. Her breathing became more and more heavy as she loved the way she bit her and touched her "Ah.. touch me more then.. I want you to touch me" She whispered. Her body already felt too warm in this dress.

The blonde smiled softly then, kneeling down in front of her, pushing her dress up and kissing up her thighs "May I worship you? Please? I want to make you feel good... So so good..." She kissed her thighs then but nothing more until she was given permission, looking up at her.

Catra’s eyes opened to look down at her who was now giving these kisses under her dress. "Oh my... Yes... Yes it's an order... Worship me" She whispered and gave her a small pat on her head as if she was doing a good job. Hips moved just a little so she could be more comfortable on the desk.

Adora smiled, leaning down and kissing her thighs again before she moved up. She pulled her legs over her shoulder, licking a line up her slit while looking up at her. She didn't say anything though, her mouth too busy as she watched her.

The queen expected her to go slower. The feeling of her mouth between her legs made her whimper softly and tense. A hand reached down and she held her by the hair while feeling that perfect tongue sliding on her sensitive skin. "Ah....My knight." The woman whispered. Even if the years have passed she would still call her a knight. She met her as one and that would never change.

The other one just groaned softly against her, adjusting her hips to have a better angle before she sucked on her clit. She still held her hips then. She was always happy to please her, happy to make her feel good even if she didn't have her own pleasure just yet.

The woman moaned, her hips bucking against her, thighs tensing around the head and back arched. Catra was so warm, her moans echoed in the room and she gasped while trying to make her lick her more. "Ah... Ah I love you..." She moaned and dug her nails on her shoulder "Ah continue please .. I want your fingers ..ah...not only them... Please I want more"

The blonde reached down then, undoing her pants as best she could while still focusing on Catra. Once she finally got them off, she pulled away from her crotch with one last kiss, looking up at her "I want to be in you.. Please I want to fill you up" She whined, hands on her thighs as she looked up at her, eyes pleading "Wanna make you feel good.. Please my queen... Please let me make you feel good.."

"I want that too... please..." She kissed her lips, giving her a small nuzzle close to her. Her eyes stared at her and gave her a small cup on her cheek. "I want you.." The woman grunted and trembled before she heard a small creak behind Adora. She opened her eyes wide and she pushed her away a little, tugging on her shoulder

"Mother, Lena stole my dagger-!Mom?" Jack entered the room all of the sudden. Adora stood up, just about to enter her when she was shoved away. She was confused at first until she looked back, realising their son was in there. Eyes widened "Oh-... I um-.. Hi, Jack uh. Me and your mom were um..." She looked at her for a moment before looking back at her "Uhh brainstorming! For a problem we.. Needed to fix in a village." She cleared her throat, looking away then.

"Lena took my dagger..!" He huffed and crossed his arms over his chest while walking towards them.

Catra though would pull her dress down, fixing the woman's member as well in her trousers quickly to not be seen. "Jack ...we will talk to her, okay..? we have work to do right now" She hummed and smiled while trying to hide her blush. "Now go, okay?"

Adora kept still as well, trying not to react when she touched her member, though she knew it was just to put it away "Why don't you go ask the governess to help you. If that doesn't work then we'll be able to come help soon." She ruffled his hair, with the hand that hadn't just been touching Catra at least "Go on now, alright? We'll talk to Lena about it soon"

"Yeah... fine... I'll go talk to her" He sighed and looked up at them before he walked away. The little one didn't bother them anymore, they were all alone once again

"That was close..." Catra looked up at her and sighed before she leaned against the desk.

The blonde leaned against her, letting out a sigh "Fuck that scared me. I'm not ready for that talk yet." She chuckled, hugging her close then and kissing her neck softly "I feel bad for him, almost walked in on something traumatic" She chuckled, nuzzling into her.

"It's okay... really I would take the responsibility to talk to him and ...her" The queen smiled and leaned close to her only to give her a gentle squeeze on her member to make her more needy. "Come now.. I still want you inside me..." she whispered and turned her back on her. The first time in the palace to the meeting room she was bent to the table so she would do the same now too. She bent over to the desk, allowing her to pull up her dress if she wished so.

Adora took a breath when she grabbed her member, groaning softly "Fuck... Yes my queen... Whatever you desire" She lifted her dress, taking just a moment to admire her before she pushed her pants down, pressing her tip against her entrance and slowly pushing in, groaning softly "Fuck... Oh fuck I'll never get tired of this..."

Catra whined when she began to press her tip against her. Her eyes closed ,hands tightened "Ah.. please... I harder..."She moaned, leaning forth to the desk but she would moan helplessly.

The knight leaned over her then, pushing deeper. She pressed as deep as she could, groaning into her back before she started rocking "Y-yes, my queen..." She held her hips, nipping at her neck as she leaned over her and panting into her skin still.

Feeling the warrior against her back only caused Catra to breathe heavily. She loved how good and deep she was inside her. Her hips tilted and she continued to move at the same pace. Her tail wrapped around her, moaning and biting her lip while holding herself from releasing. She was too wet and she twitched around her "Ah....ah I love it .."She moaned.

Adora whined then, leaning further down to press as close as she could, panting and thrusting into her "fuck. fuck m-.. my queen.."

she panted against her skin, eyes closed "close... I-I’m close.. please... please let me cum.. p-please my queen.."

"no.... No don't" She mumbled as she felt herself getting close. She wanted so much to make her beg for it, feel her cumming but Adora not being allowed to do so. Her lips made a small smile as she felt the woman's member twitching under it. Her eyes closed and she grabbed on to her tightly. "I love it when you're thrusting so hard..." She whispered and grunted softly on her latest thrusts but still she didn't allow her to cum even if she was trembling, legs felt weak.

The blonde whimpered, grabbing onto the desk to help keep herself up, gasping and whining into her neck "a-ah- Catra- p-please mistress, p-please I wanna cum.." she was good though, she didn’t cum. She whined against her skin, clearly struggling to do as she was told, biting into her neck. She panted, whining against her still.

"m- my cute servant—.." Catra whimpered in return at the feeling of her insides burning in need. She finally came after a while, feeling the woman's member twitching inside her. She had to be quiet so she tried her best to mute a rather loud moan when she came ,allowing the woman to come as well at that time.

Adora whined at the name, bucking into her still, begging under her breath to be allowed to cum. When she felt her cum she whined, moaning again against her skin "a-ah- Catra- Catra... f-fuck.." she didn’t cum until she was given verbal permission to cum, pushing as deep as she could, gasping and moaning against her skin "m-my queen... oh goddess.."

It was always as ecstatic as the first time, Catra could feel that she was getting tired on top of her, slowly whining as she pulled out and turned around. Her hand touched her member which still had some left as she let her dress cover her up "I could never have a more beautiful and hot servant~" She smirked ,kissing her lips.

Adora was exhausted above her but oh so satisfied. When she pulled away and twisted around she lifted herself as best she could to make it easier for her, only to groan when she felt the hand on her member "fuck... I-I'm all yours, my queen.. an-.. I may just have another round in me-" she leaned into the kiss then, slowly regaining her strength, cupping her cheek and pressing as close as she could.

The other's mismatching eyes looked at the woman and leaned in, closing the distance between them and spreading her legs slowly. "Come.. unless you want your queen's mouth to treat you" She smirked, making the other mumble, not understanding for a moment before nodding

"w-we have enough time... we do.." she looked up at her then, breath hitching at the offer, mouth open slightly and not quite able to form a coherent thought but she did manage to place herself between Catra's legs again. She leaned into her and whined "just wanna make you feel good.. wanna be good..."

"aw... My little one... Please then go ahead... I'll tell you if you were good or not.." Catra scratched her cheek while feeling her again between her wet thighs. She did calm down. She was still sweaty but she wanted to make her feel good again. "But touch me first... I want your hands on my body.." She whispered close to her ear, nibbling it slowly.

Adora nodded, leaning into the hand on her cheek, closing her eyes and relaxing before she focused on pleasing her wife. She ran her hands over her body, teasing her breast with one hand. Her other hand pushing two fingers in "y-yes my queen, whatever you wish"

The feline purred at the brush of her body. She leaned close to her whimpering as she touched her. Her eyes closed and moaned ,tensing at the feeling of her fingers. Her hands held her close "I love you.." She whispered.

“I love you too, my queen.. I love you so much.. I would do anything for you.." She bit her neck a few more times on the other side, curling her fingers as she thrusted to hit the spot she knew was most sensitive.

The brunette gasped at the feeling of her fingers inside her hitting on her spot and clinging on her. Hips bucking against her. "M..my... I love it.." She moaned and bit her lip.

The warrior whined softly, adding a third with her thumb reaching up to rub her clit, kissing at the bite marks she left before she pulled away from her neck to look at her. She hesitated only for a moment before she leaned in, kissing her and nipping at her bottom lip.

Catra grunted against the kiss. She loved her touch but this time she just wanted to take her. Her hips continued to move against her hand, shivering and trembling in need. "I want you ..-" She wanted her inside her but she could barely speak due to the pleasure she felt. She bit her bottom lip and whimpered.

Adora panted softly, just nodding at the request and pulling her fingers out. She licked them clean which, due to their previous orgasm, had a mix of her own cum and Catra's slick. She lined herself up then, pushing into her with another groan, lowering her head "F-fuck... M-my queen..."

"A.... ah Adora..." The other moaned when she felt the woman enter her. She bit her lip and tried to be quiet while she was thrusting slowly but steadily inside her. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small smile while her mismatching eyes looked into these blue ones. She loved how much her lover could get her wet, how her moves were gentle and kissed her lips. "I love you..." She mumbled and touched her from her neck up to her cheek. Her body was sweaty as well while they were both moving against the other.

The blonde one cupped her cheek, kissing her and leaning in close. She picked her up off the desk then though she was careful not to pull herself out. She kissed her back before mumbling "Can I request something, my Queen?" She mumbled, looking up at her and panting softly. She mumbled her request after she was given permission "Can you ride me? Please? O-on the bed..?"

The magicat whined at the feeling of her moving without a good pace as she lifted her up. Her arms and legs wrapped around her, eyes looked into hers still and she leaned in to give her a small kiss on her nose. "Of course I can... Let's lay down, okay?" She smiled, her walls already tightened due to the lift up and she bit her lover's lips making her smile softly.

Adora leaned up and kissed her as she walked over to the bed then, laying down on her back with Catra on top. She looked up at her, flushing softly "mm.. fuck you're so beautiful... I'm so lucky.." she mumbled, holding her hips as she looked up at her, biting her lip.

The feline leaned close only to start moving her hips. Her lips let out a soft grunt and she continued to ride her while letting out soft pants "I love you..~" She smiled up at her only to give her a small kiss on her lips and continued to nibble on her while riding on her.

Adora whined softly, letting out a quiet gasp as she held her hips tightly, keeping her hips still for now though "I-I love you too.. oh fuck.."she put a hand on the back of her head then, holding her close and moaning into her mouth, the other hand still on her hips.

The feline's tail slowly wagged. Her eyes closed and moaned in the kiss even though the moans sounded like small whines. Her eyes opened, cupping her cheek and grunting between the kisses sometimes. Her hips continued to move up and down on her, loving the feeling once again inside her while her legs were steady yet. Her body was slim, not as slim as some years ago because she couldn't eat but she had a good curvy shaped body. Her back still carried some of the old scars due to the hits of the whip but she did get over the fears of the past.

The blonde haired reached back then, gently grabbing the base of her tail, scratching and tugging lightly, just wanting to make her feel good. She started rocking her hips up into her then. She was groaning and helping to make it easier for her that way to match her rhythm and biting at her bottom lip. Adora was still just as muscular and though she had a few new smaller scars she for the most part had not changed. Though she no longer saw active duty she insisted on keeping her mind and body sharp and ready just in case. She couldn't risk not being prepared for an attack, not with two children and a wife to care for.

Catra's body trembled at the touch, the scratch on her base and tugs only made her moan more and struggle to even grunt. Soft mewls escaped her lips and her cheeks flushed as her ears fell back while riding her. Her hands tugged on her, eyes closed tightly and her nails dug in her wife's skin of her chest "N.. ah... Adora.." She gasped, making the woman's back arch slightly at the nails to her chest, gasping and pressing into her.

Adora let her mouth go free from the kiss. Her head falling back as she moaned for her, lifting it again to try and watch her though it was clear it was difficult. She was starting to get close now, groaning as she held her closer, holding her still as she thrusted up into her "C-close.. Close..oh goddess... So close.. Lemme cum.. Please.. Please lemme cum..." She whined into her neck as she begged for permission, panting, her body covered in a light sheen of sweat.

"yes... Yes cum..~" The queen allowed her to do so even though she was still sensitive but not as much as Adora. She would release later as she closed her fist, drawing her nails to scratch on her skin instead of digging in. She pushed her hair off her face and bit her bottom lip only to give her a small kiss on her lip and nibble on her. "Dammit... You're amazing"

The warrior pressed up into her, groaning into her neck as she came, one arm wrapped around her waist to hug her close. When it was over, and she was sure Catra had orgasmed too, she laid back and pulled her down with her and smiling softly at the kiss

"Mm... Says the one who just rode me... Fuck... I'm so lucky... And not just because of the sex."

"hm... Well I think you're around here because of sex and your position in the Horde" Catra giggled, obviously joking and leaning to to place pecks on her lips. "I can't believe I married a two-faced knight" She sighed and rolled on the bed to fall back on her side and lay down.

Adora gasped, sitting up slightly then looking down at her "Why, I would never!" She hugged her close, pulling her close by her waist, nuzzling her neck and mumbling "I love you just the way you are. Not for any title, nor any sex. Though, to be fair the sex is incredible"

Catra giggled at the feeling of her nuzzling close to her. She smiled and placed a quick kiss on her lips. "And how can you say that? Did you go with many before?" She perked an eyebrow and smirked at how tricky the question was, even though she knew the answer. The girl looked at her for a moment then, blinking "Before we got married? No. Not at all." She cupped her cheek "And the only other woman I've been with is literally just a different version of you, so I don't think you have much to worry about my love." She hummed, looking down at her with a grin "So no, not many"

The feline leaned close to her only to place kisses on her lips and grin "Huh .. I'll believe you, for now ~" She chuckled and pulled her down to bed before she wrapped her arms around her neck to pull her. "I love you ..~" She whispered, kissing her on between her words.

Adora smiled, leaning down and happily kissing her back and grinning then at the last comment "Mm good…'cause I would never lie to you my love." She kissed her back, smiling "I love you too, my queen."

The brunette closed her eyes and pulled her down so she could lay on her bare chest. "Let's lay and ...do nothing but talk or... Relax and cuddle." She hummed in a relaxed tone while caressing her hair slowly. She loved her so much... She wanted to spend as much time as she could with her ,without any paperwork or... Anyone to bother her.

The knight smiled then, laying her head on her chest and closing her eyes, wrapping an arm around her waist and yawning "That sounds lovely..." She smiled, relaxing further at the caress to her hair almost to the point of falling asleep there with her.

The queen wouldn't care if they actually slept after this. Catra pulled the thin blanket on top of them to cover them up as she allowed her to enter the room. Catra could hear her heartbeat. She wrapped her arms around her wife again and her tail remained around her thigh while looking at her. Her eyes closed to relax and finally slept under her wife.

The blonde one smiled softly and after a soft yawn she was in a deep sleep. Though, even in sleep she held her close as if to protect her. She stirred slightly when the tea was brought in but otherwise stayed asleep.

They both were sleeping ,softly holding each other in a protective way. Catra’s eyes opened early in the morning only to grunt in disgust. Her hand rubbed her eyes and she slowly took a soft breath ,kissing on her wife's forehead. She felt sick lately but especially in the mornings she felt… just awful. Her throat let out a grunt as her muscles ached just a tiny bit.

Her wife woke up with a kiss on her forehead, smiling softly and turning to nuzzle into her, running a hand along her side and smiling "Mm... Good morning my love... How are you feeling?" She looked up at her then, fingertips caressing her side with a smile.

"... Good morning, my knight ...." The other smiled faintly and brushed her hair slowly while feeling her against her. "I'm.. I don't know... I feel sick these days" She hummed softly as her tail unwrapped off her thigh and she poked her nose "It must be a cold or.. something" She didn't call the doctor yet ,it would go away by itself.

The blue-eyed girl pouted then, cradling her closer and looking up at her "Aw I'm sorry my love... Is there anything I can do to help you feel better?" She kissed her forehead, sitting up slightly.

"hm.. I'm thinking of... Maybe kisses~?" She chuckled and leaned close to give her a small kiss on her lips. She wrapped her arms again around her so she could bring her back to lay on top of her. "I want plenty of them"

That made Adora grin and lay on her to cover her face in kisses, leaving one on her lips as well of course "mm... That is definitely do-able..." She grinned, putting a finger under her chin and kissing her again, making her giggle softly.

A bright smile formed on the brunette's face as her glowing eyes looked up at her. "You're so kind~" She teased but soon her smile faded. She could feel her stomach ache- actually feeling somehow disgusted-. "I- I'll be back" The girl spoke in a rush and slid away to walk quickly into the bathroom since she was feeling ready to throw up..

Adora frowned softly when she left, sitting up "Catra? Are you okay?" She was worried now, hesitating before she followed after her, though she waited in the doorway, in case she wanted to be alone.

The brunette coughed but she did stand up, looking up to the mirror before preparing to get herself cleaned. The taste was the worst she could have right now. "I'm fine.. This week was... difficult, I can't sleep and I feel worse every morning... I just need to get some warmth I guess..." She sighed. Catra walked over then, kissing her cheek and hugging her close.

“What can I do to help, my love? I don't want you feeling sick like this.." Adora put her hands on her waist then, watching her. She was clearly worried. "wait.. wasn't... this supposed to be some of the first signs of um.. pregnancy? I-.. I know this is what happened when you were pregnant before.. What if..?”

Her tail flickered and she furrowed her eyebrows when she said that. Her mind didn't even go there but she didn't have a heat either for...quite a long time now. Her eyes looked at her and her cheeks became warmer "I...mean... I .. expected to have a heat during this or the next month but... I don't feel like it.." She spoke but soon rolled on her feet "I will have to call the doctor to see me.." She didn't know if she would have to expect a baby or not..it wasn't even planned!

Adora gave her a hesitant nod "when was your last heat anyway...?" She took a deep breath then "okay... so we might have another baby on the way... I.. should have known this would happen with all of the sex.."

"last ..year? I think I was in the weeks before my heat one month ago... You know ..we.. didn't do much then... I wasn't in mood either" She rubbed the back of her head "but then again after that period we had sex so.... I... Think the only possible thing that is happening is that I'm having a baby..?" Her eyes looked at her through the mirror ,the days and the clues they had led to the same ending. "I'll call the doctor just in case”

"Alright, alright I um-... I gotta go train the kids.. is there anything I can get for you? food, blankets? anything?" Adora was.. clearly eager to take care of her, though she was a bit worried about a new baby. It was safer there, of course but you are never truly safe, especially not as a royal. Catra was always a royal, she just... Got a higher position but...still the palace was safe, wasn't it?

The feline took a deep breath and shook her head as she looked at her "No.. no, thanks. I'll be fine just go, okay? We will have to tell them too.. to expect a sibling" She smiled nervously. She was more anxious about that and the whole process of her giving birth again. "I'll tell my maid to call the doctor ,you go to the kids. They will start complaining" She chuckled.

The blonde hesitated before taking a deep breath and kissing her cheek before she left, heading to where she would train the kids.

She was nervous, of course but there was only so much she could do.

A Night to Remember 💀

Adora didn't know what to say to calm herself and Catra down. Last time they were separated. Last time Catra was so tired, so exhausted from the pregnancy and she wasn't there to help her. She felt guilty. With these thoughts she didn't realise when she got to the twins in the backyard. Her eyes looked at them. Her serious face turned into a smile. "Good morning kiddos! how did you sleep last night?" She approached their bed and brushed Jack's hair

"Lena didn't give my dagger back...!" The boy pouted but the girl only rolled her eyes. She was playing around and Adora knew it. She didn't carry her dagger either so she wouldn't make her mom mad.

"Agh let's practice, I'll give you the dagger later okay?- I promise!" Lena puffed as she looked at the older one.

Adora sighed softly, running a hand through her hair "Lena, hun you need to give him his dagger back after this, okay?" She gave them a soft smile then "Lena, speaking of which, how about you show me that trick of yours?" She was honestly curious.

"mhm! I will just stay there" She hummed and focused for a second while holding her sword. The girl was just stabbing the air with the moves she showed her as per usual but this time after another swing she could see the blade slowly getting a purple mist around it. The dark colour only made the little girl smile more and cheered "My hands had this yesterday too. I don't know why but isn't it cool?"

The boy looked up at his mother as he also mentioned "I practised with her but it ...melted my sword's blade when it touched it.."

Adora paused, this mist ...this colour only brought her memories of Shadow weaver and… clearly Adora didn't have dark magic for the girl to be able to have. She hesitated before she knelt down "Lena how long could you do this? and why didn't you tell me sooner? This is magic, Lena." She took a deep breath "I um.. I'll call a mage, I guess to see what we can do to teach you"

"I noticed that recently ,mother.... I told you I just learnt that I can focus on it and show it ...is it something bad?" The girl noticed the look in her eyes and her smile faded as she placed her hands behind her back "Why can't you teach me? Mom says you're the best warrior..." She didn't want to have a random mage to teach her... Her mom was the best to do so.

The mother, though, shook her head "With a blade, not with magic... at least not this kind of magic. It's- it's not bad, baby, don't worry.. just-... you need to learn to control it. Trust me... and besides we need to figure out just what exactly you can do" she smiled gently, cupping her cheek then "you aren't in trouble, okay?"

The girl was hesitant. She didn't want to be in trouble but her mother's look was so puzzled that she couldn't help but feel anxious "I... Feel like I am... I won't do it if it's bad, really, I promise" The girl sighed and looked up at her only to take a step back. The boy didn't speak since he wanted to just figure out what was happening to her as well and she could do it.

"no, no baby it's not bad I promise." Adora kissed her forehead again, letting her go.

"If she can do it, why can't I?" Jack questioned the older one as she shook her head

"I... think I know but I'm not certain... I need to speak to a mage for this, this is their expertise not mine"
"Does this mean we won't train today?" The boy perked an eyebrow and looked up at her only to tug on her clothes. The girl remained quiet. She didn't feel like training after that, so she just slowly walked towards a bench they had in the small garden to take a stick in her hand and poke the grass.

Adora looked at Lena for a moment before shaking her head "no.. no, not today okay? go on and play, I have to talk with your sister." she kissed the top of his head before walking over to Lena “hey.. sweetie, you know I'm not upset at you, right?"

The little one took a small breath but she didn't look at her, she was still poking at the ground. "I thought you would be happy to see the trick.. but you're not.." She mumbled ,sitting down now on the grass, not caring about the white floral dress of hers getting dirty.

"I'm just worried. I-.." she paused, taking a deep breath "your mom had.. well a really really mean mommy. She used magic as well. She.. Well, to make a long story short, she took you from us. Hide you away for a year.. I don't-... I don't know what happened and I thought she did nothing but... this magic may be from her. That's why I'm worrying, okay? But I promise little one, we'll figure this out. I'm not mad at you or upset or disappointed, okay?" She cupped her cheek, looking her in the eyes then "I swear to you... I am not upset, just a little worried. But we'll figure this out, together. Now.. let's get you to a mage, please sweetie?"

All this sounded like she would take her to the doctor and obviously no kid liked to go to the doctor. Her eyes became watery and she looked away ,shaking her head. "I'll show it to mom.. I bet she will be happy to see my trick" She stood up and walked slowly towards the door that led inside the palace. She didn't understand why she didn't like it or why she felt so worried.

Adora hesitated, taking her hand and kneeling in front of her "Hey, hey baby listen to me... Please. She smiled softly then, kissing her hand gently "Im proud of you. So.. So proud. The only reason I worry is it's because it might be from that bad woman, and her magic wasn't very good." She lifted her chin then, wiping her tears away gently "I love you. And I'm so.. So proud, and happy. I just want to make sure you're safe." She cupped her cheeks "We can tell her later, right now she has.. Work to do, okay? We have a big announcement for you two tonight at dinner" She booped her nose then "And extra dessert"

The girl sniffled and looked away. She didn't know what to believe or how to feel. "Fine... I'll show it to her tonight at dinner... Or when she doesn't have work..." She couldn't help but feel that Catra was just avoiding seeing them since they never saw her around lately ,only at dinner time. "I'll go to my room.." She hummed and slid away from her.

The older one sighed softly then, though it was clear she wasn't getting through to her. As she watched her go, though, she made a decision. She got up, walking away to find Catra, a look of determination on her face now. No longer looking worried or with a fake smile, just trying to find Catra wherever she could.

Her wife was looking through some papers. She had her doctor informed about her being...probably pregnant and that he had to come by and see her. She was still in her office. When she knocked on the door she responded softly "Yes?"

"We need to spend a day with our kids. Just us... Just a family day.." Adora walked over, kissing the top of her head "... Lena can use magic... Which is why I say that... She... Got upset that I wasn't happy to see it... Or proud... I tried to explain why I was worried but she wouldn't listen... And... I think saying you were busy only made it worse... They really only see you during dinners anyway... We should spend time with them..."

“What.” The feline only got frozen when she said that Lena could use magic "How?.. I mean I didn't think it would affect them.. I always try to be as close as ever..." She whispered and looked down at her papers. Maybe work really… Got her tired and pushed her away from her children too.

Adora shook her head "I don't know I-... I'm worried it's because of her... She did have her alone for... Well a long time..." She hesitated, taking a deep breath "And we haven't been spending much time with our kids, I'll admit... We've been so busy recently we have not been able to..."

"Alright....I will inform the rest of the council about the delay of the signing and all the paperwork... we can spend the rest of the evening with them… maybe go ..out? I know there are not many places to go here but... we can go somewhere." Catra hummed and brushed her hair "I don't know what to tell...did you call a mage? I mean... Horde's mages are mostly good with dark magic so... I don't know if... Light Spinner did something to her.... the mages will know I'm sure..." She was worried but she didn't say more than that.

The blonde nodded "I contacted the mages. They'll be sending their best to us.. We'll know soon, I promise." She kissed her cheek, looking at her "Now c'mon. And... When she shows you her magic... Be happy for her? That's what she needs right now..."

"I know...I know don't worry ,my love okay? I will be fine .. I don't want her to feel not wanted... Or that I'm not there for her" The brunette sighed,really she felt anxious about everything, the pregnancy, the child being filled with dark magic.. "Do you want to go in?" She looked up at her and leaned close to her.

Adora nodded, wrapping her arms around her "Yeah...yeah I want to come.. I want to spend time with them, that isn't just training..." She smiled gently, kissing her cheek before she walked with her to the children's room "What should we do? Take them for a ride somewhere? Oh, I heard there's a cliff that's gorgeous during the sunset, maybe they could watch that with us?"

"Yeah there is. We could do that and then maybe we could eat something special for dinner?" Catra smiled a little bit and stood up after some minutes to walk with her wife in the hall. Once they entered the children's room she looked at the girl. "Hey..... I'm sorry I didn't have time to play lately…" She hummed and approached the children only to bring them into an embrace. "We can do whatever you want.." She looked down at them.

Adora smiled softly as well, nodding and walking over, hugging them both "Mm... I have an idea but you can always choose something else." She looked at the two of them then "There's a cliff here, that has an incredible view of the sunset. We can sit and watch it together with a dinner of your choice. And of course dessert" She smiled at Lena gently "How does that sound?"

Even though Lena was a little bit unsure if she should show her other mom too that trick she would do it later in that cliff. She smiled a little and nodded at the offer "Will we go with the carriage?"

Catra thought about it for a second. "We could go with the carriage or ride there, the little horses will be fine for you I think" She smiled, trying to cheer her up successfully.

Jack perked up at the thought of riding a horse, grinning and nodding "Yeah! Yeah, let's do it! C'mon sissy let's do it!"

Adora chuckled softly at that before adding "Oh and when we get up there we have some news for the two of you. Good news, I promise."

The children smiled brightly at that though the brunette spoke again "Alright now, Jack get dressed up ,same goes for you young lady, okay? You will choose what to wear today. You're not little anymore" She joked obviously. Usually the woman was telling her maids to dress them up so it was kind of a surprise and an upgrade that she let them dress up however they wanted "Adora let's go get ready too .. ~" She turned around as she walked towards the door.

Jack grinned, rushing off to choose clothes for himself, laughing softly as he chose.

Adora giggled softly at his enthusiasm and smiled gently, kissing Lena's forehead again before she nodded to Catra. She wrapped an arm around her waist as they walked out.

The feline walked till they closed the door behind and nuzzled against her before she placed a soft kiss on her lips. "I think it was the best idea we ever had to get the children out for a ride" Adora smiled, kissing her back and nodding, hugging her close "Mm.. I think it was too. Now c'mon, they'll probably be ready any minute... Think we should give them their birthday ponies early?" She spoke softly then, so the kids wouldn't accidentally overhear.

"we should~ I'll find a better present for them later" Catra looked at her and walked back to their room so she called her maid to prepare her for the ride. She did wear something comfortable, her corset and a soft dress on top of her pants. It was the only time she wore pants and when they went to swim of course. She wore short boots and finally was ready to go. "Let's go... Children will be waiting"

Adora got dressed as well, a loose white tunic and light brown pants, soft from years of use. She smiled at her, walking over and wrapping an arm around her, gently touching the corset "I swear... One day I'll manage to convince you that you don't need to wear these to be beautiful." She kissed her cheek, smiling softly "Now lets go..." She led her out, keeping an arm around them as she walked. Even if she did have a lot to wear she was stuck with the same tunic.

"What do you mean darling? That's the only underwear I can put on...Else my breast will be showing" Catra looked up at her and gave her a small chuckle while walking with her by her side Adora giggled softly

"There are plenty of other things to wear... You don't see me wearing corsets do you?" She smiled, dropping the conversation though once they got to the kids, smiling softly. After a while they would all be ready to go, with Catra announcing the ponies would be a present for them. Their eyes sparkled and of course the girl ran to choose her own. Jack's eyes lit up as well, running to choose his as well, luckily running for the other one rather than the one the little girl wanted. Catra leaned close to her wife and chuckled when the children began to run and rode their ponies.

She rode on her own horse as she followed the leader, Adora, to guide them to that cliff. Thankfully they didn't need guards or servants around. Once they arrived, she took a seat on the grass, having the kids run around or even playing as they saw just how huge this place was.

The knight tied up all the horses, smiling as they all ran around, walking over to sit with her wife.
The feline leaned close to her wife and nuzzled close to her "I love you..~" She smiled brightly but after some moments the younger girl approached the brunette and held her hand.

"Can I show you something?.. come with me" She didn't want Adora to see her trick again, her eyes looked down at her as Catra got surprised by her words and looked at her wife.

"Is it a secret honey? I.. mean your mom wouldn't mind seeing what you wanted to show me" When the young woman approached, Adora hesitated before just shaking her head, smiling softly at her wife

"Go, I'll be okay. I'll watch over Jack..." She looked up at her daughter then, gently ruffling her hair "I love you kiddo... Now go on, I'll wait here"

"okay..." Catra felt bad for that but she didn't say anything, just followed the shorter one as the boy walked up to the blonde mom "Mommy... Are you okay?" The boy was curious.
She looked up at the young boy, just smiling softly, gesturing for him to sit close and wrapping an arm around him "I just... Made a mistake. Your sister is upset with me and I have to try and make it right. I will, it just takes time.." She looked at him then, kissing his forehead gently "But we have plenty of time. I'll help her feel better and so will your mom.." She smiled gently at him then "I'm so proud of you both..."
"she loves you... She's just a little bit upset... She expected to see you happy for her and you got all... Weirded out" He admitted it, making her smile and nod

"I know. I.. Got scared. Because of who may have given her that magic. But I love her no less, and I am happy for her."

The feline, on the other hand, smiled brightly at the magic trick. She followed Adora's words and didn't show she was worried. Once they were back she sat beside Adora and purred "hey, love?... should we tell them now?"

"Tell us what?" The kids answered quickly

Adora looked up when they came back then, smiling gently at Catra and nodded

"I think we should," She grinned. Catra smiled a little before pulling the girl close to her lap and letting the boy go to Adora's. She nuzzled close to her before she spoke. "Well... Let's say that... You will soon have another smaller sister or brother to take care of.. so you two have to be good and take care of the younger one ,okay? Protect them even, so you have to learn how to fight well with the sword and magic" She obviously didn't expect them to know how to fight but Lena wouldn't go to a mage to teach her magic if she didn't put it that way.
The girl clapped her hands and embraced the feline only to grin "You don't know if it's a boy or a girl? I want a sister!" She teased

The warrior laughed softly, smiling as Catra explained, wrapping her arms around her son and hugging him close, pressing a soft kiss to the top of his head "they are going to be younger than you. I trust you both can help us keep them safe right?" She looked between both their kids then, noticing what Catra was doing by saying they had to be good at fighting "and no, we have no way of knowing if it's a boy or girl right now but either way we will be happy. You two will have a little sibling to grow and play with, once they're old enough of course"

"I bet they will like me more!" The girl giggled ,making the boy whine and obviously say the opposite.

Catra patted her head softly, brushing her hair back off her face. "They will like you both. I'm sure they will love you just as much as you will love them" She placed a kiss on her forehead and grinned "Do you want to go back? The night is falling." She spoke in a soft tone since the boy was getting a little bit sleepy after an hour of being there and he laid down on Adora's torso.

The blonde smiled softly at the young boy, just nodding "yeah, lets get heading home, okay sweetie?" she smiled at them, before scooping the young boy up, humming softly "I'll let him ride with me, since he's so sleepy. Lena, love, do you want to ride with your mommy or do you want to ride on your own?"

"my own.. I'm not sleepy yet" She hummed and got picked up by Catra only to give her a small kiss on her cheek. "Let's go~" She placed her on the pony before she rode her own. When they all got ready ,she finally moved to ride back home. The cold air brushed her skin, it was obvious they would be a little cold because of the woods and the wind. It took them some minutes to go back and walk into the house. The servants waited for them as they offered to prepare the table to eat or to dress them up to sleep. "Jack is already sleeping.. Lena- Just ran in her room so I believe we will go to sleep?" Adora spoke, the girl ran into the hall as a maid would follow her inside.
Catra though looked back at the blonde one. It felt... Good, today was really a beautiful day. She had to admit that.

Adora declined on eating at the moment, right then she just wanted to get her son to bed, and spend some time with her wife. She carried him over to their room, laying him on his bed and humming softly, tucking him in and gently kissing his forehead. She smiled softly at her daughter then, kissing her forehead as well, wishing her a good night before she left. She went to her wife again and wrapped her arms around her "we need to do that more often.. maybe every Wednesday..?"

"yeah....I missed spending time with them actually" She admitted while having her maid to undress her, even Adora seemed to not care to talk around them as if she was alone with her wife at this point. Her eyes looked at her through the mirror and smiled "You have the best ideas ~"

The girl smiled in return, kissing her cheek before moving so the maid was able to undress her, though she still insisted on doing some things herself, including dress and undress herself "mm why thank you my love. Though I wouldn't say I don't all the time... and you have incredible ideas too" she smiled at her, changing into more comfortable clothing for bed, taking her hair out of its ponytail as well.

Catra let her hair down as well, walking towards her and laying on top of her, wrapping her arms around her. The maid picked her things and left them to rest at that moment. Adora was so beautiful with her hair down and she knew Catra preferred her like that. "I have the best wife..." She whispered, placing kisses on her lips.
Adora reached up and ran a hand through her hair, her other hand wrapped around her waist "mm.. no I have the best wife..." she spoke just as softly, returning the kisses with a soft, content smile "I love you so much... I hope Lena will forgive me though.. I don't know how to make it up to her.."

"hey she has... She's just a little brat" Catra joked obviously, her smile bright and she laid her head on top of her chest "She's happy that I smiled when she showed it to me.. and she is happy for you trying to explain and not yelling at her so.. she doesn't hate you or something" She hummed and leaned closer ,kissing her lips and closing her eyes while holding her close. "I want them to be happy... I was so anxious about .. telling them that they will have a sibling.. some children don't take it as easy"

The other one giggled softly, hugging her close "she takes after you then" she joked right back before just nodding "I won't yell at her for something that isn't her fault… and.. I'm going to find someone that can teach her magic.. someone that can help her learn to control it.. I'm sure it'll only get stronger as she gets older.. and I don't want her to grow up not knowing how because we forced her to hide it" she kissed her back, before nodding

"yeah.. I know, I'm glad they took it so well... I love them so much... and I love you, my gorgeous wife and amazing queen" She smiled, gently rubbing her back.

Catra blushed softly at that, she was always so flirty ,her eyes felt weak while trying to keep massaging her shoulder gently with her thumb "You're the best warrior... How could a queen not have the best warrior as a wife?" She questioned and smiled while mumbling something else too but obviously she didn't hear it due to how sleepy she felt as well.

The knight kissed the top of her head gently, just smiling softly as she fell asleep, rubbing her back. Adora paused only for a moment before she kissed her forehead, gently singing the lullaby she had sung so many years ago for her. She was cradling her close as she let her wife rest, knowing she definitely earned it. Adora though was kept up for a while that night, worrying about her daughter, and hoping she could find a way to make it up to her, even if she wasnt really upset. Catra didn't have to worry only about that though she knew the girl was just upset for now and after a day she would again be cheerful around her. She slept peacefully during that night ,in the arms of her knight as the other one slowly did sleep beside her as well.
Suddenly, around midnight, Lena's voice echoed as one of the horses made enough noise for a light sleeper to wake up. Then its steps on the ground were heard but that didn't actually wake Catra up. She was still sleeping quietly, maybe the feline was tired. Adora though jerked up, due to the war of course she would be a light sleeper. Immediately realising what happened when she heard the voice she got up, shaking Catra awake before she threw a jacket and shoes on "Lena's out there on a horse, I heard her scream we have to go, Catra grab other people to go get her. I'll go out now and try to find her… she mustn't be too far, hurry"

The feline at first didn't wake up but when she shook her she gasped and opened her eyes wide, mostly because it was too late for her to be out but also afraid of her getting hurt. She stood up ,throwing a cloak on top of the blonde. "Go, I'll go call the guards." She spoke quickly and wore a robe , clearly running out.

Jack was still sleeping. Didn't know about the girl's plans but the young girl only held the horse tightly to not fall down. She wanted to go for a walk but the pony seemed to be scared of the sudden ride. She yelled and tried to stop it, finally succeeding after some minutes but again.. She was in the middle of nowhere. Trees around and she had no...torch or..anything to see in the dark. The girl was soon scared as the noises of the creatures in the woods made her almost sob. Her hands held the animal tight but soon she would hear a noise. Footsteps actually. "Mom?" The girl perked her head to see if that was her mom but she was too wrong. Someone from the palace had spoken out of these secret walls and let enemies find out that the child had magic powers, dark magic. Some didn't mind that at all but others, especially from Mystacore and BrightMoon teamed up to prevent this young female from growing up to become a sorceress. It was just a bad timing that they were in a group hiding in the woods and waiting for a good moment for the royal family to pass by or just for the girl to go out so that was...a good opportunity Adora did not hesitate before she ran out. She didn't even bother putting a saddle on her horse when she got there, leaping onto his back and digging her foot into his side, grabbing his mane "go Swiftwind! go, now!" As he kicked off into a gallop, she grabbed a torch as she passed it, lifting it high as she ran, holding his mane to steer her horse as she looked around, calling out for her daughter "LENA! LENA WHERE ARE YOU?!" she tried to follow the tracks of the pony, but they disappeared after a while and with a growl she just headed in that direction, not realising that the pony had taken a turn after the tracks disappeared "LENA!"
The men made the girl fall off the pony with a cry, the pony ran away and the girl stumbled on her feet as the men chased after her. Her eyes couldn't see in the dark just like her brother's could so she did stumble a lot while trying to hide from them. She ran and ran, getting more lost than closer to the house but she didn't know where else to go,she had to hide from these assassins. Adora said a lot of things about strangers and especially assassins were the main reason why the two children didn't go out alone. Her small form hid behind some bushes and trees as she tried to keep being quiet even though now she could hear Adora's voice in the distance. She tried to follow it but she got caught by one man by the hair as he pulled her back ,letting out a loud scream for the blonde to hear. Eyes were tearful and she cried out when the man placed a dagger up her throat, yelling at her to shut up and nobody will hear her in the woods. He didn't wait though long as the characteristic dagger of the guild of Bright Moon's rebels cut the child's throat from one side to the other. She opened her eyes as she felt the pain both mixed with fear and the crimson liquid crawling down her neck. Lena fell to the ground, gasping and trembling as the man spit on the ground and pushed his foot over her, already bloody and dirty by the grass and soil dress.

Adora was terrified and frantic, desperate to find her daughter before someone or something else found her. She lifted the torch up as high as she could to look for her. When she heard the scream her eyes widened, spinning Swiftwind around and charging in that direction. Her heart raced, begging the goddess that she wouldn't be too late. Though, when she finally arrived at where Lena was, as she leapt off her horse and ran to her side, she didn't see the blood at first, calling out her name. When she finally scooped her up, seeing the blood she just froze for a moment. Her heart stopped and stomach sank, dropping the torch and it went out "No... No no no Lena? Lena, baby it's okay, I'm right here, y-you can wake up now.. You're safe.. Baby? Lena?!" She put a hand on her neck, trying to heal her but it was too late, and leaning over the body that she cradled close to her. She sobbed, the cries shaking her body, screaming out in anguish, as well as anger, clinging to her body tightly but the female was long gone when she arrived. Under her there was a pool of blood because of the spot that she got cut. She wasn't even able to keep herself alive for the mother to come, to see she was there for her even if she was late or to not be so scared since Adora would be there to calm her down. Her attempts to heal her didn't work. Her lifeless body laid in her embrace. The weapon that killed her was already on the ground showing that they were stronger than them but at the same time giving out the nation's name.

Catra seemed to have called the rest of the guards since they ran to her when they heard the cry. They did get frozen by the sight of the young child but they didn't say anything to the woman. There were no words they could tell to comfort her.
When she finally realised it wasn't working she let out another broken sob, hugging her body as close as she could, leaning over her as she cradled her close, crying into her daughter's body. She didn't care when the others came. She didn't even notice. She knelt there, crying long after she no longer had tears to shed, hugging her daughter's body as close as she could. When she finally got herself to look up and saw the dagger she reached out, picking it up, her grief turned to anger as soon as she recognized her voice was hoarse from crying. Her throat was sore but that didn't stop her.

"Brightmoon. Brightmoon killed my daughter.... and they will answer for this."

The war has began

The guards knew the woman needed time, seeing such things was kind of usual these days but it was as painful as always. A woman from the guards who managed to find the strength to step out couldn’t speak yet. The wolves were already out and the night would be long if they stayed out for more. She wanted to show her somehow that she had to stand on her feet and go back home. Even if the child was dead. Obviously the feline was still worried sick ,pacing down the hall while her governess was trying to calm her down. What took Adora so long? But on the other hand ...it was a large forest, could she even find Lena?

The warrior grabbed the knife tightly in one hand, the other holding her daughter's body. She climbed up onto her horse, though she didn't say anything as she rode back. By the time she got back to the entrance of the castle, tears were rolling down her face once more and she got off her horse. Her body was covered in her own daughter's blood, hands shaking. Now that she was home she didn't know what to do, so she just stood there. Her daughter's body was in her arms. She was cradling her close as if she was still alive, as if she could still feel.

Catra heard the horses running back to the palace as she ran down the stairs. Her governess was behind her but at the first sight she froze. Her eyes looked at her. Lena's body seemed to be numb but she didn't know if Adora healed her. The first step was hesitant but the rest were quick to approach the woman. "A-.. Adora what..what happened. Did you heal her? Did she lose too much blood?" The feline already felt like she knew the answer but she didn't want to hear that. She wanted to know that she healed her, that Lena would be okay after one... Two days... Even a week. She turned around and ordered a servant to go bring the doctor as they ran away. "Tell me she's going to be alright ...please" She didn't even see where she was hurt since Adora held her tight in her embrace.

The other woman just teared up again. She couldn't tell her. Couldn't get herself to say it so all she did was shake her head, hesitating before she moved her arm so she could see. "I couldn't- I-I tried-... I-.. I was too late..." she started sobbing again, lowering her head "b-brightmoon.. they-... t-they.."

The feline widened her eyes ,ears twitched back. She didn't even know how she found the strength to stand straight at the moment but she did and a hand reached up to cup Lena's cheek. Her breaths became shaky and her eyes flickered from looking at her wife to the child again. "No..... No you can heal her... I .. I know you can Adora... Heal her. Do it please. I - I know you can't let her go. Not now. Please..!" Catra glared, desperately trying to make Adora try again. She clung to her clothes, tears rolling down her face while pushing just a little bit the blonde. "Heal her!! Why can't you!? You can do everything!" She almost cried out.

The governess walked closer ,her hand touching Catra's shoulder as the doctor arrived, running. The man looked up at them as the older woman spoke "We have to take her in... Please, lady Adora, can I take her to the couch? You'll come with me and the doctor of course" She couldn't cry ,this moment was for the couple to mourn not her too so she had to be strong for Catra and Catra could be strong for her wife.

"I already tried.. Catra I already tried.." Adora stepped back when her wife pushed her, just looking down as she cried softly "I failed... I failed her.. I failed you... I-I failed our son.. I'm so sorry..." She looked away when the governess spoke, hesitating before she replied "I'm carrying her... I'll-.. I'll take her..."

"And you dare to speak!?! My daughter is dead because Shera can't heal!" The brunette cried out, her pain turned into anger as the woman hissed at her wife. Even though the governess tried to make space for the warrior to walk and mainly calm Catra down she failed. The feline cried and gasped. Her knees were weak. When the other had to walk inside she knelt down. Her cries were low but her voice still cracked and sobbed. "Please...Please bring her back... I want her... I want my child back!" She cried out, her hands held on her leg begging the blonde to bring her back as the older woman tried to pull her up.

"your majesty... there's nothing more she can do.. She wants her alive too... please.." Daniella spoke quietly.

Adora didn't walk away though. She knelt there right in front of her, tears still rolling down her cheeks as she watched her "..and you think I don't want her back...? I can't... I tried.. I wish I could... I'm so sorry.." she hesitated before she got up again just following the doctor away in a spare room with their daughter in her arms, keeping her head high even as she cried.

The queen stayed back. Her eyes were still tearful but she couldn't go any further. The girl cried while being on the floor, her governess kneeling beside her to slowly caress her shoulder and help her up "Lets go, please...the doctor already left something to calm you down by the table... You have to stay strong..."

"I don't want to be calm... I want my baby back... I want Lena back..!" Even if Catra cried, the girl didn't have many options.

Daniella guided her in her room and returned to them only to look up at the warrior. "My lady... I'm so sorry for your loss..... You will have to be strong" She hummed as the doctor didn't have many things to do either. Only patch up the wound and let the maids clean the girl up, since she was dead already. The fireplace was somehow adding some quiet noises in the deadly silence of the room.

Adora laid Lena down on the table they worked on, brushing her hair out of her face and gently kissing her forehead, hesitant to let her go. Her body had already gone cold, though she couldn't help it, wanting to comfort her child even after death. "I'm so sorry, my Lena.." she spoke softly against her forehead before she stepped back letting the doctors and the maids get to work. She still stayed in the room. She wouldn't talk to anyone else, just giving them a nod or a shake of her head as an answer, watching as they cleaned her up.

The governess looked up at her when she left the queen with the doctor. The older woman remained quiet till the doctor and the maids got her all cleaned and dressed up. "Lady Adora? Will you be alright?" The governess spoke, taking a step and obviously willing to leave her alone with the girl since she never got an answer. She bowed as she would then exit the room to leave her back with the girl.

The blonde just sat there, glancing up at her for a moment before nodding, waving her hand to dismiss her as she looked back at her daughter. She didn't know what she would do now, except for one thing. She will make Brightmoon pay, whatever the cost. For a moment, she thought about Glimmer, Bow and Angella. They couldn't have been behind this. They were her friends or at least allies. Right? Finally deciding something she got up quickly, pausing beside her daughter and kissing her forehead "I will avenge you.. I swear it.." she then walked out, heading for their room and sitting at Catra's desk to write a letter, scribbling the words down quickly.

The feline though wasn't in the room. The governess made sure for her to stay there but it seemed she had left again before Adora came back. She couldn't go into the room she knew the girl was. She only stared at the door for a while that felt like one or two minutes but it was more. She felt her heart skip, not wanting to agree that the girl was dead she only stepped away from the room towards the stairs.

Jack had gotten awakened by the yells from downstairs so the boy only reached out to his mom's nightdress, asking obviously about Lena since she wasn't in the room

"She's just sleeping in another room okay?" She spoke, smiling softly at the boy and picking him up "Do you want me to-" The feline heard something in the hallway that made her voice fade but she tried to avoid it. Her eyes looked back at the boy and embraced him "Just stay in your room okay? Go back. Mom has something to do right now, okay?" She spoke as the boy stood on the floor and waited as the feline walked towards the room where the girl was laying. She wasn't ready. Hell, she was never going to be ready to see her but she heard a noise.. What if she's awake? She hesitated to turn the door knob still though. Jack was still around and he almost followed the older one.

Meanwhile Adora finished the letter, signed it, put the wax seal on it and handed it off to a maid for her to send it out before walking quickly back to the room. Her hands were still bloody. She couldn't think about that though. She tried to focus on anything other than the feeling of her daughter's blood on her hands when she got there. She saw Jack and her wife in front of the room and she stepped forward quickly. Since she saw Jack was about to peek in the room "Jack, stay out of there!" she sounded angry before she stopped, taking a deep breath and closing her eyes for a moment "please, baby. Don't go in there. Not right now okay? Catra, I need to talk to you.. please. In private" she looked up at a maid passing by then, knowing she needed to clean off her hands "bring me a wet rag, I need to clean my hands. Jack, baby, go back to your room, please. Everything is gonna be okay... just get some sleep okay?" She wouldn't explain though and instead just walked into the room, still on edge.. still rushing, wishing she had been faster, that she had not hesitated.

The feline got stunned by the sudden appearance of the blonde one and looked up at her only to give a small smile at the boy who got taken by the maid back to his room. She then followed her wife and took a small breath "What is it..?" She hummed, mismatching coloured eyes looking at her.

"The blade was from Brightmoon.. I don't think Glimmer or Queen Angella was behind it... they wouldn't do something like this..." She hesitated. The maid came back with a rag and she cleaned her hands off though her clothes were still bloody "I think either someone framed them or.. someone from their kingdom went behind their back.. I sent a letter already.. I didn't say why but... I want to meet with them. All of them"

"Do you find a point in all this though..? I mean... Lena is not coming back.." Catra rolled her eyes softly and brushed her hair back, pausing for a while before speaking again. "I'm sorry.. I got angry earlier and it wasn't your fault" Her words were fading, clearly she would fall asleep once she had the chance to as a side effect of whatever she's taken. Her eyes looked at her and gave her a weak smile as she held her hands. "I was wrong and I know it...I love you.."

The blonde shook her head "of course it has a point. Of course it does.... but-... I know... I love you too... it's okay just-... just go get some rest. I'll take care of everything" she kissed her forehead gently, giving her a light smile before she let her go "go on love... I'll join you soon.."

"no...please, come rest with me..." She leaned close and gave her a small kiss on her lips. She wouldn't let her be up for longer. "We will do everything tomorrow..now it's probably past midnight to talk about staying awake... Please" She pulled her gently towards their room so she could lay her down if she allowed her to and lay beside her. Her arm wrapped around her and she gently caressed the woman's hair.

Adora shook her head "Catra I can't.. not right now.. please.." she let her drag her to the room though, sighing softly. She laid down with her then, wrapping an arm around her and just hugging her close "fine... alright.."

"I love you.... You're the best wife I could ever have" The feline whispered as her hand got slower and slower while brushing her hair. She wouldn't be able to sleep otherwise.

The blond girl could feel the strange smell already coming from Catra's cup of tea since she wouldn't be able to sleep if she didn't have anything or she wouldn't even apologise so quickly.

Jack on the other hand couldn't sleep. His sister was missing, Adora was angry when he tried to peek in that room...and Catra was ..weird as he could tell. He stood up after everyone was in bed and quickly sneaked into the room where Adora told her not to go to see the girl on the table. He approached just a little but he wasn't scared just...curious to..what happened and why the girl was there and so cold. Adora didn't tell him about death or anything so this all was new. He only walked out and knowing his mothers didn't bring Lena in her room he knocked on the door of their bedroom. "Mom?"

Adora let Catra sleep, though she didn't feel anywhere near able to fall asleep, so she just laid there, waiting for her to fall asleep before she got up. She was careful not to wake her before she got to work. Her mind was racing. She'd start one thing then set it aside and move to another and repeat over and over. When she heard Jack knock she walked over and opened the door "you should be asleep buddy... What is it? Are you okay?" she knelt down, looking at him.

"yeah .. I couldn't sleep.. Why isn't Lena sleeping in our room? She will catch a cold there.." When he realised he went to the room she told him not to go and went to ask her that he almost wanted to die immediately. His ears perked down. "I.... I mean... I'm sorry I..." He didn't find any excuse though.

The woman hesitated for a moment before she just knelt down, hugging him close and speaking softly "Jack... Lena she-.." she paused, trying to figure out how to explain it. She picked him up, taking him to their balcony to look at the stars, speaking softly "Jack.. sometimes people get hurt, really really badly.... or they live a good long life but.. either way the goddess calls them back to her side. Lena.. when she snuck out she got hurt by bad people who want to do bad things." She took a deep breath, looking up at him "everyone who leaves us, who joins the goddess who watches over us... they become a star, some are faint, some are bright but all of them are up there. And... that's where your sister is right now.. watching over us. Her body.. the part of her we can see, can touch, is still here. But her, the person she is, who she is.. is up there with the goddess.. you can't see her maybe can't feel or hear her anymore.. but she is still here... watching us and she'll take care of us until it's our time to join her beside the Goddess... do you understand?"

"And... And will you leave one day like that? Since you're old? Or... You will get hurt?.... Is Lena okay now? I mean.... I won't hear her anymore.. or play..?" The boy was sad and she could see it but he didn't say anything. Just his ears fell back and looked away. "Can't the goddess give her back for a little? Every night to tell her good night?" He continued as she rubbed his back gently, holding him close

"One day I will, baby. But not any time soon, I promise. I'm still gonna be here for a long time.." she kissed his forehead then, hugging him close "and I wish she could, baby boy... I wish she could... but she's watching over us from the stars now. Every night you can look up and wish her a good night.." she smiled softly at him then before kissing his forehead "why don't you sleep with us tonight.. okay? in our really big bed.. does that sound nice?"

The boy smiled a little and nodded quickly as he almost jumped down so he could walk to the room before waving at the sky and mumbling a good night. He did wait for her to join him inside, looking at her for a moment. "Won't you wish her a good night too?" He hummed and held her hand.

Adora looked at him for a moment before nodding, looking up at the sky again and waving as well "goodnight Lena... I'm gonna miss you but I know you're safe and happy now.."she smiled gently, taking a deep breath and looking down at him "now let's get to bed.. quietly okay? your mama is still sleeping.

"Did she wish for her too? Or did she forget her?" The boy whispered and crawled up on the bed ,his tail slowly curling around Catra's hand as she turned to the side so he could see her. The feline didn't wake up either. She would wake up early after last night's events. Jack though embraced Adora and nuzzled close to her while purring. "Goodnight mommy" He spoke after a while ,yawning softly.

Adora kissed the top of his head "don't worry.. she wished her a goodnight too. We won't ever forget about her" she laid down beside him, wrapping an arm around the both of them, kissing his forehead once more "goodnight baby boy... get some rest okay? there's going to be a lot to do tomorrow.."

"mhm" He did as he was told, falling asleep though only to wake up at the sunrise as the feline whimpered in her sleep. Her fists got tightened and her voice cracked calling for the deceased female with watery eyes. The boy obviously got worried ,he knelt on the mattress to push Adora to wake up softly "Mom" He spoke as the queen just spoke a little louder the last time before waking up with pants and tears.

Adora woke up again quickly, she had just fallen asleep maybe an hour earlier, though she had already known she wouldn't get much sleep. When she realised what had happened, she quickly hugged her wife close, kissing her forehead gently "hey.. hey baby.... Catra, love, focus on me... okay? Just focus on me.." She rocked her gently, rubbing her back and holding her close. She let her cry, running her fingers through her hair.

The feline wouldn't hold back. Her tears ran down her face ,whimpering and holding her tightly. She didn't notice at first the presence of the boy in the room "My little girl..... I want my little girl.." She whimpered and sobbed between her tears ,burying her face to hide on her neck as the boy furrowed his eyebrows.

Jack could tell his mom was.... More than sad and that made him more worried. "Mom... Lena is alright..." The boy spoke looking at her and then up at Adora. Watching her cry made him feel like it was all wrong ,like Adora was wrong and Catra was right to cry about Lena being up to the sky.

Adora hugged her close, rocking her gently and trying to soothe her, just hugging and kissing her gently. When the boy spoke up she opened her arm, just pulling him close as well and speaking softly "she misses her... I miss her too, baby boy... we can't see her.. can't hear her... she's with the goddess now.." she had to be strong, for all of them. So she pushed her grief, her emotions aside for them. Instead she hugged them close and let Catra grieve while trying not to let her son get hurt "Lena's in a safe place now..." she paused, kissing the top of his head and speaking softly "go get dressed okay, baby boy? Mommy will feel better soon.. she just misses her right now"

The boy remained in the embrace while she was talking. He crawled away only to look at her and nod. He was sad to see her like that but even if he missed her too already he didn't say anything than leave to dress up. They would both do the same things all the time, dress up, eat , practice ,play and her absence was truly a deep pain.

Catra on her side was still crying after the boy left, clinging on Adora and whimpering quietly. "I want her back..." She said between her sobs.

Adora hugged her close, holding her gently and sitting up against the bed frame, putting her on her lap "I know my love. I know... I do too.. I miss her so much.." she held her close, rocking her gently "I already explained it to Jack. You don't need to worry about that, okay? I can take care of everything, I promise.... I miss her too, baby... I'm so sorry..." she of course still felt it was her fault. Maybe if she had gotten there faster or maybe if she could have actually healed her she could have brought her back. She felt useless now but she wouldn't let herself wallow in those feelings. She had to be there for her wife and her son.

"You don't have to, Adora..... You don't have to take care of everything... We lost a child. It wasn't someone else's child..... You have the right to cry about it..." She pulled away looking at her and cupping her cheek. She leaned close and kissed her softly "I want them all dead...really I do.. I want whoever did this to her to pay.." She whispered and leaned close to her again in an attempt to stay by her side.

Adora hesitated at that, looking away "not yet... there's too much to do... later. I'll.. I'll deal with it later.... until then just-.. let me take care of you. Please." she took a deep breath, looking back at her then "..and I swear to you; I will kill them all myself. But.. we need to find out who exactly did this"

"I don't want you to keep it all inside, Adora...we said we will talk all the time..." She was trying to stay still and slowly stop crying. She didn't want to be as weak as before. She didn't want to feel helpless because of this loss. She had enemies. She knew it and she couldn't let this bring her down "My governess took care of the ceremony..." She spoke and looked up at her before she cupped her cheek "Do you want only today to both mourn..and then we will kill whoever caused this..it's the best option I have to offer at this point.. my governess was right to tell me about the newborn... I can't risk my health and its health.. but I can't go to any meeting with the rest of the princesses like nothing happened..." Since the funeral would be quick she didn't want Adora to keep being emotionless.

Adora shook her head, just looking away "I'll be fine. I need to be calm for this. I'll mourn later... I already set up a meeting with Glimmer and the Queen, as well as a few other duchesses and dukes to figure out who exactly did this." she took a deep breath, just looking forward "I need to be able to think logically about this, Catra. You don't have to join the meeting if you aren't able to. I won't blame you... but let me do this my way. Please." she looked back at her again, kissing her forehead "you and Jack need to mourn. I told him that she is with the goddess.. watching over us from the stars. I told him he could say goodbye every night to her.... that's the best I could do... he'll have questions.. I know he will. I can't afford to get emotional, he's too young"

"Adora please... I want to be there with you... Please I can't see her in a coffin.. I can't be alone in mourning ... I hate it .. I want to be with you... I want this day to be her day. A day for Lena, okay? You can have a meeting, we can have a meeting later on not today... Please" She almost begged for it. She looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips to make her able to listen just a little bit. "I want us to be together on everything.."

Adora looked away "the meeting is not today.. it will take time for the note to arrive, and for a response... but I can't... I can't let myself get emotional. I won't be able to pull myself out of it in time..." she cupped her cheek then, looking down at her with a weak smile "I'll be there by your side... I promise you.. just-... let me deal with this my own way.. please, Catra... I need to do this"

"okay..." The girl hummed, leaning close and nuzzling against her. She would try to keep calm while there, she didn't want to be all weak. The girl stood up after a second and took a soft breath "I will go check up on Jack .... I feel bad for making him so worried... He was most of the time with Lena .. he must feel the difference already" She spoke in a soft tone, wiping her tears away.

The blonde nodded and got up, kissing her cheek and speaking softly "it's okay... you were upset. That's not your fault. I'm gonna go make sure breakfast is ready... We still need to eat. Once that is done I'll... I'll get ready for the funeral." she sighed softly, hesitating before she let go. She got dressed quickly even though she didn't want to. She took a deep breath and left the room once she was dressed, heading to see if breakfast was ready as she had said.

The other nodded and got the boy ready for the funeral as well. She found a good way to put it simply and make it up like they would only tell her body a goodbye so she could leave them and be with that goddess Adora told her. Once the time has come though the girl was trying hard to not let herself fall again in the same mistake. She didn't want Jack to be traumatised or Adora's work to be difficult. She leaned close to the woman's shoulder and rested there for a while.

Adora stood there with her, her head high. She held Catra and her son close, an arm around the both of them. She kept herself strong for them, still seemingly emotionless for the time being. Eventually she lifted her son, holding him on her hip as they approached her to say goodbye, leaning down and kissing her forehead before moving so they could say their own goodbyes.

The queen would place a kiss on her forehead, her hand gently brushing her hair while trying to hold back the tears that were escaping. By taking a deep breath she stood up tall and walked away after giving her a goodbye kiss. She tried too hard to stay calm and truly it surprised her even "I love you... Both of you" She murmured, placing a kiss on her wife's lips and on Jack's cheek.

The warrior hugged her close as soon as she came back, just kissing the top of her head gently, closing her eyes "I love you too baby. I'm so sorry.." She left it at that though, kissing her son's forehead though "no classes for a bit buddy... me and your mom have a lot to do... but you can sleep with us for a while okay? I know it's going to be.. different, not having her around all the time.."

"you couldn't do much... I'm the one who should apologise...to you.. you tried your best and ... I didn't see it" Catra leaned still against her ,wrapping her arms around her.

The little boy, even if he was struggling to not cry, smiled at the announcement of the classes. "Yeah... It's too quiet... Honestly" He murmured and wiped his eyes. Men don't cry! He heard from somewhere and he was a man!

Adora hugged them both close, kissing the top of his head before smiling weakly at her wife "I could have done better.... but-.. that's not the point... let's just... lets get everything taken care of okay..? We will probably have a meeting in a week... the note will get there soon I hope... though we need to wait for a response so it may be two weeks" She sighed softly, looking at her son and realising he was trying not to cry. She kissed his forehead then, hugging him close "It's okay to cry buddy... we all miss her.. it's okay"

"sooner... We aren't far and the messenger is way faster than anyone I've seen." Catra, though, noticed the boy and brushed his hair slowly "Everyone will miss her, Jack... Crying isn't something you should be hiding.... It will only cause you harm ..." She hummed and embraced the boy as he began to sob and teared up already. She picked him up ,wrapping her arms around him and letting him cry while holding him tight. Her eyes looked down before looking at Adora. This would be more difficult than she thought ..."I'll tell my governess to take care of you. I won't work much today... So ... We can play okay?" She spoke to him to cheer him up,not wanting to leave him alone.

Adora nodded, hugging them both when he started to cry. She kissed the back of his head before sighing softly "we'll all miss her... but she's safe now... I promise.. safe and happy" she looked at her wife for a moment before looking away again, holding them close "yeah buddy, we can play all day today, whatever you want.."

Catra remained quiet for now. She didn't see the boy's reaction and obviously he couldn't be okay with the whole thing of Lena being gone for good. Her eyes closed and she rested her head on Adora's shoulder and nuzzled close to her. "Let's go...we can't stay here forever" She hummed softly and pulled slowly away as the boy stopped crying and just sobbed a little. She held him in her arms and gave him a last, for now, hug before smiling. "Adora, are you ready?"

Adora let him cry as long as he needed too, letting Catra stay close as well before she nodded "Yeah... C'mon buddy.. We'll find something to do." She rubbed his back gently, glancing at her wife before she gently led them away, nodding to her wife, kissing her forehead softly "I love you both so much..."

"I love you too ...." Both of them spoke at the same time making Catra smile and brush his hair softly "Go change clothes" She missed hours of spending around her children and she... Sacred every single memory she had with Jack and obviously Lena.

Adora nodded, kissing her forehead again "I will... All day is for you two and if that means no work, then I won't work" She hesitated then before she walked off to change her clothes to something more comfortable and casual.

The other girl did the same as she let the boy change his clothes to something casual too. Catra walked in the room with Adora still dressing up, she leaned against the door and brushed her hair back, taking off her black cap and taking a deep breath. "I feel like all this is a long lasting nightmare..." She admitted before continuing. "...As if I will wake up one day to see them both playing with the newborn..."

Adora nodded, closing her eyes and sighing softly "I wish it was... I wish we could just... Wake up..." She sighed softly once again, looking over at her. She finished dressing before walking over, hugging her from behind and just pressing into her "It'll be okay... I'll find who did this. I'll make them pay for what they did... I swear"

"It was only yesterday I had her in my arms... How... Why did they take her..." Catra didn't know what to think...why and who did this. For what reason? Because she was a mage? She was a child. The feline tightened her fist when she embraced her "I will too.. I don't want them dead.. I want them to suffer" She hissed "Trust me... I have plenty of ideas in mind..." She growled softly before she took a deep breath "But... Now is not the time for that... We have to focus on our son... Need to make sure that he is okay..."

"I don't know if they will be after him... especially now... That they'll know we are around him more than ever.." Adora spoke softly, reaching to hold her arm and pull her close, embracing her tightly this time "I don't know... I don't know if this was just because she was our daughter or... Something else but we-... We'll find out as soon as we find them.."

"I really can't forgive myself for blaming you about this .... I shouldn't have... I can't believe what I said that night..." Catra felt guilty for her being so mean to the knight. She did her best and she knew it but she still shouldn't have spoken that moment.

When she started apologising though the blonde girl shook her head "No, you were right. It's my fault... My fault she's gone... I should have been quicker... Should have trained the ponies better... Taught her better.. something..."

"no.... No, she was well trained... The only thing that killed her was to disobey us and go out at night... If you weren't there to ride and find her we wouldn't have even found her now..." Catra whispered and clung more on her. She took a shaky breath and sighed "We couldn't have known... The idea of giving them ponies wasn't the best one but... Even the horse wasn't at fault" She hummed.

Adora shook her head, still blaming herself but she didn't say anything more just nodding and rubbing her back "Right. I guess.." She hesitated before rubbing her back "Let's go take care of our son"

"mhm... Will you wait for me to get ready? Guess what .. corsets are a no from now on... Doctor said" She smiled just a little bit ,trying to just not think about their loss and only. "Do you think the baby will be a girl..?" She hummed and looked down at the floor.

Adora nodded then, kissing her forehead before she sat down on the bed to wait for her. "Good... I prefer you without the corsets anyway.." She hesitated at the question though just looking away "I don't know. I hope it's a boy. I cant-... I don't think I could stand having a baby girl so soon after we lost her"

"I hope so too....." Catra hummed. The conversation still jumped back but she didn't try to continue it. She only quietly undressed and wrapped her chest with a cloth only for her to put on her dress. "What do you suggest? Having a walk....? Play with swords and fight?" She spoke after a while. She learnt from her the basics so she didn't mind playing like that with the boy.

Adora shook her head "Walk maybe. I don't... I don't want to play swords." She hesitated before she stood up again, walking over and mumbling "You're beautiful my love... Now c'mon.. Why don't we just ask him what he wants to do"

The feline nodded. She really could tell that even if Adora was serious she felt it was all wrong. She preferred to have her cry just like her for day and night than....this. She turned around looking at her and cupping her cheek "Bottling it up won't work.... I'm worried.." She whispered and she kissed her lips but sighed in defeat.

Adora kissed her back but she just shook her head in response "I can't. Jack needs me.. And it wont take me just a day or two of grieving. Not.. It's bad that it only took you that long of crying... You grieve in your own way and I grieve in my own but... It takes a long time. I can't afford that right now." That was all she would explain on the matter after that.

Catra took some steps away as she opened the door to head off to the little boy "Hey Jack? My dear we're here" She hummed as she knocked on the door to enter.

The blonde opened the door for her wife after she knocked "Jack?"

The feline would be grieving every day. Even if she didn't spend as much time as Adora did with them she raised them too. She almost got weak to death to deliver them both and she wouldn't forget any single moment of them being small or growing up. She loved them just as much and it hurt her more than she could express into words. Catra didn't have a choice ,but to act up a little bit happy for the sake of the child. Jack did nothing to deserve them to be grumpy and cry all day and night.

The boy meanwhile was just packing into a box the girl's things, her dolls ,her dagger, even her clothes were in that box as he kept collecting. "Yes mom? I got distracted...." He admitted. He was still with the same clothes as in the funeral and the queen walked towards him to pick him up.

"Okay.... I'll force you then to change clothes" Catra ruffled his hair as the boy chuckled and tried to get off her grip. She noticed the box though but didn't say anything about it.

Adora didn't say anything else and of course she knew that Catra would be grieving long after but if she allowed herself to feel that pain now she wouldn't be able to force herself to pretend to be okay.. to pretend to be happy. She stayed in the doorway as they talked, smiling slightly as she watched them. She looked at the box for a moment. Her smile fading as she did before she forced herself to turn her attention back to him "we're letting you choose today buddy. Whatever you want to do we can do today"

The queen wrapped her arm around him more to hold him steady and wagged her tail. She continued to look at the things he had packed but then her look focused on him as he spoke

"I ... Want to go out... " The boy mostly wanted to go for a walk but at the same time he wanted to play with other kids. Alone in the castle was really weird even if it was for a night.

Adora hesitated for a moment before nodding "alright we can do that. We can go for a walk around the castle grounds. Maybe stroll in the garden?" she was hoping he didn't mean outside outside, not wanting to go out there, not yet. Not ever, actually, but she couldn't say that out loud to him. If he asked to go outside, then she would come with him.

The boy's ears fell as he heard the ..inside the castle. "I'm tired of going around here... I meant out to the kingdom...mom said before that it has many beautiful places.. "She looked up at her and Catra poked his cheek

"yes but it was different back then... I mean we don't know if anyone is following us" She saw in Adora's eyes that she didn't want to go out of the castle so she tried to change his mind.

The other mother stood up though, just offering her hand "of course we can go. I.. didn't prepare to go out but that's alright. It won't hurt the civilians to see us in normal clothing every so often" she ruffled his hair, before scooping him up into a hug "c'mon buddy.. let's go for that walk"

The days would go on like this.They would both try to be there for their son and Catra would try to not mourn thanks to the herbs she was taking.

Daniella was as well around the boy, playing with him or going around the palace's grounds since Adora wanted to escort the boy if he went out of these boundaries.

Catra let go of her pain while being alone with her governess and Adora.. probably bottling everything up for a week or more. The boy finally began to meet with other children ,from mostly poor rather than wealthy families only because Catra was more scared of the rich in the Horde than the poor citizens. The letter of Adora's finally got a reply. The meeting with princesses and princes would be in less than a night and they had to stay at night to the Bright Moon's territory.

Catra left Jack to her governess. The trust in this woman was more than enough to make her able to leave the little boy alone after what happened to her girl.

Adora had barely been able to sleep more than maybe an hour or two each night, too worried about falling asleep and waking up to her son's scream, to the sound of thundering hooves. She usually watched over the children while they played, staying far enough back so she wouldn't scare the kids off of course but close enough to be able to watch over him, knowing she was being overprotective but she couldn't help it.

While in Brightmoon, Adora and Catra were now laying in the same bed. The same room Catra had several years ago when they first met up. That night in brightmoon though, the blonde didn't even get an hour of sleep. Adora knew the governess, knew she wouldn't hurt him, wouldn't let anything happen to him but even then she couldn't help her fears keeping her up. She stared up at the ceiling as she laid there with her wife, hesitating before she spoke softly "you're sure he'll be okay while we're gone.. right..? I mean we won't be gone for long.. Right?"

"we're out for a day.... I know... I'm scared too, Adora...but please calm down .. My governess would die for him and you know it...she already felt responsible for Lena.." Catra didn't wait for too long. Whenever her fears would take over or can't sleep she always had the herbs doctor gave her so she could calm down so this time wasn't different. She didn't know if it was okay for the baby to take the herbs but since the doctor gave them to her ,she supposed it wouldn't affect it. "Want a cup of tea...? You will calm down a little... Maybe sleep properly for once... The meeting is tomorrow and you have to be strong..." Even though she would be the one talking first.

Adora shook her head "I know she will... Just-... What if it's not enough..." She looked away for a moment before she just sighed softly "I don't want the tea. I'll be fine just... Get some rest okay baby? I'll sleep soon." She held her close, kissing the top of her head and pulling her closer by her waist.

The feline leaned against her, laying on her chest and resting her head there while feeling her heartbeat "....I couldn't stay back since I'm the queen and you're the one calling the meeting so none of us could stay..." She whispered and poked her chest gently "Remember our first eye contact....?" She whispered after some minutes of silence. This place was bringing her memories of the past that she had to admit she missed so much.

Adora sat there in silence for a few moments, though when she mentioned when they first met, she smiled slightly "How could I forget? You were so... Perfect. Even behind a mask"

"...And you were stunning...how could I trick such a beauty.... So kind and tender...." The brunette caressed her chest while speaking and nuzzled her neck with soft purrs. Her tail slowly wrapped around her thigh. "I knew I was in love only by that glance... really..."

The blonde smiled, cupping her cheek and kissing her softly before she responded "Love at first sight... I never really believed in it until I met you.." She smiled softly at her, gently caressing her cheek"And you are still just as perfect... So many years later... So much heartbreak and sorrow. You are still my perfect, gorgeous wife"

The brunette smiled at her words and she slowly nuzzled her cheek on her hand. "And you're my great knight... The best warrior I've ever met... manlier than any man can be" She chuckled at the last but it was true. She was thinking sometimes if she deserved such a knight by her side. Her not-flat anymore belly touched her ribs as she placed a leg over her thighs.

Adora leaned into her, closing her eyes and running her fingers through her hair "That's right... I'm all yours my love. And you're all mine." She put a hand on her stomach then, smiling softly at her.

"I love you....my knight" She whispered ,leaning close. Her scent was making her feel more sleepy and calm than before. She was hoping the same would happen with Adora too. She had her tail around her and her purrs were as always audible.

"I love you too.. My princess" The blonde girl rubbed her back with her other hand, letting her fall asleep against her. She got maybe an hour more sleep then she usually did, which wasn't much but at least it was more than usual.

Catra slept obviously for the rest of the night. Her nightmares seemed to pass by after these days. Her eyes opened slowly when she heard the woman was still awake. A soft sigh escaped her lips. "I live for the day you will have a full night's rest....is it sunrise yet..? The meeting is after the sunrise" Her voice was rough because of the sleep but she didn't care.

Adora just chuckled at the comment, nodding and sighing "Yeah I do too...." She shook her head, sighing "Almost, but not yet. It's starting to get light though. Maybe half an hour, hour? I don't know"

"Mhm... want to remember the past and cuddle up just like before?" Catra whispered, clinging on to her and purring slightly at the feeling of her blonde wife beside her.

Adora laid back again when she offered that, just nodding and wrapping her arms around her, curling up "Yes please... That would be nice... I miss those days... So much..." She sighed softly, closing her eyes as she held onto her

"I miss them too... I miss your will to fight for me.. when you knew me only for two days...I miss your soft touch that made me shiver in need of more affection.. I miss your smile and sparkling eyes when I announced to you I was pregnant...how you overreacted around me and helped me out on everything...how silly but cute you were leaning on my belly to hear our babies.. And we thought they were one.. I miss you, Adora...I miss us.." Catra murmured and tightened her grip on her shirt in a protective manner.

The knight hugged her closer then, kissing her forehead and holding her close "I am just as willing to fight for you.." She kissed her nose "I'm right here, my love... Different but I'm still here... I'm still all yours. And... With a new little one on the way you get to see me just as cute and cuddly as before." She paused then "I hope we dont have twins though, we didn't get any sleep with them..."

"I know.... it was rough but at least we were together right....after all we've been through.." for a second she would think what happened to Light Spinner all these years but only the thought of her returning..made her shiver. Her arms wrapped more around her and nuzzled against her.

"Of course, my love. We're together now... That's what we fought for for so long..." She held her close, rubbing her back.

"Are we still.... I don't want to lose you too..." Catra spoke in a whine and held her close. She couldn't think of losing Adora.

Adora really had eyes only for her just like Catra had only a heart for the knight.

The knight held her close then, shushing her gently and running her hands through her hair "You won't lose me, my love.... I promise you I'm right here... I'm not going anywhere" She looked up then, kissing her forehead "It's almost sunrise... We should get ready for the meeting my love.." she spoke after some minutes.

"I know.... I know" The girl hummed. Her eyes closed and she let out a soft grunt as she stood up, yawning and standing up. Her cotton shift brushed the fabric of the mattress as she would soon raise it up to tie up her chest. She would soon dress up, her dress was a matte black. She refused as always to wear any colour after the funeral. Her eyes looked down at the blonde though to smile a little. "You know.... I'm anxious... I don't know what I'll hear.. I don't know what excuse they will put on the table..." She spoke as she turned her look to see her through the mirror.

Adora had done the same, wearing only black even after the funeral. She would wear it for as long as she was mourning, no matter if it was days, weeks or years. She wore a simple black shirt and pants, looking back at her and sighing softly "I don't know.. But I have a dagger of their design covered in my daughter's blood as proof... Someone from here killed our child. And whoever did it, no matter who, will pay." She tied her hair up, the blonde hair and pale-ish skin a stark contrast to the darker colours of her clothing. She wasn't as tan as she used to be, spending less time outdoors though she had wished she was able to.

By taking a deep breath the queen nodded and touched her hand only to lean against her and place a kiss on her lips "Trust me I'll do everything to find them... And when that time comes they won't know where to hide.." She whispered and kissed her lips.

Adora grinned at the idea then, wrapping an arm around her and kissing her softly before mumbling. "I'm gonna make sure they feel the same pain we do... Ten times over." She took a deep breath then, holding her chin "Now let's get going my love. It would be rude for the person who called the meeting to be late to it"

"Hm... when did that person become so polite?" Catra smiled a little, just a tiny bit playfully. She listened to her and walked into the hallway as the meeting would begin after some minutes. She didn't speak just yet so her wife would be able to do so.

Adora laughed softly, kissing her forehead before they headed out. Her smile faded quickly though when she had to grab the dagger, which she had wrapped up in a soft leather, lightly binding it so no one would recognize it. She sat down beside her wife, head high.

Queen Angela was confused by the black clothing of both of them, she was sitting obviously on the single chair on the huge table. "Adora.. you may speak. Why did you call for this meeting?" She didn't say anything in the letter so.. it was a surprise.

The warrior was looking between them all. She put the dagger on the table, undid the binding and pulled the leather back to reveal the bloody dagger "My daughter was killed with this dagger a week ago, the day I sent that letter calling for this meeting." She looked at the Queen "I know very well this blade is from BrightMoon but I trust that my time spent serving you would not lead you to assassinate my daughter. So I want to know who. And why, so I can take care of them myself."

The other princesses widened their eyes ,looking at the dagger, though Catra didn't speak. Queen Angella bent to take the knife, inspecting it slowly. "I'm so sorry for your loss.. Adora , queen Catra" The woman looked at them and then her glance returned to her dagger. "This is a Bright Moon's dagger .... But I don't understand... Were they thieves? Assassin's running after royals? "She spoke again.

"Assassins I would assume. They camped in the woods just outside the kingdom, probably to wait for an opportunity they got that night."She paused, before she explained, roughly of course, what happened. "No one was there except for her body and the dagger when I finally got there. I didn't see any boot prints either, so they're good at what they do. But I must find them. I cant let the death of my daughter go unpunished"

Queen Angella knew about the rebels but the inner problems of the kingdom couldn't be discussed by them there right now. She didn't have a reason to tell that either, she also knew about the ones who were fans of only pure magic and everything dark was considered evil by them. But then again.....they couldn't be there right? Catra's child must have been a feline or...have strength just as Shera? "I will see who did it...and I will punish them, I cannot let an assassin get punished by another kingdom, Adora. Even though they killed your daughter that doesn't mean it could be someone else's wish..maybe an enemy of Catra's?" The woman looked at her only for the feline to tighten her fist

"Oh trust me, queen Angella.. I do have many opponents, even if the Horde is at peace. They are not from BrightMoon though. We have a lot from Mystacor even but not from your kingdom, which makes me think...what did they know?... they couldn't be random assassins.. " she said, wrapping her arms over her chest.

Adora was irritated that the Queen would insist on punishing them herself but that was something she would talk about with her after the meeting "The only thing I can think of is her.. Gift. The day she was.... When she was killed, she showed us that she had magic, though she was young and wasn't able to control it well... Word may have gotten out about it." She looked at the dagger for a moment, at the blood that had dried on it before she looked away "She was just the same as her brother, but for that one thing. I believe it was caused by the year Catra's mother had her, and we were going to get a mage to teach her. But she was killed. Perhaps someone saw her showing me, and told someone else, someone who would want to kill her for that." Adora put a hand on Catra's knee, lifting her head to look at her "And unless they were planning on framing you for the murder, the killers came from your kingdom."

"There are several rebels, Adora. Just like in every kingdom I can't control them all. Though the fact she had magic ..especially if she had the same kind with Light Spinner I can tell that they could have cast a spell to see if the girl knew about the power she was holding. Light Spinner made dark magic be a curse and some, including me and the Mystacor's queen ban this from our kingdoms...The Whispering Woods is a non war zone...or mostly under BrightMoon's command so I don't find it unexpected for them to chase down someone who carries dark magic."

Catra though couldn't stand all this. Her eyes glared at her "Are you trying to say they had the right to kill her?! She was just a child!"

"Who had evil powers... with or without training black magic is still corrupting the soul and mind"

The feline hissed as she tightened her hand more "None of your citizens..rebels or loyal have the right to kill any Horde villager. That's what we've contracted for! Not because we had nothing else to do but to be safe to walk around without worrying about dying! You only try to cover them up... She was my daughter and because of your stupid people she's now in a coffin!" The feline yelled out, hitting her fists on the table.

"I'm not covering them up... but even if I do find out who did it, if they killed her in Bright moon's grounds I can't do anything. You can't punish them either because they're protected"

Adora growled as well then, her own hands grabbing the edge of the table "I don't give two shits if they're protected! What would you do if it was your daughter huh? Killed for something she couldn't control, something she didn't ask for! What then?! Would you say the same thing? That you can't do anything because they're 'protected'!" She was furious now "If you don't punish them I will, protected or not. I will find them and I will make them pay for killing my daughter. Whether you like it or not."

"It's not the same....I won't allow anyone to even search for them in my kingdom's grounds." The queen glared at her, her wings unfolded. Her eyes pinned at her blue ones but she didn't say any more.

Instead Catra looked up at her wife, holding her hand and trying to pull her away "Let's go Adora..."

Adora stared back, glaring at her for a moment before she got up "This isn't over." She practically marched away then, pushing past Glimmer and Bow who was lurking outside the doors. As princesses rather than rulers they weren't allowed to join the meeting, though of course it wouldn't stop them from trying to learn whatever they could. Adora was too angry to even try talking to them at the moment, just walking by them.

The queen couldn't believe she heard these words coming from Angella. Her anger boiling slowly especially when Glimmer tried to see what was happening. Her relationship with the princess was still not good, a loud hiss escaped her lips and she stepped in front of her "Don't you even dare to talk, we're leaving" She hissed and grabbed Adora's hand.

Adora didn't say anything either. Glimmer was just standing there, genuinely shocked, the same with Bow who even flinched slightly when she hissed. Adora wrapped an arm around her wife's waist, just tugging her away "We're going home. Let's grab our things and go, quickly. We need to prepare."

"Prepare...You say it so easily....I'm not going to let you fight in this war... not until we're in Bright Moon's castle..." Catra continued and packed her things when they arrived in the room. Glimmer wouldn't go to her though she didn't want to risk having a bite mark of that....'wife' of hers. "I don't care what it'll take... I'm not losing you. You're not going anywhere" She knew that Adora wanted to fight this war..

"I'm hunting those men down, Catra. If Angella escalates it to a war that is her choice but one way or another I will get revenge for our daughter's death. They can't hide behind some stupid laws of theirs. She was a child, and didn't even know what dark magic was. She shouldn't have been killed..." She paused, before she finished packing, sighing "Im not letting them get away with this"

"I won't let this end only by hunting, Adora....this is war. She can't say half of the whispering Woods are theirs. She can't give assassins the right to kill anyone they want." She almost yelled and tightened her hands only to give her a small look. "I don't care if Light Spinner made a mistake declaring war...but I have a reason. I want them to see everything that's theirs to get destroyed...burnt to the ground" She hissed, turning around and walking towards the door. The carriage was outside so they would be able to leave immediately.

Adora grabbed her things, following after her "Then that is your choice. We declare war after we have prepared our troops. We shouldn't be talking about this here." She climbed into the carriage then. Just dropping the bag at her feet and sitting back, furious. She came to them for help and they essentially told her to fuck off. She won't stand for that and clearly neither will her wife.

"I know... I'm not just as strong as Light Spinner...but our troops are the strongest in Etheria ...and we have you too..." Catra said beside her, placing a hand on her thigh and looking up to her blue eyes. "If you find them... Please don't kill them..." She hummed ,not for pity ..but for revenge. She wanted herself to have this feeling of pay back.

The blonde chuckled, "Killing them would be a mercy. I have something much worse planned. And yes. I will be bringing them back to the kingdom so you can watch." She looked at her then "You may not know how to work a military very well now...but I will teach you. You're smart, you're strategic... I think this will fit you nicely"

"good... What are these plans, may I know.... ~? I'm done having just a pathetic Kingdom.... Light Spinner made it only military and I changed it to ..what I thought was better..." Catra admitted and looked up at her. She didn't want to compare herself to her but she had to. The older one was cruel yes ,a terrible mother too, yes but then again... She would try her best to lead this war.

Adora grinned at that first question "Did you know that bamboo can grow up to a foot or so in just a day alone? And it can break through solid stone?" She looked over at her then "It would be.... Well, agonising to have those things growing through you, huh?" She leaned back in her seat "We need to make sure we have plenty of food, supplies, weapons and armour for our soldiers. I wont have them under equipped and starving."

The feline's ears perked up at the sound. She leaned in close to her ,resting her head on her shoulder and wrapping one arm around her. "I'll leave them to you then.." Obviously she would do something as well she wouldn't let them be.

The knight chuckled softly, holding her close and nodding "oh don't worry, I'll let you have your fun first" Her wife's eyes closed at the sound of the carriage. Even if she felt good some minutes ago the feline felt that ... disgust going up her throat and she touched her shoulder, placing her other hand on her lips. Early pregnancy was difficult sometimes.

The other one rubbed her stomach then gently, her hand glowing to soothe her, as if she could tell she was starting to feel sick "as soon as we're home you're going to bed.. you need rest okay? let me take care of this, please"

The magicat grunted and leaned herself back while sighing "I will rest after sending a letter to regroup our forces.... I don't want to let everything on you...you need rest too.." She was clearly worried..

"yeah, alright... but after that you need to sleep okay? you have another little one in you now too.." Adora kissed the top of her head, closing her eyes as she hugged her close.

Catra nodded and took a soft breath, rubbing the woman's thigh. "I will rest after that...." She hummed and smiled, leaning in to place a kiss on her lips and nuzzle on her neck. "You know ....we should think of a name... If it's a boy..?" She mumbled, making the other nod.

Adora hugged her close and looked down at her "hmm.... well I uh.. you remember the other versions of us right? their technology is advanced and... well we could always find out.. if you want to you know.. at least that's what she said" she looked down at her then "though.. that's only if you want" The pregnant one could see that Adora wanted it too.

A smile formed on Catra's face and she nodded. "Alright..in a few weeks... Okay?" She spoke softly, since the woman was delivering in ..two months. She looked up at her and held her hand, digging her face on her neck. "Jack will come with us though... I'm already worried sick about him..." She hummed and placed a kiss on her jawline, making Adora to embrace her close

"yeah, yeah of course... he hasn't met them yet anyway. I'm excited to introduce them.. and they have a child of their own" The blond held her close with a soft smile "It's gonna be nice seeing them again... I kinda missed them" she kissed her forehead "though we have to make sure that the kingdom will be ready... I don't know how long they'll make us stay over"

"not long at all....we have the best military in Etheria...but I can't be absent either can you during war... Things may have a turn any time." Catra sighed and tightened her fist "But I don't care how many men I'll lose or will be killed... Queen Angella will regret the moment she covered these assassins up... Whispering Woods will be ours" Not that she would only take the woods but that's where she will begin to conquer.

Adora nodded, lifting her head "yes.... but there's those knights of yours, Lonnie and Scorpia right? I'm sure they could at least hold the line while we're gone.." she looked at her for a moment, kissing the top of her head "we will make them pay. They won't get away with this"

"they are really good at their job... I will leave it up to them if we leave but.. I don't want to be gone for long.. if anything happens I'll have to be here ..." The feline spoke softly and leaned close to the woman where she would soon give her a small peck on her cheek and wrap her tail around her.

The other nodded, holding her close "good.. then we can leave just long enough to determine the gender and make sure everything is okay... and then we can go home" She pulled Catra into a hug when the feline decided to talk again

"You know Angella more than I do...do you think she took us seriously?... Do you think she will successfully defend the kingdom..?"

"no. She won't expect us to actually attack... I've.. gotten angry at her a few times and usually I'd storm off and just avoid her for a few days.. but this is different.. we have the chance of surprise now, but I won't be.. horrible.. I will send her a declaration of war as soon as our troops are gathered. They have more land. They'll be spread much more thinly. It would be easiest to divide and conquer"

The feline sat on her lap and wrapped her arms around her neck, gently nuzzling close to her before looking at her. "Are you sure...? I wouldn't send her anything... I would only attack... This way they won't even have the time to prepare at all.." She hummed, knowing some things more than the other one. After all she was learning all these years now. She didn't care what was right or wrong, it was a war and she would get what she wanted no matter the cost.

Adora hummed, holding her close and speaking softly "mm.. true... though I will still send a messenger to clear out all the civilians... if we show we're merciful, that we care for them they may be more willing to be on our side. We need to avoid destroying any building, farm or cattle. We need them on our side. We need to keep the lands we capture from rioting against us." She hesitated then "..and if the civilians disappear, it will draw more soldiers to the area, better for an ambush. If we clear multiple out but only attack one we'll be keeping them on their toes, make it harder for them to predict where and when we are attacking while still keeping civilians safe"

Catra, on the other hand, didn't care about having anyone by her side but.. Adora was right ...and if she didn't have her she wouldn't even think about that "Yeah... I didn't even think about it honestly... But ..that's why you're here too" She smiled and gave her a small kiss on her nose. It wouldn't take too long for them to arrive early in the evening back to the castle. The queen stepped out of the carriage with a soft grunt and looked down at Jack who ran out to them and embraced the woman.

"Will we play? How did the meeting go, mom?" He questioned but Catra chuckled

"it was just fine.... Don't worry about it... Jack I won't be able to play right now.. Adora? Can I speak to you for a second.." She hummed and took her hand to guide her a little bit away.

Adora stepped out after her wife, smiling softly at their son. She ruffled his hair gently and knelt down "it went really good buddy.. we missed you though" she kissed his forehead before getting up, letting her wife lead her away.

Catra spoke after a second and leaned close ,holding her hand "I want to go to Lena... I don't know if I'll be okay to take Jack with me... Do you want to come too or... Stay with him? I can tell my governess to stay with him for a while"

When she mentioned seeing Lena, the warrior hesitated before nodding, glancing back at Jack "I.. I want to see her too.. the Governess can spend a bit more time with him"

"Okay.. Wait a second to tell him to go back" The girl looked at her and walked back to the boy ,telling him that they would go for a work out for a while and they would leave but after that she promised that they would be with him. She returned only for her to point the way and finally arrive at the girl's final home before kneeling down. She didn't know what to say..what to do.. words were so .. meaningless.

Adora knelt down as well, just looking at her grave for a moment before she just quietly started to cry, lowering her head "I'm so sorry.."

Catra was holding herself up to not cry but hearing the blonde one do so she whimpered and leaned against her wife. "It wasn't your fault....Adora..stop saying that.." Her voice cracked. She didn't want to believe her small baby was under their feet.

"I failed her.... But I'm gonna-... I-I'm gonna make them pay... I promise you Lena... I'm gonna make them pay..."

The feline knew her too well to believe she would listen to her now. Her eyes fell closed as she only bent to touch the grass and soil that separated them. She couldn't do anything else than cry for as long as she could. She didn't want Jack to see her or Adora like this. "I would give my life for her..... This is wrong.....she had to be alive... to be with us...to argue when she would grow older..." She spoke mostly to herself. Her wife hugged her softly, just burying her face in her neck while holding her close

"I'm so sorry... I'm so sorry..." The blonde cried, finally letting it out, just sinking against her and sobbing.

"Adora..." Catra whimpered again and let herself cry beside her. She wrapped her arms around her tightly, clinging on to her whispering about how much she loves her and it wasn't her fault. How much she missed the child.

The other clung to her just as tightly, sobbing hard enough to leave her body shaking with each cry. Her throat got sore as she clung to her, crying on her dress. She stayed there long after she no longer had tears left to shed, just hugging her tightly and hiding her face, unable to look at her or the grave. She still blamed herself, still thought it was her fault. She couldn't help it. It was who she was.

Catra clung more on her till she felt no more tears running down her cheeks. She leaned away for a moment to kiss her lips. "I love you... I want to be by your side and.. punish whoever did this.." She whispered and sighed only to nuzzle close to her.

Adora let her go, hesitating before she kissed her back, holding her close and tight "I'm so sorry... I love you too..." She kissed her again then "Let's go make them pay."

"I'll make sure you will take good care of them.... All of them ....whoever is in that group" As Angella said there wasn't only one who believed that dark magic should be gone ... Catra's eyes opened and she looked at the stone "I miss her....and I will always miss her.... I don't know what to do to feel less.. pain" She whispered.

The blonde nodded, sighing softly then "I'll make them all pay. But especially those who killed her... the one who held the blade..." She was letting her sadness turn to anger then, though she made sure it was all pointed towards the men rather than her wife and child, kissing her forehead "I'll miss her too... Only time will ever lessen the pain... I'm so sorry, my love... I'm going to make them hurt for what they did"

Catra brushed the ground only to lean against her and close her eyes. She couldn't do anything else but listen to the woman. She trusted her word and when Adora said something she did it.

Adora nodded, kissing her forehead gently and looking at the grave then, rubbing her back "I'm so sorry... I'll fix this somehow.." She let Catra stay there as long as she wanted, not exactly wanting to leave either, sighing quietly.

"I don't know if we can fix this... I'll try... I'll find a way..no matter what. Lena didn't deserve to die.." Catra touched the ground once more and took a deep breath before standing up some minutes later. "I'll be back tomorrow, my baby..." She whispered and closed her eyes while trying to focus on something else now.. she waited for Adora though too.

The blonde put a hand on the ground for just a moment before she got up as well, wrapping an arm around her waist "c'mon... Jack will be wondering where we are.." She glanced at her grave once more before finally guiding her wife away, head up high once again with a soft sigh "let's call the troops together, and start sending messengers to nearby villages in the whispering woods"

"mhm... I'll go send a message for the supplies ...I was thinking of the nobles paying more fee since ..we don't have so much gold yet, they won't like it ,but it's war" The feline shrugged and rolled her eyes before she walked towards her lover and gave her a small kiss. "You don't have to be the leader on everything, Adora...that's not your position after all" She was worried that Adora may be overworking for this but she was right she was the queen not Adora.

"I don't want to draw too much from them. Push them too hard and it'll cause them to rebel. What mining towns do we have?" When she said it wasn't her position she paused before sighing "My job as your wife is to help you. I don't want you working too hard and this is war.. my specialty. Trust me... I won't overwork myself.. but I won't let you do this on your own"

"Then just let some things to me... I can't just let you get yourself tired by all this...once in the Bright Moon you will go fight too.. and your body cannot be exhausted" Catra spoke while walking back home. She cared for her..more than Adora could ever think. Her eyes looked at her and shrugged, "The mining towns are already poor, you know the economy was worse when we made the alliance .....what I want and what we need for the war will be taken no matter what, people will always rebel." Being a princess she knew that pretty well.

"I know the mining towns are. Though, any town with Iron will jump in profits here soon and any farming communities. The more towns we capture and don't destroy the less strain it will put on our own towns. We already have a large army, and enough food gathered to cover them for a couple months, so let's try to keep our demands low for now" Adora rubbed her back then "and any reward for assisting us to be high. If we want the economy to jump back up we need to make sure people have the funds and produce to keep it going, and we can't have that if nobody has anything"

"Adora ,do you think anyone would be okay with the idea of getting his land under the Horde's name? Really now. I need that answer... You tell me to be all good and kind with everyone except BrightMoon's castle and the army. To win you don't only need to make good contracts..... I'm still thinking the opposite about BrightMoon's farmers and villagers. They won't be taken so easily under our command... If they don't leave their houses they're considered enemies. And that's final.. we're not here to play the merciful ones .." Catra was clearly bothered by how Adora was seeing the whole thing about the war. Declaring a war and sending messages to leave the houses or...to the queen to prepare her for war.. she would never do that if it was only her who led the war.

Adora paused for a moment before nodding "and how well would it go over if we were to play the ruthless ones? the ones who didn't care? How well did that go for Hordak. Who had deserters every week and constant rebellions or people too afraid to fight back and only producing half of the shit they should be able to due to it. There has to be a healthy middle. We warn the civilians, or at least try not to destroy their houses and help them rebuild? The effort will be worth it, please trust me on this"

"I don't know.. but what I know is that our enemies have to be scared, to see us and hide, not think we're soft and merciful... We can't help anyone to rebuild. Didn't you see the last numbers on the papers, Adora? We stopped having such a high fee for everyone in the kingdom. We had plenty of gold taken out by this stupid alliance for what? For us to be here now with wealth to cover supplies for barely three months and a dead child" Catra took a deep breath. That alliance was truly a disaster in many ways.

Adora paused for a moment then at what she said, just looking at her for a moment "we can be merciful to others and still fearsome in battle.... but yeah, treat everyone you're supposed to care for like shit and see how it goes... see how long it takes for them to realise it be better for them to fight us rather then brightmoon. You can't be hard on our people. It will not go well. Hordak and Shadow Weaver were lucky to have kept everyone under control"

"Who would go against the Horde army? Do you think people respect others when they help them? They just go to backstab them" Well this was truly Light Spinner's 'child' she could tell, fear meant respect for her but not for Adora.

Adora stopped walking then and looked at her "fear is not the right way to rule! Trust me. I've come from all walks of life! A lone orphan child to a fucking queen. I know how to treat people because I was one of them! Fear will get you nothing but hate!"

The brunette girl tightened her fists and furrowed her eyebrows as she stopped as well for her glare to meet hers. "Well fine then! I don't give a damn about their lives and I won't start to give a single attention to them now" She almost yelled at this point. It seemed they would have an argument about this topic. "They took my child. Do you think they will be better than that man who cut Lena's throat? No! I have no reason to be merciful to a kingdom who slaughtered my daughter!"

"you heard Angela! It wasn't the kingdom. It was one faction on their land! They were protected by her laws. If we take where they control they can be punished! We aren't doing this to punish Angela, we're doing this to punish the men! They aren't part of her kingdom!" Adora was yelling as well now, though she didn't get in her face about this "there are innocent civilians there! Once the land is under our rule we will find those who killed our daughter, until then we treat everyone as our own subject!"

"They are a faction but under her control. She could have done something, even imprison them! But you saw she supported them. If she supports them she will support everyone with the same attitude" The feline glared at her for a moment before turning around to walk. "The conversation is over.." She hummed while walking.

Adora stood there for a moment, irritated but Catra still ranked higher than her technically so she sighed and just followed her "fine. See how well you do then. See how long it lasts.." That's all she said in response, separating from her at the gate "if you're gonna be writing those letters I'm going to go practice. I need to be ready for battle."

The feline didn't say anything else either. She looked at her and gave her a small nod while she was walking inside "You can go ,I'll send them" She murmured as the boy heard their voice and ran down to them with a bright smile

"Mom! How did the work go?"

Adora looked up at Jack and gave him a slight smile, sighing softly "Yeah, yeah it went okay. Would you like to train with me? Your mom still has some work to do" She knelt down in front of him.

"yeah! Let's go, I'll go take my sword" He smiled and gave her a tight hug. He nuzzled though and purred at her.

The woman hugged him back and chuckled softly "alright buddy, I'll wait here for you. Go give your mom a hug too, okay? This has been stressful for her.." She kissed his forehead before standing up as she saw Catra walking away.

"Okay!" The boy smiled, excited he could finally practise with his mom again. He did go to grab his sword and went by Catra's room so he could go and embrace her while she was writing down her letter. She gasped in surprise but chuckled ,wrapping an arm around him

"I love you ,little one.."

He obviously replied in a soft tone and nuzzled before waving so he could run back to his other mom.

Adora waited until they were gone before she walked away, finding someone she hoped would take her side. Finding Daniella, she tapped her shoulder gently to get her attention

"Excuse me... I... need your help.."

Let's have a glass of wine ❤️

“Excuse me… I… need your help..trying to convince my wife not to do something she might regret..."
Adora made sure they were alone before explaining what her wife was planning to do, more nervous then upset with the argument "I don't want her hurting people who don’t deserve it. Please.... she won't listen to me but she might listen to you" she spoke while walking and sitting down on the woman’s bed.

The old elf looked up at her only to give her a small nod at first, allowing her to tell her what happened. Her eyes though were concerned as to what she could tell her differently to convince the girl to do the opposite. "Lady Adora, I'm not sure how to tell you that... But she's been learning how to start a war ,how to end it ,about the economy of this place for years, it's obvious that.. she won't change her mind just because you said so" She hummed and sighed tapping on her notebook with her pen filled with ink "She does listen to me but will she listen now?" She spoke in a soft tone.

“I know, but I had hoped that.. she would listen to me on this.." Adora paused before sighing softly "I’m.. hoping that if multiple people are telling her the same thing she might listen... but.. if not then I don't think there's anything I can do to stop her. I'm still technically not a royal since I married into the family" she sighed softly "I don't know what else to do"

"Hey... It's still not too late." She looked up at her only to place a hand on her shoulder. "I believe she will not risk losing her kingdom" She was kind of right honestly... If this war was a defeat she would lose everything.

“I know... I'll do my best to help her... and those who don't deserve to be hurt" The other replied and looked at her again "you don't have to talk to her.. but.. please try. I need all the help I can get... she's stubborn, and she's hurt"

"I know but if she does order you to fight ,even the innocent ones you will have to obey" She hummed at the sigh only to look away from her and nod "You're both hurt ,lady Adora.... I understand you and her reaction to all this" She paused though to continue "I will try to talk to her. I can't guarantee anything though..." She bowed her head, she would really do what she could just like she always did.

"... Thank you. I gotta get back before Jack starts wondering where I am." She gave her a slight smile "Thank you again" She headed back then, smile fading as soon as she was around the corner.

Daniella smiled kindly and nodded quickly only to look up at her leaving the room. Jack meanwhile was trying to get some hits on a puppet, preparing for the' battle'. Adora smiled softly, walking over to him

"Hey buddy. You think you're ready?" She grabbed a wooden practice sword then,spinning it a few times.

The boy grinned and raised his sword before pointing it at her. "I'll win this time!" He pointed out with a victorious tone and dashed forward to 'hit' her.

She giggled then, getting ready while spinning her sword a few times. She stepped out of the way of his attack, knocking his sword to the side to keep him from swinging at her while she moved out of the way.
The little boy giggled and swung his sword with a grunt before thrusting it a little towards his mom's chest, obviously where some of the armour was, so he wouldn't actually hit her.
She giggled as well, deflecting it with a smile "You have to be faster! Don't hesitate. Don't hold back. No one else will."
The boy gasped and pushed back so he could finally grab the sword tighter. "But you could get hurt," He pouted.
She smiled, knocking on her armour "Don't worry. I'll be okay. My armour protects me and the point of this is to win not to protect the other. Now c'mon. Don't hold back buddy I want to see what you can do"

The boy thrusted and swung the sword while hitting her on the chest. He really wasn't as powerful though.

Adora grinned, still defending herself just fine, egging him on then "C'mon hit me! I know you can, c'mon buddy don't hold back on me!"
Jack whined a little and looked up at her only to thrust on her once again, this time harder so he could knock her down with a hard kick "ha!"

Adora fell back, looking shocked for a moment before grinning and just hugging him "Good job!"

Meanwhile Catra was writing down the letter for the villagers and obviously she wouldn't send any war declaration. She was tired of people thinking she was weak and by telling them to leave their homes the only thing that would show them would be that she was showing mercy. While writing the words down, the quill making a soft scratching noise as she wrote, she got interrupted by the governess.

Daniella knocked on the door, walking inside and looking at the woman, bowing deeply “Your majesty?"

The brunette looked up at her and gave her a small smile. "Yes? Come in" She pointed at her and leaned against the seat. "What is it? I'm writing a letter.." She continued.

The governess hesitated before walking further, quietly shutting the door behind her "I... Came here to talk to you about that letter, actually" She tried to be careful in how she spoke, what she said, knowing that if she let Catra get angry or upset she wouldn't listen to either of them.

Catra rolled her eyes though. She knew that Adora talked to her probably and now she would have to deal with her…
The older one walked over, sitting beside her "I don't know what happened, but... Taking it out on civilians won't help.. And it won't make you feel better. I watched Shadow Weaver try that a hundred times over... And she was never happy... You aren't her, I know you aren't... But you're going down the same path.. I don't want to see you lose yourself"

Catra hated to hear she was the same as Shadow Weaver. "I'm not like her.... you're wrong and you know it...! I am way better and I'll make them pay for taking my daughter's life" She hissed, clenching her fist tightly.

"I never said you were the same as her. I said you were falling down the same path. There is a difference, trust me dear..." The other brunette sighed softly then "I don't want you to fall down into the same pattern she did. You aren't there yet but.. You're on the edge.."

"I won't... she did all this for power...I want revenge..I want the Horde to be fearsome, for them to not step on our grounds..." She tightened her fists while holding the pen. She leaned on her desk and sighed. "I hate them all ...I won’t show mercy to someone who didn't show mercy to my child"

Daniella put a hand on her shoulder "Catra, not everyone in those villages are killers. There are farmers, builders, mothers and children... Do you want to deprive mothers of their children seeking revenge for your own against innocents?"

After a long pause the girl stared down and she.. felt it could be wrong actually. Her eyes rolled and looked at the letter. She didn't know what to write... how to write it "And what do you suggest? Being all soft and caring? When everyone will clearly back stab my people? I don't trust them... I can't trust them; they won't rebel even if I'm cruel..." she whispered and leaned against the desk, placing her head on her hands. She tried to think that she had a reason to keep a low profile and not go into it... destroying everyone and everything.

The elf rubbed her back then, soothing her like she has for years, speaking softly "Offer them something Brightmoon can't give them. Something Brightmoon won't give them... Make them feel special, make them feel worth it. After you've captured a village, make an appearance. Talk to them, offer a banquet, and a reward for anyone who helps your soldiers. Do that, and I can guarantee you that they won't rebel.. Make them feel like they're better to be in the horde then with BrightMoon"

"..... And with the banquet do you think they will like us... For real now... I'm trying to find a solution and you're not helping at all.." Catra didn't know that villagers didn't eat well after all, only by what they could get from the little grounds they had. Her eyes looked down at the letter and sighed. "We have no money for everyone.... We have gold only for the soldiers to get food supplies... And weapons" She hummed, thinking of the solution she pointed out.

"They would love a banquet actually... You... Don't know much about how they live..." Daniella paused, sighing softly before adding "Ask lady Adora. Trust me... She'll know" She hesitated then "And the Brightmoon towns are better off then we are. Capture them, treat them right. They'll be happy to help us. And... Well maybe even some of the other kingdoms"

"Having allies now...?" The queen would... for the first time have allies if this battle ended in victory. She leaned close and...almost stood up to hold her close. "I don't know.... I really don't.. I have no time.. I want to just find the one who killed her..." She whined. "But I will ask Adora..how to do all this.... What about you? What do you think?" She wanted to hear her opinion just like she always did.

The governess hugged her back, rubbing her back still and humming softly "Well... Let Adora tell you or show you what it's like as a peasant... Understand their struggles and you will be able to get them to your side much easier... " She looked down at her then "Trust her.. This is her specialty.. Trust that she won't lead you astray, and trust when she tells you not to do something, please." She hummed then, smiling down at her "You are an incredible queen... You listen to your people and those around you. You will win... You will get what you want but it won't be easy"

"Nothing is easy in life.." The young one sighed. Daniella was the one who's been close to her for all these years. It was obvious she would know her more than anyone else. "... Do you think I should let Adora fight from now on?.... I mean I was thinking of her fighting only when we would get in the BrightMoon's castle...not the villages and grounds around the area.." She wasn't sure but nuzzled close to her, she was worried about the blonde.

Daniella rubbed her back, smiling and replying "Let her lead the major ones... And... Let her feel useful. I haven't known her as long as you and trust me... She needs to feel useful." She hummed then, tilting her head back "Let her guide the armies. You can approve her decisions but let her have something to do. And of course the major battles" She insisted and touched her shoulders “She’s a great warrior.”

"but..... But she will be away for months again if I let her go… and I'm scared.." She furrowed her eyebrows and looked away. Her ears dropped down. “I don't want to go through another pregnancy alone..." Her arms wrapped more around her and placed her chin on her shoulder, making the other one shake her head

"There aren't many major cities of Brightmoon in the Whispering woods, mostly small villages" Daniella looked down at her "She won't be gone for long either.."

"......I'll talk to her.... Maybe I'll let her do what she wants ...." Maybe she really had to stay away from her duties.... She looked away and took a small breath. "You can go now. Tell them to prepare something to eat... " She wasn't cheerful or demanding, her mood changes were a problem now again.

The governess nodded, rubbing her shoulder "Hey... We all believe in you. I promise.. You can do this... Now go spend some time with your wife and son. I'll let you three know when dinner is prepared." She smiled softly at her then before leaving.

Catra would put on a woollen coat when the other woman left and since she knew it would take a while for them to prepare something to eat, she headed outdoors.

Adora for her matter was still riding the high of joy from Jack finally beating her. She was still play-fighting with him which had doubled into a training session. She was laughing as they both playfully sparred. The clacking of their wooden swords echoing around the common grounds of the castle "C'mon you got it! Light on your feet. Stay light on your feet! Pay attention to the sword, not me. Watch the sword there you go!" She would advise the boy every so often.

The younger one did not look at her anymore and he tried to strike more and more spots eventually making a sound of the woman’s sword hitting the floor echo with his most powerful thrust. "Yes!" He puffed and panted while trying to calm down ,falling down to sit on the floor. His clothes were dirty and hair was messy.

Catra was walking to the hall, open to the out world of the inner yard giving some glances at the boy and smiling because he had fun. She didn't join them though, she wanted to stay alone instead of play around.

Adora laughed, just hugging him tightly and ruffling his hair, hugging him close "Agh I’m so proud! Good job, Jack!" She laughed, kissing his forehead gently, panting softly while being exhausted. When she finally looked up at Catra, she gave her a soft smile, gesturing for her to come closer though she didn't have to if she didn't want to.

"Thaaaanks~" The boy giggled and nuzzled while purring into the embrace. He would see the girl gesturing to the other to come close so Catra couldn't resist. She didn't want to show she wouldn't come to play or that she argued with his mom.
"Hey little one~" She smiled petting his head gently before taking a short breath "I see you became better at this huh?"

Adora smiled with a nod "He beat me today. Knocked me flat on my ass. " She giggled, kissing her forehead softly then "I'd hug you but we're all muddy and I know you don't like being dirty. How um... How is your work going?" She held Jack in her arms, honestly just wanting to put the argument behind her.

Catra said a quiet 'language' when she spoke at first but she rolled her eyes "....It goes well....left some things for you too" She hummed and patted Jack's hair to tell him to go get cleaned up. She didn't like them to be all dirty as Adora said and already knew.
The boy nodded at that, jumping down off the blonde's embrace. He then ran away quickly into the halls as Daniella's voice echoed from inside the hall, calling out for the young prince to get cleaned up and not run around the castle's halls.

The warrior smiled, hesitating before she took her gauntlets off. Her hands were clean under them, so she reached out, cupping her jaw and running her thumb along her cheek "I love you. And I'm sorry we argued... I won't say you're right but... I shouldn't have raised my voice at you like that my love. If you want some time to yourself I understand"

The feline's ears perked down and looked at her tilting her head to the side. She loved her too but she didn't feel good about any of this. She started to fall again into the same hole of feeling powerless and she didn't want to talk about any of the plans. "I love you too..... The pen and papers are on the desk. You can write whatever you want..." She spoke in a soft tone but held her hand to guide it lower on the distance between them and take a small step back "Go take a bath. You're dirty"

The other kissed her forehead softly then "You don't have to do everything yourself... Let me help you.. But I don't want to do this all on my own okay?" She hesitated for a moment, before she kissed the back of her hand, speaking softly "I love you, my queen" She let her go then, hesitating before she stepped away to take a bath, pulling her hair out of its ponytail.

The feline followed her upstairs anyway. She would have to get ready for the dinner after all. "I don't want to overwork, I bet you can't handle the whole letters-thing alone. Just don't forget to seal the letter" She mumbled not returning the second sentence and only taking a seat on the king sized bed while leaning back. Her stomach ached so she would wait till the dinner was ready to go eat.

"Right.." Adora hesitated before sighing softly, heading to their room, removing her armour before she sat down at the desk and got to work.

She didn't finish until right after dinner was served. She rushed down, cursing herself for being late "Fuck fuck fuck..."

The feline was already down with Jack waiting. She was tapping on the wooden table but as soon as she saw Adora walking quickly inside her tail waggled slowly "Someone remembered she had to eat tonight" She hissed, she didn't tell her to start the work after the bath, they had to eat first. Jack was complaining already and she was bitter. Her eyes focused on the plate though "Eat Jack, I'd rather see you eat than complain about Adora being late" She hummed, stabbing the chicken in her plate.

Adora hesitated at the comment, just looking down and away as she walked over to her table. Sitting down, she just pushed her food around taking maybe two or three bites of her food. Catra was so... Angry at her, she didn't understand why exactly but she didn't want to make her more upset because she didn't know what was wrong.. so she just sat there, looking down at her plate.

The feline seemed to only get more irritated when she saw her not eating at all, her eyes from the plate looked up at her and her plate. "If you're not hungry you don't have to stay here" She hummed and took another bite of her food. Jack could feel that they weren't happy together and the boy got worried a little. He didn't want them to argue or be mad. His ears twitched down, hand poking with his fork on the chicken.

The warrior looked up at her for a moment, clearly upset but she didn't say anything to her and just nodded. She got up, saying goodnight to the both of them and walked away. When she got to the room she just laid back on the bed, staring up at the ceiling. Her mind raced, trying to figure out why Catra was mad. The governess? Maybe? She sighed, running a hand through her hair before she got up. She made the bed, cleaned the room and lit a few candles before getting a surprise ready for her wife. That could possibly change her mood.

On the other hand the thoughts of her not understanding that Catra was literally starting to be useless even if she was supposed to be the queen made Catra more upset. She didn't make good decisions in war as it seemed even if that was what she learnt; how to be a queen. A simple knight had better ideas of what to do. Her child was dead and she had to just sit there and do nothing. She wasn't the one fighting, she had a child to take care of because he would feel alone and a baby in her belly. Was she even a good mom or was Adora better on this too? Catra rubbed the bridge of her nose and took a deep breath. After a while Jack would stand up and go to get ready for bed with Catra just giving him a goodnight kiss so she could leave and rest in her room, letting her hair down with a sigh.

Adora sat the platter of small sweets down on the bed in front of her, sitting cross legged on it and looking up at the door. She had a bottle of wine as well and when Catra came in she hesitated before speaking "I.. I don't know what I did to make you upset.. But whatever it is, I'm sorry... And... Can you please tell me so I can fix it..? I don't like seeing you upset like this.." She had all of Catra's favourite treats, her favourite drink and, of course her favourite book on the bedside table, along with pictures of them they had taken over the years.

The feline perked her eyebrows in surprise at the view of all this. Mismatching eyes opened and looked at her "Why all this? Really... Did you send the letters..." She hummed and walked inside. As long as she heard her, the maid followed her to help her with the dress. "I'm not mad at you, I'm mad at myself so ..you can act like before...I don't need all this.." It was a long time for them to actually be together, flirt, drink, have fun out of their positions in the kingdom. It was quite sad if she thought about it. How everyday life just got in between all of the magic they were living into before their duties began to show up.

Adora hesitated before looking away, just trying to think "I don't want to see you mad at yourself either... C'mon... We haven't done this in way too long... Please? Just for one night?" She was still nervous, looking up at her "I know we have a lot to do but it can't be done in one night.... I wrote the letters, most of them... That's why I was late. I've just been trying to keep you from stressing but I just stressed you out by doing that more and I'm so sorry-" She clearly was only feeling worse now, hugging herself.

"You're not stressing me out...." Catra looked down at her only to take a small breath and approach her to sit beside her with her shift as the maid bowed and left after a while "I don't do anything… I'm the queen and everyone else is making decisions for me...Better than mine... I only want to go back to the old house of ours.....I will feel better once the war begins I will go there with Jack.. I don't want to be reminded that I suck on the only thing I've learnt to do in my childhood...." She chuckled even though it was a sad one.

The blonde haired looked up at her, letting her speak before she just hugged her, holding her close "Baby... You're an amazing queen... The only reason I know what I'm doing is because this is war..." She rubbed her back then "I'm not a diplomat, I can't calm a crowd of people, I don't know how to run a kingdom, I know how to run an army..." She kissed the top of her head "We can vacation for a bit at the house... But I need you by my side... I have no idea what I'm doing... I need your help..." She kissed her forehead then.

"You don't need my help, Adora...you always say that you need it but in reality you're the one standing all tall... I can't lead an army, the economy will fall and every single mistake I make is going to be judged. You do everything right...even my governess took your side...the right one... I was wrong and I'm still wrong.. If I continue like this I'll end up like Light Spinner and she knows it. That's why she took your side...because she knows Light Spinner wouldn't ever lead an army like that... with so much care for villagers.... I am already making the same decisions she made and that says a lot..." She whined, leaning her head away from her. She was scared, upset and vengeful to make everyone pay for what they did.

Adora cupped her cheek, making her look at her "Catra we lost our daughter. No one should expect you to always make the right decisions. You aren't perfect... Nobody is perfect..." She kissed her forehead, hugging her close "You're much better than she ever was... You're an incredible person and an even better queen. You've taken a broken kingdom and built it up brick by brick... I'm so proud of you..." She looked down at her, cupping her cheek "You don't want to know how many times I've made a mistake... And how many times those mistakes lead to other people's deaths..." She sighed softly, cupping her cheek "I love you.... And I promise... You are not her. You won't ever be her."

The feline looked at her blue eyes and tender lips before she closed her eyes for a second "I..I don't know why..I feel upset...I'm sad and I just want to have peace..... If we had peace Lena wouldn't be dead...." Her voice cracked, almost pulling out the folder of the pictures. They had plenty together but with the children as well so she did pull out one of her daughter’s to just stand up and place it on the desk. "I want her back and I hate that I can do nothing about it...war is just an attempt to find whoever did it and punish him but he won't bring Lena back...and that only makes me more upset.." She hummed. She couldn't get her mind off work or..her child for now.

The warrior rubbed her back, though she let her go to place the picture down "We have pictures of her... That's more than anyone else has..." She looked up at her then "I know she'll never come back.... I wish she could... I would give the world to whoever could bring her back..." She sighed softly once again "I feel just as useless as you do about this... This is what I can do..."

"You can fight for her at least... I would conquer the whole Etheria for her.. if my plans were not so bad.. I wanted to do something big so if there is a small possibility of her watching.. she could be pleased, proud at least.. I don't know what to even do now.. I'm just waiting in a castle just like always.." Catra turned her back to the desk to face her and looked around the room. "Even when you create a romantic mood I ruin it....." She chuckled, wiping her almost watery eyes.

Adora smiled softly at her then, gesturing for her to come closer. She pulled her onto her lap, kissing her gently before speaking softly "I can teach you to fight... You can be my warrior queen..." She cupped her cheek, smiling and kissing her again "I promise my love.... You will do great things for her..."

Catra nuzzled close to her in return. Her head leaning against her hand and cupping her cheek with it. She loved her...even after all they've been through she was still in love with her. She cared for her "You could.....I hope I will...though I'm already making things worse for the new baby to get born...In the middle of a war it won't be easy" She hummed softly, now being inches apart while the room was only filled by the candles, the sweets on the bed and that bottle of wine with the two glasses. She had no idea where she found them all at once but she was glad she was there with her, holding her close and for a moment forgetting about everything "I love you" Her eyes glimpsed in the dark as their lips were close.

Adora was holding her as close as she could, rubbing her back then "I will...and even though you can't fight until the baby is born... We can always see if the modern us will help as well... They can both help me teach you. Not that I think you won't be a natural with those claws of yours" She giggled then, holding her chin and looking up at her. She let her relax however she needed to, kissing her cheek once again. When she leaned close to her and uttered those three words she smiled and kissed her "I love you too, my queen"

"My knight...." Catra already remembered how they were back then in that old house. A small smile formed on her lips before she wrapped her arms around her shoulders "Hold me..." She whispered in need though she wanted to drink too...Adora would have to both give attention to the girl and fill the glasses.

The second one smiled while wrapping her arms around her and nuzzling into her "I'll always hold you.. Like my life depends on it" She kissed her shoulder softly before turning her attention to the wine. She used one hand to pour them both a drink, the other one rubbing her wife's back "I poured us a glass of wine if you want one" She smiled softly at her then, kissing her neck and rubbing her back.

Catra always loved how soft she was. She loved the way she touched her and kissed her shoulders and neck with such care. She tilted her head to the side and closed her eyes while enjoying the kisses "Mh... for now I'm enjoying the kisses" She mumbled though she did grab the glass to take a sip while enjoying the feeling. Her tail wrapped around her wrist.

Adora giggled softly at that and continued to press soft kisses to her neck and shoulder, rubbing her back still "Mmm.. Good... I want you to be happy my love..." She smiled against her skin, holding her close "I got a good choice of wine right? I don't... Really know my alcohol very well other than the watered down crap you get in pubs"

The other one chuckled at her. She had really forgotten just who she had married some years ago. She honestly never saw her as a villager, a poor one as her governess introduced her. She never really talked about herself other than that Mara...so she didn't want to ask more of how life was back there "You really drank in those? The wine is amazing... Sweet just like you.." She purred and rubbed her with her tail while taking another sip.

"It was either that, or water from a well that... it was falling apart. I prefer the watered down beer to the muddy water." Adora kissed her shoulder then, "And I'm not sweet... I'm fierce and scary.. Roar" She joked, nipping at her shoulder with a soft laugh, making her giggle but not pull away.

Catra bottomed up the glass letting it back down and smirking. "Should I be scared, Adora?" She chuckled playfully and pulled her a little close to her.

The knight laughed softly, grinning up at her and rubbing her thighs then "Maybe. Are you?" She happily let the brunette pull her closer, though she never pulled her eyes from her, smiling up at her.

"no...I'm not " The queen smiled, her hand cupping the back of her neck so she could lean close and give her a small kiss on her lips. "You didn't drink from the wine though..." She whispered, her lips had its taste so she could feel how good it was.

The other woman kissed her back, eyes half closed and licking her lips after a while, humming "Mm... It's much better coming from you than any glass... Much more addicting..." She kissed her again then gently, tilting her head just slightly to the side.

Catra found that hotter than just kissing. Her hand held her close and she continued to kiss her ,placing pecks on her lips and mostly suckling on her. Her eyes closed and she spread her legs just a little bit. "D..do you want to have more? I could always drink from your glass" She continued ,her thigh got wrapped by her tail.

Adora noticed and chuckled softly, putting her hands on her thigh as they kissed, smiling against her and letting out a soft groan. When she offered another taste she nodded, moving her attention to her neck and shoulder once again. She was holding the back of her neck gently while running her fingers through the baby hairs at the base of her skull.

This knight knew where to touch her, how to do it or what to say to turn her on. Catra looked up at her and smiled when she began to kiss lower to allow her to drink. Before she drinks she lets out a soft grunt at the feeling of her on her skin. She would soon drink the second glass only to lean close and allow her to worship her and kiss her tasty lips.

As soon as she was done the blonde eagerly went for her lips again, kissing, sucking and nipping while holding her close against her. One arm was around her, the other was holding onto her waist "Fuck... I really did pick a good wine... It mixes perfectly with your lips..." Adora mumbled, looking up at her then, pupils dilated as she watched her.

The feline bit her bottom lip while she was holding her close. She shivered by the feeling of her being so ...hot but she didn't stop. She cupped her cheek with one hand guiding her close and her tail wrapped around her wrist slowly. She had taken that sip once again only for Adora to taste her lips again. Hips bucking against hers and she let her lay her down after that sip of her drink "Your lips are way better than the wine though.” She admitted.

"mmm... I thought you said the wine tasted like me" the other grinned, leaning up into her, rubbing her back and holding her close "good goddess I love you so much"

"I want you..... I missed your touch and I want you...not a knight...or anyone else. I want Adora tonight" Catra whispered and helped herself to be up only to lean up so she could kiss her again. She made the shift already dirty by her juices but she didn't say anything. Her eyes looked into the woman's and she nuzzled close to her, hips pressing up against her.

"I'm all yours my love, whatever you need.." Adora responded, kissing her then. She flipped them over and laid her down on the bed gently.

The feline whined. She was so slow she hated it. Catra huffed and reached down to rub her member slowly over the tunic of hers to make her see that she was needy. "Kiss me again...you fool.." She puffed and tilted her head, her fingers creeping under the tunic to touch her skin.

Adora groaned softly then, bucking into her hand "fuck..." she kissed her again, tugging her shift off eagerly now, holding her hips and pulling her close "I want you... my love... god damn.."

"I want you too..." She was too needy to think of her black shift only got pulled up on her waist while she was tugging on it and she let her pull her closer only to make herself feel good as well. Her hand continued to rub her but after a while she would move her hips, her penis being caressed by the woman's bottom lips that were truly wet at this time.

The blonde groaned against her skin, pulling her own pants down, not bothering to strip all the way. She was too eager to please her, wanting to feel her, be in her "Catra.. Catra fuck... wanna be in you.. please..." she grinded against her then, nuzzling into her neck and nipping at her skin.

The feline trembled, shivered by the affection. Her eyes closed and pressed her chest against hers while feeling her so close "Do it please.... I .. I want it too. I want you inside of me" She whispered, a whine leaving her lips as the tail wrapped around Adora's thigh. Her hands crawled down, caressing her hips and tugging on them gently.

The knight pressed herself into her, leaning her head into her and groaning as she slowly pushed in "fuck... oh goddess... it's been so long...." she leaned into her, grinding into her with soft pants and groans "oh god.... fuck..."she nipped at her neck, biting at her skin to leave marks.

The feline's voice echoed in the room. She whined but she felt good. She wanted her more, to rock her hips slowly and then faster. Her legs were tense as she felt her inside her. She moaned ,reaching down to rub herself. Her eyes closed and her head tilted and grunted. "I... Ah ..... More... Please... " She moaned, tensing around her.

The other rocked into her, panting against her skin. She tilted her hips up to get a better angle, muscles tensing and flexing under her skin "oh goddess... oh fuck,fuck... you feel so good... I've missed you so much.... missed being inside you, feeling you under me... oh goddess.." She sped up then, leaning into her wife.

Catra moaned a little louder when she felt her tilting her hips. Legs spread more, bending her knees, feet still touching the mattress while holding her close. She could feel herself getting more wet, her member slid with ease now due to how wet she was. "I... I missed this too .... Ah... Adora .." She whimpered, mewling when she touched her too.

The blonde panted, groaning against her skin and moaned out for her "Catra.... Catra... fuck... oh fuck you feel so good around me... yeah... w-wanna fill you up... need to fill you up.." she leaned up then, kissing her and holding her close as she pounded into her, making the woman's cheeks blush.

Catra's hair was messy and her teeth bit the bottom lip only to mewl more at the feeling and purr when she felt her close. Her tail didn't let go of her thigh. She wrapped one leg around her waist to make her give her small but deeper thrusts as she trembled under her in need. The pillow got a little bit wet since her mouth was truly open for too long to grunt and moan that she had no time or mind to wipe its corner of her saliva. Her eyes closed tightly and soon enough she gasped as she came after several thrusts Adora moaned, gently holding her thigh then, holding her close "Catra... Catra fuck.... I-I'm close already... oh god..." she moaned, whining and bucking into her.

Catra moaned out her name ,struggling to keep herself still while the woman was close to cum. She had finished so she was more sensitive than before.
Adora pressed deep into her, pressing her face into her neck and biting her. She moaned as she came inside her, gasping and buckling slightly into her "... Catra... oh goddess.... y-you feel so good.. so so good... perfect... you-re so perfect..." She bucked against her a few times, weakly, eyes closed and panting softly.

The girl grunted and let out a weaker moan before she slid her hips down on the mattress and wrapped an arm around her to bring her head on her chest while she was panting. "I love you.... You're amazing, my love.." She whispered after she came and nuzzled close to her ,placing a kiss on her forehead.

The knight breathed heavily, nuzzling into her chest and mumbling "Mm.. Did you cum, baby..?" She pressed soft kisses to her chest, nuzzling into her tits with a smile. She thought they may be small but she still loved them, holding her hips gently. To her surprise they weren't as small as before! Thanks to the pregnancy her breast now was a little bit bigger due to the changes of her body.

Catra’s eyes closed as she nodded with a soft chuckle escaping her lips. "Yeah I did... I love you... Really" She hummed and kissed her lips while now she was nuzzling on her tits.

Adora smiled, pressing a soft kiss to the sides of her tits, leaning into her with a hum "Mm... Good... Your chest is bigger..." She mumbled, kissing her back and smiling "I love you too"

"Well....it's again getting bigger once the baby comes. You will have to share it" She chuckled since she would have a child to feed off them. She leaned close and wrapped her tail around her thigh.

The blonde girl grumbled then, pulling her closer and turning them to their sides, nuzzling into her chest "Mm... I don't wanna share... You're all mine..." She yawned then, kissing her chest again and smiling softly "You're so beautiful"

"You will have to~ I don't think the baby can eat something else other than my milk" Catra laughed in return and leaned close only to give her a small kiss on her lips. Her eyes remained closed, feeling her on top of her naked body made her feel so ..relaxed and safe. "I can't describe how much I love you... "

Adora on the other hand grumbled, but kissed her with a smile "Mm fine... I guess I can share..." She kissed her again then before nuzzling into her and mumbling "Words can't express how I feel about you, my love... I'm so lucky to have you..." She kissed her shoulder, smiling softly "C'mon.. Lets get some sleep”

Catra shivered softly and nuzzled close, she didn't care about the war or...anything. She looked down at her and gave her a small caress on her cheek. She was tired and she didn't want to sleep alone or ...upset with her. "You’re right...we have a huge day tomorrow.. I love you...good night" She whispered and leaned back on her bed and rested softly.

"Mm... I love you more my queen" The knight smiled softly, nuzzling into her touch, pulling her close and yawning "Goodnight, my love..." She wrapped her arms protectively around her wife and slowly fell asleep by the sound of the fireplace slowly dying down.

Only because I love you

Chapter Notes

> Good evening guys~There are two chapters this time because I was sooo late on updating. I hope everyone is healthy is spending the New year's Eve with your loved ones~ Happy New year from both of us, Gigi and Firegirl <3 We love you all! Hope you enjoy these two chapters, leave a kudo or a comment to tell us your thoughts!

Catra didn't want to pull away from her after that long night. She loved how soft she could be.. how gentle she was. Her eyes closed and gave her a small peck on her forehead. A faint one. She purred for a while and soon she fell asleep in her arms while having her own arms wrapped around her as well.

Adora for her matter slept in later, curling into her wife and nuzzling into her. When she finally woke up she yawned, stretching and curling into her "Mm... Good morning..."

"Morning...." The other one whispered and placed a peck on her lips before she brushed her hair. "How was your sleep...?" She hummed. Her voice was slightly different from the sleep and her tail wagged softly.

Adora rubbed her back and kissed her shoulder, "mm.. incredible actually..." She kissed her cheek then with a smile "how was yours, my love?"

"good..... My belly is aching more than last time...." She spoke softly and gave her a small kiss on her forehead. Her hand cupped her cheek and she slowly rubbed her. "We have to hurry with all the recruitment..." She hummed. She was worried about plenty of things and she couldn't stay there to enjoy their moment.

The warrior put a hand on her stomach to soothe the pain then, leaning into her with a hum "mm.. do you need some of that stuff the ‘other’ me suggested for you last time...? I'll put out a request for it to be stocked again as soon as we can..." she kissed her cheek then "why don't we start getting recruitment tables set up in villages across the kingdom... giving them the option to join will make them more likely to join than being forced..."

"If we ask them, nobody will come, Adora.... This is war. Nobody cares for our child's death" She hummed and brushed her hair back "You're so ...soft and kind.. literally the opposite of what a queen must be…"

The blonde looked up at her then, sitting up and kissing her head "That is not true at all... a queen can be kind and soft.. so long as she can hold firm when need be" she cupped her cheek then "Catra... I know Light Spinner taught you, but not everything she believed was..well, right.."

"yeah but think about this one at least.... Would you go fight for your queen's child getting killed by the enemies? If you were given the opportunity to say no and stay with your family? To stay at home, in peace ,without the cries of war?... Would you?" She tightened her fist. Catra knew nobody was stupid enough to say yes... She looked at her in her blue eyes and waited for her answer "Back then if Angella gave you the choice would you leave me behind and go to war?"

"I wouldn't have. But there are plenty of men and women.. especially in our kingdom, sadly, who have no family, no wives or children. Who have nothing but the clothes on their back. If we offer food, shelter, warmth to them? That is better than the streets.. We already have an army... We just need to maintain it. And if we are smart? Those few who are willing to join will be plenty.” Adora took a deep breath and looked down at her "but... you do have a point... why don't we compromise? Cities over a certain population limit are required to provide a certain amount of men, while cities under the limit are under choice rather than requirement? I don't want to pull men from mining towns or farms. They need to keep producing through the war and they will need all the hands they can get"

"..... I guess we can do that..." Catra shrugged. At least her opinion kind of passed to the plan so.. it was something for a change. She knew that the girl wouldn't go ,unless she was ordered to. So she didn't get surprised when she answered that. "Do you think we can do this in a week...? We have to hurry now.." She didn't want to be alone once again during her pregnancy and if this war lasted months she would have to be in the end with her governess and the midwives. She looked away ,ears down as she didn't want to show she was hurrying for this reason.

Adora nodded and slowly sat down "we can do this in a week. Get it all set up, send messengers out... c'mon... let's get to work okay? I'm gonna need your help on this. I.. still don't remember where all the towns are.... or what towns are ours... I um... I've kinda been lacking on that... I'm sorry, my love" she scratched the back of her neck again, looking away with a sheepish smile.

"It's fine. You know the whole Bright Moon and its towns" The feline chuckled a little and gave her a small peck on her cheek before she nuzzled close "You're amazing...do you know that?"

The other woman looked up at her and smiled softly, kissing her again before wrapping her arms around her again and pulled her closer "mmm.. says my queenly wife" she teased and put a finger under her chin to tilt her head up, speaking softly "I love you... now let's go get this ready. Tonight before dinner we can start your training lessons. How about that?"

"training -?" Catra didn't remember that she told her to train her so she could defend herself. "If we finish with work you will teach me" She smiled when she held her by the chin. She just loved it when she did that. Her curvier body laid still under hers for now and arms wrapped around her.

"Yeah, for fighting. My warrior queen" The blonde kissed her gently, smiling down at her "mmm... of course my love"

"Do you think I could ever be a warrior queen?" Catra chuckled in return and wrapped her arms around her, pulling her close while nibbling on her lips. The cold wind of the open windows slowly brushed their naked bodies and made Catra shiver a little as she leaned close to purr against her neck.

"I know you can. I promise" The other shivered at the wind as well and giggled softly, goosebumps appearing on her skin "mmm... it's cold.. should I close the window?"

"nah... I prefer to have you to warm me up.." The brunette hummed and leaned closer, nuzzling at her for a short moment. Her eyes closed and her purrs were echoing once the blonde one got closer. She loved her and gave her small kisses on her lips and all the way down her chin and neck.

Adora smiled, hugging her closer and rubbing her back. She loved the warm feeling coming from her wife's body. "mmm... I'm happy to warm you up, my love." She kissed her back and smiled when she peppered kisses all over her body. She leaned her head back to give her more access, baring her neck to her.

Catra did pepper her with kisses ,feeling slightly warmer but after plenty of kisses and touches on her hips and breast, she massaged her tits while holding her close.

Adora blushed softly at the attention to her chest, letting out soft whines and leaning into her touch. She knew her wife could feel her growing hard underneath her.

The feline was already warmer while feeling her close,her member becoming harder only made her more turned on.

After some moments they got interrupted by the door creaking as some steps were heard. "Mom?" Jack was peeking as the feline gasped and pulled away
"A- Adora -...!" Catra jumped, grabbing a blanket and pulling it up to cover them, looking at their son "o-oh! Jack! Good morning, sweetie! Your mother and I were uh... um... don’t worry about it. “What do you need, baby?"

The boy approached and shrugged softly "I wanted cuddles too.... Mom Catra gets cuddles, why not me too?" He puffed

"I um.. these are special cuddles, baby boy... you um... you need to be older before you can get this kind of cuddle?" Adora looked at Catra then, fumbling around now "I’ll um... I'll come cuddle you tons before breakfast, okay?"

"But I want them now... Mommy got cuddles, good ones! I heard her purr" He hummed and looked away only to give her a pouty look

"My baby boy... Adora can't give you cuddles now.... Look, she will teach me today how to fight. You can be around and you can teach me how to fight too, so ... If you are a good boy and wait till breakfast for the cuddles you will show me how good you are in sword arts" Catra smiled a little to make him leave and had Adora nod as well in that offer.

“Yeah! Right, we can teach your mom how to fight just like I taught you. But you have to be patient. Okay, buddy?" Adora cleared her throat, smiling at him "now go on. We'll be down soon... You gotta get ready to teach her after we get our work done today, okay? Just be patient with me and I'll give you the best cuddles you'll ever get.”

"Fine...." The little boy spoke again.

The feline gave him a small kiss only to let him go and look at the woman again when he closed the door behind. "That... Was close..." She leaned close to her and peppered her chest with kisses. Her hand gently rubbed her member to please her.

Adora nodded, sighing as soon as he was gone "That was way too close... and happens way too much. How does he always walk in on us? I don't get it" she giggled, kissing her cheek softly "He'll need to know eventually but not now"

"he will have to know but ..maybe in a year or two... I don't want to let any young maiden know more things than my son" Catra rolled her eyes and continued to rub her between her legs. She slowly leaned up to sit on the bedside.

Adora laughed softly at first, until she felt the hand on her and groaned "mmf... don't worry.. I-I'll make sure to teach him how to take care of a woman... or man. If he so chooses... it's up to him and well we have another child on the way.." she cleared her throat, looking up at her then while being flustered now. "I know I know.... I bet this conversation will be awkward..." She leaned closer to kneel on the bed.

"Should I get on my knees, my love?" The queen whispered.

Adora cleared her throat when she knelt in front of her, pausing for a moment, since all of her blood was currently at her southern end "I-I um. uh... w-whatever you want? I don't- I don't have a preference- well I-I do but whatever you want to do is more than okay with me" she cleared her throat "I'm acting so stupid right now aren't I?"

"no~" The other one giggled and continued to caress her length while being so close to her "Tell me what you want then, my warrior" She hummed and leaned to place only a single lick on her tip.

The knight gasped softly, biting her lip and looking down at her "I-I um... fuck.. I-I want you to feel good too... I-.. can you- can you ride me?" Her pupils were wide, hair still out of its ponytail and down across her shoulders and back, leaning back with her legs spread for her.

"I wanted to lick you... But I guess that will be good too" Catra giggled and pushed her down to guide her against the bed so she slowly got on top of her only to give her a small kiss on her lips and all the way down on her neck. Soon enough she would sit on her member as it twitched ,her walls tightened around her.

"I-I’m up for-o-oh.." Adora leaned back, letting her guide her and groaning softly. She hesitantly put her hands on her waist, gasping and eyes closed when she sat down on her. When she felt her walls clench she whined softly "oh goddess you feel so good..."

"ah..... Please just move your hips... A little at least....ah" Catra purred and moaned as she started to rock her hips up and down on her. She loved how deep she could reach. Her voice was echoing. "I love you..."

Adora groaned softly then, happily doing what she told her and bucking into her. She pulled her down then, kissing her and groaning into her mouth "I-love you too... fuck.. Catra oh fuck..." She whined again, nipping at her bottom lip while rocking her hips in time with her wife's movement.

"ah.....ah Adora” The queen moaned, obviously hoping that she wouldn't be heard by anyone. "My... You feel so good....." She moaned and gasped while riding her.

The knight wrapped her arms around her, gasping and moaning into her, bucking into her and even using her hand to tug her down onto her lap, making her thrusts faster and harder "oh fuck I love you... I love you so much.... can't wait to fill you up... wanna leave you dripping with my cum.."she mumbled, nuzzling into her neck yet, moaning into her and groaning.

Catra’s cheeks blushed heavily and she began to tremble. The idea of filling her up only made her more horny and wet. No cold wind could touch her skin now. Her moans echoed "Fill me up then... Ah please, I want it..." She was always so sensitive to her touch, being so pure and now after these years of marriage she couldn't help but feel dirty. "I love it... I love you. I want your touch. I want you inside of me ....you're so hard.... Ah"

Adora held her jaw gently, pulling her down into a kiss once again, moaning into her mouth “I-I will.. I’ll fill you up as much as you want... oh fuck Catra... I love you... I love you so much..." she flipped them over then, nipping at her neck as she rocked into her. Her arm was still around her hips.

The feline moaned and gasped while tugging on her shoulder. She lifted her hips, knowing that she would cum quickly and reach her limit while she was having her hips upwards. "Do it... Do it please ah... Adora, I want you so badly"

The warrior whined softly, pressing her face into her neck "c-close... close, close baby fuck... oh fuck.. p-please... please let me cum..” she had gotten into the habit of asking permission, so, of course she couldn't help but ask every time. She tried to hold back until she got her answer, panting and whining against her neck.

Catra waited till she felt she was really on her edge while she was listening to her. She felt her body trembling while she was close to cum, allowing her lover to release and finally she came as well. She panted after they released. She could feel her thighs getting wet since she parted away from her ,making Adora's liquids make her all dirty.

Adora whined in return as she was made to wait, but she waited as she was told, shaking slightly and trying to keep her rhythm going, biting down on her neck to give her something to focus on rather than the feeling between her legs. When she was finally allowed to cum she pushed as deep as she could, whining and moaning into her, though when she pulled away while she was cumming she bucked a few times “ahm.... You're amazing... You really are"

The feline hummed and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips. Her eyes closed ,panting and swearing under her. She took sharp breaths to calm down "I will need.. an hour in the bathtub.." She hummed.

Adora grunted softly, laying down on top of her and closing her eyes, panting just as hard "bath... yeah... good... good idea... sounds good..." she nuzzled into her, pulling her close "long bath... even better.... but.. you were the one who pulled away.. so.. your fault... silly.." she smiled and booped her nose.

"I ...I know I didn't expect you to have so much in you...honestly" Catra hummed and leaned close to her, giving her another kiss on her lips with a giggle at the boop on her nose.

Adora giggled as well, kissing her softly "I told you I was gonna fill you up" She kissed her again and again, hugging her close and smiling "We should tell the maids to get a bath ready"

The other one leaned close to her only to place pecks on her cheek, chin and all the way on her neck. "Can you call them? I got rusty as it seems.." She felt her legs being tired already.

Adora got up just long enough to call for a maid to draw them a bath before she came back. She kissed her and gently pulled her back to bed. "Hey, I know~"

The queen grinned brightly, finally she didn't think about anything other than herself and Adora. This romantic room last night made her slip away from her worries for the night and kinda the morning "But let's not lie about it you were too horny this morning" She chuckled and rolled her eyes "I wonder why"

"Yeah, I definitely wonder why when you, my gorgeous queen, sat on my lap and attacked my chest" She hummed, rubbing her back and smiling "Though I was really horny, it was because you made me that way"

"...I just nuzzled and placed kisses on your chest..." She hummed and leaned closer to give her a small kiss on her lips again to tease her "Can’t I have a kiss and more cuddles now? Or will you get horny again"

Adora laughed softly, pulling her closer “Of course you can, dork" She smiled, kissing her softly and hugging her close. She looked up though when the maid said the bath was done and looked over at her "Ready to get all cleaned up?"

Catra leaned close and embraced only to nuzzle "Yes... Yes please~ But you know what to do~" She giggled at her only to give her a small kiss obviously meaning that she would carry her.

Adora giggled and picked her up, cradling her close and walking into the bathroom, sitting down in it with her. She grabbed a rag then, wetting it and gently wiping her clean, kissing her cheek gently "Mm... Much better, yeah?"

"mhm... I love it.. you're the best" Catra chuckled and grabbed the rag for her too, cleaning her up and applying some water to her more muscular body. "I love these strong arms or yours~" She whispered, placing kisses on her shoulder.

The blonde one giggled, smiling and blushing softly while kissing the top of her head. She worked on cleaning her own wife, pressing soft kisses to her body as soon as she could.

"I want both of them to wrap around me and hold me close.... Forever" She felt so protected... She would soon crawl up after some minutes so she could finally do as they planned. The war had to be planned after all and Adora would have to leave again. "... I will miss you during the war.... Again it feels like I will be again all alone to take care of Jack.."

Adora gasped softly when she said that, laughing and kissing her, holding her with the other arm "How rude of you...." She smiled though, hugging her as close as she could, nuzzling into her neck and mumbling "I'll always be here, my love... I'll always find my way back to you" When she finally pulled away she pouted but got up, kissing her cheek softly "My love, you are my warrior queen... You can join me on the battlefield if you wish. Let our governess take care of Jack. Or, better yet... See if we can get our ‘other’ selves to take care of him in their world so we know he won't be hurt?" She dried herself off, pulling her clothes back on.

"I'm not sure that they will... And Jack will feel like we left him behind..." Catra sighed and rolled her eyes. She wanted to be by her side but she couldn't, not now. She looked up at her and cupped her cheek after drying themselves. She would soon walk to the door for her maid to help her to dress up.

Adora nodded, sighing softly, understanding her worries "True... But I want him to be safe.." She kissed her gently before letting her go, following her to the room "We could keep him in the castle.."

With that the woman would leave for war not many days later, the queen didn’t leave the castle. Instead she spent her time with Jack and Daniella who was trying to give advice to the young feline. The boy only grew anxious about his mom when it took too long for the war to end. He was asking when or where Adora was. If she could come back for a day and leave again it would be amazing but that was obviously not possible anymore. The Horde conquered a lot of land, their soldiers were as always the best, just the participation of Shera in the army made them unstoppable. Catra was sending her letters, letters from Jack who himself wrote to her, telling her how much he missed her and he hoped she would come back soon. He also commented on how different Catra was starting to be and he had these letters sealed for his feline mom to not see. The feline though was still practicing on how detailed she could be when it came to her feelings for her. She wrote how she missed her, how she wanted to be there ,kiss her and cuddle. To feel her strong arms around her slimmer, yet curvier due to the pregnancy, body and nuzzle under the bed. She wanted to feel her lips on her skin to feel her hands rubbing her, whispering sweet nothings to her ear and telling her how everything would go just as planned. She soon laid down that night, so many nights she did spend on her own and she couldn't sleep because of some nightmares about losing the warrior.

Adora knew Catra couldn't actually follow her into battle, not with a child in her stomach but of course she had to do something to keep them from being too upset when she finally had to go. She always smiled when she got her letters and when she was getting letters from her son it only made her happier. She was writing back to the both of them in separate letters, knowing it would help Jack to have something of his own from her to keep. As Catra got more detailed, so did she, eventually managing to put out a few papers worth of things she wished she could do for her, to her, all chaste for now, devoting her love to her on one page and another explaining how she wished she could scoop her up and cover her in kisses and cuddles, as well as detailing every thing she's noticed on her own body in terms of change. She had gotten muscular, more defined, and of course more tan.

The brunette didn't have much that got changed on the other hand. Her belly was a little bit bigger, her breast as well. Her curvy body was more sensitive and how she wished for Adora to be there, to feel her strong and now tanned arms around her .... She loved her. She wanted her more than anything else in the world... She laid down, feeling the scent of hers through the paper and reaching to touch her belly and under her blankets. She told her how much she wanted to even ride her right now, to feel her inside her, how much she missed that…

Adora started getting less.. Chaste in her recent letters, detailing some more.. Adult things she wanted to do to her wife. How much she missed being inside her, the noises she would make, the desire she felt every time she thought of her. She groaned softly as she read what she was thinking, closing her eyes for a moment wondering if she had enough time to get off. The lower ranked commanders were always in their tent ,soldiers as well, their hideout was away from the battlefield and they weren't scared of any attack since they were winning. Catra wanted so much to touch her, to lick her, to feel her... She leaned close to her lower lips to rub under her shift. She closed her eyes imagining just how ..hot Adora would be with tanned skin, more muscular and all scratches from war, she knew war was making her more brutal but she just loved that too.

The warrior leaned back in her chair, for now just rubbing herself through her pants for now, biting her lip. She closed her eyes, head tilting back and groaning softly "Fuck.. Catra please..." She mumbled, imagining her there on her knees in front of her, biting her lip and groaning "A-ah.. Catra..."

The feline continued to rub herself, sticking slowly a finger inside and whining out her name. She could imagine how her voice would crack. How her breaths would brush her naked skin if she was there. That made her pant and groan while holding her voice down so she wouldn't wake up anyone. Her fingers thrusted ,almost getting more and more rough on their moves when she added the other two and she held the letter on the other hand against her chest. It was the only thing closer to Adora that she had... Her body was kind of uncomfortable since her belly had some weight on her but she didn't change position. She continued again and again while whimpering and grunting "A....Adora....~" She whispered.

Adora lifted her hips after long enough, pulling her pants down and finally putting her hand on herself and groaning, head going back "Oh goddess.. Catra..." She mumbled, holding onto the seat of her chair, bucking into her hand lightly. She was gasping out her name softly, muscles flexing and sweat starting to form on her skin, making her shirt stick to her. The feline was always applying some of her perfume on her letters just for Adora to have her scent around her during these months. She pushed her hips up to her hand just a little while trembling.

Catra obviously knew her own spots and she could easily tell that Adora knew them too. She was reading all these things Adora wanted to do to her and she couldn't help but grunt. She panted and moaned in pleasure while holding her letter now tighter close to her chest.

The blonde one grabbed the letter then, panting softly. She needed to be able to smell her, needed to be able to have some sense of her being there. She groaned when she could finally smell her perfume, panting softly and bucking still "fuck.... oh fuck.." She was already getting close, but she wanted to wait. Catra has made her wait and she didn't want to be out of practice. She wanted to be good for her, even after their separation. She knew she would be home soon. She promised her that she would be there for the time she'd give birth and the war was almost over but she couldn't wait. She held her orgasm back as long as she could without stopping, just barely managing to keep herself quiet when she finally came. She knew it was quick, but she also had not been touched in, well a long time.

The feline didn't wait ,she never did actually. When she felt like coming she rubbed her clit only to tremble and moan Adora's name. A hand placed on her mouth to silence her pants and moans. The mattress was all wet but she was so unable to walk right now. She was tired but also she finally touched herself after a month or so without. Her eyes closed and head tilted back to her pillow "Ah..... Adora..." She whispered knowing she was at least still alive was giving her more hope for her to see her again ,to feel her and also take revenge since Adora had sworn to find that man.

Adora finally let herself cum, back arching slightly and groaning, making a mess of the underside of her desk. This was the best orgasm she'd manage to give herself on her own till now she was panting softly. She relaxed back into her seat, panting softly and leaned back, closing her eyes and just panting "fuck... Catra..." She mumbled, looking down finally at the mess she made and sighed softly, rubbing her thumb against that last letter of hers.

The feline didn't have to give excuses to anyone, especially the servants. Catra stood up, pulling her hair up into a ponytail and ordered for clean sheets, a ready warm bath as well since the winter was coming already.

As the winter was coming though the weather on the battlefield got colder and colder. The fights were all successful, Bright Moon lost plenty of villages to the Horde and one day they did strike the cult that Adora was seeking to find. She could tell by the way they were fighting along with the rest of the soldiers. The knives they used, everything seemed too familiar. Adora got to work, putting the dots together only made her angrier, growling softly. She only got angrier noticing the knives. She wouldn't give up now, even when she would normally quit. This was the last battle they would need, the last village, the last people. She chose to finish it right then and there, taking her helmet off so the enemies would recognize her, furious at everyone who got in the way, though of course if they were on her own side she would simply move out of the way and continue. The men fought beside her ,obviously not aware of the woman's plans but then again .. the members of the cult knew pretty well who was the mother of the child and why this war started in the first place but they didn't care to fight her. Some managed to land hits on her ,scratches ,stabs on her armor but only one of them was good enough to bring the woman down and pin her face against the ground. His hand held his dagger tight against her neck as it was uncovered from the time she let the helmet fall down and he pulled her head up to tilt it by her messy hair poof. Could this man be him? Who knows.

Adora grunted as she was knocked to the ground. Furious at the man, she turned into she-ra, knowing it would throw him off balance before rolling to the side. She kicked him back so she could get to her feet "you were the one who killed my daughter, weren't you." She was furious, watching him with a growl "you're fucking dead"

The man grunted sharply but he stood on his feet as he raised his dagger in defense. Obviously if she tried to attack he wouldn't dodge the sword with the small dagger but he would be quicker "Am I? I can send you to her" He hissed with a grin, tightening his fist.

Adora cried out then, running at him, throwing her sword to the side, just tackling him instead. She was surprisingly fast for her size, since she had to walk and jog around in armor all the time. She was... well, definitely muscular enough to lunge at him. She used her arm to knock the arm with the dagger to the side, before twisting to grab his wrist. She put her hand on the back of his neck and pulled his head down onto her knee then "I swear to god you will pay for that!"

The man, surprised by the speed of hers, got caught easily. He struggled to leave and quickly pulled another knife and stabbed her on the side of her knee for her to not be able to walk properly and him to actually get free of her grip.

The taller woman stumbled but she refused to let him go, putting her weight on her other leg, throwing him down on the ground "you really think that will stop me?" she took the knives from him, kneeling down "I'm going to make you suffer for killing my daughter. Do you understand?"

"And you think you won't suffer back?" The man perked an eyebrow. Mages were fearsome not only dark ones but anything magical was actually taken seriously when it came to war. "You'll suffer way worse than losing an evil child. Go ahead. Kill me" He chuckled as he raised his hands.

"Oh I'm doing something much, much worse than killing you." She snarled, grabbing him and pulling him to his feet. She grabbed the arm of a warrior nearby, having them hold onto him, putting her sword to his neck as she limped away and refusing to accept help from others. She found a thinner sword and used her strength to literally bend the metal around his hands to keep them there "try me."

The man knew if she would touch him, consequences would follow. He was one of the many assassins who would give their lives if it was to kill someone with dark magic. He refused to speak ,even if she captured him willingly he didn't care about her furious self. The men around them looked at Adora who was walking now with the 'prisoner' wondering what happened and she stopped fighting the rest of them.

"we stop for the night! we will continue the attack in the morning!" She called out, before she continued to guide him back as she limped along, furious still, but she wouldn't let him get in her head. She sent a letter that night to her wife, saying that she found him and would be returning with him in custody. She appointed someone else to continue the attack, someone she knew was smart and would be able to finish the attack successfully.

The man got guided back to the camp. The men obviously kept an eye on him as he was under Adora's command now.

When the feline took the letter ,her heart skipped. She couldn't believe she would actually find him so that was truly… unexpected. Jack was already wondering what happened but Catra obviously didn't tell the truth. She didn't want him to know that they found his sister's killer.. Her lips made a smile and she leaned in, brushing his hair. "I am happy because your mom won the war~... They will come back finally"

"Will she take me with her in the next one though ...."

"Of course not..... My little boy... You're not old enough for war" She whispered and looked down at him.

But Adora got home a week later, with the killer tied up and stumbling along behind her horse, forced to walk rather than letting him ride, and was dragged if he stopped walking. She clearly had no care for his well being. She got off the horse, wincing at the wound on her knee when she landed. She made herself stand up straight to greet her wife and son, scooping them both up into a hug and holding them as close as she could with a soft smile "I missed you two so much.."

Catra didn't notice the panting man behind the horse as he was almost kneeling in exhaustion and dehydration. She wrapped her arms around her lover, tightening them as much as she could since she was wearing her rusty armor "I will need to give you new armor, my love..." She whispered and kissed her cheek, breathing close to her so she could feel her scent… feel that she was finally there.

Adora could see that the queen was slightly tired. Did she not get enough sleep?
The boy chuckled and embraced his mom tightly as well "Mom told me you won the war!" He cheered while Adora was hugging them close and holding Catra gently

"I'll be alright... thank you though my love... I'm just glad to be back.." the warrior looked down at her son then, smiling and picking him up. Even though she had to stand on her good leg, she tried to hide it as best she could "I did win, my baby boy... we got what we were fighting for, I'm staying home now"

Catra noticed the look on her face and the switch of the leg only to give her a small kiss on her lips and pull away "Where are you hurt? Who did it? Are you alright?" The feline leaned in to help her and make Jack climb off Adora. She was... really worried but the warrior gave her a slight smile, though she tried not to put too much weight on her. She had her own problems

"I uh... The guy I captured managed to stab me in the knee... I'll be fine. I just need to rest... Besides, we need to get ready for our trip after we.. Ah, take care of him. Remember, my love?" She gave her a soft smile then.

The feline's nails almost showed up sharper when she noticed the man but also when she told her that he wounded her. The man was too damaged for now to speak or look up at them. "Jack, go dress up, I'll take Adora in and we will take care of everything so she can join us for dinner" She spoke, making the boy nod and walk away quickly "You have to take care of the wounds..." As much as she wanted to make sure the man would pay she had to make sure that Adora was safe too.

The other one wrapped an arm around her waist to keep her from killing him right there, holding her close. Once Jack was gone she sighed, leaning against her a bit more for a moment before looking up "You. Take the prisoner to the dungeon. Give him small rations. I don't want him dying before we have our turn with him." She spoke to a guard, before turning back to her wife "I'll be fine..." She sighed then "but I know you won't give up on this."

The guard obeyed and took the man while the feline was tugging on her hand "That's right. I don't care about him. I care about you..and I don't want your knee to get infected..." She leaned close, holding onto her and guiding her inside the castle, calling for the servants to help her undress.

"I've been walking on it for a week... if it's gonna get infected it already has" Adora followed after her, limping slightly though she tried to act like she wasn't. She sat down, leaning back with a soft sigh, slowly straightening her leg out with a soft groan "I did have it wrapped up by the medics on the frontline"

"Don't speak, you're not staying like this... You might even get this leg to be like that forever if you continue like this." Catra hummed softly and gave her a small kiss on her lips before she let her lay on the bed and gave her a caress on her cheek.

Adora rolled her eyes, but listened to what she said. She let her wife take care of her finally after months without her "fine, fine... but only because I love you" She laid back on the bed and closed her eyes "oh I missed this..." she relaxed into it with a soft sigh, already about ready to fall asleep.

"I missed you..." Catra whispered and peppered her with kisses on her lips. Her eyes closed and she treated her lips with hers while the servant was taking care of her knee, forcing it to get into the right position since Adora had made it bent. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her nose, grabbing a cloth to slowly clean her dirty face up "I'm so glad you found him...and you are back in one piece.."

Adora smiled softly up at her, kissing her back gently before leaning down. She let out a grunt when her knee was, rather forcefully, adjusted "ow." She huffed, laying her head back again and closed her eyes. She smiled when she felt Catra clean her face, chuckling softly "aw baby.." she looked up at her again with a playful grin, finding it cute.

"You got me worried ...you know you do it every time you leave" the queen whispered as the servant only left them alone. If they needed any help Catra would call them. "You can't put it into water so... I'll just have a bucket and a rag to clean you up for now.." She hummed, pointing to the one servant to the door so she could bring what she needed. The feline wrapped her tail around her arm gently, making her grumble again

"but I missed sharing baths with you..." The blonde pouted up at her, but sighed softly, hugging her and just pulling her as close as she could. "I missed you so much, my love... I'm so glad to finally be back home.."

"I know.... I missed you too... I wanted so much to hold you...to touch you" Catra hummed but didn't say anything else. She wanted so much to just hold her there... To feel her close and not only hold her but ...do more. She leaned and gave her kisses. "I wanted to feel you against me so much… I wanted you to stay here but I know you would have to find him..."

Adora hugged her close, still laying down so she pulled Catra to her side, kissing her softly before having her lay down "hey... I'm right here now, my love. I'm not going anywhere. As soon as my knee is better we can do whatever you want. I know until it heals you won't be letting me out of this bed or a chair without help huh?" she smiled at her, cupping her cheek gently and mumbling "thank you for taking care of me"

"hey-How could I not treat your wound... Without having a healthy knee?" The brunette chuckled and tried to lean away only to continue to clean her up "I love you... I don't want you to think I wouldn't take care of you once you're at home... We will have the best dinner , homemade food~ Enough dirty food from the field" She smirked making her laugh at her comment and sat up slowly to make it easier for her

"mm... I'll have. You know the food on the field was actually pretty good. Not nearly as good as what we get here, but definitely better than what I've had before" She smiled at her softly ,her head tilted while taking her time to admire her "I missed you so much... you're so beautiful"

"Pft no... Don't lie...now I gained some weight..." Catra chuckled and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips and nuzzle on the crook of her neck, smelling her scent "I wanted to see how strong your body looks under your tunic..." She blushed, since it was literally like telling her to undress.

Adora cupped her cheek, tilting her head up "you are gorgeous just the way you are." She smiled softly at her then, laughing softly at her request but she sat up straight, lifting her tunic up and over her head. She revealed the bright pink of new scars and darker tan skin underneath, as well as much more defined muscles.

The feline gasped as she touched her abs, taking a soft breath and tugging on her cloth's edge. "You're so hot... I wish I was as ...in mood to climb up on you as I was in the first pregnancy" She chuckled and kissed her nose. Her eyes looked at the cloth she bound her chest with and sighed "Okay I'm looking forward to clean you up... These clothes must be on you for weeks" She hummed, causing a laugh to escape Adora’s lips.

The blonde leaned up to kiss her softly before she took the cloth off her chest, speaking softly "two days... but yeah.. I didn't want to wait any longer than I had to." She leaned back again, closing her eyes "I might just go naked for a while, this feels incredible..."

The brunette chuckled seeing her all naked on her bed with only the leg wrapped up to not be moved much and the woman's bottom being covered by her white pants. She leaned in and gave her a peck on her neck "You're tempting me... You're amazing" She whispered but in a more kind way ,not a needy one. She missed her but the tiredness of the pregnancy was a bigger problem.

The blonde giggled softly, just pulling her closer and speaking quietly "hey... rest, you have plenty of time for that later... I'm tired too.. Let's get some sleep, okay?" she smiled softly and kissed her forehead, hugging her close "I just want to hold you right now..."

"..... Okay....." Catra offered a gentle smile and leaned in, giving her soft nibbles on her neck and nuzzled close to her. She then closed her eyes and purred, breaking the silence of the room quickly. She loved her scent and she wanted to remain focused on sleeping with her wife and holding her for as long as she could. Even though this lasted for the whole night.

The day light brushed her skin and eyes making her hiss and whine. She had gotten awakened plenty of times by the woman tensing or mumbling in her sleep. It was obvious since she came back from the field but she was always trying to calm her down. Adora wrapped her arms around her, turning onto her side and hugged her close, cuddling into her wife with a soft smile. She fell asleep quickly in her arms in the night, having many nightmares, mostly around the man escaping; hurting their son or one of them. She never fully woke up and still got a few good hours of sleep in the morning. She groaned softly at the light in her eyes, turning her head to hide it in her wife’s chest and hearing her hiss. She mumbled something sleepily and kissed her chest tenderly. The feline smiled at the mumble and rubbed on her back while holding her close. She honestly wanted her to stay in her arms for a whole eternity.. but she knew she couldn't. "I love you " She mumbled. "You didn't sleep well... Did you?" She hummed in a deeper voice.

Catra's eyes looked up at the blue ones. "I love you more..." She mumbled back, her own voice was rough and deeper from sleep as well "I slept well enough... how are you feeling?"

The blonde rubbed a hand over her belly, kissing her forehead then. She was so excited to have her wife here with her "are you still up for visiting the other us as soon as I'm healed up or do you think we should wait until after our child has been born..?"

"I feel... Tired" She admitted and took a sharp breath, wanting so much for this feeling to end.. Her eyes looked at her and kissed her lips. "I'm truly not sure ....I don't feel the same way I felt in the first pregnancy.... The midwives told me it's probably because I was anxious about you but.... I don't know.. My governess told me it may be a difficult pregnancy because of our mourning... I don't even have the mood to eat at all..." She shrugged ,after all the methods of prediction about the pregnancy were limited.

Adora hummed softly then, getting a bit worried. She kissed her forehead again, holding her close "you need to eat though, my love... this time it isn't just for you, but for our little one as well..." she cupped her cheek and held her close "I... know that the other us has.. well some more advanced technology... their Catra knew things that we can't tell... maybe they can figure out why you're so tired? and why you lost your appetite?"

".. if so we can go ..it will be good for Jack too" She didn't even have to ask about Jack coming with them.. her eyes looked at her and gave her a small nervous smile "I'll be fine, once you get well, we will go to them ,okay?" She smiled and caressed her cheek.

The blonde smiled and nodded, kissing her softly "Jack can play with their little one too, I.. think it would do him some good to have another little one his age to play with" she nodded then, kissing her and holding her close "I'll take it easy my love, I'll be healed in no time. Especially with me being she-ra, it should be fine to walk on within the week"

Catra smiled and nodded quickly while holding her close. She didn't say anything though. She laid there and nuzzled against her lover's chest before sitting on the bedside "Let's go eat some breakfast... The servants must have it prepared" When she got up to leave the blonde pouted

"mm fine... I need to get dressed first, I ended up falling asleep shirtless.." She got herself to sit up, moving her legs off the side and wincing, sighing "can't wait for this damn thing to heal.."

"You know you made it much worse, right?" The queen perked an eyebrow and gave her a soft poke on her nose "Because you're stubborn and walked for a week"

Adora giggled in return, sticking her tongue out at her "I'm fine baby. It hurts for a bit but I'll survive and it definitely won't do any permanent damage. Besides, I rode Swiftwind. I didn't walk. I'll heal just fine" she kissed her then, smiling softly before she got herself up, limping over on her own to wrap her chest in a clean wrap and pull a cleaner shirt on. "c'mon let's go eat"

The feline smiled and rolled her eyes at her excuse. She didn't say anything though, she only nodded and kissed her lips slowly before pulling away to give her a gentle squeeze on her ribs "Let's go"

A serious meet up

They would both join the breakfast only for Jack to ask plenty of questions about the field. He was so excited but at the same time Catra did her best for Adora to have some peace while eating.

The last one giggled softly, wrapping an arm around her as they walked. She was happy to be by her side again. She laughed softly at all of his questions, though she didn't hesitate to answer, of course... changing a few details, since he was still young and didn't need to hear the more gruesome details. She put a hand on her wife's knee for a moment, letting her know it was okay before she went back to answering questions as she ate.

Catra didn't want her to get all tired right after going back from war. She knew it was difficult to be in a war but her being with her family now ...she would expect some silence and peace.

Adora knew Jack would have all kinds of questions for her. She knew he would be excited to have her back, so she didn't expect much quiet or peace until all his questions were answered. She spent most of her days in chairs then, though it only took about three days before she could walk with only a slight limp and by then they were all packed and ready to visit the modern world. The governess would watch over things while they were gone even though it wasn’t the best idea. Adora led them to a spot just outside the castle, a clearing in which they would activate the spell. Then she ruffled Jack's hair gently, having been her most common way to sooth, comfort and show affection to their son when she couldn't say or show it any other way. After that she activated the spell, transporting them to the modern world, and, luckily, right inside the living room of their counterparts.

At that moment the modern Catra was just having some chill moments on her wife's lap, head resting there and hands holding her phone while tapping some things when suddenly she jumped. Tail puffed and huffed at the random arrival of the others.
The queen on the other hand got actually more sick by the 'trip' and held her stomach ,clinging on her skin as she needed a moment to get over this feeling. Jack on the other hand cheered but he was.. confused ,these people were looking like his moms.

Adora wrapped an arm around her wife's waist to help hold her up so she could focus on feeling better. She looked down at them for a moment before scratching the back of her neck "I'm sorry we startled you I uh.. didn't mean to pop in so close.... my um.. well, Catra is pregnant again but... something is different and we're worried. I know you have ways of figuring these things out and.. I wanted to know if you could help us..." she put a hand on her son's shoulder then, rubbing it gently "and, also meet our son, Jack"

"again?!" The future-Catra was surprised that the queen got pregnant again. They didn't even have the strength to make another baby with Adora and take care of it. "Uh...take a seat..-"

The last one's wife, Adora, looked up at the warrior almost starring before she saw the small Jack walking around, all the machines seemed to be ..strange to him but also the queen who was now counting on Adora's arms "Hi Jack~"

The knight looked at her confused then, tilting her head "..yes again(?) You say that as if it's a weird thing?" She scooped her wife up then, knowing she couldn't hold herself up again, so she carried her over to a chair. Still slightly limping due to the stab to her knee

"Of course it's weird. You don't have condoms or something? Don't you pull out at least?" The feline commented

"Jack, darling don't go pressing buttons I don't want you to break anything of theirs" The warrior skipped for a second the question as the child was currently poking some things. "What- what are those? Why would I-?" She was just confused now, rubbing her wife's back. Her hand was still glowing as she soothed her.
The less muscular Adora rolled her eyes at the words of her wife. She stood up and smiled a little "I'll go make some tea... It will make you feel better" She held Jack's hand though to tug on him "Come with me. Don't you want to make something for your mom to feel better?"

The little boy looked up at his blonde mom checking if she would allow him to go or... If she trusted them in the first place.
When Adora saw Jack looking at her she smiled and nodded "Don't worry they're friends. Think of them like.. Aunties? I guess that would be the right term for that? Doesn't matter. They'll protect you. You're safe with them" She gave him a reassuring smile and leaned close to her.

"a...alright!" The boy ran behind the other Adora.

The queen grunted softly and took some deep breaths to calm down a little. "Gods... this was... Something else..." She whispered, referring to the teleportation. She leaned against the sofa to rest "My midwife told me to see a doctor… but seeing one will be more risky than just giving birth to the baby and risk my life" She chuckled nervously and opened her eyes looking at Adora and holding her hand close when the child and the other blonde woman left.

The other feline sighed and shook her head "We can go to a hospital and they'll tell us what to do... Though really... I thought you would actually have condoms or... or something... You just fuck her and get her pregnant?" She shrugged and looked up at her.

The warrior smiled softly at her, kissing her wife's forehead then and humming softly, rubbing her back with her other hand. When she offered to go to the hospital she hesitated before nodding "They'll help right? As long as they'll help her I'll do anything." She blushed softly at the question, feeling too strange to talk about something like that "I mean.. Yeah..? What- what other way is there to do it?"

"Oh my.... I will have to show you, won't I? Before you release you just pull out. That's the easiest thing you can do if you have no condoms.... Though there's still a possibility of you getting her pregnant again even like that… ah... Just avoid doing anything naughty while she's on heat at least? Or some days before that... Maybe this could help." Catra suggested "else I will buy you a whole store with condoms" she joked and looked at the blonde one.

Adora blushed heavily, tilting her head "I-.. Show me? What- what do you mean by that?" Then she looked at Catra "And I guess as far as I know we're done with kids for a while..." She looked down at her wife before hugging her close. She could see a blonde haired child coming at them right when she hugged the feline

"Ah and that's Finn, our child" The brunette with the ponytail spoke quickly and gave her a small smile.

"It's nice to meet you Finn, have you met Jack, our son?" Adora smiled as she saw the brunette picking Finn up.

"They were in their room... So I don't think Jack met Finn at all" Catra chuckled and patted their head before pointing in the kitchen "Go ahead, mom is in the kitchen too" She hummed as they quickly walked away.
Finn seemed to be looking forward to meeting that boy.
Catra was so thankful she had spoken to Finn about the other counterparts.

"They...? Oh you mean Finn, right?" Adora paused, still confused, trying to figure it out "So...Finn is a 'them'? A they? I- I don't know what you call it but I've heard about people like Finn." She looked down at her wife then, figuring she must have been asleep since she wasn't talking much or that she just wasn't feeling well enough.

"yeah! They'll either choose when they're old enough or stay like that" She shrugged. By noticing the queen was sleeping she perked her ears up and she poked Adora's chest "Damn you've been working out huh? I bet Adora already scanned every muscle on this old tunic of yours... You two will have to change clothes..." She chuckled and purred while scanning her tanned body.

"That... Sounds really cool actually." Adora shrugged then and chuckled when she mentioned her physique "Ah, frontlines on a war actually... There's... A lot we need to catch you up on but I'm more worried about her right now." She paused before grinning "Oh- but I did get jabbed in the knee, wanna see?" She pulled her pant leg up, twisting her leg carefully so she could see where it was bandaged up "Got stabbed there taking a guy down"

"wow..... Don't you..think of yourself getting killed and leaving her alone?" Living without war and hearing about it made her feel strange. Her eyes looked up at her and took a small breath. "Adora told me you've got twins. Didn't you bring the other child with you?" She perked an eyebrow remembering what her wife told her some years ago.

The warrior shook her head "Of course I do. But I can't be a coward who hides behind walls... What message would that send to my men? And... The reason was personal." She pulled her pant leg down again kissing the top of her wife's head, between her ears and paused when she asked about his twin "She... She was killed. A few months ago... That's why I was in the war. To get revenge for her death"

The old princess leaned closer to the kiss, purring and slowly nuzzling. She felt so tired that she couldn't help but approach

"What-..... Wow... I'm.... I'm sorry" The other feline starred in surprise..a bad one obviously. She couldn't even think of them losing Finn. She couldn't believe how Adora and Catra were still going on without the child. "You really are strong.. I can't even imagine losing my Finn..." She whispered making the woman smile softly when her wife leaned in closer, before hugging her, rubbing her back and holding her close

"It.. It wasn't easy. But.. We had Jack to help keep us from... Well losing it, I guess. We found out Catra was pregnant the day we lost her..." She sighed softly, pausing for a moment before shaking her head "I found the man who killed her. We'll punish him as soon as we can get Catra feeling better. She wasn't.. Well, nearly this tired last time and I'm worried... She's more nauseous too"

Catra was truly stunned by their strength. She had to expect it since they were living in days where death and war were included in a normal day as it seemed but...still this was too much "I hope you'll punish him properly.. then" She hummed and looked at her before she smiles "She likes to get kissed between her ears and ear scratches too huh?" She chuckled and leaned back "Don't worry....it should be just different symptoms of her pregnancy.."

"Trust me, I have plenty of ideas." The warrior smiled softly down at her wife then, nodding and humming softly "She does, melts every time I do. It's adorable." She grinned then, muttering a soft 'I love you' by her wife's ear, before kissing her head again.
A small smile formed on the queen's lips and she opened her eyes sleepily, mumbling a 'love you' in her sleep and leaning close to her.

"Aw...You~" The other feline found them so cute. "Do you want to change clothes? Catra seems to be too sleepy and the couch isn't the best for her to lay on." The brunette looked at her and stood up.

The warrior pressed a soft kiss to her forehead then before nodding and getting up "Yeah. That would be great. I should probably dress more fitting to your time huh?" She smiled softly, still carrying her wife with her.

"Uh....if you two walk out like this, I bet everyone will judge and stare...so yeah.... Catra's accent is weird so I bet she will have some people to stare at her." She chuckled since Adora seemed to have a more casual tone in her voice. "This way" She murmured and guided her into their room, though Adora would have a ...really tight shirt to wear; that's for sure....also her Adora didn't have anything between her legs so the shirt wouldn't be the only tight to wear.

"That's because she grew up a royal. They always have some weird accent going on" The warrior giggled, looking down at her wife with a soft smile for a moment. She set her wife down, using some pillows to help prop her up, asking if she was comfortable.
“Mhm..." The ex-princess mumbled but soon clung to her when she felt her moving away from her, opening one eye "Where are you going...?" she whined.
The other girl smiled softly, cupping her cheek gently "I'm just going to get changed into some clothes they have. I want to fit in and not stick out here. I promise I'm not leaving the room. I'm staying right here, my love" She kissed the back of her hands then "Let me grab the clothes and I'll change right here next to you, okay baby?"
"Mm...okay" Catra mumbled and nuzzled to the clean bed sheets. Her eyes closed and her hands rested on the mattress.

The other feline chuckled at how cute Adora was towards the other self of hers. "You two are adorable. I can't even..." She smiled and pulled a casual blue shirt from Adora's wardrobe and leggings for her before giving for the royal one of the shirts Adora was wearing during pregnancy which was too long; underwear were included. She let down a second pair of trousers just in case Catra wanted to use them. Then she left them alone, believing they would be okay just like that.

Adora kissed her wife’s forehead gently, taking the clothes and thanking the other Catra before she stood close to her wife. She changed so she could reach out and touch her to be sure she was still there, knowing she needed reassurance. The blue shirt was a t-shirt with a V neck, hanging down to show more than either of them were used too. The sleeves struggled to contain her muscles and she didn't want to move in case she ripped it "I um... I don't think... I don't think any of this fits me right..." She mumbled, looking down at herself and wincing, reaching down to try and... Adjust herself better to fit more properly in the underwear she was given.

The pregnant one couldn't sleep again though. She looked up at her and smiled "The shirt is weird… but I love your muscles that are showing off." She chuckled and leaned close to her. She wrapped her arms around her thighs. "I don't like the pants..."

The other one giggled softly "Do I need to start having them make shirts like this for me? I'm worried I'm going to rip it if I move too much..." She put a hand on her head, chuckling softly at her "And I don't mind the pants. It's the underpants I don't like or enjoy. They don't fit right I'm... Kinda just hanging out... It's not comfortable with that fabric in there... do you think they'll know if I don't wear the underpart?"

"hm.... Take it off and we will see" The girl looked down at her and sat on the bed slowly with an exhale. Catra scanned her up and down but ...when she wore only the leggings she almost blushed. "That's...hot but no...not in public- I mean. You're not going out like this" Even though she found it hot she didn't want her member to be exposed like that. "You have to tell them to wear something else... perhaps breeches?" She hummed and looked up at her before shrugging "Can you help me with my clothes too? Did she give me a dress?"

Adora nodded at her first sentences, stripping again and pulling the leggings back on without the thin bit of fabric, trying her best to adjust herself so it would be hidden but…Well it didn't work very well. When her wife blushed she giggled softly, shaking her head "This will be just in private then" She winked before she pulled the thin piece of fabric back on, once again doing her best to tuck herself into it only for it to untuck itself as she pulled the leggings back on and she just groaned "I'm telling them I can't wear this stupid piece of fabric. It's way too small and incredibly uncomfortable..." She looked back at her then and looked at the clothes she laid out for Catra "Ah... No, some small... Almost dress? A shirt sorta like mine" She looked up then, and nodded "Yeah I'll go see if they have breeches or something after we get you dressed.

"Such a short dress !? I mean I can't wear that. My butt will show up.." Catra huffed ,now bothered by these clothes. She stood up to inspect the clothes, hers as well "What's that fabric... Is it cotton?" She narrowed her eyes. "It is too thin...you will get cold.. I will get a cold too..." She mumbled while feeling the fabric of the shirt that she was supposed to wear before she noticed the pants and shook her head "I'm not wearing trousers... Unless we go swimming..."

"I don't... I don't know, like... I'll get her to grab you something warm, okay my love? I don't want you to be cold." Adora brushed some hair out of her face, kissing her forehead "I'll be right back, okay?" She set the long shirt down on the bed again, poking her head out "Catra! We um- we have a few problems-" She was careful to hide her... Lower half.

The other feline was switching channels on the TV but looked at her only to then furrow her eyebrows. "What do you mean? You're alright" Tail flickered, thankfully Adora was inside with the two children. She noticed the woman hid herself so she almost gasped in realization "Damn you'll need underwear...uh men underwear..." She mumbled and scratched the back of her neck before she stare at her body "I would give you a dress to just get out but.... You're so buff.... You will look....weird" She rubbed her neck again and looked away before she took a deep breath "What's wrong with Catra?" She realized that the queen had a problem with the clothes she was given.

Adora opened the door a bit more. She was a bit... flustered at her predicament, huffing softly "It's too small.. I'm um. Yeah. It's all too small actually.. Feel like I can't move without ripping this top..." She backed up then, gesturing for her to come in and turned away, walking back into the room and picking up the long shirt "And I don't.. Really know what this is, a short dress? But um.. Catra said she wanted something warmer... I don't know if its summer or winter here right now"

"It's summer here but... Ah.... She can wear a jacket if she feels cold. That's a shirt... Made for pregnant women and pants .....for the same reason obviously, they are light .... Maybe- hey" She hummed and grabbed the clothes that were meant for Catra "Wear this shirt and pants. You'll feel better though.. about the underwear problem.. I can't help.. at least for now."

The future-Adora would join in but she was quiet for now. It seemed the queen wouldn't wear anything.

The warrior nodded then, turning her back to the other woman and changed, looking down at herself again "I feel... Weird.. I'm not used to showing this much.. Skin" She rubbed an arm then, looking down at her wife "We'll find something for you love, don't worry." She smiled softly and looked back up at them "You have dresses, right? She.. Won't wear anything else, trust me I've tried for years"

"I have short dresses...." Catra hummed and took a few steps only to show her what she meant by saying short. A mini dress black and white obviously meant for her slim silhouette.
The queen opened her eyes wide. How could these people dress up like this? So much skin exposed, so ..short. The shorter dress she wore was her shift that was...an underwear that was knee high.. and another dress she was wearing on some dates she went with Adora that was ankle short so she could tempt the knight more. "This is not a dress.... That's not even a shift.. a tunic...! Adora I don't feel good. They have no clothes"

The knight sat down beside her and pulled her close "I'm sure there's something... But you might have to wear something else.. At least until they can get better clothing for you..?" She looked up at them then, hoping they'll agree to it, for her wife's sake more than anything else "I know it's not the best love but they do dress differently here, you know.. We want to fit in right? We gotta dress like them.. Hey, you might even like it. Like how you liked how I looked in those other clothes?"

"you just happened to look like that but for underwear..." She hummed but she would soon understand that she would have to wear something else. She sighed in defeat and she agreed in the end to put on a shirt and pants for pregnant women. They were comfortable but ..she still felt that all this was weird.

"Do you want to go to the hospital now? I can drive you there..." The other feline offered.

Adora looked up then, wrapping her arms around her wife and hesitating before nodding "We should probably... Unless you want to wait for a bit before you're out in public like this. I.. Know it's weird for you, love" She kissed her shoulder gently, putting a hand on her stomach. "I just want this to end fast... So I will agree with you....let's go and ...go home if everything's fine"

The pregnant one asked for her help to stand up and gave her a soft nuzzle. "Will she take her horse too?" The queen asked and looked up at Adora who was the only one answering her. She was feeling tired but she didn't want them to leave her behind even if the job was for her…

The blonde nodded and stood up, helping her stand up and held her close, keeping her arm around her waist "They um.. They don't ride... Horses, per say. But I've ridden in it before. I promise you it's safe. It's just scary at first. It's much faster than a horse" She held her close "And this is all for you. We can't leave you behind"

After taking a soft inhale the other woman looked up at the less muscular Adora and held her wife "Will you stay here with Jack?" She trusted her enough so she could let her with her child as long as she would be in the hospital.

"He could just come with us too. The hospital is perfectly safe for kids" The blonde smiled softly and the other Adora kissed her wife's shoulder "Which do you think is better my love?"

"No... It's better for him to stay at home.... I don't want to pull him around.." The queen admitted and looked up at her only to lean close to her wife and tug on her "Let's go..~" She was kind of scared but she had to admit she wanted to find out what was wrong with her.

The other Adora nodded "Alright, Finn can stay here too then. I'll put on a cartoon for them and get them lunch." She kissed her wifes cheek, smiling softly "Drive safe, babe. Text me any updates"

The knight hugged Catra close and rubbed her side "You promise it’s safe for her right...?" She looked up at the other Catra, a bit nervous.

“I will, hun ....l promise. We will go to the best hospitals, okay?" She smiled and looked at how worried the warrior was before pointing at the door "Come" She walked the way to the car and after several attempts and resistance of Catra to get in, they drove off to the hospital. It was....way different than having a doctor in your house.
Adora stayed right by her wife the entire time, forgoing the front passenger seat to sit next to her so that she could be more comfortable and keeping an arm around her. When they got to the hospital she looked around, confused "It's so... Clean. It smells weird here... Are you sure this is somewhere we should be...?" She looked around, an arm still around her wife.

"yeah,we will go to Adora's doctor too, so .... Don't worry, I allowed her to touch my wife so..it's safe" The other feline smiled and guided them to the doctor's office to speak to her firstly.

The tall woman walked out to them. "Adora can stay in since she's her wife but... Catra you will have to stay back" She spoke as she prepared the feline for the ultrasound to examine her.

Adora nodded, sitting down in a chair beside the bed where Catra was "Does she have to leave? I don’t... well really know any of what this is... If my wife is okay with it I'd be more comfortable with her here." She looked at her Catra then, holding her hand "Is that okay?"

"mhm... Let her stay too.." The queen hummed.

At first the doctor was thoughtful but she sighed and nodded ,letting Catra stay and sat on a nearby chair.

The pregnant woman raised her hand and held her wife's, while tightening her hand. Ears perked down while letting the doctor place the device on her belly, shivering by the colder touch. She was scared but she was told to calm down, Catra pointed out about letting her wife have this examination too... It should be safe.
The doctor on the other hand could already see the head of the baby and the whole form of it though she smiled a little. "So, your babies are healthy... But ..did you get enough vitamins? Maybe the symptoms are caused by the lack of food.. What I'm worried about though is the way you will deliver the babies.. it's dangerous to do it naturally in triplets...also they will need..more care than being brought into their mom's embrace immediately."

The queen was confused but at the same time the other Catra widened her eyes in surprise.
Adora sat beside her wife, holding her hand and rubbing the back of it even as she watched every move the doctor made, wanting to be sure her wife would be just fine. When she shivered she rubbed her arm gently "She has been feeling too sick to eat. I've been trying to get her to eat whatever she can, but even since the beginning she's been too nauseous to eat very much at one time" She paused at the mention of triplets, confused at the word and looking at the other Catra, hoping she would explain "There's... More than one?" She looked back at the screen, still incredibly confused but not wanting to ask questions "What do you think we should do? Does.. That mean she needs to give birth here?"

"definitely.... You can't give birth at home or... naturally... I would suggest she stays here... She looks weak...I don't have a file for her so... I don't know if she's healthy.. I'm speaking only by the image I have right now" The doctor looked at the feline and helped her clean up "We will have to take some blood to see what she's lacking... All this looks like a simple depression during the pregnancy but I can't be sure" She mostly talked to Adora and the other Catra as she nodded and she thanked her before approaching them. She would have to leave them alone for a second so she just made clear that they would have three children.

Adora looked at her wife for a moment before nodding "If.. There's no other option, then do whatever you need…" She looked at her wife then, kissing her forehead gently "As long as it helps her" When the doctor finally left, she looked up at the other Catra, just about to ask how many there were when she spoke up "Wait so... So we have three..? Three babies on the way?" She looked at her wife for a moment "After having twins this... This will be fun.... No more kids after this. I'm done. Four is enough."

"Well, tell that to your dick... You can't hold it back. I bet you will have like...ten before you die" Catra hummed jokingly but the other one was worried since she didn't know how they would take blood or if she would be able to have Adora around.

"I want you to be with me... Okay?" The queen was scared but she trusted Adora. Her hand held hers and she stood up with a grunt.
Adora rolled her eyes at the comment about her dick, helping her wife up "I'll be with you the entire time. Even if they don't want me there. Trust me... I'm staying by your side. I still feel weird about this place but... Well, Catra trusts it and she knows the doctor.." She shrugged, holding her wife close and looking up at the other Catra "We.. Are free to go right? That blood thing is another day? How do they even take blood? They wont hurt her right?"

"I ..don't think she was talking about another day, Adora... I mean she saw the babies clearly so.... I suppose she will tell her to stay in." She paused but took a small breath. "I'll go ask her but also... It just...aches just a tiny bit. They pinch you with a syringe and suck some blood off your hand" She didn't wait for her to comment though since she really had to know if they would have to stay in the hospital.

Adora seemed to be ready to leave already!

"Adora..." The queen whispered and furrowed her eyebrows, leaning close and wrapping an arm around her arm.

The girl hesitated, looking at her wife for a moment and shaking her head "She still has a few months. She can't stay here for that long. We can't stay here for that long. We have a kingdom to run... Why can't we just come back later...?" She held her wife and sighed softly "Okay... Okay. Go ask, please. I'll wait here with her." Adora held her wife close, wanting to be calm so she could help her wife, kissing her temple gently and mumbling "Hey... it's gonna be okay, I promise"

Hearing the warrior being so anxious about the kingdom made her feel the same as well. She took a soft breath and she looked away. "We can go back, I mean, I'm sure my midwife will be able to help ..." She hummed, her eyes looking at her in worry.

"I... If it's as bad as this doctor thinks then I don't know if our midwife will be enough..." Adora looked back at her, sighing softly "We... Might need to stay... But I don't want to... I'm worried about our kingdom... I trust your governess but... What if something goes wrong?" She tried to keep calm with her questions, not wanting to worry her wife more. They left Daniella on her behalf to rule the kingdom, not everything but she could take certain decisions. Even though her tone was calm, the questions she was making made Catra anxious.

"You can go back…(?) I.. I don't know what else to do… If I can't go back now, someone has to be there..." She brushed her hair but the other Catra walked in and shook her head

"You can't leave... Unfortunately. Her condition needs care and... Your methods will probably kill her so.... It's safer to stay here for these two months ...after all you've got someone to take care of the kingdom, right?"

Adora nodded at what the other Catra said, sighing softly and looking at her wife "I don't want to leave you and Jack alone. Besides, it's... Fun here, in this time I mean. We'll be okay.." She kissed her forehead softly "She is allowed to at least leave the hospital right...?" She looked up then.

"Yes but.... You should hurry though... The doctor wasn't so optimistic about the whole thing if you delay it" She hummed and looked up at her "Do you want to help you, two?"

Adora hesitated before nodding "Just-... Just for tonight, if that's okay... They'll let me stay with her here... Right..?" She looked up at the other Catra, worried that she wouldn't be allowed.

"Yes, at least till the surgery you can be with her. Come. You can take Jack too if you want him to not stay with Adora at home. It's just ...here we have different viruses that I bet your people won't be able to heal if you catch" The futuristic feline hummed and the pregnant one looked at the woman before she leaned against Adora

"I won't risk it. You can just let him back this time and I'll be with you. Don't worry, okay?"

The blonde nodded then, looking down "It's not safe for him to be there alone. If he gets sick, if anyone gets sick, I can heal them..." She looked at her wife, kissing her cheek.

"alright.... I will be ready when you are... I'm just... Kind of tired right now. Though ... I want you to be with me for this blood sucking thing ...." She was scared ,she couldn't lie about it.

Adora nodded, understanding that she was scared and smiled softly "Of course I will, baby. Catra said it isn't that bad, okay? I promise, I'll kill them if they hurt you." She kissed her cheek, holding her close.

"I know you will.... Let's...go end with all this..." The other huffed and looked at her only to give her a small kiss on her lips. Even if she was scared, she was tired and wanted to finish with all this situation... Her ears perked down though as the doctor came in to guide them if they wished to do the examination right now which Catra did.

Adora nodded, wrapping an arm around her "If she's ready to start it I am" She held her wife close for a moment "Do we need to go anywhere else for it, or will the tests all happen here?"

The doctor’s co-worker was right next to her so she could have her take the sample with the syringe while she would be just making sure Catra was alright.
The other feline informed her about her ...case so even if it was weird she would try to help as much as she could/

"No no, she can stay here, now sit down please and place your hand on this pillow" The nurse positioned her so she would sit on the small chair and get her arm wrapped by a thin cloth before she look at the man who approached "Take a huge breath, it will sting a little but don't move, okay?"

The girl didn't look at them, she just looked up at Adora like a child would look at their mom while seeing the doctor for the first time.
The blonde looked between them for a moment, nervous but she nodded. She sat down with her wife, holding her other hand and letting her wife lean against her for comfort. Adora cupped her cheek, kissed her forehead softly and mumbled "It's okay.... They won't hurt you... I won't let them... This will help you"

The feline did feel that slight sting on her arm but didn't say anything and continued to look at Adora before she was done and got her hand covered.
"The results will be ready by tomorrow..till then you can go home and I'll call Catra to tell her about the results" The nurse smiled and allowed her to stand up.

Catra didn't like that circle thing on her skin but she assumed it would start dripping blood if she removed it.
Adora nodded, helping her wife up then and just scooping her up

"I'm getting food in you whether you like it or not now" She looked down at her, smiling softly "Let's get you back. I'm sure Jack is missing us" She turned her attention to her wife.

"fi..fine! I'll be fine, Adora" The princess giggled. She soon held her close and nuzzled close to her only to give her a small kiss on her lips.
The other Catra would finally drive them home after they were allowed to leave.
Jack would run back to them when he heard the door open "Moooooms!!!" He ran and nuzzled on Adora a little.

Adora knelt down, scooping Jack up and spinning him around with a soft laugh "Hi, baby boy! We're back, don't worry. And I have a surprise for you"

Jack cheered in surprise and giggled, arms wrapped around his mother and he tightened his embrace while holding her close. He wrapped his tail around her arm. "Oh what is it!!?"

Catra meanwhile walked and took a seat on the couch so she could feel less tired and smiled while looking up at them. A sudden thought of them having Lena there only caused her eyes to get watery but she did hide that well. She misses her too much sometimes…

The knight laughed softly, hugging him close and kissing his forehead gently before kneeling down, setting him down in front of her "you remember how we said you have a little sibling on the way?" she grinned, cupping his chin and speaking softly "well, it turns out it's not just one, but three little ones. Which means you're gonna be a big brother to three little ones. You think you can help me keep them safe, my brave boy?" She hummed then, smiling at him, ruffling his hair gently.

The boy gasped when he heard that. He did expect another small boy or..girl who knew? But this was way better! He smiled brightly and nodded quickly as he stood straight in front of her "Of course! I'll protect them, mother" He smiled and turned to go hug Catra too "Thanks..." He spoke in a low tone, even if he wouldn't admit it he was feeling too lonely because of his sister's absence..now with the other three babies he would probably feel better.

"You don't have to thank me, Jack.. we were expecting them anyway~" Catra smiled nervously, wiping her eyes quickly and holding him close.

Adora let him go so he could hug his mother, her smile turning a bit sad. She walked over, sitting down beside them, gently kissing her wife's forehead once more. She didn't want to bring up that painful thought, especially in front of their son, so when he was done hugging her she got his attention "though, because there are three little ones in there, the people here are gonna have to help your mom, so we're gonna be.. staying longer than we thought. But you get along with Finn really well, right? I'm sure Finn has some friends too, maybe you could meet them?"

"Of course I can, but you'll be okay...right?"

Catra replied to the young one. "Yes my little one~ They will..just help me to bring you these three small babies"

Jack smiled at that and continued when Adora told him about Finn "Yes they have... But I want to spend more time with Finn....not these friends ... They're hot and so cool and....ah I don't know if they're younger or older than me"

Adora rubbed her wife's back gently, having seen the tears she knew. She hugged her close for a moment and mumbled into her skin "I love you, baby... I'm here for you..."

Catra smiled a little at the woman, her ears perked up at the new word Jack learnt and looked at him for a second before looking at Adora "What do you mean by hot, Jack?"

Adora on the other hand kissed her wife's cheek, looking up quickly when he called Finn hot, pausing for a moment, clearing her throat "I-.. where did you hear that term too? How do you know what that means?"

"well.... Finn told me..! But they are, I like them"

Catra opened her eyes, for a moment, just forgetting about Lena and looking up at Adora again "Uh.... Is it the time for y....you to speak? Or.... I don't know what you mean by saying hot…" She looked down at him. She didn't know if he knew the real meaning of it or if it was a term both children didn't know how to use.

"I meant that... I admire them a lot, they're really fun"

Adora cleared her throat "then um... I don't think 'hot' is the right word for this, buddy. That's used when you find someone... physically attractive. Like when you like how someone's looks in a romantic way. You just admire them, right? I'm just trying to figure this out. It's okay if you do, or if you don't" She cupped his cheek then "you don't have to answer if you don't want to, buddy"

"...They look really nice too ..... Weird but I like them. I don't know" The boy was confused but the feline smiled and wrapped her arms around him

"Hey, don't worry about it, okay? It's not something to worry about yet, if you are with someone in a more romantic way you'll notice it..~"

Adora smiled softly, kissing his forehead "it's okay, you have your whole life to figure it out, okay buddy? we'll support you no matter what"

The other Catra would just walk in, holding some bags with clothes, the basics at least ,a dress, some pants and shirts from men obviously. That Adora was huge compared to her cute Adora. When she heard about all the romance she chuckled "You, Adora wanted to be romantic to lay your Catra in bed?" She chuckled and left the bags on the short table.

Jack was now more confused.
Adora looked up then as the other Catra walked in, standing up and scratching the back of her neck "Jack misunderstood what the word 'hot' meant. We.. explained, as best we could" she ruffled his hair "go play hun, we'll be right here if you need anything"

"But what does aunt mean? Why would you lay mom in bed? To sleep?" The boy's ears perked in curiosity and he looked at the blonde one while holding her hand.

The same moment though as the queen cleared her throat Finn walked already in the room, replying just as casually "To fuck-"

The other Catra only widened her eyes though her lips made a smile "Finn! I told you to not say that word, your mom will be upset if she hears you!"

Adora looked at her son, about to respond as well when Finn walked in and responded. She just wheezed, sitting down again and putting her head in her hands. She was laughing softly and shaking her head "Finn, he doesn't know what that is yet." She ran a hand through her hair, sighing softly and shaking her head "but uh... yeah. Yeah that's what it means. I was going to wait until you were older to teach you about that, but... well I guess it's happening now"

"you just lay mom down? To rest? And what does' fuck' mean?" Catra was already trying to hide somewhere, cupping her face "And you're laughing, are you serious, Adora! You'll teach our son what that means?" She huffed and looked up at her in shame and then at the other Catra.

"What? My baby knows more things than yours... Geez and you like.....fuck every day how is that possible to be a secret to your son?" She commented, making the queen glare at her

"Will you stop talking like that!? What's wrong with this world? He doesn't need to know everything now. We can explain everything when we have our privacy.." She hissed ,her voice raising slightly as Adora could tell she was clearly both mad and embarrassed.

The last one shook her head, noticing her wife was getting upset, just waving her hand "just-... I'll explain later, okay? Now isn't really the best time, just go play with Finn, okay?" she looked at Finn then, pointing a finger at them "don't go teaching him either, that's a conversation for me and him." She sat back, waiting until the kids were gone before she leaned back with a groan "He's walked in on us twice and we just said we were cuddling. He's still a kid he doesn't need to know what that is! He always has such horrible timing with it too... cockblocker" She groaned softly, before pulling her wife close "you don't need to be ashamed about this you know. They have a kid it’s not like they don’t have sex"

Catra’s arms crossed over her chest and looked away "I don't care, he's young to know yet. We can lock the doors next time, I want him to be pure as long as he can .... Knowing this will change him" She had her own problems about this topic. She learnt early about everything a princess and prince would do and she didn’t have the chance to go back in time and just love without knowing anything that happens during sex. She pulled herself away with a huff and touched her belly only to stand up "He doesn't have to know till his body changes okay? We won't have our child to talk like a villager because of this Catra and Adora allowing Finn to talk like that.."

"I- like a villager ? seriously? So you're calling them peasants then? Kids are curious, okay? He's going to learn eventually whether we tell him or not, and clearly they aren't as strict here as we are but once again it is a different realm and a completely different time era! Things are going to be different!" The warrior paused, taking a deep breath and looking at her "I was just as embarrassed. That's why I laughed. I didn't know what else to do. I wasn't actually going to tell him anyway, just explain that it's something adults do, and that he's too young to know, nonetheless do. Do you really think I would tell him at such a young age? I know what it's like to know that when you're little, trust me. For years I thought that's all a relationship could be! Was to produce kids but it's not, I know it's not and I want him to know that!" She kept her tone gentle, though she was making sure she got her point across, taking her wife's hand gently "And don't talk down about peasants like that. They weren't born into nobility but that's not their fault..and not all of them can rise up like I did. Most royals make it impossible for them to do so."

"yes of course, you know how it is to know having sex only for kids but learn something else too since you maybe forgot it! You just had your member to stick in and nothing else to learn, I had to learn how to please the prince with every bloody detail, okay? I didn't ask for it when I was little and I didn't find it pleasant either" Catra tightened her fist when she took that deep breath. The other one had left when she continued to speak. She sighed, trying to just not have a more intense argument in the other's house. The villagers and peasants though made her ear twitch. "Why should I care about that? They could fight just like you and do something in their lives to become nobles. But that's not the point, I don't know what you wanted to tell him or not, but he is young to know anyway.. and he can't just speak however he wishes because we are in a different realm"

"oh really nothing to learn? You act as if I haven't given you head plenty of times and ignored myself because I want you to feel good! I was literally raised on the streets. You don't want to know what I had to do to survive out there." She was trying not to get angry, trying not to raise her voice but it was getting harder, especially when she mentioned the peasants "Oh really? If it's so easy why don't you try living like that as a child huh? …having to fight for every meal, more often than not, not having access to clean water so you have to steal money from anyone walking by so you can slip into a pub to get a drink! How about you try not having any fucking home so you have to sleep in the back alleys with nothing but a few broken planks as your bed huh? I'm sure you'd be able to make it just fine and could easily rise up in ranks when anyone higher then you only sees you as a fucking pack mule! You forget that I lived that! The only reason I got out of that was because I nearly died and Mara took pity on me! Otherwise I would still be on the streets of that damn village, fighting people as a sport to earn money so I can hopefully find an actual bed and warm meal that night that isn't fucking rotted!"

"That doesn't mean I got raised well, yes I had food that might kill me in two hours or not, I had a comfortable bed with my stepmother trying to get me married when I was twelve. I don't think you had the same problems neither had to learn how to work a kingdom and be able to not fall off the throne" The other was right on her first words she had to admit that ,though she grabbed that topic later on again "Yes you learnt all this after we got married I didn't have that choice okay? Do you want to talk more about this now?" She hissed and stood up with a sharp breath, touching her belly.

"oh I never said you had it easy, I'm saying that trying to rise in ranks as a peasant isn't nearly as easy as you think it is. At least you always had a place to sleep" she looked at her for a moment, before sighing, shaking her head "I... don't want to argue about this anymore. I should be helping you, not arguing... I'm sorry" she sighed again, looking at her "I'll sleep on the couch tonight if you want me too"

The other's ears perked down ,she was so stupid. If Adora wasn't like this...she would have probably been alone since.. whoever would get her hand, he wouldn't have the same attitude as her wife. Even if she thought she was right in the argument she still apologized to her.. She halted her step and turned around to wrap her arms around her "Of course not, you silly..... I know we will argue about many things but ... You're always apologizing... I'm the one who offended you..." She whispered and wrapped her arms around her head gently. She took a sharp breath as Adora could already feel the soft kick from the belly of hers "I'm sorry..."

The other one hesitated for a moment before she wrapped her arms around her as well, hugging her close and gently kissing her head gently "I raised my voice again, and I'm sorry. We both had shitty childhoods, and there's no point trying to say one is worse then the other... I'm sorry, my love.." She held her close then, speaking softly "and... you did, but I don't blame you. You didn't experience it.. you haven't even really seen it.... I don't think you could understand no matter how much I told you.." she felt the kick, putting a hand on her stomach and soothing them with her magic, holding her close.

The girl hummed and sighed as she slowly kissed her head and brushed her hair, forcing them down as she pulled her ponytail. "I'm sorry I shouldn't really say all this...I really got angry at that ..Catra and then I thought you found all this funny and.... It got on my nerves.." She hummed and leaned closer to give her more attention. "I love you .... And I appreciate that you're so good to me..really .." She could think of the worst at these moments, if she wasn't with her and ..was with someone else instead she wouldn't even be able to speak up to them.

Adora shook her head "no, no I didn't think it was funny I was just embarrassed, I'm sorry.." she rubbed her back then, smiling softly when she said that, tilting her head up to kiss her gently "you deserve to be treated like this. You're such an amazing person, I love you so much, and I'm so lucky to have you in my life"

Catra smiled sadly and nodded. Her emotions were a mixture of sadness and happiness. She was scared because of the whole... Hospital thing ..anxious about the kingdom since she had to wait for longer than one or two days ...All this ended up as tears in her eyes that she tried to hide "I'm glad you're in my life too... I.. I love you" She whimpered and tightened her embrace. She couldn't sit on her lap so she remained there standing in front of her.

Adora noticed and picked her up, stepping back and sitting on the couch, with her in her lap, hugging her close "hey.... I love you too baby, it's gonna be okay, I love you. I promise it's gonna be okay..." she kissed her forehead, keeping her close "don't think about it okay? Let me worry about it"

"About what...though... " The other let out a sad chuckle and wiped her tears away. She leaned as much as she could against her and wrapped her arms around her. "I have so many things in mind ..... Even if we caught this man I still miss her.. I hate him..

I'm anxious about the pregnancy... I'm anxious about leaving for so long from the palace... I don't want to argue but it...just happens sometimes... But I do say a lot of bad things during that..and I feel so bad... I remember that if you weren't here I would be probably making a family with that prince and I just feel so bad about yelling at you..."

The warrior hugged her close, rubbing her back while letting her talk before mumbling "hey, baby... it'll be okay... I miss her too... and we'll punish him.. I promise... I'll make sure everything is okay.... all I need is for you to trust me, my love" she played with her hair, hugging her close and kissing her forehead again, leaning back with Catra close to her chest.

"I ..I trust you ...but I know he won't bring her back... I just want some rest..." The feline whispered in return and nuzzled close to her ,slowly crawling away and grunting when she stood up "Do you want to go to bed...?" She slowly walked so she wouldn't get too dizzy.

Adora nodded, getting up after her "yeah.. yeah. Let's go to bed. I'm getting tired too now. C'mon baby. They really have comfortable beds here at least? And now that they have nice clothes for us we don't have to worry about anything" she smiled softly and kissed her cheek before walking with her to the bedroom

"Do you want to help me get undressed?" The feline murmured. She was sleeping with her shift and thankfully she still had it there.

The knight nodded, smiling softly and kissing her forehead. She was happy to help her change, gently pulling what she had been wearing off and admiring her body with a smile "You are so beautiful, my love..." She kissed her softly, handing her her shift so she could put it on, ready to help if she needed it.

"Are the scars still visible...?" Catra looked up at her only to give her a small kiss on her cheek to relax a little. "I don't know if it's appealing or not... But I can't remove them" She hummed softly while undressing with her help and letting out a soft breath.

The other woman cupped her cheek, looking down at her "You are gorgeous.. They're hidden by your fur mostly, but I can still see some.... I don't think you look bad with scars... I love them. Do you think I look ugly with all of my scars?" She looked down at her and gave her a soft smile "I promise you don't have to worry... You're gorgeous"

"Of course you're not ...! I love them... Every single one" The feline looked at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips. "You're amazing .... " She slowly wrapped her arms around her and gave her a small nibble on her lips, making her smile and kiss her back.

The warrior giggled at the nibble and stayed close "Are you trying to turn me on, on their couch? You are evil" She joked, kissing her again "I love it"

A soft giggle escaped Catra's lips and she leaned closer, giving kisses all the way on her lips and down her neck "Perhaps I just want to tease you" She smiled and peppered her skin with kisses, forcing a soft chuckle to escape the other's lips, tilting her head with a soft hum

"You are adorable... Tease me all you want my love" The blonde grinned, leaning back on the couch with her wife but she stopped when she reached her neck only to grunt quietly and close her eyes.

Catra held her softly and curled on her only to nuzzle against her and sigh "Only teases…and now sleep~ I feel exhausted.." She hummed and leaned close to her.

"Good night, my love…."

The fall of a queen

Even though the next days were stressful they couldn't return to their home. Catra had to get in for a surgery since the possibility of dying back in her era by blood loss was too high. The exhausted feline was laying down on the bed of the hospital ,her hands placed down and her eyes looking up at her wife since they informed her already she wouldn't be able to join her in the surgery. She was obviously scared but she tried to not show it much, the other Adora and Catra didn't seem to be so scared about it so...she should be fine,right? Adora, her wife, was scared half to death, though she was doing her best to hide it, just giving her wife a slight smile, kissing her hand gently "hey... it's okay, I'm here my love, I'll be with you as soon as they're done, I'll be there when you wake up with our three little ones" she smiled weakly, holding her hand and squeezing it gently. The doctor came in then, saying that they were ready for the operation, having already answered all of their questions. Even if Catra wanted to be calm she couldn’t. She slowly leaned closer to her lover and kissed her lips. "I'm just scared... I love you" She hummed as a nurse gave them some time and soon guided the feline into the operation room. The only thing she didn't expect was for her to get so sleepy in ..seconds ,the woman couldn't keep her eyes open and the next thing she could see was just the darkness. It was just like she was dreaming ,as if she was too sleepy and needed some extra hours. The other Adora looked at the knight and leaned close "Hey... She will be fine.." The knight was immediately starting to pace instead "how do you know that? What if something goes wrong? What if they hurt her? I don't want to lose them, I can’t lose them" The other girl noticed she had ...some issues with parting away with the other. Her eyes looked down and then at her again "Hey..nothing will go wrong... They had me too .. I don't have any better doctor for you and Catra. I trust them all in here and I don't think they would ever do anything to harm your wife" She hummed and sat down while waiting for the surgery. After a long pause, the warrior hesitated but spoke up "Right... I know I just-... I just worry about her.. I can’t lose her... I can't-... I just can't." she sighed softly, looking away from her, before she finally sat down to wait, closing her eyes.

"hey ..you won't lose her... Everything will be fine..." She hummed and sighed. While they were all alone waiting ,she continued to reassure her that she would be fine and she would see it in some minutes. Though these minutes became an hour when the doctor stepped outside. Adora stood up with a smile to approach her "Can we see her now or?"
"She is slowly waking up, please keep a low voice. The babies are healthy and.. she lost some blood, so she will need some rest and of course to stay in for this week... She's really weak, which is.... Strange for a pregnant woman, didn't she eat well these days either..? Her blood pressure is low too..." The doctor was still concerned about the mother's health rather than the children's. The knight stood up when the doctor walked over, relieved when she realized they would be okay. "she always has struggled with eating when she's pregnant. She loses her appetite every time. I make her eat as much as I can, but it's not much usually" she looked at the other Adora before looking back at him "she always starts eating soon after she gives birth… or at least she did last time. She had.... a very judgmental mother, I think part of the reason she won't eat is because she doesn't want to look fat. I reassure her as much as I can, I'm doing my best.... she's getting better about it, I can take care of her just fine."

"Alright I would suggest for her to not work or walk around too much for the next few days, you should keep an eye on her while at home. I told the nurses to give her the vitamins she needs for now so she will feel slightly better" The doctor gave her a small smile when Adora thanked her as the nurses would take the feline out of the surgery room to her old one."Go ,I bet she will love to see you first" She hummed. They had to clean the babies up before giving them to their mom.

Adora nodded again "thank you so much..." She followed the doctor quickly, eager to see her again even if she was still half asleep. When the other Adora paused, she hesitated before nodding, stepping into the room, walking over to her bed, speaking softly "hey baby, I'm right here, how are you feeling?" she gently took her hand, sitting down by her wife. The feline was half asleep but she was trying to keep her eyes open. She smiled and her hand faintly touched hers "I'm fine....~How are you ...?" She smiled and purred as her eyes slowly began to close. The blonde one kissed the back of her hand only to reply in a soft tone "I feel wonderful my love. All three children made it, we did it... you did it" she squeezed her hand gently "you can rest my love, I'll stay right here, I promise"

"Yey... ~"The feline was actually a little bit cheerful ,her head leaned close to her and soon she let out a deep exhale "I'm.... I feel... Weird... I'm tired" She hummed, Adora could see her hand had no strength to hold her at the moment and that made her hesitate for a moment before nodding "They said that they would use something to make you fall asleep while they worked... you might still be tired from that... they said you are okay, other then uh vitamins or something like that..." she kissed her forehead "I'm gonna ask them why you're still so tired okay..? I'll be right back, I promise, my love"

"Wha.... No I ... I want you here.." She whined softly but slowly her hand fell on the mattress as she felt herself getting weaker and weaker. It was just moments after the surgery and the girl was still under the effects of the medicine. Adora hesitated but nodded, sitting down again, taking her hand "alright, my love, I won't leave." she smiled gently, kissing the back of her hand again "I'm right here, I'm sure it's just still the medicine..." The feline began to sleep as two nurses brought the babies into the room "Do you want to hold one? I'll leave the others in their beds" One of them spoke and looked at the blonde on, making her nod and stand up "she's.. supposed to still be tired after this right...? she couldn't stay awake very long after I came into the room..." she was eager to meet them though, even if it was just one at this time, looking between the nurses "it's been so long since Jack was this little..."

"yes it's completely normal, ma'am.. you shouldn't be worried ,she will wake up in one hour or so..~" She smiled and gave her one of the boys. Even if they knew they were three Catra didn't ask to know their gender. The nurse who held the other two looked up at her. "Congratulations, this little girl will need some extra care once she will grow up. She will have a hard time between these boys" She said playfully. Adora smiled softly down at her son, rocking him gently and offering a finger, even if he was too little to properly grab it. She looked up then, smiling "Jack will love having younger brothers to play with... and he'll love having a sister around again too... two boys and a girl.. wow.." She looked back at her wife for a moment, before looking back at the nurses "Thank you, for helping us. It means the world to me.. even if it's just your job"

"you're welcome, I wish for the best for all of them, they all are so quiet yet" She hummed and let the girl and the other boy in their beds. Then they left while the other was still asleep. Adora nodded, smiling softly at her before sitting down with the young son, wondering what they would be naming them while Catra was still sleeping.

The feline woke up after an hour and opened her eyes ,rubbing her eye with her hand and grunted "... Adora ... Hey.." She whispered and tried to sit on the bed. The little girl began to cry so she wanted to stand up and go to her. She didn't know their gender but the cry made her wake up. A grunt escaped her lips when Adora stopped cradling the boy close to her and got up instead to pick the young girl up in one arm. She gently laid their son down so she could soothe the young girl. Hearing her wife though she walked back, smiling softly "Catra... Hey, baby. How are you feeling?"

"I'm ..feeling good I'm just trying to get used to the light feeling of my belly... I'm actually feeling better than before" She smiled and looked down at the baby "Are they boys?" She chuckled since they were expecting boys after all. Adora smiled and nodded, kissing her forehead and speaking softly "Almost, two boys and a girl... I have the girl right now, do you want to hold her?" She sat close to her bed, looking down at them "I forgot just how little they are... Remember when Jack was this little?”

Catra, though, furrowed her eyebrows when she heard they had a girl too and shook her head before she slowly leaned back "I'm... Sorry...." They said that this would be better for them to not be a girl but there she was having what she didn't want. "We had to predict it earlier.." Adora kissed her cheek in return, shaking her head. Of course she didn’t care about having a daughter, at first it seemed scary to have one after Lena but… now she loved this one. "No, no, don't apologize, my love... It might be better for Jack to have a younger sister around again... I know he's been really lonely.." She kissed the back of her hand then "Don't apologize for this, my love. She's.. She's adorable. I'm glad we have her." The magicat looked up at her and gave her a small nod before she leaned close to her and gave her a small kiss. "I don't know what to think of... Maybe she will make Jack less lonely and he'll have someone to protect too" She mumbled and leaned close only to wrap her arms around the baby girl as the baby slowly held her chest "Ah come here, little one" She knew she wanted to drink so she leaned back to lower her shirt. The knight smiled and passed her over to her wife, letting her hug her close, before getting one of the sons instead, looking down and kissing his forehead gently "I think so too, I think Jack will like having her around.. And he'll have some boys to play with too, which is good.."

"yeah ...I know... " The woman slowly let the girl suckle on her breast, a soft grunt escaped her lips."You're biting ...little girl" She chuckled making Adora giggle "Feisty, reminds me of someone" She smiled softly, giggling and kissing her cheek softly. She looked down at their son then "Should I let the other Adora in? Or do you want to wait for a bit?"

"I want some time alone..... Alone with you .... They're different..." She leaned against the bed more and sighed only to close her eyes while the girl was still drinking peacefully. Her small hand placed on her other boob "Seems you all love to hold my breast” She chuckled, causing a laughter to escape Adora’s lips before kissing her forehead "You're adorable... But I can let them wait outside" She hummed, kissing her gently then before sitting back down.

"aw hush... The baby girl is adorable.... She has your blue eyes and ...is actually a human" She was surprised to notice that. "I know she is, I was surprised too... Both our boys aren't, they're magicats like you" The blonde one hummed."I wonder if she'll develop as fast as they do..."

"I....think so? They will have a lot of age differences if not..." Catra explained and leaned close to her to place a kiss on her lips "Though I don't know the colour of her hair, she doesn’t have yet” She murmured. Adora nodded, smiling softly at the kiss "She's a mix of the two of us I suppose... one of the boys is blonde like me, the one I'm holding is brunette, though he has a lighter brown" She hummed, looking down at the little boy in her arms, smiling softly "We need to figure out names for them..."

"Hm.... we can ask Jack too? Perhaps he thought of some names" She shrugged but soon would rest beside her. "They're so cute..." She kissed the girl's forehead. "Jack would like that, if he got to pick a name for them" Adora continued smiling unconsciously and kissing her wife's cheek. “I can't believe we had triplets.."

"I can't either.... Or ..that I just woke up to have them in my embrace... Without pain or ..... The whole pregnancy" She whispered, all this was new and weird to her but..she felt so relaxed and thankful that she didn't have to worry about her dying during this pregnancy. "I love you ....can... Can we go home? The doctor said I'm well....." She wanted to bring the babies home and take care of them. The other brother though began to cry too, maybe it was his time to eat. Adora hesitated, shaking her head "The nurse said you needed to stay for just a little bit longer to get you back up to full strength.. Those vitamins again.. But we can be home soon, here I can take her. He's getting hungry" She traded babies with her then, rocking the young one to sleep and laying her down, smiling softly as she did. Catra took the baby boy only to let him drink too, she chuckled though at his reaction and hunger "He is hungry but he's more careful than the girl.. it feels weird to have babies after so long.." She hummed while looking at him and holding him carefully "It's not a question anymore.. we will spend more time with them as kids" She hummed leaning in close to Adora this time "Hey... Look at his eyes ,isn't he cute while drinking? He's still pouty" She giggled "It is a bit weird... But... It's nice. Though i think after these three we should stop. At least for a while" The blonde chuckled, kissing her forehead and smiling down at their son "Aw, he is" She giggled, smiling as she looked down at them "They're so beautiful.. I'm so proud of you, my love..." She kissed the top of her hair then.

"I... Didn't do anything honestly... I only slept so I'm not sure why you are." She mumbled in return. Her hand caressed the child's head and once he was done she looked up at her "Do you want to put them back to bed? The other one didn't drink at all..."

Adora kissed her forehead softly "I'm not just talking about the birth. But yeah I can.. I'll see if the other one will eat..." She put them to bed, before picking up the second son, cradling him close "Hey little one... You're so quiet... What's up with you hm?" She gently rubbed his chest, cradling him close. The baby boy yawned ,his eyes still closed and rubbed his eyes with his small hand. This one was the blonde but he did nuzzle against her. Seemed he was a sleepy one. Catra chuckled and looked up at her only to lean close to them and smile "I don't think he's a noisy one... Even more quiet than Jack" She chuckled, making the other giggle and smile softly down at him, gently rubbing his chest "I must have woken him from his nap.. Poor baby.." She leaned down, kissing his forehead gently before kissing her wife's cheek. The little boy whined a little but calmed down after the kiss. He looked at her and blinked. "I think he likes you" Catra smiled and looked at him who wrapped his arms, kinda, around his mom's one hand. His tail slowly wagged in the towel forcing a smile to appear on Adora's lips as she nodded and giggled "Already picking favorites huh?" She teased, smiling down at him, gently holding his hands. He giggled and nuzzled close to her. The feline smirked and leaned close to her to kiss her lips "I love you...Adora... I bet he likes you....~" She smirked and gave her a soft nuzzle. Tail wrapping around her arm. The blonde one grinned, kissing his nose tip gently then, smiling down at him, before looking back up at her wife "I love you more... And he definitely does. Already giggling.."

"Little Devil" Catra chuckled and looked at him who now tried to nibble on her thumb. He was so small and so peaceful at the same time.

"Oh he isn't a devil, he's adorable" Adora smiled, letting him suck on her thumb and holding him close to her chest.

"He's adorable ... But he's a small, cute devil." The other one chuckled and kissed her lips before leaning back to her own bed. Her arms rested back but soon she would start to fall into sleep. She was still...tired.. "I'll .. I'll just take a nap..."

"Alright my love, I'll be right here.." She let her wife lean on her, holding their son close

The couple would live in the other's house for a few days ,even a week or two but they couldn't stay there for longer. Catra was getting too anxious. After casting the spell they all got back to the woman's castle but it was really... Different. It was even broken in some places. There was a dead silence in the castle’s garden, some flames were still visible in the distance to a nearby village. Her arms wrapped tighter around her babies, almost understanding what may have happened so she didn't think about it twice. She touched Jack's shoulder and pulled him close. "Jack, take your sister... Adora" She took a small breath and took some steps back after letting go of the baby boys. They were too close to the castle and if she was right… They shouldn’t go any closer. "I have to go see if my governess is there " She could see how some walls were falling to pieces. Adora stood beside her wife, looking over at the castle, worried but she nodded "Alright, Jack stay with me, okay? Stay right next to me.." She held the two sons close to her, but she couldn't let her walk over alone, so she walked after her, though she was careful where she stepped and walked. "What happened... Did.. Did we come back at the wrong time...? We must have somehow done it wrong... Right..?"

"No.... We did everything right, I mean... We double checked it, Adora.." Catra hummed but after a while she stopped her quick steps. Adora had the newborns and Jack. Jack couldn't take care of the small babies and she knew it. "Adora stop.. you can't follow me inside, I have to find her before anything else happens, just hide for a second till I come back" Adora hesitated for a moment before nodding "C'mon Jack, let's go play hide and seek, okay buddy? Let's go into the forest and hide until she comes and finds us, you gotta be really quiet, okay?" The forest wasn't too far from the ruins of the castle luckily, so she didn't have to go very far from the castle before she could find a place to hide Jack, and then herself nearby. Jack held his sister tightly while the other woman had his brothers, the children thankfully didn't cry. The one boy only began to sob once they were in the woods but Jack didn't care. He sat down while panting and took sharp breaths "Why are we hiding, mother?" The boy managed to speak. Adora soothed the young boy, gently bouncing and shushing him, looking down at him "Because someone destroyed the castle for a reason... Destroyed our home, probably thinking we were in it..."

She sighed softly "So we wait here until your mother gets back okay?"

"But ..but what if they're still there? Is mom safe ?" The boy was now worried. His eyes looked up at her and sat with the smaller one in his embrace, copying his mom's moves while bouncing the baby ,though he was less gentle. The baby girl was struggling to not cry actually. Adora shook her head "You have to be gentle with her, bud. You can’t be so rough, okay? She's still little" She sat down in the bushes, nervous but she gestured for him to come over "C'mon Jack... She just went in to find her governess she will be right back... I promise."

"yes but what if they catch her? Will she go where Lena is ...? I don't want her to leave either, mom" The boy looked at her in worry and leaned close to her, his tail wrapping around her wrist but still holding the baby tightly so she wouldn't fall. "I'm sorry Mara." The boy spoke to the little sister and placed a kiss on her head. Adora shook her head "No, no baby they won't catch her, I know they won't... She's too smart, don't worry..." When he called her Mara, she smiled "Mara huh...? You know that was the name of my old mentor, do you think we should name her that?"

"of course we should ... You were talking about Mara a lot and... I can't find a better name" The boy rubbed the back of his neck coyly. He was half sure she would like the name. Adora smiled softly and kissed his forehead softly "I love it.. I think it's a perfect name" She smiled and held him close "Little Mara..." Jack grinned ,loving the fact his mother liked the name he 'found'. His grin faded when she began to cry and he tried to make her stop as he moved his arms to calm her down "Come on don't cry!" He mumbled "she cries a lot..." He knew that his other mom was kind of ..late but he didn't want to ask anything. After some minutes of him attempting to make the girl calm again ,he looked up at her "Can we go back to mom?" Adora traded the young girl for one of the sons, bouncing and hushing her gently, cooing as she tried to calm her down "no baby, we have to wait here.. I told your mom I would keep you four safe and out of the way, okay? We're helping her like this. She knows we're safe which means she can focus on what she's doing. I promise, baby, she'll be back.." She was starting to doubt herself, though she of course wouldn't say that. The boy nodded, though he could feel how nervous they both were about it. The little girl started to calm down though she leaned close and wrapped her fingers around one of hers. The woods were cold but thankfully they had them wrapped in blankets from the place they were coming. Adora hugged her daughter close and kissed her forehead. She was glad she was able to sooth her again, kissing the top of Jack's head and keeping him close to her since it was cold, not wanting him to be too cold either.

In the meantime, the queen ran back to the hallways of the castle, that's why she was scared to stay in that future for so long. Her mind tried to focus on finding her governess without getting caught by the attackers. Her steps were quick but careful ,she ran down to the dungeons, they had a hiding place for them and thankfully no one found it yet. Once she opened the door with a deep thrust ,she came to see the old woman with some of the servants still inside. Her lips made a huge smile and she ran to her "Oh thank you.... You're safe-" She embraced the older one but the other shook her head "Why, my lady- you're not supposed to be here..! Why did you come!?" The feline shook her head and held her hands. "I could never leave you behind .... What happened? Who did this?" Her voice cracked ,all this palace wasn't the doing of Shadow Weaver but her actual mother and father and still she couldn't help but feel the pain of her home getting ruined. "The mages, during the last war our soldiers killed plenty and they believed all this was on purpose.. even our mages turned their back on us, they think you started the war to kill plenty of mages than capture that man, my lady" The governess wrapped her arms around her and tightened her embrace "I'm so glad you're okay.... I assume the babies are with lady Adora"

"Yes.... Yes they are... Oh gods they won't listen to me will they.. at least our mages ..not the other Kingdoms'..." Her mind was racing. "You can't do that ... For now you have to run.. you're the queen not a servant, if they capture you-"
"I can't stay back, the people will think I'm a coward, scared to face them or protect my Kingdom. There are houses burning outside, not only mine!" "Catra, you're the queen ! You're not supposed to fight for your people, that's what your soldiers are for! If something happens to you-"

"Adora will be there to take my place..!"
"Do you think after Lena's death and yours she will be able to rule a kingdom!? Your Majesty, please, just run. This is not the time to act like a warrior* She could tell the governess was worried, only by the way she was looking at her. After a minute of silence she took a deep breath and nodded "Fine then .. you're coming with me... I can't leave you behind... Or lose you " The feline pulled with her so she could run away "where are they? We could avoid the hallways or rooms they're staying in.." She spoke quickly. The governess let her drag her away, shaking her head "They keep moving, I can't tell for sure." She grabbed a piece of a curtain, wrapping it around Catra's head "You must hide who you are, Catra" The queen, though rolled her eyes ,she huffed as she got wrapped by the curtain "Do you think that's my priority right now? See who I am or not they will try to kill me for sneaking in anyway" The woman walked quickly to her and pushed her back suddenly, touching the wall with her back. There were plenty of soldiers walking past them into the hallway. "There must be an other way .. we can't go there .." She hummed trying to find another way out. Daniella shook her head in return "..and if they know who you are they'll be much more eager to hunt you down!" She whispered, going quiet though when they passed. She tugged on her sleeve, gesturing for her to come with her. She led her away, and then down into a side hall, opening up a small secret corridor "these used to be for the servants, back halls to get around the castle faster without being in the way. It's your only safe escape now, I'll be right behind you, hurry!" The feline on the other hand knew why she was saying all this. She couldn't think of herself right now... Catra shook her head in denial, she didn't want to leave her alone, that's why she was there in the first place "Come now, I won't say it twice, you will be in front of me" She hissed and pulled her by the sleeve. The governess for her matter just shook her head "This is one thing you won’t change my mind on. You must go first. You have a family, a wife, and a huge price on your head. Go, I'll be right behind you, I swear. You must trust me on this"

The feline tightened her fist, she didn't trust this at all. She wanted to make sure she was safe, she was the only one who actually raised her ,who she had closer to a mom than Shadow Weaver, she couldn't risk letting her get captured... She rushed close to her and ran deeper into the hall, giving some glances back at the governess so she could make sure she was behind her. The Governess followed right behind her, calling out which way she needed to turn to get back out and leading them back to the woods. The men were guarding the place even from the woods. The governess ended up having a blade against her throat and the queen a sword's edge on her back. "Don't move" The men commanded yet a taller man was the one who was their commander. His eyes were purple but his clothing was mostly common in Mystacore and especially the daggers were carrying that same sign of the one that took Lena's life. Catra's eyes widened but she couldn't do anything. Fighting would make the man kill the governess and sitting there made her feel useless,running into a trap. "What do you want from her? From us?" She hissed still covering her face with the hoodie the governess gave her. Daniella froze, glancing at Catra before looking down "We are just servants sir... Please, we are no trouble to you.. We just want to get back home to our families..." She kept her head down, and voice soft so she wouldn't be taken as a threat, keeping her hands up "I'm sorry sir, please we mean you no harm" The man stepped closer to the older one only to tilt her head to the side. "Your clothing says otherwise....." His eyes looked to the side of the other one, she was still hidden by the hoodie and cloak but he could tell such dresses weren't made for servants. He raised his hand pulling down her hoodie "Is she a servant, now? Tell me" He looked back at the governess, grabbing the feline's hair and pulling it back for her to tilt her head. Catra grunted ,teeth showing as she was so eager to bite the man and free the woman. The other one still looked away, playing meek "I-.. I swear, sir. We aren't worth anythin'.. We're just servants.." She paused "I-I c'n cook 'n clean... She sets a table real nice...

But that's about it sir.. Please we just wanna go home..." The man looked at the younger girl and then back at her. He didn't believe her but did he need any proof to not kill both of them just then? "Everyone knows the queen of this place isn't a human, servant... I haven't seen any servant being like her before." He paused for a moment only to let go of the feline and turn to look at the older one. "I will let you see your family, if you tell me the truth about this woman. If she's a servant we can kill her right now and go for the search of your queen.. if she's not, we're not going to kill her of course and you will get to see your family and have your freedom" The feline grunted, looking at her only to tighten her muscles to get freed of the grip of the soldier but she failed.

She looked at her for a moment then, looking up at him "She was just taken in sir.. Just hired, that's why she can't do much... Dunno where they found her... I think in the woods.. Please sir, I'm not lyin.. The- the queen got three stripes, 'n she only got two see?" She looked at her again for a moment, before looking back up at him "we just wanna go home, sir. Please I got a little one at home.. A little boy.. His pa died in the war.. I hate her for makin' him go but we couldn't say no... Please, sir.." He took a deep breath only to gesture to the soldier to let the governess free. "You go, just kill the other" The man commanded and the feline widened her eyes. She had to tell him who she was, but if she did she would prove that Daniella was lying and he would kill her. The female hissed ,biting the man's arm when he tried to tilt her head from behind. She quickly slid away from his grip and dodged as well as she could a hit from another soldier's sword. What she did find though was that she actually cut his armoury by a hit with her claws and that was.... Strange. "Run " The woman spoke to the governess and pulled her quickly, her other hand holding her dress to not fall down while heading to the woods. The older quickly pushed the man away, pulling her skirt up quickly as she was dragged away, stumbling slightly though she made sure Catra kept going. Her hand slipped from hers then, one of the men managing to grab her arm, yanking her back. Luckily, they had gotten close enough that Adora could hear, and therefore protect them. But, not luckily enough she reacted too late, the governess having been stabbed in the back right as she leapt out of the bushes, quickly, and quite easily defeating the few men that had chased after them.

"Daniella no! " The feline widened her eyes, she ran to her and knelt down to the bush and grass while holding her close. "No please stay awake, I'll take care of you, okay?" Her voice cracked and she tried to pick her up but the leader of these soldiers managed to catch up on her. He grabbed her by the hair pulling her with her letting out a cry and pulled out his own sword ,cutting off her dress as he pinned her down on the ground "You're not the queen huh?" The man spoke and forced her arms to pin behind her back as he pulled ropes to tie the feline up, pulling his whip off its belt only to attempt to hit her. Jack was already trying to catch up with his mom even if she ran way too fast for him to not stumble.

Adora's eyes widened when she realized what happened "Daniella!" She rushed over as well, though when she saw the guy, and what he was doing she snarled, grabbing the back of his armor and quite literally throwing him into a tree "Do NOT TOUCH MY WIFE!" She stalked after him then, lifting the sword and bringing it down, stabbing him through the chest, twisting before she pulled it out and panting softly pausing for a moment. She turned to Catra, jogging over and carefully using the sword to take the rope off. The man obviously fell on his knees by the hit, the stab only gave him the last hit he could take as he laid down dead already. The feline whimpered, she couldn't care less about her being tied up "To Daniella... Please she - she needs help" She pushed herself up as she saw the woman struggling to breath at this point, blood filled her lungs but painted the grass red too. Adora walked over to Daniella quickly then, kneeling down beside her, scooping her up carefully and trying to heal her "C'mon... Hey, you aren't dead yet... Daniella this only works if you want it to... Please..." She looked down at her, worried "Why isn't this working..?" The woman tried to breathe but couldn't completely take a huge breath enough to hold her up for long. She knew she would die. She didn't feel her body at all. Her vision was blurry but at the same time she found the strength to smile a little and coughed some blood. "Ta-ke care of her.. please" The older one gasped to speak but she could no longer take a breath. Her grip tightened but only for some moments before she passed out. Her eyes fixed up at her, Catra was only standing behind her, Jack was holding the babies too... Trying to not let them fall down but when he saw the governess he approached quickly "Mom- mom what happened?!" The boy had already left the babies down and knelt beside the bead body only to cling on her, calling for her to look at him or speak. The queen though didn't make a move, she stood there frozen both to speak, act or ...take the babies off the ground. The knight shook her head "no, no no no don't leave us, please don't go..." She tried to keep her alive, though when she finally passed away, she hesitated before gently laying her down again, pausing for a moment before she stood up "She's gone, buddy... she's gone... I.. tried and she.. she didn't.. I'm sorry, Catra..." she gently pulled Jack away then "we gotta say goodbye to her... like we did with Lena remember?" she looked at Catra then, letting Jack go to hug her "I'm so sorry... I'm so sorry...." The feline stared, still not able to speak. She touched Jack's shoulder and took a deep breath before she knelt down to take the babies. "We ... Must go hide.. they will come after us ,they guard the whole palace and the woods are still not an option" She mumbled not responding at all to the other one. Jack sobbed and teared up while trying to not cling on Catra or Adora, he was the big brother after all he had to be strong- and his mom seemed to not cry either so he couldn't be the only one tearing up. The warrior scooped Jack up and the third baby, holding them both close "We gotta move fast, okay? I know where we can go.. somewhere they won't expect a queen to go." She started walking then, glancing at her wife "I want to see if I can find my horse.. but I'm not sure if it's worth it..." she sighed softly, looking forward "doesn't matter, I can always see if he's still there later.... Most likely the stalls were destroyed, either killing him or setting him free... either way I probably won't be getting him back" Catra looked up at the way while walking, she didn't speak at all but she only held the babies while following the other. "I'm sure he will find you, they don't kill the horses, they use them for their soldiers instead." She commented quickly and began to walk faster ,trying to both hold her dress up and not stumble while holding the babies. She felt empty, she couldn’t believe that Daniella was gone. Adora on the other hand tried to approach Catra..see why she was acting so cold even if she knew she wasn’t. She had her thoughts filled with Daniella but Swiftwind too. He was her horse for so long..he was her best friend in war and peace…She noticed how she was struggling, and sat Jack down, patting his head before taking another baby

"here, let me help... I don't want you falling.." She hesitated, before she kissed her forehead gently and continued on the walk.

A new beginning?

During the next three weeks they eventually got to a small farming village, and found them a family that would let them stay until they got their footing. They had to find their own place to stay in return for Adora and Jack helping with the farm, taking care of animals and the field, and with Catra helping around the house. She agreed, deciding she'd let Jack take care of horses while she did the harder work in the field. The feline didn't know much about the housework, she wasn't even used to waking up and taking care of herself all alone. One of the first days in that village the woman woke up only to do nothing but ..sit on the rough bed, her old clothes already dirty and her hand brushed her hair back.

It was fall and the only thing they managed to do in some days was to ...work and collect some money for the basics rather than build a house. Jack couldn't find all this a game either, he liked the horses but.. working wasn't something he had in mind to do anytime soon. So he tried to not complain since he saw the queen being more serious and sad than he had seen her before. He had woken up earlier that morning to go to help his other mom ,leaving the brunette in the small room. Adora did her best to help her wife and son, teaching them everything she knew. She had a little knowledge in the way of housekeeping, and much more in terms of horses, but she always came back out from the field exhausted, dirty and sunburned. As it was getting colder she wouldn't have as much in the way of field work to do, so she turned it towards starting to build up their house on some free land.

"... Why are we doing all this? Can't we take the servants we had.... Miss Daniella would have found a solution already.." Being raised by the older one the boy saw her as another mom for him ,she was always there and in a magic way she had a word and a solution in everything. But she wasn't there anymore. Adora paused for a moment before sighing softly, kneeling down "you know those bad people attacked the castle. Well... because of those bad people, a lot of people don't want us to rule anymore, like we were before. Because of that... we have to hide, to stay safe. We don't have our servants because they don't know who we are, and they can't. If they do we might get hurt.. I'm sorry buddy... I didn't want this life for you...."

"Yes but you get more tired... Mom is acting all strange and I don't know what to do... I don't help anyone and we get little to nothing in return.. she woke up and I bet she won't even stand up to work today..." The boy sighed and took a small breath. "Can't we go to another village? Maybe aunties can help...or.. I don't know..." The boy spoke to the woman while holding small woods for the house, he couldn't carry too much weight. The blonde sighed softly then, "I'm tired because I have to work so much, but this is gonna be our new home for a while... I promise, this is gonna be okay... it's just gonna take a long time, okay buddy? I love you... and so does mommy. She misses Daniella a lot, but she'll be okay, that takes time too. It took a long time for you to feel okay after what happened with Lena, remember? It's gonna take her a while too..." She set the wood down then, grabbing a mallet and nails, getting them set up, put in place, and hammering them into place, getting the frame set up for the rest of the house.

The boy nodded but he did try to help her too. He soon began to give her more woods to work with till he got his foot injured by one of them. He got a deep scratch but he tried to not cry but whined a little as he approached the woman and pushed the wood towards her. "I will go to the river close to the lady's house... My leg is aching" He almost pouted and hobbled away slowly. When she noticed the scratch, she knelt down. She did her best to clean it up with what she had, though she couldn't do it perfectly, so when he said he was gonna go to the river she nodded "alright baby boy... just be careful okay? don't trust anyone..." She handed him a dagger to keep on him in case anyone tried to hurt him, before going back to work on the house. Finally she managed to get the framework done. She sat down for a moment, sweaty and exhausted, but hoping to have it done by the end of winter. The boy nodded and left alone for now. It took him a while before going back to work even though after some hours the sky would start to get clouded. Because it was evening they had little light to work while the boy was trying to light up a torch. The humidity was a problem too. With the fall it was sure that rain would come "Mom... Do you want to go back?.... I can't light this up... And my leg is aching too ..." He hummed, he had it wrapped with his cloth. Adora didn't mind that he took so long to get back to work. He's just a little boy, she can't ask too much, so she lets him sit and rest, working on her own for a while. Once it got darker, she wiped off her hands, walking over to him and kneeling down to help him light the torch, kissing his cheek gently "it's okay buddy... Do you want me to carry you back?" she held the torch after it finally lit, kneeling down to offer it to him. She was tired of course, but she wouldn't make him walk while his leg was hurt, or at least if it hurt enough.

"no... I want to just rest for the rest of the evening ,mother.... You too... I miss cuddling in bed all together…" He admitted ,he missed plenty of things after all this ,Lena was first, the governess was second and then all these moments they had with both Catra and Adora... He just wanted to go back to their house… "Will you walk with me...?"He asked, making her nod and smile softly "yeah.. yeah I will buddy, I'm coming" she smiled gently at him, holding him by his shoulder as they walked "I'm sorry I haven't been around much... I love you buddy" she looked down at him then, sighing softly "I could use a hot meal and a nice bed.. how about you, huh buddy?"

"Yeah.... What do we have for mom to cook? I mean ,I didn't go hunting....you were here for the whole day too" The boy looked up at her only to hold her hand while walking ,even though he was around eleven years old he was still too attached to them both. She squeezed his hand gently, humming "well, there's stew and soup. I should set up some traps in the nearby woods for rabbits or birds.." she hummed, looking down at him "you could help me with that. I could teach you to hunt too." she squeezed his hand and kept him close as they walked home.

"You know so many things" The boy smiled and leaned close to his mom while walking slowly. The night would be cold as it seemed ,the sudden lightning and thunder echoed as the boy tried to walk quicker and eventually arrive at the 'lady's house' in time where they were given that room to stay till they built the new house. The lord of the house approached the woman only to look at her and then down at the boy's leg "Do you want to call a doctor for his leg?" The man spoke ,he was more .... heartwarming than his wife Adora could tell. Adora though had already sent the boy into the room. When the man offered to call a doctor she hesitated before nodding "probably... but we can't afford it if he asks for anything. He only got it today, let's give it a few days and see if it heals.. but thank you" she smiled softly at him then, rubbing her arms and yawning "thank you for giving us a place to stay, it means a lot to me.."

"You're welcome, if you need anything tell me. " The man offered a smile ,he obviously didn't know their titles but he knew that they were hiding from someone. Adora nodded again "I will don't worry, right now I'm just glad for a safe, and warm place for my family to stay..." she smiled softly "I'll be sure to repay you eventually... Until then just know that I'm grateful, and willing to help if you need anything. Thank you... um, have you already had dinner? If there's anything left I'm starving. Had some bread and chicken for lunch, but that was around noon.."

"Yes I gave it to your wife so she must have warmed it up a little, we had pork and rice today." The man spoke, taking a step away before continuing "You did all the work in the fields, Adora so ... You don't have to repay us, we needed some help as well" The man took a breath and smiled "Have a good night and rest plenty for now" He spoke before giving her a nod and walking away into the other side of the house. She nodded as well then, smiling softly "thank you... and, I still feel like I have to do something, so just know that you will always be friends with us" She said her goodnights to him.

The feline, on the other hand, smiled a little when the little boy walked into the room, her eyes looking at the wound only for her to lean down and inspect it. "Where did you get this..?"

" A wood fell on my leg and it scratched me.. I'll just need to lay down, don't worry" The boy smiled and crawled up to bed. "Please if you feel more pain tell me… I'll try to make some herbs for you later" The woman leaned against the window, the babies were already trying to sleep and it was still too late for them to be awake. At that time Adora walked into the room,yawning and speaking quietly "mm.. hey baby." She smiled softly, closing the door and walking over. She kissed her forehead before sitting beside her, taking the bowl of food off the desk "are you gonna eat this, my love?"

"hey there" The woman gave her a tired smile and shook her head before looking back outside. She curled her tail around her and she paused before speaking again "No, no eat it if you want. Jack ate his half as well." The feline hummed and wrapped her arms around her knees as she sat on the bed while she was still in her casual clothing ,letting her hair down this time to take off her clothes and remain in her shift. She quietly looks at the rain now tapping on the window and falling to the ground. Jack broke the silence after a while "Did he tell you anything today? Will he help us with the house?" The boy spoke about the man of the house obviously not knowing that he didn't work anymore, he was old enough to rest only.

Adora took the bowl, cleaning it out quickly, clearly starving. It wasn't enough to fill her, but it was enough to take the edge away, so she leaned back beside her wife on the bed "no buddy, he's too old to help us with the house. He wouldn't be able to help much" She gestured for him to come closer, wrapping an arm around him and letting him curl up "but, I got the frame done. Now all we need to do is get the walls built, and some furniture and we'll be all set. I'll put together a nice fireplace and chimney, a nice bed and rooms... it'll be lovely, and some nice cribs for the little ones" The boy smiled and nodded quickly at that, crawling close to her and wrapping his arms around her while holding her. "Ah finally but we will still have to work right?" The boy spoke and looked up at her, he knew this wouldn't end just because they built a house.

She wrapped her other arm around Catra, nodding again "Yes, we will. But, we will have our own home, our own food. I'll teach you how to hunt, track and trap. We can skin animals and sell the fur and bone.. We can make a living. And once we're comfortable, we can start figuring out.. Well everything." She sighed softly, kissing the top of his head "But for now, I need you to rest. You scraped up your leg pretty badly. I need you to tell me if it starts getting worse, okay buddy?"

"mhm.... I will...!" The boy smiled brightly, the ideas of hers were nice and he was hopeful that all this would happen after a while. He leaned back then and turned his back to sleep since they had two beds pushed as one to sleep and one smaller for the babies. The boy leaned away and closed his eyes to sleep while not pushing his leg against the mattress.

Adora smiled softly and let him rest, rubbing his back for a moment before she turned to her wife, kissing her cheek gently "how was today, my love..?" She wanted to cover her in love, and warmth and safety, keeping her safe and happy. She couldn't though, so she did her best to show that she was loved and cared for. She kissed her cheek softly and let her lean against her if she wanted "I know I'm all dirty and sweaty.. I'll stop by the river tomorrow morning and clean up real quick.."

The feline didn't move to her at all not because she was dirty but because she felt like staying in place. She shrugged and rested her head on her own hand while avoiding to look away. "It was good... Went to buy some herbs... Cooked something for them to eat...the lady told me I was late today and that I've been late for this whole week.. Lena didn't sleep at all because she was crying about the food not being prepared in time ..... There was some dust here and there too but .. it was a good day...." The woman spoke, even though Jack told her they named the baby girl Mara she was stuck with that for days now. "Funny thing is that I don't know how to cook at all..... Daniella gave me some advices, I don't remember when she did that" She seemed too lost in her thoughts.

Adora nodded, looking away when she called her like that. She knew her wife was.. well devastated, but she had to find a way to pull her out of it somehow. She cupped her cheek, turning her wife's head so she would face her "hey... baby.. I know you're upset about.. what happened to Daniella.... but we need you. I need you. Please.. you can't stay lost in your head like this..." She kissed her forehead softly, hugging her close "please baby... her name is Mara... Lena is gone.."

The woman shook her head and pulled away before she gave her a glare "I can't believe you're saying this, just... Just sleep, I will sleep later... I need some fresh air is all" She took a deep breath. She didn't accept any of this anymore. She lost everything she had except for her wife and Jack, the children were the new members and knowing that Lena was gone or Daniella was gone as well hurt her too much to let these thoughts in her head. If she did let the truth in she wouldn't be able to work. She stood up then, one of the babies started to sob but Jack stood up to help with that. He was scared that his mom was sick, he didn't know why she was calling Mara like that... Or was so numb to almost everything that was happening. He took the baby and tried to make him not cry while looking at the feline coding the door behind her and then back to Adora. Clearly Adora could see he was worried.

Adora stood up with her, not sure if she should stop her, or let her go, but by the time she decided she was already out the door. She sat down, her head in her hands. When she saw Jack she gestured for him to come closer, cradling the baby in her arms, shushing the young one, soothing her "I'm sorry Jack... I'm sorry everything has gone so wrong. You don't deserve this life... None of you do.." She sighed, sitting back with the young child still in her arms "I'm so sorry..."

"You don't either.... Mom. You are trying so hard to make everything like before and I know it "The boy took a deep breath and tried to not tear up while sitting on her lap now. "I..... I don't know why mom is acting like this.....we will have a nice house I know that... And.... Even though Lena isn't here I'm sure she would be worried too if she saw mom like this...." He spoke and tapped his thigh with a finger nervously "But I don't know what to do to help ..... I don't know if she's like this because she has me and the babies to take care of ..... I ...I can work knowing what you showed me if she doesn't want ...to live all together ... I will try to take care of my sis and brothers too.... "

As soon as she realized what he was saying, she hugged him close with her free arm, kissing the top of his head "Oh no baby... No no that's not what she's worried about at all. I think... I think she just can't handle the loss of Daniella and Lena.. It overwhelmed her.." She rubbed his back "It's gonna take time.. But I'm gonna fix it. I'm gonna help her.. And I'll snap her out of it.. You're doing just fine as you are baby you don't need to do anything special..." She rubbed his back, looking down at him then "I'm gonna go find her.. It isn't safe for her to be out alone.."

"But..." The boy was ready to speak but he got interrupted by her second sentence. He nodded after a while and hugged her before he leaned back and let her go "I'll put him in his bed" He hummed as he took the baby and placed him in his bed. He didn't stay standing though, he crawled up to bed and wrapped his tail around his thighs. As the other one would have to leave. Adora let him take the baby to bed and waited until he laid down again, kissing his forehead before she got up, grabbed her things and headed out to find her wife. She lit the torch, though it was raining so it wouldn't work as well, and possibly go out if it rains enough. She still walked around, trying to find her "Baby where are you? Catra?" She was worried, of course but she didn't want to panic yet. The feline wasn't far, it was raining and she really couldn't go too far than just some steps into the small alley in the woods. She was visible to her thankfully so she just looked up at her while the trees were cutting the fall of the heavy rain. She was sitting on the grass while wrapping her arms around her knees and her tail wrapped around her ,ears were down "I'm here!" The girl yelled raising a hand for her to see.

Adora looked over, and when she finally found her she walked over with a soft, relieved sigh "I was worried... It's not safe out here alone... You know that right..? There's a lot of predators out here.. I can't lose you too.." She spoke softly, kneeling down beside her then. The torch had gone out, so she just set it beside her, not really caring. The woman chuckled and shrugged at the other's worry, she looked away in the dark woods before she spoke again "You won't lose me, don't worry. We didn't lose anything after all... No one knows we're here and no one knows who I am or who you are. Did the children sleep?" She hummed and looked at the blue orbs of the woman. "I don't know for how long they will drink from me actually.... And I'm getting worried..."

Adora looked at her for a moment, cupping her cheek "Catra... You did lose someone.. Two people... I know this is hard... I know it hurts and you're scared... But please... I can't let you live like this... In denial..." She paused "I need you. Your family needs you. I can't do this alone... I can't raise four kids alone...I need you.. Jack needs you, he's worried and scared..."

The feline hissed for a moment and wrapped her arms more around her. "That's not what I said... I'm fine, I'm here if you need me I'm here to help you.. I'm just not good at cooking..... I'm not good at cleaning up either.. I'll get better in time I don't think this will end soon.." She tightened her fists, hiding her face to her knees.

"Then stop calling Mara Lena... Lena is gone, baby... So is Daniella.. Living in denial won't help you, or me, or the kids... I need you not.. Whoever you are right now..." She rubbed her back, pressing her face into her neck, shaking "I need you.." Catra tensed when she fell on her, she paused for a moment, feeling her eyes getting tearful "N..no I... Don't want it... I want you, I want every one of us to be like before the war, Adora... We can be.. I'm sure we can" She tried to find the strength to pull herself away.

"No... Catra we can't... Fuck I wish we could too but we can't... I mean look around... Look at where we are... We aren't at home.. We aren't in the castle, or by it... It was attacked, destroyed... We lost Lena, and we lost Daniella... I'm sorry... I'm so sorry.. Please..." She was getting tears in her eyes now, looking down at her, holding her close still. Normally she would never force her to be close, but this time she needed to. "Catra they're gone.."

"no..... no" The woman whined ,almost cried out while trying to get free. She knew she was wrong, she felt she missed them both..she missed all she lost, her eyes closed when the woman held her tight ,her hands hit her shoulders ,not tightly but weakly while crying against her neck "I want them back! I want Lena! I want Danella back! I can't live like this...! I- I lost everything because of these three babies needing to be born in that bloody future..! I can't work like this! I can't live like this! I need them both .. I need Daniella... She was the only one I ever cared for since I was.....since I was a child... She can't be gone now ....she can't be" She sobbed and mumbled in between.

Adora just hugged her tightly, rocking her gently and doing her best to soothe her "Hey... Baby, shh... Don't blame the kids for this.. It's not their fault...you haven't lost everything baby you still have me and Jack, and little Mara.. The two boys, I'm thinking of naming one of them Jackson... Or maybe Levi?" She mumbled, kissing the top of her head "I'm so sorry.. I wish I could change things back to before the war... I wish I could take this pain away from you..."

"I don't care .... I don't care about the names... I don't care about anything.... I've failed at everything.... The war went from bad to worse ... I left them all alone, Lena is dead and Daniella followed her too... I must be doing something too wrong for all this to happen... I suck on every small job they give me, I'm dirty... The river's cold.. we don't have enough money to have bread we have nothing and all this would be different if I didn't leave this place.." She hit her one more time before she gasped and sobbed, resting her hands on her shoulders. "You don't deserve all this...you could have a nice family without war.. without losing anyone or having me being the worst in housekeeping..... I can't live like this "

Adora hugged her tightly, shaking her head as she rocked her now, rubbing her back and kissing her head "This isn't your fault... Just like it isn't my fault.. Okay? I promise you, my love... I know things are bad right now but we can fix it.. I am fixing it... But we need you.. I need you.." When she spoke about how she didn't deserve this, she shook her head "No... No, even with all of the pain, I would never trade that. That means I would lose you.. Would lose Jack and Mara... I can't do that. I can't lose my family. I fought for you, I'm not letting you go just because it hurts..."

"and because of what will you let me go? We lost everything! My home got nearly destroyed, we ran away ,we live like pigs ,what else do you need to see that this doesn't work!? I can't protect anyone.. everyone around me is causing pain either to me or you or in general in our family" She whined and cried, her hands tensing a little. She loved her and she didn't want her to live like this because of her. She knew that Daniella fought for the couple to be safe, raised their children and mourned with them when the girl got killed but she couldn't see that right now..

The warrior hesitated for a moment, before she just hugged her tightly, tearing up as she pressed her face into her neck "I will never give you up... Never give our kids up... I wouldn't trade the world for any of you... I've lived like this before, it's nothing new to me... I'll be able to get us through this... You don't need to protect anyone that's my job, I'm the knight my love.. A lot of people will want to hurt us, but screw them. This is my family, my wife. I'm not letting any of you go. No matter how much you say I should." She looked up at her then, tears in her eyes "No matter how much you tell me to, I'm not leaving."

Catra parted from her, sobbing still and trying to make the tears go. "Then you're a fool..." She hissed and gasped, sobbing and trembling. She loved her but she couldn't believe she stayed after all this.. she didn't know what to think of, how to keep up like this ,how she would work.... She knew Adora was exhausted and she was too with...half of the job the blonde had done. "I'm sorry.... I shouldn't complain ,I know....I wanted to go back to bury her properly..... With the honour she deserved ... " She said between her tears. Adora smiled softly, cupping her cheek and gently wiping her tears away "I'm a fool for you, my love..only for my family." She let her lean back then, though she kept her hands on her "Hey, no baby.. I didn't expect you to jump into this as easily as I and Jack have.. That's not fair to you, especially with the loss of Daniella..." She cupped her cheek, wiping her tears again and holding her face "You are doing just fine. His wife is just... Well. She's not just that way with you.."

"I wish she was here… She would help us.... She would tell me what to do....try to help me with advice or ..... something...." She whispered in reply and clinged on her only to nuzzle close to her. She hated that she was feeling like that... Her eyes closed and kissed her cheek "I'm sorry .... I'm.. trying…" The blonde shook her head, hugging her close in return. "You don't have to apologize, my love, I know you're doing your best" She kissed her forehead, rubbing her back "I love you..."

"I love you too..... I .. I know I'm not a wife to make you food when you come back from work... I'd rather have my servants do so. "She hummed, making her giggle softly and kiss her gently "I can teach you my love... And you have Jack to help you" She rubbed her side then "And when the little ones are older they can help around the house too"

"no....no I can't live like this ,I don't even think of us living like this for the rest of our lives." She pulled away furrowing her brows. "I didn't lose only two people .. a kingdom is lost because of how recklessly I left, I could give birth to them here too...but I didn't" Adora shook her head at that. She heard her enough blaming her pregnancy for all this. "Hey, baby what's done is done. We can't change the past so there's no point dwelling on it. Focus on right now... Okay? Don't worry about the future, I'll fix it. I'll help, but right now we have to focus on the now. We won't spend the rest of our lives like this okay baby?"

"....mhm.... Okay" Catra hummed after a long pause and leaned close to her only to give her a small kiss on her lips. "I will try more.... I promise" Adora cupped her cheek again "Thank you.. I know it's a lot to ask right now but as soon as the house is done, it's gonna be a lot easier.. I'll find a job in town and we can earn real money.. I can start hunting, and teach Jack how to work traps.."

"I want my throne again, Adora.... All this sounds nice but my Kingdom is everything I have… Everything my actual mother gave to me and I lost it.." She looked up at her. Her hands were tightening and she huffed, she had no tears left. Her eyes looked up at her and she wrapped her arms again around her to embrace her.

"I promise you we will get it back. Until then we have to make do with what we have" The blonde rubbed her shoulder gently "I'm gonna make this life as easy as I can for you, okay? But I need help"

"I will.. I will try to help....I'm sorry " the queen whispered and stood up slowly, trying to hold herself up and gave her her hand. The rain began to be heavy and she was all too wet. The wind was blowing making it necessary for them to get inside. Adora stood up, wrapping an arm around her, grabbing the torch and walking back in the house with her "You don't have to apologize my love.. You were hurt, I know. It's okay" She took her inside, taking her to the room and doing her best to dry them off.

The feline followed her and leaned close to her ,taking her shift off and standing beside the fireplace before she yawned. They had the lord's living room to dry off thankfully and she let out a small sigh "I'm tired....." She wasn't only physically.. her head rested on her shoulder. Adora nodded, holding her close and once they were both dried off, she took them back to the room, holding her close "I know, my love... Rest, I'll be right here, in the morning you can come see the foundations I've built so far" She kissed the top of her head, smiling softly.

"I.. don't know if I can... Lady wants her clothes clean... And to go buy something to cook..and clean up the mess .... I don't know what she means by that but... I guess I'll take a cloth to clean up the floor..?" She hummed trying to just keep her spirit up to not fall again into the mourning for her governess. "..... I miss her ...them" She hummed and sighed softly only to give her a small kiss on her lips.

Adora hummed softly, holding her close while having her to rest close to her "I'll help you with that then. I have the frame built, and it looks like tomorrow is gonna be nasty. I should take a break from the house anyway.." She kissed her back,holding her chin then "I miss them too.”

"I bet she won't want you for the jobs in the house...and I don't want you to make yourself more tired.. I love you ..and I wish I could do more than that" She sighed and leaned close only to give her another small kiss on her lips. She wrapped her arms around her and nuzzled. "I want them back so much..." Adora looked away at that "I bet she will soon as I get to work.. Trust me my love, you have nothing to apologize for. You are doing your best and that's all I ask." She kissed her forehead gently then, rubbing her back "I do to... But we can't dwell on that.. All it will do is hold us back... That doesn't mean we have to forget them just... Realize that there's nothing we can do now.."

"I know...but I still feel bad... "She stood up slowly and headed off to their room "We should sleep ....." Catra continued holding her hand as the other one rubbed her with her thumb "Get some rest my love.. I'll be right here in the morning" She laid down with her on the bed, holding her close so she could lay her head on her chest "I'll be right here... You get your rest okay?"

"yes.... I love you..." The feline hummed and leaned close, kissing her lips and nuzzling close to her chest while trying to calm down and sleep. "Good night." She hummed and rested quietly. Adora smiled softly, kissing her and cradling her close "I love you too, baby. Goodnight, sweet dreams" She held her close, yawning as she fell asleep against her quickly.

The Beginning of Winter

The night was cold, the feline's fur puffed up during the cold night. She leaned closer and wrapped her tail around her lover's thigh. Jack wrapped his arm around his mother's as well while the woman was sleeping. Her eyes opened after a few hours and she leaned away ,yawning "Adora..?" She whispered, it was too early. The last one yawned softly, stretching and groaning at how sore her body was. She rubbed her eyes and looked up at her, kissing her cheek gently and pulling her closer "Good morning my love" She smiled gently, kissing her and cupping her cheek gently.

".... I dreamt we were home...."She mumbled and leaned close to her only to give her a nuzzle. Her eyes looked at her and she wrapped her arms around her "My body is aching ..."She hummed and grunted. Adora held her close, running her fingers through her hair "I know.. I do too.." She kissed her forehead then, speaking softly "Mine is too... Your body will get used to this don't worry.. Then you won't hurt as much"

"I want to stay in bed like before.....nuzzle and.." Catra said while nuzzling close to her "Feel your scent while we're kissing in the bathtub..... Humming how much I love you." She whispered and sighed only to lean closer, leg wrapped around hers.

Adora cradled her close, kissing the top of her head and letting her hide her face in her neck "We can for a little bit my love... We've earned the rest... If just for an hour..." She kissed the top of her head then, letting her stay as close as she wanted, smiling softly "I missed the feel of your fur against my skin.. You've always been so soft.."

"never have been so dirty though..." She hummed and leaned close ,kissing her lips and slowly continuing to nibble on her. The feline nuzzled close and tried to be as gentle and warm as she could. "I love you" She hummed and rubbed her chest with her hand.

The blonde one giggled softly "Honestly? You look cute, all dirty like this... Dirt suits you." She hummed, kissing her cheek "And I mean in an aesthetic way, I'm not trying to insult you, my love. You just look cute when you get down 'n' dirty with the rest of us" She teased softly, poking her nose.

The brunette chuckled and rolled her eyes back before exhaling "I should get all dirty more often then?" She joked but she didn't say anything else. She raised herself to sit on the bedside when Mara began to cry and the one baby boy. She stood up and guided herself to them to take the boy down. "Can we ...name the one boy Daniel?..." She whispered.

Adora smiled softly, getting up though when she heard the babies crying, taking the young girl and leaving the boy for her wife. When she offered to name him Daniel she smiled softly "I love it... Daniel, Jackson, Mara and Jack" She kissed her. A small sad smile appeared on Catra's face, since she couldn't honour her properly with a funeral, at least she would have her name to remember her for ever. Her arms wrapped around the baby and tightened just a little the embrace before looking at her. "Thanks" She mumbled to Adora and gave her breast for the crying baby to drink. She leaned back and closed her eyes to rest just a little bit while the baby was suckling on her.

"You don't need to thank me, my love. It's a good name.." She smiled, kissing her forehead gently. The feline leaned close and gave her another kiss while being close. She kissed her cheek and peppered her neck with kisses. "I love you..." She hummed as the baby boy let go of her boob, the female was next thankfully so she took her to feed her as well before letting her in their bed. She crawled back in bed and nuzzled against the pillow.

Adora giggled softly before laying down, humming softly when she noticed a leg being wrapped around her "mm... my love.. Jack will wake up soon... now isn't a good time to tease me you know.." she looked up at her then, cupping her cheek as she pulled her close.

"I know...but I miss you... I miss your touch" The feline whispered and dug her face into Adora's neck while she was pulling her close. Her hand crawled on her torso, resting on her chest to rub her and all the way to her abs. "I love you.."

Adora blushed softly then, pulling her closer, before eventually just picking her up and setting her so she was laying on her. She smiled softly and she leaned in, kissing her gently, one hand on her cheek, the other on her hip, grinning lightly against her lips. "fuck, I missed you too.. soon as I get that house done, and we move in that night I'm carrying you to the room to do whatever you want." She grinned, leaning in to kiss her again, holding her close.

Catra knew even if she was warm that she would have to hold back for now ..for as long as they were all alone ,even if that took some months. She looked down at her and kissed her lips ,slowly pulling away "Whatever I want? You don't want anything hm?" She said playfully as she nibbled on her only to freeze at the boy slowly waking up, yawning and whining quietly. "Mm..mom?" He hummed. "I want you" Adora looked up at her, chasing after her lips with a soft pout. She froze when she heard him, looking over, blushing softly and pulling Catra close so it looked like they were just cuddling "yeah baby? I'm right here, what is it?"

The boy whined and he felt his cheeks blushing "Ca..can you come with me? To the bathroom?" He murmured ,holding the thin blanket on top of his hips to cover the spot. "Is something wrong ,baby?" Catra furrowed her eyebrows and leaned away, looking at Adora to point her to go as the boy shook his head and took the blanket with him. By now even Catra understood but she wanted to give him the privacy he needed and since he felt more comfortable with Adora she would let him go.

The blonde girl figured it out quickly, as soon as he was covering his crotch and nodded. She gently moved so Catra could get off her without being thrown off "of course buddy. I'll be right back baby" she kissed her forehead gently, before getting up and following him to the bathroom, with a hand on his shoulder to soothe him.

He was both embarrassed and nervous at this moment as he closed the door behind "I ... I just woke up and I think I'm sick ...why is this up?" The boy left the blanket down and he looked up at the woman to show her the bulge on his pants.

She just smiled softly and shook her head "no buddy, you aren't sick don't worry. That's normal, okay? As you get older your body is gonna change. This is one of them. Don't worry, I deal with it too. I've heard it called a lot of things, but.. well it's nothing bad, if anything it's good, it means you're growing up and becoming an adult! I had to deal with the same thing when I was your age" she rubbed his shoulders gently "there are ways to ah... tuck yourself, so that it shows less. Eventually it'll go down like normal"

The boy furrowed his eyebrows but he nodded ,he didn't know how to hide it and… he felt uncomfortable, looking up at her. "How...am I supposed to hide it?..... It feels .. strange ... uncomfortable too..." He hummed looking down, embarrassed still.

She nodded "trust me buddy I know. Morning wood sucks..." she chuckled softly, kissing his forehead then and taking her time to make sure he learned everything she could teach him while still making sure he's comfortable. She wasn't quite ready to teach him about masturbation yet, so instead she taught him how to hide it, knowing that after enough time it would leave on its own.

The boy nodded and walked out to try to find something to wear. He was still feeling uncomfortable but since she told him it would go away he would trust his mom on this and slowly go to change clothes. Catra on the other hand, looked up at her when they left the bathroom confused "What happened?" She hummed when the boy wasn't around.

Adora rubbed his back as they walked back, soothing him gently before kissing her wife, humming softly and speaking so he wouldn't hear while he changed "first case of morning wood, nothing serious. I taught him how to tuck and hide. No, I did not teach him how to jerk off, he's twelve it can wait a few years"

The feline nodded and wrapped an arm around her wife. The steps of the woman outside though made her pull away from her and look at the door that the old lady opened "You're still in bed? The work on the fields is getting delayed but not in the house" She glared at her, she was supposed to wake up before them to prepare breakfast but she didn't as it seemed. As soon as the feline was ready to speak she just closed the door after telling her to go to cook something for them to eat. The girl took a deep breath and stood up quickly wearing her clothes and preparing quietly. She didn't get used to the feeling of getting scolded. Adora looked up, noticing how the woman spoke to her wife. She paused for a moment, before walking downstairs, leaving Catra to get dressed and walked over to the lady of the house "I don't know what pissed in your bed, but you cannot talk to my wife like that. I know you are sheltering us, giving us a place to stay and somewhere to eat, and I'm grateful, but that doesn't give you the right to treat my wife the way you have been. We've lost one of our daughters, and she just lost someone she was closer with then her own mother figure. Cut her some slack." She stayed firm, while trying not to be aggressive or angry with her. While she was angry, she didn't want to get them kicked out "I know fall and winter is a rough time for families, trust me. But I'm doing everything I can to help around here, and she is doing her best too. She isn't.. well, used to this kind of work.."

"and how is she not? She's a married woman and doesn't know how to cook or clean up a house. I bet she didn't know how to take care of a child either, I'm glad the rest of the babies are still alive with her around.” The woman was clearly mad at the other one. "I'm paying her and giving her a house and food for her to work in the house and she doesn't do even that. I don't care if she doesn't know,it's been a week and we are still up and she's laying in bed waiting for what? For breakfast to get ready by itself?" She hissed "I won't pay her for laying about in bed all day. You get paid for the work you've done. You deserve this but this woman doesn't"

Adora stared down at her for a moment, before leaning closer "if you ever, and I mean ever, insult my wife again, I will make you regret it. We are taking shelter in your house. She is doing the best she can and I am the one who kept her in the room, despite her saying she had to get breakfast ready because I offered to make it myself and teach her which is something you aren't doing. You are throwing her into this expecting her to know something she doesn't. Maybe if you took some time to at least teach her some basics she could help, but clearly you don't have time to teach her so i will.`` she stood up straight then, looking down at her "we are living in your house for a short time. She knows how to take care of her children, do not blame the death of our child on me, or her."

The woman glared at her, getting insulted by the woman's threats. "I won't accept any of you two to threaten me. I don't have time to teach a wife who must already know the basics from the age of twelve, young one. How is she supposed to keep a house without the basic knowledge already? I didn't take her in to try her best, you may be the best woman my husband chose for the fields and horses but I can't tell the same about her" She hissed as the feline rushed off the room, fixing her clothes and looking at the two of them speaking. She didn't want to interrupt them so she passed by them only to get stopped by the older one. "Prepare breakfast and go pick your things up, you should be leaving till midday" She hummed, Catra widened her eyes "what-? Wait, I'm sorry I will prepare anything you want just let me stay today-" "I said go cook" the older one began to walk in the hall.

Adora stepped forward then "if she leaves I leave. I'm not putting up with you treating my wife like this. We have been nothing but respectful to you, and when I finally stand up for my wife you act like we slaughtered your horses. I just got the framework done in our house and it's almost winter. That's plenty of time for her to learn. She didn't have to learn this when she was younger. What don't you get about that! Our home was just fucking destroyed and you act like we came in to freeload! If you're kicking us out she isn't going to be making shit for you." She looked at her wife then, furious, not at her but the woman "get the kids bundled up and ready to go. I'll start on the walls of the house so we have some shelter"

"Then go with her, I was respectful and gave her everything in my house, and she only made the house worse than a stable." The woman hissed and turned her back at them, leaving them alone. "I- What.... Adora no, stay here please" The feline shook her head and approached her "I'll find another shelter to live for now, I'll come to take the children when I find it..." It all happened quickly and she didn't expect to get kicked out, she looked up at her and walked towards the room "You can't leave now ,the kids will have to stay under a house not.... Two walls" She fucked everything up and ...probably Adora pissed off the lady more than she thought she would to kick her out but at least the children didn't have to pay the price.

"You treated her like shit because she didn't know something! You weren't respectful at all. She told me about how you kept the kids up because you were yelling at her! Do not for a moment think she didn't tell me what you were doing. You are a horrible person, and I feel bad for your husband for having married you" she growled, furious now, but she knew better than to hit her, shaking her head "I should have enough money for a few nights at the motel. It's enough time for me to get the walls up, hopefully. Get the kids ready, we are not leaving them here. Not with her."

The woman left but Catra stayed behind, she followed Adora and held her hand "I have some too I'll.. I'll help with the house" She tried too hard to not tear up. They were leaving because of her and she knew it. She didn't know how to work and her children had to run from one hotel to the other because she didn't know how to clean up. She threw a thin cloak on top of Jack and wrapped it around him. The boy wondered why they were leaving. Adora kissed her cheek gently, shaking her head "no baby, it's okay just worry about the house. I'll find another way to get us money as soon as I get our house set up enough to where we can live in it..." She helped get the babies ready, bundling them up as best she could, before taking them to the hotel "this isn't your fault baby"

"Adora, I know it is... We won't be able to keep up with any work ,it's winter" She hummed while holding the two babies and walking towards the village. It wasn't too far, only a few minutes away from the lady's house. Some villagers were selling veggies, some meat while others had handmade umbrellas for the rain. While they were in the woods the trees were helping though now they would get wet if they remained like that. "I'll go buy one... It's not that we won't need it.." She looked at her and approached the man. Adora could see a shelter in the distance while Jack was walking beside her. "Hey mom...?" He called out.

Adora paused for a moment when they got to the village, sighing softly before shaking her head "no... I know somewhere I could work. You won't like it... but it's money. Money we need right now" she sighed again, and followed after her "Don't, there's no point. We can just get hooded cloaks, the umbrellas aren't worth it. C'mon baby, let's just find that hotel and pay for our rooms... I'll get to work once I know for certain we have somewhere to sleep"

"Adora cloaks are more pricey than just two umbrellas..." She took a soft breath and she looked up at her only to follow behind her, still having Jack close to her. When they finally found a motel after a while a man was there to assist them. "How can I help ya?" The man perked an eyebrow and looked at the taller one. Literally he didn't know who they were.

Adora looked at the man then, standing straight "How much is it for a room? I don't have much but we need somewhere to stay until I get our house built."

"Twenty silver coins for one night, I have one last room" The man leaned back on his seat before looking at the blonde one, eyes scanning her from head to toe ,not even caring about the feline now glaring at him. "Adora...may I speak to you?" She hummed and tried to touch her hand even though she had her two babies in her arms. "I still have two gold coins.. but I'm keeping them for food... I have fifty silver coins for the shelter and we can use the rest of yours to call someone to help us with the house.. to finish it earlier. Or I can use the gold coins for the man to build the house and your silver to get food for the children." She kept her voice low ,knowing that gold was obviously valuable especially in the village.

Adora paused for a moment, giving him a look before she turned to her wife, nodding "Silver for the house. It won't be too hard now with the framework done. We need to make sure we can secure a room... the silver coins will hopefully be enough for me to finish a house. I'll find somewhere to work, though I already have an idea of where I can work. like I said you wont like it.. but it'll be good money" she sighed and looked up again "how long will two gold coins get us in for?"

The man was surprised by the question of Adora's. After a long pause he spoke again "Seven weeks and a half" The man hummed and wrapped his arms over his chest. Catra looked at her and shook her head. "...I'll help you build it, remember...? It must take two to three weeks… four at most.." She hummed and raised her arms a little for her wife to hold the one baby. She needed her to agree too so she didn't pull the coins yet out of her pocket.

Adora sighed softly and nodded "fine. One coin, we'll stay three weeks and if we need more time we'll pay again. We should be out by then though" She sighed softly, and she took the baby from her so she could pay, holding them both close, just looking away. She was tired, but she couldn't give up, couldn't show it.. so she let her wife take charge for a bit, just holding the two children close and letting the one to Catra.

Catra paid the man and was given the keys for the room. The woman offered to hold the baby before she walked upstairs and into the room. It wasn't something too fancy or extra decorated. It had one king bed and another single one for the boy, candles and lamps and a bathroom. She let the children down on the bed and took a huge breath before she looked at the woman "What is that work you wanted to do.... I know you told me plenty of times I won't like it… The man was staring at you and I bet someone will want that gold.." She hummed and brushed her hair bothered at it.

Adora sat on the bed, leaning back and practically melting into it. It was still the morning and she was exhausted. She sighed softly, looking up at her "It was stupid to ask for two coins... You're right. But every small village has an underground fighting arena. Usually hard to get into, but it pays well... Right now it's the only option I can see.." She laid the children down beside her for the moment "Keep the money on you, don't put it aside otherwise it'll be taken"

The feline's ears twitched and she approached the woman ,touching her hand "Adora no.. I don't care how long it will take but we won't have you get into this again because it pays good... You're already exhausted. I can't let you suffer because I don't know how to do things..." She paused and leaned in ,kissing her lips. "I love you... Just.... Please rest for this morning, okay? It's not even mid-day yet...you can rest and I will go... Buy something to eat, okay?... Jack will stay with you too.." He was actually sitting on the bed ,his leg was aching but he didn't complain... His mom was tired and it was obvious he would cause more trouble. "You two stay in"

The blonde shook her head, going to sit up "No.. It's not safe for you to go alone.. I'm not letting you go.. You don't know how to fight and you could get robbed, or attacked or-... I don't want to think about it... Jack, sweetie you have your dagger right?" She stood up again, knowing she had to provide for her family, and had to keep them safe. She might be overworking herself but she can't help it, she can't sit back now, not with four kids to take care of.

"Adora, I'll give you the gold coin okay? I will only have the silver I got from the house ,nobody knows me and I can fight.... I will.. please rest, I can't see you like this" She furrowed her eyebrows, ears perked down and she cupped her cheek "I got us kicked out and you're tired to move, you didn't get any sleep last night either and I see how weak your steps are... Please just stay here and rest..." She felt too bad to let her join her now.

"You didn't get us kicked out I did... I won't be able to rest.. I'd worry about you too much..." She hesitated, looking her over for a moment before just sighing softly, handing her a knife "I know you have your claws but... They'll find a knife more threatening..." She mumbled, kissing her cheek "Please.. please be quick... And don't try to get anything fancy, bread and a couple fruits is good enough.."

"thanks" The girl smiled and nodded letting out a soft chuckle when she said about getting anything else. "I don't have coins for anything fancy ..don't worry" She hid her knife in her pocket and left the room quickly while the boy swung his legs off the bed. "Will mom be okay?.... You worry so much about her and.... It makes me worried too... When you are around, I feel like we're all safe" He hummed ,Adora seemed to still be the knight of the princess.

The blonde sat down on the bed, leaning back and closing her eyes "I don't know... We have to trust that she can take care of herself... She needs to learn how to at some point…" She sat up, wanting to stay awake until she got home. She didn't want to be asleep if she wasnt getting home when she shouldn't be, fighting back her exhaustion as best she could "She'll be okay.." She mumbled, gesturing for him to come close. The boy crawled closer and wrapped his arms around his mom while placing his head on her torso,trying slowly and actually sleeping in the end. The feline wouldn't take long, the door would open and she came back with some bread and veggies. She looked down at the view of them both laying and smiled a little before letting the things to a short desk and laying beside them. "Adora.... My love?" She whispered as the other one seemed to be sleeping.

Adora looked up, half asleep but she smiled "You made it back.. Good... I was worried.." She mumbled, holding a hand out for her, wanting her to come lay down. She had already left the other three to sleep in the single bed.

The magicat leaned closer and nuzzled only to give her a small kiss on her lips and lay beside her. "Don't worry, love.... Please, I don't want you to be tired tomorrow.. or tonight" She hummed and laid down ,her eyes falling heavy and she soon took a small breath before yawning. Adora laid her head on her chest, wrapping her other arm around her. As soon as she got comfortable she almost immediately fell asleep. She nuzzled as close as she could, careful to not wake up Jack.

The Pub

The next few days were difficult. They had to wake up early, sleep late... One day when the house was almost done, the feline went to buy some veggies so she could give all of her coins to eat but she overheard a conversation between two men and decided to interrupt them. They were talking about a local pub where they needed women to work in but even if she didn't know if she would succeed in that work, she had to try, else Adora would get in fights to win and get paid and that's .. not what she wanted. She returned back to their actual new home and she almost kicked the door open in her excitement. "Adora !" She left the basket with veggies down and she searched for the girl. Adora was in the middle of finishing up a chair for them. She wasn't the best carver, but it was enough to get the job done and make it look alright. Looking up when she opened the door she giggled softly "Kicking the door down huh? What's going on, baby?" She stood up and walked over, wrapping her arms around her waist.

"I- I'm sorry" She noticed that she pushed the door open and smiled brightly "I found a job..! They needed a woman for a nearby pub and I got hired" She said cheerfully, making the other one's grin fade and kissed her gently "Wait, a pub? You.. do know how people are going to treat you right..? It definitely won't be with respect. It's basically just a bunch of drunk men you can only expect so much.." she was a bit concerned for her now, she knew her wife could handle herself better now, but the pub is, well special, full of drunk assholes "you know they specified that they want a women because.. well, drunk men are perverts.." Catra ...clearly didn't know that, but she looked away and rubbed the back of her head. "I carry the knife you gave me...and if something gets serious I will protect myself... They pay a lot and I thought it was a great opportunity..."

Adora cupped her cheek, nodding this time "alright my love, as long as you're careful... I've heard someone around here needs someone to care for their horses. I'll see if I can find them, and if they'll hire me. The more money the better.." she kissed her forehead then, hugging her close "thank you, my love... I know you're trying to keep me out of those fights.."

"it's alright..... Even though I'm happy, Adora.. What about... you know... The palace and everything..." She hummed "..Jack's leg is still hurt..." She continued and she took a small step back "I want to go back... But I have no army... I have nothing" The warrior sighed softly and kissed her forehead again "it takes time... I'm working on it, love, trust me..." she gave her a slight smile, cupping her cheek "I'm working on it... it takes time" She rubbed her cheek then "and.. as for Jack I've been using my healing to try and help him... but we should probably call a doctor." The other one sighed, looking down on the floor at this point. "Why don't your abilities help.... What is wrong... I don't understand.." She hummed and leaned close to her, wrapping her arms around her "I'll try to find one... A good one even if it costs a lot, I don't care..." She hummed and leaned away, back to the wall, she rubbed her dirty cheek and kissed her lips. "I don't know what to think of first... Jack's leg... My Kingdom which is… still under other's command... Our marriage... all this..village life.." She sighed overwhelmed by everything that happened between these last months.

Adora sighed softly as well and nodded "I don't know.. they haven't been working.." she sighed, closing her eyes and leaning against her "if it's too bad I might see if the others can help him... there's only so much we can do here... I won't leave you alone, I trust them to watch over him... but that's only if our doctor isn't working.. only if we can't help him here, okay? A last resort" She kissed her gently, cupping her cheek "....and I have people.. I'm..working on gathering people who can help us. You'd be surprised at how many underground rebellions are willing to listen to me as long as we swear to listen to them... I have not promised them anything extreme.. or anything actually yet... but it's an option. They don't know who I am, just that I want to help bring the 'true royals' back..."

"and they want that too?" She wasn't sure if she should trust these people but if Adora says they were willing to fight for them...she wouldn't say no on recruiting soldiers or...warriors. "Be careful....please. They said they'll show me how the work is done by the way..." She hummed while taking one of the veggies to clean it in a basket of water. "So I'll begin tonight, I'll tell Jack to be careful too ... I don't want him to stay alone at home.. if you will come with me he must stay behind to take care of the babies" She admitted as her eyes went above the veggies to see her. The blond shrugged "It seems so. I don't trust them yet but we'll see how it goes..." She sighed softly and kissed her cheek before nodding "And yeah, I'll come watch over you for your first night" She smiled softly, holding her close "Jack has his knife, we don't have much of value so he can stay in the room with the babies while we're gone"

"Last time I checked he was sleeping, do you want to wake him up? I don't have much to prepare, I'll just warm them up a little... I bought some herbs too... Chamomile will help me and him with our throats.." Catra felt like she had got a cold but she didn't pay much attention to it "The food will be ready soon" The other nodded, kissing her cheek gently and letting her go "That sounds wonderful, my love. I'll go wake him now" She smiled softly, kissing her cheek again before heading to the bedroom to wake Jack up, picking him up and smiling softly "Hey buddy.. Are you hungry?" The little boy leaned close to her and nodded ,he smiled a little and he looked up at her only to give her a kiss on her cheek "My leg is aching, mom..." The boy mumbled close to her neck and wrapped his arms around her. Adora carried him out, holding him close and doing her best to use her healing on his leg "I know, baby... We'll take care of it, I promise" She kissed his forehead then, humming softly. She walked over, kissing her wife's cheek with a smile before setting him down on the newly made chair "You like the chair?" She asked while the other female was cutting the food to a plante and boiling the water.

"mhm.... "Even though Jack was helping as much as he could his moms he seemed to be getting tired by the situation. If they were in the palace his leg would be fine, Daniella would take care of it or call someone who knew how to make the pain go away. Catra placed the veggies on the table as the boy slowly began to eat.

He was tired of eating so little. Catra looked at him, he was like that some days now and she was worried but she didn't know what else to do. A small smile formed on her lips "My baby, I ..found a job so ...soon we will be able to buy more things for you to eat, okay?"

"She starts tonight.. I'm gonna go with her and help her set up the terms, so I'm gonna need you to sit with the babies while I'm gone, okay? It'll only be a few hours I'm gone, at most.." Adora made sure Jack had enough to eat always, serving herself last to be sure everyone else had enough to eat, eating whatever they didn't eat rather than letting them go to sleep hungry if she could avoid it. She preferred to go hungry one night if it meant her son had even a small portion of food in his stomach. That was the reason why Catra and her were both thinner than before. "Yes,I can't move more than inside the room anyway.. I will have my dagger, don't worry.." The boy spoke and continued to eat. The other woman though would have to find something to wear and..she didn't have any fabric or ...anyone to make something for her anymore. "I will have to go find something to put on.... I can't go like this I assume" She hummed, her second long skirt was cut and filled with small holes on its bottom after the long walks in the woods and the village. Adora looked over her skirt for a moment, humming softly "I can fix it up real quick. It should be a bit shorter anyway, otherwise it's just going to get torn and dirty again... I'll only shorten it enough to keep it off the ground. But we should have an extra dress here... hold on" She took the last bite of her food before getting up, grabbing the second dress off the other chair and walking back out. It took her a while to cut the dress but she wasn't late. She returned back to the kitchen only to smile at her wife and look at her "I was right we do, here go put it on baby, I'll help Jack back into his room when he's done eating."

Catra furrowed her eyebrows at the woman's idea but she did as she said, she wore her old yet clean corset, a white long petticoat and the velvet red upper shift she gave her before walking out and looking up at her. "It needs to be shortened" She hummed and raised her skirt "Take my dagger and cut it ,I bet it won't look like the old one" Adora knelt down, giggling softly. She shortened it but not too much since Catra didn’t like her dresses to be short "Never thought you'd be telling me to shorten your skirt, miss prude" she mumbled, teasing her though as she took the dagger, shortening it only about an inch, high enough to keep it off the ground without revealing anything more then her shoes, making sure the line was straight. she stood up then, kissing her softly and smiling "I love you.. lemme get Jack to bed then we can go. You look incredible by the way.."

"and I never thought I would be working ..but here I am " Catra chuckled in return and smiled while standing still for her to cut the skirt. "I like it, actually~" She smiled and cupped her cheek only to give her a small kiss on her lips. "I love you too... Go dress up, I don't want my knight to wear such clothes in public" Adora was currently with her tunic so that made her laugh. The blonde giggled, holding the edge of the skirt in one hand and the dagger in another, leaning against her to nibble her lips with kisses. She giggled when she mentioned her clothes though, and pulled away "Mm fine.. It won't take me long." The other woman nodded and Jack wrapped his arms around her only to lean close and let her set him in his bed. Adora laid Jack down in his bed, kissing his forehead gently and smiling softly "I love you buddy.. And we'll get a doctor for your leg.. You'll heal up just fine" She smiled gently at him "Maybe you'll have a cool scar like I do" She laid him to bed. The boy nodded and smiled. He was kind of glad that she was around. "I won't be as cool as you, the scar was by a wood ....you have from fights" The boy hummed but let her go. Adora giggled and winked "That's the thing about scars. They can be from whatever you want them to be. Goodnight buddy.. Have sweet dreams" Adora said before she changed and walked out, looking up and smiling softly

"Well, I don't want to look like a bum, even if you're the one getting hired." She kissed her cheek, smiling gently "I'll find somewhere to work too, I promise. I don't want you to have to do this on your own" The feline looked at her only to scan her up and down when she walked out of the room "And you said I was gorgeous.... You are amazing.. and you don't have to... For now you will escort me" She grinned remembering just for a second the past in the ballroom. Adora wrapped her arms around her wife then, grinning as she held her waist, remembering their time in the ballroom as well, she smiled and kissed her gently "Mm.. I'll always be here to escort you, my love. I shall keep you safe." The magicat leaned close and nodded, staring into these beautiful blue eyes and cupping her cheek "I love you..." She whispered "...my knight" she peppered her gently with kisses while having her in her arms. Adora smiled softly down at her, her arms wrapped around her waist as she held her close, speaking softly "I feel kinda stupid with this skirt... Do I have to wear this?" She mumbled, and smiled when she said that she loved her "I love you more, my queen"

"you look amazing ... I can't imagine you in a long skirt anyway so... You are just perfect with the short one" She chuckled and took a small step back before she gave her a gentle squeeze. Adora was wearing a knee short skirt with leggings and boots while her torso was covered with a shirt and an upper cloth that looked like a corset. "Let's go, they will fire me if I'm late" She smiled and kissed her cheek before guiding her out of the house. The other one huffed softly, but she kept an arm around her as they walked, grumbling again "I don't know how you stand skirts.. I'm taking this off as soon as I get home." She looked at her then, kissing her cheek with a soft smile, letting her wife guide the way.

"aah stop complaining! You're amazing with it, it suits you!... And it doesn't even restraint you from doing anything, running or fighting" She chuckled and wrapped her arm around her lover while walking to the path of the pub. Adora huffed softly, rolling her eyes and smiling, she got a point on that but she.. didn't like the skirts on her, in fact skirts and corsets were a 'no' for her "Fine fine... I still don't like it, but I'll stop complaining."

They walked through some trees in the small alleys and finally, after walking away from some homes and deeper into the village, they arrived at the pub. They had to part ways, Adora could tell that the fears she had were true since she actually could see many drunk men in there, even though it was kind of obvious. She kissed her wife’s cheek when they had to part ways, taking her place at a table instead. She'd buy a few drinks, see if any men decided to fuck with her wife, and if they did she'd deal with it. If not she'd leave her be to do her work, knowing that she had the knife on her. The feline did a great job actually, she was uncomfortable when they flirted but it was her first day. She would get used to it eventually. Her eyes fixed at Adora when she noticed her wanting to drink and went close to take her order. "I didn't know you would drink too..~" She hummed, the music playing in the background while many were cheering, dancing and drinking. It was a completely different place than Catra had ever seen. Meanwhile Adora was watching over them, shooting daggers at them every time they flirted, clearly pissed off at it but she knew what to expect. Her wife was stunning, and… well, drunk men being who they are. She knew her wife would be flirted with, though she was glad she was doing so well otherwise. She grinned, looking up at her when she approached her table "What's the point of coming to the pub without getting a pint to drink huh?" She smiled softly then, leaning back in her chair. She felt completely at home here, this was her element. Being a knight was comfortable, of course, being royal was.. Something she got used to. But this? She was born and raised in this. This was her home, the pubs, the drinking and brawling, even living paycheck to paycheck. She just needed to get back into the swing of things

The female chuckled and placed a hand on the table. "Beer or?" She hummed and raised her eyes to see other men wanting to order too. She sighed ,she wouldn't have many hours left in there thankfully ,since it was her first time the owner told her to stay by for some hours. She knew this was Adora's comfort zone but she didn't feel the same actually, it was funny but... She couldn’t say that she loved to party like that. A dude would come from behind only to give a rough spank on the feline's hips, making her puff her tail and fur. "Ey chick, where's my drink?" he chuckled. The girl smiled softly, nodding "yeah a beer is fine, just a pint though.

I don't want to get washed up y'know, I-" as soon as she heard the slap she looked up, immediately realizing what happened. She stood up quickly. She hadn’t lost much muscle mass luckily, though she was smaller then before she was clearly still muscular "the fuck do you think you're doing to my wife?" she growled then, staring him down "do not touch her like that. She is not some whore or slut on the street, she is my wife. Do you understand me?"

"Adora-" Catra was kind of scared that she would get fired again but ...at the same time she didn't expect anything else than that from Adora. The man chuckled and glared at her "Then why do you have 'er workin 'ere?" He was drunk indeed but still he was triggering.

"Because I didn't tell her to work here. I don’t own her, she chose to work here. I'm here for assholes like you. Because you can't see any woman as a real person. "She looked him up and down then, wrinkling her nose. "You're so drunk I don't know how you're still awake. You should probably cut back on the alcohol before it gets you in trouble."

"me in trouble? You're no guard” He mumbled and went in for an attack. He was too drunk though to land a hit ."Adora-" The feline gasped almost, she didn't want her to cause any other trouble ..or to get hurt. The pub keeper would notice the small argument and see if they would start a fight to kick them out or not. Adora grabbed his wrist easily, rolling her eyes and dragging him out, just setting him outside and walking back in "I’m not starting a fight in here and getting you in trouble. Doesn’t mean I can't drag him off the property." She sat back down again, dusting off her hands "I hate men like him"

Catra was so thankful she didn't start a fight. She knew Adora was hot tempered when it came to her children and wife. She looked at her and smiled a little" Thank you..." She hummed and walked away quickly, the people were waiting and she didn't want that..she had one job to do after all. Adora smiled softly, squeezing her hand for a moment before letting her go to get her work done, leaning back in her chair and looking around, trying not to stare at her wife too much. After not too long her wife gave her the drink she ordered and smiled "There you go..~" She was so hot with that short skirt and corset-like top, Catra thought for a moment. Adora took a sip and winced "man.. pub beer is shit. But I kinda missed it. Thank you baby" she smiled, kissing her cheek gently "You look really hot in that outfit by the way, my love." The brunette was told she was hot by so many tonight but she counted her wife's words only and no one else's. "Thanks... Drink, once we are back home you won't taste it again" She chuckled and walked to the owner only for him to tell she has another hour of work. The other one huffed, sticking her tongue out at her "wow gonna ban me from the pub huh? not allowed to come over for a drink?" She smiled though, drinking up and waiting for her. After that time Catra could only rush to her, finally they would speak and probably drink? Who knew, she got paid for the day and she smiled at her "Want to drink one more with me this time?"

Adora looked up and smiled softly, nodding "that sounds amazing my love" Catra ordered two beers so she would drink too and sat on her chair, in front of her. She stared at her at first but then she reached and touched her hand. "I love you..." She hummed ".. you reminded me of when you were ready to fight a prince and his guards for me" She hummed and smiled, finding it as romantic as the first time. Adora took a drink of the beer, setting it down with a huff "You sure you want to drink this? It's watered down shit. Though to be fair all pubs have beer that is watered down shit." She shrugged, taking her hand with a soft smile "Except he wasn't drunk... But I would fight anyone, and anything for you. You deserve the world, my love"

"and you deserve the best..... I really want to give you everything...even when I have nothing" She hummed in return and leaned in, placing a kiss on her lips and giving her a gentle squeeze on her hand "I don't care.. Since you drink our wine and cold beer sometimes, I'll taste your beer and drinks too" Knowing she was a child and obviously at some point she began to drink she wanted to be a part of her life even if it was a simple and less..luxurious life. "You know... When we were back in the palace I was wondering and… I wanted to go to the place you grew up and… just live there for a while… to see how it is... "

Adora smiled softly and kissed her back, letting her sit close to her as they talked, nodding "you act as if I made this myself" she teased, kissing her cheek then. It wasn't enough to get her buzzed, since it was pretty weak, but she was feeling lovey and affectionate, holding her close then. when she mentioned wanting to see where she grew up she looked at her for a moment, smiling softly "well.. if you really want to see where I grew up we'd have to go to a small Brightmoon village.. but it's about the same here as it was there, though of course some differences, like I didn't have kids, or a wife.." she shrugged, looking at her for a moment before grinning "..if you really want to know what it's like, then we must go to the summer festival. All towns have one, it celebrates the coming of the warm months, and survival through another winter"

"I'd like that~ I've gone to a festival only once ,though it was because of the spring coming, something like the one you told me to come to" Catra paused and looked down at the table when the waiter offered them their drinks."Daniella took me with her in one and .... I ran away with her. Light Spinner didn't want me to go out of the palace's grounds" She smiled while remembering the moments and snapping out of it after some seconds "Yeah I'd like to come with you" The blond smiled softly as she listened to her, nodding "Well as long as you don't run off on me while we're there I'm happy to take you and the kids" She smiled softly, kissing her cheek and finishing her beer. "I don't think you're the same person as my stepmother" The magicat teased and grinned at the kiss on her cheek. She slowly took sips of her drink and looked at the empty old glass of hers "You know there is a second round for you, right?" She chuckled and pointed to the second glass of hers. She took a sip of her own ,cringing just a little "Oh..my... It's the worst thing I've ever drank." She admitted quietly. The other one glanced over at it, and nodded, picking it up "I do, but I wanted to give it a second." She chuckled at her reaction then, taking a sip and nodding "It's horrible. I know, but it's alright for being the only drink here, other then acidic wine" She said in between her chuckles.

"You drank this for like....years, how aren't you dead" She chuckled in return and leaned in, kissing her lips slowly even if the taste of the beer sucked ,she still had it on her lips."It's such a bad time to have so many kids.... And I've heard of princes having more than ten...I don't know how or when they got all these children" Adora giggled, leaning in and kissing her back, humming softly "Mm.. Yeah it is... But I wouldn't trade them for the world. I love them so much... And I love you too." She smiled softly, cupping her cheek.

The feline smiled and rubbed her thumb on her hand only for her ears to twitch back. Her mismatching eyes looked at her and a small smile formed on her lips "Do you want to dance?" She liked the cheerful music actually, they had years to dance so it would be a nice change.

The warrior looked up when she asked that. She paused but smiled before nodding and kissing her cheek "I'd love to dance with you, my beautiful wife" she grinned, standing up before leading her over to a clear space for dancing. "my cute knight~" The feline grinned and followed the steps of the rest of the people dancing and cheering. She chuckled, the pace and the random moves of the dance was something she didn't see or learn before. Her eyes looked at the woman and she soon leaned in to embrace the woman as they were all taking a break, panting and catching a breath. Adora laughed, possibly showing off her dancing for her, blond hair down from its pony tail getting flung around, grinning and laughing as she danced, pulling her into it as well if she tried to back off though once they were finally tired, she panted softly and smiled, kissing her forehead and letting her hug her, panting softly "fuck I missed this.. that was so fun.."

The girl chuckled and panted more while trying to calm down, dancing was something she really missed but this one wasn't the dance she expected to see or...follow "You really have weird moves to dance. You all have" She laughed and rested for a little before the music continued and she held her hand gently "Will you teach me?" She chuckled knowing there shouldn't be a certain dancing pattern. The blond girl smiled softly, nodding and taking her hand, leading her out onto the dance floor "of course, whatever my queen desires" she kissed her hand gently, grinning as she led her into a dance, laughing softly when she finally got the hang of it "There you go! You got it!"

Catra giggled and laughed at how she was just so cheerful almost like nothing had happened and they were just living for today. Her smile was bright and her eyes fixed on her when she happened to stumble and almost fall back if she didn't hold her hand quickly. Her cheeks flushed,nobody saw her but even Adora seeing her stumble was embarrassing enough. The knight pulled her up, acting as if she had dipped her instead, smiling softly "It's okay, everyone stumbles. No one will judge you for that here" She kissed her forehead before she started dancing with her again, smiling and laughing softly.

"Right ...~" This was so different and new to her that the queen really couldn't tell if she was living a dream or not. She was so...free ,everyone and everything was so free, to dance, drink ,sing even with not good voices, do whatever they wanted and she never had the chance to do any of this without the thought of others judging her badly. She smiled more and held her while dancing, eyes met and she tried to not stare for too long, Adora with her hair down was really like an angel. The last one giggled softly at her hesitation, kissing her softly, knowing it would distract her "You need to turn that brain off my love.. Come dance, c'mon. It's just us okay? Just us." She smiled, holding her close and was happy to watch her, smiling as they danced. She was holding her hands and laughing still, eyes shining with mirth, a little sweaty from the exertion of dancing, but she was having too much fun to stop.

The feline got surprised by the kiss but she smiled widely before she joined her dance, sometimes finding her moves silly but at the same time she loved how carefree she was and she tried her best to turn her brain off. After the minutes of dancing passed by, she rested on her seat while trying to catch a breath "Wow...that was..." She chuckled softly, not really being able to speak right now. Adora grinned when she noticed her relaxing, leading her through the dances, panting and exhausted but happy by the end of it she slumped in the chair. She was laughing softly and still grinning, panting softly as she looked at her, face sweaty and a bit red from the excitement, some hair stuck to her face because of it, and finally realizing her hair was down she shook her head "Dammit that was my last hairband..." Catra chuckled and rolled her eyes. She was sweaty too while feeling her heart jumping out of its cage but soon she would lean back and breathe deeply. "Perfect, I'll see your beautiful long hair everyday" She smirked devilishly and chuckled. She brushed her hair out of her face gently and placed a kiss on her nose. "Maybe I'll never buy hairbands to you again "

The woman giggled softly then, rolling her eyes and leaning in to give her a quick peck, smiling softly "That would be very rude of you... what if I promise to wear it down while I'm home? I would like to be able to tie it up while I work, it keeps it out of my face" she hummed and smiled at her, chest still rising and falling quickly, still a bit winded though she was still riding the high from that time. "hm...I will let you tie it up only when you work...maybe when we go out, plus when we go back home I'll definitely add to your costume a short skirt..you look so hot ~" The magicat admitted and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips. She couldn't hide the need of hers to dance again. She had such a great time though she felt slightly dizzy before she took some sips off her glass of water "Hey, my love I'll go to the restroom okay? Keep my seat warm" She joked and stood up, fixing her hair up again and walking down the stairs. Adora giggled softly then, kissing her, though immediately pouted when she said she'd make her skirt shorter "hey I already don't like it! Catra!" she huffed, though she was already walking away. "Alright love, once you're done we can leave if you'd like?" She was tired and so was Catra. She would only need some water to be thrown in her face to wake up a little. When she was out of the small room, she felt her hair getting grabbed and pulled by someone, at first she yelled but then struggled to get free as the man from earlier got her pinned against the wall with her hands above her head.

"Havin' a knife won't help ya ,chick" The man chuckled, grabbing roughly on her thigh and throwing the knife away as the girl yelled in hopes of someone hearing her even though the music was loud. He pulled her dress up quickly while kissing hungrily on her neck and the feline tried to kick him even if he placed his knee in between her legs. Catra never wore too much makeup especially now that they weren't rich at all.. so.. she was late. Adora sat there for a bit, though when it took her longer to get back then normal she got worried, though she didn't want to bug her too much, so she gave her a bit more time. After another five minutes, she stood up, walking over to the bathroom, and got close enough to hear her call out. She rushed in seeing him on her wife, she growled, walking over and tearing him off, grabbing him by the back of his head and slamming it into the wall "Get your hands off my fucking wife!" she snarled, throwing him into the nearby wall, and when he didnt get up again immediately, she lifted him by his shirt, pushing him against the same wall again "you want a girl to fuck? Go pay one. But do not rape my wife, or I will make you regret it."

The man stumbled and got his nose bleed by the hit. Catra whimpered at the pull, feeling her legs trembling. Adora was there, she was there to protect her even if she thought for a moment that no one would hear her.. her eyes looked up at her and brushed away her tears. The man found the strength to punch the woman on her face so he could get free "I have to admit ya'r way more hot than her, bitch" The man really wouldn't even care to corner the other one if he had the chance to or the strength to do so. "But ya can watch ,don't worry I'll be gentle to yar wife" The man laughed as Adora got surrounded by three other men, some of whom she may have remembered fighting with years ago in the underground games. The one gave her a rough punch on her stomach and the other held her hands from behind. The one on the front would only give her some kicks in her face, making blood run from her nose as the queen called out her name in a cry. He didn't wait much though ,he grabbed the feline by the hair, forcing her head to face the ground. Blood ran from her nose down on the floor as a yell of pain escaped her lips. He did the same as before even though the feline was on the floor and raised her dress up, revealing her curvy hips below the corset and her tail, grabbing it to pull her. Adora grunted at the hit, growling and lunging at him again, though when she was cornered she backed up slightly, looking between the three of them. Furious she lunged at one, though the others grabbed her, squirming and screaming. When she was held back, seeing him lift her dress, she screamed, transforming into She-ra, using her superior strength to throw the two men off. She smacked the other one with the hilt of the sword before grabbing the man on her wife by the neck, lifting him up "hope you don't mind dying with a hard on in a pub bathroom." She squeezed then, kicking away one of the men when he tried to rush her with a growl "If any of you get close to my wife, I'll gut you here and now. This is what happens when you try to mess with my wife."

The feline cried but she didn't want her to kill anyone, she already did once before and she didn't want it to happen again. Her hand clung on her foot and shook her head. "Let him leave.. let's, let's go home" Her voice cracked, the men surprised they were laying back on the floor or running for their lives. Her eyes looked up at her, hand up on her nose that still bled and she pulled her dress down to cover herself up while trembling both by fear and pain of her nose. Adora hesitated at what her wife told her, looking between him and her for a moment before she dropped him, instead just scooping her up, carrying her out of the pub. She just hugged her close after she retrieved the knife "I’m sorry.. I’m so sorry... I had hoped it wouldn't happen to you too..." she mumbled, turning her sword into a bracer so she could cradle her close, letting her hide her head "you're okay, you're safe I'm right here.. I'm so sorry... I'm so sorry..." The brunette whimpered and sobbed, her arms tightened around her and she dug her face into her neck. "N..no ,thank you... I ... No one else would hear me.."

She whimpered but she focused on the words she said "Too? Did... What do you mean?" She mumbled between her sniffles and tried to calm down, she felt safe around her but she knew life wasn't always going to be by the side of the blond's. Adora hesitated for a moment before shaking her head, not wanting to talk about it

"You don't need to thank me... I should thank you... I almost killed him.." She sighed softly, holding her closer "It's okay, honestly. I'm here, I love you, I'm so sorry.." She rubbed her back, holding her close and kissing her forehead gently "I'm right here, my love" The feline didn't forget it though "No...Adora please...talk to me..I know.. I know nothing about your past and I've seen how you acted with that prince back then.. you weren't so...furious to kill him... what changed..?" The blond couldn't look at her now, just keeping her head forward as she took her home, hesitating before she spoke after some minutes. "It happened to me too. A few times. I was too young and weak to fight back." She stopped there then, partially because she got them home then, walking into the house and taking them to their bedroom "let's get ready for bed, okay baby?" She gently set her down then, kissing her forehead gently. The feline fell quiet, she didn't want to say anything to trigger her or make her remember anything she didn't want to. Catra laid down, her body felt so tired yet still on edge because of what happened. "I go ...clean up" She avoided looking at her and went to the bathroom, Jack was sleeping and the children were as well, though Mara woke up and some giggles began to be heard in the empty room. Adora just nodded, looking away again. When she heard Mara she was confused, but assumed it was Jack playing with her, so she got up and walked to the room, to tell them to get to bed, opening the door and poking her head in "hey guys, it's late you two should be sleeping.."

Jack was asleep already, the little girl was just cheerful at the moment, clapping her hands and crawling closer to her brothers. As for Catra she cleaned her cleavage up ,neck and thighs only to get the dirt of that man off her only to dry herself up and walk back to the bedroom. She laid down slowly curling under the woolen blanket so she could feel the warmth since she was covered only by her thin shift. Adora smiled softly, walking in and picking her up, lifting her up in the air with a soft giggle, cradling her close as she walked back to the room. "Someone woke up in a good mood." She walked over to her wife, kissing her forehead gently then as she held Mara "..heard her giggling in the room, thought Jack was playing with her.." The feline smiled and patted the side of the bed "Let her stay here for a bit. We will let her in her room later, hm?" She smiled and looked at her only to wait so she would lay down."Take off your clothes, you won't lay in bed like this" She almost chuckled. Adora nodded, laying Mara down beside Catra, hesitating when she told her to remove her clothes before nodding. She did as she said before laying down, smiling softly at Mara "Hey little one... Look at how big you've grown huh? Already crawling, you're gonna be a troublemaker"

"just like her mom" She hummed and smiled before she crawled up so she could sit on bed, having Mara in her embrace "Adora.. do you want to talk about it?.... I don't judge and you know it...hell I'm the last one to judge you... I've been married to a jerk before..." She hummed after some breaths and looked up at her, she wanted her to open up to her. She felt like she knew so little. Adora smiled at the previous sentence "I'm not that much of a trouble maker. I'm usually the one that ends it" She paused though when she asked to talk about it, looking away. It took her a few minutes before she spoke "First time was a guy. I was ten.. Thought I was a normal little girl until.. Well.. He saw what I had. By that point it was too late so he just.. Went the other way. I woulda bit him if he put it in my mouth even if it killed me." She paused again, though her face was blank, her voice just matter of fact "Second time was a girl, about a year later. This time she thought I was a guy... Might as well have been to her.." She sighed softly "Happened a few more times. Last one I found where he slept and killed him. I couldn't let someone else live knowing they did that to me. And I couldn't live seeing myself so weak."

The woman looked at her but she didn't speak. At first she felt bad for her. Though after a while she leaned in and gave her a tight embrace "Adora.. I'm sorry..." She hummed and crawled closer, wrapping her tail around her underneath her shift and around her thigh. "I..... I didn't know you killed someone before... I... Actually know so little about you because you never speak about your past ..except for Mara.." She hummed, a little bit mad at her that she couldn't make her speak to her...she was her wife. "Is someone of them who treated you like that alive or...? All dead?"

Adora hesitated, but she hugged her gently, being careful of Mara between them "Some of them are still alive. I don't know where. Or care. One of them was in the military at Brightmoon. Used me to make herself pregnant. So I have some bastard child running around probably... Not that it matters much. That was years ago. The kid would be an adult now." She shrugged "I'm not going to bother trying to find them. There's no point, it was years ago they wouldn't recognize me. I don't even know the girl that used me, she kept her face covered. But I know her voice. She talked a lot. Said as long as I kept quiet, as long as I didn't fight back it would be fun, that I would enjoy it eventually. I didn't, of course."

"My..... Love, I'm sorry... And I'm here crying over a jerk prince... I'm sorry "She felt bad actually.. She was always looking at her side not knowing that Adora had a similar or worse situation like hers. She leaned in and gave her a tight embrace only to give her a small kiss on her cheek "I don't want to give you a hard time... only if I knew.." She whispered, Mara was slowly crawling on the pillow while her moms were embracing. The knight just shrugged it off "I'm fine. It happened years ago, I don't need to talk about it, it happened and now it's done. You shouldn’t feel bad for complaining about a prince who raped you. That's what he did, you know. You didn't like it, and it was obvious but he didn’t stop and hurt you in the process." She shrugged, looking at Mara then. “but I could have known that you got assaulted... Could help you and not make it more difficult for you to be around me.. I could.. close my damn mouth and stop crying all the time...about everything" She hated that she was causing all this especially after knowing what she's been through. The other one looked up at her then, confused "Since when was this about you getting upset over what's happened? My life is my life. I grew up with that shit. You didn't. You have every right to complain, and whine, and feel as bad as you want. I didn't mean for this to sound like you have to shut up and take it, because you don't. Tell me how you feel, honestly. I want that, I want to know how you feel, even if you think you're complaining too much"

"yes but....you never complain about anything... And I feel that I'm overreacting...sometimes" She hummed, resting her head on the woman's shoulder this time and having her arms still wrapped around her. The blond held her close, shaking her head and glancing at Mara to be sure she wasn't about to fall off the bed or something. "You're not overreacting, my love... You definitely aren't overreacting… Especially not with what happened tonight, okay? I'm sorry I didn't come sooner... Do you still want to work there..? I'm sure we can find somewhere else for you to work.. Somewhere safer.."

"You came just in time…I... I don't want to leave from there... I won't...go anywhere alone... Not even in the restroom.." She hummed and looked away ,her fur puffed remembering the moment and looked up at her with a nervous smile "I love you... But we all need money, they pay well and the work is decent.. I know how to just bring orders and… not talk much to people so... I hope I'll be fine..." She whispered, feeling herself getting tired while she was holding her close. Mara was slowly crawling towards them to slide between them. Adora hesitated before nodding, sighing softly and holding her close "Alright... Just... Please be more careful. I know that wasn't your fault, it was his, but.. We can't stop them from doing that... So I want you to be more careful, okay...?" She kissed the top of her head then,mumbling "I love you too... As soon as I can find a job we'll find you somewhere safer to work, okay love?"

"mhm..... Thank you.." The feline spoke and leaned close to her before slowly pulling away, she held Mara who was poking her with her small hands and picked her up to take her in her embrace "I'll take her to her bed... I'll be back in a second, okay...?" She looked at her and leaned close to her only to kiss her lips and walk away. She wouldn't take long, literally just placing her in bed and leaving the children alone. The woman returned and laid down beside her and wrapped her arms around her. She sat down on her bed and leaned with her back facing her while having her hair on the side so she could spoon her. Adora kissed her gently and nodded, letting her go so she could lay Mara down, laying back on the bed and sighing softly, just staring at the ceiling. When she came back, she looked up and smiled softly, hugging her close and curling into her back "I love you... And I missed you.."Catra smiled softly at the affection and whispered quietly "I loved it tonight.... Even if that happened... I really loved dancing with you...spending time together" She admitted and closed her eyes. She leaned close to her and nuzzled only to touch her hand gently. "I felt just like the first time I saw you... When we danced and... Almost kissed under the stars"

"I should have kissed you then... There under the stars.... I did... But I shouldn't have hesitated..." She drew an idle pattern on her arm, laying behind her and curling close. "you shouldn't have… and it was the right thing to do.. If Light Spinner found out about it so early... I don't know if we would be like this right now" Catra leaned close and smiled while she was feeling her caressing her slowly and rubbing her hand gently "Your eyes really attracted me... I'm not going to lie... You were so...free, I loved it" Adora smiled at that and giggled softly. She kissed her shoulder gently and held her close "I loved your eyes too... And your ears, actually... I've always loved your ears..." She was too distracted to notice that the shifting and cuddling had caused her to grow semi hard, nuzzling into her neck "The most weird thing to me.and you found it attractive?" She chuckled and leaned close to her only to realize she was semi hard. Her eyes opened and she pulled away just a tiny bit clearing her throat "I can't believe you're getting hard while talking about our eyes" The blond blushed softly, pulling away "I'm sorry it's the cuddling. Your ass is grinding right on me and it's kinda hard not to..." She pouted "Just gimme a minute it'll go away, I'm sorry baby"

"It's fine... don't worry… it was just sudden you know..." Catra looked up at her only to give her a small kiss on her lips and nuzzle close to her "Don't you want me to help?" She hummed and leaned close, she could obviously ignore the previous events with her wife being so close to her. Adora hesitated for a moment before nodding "I.. I mean if you're comfortable with that. With what just happened I don't want you to feel like you have too." She looked at her, wanting to be sure she wouldn't feel forced into helping her. "no.... I ...I understand that you have needs just as much as I do.. and I've left you behind for a month and a half.... I'm sorry" Catra hummed and leaned in, wrapping her arm around her. She felt strange with all this happening before but she didn't want her to let her urges slowly go away. Why were they married after all? She turned around, her hips touching Adora's and pushing them gently on her "I love you" The other one put a hand on her waist, shaking her head "no, love don't force yourself.. you don't have to, really... you haven't been neglecting me, I've gone longer without a lay, I can wait" She looked up at her then, hoping she didn't feel like she was forced to please her "you just almost had to.. well.. have a bad experience, seriously you don't have to.. I promise it won't kill me to go without for a bit longer"

"no... Adora I feel bad for it.... I've already told you 'no' to it plenty of times... I don't care if that jerk wanted to do things to me or not, as long as you are around to protect me... I want to protect you too..you deserve it" But she didn't know how. She had already treated her nose bleed and she pressed her hips on the bulge of hers, blushing "I want it... I'm not getting forced, okay?" She gave her a reassuring smile and shook her hips. "you shouldn’t be having sex because you feel bad for me my love.." Adora cupped her cheek, trying not to react when she felt her press against her bulge but she couldn't help but groan softly, looking up at her "alright... alright fine, but only if you're certain that you want this. Not because of what I need, or what you think I need, okay?" She looked down here, groaning softly when she shook her hips "you are making it so hard to talk to you... I wanna be sure that you want this..."

"Stop talking then... I want it... I want you" She whispered, tail wrapping around her thigh while feeling the woman's bulge being harder. "You're so hard.." The feline leaned so her back would touch her chest "I've ... Done it once but I'm sure with you it will feel good.." She hummed coyly. The blond groaned softly, but she finally gave in, pressing into her and nuzzling into her neck. She was grinding into her as well with a soft blush, hesitating. She kept her arm wrapped around her, at this point happy to just grind against her. She groaned softly into her neck, keeping her movement slow as she rocked into her. She panted, nipping lightly at her neck then, though she was gentle with her. Catra raised her shift just a tiny bit and her legs got spread a little. She was grinding against her. Soft whines escaped her lips. "I.. don't know if it's uncomfortable for you or not." She whispered and looked away. Adora hesitated at the offer before nodding, reaching down to gently guide her shift up "if you ever get uncomfortable, let me know, okay my love?" she spoke softly, nuzzling into her neck as she did, wanting to make sure her touch was soft and gentle unlike the other mans. "I love you.... I love you so much... fuck I don’t deserve you... you know that...? You're so good to me... You deserve the world my love.” The fact she began to praise her from now made Catra blush deeply. She was always so... Kind to her. Her eyes closed ,tilting her shoulder a little and pressing her naked bottom on her covered one. "I love you..... I deserve you and you deserve me...we are made for each other, can't you see ?" She hummed and grunted at the feeling of her so close, even though they were under the covers, she was getting too warm. The knight groaned softly then, pulling her own pants down, she didn’t even want to bother getting undressed all the way, wanting to spend this time showering her in love and affection equally "I love you too... fuck I missed this.. missed you...." She kicked their blankets off then, getting too hot as well, placing herself against her she mumbled, guiding her wife to lift one of her legs, holding it up "are you ready my love?"

"yes... Please, my dear..." She whispered and tilted her head back so she could feel the woman's lips against her. Her eyes closed and eyebrows furrowed before she leaned against her and gasped. "I love you..." She whined, her tail wrapped around her hips while holding her close. Adora pressed into her slowly, groaning and letting out a soft curse, pushing herself as deep as she could, pausing for a moment then "Fuck... I love you too baby.. I love you so much.. Fuck I missed this.."

"a—ah... Adora..." The girl moaned slowly and pressed her hips against hers only to give her a tender touch on her hand. She felt so stunned by their position. Her eyes closed and she felt herself almost moaning as the other thrusted deep inside her. "Take me.... I want you" Her leg weakly lowered so she could wrap it around the blonde. The blonde moaned as well, pressing her face into her neck then, her arm around her waist. When she told her to take her, she adjusted their position slightly before she started bucking again, biting at her neck. She moaned into her as she kept her arm around her, though she moved it slightly so she could reach down and rub her wife's clit. The feline whimpered, mewled even when she rubbed her clit. She could feel the woman's abdomen touching the base of her tail in that position and it drove her crazy. "Ng.....m..my love" She whined, feeling her breaths against her skin, her teeth even while having this combination of thrusting and rubbing on her clit and tail without Adora's knowledge caused her to shiver and tried to catch a breath. Adora panted softly, pressing a few soft kisses along her jawline "Y-yes my queen..?" She panted, slowing down slightly but she didn't stop. One of the hands behind her reached down to gently scratch the base of her tail.

"a— you- not there .... Oh my " The other one whined and trembled, she could feel her tightening around her as her hand now clung on her and her nails dug in her skin "F..feels so good..~” The blond grinned, pressed into her neck and moaned, panting and bucking against her "Y-yeah.. Close... Gonna fill you up so much it leaks out... Fuck baby..." She moaned, making sure to be very gentle when she tugged on her tail then.
"Please....yes.. Do it, I want to feel you so much" She moaned and gasped in return, tugging more as the moments were passing by and her lover's touch on her tail became more rough "I want you ah...ah I want you so much, my knight" She whimpered.

Adora panted, pressing her face into her neck and leaning closer to her, gasping and moaning. It only took a few more thrusts before she came, pressing as deep into her as she could. She groaned, eyes closed as she pressed herself against her. Catra couldn't moan loudly since the children were sleeping so her hand only got tightened around the sheets ,her legs tensed and bent a little because of the feeling growing inside her. Her pants and heavy breaths echoed and her ears fell back as she came not too long after that. Her hand held hers,hips moving slowly and felt her warm member between her thighs only to tilt her head "You... You were so tense....how long do we have to do it.... Damn..." She hummed softly and closed her eyes while trying to not pay attention to how dirty she was or felt right now. The other one kept her face in her wife's neck to muffle her moans, closing her eyes and panting softly against her, pulling out slowly when she was done "I'm good now... Wow.. How are you feeling my love, are you okay?" She kissed her neck then, sitting up slightly to look down at her "I can wet a rag and clean you up a bit.. I.. Made a bit of a mess"

"I'm.. I'm good.... exhausted but good" Catra breathed out and took several deep breaths "You're something else..." She chuckled and collected her thoughts while nodding "Yes please.... If you can stand up I'd.. I'd love it" She was now resting her head on the pillow while talking, her legs almost spread as she rolled to lay on her back. Adora chuckled softly, moving so she could lay back, leaning over and kissing her gently, before she got up. She pulled her pants up and left, wetting a rag and coming back to wipe her clean, being gentle since she knew she would still be sensitive in some parts. She kissed her thigh gently, before getting up again "Let me put the rag away and then I'll be right there for you okay baby?"

The feline smiled while looking at her, treating her so gently. She was always as kind as she was in their first time. Her eyes looked up at her and reached down so she could brush her hair slowly. "Of course.....you know I'm in need of your cuddles..." She admitted and smiled faintly at her as she slowly fixed her shift down. The knight smiled gently, getting up to clean off the rag and put it away before coming back to bed.She laid down beside her and pulled her close, speaking softly "I love you so much... You didn't have to do that..." She mumbled, holding her close still, kissing the top of her head. "hm..." The brunette was half dreaming at the moment when she embraced her, she leaned in, placing her head on her chest and tail wrapped around her lover's legs. "What are you talking about...?" She nuzzled, purring slightly. Adora smiled softly and held her close "Don't worry about it, love... Just get some rest, I'm right here, goodnight baby" She rubbed her back, putting both her arms around her to hug her close, smiling softly. Even though she was so tired, Catra pulled up to look at her. Sleepy yet glimpsing eyes in the dark room looked at the blue ones. The candles were off so they had only the moon bringing some light in the room. "What did you mean...? I'm sleepy but I hear well" She leaned close kissing her lips.

Adora chuckled softly, kissing her and speaking softly "So stubborn... I meant that you didn't have to sleep with me tonight.. I would have been fine just letting my hard on go down, and I'm sorry if I made you feel like you had to, especially after what almost happened to you today" She cupped her cheek then, looking down at her "You do not have to sleep with me if you do not want to, okay? Whether I am horny or not you can always say no to me"
The other girl shook her head and placed a kiss on her palm."No... Adora, we didn't get married for only me to be pleased ... Whenever I am or you are we both will have to do something about it... Tonight I wanted to thank you for saving me..okay? I'm yours and only ..and I don't want you to feel bad because we had a moment when I wasn't ...wet to start something, we can't be always horny at the same time "She chuckled and leaned in she loved to hear her heart beat so she just laid her head on her chest again"I love you..."
The knight shook her head then "I don't care that we're married.. We married for love not sex. You do not have to have sex with me, no matter what you were taught. If you aren't in the mood, just tell me. At worst I'll pop into the bathroom and take care of it myself. You do not have to give me anything." She clearly wouldn't back down on this, though she let her lay her head down "I will offer, but you don't have to accept. Its okay to say no"

"It is but I don't want to say no to you... We're not married only because we love each other...we have a family ,same difficulties and same happy moments, sex is one of these moments we share and I don't want you to take care of yourself alone in the bathroom when you have me around .... I wouldn't even touch myself if you refused to do anything with me... What am I? Just the princess you first met? We are having something to connect us" Catra tightened the embrace but soon felt strange to talk from there so she switched back to her position ,resting her head on her hand.

Adora looked down at her for a moment, cupping her cheek "You aren't just a princess... I love you, that's why I married you. I didn’t marry you because I wanted sex, I married you because I wanted to spend the rest of my life by your side, with you. Because you make me happy. Whether we're just laying in bed cuddling, or eating together... Every moment I have with you is special. I’m.. I’m sorry if I didn't make myself clear. I love you, and I do love the sex, trust me, but that isnt the only thing I want and I dont want you to feel like you have to give it to me, you dont have to say yes" She still held her cheek, looking down at her and rubbing her thumb over her cheek "I married you not for a family, not for, status or power or sex... But because I love you. I want to be with you, be there for you... I want to be by your side through the storm and calm weather... And I will. I always will"

The feline felt the same but she still had different thoughts on this topic. She pulled away but smiled. "I will be by your side even on this then ... Won't you accept it this way?" She hummed and looked down at her lips "I felt good, you did too. It was a nice break from all that's happening and.. the whole night traveled me back in time, okay? When we were both dancing at that party years ago.. Nobody could tell me back then that I would become a queen...have a family and… no kingdom to rule... everything changed when you came into my life and I'm glad that happened" She whispered in a soft tone.

Adora paused for a moment, looking at her but she nodded, kissing her gently "I know my love... Just know that you can always tell me no. Even if you feel like you can't." She cupped her cheek and smiled softly at her, laying her head back down on the bed beside her, holding her close then "It did actually... This night was nice. It.. Was almost perfect. If that man didn't have come it would have been..." She pulled her closer and spoke softly "Now c'mon... It's late, my love. We should get some sleep." The magicat huffed when she said about the man, she was trying to forget that already but she didn't make it easy for her either. She leaned close and nuzzled on her skin "Hey..... It was perfect... I had you to protect me....but I don't have anything to treat your wounds... Are you in pain..?" She remembered she got hit too, her nose was still red from the hit but thankfully it didn't bleed. Adora winced when she heard her huff, and just nodded "Sorry.. I'll stop talking about it. And yeah, yeah I'm okay, don't worry about me, my love" She smiled softly, kissing her forehead "Just get some sleep, I'll be right here"

"hey…" She furrowed her eyebrows at the reaction and cupped her cheek "These weeks have been hell already, so its easier for me to not stay on a random person trying to...do things to me, okay?.... I've lost everything, do you think that would be the worst thing that could happen to me?.... Losing you would be the worst thing that I can't imagine... Losing Jack or.. the babies.. I can't let all this bring me down, I'm trying to hold onto something good..and today was a good day after weeks..." She rubbed her cheek with her thumb,eyes flickered from her blue ones to her lips "..and I'm glad it's been a great day with you even if this happened in the end... We had fun together ...spent time together without building a house..." Adora looked down at her again, leaning into her hand slightly and nodded "Yeah... I understand, don't worry.. I'm sorry I keep bringing that up, I promise, lips are sealed from now on." She leaned in and kissed her softly, holding her close "Just wait until the summer fest... I promise you'll love it."

The feline smiled and rested on her chest after that, she obviously didn't get angry at her.. she just wanted to focus on the good things between them. She then let herself rest, falling asleep into her embrace. The knight smiled softly and wrapped her arms around her, falling asleep not long after she did, closing her eyes and hugging her.

A new life

Chapter Notes

> Hey guys ,Gigi here. I am starting a new work ,I got a health problem because of the weight I had to lift in that job so I quit. Since tomorrow is the new beginning I don't know if we will be able to finish the next chapter till weekend so.. sorry!

During the next few weeks, the couple managed to build on more ground and gain more money as well. The children were getting cold though, they were not used to such an environment, especially Jack. Every time one of them got sick, Adora did her best to make sure she could care for them. Catra would do the same whenever she could but she was getting sick easily as well. Adora on the other hand rarely got sick, having grown up in this, her immune system has had time to strengthen itself. While there were a few times she got sick, it had never really gotten to the point it had with the kids and her wife.

The triplets were as well growing up quicker than a human baby would during these last winter months. Mara got more from her blond mother, she had no feline ears or tail. She had two big baby blue eyes, short golden blonde hair and ivory skin. Jackson and Daniel both got more from the feline. The first one had dark brown hair with some blonde streaks and two magicat's mismatching eyes; the right one was yellow but the left was blue. He also had a more honey shade on his too short fur. Daniel on the other hand had two light green cat-like eyes, his hair were golden blonde and his skin was more like Adora's, though at the same time held a beige shade due to his darker fur. They both got pointy ears, matching the colors of their fur and their hair.

As about the kingdom of the Horde… there was still chaos. Nobody took the throne. All of the mages, the ones leading this war, were in charge. The people lived without speaking their minds, something that changed when Catra took the lead. Even though they were starving still, they didn't get anything from this defeat that death and plenty became homeless. The fields were ruined, the miners still had plenty of work but for what? They didn't get paid at all. Instead whoever refused to work would be executed. They all hoped for the best once the first flowers began to bloom and the new season was coming. At least they would be able to steal or hide some food during their work in the fields.

During these difficult times, BrightMoon was celebrating the beginning of the new season. There were plenty of people, celebrating ,playing and eating during these days and Adora and Catra couldn’t miss them. Adora wanted to show her wife these festivities as she promised. The brunette got up to dress up nicely for that reason. She didn’t like crowded places but she would make that exception. Also she was feeling sick these days but she didn’t want to worry anyone and tried to hide it. Adora, on the other hand, was excited. She made sure everyone had nice clothes that would fit in well with the festivities. She was obviously planning on taking the three children, all of which had started to try and stand but hadn’t made it past crawling quite yet.

Catra had a beautiful dress with several colorful flowers on it. As always she loved to put color on her clothes even after plenty of months since the child's loss. The incident had happened in late autumn and now it was spring. She would return to the black and dark clothes but this once she wanted them all to have fun and forget about their problems. Her form was weak, she felt the sickness was slowly going away yet still she had to go through it. Her eyes looked at the woman who she obviously brought her an outfit to put on with a short skirt. She told her she would choose her clothing for today so she could make her wear the skirt. A bright smile covered her lips as she leaned against the doorframe of the bedroom. "You look amazing ~" She admitted as the woman wore a pure white shirt that had some golden symbols on it, with dark red trousers and dark brown boots. She wanted to be both comfortable and good looking.

The other one rolled her eyes at the skirt, crossing her arms as she watched her and raising an eyebrow "I'm not wearing this... You can't make me." She knew she couldn't say no to her wife though, so she knew it would be wearing the skirt. She hesitated for a second and chuckled softly as she walked over to kiss her lips softly "Are you and Jack ready?"

Catra perked an eyebrow, tail wagging under the dress when she said that "Oh really-?" She chuckled and smirked at her only to lean closer and give her a small kiss on her lips. "We're all ready. Mara, Daniel and Jackson will come too... Won't they? We can't leave the kids at home alone"

"Yeah, they're ready too, don't worry, I made sure everything is gonna be perfect today" She cupped her cheek and kissed her before avoiding commenting on the skirt issue and walking into the other bedroom. She got followed by Catra who still had the skirt in hand. "Well, let's get going before we're late. We may even be able to buy some seeds and such to start our own farm. This way we can grow plants and sell them." She said while walking inside to pick up Mara and Jackson, letting Jack get Daniel and follow her outside. Jack had his own style, not too bright colors but the casual brown and beige toned shirt and short trousers with two black suspenders.

"yeah... Of course we can do that...do you think anyone will sell seeds though? It's a festival... I mean you know best obviously." Catra hummed and followed her from behind.
"It's usually a mix of festival and market. There will be places to buy pelts and food, oh god the smell of food in the markets.." She groaned softly "it's practically heaven on earth, trust me. It might be a little overwhelming at first though so stay close to me. They usually have tables and places to sit set up too" She smiled at them.

The sounds of the celebration started to grow louder as they got closer and Adora's excitement did as well. The queen smiled brightly and chuckled at how excited Adora was. It was a great evening for a walk, cloudless and with no winter or cold weather,

"I'm glad I saved money for the festival then" She added. As always Catra didn't want her children to stay unsatisfied even with the little she could offer. When they arrived though her eyes didn't know where to look at first. So many people, tents and tables selling all kinds of things. She looked up at her as Jack started already pulling them to a candy stall.

The divine yet gentle and pleasant smell of food and candies mixed together was so intense. At the same time the laughs of people playing and dancing combined with the cheerful music playing filled the whole village.

Adora laughed softly when they were pulled "Not too much okay? But why don't you pick out one thing, anything from this stall and we'll get it. But only one okay? I don't want you to get hurt cuz of the sweets. Too many sweets will make your tummy ache" She smiled softly, following him up to the stall. The boy furrowed his eyebrows but he rolled his eyes "Fine ... Fine, I'll get one…" He huffed but took a moment to take a wise decision on which one he could have. "... Umm.. this one" He pointed out a small candy on top of a stock and looked at his mom. Catra on the other hand wasn't far away, instead she was just going where the two little ones went to get some toys and told them to pick one as well, she had money for now but she didn't want to spend them from their first second in the festival. Adora did let Mara and Jackson down so she would have to pay attention to them to not lose them in the crowd.

The blond woman cracked a smirk when she saw her wife walking behind the other children. Then she leaned down to whisper "Soon as I'm sure your mom isn't around I'll get you three more of whatever you want, alright? You deserve it." She grinned, standing up then and making the boy chuckle. Seeing that he chose a small one she looked over, raising an eyebrow "The tiny one? Are you sure?"

"mhm... I didn't come for the sweets... You said it will be nice with music and dancing and.... " He wasn't too demanding since he knew they had no money. If they were still in the palace maybe he wouldn't mind adding more to his order. The feline at the same time was trying to take care of the two children and gave them two of the toys they chose before checking to spot where Adora was. She had Jack and Daniel so she just wanted to make sure they were around. Daniel reached down to take the sweets off the table with a giggle.

Adora smiled at that and leaned down, kissing his forehead before she asked for the candy, paying for it and giving it to him, hesitating before she paid for one too. It had been too long since she had a sweet, though she got one she and Catra could share. She giggled softly as Daniel reached for something, letting him have a tiny piece of what she got, making sure it wasn't too big for him though as they walked back. She looked up at her wife and smiled softly "I... May have spent a bit on sweets. But Jack deserved it, and I figured you would be okay with sharing one with me?"

The feline nodded and smiled, hesitating but at the same time she didn't accept the candy "I didn't want to eat for now. You can have it, really... I told you I've saved up for today so… it's okay don't hold back. I will buy one if I want" She smiled and looked away as the two children were playing with their toys. Daniel stepped on his toes when the knight let him down "Ma" The little boy was trying to take another piece. The kids could barely walk or talk, Jackson was able to speak a little better and Mara with Daniel to walk just a few steps before crawling.

Adora pouted softly, putting it in her mouth and leaning closer "C'mon, just a bite? It's really good!" She said around it and grinned at her, putting her hands on her hips and giggling playfully. Catra didn’t care to show such affection around people anymore. The blond one looked down though, pulling the treat out of her mouth when she heard Daniel, smiling softly "Yeah baby? What's wrong?" She knelt down, offering him a hand so he could stand upright still. The baby boy pointed at the woman's candy and he pouted "I think Daniel needs it more~" Catra smirked and chuckled. "Give him some more and I'll have a small bite, okay?" Adora giggled softly, giving him a small bit, tearing off a bit for Jackson and Mara as well so they wouldn't whine because they didn't get any. Then, she offered it to Catra again. "There. There isn't much left, but I already had a piece. You can have the rest if you want?" She knew there would be plenty of cheap food for her to eat here, some maybe even offering it for free. This was a place for fun, she wasn't very worried about it. Catra smiled as she took the last piece and ate it while heading off to the most noisy area as the music was coming from there. The music was cheerful, what suited for a festival like this. The children were just nuzzling close to her, Mara was holding Adora's hand to stand and walk. Jack smiled while watching some people dancing to the rhythm of the music.

The knight smiled softly, walking with her and gently squeezed Mara's hand, though when she heard the song change she looked up quickly, eyes widening and grinning before she looked at Catra. She got too excited to even really speak so she just pointed at the dance floor, practically bouncing in place as she did. She was clearly excited, recognizing the song with just the first few notes, and there was a rush of people to the dance floor, oddly enough, lining up too. The ex-princess rolled her eyes back and sighed. She couldn't help but chuckle at her excitement. "Go ahead I'll stay with the children" She chuckled "Now you and Mara will hold hands, okay? And stay beside me, I don't want to lose any of you in the crowd" She hummed at Daniel. Jack wanted to join his mom on the floor. "Go " She smiled, allowing him to join his mom and he walked quickly behind her. Adora, quite literally, cackled, only taking the time to kiss her cheek before she ran out to the dance floor, laughing softly. When Jack joined she smiled, reassuring him that the moves aren't hard to learn, other people around them were happy to teach him as they went. She remembered when she was little and learned the dance like him. She had managed to get a spot on the front line, so she would be easy to see from where Catra was, and as the song started everyone's voices rang out with the lyrics, including Adora's. She was grinning and laughing as she danced, keeping up perfectly in time, knowing Jack would pick it up quickly. The young boy danced with her, he was quick to learn new things, dance moves included. Catra on the other hand looked at her, her lips made a huge smile, enjoying how the woman was so excited and cheerful. She chuckled at some moves of hers yet she still found out that sometimes she was showing off which made her laugh. Adora laughed softly when she saw her noticing. She glanced down at Jack before looking up at her wife, smiling up at her before she had to do a spin, giggling as her hair flung around, landing in her face. She had danced this so many times she didn't need to see well to know. She danced and sang, looking down at Jack, her voice one of the loudest out in the crowd. Part of her had missed this. The joy, the sense of familiarity and community.

The voice was heard and actually made the new queen of BrightMoon hear. She ran to the sound of the voices ,with her guard behind. Adora was there, she was alive when everyone thought of her dead or lost. Glimmer stood there for a second to accept the idea of her finally finding her and approached slowly, obviously she wore way better clothes than the rest of the villagers since she was a royal and had Bow by her side with his armor still on.

By the time the song was done Adora was panting, but she laughed softly and scooped Jack up, walking back over to Catra, smiling at her "You did amazing Jack! You learned that so quickly!" She sat down again, running a hand through her hair "you both did great job” Catra chuckled and looked up at her only to lean close and give her a small kiss on her lips "You were fun to watch~” She chuckled. Adora smiled, kissing her back gently and cupping her cheek, giggling softly "Thank you my love. I should teach you that so you can join in on it.. It's really fun."Jack grinned and noticed two people were staring at them. "Mom... This lady is looking at you" He hummed as she could see Glimmer talking to Bow. Still hesitating to speak. Catra on the other hand widened her eyes. They were supposed to be known by no one, if they were there, they would uncover them. The blond looked down when Jack spoke up, frowning slightly "Who? Where are they?" She looked to where he pointed, and it wasn't hard to see the lavish clothes compared to that of the peasants around them and she froze "Its Glimmer and Bow. What the hell are they doing here? Why are they here?"

"I have no idea...but they must not be here for a good reason....Adora lets go, nobody knows we're here, if they learn that.." They were all in danger...and she knew it, they ran away for these mages to not touch her or the children but now she wasn't even sure of what to do. Glimmer wasn't the best person, especially Catra knew how she didn't like her at all "Adora, you're coming?" Jack was still wondering what was going on. Adora looked at them, pausing for a moment before she nodded "Right, right sorry. C'mon Jack we gotta go, okay? It's not safe right now, let's get home. Maybe I can teach you and mom that dance when we get home. How about that?" She scooped him up quickly then, picking up Mara as well and cradling them both close "Alright, I'm ready lets go."

The woman followed her behind but Glimmer and Bow did the same, not for them to be visible of course. Once they were near the house Catra looked up at the girl and opened the door quickly, closing it behind them. "Jack.. can you take your siblings to your room? Me and mom have to talk" She hummed. Adora walked quickly to the house, nervous the entire time, though she did her best not to show it. As soon as they got inside she set Jack down, handing him Mara "We'll dance later, okay? For now just stay in the room with your siblings" The boy nodded and took Mara and the other two with him, guiding them inside the room. Catra looked up at the woman though, ears down, clearly worried "How did they find us? Why didn't they say anything?" Adora sighed softly and ran a hand through her hair, just shaking her head "I don't know. I don't know why they're here, or why they're so obvious about it." She growled.

"They saw us..they definitely saw us .. Do you think they followed us?" She was too worried to not show it. Her eyes flickered from her to the door and the windows. "What if they speak to others?"

Adora shook her head at that "No... No they wouldn't do that... I don't think they followed us." She was pacing now, looking down as she thought "No... No Glimmer would want to rush in... Talk to us, or attack us right away, unless she wasn't sure if we'd attack first. Bow would be more... Well reassuring and confident, certain that we wouldn't attack... That is if they're here for the right reason. Bow couldn't hurt anyone he called his friend though. So if she wanted to hurt us then Bow wouldn't be here... Maybe they're just here to see if we're actually alive... Or- or they came because of rumors? I don't know..." She ran a hand through her hair, sighing softly "Do not answer the door tonight. Not alone at least. And if you do dont open it, ask who it is from through the door. If its them, just-... I don't know... Fuck I dont know."

"we could just.... I don't know...maybe stay inside... Pretend no one's here ..and ... Agh how will I go to work..." She huffed "If they're in the village they will find us again...unless they were here only for the festival..." She hummed and leaned back on the door before letting out a sigh. She couldn't think of anything positive at this moment, only the fact they met someone who didn't like her made her guts ache. "How are we supposed to leave Jack alone?"

"I don't know. I don't know.. Fuck. I'll.. I'll go and tell him you got sick again, if need be I'll cover for your job." Adora sighed, walking over to the windows, looking out of them for a moment, worried they might be approaching "What if they did follow us home?"

"I am still sick .... Not as bad as I was.." She hummed in return but the fact Adora was worrying so much made her anxiety grow more. Her tail puffed and fur. "Stop- They didn't ...we... Have to make sure no one will enter the house or see us from the windows"

Adora closed the curtains and sat down, sighing softly "I know. I know but I'll say it got worse... I dont know.. I'll figure something out." She sat down, head in her hands with a soft sigh. The other woman sighed and looked up at her only to remain quiet when suddenly the door had been knocked. Her eyes opened wide and she turned around, she... Didn't know what to do. Should she open up? Should she not? She looked up at Adora just in hopes she would know. The blond looked up quickly as well, pausing for a moment before she stood up and walked over to the door. She stood just behind it, deepening her voice slightly "Who is it? I don't take kindly to strangers knocking at my door." She put on an accent as well, just to hopefully scare them off. Glimmer rolled her eyes though "Adora I know that's you." Bow didn't even get convinced, they knew her far too well to know even that voice of hers. "Adora opens up... We're not a threat.." Catra on the other hand looked at the girl and she took a deep breath. After a second of pausing she nodded, if any of them tried anything she would fight too.

She hesitated, looking at Catra for a moment before she slowly opened the door, peeking through the crack "How can I trust that. I wouldn't blame you if you were... I attacked your kingdom. I hurt a lot of your people..." She spoke softly now, still hiding behind the door.

"Adora... This was almost a year ago..... Things changed... I'm now the queen of Bright Moon and.... And I couldn't believe you died in fight. The mages are declaring war in all kingdoms to take over so .. I don't understand how you didn't get any of my letters.." Glimmer was confused and she would soon look down "I sent you that they would attack ... I thought you would fight them, not run away"

Adora hesitated, glancing at her wife, before she opened the door more "What happened to Angella...?" When she heard about the letters she paused before looking away "We weren't there. We... Went somewhere else for a few months." She crossed her arms, looking away "So we didn't get your letters." The feline avoided the question and paused for a moment "We're not here to make everyone know you're here... " She hummed but then noticed the other female as she approached the door. The feline looked up at the blond one "I'll go... Don't bring anyone inside ..." She hummed, Glimmer glaring at the woman from the beginning but now even more but she didn't speak to her. Adora looked at them for a moment before she sighed, walking over to her wife and wrapping an arm around her, kissing her forehead gently "Go check on Jack... I know you and Glimmer don't get along, I can handle this my love" She cupped her cheek for a moment with a soft smile "And I'm sure Jack is bursting with questions"

"I don't want them to know the children are here with us.. that's why I didn't say anything" She whispered and cupped her cheek before she smile nervously "I know you can handle this" She hummed and turned around, giving her a small smile before closing the door of the living room behind and walking into the room with the children, they were all having questions especially Jack who was... Actually older. "Adora.." Glimmer started when she heard the door closing from behind. The knight kissed her cheek and let her go, before she opened the door fully "Come on in... I'm sorry. I know you and Catra still don't get along." She sighed, offering them a place to sit, one of which was the chair she had finished that winter "So why are you here then." She looked up at them, sitting down in another chair. The two of them walked in and sat on the chairs, Glimmer was a bit nervous but Bow almost cheered and jumped on her "Come 'ere" He embraced the girl tightly ,he missed her so much.... Since she moved to the horde the missions and fights were different and their moments together were long gone.

"I missed you so much"

The meeting

Adora flinched at first when Bow jumped at her, though she eventually laughed softly and hugged him close, shaking her head "Wow I missed you guys..." She spoke softly, holding him just as tightly, gesturing for Glimmer to join "C'mon I know you want to Glimmer. Best friend squad?" The queen smiled at them and chuckled, embracing the girl as well "You've gotten so thin .....I can’t believe things have gotten so weird..." She admitted and tightened her embrace only to remain in silence for a while. The knight held her close, shrugging "We haven't had enough money for food for everyone. We were gonna buy some seeds at the fair and start a farm to sell... I had a few pelts and stuff to sell too." She shrugged, stepping out of the hug then "So what exactly are you guys doing here?"

"Everyone? Aren't you like.. the two of you here?" The other one was confused, obviously not up to date. She took a step back and sat down again. Bow let her go but did sit close to her. Adora paused, scratching the back of her neck "Oh right you don't know. Um... Hold on just a second." She walked away, into the kids room, looking for Catra "Hey babe. They aren't gonna hurt us, we're safe. I want to introduce them to the kids. And... I may have let slip that there's more then just us here anyway..." The feline was taking care of Mara who was now trying to walk. She looked up at her only to glare at her "No, try to fix it ,I don't care. Where are they now? Did you let them alone out of the house? Did you close the door or will they try to do anything to our home?" She was getting worried and stood up.

Adora hesitated for a moment, holding her hands gently "Baby, if she brought Bow she didn't come to hurt us. Bow could never hurt anyone he called his friend. Hell we thought we had a spy for a bit and he blamed himself and freaked out saying he can't trust his own eyes. Trust me, we're safe. I know them." She kissed the back of her hands, looking at her "They won't hurt us."

The brunette girl though wasn't so confident about it. "I said no, until we get back home they won't land a glance on them" She hissed, her tail puffed and her fur as well as she pulled her hands off her grip "You may trust them but I do not"

"If they wanted to hurt us they wouldn't have come just the two of them! I care about them as friends but you, my family comes first! They know that. I'll do anything for you. For our kids. I know it's safe. Please trust me on this... It wouldn't be just the two of them, Bow wouldn't be here if they wanted to hurt us." She practically begged now "At least Jack"

"I don't care if they're your friends or if you trust them, what do you want? Jack to end up like Lena?! I trusted you that we were safe because of the alliance with Bright Moon and look where it brought us!" Catra didn't care if she was loud in the last sentence, she was mad. Mad at Adora who was falling again for the same things, mad that she told her one thing and she started to do otherwise because she spoke to them for a minute. Jack was just listening to them but he tried to just keep the other little ones occupied so they wouldn't cry or something.

Adora froze when she mentioned Lena, just looking at her for a moment, her face falling "You really don't think I can keep our kids safe? That I'll just let them kill him, like I let them kill Lena right? You still blame me for that don't you!" She was hurt now, just looking at her for a moment before she walked away, closing the door behind her, hard."Forget about it. Are you two hungry?"

"What ?No" The feline paused but it was too late to follow her. Her eyes stared at the door, she didn't know what to do. She shouldn't let this slip. Glimmer noticed they were arguing but Bow didn't so he followed her from behind. The moment he was ready to speak though Catra walked out of the door closing it from behind. She told her to not bring anyone inside and she offered them food now? "Get out. You can find us any time in here anyway, now leave" She hissed out at the queen and the guard.

The blond was still angry, though, leading them to the kitchen, pausing for a moment when Catra came out. "Catra. They won't hurt us." She looked up at her, trying to talk calmly to her "Bow and Glimmer have both faced my back what, ten times now? And I'm still standing. They. Won't. Hurt. Us." She paused for a moment then, looking away "It's just the two of them. I could take them easily anyway. They're still my friends, Catra."

"I don't care! It's time for us to stay alone. We have to talk" She hissed, her eyes looking at Bow who was just backing slowly, rubbing the back of his neck as he looked at Glimmer "We should be going.... she's right, we didn't come to stay for long but I'll keep contact"

The warrior sighed softly, shaking her head "Fine, fine. I'll see you two later then..” Bow hugged her tightly, and she sighed softly, rubbing his back for a moment. She returned the hug, not caring what Catra said about it, before escorting them out "I'm sorry you two... I'll see you later." The feline didn't say anything till they left. She glared at her and tightened her fists "You brought them in the house? Are you seriously ignoring everything I tell you?" She couldn't believe she was doing the opposite of what she said.

"Are you ignoring me? You won't listen to me. I know they're my friends and maybe that is clouding my judgment but that also means I know them! Bow is so obvious when he has something he's worried about, and he clearly wasn't. Bow couldn't hurt me anyway, I know you're worried but you need to trust me too." The other sat down, running a hand through her hair and looking down "I know you and Glimmer don't get along. But I dont get why you can't trust me when I say they won't hurt us"

"Do you want me to count how many times I was around them and we got in trouble? Even our alliance went worse than it could ever go! We are not safe with them but you keep trusting everyone just like you did before! Queen Angella was trustworthy and you saw how it ended up!" She hissed in return and glared, she didn't like her attitude at all "And what was that back in the room!?"

Adora grit her teeth, looking away then "I practically grew up with them. I went through training with Bow and met Glimmer through him. I trust them with my life. Glimmer is Queen now, by the way." She huffed, looking away when she mentioned the room, but she wouldn't talk about it, gritting her teeth once again.

"Say congrats to her then, hope she will not be like her mother, even though I don't think she will be better" She growled but she didn't pause for long "So..tell me! What was that?! I trust you but not this time, I trusted you before and you were wrong, we all do some things wrong but I do say when I'm wrong and I don't repeat the same mistakes!"

The knight crossed her arms and looked away, closing her eyes as she listened to her. Eventually a tear fell from her eye "I get it. It's all my fault. You think I don't already know that..? They won't hurt us. I'll stand by that forever." She sighed softly, lowering her head to look at her lap then "I'm sorry. I'm sorry we lost Lena. I'm sorry we lost the castle. I'm sorry you lost your title. I get it, it's my fault. I'm sorry."

"You're an idiot..... You trust everyone even if they hurt you.. I don't want to get hurt by anyone, we lost Lena and it wasn't your fault it was both of us getting her lost. I lost everything because of my little knowledge on everything.. I let Daniella lead something she obviously couldn't do... we live here because I was pregnant and we left, else we might have fixed all this." Her words were trembling but she was still mad at her and how she took her words so wrong "I know I did many things wrong but I don't repeat them and you shouldn't either, they were your friends. Even if you trust them, keep that to yourself,don't expose everyone to them because they're your friends! I love you but hell... I don't want them around me or the children, Jack included..you can meet them whenever you want I don't care, but don't bring them to us"

The blond listened to her, shaking her head "It's not your fault. I should have been better.. Should have done better..." She sighed softly, looking up at her "During one of my missions with Bow, we were sent to a village to gather information, and Bow found an orphan boy. Bow wears his heart on his sleeve. I tried to tell him not to bother, but he insisted we take the boy with us." She paused, taking a deep breath "We woke up with the boy holding a knife to his throat. He was working for the rebellion, had been sent to kill us. Even knowing that Bow begged me not to hurt him. I knocked him out, and instead of punishing him, he gave him our money and left him there, to make his own life. He won't hurt anyone."

"You should stop being so naive...Who taught you to be so bloody naive!? Bow is with Glimmer, Glimmer doesn't like me, she never did. What makes you think she would want to help me or my children? Because of what? Because they're your children too?..I don't want such people around me or my little ones" She tightened her fists and looked up at her only to sigh in disbelief. She truly didn't trust anyone.

Adora paused when she called her naive "I'm the naive one... Right? Because I trust my friends? Glimmer doesn't like you. She doesn't hate you. And yes, actually she would. Because just like Bow she won't hurt me. I know them. I know who they are. Even if you don't trust them, I do. But I can't make you do anything."

She stood up then "I'm going for a walk." She grabbed a jacket, pulling it on "I'm going to go sell those pelts actually. I'll be back tonight."

"Go...but don't make decisions you'd make while you were alone unless you prefer to stay with these best friends of yours" She hissed, all this conversation made her mad actually and rethink about how Adora was counting others over them sometimes..or even just trusted them blindly without thinking of the consequences.

Adora paused for a moment at what she said, before she just looked away, grabbing the pelts and walking out. She kept her head high until she was out the door. She couldn't tell if she was more upset or angry. She had fucked up in the past, she knew she had, but she also knew for certain that she was right. Catra couldn't believe she was having a worse argument than when they lost Lena. Her hand fell hard on the table with a growl, she hated this feeling. She knew Adora wouldn't let go of this idea now but this also meant she wouldn't listen to her. And that's what made her crazy but she couldn't let this affect her. She prepared for them something to eat and then put them to bed as she laid in bed too.

Adora was out for a few hours, but she came back with more money, and possibly a little drunk. She came in, setting the bag of coins down from the pelts, sniffing and heading to the room. She yawned, not wanting to try and argue with her wife, just wanting to go back to bed, wishing she would cuddle her, or at least kiss her cheek without worrying about her getting angry about it. The feline's ear twitched when she heard the sound of the bag on the table ,she sat on the bed only to wait for her to come closer and make sure she was actually drunk. "Go..clean up your mouth at least..." She hummed, laying down and turning her back to her, she knew already she wouldn't remember anything from now so...she didn't bother to say anything more than that. The knight paused for a moment before nodding, stumbling off to rinse her mouth out a few times, groaning softly after, before laying down beside her. She wrapped an arm around her and pulled her close, nuzzling into her back " 'm sorry... 'M so sorry... I love you...." She slurred, managing to speak clearly for that "I owe you m' life... I'm your knight... Won't doubt you again... Love you..." The magicat sighed ,her eyes looked away and just stayed there as the other wrapped her arms around her. "You're like this only when you drink... Can't you be like this all the time..? Just think about us too, not only yourself..?" She hissed in a pouty way and looked down at her ,getting more comfortable at her side of the bed. The blond pouted softly, nuzzling further into her "I never do.. Always put you first... You 'n' the kids... That's why I eat last.. Make sure yall have 'nough to eat... I'll survive on what y'all don't.." She mumbled, nuzzling into her " 'n that's why I fight... Gotta.. Gotta make sure y'all get food.."

The woman furrowed her eyebrows only to turn around "Fight?.... I suppose you mean in general.... but that's still not my point Adora.... I do fight for you all too, but don't trust anyone... Especially when you have to see them for years .." She hummed, for a moment she thought she actually did go to these street fights to make more money but that thought quickly vanished. The other one made sure to correct her as she shook her head "Mm no I mean- I-I mean really fight.. 'M real good at it... Usually don't come home with more then a few bruises.. C'n blame them on fallin.. Or workin... Shhhhhh... Don't tell Catra though... She'll be really mad... But I gotta.. Gotta.. Gotta make sure m' family eats... Gotta keep em safe.." She mumbled, looking up at her "Oh you're Catra... Hi Catra... I love you" She said in a soft giggle and smiled at the brunette who widened her eyes. She looked down at her but she didn't know what to do. She was caught off guard, she hated that feeling but there she was feeling worse than before. "Why didn't you tell me.... I told you to not.. we were just fine with the money I brought and you could find something safe. You.." The girl took a deep breath and sat down. She didn't listen to her even then. Her hand brushed her hair, she couldn't find anything out with Adora being drunk. She stood up, cupping her cheek "It's alright... Okay? I love you" She hummed and turned towards the door to get out of the room. She needed to be alone and that meant without Adora around her either. The other pouted softly then, whining "It wasn't... Wasn't enough for food.. Never told you... You were too stressed already... Don't want you to be stressed... Not.. Not good f'r health... Don’t want you worrying... Wanna take care of you..." When she got up she whined again, trying to sit up too "Where are you going? Wanna cuddle... 'M sorry I still fight... No one'll hire me... Don’t like me... Too... Too... What’s the word... U-unfeminine? Too masculine fer a girl... Don’t like me... Had ta fight... Love you... 'M sorry... Please don't be mad..." She teared up as she watched her, but she let her go.

The girl held the door knob only for her fist to tighten and break out a sharp cry. She couldn't hold her tears this long and she knew it. "Then don't work in a feminine job. Do something if you want to help without being in danger.. you're acting like you have to do it for us when you are so careless about yourself just... Just stop acting like you are alone dammit..!" She almost yelled, her ears folded back and she looked at her "We worry for you, we want you to be happy and healthy but you act like it's your job or duty to do all this by yourself. If so, what am I here for? To cuddle and tell me that you love me or make love? You clearly don't listen to me and you set yourself in danger all the time. We don't need you to be dead, we need you to be alive and..... I want my knight back..... You would do anything for me.... Anything I would tell you to do you would but this has gone too far ....it's time for you to stop and see what we all want...I don't want plenty of money, I want us all to be healthy and alive... And to go home… have my life back" She cried but she leaned back to the door, she knew talking to her wouldn't take her far but she at least tried.

When Adora heard her cry, she pulled herself up, struggling slightly but she did it. She pulled her into a hug, swaying slightly so she leaned against the door as she held her " 'm sorry.. Feel.. Feel like I gotta... Don't want you hurt... It'd kill you t' see me hurt... You were so happy.. Knowing you were providin' for us... Couldn’t... Couldn’t tell you it wasn't enough... Couldn't hurt you...

Usually fight at night.. So ye don’t know 'n worry..." She looked at her then "Won't.. Won't die.. No one dies from cage fightin... 'Nless I fight an animal... It'd pay more... Only fight people.. So I don't die.. So I c'n stay 'round for you..." She mumbled "Don't want you hurt.."

"I don't want you to get hurt either.... ! I can do something else too, you can plant something, I ..... I can't live like this, knowing you will lie for everything to me...! You lied about the job ,you lied about your old friends. Just quit it already ..! I'd rather stay away from even you and take a break ...both of us take a break before we continue our fight together… then stay in this house and see us getting from one fight and lie to another!" She whined, crying and pulling away from her to look at her before just accepting that it wasn’t a good moment to talk about this. "You're.. you're drunk ..... I'll just go to the kitchen okay..... Please fall asleep.... We can..we can talk tomorrow..”

The woman, though, looked at her for a moment, tearing up still, mumbling "I lie because I don't want you hurt... This life has already hurt you enough.... 'M trying to protect you from this as much as I can... I'm your knight... And your wife... That’s what I'm here for..." She mumbled again, letting her pull away though she was crying softly. She kept her voice steady "I'm sorry. I'm sorry I hurt you with this... I’m sorry I'm drunk... I’m sorry I won't listen to you... I've been such a bad wife... I’m so sorry... Please don't leave me... I can't lose you too..."

The feline sobbed roughly and she looked up at her "I'm not leaving you.... But I .. I can't be here with you doing whatever you want just because you think you know how to protect us... Adora please ... At least ..let's talk about this tomorrow... Okay? It's late... The children are sleeping.. I'm sleepy....and you are drunk..." She spoke after a long pause and looked up at her. "I love you.... That's why I'm trying to control the situation... I'm trying to protect you but you never cared about yourself...only about proving to others you’re worthy.... I know that already...just...quit trying to prove yourself and start taking care of yourself.." She hummed but coughed, her cold didn't pass and with the arguments today she got her fever raise again. Her eyes looked away and took some steps to the hall. "I go to the kitchen....."

"I-I can’t stop..I-I don't know how to stop.. I-If I’m not-.. I-If I’m not I feel worthless and lazy even if I know I'm not.. why-.. why do you think I was always training or- or working out, or reading and learning how to lead people properly I can't-... I can't sit still and just- just stop. It drives me crazy if I do!" By this point she seemed sober, offering her hands but she didn't grab them "I swear to you... on my word to you as your knight... I will tell you everything. Everything I do... I’ll.. I'll let you take care of me... even if there are a few things I won't budge on, I will listen to you, and at least think about what you have to say before I make a decision.." She knelt in front of her, kissing the back of her hand "I swear it. Now please... come to bed. I can take the kitchen, you're sick." She looked up at her "and this is one thing I won't budge on. If you don't want to share a room right now, then you get the bed, because you're sick and need proper rest."

The feline shook her head ,one hand slipped from her hands to wipe her tears and she looked down at her."We will find you something better to do then..... I'll find something else other than fighting and getting hurt..." She hummed ,looking away and letting out a shaky exhale. "I ..... I can't...lose you either… I never left the bed even if we argued ..... Why do that now... I need a cup of water...that's all.." She tried to not sob more and calm down now. Adora hesitated before she stood up, kissing the top of her head "I won't die by fighting... it's only whoever draws first blood, or gets the other to submit first. I promise, I don't ever put myself in fights I know I could get seriously injured in. I wouldn't do that to you, or the kids. Or myself..." She cupped her cheek, gently wiping her tears away "...and I swear I will look for a real job. But until I do please... you can come see, you can watch and make sure I'm telling you the truth about the fights I'm in. It's only first blood, and everyone here is a terrible fighter. I might be able to find a job in teaching them to fight if it wouldn't draw so much attention to me"

"..... I don't know .... You should search for another job... I will find you something... But for now I'm tired.." She hummed ,guiding herself to the kitchen to drink and return, her fever got her cheeks blushed, she felt dizzy but she was sure it wasn't something important. "Good..night" She whispered and laid down. The blue eyed girl waited for her in the bed, laying down when she did and she ran her fingers through her hair "I'm searching, my love. But until then we need the money I bring in... but as soon as I've found a job I'll stop the fighting, okay? I swear. If you need to check my body for bruises every day for a while I'd understand.. just... let me keep this, only until I find a job, or get another steady income, like the pelts or selling plants and whatever else I can harvest in the forest." She kissed her forehead then, pulling her closer "I'm sorry... I'm sorry I make you worry so much... and I'm sorry I kept the truth from you. I won't do that again... I'm.. also sorry for misunderstanding you... I.. thought you were blaming me..." She spoke softly, running her fingers through her hair "but, it's late. Let's get some rest, okay, my love? You need it. I'll be right here in the morning, I'm not going anywhere. Once you're up I'll go look for a job"

"......mhm .... Fine... I will check for bruises...but now we sleep.." She was tired too ,she laid down with the blanket on top of them. Adora spooned the feline and she enjoyed the bed till she fell asleep. Late in the night though Adora could feel the other one trembling, the fever had grown during the night and caused a trembling on her body. The feline didn't want to wake her up, believing that just by waiting the fever would go away. The warrior held her closer, pressing against her as they slept, her face hidden in her neck though she woke up when she felt her trembling. She was confused at first. She sat up slightly, kissing her forehead and looking down when she felt how warm it was "baby? Hey, love what's wrong, you're really hot... shit, is the cold back?" Her forehead was burning,her body felt too cold and she nodded, tensing up under the blanket. "I .. I think so.....am I warm?" She hummed, feeling the warmth of her eyes this time every time she closed them. The blond woman nodded, standing up "Alright baby stay there, I'll be right back, okay?" she got up, wetting a rag for her and walking back in, making sure it wouldn't drip before setting it there on her forehead "there, that should help cool you down... here let me get you some more water to drink, okay? you need to drink a lot of water, are you hungry?"

The girl shivered and trembled more ,trying to calm down while feeling herself getting more cold by the rag. She shook her head at her question and she closed her eyes. "I'm not ... I just want some water... That's all.." She mumbled and looked up at her. She didn't like to feel like this... She was so weak. Adora nodded, grabbing her cup and heading out, filling it up as much as she could without spilling it. She set it down beside her "here you are baby, is there anything else you need?" she sat by her then, gently setting a hand on her knee, though when she went to sit up so she could drink she helped her gently.

"Mh....no I'm fine... Thank you ..." She whispered and took a sip from her drink. Catra was worried about her health, she grew worse in a day and ..she couldn't just ignore it. They had no doctor to take care of her there. "Thanks .." She whispered and looked up at her only to lean close to her. She rested her head on her shoulder and remained there in silence. Adora wrapped her arm around her when she leaned closer, putting a hand on her head, trying to use She-ra to heal her, to help her feel better. She hoped that maybe this time her healing would work, that she could make her wife feel better. She kissed the top of her head, speaking softly "You need to get some rest if you're sick my love.. finish that drink and I'll refill it in case you wake up again tonight, okay? Don't be afraid to wake me up if you need anything"

The trembling slowly stopped as the woman's healing did work and she looked up at her only to hesitate for a second. "Why.... Why can't you heal like this everyone else.... " She hummed, she had seen her being able to heal her but Daniella never got healed.. Lena either. Jack had some progress but still. Catra swallowed thickly and looked away. "I'll.. try to sleep.... Thanks" She couldn't blame her for that. She was only curious and.. sad that she made her feel better but she couldn't heal anyone.Adora, on the other hand, shook her head "I-.. I don't know... I don't know how it works.. I just.. I just do it... and.. sometimes it works stronger then other times... sometimes it just doesn't work..." she sighed softly, but she let her lay down, laying down beside her, kissing her cheek and pulling her closer "you don't need to thank me... I'm your knight, it's what I do"

Catra didn't say anything but nodded ,she knew this topic was soft and...none of them was happy to talk about. There were times where Adora was just undefeatable and some others that she couldn't heal a hit. She closed her eyes , looking down and letting out a sigh. "I'm tired..." she hummed but slowly her eyes closed and body fell numb on hers. The other woman nodded, just cradling her close "I know my love it's okay... just get some sleep I'm right here." she kissed her forehead and rubbed her back, listening to her breath, staying awake for a bit longer, mumbling "I can't lose you.... c'mon baby... you can fight this off.." She hugged her close, eventually though she drifted off, holding her protectively in her arms.

The feline didn't wake up again during that night, she woke up only by the sunrise and that was due to a nightmare she had. She felt her arms still wrapped around her and stood up and checked in the children that they were thankfully asleep in their room. Hand brushed her hair and she took a deep breath to calm down. Adora woke up not long after she got out of bed, waddling after her, still tired but she wouldn't say anything. She walked up behind her to nuzzle into her neck and hold her close "hey... the kids are okay I promise. How are you feeling, my love? Are you feeling better? I can make you breakfast.." she kissed her shoulder, still hugging her close.

The girl tilted her head to the side. She touched her hand and enjoyed the kiss on her shoulder just like she always did. Her shoulders were sensitive and the feeling of her lips on them made her feel good. "No.... Go back to bed... I mean, I'm right here okay..?" She hummed, walking beside her now and sitting down to lay down in bed. "We need sleep.." She continued and laid down with her by her side. The blond nuzzled into her neck as they stood there, and nodded. She let her go only long enough to get to the bed, laying down and pulling her close "only if you promise to rest too... I'm sleepy but you need rest... I don't think I completely healed you.. probably just took the worst of it..." She mumbled, holding her closer as she nuzzled into her, yawning softly. Healing her last night seemed to have knocked a lot outta her.

"you healed me.... The fever is gone.... So..." The woman hummed, leaning close, kissing her lips and wrapping her arms around her. She nuzzled close to her and purred. "I will rest... You too..." She leaned close to her and yawned softly. The warrior nodded and pulled her close, yawning again and smiling softly as she nuzzled into her "good... you deserve it... I love you... 'n I'm sorry.." she mumbled, talking about the argument last night, still feeling bad about it "goodnight.. or morning.. I think it's morning.."

"hush.... Don't apologize..... I was wrong at some point too.." She was right, she knew she said things that sounded wrong and ...meaner than she expected. Her eyes looked up at her, laying her head on top of her chest "Let's sleep ... I'll have to prepare breakfast too ..." She whispered and leaned close to her.

She shook her head "I'm gonna get it this morning, okay..? Then I can go out and find a job while you rest and spend time with the kids... or come with if you'd rather... I'm not too picky... but for now sleep... 'm tired.." she yawned, nuzzling into her.

"okay..... We will see, my love" She hummed and closed her eyes, falling asleep not too many minutes later. She remained quiet and slept till the sun brought more and more light into their house. It was early and Adora didn't wake up yet so she smiled ,peppering the woman with love and kisses on her lips and neck all the way to her clavicle. If she didn't wake up she would stand up to go prepare something to eat. The other’s breath evening out and slowed as she fell back asleep. Feeling the barrage of kisses on her body woke her up, smiling softly as she slowly opened her eyes, mumbling "Good morning, my love"

"Morning my darling ...." She looked up at her only to smile and nibble on her skin, kissing her and making her skin turn to pink and red before kissing her "I love you..." She whispered, making the other blush and giggle softly, letting her mark her before she leaned down and kissed her gently, smiling as she gently held her chin "I love you more, my queen." She rubbed her cheek with her thumb, giving her a few more slow, gentle kisses before mumbling "I need to get up so I can search for a job, baby"

"Yeah I know.... But you'll wait ,I'll bring something to eat first... " She hummed and kissed her lips before she leaned up and chuckled. Catra guided herself to the kitchen where she cooked eggs real quick so she would bring them to her in bed "I don't have anything better for now but this should be fine ~" She smiled and leaned close to her only to give her the plate.

The blond yawned softly and sat up "Mm baby you don't have to... Do that." She was already gone though and she shook her head, chuckling softly. When she came back in she smiled softly, having her sit down too, insisting that they share "We should start raising chickens"

“Yeah.... But we will need small ones..... Eggs are actually pricey ..." She hummed and looked down at the plate before she smiled at her "Don't worry I've got plenty for all of us..."

The other nodded "Yeah... There are ways to tell which eggs are fertilized and will produce babies though. And we can always buy chicks and let them grow up into adults. It's spring,it's the perfect time to get them. And we only need a few so we have eggs" She hummed softly, hesitating when she said she got enough "Are you sure? I don't mind sharing"

"Hm... Now that you will go out then we should look for it too ..." Catra leaned against the bed and shook her head at the question of hers. Her eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips. "I'm sure, I've bought plenty for today " Adora hesitated before nodding, finishing up everything on the plate, setting it aside and leaning against her "I'll make sure to look for some chickens too... Maybe make sure we get a rooster or two so we don't have to buy more if ours die. Shit I'm gonna need to make them a coop.. That shouldn't be too hard.."

"I suppose it's not...ah I'll go prepare breakfast for the children too then... I'll get ready, you nuzzle in these pillows" The brunette chuckled and leaned close to her to place a small kiss on her lips and leave. Her eyes looked up at her and took a small step to walk out if she did let her. The warrior kissed her back, cupping her cheek "You're acting like I'm the sick one... C'mon, I'll get the kids up and dressed while you get breakfast ready." She kissed her again before she got up, smiling gently "I love you.. And thank you for helping me. I.. I Needed someone to get me to slow down, I guess."

"You really did..... Just please don't push yourself so much again....and no lies..." The magicat hissed. Her eyes looked at her and then back at the door, opening and going inside to prepare the breakfast. Jack was sleeping at the moment, Jackson and the rest were as well while being wrapped by the blankets. "No more lies. I promise." The other let her go get breakfast ready, pausing for a moment before she walked away to wake up the kids, waking Jack up first "C'mon buddy, rise n shine. Mom is making breakfast" She smiled, gently shaking him awake.

The boy nuzzled on his pillow ,he didn't really want to get off bed but...since he had to... He leaned close to her ,purring almost as he wrapped his arm around her arm "Nn..o I want to stay in bed today..." He admitted and leaned close to her only to nuzzle more on her. She giggled softly, just scooping him up "C'mon buddy, she's making eggs this morning"She carried him out, kissing his forehead and giggling "Jaaaaaaack"

"mooooooooooom" He whined when she scooped him up but clinged on her, nuzzling his face on her chest and neck "I'm sleepy ,it's too early!" He puffed and whined, Catra heard the whines and only made her chuckle and roll back her eyes. Adora giggled softly and carried him to the table "I know buddy,but we have a lot to do today. How do you feel about us getting some chickens to raise?" She smiled, setting him down in the chair and kneeling beside him.

"chickens?..... Why?" The boy leaned against the table, placing his head on his hand while forcing it to stay up. His hand rubbed his eyes sleepily. "We need eggs, Jack ... So we will need chickens" Catra hummed getting his eggs ready as he yawned. The blond giggled softly "Yup! And once we have enough we can kill them and eat, sell or preserve the meat. You can help me take care of them, gathering eggs every morning." She smiled softly, standing up again and kissing the top of his head before heading to get the three little ones, having made little kiddie seats for the three of them. The other girl continued to talk while she was turned away. She really liked the fact Adora was so excited or seemed to be about the whole thing. Mara yawned but she did sleep a little while in Adora's embrace ,the other two were awake even if they wanted to lay in bed for more. Good thing they had their meals ready. The last one sat the two down, but she let Mara sleep for a little bit longer in her arms, smiling softly as she held her, before she kissed her forehead, waking her gently and sitting her down "c'mon little one, it's breakfast time, we got eggs" She smiled, before standing up, kissing Catra's cheek "I'm gonna go get dressed really quick, okay, my love? I'll be right back"

The little girl opened her eyes slowly at the kiss but she cheered at the breakfast. Adora was happy and the way she spoke made them excited about their breakfast too. Catra helped the three little ones to eat while Jack would finish his food and stand up. "I'm going to get dressed too" The boy hummed and yawned once again. Catra nodded, waiting for them to get ready so she would just feed the children and hold one by one to her embrace to put them down.Adora smiled, kissing each of the kids head, before kissing her wife's cheek and walking to the room. She got dressed for the day in her usual tunic and pants, walking out again and humming softly. "Alright, Jack, do you want to come to the market with me? You can choose the chickens we buy, and help me get a place ready for them, and maybe some food we can grow here at home?" She hummed, helping Catra with the little ones while she spoke to Jack.

"Sure, will mom come too?" The boy asked though as he paused to look at the girl who was just playing with the other children. She would come but for now she was occupied as it seemed "All the chickens are the same though..."

"she will, I thought we would make it like... I dunno, a fun family outing" The knight hummed, raising an eyebrow "...and not all chickens are the same! There are some that have feathers on their feet, some who are tiny even as adults and some who are gigantic! Some with amazing colors." She giggled softly, shaking her head "you'll see, don't worry"

Jack chuckled, shaking his head at her reaction "You're really excited about finding a chicken?" The boy chuckled and stood up to lean on the wall. Catra would soon stand up as well and walk up to them "Adora.. I'll go dress up, have your eyes on the children, okay?" She spoke and gave her a small smile before leaving. Daniel was slowly approaching the woman and wrapped a tail around her leg,or tried to. Adora giggled softly and nodded "I am, chickens are cool. Animals in general are cool, but I really like chickens" She shrugged, picking up Daniel and smiling softly "Hey buddy" She smiled, rubbing his back and kept an eye on the other kids "still sleepy huh?"

"mhm... " He hummed but he didn't sleep on her unlike someone else, he just embraced her with his small hands and nuzzled close to her. "Mommy" He managed to speak as Jack stood up to lean down to take Mara in his hands "Soo we're taking them too? They will play with all the chickens.."

The other woman smiled and rubbed his back, letting him rest on her, nodding "yeah they're gonna come with, they aren't old enough to stay home alone, and you and Catra are both coming with, so we'll be bringing them with." She rocked Daniel then, humming softly "and it's okay if they do, I'll watch and make sure they're gentle with them. As long as they stay away from the roosters they'll be fine. The roosters sometimes will get aggressive"

"Alright now~" Catra stepped out of the room only to see the small Daniel wrapped around the woman's arm and chuckled "They love you,I have to say" She smiled brightly but picked the two boys up so she could leave with them. "Do you want to take Mara?"

Adora giggled and nodded, picking up Mara as well "It would seem so. Little kids have always loved me" she hummed, kissing her cheek gently and smiling gently "c'mon, let's go pick out some chickens. and see if there's any place hiring"

"I'm sure they'll be hiring beautiful knights like you~" The feline smiled and leaned close while walking, obviously they showed they were a big family. Most people around there were poor and kids were just one or two to not starve. Seeing four children was a surprise. Catra looked around the place while walking into the village. Several people were selling their goods while others were either trying to steal or succeeding in doing so.

Adora blushed and giggled softly, smiling and kissing her before they headed out. She knew seeing four kids was rare, but she couldn't help but to be proud of her large family, she loved all of them, no matter what. She guided them around the market, taking them to a few places she had hoped to work, but, being turned down by every one she sighed softly, just taking them to the chicken coop in the market, where she knew there would be some for sale "alright Jack, pick out a few hens, and we'll need a rooster too. Do you know how to tell the difference?"

"..ah....no-?" The boy was confused, it wasn't that he had seen a rooster and hens face to face. Neither he needed this information back in the Horde. Catra could see that she didn't get hired anywhere and only shook her head. She couldn't get defeated like this ,nor let her continue to fight to get money.She would find somewhere that needed help and she wouldn't leave without her finding a normal safe job. "Why don't you ask the man who sells the chicken? It's almost summer as you said so ...you'll have work to do "

The warrior smiled softly and asked the man if he could handle the chickens to show her son. When he agreed she walked in, walking in and, after a bit of chasing, managed to grab a hen. She wrapped her hands around the body and held the wings against it so it wouldn't fight, showing her son "You see her head? There isn't much in the way of anything special on it or her feet, but-" She let the hen go back in the pen and grabbed a rooster "The roosters have the red things on their chin, as well as claws, that we call spurs, on their feet! It's what they use to attack and defend their flock. Do you want to pet him?"

During that tour the children were all hanging on Adora's words so Catra found some time to slide away and go talk to the man. She didn't want Adora to see her anyway so she just told the man how much they needed a job and asked him if he had something for her wife to help with. The old man did need help with the chicken, the money wasn't as good as in the fights but she couldn't find something better Jack did choose a chicken for him to take care of and smiled at his mom "Where do I put it?" He didn't know if he would have to give it to the man or not Adora smiled, kneeling down to teach them how to hold them after he had chosen one of the chickens.” Both by holding its body and by keeping the wings pinned under your hands against its body, or by holding it upside down by the legs, letting it just dangle”. She also let each of the little ones pick one, all of which she had managed to grab, before nodding to him "..this will be enough, or at least all we can afford for now. we can always come back and get more so we have some diversity in the flock, but this works to get us started." She smiled, nodding at Jack, making sure the little ones were close as she carried the chickens over "We'd like to buy these chickens sir, do you have a cage or something we can set them in until we have a coop set up? This was... kinda a last minute decision"

The man chuckled and placed a cage on top of the short table he had. "You should be careful, they bite sometimes." He pointed at one who was trying to bite her. "Your lady told me you're searching for a job, do you have something in mind?"

The woman chuckled softly at the one that was trying to bite her, managing to evade the bite and put it in the cage instead, getting all of them in there and closing it up. She looked up though when he had asked about the job pausing for a moment before shaking her head "No. Well, at first yes, but at this point I'm just looking for someone that will hire me. Most don’t want me because I'm either to masculine for a girl, or.. well. They just don't want to hire me. I'm a little clumsy sometimes" She shrugged, looking up then "I'm guessing she asked you if you would hire me? I looked at a few other places and they all turned me down"

"You don't have to be feminine to take care of chicken" He hummed and chuckled while giving some food for the chicken. "I want a hand to help me with them so ... Do you want to?" He perked an eyebrow, offering the cage for her to take.

The blond paused for a moment at his offer, glancing at Catra before nodding "of course sir, I can do anything you need, gather eggs, slaughter for meat, anything you need. Thank you so much... When do I start?" She smiled, taking the cage and holding it by her side "This means a lot, really. Thank you" Catra smiled at his words that meant she wouldn't have to fight for them to not starve. "Tomorrow, I've done the work for today, I will show you where to take care of them" He spoke as the feline was holding the children to not run around or play since they would have to leave.

Adora nodded again "Thank you again sir. I'll be here tomorrow morning." She smiled and held the cage, walking back over to her wife then "you sly woman... Thank you. How much does he pay? More or less?" The feline giggled at first but her ears fell back at the payment "It's less... But we will be just fine, and you will be safe.... Which is better than having more money with you getting hurt.." She hummed and avoided to look at her "I saw you liked the chickens a lot so I had to ask him"

Adora nodded "I'll work for him until I can find a better paying job then. Maybe the lumber mill would hire me..." She shrugged, walking back to the house with her "You know how good of a fighter I am though, I wasn't in any real danger, other then maybe getting some scrapes"

"Stop talking like you don't get hurt, Adora...You have to relax too..." Catra hummed but let out a soft cough, her cold was still lurking but she didn't want to point that out, she was already feeling better.. "I'll go make tea..want a cup?" She spoke as soon as they got home. The blonde sighed softly, but knew better than to argue about this. Though when she offered tea she shook her head "Let me make it my love. You sit down. I need to work on the chicken coop after though, okay?" She kissed her forehead then "I want this cold gone, okay my love?”

"ahm... Fine ..It's not like I keep it on me... it just doesn't go away.." She huffed and sat on the table while the children were walking into their room. She looked up at her only to lean close to the table and sigh "Don't overdo it today.... I hope my boss won't kick me out actually.."

“I know baby, but I want you to heal. Constantly getting up and working won't help that." She looked at her for a moment, getting started on making the tea "He won't. Peasants get sick all the time. Hell if need be I'll offer to cover your shifts until you aren't sick and can go back in"

The queen looked up at her and glared for a moment "Don't compare us to peasants... Even if we live like them because of these mages..." She hissed and looked down at her table before looking at her and taking a small breath. Her fingers tapped on the table. She was still mad at the way they had to live because of them. Adora paused for a moment, looking at her "Even if you won't admit it, right now we are. All of those people in the village see us as just another family of peasants. You cannot deny that. We look, live and act like peasants." She paused, sighing softly "It's not bad to be a peasant. You know that right? Look at how much fun we've had."

"no....now will you close your mouth?" She hissed, Catra couldn't and wouldn't accept that. She was above them all, they all were above these villagers. She leaned and looked away only to take a small sip off her drink."I don't want it to stay like this and others to think we are peasants when we are not" She hummed.

"I never said we would stay like this. I said that right now we are. Whether you can admit it or not." She paused, before sighing softly "I don't want to fight with you. Not again.. And not so soon. You don't deserve that. Or this..."

"But you do continue it" The other continued and hissed but tried to not pay much attention to her words anymore, especially if they were about her being a peasant. Her eyes looked at the table but suddenly the door got knocked. Adora grit her teeth, planning on dropping it, though they were interrupted and she paused. She glanced at her for a moment before taking a deep breath, walking over to the door. She opened it up just a small bit, peeking out through it "Yes? Who is it?"

Glimmer and Bow were back this time, she wasn't sure if Catra was around again but Glimmer mostly wanted to talk to her. "Uh..hey there, I just wanted to talk to you..since last time we didn't" The blond hesitated before nodding, looking back at Catra ``its Glimmer and Bow, I'll be right back babe. I love you" She gave her a slight smile, though she knew her wife would still be upset due to the argument, so instead of inviting them in she stepped out with them "what's going on?"

"I've talked with all the princesses and queens..the mages are declaring war on every kingdom after the Horde's. We've plenty of Kingdoms fighting them, the war will be victorious and I'm sure of it.." The girl spoke quickly and looked up at her only to hold her hand "Tell me you will join too, if we win ,the Horde will be yours to rule again and you know it. We have to recruit the army though and that's why we're here. You and Catra can live in the Bright Moon's ground if you want, actually between the nobles not like this" She looked at the house she made and looked back at her. Adora paused for a moment, giving her a soft smile and squeezing her hand gently "I would love to, Glimmer, but.. I don't know if Catra trusts you enough and I can't lose her. I'll.. I'll try and convince her, though. Just-... wait out here for a moment I'll go get her okay? It's nice seeing you two again, I missed you." She smiled gently, and Bow couldn't help but hug her before she headed inside "Hey, baby so um. They come with news... apparently the mages that attacked us are... well turning on literally everyone. Glimmer says that... if we help them and join the fight she'll give us the Fright Zone when we win. that we can stay in Brightmoon again, rather then here. I know you hate living like this.."

The feline twitched her ears, she didn't know how she was approaching them all of sudden. She knew she was Adora's friend but..she didn't like her and the feelings were mutual. She brushed her hair back and gave her a small shrug "I don't like it here but we live with people we love and they love us, not hate us" She shrugged and looked at her "What would you do? Yes, it's tempting to live like before but I'm worried about the consequences.."

Adora paused for a moment then, looking away before shaking her head "I want the best life for us. For our kids... it's.. hard to make a choice, you know? Choose to stay here and risk... well risk them living like this for the rest of their lives or worse, or... take the chance and... pray that it works out." She ran a hand through her hair, sighing softly "but... I know this is predictable of me but.. I say we take them up on their offer... which means letting them meet the kids"

The magicat took a small breath and tapped her finger on the wood. She took a sip of her tea. "They won't go near them.... I'm just saying... You'll be the one guarding the children .... We will have side rooms for us and the children so you can guard them.." She began to lean against the table only to stand up."Only then we will go there…" The other one hesitated before nodding "I'll bring the children out so they can meet them..." She walked over to the kids' room, putting on a smile "hey, you guys wanna meet some old friends of mine?" Even though Catra was hesitant too, she leaned, nodded and stood up, following her from behind. "When will we leave ?" She hummed as Jack furrowed his eyebrows "Are they the ones mom said not to meet them?"

Adora paused for a moment before shrugging "I don't know when we'll go. I'll talk to them more about it" Adora nodded to Jack then "....they might help us get our old life back. They don't know anything about you kids that's why Catra said not to meet them.. but, if we're going to be living in brightmoon, they'll find out about you kids eventually"

"I...see... Well .... I can take Jackson since he doesn't walk properly yet" He breathed out and fixed his pants only to pick Jackson up. Catra picked up the other boy only to let Mara cling on Adora ``Let's go to them I bet she won't like my presence but she'll have to get used to it" The other one nodded and picked up Mara, smiling softly at her for a moment and kissing her forehead before she walked out. By poking her head out the door she kept the child hidden for now she spoke to them "we uh... we have a few people who will have to come with us." she glanced at Catra, before she opened the door, walking out with Mara, letting Jack and Catra come out behind her.

The queen furrowed her eyebrows first but then widened her eyes in surprise. Her eyes looked up at her but at the same time Bow almost cheered, finding the small ones too cute and was ready to approach only for Catra to actually show teeth and hiss, and he stepped back "You.... How..when-.... Wow" Glimmer hummed. Adora put a hand on Catra's arm to soothe her, chuckling softly "Jack was twins with.. well the daughter we lost. These three came after of course." She looked down at Mara then, smiling "...show them how old you are, hold up your hand and show them"

The little girl nodded and thought about it a little only to look at the two fingers she raised ,though she was one year and some months old. Catra on the other hand furrowed her eyebrows at the chuckle of her wife's. She knew this would go weird already.. Glimmer smiled a little "I didn't expect it" The warrior giggled softly, reaching up to put one finger down "almost baby, good job" She smiled, kissing her forehead, glancing at her wife for a minute, keeping her hand on her arm, rubbing it gently "really? Why do you say that huh?" Bow meanwhile was just busy squealing over the little ones, hesitating before he reached a hand out slowly, more of an offer to the kid than anything. He didn't have his armor on, just a nice tunic and slacks instead, hoping that would show them, or at least Catra, that they really didn't mean any harm. Catra was still suspicious but she didn't say anything, Glimmer shrugged and looked up at her. "I don't know, I just didn't expect you to have children so..early or.... Uh ....so many" She hummed and leaned back, clearly being amazed at how they had four babies.

Adora shrugged "we weren't planning on it, but we had triplets." Adora watched Bow, more so Catra would feel like she was still being careful, now offering his hand to Mara, smiling softly and shaking her hand "it's nice to meet you, what's your name?" he giggled "oh you're so cuuutee..."

"I'm.. I'm Mara !...." The girl smiled and placed her hands back only to hold his thumb. She was smaller and the other two boys were as well. Jack looked up at him and gave him a small smile.

Catra looked at the man and Adora sometimes so she could see if she was paying attention to them. "Wow I see... Well... So ... You'll come with us. We will need a carriage so I'll send the letter today. It's good to go as soon as possible" The woman paused for a moment before nodding "I was just hired today... well it'll take a few days for the letter to get there, and the carriage to get here. So I'll keep working until it does. but thank you, both of you." Bow smiled, bending over and played with Mara "Hey Mara! my name is Bow, it's nice to meet you!"The girl smiled at him, probably finding another friend. Jack introduced himself with the names of the other two and the feline took a small step back before she looked away. "Come on.. the food will be ready in some minutes I bet none of you want to miss the chicken" She spoke to the children so they could follow her inside. She wouldn't say anything about all this ,after all she agreed to talk to Adora only and just nod or something to the others. Low-key she hated that she had to go there but she couldn't do anything else... For the children to be raised properly she would have to at least keep some manners for them. Adora looked at her wife for a moment, before she sighed softly and set Mara down close to the door so she could waddle inside, or at least stand up while she hugged Bow and Glimmer "Thank you both for doing this. I'm sorry about Catra, I'll do my best to help calm her. I'm so glad you guys are here" She hugged them tightly for a bit before she let them go, scooping Mara up with a smile "c'mon baby, let's go eat!" As she said that she said her goodbyes to Bow and Glimmer as they left for their inn.

"They're just so...." Glimmer spoke, not knowing the exact word to tell. She was confused ,happy and excited to have Adora around, yet she wasn't happy to have the Horde princess. Bow sighed softly "I don't blame Catra for not trusting us. You can't say you wouldn't be that way too after what they've been through together. They've had... a lot of horrible, horrible things happen to them. I can't blame them for expecting more. Lets just take this slow and be gentle with her, alright? Adora thinks you don't like her, but I know it's not that. You see her as family dont you, like your mom? or.. well sister I guess would be a better description. I know you don't have siblings.”

"what no....Bow!... She's from the Horde... They killed my dad, do you think I'll like her so easily? She did nothing for me ,she is mean and rude and she declared war on our kingdom, I bet Adora just does whatever Catra is telling her.... And that pisses me off.. " Glimmer whined and tightened her fists. "She left BrightMoon to serve her.... She does whatever Catra says, as if we don't know Adora wants to help or.. how she acts when she loves someone... If she's still in love with her we won't be able to tell her anything without Catra knowing..." Glimmer was clearly mad at all this but she tried to keep a low tone.

Bow shook his head "and you thought that your mom was mean, overbearing, annoying, and a coward. Remember? You seem to.. well, act like you hate those you care about. Catra.... Well, is a good person. Where you come from doesn’t define who you are. Look at Adora, she started as a peasant remember?" He sighed softly once again "She really does love her you know. She'd go through hell and back for her a thousand times over. We both know it."

"I know she would... And that's stupid.. How could she risk so much and live like this again because of her...." Glimmer shook her head, low-key denying she liked the feline though she did cross her arms protectively "I don't think she's a good person... Even after all the things in our palace ,she might be manipulative just like Shadow Weaver.. which will happen.. keep a close eye on her" Bow chuckled softly, shaking his head "it's not all that bad living like this you know. They seem to be doing pretty well for themselves actually. I wouldn't mind living in a house like theirs, it's actually really nice" He paused, looking at her before shaking his head "I don't think so. If she was planning something it would have happened a long time ago. They have kids, and are married. I'm pretty sure this isn't just a scheme. Adora will be fine" The sorceress huffed for a moment and shrugged "Promise me you'll watch her moves though...I'm not bringing an enemy in my house without anyone to protect me or you..." She hummed and followed the man towards their hotel for now. Bow sighed softly but nodded "fine, fine. Though I think Adora's in the same boat as I am, you know. You saw how she was watching me when I was playing with Mara. And how Catra hissed? Adora only watched because Catra wouldn't like it if she didn't." he chuckled. "I know...that's why I'm saying that she does whatever Catra wants .... Adora would tell us that they have kids..unless Catra didn't want her to do so.." Even though Bow didn't think of that this way she did and it made sense why they argued last time. The man nodded, sighing softly "you have a point... but Adora lives to please. If she loves Catra she'll do whatever she can to make her happy, even at her own expense. Though there's only so far she'll go, she's also really stubborn"

"I know..... I want to kick her every time she's so stubborn..... I hate it."She huffed but rolled her eyes. "We have to at least hurry with the carriage .... Maybe we can bring her back to her senses and not the ... lovestruck self of hers" Bow chuckled softly and shook his head "we both know that's not happening, Glimmer. They've been through too much together I don't think they'll let each other go any time soon" Glimmer knew this wouldn't get anywhere, she didn't know what to do though "What would you suggest?... You can have a day with Adora! Like the old days, maybe that would help?"

"won’t work, and Catra most likely doesn't trust it enough to let it happen anyway. Though Adora might go anyway, it still won’t convince her to leave. If anything she might just worry about Catra the entire time"
“Hey...she has to stop thinking about her so much anyway! .... we'll do it to help, okay?" Glimmer hummed ,happy at the plan she made. Bow looked at her for a moment, doubting it would work but he shrugged, sighing softly

"I really don't think we should... but alright"

Horsey

Catra was already setting the table and letting them start eating earlier if they wished. Adora nodded and sighed softly. Catra looked back at her wife, "They didn't change much." She hummed and looked back at the food while the other two began to leave. Adora just nodded, eating her food slowly, trying to take her time with it. She had dished up the kids first, of course, always saving herself for last, though this time she knew she had plenty on her plate to go to bed with a full stomach "They haven't been through as much as we have. I'm not surprised they haven't changed much"

"Not even Bow? Didn't he fight at all...?War changes people" Catra hummed and took some bites of her food. Adora shook her head "no, as far as I know, at least in the war we waged against them, I never saw him once on the battlefield. I didn't get any reports of him either" Catra on the other hand chuckled and shrugged as she leaned close to her to cup her cheek "Only I have the bravest warrior as my wife as it seems~" She smirked and kissed her lip. Adora grinned at that, holding her chin for a moment to kiss her back "your loyal knight, my queen" Catra felt her heart skip, she loved how cute she was all cheered up. A smile formed on her lips and she kissed her lips only to purr "My sweet royal knight " She whispered and tried too hard to not jump in her embrace to make out ,the kids were there and she couldn't do that obviously. Mara though finished with the food and soon walked off with Jackson yet Daniel and Jack were still eating. Adora blushed softly and smiled, glad she was sitting with her lap under the table and hidden now, caressing her wife's cheek for a moment before she sat straight again, putting a hand on her thigh under the table, not doing anything other then just letting it sit there "it's a pretty late dinner, so as soon as you two are done, Jack can you get them to bed while me and Catra take care of dishes?" and probably more, not that she would add that of course. Catra hid her faint blush when she felt that hand on her thigh, she did touch that hand with hers while she was looking at her and gave her a small smile. "Of course.. I'm almost done-" The boy hummed, taking the last bite and picking Daniel up,mostly because he was afraid Catra would tell him to wash the dishes - even though she only said it once when she was sick to do so. The boy walked quickly inside the room and put the boy to his bed before changing into something more comfortable. Catra though stood up, teasingly purring and tail wrapped and crawled away from the woman's wrist. "You have a good way to make children leave ~" Adora nodded, waiting for him to go before she looked up as Catra stood up, but she stayed sitting with a soft blush, her lap still hidden under the table she cleared her throat softly, turning her hand to gently run her fingers through the fur on her tail as she pulled away "I have my ways... sometimes..."

"hm ..~Most of the time I've got to admit... You're so cute with the children" She continued and held the plates to clean them up. Lowkey, she knew why Adora wasn't standing up though. "Won't you help me with the dishes as you said to Jack?" She hummed ,back bending almost to count on her elbows on the counter of the kitchen acting like she was tired already. "I need some rest. Will you help and go to bed?" Adora hesitated before nodding, shifting slightly as she used her hands to adjust her pants, trying to hide the bulge as she got up "yeah, yeah I can- I can help out" She paused for a moment to watch her as she bent over the table before she just cleared her throat and took the plates. "thanks~" The other one smiled, knowing already but at the same time wanting to 'torture' her more. She began to wash the dishes while her tail was getting wild and slowly wrapped around her wrist, unwrapping to poke her thigh and hips after some moments. Her hands were still on the table but the sponge accidentally slipped off her hand and she bent to take it. The blonde one passed her the dishes, standing behind her then as she was tormented, closing her eyes and biting back a soft groan. When she bent down she couldn’t help but stare and mumble a soft "fuck.." as she finally looked away. She paused for a moment before she cleared her throat "I- um, I’m gonna.. gonna wait in the room, unless you need me to finish.."

Catra kicked back a chuckle to not sound, she could hear every single word perfectly. Her ears helped a lot with that. She looked up at her and stood up straight "I want you to finish of course" Though finish… with what? The plates or....? The girl was hiding a smirk. Adora paused for a moment before nodding. She wouldn't fall for the trap, and instead squeezed by her so she could get to cleaning the dishes, rolling up the sleeves and getting to work, turning her entire focus to the dishes rather than.. whatever Catra was doing behind her. Of course she realised that she opened herself up to more teasing, she definitely didn't open herself up to punishment by going and jerking off instead... hopefully. The feline kept teasing the other, she clearly wanted her to not be able to take it anymore but she was a difficult one. She had such an opportunity to press her tail against her crotch to poke her. Her orbs looked at her from the corner of her eyes and smiled while rubbing her tail up there. "Sometimes you're so kind ~Helping me with the dishes." She hummed and leaned against her shoulder, tail still poking. Adora took in a slight breath when she felt her tail, hands pausing for a moment. The dishes were almost done, she could do this, it was only a couple plates. She got to work again, desperately trying to ignore the feeling of her tail between her legs. She finished setting the last plate aside then just looked at her with a soft whine "you're welcome, m-my queen. You know I live to serve."

The other cracked a smirk and nodded, touching her hips gently before placing a kiss on her lips. "Go to bed now .. I will join you too" She didn't give her an opportunity to jerk off since she didn't say to go to the bathroom. Her eyes looked up at her and rolled on her heel, walking to the bedroom and taking off her dress, remaining with her shift. Adora leaned into each touch slightly, pausing after the kiss before she nodded "yes ma'am. Am I allowed to take my clothes off?" she mumbled, not even thinking any more, knowing better then to do something without permission, walking with her to the bedroom eagerly.

"Yes, love ... You're allowed" Catra leaned close to her only to place a kiss on her neck. She laid on the bed only to stretch and nuzzle on the pillow. She loved to make her beg, to make her whine and tremble under her touch even if some years ago she was in that position. She actually missed that, Adora to be the all mighty one yet to serve her and only and make her moan but for now she felt too hyped to make her tremble

Adora started stripping as soon as she said she was allowed, pulling everything off and for the moment just chucking the clothes aside. She walked over to her, kneeling beside the bed rather than joining her on top of it for now, clearly feeling... well and truly submissive "may I join you on the bed, my queen? I'll serve you first if you desire"

"First? ..... Only, my Knight..." She spoke in return and smiled at the submissive nature of hers. She crawled so she could have her hips on the edge of the bed and feet touching the ground, giving her the view of her hips and crouch. "You know what to do" She whispered a hand reaching out to touch her hair and pull them so she could place her face between her legs.

The knight waited until she was in position, reaching up to put her hands on her thighs, leaning in to lick a strip up her slit. One hand just lifted her shift enough so that she was, well literally in it rather than pushing it up, meaning her head was covered by the fabric. She groaned softly at her taste, licking a few more times just to taste her before she spent some more attention on her clit, leaning in and licking it a few times, before she opened her mouth and sucked on her clit, keeping her hands on her thighs so she was less tempted to touch herself, kneeling in front of her. The girl chuckled softly at the way she made the shift cover her. She touched her head over it and she pushed her hips against her mouth. She moved again and again only to moan quietly and tightened her hand around the shift's fabric "Ah....more..." She moaned. The other groaned softly at the feeling. Pressing further into her, moving down to push her tongue inside instead when she asked for more. She rubbed her nose on her clit again, holding her hips to keep her close, and keep her from moving.

She was horny, of course she was, though right now her entire focus was on her wife.

Catra’s cheeks blushed, purrs echoed in the room and her soft whines escaped her lips while she was holding on her. Her eyes tightened and she bit her bottom lip while trying to keep her voice low. "Damn.... Ah- Adora." She whined and bit her bottom lip only to move her hips just a tiny bit , she was turned on already and she knew she couldn't hold back any longer, was it quick or not, she didn't care at all. She loved her and the way she touched her drove her crazy. Adora closed her eyes, groaning softly at the noises she made, all of which only turned her on more. She redoubled her efforts, pushing her tongue in as deep as she could, eyes closed since she couldn't see anything anyway when she felt her rock against her mouth she knew it was time. By letting go of her hips she instead moved a hand to rub at her clit while she worked her with her tongue. The brunette gasped at the feeling, mewling even at the touch, she grunted and tightened her fist only to let herself release finally and feel the warmth on her lower abdomen growing while trembling. One hand was on her own head ,touching her hair and the other on the woman under her shift. "....m...my .... Adora ah..” She panted as her legs were still tense at the feeling. She looked up at her and took a small shaking breath "Y..you can join me in bed now..." She hummed, giving her some hope that she would get pleased too. Adora licked her clean gently, so that she would have less to clean up later, though of course making sure she wouldn’t over stimulate her. She leaned back after a bit, looking up at her. When she told her she could come onto the bed, she smiled, fully remembering the.. problem, between her legs now. She got up and knelt on the bed, waiting to be told what to do next.

"Lay down, I want cuddles" The magicat spoke in return only to pull her down and wrap her arms around her wife's lap "I love you" She whispered exhausted and nuzzled on her neck.

The blonde’s smile faded, then, looking down at her confused "I-what? but- Ca-.. my queen.. I haven't-.. I um.." she laid there, not sure what to do at this point, if she should complain more or just let her sleep. "Yes? Haven't you...what?" The other mumbled and pressed her leg on the woman's lap. "What do you want?" She hummed and leaned close to her, pressing her chest against her arm. Adora whined softly then, turning to look at her "I wanna.... please.. I don’t wanna have to do it myself... my hand is nowhere near as good as you.. please...?"

The woman shook her head "You won't fill me up tonight... You won't use your hand either, you can focus on me rather than your erection~" She smiled and gave her a small kiss on her neck. The knight looked at her for a moment, whining at that "b-but I-.." She hesitated, but let out another little whine, even though she turned and wrapped an arm around her so they could cuddle, trying to find a position that was comfortable considering she had an erection, knowing better than to try and subtly grind on her. "You're hesitating on obeying me? Do you want to please me again without letting yourself finish?" The queen raised an eyebrow and leaned close to her while breathing now steadily. Adora pulled her a bit closer, speaking softly "pleasing you isn't a punishment, my queen.. whatever you want I will give you."

"Ah, now you speak better." She hummed and nibbled on her neck, kissing her chest while holding her close. "I love you...~" She whispered and purred while feeling herself slowly falling asleep. She was placing her leg on her on purpose so she could know if she attempted to leave or use her hands. Adora did her best to keep her hips still while she attacked her neck and chest, though she couldn't help it when they bucked slightly at particularly sensitive spots. She was mumbling an apology immediately after, nuzzling into her shoulder "I-I love you too, my queen.." She mumbled. She was tempted, of course, but she would be good, she wouldn't come tonight. Though that doesn't mean she won’t get her revenge later. The feline wrapped her tail around her own thigh while laying there.

The night would slowly go away and the morning light brushed their bodies. Thankfully they were covered by their undergarments so Jack would only walk on them cuddling to sleep "Mom?" He hummed and poked Adora ,he had a soft spot actually for her, he felt... Easier to approach for some reason even though Catra was truly kind and mother-like to him too. Adora seemed to be protective in a more....active way. Adora groaned softly at the poke, nuzzling further into Catra for a bit though she ended up yawning and turning her head to look at him, raising an eyebrow and smiling softly "well aren't you up early. What is it buddy?" She spoke softly, knowing he didn't want to talk to her wife, hence why he poked her awake rather than calling for both of them.

"I.... Heard a strange noise coming from the kitchen..." He hummed, Catra nuzzled close, purring and mewling. Her eyes tightened closed. "Can you come with me? I couldn't go and leave the rest alone.." He continued.

The knight nodded, sitting up and leaning down to kiss her wife's forehead, slowly pulling away so she wouldn't wake her. She pulled on a shirt and some pants and nodded to him "alright buddy let's go check this out" She smiled, summoning her sword and walking out with him into the kitchen, sword at the ready. The other woman let her go and actually they had left the window open so... A small kitten was making a mess into the kitchen. The boy paused, ears twitched as he saw the strange animal. "What's that?" He hummed and the boy rubbed his eyes "Do we kill it?"

Adora paused for a moment before she smiled, putting her sword away and just kneeling down, holding her hand out "no, no we don't kill it. It's just a baby, a kitten" She smiled softly, 'pspsps'ing at the kitten to call it in. Her hand still held out, speaking softly to it as well "hey little one.. you're okay. You found your way in, huh? Was it nice and warm in here for you? I bet it's nicer then out there, huh…? I won't hurt you" she looked up at Jack ``hey, go around slowly and get me a small piece of the left over chicken"

The boy nodded and walked slowly to the other corner of the room to take the chicken but the kitty could sense a familiar scent to the boy. His tail got caught by the kitten and the boy hissed as his tail puffed "MOOOOM" He cried out. Adora laughed, standing up and scooping the kitten up, holding it up with a soft smile "that was very rude of you little one" She put the kitten on her shoulder, walking over and closing the door "You are so cute... yeah, you're so tiny.. where's your mom, huh?" She walked over to the table, nodding at Jack "they look just big enough to be eating meat"

The kitten mewled with Jack whining and staring at her, why was she mewling? The boy approached his mom carefully. "Why are they so small...and ...mewling? What's wrong with that animal copying my mom.." She could tell he didn't know that kitties were mewling and the difference between kitties and ...felines like his mom. Adora giggled softly, sitting down and gently petting the kitten "well... you know how you, your mom and most of your siblings are different from me, right? Basically what that means is that you and I are, well… technically different species. You are called a magicat, and this little one here, is a cat. It's an animal version of you, and your mom, and.. well everyone like you" She sat back, gently scratching behind the ear of the kitten "you both share many things alike, you know that?"

The kitten purred out loud at the scratches mostly making Jack more confused but as soon as she explained he slowly began to understand "And...how did mom become a magicat? Why am I not one of your species...and ..why Mara is like you?" He had many questions but soon the other feline woke up and saw that Adora wasn't beside her "Adora?" She mumbled and walked into the kitchen, rubbing her eyes.

The knight hummed softly, "Well, she was born one, just like her mom and her dad, and their parents and their parents before them." She smiled, still petting the kitten as she talked "Physical traits get passed down from parent to child, like my blue eyes or blond hair. Some are more likely to be picked up then others, and apparently, it's more likely to be born a magicat then a human out of the combination. Though, as we see with Mara, it's not impossible." Hearing Catra come in she smiled softly, gesturing to the kitten on her shoulder "Jack heard someone sneak in, and we found this little guy. Must have come in from the window we left open by accident."

Jack observed the kitten's moves as the small one stumbled on her shoulder, digging her nails in her so she wouldn't fall down. Another mewl escaped. "That's .....uh.... I see won't you let this go out?" Catra hummed sleepily as the kitten walked over to her and nuzzled on her leg while purring. Catra's ears perked up and she knelt down poking the kitten's head while purring. Now Adora would have to take care of the feline wife and the kitten purring. The last one giggled softly when it mewled in her ear, and she turned to face it "I know little one, I know. Here.." She gently picked it up, setting it on the ground and watching as it walked over to Catra. When she poked it she giggled "That's not how you pet a cat, Catra." She looked up, pouting when she told her to let it out "But it's just a baby, it won't make it out there.."

"mmm...mhm... Maybe we can keep it, then" The feline hummed and purred more as she continued to poke the kitten while rubbing her finger on its head. Jack furrowed his eyebrows "No... I'm sure it would make it" He was....jealous of a kitty, the little one had attention so fast by both of them.

Adora smiled softly and stood up again, looking over to Jack. She walked over, kissing his forehead gently "Can you go get the little ones awake for me? I'm gonna get started on breakfast." She smiled softly down at him, walking over and giving him the kiss so he wouldn't feel jealous hopefully, before letting him go "Alright, I'll get started on breakfast, Catra just-.. Be nice with the kitten. Pet its ears, right at the base. Be careful of your claws but let it lean into you, it'll love that."

The magicat nodded, Jack was still kind of ... Jealous but he didn't say anything, he just went in the room to wake the rest of the children up. Catra smiled and giggled at the feeling of the furry friend of hers and scratched the back of its ears. Some moments later she stood up and approached her wife only to lean close. Tail slowly wagging. Now she wanted pets too. The girl stared at her. The blonde one got to work on breakfast, humming softly and smiling as she heard them purring. Hearing her wife come up behind her she chuckled and turned to her, kissing her forehead and running her fingers through her hair "My beautiful kitten." She smiled, gently petting the base of her ear, scratching it just like she would the kittens. The feline bit her lip only to purr and nuzzle close to her. She nuzzled close to her hand and she leaned more into the touch "M..... My kn..ight " She purred more and closed one eye as her ear twitched at the feeling. The other one chuckled softly as she watched her, kissing her gently before she finally stopped, slowing down before pulling her hand away. She smiled, tilting her head up by putting a finger under her chin, kissing her gently "Do you feel better, kitten?" She moved her hand to run it through her hair instead.

Her cheeks blushed, a soft pink colour and she nodded, her head leaned close when she felt the woman's fingers going away. She looked up at her and sighed. "Yeah... I'm so tired today" She hummed and looked away, stepping away so she could dress up properly. Adora nodded, turning her head back so she could get back to work on breakfast "I'm tired too, but it's okay. I'll be meeting Bow and Glimmer in the village somewhere to see if they've sent the letter, and about when the carriage will get here. So we know how much time we have to decide.. Since I'm assuming you're still debating." She was hesitant in bringing it up, though feeling the kitten rub against her leg and mew she looked down with a smile "Hungry huh?" She pulled off a few scraps, kneeling down to feed it to the kitten with a smile "There you go little one"

"Yeah.... I.. we should talk about it... And I don't mean to argue ...." She hummed but she was back by the time she fed the kitten, pouting "You didn't feed me like that" She hummed and rolled her eyes before taking a seat on the chair. Adora smiled softly and nodded "Alright love, we can do that after breakfast okay?" When she came back she looked up and giggled, just grabbing another piece and walking over, tilting her chin up and offering it to her, raising an eyebrow "Here you go, kitten" The other one grinned and nodded quickly before she ate the piece. "Yey~" She hummed and nuzzled close to her only to give her a small kiss on her lips. "I love you ~"

The blond giggled and fed her, holding her chin gently afterwards as they kissed "I love you more, kitten" She smiled, though she had to turn back around to finish getting breakfast ready. Once she was done she wrapped her arms around her wife's waist, nuzzling into her neck and standing behind her with a soft smile "Why don't you come with me? I think we're meeting them in the stables.. I'm.. Not entirely sure why we would meet there, but it may have something to do with the carriage"

"Mm.." She hummed at first at the nuzzles on her neck and smiled brightly ,she loved it when she was so cuddly ,she couldn't lie about it. Her eyes closed but soon she cupped her cheek and took a small breath. "Well you work there, remember? The old man told you to be there when the sun rises and guess what" She hummed pointing out of the window with a chuckle "I'll come with you ,else you will be late" Adora looked up and cursed softly "Fuck, yeah okay, can you get the kids? I'll dish them up and set the plate down, and get ready to go while they eat." She shoved a bite of her own food into her mouth, before she walked to the bedroom to change.

The feline obviously helped the children to dress up a little and set them to eat while she was getting dressed up. The kitten stayed over so they would have something to play with, a pet actually. Her eyes looked up at her when she left only to gesture to the blond one to leave with her.

Meanwhile Adora was getting dressed quickly, walking out again and eating as much of her breakfast as she could, before nodding at her wife "Alright kiddos, I gotta get to work, Catra's gonna be coming with me for a bit. You four be good, okay? And you three, listen to your older brother, okay?" She gave each of them a kiss on the forehead, the kitten a quick pet, before she headed out with her wife. The children nodded quickly and continued playing with the kitty. Catra followed quickly behind her and leaned close only to hold her hand while walking. The man wasn't there so thankfully he wouldn't see her be late and the feline was breathless "Damn... Do I have to stay here till they come?" She hummed, looking around "Can I sit at least… somewhere?"

Adora chuckled softly when she asked to sit down and nodded, kissing her cheek "Go sit down my love." She smiled and let her go sit down, rolling her sleeves up and getting to work.Though, when it was clear they'd be alone for a while, adora walked back over to Catra, standing between her legs to kiss her gently "Mm... Hey baby?" The feline was sitting there on a short mount of hay, playing with a piece of hay, the minutes were passing by quietly when she finally approached her "Hm? Yes, love?"
The taller one held her hips, moving her lips down to her neck, nipping at her neck gently. "You remember what you did to me last night?" She pressed their hips together, holding her close, nipping and biting at her neck. Catra giggled and smiled when she felt the kisses on her neck, head tilting softly and whining teasingly "Not here....I don't remember~ stop ~" She spoke in a playful manner and bit her bottom lip. Her eyes closed, tail waggled slowly and a whine escaped her lips when she felt the bites. Adora chuckled softly, speaking against her neck "No ones here, they won't come in for a while. It’s fine love." She went back to kisses, even though she was teasing she wanted to be sure she wasn't pushing her into this since she could always get her revenge later. The magicat did remember how she begged last night to finish and that only made her feel warm. Her head tilted and she bit her bottom lip harder before she clung herself on her shoulders. "You're such a tease.. but you shouldn't, we shouldn't" She mumbled faintly and gently guided the girl back. The knight held onto her waist, stepping back slightly to look at her "Why not? We're here alone, probably for the next few hours. We have plenty of time, my love. No one will know." She cupped her cheek then "I promise no one will walk in on us. And if you're worried about it that much we don't have to strip all the way.."

Catra was thoughtful about it but after the woman's words she sighed and nodded "Fine....just be quick... I don't want anyone to walk on us...."She hummed and leaned close to her ,she was still sitting on a short table so she would only raise her dress a little with the shift underneath. The other woman nodded, stepping closer and kissing her again, nipping at her bottom lip as she held her waist, reaching down to push her slacks down. She lifted her up and moved her closer to the edge, putting her hands on her hips under her dress and shift. The magicat's arms wrapped around her, legs slowly spread and curled on her waist so she could have access. For now though she didn't believe she would hold a grudge from last night ,her eyes closed and she bucked her hips against hers teasingly while tilting her head to he side so she could have more skin to touch.

Adora chuckled softly, pressing close to her before she put a hand on her throat, not squeezing yet as she gently guided her so she was laying down on the table "Nuh uh. I'm not letting you lead this one, kitten." She grinned, a cocky half smirk as she looked down at her. The feline got more turned on by the hand on her throat yet she felt her blush get more pink. Her eyes opened when she guided her back, arching her back and whining "I wouldn't lead..." She lied since she was indeed getting used to doing it. The table was rough and her tail slowly wrapped around her thigh before she attempted to sit again up on the table.

The other leaned closer, raising an eyebrow "Don't lie to me, kitten. You've gotten very comfortable on the top, which.. I will be honest is.. Very, very hot. But." She grinned, holding her down on the table with the hand on her throat "Do not mistake me for being just a submissive, my love. Don't forget how we first started" The other girl's cheeks became slightly red, her head tilted at the feeling of her hand on her throat. Her eyes fixed up at hers and she smiled coyly, loving the nickname she gave her "I think you always were submissive for your queen~" She tried and pressed her hips against hers, pushing them up and down on her in need.

Adora squeezed her neck lightly then, grabbing her hip with her other hand to hold her down "Oh my sweet, sweet princess. I can play this game for a long time. But weren't you the one who said to make it quick? You're acting out like this definitely won't make this quick." The feline furrowed her eyebrows but then again she smiled "I can leave you unsatisfied again though....~ For me it will be easier to hide~" She threatened her, obviously she would do that since she threw her first card down. Her eyes looked up at her and grunted, she could feel the warmth building inside her since she wanted to get more attention.

The other one chuckled softly and just stood there "And I can bring you close, over and over again before I let you go, never letting you cum, letting you stay horny. But, I don't plan on it. Instead I'm planning on filling you up, once for now then tonight over and over" She leaned in, looking down at her with a grin "Now be a good kitten and stop all this acting out okay?" The magicat almost hissed but she could tell she liked the whole acting of her wife's. She was hot when she took the lead and she knew it. She looked away and crossed her arms over her chest. "And what are you going to do now? Threaten me to not let me come or...please me till I can't stand up huh?" She smiled, her tail slowly wagging again. Adora giggled softly "Both of those sound fun. I guess you'll just have to wait and see." She grinned, reaching down to guide herself in, pushing into her and nipping at her chest, just sitting there for a bit, holding her hips so she couldn't rock against her. Catra furrowed her eyebrows with a whine and grunted when the girl slid herself inside. Her legs wrapped around her waist and she placed a hand on top of the other's head,brushing her hair. "You can't make me wait for too long..." She whined and tilted her head freely now that she didn't hold her neck anymore.

Adora grabbed her wrists instead, pinning them above her head and looking down at her "I don't plan on it." She started rocking then, starting slow and quickly moving up to a fast, hard rhythm,holding nothing back as she growled softly in her ear, before she nipped at it. Her hands were still holding her wrists so she couldn't use them to try and distract her. The other woman grunted at the first thrusts but her grunts became rougher moans while she was thrusting against her. She closed her eyes,head still tilted and hands struggling to be free. Her legs were faintly wrapped around her waist as their breasts pressed against each other. "a-Ah..... Ah ... Adora...~" She moaned out while feeling her going deep inside her. Adora chuckled softly, putting both wrists in one hand, putting the other over her mouth "Shhhh... You don't want anyone hearing you and coming to investigate, do you?" She mumbled in her ear, chuckling softly. The feline was slowly sweating by the tension of the moment, her body was hers to please and do what she wanted. Her eyes looked up at her and she shook her head as a reply "Y..you're moving too deep" She mumbled while letting out some now quiet grunts. She winced slightly, shortening her thrusts slightly so she wasn't pushing too much "Mmf.. Sorry baby... Didn't mean to hurt ya" Adora mumbled, pressing soft kisses to her shoulder as an apology. "ah... Ahm..no .. no I liked it when you pinned me.... Ah ..please .. choke me" She blushed deeply, her eyes closed and her shameful face turned to the side. She didn't know how else to tell her to not be so soft this time. She was so promising but in action she didn't do it. The warrior raised an eyebrow then, grinning "Oh? Want me to be rough? Want me to use your body as my pretty little cum dump?" She bit her neck, moving one hand to pin her arms, the other moving up to her neck, squeezing lightly as she started thrusting harder then. The brunette whimpered and nodded , almost begging to use her in such a way. Her hands tightened, her legs wrapped more around her waist and she almost let out a choking grunt when she squeezed her lightly and thrusted harder. Her tail wrapped around the hand that was on her neck as her warmth inside her grew more."Yes- yes please ah.... Ah... Use me.. do whatever you want" Adora groaned softly, bucking as hard and as fast as she could now, gasping and groaning above her "Fuck.. such a good little toy for me.. Laying there.. Taking whatever I give" She bit her neck, though she was starting to get closer now. The feline struggled to breath between her gasps and pants,she loved every deep thrust she was giving her, even if she was being 'used' only to please herself she still loved it. Her hands struggled to move as her moan came out when she felt her neck getting bit. "A— ahm... W...what if I want more —"She moaned almost between her breaths,her legs faintly wrapping around her,tail slowly curling from the tensed moment as their breaths brushed their skin. The other chuckled and pulled away for a moment, flipping her over and holding her throat, pushing into her again, leaning over her back now as she thrusted into her, wrapping an arm around her to rub her clit, biting her shoulder "Mine. You're mine, got that? My good little cum dump.She panted softly, mumbling into her neck "I'm getting close."

The magicat gasped and bit her bottom lip when she held her throat but blushed heavily as the woman spoke again. She was so..hot. Her eyes opened only for her mind to get blurry by the pleasure. Adora was really the expert on turning her on and hitting her spots. "Ah- y.. yes I am yours... I'll be good I promise" The feline mumbled in a soft cry as the feeling when she rubbed her clit made her whimper in pleasure. Her legs bent ,not being able to have strength at all at this point. Adora groaned softly, using the hand that was on her clit to help hold her up, panting into her skin. It didn't take long before she was on the edge, thrusting only a few more times before she just pressed as close as she could, moaning into her neck "Fuuuuck.." She mumbled, holding her close still. She furrowed her eyebrows ,eyes closing tightly and hip bucking as she felt the woman cum inside her. Her body trembled yet she didn't cum yet ,she was on the edge of doing so. Her grunts echoed and her pants slowly became heavier.

Realizing Catra hadn't cum, she redoubled her efforts on her clit, thrusting into her a few more times, just enough to bring her over the edge. She put a hand on her mouth to keep her quiet "Shh... We don't want anyone to hear us" The feline whined and whimpered before cumming on her member ,walls tightening around her and hips moving while trembling. The girl panted and attempted to breathe after a while before she took a small deep breath and close her eyes. Her body fell on the table to lay on and breathed heavily "Damn.... "

Meanwhile Bow and Glimmer were approaching the barn, Bow excited as he looked around "I didn't think the carriage would be here this early, it's supposed to get here tomorrow right?” "Yeah but I sent the letter last night ..early at night. I suppose they took it and sent the carriage earlier. Glimmer hummed in return and sighed. Bow shrugged at that and nodded "I guess so. So it'll be here by tomorrow... Hope they made their choice..." He stopped in front of the barn "Ready?" The woman shrugged but soon she would open the door only to find the other two, thankfully covered but what they were doing was obvious.The man just stood there for a moment, shocked before he grabbed Glimmer, getting out of the barn as quickly as possible "Oh fuck. Wow. Um. I didn't-... Didn't think she'd uh... Do that in such a public area. Wow." He felt so embarrassed, walking in on them. Glimmer on the other hand widened her eyes, she was frozen till the man pulled her back. Obviously she didn't expect it to happen, especially in there. "She really is crazy.... Wow" She hummed at first but she grabbed his hand while walking towards the woods "Do we stay here and wait...now or...?" She spoke, still the images were there of them doing it but she tried to avoid her feelings. Bow shook his head in return "Or insatiable. Who knows." He walked with her to the woods, shrugging again "Probably. Yeah, only problem is we won't know when they're done"

The queen tightened her fists and rolled her eyes, she was clearly mad about Adora being so… careless in public now and that Catra was making her be like this. Her eyes looked up at him and huffed "We will wait for a while and then get inside.. I don't care if they must be done... They're not in their room"
The knight hesitated before nodding "Alright. But I really dont think it's such a problem... They must have been there for a while, they probably thought they had time?"
"Are you serious.... You're trying to cover her up?" The queen sighed and crossed her arms over her chest.
Bow crosses his arms over his chest as well, looking at her "You cannot tell me that it doesn't sound like fun to you. Having sex somewhere you might be caught? Having to stay quiet, and the thrill of having to be quiet"
"Bow....-! Do you see them being quiet?" The girl huffed, she really had to do that conversation with him right now?!
He huffed as well, shaking his head "Are we really arguing about this?" He watched her for a moment before just sighing "They're probably done. Or at least almost done"

Glimmer rolled her eyes, it was a stupid reason for them to argue and she knew it but she did nod when she heard him "I don't hear them for now at least” She mumbled making him nod "I don't hear them either. Think we should go back in or wait a bit longer?"
"Agh..let's go... "

At that moment Adora pulled out of her wife, still panting as she pressed soft kisses to her neck and shoulder, smiling softly. She pulled her pants up, helping Catra up then, kissing her gently"I love you... Are you okay?" She mumbled, holding her close then, letting her wife's dress and shift go back down. The cat girl needed that help to stand up though she leaned against her only to hold by her. "Ye...yes, I'm fine" The girl panted and tried to calm down. "That was... I missed this" She continued ,leaning close and giving her a soft peck on her lips ``You're so hot when you're acting like this, Adora" The warrior held her close, smiling softly and cupping her cheek "Really? I missed it too... Though of course I won't object to being your loyal knight." She smiled, kissing her softly right as Glimmer and Bow came in. Glimmer was still pissed off but she really..shouldn't have a reason to be. Her steps were quick and she opened the door "We're here again-" Obviously she didn't want to keep it a secret that they saw them. Adora looked up, she was confused "Again? What do you mean?”

Bow scratched the back of his head"Well... We uh... We kinda... Maybe sorta walked in on you two..."
"What-.... " The feline wanted to just die right there and then, why weren't they able to live their love life in privacy for once!
"Yeah....we saw how good Adora cornered you ...really Adora? In the stable? You really changed after all" Glimmer hummed.

The blond smiled softly, looking down at her for a moment before she looked up at Glimmer "Actually I.. Haven't really changed that much. This isn't my first time in a barn. Did it once in the forest too that was also kinda fun..."
Adora paused before clearing her throat "Right uh- yeah I’m- I’m sorry. It was my idea, I'm sorry you had to see that" Bow shook his head, mumbling to Glimmer "I told you it wasn't Catra's fault"

The feline pushed her 'playfully' and looked up at her only to lean close to her. "I'm sorry... We didn't hear you" She apologized mostly to Bow than Glimmer. The sorceress hummed something under her breath but she didn't say anything till Bow spoke when she glared at him "Yeah sure ...now let's not discuss about your favourite places to have sex with her and focus on the carriage.... It will arrive tonight... The trip isn't big and the horses are fast ..."

Adora giggled softly at the push, wrapping an arm around her and holding her close. "Okay okay, I'll shut up now." She smiled though, kissing the top of her head gently, mumbling so only she would hear "I'm definitely taking you in the forest one of these days." She grinned, looking up straight again "This night? Wow that's soon... I'm assuming we'll be leaving in the morning right? And it has enough room for all of us? We.. Have a large group." She scratched the back of her neck then

Bow chuckled softly and nodded "Yeah and we can see why. But, yeah we'll be leaving in the morning. It’s not safe to travel at night and we should have enough room for everyone. We have some extra horses coming along so we may have to sit a few people there rather than in the carriage, but I bet your kids will love the carriage" He gasped then, looking at Glimmer "Can I tell her? Pleaseeee" He was of course talking about how they had found Swift Wind, the horse Adora's had since she was first knighted.

Catra was already trying to hide how uncomfortable she felt after something like they did to have company around and have to stand up. Her eyes looked away and pushed her once more when she spoke about the forest. She leaned away only to take a huge breath to calm down. "We have to talk to the children then ....and help them pack up some ....things" She hummed and looked up at her wife only to pause when the man got so excited. Glimmer rolled her eyes, shrugging and nodded "Go ahead ,we won't hide it for long" She smiled. Adora giggled again, rubbing her wife’s back gently then, hoping it would help soothe her, knowing she got uncomfortable with it in public she left it at that. Adora nodded at the mention of the kids, humming softly "I'd like to leave some money for the man who hired me. I feel bad since we're leaving so soon after he hired me... Even if we can't leave much, I'd like to give him something." She looked up at Bow then, confused when he got so excited "Tell me what?" Bow grinned then "We found SwiftWind. Not long after your castle was hit. I guess he knew to come back to Brightmoon. We found him and caught him, he's coming down with the carriage."

"When we go back I'll have a place for him... He was kind..to hire you so easily" She spoke, letting her think that she was actually going to take him, probably, to the palace. She smiled though when Bow said such a thing. She knew Adora had no one to lose other than her and the children but aside from that ,Adora had only Swift Wind to take care of. Glimmer on the other hand didn't have much to say. She placed her hands on her hips. "I bet he missed you too" She chuckled. Adora gasped softly and looked up, grinning "I knew he'd go to Brightmoon! It's where he was trained to go if he was lost, I made sure that he'd always be able to find his way back" She grinned, looking down at her wife "I can't wait to see him again... I'm definitely letting the kids meet him. Our triplets haven't met him yet." She smiled softly then and looked up "Thank you, both of you." Bow smiled "Of course Adora, we know how much he means to you." Glimmer chuckled and leaned close to the boy only to hold his hand and point back to the door. "We will wait after sunrise, we live in a hotel close to the flower's store of the village okay?" She hummed and looked up at Adora only to pause for a second. Catra looked at her and then at Adora only to wonder why she...was almost staring at her.

The blonde nodded, her arm around Catra's waist "We'll meet you there early in the morning then, I'll make sure to get the kids to bed early so they can get up in time." She smiled gently, looking at her wife "I still have a few more bales of hay to move, after that though I'm done for the day. Do you want to stick around or go back home?" Bow paused for a moment before speaking up "Why don't we stick around too? It's been a while since we all hung out. If Catra's okay with it? I want to get to know you a bit more"
The feline was surprised to hear that though she saw Glimmer's look at the man since she widened her eyes to look at him. He clearly didn't get that she didn't like her, did he? "I will leave actually, I came by to give her a —" "A quick ride, we really don't need to know what you wanted to give her.. " Glimmer cut her only for Catra to hiss at the woman and fix her dress "I go prepare the children...." She hummed to Adora mostly who's smile faded slightly, hesitating but she nodded "Right... Alright baby, I'll see you as soon as I get home. I love you." She kissed her cheek, mumbling "I wanna talk to you when we get home, please. Nothing bad, I promise." She smiled gently, kissing her forehead before she let her go then, looking up "You two can stay for a bit if you want. It's been a while, I'd love to catch up" The feline felt kind of nervous, their last conversations didn't end well and she didn't know what to expect, though she nodded and glared at the other two while walking away.

Melog

Glimmer walked around the place and sighed "Instead of living in a palace you...." She paused "Why didn't you come to Bright Moon..? We would never say no and you know it..."
Adora rubbed her wife’s back as she let her leave, waiting until she was gone before she got to work, rolling her sleeves up and picking up a bale of hay, grunting since she had to lift it up to about head height to put it up, sighing softly "I didn't, actually. We attacked you, hurt your people. Even if you would have said yes your mother may not have. I wasn't ready to take that walk of shame, or put me and my family at risk like that. And Catra doesn't trust any of you, and... I don't blame her. She hardly knows either of you, and Glimmer you've never even tried to be friendly with her. She couldn't rely on your friendship with me to protect me and my family." She picked up another bale before adding "I don't know why you don't like her, maybe because of where she's from, but she's my wife. Whether you approve of her or not, I'm staying with her, because even with our occasional fights she makes me happy in a way I've never had with someone else. She's my reason for living, my reason for fighting. I'm not giving her up." She put the bale away then, pausing for a moment with a soft sigh.

"So you don't care about anyone else, us? We were there when you got hurt before all this love at first sight happened! The three of us could do anything and now you're just all about Catra who you knew for a night and fell in love. I know you loved her for some years now but you can't say she's the reason you're living for" Glimmer stormed out. Her glare was obvious and her hands wrapped around herself. "I do not care to give her or anyone like her a chance, I don't want her as a friend and clearly I won't sit back and listen to her sweet talk because we're your friends and she can't show her damn real face" She huffed. Adora turned to look at her then "That is not what I meant. I'm trying to talk to you about this not turn it into a shouting match. Glimmer, why can't you trust me on this! She's an amazing woman, kind and caring but you wont give her a chance! She tried before the war and you ignored her! What is your problem with her?" She followed after her, clearly not done 'talking' about this.

"I don't like her, I don't like her kingdom, her fake attitude , I don't like anything about her! It's simple! I care about you because you're my friend and you only care and pay attention to her. Not stay alone, to not be around many people, or get her knee hurt. For fuck's sake just get your mind off her for once!" She growled and rolled her eyes "Ah wait yeah.. you can't! Back then we had plenty of things to talk about, missions or war but now all is about her!" Her anger had caused some magic to run in her hand while 'talking'.

"Well maybe if you took some time to actually get to know her you would like her! She's a lot like you you know. Maybe that's why you two constantly but heads!" She huffed, throwing her hands up in the air "I'm done trying to be your mediator! At this point I'm about ready to throw you two in the same room and let you figure it out yourselves!" She looked down at her then "I love her. She is a queen, and I am a knight. Of course I'm going to work for her! I wouldn't want to be on the wrong side of the fucking war, I dont want to be fighting my wife, can you blame me? I'm tired of fighting! I just want to give my kids and my wife a good life! I don't know why you don't like her, but you need to grow the fuck up and get over it. You are a queen now, you can't be acting so damn childish, and trust me I'm gonna be talking to her too about this, because this isn't just you." She turned away, storming back into the barn and closing the door behind her, Bow just standing by Glimmer, staring at the door.

"I'm not childish! You left everyone behind, your previous life to go run with the enemy and fight for them! Of course I will blame you!" She yelled but she looked at the door as she closed it behind. "Nice talk she wanted to have..." She huffed and tightened her fist. She hated how she saw the whole thing.. she was supposed to be in Bright Moon not fight them but because of Catra she had to fight them. Adora ignored it, still furious though so she just took it out on her work, letting the exercise work the anger out, picking up hay bales. She had to be calm for her talk with her wife, she couldn't go into it already angry. Bow hesitated before speaking up "She has a point you know... If I was from a different kingdom id leave that to serve you if.. Y'know we got married or something.." He paused, clearing his throat "and mages from our kingdom killed her daughter.. I can't blame her for mistrusting us. Catra really does seem just... Worried or distrusting... And I don't blame them, either of them. Maybe we should try and give her a chance... She's probably staying away from us because we don't get along with her wife..." He was nervous to talk about it, knowing Glimmer would probably blow up on him, but he had to try "I'd choose my wife over my friends too... It's not fair to abandon someone you've married and someone you love for your friends.."

"So you're saying it's normal to abandon your friends? .... For someone like her? Who was ready to kill her in the first place?" Even if Bow didn't ask for any marriage or something Glimmer already felt they were acting like a couple for years now though Adora felt.... Different and she didn't like it. She hated it actually. "Adora doesn't want to talk about it so... I don't care anymore... Hopefully that dirty feline wont pull Adora around to do anything in front of everyone in the palace "She hissed, taking a few steps away. "Do you want to stay here? I can't find a reason for staying in the stable and talking to you, we can talk in our hotel room.."

"I'm saying that its normal to choose your literal wife's kingdom over your friends. Though if Catra is like you like Adora said then I'm not surprised you two are constantly butting heads..." He sighed softly, shaking her head "I'm upset she left too, but I see where she's coming from and I don't blame her. We've been horrible friends to her. Yeah, Catra originally was supposed to kill her, but look at them now... Catra genuinely seems to care about her, look at how they were holding each other the second time we walked in? If they were together just for the power they wouldn't be like that, the way Adora rubbed her back to soothe her, and pressed a kiss to the top of her head, you know she shows her love through touch, as well as acts of service. Its.. Pretty obvious. I really don't think Catra is a bad person.. And if you could accept that then maybe she wouldn't have left us like that, or at least visited."

Glimmer felt attacked ,now she was the one to blame that Adora was a jerk friend and left them? Even all this speech about how sweet they were made her guts ache "Stop saying I'm like her, we have nothing in common. I'm way better than she can ever be" She was ready to say that if she was like her maybe Adora would have seen her somehow else but ... She didn't want to say anything about her relationship with Adora. She always looked out for her and she didn't want all this to be gone because of a woman who stepped in. "I'll go talk to her again and then we leave... " She hummed and opened the door again. He shook his head "I'm only saying what she did. I don’t know Catra that well.." He sighed softly, though when she said that she'd be going back in he shook his head "You probably shouldn't, she might still be angry-"

Assuming no one would be back inside, and working up a heavy sweat from what she was doing, Adora, quite literally, had said fuck it and took her shirt off. Her chest was bound, so they couldn’t see anything other than muscles and tons of scars, and of course sweat and hay on her skin. She didn't hear the door, in the middle of lifting another bale of hay, grumbling under her breath about everything, gritting her teeth as she carried it over. The sorceress didn't care if she was still mad or not though she did pause when she saw her half naked body. Her eyes scanned the girl and she cleared her throat thickly. How could that feline have her any time, be around her and be so soft and at the same time hot. She missed seeing her everyday but she also missed plenty of the new scars she had. She didn't catch up with anything yet "Can we stop talking about your... Lover and just talk like we used to? We had no lover's to talk about then but sure we got more interesting things to say that talk about our partners"

The blond looked back at her, surprised she had come back. She paused for a moment before she nodded, finishing to put the bale up "Alright. Yeah... Though we should try and talk about it again later. After we've both calmed down." She hesitated, before clearing her throat "I should probably put my shirt back on sorry-" She untied it from around her waist, about to pull it back on.

"Don't ...I mean it's fine, you do your job I'll... Be going ,I just wanted to tell you that... Bow missed you, and I'd rather have him cry over food than cry over you leaving again... " She hummed, obviously she missed her too but she didn't want to say it out loud yet, she turned around then so she could leave. Avoiding to look at her body again. Adora paused for a moment before nodding "I missed you both too. I know you won't say it yet but I do. I just... Didn't want to deal with the constant fighting... And with twins, and now triplets it was hard to make the trip..." She hesitated "I'm sorry. I should have left on better terms, or.. I dunno offer a picnic or something for all four of us so we could try and get along... That's all I want. You don't have to like her. Just... At least be nice to her. Please."

"Adora... I'm nice to my friends... I don't owe her or anyone else anything." She hummed in return and took a small breath before she shook her head. "But fighting is making me tired ,and we have to have strength for the trip so... Go to sleep early" She changed the topic as best as she could since she was trying to not catch up the conversation about that feline again. The knight hesitated before sighing softly, just nodding "Yeah.. I only have a few more to move. Tell Bow I missed him too." She smiled at her for a moment before she turned, lifting up another bale and putting it away.

The woman nodded, guiding Bow out too while telling her words and hoping they would have more.. calm conversations from now on. Adora nodded as well, watching her go before she picked up the bale. She only had two more and a bag of chicken feed to move, so she wasn't going to be too much longer, pulling her shirt back on when she was done and headed out, wiping her forehead with her sleeve. Then she started her walk home.

The feline was cleaning up the small house ,even if they were about to leave she didn't want to leave it dirty.. Jack was inside for now to take care of some last things and Catra helped Daniel to wear his clothes. "Be good children \in our new house, okay...?" The girl hummed while smiling at the boy though he could feel she was too nervous about it. Jack nodded, looking at her for a moment, though he waited until the younger ones weren't around before he spoke up "You seem worried mom... Is everything okay? We're leaving sooner than you said we would.." The feline sat back on her bed and looked up at the boy before she nodded. Her hands were placed on her lap this time. "Yes, I know..... Adora's friends called the carriage to come and it will arrive earlier than I expected..." She stood up after taking a deep breath and held a small back. She had her old clothes and corset in from the night they ran away. "But that's better, you'll be able to finally live better than searching for food and ...getting sick every now and then.." She tapped on the clothes.

He hesitated then before sitting down beside her "Then why are you so nervous.. Isn't this a good thing...? You don't seem to like her friends, but I don't understand why... They seem nice, especially the guy." He was confused, not entirely understanding why she didn't seem to trust them. If mom was friends with them then they had to be good people, right? She wouldn't be friends with bad people. "Mom wouldn't be friends with bad people... And if they're her old friends then it can't be them tricking her right?" The feline felt her breath get cut short ,she didn't want to push all her thoughts to him, he was just a child but she couldn't just let this slide away either. "Look, Jack.. we can't trust everyone ... The only ones we can trust is our family.... Me and Adora love you ,all of you and we will do everything to make sure you are safe.... Staying there will be a challenge but you should focus on the fact you will start to train with Adora again" She smiled at him, bending a little and embracing him "We will be fine, don't worry about me overreacting" She tried to find this excuse for the boy and smiled.

He hesitated though, still confused but he hugged her back "Okay mama... Is there really no one else we can trust...? There's so many people in the world.. How could there be no one to trust other then us..?" He couldn't help it, he was twelve, and had a question for every question's answer. He hugged her back before looking up at her still, though right then Adora came back, taking her hair down and splashing her face with water. She sighed softly before she wiped her face off and headed for the bedroom, smiling when she saw the two of them "Hey you two, having fun without me, huh?"

"You can trust your heart then.... But know that it will get hurt plenty of times till you finally find this one person to love.. " She was raised to know no friends, it was obvious for her to not trust anyone either. He nodded "I know mama, it's dangerous. But you and mom found each other, I can find someone too!" He grinned then, looking up when Adora came in. Catra's ears twitched at the sound of Adora coming back home. She stood up though and chuckled a little. "Yeah I was telling Jack about the palace and how you will start to practice with him again, right?" She hummed obviously not speaking for the rest of the conversation. Adora smiled then, walking over and kissing her forehead, before ruffling his hair "Of course I will, we've been out of practice for a long time. We both need it." She smiled softly then, picking him up for a hug, which he happily returned.

The feline smiled at the boy getting hugged and patted his head and chuckled "Now.. go, mom's at home and you're still up, you have to sleep, we have to wake up early tomorrow, okay?" She murmured as she still remembered Adora wanted them to talk but did try to pretend she didn't remember it. "I'll go clean up" She spoke softly and walked further into their room's bathroom. He pouted but Adora put him down and he headed to the room. She watched him go, before she walked over, kissing her cheek gently "I'll need to clean up after you, I'm sweaty and covered in hay..." She walked over, pulling her shirt and binds off, sighing softly as she ran a hand through her hair "I still gotta talk to you too.. It's more a request then anything"

The girl was applying the cloth on her just basic places to get cleaned before she peeks out, shift falling again down to hide her body and she walked towards the bed. "And... What is that request? You have many lately.." She mumbled the last words and sat on the edge of the bed allowing her to get cleaned up. The knight stripped, feeling better now that she had those clothes off she sighed softly, turning to her wife then for a moment as she grabbed cleaner clothes to sleep in "Just... That you try to at least be civil with Glimmer. At least for the ride. I... Tried to ask her to do the same and she turned it into a shouting match. But.. I'll figure this out. For now just... At least try? For me? I know you don't like her, and I'm not asking you to be friends with her. I just... Want to not have to put the kids in front of constant arguing... You know..?" She scratched the back of her neck, nervous "Just asking that you be... Well... Just asking you not to pick fights with her..."

"I wasn't the one picking fights with her today as you could see.." She hissed but wrapped her arms over her chest. She didn't know if the kids would be around all the time or if she would go with one carriage "That's what you wanted to tell me? Ah... When you're ready, come lay down.. you'll need strength for tomorrow too.." She whispered and closed her eyes while laying on her sides. Her hair carelessly laid on the pillow as she pulled her thin blanket upwards.

"I know- I know you weren't, baby , I'm not saying you were. I just... Want you to at least try and be civil... I'm still gonna try and get Glimmer as well..." She walked over, kissing her forehead gently before she headed to clean herself as well, getting dressed and climbing into bed when she was done, wrapping an arm around her "I just... I wish you two could get along... You'll always be my wife and she'll always be my friend... It hurts constantly seeing you two at each other's throats..."

The girl wrapped her arms around her as well sitting face to face and nuzzling close to her chest "I don't really care about what she says.. I just want you to be happy ... That's all~.. I won't argue with her I promise ..okay?" She hummed and remained close, breathing against her skin so she could feel the warmth against her. Adora wrapped her arms around her and nodded "Thank you... It means a lot to me.." She kissed the top of her head, holding her close and smiling softly "Now to just convince her to do the same..." She chuckled softly, shaking her head "You both are so stubborn... That's probably why you two but heads so much. I said that already. Did I? Yeah I think I did.." She mumbled, yawning as she nuzzled into her.

"don't compare me to her..." The other hissed at the last sentence and curled up on her. She remained quiet so she could rest, knowing Glimmer had been staring at her made her feel insecure and ..under threat. Adora hesitated but she sighed softly and nodded, kissing her forehead and falling asleep quickly, utterly exhausted from that day.

The first sun rays didn't come up to the sky and into their room yet. Since they would leave once the sun rose, Catra woke up early and in time to wake Adora and the children up. It was obvious Adora wouldn't wake up easily after a day of work. She instead heard her groan as she woke up, huffing softly and mumbling "five more minutes..." Though of course she got up anyway, stretching and cleaning up before getting clean clothes on. They soon met with the other two and the horses with the carriage and servants. The three children got inside, thankfully it was a big one for them all to get inside. "Will you come?" She hummed for Adora to step inside. When they got there, Mara was still half asleep on her shoulder, and as soon as she saw Swift Wind she grinned, walking over "Hey buddy... You miss me?" He sniffed her hand before snorting and she giggled, rubbing his nose "I know I know... I'm sorry, big guy." She looked up when Catra offered for her to come inside, hesitating before she nodded, giving Swift Wind a few more scratches before she climbed in with her.

Bow was already outside and Glimmer was in the carriage ,half sleeping as well. Catra held close Daniel and Jackson while Jack was leaning against the window and Catra leaning close to Adora's shoulder. Most of the morning- or ..early morning- would go wasted like this though the grown ups began to wake up completely and Catra rubbed her eyes as she saw the other woman looking out of the window. Adora sat in between Catra and Jackson, letting Mara sleep against her since she was still so little. Adora held Catra's hand though, rubbing Mara's back as she slept on her shoulder, though as she started to wake up she moved her to her lap, holding her up high enough so she could look out the window.

The brown haired girl looked up at her and gave her a small smile before nuzzling to the blond one. "Hey....good morning.." She hummed ,knowing this was their actual morning wake up. She didn't know if the woman would want to spend the time with the boy or riding her old horse, who seemed to be really excited to see her again. She could take care of the children after all she had Jack's help too if she wanted it. Adora smiled softly, yawning and kissing her cheek "Good morning to you too, my love." She smiled down at Mara. Figuring she'd stay in the carriage since she hadn't gotten much chance to just.. Spend time with her kids, she took the opportunity while she could. She could take swift wind for a ride later anyway. Catra leaned more, seeking attention too while she was playing with Mara. She looked down at the child and just remained quiet while she was having her fun with it ,her tail wasn't visible and her ears twitched back "Do you think we will arrive early?" The knight smiled softly when she leaned closer, wrapping an arm around her, using her other to continue to play with and support Mara, smiling as she did. Though when a meow was heard from her bag she winced slightly, knowing she would be caught, though she didn't say anything. She also unintentionally didn't reply to her wife.

"Bow..." Glimmer huffed and remained in her seat while the other one was petting the kitty "You got bored of Swift wind too, Adora?" The girl hummed perking an eyebrow, as much as she saw them all lovey dovey made her mad. She wanted to have what Catra had. "What? No of course not! We accidentally left the window open one night and he found his way in" She won't be saying why it got left open of course, smiling softly at the kitten, scratching his chin as she held Mara "I could never get bored of him. I just don’t get enough time with my kids, and I haven't been able to spend any good amount of time with them.. Well just about anyone in here.. I can ride Swift Wind later.”

The mage remained there, eyes fixed to her window and she leaned to the wall of the carriage and closed her eyes. She did know that starting a conversation would not end up good. They were both of the women quiet, Catra only wishing she had her notebook to write at this point but she didn't have anything…

When they went quiet Adora paused for a moment before sighing softly and scooping up the kitten, setting it on her lap by Mara, smiling "hey Mara, got any name ideas for the little guy? What should we call him?" she smiled, gently petting the kitten as she held her daughter close. She already knew she'd be extra protective of her, both because she was human, unlike the other kids, and because... she didn't want to lose her, she couldn't lose another daughter. The little girl didn't know many names, her eyes looked down and rubbed the kitty's ear "Hm..... Grey !" She commented quickly and grinned. She could feel that Adora really was protective over her, she leaned close to her while sitting on her lap while holding from her because of how the carriage was shaking. Daniel though reached to pat the kitty "No... Yellow" the boy said. Adora smiled, looking down at the kitten with a soft giggle "those are colors, not names! though, I’d say he's more black then grey." she hummed softly then, looking at both of them with a smile "why don't we think about this together, take turns saying names until he responds to one? Daniel, do you want to start? Daniel can suggest one, then Mara you can, then I will, and we keep going around until he meows at the one he wants?"
"noo..... Yellow is a better name ....! "
"What!? No.... I want to do what mom says, she knows many names!"
"But I want yellow!" The boy whined and almost jumped on Catra's lap with his hips. Catra glared at the child and held him still "Don't jump, Daniel..." She already had her problems with the situation and she had the child to add more weight on her. Jackson was already getting groomed by the feline.

Adora sighed softly and chuckled, shaking her head and speaking up "hey, hey don’t argue you two. We have to talk about this, not throw a fit remember? Daniel, buddy take a deep breath okay? In, and out. One more time, okay? In, and out." She smiled softly, wanting her kids to grow up with understanding and control over their emotions, so she would teach them early on how to calm themselves down, as soon as they were old enough to understand. Though she hadn't had much opportunity till now "alright, Daniel you want to name him Yellow, right? How about this, if we set him down on the floor of the carriage, as long as everyone stays still, Daniel we can call him Yellow and if he responds then that will be his name. If not, then we can try one of Mara's suggestions, and if that doesn't work then I'll try" The boy paused at the woman's words, he remained quiet and huffed only to look up at her. "I don't think he will answer to any name... " Mara hummed and soon Catra would only get more focused on the boy in her arms ,Jack could groom himself even if he was kind of shy to do it in public, he knew he was different and he felt strange about it.

Asora smiled softly and chuckled "you'd be surprised. Animals are smarter then you think. They can learn, and they can choose names for themselves. Swiftwind actually did, surprisingly enough. I’ll tell you kids the story later" She smiled, slipping Jack a comb as she did. She knew her kids, knew Jack wouldn't groom himself in public but she wouldn't let him go without something and end up with knots in his fur, so she gave him the comb as she dealt with the kids. She set the kitten down then, petting it a few times before she pulled her hand away "now, Daniel go on and try, call for Yellow"

In the meantime the young teen shook his head as he didn't want to get anything done yet, he could take care of his fur later ... Catra looked down at him while slowly stopping with the boy's grooming "Do you want me to help?" She hummed though Jack furrowed his eyebrows "of course not...! ...I'm fine...just stop doing that mom..." He was embarrassed, they weren't alone in the carriage to groom or... Do whatever they want. He could see Glimmer being disgusted even and he felt.. bad. Catra's ears fell back but she didn't say anything ,just held the small one. She's been through a lot to start opening up about normal things felines were doing ,she wasn't there to close up again. Daniel called out the cat's name though he didn't respond.

The blonde looked up when Jack and Catra started talking, confused for a moment before looking at Glimmer, and realizing she gave her a pointed look, irritated. She knew that they were different, but that didn't mean that she would put up with her son feeling ashamed for who he was, turning to look at him again "there's nothing to be ashamed about. If they don’t like it they can get out of the carriage." She looked at them for a moment again, before turning her attention to the cat again, just leaving it at that "alright, it seems he doesn't want the name yellow. And that's okay, it's a great name. Maybe we can get you your own pet you can name. Mara, sweetie why dont you try a name? do you want to try Grey or a different one?"

Jack furrowed his eyebrows and huffed as the other girl glared at Adora and turned to Bow. "Will you help me get on your horse?" She would speak more but she wanted to have the upper hand when the right moment would come. "I want to name it Grey...! Come here..!" The girl smiled but the kitty just mewled. Catra on the other hand looked at Adora for a second as they stopped the carriage for Glimmer to go out to ride. The knight looked away then "it doesn't have to be for the whole ride. But I'm not letting you neglect yourself because of this. And I won't force you to do it in a situation that makes you uncomfortable" She turned her attention back to the cat again, smiling softly "almost! But we want to make sure he comes when he calls, if he runs off I want to make sure he comes back so he won't get hurt, just like with you kids." She paused then to think of a name, though she grabbed the kitten so they could get out without him bolting. Bow, on the other hand, nodded, looking between them all for a moment before looking away. He had watched for a bit, though he was more curious then disgusted like Glimmer was, though after a bit he had looked away to be respectful, and had tried to nudge glimmer to get her to stop. It clearly didn't work once off the carriage, he sighed softly "seriously Glimmer? You realize they're part cat, why are you so disgusted?" he huffed, but helped her onto his horse "Adora had asked you to not be rude, especially in front of her kids and you just made one of her kids super uncomfortable, that will not help you know how protective she is. Especially.. especially after her daughter died.”

The woman didn't speak, she looked up at the man "I said nothing, I did nothing and she just spoke up to me. It is disgusting for me, I guess not everyone is a fan of someone licking the other in public.." She hissed and sat down on the horse. "Will you stay out or get inside?" Bow shook his head "You didn't have to say anything. And they're just taking care of their kids the way they know how. What is your problem with them... I don't.. I don't understand." He shrugged "I like them, I think the little kids are cute. So what if they do things differently?"
"Look, they can do it, but at least keep a low profile? Adora didn't have to attack me for a quick look from me.." She hissed and patted the seat for Bow to jump. "I don't know if it was for the best to call them or for the worst..." She huffed. Bow shook his head "It wasn't a quick look and you know it. You were staring in disgust. Adora's right in this you know." He climbed up onto the horse though and they got moving again. "Bow just quit it.. she was already mad at everyone and needed something to kick me out, I won't stay there and do nothing when they could clearly groom somewhere else... I can't control my expressions after all" She shrugged ,not really wanting to continue this.
He paused for a moment before just sighing, nodding as they rode alongside the carriage "I don’t think she was. But fine.." With that, they fell quiet and let the noise of the horses echo in the woods.

"Now it's your turn mom..!" Daniel hummed for the girl to call a name and looked up at her. Catra looked at the woman before she looked away and sigh , gently moving Jackson in her arms. "Can you not be rude...? " Jack spoke after holding back his anger ,mixed with shame, why had his mom been like this? Telling the other to get out of their own carriage? That was unbelievable.

Adora paused for a moment at what Jack said, sighing softly "I wasn't rude, it was just a suggestion. And I’m not letting them make my son uncomfortable for something you should never be ashamed of. Different or not you are my son. And if they can't accept that, and accept you for who you are then they can have the decency to give you privacy instead of stare and make you feel ashamed. I wont allow it." She sighed softly, looking at him for a moment. "I had to deal with enough people thinking I wasn't going to be a good enough knight because I'm a girl. I won't let anyone make you feel the way I did. I won't let them make you feel ashamed or self conscious of who you are." She looked back down at the kitten, pausing before speaking "Melog. Why dont we try Melog? C'mere Melog, c'mon little one"

"But they are right, mom. You had no say in this. You could just not speak and let them be, I don't want to groom in front of everyone, is it that bad!? I have some manners unlike others who just groom in a carriage with everyone else...!" The too young teen hissed and crossed his arms ,if he was at home he would surely leave to his room right now. Catra on the other hand took it 'personally' since he kind of claimed she had no manners. "I don't care what we do at home, it can stay there.. here we're in their carriage ,we will be in their house. We have to be at least polite and not trigger them all the time.." He hissed and crossed his arms over his chest, sliding down his seat. The kitty mewled and walked up to her at that call, he seemed to like that name. Adora shook her head "I only suggested it, they were the ones who chose to leave. And it is bad if they're staring in disgust like that. It's not fair to any of you." She looked up at him "And don’t insult your mother like that. There is nothing wrong with grooming yourself or a baby in the carriage. I’m not letting you go without it and end up with knots in your fur." She shook his head, sighing softly and picking up the kitten "Melog it is" The little ones huffed but they both started playing with the kitty and avoided their conversation.

"None of us will end up with knots if we don't groom right now and groom later... You're acting as if I was wrong when you were the one in fault and you know it. Not everyone likes to see someone licking in public but you or mom don't get it.." The boy hissed, fur puffed and crossed his arms over his chest. He wouldn't look at her only to glare while fixing his glance outside the window. Catra decided to slide in the conversation as the other three little ones were staring at the brother and mom now "Stop you, two. Adora, Jack is right and I didn't realize she was actually getting disgusted by it... If I'm the reason you kicked her out, apologize to her.." She was living without worrying about dirt or disgusting things for months now but she did remember how she once was... She felt bad for changing because of the life they were doing, she might also start to get used to the previous royal life again, the one she was supposed to have and not ... The poor one. Adora paused for a moment, taking a deep breath to calm herself before she spoke "I didn't kick her out. I suggested that if she didn't like it that she should leave. I never told her, or made her leave." She picked up the kitten and put him on her lap with Mara "I don’t want anyone making any of you feel ashamed for who you are. You shouldn’t feel like you have to hide like I did"

"That made her leave, it's obvious you told her to leave since you knew she didn't like it" She glared at the woman and crossed her arms over her chest "We don't hide... Jack is right ,I didn't think about it twice okay? Some things are meant to stay in private.." She huffed and looked up at her. The other sat back, still looking down at the kitten "I'm not backing down on this. We aren't in public, we're in a carriage, which they are free to leave if they don’t like something. I never told her to do anything." She was trying to stay calm and talk about this rather than argue, due to the kids in there with them. "But clearly you guys aren't going to back up on this either, and I don’t want to argue with all of you for the trip.."
"It's their carriage, their rooms we will be living in till we get back home...." She huffed and looked up at her only to give her a glare. "Please apologize to her... At least try to... I will..too." She hummed and looked down at Daniel. Jack was obviously mad at Adora and just sat there in silence. The woman paused for a moment before sighing and nodding "Alright.. And I'm sorry to you too, Jack. I shouldn't have done that” She looked up at him then "Next time we stop I'll apologize to them” The feline nodded and sighed only to look at her and sigh. "Thanks..." She didn't want to have any bad feelings while living in their house.. Jack was still kind of mad still but tried to not continue it. Adora nodded, looking at Jack for a moment, kissing the top of his head "I love you kiddo. I’m.. A little too protective I think..." She chuckled softly and shook her head, sitting back with a soft sigh "And I'm sorry"

"Yes you are... I just want to rest..." He sighed and continued to stay on his side leaning on the wall and trying to get a little sleepy. Catra smiled down at Jackson only to give him a small kiss on his forehead. Her eyes closed while leaning back to rest. She was tired and anxious at the same time. The minutes passed by quickly and hours got spent with them being just laying there or having small talks with Jack.

Adora nodded, sitting back again. She felt bad, though the way Glimmer was staring had truly pissed her off. She held Mara close, kissing the top of her head before smiling slightly "Everyone, meet Melog." Catra smiled a little and rolled her eyes. "You really are going to spend a lot of time with the kitten, aren't you?" She chuckled and looked at her only to lean close to her to nuzzle. The woman smiled and leaned against her "Of course I am!" She let the kitten down and it crawled into Catra's lap and she smiled "He likes you too" She kissed her cheek, looking at Jack for a moment

"We should be stopping for lunch soon, I think it's about time"

The stable boy

Chapter Notes

It's been a while since I've updated but I'm not leaving this story!

I hope you're all healthy and safe at home<3 Thank you all who keep reading this story ,you have a special place in my heart<3

Also I wanted to make sure you all know; Magicats in this story age up quickly, months are passing by and they may be even one or two years older, in one winter and summer they become older for one or two years. So that makes Jack and 'Lena' be somewhere between 12-13 years old (at this point/chapter) while the triplets are somewhere between their five or six . When they're babies they grow up even faster, that's why Catra usually needs one or two months to deliver a baby<3

" I don't know what they will have or...if they don't have anything to eat for the trip... They said it was a short trip after all..” Catra looked up at her and petted the kitten. Jack was staring out still. Being separated from Adora was kind of good for now.

Adora paused for a moment before nodding "Yeah, I'll ask if they don’t stop soon." She looked out of the window again and smiled "Nevermind... I recognize where we are. We probably won't stop for lunch but we'll be there soon." She hummed. She let Jack be on his own though she had an idea for when they got to Brightmoon.

Catra was already laying and feeling the boy playing with the kitty on her lap while she was resting. She could see Adora was thinking about something though she did look at her before she closed her eyes again for the rest of the trip to find the perfect garden in front of her. The same garden they were longing to kiss into back in the good days. Her eyes looked at a certain balcony and she continued to daydream. Imagining Adora to be by her side. She was placing gentle kisses on her and held her hand while looking at their garden. Catra always wanted to have a colourful garden like the one in the BrightMoon. After what seemed to be hours she felt the carriage stop. She heard Jack speaking finally.

"Let's go, shall we?” He was obviously looking forward to arriving there and having a personal room. A place only for himself.

Adora looked up and smiled softly while nodding and putting the kitten on her shoulder. She let it ride there as she got out and looked around before looking at Jack "Why don't you help me put Swiftwind away? It won't take us long." And she wanted to talk to him of course even though she hoped that would be clear without being said.

Catra took the kids inside the castle to settle in their rooms and Jack obviously knew she wanted to talk to him which is why he didn't want to go with her "Not long talks, mom" He huffed but followed her to lead Swift wind. He started to guide the horse to the stable. On the other hand Adora walked with him while patting Swift wind's neck as he snorted

"No, it won't be long I promise." She gave him a slight smile and once they were far enough away from everyone she started talking "I know I overreacted and escalated the situation when I didn't need to. I'm sorry for that. I realise that I'm.. much more protective of you kids then I used to be and in some ways that's making it harder for us to be a real family. The way she was staring made me angry and I didn’t listen to my own advice." She got Swift Wind in his stall and looked at him then "I'm sorry for that. I don't want you to be embarrassed or upset because you're different. And I let that cloud be my judgement."

"I clearly told you why I am...and at least mom got it and didn't push me to stop." The boy spoke but soon got taken back by another young one. His brown eyes and messy dirty blond hair.

"you're.. You're Shera!?!" The young teen gasped in surprise. Jack on the other hand stared at him as the boy held her hands “What ... What are you doing here!? Not fighting in battles with these mages!"

Adora looked at him for a moment before sighing "I was angry and I didn’t listen to you, I-" Interrupted by the boy she looked up. She was confused for a moment before she smiled "Yes, yes I am." She paused when he mentioned the mages before kneeling down "I have been, but I have a question for you. You're the stable hand, right?" When he agreed she smiled "My horse swift wind needs a very special young boy to care for him. Do you think you're up to the task?"

The boy obviously nodded to this, hand up high to the side of his head as if he was in the military already. Knowing Shera was fighting along with the Bright Moon's soldiers and then was an actual commander of the Horde army was enough for the younger muscular kid to act like this. "Of course I am. I will do my best though I can see he needs food and water first... How long has he been wandering around?" The young one spoke while allowing Swift wind to sniff his hand before he guided the horse further into the stable.

Jack looked at him while he was still trying to avoid the conversation with his mom. It was obvious that he was glad that boy interrupted them.

The blond woman stood up again and rubbed Jack’s back but she didn't say anything. She had said her piece now it was time to let Jack forgive her at his own pace. "I'm not sure. Since our castle was hit by the mages. I'm not sure when he got here." She hummed and looked at Jack "You want to help him? I know you like horses"

"yeah... I'll stay by and help him" The boy hummed, seeing this as an opportunity to finally meet another teen and finally get Adora off his back. He remained there as Catra and the other children got settled in their rooms. The room of theirs was already beside Glimmer's so if they needed anything she could ask. Her eyes looked up at the room and scanned it before she undressed. Thankfully they had a bathtub and she was able to finally take a bath to calm down.

Adora nodded, kissing the top of his head before leaving him in the stall with a soft smile to the stable boy before she headed for their rooms. She walked in right as she undressed and raised an eyebrow with a grin "hello to you too, my love" she giggled when she saw her wife without any clothes on.

The feline chuckled and rolled her eyes after turning to look at her "You came in just in time, darling" She smiled as her still scarred yet curvy and slimmer than a year ago body was revealed as she leaned over to pull the curtains closed. "Will you join me in the bath?" She hummed.

The warrior walked over and wrapped her arms around her to kiss her then she looked down at her with a soft smile. "I would be delighted to." She traced her fingers over a few of her scars and kissed her forehead before she pulled her own clothing off. She walked with her to join her in the tub.

The feline grinned and leaned to the kiss while shivering by the touch on her back and her scars. She held her to guide her into the tub. She finally had it ready so she jumped in, leaning close to her and laying against her. "I love you ... I missed this." She whispered.

Adora climbed in after her, sitting behind her and letting Catra lean against her. She smiled before kissing the top of her head and mumbling "I missed this too.. I love you so much. I heard Glimmer mentioning some sort of party tonight.. I didn't hear what for." She hummed while nuzzling into her neck then put her arms around her waist "I'm gonna work out after this I think... It's been too long since I have.. I want to get back up to where I was... I have the food and time now"

Catra purred. Her head nuzzled back at her and enjoyed the warmth she provided. Her eyes closed as she began to calm down. "It's to celebrate your arrival. She wanted you to have a great arrival after all and Bow said a celebration would be nice. She said she would call some of the royals as well since princesses have... Many things to do" She hummed and took a soft breath, nuzzling close to her. "You should...and I should with you too..we have a war to fight...and get my home back.... I... Still feeling awful I left Daniella's body laying....." Her voice was soft yet too quiet to the last words though.

The other one nodded as she listened. She sighed softly and shook her head with a soft chuckle "yeah... princesses are always piled up to their necks with things they have to do..." she hummed, nuzzling into her neck and mumbling "you want to exercise with me? Really?" She smiled softly and held her close while gently rubbing her stomach idly. "That would be hot to watch, if I'm being honest." She didn't want to mention Daniella at that moment for the sake of their time together. "Hot? I'd say it will be hilarious"

The feline chuckled and took a deep breath, letting her hold her close and smiling as she rubbed her stomach. "I don't want to not be able to land a hit if I have to...so yes.. I want to practise too.." She paused before adding "Soo... Lets play a game...I can remember you getting all flushed because I walked out with the towel in this palace~" She smirked and nuzzled close to her, remembering their first days.

Adora raised an eyebrow and giggled "I think it would be hot.. being able to see you work up a sweat. To watch you like you used to watch me when I worked out" She teased, pressing a kiss to her shoulder and mumbling "A game huh? What do you have in mind?" When she mentioned the towel she grinned then "and can you blame me?"

"We will remember every single moment before we officially marry...all the good moments we had just like the one I told you~" She replied and looked up at her only to pepper her neck and chin with kisses "it's our turn~" Adora grinned, kissing her for a moment and mumbling "does that mean I need to get drunk and stand guard outside your room again?" she hummed and giggled as she kissed her neck before gasping and lifting her head up

"you remember our first time sleeping together, don't you?" The feline tilted her head to the side so she could actually feel her kisses and lips against her skin

"How could I forget it? You were so hot.. I couldn't even resist touching myself" She chuckled and leaned closer

"I also remember how we shared these quick glances during the feasts.... Your blue eyes were magnetic."

Adora grinned, holding her closer then while continuing to press soft kisses to her neck and shoulder "That would definitely be fun to do again... pretend I'm just your guard. Standing in front of your room while you tempt me with the sounds of you touching yourself.. calling my name. Calling for your guard" She whispered with a smile at the mention of the glances during the feast "and the dances... I remember how you couldn't look away from me, even with my mask."

"Ah stop... you really want me to call your name, huh?" Catra chuckled and pushed her playfully before resting back again to enjoy the kisses. "I really found your eyes beautiful.... I was tired and bored of trying to seduce anyone Light Spinner wanted, but you..you were different" She admitted and sighed waiting for her turn to speak.
"Maybe. Can you blame me? you do seem to really enjoy when I call you my queen" The blond teased, though she stopped with the kisses just nuzzling her neck again "I found your eyes gorgeous too... I mean you have one gold and one blue eye. How could I not?"
"I do enjoy it.. I can't lie about it~" Catra leaned close and giggled at her. Her eyes closed and took a short breath "I'm sure they were the weirdest eyes you've ever seen~" She replied and made the warrior scoff "they were the most beautiful eyes I had ever seen "she smiled, kissing the top of her head again and mumbled "I love you so much... I have loved you since I first saw you"

"I loved you too... I felt my heart beat so fast...I couldn't even say if this was love or not.. " She hummed and kissed her lips only to nuzzle close to her. "I liked that you were so stubborn.." That made Adora laugh softly and kiss her shoulder "that I was stubborn? Really that's what it was?" She hummed then looked at her. "yes.... I really liked how you didn't give up on me.... Even if Glimmer told you the truth about me .... And even if you knew I got married ... I mean... It meant a lot to me" She hummed while stroking her thigh gently at this point. Adora smiled softly and hugged her closer then "I love you way too much to let you marry someone else. I couldn't" She nuzzled into her while smiling and closing her eyes before kissing her shoulder."I know..... I couldn't believe you would actually do it..." Catra leaned in and gave her a small kiss on her lips "I loved everything about you..." Adora smiled and kissed her gently "I love you so much.." She mumbled while kissing her again and again then giggling "you're so cute..."

"no... You... I want to spend the rest of my life with you..."Catra hummed and nuzzled close to her only to rub her knee. Her ears perked down and closed her eyes. The blue eyed woman smiled while hugging her closer and mumbling "I love you so much... I'm so happy to have you and the kids..."

"we...should really consider teaching the rest of the kids to fight.." She whispered and nuzzled against her before she took a sharp breath "I want us to live in peace in our kingdom with our children.." Catra daydreamed while making the other one nod and rub her arm gently "I will.. I'll start them soon. I promise" she nuzzled her back "I wish we could.... soon, my love... Some day our fighting will be done and we can live in peace"

"I will be able to...teach them some things about the politics behind wars and things like that... It will be different and... difficult to do so without Daniella..though" She sighed and looked away before she closed her eyes and soon she stood up to give her a small kiss and jump out of the tub. "I ...will take a nap, okay?" Obviously she would take it naked.

The other one nodded while rubbing her sides for a bit. When Catra got out she climbed out after her and wrapped a towel around her waist, though she didn't care her chest was showing "alright, my love. Do you mind if I join you after I work out?" she kissed her cheek before she started drying off her body.

While drying off her body Catra was looking at her and she gave her a small nod before she wagged her tail "But you'll have to be clean...." Yes the old habits never go away even if she had to drop them for a while. The slim feline walked in the room and crawled under the sheets. Her body finally felt relaxed again.

Adora laughed softly, smiling, kissing her gently for a moment as she remembered how obsessed she was. "I know my love. I will. Don't worry"
"Perfect, now go~We will be waiting for you in the celebration after all..You can't be all sweaty... " She smiled and rested in the bed. Adora giggled softly "I know.. I know. I won't be, I promise." She kissed her cheek, before she got to work out. Catra would stay back in the room while the warrior dressed and went out to the small yard the palace had for now to work out.

Meanwhile the stable boy was trying to get to know of this new boy who just arrived into the palace. He soon tilted his head "are you her son? I didn't know she had kids, what is she like?" he smiled at him before he got to work with Swift wind.

The young one sighed and walked beside the horse as he nodded to his question "Yeah..... Unfortunately. Sometimes..she's really stubborn" He huffed and looked at the ground not really wanting to talk about her.

The other one smiled softly then "well she is a knight and a commander! I'm not that surprised she's stubborn, though she's...not as muscular as I thought she would be." He looked at him while pausing for a moment before gasping "I'm so sorry. I'm so rude. My name is Raiden. What's your name?"

The boy chuckled at his words "She was but now with.. the mages and the fact we've been .. literally kicked out of our home she wasn't able to work out too much ,only work in the fields.. I'm Jack, nice to meet you" He smiled a little. He seemed so ..nice to hang around with a first look.

Raiden smiled as well before nodding "oh right yeah... that makes sense, well I'm glad you're all back, you seem really nice! Do you maybe wanna be friends? There aren't many other boys here my age, or girls for that matter... there aren't many kids around here, most squires are already older.. I wanna be a squire. I'd love to be a knight!"

The prince grinned and leaned back to stand straight only to shrug. "I'm sure you will become a knight one day. You have the ..body shape. Mom was teaching me how to fight so ... I bet she wouldn't mind teaching you too."

With that information the other one widened his eyes as they lit up while looking up at him "really? Do you think so? I'd love to learn!" he smiled with a pause "and if not you could teach me, right?"

The brown haired blinked but nodded after thinking about it "y..eah I can but I will have to rest for a while... you know..travelling is boring but makes you tired sometimes" He admitted but at the same time he felt like he wanted to learn more about the boy "So.. where are your parents? How did you end up in the palace's stable?"
Raiden smiled and nodded "oh I know. We don't have to start today! But if your mom won't teach me you could!" He got more and more excited about it while brushing off Swift wind "oh, my dad is still in the city outside the castle. He.. well... Ma died a while ago.. Last winter. Dad couldn't afford to keep me around so he sold me off to the castle as a stable boy. I still send some of my money I earn home to him.. I don’t really know how he's doing.."

Jack didn't know this could happen. His eyebrows furrowed and he tapped his foot on the floor "He sold you? And you sent money to him..why? Didn't you feel mad or...argued with him? You're not a horse to sell.." The boy felt his heart racing because of how that all sounded. How could someone sell their child?
The other one shook his head "no, honestly I'm not. Ma died and without her income as well he couldn't afford to keep me. He needed the money. I'm not angry at him for that... it's not his fault ma died or that he couldn't afford it. But that's why I want to be a knight. I want to be able to protect people and have enough money to help people like me"

"Did… she die of sickness? Because trust me..knights can't heal" He hummed, He obviously felt strange for starting a conversation like this but he was still curious. Raiden paused for a moment and shook his head "mages.... I had a brother. They... they thought he and ma were using dark magic.. They killed them and I want revenge.." He paused his work on Swift wind while looking at him "..but with your mom joining the fight I know they won't win. We'll beat them. I know we will"

Jack felt his hands getting cold. His words hit him even if these two years had passed. His eyes looked away and paused the tapping on the ground "Yes.... I suppose they'll win..." He wasn't as optimistic since he had seen her fight but the last defeat made it hard to believe it. The blond nodded just standing there for a bit before he went back to work "I know we will. We have to. The good guys always win, right? That's how it always is in the stories... She's like the hero!"

"I don't know....we don’t seem to win.." He replied coldly and shrugged "But this time might be different....Hopefully we won't lose more people.." He could tell he was sad by this conversation. He lost Lena. Since then he didn’t believe the good guys always win. They’ve been through a lot to believe that. Raiden looked over at him then he shook his head "I think they will lose" he smiled slightly at Jack while noticing the dark coloured cloak he was still wearing and covering his head. "Why are you wearing that cloak? It's so hot are you burning up in there?"

"My....skin will get a sunburn..so... it's safer like this to stay hidden" He smiled nervously and rubbed the back of his head. "So...yeah..that's all" He was honestly too shy to expose his ears like that, Catra didn't care about it even though she was wearing a hooded cloak back in the village. Perhaps for other reasons than because of her ears.

The blonde one paused for a moment "but...we're in a stable. You're in the shade you can take it off, don't worry" He smiled at him and walked over "what is it, really? Cross my heart, hope to die, won't tell a soul" He crossed his heart before lifting his hand. He couldn't really believe that it was just him being scared of the sun.

Jack though took a small step back, almost stuttering "I-It's that... Really I am not even warm enough, don't worry." He furrowed his eyebrows and looked at the other young teen.

Raiden tilted his head as he watched him. He was still confused "it can't be that bad.. and I'm burning up just in my tunics and slacks.. seriously, it's just us here... I won't tell anyone, I promise."

Jack took a soft breath and looked away. He didn't feel comfortable to show anything to him, actually he didn't want to show him his ears. "Fine..." He spoke after a while and sighed before slowly showing his ears and tail to him by pulling off his cloak.

Even though he was expecting a laugh Jack could see Raiden staring at the ears for a moment with his eyes being wide open as he saw them "that's so COOL! They look so cool. They're real??? wow! What's it like? How much can you hear!" Seeing the tail more he just gasped again "....and you have a tail!!!!"

Jack was so anxious at first but he chuckled at his gasps."I... It's nothing special. I can hear better than ..you" He hummed and looked up at him. "You... Can touch the tail if you want... You seem to be really excited”

The stableboy obviously grinned at the invitation. "really? really? thank you!" He grinned and sat on the ground near him. He reached out to touch his tail before running his fingers through it and just moving it through his hands "this is so cool... you're like... part cat, part human. That must be awesome!" he looked up at him, still gently holding the tail.

"Ye..ah.. I am, I don't think it's so cool. It's just ...unique? If I can say that." He hummed. He could feel her cheeks almost burning at this point by the rubs on his tail. Raiden on the other hand grinned ”what do you mean? That's awesome! I wish I could be like you! It must be so cool being able to hear so much! and- and this tail is awesome! Your eyes look really cool too" he stood up again just grabbing his face to look at his eyes before looking at his ears "you look so cool, I'm so jealous"

Jack stared at him. His personal space was gone now as it seemed but he… strangely didn’t care. His heart beat faster "I... Thanks.. it's... really not a big deal" He looked at his eyes. He was completely distracted by the other and leaned almost faintly close to him.

The other young boy looked at him while running a finger over his cheek then "are you like... completely covered in fur? Everywhere? It’s so soft.." he mumbled then looked down at him.

“Y...yes I am.. you see... The fur really gets too warm when I'm not covered from the sun" The prince hummed trying so hard to hide his blush as he was still frozen in place. He didn't show his fur or let anyone touch it before.
The blond’s eyes widened again "can I see?" Realising how that sound he blushed, letting go of his head "I just.. Y'know, I don’t know, maybe take your shirt off or something?"

Jack did realise how weird it sounded too and couldn’t do anything else but blush. He only thought of it and raised his shirt a little "Here ... I am all covered .." He paused before adding "Do you want to ..... Talk about something else?" He was shy as the other could tell.

Raiden looked for a moment before blushing and looking away "I’m sorry, yeah I'm sorry that was weird.." He scratched the back of his neck, flustered and embarrassed now.

The prince wanted to try and lean close but he really was too..... Anxious about it. It felt strange and they had just a short conversation, not even about themselves. Jack looked at Raiden as eyes flickered from his eyes down to his chin and lips. Tail slowly wrapped around the other one's wrist, expressing the emotion that he couldn't admit or explain yet.

The stable boy felt the tail around his wrist and smiled softly while putting his other hand on the tail. He didn't know much about him but he knew that this had to mean something, so he used his other hand to run his fingers through the fur on his tail. He looked down at his lips as well, pausing for a moment.

Jack's cheeks flushed red, he didn't make it better... The rub on his tail felt good but he tried to ...not let this affect him too much. "D.. do you stay here in the palace?” He looked at him and tried to hold himself back from purring as he was already close to him. The blond hesitated before shaking his head "no, not in the palace... I stay close to the stables... I'm still on palace grounds though if... if you ever wanna visit.." he was still a bit flustered. His cheeks pink from it as he watched the boy in front of him "you have really p-.. cool eyes.."

"I..will someday. If you want to show me around too.. I don't mind" He smiled at the .. compliment and he leaned close giving him a gentle yet risky and playful kiss on his lips. He didn't even know if he was just admiring him or he liked him but he couldn't resist. For now the boy had his eyes closed and his lips pressed on his, scared to let go.

He knew from his moms that they kissed a lot like that so that must mean that they were having strong feelings for each other.. right?

Life will make you grow. Dreams will make you cry.

Raiden blushed in surprise at the kiss but he smiled. He stepped a bit closer to kiss him back. The kiss was... a little awkward. They were kids and did not entirely know what they were doing but Raiden did his best. He was standing close to him with a soft smile against the kiss.

Unfortunately, for them, Adora walked into the stables. She wanted to find Jack to train with him and get him started on that as well as give herself something to do until the party. She had already finished working out, having to stop sooner than she liked due to a lack of muscles she once had. She looked around but didn’t see him so she immediately walked towards Swift Wind's stall "Jack?"

Even if none of them knew perfectly how to do things the brown haired boy raised his hand coyly to cup his cheek between the kiss but immediately he pulled himself back when he heard the voice of his mom with wide open eyes. "I-uh..... I'm sorry" He didn't know what to say. Was he okay with it? He would have to calm down and get rid of hs blush too before his mom arrives. Raiden was just reaching up when he jumped back as well hearing his mom's voice. Eyes wide for a moment before realising he was apologising for the kiss and blushed softly "No. No I-... it’s good. I liked it... I was.. I've been wanting to kiss you for a while.."

Finally getting to the stall Adora leaned on the door with a chuckle "There you are. Hey kid. Jack, we have some time before the party and it's been a while since we've trained together. Feel up for a little one on one?" She grinned. The boy was smiling at that moment and knowing he wanted to kiss him too made his heart warm ".....sure I'll be there in a minute mom..." He hummed while wanting her to leave again but still wanting to train with her. Adora nodded "alright. I'll be right outside. Oh and kid. When you're done with Swift wind if you want to watch feel free! I'll be right outside the stables waiting" she walked away then. She could tell something had happened but as to what she wasn't sure. Raiden looked up at his mother then, smiling up at her until she left. He looked back at him with a soft smile but he stayed there "I.. live right around the back of the stables... I have a small room there. Can I show you where it is before you go out with your mom?" he offered his hand to him while still smiling.

"yeah that'd be nice~" The other one replied and took his hand for a second to hold him gently "I bet you already know it but.... I..like you.... " He didn't know how else to say it and Adora was finally away again. Maybe she interrupted them for the best. The other young one smiled only to squeeze his hand and step forward "I.. I like you too... " he paused then "are-.. are we dating? or- do you want to date? me? Do you want to date me?" He was clearly flustered… not sure how to word his question and ended up fumbling around a bit. There was no dating concept these days so this word was different. The prince nodded and smiled a little while trying to hide his excitement. "I'd love that. Will you..show me your place? Mom will start wondering where I am already" He chuckled as his tail was still wrapped around his wrist. He loved the feeling of touching his tail even if he just met him.. How was that even possible?

Raiden nodded with a soft giggle and led the way through the stables and to the back of them. There was a back door so Adora wouldn't see them. He showed him where his room was once they got there. He hesitated before kissing his cheek "you should probably get going... but this is where I sleep. It's.. not much... but it's home."
The boy scanned the whole place. It reminded him of the room he used to sleep in not too long ago. A small breath was taken and he smiled at the kiss. He cupped his cheek only to wrap his arms around him and coyly place his head on his neck while purring. "We can stay by when you don't have any work...and you could always sneak into my room too" He pulled away after a while. He had a crush on him because of how cute and handsome he was. Jack paused for a moment and gave him a quick kiss. The blond grinned when he heard the other boy purr when he wrapped his arms around him and nodded

"I know all the secret entrances. All I need to know is where your room is." He smiled, kissing him back and walking with him up to Swift Wind's stall before he had to let him go so he could finish with the horses. With that being said Jack ran back while speaking with more.. Excitement this time " 'm back." He hummed when he ran back to the front entrance of the stables. Adora was looking over at him with a grin on her face while raising an eyebrow "so? how was it?" The boy smiled a little and shrugged "It was nice. I suppose.... It's nice to talk to someone else other than siblings and ...you two" He paused "I..do have the dagger you gave me and..Lena. Do you want to practise with that?" The woman raised an eyebrow "that's not what I meant. I don't know what I walked in on but it was definitely something. So, what happened? If you don't mind telling me. You don't have to" she hummed softly but stood up after hesitating and nodding "yeah I-... yeah, that's probably a good idea to practise with a dagger." She was still thoughtful about it.

"....it was really nothing mom... He wanted to see my tail and ears.... That's all..." The boy took a deep breath and leaned away only to look at her and pull out the dagger "I mean...you didn't bring any other weapon or...wooden one...so what do you want to do?" He mumbled and put the daggers aside since he saw how much she hesitated to practise with them. Adora paused before nodding since she knew that he didn't want to tell her. She didn't push it this time and instead shrugged " Brightmoon has plenty of wooden daggers. I'm sure we can pop by and take one or two... I don't think they'll notice as long as we return them" She grinned then while crossing her arms and looking at him "...and as long as you don't go tattling on me to your mother for this, yeah?"
"I can't promise anything!" The boy grinned too and looked at her only to wait for her to show him the way. He obviously missed that. After taking the weapons he began to practise with her. Adora laughed as she showed him the way to where they kept the practice weapons and grinning when she realised they had not changed a thing. She grabbed them two wooden daggers before heading out to practise. Raiden, after he finished with her horse, came out to watch as he leaned against the wall and smiled even though Adora didn't notice right away "c'mon Jack! Hit me. You know I can take it. Don’t hold back! I want everything you can give me!"

The boy was out of breath but did his best and landed several good hits especially when he had Raiden to watch. He really wanted to show off his abilities. He thrusted the dagger against her skin. His eyes looked up at him and tried to show that he didn't pay attention if he was watching him or not. He jumped and thrusted or slid the dagger. When Adora finally noticed him she raised an eyebrow but 'slipped up' allowing him to get her on the ground with a grunt. She grinned while looking up at him. "Nice job." She got up, dusted herself off and glanced up at the sun. "I think it's about time to get ready but it seems like your friend finally decided to join us. You can stay out just don’t be too late, okay? I need time to make sure you're dressed and look nice for the celebration." She kissed the top of his head then.

Jack didn't know if she did it on purpose or not. He nodded at her words. That meant it was time for him to practise with the other one and he gave her a small grin "Okay. Thanks mom..! I won't be late" He hummed and rushed close to the other. Adora chuckled softly and nodded while smiling softly as he walked away. Raiden looked at him with a smile "that was so cool! I wish I could fight like you but.. I heard you had to get ready for the celebration, right?"

"Yes, but I can teach you some things if you want ...I will get ready later." He smiled and held his hand to guide him further while telling him how to position himself and how to hold the wooden dagger. He also guided his hand so he could strike correctly. Raiden grinned as he stood up again "really? thank you!" He focused when he was being taught. He wasn't as flexible or as fast or agile as Jack was but he did his best to recreate what he was taught. Jack chuckled at him when he was failing sometimes. He looked at him and at times tried to fix his position again and again or give him some advice about how to not fall so easily. "Maybe the dagger is ... difficult for you, I mean... Sword and shield fighting would be better for you" He hummed but the other one shook his head in denial before huffing "no, no I wanna learn this... I wanna learn what you learned" The boy shrugged and rolled his eyes "Okay okay... I know how to fight with a sword too though... We could practise on that too?" He offered but did help him to learn this as best as he could. Sometimes he was blushing when he was getting pinned or too close but who could blame him? He loved his eyes. Raiden paused after a while before sighing "alright alright. A sword is cool too. That would be fun to learn." Noticing how flustered he got, Raiden liked to get close on purpose then to tease him while giggling softly as he did. Jack obviously knew he was doing that on purpose but he lasted till it was the time for him to leave. He wished so much to take him to the celebration but.. it wasn't his mom's kingdom to decide. He smiled a little and embraced him as a goodbye for now before he turned around "I'll see you tomorrow" The boy smiled but as he walked one of his real daggers fell off his bag. The blond one smiled, hugged him back and said his goodbyes while managing to sneak a kiss onto his cheek with a smile. When he saw the dagger though he ran forward and grabbed it before lifting it up "Jack!! You dropped your dagger! Jack!"

The teen looked back. He didn't go far after all but rushed back to him and grabbed the dagger quickly "Y..yeah thanks" He couldn't even imagine losing his sister’s dagger after all. He stared at it for a moment and smiled a little "Thanks again... I should be going" He mumbled quickly and turned around again. This time he had it in a tight grip. He was clearly nervous and Raiden noticed it. He held it out for him with a nod "of course it.. seems expensive. It must be important." He paused before adding "I might be a server at the celebration. So you might be able to see me" he smiled awkwardly. "it... It is actually. It's one that I would never sell or exchange" The brown haired hummed as he halted his steps but the next words only made him smile. "Alright, I'll see you there then" He wanted to talk with him for the whole night honestly but he didn't have the time. The night sky was visible and the celebrations would soon begin.

All this time Catra was laying in bed while sleeping and dreaming of how they were. How Adora was in the first days she met her. How she approached her from behind and how she was slowly kissing her. The feline was smiling in her sleep. After not too long the girl had to get ready for the night's celebration. She would obviously need help but as she thought even the servants were as cold as Glimmer towards her so...she would just wait in her petticoat till Adora arrived. She put on some rose red lipstick and fixed her hair up only to tap on her desk while waiting. She began to read a book after some minutes of peace and quiet.

The children were ready and playing with each other and with the kitten in their room. Mara was in a cute lilac dress and the other two boys in shorts with knee high socks and black pants and top. The white shirt underneath had a small ribbon around their collar. Daniel and Jackson were trying to chase the kitty around the room while Mara was only trying to pet it.
Adora came into her wife’s room, walking over and kissing the top of her head "hello my love. I gave Jack a small training session before I came up.. seems he made friends with the stable boy here"
"Aw really? Finally he .. has some friends" She smiled a bit and stood up grabbing her corset and looking at her "Can you help me with this? I don't have my maids anymore" She hummed trying to not show she just didn't have the basic servant service there.
Adora looked at the corset while walking over and kissing her cheek "you know how I feel about you wearing these, my love. Do you have to?" she huffed after hugging her from behind to nuzzle into her neck “I think you look gorgeous without them"
“I can't go out without a corset.... It's my underwear after all Adora... I told you before... I didn't wear it to not ruin it all this time but now that I can..." She hummed and positioned it before pulling her hair aside and waiting for her to tie the ropes. "Tie it up, else I'll tell Mara to do it“ She chuckled teasingly. Adora huffed "why not? it can't be that important..." she grumbled when she was practically ordered to tie it up while grumbling the entire time she tied it and when she was done she pulled her back against her "this is coming off as soon as we're back in the room"

"Agh... You're whining so much... As if it's something that tortures me, you don't like the corsets I wear?" She perked an eyebrow in return as her back leaned on her chest and touched her cheek. The warrior let out a real whine then "I just think you look better without them is that so bad?" she pouted while looking at her through the mirror and leaning her head so her chin could touch her shoulder. "It's not, but corsets are important for women unless it's you who doesn't even try to wear them" Catra chuckled and nuzzled close to her "You should get a quick bath and get ready though.. As much as I want to argue about this we have to be ready. Especially you~" The blonde one grumbled "if it's not then you shouldn't wear one... you look gorgeous without one. You shouldn't have to wear one of those death traps" She huffed and kissed her cheek before nodding "fine fine... I'll climb in the bath real quick. I love you, baby" she kissed her cheek before heading to bathe. The feline chuckled. At least this one was something Adora didn't change her opinion about. She laid back while being completely prepared and soon she would stand up to choose Adora's clothes so she would wear them and they would be good to go.

Adora looked up at her from the tub and giggled "Hey gorgeous. Oo, thanks for getting my clothes ready. I'm almost done" She lifted an arm then beckoned her closer while sitting up to give her a soft kiss on her hand and she got close enough "I love you" She whispered. A soft quiet giggle escaped Catra's lips. "I love you too, my darling..." She smiled and knelt to help her up. "Come on...we will be late" The feline helped her to dress up. She chose a white suit for her with gold symbols on its collar. As soon as she got dressed she made sure of them to match outfits just a little bit. After so long she wore a white dress with hints of gold and black on its torso part. She had to put on something white since Lena's death..
She gave her a small kiss on her cheek only to guide her outside. Adora adjusted her shirt before walking with her wife and pausing when they walked past the children's room. "I'm going to call them. Give me a second." She smiled and knocked on the door before peeking her head inside. "Hey kids~ Are you comin'?"

Jackson was already holding Daniel's low ponytail tight as he was trying to catch the kitty Mara was holding. "Ma! They're chasing Melog!" Mara whined and held Melog close to her chest while her white gloves were gently scratching his ears. "Boys… look at the mess you've made! If your mom sees it…." She sighed and shook her head before leaning over to pick Mara up. "No one's gonna hold Melog.. Only Mara tonight. Do you want to take him with you? But you'll have to take good care of him." She poked her nose while holding her in one arm. "Yes! Of course! I won't let him out of my sight, mother!" The young girl smiled brightly and nuzzled close to him while the kitty was purring and making the other two magicats stare at him. Eyes dilated. He really made the same sounds they were making. Mara was lucky enough to have taken after Adora so she wasn't a feline either. "Alright, boys come and… Daniel, let me fix your ponytail first… Catra won't be pleased to see you like that" The young one huffed and looked away only to let Adora fix his hair and follow her outside. Lately Jackson and Daniel were getting in a lot of fights so she started to feel strange about it. Was it normal for them to fight or argue so much? She never had two boys to take care of. Jack was so different. More mature. The woman walked all the way up to Catra with the children by her side.

"Everything alright?" The feline hummed and gave her a small smile. "Yeah.. some issues with the boys.. We can talk about it later, okay babe?" Adora smiled and wrapped one arm around her waist while walking.

There were guards around the place obviously. The children and Jack obviously were all ready and walked down to the dinning room for the celebration. There Adora could see several of the rest of the knights she was spending her time with except Bow of course and some of the royals Glimmer kept ties with as well. Catra didn't know... Anyone but she gave them a small smile as she walked down to take a seat beside her wife. Glimmer proposed of course as she raised her glass up with a bright smile while not paying much attention to anyone but her friend. Adora was looking around. She smiled at all the familiar faces there even though she knew her wife would be nervous surrounded by strangers like they were so she walked with her to their seats and sat down when Glimmer toasted. She lifted her own drink as well while shaking her head with a soft chuckle. She really didn't believe that all of this was necessary but she would go along with it. If it made her friends happy. She took a drink after the toast and closed her eyes with a mumble "fuck I missed good wine.." Catra chuckled and lifted the glass to the height of her lips "And I thought you missed the taste of the pub's beer" She teased quietly. The music was playing with some of the royals leading the dance. "It has been a while since we had such a celebration and the kids seem to be happy too. Cheering and dancing." She admitted. Adora giggled softly while holding her other hand "I did but there's only so long you can drink watered down piss before you start to miss the good stuff again" She smiled at her while staying away from the dancing for a bit. She decided to just stay sitting with her wife and let their kids have their fun.

"You little…" Catra giggled and pushed her playfully. Glimmer obviously stared sometimes and tried as much to not get in Adora's eye. She took a small sip of her drink only to nuzzle close to the blond warrior. Adora giggled and leaned to the side when she pushed her. She then wrapped an arm around her after and kissed her cheek gently before turning back to her drink. She let Catra lead when it came to affection in public. She knew there were certain times she was more comfortable with it and sometimes she was less comfortable. She took another drink with a smile as she nuzzled close to her and pressed another kiss to the top of her head.

Jack spotted Raiden for a moment and tilted his head to look at him since he arrived at the party late. It was the first time seeing him with a suit, not that he knew him for longer than a whole day.. but.. Still. Raiden saw him. He paused for a moment as he saw him in the suit too while blushing softly before smiling. He gave him a little wave. Eventually he found a reason to walk over to him with a smile "hey.. told you I'd be here"

"Yeah I didn't expect to see you so soon though" The prince smiled shyly while trying to not show that he had a crush on the other one, especially in front of his moms. Raiden giggled softly "I told you I would find you and that I can get anywhere in the castle. Speaking of which… Do you know where your room is?...and do you mind if I sneak in to see you tonight?...or is that too soon?" He asked quietly knowing how to keep a low profile in front of royals.

Catra noticed the boy and whispered to the woman beside her. "Do you know him?" Adora looked at him for a moment before nodding "that's the friend I was talking about earlier, the stable boy. I think it may be more than friends but I didn't pressure Jack into saying anything. I've already pushed him too much as it is recently. He didn't need it any more today" Catra smiled before she continued to speak. A small chuckle escaped her lips "Do you think so, hm? And how so? Did he tell you something?.. maybe I could help." She spoke in a whisper and wrapped her arm around her as she drank more of her wine. Adora nodded with a soft chuckle "..I walked in on them in Swift Wind's stall. They were standing a good foot apart and blushing bright red. Both of them and I could tell by the way Jack's tail was flicking he was nervous" she hummed while leaning against her and smiling softly.

"Hmm.... You've learnt everything from me huh? Too bad you can't see my tail" Catra chuckled and nuzzled closer only to touch her thigh under the table and rub her gently "I could talk to him, even though he's more open around you..." Adora blushed at the touch on her thigh while glancing at her for a moment with a raised eyebrow and taking a sip from her glass "I'm not sure that's a bad thing at all." She teased and giggled softly only to look down at Jack just in time to see him look up and nodded to him with a slight smile when she caught his eye.

"isn't it?" Catra shrugged and parted while leaning back to give her a small pat and look at her. Then she took a deep breath and drank the last of her glass. She was ready to ask the boy for a refill but she found it would be too rude to do so and remained quiet for now. Adora held her hand again under the table and smiled at her "it has its pros and cons" she hummed while finishing her glass as well. Though she didn't want to interrupt them either.

At that time the boy was taking sips of his drink "I know, of course ... I could show you" He hummed but the next question made him smile shyly. "I mean... We could spend the night together? I have some books if you want to read?" He had a collection but...some of them weren't there with him but to the palace in the Horde. Raiden paused for a moment before shaking his head "not yet. Later tonight once all the adults are all drunk. Then you can show me. Though your moms seem to be really protective. They might notice if you leave unless you give them a good reason" He hesitated at the mention of books then paused before speaking "I...don’t know how to read" Jack looked up at him. He understood why they were so protective even though he was protective over his siblings at this point. "I will find something to tell them. Don't worry" He hummed but was kind of surprised to see that he didn't know how to read. "Why- I mean....my teacher didn't get paid to teach me" He hummed since the teacher was his governess.

Raiden looked up while giving the women who were staring at them a slight nervous wave before looking forward again "..he couldn't afford to feed me. Nonetheless, send me to school just to read. I don’t know how to write either but I don’t need to know that to be able to take care of horses." He shrugged while looking at him again. Jack got more nervous when his moms looked at them. He had ..kissed the boy and he didn't say anything to them. It was probably the first time he hid something from them. "I see..well I'll go up to my room when they will have the third refill, okay? I'll try to find you. Will you be standing there again or?" He looked up at him. Raiden nodded and looked at him again "Alright. I was assigned to their table so I’ll be somewhere here and I’ll keep track of how many refills they've had. We can meet just outside this room in the hallway to the left okay?" he smiled then, though he had to go so he could refill their glasses.

"yeah... Of course, now go... They will start making things up" The brown haired hummed and sighed having no idea of them already knowing that something was going on between them. When Raiden finished with his conversation Catra was the first to point her glass, not in a rude way though or demanding. The blond one giggled softly and smiled at him before walking back up to the table. Seeing it was Catra first made him wince slightly. It was obvious she was his other mother though he didn't say anything, just nodding and walking over to refill her's and Adora's glass. Adora smiled softly and thanked him before taking a sip and looking at Catra with a knowing look. Though she wouldn't say anything with Raiden right there. Catra tried so much to hold her smile, so she took a sip from her drink with Jack blushing at their reaction and placing his palm on his face. They really couldn't even hold a normal face around his 'friend'

"Mom..." Jack hissed at some point when Raiden left them. Adora chuckled softly, just raising an eyebrow and looking over "it’s painfully obvious, Jack. We can both tell. It’s fine. It’s cute." She smiled softly at him while reassuring him that they were okay with it and squeezing Catra's hand "he seems like a sweet boy"

"That's true.. he is really cute" Catra reassured him and smiled at the boy only to chuckle. Jack puffed and crossed his arms over his chest "You two are the worst at hiding..." He hissed as his tail puffed and made his blond mom giggle again "I’m sorry. I’m sorry we'll do better now. But we had to let you know that you weren't doing well at hiding it either, but that we support it and support you." She leaned back in her seat and looked at him "If you want to leave the party to go spend time with him. As long as it won’t get him in trouble you can leave soon, okay? All the official stuff will be over soon and then the real party starts"

Catra raised her eyebrow at that and chuckled "Aw really? What will happen next?" She said with a grin and a teasing look on her face. At the same time Jack leaned close to the table and as long as he took the last bites of his food and drink. He stood up, not really missing a moment to meet with the other boy. Adora looked at Catra with a slight smirk. "Mostly a lot of dancing and drinking. Just much more... Refined and noble" She hummed and kissed her cheek. The feline smirked and leaned close only to place an other kiss on her."I think you have to escort me then...dancing is always amazing while you're my partner~" Adora grinned in return and hummed "I would be delighted too, my love." The feline smiled and took yet another sip of her drink "Let's finish drinking and we shall dance~" She spoke softly and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her cheek. Adora could say she was actually happy to be there and not too..anxious. The blonde smiled and took her hand with a nod and kissed her softly before she took a sip of her drink "That sounds good to me. I have a feeling by the end of this Bow is gonna challenge me in something or other." She chuckled and leaned against her. "Perhaps" Catra giggled and crossed her own arms over her chest before leaning into her chair "You don't dare challenge him and actually win. Do you?" She grinned. She obviously knew her wife. "I think he's occupied by the wine right now" Catra chuckled as he obviously went hardcore on this. "Can you beat him on wine though?" She perked an eyebrow while challenging her while taking another sip. Adora paused for a moment but sat up quickly "Are you challenging me?" She crossed her arms and raised an eyebrow with a smirk. She lifted her hand and looked forward "Bow! C'mere I have a challenge for you." She grinned and leaned forward once he got close enough "Drinking competition?" Bow obviously knew what all this was about. He grinned and placed his hands on his waist "Oh you wanna lose so badly huh?" He smirked while making Catra laugh and enjoy the view. Her eyes fixed on the two making some space so they could both sit and drink. The servants obviously would bring them more wine. They had plenty.

Adora grinned as she lifted her head up "You know I've always been able to drink you under the table." They sat down again and she grabbed her first goblet "Ready? Glimmer, Catra keep track of how many we drink. I'll be too busy beating his ass"
"Adora, language-" Catra chuckled but she honestly didn't care about it. She enjoyed the fight so far. "I'll keep track darling don't worry~" She continued and smirked widely. The knight grinned and nodded as she started drinking. She downed the first goblet of wine in only a few gulps, slamming it down and picking up the next one. They had two goblets each. When one was finished they'd grab the next while the last was refilled, to keep a steady flow of wine.

At that time Jack was getting ready to leave which confused Raiden a bit, only because it was early. But he walked over, speaking softly "You're leaving early, something happened?" The other boy shook his head and shrugged as he gave him a small smile "Mom said that I was free to go if I wanted to..so... I did. If you don't have much work to do. Can you come with me now?" He spoke in confidence. The blonde one smiled "Yeah! I have a few more to cover and then I'll be right out! I can get Jason to cover me" He smiled before heading to finish up. He walked up to another older boy, asking him to cover for him before he left and slipped out the door with a grin. Jack nodded and waited for him a couple of minutes before smiling brightly at him and pulling him to guide to his room. "Well..since you don't know how to write I can teach you and you'll see it's not too difficult~" The boy spoke while approaching the door of the third hallway they were walking on. Raiden held his hand while following him to the room "Really? Will you teach me?" He watched him with a grin "Thank you" Nobody knew how to write or read from the servants so Jack gave him this one opportunity.

"Of course! Reading and writing is useful... You cannot miss it.." Jack spoke and entered the room. It had its own fireplace as usual, a bathroom and a huge king-size bed for the young teen. The bookshelves were beside a clean desk with some papers and ink. He took a quick breath as his things were still in a small suitcase. "I should really get my things off there... We will be staying here for quite a long time" He admitted "Want to help me? There's not a lot. Don't worry" Raiden looked around the room with wide eyes "Oh wow..." Hearing the question he looked back, pausing before nodding "Oh! Right. Yeah of course" He smiled and walked over with him to the suitcase.

Jack was sure he hadn't seen the palace's rooms before. He had his daggers placed already on the short table beside the bed. He began to just take off some of his clothes. Plenty of them were having the sign of the Horde since the symbol of the queens was a must to their suit's small pockets. Something unusual was the fact he had an almost torn doll. Raiden helped him put the clothes away. He paused when he saw the doll. He tilted his head but he didn't touch it since he knew it must be important if he still has it. Jack noticed the tilt of his head and grabbed it only to chuckle nervously "It's ..it's not mine" He blushed. Yes he was playing but with...not this kind of girly dolls. He looked away and placed it on the table as well before he grabbed the last cloth to put it in the closet. "Then whose is it? It's a nice doll... You must have had it for a long time for it to get torn up like that.. I know how to sew.. I could put it back together..if you want me to?" Raiden looked at the doll for a moment before looking back at him.

"Really?..." The prince's ears twitched and he looked back down at him before he sat on the bed poking some parts of the doll "It was my sister's... She was my twin sister and.... Because of some people in Bright Moon she got killed.. they thought she had dark magic and ....even if that was probably true... They had no reason to do it.. We were little and she didn't touch anyone.. she didn't even know how to summon anything..." He clung on the doll. He didn't seek revenge. Revenge wouldn't bring his sister back so it was meaningless. He just felt the emptiness she left behind.

The stable boy walked over, hesitating before he hugged him while speaking softly "Is that who the dagger belonged to as well?" He held him close "I lost my ma the same way... I'm sorry..." He mumbled before stepping back slightly and putting his hand on Jack's shoulders "I'll get a needle and thread and I'll bring it up next time. I'll fix her doll up. I can't clean it but I can at least close the holes in it"

"Mhm" The magicat was surprised he embraced him but let him stay there. He didn't push him away obviously. "I know.... That's why I didn't comment on it when you said how she died." He hummed but nodded. "She made these holes. They just opened up a little more" He chuckled a little bit "Mom gave us the daggers to defend ourselves and she played with it on...her doll" He continued smiling while remembering. Raiden chuckled softly while inspecting the doll with his thumb "Yeah. I can tell by how they're shaped." He pointed it out with his finger, staying close to him "I'm guessing she was excited to be using it then huh?"

"yeah.... She was... Mom gave it some days after she found out she had.. magic powers and she was..so excited" Jack's voice became nostalgic almost as his ears fell down "I'm sorry we... Don't talk much about her with any of my moms..." He shook his head and took a deep breath "Mom Adora got anxious when she found she had powers and Lena thought she was mad at her... That she did something wrong and ... She died without having their reassurance, without knowing the truth.." He continued and placed the doll on the table before standing up. The blonde boy nodded while sitting back and taking his hand as he squeezed it gently "I'm sorry about your sister... I'm sure she knows now though. She's watching over you all. I'm sure of it" he smiled gently for a moment. "Maybe she's up there with my mama... watching over us" he let Jack get up to put the doll down even though he stayed sitting on the bed.

"And I'm sure your mom is better up there.... She really takes care of you even now.." The other one felt strange since he found someone around his age to have the same feelings. "I would ask you if you saw her or...what you remember from her but I don't know if you want to talk about this now" He felt kind of bad to start such a conversation. Raiden shook his head and patted the bed beside him to get him to sit down again. He hesitated before wrapping an arm around him and pulling him close "I.. don't remember a lot. I was pretty little when she was killed.. it was probably around the time you lost your sister.. It was right after the war started. There was a giant purge here... my mom being one of them... she... your moms kinda reminds me of her..." He smiled slightly "protective but you can see just how much they care for you.. anyone can"

"every mom is like this I believe.... My moms started the war because of her death... They wanted revenge.. mom Adora caught the man who murdered my sister but... I bet he was let out free...my other mom was pregnant and we had to leave.. and after our arrival we.. lost everything" He hummed in a quiet tone and leaned close to him. He really enjoyed staying beside him and crawling one arm around him. "Even my governess got killed that night, they're most of the time overprotective because of this .."

The stable boy nodded while looking down "Not every mom is... I've seen it.. some moms don't care... some will hurt their kids..." he paused before shaking his head "I don't blame them for being over protective. You're a prince. You're worth a lot of money to the right people... and being the son of She-ra and a queen doesn't help with that."

"I just understand that they've lost my sister and my governess....mom told me she raised her too, so... She must have meant a lot to her. I suppose, I'm worth a lot of money for some but thankfully we were able to hide while we were out of the palace… anyway...let's... Not talk about that, okay? I called you to have fun not... Talk about the dead" He hummed and looked up at him, almost nuzzling against his neck. His scent was unique but he liked it. A quiet purr was heard as his tail slowly wagged. The other young boy nodded when he asked to change the subject. He smiled when he felt him purr as he nuzzled into him and hesitated before he turned his head. He pressed a soft kiss to the top of his head like he had seen Adora do to Catra, placing it between his ears and holding him close. "I'm glad you're here... I'm glad I met you.."
This felt so heartwarming actually. The brunette never thought he would find someone to be so close with but there he was with the ...stable boy. Jack wrapped his arms for a while around him "I'm happy I met you.... It's really weird how we ended up like this in one day... I don't know why I feel this way.." He didn't even know how to voice out his feelings.. He leaned away after a while and looked up at him

"Let's teach you how to read now...okay? Come here" He stood up and sat on the desk to show him and slowly teach the boy the letters of the alphabet at first.

Glimmer?

The minutes became hours and Catra couldn't even continue the counting. Bow was truly stubborn to make her lose and Adora wouldn't be defeated either "My love, I will have to go to bed.. I'm tired.." She hummed and approached her from behind to kiss on her cheek. Adora looked up from another goblet she had finished before nodding and turning to give her a kiss on the cheek. She wavered slightly before grinning

"I'll be there 'soon as I beat 'im.." She slurred her words slightly but she was too stubborn to give up. She quickly went back to drinking so she wouldn't fall behind. The feline chuckled and nodded in return. She walked upstairs into her room but paused for a second to go check on her children. The triplets seemed to be sleeping for hours now and soon she walked towards Jack's room too. She was kind of tired from the trip but the drink also made her sleepy.

Jack at this moment was leaning close to his friend to show him how to put the letters into words and what they meant. He obviously started with the easy ones and of course taught him how to write his own name. "So .. you write the 'R' capital first then the 'a"— " He hummed while his tail was wagging till he heard the door open "Mom what the hell!?" He got all flustered

"I...came in to check if you two were alright... I'm sorry. Are you okay?" Catra spoke as her ears fell back and she peaked in the door. She was worried. Raiden seemed to be a good child but Catra couldn't risk her son to get trapped or killed because someone seemed to be good .... Her eyes looked at the other boy as well.

Raiden nodded while sitting on a chair beside the brunette, writing it out as he told him. His letters were shaky and a bit awkward but of course he was doing his best even though he was startled when he heard the door jumping "oh um.. hello ma'am.." he stood up before offering his hand "I’m Raiden. It's nice to meet you" he gave her a smile but he was clearly nervous.

Catra rubbed her eyes. She smiled a little and walked in. "Usually they bow to a queen or princess" She commented with Jack letting out a whine of "mooooom" before she let out a chuckle. Of course she didn't expect him to know manners but it was fun to tease the young one like that. "So Raiden.. you're the stable boy huh?" She spoke. Jack obviously had gotten too mad at her to speak. If he could, he would have her kicked out!

The boy’s eyes widened slightly at the queen’s words and bowed "I'm so sorry I-..." he looked up, hesitating before nodding "yes ma'am. I'm the stable boy... Your wife met me earlier" The feline placed a hand on his shoulder and smiled. The people of Bright Moon always had a 'good' word to describe the Horde queen or princess, when she was one.

"Calm down, I won't kill you because you didn't bow. You're trembling like a fish out of the water.. take a breath and continue your thing. I wanted to check up on Jack after all.... Do you need anything?" She spoke with Jack huffing "No.. actually, yes. I need you to leave..we had a moment and you ruined it."

The other one looked up at her, hesitating before nodding "I'm not scared cuz you're the queen... I'm nervous cuz you're Jack's ma.." He figured he should clear that up since he did not want her to think he's scared because of the rumours that have spread around about her. He hesitated before he walked back to sit down while still being nervous but he wouldn't say anything, just looking between the two of them.

The feline looked at him but then sighed and cupped her child's cheek "Please take care okay?” She didn't want to tell him to be careful with the stranger boy around but she wanted to show that they were still by his side and would help him no matter what. Jack finally made the woman leave and sat back down. "I'm sorry for the… whole thing... I didn't expect her to come in.."

Raiden looked at the letter and frowned when he was startled he had jerked his hand. He ruined the letter when Jack was done talking with his mom "No, it's okay. You said they're protective. I'm not surprised one of them came to check on you." The boy approached to check on his progress and saw the ruined letter.

"Hey... What's wrong? You were doing great. It will take you time to make ,Raiden..."He hummed and gave him the ink again and the pen. The other one huffed softly "it's just because I was startled. My hand jerked and it ruined the letter.." he hesitated before he took it again, trying to write out his name once more.

"Let's do it again.. you will write your name tonight, okay?" Even if sleep was precious he wouldn't give up on him. He pointed to the lower half of the paper and waited while spelling the name so he could write it.

Catra stayed in the empty room, laying down on bed and nuzzling against the sheets. She knew Adora would be having fun but the time was passing away and she quickly fell asleep. Adora and Bow leaned on each other, stumbling back to their rooms. Though drunk as they were, they accidentally flipped them.

Adora stumbled into the room, groaning softly and pulling her hair out of its ponytail "Catra... I won.. fuck.. but at what cost.." She whined, stumbling over to the bed and just collapsing on it with a groan. She was too drunk to notice it wasn't her room. The woman was actually not Catra but Glimmer who was half asleep by the time. The oil lamp was off and so the light in the room was almost non-existent, besides the moonlight from the windows was not as bright. Adora felt someone laying down beside her she wrapped an arm around her, pulling her close and mumbling "baby.. baabbee... are you asleep..?" she whined, nuzzling into her. The mage realized that it wasn't Bow the one who wasn't there but she didn't move, she leaned and pretended she was asleep still, mumbling quietly. Adora grumbled, wrapping an arm around the queen of Brightmoon to pull her closer, nuzzling into her neck while Bow rolled over, throwing an arm over her, but paused, feeling her arm he mumbled "you got smaller... 'n furry.. tha's weird..."

As for the brunette she was laying under the sheets with her nightgown on and nuzzled on her pillow. Not realizing someone entered the room since she was still sleepy.
Bow stumbled into the room, yawning and heading for the bed, collapsing on it as well with a groan "too much..... lost.." Catra on the other hand was indeed asleep as the add of weight only made her mumble something and smile. She whined by the sound of someone's voice around. Her ears twitched as she slowly pulled away to curl in her side of the bed.

The brown haired man got confused then. He sat up slightly, rubbing his eyes and tried to look down at her. But it was too dark so, instead of turning on a light he just leaned closer. “Mmmh..." The feline hummed in a whiny tone and when he leaned closer she finally spoke in a whisper "Mm... Adora, stop.." She whined but she could feel these arms weren't as soft as Adora's. She opened her eyes to then reach to turn the oil lamp on. "Bow!? Wh- what are you doing here" Her tail puffed and her fur as well. Her eyes looked up at him almost frozen in time.

Bow squinting his eyes "Catra.. what are you.." he looked around "oh.. this isn't Glimmer's room..." he paused again before looking up "I think Adora's in the wrong room... she's.. worse then I am.. think she drank more..."

Meanwhile Adora was too adorable when she was drunk for Glimmer to resist. She leaned closer yet she didn't speak, she really missed having these sleepovers but also missed Adora sleeping side by side. Her lips made a smile as she felt her nuzzling closer.
The warrior groaned softly then, lifting her head and speaking "Catraa... you aren't sleepin... I c'n tell.. ye aren't snorin... 's cute.." she kissed her cheek then, whining "you're mean... pretendin' ta sleep.." She continued.
Glimmer perked an eyebrow and sighed as she heard about the compliment even on this. She turned around to face her so she would touch her cheek softly. Adora smiled even though it was too dark to see her she hummed softly "hi baby.." She giggled, kissing her then gently.
The queen's eyes widened at the kiss but she didn't back off, instead she tried to show she was still dizzy from the sleep so she parted. Why did she want this... Why did she want to have something with her when she knew that Catra was her wife?

Meanwhile Bow explained what happened and how he ended up in Adora's room so that only made the feline widen her eyes "What!?" The feline hissed. She stood up quickly and walked to the hallway only to open the door of the other princess' room. "Adora what are you doing!" The girl didn't yell since others were sleeping and she didn't want to wake them up. Some light came into the room thankfully.

The blonde one pouted, but nuzzled into her instead. She wrapped her arm around Glimmer and hid her face in her neck. When the door opened though she groaned softly. She looked up with her eyes half open and confused. She looked down at Glimmer, just speaking softly "oh hi Glimmer... d'ya know where Catra went...?" she looked at the door then, and paused, before she remembered that she just kissed her and started tearing up, turning to glimmer still drunk as all hell "I-I kissed you... oh goddess.. Catra's gonna hate me" she cried, overreacting of course "S-She's gonna leave.. gonna take our babies… g-gonna leave me" She never said anything about hiding it from her though, just crying and blubbering about how Catra would hate her forever for kissing someone else, just curling up on the bed.

"Are you serious! You knew she's drunk! You knew she was Adora and not Bow, why did you not say anything!?" Catra only yelled at Glimmer and walked up on her as the other one played it dumb.

"I was sleeping! How could I possibly know it was Adora!?" She glared at her but the feline only forced her up

"You knew too damn well who was right above you!"

Adora just laid there, still crying and mumbling that Catra would hate her. She was clearly devastated by the idea.

Bow was torn between comforting Adora and stopping the fight, doing his best not to fall as he walked over, lifting his hand “Hey.. hey.. she left not long after ya did Catra... wouldn't.. be surprised if she actually was asleep.." He walked over to Adora then, just rubbing her back as he watched the two women.

The other two obviously didn't stop, with Catra pointing out that she really didn't even care about making out with her wife and of course Glimmer refusing. In the end though Catra grabbed Adora's hand and pulled her up. She knew she was drunk so she didn't get mad at her....but that Glimmer...was really starting to be more of an enemy than a friend. "Adora.... Stop crying" She hummed, holding her hand and pulling her out of the bed while the other one was still whining. She opened the door, positioned her on their bed and lit up the lamp to cup her cheek.

Adora looked up at her, sniffling and rubbing her cheeks. She was still upset "Catra.. I-I'm sorry.. please don't hate me.. don't leave me.."she whined, reaching up to her then to wrap her arms around her "I din' mean to… too dark.. couldn't see.."

Catra's arms wrapped around her and nuzzled close to her while rubbing the back of her neck "Adora please.... I'm not mad at you... I'm mad at her, okay?... I know you didn't see.... Don't cry. You'll make me sad, okay?" She smiled a little and cupped her cheek, looking in her blue orbs and wiping her cheek. She was furious.. But she didn't tell her anything now, she would have this talk when the morning would come.

Adora sniffled again while pouting "A-are you sure...?" She whined, hugging her close and nuzzling into her " 'm sorry... I love you... 'm sorry.... already said that... sorry..."

"you're so cute when you're drunk ..." The other leaned close to her and nuzzled on the crook of her neck" She chuckled and leaned close to her only to take a deep breath "I love you, you silly woman" She hummed and kissed her lips.

Adora nodded while hugging her closer " 'm yours... and 'm sorry..." she looked up at her then, smiling softly when she said she loved her. She pulled her down to kiss her, just pulling her close and smiling "love you too.."

Catra couldn't resist but placed several pecks on her lips and nuzzled closer. Her tail wrapped around her. "Come on my cutie .... Let's lay down okay..? It's late..." She hummed ,knowing that Adora would obviously be tired after all these drinks.

Adora nodded, stumbling over to the bed and laying down. She held out her arms for her with a soft whine "cuddles.... want cuddles.."

"You can have as many cuddles as you want my love" She was acting like a baby and she was so adorable. Catra’s eyes looked up at her and gave her a small kiss on her lips before moving close to her and nuzzling. "I love you... " She hummed and leaned close to her.

Adora smiled, hugging her and pulling her closer. She nuzzled into her and hid her face with closed eyes "This better... love you." She mumbled, yawning and passing out while hugging her closer.

The feline didn't say anything. Instead she passed out as well while holding her close. She was still having these thoughts about Glimmer but she didn't want to disturb her sleep with such things.

•————————•°•❀•°•————————•

Meanwhile Jack didn't hear the arguing but yawned quietly while leaning against the desk. That was a long time teaching the boy, already.

Raiden yawned too, eyes closing and head bobbing forward for a minute while trying to stay awake he jerked slightly. He yawned again and rubbed his eyes "I should probably go to bed..."

"....I should too.... Do you want to ...sleep over?" Jack looked up at him and he stood up ,letting the pen aside and walking towards the bed "The bed is huge so.."

Raiden looked up, pausing for a moment before nodding and smiling softly "I... don’t have any clothes to change into... and these are all dirty from the stables.. could I um.. could I borrow something to sleep in?"

"Of course, come here" the young one hummed. He obviously wouldn't mind him wearing his clothes. He gave him one of his old ones and just looked at him "You can take a bath too if you want.. I mean..." He didn't want to sound offensive but a bath would make him calm down a little.

Raiden paused for a moment before smiling softly and kissing his cheek "thank you..." he walked off to the bathroom then, setting the clothes aside gently to take his bath.

Everything in this bathroom was so different from his house or his old house. The way the water smelt from the flowers inside the tub only gave him a relaxing sensation. His eyes closed. His hair was short so he sunk his head under the water and remained there for a short second before going back to the surface. He changed clothes before he came back out. The clothes were the wrong size though he didn't mind. He crawled into the bed beside him.

The other boy was already laying in bed, covered by a thin sheet and having his eyes closed. "Hm.. someone's cute~" He spoke and gave him a small smirk. He wrapped his arms around him coyly when he laid down.

He made the other blush as he hesitated before he wrapped an arm around him, scooting closer so they could cuddle "you're cute too, you know... but it's not my fault your clothes don't fit me" he huffed softly. He was too thin for the prince’s clothes to fit.

"ah I'll tell mom to buy you fabric then. I bet it won't be difficult" Jack smiled in return, wanting to give him a present at least. The teen leaned close and gave him a small kiss only to nuzzle closer while purring. "I …” Jack wasn't sure if this was love or not. He felt attracted to that boy and he knew it but words didn’t slide out of his lips.

"Y-..you don’t have to, really... I have plenty of clothes I just didn't know I'd be sleeping over tonight that's all.." Raiden smiled at the kiss with a blush. He just hugged him closer after, though when he heard him start to speak again he lifted his head "yeah? what is it?"

"N..nothing, really. I was just mumbling." The prince chuckled and looked away. He rested his hand around him and closed his eyes. He tried to sleep even though he could feel the rush in his heart beat.

The blond hesitated for a moment but nodded while nuzzling into him. He wrapped his arm around his waist and fell asleep quickly since he was pretty exhausted from the long day he had. His head fell on Jack's chest as he slept, snoring softly.
Jack didn't say anything though while Raiden was sleeping. He was still anxious about all this. His tail got wrapped around his thigh or arm sometimes. He didn't know if he was in love or if he was attracted to the boy in his arms.

The morning would come to find both of the pairs embracing while the magicats were just purring softly at the feeling of the other ones beside them.

Raiden didn't wake up just yet though, nuzzling closer to him. He had thrown a leg over Jack's legs, basically draping himself across Jack. He held him close and nuzzled into him, clearly loving to cuddle up especially in his sleep.
The other teen smiled in his sleep. He knew Raiden was still beside him and ...on him as it seemed and raised his head to give him a peck on his forehead.

The blond haired mumbled, nuzzling into his shirt while hiding his head in his fluff. He was still half asleep and speaking too softly to really be understood. His words were too slurred together to really be anything more than gibberish.
Jack grinned and rubbed his upper back, Raiden would be probably late for the care of the horses as it seemed. "Good morning.. wake up sleepyhead" He joked in a soft tone.
Raiden whined softly when he was told to wake up, nuzzling him again "nuh uh... five more minutes... please..?"

"You'll be late for your work ...Raiden" He rubbed his upper arm and allowed him to nuzzle close to him "You're so cute..."He whispered.

The other one grumbled while digging onto his chest and smiling at the fluff, just mumbling in a sleepy and elated voice "fluffy...!"
Jack blushed but smiled, almost chuckling "Yes, yes I am fluffy"
He spoke in a soft tone and laughed.
Raiden smiled, running his fingers through it while still being clearly sleepy "mm... soft.. Fuzzy..." he nuzzled, burying his face in it before pulling back and sneezing since the fur tickled at his nose.
Jack blushed and looked up at him only to lean close to him "Tickled huh? Come on stand up~ I have to go for breakfast too”
Raiden grumbled, just sitting there and rubbing his eyes. He had a cowlick on the back of his head, and due to bed head some of his hair was sticking up, though he ignored that or didn't notice. He leaned against him with a whine "I just wanna stay here in bed with you all day"
A chuckle escaped Jack’s lips and looked at the boy's hair before he reached up to fix it "I want that too...but you have work to do and...I bet mom will want to train with me as well..." He hummed, rubbing his head.

The stable boy looked back at him. His hair just popped up again and he reached up "oh right. It does this all the time in the morning. Don’t worry. I usually dunk my head in some water and once it dries it flattens out" he replied to his attempts of fixing his hair and hesitated "well... Can I come back tonight? at least to visit?"

"If you want to stay over.. I wouldn't mind? I don’t want you to get caught though, so be careful" It was obvious that Jack didn't want him to get in trouble because of him "You can fix your hair in the bathroom if you want. I'll change clothes once you leave" he smiled a little.

"I won’t get in trouble. Don't worry. So long as I get to work in time I don’t have to stay in the stable. That's just the only room I could get" Raiden nodded, sitting in front of him then "...and thank you, again. Both... for the clothes and letting me stay over"

"You don't have to thank me at all...it's been nice to have company other than my younger siblings." He admitted and sat on the bedside before he held his hand. He leaned in and tilted his head placing a gentle peck on his lips. "I liked it the first time and ...I couldn't resist.." He coyly said with a blush on his face.

The blond nodded while holding his hand and giving a little squeeze. When he was given a kiss he smiled, cupping his cheek to give him another soft kiss. He held it for a few moments before he mumbled "I love kissing you... but-.. I really don’t want one of your moms to walk in on us kissing..."

Jack smiled in the kiss and nuzzled close to him before shrugging "Mom Adora might be having a headache already by how drunk she was last night" He shrugged and pulled away "But I understand so... go.”

Raiden nodded, hesitating for a moment before he leaned in and gave him another short and quick kiss. "Sorry, I couldn't help it... I’ll see you later." He stood up after kissing his forehead then. He clearly did everything he could to delay having to go.

The young prince grinned at the affection "You really don't want to leave, do you?" He smiled and nuzzled close while holding him and leaning in to kiss him for longer. He had seen his moms do so... he supposed this was how he should do it too.
The other one blushed softly, but nodded and gave him a scratch on the back of his neck. When he kissed him longer he smiled softly, staying close and happily kissed him back again as he wrapped his arms around him.
Jack purred at the scratch, almost tilting his head towards his fingers with a smile. His arms wrapped around his waist and pulled him close while kissing him. The boy gave some shy bites on his bottom lip while almost having him above him. He had a visible blush since he was making the first moves but he couldn't help the feeling.
Raiden blushed more at the bite. He hesitated before he opened his mouth slightly during the kiss and tentatively started to use tongue.

The prince continued for a little longer till he felt the blush on his face get more intense so he just pulled a little away "You .... Should go ,Raiden." He spoke softly and looked away, obviously he liked it but it was a risk for them to get caught.

The servant sat there for a few moments. Eyes were still closed before realizing that he had said something and looked down at him. He looked at him for a few moments longer before realizing what he said and his eyes widened. Then he got off his lap a bit too fast as he fell and leapt right up "I'm so late." He paused, looking at him and smiled "You're lucky you're cute." He teased, giving him another quick kiss before running off to get ready and go.

Jack chuckled and leaned close to the kiss before letting him go "I can say the same about you ~" He laughed and stood up, remembering how he was sitting on his lap and blushing at the thought again before he reached to grab his clothes.

At the same time, Adora began to wake up too. She groaned softly at the massive headache she had and turned her head to keep her eyes away from the sun. She held her wife close and let out a soft whine "ow..."
The feline looked down at her and mumbled in her sleep. "Good morning to you too..." She whispered and rubbed her eyes. Thankfully the curtains were thick and prevented the sunlight from coming in.
Adora just groaned softly, closing her eyes and whining "ow... head... existence is pain..."
"I know darling" Catra chuckled and nuzzled close. Her purrs continued and her eyes blinked a few times to open and yawn "We will have to get ready for breakfast..." She didn't tell her they had to talk since she had just awakened.
Adora just groaned again, keeping her face thoroughly hidden "my head is pounding.. feels like it's being beaten repetitively with a war hammer.."

"Yeah.... You drank a lot last night, you and Bow" She hummed and looked up at her before giving her a small kiss on her nose. "Do you want to go have a bath to wake up? Then we can dress up and head downstairs"

Adora whined softly but finally nodded. She sat up before groaning and laid back down "nuh uh... ow..." she mumbled feeling a migraine building up.

"Darling?" The queen hummed slowly, leaning up to sit on the bedside but at the same time she looked at her in worry since something was wrong "Do you need help?"

Adora just groaned in reply "it hurts to move. I sat up and the pounding doubled" she groaned, pulling a pillow over her head. Now she was over dramatic "you may as well leave me behind! I will just slow you down!" she giggled slightly, then winced because it hurt.

"Never! I will never leave you behind" Catra chuckled and held her tightly "I'll help you up~" She looked up at her and helped her to stand up.

Adora groaned softly as she was helped up, wincing slightly with each pound in her head and groaning "I'm never drinking like that again.." she paused "without making sure I have some damn good herbs for pain by the bed in the morning..."

Catra laughed at her, smirking at first since she knew she would change her mind when she would see beer again. She looked up at her and took a glass from her desk. She walked to the bathroom to fill it and prepared some herbs she had in her bag "You can thank me later." She smiled and pointed at the bath "Go clean up and you'll drink it. It needs some minutes to be prepared."

Adora smiled and kissed her cheek gently before trying not to move her head too much or too fast so she just hobbled off to the bathroom "thank you. I love you” She then would go back so she could take a short bath or at least clean her face up so she could wake up properly.

Catra walked out of the room to the servants and waited till the herbs were completely absorbed by the water. When she walked back into the room she offered the glass and scanned her from head to toe. "You look hotter when you're naked, my dear." She teased.

Adora looked up and giggled softly, holding out her hand for the glass "well, I'm willing to show off for you any time" she winked, before taking a sip of the drink with a soft grunt and cringe. It tasted funny.

"I wouldn't say no then~" The feline purred and approached the girl only to give her a small kiss on her cheek "Finally we have some privacy..~"

We need Shera ♥

Chapter Notes

See the end of the chapter for notes

Adora blushed and grinned at the feline’s behaviour. "It is not fair to be talking like that while I still have a raging migraine" She cupped her cheek, pulling her into a proper kiss

"Why not?" Catra chuckled and leaned close to her only to nuzzle on her and purr. Her tail was visible under the short shift as it waggled playfully. "I talk like what? There's nothing on my tone~"

The blond giggled softly and raised an eyebrow to look up at her "You know what, my love. You know you're teasing me..and fuck do I love it when you tease" she hummed, chuckling when she nuzzled and taking another drink before adding "...but, I am in no condition to participate in said fun activities... yet"

Catra couldn't even hide her smile but she pouted and whined when she said no "why not?" She hummed, it was late spring already and it was obvious the feline had some 'needs'. Her arms wrapped around her from behind, nuzzling against her back as she caressed her abs.

Adora hummed softly, finishing her drink quickly and chuckled "I forgot it was spring." She hummed, turning to look at her, holding her chin gently and mumbling "As soon as this migraine is taken care of I promise I'll take care of you. Though... Until then I do have other ways to take care of you, my queen.”

The feline purred and nuzzled close, blushing at the tilt of her head from her chin. It was always making her so submissive to that touch. "Hm? And what kind of other ways?" She wondered out loud only to slowly wrap her tail around her wrist.

Adora just grinned, gently scratching just under her chin with her two middle fingers "I'm sure you can figure it out, kitten." She let her go, standing up since she was done with the shower. She turned to face her after she had gotten out of the tub, smirking and raising an eyebrow as she crossed her arms "Do I even need to bother with getting dressed?”

Catra's tail wagged quickly at the feeling of her chin getting scratched. She really knew how to make her melt under her touch, didn't she? Her eyes closed and enjoyed it till she let her go and followed behind her "No ...no don't get dressed yet~" She hummed, placing kisses on her chest and clavicle.

Adora chuckled, walking backwards then She was still holding her by her chin as she led her towards the bed. She sat down on it and hummed "On my lap kitten... Oh and take the shift off. I want to be able to see you."

The feline mewled at how dominant the girl sounded and blushed only to give her a small kiss on her lips and take a seat on her lap. There she took off her shift, revealing her body to her while staying close to her. Their bodies were both naked and touched each other. "What are you planning to do, my knight?" She hummed and purred.

The warrior grinned and leaned up to kiss her. She nipped at her bottom lip before she mumbled and kept their faces close "Make you lose your voice from screaming my name." She flipped them so Catra was laying on the bed with Adora on top of her.

The girl let out a high pitched gasp and laid back under the woman. She had her legs spread already. Her eyes looked up at her with a giggle and smirked, purring at the woman's voice "You're so hot.." She whispered. Her arms slowly wrapped around her only to make her push her hips against hers.

Adora chuckled softly before rocking her hips in time but she wouldn't push into her yet. Instead she pushed her hips down "Behave, kitten. It's a shame we have stuff to do today.." She bit and nibbled at her neck, speaking softly "I just want to fill you up over and over, until I see you leaking with my cum."

The other’s bush got more and more deep as she felt her mind getting foggy by the perfect words of hers "I...I want that too, please cum in me" She mewled almost hiding her face. She hated it when she let out such sounds..

Adora smiled softly, gently rubbing the base of her ear, kissing her cheek "Good girl. Such a good kitten for me.. Since you asked so nicely I’ll do as you asked." She smiled, leaning up. She finally lined up then, kissing her softly as she pushed into her.

Catra leaned close, toes tensing as she clung her hands against her lover. Her eyes closed and she tilted her head back, hips bucking gently against hers while trying to stay close to her. "Y-You didn't want to have sex huh?" She moaned and chuckled softly.

The warrior groaned softly, shaking her head with another chuckle "Not at all what I had said my love." She kissed her neck. Rocking against her slowly she moaned and nipped at her shoulder.

"t...then what did you say?" She perked an eyebrow and bit her bottom lip only to allow the other one to rock inside her rougher and moan."I love it... Ah...please... Please be rough" She grunted to get a reply immediately.

"I said.. That we shouldn't... Because.. Fuck-.. I had a migraine.." When she told her to be rough Adora grinned and lifted her hips as she sped up. She pushed into her faster and harder then bit her neck "Mine... You're mine, kitten. Do you understand?”

The feline cried out in a soft tone and moaned while blushing. Her hands clung more and held her close while trying to be as close to her as she could. She wanted to be the good kitty she wanted her to be. "Y-yes I do.....ah Adora.."She moaned and mewled.

Catra made the other grin. The blond reached up to grab and lightly tug on her brown hair to reveal more of her neck. She sucked and bit her to leave marks "Good girl.. Such a good kitten for me" She praised, tilting her head so she could kiss her then.

Catra’s leg clung around her and she gave her a small peck on her lips before she pressed her hips against her "I love you... Oh god... I just want you to cum in me so badly..." She whimpered, feeling so dirty but at the same time she loved how she thrusted inside her and was truly too horny.

Adora groaned softly though, clearly enjoying how she was talking and speeding up when she told her that. She was still holding her hips up for a good angle. She was moving her bites and marks down to her chest, being only a bit more gentle there. She eventually turned her head, sucking on one nipple. Her free hand came up to lightly pinch the other.

The feline’s walls tightened around her. Her eyes closed tightly at the bite and she bit her bottom lip. "Adora..." She gasped and pressed her chest against her. She loved how good it felt. She just felt too taken back by the moment that she didn't care about anything else. She was in love and that was final.

The warrior moaned against her chest and rocked her hips faster. She was eager to make her cum, eager to please her. "Y-yes my queen?" She grinned, leaning up to kiss her and nipping at her neck again.

"I love you" She whimpered, her eyes looking at her as she whined softly and tilted her head nuzzling against her while trying to rock at her.

Adora moaned while nuzzling into her and mumbling "fuck... love you too baby... love you so much..." She mumbled while holding her close and kissing her again. She reached down, rubbing her clit then as she rocked into her.

Catra moaned and whimpered at the feeling of her clit getting rubbed. Her eyes closed and she would soon give her a soft mewl when she thrusted deeper to release. Her body trembled and shivered at the affection and she moaned while clinging on her tightly.

The blonde one groaned. She bit her neck and pressed into her as she came. She was gasping out her name in a moan while holding her closer and just moaned softly. She panted and mumbled "fuck I love spring.." she mumbled, nuzzling into her while holding her closer.

Catra chuckled at the words only to nuzzle close to her and purred against her neck "I love you...and why do you love spring huh? As if we don't do this during other seasons~" She smiled and wrapped her tail around her wife.

Adora laughed softly, wrapping her arms around her to pull her close while mumbling "because as much as I love being your good knight I love seeing you be a needy, whiny kitten for me" she grinned, kissing her forehead and mumbling "we need to clean up... the kids are waiting for us, remember?"

"Of course you like it...~ But I want to lay beside you and nuzzle for the whole day..” They would have to meet up with the other princesses to begin the war against the mages and after that..she didn't even know what else they’d do.

The blonde one cradled her close, smiling softly and kissing the top of her head "I know, my love. I promise we will have all the time in the world for that. We can do whatever you want tonight, just us" She sat up, pulling Catra up with her so she could sit in her lap while now kissing her neck and shoulder.

The magicat nodded and leaned in so her face would dig in her neck "Adora...? Can I ask you something?" She hummed, remembering last night's events. She couldn't do anything else but open that conversation since she felt that she was getting anxious about their relationship.

Adora nodded in return. She wrapped her arms around her, rubbing her back gently “Of course, my love. You can ask me anything. I'll always be honest with you" She let her hide her face, knowing sometimes it's too hard to ask someone when you're face to face with them. So she let her hide.

"Okay..... Do you like Glimmer? I mean..... More than a friend or.... Were you and her...a couple before we met?" She said, hesitating and taking a soft breath only to remain close on her shoulder "I know I've asked you before but..... I don't know…”

The blond couldn’t do anything but pause for a moment at the question. She promised she would be honest so she rubbed her back and replied "we tried, sort of. It was.. awkward and weird. I was more just.. testing things out.. figuring out I even liked women to realise that she was more like a best friend then a partner for me. But we parted on good terms and she was upset but she understood in the end. So, I have not slept with her at any time, past or present, though I have kissed her and have attempted a relationship I ended up not interested in." She looked back down at her again, cupping her cheek "She is my best friend. Nothing more. Did.. Did I do something.. last night when I was drunk..? I don't really remember... All I remember is crying very... very adamantly about something. I was utterly devastated at whatever had happened..."

The girl was surprised to hear that since she didn't say it earlier when she had asked again but she at least opened up and talked about it. "You went to her room instead of ours and Bow laid on our bed. At first I thought it was you but then I turned on the lamp and saw him so.. we stood up and walked up to you two… kissing." She hummed and looked away, trying to not get too angry about it. Her ears were folded back. "I don't want to blame your friends but I know you would never kiss someone else... At least now that we are married"

Adora paused for a moment before she winced "oh.. yeah that’s not... oh fuck... I’m sorry baby.." she hesitated, leaning in to press a soft kiss to her shoulder "I would never... I must have been too drunk to figure out it wasn't you... when I'm that drunk I... have no concept of anything. All I want is affection and cuddles from what I’ve been told..." She nuzzled her neck, hugging her close "I’m so sorry that happened... and I promise I won’t drink that heavily again so that I'll never get that confused, or that lost." She looked up at her, cupping her cheek.

Catra leaned to the touch but she shook her head when she finished with her explanation. Eyes flickered from down, up to her blue orbs "I'm not worrying about this but... Glimmer didn't seem to push you away... I mean.... I...don't know how to put it in words... Be careful around her..... I don't think she wants you to be with me either." She hummed and pulled away. She was uncomfortable to put the blame on the girl's friends since she remembered how much she loved them and didn't part away in their early years being together.

Adora paused for a moment before nodding, kissing her cheek gently "I will, my love. If you're worried about it then I'll trust you. But.. until I know for sure I won't push them away completely, okay? They are still my friends... but I'll keep an eye out. I promise." She cupped her cheek then, looking up at her. She knew Catra had not trusted Glimmer from the beginning but now she had real.. well tangible proof other than what she had before. She kissed her forehead then, cupping her cheek and mumbling "I love you….and I'll always be by your side."

"I know.... I just didn't want it to pass like nothing happened, okay...? It bothered me but I didn't want to bother you earlier in the morning or... Last night. You were crying so..." Catra hummed and nuzzled close before she placed a kiss on her chin and sat back.
The blond nodded, cupping her cheek and looking up at her "Thank you. For coming to me and talking about it rather than hiding it and letting it build up... it means a lot... knowing that you came to me and just asked rather than trying to find out behind my back. Thank you."
"Well... Trying to do the opposite didn't help" The feline chuckled at her and leaned close to give her a small kiss on her lips. "I love you... And I don't want to argue." She hummed and nuzzled close to her.

Adora smiled and kissed her back "Thank you. I don't want to argue either... And I love you too, baby" She smiled and closed her eyes "We are so late."

A giggle escaped Catra’s lips and nuzzled against her "I know.... But we had to talk before we went downstairs..go get dressed. I will join you in a second.." She lied since she would need help with her corset obviously. She stood up and wrapped her body with the corset before looking at her "Before you go~" She pointed at the corset, obviously trying to tell her to help her. The blonde chuckled softly and nodded. She kissed her cheek before heading to get dressed. She walked back over when she spoke up, kissing her shoulder but she helped with the corset "I love you"
"I love you too.... I want things to be like before ..... And go home. I want to lay in our bed and sleep while embracing.... I wish we still had Daniella and Lena...." She hummed and leaned close. "Do you think they'll help us even from where they are supposed to be right now..?" She hummed and nuzzled close to her.

The other one hugged her close, nuzzling into her neck and holding her. She paused as she thought about it. "I know they will. If they can they will.. and I know for sure they're watching over us. Protecting us." She smiled softly, kissing her shoulder then and mumbled "I know they do. I miss them too, my love... but at least now we know Lena can’t be hurt..." She sighed softly, closing her eyes and nuzzling into her neck.

"I'd prefer to have her here with me than having her under the ground... Even if she is now safe..." The brunette really wouldn't forget that... She wouldn't be able to recover. "I'm sorry for bringing it up.... I really can't just ignore the thoughts sometimes... Especially now that Jack is growing up... Falling in love… one day he will marry too and... I don't know" She sighed softly and leaned close, wrapping her arms around her. "I wonder how things would go with Lena too... even him arguing with you reminded me of her way of whining" She chuckled, it was a sad one though.

Adora nodded, turning her wife around so they could face each other. She kissed her forehead, cupping her cheek and looking down at her "I know... I can’t.. I can’t stop either... it hurts... but I'm glad. I don’t want to just... forget her and move on.. even if it hurts." She held her close, wrapping her arms around her and mumbled "I don’t know... I think she might have liked being here. Maybe she would have found someone to love her the way Jack has..." She sighed, closing her eyes as she nuzzled into her head "..our kids are waiting, my love... we need to go. We're really late.." She chuckled softly after that, cupping her cheek to lift her head "I love you."

Catra didn't tear up but her vision got blurry as she rubbed her eyes and nodded. By forcing a smile she chuckled at her "Yeah... I bet they started eating without us already" She pulled away wiping her eyes and gesturing for her to guide her "My knight… Let's go"

The warrior nodded, kissing her forehead again before she took her hand. She squeezed it gently in reassurance before she led her out of the room, rubbing the back of her hand as they walked. Talking about it had only made it hurt worse, part of her wishing they hadn't talked about their loss and another part glad that they had "I love you, my queen."

The feline couldn't just hide her feelings. They both have been through a lot to hide. Especially now that they saw Jack growing up. She squeezed her hand back while smiling sadly at her and leaning close to her "I love you too.... You're my world.." She continued.

Adora wrapped an arm around her when she leaned close and kissed the top of her head as they walked. She didn't bother to hide it either. After years of trying to hide it she knew all it brought was more pain. “You're my world.. my everything... I’m so glad I met you and so sorry for all of the pain we had to go through together" She spoke softly, looking down at her.

"Adora.... ?" The feline stopped just before they entered the room. She held her back so she wouldn't leave. Eyes didn't focus on her blue ones. They just looked away as ears were folded down "I'm scared, about all this... You'll have to fight and every time you do I have the same fear of losing you... If we lose the war again I won't be able to keep our children safe all alone.... I'm scared.” She admitted and took a deep breath. Returning to the old life of hers came with a cost.

The warrior looked over at her, letting her speak before she cupped her cheek . Then she kissed her softly and looked down at her "I’m scared too, my love... but this is the only way to win... I can't let those mages hurt anyone else." She gently scratched her head, running her fingers through her hair "I love you..and I know that we'll be okay..."
"please... Find out how to use your magic again..... How to heal... How to use Shera.... I love Adora but now we need Shera too...and without some of the abilities I don't know how it will go..." Catra whispered and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips. She didn't want to show her that she was useless ,but some of the powers Shera had...were too useful to not have during this war. "I would come with you... But I don't want to leave the children alone here.... I want to help .."

The other one nodded, cupping her cheek and kissing her softly "I will... I promise, my love. I will. I won’t lose you." She wrapped her arms around her then, hugging her close "I know, baby. I know it’s okay. You don’t have to explain yourself. I understand" She smiled softly down at her, kissing her again then.

After a moment of silence, the feline spoke again while rubbing her hand "Let's go.... That's what I wanted to tell you..." She hummed and opened the door as she saw Glimmer with Bow and their children already eating.
"Ah finally" Glimmer said in a relieved sigh.
Adora kept an arm wrapped around her wife. She put on a smile when they walked in. She looked at Bow, Glimmer and the rest of them "Hope you all weren't waiting too long" She joked, sitting her and Catra down at the table.
"Funny, Adora... The children are eating already" Glimmer hummed and took her plate to eat.

Catra was actually getting her nerves poked even by her voice. The fact she attempted to do more last night only made her hate her more. She quietly ate. Mara was playing at this point with her food as Jackson and Daniel were eating casually. Mara really made a mess on the table.

Adora rolled her eyes at the tease but didn't say anything. She sat down as well before starting to eat. She held Catra's hand while rubbing the back of it with her thumb to reassure her that everything would be fine. She was able to see her getting irritated. She looked up at Mara playing with her food and shook her head "Mara, sweetie. You need to eat your food not play with it"
"But.... I don’t want it.." She pouted while poking the food. Her eyes looked up at her. She ate one bite after a while and huffed..

Jack took a small bite and finished his food after a couple of minutes only to look at them. "I'll go..out" The boy hummed, obviously he would go to Raiden but he didn't want to say it in front of everyone.

Adora ruffled her hair gently and smiled "fine, but we gotta get you all cleaned up afterwards, okay? You're dirty" She smiled while using a napkin to wipe Mara’s cheek clean. The young girl didn’t eat food yet. They tried a lot of times to feed her something other than milk but she didn’t want it. Adora looked up when Jack spoke, just smiling and nodding. "If you're heading out that way can you check and make sure Swift Wind has food and water?"
"Yeah I will, mother..." He spoke and stood up to walk away quickly.
"Hey, don't even try to clean her up. Look" Catra hummed at the blonde woman and chuckled since Mara was again dirty.

Adora giggled softly, setting it aside and shaking her head "I had to try. Mara, sweetie, just make sure that you eat at least as much as you get on you. Please" She kissed the top of her head then, going back to her own food.

"Yes mother!" The little girl chirped and lied as she continued to play
“You should eat too." Catra pointed at her wife and crossed her arms over her chest. She couldn’t feed Mara later and a hungry Adora..
Adora smiled softly and nodded "I know honey. I will. Don’t worry." With that she went back to eating while the young prince was trying to find Raiden.

Jack really didn't want to get all caught again with the boy. He walked out and got in the stable to check on Swift Wind just like his mom said. He rubbed his head gently and smiled. Though he didn't see Raiden yet.

Raiden hauled a bag of feed over his shoulder. He was skinny, looking like he shouldn't have been able to carry it but he was. He dropped it on the pile as he huffed. He wiped some sweat away from his forehead, not noticing Jack just yet.

The other’s eyes scanned him, slowly opening his mouth and he purred and he approached him from behind. He wrapped his arms around him, even if he was dirty "Morning..how are you?" He hummed, kissing his cheek.

The blond boy jumped, surprised but he smiled and leaned back against him, putting a hand on his. "Good morning Jack. I’m good... tired but I'm good. He put me on extra work since I was late as a punishment. I’ll be getting off later today than normal.." He turned his head to look back at him, smiling gently then "how about your morning?"

Jack noticed he was mad because of it or ... actually bothered but he wouldn't let him do all this work alone. "You will have my help then. I'm not letting you do all this work. I've been the reason you were late." He looked up at him before kissing his lips slowly "I'm sorry.. we could wake up earlier today so you wouldn’t get punished" He hummed and cupped his cheek.

Raiden turned to face him, cupping his cheek and staying close "You don’t have to, love. It’s my job. I don’t mind honestly." He hummed, smiling and returning the kiss "Thank you.. though, for offering."

"I've done this work too. Don't worry about it. I'll help" He insisted and nuzzled close to him. Jack didn't care at all that he was dirty. He could tell he was slowly falling more for this boy. His hands wrapped more around him and tail wrapped around his wrist. "I love you" He finally said.

The other one hesitated before smiling softly. He knew cats would rub their face against you to show affection so he assumed it was the same and did it back, nuzzling him gently "I love you too.. and thank you for helping me... you really don't have to" He wrapped his arms around him, holding him close.

"You won't be able to hold yourself up by the end of the day, Raiden..." Jack breathed out, looking at him only to kiss his cheek "What are you doing right now? How can I help?" He spoke again and smiled at him before he gave him a small brush of his hair since they were stuck in his face.

Raiden shrugged "That happens most days.. I'll be fine." He smiled though when he brushed some hair off of his face, giggling gently "...just moving some bags of feed. I’m almost done though, so there's only about three bags left"

"Okay okay. I'll carry this one, the other one is yours? Or...do you want me to grab both of them? It will be easier." The brunette spoke softly ,making up a whole plan. "Let's go" He had some characteristics of Adora even though he had the looks of Catra.

Raiden chuckled softly, taking his hand as they walked "We can both grab one. I can get the last one too since that would only be two out of the three bags" he hummed softly, leading him to where they were.

Jack grabbed one side of the bag and waited for the other one to help carry it. When the other boy grabbed the other side of the bag Jack walked all the way where they were supposed to let the bag and let it fall "You really liked my fur, considering how you were laying on me" He continued.

"Thank you..for the help.." The blond one replied quickly, guiding him to where the pile was and putting the bag on top "I.. I did, yeah. Your fur is really soft.. It's nice"

The other one noticed his smile and grinned as he lifted the bag easily on his shoulder. "You're so cute~" He complimented him while wanting so much to just spend the day together. To go for a ride.. "Do you have a certain time to stop working or...?"

The servant blushed softly, shaking his head and grabbing the other bag "I am not. And no, no specific time. Once I'm done with my work for the day I'm free"

"Perfect! I'll help you and then we can go out~... I mean... For a ride maybe?" The prince offered and let the bag down since he saw the other one do the same. He took a breath to calm down.

Raiden grinned at the idea and looked behind him only to nod. "That sounds amazing.. I'd love to."

Chapter End Notes

Hello there~! I've decided to have some emojis just to know where the 'weird' scenes are as a warning so ♥ this is for the smut
♡ for the non-con elements
💀 for death or graphic chapters

I am rewriting the chapters from the begining so I'm adding the emojis and I may be adding more emojis too soo keep that in mind <3

Déjà Vu

"I'll come back in a minute,okay?" Even though Jack wanted to just take Raiden and leave he couldn’t without saying anything to his moms. He ran towards the garden where Adora was training so he could speak to her if she was there.

Adora was thankfully out there training though she had dragged Catra along so she could teach her, or at least have her watch.

Catra was at first watching but then she wanted to try some moves. She swung the sword. When she tried to copy Adora’s moves she just messed up. When Jack walked closer she didn't know if he wanted to talk to her, so she took some steps back and continued her training.

"Hey mom...? Can I ask you something?" Jack spoke after a short second.

Adora was smiling while watching her and correcting Catra’s position and moves whenever needed. She looked up though when Jack came over and walked over as well "Of course Jack. What's up? Something with Raiden? Or is it something else?"

"it's about... Uh Raiden, I guess?" He tapped on the ground with his foot and tail waggled slowly while looking away. He was nervous. “Well...did you and mom go somewhere to stay when you two were in love?" The boy meant in the beginning of their relationship. He wanted to take Raiden somewhere with a romantic view. "I mean... A nice lake or... Something like that"

Adora paused for a moment before smiling softly and nodding "I have the perfect place in mind. Though it's a good way away from here. I have two spots in mind. The cliff I took you kids to when you were younger and a lake with a waterfall I took Catra too not long after we got married. Which would be better?" She smiled "Though.. I'm a little nervous with you two being alone together, but as long as you promise to be careful I would be happy to tell you how to get there"

"Mom I'll be fine...if he wanted to do anything bad he would do it already. We slept together last night..." He huffed and looked up at her, thinking about it for a while "The waterfall will be nice" He didn't want to go somewhere to remind him of his sister so.. he just chose the other option "How far is it?"

She raised an eyebrow at his reply. "Slept together huh?" She teased but moved on with a nod "It's gonna be a few hour ride. So I'd suggest a full picnic and probably to leave soon. You remember where we used to live right? And how to get there?" She stayed kneeling down in front of him "I can get the picnic packed for you since I'm assuming you just came back from helping him"

He blushed and obviously hissed at her teases but he nodded at that "Yes I remember and thanks .. I wanted to do something out of the ordinary..if you know another place to go.. Tell me”

Adora paused for a moment "Mm... Well there may be another.. But that's usually better for winter. There's a hotsprings not far from here, just behind Bright moon. Maybe a half an hour ride?"

"ah...no. I will go to the waterfall then" The boy scratched the back of his head "Don't worry I'll be back before you notice" He smiled and turned around to leave to find Raiden.

Catra though approached and looked at Adora. She obviously heard him. "Should we call a guard to follow them?" She hummed and wrapped her arms from behind.

Adora leaned back against her wife slightly, shaking her head "No, I think they'll be fine... Apparently they shared a room last night." She chuckled, turning to kiss the top of her head then.

"yeah but...they'll be all alone...and we don't know that boy either, Adora.... What if anyone finds them?" She leaned close to her and gave her a peck on her neck "I love you.... And him"

She wrapped an arm around her, hesitating before nodding "You have a point... I told him I'd pack a picnic for him.. I'll ask that he bring a guard with him then." She smiled at the kiss on her neck, humming softly and tilting her head "I love you both too... I just... Have to trust him, too. He's getting older, he won't want to be babysat all the time you know..? I want him to be able to feel like we aren't treating him like a baby.."

"We are not.... I was going everywhere with a guard.. Adora. He's not a random villager who doesn't care about his safety .... We're all royals and you ,out of all people know what that means.." Catra hummed and took a step back while touching her arm

Adora nodded in return. "I know. I know... I'll bring it up with him, okay? I want him to be safe too. But I had no idea they were sharing a room, if something had happened I.. I wouldn't have known who." She turned to look at her, putting a hand on her arm "But I'll try and convince him to bring one"
"What... What do you mean? Wouldn't he tell you something.....? They just...slept right?" The princess was now getting anxious. She knew Adora did tell him just the basics but .... Not all of them and she didn't know how to approach such a subject. She looked away, brushing her hair back "We should talk to him"

The blond put a hand on her shoulder, the other hand cupped her cheek "Hey, hey I promise they'll be okay. I don't think anything actually happened. He got more irritated than flustered when I teased him about the possibility. I'll talk to him when I get him the picnic, okay? I promise it'll be fine" She kissed her forehead then, looking down at her "And if we need to talk to him about... That particular activity I can talk to him about. But until then, I'll see about getting him to take a guard with them."

"okay... Do you want me to help? Or I can stay here and practise a little more" Catra held her hands gently and nuzzled on her neck only to place soft kisses on her. "Though it's better to have you around..than practising all alone"

She smiled softly and kissed her gently "We can continue after we pack that picnic for him, my love." She didn’t want to be late. It was evening already and she didn't want them to come back late at night.

"Agh fine....I'll wait then~" Catra was still pouting and looked away before she pointed at her to leave "Go. I bet Jack will want to leave as soon as possible" She chuckled at her.
Adora didn’t wait for another second to pass. She kissed her forehead, and cupped her cheek before walking inside. She headed to pack it up for him as she said.

Raiden was still in the stable, watering all the horses while Jack was walking closer and closer. Seeing that Jack had taken care of Swift wind already he smiled softly, pausing to give him a pet on the horse’s nose.

Jack cracked a playful smile when he saw him so focused on the horse. He walked slowly and quietly behind him only to place his hands on his eyes, 'blinding' him.

The other one jumped slightly, before giggling and leaning back "Hello to you too, Jack" He smiled and turned around then while making the other laugh as well.

The brunette leaned in to give him a kiss on his nose "Hey~So... I'll take you to a waterfall today~ To spend some time there all alone” He hummed, tail wrapped around his wrist slowly.

The stable boy smiled at the kiss to his nose, giggling softly and wrapping his arms around Jack's waist to hold him close "Really? Won’t your moms want a guard to come with us? I mean.. It's dangerous for you to be alone and I just started learning how to fight..."

"I... Don't know. Mom didn't say anything about a guard.. besides we will be just the two of us...in a waterfall. Who's going to be there?" He shrugged and nuzzled close only to give him a soft kiss on his lips. His words brought him second thoughts. "I know how to fight and you're learning so we will be fine~"

Even though Jack tried to reassure him everything would go smoothly Raiden paused for a moment but smiled and moved his hands over his shoulder instead. He smiled at the kiss, leaning into it slightly and mumbling "Yes, but that doesn't mean we're ready to face bandits or someone else alone... There's always the risk of bandits."

The other boy sighed and rolled his eyes back. "Maybe I'll tell my mom to give me a guard then... I don't know.." He huffed and pulled away, crossing his hands over his chest. "But he won't be staying behind us for too long. I want us to be alone in the waterfall.."

Raiden put a hand on his shoulder in an attempt to not upset him. "As long as you let him stay close by, I'm sure that's good enough for your moms." He smiled and kissed his cheek "I don't blame them for worrying. You do know how important and special you are right...? The son of She-ra and the queen of the Horde kingdom.."

"Still I don't find it so special....maybe if I wasn't their son I would have a more simple life than all this..." He didn't pull away but at the same time he wasn't happy with the kiss either. If he wasn't a prince his sister would be alive too…and he wouldn’t have to take a guard wherever he went.

The blond boy cupped Jack's cheeks "Hey... A simple life isn’t easy either… I'm sure your mom has had to walk around with guards around. I don't mind if we have to have one. As long as he doesn't keep me from cuddling with you I'll be happy" He kissed his nose then, staying close "Hey... At least they're letting you go, right? That's a plus. Most parents wouldn't let their kids go. Especially not royalty"

"I...guess" The boy smiled a little when he kissed his nose but shrugged "I didn't ask to be a royal you know...and even if mom liked going around with guards, I don't.." He huffed.

"I know, my love.. I know you didn't." He kissed Jack then while still holding his cheeks "But.. You wouldn't have met me if you weren't a royal.. Right?"

"That's... True... Kind of...." He growled but he leaned in to give him pecks and kisses on his lips and chin "I already want to just disappear with you and.... Teach you things ~Spend time together...~ But I'm scared. I don't want to leave you behind when we go back home.. And I won't be able to see you again" The magicat held his hands and rubbed his palm with his thumb.

Raiden blushed softly at the growl, though he giggled at the affection. He didn't know why he blushed so deeply but he tried to hide it with a smile. "I know.. I know. But I know some great hiding spots around the castle. So that we don't have to have a guard with us." He grinned looking up at him "Why don't we go to the waterfall and then tomorrow we can hide somewhere around the castle?"

Jack looked at the boy and grinned when he saw his blush. "Yeah.... That sounds better now" He chuckled and wrapped his arms around him to rest his head against his shoulder.

The blond one hugged him back before whispering "I love you... Thank you..." He kisses his cheek, smiling as they just held each other with closed eyes.

The magicat held him tightly so he could show him how much he needed him. "I love you too... I just want us to be together...and cuddle" He purred quietly.

Raiden smiled when he heard him purr and rubbed his back "We will be.. Tomorrow and the day after. I know the perfect place for us to rest. There's a tower that's rarely used. No one goes to the top floor. I like to sit by the window so I can watch the birds and the sun rising or setting.." He smiled and cupped his cheek "We don't have to sit there but we can stay in the room.. I have it set up like a little nest type thing... Piled up the most comfy things I can find. It's.. Not perfect. Most of it is old blankets and pillows the royals won't use any more"

Jack smiled when he cupped his cheek and wrapped his tail around his waist. "That'd be the best day then! I'll take some things too to bring, for now I'll go bring some things and.... Tell my mom about the guard.." He hummed and took a hesitant step back.

Raiden nodded, letting him step back, though he leaned forward to kiss him gently "Okay. I'll finish up here soon and wait here for you" He smiled, letting him go then.

The boy ran away. Catra was in her bedroom and Jack didn't know where Adora was so he ran up to their room and knocked on the door. He noticed she was gently scratching the pillows of her bed. He furrowed his eyebrows but he could tell his mom had indeed made a really good looking bed. His tail slowly waggled "Do you know where mom Adora is? She told me she would come to give me the picnic thing but ....she didn't"

"I..have no idea honestly.... Maybe she got caught up with something else too?" Catra tried to make the boy leave. She had her sheets covering her nudity up while her hair was slightly messy.

Adora was in the bathroom to get some water for the two of them so they wouldn't, well, die of dehydration. A towel wrapped around her waist rather than covering her chest. She walked back out with two mugs of water and she grinned "Ready for round three- Oh God, Jack!" She covered herself quickly. The towel almost fell off her waist.

The feline opened her eyes widely. She was naked under the sheets but she didn't reveal her boobs to her son! The girl placed her hand on her face, hiding "Adora-...! Just..cover up your chest" The feline spoke ,all blushed by the sudden view. She was indeed hot but this was bad timing "Round three of what,mom?" The boy was confused, more confused as... To what that meant and why they were both half naked.

Adora blushed, turning her back to him while she set the mugs down before she covered her chest and looking for her shirt "I um... I-... Catra" She fumbled, looking back at her wife then. She wasn't sure what she should say or even how to explain it. She just turned away so she could pull a shirt back on. "We um.... We were uh.."

Catra gave her a pouty glare with all the meaning of 'you started this. Now you tell me to reply!?' but she took a breath and brushed her hair back. They were obviously messy after all "I will... Ah, explain it to you later okay? We are doing ...adult things. You're not yet ready to know" She hummed with Jack having more questions than answers

"And why are you both naked?"

Adora winced slightly while looking at her for a moment before sighing "No, no we should probably explain now. Might as well if he has a boyfriend it's going to start eventually. And with spring that will probably be soon." She scratched the back of her head. Without her chest bound as it usually was her chest was.. Much more defined through the shirt, though she didn't bother with that "But if you would rather wait I have your picnic set up and ready to go now"

"Adora, we're naked. Do you think it's the right moment to talk about this?"

"But I want to know mom...and why do you talk about spring? I don't understand.....but I don't want to make Raiden wait so...can't you tell me real quick?" He spoke and took a small step closer.

The warrior paused before shaking her head "This won't be a quick discussion without leaving a whole lot of questions for you... We'll tell you when you get back okay? I promise"

He huffed and crossed his arms over his chest before nodding "Okay I...will leave now then...thanks?" The boy was confused but he left. He let the other one with Catra almost glaring in frustration

"You didn't hear us talk? Really?"

Adora handed him the stuff for the picnic before he left. She winced at what Catra said "No. I didn't and- shit I forgot to tell him about the guard!" She dropped the towel, pulling pants on quickly before rushing out "Jack! Wait hold on one more thing!"

The feline was obviously not turned on at all even if she was ready for another round some minutes earlier she huffed. She wrapped her body with the sheets and stood up.

The boy though didn't run so Adora caught up with him quickly "Yes? What is it?" He stopped.

"Jack, I forgot to tell you. We want you to bring a guard with you. We have one waiting by the palace gate ready to go. He won't be right on your hip and will keep his distance instead so you two can have privacy. I've instructed him to just stay close enough so he can hear if one of you yells." She leaned down, kissing his forehead then "Stay safe, okay? I love you. Now go have fun with your boyfriend." She smiled, letting him go then and heading back to the room with a soft and relieved sigh.

"yeah... I'll..be fine. Thanks mom" He looked away and smiled nervously. Hearing his mom call Raiden his boyfriend was weird.

He turned around and waved his hand as he ran outside to meet Raiden as well.

Catra on the other hand was just walking around the room poking at the pillows till she leaned close and nuzzled at them.

Adora walked over to her wife again and pulled her clothes off. She got into the 'nest' with her while knowing that even if she didn’t want sex, the bed would smell more like her if she didn’t have clothes in the way. She was also careful not to break the wall of the bed. She sat down in the center, letting her do what she needed to do with the nest and just watching her.

The feline was all curled in the 'nest' of pillows. She looked at her and sighed before she dug her face into the pillows. "What...?" She was pouty now. Her eyes closed and her tail all wrapped around her own fragile silhouette and whined.

Adora smiled softly and crawled beside her. She knew she was.. Touchy. She spoke softly "Can I touch you? For cuddles, that's all" She knew she was allowed in the nest, but also knew that she was picky and sensitive most of spring so she wouldn't push her luck "I'm sorry about earlier my love. I didn't hear him"

"You could just not start the conversation about the whole sex thing.... I don't know how to explain it to him, Adora" She huffed and coyly approached the girl so she could touch her. "If Daniella was around I would tell her to teach him the things about that topic just as she taught me too..." She hummed

The blond laid down behind her while curling up behind her and wrapping an arm around her waist. Then she nuzzled into her shoulder "I know... But he needs to know and I'm not sure I want that boy teaching him... I don't know what he knows or what he'll tell him"

"What else could he tell him? I mean .....he may not even know anything about it either..." She leaned in and nuzzled close to her while purring quietly.

"Maybe. But.. I grew up in the streets. I learnt by doing. I want to teach him about it so he can be safe and careful, you know?" She kissed the top of her head with a soft smile and nuzzled back "I just scrubbed myself down. Need to re-mark me?" She smiled since Catra was nuzzling her so much she assumed she had accidentally scrubbed off the scent mark.

"mhm..... You don't even have a smell anymore... Are you trying to take off your skin?" She pouted while thinking she didn't want to have her mark. Though she did nuzzle more ,purring and allowing her to touch her. She placed some licks on her neck too.

"No baby. I was covered in sweat from training. That's all, love. I promise" She held her close while moving as needed so she could mark her "I love you, kitten"

"Show it .....show how much you love me then" Catra whispered while her tail was slowly wrapping around her thigh and she nibbled on her. Then she continued to nuzzle and sniffle on her to check if she did a good job after all.

Adora smiled softly and pulled her closer. She gently lifted her chin after she had checked her, knowing better than to interrupt her while she's checking before leaning down to kiss her. She kept it gentle and slow for now, holding her chin as she did. She kept her eyes closed for a while after the kiss, smiling softly when she finally pulled away "I love you. I'm all yours, my love..and you're all mine"

That was more than accepted. Catra loved it so much when she held her chin. She even mewled when she did so. Her eyes closed but did pull away when she heard her words "You're an amazing kisser~" She smiled and playfully purred.

The other one giggled softly and tilted her wife's head to nuzzle on her neck. She knew she couldn't scent-mark like Catra could but she draped herself around her so that Catra and the nest would smell like her. This way Catra could bury herself in it if need be "Thank you, my love. I have years of practice thanks to you"

"Aww~" The feline smiled in return and nuzzled against her and the nest. She loved her scent on the blankets and pillows. "I love you~" She murmured and licked her neck teasingly.

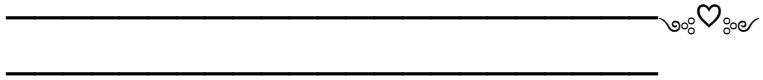

Adora rubbed her back gently "I love you too, kitten." When she licked her neck she hummed "Oh? Is it that time again, my love?" She chuckled softly while hugging her close.

"I'm... I don't know.... I mean I bet you're tired...After all this training" She looked up at her with a grin. "If you want though... I'm down to do anything for you~"

The warrior pulled her closer by her waist and kissed her forehead "I am never too tired for you, my love. What do you need?" She looked down at her and cupping her cheek gently "But thank you for trying to take care of me"

"I don't know what I want..... " She pouted in reply and purred while she was now nuzzling close "I want you...and your attention..and cuddles and ah..." She whined and purred while clinging on to her.

Adora smiled softly and ran a finger through her hair "You can have both, my love" She held onto her while letting her be as close as she needed to be.

At that time Jack ran back to the boy so he could smile brightly and hold his hand."Let's go, I have everything and the guard will just be far to not bother us"

Raiden grinned and took his hand in his “Good, I'm glad. I finished just in time then, I'm ready to go when you are.”

"Let's go then~" The boy didn't want to be late.

The guard really didn't bother them and the two boys were just riding the horses till they arrived at the beautiful waterfall. Raiden climbed on his horse too and followed the other boy who led the way. Luckily, the guard had a horse of his own. When they got there he gasped at the view. The sound of the water hitting the lake only calmed them down as Jack found it really cute for them to be there alone and enjoying the evening. He set down the picnic box with the sandwiches inside for them to eat

"Hey Raiden....?" Even if he was happy around him he was still confused about what his mom wanted to tell him so he would ask the boy instead.

"Oh wow..." Raiden was lost in this place. He looked back at him after they had sat down and he tilted his head "Yeah Jack? What is it?"

"nothing serious.. just... My moms were for the first time not able to tell me something because of my age and... I'm not sure if I should worry about it or not... They said something about spring but I didn't understand. Do you know anything that happens in spring?” He furrowed his eyebrows and looked down at his food before looking at him "I don't know if it's something serious and they don't want to tell me"

The stable boy looked confused for a second. Though when he mentioned spring he paused before blushing "Well... I might have an idea but-... I don't know if it's.. Offensive I guess..?" He was nervous to say it. He raised a hand to scratch the back of his neck.

"Is it something about me? It is. Isn't it?..." Jack furrowed his eyebrows while getting more irritated than happy. Everyone knew something that he didn't ...and it was about himself! He leaned away for a second to take a small breath "It's fine... I mean... Hopefully mom will tell me...I'm sorry I'm bothering you all the time about my moms....I shouldn't"

"No, no it's okay! It's okay I just.. I don't want to offend you with this but-..." The other one paused before going on "you.. Do know what sex is right?" He blushed, not really being able to look him in the eyes as he was waiting for a response. He didn't know if he knew it or not since he heard that royal kids were sometimes sheltered from what it was.

The magicat blinked but he shook his head and shrugged "No.... But ...you really don't have to tell me...I like it when you blush but you seem too shy to talk about it...and I don't want to ruin this for you" He looked at him, giving him a small nervous smile and cupping his cheek to make him look at him.

"No, it- it's okay. It's just-.. I don't want to tell you and have your moms upset at me for telling you. But if you really want to know I don't mind." He looked back up at him, still blushing softly though and the red colour turned darker when he looked him in the eyes, though he gave him a soft smile back.

"no... We'll forget about it and just... I'll learn today.. I can wait till mom tells me.." He felt ashamed he didn't know something so obvious but he couldn't put the blame on him. Jack looked at him again and smiled before placing a kiss on his lips "I love you~"

He nodded while cupping his cheek. He leaned in to kiss him back while smiling against his lip "Alright... if you're sure. I really don't mind telling you" He sat closer to him instead, leaning against him then.

"I don't mind either... I bet you know more things than I do..." The other boy mumbled in return and nuzzled close to him with a soft purr.

Raiden blushed at that, though he knew Jack didn't mean it the way he said it. He couldn't help but get flustered again while wrapping his arms around him "When they tell you the basics I'm happy to teach you anything they didn't.."

"hm?.....well ... You can teach me something now, If you wish" Jack shrugged and made the other grin and tilt his head up by his thumb.
Raiden slowly moved down to his neck, nipping and biting gently for a bit before mumbling "How do you feel?"
The boy blushed at that. He didn't know the words to put into a phrase. He had his hands placed on his shoulders as he tensed. "I...don't know? Warm....? I mean ..... You know this makes you feel like that too, right?" He was unconsciously leaning in for him to give him more kisses or bites as he bit his bottom lip.

Raiden giggled softly and nodded "That's called being horny, or.. Well, I'm feeling horny." He smiled softly, giggling when he noticed that Jack was leaning in. He saw his ears falling back and his cheeks being all red.

"and what does it have to do with you or...me or something?" The other hummed but whined since he didn't continue. He looked away and slowly pulled back.

The stable boy wrapped his arms around him and pulled him close again "You'll find out. But there's more to it than just that... It's just fun to tease you." He giggled, kissing him gently.

"You...~" The young prince chuckled and leaned close to tilt his head and allowed him to kiss him. His hands rested on his shoulders and clung on him. He could really feel the heat growing up between them.

Raiden laughed softly and kissed him while tilting his head up by putting a finger on his chin. He may have gotten flustered easily but that doesn't mean he can't tease. "I love you. And you can go right down to talk to your moms. I'll wait down the hall and I can show you where the tower is for tomorrow?"

The magicat growled and looked away at the affection or...the teases of the other one "You're unbelievable...." He hissed but did hide himself between his thighs. He was indeed thankful sometimes that Adora taught him that he should hide himself while being out in public. Jack looked away but stood up as he tried his best to not show that he felt the uncomfort of this reaction. He began to walk slowly around the lake in order to calm down a little.

The blonde one on the other hand blushed again at the growl. When he noticed him hiding it and got uncomfortable he put a hand on his arm "Hey. Jack, this is normal. I feel it too, okay? It's nothing to be embarrassed about and nothing you have to hide." He let him deal with it how he chose to, deciding it was best not to force him.

"It's okay to talk about it when you know more things than I do....for me all this is a problem" Jack huffed and crossed his arms over his chest as he looked at the water falling down. "It's normal but still it's a problem to get solved one way or another...." He was so frustrated that Adora didn't tell him how to get rid of all this situation though he didn't notice his companion’s blush.

The other boy hesitated before speaking up "If you really want to know Jack I’ll tell you. Honestly I really don't mind... I don't.. Know nothing separate from what I experience but... It’s at least some basic knowledge?" He offered for Jack to sit in front of him "C'mere, baby. If it's bugging you that much let me talk to you about it”

Jack furrowed his eyebrows "Will you just tease me again....?" He hummed and rolled his eyes back before he looked between his legs and took a deep breath. "Tell me finally.." He spoke again as he sat close to him again.

"I promise I won't tease you." He held out his hands for Jack's before kissing the back of each. He then started to explain it to him, being flustered as he did.

Jack was surprised by all this ...new information but the way he explained it made him feel more comfortable than embarrassed about this. "I..see .... Well we can do that...one day?" Maybe that day wouldn't be too far, according to his heat, but the boy couldn't say anything else. He blushed as his tail wrapped around his boyfriend's wrist.

Raiden blushed when he asked about doing that one day. He hesitated but nodded "Y-yeah-.. Yeah. I would love to... Whenever you're ready." He grabbed his hands with a warm smile "Of course. Do you um.. Know how to take care of yourself on your own?"

"....no?....but thank you... You really told me more than my mom..." He looked down and leaned close with a purr. "You're the best "
The other one smiled and pulled him closer to embrace him. "It's not.. really that hard to figure out just um.. Whenever you're alone and start to feel that way reach down and start.. Touching. You'll figure out what feels right." He left it at that, running his hands through his hair. All these things were….too difficult to explain.

The prince purred at the feeling of his arms around him as his eyes closed a little "I love you .. still.. thanks.." He hummed and gave him a gentle kiss on his lips.

Raiden rubbed his back with a soft smile before kissing his forehead "I love you too, handsome" He grinned and cupped his cheek as they kissed.

The two young teens continued cuddling up and nuzzling against each other under the dark sky. They ate and laughed or talked about their past though they didn't remember to leave once the night came.

Even though the two of them were close and Catra knew Jack was safe, at the same time she was getting too worried when they didn’t come back soon. The night sky was visible and the two boys weren’t home yet.

"Adora...?" She mumbled in her sleep as the worry woke her up early in the night.

Adora nuzzled into her wife with a soft yawn and mumbled "Mm... What time is it....? Are they back yet..?"

The feline looked up at her and shook her head "I ...no they aren't .... They are not here yet..." She hummed and leaned close to her to pull her up so they could stand up.

Adora looked up and out of the window before getting up. She rubbed her eyes and kissed Catra’s forehead before pulling her clothes on "Alright, my love. I’ll go look for them. You stay here, okay? Keep the nest warm for me, I'll be right back." She gave her a reassuring smile and kissed her again before walking to the door.

"No... No. My love, I won't let you go alone like this again..." The brunette had terrifying memories of a similar situation. She looked up at her and leaned close to embrace her and get ready by wearing a simple dress and putting on a cloak. She didn't wear her corset since her heart was already beating too fastly to even think about her appearance.

Adora’s calm expression because of the sleep vanished quickly. Especially when she saw Catra being so nervous and anxious. She nodded quickly and led her out of the castle and into the stables. Swiftwind was there, sleeping before he heard the loud noise of the stable’s door that opened. Adora walked quickly towards him, patting his neck gently before giving him a tired but anxious smile. “Let’s go buddy” She spoke before helping her wife onto another horse. “Catra.. They’ll be alright,okay?” She spoke quickly as she made the horse grunt by a soft push Adora gave him on his sides with her boots.

Adora’s head was foggy, all the memories of the dark deep woods back in the Horde came up to her mind once again. Her horse running, her anxiety and heart beat growing faster.. Everything felt so bad connected while she was searching for Jack.

They already lost one child in the woods.

They couldn’t lose another one.

The Last One

The two young boys were already away from the palace. Thankfully the guard was around them but he didn't have an order to take them back home before dawn. Jack had. He was tired of being ordered around. As the night made the forest darker, Raiden couldn't see clearly and that made him a little bit anxious. He stood up and gave Jack a small squeeze. "Hey Jack?" He whispered.

The magicat was sleeping while staying close to him and almost snoring in his sleep. He whined though when he felt him poke. "What…?" He felt so comfortable while sleeping on him, now he had to wake up and ride back home..to sleep alone. The young prince huffed but slowly crawled away since he remembered he had to go.

"It's already too late. Don't you think so?" Raiden hummed while getting ready and walking to their horses.
"My moms will be in panic already.." Jack spoke once again. "But I wanted to stay out here with you for longer.." He continued and cupped his cheek.
"I know but…I don't want your moms to get worried… I can't even see.."

The forest was not foggy but they had only the light of the stars and moon above them. Jack could see just fine so he was the one leading the blonde haired to the horse. The guard followed behind them. The horses grunted but began to walk and then run as Jack helped the other two. The only issue was.. That he didn't know the way back. They were searching for a way back to the castle. Suddenly they heard some strange noises from the woods that weren't caused by the gallop of the horses. Jack's eears caught up by the sounds but he didn't know what was that. Was it an animal? Was there someone else and they were followed? Jack got anxious for a second till a light of a lantern was visible in the distance. The guard guided his horse in front of the prince’s horse and moved his hand for the other two boys to halt.

At that moment Adora and Catra were on the other side. They had a lantern by hand while riding. When they saw the guard Catra only hissed under her breath “Bright Moon has the best soldiers huh….” she growled.

Adora looked at her for a moment. She didn’t know what to say… She was right. They gave orders to the young boy but the guard didn’t insist on taking them back before dawn. She looked up at the man and gave him a nod only for her blue orbs to focus on the young magicat. She and her wife had gone through hell and back.

Catra though wasn’t so calm about it. Yes, they found them but they were just lucky they were alive. She couldn’t believe the young boy didn’t even listen to her. "Jack. We told you to be at home before dawn...." She glared at him with ears down and eyes piercing through his.

"We're not so late, mother.... We got carried away ...that's all" The boy explained while leaning tiredly on his horse. “You don’t have to be so worried about it…”

Adora let out a soft sigh of relief as she relaxed her grip on Swift wind "You still worried us, Jack. I understand getting carried away but please try and pay more attention, okay? It's not safe… especially at night."

Raiden hesitated before speaking up."It's my fault, I'm sorry ma'am. I didn't mean to keep him out for so long"

"no... Raiden. Mom, you are afraid of almost everything and everyone... I'm not seven. I had a guard too ...why did you send a guard with me if you didn't trust that he could protect me?” He hissed but placed a hand on Raiden's shoulder before he guided his horse past them.

Catra was really mad at him but she couldn't argue...not right now. Her tail and fur puffed and she guided her horse back.

Raiden on the other hand hesitated but glanced at them before just looking away. He mumbled an apology as he rode past. Adora looked at them before sighing softly, looking at Catra "I'll talk to him baby. Let's just get home" She spoke in a soft tone, understanding how mad Catra must have been right now.

"yes I know..." The feline spoke just as softly and continued to ride till they arrived in the palace. She sighed in relief for a moment. She was thankful the young prince was alive. She couldn't get so worried every time and Jack was careless. They arrived early and soon to the palace. The servants helped Adora off the horse and Catra of course.

Jack kissed Raiden for goodnight even if he did wait for him to sneak in later in his bedroom.

Once they got in there Adora got down and let Raiden put the horses away so she could talk to Jack. She was still not sure how she should start but she had to find a way to put her thoughts into words.

The young one walked beside her as Catra already walked away. She was furious and if she was in that conversation she would have most likely argued with him already.

Jack was quiet. He knew Catra was angry and of course Adora was too but he liked the freedom the other boy had... He was able to stay out as long as he wanted, to do what he wanted. On the other hand he had to be careful everyday, to stay in the castle all the time or get out for walks only in the garden and not stay out for too long.

After a long pause Adora decided to rub the magicat’s shoulder gently "I know what it's like... But... You still have a lot to learn. I want to keep you safe, Jack... And as much as it sucks that means that we have to know you'll listen to us. We love you and-... We can't lose you... One guard won't be able to stop a big group of raiders, or bandits.. Or even a good enough assassin." She sighed softly, looking down at him "Trust me... I hated having to be in the dark too. As long as you stay in the courtyard area you can stay out as long as you like. But in the kingdom and past I.. Have to ask that you come back at least by dark and that you bring a guard with you when you go out. Please?"

"It's not fair. We were walking around everyday before we came here and nothing happened. Why should something happen now!?" He tightened his fists in anger but still continued "We are just fine without guards and you know it, mom... I was with Raiden and he would help me if he saw anyone attack ..I would have done something too"

"That's because they didn't know who we were. But now they know we're alive again they'll be looking for us... Anyone who could want to hurt us will try... It's not safe like it was. I’m sorry, son... I wish you were not in danger like this..." Adora sighed softly "It's not always enough... I can’t... I can't risk losing you... Please. Jack..." She paused before sighing again "not having you at home like that once it was dark it... It um... It reminded us of..

Waking up.. Finding out Lena was gone and-..." She took a deep breath then said "I'm sorry. I know it's not fair to compare it but... I can't help it. And I don't want you to.. To end up like her... Even with a guard and Raiden."

The boy looked away. He was going through this because they were both scared of something happening like what happened to Lena. He was just tired and wanted to be free. "Mom, nothing will happen again... You're just getting yourself tired with all this.. What will you do when the others grow up too? You won't let them live out of the palace either?" He hissed and turned his back at her before walking towards the stairs to head off to his room.

She looked at him then, not disappointed or mad just.. Sad. "I just want to keep you safe... It's not safe outside of the palace. I'm sorry but unless you can follow our requests we can't let you out at all. Catra would have made you stay in the palace itself and not just the courtyard... I cannot lose you. I'm trying to ask you to compromise with me here... Please. As long as you bring a guard and return home by nightfall I don't care what you do..." She let him walk away hesitating before she headed back to the room.

The feline was in the room. She was slowly undressing again while trying to calm down. She leaned against the desk and placed her hand on her face with a sigh. Hair pulled to one shoulder and eyes closed. For a moment she thought about Jack being safe and in his room again so she could feel less anxious as the minutes passed. When she heard the door open she looked at the mirror only to speak again "What happened ?... Sorry I couldn't stay to talk. I'd probably make it worse"

Adora walked in with her hair down. She still kept her hair down most of the time now though she would have it up for more important times, such as the party or meals. "Horrible. He thinks we're ruining his life.. Trying to lock him away. I tried to tell him that as long as he was careful he was free to leave but..." She sighed "I'll try again in a few days. Give him and us both time to calm down" She pulled her shirt off as well, walking over to cup her cheek "I promise, I'll figure this out okay...? I'll keep him safe..."

"It's not only you who should do it but I would probably make it more difficult for him to listen....that's why I didn't come too.... I'm sorry I left you all alone with him.. I should help too.." She hummed, turning around and wrapping an arm around her body so she could gently pull her close to a kiss. "I love you...."

She held her close and kissed her gently before mumbling "It's not your fault, my love. You have no need to apologise" She cupped her cheek then "I love you too.. Shall we go to the nest?"

Catra smiled at that and nodded while holding her hand now and guided her to the bed. She laid down and poked the pillows and blankets before laying in. She curled up as she felt the extra weight when Adora joined. She was purring all the time so the blonde could tell she was actually happy.

Adora smiled in return and climbed in with her. She curled up with her and pulled her closer with a soft smile as she heard her purr.

The feline purred and nuzzled close to her. Her eyes closed and she placed her face on her chest "My knight..." She whispered as she felt herself slowly relaxing and ready to fall asleep.
The warrior smiled and wrapped her arms around her only to nuzzle into her gently and mumble "My queen" She gave her a soft squeeze on the shoulder as she drifted off to sleep.

At that time Raiden was waiting for him on the bed. He was looking up when he heard the door open slightly "Jack?"

The boy's tail puffed a little when he heard him and saw him on his bed. Even though he expected to see him there he got scared. He tried to just not be all mad because of his moms. "Hi, love. You arrived early.” He chuckled and rubbed the back of his head while unbuttoning his shirt.

The blonde walked over and put a hand on his chest "No. No, keep that on. I told you about the tower, right? Why don't we go there for the night? We can leave a note so your moms won’t worry about where you are. And it's still within the castle grounds so they can't be upset at you for leaving." He smiled slightly and kissed his cheek "It's full of pillows and blankets.. It's surprisingly comfortable"

The magicat sighed in frustration when he talked about his moms. He didn't want to show he was under so much control. He hissed but he shook his head "Let's just go. If they want anything they will find me.. I don't have to always tell them what I do" He hummed while holding his wrist and walking out of the room.

The stable boy hesitated and spoke in a nervous tone. "Are you sure..? I don’t.. I don’t think it’s a good idea... They're just trying to protect you. You shouldn't be mad at them for that.."

"Raiden I'm tired of them trying to protect me and always being overprotective.... I'm not a child ...!" He huffed and continued to walk "I can always be around the palace and they won't have to know I'm not in bed.."

The other one walked with Jack while speaking softly "Can you blame them? I've heard what they've been through. Can you really blame them for being scared...? I know it's hard but they don't want to lose you.." He led Jack to the tower and up the stairs.

Jack on the other hand shook his head "I don't want them to be like this. I've been through this too but I'm not like them... They're overreacting.." He hissed but soon he let out a gasp. The room was....so comfy. The pillows and blankets made him purr as he approached slowly. Green-ish eyes dilated as he scanned his surroundings and scratched the pillows before curling up on them.

Raiden sighed softly, shaking his head "I'm.. Not sure it's overreacting. I-" Seeing his reaction to the room he smiled softly and walked over to him with a soft giggle "You can move them however you want to make them more comfortable for you."

The magicat smiled. He moved some pillows to make it more fluffy but he laid on them before curling up and pushing his cheek against the pillow with a loud purr. Why did this feel so good? He couldn't tell "It's amazing, Raiden!.."

The stable boy smiled and walked over before kneeling beside him "I'm glad you like it. It's not the best but... Well I did what I could with it."

Jack on the other hand smiled and pulled him in his embrace "No. It's perfect~" He insisted.
The blonde smiled and hugged him close while curling up with him "I love you... And I'm glad you like it."
The magicat nuzzled close and purred louder. He wanted something more but even if he knew how to do it he was actually nervous. His eyes closed to rub his cheek against him, his tail wagged slowly and curled up on his friend’s thigh.

Raiden rubbed Jack's back and ran his fingers through the other's hair. Then he kissed his forehead "I love you, Jack" He whispered.

The prince was surprised by his sudden words and opened his eyes to look at him and pause for a second. "I love you too..." He cupped his cheek and caressed it with his thumb. He smiled and peppered his lips with kisses while embracing him.

The other giggled softly at the barrage of kisses. He smiled and pulled him closer to wrap both his arms and legs around him. He just wanted him close.
Jack wrapped one arm around him while kissing. When Raiden wrapped his legs around him he crawled up and held himself up by his left elbow. He loved the nest but his temperature was increasing and he really couldn't help but hum in between the second kiss. “I want you” He growled Raiden blushed as he hovered over him. He put a hand on the back of his neck and kept his legs wrapped around him only to whisper “I’m all yours” when the other planted kisses on his neck and chin.

The boy paused but did as he was told. He finally pinned him down and made tsure to keep being dominant to the stable boy. The next minutes would pass with pants and kisses or tugs against the sheets. The midnight sky was clearly visible by the couple as they were now laying beside each other.

The blond one breathed heavily while curling into him and closing his eyes. "Wow..." The scratches and bites on his body stung a bit but he didn't mind.

Jack felt bad for these scratches but at the same time he didn't feel like apologising anytime soon. He was so cute and he.. really couldn't control himself at that moment. "It was ..really good" He admitted.

"That was amazing..." Raiden curled into him and nuzzled against his chest only to yawn softly and whisper "I'm so glad I met you..."

"You were amazing.... Really." The brunette smiled after hearing his words and leaned in to give a kiss on his forehead. He also embraced him and rested quietly "I don't want this night to end..." he paused and continued "I love you.." He whispered, crawling a finger on his already scarred torso.

"I love you too Jack..."He smiled, yawning in exhaustion. They both couldn’t speak more than that. They were tired and thankfully they slept immediately after their moment.

The night passed away with the queen feeling sick. She wasn't in her morning mood. These days she was too clingy and on Adora's lap but this morning she... Just didn't feel so clingy.. or clingy at all. She stretched and stood up, knowing that if she didn't they would be late to the meeting today. She didn't want that. With that in mind she started to dress up.

Adora felt the weight of her wife on the bed and grunted while nuzzling into the pillow "It's too early... Come back to bed.." She pouted and looked up at her then with her right eye only open.

"I can’t.... You shouldn't be late either....we have to go for the meeting" She looked down at her and grinned "You're adorable when you're so sleepy" She commented and leaned in to pat on her head gently.

The knight whined again. She pouted and looked up at her, hesitating before mumbling "You're acting... well… back to normal.. but spring isn't over yet." She pointed out and yawned again. After that, she sat up and rubbed her eyes. She was a bit confused but she shrugged "Fine. Fine, I'll get ready... we can't be late"

"what do you mean....I'm just dressing up ,love.." Catra hummed while watching her dress up.

Adora walked over to her to hug her from behind and mumble "It's still spring, I'm surprised you're not the one whining for me to come back to the nest" She hesitated but continued "I don't remember it ever having ended early for you either..."

"I... Don't know I just felt energetic today, I guess...?" She hummed and looked away before she nuzzled gently on her and kissed her cheek. After being ready to go, she started fixing the bed. She obviously set the pillows to their actual place and folded the blankets while humming softly.

The blonde just watched, clearly surprised as well as confused as she destroyed the nest "Why are you taking the nest apart? That doesn't usually happen until about June." she hesitated "No. I do remember it ending early but I can't remember why..."

The feline slowly shrugged "I don't need it? I mean... I feel like I don't need the nest anymore? Maybe it—" The girl obviously figured out what was going on "Adora, you're right" The girl widened her eyes and pointed at her belly. She clearly couldn't believe she actually got pregnant even though she....really shouldn't be so surprised. Adora was most of the time by her side in the bed. She couldn't say that she didn't like it but... obviously that came with a price.

The blue eyed one paused for a moment, confused until she pointed at her belly. Then her eyes widened "Wait-... Wait... oh goddess.. We're gonna have another kid.." She mumbled while looking down at her. She held her hips while not being exactly sure if she should be excited or nervous. By considering what time it was.. it gave them two months before their new child will be born. That only meant the war would most likely still not be over.

"Can't I have you for once when I'm pregnant…" The feline hissed and sat on the bedside in defeat. Her ears folded back and she looked at the ground.

I don't want to lose you

Chapter by Gigi571

"I'll do whatever I can to stay beside you now... I won't leave you while you're pregnant, not again.." Adora held her softly and embraced her only to kiss the top of her head. "When should we tell the others?"

Catra was thinking about it but she shook her head. She was both happy since she really wanted a family with the blonde one but also tired because of the previous pregnancies and the fact it always ended up with Adora leaving. "I don't know...but not now... I don't want anyone to know ..it's too early. You never know.." She shrugged softly and leaned her head against her shoulder. "I hope they won't need you for the battle..."

Adora kept her arms around her, kissing the top of her head while hugging her close and speaking softly "I don't know either... but if you aren't ready to tell them then we won't" She rubbed her upper arm "They might... it's the first major battle since I've been back. I swear this will be the only one I go on... I want to be here for you... I can't let you go alone. Not again"

The queen stared at her own thighs and nodded softly before wrapping her arms around her "I love you..." She mumbled and clung on her. She was too anxious but at the same time she didn't want to show it "I know you will be here if you want to" She smiled and placed a kiss on her lips.

The blonde pulled her wife onto her lap "I love you too, baby... I promise I won't leave you this time..." She held her close and rubbed her back. "We need to get to that meeting if I'm going to convince them to let me stay here"

"without them assuming I'm pregnant? I don't think it's possible.." She huffed in reply and gestured to her to follow. They would be late if she continued the conversation. Adora offered her arm to her with a soft smile as she walked with her "I'll figure something out my love. I promise."

Catra trusted her and she knew she would find a way to stay by her side. They soon arrived at the meeting. All the queens and kings of the alliance were there discussing already about the war and how they would attack but they all expected Shera to be on the army's side. They would really get surprised to hear that the woman wouldn't be there for them. She couldn't risk everything for this war. Catra was more important than a victory.

Adora kept an arm around her wife while walking inside the room. "I apologise for being late" She sat down with her then, leaning back in her chair and playing the part of royalty once again. She didn't like that role but she was married to the queen of the Horde.

The rest in the room weren't mad at her for being late. They instead continued to talk about plans on how to get in the Horde. Catra was quiet all along since she was the queen of the nation. She didn't want to reveal any passage. It was better to defeat them without her giving off important information.

'And what about the soldiers we capture? They may be even mages. They are dangerous..' One king questioned in a soft tone and leaned against the table.
Glimmer though looked at the blonde one and shrugged at the simple question "Well, Shera will be with our soldiers.. I bet no one will survive. So don’t worry about having to deal with mages. They won't make it." Even if she was literally talking about mages from Mystacore she and her aunt had several differences already.

Adora hesitated at that. Glimmer was so sure that she would help them in every single battle but…. That wasn’t true. She noticed Catra’s eyes fixing on her when the purple haired said that. She was clearly waiting for her to speak and so she did. She scratched the back of her neck and said "I would prefer to be here with my family. I'm willing to go out for main battles but.. The smaller village skirmishes I don't need to be present for. I haven't been able to be with my kids much.."

"Are you serious....? You're obviously needed in every single fight. You never said no to fights and this time we are talking about our plan to get our villages and your wife’s palace back" Glimmer glared at her. All this had to do with Catra and she couldn't let her change her friend so much. Adora loved to fight. Take back villages from the horde yet now she was… stepping away from the fight? She couldn’t believe Catra had made her this way.

Adora put a hand on her wife's leg then and looked back at her "I am not needed for every fight and I am not a weapon you can deploy whenever and wherever you want. I have a family and I would like to stay with them until the battles where it is necessary for me to be there."

"It's necessary for you to be in all fights because I'm the queen here and I ordered for your help." Glimmer stood up. She was overwhelmed but she didn't expect Catra to step in so quickly or..at all.

The feline didn't care if she was a guest in this palace or not. Adora was her wife and most importantly for this situation her kingdom's First in Command. She stood up with a hiss "If we are making Adora a tool for war then I'm her Queen and she's my Kingdom's Commander." She didn't want to call her a tool but the way Glimmer was using Shera felt too wrong to have feelings now to not behave accordingly "I'm the one she obeys and that's final"

Adora put a hand on her wife's arm and looked up at her "My love. Sit down please... There's no need to get defensive." She didn't want Catra to get so upset.. Especially now that she knew she was pregnant. She glared at Glimmer then, resting her arms on the table "But she is right. Your mother has released me from my vow to your kingdom and I have sworn allegiance to her. She is my queen. You are my best friend. I'm helping because I want to help her take her kingdom back."

Glimmer had no words. Her eyes glared at the feline before she sat down again.
Catra on the other hand sat beside her wife and furrowed her eyebrows "She can't just take advantage and step on my grounds because I'm living for now in her palace ..I'm tired of her using you even if she is your 'best' friend"

"I'm trying to do my best for the war. Not to use her!" Glimmer yelled at the woman and tried to calm down/

Meanwhile the blonde watched glimmer for a moment before turning to her wife again "I know my love but we need to talk through this calmly. Starting an argument will not help." She spoke quietly and rubbed her hand gently before looking back at Glimmer "And you are planning on throwing me into every possible battle you can in an entire war. That is the use of a tool, not a Knight. I will fight the major battles, or I will not fight at all. I will not be tossed around like a weapon anymore."

Glimmer was quiet though she didn't want to argue anymore. She instead agreed after some minutes. The meeting ended with Adora being sent off only to the major battles and Catra finally stood up to go. At first feeling dizzy but she stood straight and looked down at her wife only to give her a small smile "Adora. I'll go back to our room..." She hummed. “If you excuse me…” She felt tired but also she bowed politely to the rest of the royals in the room as she turned around on her heel.

Adora followed her and stood up with her. She wrapped an arm around her waist and kissed her forehead gently "I'll walk you there, my love." She smiled at her, keeping an arm around her as they walked.

The feline leaned close when they got outside and walked beside her "I got really frustrated.... I'm sorry" She actually caused all this headache to herself due to the things they were arguing about. Her arm slowly wrapped around her as well.

The blonde smiled softly and shook her head as she led her out to the yard while rubbing her side "It’s okay, my love. You have no need to apologise"

The other one felt guilty though. She really treated her like a tool back in the meeting room and she…hated it. "I'm still feeling bad" She sighed and continued “I didn’t mean to call you a tool but..”

Adora only kissed her back and squeezed her ribs playfully. "I promise. It's okay, my love. Don’t worry about that.. I know you would never say something like this if she didn’t refer to me as a tool.." She paused and hesitated before continuing. “I don’t know… what’s wrong with Glimmer sometimes…”

During that meeting, Raiden woke up in the embrace of the brown haired boy with a soft yawn. He rubbed his eyes open and whined quietly. Feeling tired already by their time together last night, Raiden nuzzled close to the other’s furry chest.
Jack smiled in his sleep while feeling the other cradling him close. He wrapped his left arm around him and his tail curled around his thigh. “Good morning…~”

“G’mornin…~” Raiden pressed a soft kiss on his chest only to realise they were both naked and he hesitated. His brain started to work once again. "It wasn't a dream then.. Wow."

Jack didn't speak but laughed at his reaction. "Of course it wasn't ... it'd be a shame if it was..." He brought him close and kissed his forehead.
The blonde haired giggled softly and nodded "It really would... I'm glad it wasn't" He smiled at the kiss on his forehead and stayed close to him before mumbling "When do you think your parents will notice you're gone? Wasn’t there a meeting or something this morning?"
"yeah ....they must be in that meeting so.... I assume after the meeting they will search for me" The boy shrugged but smiled when he giggled. "I love you so much, Raiden" He purred after a minute and he slowly tried to crawl away so he could slowly dress up again. "We should really get going though... If they find out you're not working they’ll punish you" He hummed and cupped his cheek.

Raiden pouted when he tried to pull away though and pulled him back "Not yet... Today is my free day.. I have one day off a week..." He whined and tried to hold him back.

"Really?" The other one was surprised to hear that but how could he tell no to him? Especially now that he could get cuddles and soft pillows to stay in for the whole day. He smiled and returned in his embrace only to give him a small kiss on his nose and wrap his tail again around him "Okay then. Let's stay here" He hummed.

"Yeah, yeah really. I'm all yours for the entire day" He hugged him close with a bright smile and giggled at the kiss to his nose.

"Hmm..... Maybe we could do something together." He chuckled and touched his neck with his lips. His breath brushed his shin gently. "Should we practise fighting?" He hummed and placed some pecks on his skin to make him blush.
"A-are you um... Are you trying to use a-.. Oh what's the word... A-a unnuendo? Innueno? Innuendo?" The stable boy almost lost his words.

The prince chuckled and nodded, slowly giving some teasing licks on his neck. "It's innuendo. Yes~" He chuckled. Their legs tangled since his one knee was between his legs.
“W-e could practise though…for real- I am free today” The boy continued and gently guided him back on this side of the bed.
“Mh-” Jack huffed but he took a small breath only to cup his cheek and crawl out of the bed to stand up. “Alright! I’ll be ready in a second” He hummed and dressed up quickly while the other one was putting his pants and shirt on before fixing the top in haste.
Raiden followed the young prince outside and shyly held his hand while walking till they met his moms on their way. He immediately pulled his hand back and looked down on the floor.

Catra kept walking though she stopped when she saw the two boys. She didn’t want to keep being upset at Jack because of what happened last night so she smiled a little. "Look who's awake" Catra chuckled though the smile faded when she noticed her son's shirt being switched with Raiden’s.

Adora looked up when she spoke and giggled softly before recognizing the shirt swap and looked between them "Are... Are their shirts..?"

"yes...did... Did you talk to him or-" She was now anxious about it. Catra looked at her, making a nervous smile when they approached.

"Well..good morning there" Jack spoke awkwardly

"No... Not- not about that at least." The knight hesitated before clearing her throat, nodding at him "Good morning. Would you like to tell me why you are wearing the wrong shirt?"

Jack looked away and shrugged, trying to be calm "We... Slept together and ... We accidentally....switched shirts... I will change... I'm sorry" He hummed obviously not wanting to tell what actually happened.

Adora paused for a moment before just nodding, "That's alright, I don't think anyone else will notice." What else could she tell right now? Catra was already thinking of a way to make Jack talk more about the ‘sleep over’ they had but she couldn’t find a good way to put her thoughts into words. She looked worried at the woman and clung on her. "We ...let's go inside" She hummed. They really had to talk.
Adora looked at her wife for that short moment before nodding and wrapped her arms around her as she walked by her side and into the halls of the castle that had the large garden as a view.

Right then Raiden looked up and between them. They were already out to the royal garden so he noticed someone approaching. His eyes widened slightly, moving closer to Jack and mumbling "We need to go... Now, please.."

The other boy furrowed his eyebrows and looked down at him "Why? What's wrong?" He could tell Raiden was upset but he didn't know why.

A man approached. His hair was the same colour as Raiden's. As soon as the man got closer Raiden pulled away from Jack, just standing by him and looking down, arms down by his side "Hello father.."

The man was furious already. "Raiden.... " He looked over at the slightly taller man beside him. "I got a letter from your boss today.. Who's the boy?" He hissed.
Jack noticed how anxious Raiden was and smiled nervously at the taller man. "My name's Jack....pleased to meet you.. sir"

Raiden looked down, hesitating before he spoke up "He's my friend sir. That's all... He's Knight Adora and Queen Catra's son.."

"Your friend? Just like the friends you had some years ago?" He glared at him and placed his arms on his waist. "Phillip told me you're not doing your job properly these days" He continued as Phillip was Raiden's boss and he sent his complaints for these last four days.

The blonde boy looked away, hugging himself now "No I-... I'm sorry sir. I'll do better..." He kept his head down while shaking slightly as he talked to his father.

Jack had never seen him so scared before.

"Haven't you already done enough to play around with these 'friends' of yours? I thought this job would make you finally pure but here you are" He continued ,now grabbing him by his hair to pull him and force him to walk. He knew Jack wasn't just a friend.

Jack couldn't allow him to take Raiden. Whoever this man was ...he wasn't allowed to treat him like this. He hissed as nails became sharper. "How dare you drag him around like this?" He hissed and took four big steps to get in his way and not allow him to walk any further.

Raiden grabbed his dad's wrist, squirming slightly at the grip to his hair and crying out. "Dad please- I-I'm not-" The father just sneered. "He must go home. You're both disgusting. Sinful…. He clearly needs a priest. Now step away kiddo"

"Sinful?! Why? We did nothing! We were just talking right now. He's doing his job just fine too" The prince growled when the man pulled the other's hair more.

"I know my son better than you do. And I know what kind of friends he has. He chose to be like this. After his mother and I had warned him plenty of times to walk to the right path. He needs to be fixed and so do you!" He growled before he started to drag him away again.

"Fixed? Why? What are you talking about ! It's not a sin to like someone.." The boy knew the older one didn't care at all about his opinion but still he couldn't let Raiden in his hands. He pulled out his dagger that he always carried, only to raise it up towards the man's chest, aiming it at him "Let him go. Now" He hissed.

The old man stopped when he saw the dagger. His eyes widened slightly before they narrowed "You wouldn't dare." He growled

Raiden furrowed his eyebrows. He couldn’t let him risk getting himself in prison because of him. He winced "Don't- Jack don’t. It’s okay-"
"why wouldn't I? Do I have anything to lose? You're offensive over me and Raiden because of what? Being together?" Even if Raiden wanted him to stop he didn't remove the dagger yet.
He looked down at him "You're just a child. You don't want to pick this fight boy."
"I'm not a child.. you should let go of him now. I can't care less about hurting someone like you" He hissed, almost poking its tip against him.

At that time the royal pair was walking to the hall but they heard the noise from outside. Catra could hear the noise better than the knight "Adora someone's are arguing. I think I heard Jack." she hummed.

Adora paused for a moment. She was confused "They are? What about?" She walked over to the window of the hall. She could see the young prince had pulled the dagger and pointed it at the man as she widened her eyes.

Catra was not able to see clearly so she just looked at Adora “What is happening? Is everything alright?"

The knight shook her head quickly "No. Something is wrong. Jack has his dagger out" She mumbled quickly and let go of her waist only to rush out to them."What the hell is going on!?" She tried to keep her tone quiet but she kind of ..failed. Catra followed her too in case she needed some help.

"This man wants to take Raiden to a priest... Because he doesn't work and he is around me. He said we are sinful and he pulled him by the hair. I'm not going to let him take him away” The prince spoke quickly. He clearly didn’t let the other man speak first

"I believe your son is not a royal. His actions say otherwise… behaving like a killer and not letting a father take his son back" The man tugged on Raiden’s hair tighter this time as he spit the words out.

Raiden cried out again, tugging at his dad's wrist "Dad please.. I've been working. Please..."He tried to explain.

Adora just walked over, standing beside her son. Then she summoned her sword "Drop Raiden. I will not stand by and let you shame him for loving my son. And I definitely will not stand by while you drag him around. Let him go."

"He's my son and I can do whatever I want to him. If you don’t like it, call the queen. I don't care.” He wouldn't fight obviously. Guards were around and slowly approached when the woman summoned her sword. The dagger wasn't visible yet.

"Drop your weapons!" They commanded. They were still in the royal grounds. They couldn’t have their swords or knives out.

Adora on the other hand, stood up and looked over at the guards "I am She-ra. I am defending this young boy from being abused." She turned back to him then, transforming into she-ra and pointing her sword at the man "Your son is not your property. You cannot and will not treat him as such. Do you understand?"

"ma'am swing your sword and you are leaving from this palace" The guards didn't care about her being Shera or Glimmer's old friend. She was a Horde commander with her sword out to attack a Bright Moon villager.

Catra felt some kind of connection with the young blond boy. Adora had fought for her and she could tell the boy had been through some..things with his father. She looked at them and then at Adora. She was shorter but she only grabbed her by the arm "Adora.. calm down and put your sword down" She spoke quietly. Her ears up meaning that she wasn't scared.

She-ra paused for a moment and looked at the brunette. She took a deep breath and put her sword away while standing there with her arms crossed. "I will not allow him to treat his son in that manner" Then she looked at one of the guards "I request that queen Glimmer step in to pass judgement on this."

"Then you should speak to her at noon... The queen is busy today. The man can leave" With that being said, the father nodded his head at that. He obviously had let go off his son’s hair but he still pulled him by his wrist. Raiden looked back at them, tugging away from his dad as much as possible but his attempt of escaping was a failure.

Jack looked up at Adora as the guards slowly walked away. He couldn't believe Catra took the guards' side. "Why do I have the dagger if I can't protect anyone because you step in every time?!" The young one yelled at the feline.

Adora sighed softly and looked away "I'm sorry... But she was right. I don't hold as much power as I used to here. If you went and hurt him it may cause.. Well... Problems."

“What about Raiden!? I don't care if it would cause problems for me. His father is an ass and we let him go untouched because mom is too scared to do anything other than stay quiet behind your back! You're the one who can actually do things and you don't because she's just telling you not to?!" The boy was desperate to help his friend.

"I'm being careful with what I and you all do, Jack. If I wasn’t you would be locked up now to a Bright Moon cell” She hissed

"I wouldn't because It wouldn't take me as much time to get rid of him if you didn't interfere. You just ruin everything because you're a coward to stand up and protect someone" The boy cried out and turned his back to them to walk away.

Adora listened to him and shook her head while looking away "I'm sorry, Jack. But we can't do anything... I will talk with Glimmer and get her to do something... It wasn't like this... Why is everything so restrictive now..? It used to be an accepting place" She sighed, putting a hand on her wife's shoulder to calm her down.

The feline though didn't stay there. She turned around on her heel and walked to the other direction. She was clearly mad at their son. "I can't see it being an accepting place at all..." Jack hissed and rolled his eyes. "I go to my room.." With that the boy walked quickly away to not get stopped again by his mothers.

Adora sighed softly, looking at Jack before turning to her wife and following her. "Hey, Catra... My love. Take a deep breath." She walked over, putting a hand over her arm "It's gotten worse... Maybe I should talk to Glimmer about it.." She sighed "Later. For now we should get inside... I`m sorry my love.”

"Just leave me alone... I'm tired. Everyone who gets to know us better even our child says I'm useless" The woman pulled her shoulder away. She seemed to be emotional but the old wounds were still aching sometimes even if she was all these years trying to heal them. "I'm tired of trying to be better. No one will ever think of me being better than Light Spinner and no one will believe I am as useful as you are... I always ruin things. Raiden would have a hard time anyway. I didn't cause all this and I know it..! I understand him but at the same time he's not our son to take care of. Fight for? Yes, but we are still not at home. You cannot pull a sword in Bright Moon without thinking that you're not their citizen anymore. There are laws you or Glimmer can't do anything about! Glimmer is the queen but she has a damn council behind her and so did I when I was in the throne. I guess great minds don't think about that possibility of getting kicked out or imprisoned but I do worry about such things" She hissed while walking quickly due to her frustration.

"Catra you aren't useless..." The other followed her but she didn't touch her again. She huffed softly as she listened "I've felt useless so many times... You know that..? I feel like.. If I'm not helping someone then I'm useless and have no value.. That's why I always step in. I know I shouldn't and that it's useless..." She sighed, looking at her "I love you and I love our children... I would do anything for them but I don't stop and think about it... You do.. You can actually think things through when I just... Rush in. You aren't useless. I promise. He's just upset"

"You're everywhere. You take care of everything… and you say that I am not useless? I just stay behind and watch .....when you do everything for me.. for them." The feline hummed but she didn't want to argue with her. She just felt too overwhelmed.

"It's because I can't stop.. I would love for you to step in and help... Honestly, step in and do things. I'll let you. You don't have to stand behind and watch... Though to be fair you keep me from making stupid decisions" Adora shrugged, putting a hand on her arm and slowly smiling.

With her last response Catra actually chuckled. It was true that.....mostly she was stepping in to prevent her from doing something that would get her in trouble. She held her hand then ,kissing cheek "You would be dead if you were alone making decisions" She joked and rubbed her thumb on her cheek.

The knight giggled softly, stepping closer to cup her cheek "Or imprisoned for the rest of my life." She looked down at her, gently rubbing her cheek with her thumb "I love you. And you keep me safe just as much as I do for you..." She kissed her forehead.

"Do you think Jack will ever understand?... I really think he doesn't....and he trusts you more than me.. he listens to you" She hummed and looked back at their bedroom. They were now in the middle of the hall. "I'll have to check on Jackson and the rest too…" She thought out loud.

Adora held her close, hesitating before nodding "Eventually. It will probably take him a while... But he will.. Try spending some more time with him, my love.. That's what I would suggest" She kissed the top of her head, nodding "And we can go check on the triplets- Actually…. Let me go to Jack. I'll try to talk to him first. Then I'll join you, my love" She placed a peck on her lips and walked all the way back to Jack's bedroom. She couldn't let him talk to Catra like that..

Jack tried to follow the man but he would see him and he'd be in more trouble than before.. He was now laying on the bed while having his arms wrapped around his pillow. He made a small nest with his blanket to hide into. The tip of his tail was wagging slowly out of the blankets while he was embracing the smell of Raiden's shirt.

Adora knocked lightly before stepping inside. Seeing him curled up like that in the nest reminded her of Catra and she smiled slightly "Hey Jack.."

"Get out.." The teen hissed and wrapped his arms more around his pillow only to nuzzle close to it. "I don't want to talk about it" He continued to mumble.

"I know, but it's good to talk about this stuff. Even if you don't want to.." She stayed by the door though, just watching him "I'm sorry."

"For what? Not helping him? You clearly saw how badly his father treated him and you let him go" He clung on the pillow and his ears twitched as they showed up by the blankets. Two pointy brown ears. "He thinks of you like you're some kind of a hero when you're only being a coward and doing nothing to help because of mom.."
He was ....a bit too mad at her to mean some of his words. Also he had a lot of problems from the time they left their palace.

"I can't help him yet Jack..." She frowned slightly before sitting down in one of his chairs. "Not yet. I would get in trouble for assaulting him... maybe not if I was still a Brightmoon knight but I'm with the Horde now and we had just recently attacked them. We're already on thin ice. I can't go hurting one of their citizens. I'll do something about it. I promise... I just... can't do that right now." She hesitated and continued. “Your mother did the right thing to stop me..”

Silence filled the room.

He was slightly younger when they attacked BrightMoon for him to connect the dots and he slowly cocked his head out of his blankets. "We attacked BrightMoon? They.. they got Lena? Mother said we attacked it back then because of her...and now we live here?" His fur puffed.

"We did attack Brightmoon because of Lena... They were protecting those who killed her because of laws. We... were in the wrong. But, we were angry. We had just lost our daughter and we were being prevented from bringing her justice." She sighed softly "We live here because mages destroyed our home in retaliation... though they killed her because of her magic"

"And how do you accept living here? How do they accept us here after the war?" He was confused but he sighed and shook his head. He didn't want to continue on this topic. He didn't want to actually talk about that period since he had his sister gone. "Anyway... You still didn't help Raiden...and didn't let me do it either”

"I'm... I used to be best friends with the Queen and her current partner. They forgave us, understanding why we did so.." She paused and brushed her hair back. "And I know I didn’t. But I will. I promise, Jack. Until then if something happens he will always have us to turn to. I'll stand up for him. I won't hurt his father but if he comes at me first.... Well it was self defence."

"he won't attack you.... He knows you'll be there to help Raiden.. why didn't you take him now... Who cares about their laws and soldiers? You could fight everyone in this palace if they attacked us" He huffed and looked down at the floor as he sat on the bed.

"No, I couldn't. If they got to you or your siblings? or Catra? I can’t put one boy before us, Jack. I'll do everything I can for him, but I cant put us at risk." She slowly got up. "I love you, kiddo.

And I want to help him. I really do... but I have to be careful too. I have you kids to take care of"

He stayed quiet and turned his back to her only to hold his pillow again. "Go to the others .. I'm fine as you can see" He hissed and dug his face into his blankets to hide again. He didn't want to talk more about it... He was mad at her and ...everyone except Raiden.

"no you aren't, Jack... I'm sorry…..I'll talk to Glimmer and try and get something done" With that she left. Her face had a frown as she was now walking back to the triplets' bedroom where she could find her wife.

Catra was already with the other three who were still playing in their room. She wanted to clear her mind but the thoughts of Adora and Glimmer having something in the past.. only made her more mad at the queen. Also the fact that Jack was slowly turning his back on her made her more worried than relieved.

Jackson was playing tag with Daniel who was already trying to not get caught.

Jackson was quicker.

Adora headed back to the kids, smiling slightly at what she saw. She walked up to Catra, putting a hand on her back. "I talked to Jack... He's still really upset."

Catra's ears perked down by the news and she looked up at the woman. Then she would touch her hand to give her a small smile. "He will understand... We can't risk it, Adora..." She hummed only for the young blond girl to hold her mom's skirt.

"Ris!" Mara still didn't speak as it seemed and Catra only smiled at the girl’s attempt.

The knight gave her a slight smile and nodded. She looked down at Mara and picked her up. "Hey little one! Have you been having fun playing?" She smiled at her, holding her close.

The blonde girl cheered and giggled at the woman's reaction and wrapped her arms around her...shoulder. "Maaa yes! Was fun!" She smiled and leaned closer to her.

Adora bounced her slightly and kissed her forehead "Good. I'm glad you had fun kiddo! How are you liking it here, hm?" She was happy to hold her daughter. Having a little girl around did remind her of Lena.. of course it did. But she was good at... well getting past that and connecting with Mara rather than pushing her away.

Mara smiled while nodding "Kiooo" She giggled while trying to say words that made her curious.

Catra only chuckled at that only to furrow her eyebrows when she saw the other two almost climbing up the wardrobe. "Children- hey- hey! Stop. Get off right now" She hissed and stood up with a heavy grunt. She felt tired,too tired. "Why do they have to be so energetic..."

The warrior chuckled softly at Mara’s attempt to speak. She never baby talked to them so they learned quicker to speak and of course they grew up quickly anyway. After hearing Catra notice them climbing she walked over to scoop up Daniel and Jackson to put them down. "c'mon kids. If you want to climb something we can go outside and climb trees, alright?"

"Wha—" Catra widened her eyes. Even though they were magicats she was still worried. "What if they fall down-?" She furrowed her eyebrows and gave Adora a small worried look.

Jackson nodded quickly and walked all up to her. "Up!!" He commanded.
Daniel looked up at his mom too, quietly commanding her to pick him up too.
Mara huffed and looked at her. "Maa want up too" She puffed and pointed at her mouth. She was probably more hungry than playful now.

Catra sighed and approached "let me take her. Take care of the others too. I'll feed her"

Adora gave her a slight smile "I'll be right there with them don’t worry. I'll catch them if they fall. I promise" She smiled softly at her, scooping Jackson up with a soft chuckle. She passed Mara off to Catra then and scooped Daniel up. "Alright you two. Let's get you fed and then we can go out and climb on the trees okay?"

"Yeeees!!!!" The two boys almost cheered and held her close. They were both getting fed by their mom and could eat something soft if Catra was busy. Usually though she'd take the two to drink and then have the third one. "Do you want to stay here? I can take the two. You can play with the other one while I'm feeding them" Catra hummed, sitting on the bed and undoing her torso piece. To expose her chest to the young child.

Mara reached and wrapped her fingers around her breast. It was nearly a year and she was still breastfeeding.

Adora just chuckled softly and smiled. She asked a servant to bring them something for her sons to drink. Then she sat down on the bed by Catra and she could admit she did sneak a peek at her chest before looking up at her "I can feed them don't worry. They have all their teeth in." She... did want to mention that Mara could stop breastfeeding, but she didn't want to push too much. "Maybe we should start doing the same with Mara?"

"She seems to want it... Though we should.. I don't know what will happen when I'll stop having milk to feed her" Catra hummed as she wrapped her arms around her daughter. "She's so cute -ah-" She whined as she felt the child's teeth. "Ey calm down little one" she hummed and got two blue eyes staring at her.

"All our kids wanted it even when we started to work them onto food" Adora gave her a slight smile. "Feed her some now and then for dinner we'll give her some food. Work her way down that way" She kissed her forehead then, humming softly. She was still waiting for Jackson and Daniel's food to come.

Catra smiled at her only to kiss her lips softly. "I know.... I know. You really want me to stop feeding her?"
A servant would suddenly knock on the door after several minutes.

"I think it's about time to start working her off, yeah. I don't want a sudden stop for her whenever you do finally finish producing" Adora gave her a small smile then, looking up. "ah, that must be the food. Jackson, Daniel wait here, okay?" She set them down and got up to take the food and bring it inside since Catra was topless.

The two boys looked up at her and sat down quietly. The servant looked up at the blonde and took a soft breath. "Lady...the food you've asked"

Catra leaned back and quietly hummed "Hey little one, are you full yet?" She rubbed her nose as she felt the little Mara sleeping. She woke her up only for the girl to nibble still on her nipple "This girl..."

The knight gave the servant a small smile, taking the food "Thank you, I'm sorry to bother you" She gave her a small nod then, closing the door and walking back to her boys. "Are you two hungry?"

Daniel reached with his hand to grab the one of the two plates she was holding.

"They should eat more than that ..... People here don't eat?" Catra complained quietly and brushed Mara's hair.

The blond chuckled softly at that. She carefully gave each plate to the two of them, making sure they were safely sitting back on the bed so they wouldn't accidentally drop it or their food. "Hun they're also young. This should be more than enough for them" She gave her a small smile, leaning down to kiss her gently "And if they are still hungry I'll get them something myself. I promise"

Catra nodded softly and looked down at the boys who were now eating. Sometimes Daniel would start a small fight by throwing food on Jackson but Catra would glare at them both and they'd stop. "They're restless" She sighed and slowly moved Mara to place her head on her shoulder. "Hey don't sleep dear.." She whispered while rocking her gently.

Adora chuckled softly at that, rubbing Catra's back and watched them eat, also giving them a look. "Daniel, honey don't start fights. I know you have a lot of energy but we're gonna be using that energy after you're done eating"

Daniel huffed but continued to eat. He knew Adora would play with them later so that was something fun to do after so long. "I'm sure he's looking forward to it.... Do you think Jack will hate us after that?" She hummed. The others didn't understand much so she could talk about it in front of them.

Adora hesitated at that. Her smile was fading slightly."I don't know... I hope not. I don't think so... hopefully he'll understand...."

"I really think he took it too seriously... Raiden is not our child to protect. I know he's with Raiden but .. we can't do many things" Catra admitted. Mara in the meantime was slowly sleeping, her hands were carelessly falling on her.

"I know. I tried to explain that... we can’t actively protect him. I told him I would talk to Glimmer and try but... I don't think much will happen" The other looked at her, clearly worried but.. trying not to show it too much

The feline’s ears perked at that "What do you mean? You're her friend .. I mean ... Best friends aren't you? She can't help you?" She was actually so curious to know what she would say.

"Legally she can't technically do anything unless she has proof... So even though I'm bringing it up she can't step in without proof. And... well Brightmoon has very out dated laws on child abuse."

"oh really" She paused and continued "I think you should tell her about it then... Maybe you could discuss it while drinking. I'm sure she'll think you are right about everything you say" The magicat chuckled

Adora raised an eyebrow at her, chuckling softly. She kissed her cheek then, humming. "I think drinking would only cause problems." She hesitated but continued "I might be able to convince her to change a few things if she was drunk... until she sobered up, realised what I did and kicked us out."

The magicat only leaned close to her and poke her cheek "I think it's you who would convince her to do anything for you dear. Maybe I'll use you~" She teased and gave her a small kiss on her nose. "Hold Mara for a little ... My stomach is aching.."

The blonde blushed when she mentioned using her. Her mind... wandering and she cleared her throat."I wouldn't do that to her anyway... it’s not right" She took Mara to hold her against her shoulder.

Catra giggled only to look up at her and roll her eyes. "Right. Because what she's done was really kind, huh?" She shook her head and sighed only to take her tea from the counter. Jackson suddenly jumped up and ran under her skirt. "Wh— hey come out!" She smiled a little and chuckled while Jackson was telling his other mom he finished his food.

"no, but that doesnt mean I can do something bad to her in return." Adora explained and kissed her cheek. Though she laughed when she saw Jackson run under her dress, covering her mouth to muffle the laugh. It took her a good few minutes before saying "Jackson get out of your mom's dress"

"Nooo I wanna clim!"

Catra giggled in return and let go of her tea to pick her dress up a little "Wa— agh Adora you'll have to teach them actual words! What's that 'wanna' young boy?"She rolled her eyes and crossed her arms over her chest

"Mom says fuuuc too!" He couldn't actually say ‘fuck’…

Adora just giggled at these words. "Hey. It's still understandable isn't it? and I only say it when I'm talking really quickly" She gave her a small smile, looking at Jackson when he said fuck, eyes widening slightly. "That's one word you kiddos shouldn't be repeating and I've told you that. That's an adult word, honey. If you don't know what it means, don't say it"

Catra had her eyes wide too and looked at Adora for a moment but listening to what she was saying only made her look down at the young boy who got out of her skirt a little.

"I d-on't know many wor-ds!"Jackson huffed and looked away "But it's a funny wor-d!"
"Fuuuuu" Daniel jumped in the conversation with a chuckle making Catra glare at them

"Hey ,both of you..don't say that word again or you won't play with Adora ...."

The knight sighed softly "Just because the word is funny doesn't mean it's okay to say. There are a lot of funny sounding words that are really, really mean and really hurtful. I know you don't know a lot of words yet kiddo, but you'll learn. If you don't know what a word means, ask me. I am more than happy to teach you what it means, no matter what we're doing"

The two boys sighed and walked at her. Daniel tugged on her clothes."Wanna playy" He whined.
Catra obviously didn't like the way they were talking but she would try to help them improve. "Do you want to take Mara too? I can try to wake her up. It's really early for her to sleep" Catra said after drinking her tea.

Adora smiled softly down at the children "yes we can go play Danie. Don't worry" She looked up at her wife then "yeah that sounds good. Mara should get outside and get some sunlight."

"You will keep your eyes on them okay?" The other one hummed and looked up at her only to hold Mara and rock her gently "Hey darling wake up" She rubbed her back as the young girl whined and rubbed her eyes open

"Mm... I wanna play"

Catra growled quietly and looked at Adora. "I blame you for this"

"Of course I will, my love" The blond woman gave her a small smile. She giggled when she heard what Mara said. She cleared her throat and looked away when Catra growled, getting up. "Then let's go play before Ma gets in more trouble with mommy!"

The little girl was confused but she jumped off Catra's embrace and walked closer to Adora to hold her thumb.

Daniel and Jack ran out quickly chasing each other towards the garden.

Catra looked at her with a smile and chuckled "Yeah you're already in trouble young lady..." She chuckled and trusted Adora would be there to watch over them again. "Do you want me to come with you? Maybe we can spend the time together? I don't have something to do in here"

Adora smiled at Mara while she was holding her thumb. She gently grabbed her hand and looked up at Catra "I would love it if you came with" She offered her hand to Catra to help her up and wrapped an arm around her.

"Thanks" The brunette mumbled and leaned closer to place a kiss on her lips.

Mara whined since she wanted a kiss too by her moms.

The warrior kissed her wife before she giggled and planted a kiss on Mara's forehead "A kiss for both my girls" She smiled slightly, though.. She wished Lena was there too. She walked out with them both then, squeezing Catra's hand gently.

Catra hesitated, at the thought of Lena being there. They had some differences with Lena. Mara's hair was a golden blonde, Lena's was more..dirty. The one was a magicat the other was a human .. But Catra still thought of Lena sometimes while the young girl was in her arms. She looked up at her only to smile at the girl's reaction. She was cheerful because of the kisses. "Lets go~ The boys will be there already" Catra hummed and patted Adora's shoulder as the other two had left.

Adora hummed softly at Mara's happy disposition, wrapping an arm around Catra's waist to help her "and probably already in a tree..." She chuckled softly, walking outside with Catra and Mara

"Did you say that to calm me down?" Catra chuckled and walked to the door quickly. She was in a hurry since she didn't want any of them to get hurt.
Mara tried to catch up while she was holding Adora's hand. Her feet were smaller of course so she couldn't be as quick as they were

The knight giggled softly before scooping Mara up and walked out with her so she wouldn't slow them down and worry Catra more.

The other two were already climbing up a tree. Whoever climbed quicker would win.

Catra was already with eyes fixed on the boys just in case something happens till Mara decided to climb too "Maa up!" She could walk ...and climb.

Catra furrowed her eyebrows at her "Mara, young ladies don't climb up the trees!"

Adora set Mara down so she could climb but frowned slightly at what Catra said. She didn't like Mara being limited just because she was a woman "Young ladies can do whatever they'd like. Climbing trees or not."

Catra looked up at the blonde only to speak again"Climbing trees? Really? She can't climb with a dress, Adora" She furrowed her eyebrows as the girl was hesitating to join the other two. She was staring at her moms.

"Of course she can. I did." The other woman frowned, standing upright again and crossed her arms "Just because she's a 'young lady' doesn't mean she should be limited on what she can do"

"You are wearing pants.. She could really get hurt" Catra sighed and sat down under the tree behind her. "I never said no to learn how to fight. Don't look at me like I'm saying something crazy"

"Then we can change Mara into Jackson or Daniel's pants so she can climb. I don't want her to miss out on the fun" Adora crossed her arms over her chest. She didn’t like the way Catra approached this topic..

Catra wasn't sure if she should reply or not. Adora really tried too hard on this and she didn't know why exactly. She could play something else...not climb.
Jackson suddenly yelped as he fell off the tree and cried out. Daniel was starting to climb down at that moment.

When the young boy fell the blond woman widened her eyes and jogged over to Jackson before kneeling down. "hey, hey. Are you okay, kiddo? Show me what hurts hun"

"Heree" He cried and pointed down on his knee and hips.

Catra rushed to them only to huff heavily "Told you to be careful children.."

"Daniel pushed my shoulder to lose!!!"

"No I d-iint!!!!"Daniel huffed and yelled in return.

Adora sighed softly and carefully moved the waistline on his pants to check it out. Then she pushed the leg up to check his knee. He didn't break anything, just got scrapped up so she smiled a little. "You're okay buddy. You didn't break anything. All you got were some scrapes and bruises. Get up and run it off. You'll be alright" She gave him a small smile while offering a hand to help him up.

The boy sobbed and whined but soon he would slowly stand up "Ah...it hurts...."He cried more and leaned close to the tree to touch his leg.
Daniel looked away and huffed but since he didn't get an angry mom he didn't care.

Catra was still bothered by the fact he got hurt and Adora just told them to run it off. "Can't you heal him up?” She hummed and looked up at her

The warrior cupped his cheek to wipe his tears gently "I know buddy I know but it won't hurt forever." She gave him a slight smile, before turning to Catra "I can't heal them up every time. Eventually they won't have me around to heal up all their wounds. I want to teach them young. So it’s not harder for them later" She turned to Jackson then "take a few deep breaths. Okay buddy? In and out, don't focus on the pain. Just your breathing"

Jackson whined but he tried to not focus on his knee. Mara would only lean close to him and hold his hand. She tried to play with them a more....safe game and just got their attention after a while so Catra would walk back to her tree to sit down with a sigh. She didn't only have her anxiety with Jack but now she had them too... And Adora who wanted to teach them things. She felt overwhelmed for some reason..

Adora followed her after a while to take a seat beside her. The feline’s ears twitched when she noticed Adora coming closer only to look up at her."Hm? Does he feel better?" She hummed quietly while seeing them have fun

The blonde one nodded and sighed. She was thoughtful. "Yeah. He's gotten over it. I've noticed most of the wounds they cry over are the smallest scrapes... I figured I should teach them to better be able to handle pain. Without inflicting it myself of course.. I should have told you first though, I'm sorry."

"Yeah .. it's fine I mean... I don't mind..really" Catra shrugged and looked away only to tap on her dress. "Why don't you go play with them like you promised them?"She perked an eyebrow and leaned back.

"Maybe, but I still should have told you." Adora noticed her anxiousness and raised an eyebrow "You looked stressed and overwhelmed so I wanted to check in on you. Are you okay? And is there anything I can do to help?"

The other woman took a small breath and shook her head, making a small smile on her face. "No, I'm just ..stressed that's all. A lot has happened lately.. and I'm just thinking of what I'll do with the children when you'll have to go to these major battles. So.. don't worry" She chuckled nervously. She really tried to not just say what she thought about their differences on some things.

Adora kissed her forehead gently "I'll just be training troops love, don't worry. I won't be anywhere near fighting." She smiled softly at her and cupped her cheek. "I love you."

"I love you too... I'll miss you and you know that~" Catra admitted and cupped her hand softly only to place a kiss on it."Go.. I'll stay here watching you"

The other one smiled softly at her and kissed her gently. She hesitated but walked over to go play with the kids. She chased them around or supervised races up the tree. She even got Mara in some pants so she could join, even if the pants didn't quite fit her.
Of course the pants didn't fit her but she felt good climbing up the trees with the other two and playing. She leaned close to Adora when she felt too tired but embraced her softly. It was evening already so the kids were kind of hungry again too "Ma... " She opened her mouth softly and tugged on her sleeve. Jackson yelled at Daniel and chased him around in the meantime

Adora held Mara at that moment and gently brushed her hair. "I have a special dinner planned for you hun. I think you'll like it but it's a surprise okay?" She smiled down at her, holding her close

"Supise!!!" The young child cheered and clapped her hands. Then she climbed up on her to wrap her arms around her neck and legs to sit on her lap. She wanted her to pick her up already. Her feet felt too tired.

Catra perked an eyebrow and looked up at her only to walk slowly close to her. "Someone's hungry?" She smiled as the girl nodded softly.

Adora giggled softly at that. She picked her daughter up and held her close. “Yeah, but we have a surprise for her this time. It's gonna be really really tasty" She chuckled, kissing the top of Mara's head

The young girl smiled and grabbed on to Adora's boob "Tasy!"She mumbled and leaned closer. Catra obviously giggled at that and looked at the blonde one."Mhm it's tasty~" She chuckled playfully.

The knight yelped though and leaned away "that's not the surprise hun- It's something different!" She held her out at arms length with a little playful glare but blushed at what Catra said "Hush you.." That was directed at Catra.

Catra giggled and rolled her eyes"You want mama's milk again?" She hummed and walked closer only for the girl to nod softly and whine a little. "Ah take her in. I'll call the boys and...Jack. it's time for them to eat and go to bed after all"

Adora hugged Mara close again "But I have something that'll taste just as good hun, I promise" She gave Mara a soft smile again, rubbing her back "It's different, but I know you'll like it" She smiled softly at Catra "I can do this if you want to take care of the boys for now"

"They got dirtier than Mara so I want to help them clean up" Catra insisted and hesitated but smiled a little. "Go. If your method doesn’t succeed I'll step in" She chuckled and turned to the two children who were still playing "Jackson! Daniel. Come here" She called out for the other two while Mara was touching her other mom's chest

"Mama!" She pouted a little.

The blonde chuckled softly and nodded with a smile as she took Mara into the dining room. "I know honey I know... but trust me. I'm gonna get something that tastes just as good for you" She got her some nice, soft fruits all cut up onto a plate. It's.. not the best dinner, but it's a start. She also got her a small bit of cooked tuna, careful to make sure all the bones were out of it

The little girl nibbled on her finger. She was still getting new teeth but she had three cute front teeth. When she saw the dice of the fruit she reached to grab a piece with her hand. She hesitated looking up at Adora. Now she had two blue eyes staring at her

"It's okay. Go on. Do you want me to take a bite with you?" The older one picked up a slice as well

"Yes!" The little one cheered and took two pieces of the fruit as she opened her mouth to take a bite. "Wha is it?" She was such a curious child "Ma"

Adora smiled softly and took a bite with her "It's called a cantaloupe. It's a sweet fruit" She grinned and poked her cheek playfully."how do you like it?"

Mara took a bite of the fruit and smiled while still chewing. She nodded and looked up at her only to take another piece. “Caaloop!" She cheered and reached to take more pieces "I like fuit!" The girl continued making her mother giggle

"I'm glad you like it! wanna try fish now?" She smiled at her, offering a small bit of tuna instead

The young blond girl opened her mouth while saying an 'aah'. She leaned close to her to take the fish and eat. "Mmm nice! Maa more!" It seemed that she liked the fish too. She continued now to eat the fish and fruit she gave her.

Adora giggled softly, happy to feed it to her. She made sure all of the food was in bite sized pieces for her so she wouldn't take a whole slice of cantaloupe and try to shove it in her mouth....

At that time another one entered the room.

It was Glimmer who just arrived early to eat. She would wait for Bow probably but she also wanted to talk to Adora. They…. Didn’t have the best moments together these days.. And she wanted to clear some things out..while they were alone.

Sweet Nothings

Glimmer slowly walked in the dining room as she took a seat and smiled at Adora. "Hey, do you feel better? Last night you drank a lot…"

Adora hesitated but looked up at Glimmer only to sigh and look at her.

"Hey Glim. Yeah, luckily I feel fine. Didn't feel too good this morning, but I'm fine now. Just getting my daughter some dinner. Oh, uh I had something to talk to you about"

Mara was taking the small pieces and ate them quickly. She liked it too much to even let a piece in her plate.

Glimmer on the other hand leaned on the table and took a shaky breath.

"Hm? About what?.. I wanted to talk to you too… but I didn't find the time to do so… Catra is always around"

The blonde looked at her daughter for a moment only to chuckle softly at Mara. "don't forget to chew honey. You can't just swallow this" She smiled and then looked up at Glimmer again. "Ah, you know how my oldest Jack has been hanging out with the stable boy? I... recently found out his father was abusing him... I don't want to step in myself as... well technically I can't unless the man comes at me first... but I hoped if I brought it up to you I could at least... be given permission to help him out somehow."

"Do you have any proof of that? I mean ... You know we can't imprison someone without proof." The queen raised her eyebrows and leaned close to her seat. "I know you are passionate about things like this. You want to help but sometimes we can't help everyone..and now my top priority is the war..not some villager.."

Mara though continued to eat the fish now. She was playing with her food and held Adora's sleeve with a giggle. She would make her shirt dirty if she continued like this and Adora wouldn’t like that.

"I know of course. I've seen it first hand and so has my son. I'm sure if we could get him away from his father he'd be willing to speak against him as well. He's... a really shy boy." She sighed softly then "I'm... sure after he gets back he'll be covered in bruises too."

"I don't know, Adora... I want to help but I also have many things to do at the same time... You know ,Bow and you will have to lead the war. I have to deal with paperwork after recruiting the soldiers.. I have some other issues to deal with. But I’ll see if I’ll have some time to take care of that too" Glimmer admitted and sighed only to look at the little girl. She hesitated but smiled a little. She wanted to announce the news before anyone else and Adora got her filled with questions about that random boy.. "Anyway...what I wanted to tell you was that…~ I'm probably having a child. Bow was excited and he said he'd tell you first if I didn't" She chuckled.

Adora watched her daughter for a moment to make sure she was okay, before looking up again. Hearing the news she grinned at her. "Congratulations! I hope everything goes well for you Glim!"

She was truly happy but she ...actually didn't know what else to say. Glimmer constantly had her in her head as it seemed and she didn't know how a child would help her and Bow's relationship.

The queen smiled brightly and nodded. "Hopefully everything will go well. Especially now with the war.." She hesitated but spoke again. "And….. to have a good question…. You really are going to support the Horde and this.. queen instead of helping us here? I can't believe how you two are..okay together" She hummed and rubbed her neck.

Suddenly Mara coughed at some fish she was chewing and Adora's eyes fixed on her only to lean close to her. She patted her back, humming softly "all done sweetie?" She smiled softly, not surprised she was done eating after that. She also didn't want her to eat a lot since she was just starting with solid food. Adora tilted her head slightly at what Glimmer said "I mean... we've been through a lot… and I can't leave her alone now that she's pregnant again" She paused for a moment. She …shouldn't have said that.

"She's what!? Again? I can't believe you two…." Glimmer huffed and took a soft breath for a moment to relax. At the same time though she …did expect that.

"She…doesn't want anyone to know but this is her choice as much as it is mine. If she didn't want another baby I'd be more than happy as we are." She spoke but when she heard Mara cough she looked down, patting her back to make sure she didn't choke

"I know that's why I'm saying that you're .... Still together and it's surprising" Glimmer was still surprised by the woman's patience with Catra.

The other one huffed in return and shook her head only to look up at Glimmer. "You know I love kids.. I've always wanted a big family" At that moment though the little girl stood up on her seat and grinned as she almost climbed on the table

"Mama I wanna- it" She wanted some chicken as it seemed but it was easier to pronounce the so famous 'wanna' Adora usually said.

Glimmer smiled at the girl and rolled her eyes "I know Adora but you know... I felt like you two wouldn't last long" She chuckled and rubbed the back of her neck.

Adora giggled softly at her child’s reaction and words. She let her have a small amount of chicken, torn up into small bits of course for her. She then turned her attention back to Glimmer "why? I love her... we argue occasionally but its never bad"

Glimmer shrugged softly "I see...well, that's nice to hear..." She didn't know what to say… She didn’t like that Adora was ….happy with the Horde queen. At that moment Catra walked inside. The two boys were walking beside her after getting new clothes and she helped them up to the chair. She furrowed her eyebrows when she noticed Adora talking to Glimmer.

Adora clearly perked up when she saw her wife. Her eyes got a glimpse already and she turned to speak to her. "Hey! She's been eating some cantaloupes, tuna and now a bit of chicken too, she loves it!" She smiled up at her "Oh, and I talked to Glim about Raiden."

Catra giggled at the view of her daughter munching on the chicken "Mara, that's not a proper way to eat. Get off the table. Sit on the chair.. " She spoke with a chuckle and gently picked her up only to position her down on the chair. Her ears perked at the sound of Glimmer's name. "And?"

“She can’t help much because of the war... I'm hopefully going to get proof but with me having to leave soon..." The other shrugged, sighing slightly but rubbed Mara's back as she ate.

"You'll leave too?" Catra didn’t like what she heard. She couldn’t leave. They talked about it and Adora said she wouldn’t leave her behind. Did Glimmer change her mind? She furrowed her eyebrows and sat down after placing the young boys down too.

"Of course, she's Shera. We will need her." The pink haired spoke as she continued to eat her food now. She didn’t really wait for Bow but she would leave earlier to check up on him.

"You need her even when you're sleeping.." Catra rolled her eyes only to glare at her.

"Adora..." Glimmer glared at her and crossed her arms over her chest

Adora sighed softly, nodding "I’ll have to go but only for a little bit. I will be gone for a week at most." She gave her a slight smile. Though when they started arguing she sighed and her smile faded "You two stop it.."

Mara continued to play with the remaining food only to look up at her and smile. Jackson and Daniel began to eat too.

Catra shrugged at that and leaned back on her seat. "It's not my fault...it's the truth..."

Glimmer huffed and shook her head "Adora say something… It was clearly a misunderstanding"

Adora gave Mara a slight smile, though she had to fake it. Looking up at both of them she shook her head. "Enough, guys. I don't want you two to start fighting in front of the kids." She sighed

Catra hissed but she didn't want to say anything. She looked at her only to perk her ears when she heard Jack coming in the room "You're right .. I'm sorry" Catra hissed and looked at the other one. "Do you want to eat?"

"thank you" She gave Catra a slight smile, turning her attention back to Mara to make sure she was okay. Mara was now drinking some water when she spoke again. "Ma gave me a fuit...!" She cheered, making Catra laugh and nod softly before kissing her.

"What a good mom huh?and you're such a good girl. You didn't complain at all!" The little girl nodded and held Adora’s hand.

Adora smiled softly and nodded "She loves cantaloupe and tuna" She smiled and bounced Mara gently on her lap "She ate more than I thought she would too. She must be hitting a growth spurt or something"

Mara wrapped her arms around her mom while she was bouncing her and embraced her. Her head was placed on her shoulder and she sat on her lap.

Catra smiled at the girl and began to eat as soon as the other sat down. Jack was still mad at them and he only looked at his plate while eating Adora was holding Mara close and kissed the top of her head. "I love you little one." She looked up at Jack then, hesitating. "Hey... I talked to Glim about Raiden hun."

Mara smiled at the kiss and kept her arms wrapped around her. "I lo you!!" She cheered but stayed close to her.

Jack on the other hand perked up his ears. "And? Will you help?"

"I'll do what I can to help. I just need some evidence or Raiden to speak.." Glimmer spoke in a soft tone and looked at the boy before giving hima small smile

"I love you too Mara." The blonde looked up at Jack then, nodding "If you can convince Raiden to step up and report him, as well as provide whatever proof he can, I'll protect him and offer shelter for him until there's been an official ruling."

"I'll go find him then-!" Jack spoke in an excited tone but Catra glared at the young boy.

"You're not going anywhere right now,young man. It's late. The night has come and you're not going outdoors"

"Mom! I'm not five! I can take care of myself. Nothing will happen. I'll just go talk to him and leave"

"Jack, this man is dangerous. I'm not allowing you to go right now" Catra insisted Adora rubbed her back when she saw them almost arguing. She thought about it for a second and spoke. "Hey, I'll come with you to get him tomorrow morning. Right at first light, okay? I hate to say it but it is late. It's dangerous for you, and not just because of his father but because you're a prince. You're worth a lot of money to a lot of people..." She tried to explain once again.

"Who cares? Nobody knows who I am.." He hissed and crossed his arms over his chest.

"Everyone knows we're probably here.... We can't risk it anyway. You can't go out right now. Eat and go to sleep. Tomorrow we will help him okay?" Catra glared at the boy.

"You didn't worry about being out at night when Lena was here" Jack hissed and stood up only to let his fork down.

"Jack, Lena is not always the reason we don't let you go out! It's really dangerous." Catra looked at Adora at that moment while trying to get some help.

"Jack, everyone knows who you are... And with how vulnerable we are now, some people may want to... end the line now. I'm sorry... But you have to wait until the morning, okay? It's just a few hours. I promise." Adora added quickly "In a few hours Raiden can get more hurt!..." He hissed and left his food unfinished only to walk away.

Catra let out a sigh and rested her head on her hand. "Dammit this boy...."

Adora watched him go, sighing softly and looked at Catra “It'll be okay... He's just... young. I remember when I was like that." She gave her a slight smile.

"I don't know..... He just doesn't understand he's in danger..." The feline huffed and looked up at her only to rub her neck. "I hope he doesn't hate us for that" She hummed. Glimmer only stood up to go find Bow after apologising. She…felt strange to be in the middle of their problems.

"I hope he doesn't either." Adora turned her attention back to her daughter, rubbing her back gently. Mara smiled and nuzzled closer. Her eyes fell closed and her arms gently fell on her shoulders. Mara whined quietly at the sound of the others' voice and clung on her.

Catra looked at Adora only to nod softly "we should get going don't we?" She was taking quick bites of her food. The two boys were already full and laid on their seats. The food was nice and the children didn't have plenty of food to eat when they were alone with their moms and out to their small house.

Adora rubbed Mara's back with a smile and held onto her gently. "Mm.. She's about to fall asleep in my arms." Then she stood up, carefully scooping up Daniel as well. "I've got these two hun, let's get them to bed."

Catra picked Jackson up as well and gave her a small smile when she kissed her "Thank you~" She hummed quietly since she helped her a lot to carry around the triplets. She was also concerned about Jack's behaviour… She wanted to make sure he's save but he didn't seem to understand that.

Adora headed to the room while having these thoughts about Jack in her head as well. She got Catra by her side as she laid the two young ones down in their bed, kissing each of their foreheads "Hey.. it's gonna be okay. I see you worrying hun"

Catra let Jackson down to his bed too and sighed after caressing his cheek. "Of course I'm worried... Jack is getting too passionate about that boy.. I'm scared he will get hurt.." She hummed. Mara was already sleeping in her bed as Daniel was slowly yawning and unbuttoning his shirt to change clothes. Jackson tossed his clothes away too and jumped into his bed to lay on.

The other one sighed softly at that and nodded. "I know... but he really does love Raiden... He'd go to the ends of the earth for him."

"Yes ..but Raiden is the only boy he found to talk to, who's around his age and is not his sibling.." Catra hummed and helped Daniel only to look at the other woman. "I'm sorry.. I know I may be overreacting but... I think we didn't make any move for Jack to meet children around his age yet.."

"No hun, I think he should meet other kids his age too.. But there's so few people for him to really interact with." Adora sighed as well, giving her a slight smile "but it's okay.. He'll be fine, love."

"We...can't go out and let him play with other children...He's too young and what if they want to hurt him.." Catra sighed in frustration. All this was bothering her actually. She needed some time to think of what she could do.

"I know hun.... But... we'll find someone. And Bow is a great person to spend time with." Adora slowly rubbed the other's hand only to smile softly. She tried to make her feel better.

"He's not a teenager, Adora... You know what I meant.." Catra touched her head after gently placing Daniel back into his bed. "Good night~"

"Goodnight mommy" He spoke in return and nuzzled into his pillow

Adora tried to be more optimistic about it and didn't want her wife to be upset. "I know. But he will be soon. Look at how fast he's growing already" She gave her a small SMILE "He's gonna be okay, love. I promise."

Catra didn't continue it any further. She wouldn't let Jack around someone so much older as Bow.. especially him. He was from BrightMoon and she still didn't trust any of them. "Sure...Let's go to bed.." She spoke again and walked back out of the room. Adora kissed her cheek gently but she didn't push it. She headed out with her while holding her waist gently and rubbing her side as they walked "I love you, Catra"

The feline leaned close to her while touching her hand "I love you more~" She hummed playfully and smiled only to nuzzle close to her and pepper her jawline with kisses.

That made the blonde one giggle. Then she grinned when she started peppering her jaw in kisses, leaning in to kiss her shoulder. "You're the best, Catra." She reached out to start untying her corset as she held her.

Catra smiled and placed a last kiss on her only to cup her cheek."You're amazing...I want cuddles" She chuckled and tried to walk back into the bedroom with playful giggles and pushed away since she was trying to untie her corset in public.

Adora chuckled softly but picked Catra up. "Then cuddles you shall have, My queen!" She carried her to the room, closing the door behind them.

Adora was so cute.

The feline smiled brightly and giggled with a yelp after she got picked up by her. "My knight~" She grinned and nuzzled close to her to place a small kiss on her lips. When she let her down. She made sure to place another kiss on her and pull her close. "Be careful with that man... I don't want him or anyone to hurt you or Jack." She mumbled while remembering that they would go to his house.

Adora grinned and kissed her as she laid her down on the bed "I'm all yours." She hummed softly then, shaking her head "I'll be okay honey, I promise. He won't hurt us."

"....I trust you... But you know ..I worry" Catra sighed and wrapped her arms around her. She purred at her and quietly nuzzled against her so she could sleep. "God .. I have to take off the corset-" She felt so tired to do it but she couldn't sleep with it on

"I know you worry. You can't ever stop it seems." The blonde rubbed her back, untying Catra's corset and pulling it off for her. "There you are baby, it's off."

"mhh~Kiss me~You know I love it when you kiss my shoulder" The brunette giggled and leaned back to stare in her sea blue eyes for a short moment. "And you always help me to calm down...no matter what you say or do~"

Adora giggled softly, peppering her neck and shoulder in kisses. She held her waist gently while slowly placing kisses and soft squeezes on her curves. She was more than happy to gently worship her body.

Catra smiled softly at that only to close her eyes and touch her hand. "You're my world~" She whispered and leaned close to cup her cheek and tilt her head up with one finger. Then she placed a needy kiss on her lips.

Adora blushed when she tilted her head up though. She looked up at her before she leaned in to kiss her while trying to keep herself from letting out a little whine. She was so cute and needy. Catra smiled into the kiss only to hold her hand and the other hand gave her a small squeeze on her cheek. "Cute... Let's sleep~It's late" She tugged on her shirt as she laid down and wrapped her arm around her. "Turn around, my love ~I want to hug you from behind~"

That only made Adora blush more as she rolled her eyes slightly. "You're cute too..." She giggled though when she tugged on her shirt, but she laid down with her. She rolled onto her side so Catra could hold her from behind. Catra may be shorter than her, but Adora still loves being held, so she wouldn't say no.

Catra smiled at that and nuzzled close to the back of her neck. She gently peppered her neck in kisses. She would whisper once again sweet nothings close to her ear. Her tail gently wrapped around her and she nuzzled close to her.

The blonde stayed quiet... She loved getting affection... and she didn't want to say anything to mess it up. She held onto her hand, relaxing under her touch and her voice... that's just another thing she loves about her. Her sweet whispers.

The feline caressed her slowly. Fingers trailed on her wife's exposed skin while whispering. She had her eyes closed and she continued to enjoy the quiet of the room. "Goodnight, my dear.." She hummed quietly.

Having the finger tracing along her skin relaxed Adora. She smiled softly, completely relaxed under her. "Goodnight my love" She relaxed, laying on her side still.

The queen purred. A deep and soft purr she always made when she was around her and getting what she wanted. She leaned close and nuzzled only to purr louder. "Love...you" she whispered once more and nuzzled close to her only to let her know that she was there for her.

The warrior fell asleep quickly now. Thanks to Catra.

Lies

Jack tried to track Raiden's father but he couldn't. He thought he might have taken him back to the stable but it was an obvious place to be so he didn’t go there. The next morning Adora helped the young boy find the house Raiden lived in but their attempts were all unsuccessful. They were only searching around the villages but couldn’t get into any of the houses of course. In the end, this week was a failure. Adora couldn’t find any sign of the boy since he didn’t go to work and Jack was of course putting the blame on his parents. He could have saved him and he stayed back like a coward.

When the last day of the week came, Jack decided to walk around the forest. Did his parents know? No. But he didn’t want them to know anyway. He walked around the trees and bushes when he saw a small house in the middle of nowhere. It was an old one and he was slightly scared to approach. The thought of finding Raiden in there though made him overcome his fear and walk closer to the small house. There he saw the boy from the window but he quickly hid behind the wall since his father was in the house as well.

"I still can’t believe you came here to be with men again" He yelled. How could he be so mad after all these days? Jack didn’t understand that..

Raiden hit the ground with a grunt when his father pushed him. He curled up slightly, covering his head "Please I-I just met him some days ago... I didn't do anything... H-he's a prince I couldn’t if I wanted to.. I-I’m just up here to work like you said... There isn't anyone else my age... All the servants are adults... I-I don’t have anyone but him.. Please sir..."

"Do you think I will believe that shit? You and I both know what your intentions are when it comes to men and here you are meeting someone and getting 'busy' for work? Who do you think I am? You can’t fool me" He obviously didn’t even care about what he said. He knew something was going on. The man walked up to him, giving him a rough punch on the gut. "Did you tell him what you've done then?" He spoke while pulling him by his hair and putting a hand on his neck to choke him. "Even the priest will not want to purify you. Is that what you want?" The question was obviously a tricky one.

Raiden flinched when he was hit as he let out a cry of pain. He cried softly as he laid there, shaking. He cried out again as he was grabbed "p-please.. please I-I didn’t.." He grabbed his wrist as he was choking him though he was still crying. "I-I.." he hesitated, knowing which answer would stop the pain though, so he spoke up "I-I do.. I-I’m sorry sir.. Please..."

The man glared at him though he let go of him only to pace down the small room "You don't deserve livin’ in this house. The stable is where you belong. I wonder what that man thinks of you" He hissed throwing down a bucket of water almost cracking it "You're comin’ with me to the priest before noon. I will go talk to him... hopefully he will have mercy on the soul of a pig like yours" He spoke as he took some steps further towards the door before cracking it open "If you leave I'll know" The man warned him.

The dirty blonde boy flinched, staying on the ground where he was dropped and just looking away while being curled up. He was shaking and covering his head again "y-yes sir... I'll stay I promise.." He was still crying softly on the floor. Eventually though he stopped, just staying there on the ground and figuring that it would be better to pretend to like women. He couldn’t get through this again every time his father would catch him with Jack… He had to find a woman.. And soon. But… he didn’t want that. He wanted Jack…He held onto the shirt he had worn, the shirt that was Jack’s while burying his face in it.

The man thankfully didn't know that was the prince's else he would have burned it. He left to go talk to the priest as he said but didn't notice Jack was hiding behind some bushes. Once he left the prince ran into the house to widen his eyes. He knelt down and cupped his boyfriend’s cheek "Raiden.... Wha.....my ..come on. Stand up" He hummed scared because of the brushes the boy had and helped him stand up to walk ".... Raiden I'm so sorry..." He literally didn't kill that man because of his moms and...it felt bad.

Raiden flinched when he heard him approaching. He thought it was his dad until he heard Jack speak and looked up at him before shaking his head and sitting up quickly "No. No Jack you have to go. Please, you have to go now. He'll be back soon. I don’t want you getting caught with me again. Please, Jack I’m sorry but you have to go" he tried to push him away then, shaking his head still.

"I'm not leaving without you. Look at you..." He was worried about him... He cupped his cheek and when he got again pushed he pulled him into a hug, guiding his head on the crook of his neck "Raiden please..... I love you… this man will kill you if he finds out about us… let me take care of you" He whispered but the other shook against him. Raiden tensed for a few moments before he finally slumped against him, wrapping his arms around him as he sobbed

"I-I can’t let him hurt you..." he cried while clinging to him and holding his shirt tightly as he cried "I-If I go with you he'll j-just find us and hurt you too... p-please Jack, I-I can't let you.."

"Nothing's going to happen to me ...please Raiden I.. can't see you like this" Eyes scanned him from head to toe and leaned close to him to give him a gentle kiss on his lips to calm him down a little "I promise. We will be better together....I can't risk leaving you in here with him...the man is crazy"

The blonde one shook his head and pushed him away again "no, no I-.. I-I..." He backed up then, shaking "my mom didn’t die because of the mages, Jack.. I-I lied to you... I-I.." He hesitated, just sitting on the ground again and curling up. He was scared if he told him the truth that he’d leave him but at the same time… wasn’t that the point of telling him the truth? To see how ugly the truth was..? "I-I killed her... f-for the same reason you wanted to kill my dad... s-she.. she tried to send me away... t-to live with priests to 'fix' me... I-I didn't want to go s-so I-..." he cried then even though he didn't make any sound as he did. He was shaking and just staring at the floor, unable to finish.

"What..." The boy stared at him. He didn't believe he lied to him. Why did he reveal it now though? Out of nowhere. It didn't make any sense... Did his father threaten him that he would tell the truth to Jack or ... Did he feel guilty because he lied? "Why... Why didn't you tell me.. I mean..you could tell that she just died!" He almost yelled this time. He felt connected to him because he could probably feel the pain of losing someone because of these mages ,yet he... Didn't even have her in the first place to lose her as it seemed. If his mom was exactly like his father he would prefer to not have a family at all he assumed.

Raiden flinched at the yelling, half expecting Jack to hit him as well and just starting to shake again "I-If you asked why she died a-and I told you the truth... I-I thought it would be better t-to just say that she was killed by the mages b-but then you said that y-your sister was killed by them a-and I-..I couldn't tell you... I'm sorry... I-I'm so sorry... please.. Please leave. I-I can't let you get hurt.. I already hurt you enough..." he hid his face then. He had told the truth for both those reasons and because he hoped that if Jack ended up hating him for it, then at least he would leave and be safe. He could protect him from his dad, even if it meant hurting him now.

The brown haired boy teared up. He really wanted him to leave.. but then again he felt like his heart got broken by what he said. His sister was everything to him and she was more precious than anything in this world. Having him lie about the way of his mom's death made him get offended but at the same time .... He didn't know. He didn't know his sister got killed like that and it was just bad timing... He looked at him but turned his head away before he turned his back to him. He couldn't think clearly, his head was foggy due to the pain and anger he felt. He couldn't cut ties with him like that. He loved him, even for these couple of days. He made him feel good, made him fall in love with him. He didn't speak. He just left, closing the door behind and heading back to the palace. He had to talk with his moms and he knew it, else he would have already yelled at him and broken up immediately.

Raiden just hugged his knees to his chest, lowering his head and crying as he sat there. He grabbed onto the shirt again, feeling like it was the only thing left of Jack he would ever have. His heart was shattered too, of course but he had to protect him even if it meant hurting them both by doing so.

Once Jack was back to the palace he walked upstairs to find his parents. He opened the door of his mother's room slowly. Adora looked up from cuddling with Catra, laying there with a book in her hands. Seeing the state Jack was in, she set it aside immediately, sitting up with her wife "Hey, Jack what's wrong? Is it about what happened with Raiden?”

The boy was still tearful. He looked away and sniffled before he wiped his tears."Raiden.... He .. he lied about his mom dying from the mages... He killed her because she was behaving like his father." He mumbled. More tears came down his face as he approached and sat down.

Catra furrowed her eyebrows and leaned in to kiss his forehead.

"I- I know it's not his fault but..... But why did he say that they killed her.... If he told me how mad his parents were I wouldn't blame him.."He continued

Adora sat up as well, opening her arms to offer him a place on her lap. She hesitated but then she spoke. "I... killed a man. For Catra. I killed him because he hurt her. After I had won her and in a duel against his champion. It's not easy to kill someone... it may seem easy... and I.. honestly think I killed her mother. It... doesn't surprise me... that Raiden had killed his mother... They push him so hard. He's bound to snap under the pressure... but... I don't know why he lied about it. Maybe he was scared you would think the same way? Or think less of him because he killed someone?" She ran her fingers through his hair, looking down at him "Unless you had told him first, it's unlikely that he knew about how your sister had passed, so I don't believe he chose that story to hurt you but more because it was... easy to fake or easier to pretend that was the truth rather than what really happened."

Catra remembered the days back then. How the woman saved her yet she still remembered she killed that man. Her eyes looked at her and leaned against her, placing a hand on Jack's thigh as the boy sat on the other woman's lap and embraced her. "She wasn't exactly my mom but.. Yes… she did a lot to deserve that fate..." She admitted and looked away only for her to sigh and rub the child's thigh "Darling, I bet he didn't know anything about your sister.... He couldn't know"

"yes but.....I don't know mother ... I love him...but he lied..." He cried and whimpered between tears. Then he nuzzled close to her while his ears were twitching back "I love him, mom.. I don't want him to leave me.. because of his father...and I don't want him to be scared to tell me the truth...." He continued, obviously not caring about the killer thing right now. What hurt him was Raiden lying to him about such a soft subject but…his parents were right. He couldn’t have known.

Adora hugged him close, rubbing his back with a soft sigh. Then she kissed the top of his head "He may have been scared to tell the truth... I’m sure it’s hard to admit that he was the one who killed his mother.." She held him close, letting him cry into her shoulder. Then she looked at Catra for a moment before looking down "I'll be talking to Glimmer at noon about this again, okay? I'll figure this out, little one"

"But you have to calm down, Jack....and if you love him you should show it, not by beating his father of course.... or challenging him" The woman looked at Adora since she was the one who was.... challenging into duels everyone who was around her back in the day. She even fought her mother.. "Talk to him but don't risk getting caught by his father... If anything happens to you none of us will think twice to have this man's head on the floor" She wouldn't lose another child of course...

Jack nodded and leaned closed ,slowly calming down and not crying. "Talk to her though.... I hate seeing him all beaten up...."

Adora nodded, rubbing his back as Catra explained, letting her give him advice. She kissed the top of his head, holding him close as he calmed down. Then she gently ran her fingers through his hair "I hate seeing him like that too... I promise I'll do what I can with Glimmer... This place used to be so much more accepting... I blame the mages for what's happened.."

"I...don't know... He was going to a priest I think?.. I heard them talking but I didn't walk in.... Instead I did when his father left..." He explained to show that he was careful and tried to calm down more as he gave his moms a small kiss on their cheek "I love you.... " He looked at her and nuzzled close.

The blonde sighed softly again, hugging him close "Hopefully they'll just be preaching to him then... Nothing more... Some people will do..." She paused, looking at Catra before taking a deep breath "really bad things... To try and fix something that is completely natural.." She cupped his cheek, kissing his forehead "I love you too son.. And I promise I will do whatever I can to help him.."

"Thanks mom....." The boy hummed softly and nuzzled close to her only to smile a little.
Catra smiled as she watched these two hugging and stood up. "I'll go check up on Mara... And the boys. Don't worry Jack ....Adora will do anything she can to help here"

"I know..." Jack remained close to Adora as Catra walked away thoughtful of all this... She really didn't know how to feel and her emotions were...weird these days…Was she jealous that Adora got more attention from their son or..?

Adora rubbed his back, smiling softly "Of course baby. I promise I'll get him away from his dad..." She kissed the top of his head, holding him close and speaking softly "I love you,son.. And I'm sorry you had to experience this..."

"I'll... I'll just go....try talking to him while his father is away..." He hummed. Now he was actually speed walking towards the door "Thanks mom!" He added quickly and ran away. Adora would be left alone as it seemed. Catra was in the next room and played with Daniel while poking his tail and chuckling playfully.

"Just be careful okay? I don't want him hurting you too" The blue eyed woman sighed softly and got up. She hesitated before heading to the room Catra was in with a gentle smile "Hey little ones"

"talking to the real little ones huh?" Catra chuckled as the children cheered and rushed to her. Jackson actually stayed with Catra for longer and held her hand. "How did it go? Will he trust him?... I bet after talking to you he will" She chuckled. Her eyes didn't meet hers though. Her tail waggled slowly as half of it was under the dress.

Adora laughed softly, scooping the kids up and kneeling down with a nod. "Yeah.. He wants to go talk to him again. I told him to be careful but I wont keep him away." She hummed, kissing the top of Mara and Daniel's head.

The feline poked the boy's cheek, playing with some toys with him while still kneeling. "He does trust you a lot.... I mean... It's obvious..you raised him and Lena..mostly" She hummed and looked at Jackson as he just clung on her skirt.

Adora nodded with a proud smile and played with both of the kids "Yeah... But that doesn't mean that you don't have his trust too. He listened to you.. And I've heard it's normal for kids to have a preference for one parent over the other. It seems like Jackson has already decided.."

Catra chuckled at that. It wasn't too cheerful but it was something more than just remaining quiet. "Yeah.... One out of four.... I don't know what I do to push them away...honestly" The girl tried to not allow her eyes to get watery at the thought and leaned in as she reached to grab the boy's other toy as he continued to play.

These words only made the warrior shake her head "I doubt it's your fault, my love" She leaned in, whispering to the two kids with her "You remember what I taught you kids, right? Attack of love? I think your mom needs that right now. I'll give extra dessert to whoever gets her to laugh" She grinned at them, letting them go.

The feline rolled her eyes and looked at the blonde one as the other two fell onto her to hug her "Hey... I know you did this.." She sighed as Jackson pouted for not having his mom to play with. Her arms embraced them both but let them go after a while
"Why are you sad mom?" Daniel asked
"I'm not sad ,dear .... I'm happy you found ways to play and we are finally in a castle..."
"But you are… upset the last couple of days mom..." Jackson hummed and touched the ground.
Though Catra couldn't tell the truth to the little ones."Sometimes I'm in need of more love than before that's all..~"

Adora lifted her hands with a slight smile "I didn't do anything" She offered her hand to Jackson though, smiling softly as they talked "Sometimes we get upset easier and we need more love and care then other days and that's perfectly fine" She sat by Catra.

"yes but... I don't want mommy to be sad..." Jackson said in a pouty tone and went close to the feline before he gave her one of his toys to 'make' her cheerful again.

Catra chuckled and thanked him but she did let it down before planting a kiss on each head and took a deep breath. "I'll stop being sad as long as I have you all around... You're everything to me, okay? I want you to know that" She hummed. She couldn't let Adora raise these three alone too. She didn't want herself to have the same connection she has now with Jack. It was just painful to not hear from him anything other than just the typical gestures "Now we can get out to play a little in the garden while the sun is still up. Who wants to join?" She smiled while Jackson was holding her hand.

The blonde smiled at them all piled up, sitting back to let Catra have her moment with them and just letting them talk before nodding "I'll come out to play too. But I need to be in at noon for Jack." She stood up then, smiling softly at them all "I love you guys. I'm so lucky to have all of you.."

The feline didn't say no. She instead showed them the way to play all together and make herself forget about her silly worries.

As for Jack ,he would only go back to that house. He crawled close to the window to check if the father had returned to which the answer wasn't clear.
The man brought Raiden some herbs that the priest gave to him and boiled them with water to pour it into a cup. "This will be the drink and food for the next week ...the priest told me he will pray for your soul. So....you only have to do this simple task" He said, throwing away every meat or chicken he had in the ice.

Raiden just sat on the ground still where he was when Jack left. He hid his face all curled up. When his dad came back he slowly lifted his head, hesitating before he took the drink, sitting there with it in his hands. He just stared at it. His face was blank and still red from crying.

The older one yawned but he did open the door to another small room as he walked further. When he had thrown the food on the floor, he spoke again. "Throw them away, I'll rest for a while.. don't disturb me" He hissed.

The prince could be seen if the boy went out to throw the trash out...

Raiden nodded slightly, getting up to clean it up. He set the drink aside. He took the dirty food out but he didn't look around. He just kept his head down as he walked out to throw it away. Looking up though because he felt he was being watched he saw Jack and his eyes widened slightly "What are you doing here?"

"I told you I'm not leaving you behind.." The boy hummed, cupping his cheeks and embracing him tightly. "I love you....call me a fool or not I don't want to leave you alone in this.. mom Adora will talk to queen Glimmer again…”

The stable boy shook his head slightly, hesitating before hugging him back and crying softly into his shoulder "Y-you shouldn't be here.. I-... I thought if I told you the truth you would leave and be safe..." He held him tighter though, leaning against him "D-dad already talked to the priest.. They-.. They want me to drink something..."

He furrowed his eyebrows and shook his head ,arms wrapping around him "No... I would never leave you... I got mad because you lied but.... I shouldn't have ..... I'm sorry for leaving you all alone again..." He brought him into an embrace, tail wrapped around his waist too "Don't drink anything.. This man is crazy... My mom will talk to the queen today... You will not be left here for long..." He cupped his cheek, trying to ignore the bruises and kissed his lips softly.

Raiden held onto his shirt, hiding his face in Jack's neck "Please... It's not safe for you... You have to go.. You can't stay here... If- if your mom is gonna talk to the Queen then I'll be okay..." He looked up at him, though when Jack tried to kiss him he pulled away "Not here- not here please. It's not safe..."

Jack looked away. He missed his touch, his voice even if it was several days that he had to be apart from the boy. He looked at the man and sighed when he pulled away "I'm sorry...I got carried away.." He looked away and held his hand this time. "Please.... Stay safe... Even now" He whispered and looked at him before he tried to pull him a little "I want us to go to that room up the tower again...okay?"

The other young boy hugged him again though. It hurt to tell him no. It hurt to be unable to kiss him. He couldn't stop himself from hugging him "I- I'll try... I can't.. Can't do much... B-but I won't drink it..." He mumbled, nodding as he hugged him "We will..."

The prince tightened the embrace. His scent was always so welcoming. His eyes closed for a moment, a hand gently going up to brush his hair slowly with his lips kissing his jawline "I love you.... I don't care if you killed someone or not .... I love you"

He held him a bit tighter then, unable to keep himself from crying again quietly when he said that "I-I love you too... I'm sorry you had to see this..."

"Shh..... Raiden.... Everything will be fine okay? It's almost noon... Mom will be talking to the queen already...." He spoke kindly and caressed his cheek "I'll go check if she's already talking to her okay?" He smiled nervously, wanting him to let go first when he felt better. There was some noise from the inside of the small house too so.. he would probably have to go.

Raiden hesitated before nodding "Yeah... O-okay..." Hearing the noises he winced slightly, hesitating before he kissed his cheek and pulling away then.

"I'll be back ..." The prince whispered before rubbing his thumb and with a light step he ran back into the palace.

The father heard some noises from outside. He walked towards the door so he could see if the man was alone or.. something like that "What are you doing?" He asked, walking further and grabbing him by his hair before pulling him back in. The rooms of the house got fumigated by herbs to cleanse the area but he didn't want for the rest of the world to get poisoned by his son's sin. "Drink the herbs. It's noon already. Thirty times will do fine for today. The whip is inside the living room." He wouldn't be the one whipping him this time at least but he would watch if he wasn't doing it.

The blonde boy whined at the grab to his hair, shaking slightly "A-aren't we supposed to b-be there too..." He mumbled, sitting down on the ground again as he held the cup. He was hesitant to drink the herbs though, hands shaking slightly as he watched the cup.

"Where?" The man huffed and crossed his arms over his chest. "Drink before I take it" He warned, since he would obviously not wait for him to take his time with it.

The other flinched slightly, shaking his head "I-I thought I would be seeing the priest personally... " He mumbled but shook his head slightly, hesitating before offering it to him.

"The priest had work to do. He wouldn't come all the way here to make you drink some herbs and cleanse the area.. he told me what I have to do already" He spoke while taking the cup and tilting the boy's head up by the hair. He placed his fingers on each side on his cheek to add pressure "Open up"

The younger one whimpered at the grab, closing his head and cried softly but he opened his mouth. His tears rolled down his cheeks as he was forced to drink, knowing better than to try and fight back.

The man gave him the liquid. It had a bitter taste but aside from that it didn't seem to do anything else. He let go of him and stood up to put the glass aside. "Take off your shirt.." He commanded.

Raiden hesitated when he was told to take off the shirt, but he did. He bundled it up and set it aside. Then he knelt on the floor with his back bowed, his head down.

The man noticed scratches on his back, hands tightened and he looked down at him, bringing already the whip "Who did this? That friend of yours?" He hissed

The other flinched, lowering his head more. "N-no... No I-I... I slept w-with a girl... A-a girl my age... She-.. She had long nails..." He closed his eyes, hoping his father would believe him.

"a girl would turn to look at you? In the stables? Who was she?" The man continued but he didn't wait for him to reply before he gave him the first whip. He knew he wouldn't do it alone so he did it for him. He had another twenty-nine hits now.

Raiden jerked slightly and whimpered at the hit, looking down "I-I don't know.. I-I never asked for a name.. A-and she was only visiting.. Like I said t-there isn't anyone else my age in the castle grounds..."

"They told me you were in love with him, Raiden. Tell me, did you sleep with that boy?" He continued though he gave him another whip while speaking. This would take too long as it seemed.

The stable boy flinched, whining again "N-no,no I-I wasn’t... I-I didn't-.." He cried softly, staying bent over.

The man though didn't believe anything. He hit again and again till blood began to crawl down his back and open scars were visible "You don't only dare to sin after killing your own mother you dare to keep lying!"

Raiden cried out in pain again, but knew better than to try and pull away. "Please.. P-please I-I didn't..." He tried to speak only to get more and more hits on his back. The only thing that made him strong was the thought of Jack actually helping him in the end..and all this would belong in the past.

The big day

Chapter Notes

> I hope you all are alright safe and sound guys! I've been sick for this week and even though I was planning on updating daily I ...couldn't so!
>
> Stay healthy, drink water and tell me if you like the chapter~ ❤️

It was finally the moment for Adora to go talk to Glimmer once again. She wouldn’t accept any delay. This was the only chance they got to take Raiden back and away from his father. Catra would always be by Adora's side even now. The main room with Glimmer inside was in front of them. "Do you want me to come in?" She spoke quietly.

Adora hesitated before nodding, taking a deep breath as they walked in together. She felt safe with Catra. For some reason she could hold her back if Glimmer’s words upset her. She walked further, bowing her head to the queen. "Your majesty.." She wouldn't call her 'my queen' no matter what. That was for Catra. And Catra only.

The girl took a short breath and stood up walking towards the warrior. She wasn't alone ,since most of the time she had the feline by her side who bowed as well out of ‘respect’. "What is it…? We have a lot to take care of now. The first fights were a success and.."

The warrior lifted her head to look at her "I've learned about a young boy being abused by his father for preferring men over women. I told you already but…. I.. Came to request that you allow me to take him from his father officially. I watched his father drag him out by the hair... My son is in love with that boy. I would do anything to protect him, just as I would do anything to protect my children"

"Adora this…" The queen looked at her and thought about it. She knew Adora wouldn't just get this out of her head but…she had to say something. "You know you can't just take children from their parents because they're abusive.... Do you have proof of this? I'll call them here." She turned to look at one of the two people back on her throne side "I will need the names written down and... There's a lot of paperwork to go through.. not only by me"

A man would approach too "The queen has more important things to take decisions for not to judge about a citizen's problem right now..." They did send a messenger to call the man and the boy in the castle in the meantime. Catra did at least. She knew she wouldn't find a solution by just talking to the queen again.

Adora grit her teeth slightly before sighing "The son's name is Raiden. I don't know the father's name but my son, Jack, knows where they live." She crossed her arms, looking at Glimmer "You've changed. Do you know that? Back then you would have been happy to help that boy. Help me. No matter what.. What happened to that?"

Glimmer looked down at her and shook her head "Everyone changes Adora.. and I can't take care of something like this.. not when the other side isn't here. When I listen only to your words or when me and the rest of my council is taking care of everything about the war which you were supposed to participate in.." She hissed.

“You could! Do not hold the war over my head. You should know better than anyone it's better to have your family at home with you then off fighting a war. I'm trying to protect that boy. Why do you not believe me? I would never lie about something like that."

"and I cannot judge without seeing. There are things I cannot do! I can't take a child away from his parents just because!" She glared at her.

Catra was looking around at the other men and women in the room before taking a small breath. "Okay..so the queen can speak then when the father is here ,right?...Do your job now and we will come back here later when they arrive..." She hummed softly and looked at her before wrapping an arm around Adora’s arm to guide her to the hall "Adora you're not making this better when you’re yelling."

"Since when would I say a child's being abused without knowing for certain?!" Adora paused, looking at Glimmer again before sighing softly. She let her wife lead her away though. "Fine. I'll be nearby when they get here." She looked away. She was angry but she knew her wife had a point

"hey.....my love. She's not alone to judge... I told you it won't be easy...you can't always count on who she was ....She's a queen now. You can't change her or try to get in the middle of their council" She continued and rubbed her arm slowly "I love you .... Please calm down"

The blonde sighed softly and nodded, wrapping an arm around her "I know. I just... I don't like how she is now... She's so much... Harsher. I guess. She would have taken my side immediately before..."

The Horde queen nodded and rubbed her arm but she would lean close to give her a kiss on her cheek "I know... But we all change and she has more things to do than take care of citizens... I understand that somehow...." She looked away

The knight sighed as well, shaking her head and looking away "Even then she should still care... She knows I wouldn't do this if I didn't truly believe he was being abused..." She sighed, sitting just outside the room to wait.

In the meantime the messenger arrived at the old man’s house. Jack showed him the way. The old man was getting ready to leave and go to the palace. The queen wished to see them both and mostly the boy. He wouldn't let him go alone for sure. He let them wait so he could actually go get his son by grabbing a bucket of water. It was cold from the river but he didn't care at all. He had to wash away the blood quickly and leave as he forced him into the tub and splashed his body with the cold water, letting the water 'clean' the wounds. He covered him with a bandage only to not stain the white shirt he had before and pushed him to the door "Speak up and you'll have more than just a week to confess for your sins... The priests won't be as gentle" He warned.

Raiden flinched as he was splashed. He shivered due to the cold water but he didn’t say anything. He just stood up and lifted his arms while they were bandaged. He nodded slightly, still shaking as he kept his head down, just following behind him.

After some minutes the married couple would see the father and son since they were escorted by a guard. The father glared at the woman. They did call them because of these two..?
Catra looked up at Adora before one of the men in the council walked over to them "The man stays behind the boy shall come in..." He hummed as he pointed to the women to follow. He would question the boy about all the situations in the house in hopes the boy would tell the truth instead of lying.
Jack finally arrived too and almost held himself back from falling on him to embrace him. He seemed so ..anxious.

Adora looked up when they heard him, glaring at the father and standing up. She walked in after the young boy, looking down and gave him a soft reassuring smile "I'll protect you" She left it at that, holding her wife gently.

Raiden shook the entire time he was there. Most of the time he was too scared for the others to really get any answers out, though it helped when Jack was there. He made him relax a bit. He was hesitant at first but after some minutes he told the truth. It was easier without his father there. He even showed the bruises on his body and the bandages on his back which made Jack’s fur puff and clench his fists.

Glimmer believed Adora anyway but the council did not. She got enough proof for them to send the man in the dungeons yet some people of the council were still having doubts about the boy's fate. One of the men stood up, asking what happened to his mom and obviously he demanded the truth. Even if he would say what actually happened the best solution was to send him too in the cell. He was a murderer nonetheless.

Jack glared at the people actually wanting to imprison Raiden too. "Are you crazy!?"

Raiden's eyes on the other hand widened slightly when he was asked about his mother. Hands shaking again, so soon after the relief of knowing his father wouldn't hurt him anymore but he couldn't lie. Not again. So he told the truth. He was sobbing by the end of it, head down and hugging himself again. He clearly regretted what he did. But the council didn’t care about him having regrets or not.

Adora looked between them for a moment before standing up, putting a hand on her son's shoulder "May I propose a different punishment? He is just a child. They look to their parents for guidance. He must have learned that somewhere but he is still young. Let me take him in and re-teach him. He can be my steward and he should prove he has changed his ways and regret his decision. Though I do not believe it will take long. I will take him in to train him as a knight. He clearly is good enough with a blade and I am willing to teach him honour, instead of anger"

Jack was already anxious he couldn't let Raiden get in prison because of such a thing. He looked at his mom who took the chance to speak but he could see the look in their faces. They didn’t want the servant to be free.

Glimmer shook her head and sighed before looking at Adora "Adora, you can't do this.. you're a horde commander. Do I have to remind you of your position and why you're here? The alliance is gone and the only reason for you two to be here is because we are at war with the same enemy. That doesn't mean we are from the same kingdom" She spoke but soon enough got interrupted by one woman from the council "I apologise, your majesty. You're supposed to even help in the war you decided not to attend completely. You cannot have a word especially in such a soft topic. The boy is a citizen of our kingdom and you're not allowed to take him away or train him as a knight."

Jack tightened up his fists "It was all because of self defence! Don't you see that!?" He spoke almost trying to not let his own worries get out and cry. He couldn't lose him..

"The boy will stay in the dungeons till the end of the war. When you can actually attempt to contact again and maybe that time we will be able to make another decision for his fate." The same woman spoke.

Adora stood up straight, listening to all of them. She took a deep breath, closing her eyes to try and stay calm before she spoke "Then how about we make a new alliance. I never said I would be out of the war completely but that I cannot afford to be there for every small battle. I stayed back for my family and This young boy is just as much my family as my own son is. My son loves him and so I will do anything for him." She looked between them all before looking down at her son for a moment. She gently squeezed his shoulder. She couldn't do much but she was trying. She lifted her head again "If I cannot convince you to keep him out of the dungeons then I only have two requests. Keep him away from his father and allow my son to visit him. I trust Raiden. He killed his mother in self defence. To protect himself from being hurt. If you cannot see that then I ask that you at least allow my son to see the man he loves."

The men were still refusing to let this happen. They didn't want to have a horde prince in their dungeons... Glimmer couldn't seem to have anything to convince them either.... She didn't like the horde soldiers... Or anyone from there.. Adora was just the exception since she changed sides..

"I can be guarded or something!" Jack at least tried. He wanted to run to Raiden.. To tell him everything would be fine... Even if they didn't know if he would be away from his father or not. They were both..criminals.

On the other hand Adora's eyes widened slightly at the woman’s words. She was desperate to help the young boy, looking between the council and Glimmer. She held onto Jack, knowing how badly he wanted to run to him but she wouldn't let him.

Catra could see they had no more options, Adora gave off everything she had. Glimmer didn't trust her or the children..and it was obvious she wouldn’t. She didn't expect anything less. "Since nothing is going to change your mind.. Adora, bring that boy to me" The woman commanded, making everyone in the room wonder why or what she had in mind. "If you are going to throw him in a cell. I bet you wouldn't be in need of him, am I right?...The boy will be kept as my servant. I am still the queen of the horde and if you wish to open up a war with everyone,let me know. Shera will obviously not take part in destroying the mages in the final battles." She spoke quickly as she pulled the boy from Adora's hands "Will you risk losing everything or lose one citizen of BrightMoon and win the war?"

The knight lifted her head up once again when Catra spoke up, hesitating before she did as she was told. She walked over and offered her hand to Raiden, which he took. She was confused, as the blonde led him back to Catra. When she mentioned keeping him as a servant she paused before lifting her head once again, standing beside her but she didn't say anything, knowing her wife had it taken care of.

Glimmer had no words. The council couldn't say no to this victory. They had made all this because Shera would be there to fight and end up winning the last fights. "..... I suppose losing a simple citizen is…fine.." The woman of the council broke the silence and looked at the brunette. "I will have his file delivered when you return to your palace, Your Majesty...." She looked up at Catra with a bow of her head and sighed as she looked back at Glimmer. They clearly had no other choice. Their guards were already taking his father away.

"Adora...Jack should we let them continue their meeting...excuse us for this interruption" The feline smiled and bowed before guiding them outside.

The blonde looked between them, before looking back at her wife with a soft smile. When she mentioned they should leave she nodded and walked out. She stayed behind the boys, letting them walk out first. She smiled softly down at them when they were out of the room as she stepped close to her wife, kissing her gently and mumbling "I told you that you weren't useless.. See?" She smiled, looking back at the two boys then.

Jack couldn't believe she actually helped them. The young boy was thanking her again and again till he reached to hold Raiden's hand.

Catra smiled brightly and leaned close to her wife "I'll ask the servants to offer a room for him too. He might be Jack’s assistant. I had my maids to assist me to get prepared at his age...." She smiled.

The other woman nodded and wrapped an arm around Jack "That sounds perfect. Though I have a feeling Glimmer is going to yell at me for what happened. I'm just glad Raiden is safe."

Raiden smiled slightly, holding Jack's hand, leaning against him when Adora spoke again "Why don't you come to our room? I'll get your wounds cleaned up"

The blonde boy hesitated before nodding "Yeah... Thank you... It.. It means a lot..."

Catra opened the door to their room only for her to pause "Jack, Mara has to eat. Can you please take her downstairs? She's still walking down the stairs with difficulty" She obviously just didn't want him to be around but he sighed ,huffed even. She entered the room with Adora and Raiden, helping him undress and mostly feeling how cold his skin was. "You'll soon feel better..." She hummed standing up and lighting up the fireplace for him.

Adora gave him a soft reassuring smile, before she turned to help Raiden as he undressed .She offered for him to lay belly down on their stomach. Then she knelt beside him, cleaning up his wounds gently before she healed his back as best as she could. It wasn't much but it was enough to stop the bleeding and make sure it left smaller scars once it was done

Raiden visibly relaxed when his back was healed, closing his eyes but still shivering a bit.

The feline looked at the boy laying there and walked closer, brushing off his hair and kneeling down. All these scars on his back felt as painful as hers and she could understand him. "Adora, I have the bandages in the restroom....can you?" She hummed and remained close to him while brushing his hair. She had already removed the old bandages of course. "How are you..?" She spoke quietly Adora nodded, getting up and heading for the bathroom. She took longer than she needed so they could have time to talk.

Raiden hesitated, shaking slightly still though that was more because he was cold then the pain now "Cold... But-... I-it feels better... Thank you... It-.. It isn't my first time.. Getting whipped..." He just laid there "But.. It's my first time having someone really take care of it.."

"We won't let anyone hurt you again..okay? Adora will bring the bandages to wrap you up and I'll help you up.." She hummed ,slowly leaning away and smiling kindly "I had a similar problem with my stepmother.. but Adora found me and my children in time...." She hummed half lying but she knew Adora couldn't know.

He nodded, hesitating before sitting up and lifting his hands slightly when Adora came back in with the bandages finally. She knelt beside him on the bed, wrapping it up as gently as she could "There you go... It's still going to take a while to heal but now you don't have to worry about it getting infected" She smiled while finishing up and letting go "There. We won't ask for much right now since you're healin, okay? I'll change your bandage every day, otherwise you can spend it with Jack"

The boy looked at Catra, wincing slightly when he was bandaged but nodded "Thank you... It-... It means a lot"

The feline then stood up. "If you want you can go to Jack's room. He has a fireplace too if you feel cold ,okay? Don't feel bad asking for anything... Making you a servant doesn't change anything other than that you're a Horde citizen, okay?" She didn't expect the boy to work too hard once they were in their palace but for now he would have to do some things since she made him her son's assistant.

He hesitated before nodding "Okay... Thank you..." He got up, pulling the shirt back on as best he could, which Adora helped him with, before he headed off to Jack's room.

Adora watched him go before holding Catra and hugging her close "You did it... God I'm so proud of you baby..."

The feline though was confused. What did she expect her to do and she made her proud. She leaned in and embraced her "Thank you ...but what did I do?" She hummed, mismatching eyes looking up at her blue ones. Her hand slowly caressed her cheek

Adora chuckled softly "You did what I couldn't... You protected him. You kept him out of the dungeon."

The brunette rolled her eyes "I couldn't find anything else to convince the council..... Don't get mad at Glimmer though. She couldn't do much. In kingdoms like hers the council has more power than the queen... It's like....a democratic one" She shrugged and smiled before she looked up at her. "I can tell my Kingdom is not one ~" She chuckled and kissed her lips. "But they are mad you didn't join the war from its beginning.."

"In situations like that I don't really think it works... But, that's how this kingdom is running..." Adora shrugged "I'm glad we aren't, to an extent... In the wrong hands that power can be abused... Not that we are but... Y'know.."

"Yeah.....if I was a mage like Shadow Weaver I would probably be different" She shrugged ,being not sure if power like this one could change anyone. She closed her eyes and took a step back "I... I want to rest...I'm still feeling dizzy at times... Will you stay here?Or do you have work to do?" She hummed slowly heading to bed and taking a seat.

The other one nodded, scratching the back of her neck and hugging her close then "Yeah... And of course I'll stay, my love." She let her go, following her to the bed.

The feline leaned close to her. Her tail wrapped around her and she nuzzled on the crook of her neck. "Scratches..." She ordered in a pouty manner.

The blonde giggled softly, but gently scratched her head before kissing her forehead "Of course my love. Whatever your heart desires"

Catra smiled brightly while purring at the scratches and leaning closer "Mmmm....the best wife.... " She hummed, purring still and going closer to the touch. Her tail waggled slowly.

Adora smiled, looking down at her. She leaned down, kissing her softly before mumbling "You're so beautiful... I'm so.. So incredibly in love with you... You make me so happy my love.. I couldn't ask for anyone else.."

The feline smirked brightly and leaned closer "I love you too.... How could I live without you... I was so stupid to think I would keep up with my mom and her plans" She chuckled and rubbed herself against her.

Adora smiled softly and held her closer, whispering "I don't know... But you don't have to, not anymore. I'm here for you. I promise."

Catra smiled and purred at the sound of her voice so close to her ears. She leaned in to give her a kiss and nuzzled closer "I love you ..."

The blonde smiled, kissing her back and continuing to scratch her head gently "I love you more.. Now get some rest my love"

Catra's purr became more intense. Her head tilted against the hand and kissed her lips "I am resting... I don't need to sleep to rest..just being in your arms is as relaxing as sleep" She admitted.

Adora smiled, cradling her closer and speaking softly "Yes, but resting is not the same as sleeping my love. It's only an hour or so past noon but it's been a stressful day. If you need a nap, I definitely do too. We can nap together"

Catra nodded , slowly kissing her neck and nuzzling close to her. "I want to go home..... To our home ... Rest with our children and sleep together.... Go for a ride....have lunch in the woods..."

The other nodded, running her fingers through her hair, speaking softly "I know my love... I promise.. We can go home as soon as the war is over..." She kissed her forehead, hugging her close.

"Ah.... I just want some peace .... Feels like I'm so lost with all this..." The brunette hummed and slowly peppered her with kisses "Low-key I've missed seeing you in your knight attire too... All heavy and a small head laying on my chest like the old days" She whispered and brushed her hair slowly.

Adora giggled at that before humming "Well... I believe I still have my original suit of armour here... It's just all about whether Glimmer will let me have it or not" She hummed, kissing her again then "What about you sneaking in to take it? You don't have to be the good guy you know. We're from the Horde~" The queen joked and leaned in to give her a small kiss and bite on her lip.

The warrior laughed softly, kissing and nipping right back before mumbling "It would be fun... But Glimmer would kill me. I'd like to stick around for you and our kids" She chuckled and cupped her cheek.

"Nah~ She would never~" Catra chuckled and wrapped her arms around her only to pepper her with kisses. "What if we make a masquerade ball in autumn? I bet we will have our kingdom back.." She smiled "...to remember our first dance~"

Adora giggled, kissing her softly before smiling down at her "It would be our kids' first ball... Probably Raiden's first ball too." She smiled and kissed her again before nodding "I would love to remember that... Lets just forgo the poisoned food though" She chuckled.

The other girl laughed at that. Her head shook and she cupped her cheek, rubbing it with her thumb "My.... I had forgotten about that part.. But yeah....I'll have everything checked twice" She admitted and leaned close to play with her hair.

The blonde nodded, smiling down at her "That sounds perfect, my love... Thank you..." She kissed her again, closing her eyes with a smile"I love you.... I'm so lucky to have you..."

"Hush~" Catra hummed , noticing she was already sleepy and placing her head to her chest. "Let's rest~"

Adora nodded and wrapped her arms around her and hugged her close. She closed her eyes with a soft yawn "I love you... Thank you my queen" She smiled, before finally allowing herself to sleep.

Meanwhile Jack was with the rest of his siblings. Right now he was putting them to bed. The door was open and it was just one door on the left of his room. "Hey... You have to sleep too Jackson..." He huffed as the boy didn't want to sleep. "I'll call mom.." he continued as the other whined and pouted but it didn't work on him. He just placed them in beds and sighed. "Now I'll be right beside you all, okay? Don't start playing again"

Raiden could of course see them with a smile, just standing in the doorway for a bit before leaning against it as he watched and finally speaking up "Hey Jack... Hey kids" He hesitated before waving slightly, walking inside.

"Raiden!" The prince ran and wrapped his arms around him only to carefully hug him. Tail slowly wrapped around him "Are you okay?" The children perked their heads up to look at the boy and wave.

The other one smiled slightly, hugging him back slowly and waving back at the kids "Cold... But I'll be okay. Your moms patched me up"

Jack smiled and nodded "We'll talk about it later, okay?.. I'll be back" He spoke and turned to the children "But first. That's Mara, Jackson and Daniel~ my little brothers and sister"

"Jack, what does pootch up mean?" The girl spoke since they heard Raiden speak. She made Jack chuckle though

"It's patch up and it's when someone covers up a wound. Remember when you fell down and hit your knee? I patched it up for you" The boy spoke and he knelt beside her to cover her up a little since the rooms were still cold by the spring. It was kind of a cold spring this year.

"And why did Raidee need to be pootched up?"

The boy chuckled and just surrendered. She wouldn't learn this word today or... His name as it seemed "He got hurt...and moms helped him, okay? Now sleep, else you won't be sleeping at night and mom will be sad.."He hummed.

Raiden stood back while Jack took care of the younger kids. He was smiling softly at each of them and waving at these eyes that were staring at him from time to time. His smile became wide especially with Mara when she asked about being 'patched' up. He chuckled softly, blushing and smiled still. "Yeah, you'll have plenty of time to ask me and your brother any questions tomorrow I promise. I'll answer any of them. But only if you sleep tonight"

The child grinned and nodded quickly before she laid down and closed her eyes. "Okay! Hey Jack? Raidee is really cute" She whispered though it was obviously not a whisper for them.

Jack chuckled and patted her head. She had no tail or ears like his. "I know. Now. Sleep. I'll have to go" He spoke again and walked up to him wrapping his arm around his shoulders and guiding him out "Well you got your number two fan here Raiden" He joked "I think the competition is getting difficult" he continued while laughing.

Raiden giggled softly as well, but wouldn't say anything. He smiled softly at her, before looking back at Jack "Watch out. She's cute she might just be able to steal me" He teased, kissing his cheek gently though as he giggled "Thank you... For helping me."

The prince gasped dramatically and looked at him before he chuckled. "How dare you" He chuckled and looked up at him, guiding him to the hallway and into his room "You don't have to thank me.... I wouldn't let you suffer like this...I love you..no matter what happened" He hummed and leaned close kissing his lips.

The blonde one grinned, wrapping his arm around Jack and speaking softly "I'm just kidding... I'm all yours, Jack. No matter how cute your little sister is." He smiled, walking into his room before facing him. He hesitated, before leaning into the kiss, holding his cheeks.

The other boy bit his lip and the gentle kiss became rougher and more passionate. He gently though pushed him against the door since it was closed "I couldn't believe I would lose you" He whispered in a slightly rougher tone yet he touched his cheek “I love you"

Raiden blushed, though winced and let out a soft whine when his back hit the door. He held him a bit tighter and mumbled. "A-any other time would be good but my dad whipped me... O-on the back..." He mumbled, hugging him close "I couldn't believe I would lose you either though.. So close to finally getting you back..." He looked up at him again, kissing his forehead gently where the skin between his eyebrows wrinkled up "I love you too.."

Jack backed away immediately only to look away "I'm sorry I didn't mean to..." He paused. "I just...missed you"

The other one smiled softly and cupped his cheek, stepping forward then "Hey, I know, it's okay. I know you didn't mean to. I'm not upset at you." He smiled, kissing him again before mumbling "Why don't we go lay down? It's been a long day and I'm a little tired..." He was exhausted but he didn't want to worry Jack, even as he yawned.

"of course...come here~" He smiled a little. It was obvious he would be tired though he laid first so the other could lay beside him and rest his head on his chest. "I love you.. sleep, okay?" He hummed and slowly curled his tail around his wrist.

Raiden smiled slightly, yawning as he waddled over. He crawled into bed with him and laid beside him, resting his head on his chest and wrapping his arms and legs around him. He had to be careful of his back and the bruises on his body "I love you too Jack... Thank you..."

Jack closed his eyes and he slept beside him, soft purrs were audible and finally he could tell after this difficult day. Jack could be freely around Raiden ...He nuzzled close, carefully placing some kisses on his head as they slowly both began to fall asleep.

Smoke and Mirrors

Chapter Notes

Gigi here!

Hey there guys! It's been a year since we've started this fanfiction and we're finally on its ending. The next chapter will be on 09/07 next week and it will be the last of this book! I'm both excited but also curious to know your thoughts about this fanfiction and what you expect to see in the next book! Also in the next book there will be new characters! I see many hits so cooome on dont be shy! <3

So with that being said, if you're still reading this story I'd love to know your thoughts~ <3

The couple got all the time they needed to be together. Adora stayed by her wife's side till her belly got bigger and they couldn't hide it anymore. Glimmer was surprised by the quick and sudden change but at the same time she had nothing to say to Adora. The children all grew up pretty fast. They could speak, dress up by themselves and eat. Catra spent most of the time around them so she wouldn't miss a second with them. Jack got his mom's care too since she didn't want him to feel like he was left behind. The days though became weeks and the first months slid away as the knight got called in one major fight. Then again peace and silence till the second week of the eighth month. On the other hand Adora spent all her time with her wife and kids, though she made sure to show Raiden just as much care, love and acceptance that she showed her kids. She knew he had a hard life and knew it would take a long time before he could truly get over it and heal. Until then she knew that her and her entire family would be here for him. Adora of course wasn't surprised at the rate in which her children matured, just happy to be there for each milestone, praising them each time they did something good.

Adora got called to the field, Raiden with her as well. It was the last battle they would be fighting. The army was close to the gates of the Horde's castle and Shera was needed. Every boy was called and Raiden was not an exception. Jack on the other hand would have to keep himself from crying over his lover going away and Catra was trying to comfort him and the rest of the children who were starting to understand and make questions about her mom leaving again. She was under too much pressure since she was worried as well but they would be okay. That's what she thought at least till she got a letter from the battle, telling that the blonde one got wounded. She couldn't stay there doing nothing. She had to help her and she actually called for the servants to prepare a carriage for her and her son since he wouldn't let her go all alone like this.

The first fight she went to went perfectly and she won, safe and sound. The second one though, she reassured her son that she would keep Raiden safe. Adora began to have visions and even illusions of Mara during these battles. She was trying to help her, yet she seemed to get carried away and that's why a sword cut through her armour and injured her left ribs. Her first vision of Mara had stunned her, stopping her in her tracks, though she was saved. The next time she was hurt, pulled off the field by Raiden and another young boy. Mara looked exactly how she did back in the day when she was alive. Her eyes stared at the woman, since she was too busy trying to fight instead of listening to her. The woman didn't approach her but she vanished into thin air.

"Are you alright?" Raiden helped the blonde one with another young man, setting her down against a rock and some bushes to hide her for now till they could pick her up if she was in a better condition. He pulled her armour away a little to pour water on the cut to see the real wound since it was all bloody and dirty.

Adora stared at Mara. Her eyes were wide as she watched her, before shaking her head and pulling herself back to reality "Yeah, yeah I'm fine I just-... Thought I saw someone I once knew and got distracted. I'll be fine" She helped him move her armour so he could see how bad the wound was, hissing slightly in pain "I should be able to heal it most of the way.. Don't feel too bad.. I think"

"It's deep.... A deep cut, can you heal it a little so we can take you to the camp?It's not too far" The boy spoke quickly. They were several weeks away from Bright Moon and now Raiden had gotten used to the view of blood during the war. The other boy helped Adora to sit just pushing away the armour for now
"Don't push yourself too much" Thankfully they didn't hit her on the lungs so she would live if they were fast enough to get some medicine.

Adora nodded, putting a hand on it to heal it up as much as she could, which at least slowed the bleeding "Yeah... Yeah. I'll be fine as soon as it's wrapped up... I'll join the fight later. I just need a bit of help back at camp." She got up with some help and a grunt, walking with them back to camp.

The boy helped her up and walked her to the camp. The other one was carrying her armour and let it down in the tent as Raiden let her slowly down on the camp bed. He looked down at her, turning away and grabbing some bandages and some alcohol since the wound couldn't stay open. He saw the other one just warming up a blade from the flames of the fire in the tent but the boy looked down at her "I could put her only the alcohol I mean...it will do the job?" Raiden didn't want to hurt her after all "The wound will still be open" The other one hummed softly and looked at the older woman.

Adora laid back on the bed and seeing the other boy warming up a blade she just nodded "He's right Raiden. The heat closes the wound. It hurts but it'll stop the bleeding and make it less likely to get worse. I'll be fine, just give me a rag to bite." She lifted her shirt just enough so they would be able to get to the wound before she put the rag in her mouth. She laid back and grabbed onto the cot while the other young boy used the blade. She squeezed her eyes shut, biting down on the rag and grabbed the edges of the cot, tensing but managing not to move. She was panting softly when he pulled the blade away gesturing lightly for Raiden to wrap her up

Even if the other one seemed to know what he was doing, Raiden didn't expect to see that. He actually tried to ignore how wrong all this seemed and nodded quickly, wrapping the woman's torso with the bandage and making a rug wet, wiping her forehead. Obviously by the pain she got sweat-drops on her forehead which he wiped away.
"We will have to go soon... Raiden ,right?" The other one spoke and pointed to the entrance of the tent.

The older woman panted softly, but nodded. She sat up and passed her dagger to him "Take it. Stay safe.. Jack can't lose you and neither can we. You're a good fighter but don't get cocky. Go.. Make me proud." She smiled softly at him, laying back again.

Raiden got anxious..and emotional. How could he cover Shera up or..Adora? He wasn't that good. Hell he only had fought for some weeks! "I'll keep mine.... Thank you and..please stay safe...Don't stand up or try doing anything risky.." He was worried even if she wasn't his mom he felt them more like a family than his own mom and dad. If he would stay in there he'd have tears in his eyes since she literally told him to make her proud. It was such an honour to fight by her side. He ran out with the other man, leaving the woman alone in the tent with the torch to not be all in the dark.

She just smiled softly and nodded "Just stay safe... I promised Jack I would bring you back home safe and sound..." She laid back then, taking a few deep breaths before closing her eyes. She couldn't relax fully. There was technically still a fight and if the mages played dirty she had to be ready to defend herself. Adora could soon feel her body numb, weight adding on the side of the cot. The brown hair of the other woman was shown. Her eyes stared at the blonde one as she remained quiet at first.

Adora looked up. She was confused until she saw who it was. Her eyes widened slightly "Mara..?" She tried to sit up then, looking at her "I saw you.. In the battle. I'm not dying.. Am I?"

The woman smiled and cupped her cheek to make her lay back again "I don't know that to be honest.... but you will have to relax and breathe...Didn't I teach you how to calm down and not fight out of anger? What happened to you" Shespoke quietly and stood up.

The blonde sighed softly and laid back again, looking up at her "After everything that's happened... Can you really blame me..?" When she stood up though she reached out, trying to grab her hand "Wait-... Don't go yet, please.. I missed you, Mara... I need you here..." She watched her, though she stayed on the cot.

Adora could tell that even the room got the scent of the woman as if she was alive, there and talking to her. She was disappointed that she had forgotten what she had learnt. Mara turned to look at her when she spoke again though "Why do you need me? Can I heal you? Can I revive them?" The woman spoke as the mist inside the room would give the image of the little Lena beside her teacher and Daniella's, yet another faint silhouette seemed to take form.

Adora looked up at her again, though when she saw Lena and Daniella she teared up "I failed... I forgot what you taught me... I couldn't protect them... I lost a kingdom... I'm a horrible She-ra... It should never have been me..." She couldn't help but reach out for Lena though, wishing she could hug her at least one last time. To promise that she wasn't angry, wasn't upset and make sure that her daughter knows that she loves her and that she always has.

The brown haired woman looked at her as the feline got a more intense colour around her body. Just like Mara's. She reached out leaning in to hold her. Adora could feel some kind of warmth but then again when she wrapped her arms around her the last memories of the feline were pictured and even she felt these emotions the young child had. The fear of the dark. The fear of being chased, trying to hide yet being cold. All alone and calling out for her mom or trying to find someone to help. In the end the shove of the dagger cutting her neck and the life slowly sliding off her numb body. All these feelings were now on Adora who, without noticing, couldn’t breathe. "You have to wake up" Mara's voice echoed to bring her back in the present Adora hugged her daughter tightly, tears flowing freely now as she felt.. as she lived all of these memories. She just held her closer and mumbled "I'm so sorry.. I love you.." She looked up at Mara then, still clinging to her daughter. She hesitated before she took a deep, shaky breath, letting her daughter go.

"Adora...your doubts are keeping you behind..." Mara explained, walking and kneeling in front of her as the feline looked up at her. "You didn't protect me mom..." The girl took a small step back as the older governess continued "And didn’t save our home.." They were both slowly fading away.

Adora looked away then "They're right... I failed to protect them... I couldn't keep them safe, couldn't keep our home safe... They're right..." She sighed softly, looking back at her then, just looking tired now "Why did you make me She-ra..."

Mara though looked up at her and cupped her cheek "Your doubts are your poison... I believed in you.. I still believe in you.... Before you met that girl.. you had nothing to be afraid of...but then.." She looked away and stood up. "You became weak... Instead of stronger you became weaker..and weaker. To the point you were just another soldier.. Adora. You didn't fail. Your doubts and fears are making the situation worse and as soon as you wake up and see it... I hope it won't be too late." The woman walked close to the entrance as the foggy form of the little feline appeared again. This time she was smiling ,a sad one though "Mom?" She called out

Adora put a hand on hers, tearing up slightly as she watched her. When she listened to Mara she closed her eyes "If you're telling me to leave Catra I will not... I love her. She is my reason to fight... But... I'll do better... I'll make you proud..." She sat back again, until she saw the younger one and she reached out "Hey... I'm right here baby, I'm right here"

"It's not your fault.... Mom, I need you ...." The girl spoke and held her hand as the teacher looked behind "But you have to let go of the past. Love without fear and anxiety of losing someone." Mara couldn't help her more. She didn't want her to leave Catra but she wanted her to realise that she was strong.

The blonde one took her hand, looking up at her then, closing her eyes for a moment before she nodded "I... I think I understand... Thank you... And I love you, Lena... I'll see you in the afterlife..." She smiled softly at her, hesitating before letting her hand go, closing her eyes "I'll miss you... But I know I will see you again"

"... Be careful.." Mara spoke one last time before she vanished ,taking with her everyone else as the fog slowly faded away.

Adora teared up slightly but smiled at her, taking a deep breath as she looked up at Mara, nodding "I will... Thank you."

The woman could hear the cries and the fighting from outside the tent and far away since they didn't camp close to the battlefield obviously. Even if it seemed to be five minutes ,it was actually longer. Longer than that. Then she heard some voices. Two people were in the tent and they were Jack and Catra. His eyes were tearful and Catra's as well. When Adora opened her eyes the queen glared at her

"My God! You're alive!"

"W-Why wouldn't I be…"

"You stopped breathing Adora…"They were calling out for her to wake up minutes ago and they were starting to believe that the woman was lost already.

Adora's eyes widened. All this was just a….dream? It felt so real… She stood up and scooped her wife up and hugged her tightly "I'm just fine my love. I promise" Her wound was healing finally and she didn't feel much pain.

The feline cupped both of her cheeks only to lean close, noses almost some inches apart and she leaned closer. She gave her a soft kiss that became passionate after a while "I got so worried.... Oh my... you're still wounded though" She hummed and touched her arm before holding her hand "Jack go… I know you're worried about Raiden...Can I take care of you before I leave? Please these soldiers can't take care of my knight" She was emotional Adora could tell as Jack would embrace his mom first, being glad she was alive and not severely injured. He ran out to find Raiden.

Adora kissed her back, smiling and holding her close. She then put a hand on her stomach "Hey. I'm okay, my love... But I would love for you to take care of me.." She mumbled, looking down at Jack again, smiling softly as she hugged him before letting Jack go.

The feline smiled and pulled her close "I don't care if the world is ending or the soldiers are too useless to fight.. I want to be with you for a moment at least.." She was speaking the truth, honestly she missed her too much...She wanted her to stay close and kiss her all night and day while taking care of her wounds.

The blonde smiled and scooped her up, holding her close with a soft chuckle. She sat down, placing her wife in her lap. "You're so cute when you're worried,my queen…." She whispered.

"hm?"She chuckled softly and rolled her eyes. Catra's belly was bigger than when the woman had left and she took a deep breath"I will take care of you..not the opposite..." She hummed as she noticed Adora slowly healing her belly to soothe her and leaned close before placing a kiss on her lips.

Adora cradling her close to make sure she knew she was safe "Hey, it's fine baby" She smiled, cupping her cheek and kissed her gently, keeping her hand on her cheek now.

"You'll come back only for everyone to be older.....The children are around ten" She chuckled and leaned away before trying to stand up with a grunt "They miss you too.... Jack really missed you two..."

Adora chuckled softly, helping her stand up then, looking up at her "Yeah? The war is almost over. I'll be home soon my love.."

Catra looked around the tent only to sigh "I know.... but I don't want you to get hurt now...Do you think we will win? Are we going home...?" The feline's ears twitched up and she looked at the other one. She was hopeful even if she knew they were away for...two years..

The blonde one cupped her cheek, gently running her hands through her hair "I'm fine my love... We'll be able to go home" She smiled softly, kissed her forehead and mumbled "Now, have you been eating? Have you taken care of yourself?"

Catra smiled and nodded softly before leaning back to a short wooden table "Yes...in fact it's the only time I've been eating so much...can't you tell?" She chuckled pointing at her chubby cheeks and thighs since they got pretty much thicker than the last time she saw her.

Adora looked over at her, blushing softly when she realised. She clearly didn't complain though. She stepped closer then, cupping her cheeks and pulling her closer "You are so gorgeous..."

Catra chuckled at that. Her eyes rolled and she leaned close ,placing more kisses on her lips and if she could she would wrap her tail around her. "I'm so glad you're alive...and well" She giggled and soon took a step back. "I'll be staying in the carriage...I think it's the safest...will you stay here or go into the fight?"

The warrior wrapped her arms around her, pulling her close and mumbling "You're so beautiful..." She looked down at her, pausing for a moment before sighing "I still need to fight... But I'll be back tonight to spend as much time with you as you want."

"My love..... You're the most precious person in the world to me... I'll see you then.." The feline whispered and kissed her one last time before she took some steps and out of the tent only to pause for a second. Her look starred in front of the tent only to reach out for Adora, the feline was clearly stunned.

Adora kissed her again before letting her go. She started to pull her armour back on. Though, when she heard her stop she looked up, confused as she walked over "Catra?"

Adora could see the same as Catra did. Lena seemed to be on her knees just looking at some bushes. "A ....Adora.." She tried to hold on to her wife so she couldn't fall back. She almost called the girl's name in a whisper. Was she ...there? Was she...alive?

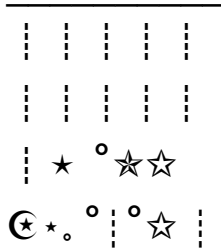

The blonde looked at Lena for a moment, before she stepped over to Catra again, worried "Catra, hey.. You see Lena too...?" She took a deep breath, looking at Lena again "I saw her, Daniella and Mara when I was injured. They... Taught me a lot... Mara reminded me of what she taught me..."

The feline slowly approached the girl, she couldn't do much. She trembled at first, tearing up. "L... Lena ...my baby" Her voice trembled ,almost walking close to her and kneeling down with a cry. The young girl didn't turn around though and Catra remained some steps behind her, kneeling down while whimpering. She tried to just make her speak to her. She missed her so much..

Adora approached with her, kneeling down and hugging her close. She was more concerned with soothing her wife rather than Lena now. She had her talk with her, she said her piece. It was Catra's turn.

The queen didn't know what to say. She missed her so much...she wanted her back... She wanted to live again just for her to have a chance to save her... She leaned on Adora, hiding her face on her neck but clinging on her at the same time. "A..Adora" She whimpered quietly yet she tried to stand up. To leave. To do something other than stay there looking at the girl they lost. She couldn't help but cry more though. "Y... You have to ....to go.. I'll go to the carriage" She sniffled between tears as she was trying to ignore the girl.

Meanwhile Jack was searching desperately for Jack. He carried his dagger- Of course a dagger wouldn’t do anything to an armoured soldier but …he had it just in case. After long minutes he finally spotted him between some trees and bushes. No one was around thankfully and his scent really helped him find him. The smell of blood, the cries of war and its fog didn’t hide the fact that there were mages fighting. For a strange reason, which he never said to his moms, he could feel when someone used magic around and especially in a battlefield filled with warriors and mages.
Jack ran close to Raiden only to jump at him and embrace him. He wrapped his arms around him tightly "I missed you.."

Raiden gasped at first because of the sudden attack for a hug but he hugged him back tightly. He looked up at him then, pausing before blinking "We were only gone a month or two…I don’t remember. How do you already look almost a year older..?"

Jack chuckled, even his voice changed a little "We grow up faster than humans...mom said. At least till we become adults, so I guess you will take some height later~" He joked ,calling him shorter at first and grinning. "Let's go somewhere more ..quiet..." He hummed.

Raiden blushed softly before pouting "Hey I’m not short! It's not my fault you grow up faster than I do!" He huffed, though he wasn't actually all that upset. When he asked to go somewhere, he nodded and led him away.

The prince grinned at his blush and wrapped an arm around him. He obviously leaned his head against his neck only to purr softly and nuzzle "How have you been...any news from the battle?" He whispered.

The warrior held him close, leading him a little ways away from the camp, sitting down then and leaning against him "I've been okay... Mostly just staying by your mom. She... She really thinks I’m a part of your family…." He smiled softly, kissing his cheek then.

The boy leaned close and smiled only to chuckle at him "Yeah... mom really likes you...and she will protect you just like she would protect me..I'm glad they took you in....but at the same time we had no time to be together.." He peppered his neck with kisses and leaned away to cup his chin and tilt it while looking into his eyes.

Raiden blushed at all the kisses. He tilted his head slightly for him, closed his eyes and held him close. When he held his chin and turned it he blushed a bit more, looking up at him with a soft smile "I love you."

Jack smiled and placed a peck on his lips. The kiss echoed just for a second only to make him blush too and take a short breath "I love you too... did you get injured or ..mom did her job to heal you?" He hummed, finding an excuse to tug on his armour. He really wanted to reveal some skin.

The blonde man kissed him back, leaning in to kiss him again then, speaking softly "I’m fine, Jack... But if you really need to, you are free to check for yourself..." He hesitated, blushing "But no funny business, okay? We're still in a war... If- if someone attacks I have to be ready to fight"

The prince slid his hand under his trousers only to rub him but also to pull away after hearing him talk again. "Hm... of course no funny business... now" The boy pouted but sat down.

Raiden held him close. His eyes closed as he nuzzled into Jack's neck, closing his eyes "I love you... Thank you.."

"You ... I missed these lips honestly" He chuckled and leaned close to him to plant several kisses on his neck. "Don't thank me... Please.." he felt bad every time he did so.

The blonde giggled softly, tilting his head and closing his eyes "Mmm... I thank you because you always take care of me too" He curled up on his lap then, laying his head on Jack's shoulder.

Jack loved it when he did that though. Raiden being on his lap was making his heart melt. ”You don't have to thank me for that either.... I love you and you love me... We both take care of eachother.." He leaned in to give him a kiss on his cheek while cupping the back of his head.

The other nuzzled into him, looking up when he spoke up again. "You promise..?" He rested his forehead on Jack's, closing his eyes as he held his cheeks.

"I promise ...nothing bad is going to happen as long as we're together...." The prince caressed his cheek with his thumb. "Should we.. go now...? I want to just take care of you every day..."

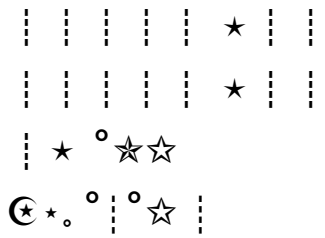

The other one nodded, leaning against him again, closing his eyes as he held him close, kissing his shoulder gently"I love you... And yeah... We should. The war is almost over"

"Rest.... I bet mom and the rest have this battle covered up.... Please, you should rest" The magicat could tell he was exhausted already and the reason was kind of..obvious.

The blonde hesitated but nodded as he leaned on him "I... I guess a nap couldn't hurt.." He mumbled, yawning and nuzzling into him.

A smile formed on Jack's lips and he caressed him. He slowly brushed his hair "I love you....~" He whispered and mumbled sweet nothings close to his ear to calm him down after the long battle.

The boy nuzzled into his neck, mumbling some words that sounded something like "I love you too" before falling asleep against him. He went limp as he fell asleep, snoring softly.

┆ ⋆｡°. ̊ ┆
⋆☆

At that time Adora was holding her wife close while looking at her daughter. "She came to me... When I was hurt... I told her that I love her... That I was never mad with her..." She kissed the top of her head, standing up with her and holding her close "Hey... Hey, baby it's okay... It’s okay..." She soothed her, running her fingers through her hair as she looked at their daughter once again, pausing for a moment before she walked over. She knelt down beside Lena to put a hand on her shoulder, or try to do so.

"it's ....it's not .... Adora I can't.... I... I will go to rest." The other woman couldn't feel her feet but she managed to slowly walk towards the carriage.
Lena turned around feeling the woman's 'touch' to look at her and then back to the feline who walked away as she tried to run towards the pregnant one.

"Catra, Catra wait..." The knight stood up when she got Lena to turn around, walking over to Catra again and holding her hand "Hey... Catra wait"

"Why..? Adora please I don't want this... I.. I came here for you.." Her voice trembled. Even if Adora seemed to see this as a good sign or...that Lena wanted to see them, she couldn't see the same way.

Adora held her close, kissing her cheek and mumbled "She helped me... Helped me realise that it wasn't my fault... It hurts... But I needed it. You do too.. Please, baby... Just trust me..."

Catra shook her head in denial "No... It.. it helped you. It won't help me.. please Adora..just let me go." She cried. Her eyes closed for a second as the girl called out for her moms. She was still as young and as short as before. She wore the same clothes, she was pretty much like she used to be. That's why Catra didn't want to approach more but leave her behind. It hurt too much to look back again.

The knight held her close and kissed her forehead "Hey... It's gonna be okay... Please, my love... Trust me on this..." She held her, looking at Lena again before gently guiding her wife back over to her.

Catra almost pushed her at this point. She didn't want to go near ..this being. Her eyes looked away and she took some steps back away from her. "Adora... Y..you have to go fight...and I don't have time for this" She tugged on her since she took a step back to leave. The girl had a sad expression on her face though.

She looked at her again, hesitating for a moment before sighing "At least look at her... You can't just-... You can't just deny this... You can't pretend it didn't happen... Please, baby. You have to face this. Face her."

"no... I don't have to do this... She's an illusion... I'm sick of these.. She's not alive, she's not here with us and I don't want to —" The feline was ready to continue but the form of the little girl had already passed a blade through her chest. A chuckle escaped her lips as the feline knelt down, seeing the blood run down her body.

"What a nice family reunion..." The very familiar voice echoed but the form of the little girl disappeared for a tall woman to appear slowly. Shadow Weaver smiled and summoned yet another weapon. "Child...Coming here was a great mistake. You brought the boy with you too.."

The Promise

Chapter Notes

> This is the last chapter guys! I hope you enjoy it as much as we did~ ❤️ thank you all for the support ~💕 Love you ,stay safe ~

Shadow Weaver was not dead?

Adora stared at her. She couldn't believe in her own eyes. She looked at her only for the sorceress to disappear into thin air. Her eyes widened just stopping for a moment before she pulled the knife out of her wife. She put a hand on her wounded chest and closed her eyes. "No... No no no I can't lose you... I can't lose you... Please..." She was shaking slightly as she held her, doing her best to heal her as she focused on her love for her wife rather than her anger over the woman. "My love… I'll be back…please stay still okay? You 'll be alright.. I ..I healed your wound but..-"

"A-Adora……Go to Jack- Please" Catra said breathlessly and held her hand tightly only to let go after a short second. She laid on the seat of the carriage as Adora helped her "Be careful.." She whined in pain and worry as the knight ran out of the carriage to find Jack. Where should she even look first? They were in the woods….

At that time Raiden woke up slowly, yawning and stretching. He looked at Jack, about to say something but he heard someone approach and looked up with a confused expression on his face.

The prince rubbed his eyes only for the old queen to walk in the same place they were resting. Thankfully they were both dressed up and she would soon summon her dark magic to strike "Ah... How you've grown Jack ... I still remember you being so small in that... Knight's arms" She hissed Raiden looked up, confused until he saw her hand and how it was covered by her dark energy. He immediately stood up. His armour was off, but he grabbed the chest piece and held it up rather than moving out of the way. "I don't know who you are but leave my boyfriend alone!"

The woman chuckled at this. "Your boyfriend? Ah you've become just like your mothers, don't you... " She looked at Jack. She could already feel the tingling between her fingers of letting go of this power just here and now. She wanted to destroy Adora and that would be only if the couple had no one to protect.

Jack was as confused as Raiden was. He obviously didn't remember her at all. "It's been so long ,that knight kicked me from my own palace... And she thought this is the end? My child ruined everything for someone like her..... And she thought this wouldn't come with a cost?" The woman hit the boy immediately when she was close enough. "I've been always around you"

Raiden held up the piece of armour to try and defend them but he got knocked back into Jack with a grunt and a soft groan. Luckily though, Adora found them. She was Shera and with her abilities she could feel the building black magic of the sorceress. She didn’t hesitate at all. She charged forward to stand between her and the boys, lifting her sword up. "I've hurt you once. I shouldn't have let you get away. I won’t make that mistake again."

Jack grunted at the feeling of the other falling back. He looked at him and tried to hold him so he wouldn't get hurt more. "Are you alright!?" He spoke after a second.

Shadow weaver chuckled and rolled her eyes "Do you think you'll have a chance? You can't do it. You can't protect anyone as you couldn't protect Lena from me" She hissed as she spit the words out that hit sharper than knives for Jack.

She.... She was the one who sent them?

Raiden looked at the smoking armour. He was so glad he was holding it by the straps and not the metal itself.

Adora paused for a moment, before she took a deep breath. She wouldn't let Shadow Weaver get in her head. She couldn't. She was so weak because she fought for anger. She would win. She would fight for love. For her wife. For her children. "I couldn't protect her.. but I will protect them. It is not my fault. It's yours."

"Is it my fault that my daughter found such a peasant like you to marry? You didn't protect anyone. The Horde fell and she lived in the streets because of you" The woman hissed but she soon attacked, her attacks would be quick and deadly if they touched her skin.

Adora turned her sword into a shield for now. She moved quickly to block the attacks. She had more training since last time. She got better. Stronger. She grit her teeth, looking at her "She chose to marry me! I've given her everything you couldn't. She loves me and I love her. I will not let you stand in the way of that just because you're a bitter old bitch who hasn't felt love in your entire life!" She took a deep breath, looking at her then, shaking her head "I know you killed her real mother so you could marry her father."

The woman though only got more and more angry at these words. The last ones especially made her let out a growl as she attacked once more, summoning flames to hit her in order to crawl on the shield and not get blocked "How dare you lie in front of my face!?" She yelled obviously she didn't know if Daniella told anyone about that. She was the only one who knew and… secretly Catra too. But Shadow Weaver didn’t know that the princess knew.

"Catra already knows! You should never have been queen of the Horde!" Adora swung the shield. She turned it into a ball and chain. Swang it around to nail her on the arm with it with a grin. “I love her. I love my kids. I love my future son in law. I will not let you hurt them more than you already have. You have done enough, Shadow Weaver. It's about time you leave."

The woman cried out in pain but she pulled away, steps weren't steady at all. She glared at her and forced chains to wrap around her arms. She couldn’t lose this time. Her hand was in pain but she couldn't let this woman take everything away from her again. "I've had enough of you, knight!" She hissed, creating a blast of dark energy to hit her yet at the same time making a huge snake appear out of a misty corner of bushes and trees. She was the best sorceress, especially in illusions.. she wouldn't let her go untouched.

Adora grunted at the chains and seeing the blast and the snake, she grabbed the chains and pulled. She twisted out of the way of the blast and prayed that the snake was just an illusion, changing her sword once again so she could pull it back into a shield "I'm not giving up that easily!"

Raiden looked up, hesitating before he grabbed his sword. The sorceress was distracted. He also grabbed his dagger, deciding to try and get a bit closer before throwing the dagger as he had been taught. He obviously tried his best to help Adora. She was all alone and he was a soldier. He could..help somehow. He wanted to make her proud.

Even if it was an illusion it didn't mean it wouldn't harm her though. The snake opened its mouth, fangs sharp as scissors and attacked the blonde one only for Shadow weaver to get stabbed by the dagger on the same side of her upper back. She let out a growl, turned around and the circle remained open for some seconds. The one that summoned the beast. She obviously attacked the young one this time.

Adora cried out this time but looked up when she heard her growl, eyes widening slightly when she saw Raiden and she got up with a sharp cry.

Raidens' eyes widened slightly and he quickly darted out of the way, faster now without the armour on. Even if it meant he was easier to hurt. But with the attention on the younger one, Adora came up behind her and swung her sword.

The woman grunted in pain. Her back got scratched by the sword as she rolled on her heel and took some steps forward for Adora to not hit her. She caught Raiden though, with Jack almost crying out. He couldn't lose him. This woman killed Lena .. He grabbed his daggers. The sorceress had trapped the blonde boy in chains as she smirked "Take another step and he's dead" She panted at the blonde woman.

Raiden looked at Adora. He saw Jack move but knew if he looked over it might turn the witches' attention to him instead. So he kept his eyes on Adora.

Adora stopped. Eyes widening slightly before she took a deep breath "you're not the only one with magic here, Shadow Weaver. Touch him and you're dead." She lifted her head then, holding her sword in her hand and tightening her grip. Her eyes were glimpsing a clear blue colour.

The woman laughed and perked an eyebrow "Do you think your magic can be compared to mine? Then you're more foolish than I thought" She glared as she tightened the grip of the chains around Raiden and took a step back. She would escape this time too if she didn't feel that sharp pain on her back, causing a gasp of pain to escape.

Jack wouldn't let the dagger go and made her kneel down as she cursed under her breath.

As soon as the blonde saw her kneel down she charged forward, lifting her sword. She wouldn't let her get away. Not this time. She went for the kill this time, lifting the sword and stabbing down with a grunt, though she was of course careful to avoid her son who was behind her and Raiden as well.

The woman got pierced through her lungs as she gasped in pain, laying down while panting and feeling her blood making a pool under her.
Jack stepped back. He looked at Raiden then, walking closer and helping him out "It..it's fine... My love come here" He hummed and nuzzled close to him.

Adora looked down at her, pulling the sword out then and kneeling down. Then she held her chin "I don't know what we did to make you angry. But I'm sorry it had to come to this." She lifted her sword once again, kind enough to give her a quick death, sliding it across her throat.

Raiden managed to shake off the chains, wrapping his arms around his lover. He held him close while shaking slightly "I was so worried... for you and your mom both..."

Jack wrapped his arms more tightly around him "You shouldn't have jumped into this... My.. I'm so glad you're alright" He spoke quietly yet he turned around to look at his mom and walk close to her "...was she our.. uh... Grandmother?" He wondered. He had seen her when he was a baby. It was obvious he wouldn't remember her or recognise her but...he knew her name from the stories they told them, plus the magic she was using felt too familiar..

Adora looked at her for a moment before standing up, nodding "something like that. Only by marriage. She was the one who kidnapped you kids... kept Lena separate by making me think she was dead." She sighed softly, picking up her body then looking back at her. "Catra will be glad to know she is truly gone... that she cannot hurt us any longer"

The boy looked down and then up at her again before he took a soft breath "She said she.... Killed Lena ... Is it true?" He had more questions than answers at this point.

Adora paused for a moment before shaking her head "I don't know. She tends to lie. She may have just been trying to piss me off. She may have been telling the truth. We'll never know... but either way I'm just glad she's gone." She offered her hand, leading them back into the camp while still carrying her body.

The boys obviously would follow. The cries of war were far away so they might have gotten already in the castle. Catra was resting in the carriage, laying down as the man who was leading the horses was inside to take care of her if she needed anything. She opened her eyes though when she heard Adora's voice.

The warrior approached the carriage, setting the woman's body down before she climbed in, sitting down beside her and putting a hand on her chest to heal her the rest of the way "She is dead. Shadow Weaver. I killed her myself. She can't hurt us anymore" She looked up at her then "Jack and Raiden are both safe."

The queen touched her old wound only to look up at her in surprise "She... She is? Are you serious...?” This was too good to be true and Catra couldn't help but reach to take her hand. "She's gone?" She kept asking as her voice was cracking at this point. She was so happy..

Adora smiled softly, taking her hand and nodded "Yeah... Killed her myself... I don't see anything short of a miracle bringing her back. A stab to the lung then my sword across her throat... Is.. Is it bad that I brought her body with me?" She chuckled softly, shaking her head "I gave her an easy death. She's a horrible person, but if I left her alive she may have survived, and.. suffering then will not bring anyone back. There is no point in making her death slow"

Catra smiled, sitting up and hugging her as tight as she could since she had her belly in the middle. "I love you...", She whimpered "thank you..." She knew she did it to prove she was dead so she didn't have to see her to believe her.. Her lips let out a grunt though ,her stomach was aching for some minutes now.

The knight held her close, hugging her tightly and kissing her shoulder gently before she sat down. She placed Catra in her lap once again. "I love you too baby... We're okay... We're safe now.." She mumbled and when she heard her grunt she smiled softly, putting a hand on her stomach and using her magic to soothe the pain "Hey little one, I'm here too I’m okay" She giggled softly then, bending down to gently kiss her stomach "We're gonna be okay"

"I...I'm not sure... But it's probably a girl... I'm eating a lot...my anxiety is high as hell...and I don't feel just as sick as I was with the boys..." She paused and leaned in to give her a small kiss on her lips. "I'm so glad this is over.... It's finally over.... Can we go back..? I ..I want to see my home again. Today. I've been ....making the bed for days and ... Cleaned up the room too... I'm sure the baby will come but I don't want to be in a carriage....with no midwives" She was worried again. Only the thought made her feel insecure. If they at least kicked the mages out of the palace or killed them, she would be able to get in there in time.

Adora cradled her close when she mentioned her anxiety, kissing her forehead and mumbling "I'm right here my love... I think they're almost done with the battle... It sounds like they've hit the castle... It shouldn't be long." She held her close, before standing up with her, taking her out of the carriage. "It's almost over. You will have me and anyone you could want beside you. I promise, my love." She kissed her forehead "Our baby will be born in our home. I swear to you."

The girl grunted as she clung on her when she picked her up. "Y..you're tired. Please, just let me in the carriage. I'll tell the servant to go to the castle as close as he can .. okay?" She didn't want to have her in her arms. She was heavier but the problem was that Adora was fighting for days and nights to have her now in her arms.

The warrior shook her head "but I want to hold you..." Knowing that Catra wouldn't give up she sighed and carried her back into the carriage "But fine... As long as you stay in my lap, please? I missed you" She spoke softly, looking down at her.

"Mom? Can Raiden join us? I... Don't want him to get hurt"Jack interrupted her only to pull the boy with him.

Catra chuckled and nodded, letting the other two take a seat on the other side of the carriage as she sat on her wife’s lap. "But no funny things okay....? The children are here" She whispered, not that Jack didn't hear her.

Adora smiled softly and nodded, letting them get in the carriage "Of course you kids can" She smiled softly, though when Catra whispered she looked over at her, raising an eyebrow "Wasn't planning on it my love" She wrapped her arms around her to hug her close.

Jack was already rubbing Raiden's shoulder in a careful manner and gently kissed his cheek "I love you.." He whispered in his ear and nuzzled close, allowing him to nuzzle close as well.

Raiden smiled softly and nuzzled into his neck, closing his eyes and mumbling"I love you too baby"He smiled, looking up when the carriage stopped

The carriage would go on as the cries of war became mostly cheers and yells of happiness. Most of the mages were gone. The citizens who lived under their command only stared at the carriage that had the women and the two boys inside. They weren't sure...if this was Glimmer or..... Someone else who won the war so.. the silence fell as soon as they entered the castle's grounds.

Adora put a hand on the base of Catra's tail, gently running her fingers through the fur. She was careful to hide that from the children, acting as if she was doing nothing wrong.

The feline was resting gently against her wife. She purred while feeling her tail getting her fingers' attention but didn't speak. She was so tired yet she tried to not show it to her or anyone but she looked at the woman and tried to crawl away when the carriage stopped "Let's go inside.." She was anxious since she didn't know what to expect. Catra stepped out of the carriage before Adora. The citizens were all around the carriage while the man who led the carriage tried to not allow them to approach. The people were cheering, trying to reach them even. They were so...glad that the queens were back. That they were alive too. Catra leaned more to her wife only to walk a little quicker inside the castle. The servants who were captured and taken so they would serve the mages were still around. Catra's older companion gasped in surprise as Catra smiled a little but grunted softly, placing a hand on her stomach "Ad...Adora..? Can you get me upstairs.... If our room is still the same... "

"It is... We left everything untouched, your majesty. What do you need?" The servant spoke.

Adora smiled softly, keeping her arms around her then to help her stand up, leading her into the castle. She looked around at all the servants then, smiling softly at all of them. Even though one would always be missing. Daniella was probably the only one Adora came close to. She was the only one who knew Catra so well and she knew that once Catra was again on her feet the hallways would remind her of the old elf.

When her wife asked her to bring her to her room she nodded quickly "We'll need herbs for her pain, catnip I believe. I can heal her until they get here otherwise I would just like a few to stay close in case we need anything else." She looked over at one of the servants and asked, "Could you guide my son and his boyfriend to their room?" She looked at her wife then, "Is the baby coming or is it just more contractions?"

"I... I don't know... My belly aches..." The woman hummed but soon she would groan heavily. Her hand touched her belly as the servants called the midwives to follow them up the stairs and helped her lay down once they were in their old bedroom. Her waters broke and her lips took several deep breaths.

Jack had never seen his mom like this before and he got worried, refusing to get escorted to his room "Mom. No, I can help... Why is mom in pain?" He asked quickly, following Adora.

The knight helped to hold her up, guiding her to the room. She knew it was better to let her walk, even if it hurt. "Jack, no. Go to your room. The baby is coming. I'll come to you when it's over, but you don't want to be here for this." She looked at him "Go be with your boyfriend. Catra will be fine

I promise"

!Writer notes!

Chapter by Gigi571

Heyy! Gigi here !

The new book is out! Go check it out ❤️

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!