Teaching is Easy - Learning is Hard

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/59771290.

Rating:
Not Rated

Archive Warning:
Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationships:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Bow (She-Ra), Entrapta (She-Ra), Perfuma (She-Ra), Castaspella (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Human Catra (She-Ra), Teachers, Principal Castaspella, Math Teacher Catra, History Teacher Adora, Skateboarder Catra, Science Teacher Bow, Science Teacher Entrapta, Glimmer teaches something, light and airy, Fluff, Adora is in Love with Catra (She-Ra), Catra is in Love with Adora (She-Ra), Soft Catra (She-Ra), First Meetings, no slow burn

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2024-10-15 Completed: 2024-11-03 Words: 23,968 Chapters: 7/7

Teaching is Easy - Learning is Hard

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/59771290.

Rating:
Not Rated

Archive Warning:
Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationships:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra), Adora & Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Bow (She-Ra), Entrapta (She-Ra), Perfuma (She-Ra), Castaspella (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Human Catra (She-Ra), Teachers, Principal Castaspella, Math Teacher Catra, History Teacher Adora, Skateboarder Catra, Science Teacher Bow, Science Teacher Entrapta, Glimmer teaches something, light and airy, Fluff, Adora is in Love with Catra (She-Ra), Catra is in Love with Adora (She-Ra), Soft Catra (She-Ra), First Meetings, no slow burn

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2024-10-15 Completed: 2024-11-03 Words: 23,968
Chapters: 7/7

Teaching is Easy - Learning is Hard

by masternoveller

Summary

Adora is finally joining Bow and Glimmer as the new history teacher at the high school in Bright Moon.
There she meets the new skateboarding math teacher who seems to have taken a liking to the blonde.
Will they hit it off or will Catra just spend as much time as she can annoying Glimmer?

Notes

Well... I guess I got sidetracked... so lucky for you readers...
As usual, I have every attention to finish my other fic... just bear with me.
I just wanted to write some fluff... happy fluff.

So... Enjoy.

As per usual the chapter count may change (most likely will)...

And at the end, if you wanna comment or chuck some kudos my way, I won't say no to that. 😉 😂

See the end of the work for more notes

Orientation Day

"Hey! Watch where you're going!" Glimmer shouts out as someone zooms past on a skateboard, no regard for pedestrians, despite it being a footpath. Glimmer seethes as she watches the skateboarder roll away faster as they descend the hill, "Asshole!"
"Are you okay, Glim?" Adora asks as she takes her spot next to her friend on the sidewalk, "Did they get you?"
"No, but it was bloody well close." Glimmer huffs, "I swear, that jerk is going to injure someone."
"Yeah, I guess." Adora half heartedly agrees, "I mean we were kinda taking up the entire footpath…"
"Adora!" Glimmer turns to her blonde friend in a huff, "Do not defend them."
"I'm not." Adora chuckles at how arced up her best friend is being, "Oh, we better hurry up. We're going to be late for our first day."
"Chill out, Adora." Glimmer rolls her eyes, "You'll be fine. Everyone is really nice. And the kids are actually really good too. You're going to be a great teacher."
Adora takes in a deep breath and nods, "Okay. I can do this."
"Yes, girl!" Glimmer wraps an arm around Adora and laughs, "I can't believe you're finally joining us!"
"Me too."

"Adora!" Bow runs towards the blonde, throwing his arms around her and pulling her in for a greeting hug once they walk through the campus gates, "I'm so excited!"
"Me too!" Adora laughs as they finally part, "Oh, you'll have to show me around, so I can get orientated."
"Sure." Bow says looking around, "We're just waiting for…" Bow looks around when the person on the skateboard walks up to them, a cap covering hair and a little of her face, dressed in a black tee over a long sleeve and a pair of loose cargo pants, skateboard tucked under one arm, "Uh, hello?"
"Yo. Where's the office at?"
"Over there." Bow points to the building behind them, "Who are you here to see?”

The skateboarder drops their board to the ground and steps on the tail, popping it up to lean against their leg, as they dig around in one of their pant pockets and pulsl out a piece of paper, “Principal… Castaspella?”
“Oh, yeah. She’s just right through there in the main building.” Bow looks at Adora and then smiles back at the newcomer, “Are you a new… student?”
The woman laughs out loud, “Wow. I didn’t know I still looked like I was still in high school…”
“Uh, aren’t you?” Adora looks at the woman holding the skateboard against her leg.
“Compliment definitely taken.” The woman laughs again, “No. I’m the new maths teacher.”
“Wait, seriously?” Adora blurts out, “You?!”
The woman just looks at her, “Yeah. Do I not look it?”
“Don’t answer that, Adora.” Bow gentle nudges his friend and then turns back to the woman, “Oh, in that case, I’m Bow and this is one of my best friends, Adora. And you are?”
“Catra.” The woman says eying Adora, “Let me guess…” She looks at Bow, “Science? And blondie is… gym?”
Adora snorts out a laugh, before quickly covering her face, “Stars… no I’m the new history teacher.”
Glimmer pops her head into the conversation, “You! You nearly ran me over on that thing!”
“Hello to you too, Sparkles.” Catra laughs, “Okay, good chat. I’ve got to meet Casta.”
“Hey! What the… Sparkles?” Glimmer pauses as she looks Catra up and down and then frowns, “I’m Glimmer, not Sparkles and you’re not seriously wearing that, are you?” Glimmer points at Catra’s attire, “Pretty sure that’s against regulations or something…”
“Huh? Didn’t think there was a dress code.” Catra looks down at herself before smirking back at Glimmer, “Nah, I got a change of clothes in my backpack. It’s just heaps comfier to skate in loose clothes.”
“Really, you have a change of clothes?” Glimmer says unbelievably while Adora says it like she’s trying not to think about Catra getting changed.

"Yes. Really." Catra confirms on both fronts despite Glimmer not addressing the comfort factor, before turning her head towards the building and jutting her thumb out behind her, "Anyways… good chat."
And with that, Catra walks away.
"Is she really a teacher here?" Adora asks staring long after Catra who has disappeared into the building.
Glimmer shrugs, "Well, anyways, come on." She grabs Adora by the elbow, "I'll introduce you to Principal Castapella!"

"Ah, Glimmer! It's so good to see you again! Did you get that sweater I knitted for you?" Principal Castaspella asks with a hopeful look in her eyes while waiting for an answer.
Glimmer cringes a little before answering, "Yes, I got it. Thank you."
Principal Castaspella claps her hands together happily, "Good! Did it fit alright?"
Glimmer nods, "Yes."
"I'm so happy." The taller woman beams at her, "I can't wait to see you all wearing them at our end of year family gathering!"
An awkward chuckle is all Glimmer can muster up as she pulls Adora forward, "Aunt Casta, this is Adora. The new history teacher."
"Oh, Adora!" Castaspella greets the blonde with an unexpected hug, "It's so good to finally meet you!"
"You too." Adora smiles back warmly, "I can't wait to get started."
"Yes. Of course." Castaspella agrees happily, "I can't believe we have 2 brand new teachers this year. It's unprecedented!"
Adora nods as she looks to Glimmer, "Uh, so, is there some sort of orientation or…?"
"Yes, right." The principal remembers as she turns back to her desk, "I know I had a second pack here somewhere…" She starts to rifle through her desk for said pack, before standing back and scratching her head, "That's odd… I know I had two packs… unless…"
"Unless?" Glimmer asks as she stands next to her aunt and looks down at her now messy desk.

"I must have accidentally given both packs to the new math teacher, Catra." Castaspella lifts up some more papers in hopes that the second pack will somehow show itself before sighing, "Glimmer?"
"Yes?"
"Are you able to go out and find Catra and get the second pack back from her?" The principal asks, "Maybe even show her and Adora the ropes?"
"Do I have to?" Glimmer whines, "I haven't even got my things together yet for the first day."
"School doesn't start until Wednesday." Casta reminds her niece, "I would… but I'm way behind and I still need to set up Catra and Adora with their logins and such for their emails and whatnots."
"Ugh, fine." Glimmer reluctantly agrees, "But we are sitting down to negotiate my pay this year."
"Of course, of course." Casta nods, "Don't think I've forgotten." The tall woman returns a smile, "Now that I've secured more funding, I think everyone on the roster will be getting a nice little bonus."
"Great!" Glimmer grins back widely, "Okay, come on, Adora!"
"Uh, it was nice to meet you." Adora manages to say before she's promptly dragged out by Glimmer, "So… where do you think we should start looking for Catra?"
"We'll start in the staff room, I guess." Glimmer replies and then they make their way towards it.

Pushing open the door to the staff room, Glimmer looks around the semi busy space and frowns, "Where is she?"
Adora narrows her eyes, not recognising most of the people in the room as she crosses over to where Bow stands happily chatting to another teacher, "Hey." The blonde greets, "Wow, this place is busy."
"Oh, hi Adora!" Bow beams at her, "Meet our other science teacher, Entrapta!"
"Hello!" Entrapta waves with a wide grin as Adora's eye widen at seeing the woman's purple hair moving around on its own, "You must be the new history teacher!”

Adora laughs, “Yes, that’s me.”
“That’s great!” Entrapta grins pulling out an electronic device, “I’ve been tracking you and I must say that it’s taken a little longer for you to get here than I expected.”
“Uh…”
“Entrapta?” Bow interrupts with an awkward laugh, “Have you met the other new teacher, yet?”
“No! Where is she?” Entrapta jumps up to her feet to looks around for a new face before spotting one, “Oh, there she is!”
Adora turns her head to where Entrapta is looking and doesn’t seem to spot her, “I don’t see her…”
“You’ve met her already?” Entrapta questions as she turns her head and looks Adora up and down before grinning.
“…yes?” Adora replies a little unsurely.
“Then how come you can’t seem to see her?” Entrapta tilts her head, “She is literally right there.”
“Where? I don’t… oh…” Adora’s jaw drops as she sees the brunette standing not too far away and seemingly engaged in conversation with a slender looking blonde woman with flowers in her hair.
“Huh, I guess she did have a change of clothes after all.” Bow says, bumping into Adora’s shoulder as he gets a better look at the brunette now dressed in black slacks, a red buttoned down shirt and checkered suspenders, her hair even slicked back as she stands casually with her hands in her pockets speaking to another staff member, “She really does clean up well, doesn’t she?”
Adora nods dumbly before shaking her head and then yelping a little when she realises how close Entrapta’s face is to hers, “Uh, what?”
“Sorry!” Entrapta quickly apologises, “I’ve been told I have no sense of personal space.”
“Uh…”
“It’s fine.” The quirky woman grins, “I see that you seem to be enamoured with Catra.”
“What? No.” Adora quickly deflects, “I was just… surprised.”
“Lying to a coworker already…” Entrapta says under her breath and Adora can see she’s speaking into her device, possibly a recording device, “Anyways, I see our catering has just arrived!”

“Catering?” Adora says as Bow pulls her towards Glimmer.
“Glimmer!” Bow grins at the sparkly woman, “Catering? I guess Casta is really going all out this year.”
“Well, she’s finally secured funding now that they’ve gotten rid of all the dead wood in the former committee and boards.” Glimmer shrugs as she plucks an hors d’oeuvres off a passing plate, “Mm… so good.” She looks at her friends, and swallows down her mouthful, “Have you seen Catra?”
“She’s over there.” Bow points towards the brunette.
“Where?”
“Over there.” Bow turns Glimmer so she’s directly facing her, “See.”
“No way!” Glimmer’s eyes go wide, “That’s bullshit!”
“Language!” Bow scolds his friend, “Besides, what’s the problem? She did say she had a change of clothes.”
“Whatever.” Glimmer pushes through towards Catra, Adora and Bow following closely in case the sparkly woman decides to start something out of nothing, “Hey!”
Catra turns her head and smirks at Glimmer, quickly saying something to the blonde she was talking to before giving Glimmer her full attention, “Oh, what’s up Sparkles?”
“How did you…? When did you?” Glimmer starts to sputter out half sentences before frowning down, “Where’s the second orientation pack?”
“Oh, this?” Catra picks up the pack and holds it out to Glimmer, “Yeah, I figured our dear principal messed up and gave me blondie’s by accident. Speaking of blondie…” Catra quirks an eyebrow at Adora, “Hey Adora.”
Adora’s face flushes red instantly as she smiles back giddily, before tyring to school herself, “Uh, hi Catra. You look… nice.”
“Just nice?” Catra pouts playfully as she smirks once again, “Well, you look… nice too.”
Adora looks down at herself and blushes, she’s really not wearing anything special, a grey pair of slacks and a white long sleeve shirt covered with her very well worn and loved red jacket, “Oh, it’s nothing.”
Catra just grins back, “If you say so.” She holds out the orientation pack to the blonde, “I guess I’ll see you around.”

“Hey! Where are you going?” Adora blurts out after taking the pack and Catra starts to turn around to walk away, “Glimmer is going to show us around… apparently.”
“Really?” Catra asks looking at Glimmer stuffing her face, “Do we really need a chaperone to show us around?”
“Kinda?”
A wicked grin appears on Catra’s face as she holds out her hand, “How about we go exploring on our own, princess? It’d be an adventure.”
Adora looks down at Catra’s open hand and finds herself putting her hand in hers, lacing their fingers together before her mind has willed it to, the blush deepens on her face as she nods and manages to squeak out, “Lead the way, skatercat.”
Catra just grins back at the nickname before tugging Adora out of the staff room and back onto the school grounds.

“Do you know where you’re going?” Adora asks as Catra playfully swings their joined hands up and down in the air.
“Not really.” Catra admits with the same grin on her face, “But it’s not exactly rocket science.”
“Are you sure we are even supposed to be wandering around without a guide?” Adora looks around like they might get caught doing something wrong, “Also, aren’t most of these rooms locked?”
“Probably.” Catra shrugs as she pushes on a door to another building and of course, it is locked, “Hm…”
“What?” Adora tries to open the doors only to find them locked, “Oh, I guess that’s out of the question.”
Catra chuckles, “No, why would it be?”
“Because it’s locked.” Adora replies like it’s a question.
“So?”
“Catra!” Adora chastises, “We are not breaking and entering on the first day.”
“It’s not really breaking and entering if we are supposed to be here.” Catra replies letting go of Adora’s hand and pulling out something from her pant pocket, “Cover me.”

“Wait, what?!” Adora says in shock as Catra crouches down to be eye level with the lock.
“Cover me, princess.” Catra’s voice laced with amusement as she sees Adora quickly turn around and keep an eye out from her peripheral vision, “Almost there…”

CLICK

“Got it.” Catra whisper-shouts triumphantly as she stands up with her arms raised in the air as Adora shakes her head with a small smile, the brunette grabs the door handle and pulls it open, gesturing for Adora to enter with a comical bow, “After you m’lady.”
Adora laughs at the gesture, “You are ridiculous.”
“I am.” Catra agrees with a laugh of her own before they’re interrupted by someone clearing their throat, Catra looks over her shoulder, “Dang it. We’ve been caught.”
Adora stills as she looks to who has come along and then her eyes widen, “Oh, principal Castaspella… what are you doing here?”
“I should ask you the same question.” The tall woman crosses her arms over her chest as she stares down the two young women in front of her, “Where is Glimmer? I thought she was going to show you around.”
Adora’s about to start apologising when Catra steps out in front, “Glimmer’s enjoying the party in the staff room.”
“And why are you two not there?” Castaspella raises and eyebrow at the brunette who just smiles and shrugs back.
“I thought it’d be better to do our own reconnaissance.” Catra says, shoving her hands into her pockets, “Statically speaking, if you find your way around yourself, you’re more likely to remember where you’re going in the long run.”
Castaspella narrows her eyes at Catra for a moment, the brunette keeping her demeanour nonchalant, before the principal’s mood does a complete 180, clapping her hands together and smiling widely back at the pair, “Oh, I did not know that!”
Catra just smiles back as Adora just nods, pretending to agree as the brunette turns and winks at the blonde before turning her attention back to Castaspella, “Do you think we can get some keys? You know, to get our bearings and all?”

“Of course.” Castaspella smiles patting herself down before realising she definitely isn’t carrying any spare sets, “I’ve got your sets of keys in my office. Oh, we also need to get your staff ID photos done too before the school year starts.”
“Sure.” Catra shrugs, “Guess we better find the main reception area to get those photos taken. Will there be someone there to take our photos?”
“I’m sure we’ll find someone. Maybe I’ll ask Bow…” That seems to make the principal smile even wider as she smiles at Catra, “You’ve already read the pack!”
“Yeah.” Catra nods, “It was very informative.”
“I knew it would be quite helpful for new staff members like yourselves.” The taller woman preens, “Okay, well, come with me and we can find Bow and get those photos taken for your ID cards and then you can sign out the keys.”
Castaspella turns around with a spring in her step as Catra looks to Adora with a grin, “Come on, princess.” The brunette whispers holding out her hand again.
This time Adora hesitates as Catra’s confidence wains a little before she takes Catra’s hand and squeezes it, “Yeah. Let’s go.” Catra grins widely as she starts to swing their joined hands again.

Tailgating

Chapter Summary

Mermista and Sea Hawk make an appearance.

Chapter Notes

So... I found some motivation and chapter 2 was written very quickly...
Enjoy!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

"Hey Adora." Catra greets the blonde as they meet up for lunch now that the students are back, "How's it going?"
"Really good." Adora smiles as they find a seat in the staff room to eat their lunch, "What about you?"
"Eh, kids are fine." Catra shrugs nonchalantly, "The curriculum could use a bit of shake up in my opinion. I'll have to talk with Casta at some point as it seems like the kids seem bored with the material already."
Adora's jaw drops upon hearing that, "Are you serious? It's literally the second week. How can they be bored already?"
Catra shrugs again as she bites into her sandwich which looks awfully plain and chews.
"Are you sure you're not bored with the material?" Adora prods, poking Catra playfully on the shoulder, making Catra bat her hand away with an annoyed yet amused look, the blonde sighs, "Honestly, math wasn't my best subject…"
"Oh yeah?" Catra says after swallowing her mouthful before peeling the bread apart in her sandwich and then pressing it back together before taking another bite, "Numbers don't do it for you, huh?"
Adora shakes her head with a small blush at the innuendo as Catra just grins back knowingly, "No, not really. I think I prefer history. More of 'word' person." Catra quirks an eyebrow back at her, "I meant that in… like… non-social situations…"

“Uh huh.” Catra nods with another grin, “Totally agree.”
“Hey!” Adora laughs as she shoves Catra before looking down at the brunette’s lunch, “Is there anything in that sandwich of yours? Or are you just having two slices of bread pressed together?”
“Does butter count?” Catra replies showing Adora the middle, “Haven’t got paid yet.”
“Oh.” Adora’s taken aback, “Do you want some of mine?”
“Yours?”
“My lunch?” Adora points to her lunch of a chicken pasta salad, “I don’t mind.”
“Hm…” Catra thinks about it before looking at her lunch again, “Maybe next time.”
“Okay.” Adora says with a soft smile, “I’ll hold you to it.”
Catra rolls her eyes at the blonde who is now eating with a smug smile on her lips as Catra nudges her with her shoulder, “So…”
“Hm?” Adora looks at Catra in question.
“Got plans for the weekend?” Catra asks drumming her fingers on the table and actively looking away.
“Mm… not really.” Adora replies obliviously, “I think Glimmer and Bow were planning to hit up that farmer’s market on Saturday morning. But otherwise, probably just house stuff. Why?”
“Uh… I’ve got this… competition…” Catra rubs the back of her neck, still avoiding Adora’s eyes, “It’s on Saturday morning… but if you’ve already got plans…”
“Catra.” Adora puts her hand over the brunettes, “Are you asking me to come watch you compete?”
Catra nods, “But it’s fine. You’ve already got plans…”
Adora snorts out a laugh, “You’re such an idiot.”
Catra frowns back at the blonde, “Excuse me?”
“Just ask me out already.” Adora rolls her eyes before suddenly realising what she’s just said and starts to backtrack, “Uh… I mean, well, you know. You could if you wanted to… ask me out, that is.”
Catra’s face morphs into one of amusement as her confidence perks back up again, “Do you want to come see me complete in the vert comp this Saturday?”
“Sure. What time?” Adora smiles widely back.
“Comp starts at 11am.” Catra replies and then looks around hesitantly again, “Could I… uh, grab your number?”

“You’ve got my email.” Adora teases.
“Work email.” Catra corrects.
“You know my email signature has my number on it.” Adora says with a lilt of amusement on her face.
“Work number.”
“Why do you want my number, hm?” Adora pretends to think as Catra huffs out.
“Why do you think, princess?” Catra replies a little gruffly, “So I can prank call you in the middle of the night when I can’t sleep.”
Adora laughs at that explanation, “Catra!” she whines out still laughing, “Give me your number first.”
“What? No. This isn’t how that works.” Catra pulls the pen out of her shirt pocket and holds it out to Adora and then rolls up her sleeve, “I prefer the old fashion way. Here.”
Adora tilts her head at Catra who is holding out the pen and her forearm turned over with a smirk on her face as the blonde rolls her eyes as she gingerly takes the pen, “This is ridiculous.”
“Yes. It is.” Catra agrees readily, “But it also means I get to show it off to everyone who asks me about it.”
“But what if it rubs off?” Adora asks, a slight bit of concern in her voice.
“Are you worried I won’t make good on getting your number?” Catra teases back.
“No. Of course not.” Adora feigns, “Come here.”
Catra grins wider as Adora grabs her arm and starts to write her digits onto it in red marker pen, the brunette looks down at it once Adora is finished and recaps the pen, she blows on it to help it dry faster and then rolls her sleeve back down, “Thank you.”
“You’re welcome.” Adora holds the pen back out to Catra with a small blush, “I expect a text after school.”
“Perhaps.” Catra replies as she shoves the rest of her lunch into her mouth before muffling out, “I have to get to my next class.”
Adora shakes her head with a smile on her face, “Have fun.”
Catra waves over her shoulder as she high-tails it out of the staff room nearly colliding with Glimmer, “Sparkles.”
“Catra.” Glimmer greets back as she takes Catra’s spot next to Adora, “Where is she off to in such a hurry?”

“Her next class, apparently.” Adora replies as she continues to eat her lunch, “Hey, I might have to give this weekend’s market meet a miss.”
“Oh, but why?” Glimmer whines, “Perfuma is opening up her stall this weekend and it would be good if you could come support her.”
Adora finishes chewing and frowns a little, “What time does the market open? I can help her set up in the morning if she needs an extra pair of hands.”
“Market opens at 6am.” Glimmer says as she gets up and walks over to the fridge to get her lunch before putting it into the microwave to heat up, leaning against the bench as she taps her spoon against her nose, “You can ask her if she needs help.”
The blonde nods back, “I’ll ask her when I see her next. But I can’t stay too long.”
“Why’s that?” Glimmer continues to tap the spoon against her nose, “Bow and I weren’t planning to get there until at least 9am.”
“Catra invited me to watch her compete on Saturday morning is all.” Adora tries to say casually as Glimmer’s eyes widen and then she grins, “Don’t you dare say anything.”
“I wasn’t.” Glimmer lies, turning back around to watch her food in the microwave, humming annoyingly to herself.
“Ugh.” Adora slumps down and groans, “Just say it.”
“We’re just worried about you.” Glimmer sighs as the microwave dings, “Are you sure about this?”
“What’s wrong with her?” Adora asks with a sigh.
“She practically broke into the school the first day you two were here.” Glimmer replies, “She’s practically a criminal and she’s going to get you into trouble too.”
“She is not a criminal.” Adora rolls her eyes, “And it’s not like we were going to do anything except look around the school since you were too busy stuffing your face.”
Glimmer laughs at that, “Okay, okay. I know, I stuffed up. I was supposed to show you guys around.”
“Yes. You were.” Adora agrees, “Anyways, I gave her my number today.”
“You did not.” Glimmer raises her eyebrows at her as Adora just quirks one, “Stars… you did.”

“I did.” Adora smiles widely, “She said she’d text me after school finishes.”
“Uh huh.” Glimmer stirs her food, “But we’re still meeting up at the markets on Saturday?”
“Sure.” Adora replies, “I just need to meet Catra at 11am.”
“Okay.” Glimmer sits back down next to Adora, “Can we come and watch her too?”
“Uh… I don’t know.” Adora says, “I guess I can ask her.”
“Cool. Just let us know where and when.” Glimmer starts to dig into her lunch as Adora nods.
“I’ll ask her when she texts me.” Adora says, “But… no guarantees. Also, please don’t crash whatever this is I have with Catra.”
“Wouldn’t dream of it.” Glimmer grins innocently.
And Adora definitely doesn’t believe it.

Adora’s walking to her car when her phone rings with an unknown number, “Hello?”
“Hey Adora.” A familiar raspy voice returns, “I was going to text you, but I kind of wanted to hear your voice.”
Adora feels herself flush, “Uh, okay.”
Catra laughs softly in the background, “Are you walking to your car?”
“Yeah, I’m in the parking lot. Why?” Adora looks around to see if Catra is around, “Where are you?”
“Where do you live, princess?” Catra asks in lieu of answering any of Adora’s questions.
“Uh… why?” Adora frowns down at her keys.
“You don’t need to tell me your full address, just what suburb.” Catra says feeling the uneasiness in Adora’s voice, “I’m not stalking you if that’s what you’re thinking.”
“I wasn’t… okay, maybe I was a little.” Adora admits sheepishly, “Do you want a lift?”
“No.”
“Then…?”
“I’m at the corner and I really don’t want to push up this hill on my board.” Catra says like it’s a normal thing to say, “So… not really after a lift… per se…”

“What are you asking me. Skatercat?” Adora raises her eyebrow despite Catra not being able to see it.
“I want to tailgate you.”
“What does that mean?”
“It means I want to grab the back of your car so you can pull me up the hill.” Catra explains plainly.
“Isn’t that… illegal?” Adora unlocks the door to her car and gets in, “I don’t want to get in trouble…”
“You’re only in trouble if you get caught.”
“That’s completely irresponsible.” Adora frowns down as she starts her car up, “I will take no part in this. And think of what the kids from school will think when they see us… doing something like that…”
“Hm…” Catra says with a hum.
“Hold on, I’m just starting my car up.” Adora tells her as the line goes quiet for a moment as the car starts up and she’s finally back on, “I’m back. Can you hear me?”
“Yeah, I can hear you, princess.” Catra replies, “So… are you coming?”
“Just… stay where you are.” Adora sighs, “I’m on my way.”

Adora spots Catra on the corner, back in her skating clothes and rolling around on the board as she chats with a few other people on skateboards. Adora pulls up just as Catra decides to kickflip over someone’s backpack on the ground, the brunette landing the trick before stacking it over on a stray rock and flying off her board, landing in a roll and then laying on her back.
“Catra!” Adora quickly jumps out of her car, running over to check on the brunette, crouching down to check on her, “Are you okay?!”
“Yeah.” Catra sits up with a sheepish look on her face and she rubs the back of her head, “Damn rock…”
“You could have been really hurt!” Adora chastises, “Why aren’t you wearing a helmet?”
“Uh… helmet hair?” Catra tries to brush it off with another sheepish grin before Adora helps her up to her feet, “Look, I can’t afford one. So, I didn’t get one.”

“Oh.” Adora says as one of the people rushes up to them.
“Wildcat! Are you okay?!” The man that looks like a pirate says as he holds out her skateboard, “I thought you were going to bail at the end of that…”
“I’m good, Sea Hawk.” Catra nods to him before accepting her board back from him, “Thanks.” She looks between him and Adora, “Adora, this is Sea Hawk and over there is Mermista.”
Mermista gives a bored wave to her as Sea Hawk grins widely, “Guys, this is Adora. My… coworker.”
“Oh, so this is princess.” Mermista drawls as she gets up from where she’s sitting down and pops her own board up to carry as she comes over to meet the blonde, looking Adora up and down and then smirks back to Catra who rolls her eyes, “Hm… not bad, Wildcat.”
“Shut up.” Catra grumbles as Mermista chuckles lightly at Catra’s secret getting out to Adora.
“It is very nice to meet you, Adora.” Sea Hawk steps between them and holds his hand out for a handshake that Adora happily accepts, “Are you also a teacher?”
“Yes.” Adora replies letting go of Sea Hawks hand, “I teach history. What about you guys?”
“Nah. Teaching is definitely not for me.” Mermista looks at her nails, “I’m waiting for the season to start up again.”
“What season?” Adora asks.
“Mermista is a professional surfer.” Catra answers, “She’s on the pro tour.”
“I know, I’m amazing. Don’t make a big deal out of it.” Mermista tries to hide her preening behind her face of boredom, “I’m supposed to be training, but I really can’t be bothered. I’m good already.”
Catra laughs at how laid back her friend is as Mermista glares back at her, the brunette turning to Adora, “She’s really good. Even if she doesn’t really train much. Or at all…”
“What can I say? I’m a natural.” Mermista does preen this time.
“And are you a teacher, Sea Hawk?” Adora asks him.
“No. Although, I think I would be a great teacher!” Sea Hawk proudly declares, “But alas, no. My destiny is in captaining ships.”
“He runs a cruise ship business.” Catra elaborates, “Have you heard of Sea Worthy Cruises?" Adora nods, "Yeah, that's his business. He doesn't even need to work anymore. Not that his crew want him to work anymore…"

"My crew love me." Sea Hawk pouts, "They send me constant updates!"
"They love that you're not there to set the ships on fire and thus their livelihoods." Mermista adds, "You're lucky anyone still insures you."
"Only as long as he doesn't go anywhere near those ships." Catra says, "Liability apparently."
"Ha!" Sea Hawk laughs loudly, "Which is why I have my own boats."
"Uh huh…" Adora looks at Catra concerned, "Uh… do you want a lift home, Catra?"
"Nah." Adora deflates a little, "But I could use a lift up that hill, though."
Adora looks up and sees the hill, "You don't skate up that hill, do you?"
Catra laughs, "No, Adora. I walk up it. I don't think it's safe to try to push up that hill."
"Okay. Come on." Adora holds her hand out this time, "I'll give you a lift up that hill."
"I can just tailgate…" Catra starts to say as Adora turns on her heel and glares at her, "Or not." She turns to her friends, "I'll see you guys later."
"Until we meet again!" Sea Hawk shouts out as Mermista just waves her goodbye.
"Get in the car, skatercat." Adora orders as Catra's friends snicker, the brunette giving them the finger as she follows the blonde diligently to the car, throwing her backpack in the backseat and placing her skateboard on floor under it, "Buckle up."
Catra does and then sits in the passenger seat, trying not to fidget with the threads on the hole in her cargo pants from the fall, "So… what did you think of my stack?"
"I think you're crazy." Adora replies, "Also what exactly is a vert comp?"
"It's skateboarding on the big vertical ramps. Think… Tony Hawk." Catra replies and Adora just stares at her a little blankly, "Okay…

that's cool. It's just skateboarding on a really big ramp."
"Huh." Adora says as she starts up her car, "And… will you be wearing any protective gear while you compete?"
"Yeah, they kind of force you to. Can't compete without it." Catra says as she stares out the front.
"Do you have any? Protection?" Adora asks as Catra turns to her with a feral grin and the blonde's eyes widen at what she just said, "Stars… get your head out of the gutter!"
Catra laughs out loud, "In answer to your question, no. I don't have much gear of my own." The admission has the brunette grimacing a little, "I usually just borrow whatever they have on hand. I've got knee and elbow pads but after I stacked it bad last tournament… I haven't got a new helmet yet."
"Oh." Adora nods, "Uh… are you sure I can't drop you off at home?"
"Yeah, it's fine, Adora." Catra nods, "Just the top of the hill is fine. I can make my own way back from there."
"Are you sure? It's no trouble." Adora tries again.
Catra smiles back, "I'm sure. I've got another shift to get to."
"You've got a second job?"
"Yeah." Catra chuckles, "Why is that such a surprise? We don't make a lot of money in this business."
"I know, but still…" Adora frowns as they start to get to the top of the hill, "What about dinner or sleep?"
"Geez, princess." Catra starts to tease, "If you want me to take you out to dinner and then get you in the sack, you could just ask me."
"What…? Catra!" Adora groans, her face feeling hot from Catra's tease before the blonde turns to the brunette, "Also I'm not going to just sleep with you just because you buy me dinner."
"Don't worry, Adora." Catra grins, "Dinner would be the start."
Adora smiles back, "Can I ask you something?"
"Shoot."
"Can Bow and Glimmer come to the competition too? To spectate?" Adora clarifies, "If that's okay… if you're okay with it."
Catra mulls it over as Adora gets to the top of the hill and pulls off to the side, putting the car in park as Catra finally answers, "Yeah, that's fine. They can come watch me skate, I guess."

Adora breathes out in relief, "Great. And I promise I'll try not to have them embarrass you."
This time Catra actually laughs as Adora just grins before the brunette says, "I thought you were going to ask me if Saturday was going to be a date or not."
"Oh." Adora's face turns to shock as she taps her fingers on her steering wheel, "Yeah, I…"
"I sort of wanted it to be a date-ish… Can it be a date?" Catra asks, "Or should I ask you out again in a much more formal way?"
Adora pretends to think again, "How about you ask me out again when you win the competition?"
"Wow, you just watched me stack it and now you think I'm going to win a competition?" Catra asks amused and bemused at the same time, "You really don't want to go out with me, do you?"
The little grin on Catra's face has Adora chuckling, "Okay, fine. After the competition, win or lose, ask me out again."
"That I can do." Catra agrees, "Okay, well, this is my stop." She pats Adora on the hand, "Thanks for the ride. I'll see you tomorrow."
Adora grabs Catra's hand and squeezes it, leaning in a little as she says, "You don't actually have to wait until after the competition to ask me out… I'd still say yes if you asked me before then…"
Catra just grins again, squeezing Adora's hand back, "Sure. Drive safe, princess. See you tomorrow at school."
Adora reluctantly lets go of Catra's hand as the other woman gets out of the car and opens the back door, pulling out her backpack and skateboard, the blonde just smiles at her, "Don't work too late."
Catra doesn't reply to that, shutting the door and tapping the top, "Get home safe, Adora."
"You too. Text me when you get home. Or call me. Whichever…"
Adora eyes her and Catra nods before walking across the road, waving back at the blonde before disappearing around another corner,

The next day…

“Catra!” Adora shouts out as she sees Catra holding onto the spoiler of her car as she goes down the hill, slowing down before coming to a complete stop as Catra rolls her eyes at the blonde who huffs at her, “What are you doing?!”
“Tailgating.”
“Get in the car!” Adora grunts out as Catra rolls so she’s at Adora’s window, “Catra! That’s so dangerous! What if you got hit by a car or run over?!”
Catra turns away guiltily, “Sorry, Adora. I didn’t mean to scare you.”
Adora’s anger fades at seeing Catra’s clear guilt, “Do you want a ride?”
“Uh…” Catra thinks about it.
“Get in the car, Catra.” Adora repeats this time a lot softer, “Please.”
Catra nods this time and rounds the car to get into the passenger seat, “It’s not too far to skate from here. I usually take a few short cuts…”
“Yeah, well, enjoy being chauffeured this morning.” Adora says as she puts her car back in drive and gets back on their way, “Oh, I have something for you.”
“Oh yeah?”
“It’s in my boot.” Adora says, “So don’t rush out straight away when we get to work.”
“I wasn’t going to rush out.” Catra denies with a grin like she was totally planning to run off as soon as they got to work, “What is it?”
“A surprise.” Adora replies with a smirk, “Now, stop asking about that and tell me about what you do at night. Job-wise.” The blonde adds just in case Catra has other… ideas.
“I’ll tell you about it on our date.” Catra replies, returning the smirk, “What about you? What do you do at night? Anyone I know?”
“Catra!” Adora groans as the brunette laughs, “There is no one I’m doing, for your information. Also, I went to game night at Glimmer and Bow’s last night.”
“Game night?”
“Like board games and stuff.” Adora elaborates, “It’s fun. You should join us sometime."

"I don't think Sparkles likes me much." Catra says flatly, "Besides my kind of game night is more DnD."
"Oh, Bow is totally is into that! And so is Entratpa!" Adora happily provides.
"They do seem like nerds." Catra quips.
"And what does that make you?" Adora teases.
"Cool." Catra replies.
"Uh huh." Adora doesn't believe that one bit, "You're just so cool."
Catra laughs and shoves Adora lightly, "Shut up, princess."
They laugh all the way to work.

Adora parks up and Catra is about to rush out when the blonde grabs Catra's wrist, "Hey! Did you forget something?"
"Huh?" Catra frowns down, "Don't think so… I've got my board, backpack, wallet, phone…"
"My surprise?" Adora prods at Catra to remember their conversation at the start of the car ride, "Or did you forget?"
"Oh, right." Catra grimaces, "Boot, yeah?"
"Yes."
"Not… booty?"
"Stars… Catra!" Adora laughs, "Keep it in your pants, we're supposed to be role models."
"Nothing wrong with letting them know how the world works." Catra shrugs as she waits for Adora to pop her boot, "What kind of surprise have you got for me… woah… are you serious?"
Adora grins, holding out the brand new black helmet for Catra, "I hope this is okay…"
"Adora…" Catra gently takes it from the blonde, looking it over in her hands, "This is… woah… thank you!"
Adora breathes out in relief, "Thank the stars… I wasn't sure if…" and then she yelps when Catra pulls her in close, resting her forehead on Adora's, "Uh… um… so you like it?"
"I fucking love it, princess." Catra grins as she sees Adora smile back at her.

Chapter End Notes

I love Mermista being a pro surfer - and it was so easy to write it in as that.

Thanks for reading, kudos and commenting!
And yes, I've started writing the last chapter of Bounty... but got side tracked by this fic... what can I say?
I'm distracted by shiny objects... 😂😉

Evacuation!

Chapter Summary

The school gets evacuated due to a science experiment...

Chapter Notes

quick update because this is new and shiny...
enjoy!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

"This is crazy." Adora sighs as she stands at the evacuation area with all the students in her class which so happens to be right next to Catra and her math students for that period, "It's the third time this week we've had to evacuate due to a science experiment gone pear shaped."
Catra laughs at Adora pouting whine, "I reckon it's cool."
"Of course you would." Adora rolls her eyes as the students in her class all chat loudly behind her, some bored and sitting on the grass as they wait to see what happens next, "What did you tell your class this time?"
"What ever do you mean, Ms Grey?" Catra innocently asks with a sly grin on her face as Adora just quirks an eyebrow up at her, the brunette chuckling, "I just told them Traps, I mean, Dr Dryll was in the middle or reanimating a student that fell asleep. I believe I used the words… shock therapy."
"You did not!" Adora whisper shouts out, doing her best to remain professional in front of the students.
"Of course I did." Catra replies with a shrug, "They don't believe me anyway, not after I let them believe that Dr Dryll had a Jekyll and Hyde personality. And that Bow was the Dr Jykell as he's always so cheerful."
"Entratpa is cheerful too." Adora protests a little, "I mean, maybe a little too enthusiastic, but she's no Jekyll."
Catra laughs, "Maybe I got it mixed up. She is a mad scientist after all."

Adora laughs under her breath as she shakes her head in amusement, "I don't think you can call her mad."
"Okay, not mad. Crazy. Loopy. Off her rocker." Catra happily provides as Adora groans out loud before quickly schooling herself when a few kids look up, Catra just laughs freely, "I have no idea if she actually teaches…"
"What do you mean?"
"Her classes aren't the type where you get a grade for it." Catra says, "It's more like… I don't know… science for fun. But from what I've heard from her, her classes are all practical with no tests or exams, well unless…"
"Unless what?"
"Unless you count experimenting and causing explosions a type of grading system." Catra replies before she chuckles to herself, "Maybe the bigger the boom, the better the grade?"
"Stars… I hope not." Adora breathes out, "I'm going to have a heart attack for real if she keeps doing that."
"I'll have a chat to her, maybe get her to tone it down to some noxious gases or something." Catra grins mischievously.
"Somehow that seems worse." Adora shakes her head, but there's a small smile on her lips.
"Hey! Adora! Catra!" Glimmer pops up in front of the pair suddenly, "Didn't you guys hear? We can all go home since it's pretty much last period and end of the day."
"Nah, Sparkles. Didn't hear a thing." Catra says as she turns to the kids in her class, "Okay, home time! Get out of here!"
The kids all cheers as they gather their things and rush off and out of the school grounds as Adora looks for her students and realises that they've gone too, "Hey!" She slaps Catra on the shoulder, "It was totally my turn this time to dismiss them."
"You snooze, you lose, princess." Catra laughs again as Adora pouts, making the brunette feel just a little guilty, she turns her attention back to Glimmer, "So, Sparkles. Got plans for the weekend?"
"Yes." Glimmer replies sharply as Catra waits for her to elaborate, the sparkly woman grins ferally, "Watching you compete on that skateboard apparently."
"Look forward to it." Catra doesn't take the bait, "Maybe you guys could find another 2 people so you can wear letters on your shirts and spell out my name."

"Don't tempt me, Catra." Glimmer seriously thinks about it before she smirks, "I can definitely find 2 more people to fill the R and A part of your name."
"Great. There'll be a section just for you." Catra returns with a mirroring look on her face, "Maybe out in the car park."
Adora looks between the pair, not sure if they actually are bickering or playing around as she swallows loud enough for the pair to focus their attention back on her, "Uh, I'm helping Perfuma on Saturday morning set up her stall at the markets."
Catra just smiles back at Adora while Glimmer rolls her eyes at her friend.
Adora clears her throat and addresses the both of them, "She can always use a couple of extra hands if you want to help too."
"And what time would that be, Adora?" Glimmer asks knowingly.
"6am." Adora replies sheepishly, "I mean, come on, it's not really that early… the sun's already up and all."
"No thanks. Pass." Glimmer quickly dismisses that notion, "Bow and I are doing date night tonight, I plan on getting messy drunk and then… well…" she grins and that's all Adora knows what her friend is planning to get up to before she blurts out, "Going to get lucky tonight!"
"Good for you, Sparkles." Catra pats Glimmer on the shoulder, "You look like you need it."
"Hey!" Glimmer slaps Catra's hand off her shoulder, "At least I'm getting some."
"Who says I'm not?" Catra returns and that makes Adora's head turn to her so suddenly it nearly gives the blonde whiplash, the brunette clears her throat, "Anyway… count me out for 6am. I'm working tonight."
"Uh huh." Glimmer raises her eyebrow at the brunette, "What side hustle have you got? Is it even legal?"
"Wouldn't you like to know." Catra taunts before stretching out her arms over her head, her shirt coming untucked in the process as Adora tries to draw her gaze away from staring at the glimpse of Catra's stomach, "Well, since school's out. I'm going to get changed and then head off. See you tomorrow?" She says to Adora, ignoring Glimmer intentionally.

Glimmer waves at Catra, "See you tomorrow, Cat." Before her phone rings, "Oh crap! I'm supposed to meet my mom after school. I'll see you guys tomorrow! Bye!"
"Bye Glim." Adora gets a quick hug in before her best friend takes off, she looks back to Catra, "What do you do for work?"
"Patience, princess." Catra scolds lightly and with a slight grin on her face, "I told you I would let you know on our first proper date."
"Ugh, fine." Adora groans before looking around at the partially empty grounds, "Wow, everyone's left already…"
"Yeah, it's Friday. Makes sense." Catra replies, "Want me to walk you to your car?"
"Aren't you going to get changed first?"
Catra looks down at herself, "Oh, yeah." She turns around to head back to her classroom but pauses in place, holding her hand out behind her in silent invitation for Adora to take, "Are you coming?"
Adora takes Catra's hand with a smile and a shake of her head in amusement, "I'm not going to watch you get changed."
"No. That's not on the cards… yet." Catra smirks as she turns to look at Adora who just blushes back, "I'm sure you left your stuff in your classroom too. Right?"
"Well, yeah." Adora remembers, "Not exactly supposed to grab personal items that you don't already have on you in an emergency."
"True." Catra agrees as Adora catches up to her, now walking side by side as Catra swings their joined hands, "I gotta go grab my bag, board and helmet."
The admission has Adora's interest peaked, "How are you finding it? The helmet, I mean."
"It's really good." Catra replies wholeheartedly, "I can't believe you just gave that to me. That's super crazy, Adora. I have to totally make it up to you on our date when I finally get to ask you tomorrow afternoon."
Adora smiles widely back, "Okay."

“Thanks for the lift up the hill again, princess.” Catra says as she leans in and presses her forehead against Adora’s, this being a new thing for them and how Catra seems to express her affection, “I’ll see you tomorrow.”
Adora pulls Catra back in when the brunette pulls back slightly and kisses her cheek, “I can’t wait.”
Catra smiles dopily back and then nods, exiting Adora’s car and grabs her things before she taps the top of the blonde’s car, crossing the street and disappearing around the corner.
Adora sighs to herself, she doesn’t have any plans tonight at all. All her friends seem to be coupled up and she doesn’t feel like third, fifth or seventh wheeling tonight. She makes her way home and gets dinner started for herself.

Adora slumps down on her couch, the tv on as she flips through channels. Dinner done and dusted and now she is bored at home. She knows Catra’s at work, but maybe a text won’t be so bad. She pulls out her phone and pulls up Catra’s contact, but instead of going to text message, her finger presses the call button. Adora just smiles to herself thinking, she’ll just leave Catra a voice message instead since the brunette did say she did like hearing her voice.
She jumps when her call actually gets answered.
“Adora?” Catra’s voice comes through, concern laced in it, “Are you alright?”
Adora can hear voices in the background, does Catra work at a bar?
“Adora? Are you there?” Catra asks, her voice getting suspicious, “Do you need help?”
“Oh, hi Catra.” Adora finally replies, “Sorry, I didn’t think you’d pick up.”
“Oh.” Catra replies and Adora can feel the brunette calming down, “Are you okay, though?”
“Yeah, I’m good.” Adora bites her bottom lip, “Sorry… I know you’re at work and busy…”
“What’s up, princess?” Catra asks, there’s a glint of amusement in her voice, “What do I owe this very impromptu phone call?”

"I… uh…" Adora blushes despite no one seeing her, "I'm just…" she sighs, "Forget about it. Sorry to bug you."
"Adora." Catra says sternly, "What's wrong?"
"I'm just…" Adora bites her lip again, wondering if she should just tell the truth, Catra will probably think she's a loser anyways, "All my friends are out on dates and I'm just… well… myself."
"Oh." Catra breathes out, "Are you feeling a little left out, princess?"
Adora nods, "Yeah."
There's a slight chuckle on Catra's end, "Hey, why don't you come out then? It's not a school night."
Adora laughs, "It's Friday night. Technically it is a school night."
"Okay then, be a rebel and come out on a school night." Catra corrects herself.
"Where though?" Adora asks cheering up a bit, "I don't really feel like clubbing though."
Catra laughs, "No. I'm not… yeah, no clubbing."
"Okay… then where?"
"There's a place near where you drop me off at the top of the hill called 'The Wilderness', just say my name at the door so you don't have to pay entry fees." Catra casually says, "Don't even need to dress up. Just…"
"Just what?"
"Just… don't come in your pyjamas." Catra finishes as Adora looks down at herself as the brunette continues, "Are you already in your jammies?"
"Pfft! No!" Adora quickly denies despite it being a complete lie, "I am not in my pyjamas."
"Sure, princess." Catra chuckles, "Hey, look, I have to go. Come out, yeah?"
Adora bites her lip again, a smile breaking out on her face, "Okay."
"Cool. See you soon, princess." Catra says before quickly hanging up.

Adora decides to walk to the place Catra told her about instead of driving, it's still warm and the sun is only now setting. The walk turns out to be surprising short, not more than 20 minutes as she reaches a single storey building that looks more like a café than a bar. There's music playing that she can hear as she gets closer to the door that's got a bouncer and a short line of people waiting to get in. A red velvet rope the only barrier between those getting in or not.

Adora gets in the line and waits her turn, pulling out her phone and seeing if Catra's texted her since their conversation, but she hasn't since she's at work and all.
"ID." The man dressed in a black suit and looks extremely intimidating says to Adora, holding out his hand as Adora spots the 'Security' tag around his neck on a lanyard.
"Oh, right." She pulls her wallet out and hands him her ID as he checks it over before handing it back and pulling the velvet rope back, "Thank you."
He just nods, ignoring her as he goes to the next patron behind her.
She walks in a little further and there's a ticket box/coat check area, a large woman with short white hair smiles at her, "Hello! It's $5 for entry."
Adora smiles back, "Uh, Catra said to just say her name. But I can totally pay the $5…"
"No need." The woman smiles widely at Adora making her feel a little uneasy, "Welcome Adora. Go on in. Catra said you'd be here tonight."
"Uh… thanks." Adora nods as the woman serves the next patron.

She walks in through and into a relatively well lit bar area and looks around to see if she can find Catra. Right now, she'd be happy to just sit at the bar if that's where Catra is working tonight. There's quite a few people around tonight as Adora makes her way to the bar, ordering a soft drink to start her night as she looks around sipping it, leaning up against one of the bar tables when someone taps her on the shoulder.
She turns around and to her surprise, it's not Catra. No, it's a tall woman with red hair, thin and she's smiling at Adora.
"Hey." The woman says, quirking an eyebrow up at Adora, "I'm Tallstar. I haven't seen you around here before. New?"
"Ugh, yeah." Adora ducks her head a little embarrassed, "Is it that obvious?"

"Just a little." Tallstar grins, "What's your name?"
"I'm Adora." She reaches out and shakes the other woman's hand, "This is the first time I've been here."
"I could tell." Tallstar smiles again, "You're pretty."
Oh, that's what this is, Adora thinks to herself and blushes at the compliment, "Um, thanks."
"Are you single?" Tallstar presses on, thinking the blush is for her.
Adora has to think about that question, she's really not sure as she just kind of stares blankly back at the other woman hitting on her before she hears a familiar voice from another room of the bar, "I'm actually here to see someone."
Tallstar's expression doesn't change, except now it seems a little more challenging, like she's looking for a lie, "Yeah?"
"Yes. In fact, I think I can hear her in the other room." Adora juts her thumb over her shoulder, "It was nice to meet you."
And before Tallstar can say anything else, Adora collects her drink and heads to the other room where she thinks she can hear Catra's voice.

This is not what she thought Catra did for work.
Nope.
Not at all.
Adora stands at the back of the small crowd gathered in front of a small stage in the corner of the bar. A stage where Catra sits with a guitar in her hand and a microphone in front of her as the brunette spots Adora and grins at her…

…And if you have a minute, why don't we go
Talk about it somewhere only we know?
This could be the end of everything
So, why don't we go, somewhere only we know?
Somewhere only we know
Somewhere only we know

“Alright folks! You’ve been great, I’ll be back on Wednesday! Have great night and spend some more money at the bar for food and drinks!” Catra says into the microphone as she wraps up her set, “The main act will be on in about an hours’ time, so… don’t you lovely people go home just yet.”
The crowd applauds a little more before dispersing and away from the stage as Catra puts her guitar back into the case just off the side of the stage and carries it with her towards Adora, “Hey Adora.”
“Does this mean you’re getting some?” Adora blurts out, the question lingering on her brain from earlier when Glimmer and Catra were bantering, “Sorry, that… I don’t know why I said that.”
Catra just grins, “No. I was just taunting Sparkles. I’m currently getting pretty much… none.”
“Oh.” Adora says very relieved, “This was not what I was expecting.”
Catra tilts her head, taking Adora’s drink out of her hand and takes a sip from it, “What were you expecting?”
“Not this.” Adora gestures at Catra and then the guitar in her hand, “I thought you were like a bartender or something. Glimmer thinks your running some kind of underground mafia or something…”
Catra narrows her eyes at the blonde before breaking out in a laugh, “She really thinks I’m some kind of criminal, huh?”
“Well, you did technically break into the school our first day…” Adora points out as she takes her drink back, “Plus that whole tailgating thing…”
Catra rolls her eyes at the blonde, before she gets an idea, “Come with me.” She holds her free hand out to Adora, “I’ve got an idea…”
Adora scrunches up her face a little before sighing and placing her hand in Catra’s, “Nothing… illegal, right?”
“Like I said, it’s only trouble if you get caught.” Catra grins as she drags Adora back to the front where the ticket box is, handing her guitar to the woman still in there, “Thanks Scorp.”
“No worries, Wildcat!” She happily replies taking the instrument off Catra's hands and stores it in the back, "Good luck tomorrow!"

"Thanks." Catra smiles back.
"I wish I could make it but I'm helping my girlfriend set up and run her stall at the market tomorrow." Scorpia sighs, "But I'm sure you'll do really well!"
"It's all good." Catra nods to her, "Have a good night, Scorp."
"You too!"
They wave to Scorpia as they leave, still hand in hand, Catra nods to the bouncer who just rolls their eyes back at them as they head out into the quiet night outside.
"So… what was this idea that you had?" Adora asks, "I better not end up getting arrested…"
Catra laughs, "No, I doubt we'd get arrested, besides I've got a comp to stuff up and a gorgeous girl to ask out."
Adora blushes as she manages to ask, "Then, what's this idea of yours?"
Catra just grins back as she starts to walk down the road, still swinging their joined hands.

"Catra!" Adora whisper shouts as Catra starts to climb up a tree next to a black manor fence, dropping down so she's hanging upside down from her knees looking at Adora with a grin, "What are you doing?"
"I'll be right back." Catra swings herself back upright and climbs a little higher until Adora can't see her.
A young couple walk past her, giving her strange looks as she just tries to smile back calmly until they are out of sight before looking up into the tree again, yelping a little when Catra reappears again, upside down and with leaves and sticks in her hair, "You nearly scared me to death!" she whisper shouts again.
"I found a way in." Catra says as she swings down to her feet, standing back up in front of Adora, "How do you feel about climbing?"
Adora narrows her eyes at the brunette.
Catra just grins back even wider, "Come on, princess. This way. I was joking about the climbing." She grabs Adora's hand and starts to drag her down the path until they reach a section of wall that's essentially just bushes used as a barrier and no more fencing.

“What are we doing here?” Adora puts her hands on her hips in question.
“Living.” Catra replies as she lets go of Adora’s hand and looks at the bushes in front of her like she’s looking for something, probably a way in, she spots what she saw before form the tree and then gently pushes the leaves apart and carefully steps forward until she’s completely gone.
“Catra?” Adora says as she looks at where Catra just entered and all she sees is the bushes, “Catra?” Adora yelps again when Catra sticks her head back through and then quickly pulls Adora through.
“Shh!” Catra quickly put a finger to Adora’s lips, “We don’t want to get caught, do we?”
Adora shakes her head before her eyes widen at what she sees. Despite the lack of streetlights, the moonlight perfectly lights up the space. Which happens to be a garden, one that probably used to be frequently maintained but now sits a little overgrown and barren, apart from a few beds of new growth and some pot plants that look like they’ve only been there a few weeks.
“What is this place?” Adora softly asks as her fingers glide over one of the healthy plants in the pots.
“My secret place. I usually just use the tree to get in but since you’re here…” Catra replies as she tugs Adora over to a wooden bench in the centre and sits down, “Listen.”
Adora holds her breath as she does what Catra asks.
After a little bit, the blonde breathes out, “What am I supposed to hear?”
“Nothing.” Catra says with a smile, “Isn’t it amazing?”
Adora smiles back, “You are… intriguing.”
“Not ridiculous?” Catra asks.
Adora shakes her head and pulls Catra into a hug, “This place is amazing. Thank you for showing me.”
Catra rests her forehead on Adora’s, “Of course.”

Chapter End Notes

next chapter - Saturday! Markets and Competitions!

I think I might spend some of my weekend finishing Bounty... But this chapter just seemed to flow so easily...

Thanks for reading, kudos and commenting!
I hope you guys are enjoying this as much as I'm having fun writing it.

Markets and Verts

Chapter Summary

Adora goes to help Perfuma at the market and meets someone familiar.

Chapter Notes

I know the first few chapters were posted in a flurry...
Enjoy this new chapter!
More fluff!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

"Adora! Over here!" Perfuma waves the blonde over with a bright smile despite how early it is and when Adora makes it over she sees a familiar face, "Oh, this is my girlfriend, Scopria. She's helping me out today too."
"Oh, we've already met." Adora replies with a shy wave towards the large woman who's smiling happily back at her as Perfuma waits for the blonde to elaborate, "I went to 'the wilderness' last night and that's where I met her."
Scorpia whispers something into Perfuma's ear before announcing loudly, "I'm just going to grab those other boxes from the car, sweetie."
"Okay, let me know if you need help." Scorpia flexes her arms with a grin as her girlfriend admires the sight of it before the large woman turns, Perfuma watches with a soft smile as Scorpia heads back out to the car park before turning that soft smile at Adora, "Oh, so you must be Catra's princess."
Adora's eyes widen as Perfuma tries to keep a straight face, "Stars…"
Covering her mouth as she giggles, Perfuma pats Adora on the hand, "Don't worry, I won't tell."
"Thank you." Adora replies gratefully, her face feeling extremely warm at hearing someone else say the word princess.
"Though… I'll try and keep Scorpia from saying too much too."

Perfuma adds with not as much confidence, “Anyway, thank you again for helping me out this morning.”
“It’s no problem.” Adora nods with a smile before dusting her hands together, happy with the change in the conversation as she looks around and then back to Perfuma, “So, what can I do?”

Adora checks the time as she gets tugged around by Bow and Glimmer as they go stall to stall in excitement, the blonde thinks to herself when Bow instantly bolts to look a some new arrows on display, “Shiny objects…”
Glimmer grabs Adora’s arm, huffing out when she sees her friend constantly checking the time, “It’s still early. We’ve got plenty of time to go see your girlfriend compete.”
“She’s not my girlfriend.” Adora replies with a sigh, “I had a look on the maps, and it takes half an hour to get to the park from here.”
“She doesn’t start until 11am. We still have at least an hour.” Glimmer points out, “And we’ve only just started looking around.”
“We would have been earlier, but Glimmer couldn’t find her shoes.” Bow unhelpfully provides as Glimmer just glares at him.
“It’s not my fault you hid them last night.” Glimmer snarks back with no bite.
“I did not!” Bow protests defensively, “You kicked them off when we got back from dinner. I have no idea how you managed to get one on top of the ceiling fan when you could barely walk.”
“Just talented, I guess.” Glimmer shrugs proudly with a not so innocent grin, “Oh! I need to get a coffee and something to eat first. I’m still hungover from last night.”
“So… you didn’t get lucky last night?” Adora nudges her friend and Glimmer groans at the tease, laughingly the blonde pats the smaller woman on the shoulder, “Well, did you at least have a good time?”
“What I could remember of it was good.” Glimmer replies.
“I had fun.” Bow perks up, “Even if Glimmer fell asleep in her clothes.”
“Well, at least she took her shoes off first.” Adora laughs again.
Bow stifles a laugh as Glimmer gives him the eye, “Uh… how was the set up with Perfuma this morning? I briefly met her girlfriend, and I have to say, she definitely rivals me in giving great hugs."

"Oh?" Adora looks away.
"She also said that she met you last night." Bow adds knowingly before prodding lightly, "Adora? Did you go out on a date last night with Catra?"
"Oh, my stars!" Glimmer pops up, her hangover seemingly gone in an instant, "You went on a date last night and you didn't tell me?!"
"It wasn't a date." Adora replies still looking away.
"Uh huh…" Bow quirks an eyebrow, "But you did go out?"
"Ugh! Yes, fine. I went out last night." Adora gives in, before repeating, "But it wasn't a date."
"Sure, Adora." Glimmer drawls before shaking Adora by the shoulders, "Spill."
Her friends corner her excitedly as Adora's feels herself feel warmer, "Can you guys like please, just chill?"
"No." Glimmer quickly says, "Tell us what happened."
"I was bored at home and Catra asked me to come out to hang." Adora says, "Nothing happened."
"Just hang?" Bow tilts his head at her and Adora nods, "So… not a date?"
"No. Not a date." Adora reiterates.
"Did she make a move on you?" Glimmer asks excitedly.
"No. She was a perfect… not-date." Adora replies, "We just ended up talking in the gardens of the old estates. And then she walked me home."
"Awe!" Glimmer and Bow both coo at the same time.
Adora looks at her friends a little confused, "It was… really nice."
Just as Glimmer is about to say something else, the smell of fresh brewing coffee catches her nose and her attention turns, "Coffee time!"

"Wow, this place is really busy…" Adora says as the three of them make their way through the crowd, not sure where to go as there's seating in front of a large vertical ramp as well as a street course, "I don't see… oh! Over there! Catra!" Adora waves towards the other woman, a bright smile on her face as Catra looks up and grins at her, waving back.

"Miss Grey?" A voice surprises Adora, "What are you doing here?"
Adora turns around, "Oh, hi Goldie. How are you?"
"I'm good." Goldie replies, "You guys aren't here on teacher duties… are you?"
Adora chuckles at the young girl as she realises that there are now at least 4 teachers at this event, "No. We're here to cheer on Catra."
"Oh." Goldie nods as she looks over at the grinning brunette teacher standing on the top of the vert ramp, "Catra's cool."
"I know." Adora agrees readily before clearing her throat and schooling herself, "I mean, she's a really good friend."
The young student looks at Adora, before sending a look at Bow and Glimmer who shrug back with knowing looks too. Goldie smiles back politely, "Well, I better go get warmed up, maybe check out the competition."
"What event are you competing in?" Adora asks as she watches Catra crouched down and tie her laces before grabbing her padding and start to put them on.
"I'm in the street skate section." Goldie answers, "I'm not crazy enough to do vert."
"Why would you say that?" Adora asks and Goldie just points at the vert ramp. From where they are standing, which is still a fair way back, it doesn't look so bad, but as Goldie walks them closer to it, and the trio have to crane their necks up, then does it hit the BFS that it is indeed…. Crazy, "Woah…"
Goldie cackles, "Yeah. I'm happy to be closer to the ground. I'll leave the crazy stuff to those guys."
Goldie drops her board and skates off as Adora moves around, trying to see where Catra is when the brunette shouts down, "Hey, Adora! You made it!"
Adora can't help but beam back a smile, waving again at the other woman and shouting back, "Hi Catra!"
"It's going to start soon! Go grab a seat over there!" Catra points to the seating section closer to the vert ramp.
Adora nods before realising that Catra's missing a vital piece of safety equipment, "Catra!"

"Yeah?"
"Where's your helmet?!" Adora shouts up.
Catra grins and disappears for a moment before coming back into view, strapping the helmet onto her head, "Right here, princess."
And for good measure, Catra taps it like she taps the top of Adora's car a few times before giving Adora a thumbs up.
Adora breathes out a sigh of relief, "Okay! Good luck!"
Catra throws Adora another thumbs up as Glimmer and Bow drag her towards to seating Catra had just pointed out to them.
"Oh, this is so exciting!" Bow almost squeals, "I've never seen anything like this live!"
"I don't get it." Glimmer scratches her head, "What's so cool or athletic about this anyway?"
"Did you not see that huge ramp that Catra's currently standing on?" Adora points out.
Glimmer just shrugs and then yawns, "Eh, doesn't look so high…"
Adora and Bow both roll their eyes at Glimmer as Bow looks around at the other competitors on the vert ramp with Catra, "I wonder how many of them are in Catra's group."
"No idea." Adora says, her leg bouncing in anticipation, "I don't even know how this thing is even scored…"

"Welcome to the annual Bright Moon X Games!" the MC announce over the speakers, "This is an all weekend event so stick around this afternoon for the BMXers and then tomorrow we've got the inline skates and scooters!"

"Scooters? Inline skaters?" Glimmer furrows her brows, "Are those still… you know… relevant?"
"Does it matter?" Bow replies.
"I guess not." Glimmer shrugs.

"I hope everyone enjoyed this morning's skateboarders showing off their skills on the half pipe! Coming up, we've got the vert and big air comp! Biggest air wins a cool thousand bucks!" The MC waits a moment for the crowd to die down before continuing, "Alright, make some noise for all our vert ramp skaters! First up, we've got Riley!"

The crowd cheers again and the first skater off the rank gets going. They start off with the big air before resetting into their vert routine.

"Okay, I must admit. This is pretty cool." Glimmer says as she watches with her mouth open as the first skater gets some really big air and then starts to pull out a bunch of tricks afterwards. That is until Riley mistimes her landing and falls off her board, sliding down the ramp on her back as Glimmer hisses, "Ooh… that didn't look very fun…"
"Yeah, you can say that again." Bow agrees with a wince, but they all clap when Riley gets up to show that she's okay.

Next up… put your hands together for Catra!"

Adora whoops out loudly, as does Bow and Glimmer as Catra waves to them. The blonde waving back as she watches her go to climb up to the highest part of the ramp to drop in, stopping to take a moment to take a few deep breaths in and out.
"I can't watch…" Adora turns away, "What if she falls? Or gets injured!?"
"She'll be fine, Adora." Bow pats her reassuringly, "I mean, look at all the pads she's got on as well as that helmet you got her."
"I guess." Adora peeks an eye up at Catra who's now grinning down at the blonde. Under her breath, the blonde says, "Be careful…"

Catra drops in as the trio all watch in nervous anticipation, gasping as she rolls down the ramp and pops up on the other side, grabbing her board in an indy and getting massive airtime before she comes back down to complete the trick and getting a few more smaller airs, loosening herself up before starting the routine part of the competition.

She gets back onto the flat of the ramp and runs back to the top of the biggest drop and waits there, catching her breath for a few seconds before dropping back in. This time she manages to get a 540 in, before getting into a kickflip to board grab and rolling out of it smoothly into a boardslide. Catra's even surprising herself at landing the switch heelflip and then noseslides pretty much three quarters of the coping on the ramp before finishing it off with an eggplant, holding herself up on one arm while the other grabs the board under her feet for a few seconds before dropping back in one final time and kickflipping back up onto the platform. Raising her arms in the air in relief and self victory, breathing out and throwing her head back.
The crowd cheers again as Catra waves to the crowd for not screwing up before she descends the stairs at the back of the ramp as Adora quickly leaves her seat to find her, while the next skater starts up.

"Catra!" Adora calls out when she spots Catra coming around the barriers, unbuckling her helmet and taking it off before running her hand through her sweaty short hair. The blonde comes to a stop just in front of her with an exhausted but relieved look on her face, "Stars! I have never been so… so… scared in my life. Just watching you… you know you're nuts, right?"
"Not ridiculous? I'll take that as a compliment." Catra laughs out breathily, "Well, at least I didn't stack it."
"But… wow, that was like… wow." Adora eventually settles on, "How's the helmet?"
"You mean…" Catra looks at the helmet in her hands before quirking an eyebrow back at the blonde, "My lucky helmet?"
Adora nods with a slight eye roll.
"It's really good." Catra replies seriously, "Thank you again for this."
"You're very welcome." Adora says not really sure what to do now as Catra just grins back at her, "I met one of our students before."
"Yeah? There's a few floating around." Catra says, "Goldie's in the street skate. And I think Muzza is competing in one of the BMX events."

"Oh, that's… I didn't know that." Adora admits, "So… are you done? Or have you got more to go still?"
"Nah, I'm done." Catra starts to pull off her elbow pads, "I don't think my body can take another 2 runs. It's all or nothing, babe."
The pet name has Adora blushing before clearing her throat, "Does this mean you're done now? Like done, done."
"Pretty much." Catra shrugs, she's intentionally dragging out torturing Adora currently, "How was the market this morning?"
"It was fine." Adora nods, "I met Perfuma's girlfriend this morning."
"Oh yeah?" Tries to school her face so she doesn't give away what she really knows.
"You totally knew!" Adora starts to laugh as she playfully slaps Catra on the shoulder, "Ugh!"
"What did she say to you exactly?" Catra asks mirroring Adora's laugh.
"Perfuma said that I must be your princess." Adora replies shaking her head, "I can't believe she said that!"
Catra starts to cackle as she guides Adora away from the loud speakers, "Hey Adora?"
Stifling her laughter, Adora wipes a tear from her eye, "Hm?"
"Wanna go out with me? Like on a proper date?" Catra asks still feeling the high from the adrenaline coursing through her body from the skate.
"Yes." Adora replies quickly, pulling Catra into a hug, "Of course I will."
"Great." Catra replies resting her sweaty forehead on Adora's, "Hope this isn't too gross…"
"It totally is." Adora scrunches up her face and laughs, "But… I guess if we plan on doing other things down the line, I should probably get used to it…"
Catra pulls back, feigning surprise, "My, miss Grey. Such imagination!"
"I am an adult after all." Adora replies maturely before slapping Catra on the shoulder again playfully with a grin.
"Yes, yes you are." Catra agrees as she blatantly checks Adora out.

“Stop that!” Adora shoves Catra back with another laugh before grabbing the brunette’s hand, “Are we allowed to date if we work together?"
“Sure. Why not?” Catra asks right back, “It’s not like there’s any power imbalance. We’re not even teaching the same subject.”
“Hm… that’s true.” Adora hums before she thinks out loud, “Do we need to declare this to the principal?”
“Excuse me?” Catra stifles a laugh, “What exactly are we declaring?”
“That we’re going to be dating. Or going on a date...”
“Uh huh…”
“So, there’s no conflict of interest.” Adora continues, “Or whatever.” Catra looks at her confused, “I worked somewhere else where you had to declare if you were dating a coworker just so they could rule out conflict of interest and stuff like that.”
“Yeah, I don’t think that’s going to be problem, princess.” Catra grins, shaking her head at how much Adora is thinking about things like that, “Say… you wanna get out of here?”
“What about Glimmer and Bow?”
“Leave them. They’ll be fine.” Catra replies, “They’re both adults, I’m sure they’ll be able to find their own way home.”
“What about your results?”
“Don’t really care.” Catra shrugs, “It was all just for a bit of fun anyways.”
“Are you sure?” Adora asks, biting her bottom lip in question.
“Let me think.” Catra looks up like she is thinking, “Stay here and wait for hours or leave with the most gorgeous woman I know. Hm… hard choices…”
Adora snorts out a laugh, “Yes, very hard choices…”
“I think I’ll pick the latter.” Catra tucks her board under her arm and grabs Adora’s with her free hand, “Let’s go before anyone catches on!”
Adora lets herself get pulled out by Catra, laughing along with the brunette until they get to the carpark.

“Did you drive?” Catra asks not even looking around for Adora’s car.
“No. I hitched a ride with Glimmer and Bow.” Adora admits,
“Why?”
“Actually, that works.” Catra says after a moment, “I know the perfect place.”

“Did you bring me to skate park?” Adora deadpans, looking confused as to why they are here.
“Yep.” Catra grins, “I’m going to teach you how to skate.”
“No. No way.” Adora puts her hands up and starts backing away, “I am not getting on that deathtrap.”
“I’ll help you.” Catra puts her board down and stands on it with one foot, holding her hand out for Adora to come forward, “Come on, princess. Trust me.”
Biting her bottom lip, Adora slowly nods and reaches her hand out to Catra who smiles at her, the blonde smiles back as the puts one foot on the board as Catra takes her foot off it, moving it to the back so it doesn’t roll backwards.
“I’ve got you, Adora.” Catra reassuringly says, “Step up with your other foot. I’ve got you.”
Adora swallows hard and then nods, keeping her eyes on Catra as she steps up, releasing her breathe when she doesn’t automatically go flying off the board, instead Catra’s just standing in front of her grinning ear to ear, as Adora smiles back proudly, “I did it!”
“You’ll be a pro in no time, princess.” Catra laughs as Adora wobbles a little, not used to how loose the trucks on Catra’s board are as she grabs onto the brunette tighter so she doesn’t fall, “Woah… easy there.”
“I got this…” Adora tells herself.
Catra just grins back, “Ready to move?”
“Stars no!” Adora quickly says before she squeals when the wheels move forward a little when Catra readjusts her stance, “Catra!”
“I got you.” Catra’s voice still calm, “You’ll get the hang of it.”
“Easy for you to say…” Adora replies.

“I’ve got an idea.” Catra says instead, “Come on, jump off.”
“Excuse me?” Adora’s eyebrows go right up to her hairline, “Jump off? I can barely stand on this thing, and you want me to jump off?!”
“I didn’t mean literally.” Catra rolls her eyes, before instructing more clearly, “Fine. Step off.”
“Oh, oh right.” Adora chuckles sheepishly before Catra helps her put both feet back on the ground, “Now what?”
“Sit.” Catra gestures down at her board, “I’ll push you.”
Reluctantly, Adora does as Catra asks and it’s not long before she squealing out happily with Catra pushing her around on her skateboard while she sits on top.

After what feels like not long enough, Catra stops Adora breathlessly.
Adora’s got a huge smile on her face, her cheeks are red from laughing so much as Catra crouches down in front of the blonde, a grin on her face just as wide as Adora’s as she leans in.
“Oh.” Adora says under her breath before she smiles a little more, wrapping her arms around Catra’s neck and closes the gap.

Chapter End Notes

Fluffy enough? 😂
I hope you guys are still enjoying this bit of fluff.

Thanks for reading, kudos and comments!

The next day

Chapter Summary

The next day...

Chapter Notes

A quick update.
Enjoy!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

Adora is woken up to a knock on her door. A smile pulls on her face knowing that her and Catra had kissed yesterday. The pair leaving the skate park when they were startled out of their make out session by Adora's phone ringing and Glimmer demanding the pair return to the event so Catra could collect her prize for getting the biggest air and scoring herself a thousand bucks.
But since she wasn't around to collect it, Glimmer went up to accept it with the help of a few students confriming that she did in fact know the math teaching skateboarder after being given a questioning look from the organisers.
Which brings us back to why Adora is being awoken to a knock on her door.
The blonde slips on her socks and the goes to open her door to find Catra leaning up against the frame, a smirk on her lips and dressed in black jeans, a white long sleeve shirt with a red and black striped t-shirt over the top. Adora smiles at the sight as Catra stares right back.
"Hey Catra." Adora greets breathily.
"Hey, Adora." Catra greets back, pushing herself off the wooden frame and wrapping her arms around the blonde, her forehead resting softly on Adora's, "Sleep well?"
"Mm…" Adora nods with a smile, "Would have been better if you could have stayed the night."
"What happened to not sleeping with someone without getting dinner first?" Catra jests.

"I said, dinner wouldn't get me into bed." Adora corrects as she leans in and presses a soft kiss on Catra's lips, "But you could have stayed and cuddled with me a little more."
"If I did that, I would never want to leave." Catra chuckles coming back for more kisses, "Mm… where have you been all my life, Adora?"
Adora giggles, "I know. I wish I'd met you sooner."
As they continue to make out in the doorway, they are interrupted by someone clearing their throat, a very familiar someone as Adora rolls her eyes and then sees Bow and Glimmer standing behind them. Bow waves happily as Glimmer looks on with a raised eyebrow and arms crossed over her chest, "Gross. Can you guys wrap it up so Catra can bring us out to brunch?"
Catra growls playfully, pressing one more kiss on Adora's lips before sighing, "I guess I did say that… you better go get dressed, princess."
"You mean, I can't go out like this?" Adora gestures to her horse pyjamas with a pout, feigning disappointment before the act is broken when she snorts out a laugh, "Okay, give me like ten minutes."
"Okay." Catra nods and then watches as Adora spins around and heads back to her room to get changed, the brunette shuts the door and leans on it, turning to face Glimmer and Bow, "So, where did you guys want to go for brunch?"
"Oh, there's a cool little café by the beach that we've been dying to try." Bow suggests, "Or we can go to our normal hangout. But then you'll be paying for everyone…"
"Am I now?" Catra quirks an eyebrow up, "I thought I was only treating the four of us only."
"Yes, you are." Glimmer says, "This is a double date. That means two pairs."
"Tell me again, why I'm doing this?" Catra asks as she shoves her hands into her pant pockets.
"Because you and Adora left to go make out and we had to go and collect your prize money for you which happened to be at the top of that stupid ramp." Glimmer answers, "I nearly died up there."
"I had a good hold on you Glim." Bow points out, "Plus they had the awards and prizes next to the railing, which was a good metre from the edge."

"Bow! You're supposed to be on my side!" Glimmer whines as Bow just smiles back at her, "Ugh, whatever. Maybe we just want to vet you and see if you are actually good for our best friend."
"What is that supposed to mean?" Catra starts to get defensive. Bow puts his hands up to calm the situation, "Woah. Glimmer doesn't mean to say that it's bad or anything." Catra looks at him not understanding as he breathes out, "Adora is our best friend. And we just want to make sure that whoever she's with is not going to hurt her."
"You think I'm going to hurt her?" There's a slight ire in Catra's voice as Bow grimaces at the question.
"No! No!" Bow quickly reassures, "We don't think you're going to hurt her."
"Well, that's what we need to find out." Glimmer cuts in, "We don't even know you. You could be some psychopath that likes math for all we know."
"Do I look like one?"
Glimmer scoffs, "Serial killers and psychopaths look like normal people."
"Oh, so I look normal?" Now, Catra is thoroughly confused, "What are you trying to say?"
"We just want to make sure you're not going to hurt her." Glimmer sternly says, "Are you?"
"No." Catra says confidently, "Definitely not. Why the fuck would I want to hurt the most amazing person I've ever met in my life?"
Bow smiles widely at that answer as he nudges Glimmer happily, "See. I told you she'd be perfect for Adora."
"I know she is." Adora's voice comes from behind Catra, wrapping her arms around the brunette and pressing another soft kiss on the side of her head, "I told you guys, she is amazing. Didn't I?"
Glimmer smiles, "Good. And if you do hurt her…"
"I'm not." Catra says quickly, "And I don't plan to. Ever."
Bow starts to coo as he quickly moves forward and throws his arms around all of them into a group hug, "I love, love."
"Uh…" Catra says uncomfortably squished between Adora and Glimmer.

Bow releases his friends, “Who’s hungry?”

Catra and Adora sit in the backseat of Bow’s car, as the other couple chat in the front seat excitedly about an experiment Entrapta is planning to try in the next few weeks. Adora plays with Catra’s fingers that are intertwined with her own as she rests her head on the brunette’s shoulder and sighs happily.
Catra smiles upon hearing it, turning her head and pressing a soft kiss on Adora’s hair, “Everything okay, there?”
“Better than okay.” Adora replies giving their joined hands a squeeze, “Does this mean… are you… are we…”
“Hm?”
“Girlfriends?”
“Yeah.” Catra breathes out with a smile, “I’d like that.”
“Me too.” Adora lifts her head up and kisses Catra’s cheek, “Do you think we’re moving too fast?”
“No. I don’t think so.” Catra replies soundly, “We can slow down if you think we are going too fast.”
“No.” Adora turns her head to look at Catra with a soft smile, “I think we are going at just the right pace.”
Just as Catra’s about to lean in for a kiss, Glimmer clears her throat, “Guys. Can you please not make out in the back of Bow’s car?”
Adora blushes as Catra rolls her eyes, “Don’t you want a show, Sparkles?”
Catra laughs when Adora slaps her playfully, as Glimmer pretend gags, “No. I don’t want to watch my best friend making out in the backseat.”
Laughing, Catra presses one more kiss on Adora’s cheek, “I guess we better save it for the privacy of walls, huh?”
“Yeah.” Adora agrees, “Plus, I don’t want any of the kids at school to see us… like this.”
“Bright Moon is very liberal.” Catra says matter of factly, “I don’t think anyone in this city will care if two teachers make out in their own time and outside of school grounds.”
“I’d rather not… if that’s okay.” Adora replies, “I just don’t feel…

uncomfortable."
"That's fine, princess." Catra nods, "I get it. The school I was at before was… well, not as accepting as here. I nearly got fired just for cutting my hair short."
"What? That's horrible!" Bow says taking a quick glance back in his rearview mirror, "Well, I for one am glad that you are here now and that you can express yourself freely."
"Thanks, dude." Catra nods back gratefully, "Means a lot."
"No problems." Bow smiles sincerely before focusing back on the road, "Also, I think you look badass with short hair."
"Yeah, it suits you." Glimmer adds, "I'm guessing you're not some formal criminal working for the mafia…?"
Catra laughs, "What? No. Definitely not."
"Where did you even come up with that?" Adora asks as leans her head back onto Catra's shoulder.
"I don't know." Glimmer shrugs, "Catra's got a mafia look about her."
Adora snorts out a laugh, "She does not."
"Yeah. I've got a skateboarder look, duh." Catra adds with a smile and shake of her head, "Thought the skateboard sort of made that clear."
"Well, what can I say? I grew up sheltered and the only skateboarders I saw were in movies and tv and they all seem to be badass and bad." Glimmer explains, "No one I knew growing up was really into it. So, how was I supposed to know?"
Catra laughs, "Wow. You really are sheltered."
"Yep." Glimmer turns back and smiles, "Oh, you didn't win by the way."
"Win?" Catra turns to Adora, "I think I won big time."
"No, you ass." Glimmer groans, "I meant, you didn't the competition yesterday. You clearly won over Adora… somehow."
"Must be my charm, wit and amazingly good looks." Catra winks back to Glimmer as Adora pulls her in for a heated kiss, as Catra pulls back breathlessly, "Or maybe I won at getting this gorgeous woman to even look my way."
"Shut up." Adora scolds lightly, "We won. And that's that."
"We totally did." Catra agrees, leaning back in for another kiss.

“Ugh! Great. Now they’re making out again.” Glimmer whines as Bow just laughs.

They’ve finished eating and Catra’s paid the bill with her winnings from the big air competition as they decide to take a stroll on the beach to walk off their meal.
“Thanks for brunch, Cat.” Glimmer says rubbing her stomach and grinning widely, “How are you finding things at school in Bright Moon?”
“It’s fine.” Catra replies as she swings her and Adora’s joined hands backwards and forwards with a smile, “It’s nice to get paid regularly. Plus, Principal Casta is easy to work with.”
“Aunt Casta has really turned things around.” Glimmer says, “It wasn’t so good last year or the year before or the one before that.”
“Why?”
“The board was terrible. They didn’t care about the school or the students.” Bow chimes in, “They only cared about the money going into their own pockets.”
“Surely, that’s not legal.” Adora frowns, “What changed?”
“My mum and aunt had to get an investigation started into why there was no money for things like repairs and replacement of texts.” Glimmer continues, “Turns out the board was rife with disease.”
“I guess that explains the party at the start of the year…” Catra recalls, “I don’t think I’ve ever had anything catered for at any of the school gigs I’ve worked at.”
“It’s definitely not a norm, that’s for sure.” Bow says, “But it’s always nice when we do get it.”
“Now, I really regret not getting more food.” Catra laughs.
“So… you pick locks?” Glimmer raises her eyebrow at her, “Aunt Casta said you had the door open to the science building…”
“Uh…” Catra rubs the back of her neck before shrugging, “School locks… am I right?”
Glimmer just stares at her with an unimpressed look, “You have a second job?”
“Yeah. I do.” Catra replies glad that Glimmer isn’t still pressing on about the whole lock picking thing, “I’ve got a casual gig at ‘The Wilderness'."

"What do you do there exactly?" Glimmer probes and Catra is surprised that that Adora hasn't already told her friends, "It's like a bar, right?"
"Yeah, it is." Catra replies as Bow grabs Adora and they walk off chatting about something else when the pair spot a few people riding horses along the beach. She turns back to Glimmer, "I tune the guitars and test the mics there."
Glimmer narrows her eyes at the brunette in confusion before Catra laughs, high and squeakily, "Ugh, I knew you'd be an ass about this."
"I've got a gig there two night a week playing covers for like an hour." Catra answers truthfully this time, "Sometimes I get a few extra gigs if other acts drop out or whatever but, yeah, I've got the Monday and Wednesday slots about an hour before the main acts go on."
"Oh." Glimmer wasn't expecting a real answer so quickly, "That's… that's not what I was expecting at all."
Catra shrugs, "Why do something you don't like, right?"
"That's true." Glimmer nods, "Has Adora seen you play?"
"Kind of." Catra replies, "She saw the end of my set the other night."
Glimmer smiles, "Reckon me and Bow can come watch your set too?"
"It's a free country." Catra shrugs, "Hey, can I ask you something?"
"Shoot."
"I want to take Adora out on the best date of her life and kind of wanted to know if she would like this idea I've got." Catra starts and Glimmer leans in looking very interested, the brunette clears her throat and straightens up again, "I don't want to do the whole dinner and movie thing because it seems kind of boring and I don't want her to think I'm boring, you know?"
"You're such an idiot." Glimmer shakes her head before gesturing, "Go on."
Catra ignores Glimmer's comment, "Anyways, do you think she'd think I'm like immature or something if I brought her to the adventure park?"

“You mean the one with the rope courses and zip lines?” Glimmer clarifies.
“Yeah, that one.” Catra confirms before she sighs, “Ugh, it’s stupid, isn’t it. Maybe I should do the adult thing and wine and dine her…”
“No. Are you kidding me?!” Glimmer shoves Catra a little, making the brunette huff out a little, “Do that adventure park idea. She’s going to love it.”
“Yeah?”
“Yes!” Glimmer gets more excited, “Do you need a car to pick her up? You can borrow Bow’s!”
“Ugh, I was just going to take the bus or something.” Catra admits sheepishly, “I don’t exactly know how to drive.”
A mischievous grin appears on Glimmer’s face as she gets an idea, “We are so going to get you your driving licence.”
“Yeah, and that’s not going to mysteriously happen before this date.” Catra replies, “But… it could be something to work up to. Or…”
“Or?”
“I can get Adora into skating, like me.” Catra grins back, mirroring Glimmer’s prior look, “We can skate together at the parks and everything.”
“No.” Glimmer stops Catra’s line of thought, “Just… no.”
“Why not?”
“She gets way too competitive and I don’t want that to be the reason why you two break up.” Glimmer finally says.
“Awe, you care about our relationship, Sparkles?” Catra teases as Glimmer shoves her again, “Okay, okay. No skateboarding. I’ll learn to drive. Be an adult and all.”
“Good.” Glimmer smiles in victory, “Bow can teach you. Trust me, you do not want me to be the person sitting next to you when you learn to drive.”
Catra just nods as she watches Bow and Adora return from talking with the people on the horses.
“Catra! Did you see them? They were so majestic!” Adora gushes as she crashes in Catra’s arms, “And so soft!”
“Yeah, I saw them.” Catra laughs as she wraps her arms around

Adora as the blonde continues to talk wildly about the horses her and Bow had just met on the beach.

Bow and Glimmer drop Adora and Catra back off at Adora's place.
"We'll see you guys tomorrow!" Bow calls out.
"Text me when you get home!" Adora calls back as Bow grins and nods back.
"We love you!" Glimmer shouts out, "Both of you!"
Once her friends are gone, Adora turns to Catra, "You hear that? They love us."
"Yuck." Catra sticks her tongue out playfully as Adora snorts out a laugh as she goes to open the door to her house, "Hey Adora?"
"Hm?" Adora turns back to face Catra, "Do you want to come inside?"
Catra nods and steps in after Adora, shutting it behind her, "Can I ask you something?"
Adora spins around after putting her keys down on the small table by the door, wrapping her arms and kissing Catra with more intent, a smile on her lips at how she managed to surprise the brunette, "Mm… I wanted to do that at the beach."
"You could have. I wouldn't say no to your kisses." Catra smiles.
"Mm… It's going to be really hard not to kiss you at school tomorrow." Adora admits biting her bottom lip.
"Tell me about it." Catra agrees with a groan, "I just want you all to myself. All day, every day."
Adora shivers a little upon heading that as she wraps herself up tighter in Catra's arms, "What did you want to ask before?"
Catra clears her throat, "I wanted to ask if you could wait until next weekend for our first proper date."
"A whole week?" Adora says sounding all pouty, "You're going to make me wait a whole week?"
Catra laughs at how pouty Adora sounds, "Well, I want to make it perfect, you know?"
Adora sighs dramatically, "Okay. I can wait a whole week." She turns around and pokes Catra in the chest, "This better be the best damn date I've ever been on."
Catra narrows her eyes at Adora and for a moment, it seems like

Adora is being serious. That is until Adora breaks out in a laugh and Catra rolls her eyes at the blonde, breathing out in relief, "Geez, don't scare me like that, princess."
"Sorry, sorry." Adora presses soft kisses on Catra's lips, "I'm kidding. It's already going to be perfect because I'll be going with you."
Catra smiles back, "Cool." She looks around, "So… if we haven't been on a date yet… should we really be kissing and cuddling."
"Yes. I demand them from my girlfriend." Adora laughs.
"Well." Catra holds Adora tighter, "What my girlfriend wants, my girlfriend gets."
Adora giggles as Catra rubs her cheek against her own, "Mm… what do you want to do now?"
"Got any good movies in that DVD collection you got over there?" Catra gestures with her head towards a bookcase that's filled with DVDs.
"Yeah, there's plenty of movies there." Adora pulls herself out of Catra's arms, but grabs the brunette's hand, tugging her towards her collection, "Take a look."
Catra steps forward and starts going through the titles before smiling, pulling out one particular movie, "I can't believe you have this movie."
"What?"
"Gulliver's Travels." Catra holds up the DVD, "The original cartoon that I remember from when I was a kid too."
"I love the songs in that movie." Adora admits as she takes the DVD out of Catra's hand and signals for her to take a seat on the couch while she puts it into the player and then gets it started, "I'm surprised that you know this movie too."
"Yeah?"
"Yes." Adora nods as she presses play on the remote and the movie starts up, "It's nice to relive the good parts of my childhood. And it's better to share it with someone that gets it."
They settle in and cuddle up on the couch to watch the movie. Adora humming along to the songs as Catra just watches her girlfriend in awe and thinks to herself, "I really have won."

Chapter End Notes

Next chapter - the actual date.

I had a few comments on my last chapter saying that it was AI assisted... and it was a shite chapter...
I have no idea where that came from (The AI part) but no, all this comes from my brain and fingers.
It being a shite chapter... well, that's your opinion.
I quite liked it myself but I'm biased - being the writer and all.
There is no AI used in my fics at all.
I'm writing for the fun of it and don't appreciate accusations that it's not of my own writing.
If you don't like this fic or any of the others I write, no one is forcing anyone to read them.
Just saying.

Thanks to everyone with the positive comments though - those I really appreciate!
Also thank you for reading, kudos and comments.

Wacky Request Wednesday

Chapter Summary

Date!

Chapter Notes

New chapter!
Enjoy!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

"Adora." A voice calls the blonde's name as she sits in the staff room daydreaming, "Hello… Adora? Anyone home?"
"Huh?" The feeling of someone poking her on the cheek has Adora quickly breaking out of said daydream and back into reality, the reality of Glimmer looking at her unimpressed, "Oh, hi Glim."
"What's got you zoning out? Or should I say… who has got you zoning out…?" Glimmer teases as Adora blushes a little at being caught thinking about her girlfriend.
"Uh… well, you know…" Adora starts to stumble over her words, trying to think of anything to say other than, can you believe Catra's my girlfriend?! Instead, Adora settles on, "Just, uh, thinking about what Catra's planning for our date this weekend."
"Uh huh." Glimmer snorts out a laugh, "You're like a lovesick puppy in here daydreaming."
"I am not." Adora pouts as she looks down at her untouched lunch, "It's just… I've never felt like this before."
"Like what?" Glimmer says as she takes an enormous bite out of her own sandwich.
"I don't know how to describe it." Adora turns to her friend seriously, "It's like… butterflies and dread all at the same time."
"Dread?" Glimmer muffles out with a mouthful, "That's new."
"Wait, not dread…" Adora frowns and thinks about it again, "It's like my heart doesn't know how to beat on its own anymore."
"That seems serious, princess." Catra's raspy voice interrupts as she sits down opposite the pair, "Do I need to take you to the hospital?”

Adora shakes her head as she sighs out dramatically, “This is your fault, you know…”
“Your heart condition?” Catra replies as she pulls Adora’s lunch towards herself and inspects this, “What is this? Rabbit food?”
“It’s a garden salad.” Adora pulls her unopened lunch back, “And yes, my heart condition is entirely your fault.”
Catra chuckles at that, “I doubt you’ve got a heart condition Adora. I mean look at you.”
Adora looks down at herself confused, “What’s wrong with me?”
“Nothing. You’re an absolute babe.” Catra replies with a smirk, “And you’re a health and gym freak. So, in my expert opinion, I’d say you have nothing to worry about. That is… from a mathematical point of view.”
Catra grins at Adora, the blonde laughs out, covering her mouth so it’s not so loud, “Where’s your lunch today?”
“Entrapta decided to use it for some kind of science experiment.”
Catra shrugs, “But it’s all good. We’re going to catch up after and she’s going to treat me.”
Just as Adora is about to say something, Catra’s phone pings and the brunette quickly gets to her feet, “Hey! I thought we were going to have lunch together.”
“Sorry, babe. Duty calls.” Catra leans in and kisses Adora’s pouty lips, she holds up her phone and there’s a text from their principal, “Our boss, Casta, needs me to go over some of the numbers for the budget and then look over the schedules to see when we can get the western side of the building repaired.”
“Oh.”
“Finally!” Glimmer groans out, “You might need to factor in weather conditions too. I’m pretty sure there’s mould or plants starting to grow out of the walls…”
“How long has it been like that?” Adora asks.
“About 3 years, give or take.” Glimmer replies, “Remember that whole school board and money issues?” Adora nods, “Yeah, that’s why it’s taken that long.”
“Oh.” Adora nods and then turns to Catra, “Well, I guess you better get going.”
“Yeah. See you tonight?” Catra says as Adora drags her back in for one more kiss, the brunette pulls back with a grin and then turns to Glimmer, "You and your boy coming too?"

"Yes." Glimmer answers before taking another bite of her sandwich.
"Great. I'll talk to Scorp to get you guys on my list so you don't have to pay entry." Catra says as she pockets her phone, before adding, "But it'd be good if you could grab a drink and maybe some food."
"Or we could just pay the entry fee." Adora says instead.
"No way am I letting my girlfriend have to pay to see me." Catra declares, making Adora giggle, before leaning in again for a kiss, "Okay, I really have to go."
"Bye, Cat." Glimmer waves her off as Adora takes the opportunity to kiss Catra one more time and the brunette quickly exits the staff room. Glimmer rolls her eyes at Adora, "You've got it so bad."
"Mm…" Adora hums happily, still staring at the door and then turns back to Glimmer, "So, my heart condition…"
"Adora." Glimmer stops her friend, "You're such an idiot."
"I am not!" Adora whines out before looking at Glimmer, "Why?"
"Your heart condition is called love, dumbass." Glimmer states obviously before going back to her sandwich, "And don't you dare argue with me."
Adora's face goes bright red at the word love.
She doesn't argue with Glimmer as her whole body heats up as she takes in the word, love, and then finds herself smiling to herself and feeling giddy with anticipation to see Catra again.

"Hi Adora!" Scorpia greets from where she sits at the cashier/cloakroom, a big grin on her face as she waves to the blonde, "It's so good to see you again!"
"Hi Scorpia." Adora waves back as she steps towards the cashier and pulls out her wallet despite knowing she's on the brunette's list, she still pulls out her $5, placing it on the counter, "How did the rest of the market go?"
"It went really good." Scorpia beams, not acknowledging the money as Bow and Glimmer come up behind them, "Hi guys! It's so good to see you guys again too!"

Glimmer looks at the money on the counter, Adora's hand pushing it forward, "I thought we didn't have to pay the entry fee as long as we bought food and drinks tonight."
"Yep." Adora simply replies still pushing the note forward, "That's the plan."
Scorpia avoids looking at the money, "Go on in guys. And have a great night!"
"Thanks!" Bow replies happily as he grabs Adora's elbow and leads them out. Scorpia looks at the bill Adora left on the counter and turns away, pretending to busy herself with something else, Glimmer watches as Adora lets Bow drag her out, the $5 note still on the counter as both parties look away. Glimmer shrugs and slides the note towards herself and then pockets it before bidding Scorpia goodbye.

"Drinks!" Glimmer shouts out as the trio head to the bar, "First round is my shout!"
"Ooh!" Bow grins happily, "Yes!"
"Adora! Drink?" Glimmer calls out as she gets to the bar, "What do you want?"
"Just a lemonade!" Adora calls out as her friend rolls her eyes.
"Come on, Adora!" Glimmer groans, "I'm buying! Have just one."
"No, thanks." Adora politely declines, "I'd rather not."
"Okay." Glimmer nods before turning to the bartender and ordering their drinks, turning back around and handing them to her friends, "Are there any menus anywhere?"
Bow holds some menus up, "I've got some. Let's go grab a table."
They manage to snag a table on the stage side of the bar, Bow ordering for them as they wait for their meals to come out.
"Thanks for the drink, Glim." Adora says as she lifts her glass of lemonade up to her friend.
"You're very welcome." Glimmer smiles back with a nod, holding her own drink up as Bow sits back down, putting the number stand in the middle of their table, "I can't believe we've never been here."
"I know." Bow sighs, "Perfuma never mentioned it."
"Oh, she's never been here before." Adora says as she sips her drink, "Well, that's what she said at the market on the weekend, anyway."

"I wonder why…" Bow thinks to himself.
Glimmer just shrugs and sculls the rest of her beer, "Ah! Next round!"
"Glim, I think you should slow down." Adora suggest, "I'll go get you some water."
"Okay." Glimmer nods, "Thanks."
Adora gets up, "Watch my drink?"
Bow pulls it towards them, "You got it."
Adora smiles and then heads to the bar to get water for their table. She jumps when someone taps her on the shoulder, "Oh! You scared me!"
"Sorry, princess." Catra chuckles as she helps Adora grab the glasses out of her hand while the blonde grabs a bottle of water, "Didn't mean to scare you."
"It's okay." Adora smiles, "Why aren't you getting ready?"
"I am ready." Catra says as she gestures for Adora to lead the way, "It's a request night, so as long as my guitar is tuned and the microphone is turned on, I think I'm good."
Adora looks at the stage and looks at Catra slightly confused, "Then what's the keyboard for?"
"Playing." Catra answers vaguely as they get back to Adora's table, she puts the glasses down, "Sparkles. Professor." She greets Glimmer and Bow, the latter almost squealing at getting a nickname, "Did you hear Casta is planning on building Entrapta a bomb proof lab?"
"What?! No way!" Glimmer almost shouts out.
Catra laughs, "Yeah, yes way!"
"Where exactly?" Bow pipes up, "The school grounds aren't exactly the biggest."
"No idea." Catra says, "But I don't really know how to feel about that though…"
"Why?" Adora tilts her head at Catra.
"Because it means we don't get to keep doing those emergency evacuations every second day of the week." Catra replies amused, "I've got a bet with that little shit, Frosta…"
"What about exactly…?" Adora's afraid to ask.
Catra grins as she leans down and whispers into Adora's ear, "That we would get to 50 evacs by the end of the school year…"

Adora gasps, "Oh my stars, Catra!"
Catra starts to cackle as Adora shoves her playfully, "What?"
"You've totally been egging Entrapta on, haven't you?!" Adora surmises, "No wonder they've been happening more frequently."
Glimmer and Bow perk up at that, "What?!"
"Nothing. Don't worry about." Catra brushes it off before checking the time and then clears her throat, "Well, I best be off. Got work to do." Catra leans down and presses her lips on Adora's with a grin, "Mm… for good luck."
"You don't need it." Adora pulls her back in for another kiss before pushing Catra away with a giggle, "Go on. Get to work."
Catra raises an eyebrow at Adora, the same grin on her face as she takes a goofy bow before turning around and walking towards the stage.

"Is this thing on?" Catra starts talking into the microphone, actively aware not to tap it as she knows it pisses the audio tech off, she gets a thumbs up and throws one back to the tech sitting in the middle along the back wall, "Thanks Cal. Okay, how is everyone this late afternoon?"

The crowd all say something at the same time and Catra laughs.

"Well, it's Wednesday. So, we all know what that means." Catra stands in the middle of the stage and gestures to her instruments, "It wacky request Wednesday!"

The small crowd cheers loudly as Catra grins back and looks around the room, seemingly spotting someone as she waves them over.

"Netty! As promised, you get first request for tonight. What will it be?" Catra asks into the microphone.
A silver haired woman steps up towards the stage with a pensive look on her face and Catra knows it's going to be a long night of singing love songs so her and her wife can slow dance to it.

“Okay, my time is nearly up.” Catra sits at the keyboard and stretches her arms out, “One more and Cal is going to pull the plug on me.”
“Me! Me! Pick me!” Glimmer jumps up and down, a little drunk but still feeling good, “Catra!!!”
Catra rolls her eyes at the other woman, “Okay, Sparkles. Name it.”
“Can I sing too?” Glimmer asks with a hopeful look on her face, “Please!!!!”
“Ugh, really?” Glimmer nods with her best puppy dog eyes, that do absolutely nothing for Catra, but when she looks at Adora, her girlfriend is giving her the same look as she caves into that, “Get up here, Sparkles.”
Glimmer squeals out happily as she jumps to her feet and runs up to the stage, crashing into Catra who’s gotten to her feet to move her guitar out of the way, wrapping her arms a little haphazardly around the brunette, “Sorry…” she pushes herself up to her feet, “Do you know the middle?”
“There’s a ton of songs called that.” Catra says and then looks at Glimmer and shakes her head, pulling out her phone and unlocking it for the other woman, “Show me.”
Glimmer takes the phone out of Catra’s hand and quickly types it in before handing it back. The brunette turns the crowd, “Give me a second guys.” She grins at Glimmer, “Sparkles, tell some jokes for something.”
“Uh…”
Glimmer starts yammering on into the microphone with a joke about a peanut getting arrested while Catra quickly listens to the music at three times the speed, nodding it through before the crowd starts to heckle Glimmer.
“Thank you Sparkles, for your… whatever that was.” Catra starts to say as she sits back down at her keyboard.
Glimmer looks out at the crowd exasperated, “Come on! It’s funny!” she tries to convince the people waiting for them to play, “It’s a peanut. It got A-Salt-Ed! Get it?!” the crowd give her a pity clap as she huffs out at them, “Whatever. I think I’m funny.”

“Whoo! Go Glimmer! That was really funny!” Bow shouts out from his seat, “Yeah! Glimmer!”
“Go Glim!” Adora shouts out in support as well, while Catra rolls her eyes at the blonde, Adora sticks her tongue out at her girlfriend as she whoops loudly again.
“Alright, alright, wrap it up, Sparkles.” Catra chides, “Come on, we’re about to get kicked off this stage.”
“Okay. I’m ready. Are you ready?” Glimmer asks.
“Yep.” Catra replies as she looks at Glimmer, “Ready when you are, Sparkles.”
Glimmer nods and takes a deep breath, a nervous smile on her face as she looks into the crowd.

Take a seat, right over there, sat on the stairs…

…

So why don't you just meet me in the middle, middle?
In the middle, middle

“Whoo!” Bow and Adora cheer loudly as Glimmer grins back proudly, Catra comes up next to her.
“Nice one, Sparkles.” Catra nudges the woman next to her, “You did good.”
“Thanks. So did you.” Glimmer replies.
“Of course I did. It is my job.” Catra laughs, “Take a bow, diva.”
“Only if you will too.” Glimmer challenges and she wraps an arm around Catra’s shoulder and they both bow, “Stars! That was so fun!”
Catra laughs again, “Get off my stage, Sparkles.” The brunette shoves Glimmer towards the steps as Glimmer returns it with flipping her the bird, but they’re both laughing as she heads back to her table.
Stepping in front of the microphone again, Catra grins out at the crowd, “And that’s the end of my set. The main act will be on in around an hour's time so grab some more food and something to drink then come back. See you next week!"

The crowd claps a little more before dispersing away from the stage as Catra packs down her gear, she can feel her fellow teaechers standing close by as she continues what she's doing.
"How did you do that?" Glimmer asks.
"Do what?" Catra asks.
"Listen to a song in a minute and then know how to play it completely?" Glimmer clarifies, "That's… insane."
Catra turns her head and grins at Adora, "Do you think she means… ridiculous?"
Adora smiles back at her, "Maybe." The blonde comes forward, "Do you want some help?"
"Sure. Roll up those cables?" Catra points to all the XLR cables that she's just unplugged.
The trio all grab a cable each and start to roll them up, Catra peeks an eye up and looks at the trio confused. Adora's rolling the cable up over her shoulder, winding it up tightly. Glimmer is just bunching it up like old Christmas lights while Bow is doing is best to under and over it.
"What the fuck are you guys doing?" Catra asks them.
"What does it look like?" Glimmer replies as she holds out her 'rolled up' cable to Catra, "How's that?"
"Terrible. Absolutely terrible." Catra shakes her head with an incredulous smile, "I'm going to have to get a new cable…"
"Why?"
"You've probably wrecked the wires inside this cable with the way you've just… whatever you've done to this." Catra drops most of it down to the ground and starts to roll it back up properly.
"What about mine?" Adora ask sheepishly.
Catra looks at it and sighs, "Uh… you're lucky you're cute."
Adora smiles as Catra takes her cable and does the same thing and rerolls it.
"Ta da!" Bow presents his perfectly coiled cable, "How's that?"
"Perfect." Catra throws him the electrical tape to keep it together, "Nice work, professor."

Bow preens as he wraps the tape around it and then starts to reach for some other cables.

"Hey, do you want to come over tonight?" Adora asks Catra after dropping Bow and Glimmer off at their house, her fingers tapping on the steering wheel, "Or I could drop you off at home or whatever…"
"Adora." Catra puts her hand on Adora's thigh, "Yeah, I'd love to come over."
"Cool." Adora breathes out happily before putting her car back into drive.

Adora eagerly pulls Catra inside her house, the brunette chuckling as she lets herself be tugged inside and then pushed up against Adora's as soon as the front door was it shut and behind her.
"Mm… someone's eager…" Catra teases as Adora kisses the brunette with more intent, "What did it for you?"
"You do it for me." Adora replies as she wraps the brunette into a hug, "You were amazing tonight."
"I know." Catra plays off casually, "I am totally amazing."
Adora rolls her eyes as she leans in again and kisses her girlfriend again, "Yes. You are. And you're all mine."
"Totally." Catra readily agrees as she wraps her arms around Adora's waist, before letting them drop down to her thighs. The blonde yelps when Catra lifts her up, "So… where to m'lady?"
Adora squeals out a laugh, "Catra! Put me down!"
"No. Not until you tell me where you want to go." Catra grins up Adora, "So?"
"Couch?"
"Sure, princess." Catra nods and walks them a little awkwardly towards the couch, putting Adora on her feet when they reach there after the short distance, "Now what?"
"Now…" Adora pulls Catra down on top of her on the couch, "Kiss me."

“With pleasure.” Catra smiles down and delivers on what Adora has asked of her.

Saturday

“Ready to start our date?” Catra asks as she keeps her arms wrapped around Adora’s body as she presses kisses on the blonde’s neck, slowly waking Adora up, “Adora? Are you awake?”
“Mm… more sleep.” Adora grumbles as she pulls Catra’s arms tighter around her, enjoying the warmth she finds herself enveloped in, “Date later. Sleep now.”
Catra laughs softly under her breath, “I told you staying up and watch a Lord of the Rings Marathon was a bad idea.”
“Was not. You just quit.” Adora childishly whines, “We didn’t even make it to the last movie.”
“Yeah, because it was 2am by the time we finished the second one.” Catra reasons, “We’d still be watching if it was still playing. You’ve got the extended versions, princess.”
“I know.” Adora smiles to herself as she rubs her cheek against her pillow, “Made you stay, didn’t it?”
“Oh, you little minx.” Catra’s eyes widen at being tricked by her girlfriend, “You totally planned that!”
“I did.” Adora laughs proudly, “I’m an evil mastermind.”
“Uh huh.” Catra presses a kiss to Adora’s shoulder, “You could have just asked me, you know?”
“You would have expected sex.” Adora says sleepily, “And…”
“I don’t expect anything, Adora.” Catra replies, “Well, except the best damn kisses and cuddles from the most gorgeous woman I’ve ever met.”
“Darn right.” Adora turns over to face her girlfriend, “And you’re going to be overloaded with kisses and cuddles.”
They wrestle around for a while before falling back asleep only to be awoken by Catra’s alarm going off.

“Are you sure you don’t want to get changed?” Adora asks as she ties her hair up, “I can stop at your place so you can get more clothes.”
“Nah, I’m good.” Catra replies as she looks down at her trackies, “You can drop me off later. After our date.”
“Okay. Are you going to tell me where we are going?” Adora asks as she leans in, wrapping her arms around Catra’s neck, “Or am I going to be driving blind.”
“I’m directing you, princess.” Catra replies as she wraps her arms around Adora’s waist, “Are you ready to go?”
“I think so…?” Adora replies as she leans in and presses a kiss on Catra’s lips.
“Great.” Catra pecks Adora on the lips before grinning, “I’ll grab the water bottles and we can get going.”
“Okay.” Adora says as Catra pulls out of their hug and picks up the 2 water bottles and shoves them into her backpack, throwing it over her shoulders and heading to the door.
Hurry up, princess!” Catra calls out with a laugh as Adora scrambles to grab her keys and then slides her shoes on, bending down to tie the laces as Catra leans against the wall next to the door.
Adora stands up with a smile, “I’m ready.”

“Are you kidding me?!” Adora says excitedly when she sees the signs for the adventure park up ahead, “Is this where we’re going?”
Catra nods, “You bet, babe.”
Adora smiles wider, “I’ve been wanting to go since I got here but I haven’t had anyone to go with…”
“Why do you need to go with anyone?” Catra asks, “You’re allowed to come here solo.”
“I know that.” Adora rolls her eyes, “But, I guess it’s nicer with someone you… like…?”
Catra chuckles, “Just like?”
Adora blushes, her mind starts screaming out the word, love, repeatedly. Loudly. The word sits on her tongue as she glances over at Catra, “I uh…”

Catra puts her hand on Adora's thigh and gives it a squeeze, "No pressure, princess. I like you too. More than like actually." Adora turns her head to the brunette with a raised eyebrow as Catra grins back, "Call it… an attraction."
"Is that all I am to you?" Adora feigns hurt "Just… an attraction?"
"Fishing for compliments, are we?" Catra says with amusement.
"What? Me? Never." Adora smiles back.
"Well, too late. I have plenty of compliments for my girlfriend." Catra replies matter of factly, "You are very attractive. Gorgeous even. More than gorgeous. Absolutely stunning. More than stunning. You are…"
"Catra! Stop." Adora whines out embarrassed by Catra gushing about her, "I'm trying to drive!"
"Drive then, princess." Catra waves her forward, "But can I at least finish?"
"One more." Adora says as she pats Catra's hand on her thigh.
Catra grins back, squeezing Adora's thigh one more time, "You are… perfect."

Adora parks up, Catra getting out and grabbing her backpack and then Adora's hand.
"This way." Catra gestures forward towards the ticket booth, "Don't you dare try to pay. I've got this one."
"Okay." Adora reluctantly agrees as Catra pulls her wallet and pays, the blonde leaning in and then whispers in Catra's ear, "Don't worry. I'll treat you later…"
Catra grins, still looking forward as she collects her change, "Can't wait."
They go through the turnstiles and Adora's eyes widen when she looks up and then turns to Catra, "What do you want to do first?"
"Rope course in the treetops." Catra instantly replies, "Then we can zip line down after."
"Yes!" Adora punches the air and then grabs Catra's hand pulling her forward before she gets an idea, grinning at her girlfriend excitedly, "Race yo… hey! No fair! Come back!"
Catra cackles as she sprints off towards the start of the ropes course before Adora could even finish her challenge, “Catch me if you can, princess!”

Chapter End Notes

Wow... so much fluff!
It's nice to counteract my other fic with something light.

Will the next chapter be the last or will it continue on a little longer...
I guess you'll have to wait and find out...

Thanks for reading, kudos and comments.

Confessions

Chapter Summary

Second half of the date!

Chapter Notes

Final chapter yo!
Sad face - because it is the last chapter...

Enjoy!

See the end of the chapter for more notes

“Stars! That was so much fun!” Adora beams as they get out of their harnesses and return them to the attendant, thanking them in the process before Catra grabs Adora’s hand and pulls her towards the exit, the blonde turning to Catra, smile still so wide across her face, “Thank you for this amazing date, Catra.”
“It’s not over yet, princess.” Catra grins and Adora quirks an eyebrow at her, “Did you really think this would be it?”
“Well yeah… it’s already been amazing so far. You don’t have to…” Adora starts to say as Catra silences her with a kiss, “Mm… what else have you got planned?”
“It’s a surprise.” Catra replies still wrapped up in Adora’s arms around her shoulders, “Reckon you’re good to drive?”
“What kind of date is this?” Adora says with a faux look of surprise, “I have to drive myself and the person who’s meant to be taking me out on this date?”
Catra grimaces a little and Adora does the same in guilt, “I uh, I don’t have a licence…”
“I know. I’m sorry.” Adora apologises, resting her forehead on Catra’s, “It was just meant to be a joke. I didn’t mean anything by it.”
“I know.” Catra repeats with a sigh, “Sparkles has volunteered Bow to teach me.”
“Yeah?”

“Yes.” Catra manages to smile a little, “Guess I should start studying for the theory test, huh?”
“I could help you with that. I’m very… studious… Rumour has it I’m a pretty good teacher…” Adora says with a soft smile on her lips, “Perhaps a rewards based system would be advantageous…”
Catra shivers in Adora’s arms at the mere thought of Adora providing… rewards, “You’re going to get me all worked up before the second half of this date, princess.”
“Is that a bad thing?” Adora leans in for a kiss.
“No. Definitely not…” Catra replies breathlessly after the kiss, “But I really want to do this second half of the date though…”
“Mm…are you sure I can’t tempt you with… something else?” Adora whispers into Catra’s ear seductively, “Perhaps something that doesn’t require… clothes?”
Catra breathes out shakily, “My, Ms Grey… so forward…”
“What can I say? I know what I want…” Adora presses a kiss on Catra’s cheek, “So? What do you say?”
“I’d say that you’re trying to seduce me.” Catra replies with a grin, “Not that I’m complaining… but, I really do want to do this second part of the date.”
Adora sighs dramatically, “Okay. This is your date after all.”
“It our date, not just mine.” Catra grins wider, “Come on, it won’t even take that long, and we can do naked things after.”
“Promise?”
“Promise.” Catra presses a kiss on Adora’s pouty lips, “Now, come on miss driver lady.”
Adora laughs as Catra pulls them out and towards Adora’s car.

“Catra. What are we doing here?” Adora says as she looks at the locked gates of wherever Catra’s brought them.
“Just like old times, right?” Catra steps towards the gate and contemplates it for a moment before reaching into her pocket and pulling out some tools, “Cover me, princess.”
“What? Catra!” Adora quickly steps in front of her girlfriend and providing ‘cover’, trying to act nonchalant while Catra breaks the law, she whisper-shouts out, “What are you doing?!”
“Almost there…”

CLICK

"Yes!" Catra jumps and quickly pockets her tools before pushing the gate open, wincing when it creaks loudly, "After you m'lady."
Adora stares at Catra, "This is definitely illegal. Breaking and entering…"
Catra laughs, "It really isn't. Trust me."
Adora raises her eyebrow at Catra, definitely not believing that, "That's what you said the first day we met. Good thing Casta is easily distracted. But this?"
"We aren't breaking in." Catra replies as she pulls out her 'tools' to reveal a key, "My friend Rog works here. I asked if I could hire out the space tonight as a favour."
"Okay…"
"Basically, next request night, he's got first dibs on requests so him and his boyfriend can dance to it." Catra admits in a flurry, "So, yeah, not breaking in."
"Oh." Adora seems to calm down by that explanation, "Are you sure we are allowed to though?"
Catra sighs, she knew that Adora would probably not be onboard with this, so she pulls out her phone and dials up someone, "Hey, Rog. Yeah, it's me." She looks at Adora, "Yeah, we're here. And yes, you were right." She holds the phone away from here ear and Adora can hear laughter on the other end of it, "Dude, seriously? I need you to tell Adora that I'm not breaking in. And that I'm okay to be here tonight."
Catra holds her phone out to Adora, "What?"
"He wants to talk to you." Catra simply says.
"Uh, okay…" Adora takes the phone and raises it to her ear, "Hello?"

"I have to meet him and Kyle!" Adora laughs as she follows Catra up a set of spiral stairs, "He said he has so many embarrassing stories to tell me!"
Catra rolls her eyes good naturedly at the blonde, "I'm sure he does."
"Where are we going?" Adora asks as she starts to feel the lactic acid build up in her legs from climbing the stairs, “How much further?”

“What’s wrong, princess? Can’t handle some stairs?” Catra jokes as she stops to let her girlfriend catch her breath, “It’s only a few more flights to go.”
“Seriously?” Adora groans as she looks up at the never-ending staircase, “I’m not going to make it, not with this backpack on.”
“Yes, you are.” Catra says with a grin before remember Samwise from the last Lord of the Rings movie, coming down a few steps so she’s standing below Adora, the blonde yelps as Catra picks her up and delivers the line, “I can’t carry it for you… but I can carry you!”
Adora squeals out in both fear and giddiness as Catra carries her up the staircase carefully, in her laughter she manages to say, “You so could carry my backpack, Sam!”

Catra finally puts Adora back down onto her own two feet once they get to door at the very top, the brunette panting hard as she tries to catch her breath, slumped against the door as Adora shakes her head at her girlfriend, “You didn’t have to carry me the whole way up, idiot.”
Catra tries to grin but ends up coughing instead, Adora quickly patting her on the back before removing her backpack and pulling out a water bottle, “Thank… you… princess.”
“Idiot.” Adora repeats as she helps Catra recover, “Now what?”
“Open the door.” Catra instructs as she takes a few steady breathes.
“It’s locked.” Adora says as she turns to Catra, “We did not just go up a zillion stairs just to be locked out at the very top, did we?”
“No.” Catra swallows down, “It shouldn’t be locked.”
“Well, it is.” Adora sighs before looking at the stairs and wincing, the thought of going straight back down daunting, “What do we do now?”
Catra pushes herself back upright and feels around her pockets, “Ah, here we go.”
“What?”
Catra holds up her lock picking tools and grins, “Don’t worry, this is fine."

"Uh… you're picking a lock… how is that fine?" Adora asks.
"Cover me." Catra says with a grin despite there being no one around due to the fact they got in with a key.
"You're an idiot." Adora shakes her head.

CLICK

"Got it!" Catra grins as she holds up the key in her hand, "Gotcha!"
"Oh, you!" Adora shoves Catra playfully and the latter uses that momentum to swing Adora into her arms for a kiss, "You totally planned this."
"Of course, I did." Catra preens, "I did plan this date, after all."
Catra opens the door, letting Adora walk through first, "What is this place?"
"Tallest place in all of Bright Moon, well, according to Rog." Catra says as she wraps a rope around the door handle to prop it open, "Anyway, come over here."
Adora lets Catra tug her around the corner to find 2 camping chairs set up facing the sunset, "Wow… you really went all out, huh?"
"Sure did." Catra grins again, "Sit."
Adora takes the seat on the right as Catra settles on the chair on the left, the brunette grabbing Adora's hand, intertwining their fingers as she sighs happily. Adora smiles at the brunette, "This is amazing."
"I know." Catra says staring right back at Adora.
They sit holding hands and watching the sunset in a comfortable silence.

Adora pulls Catra inside her house, foregoing turning on the lights as she leads them into her bedroom. Their lips constantly against one another's as Catra pushes Adora onto her bed and then pounces right on top for more kisses.
"Mm…" Adora hums happily.
"So?" Catra says as she rolls off to the side and rests her head on her hand.

"Hm?"
"So, how was your date?" Catra asks with a grin.
"You tell me?" Adora raises an eyebrow up at the brunette.
"I think…" Catra pretends to think, "It went really well if I've got you in bed. And look at that, I didn't have to even buy you dinner."
Adora rolls her eyes but brings Catra in for a kiss, the mention of food has the blonde's stomach growling, the pair breaking apart in laughter, "I guess you might have to buy me dinner after all."
"Buy you dinner?" Catra asks with a look of amusement on her face, "What have you got in here? I bet you've got stuff we can make dinner with."
"I actually need to hit the shops to restock…" Adora admits shyly, "There's really not much since I usually do all my meal preps on Sunday."
Catra grins, "Challenge accepted, princess." The brunette gets off the bed, "Come on, I'm sure we can whip up something with whatever you've got in your kitchen."

"Guess you were wrong, princess." Catra laughs as they walk back from the small restaurant on the corner.
"About what?" Adora asks rubbing her stomach that's now full.
"Looks like dinner will get you into bed." Catra grins looking over at the blonde.
"Nope." Adora turns her head up in defiance.
"No?" Catra quirks an eyebrow.
"Nope. Definitely not tonight and not after that dinner." Adora points out.
"Why not? What was wrong with dinner?" Catra asks a little confused.
"Nothing was wrong with dinner. It was really good." Adora replies still patting her full stomach, "I think I'm going to hurl if we do anything more than cuddle when we get back."
"Oh." Catra starts to laugh, "I guess that wouldn't be too good for a first time, huh?"
"No, definitely not." Adora agrees with a smile, "I don't know about you but that's not a kink I'm into."

"Vomit-play?
"Gross." Adora sticks her tongue out.
Catra laughs a little harder, "Well, there's other 'plays' that…"
"Don't you dare finish that sentence." Adora groans out, "I'm too full to think about playing at all."
"Mm…" Catra nods, "Well, maybe no fun time tonight… what do you think about in the morning?"
"So presumptuous." Adora smirks at the brunette, "What makes you think you'll be staying the night?"
"You don't want me to stay the night?" Catra returns, "Because I can always kiss you goodnight and then go home, princess."
Adora stops and pulls Catra into for a hug, her arms around the brunette's neck, "You really aren't going to try to convince me to let you stay?"
"No." Catra replies simply, "I'll stay only if you want me to. But if you want me to go, then I can do that too."
"Don't you dare." Adora narrows her eyes at Catra, the brunette leaning in and resting her forehead against Adora's, the blonde whispers out, "Stay. Stay with me forever."
Catra smiles up, "Always."

Adora wakes up in Catra's arms.
She hears her alarm go off and winces at how loud it is as she tries to reach out to turn it off.
"Why do you have an alarm on Sunday?" Catra grumbles as she releases Adora so the blonde can grab her phone and turn off the alarm.
"Sorry." Adora whispers back before turning over and staring at Catra's sleeping face, "Morning…"
"Morning." Catra replies with her eyes still closed, "What time is it?"
"630am." Adora replies as she places her hand on Catra's cheek, "Too early?"
"Much too early." Catra snuggles into Adora's warm hand, "Mm… why do you have a 630am alarm?"
"I usually go running in the mornings." Adora whispers out.

“Well, don’t mind me.” Catra slowly opens her eyes and a small smile appears on her lips as she sees Adora looking at her, “Go get your exercise. I’m going to stay right here and hold down the fort… or bed. Keep the bed warm…”
Adora giggles, “No, I think I might skip this morning.”
“Mmhm…” Catra hums out as she turns to lie on her back, “Wouldn’t want you to miss out on your run, princess…”
“I can run later.” Adora says as she moves her hand and rests it on Catra’s stomach, her thumb moving in circles as she gets closer, “I’m thinking of a different kind of exercise right now…”
“Are you now?” Catra says without looking at Adora, “And what exercise would that be?”
Adora moves up, her hand back on Catra’s cheek as she turns the brunette’s head slightly and captures her lips, “This kind.”
“Oh, the kissing kind.” Catra chuckles, “And here I was hoping for the naked kind… oh well…”
Adora presses more kisses on Catra’s lips, smiling in between breaths, “If you want to…”
“Oh, I very well want to.” Catra turns back onto her side and runs her hands up Adora’s back and thighs, “Mm… are sure you’re not still too full?”
Adora pulls back and laughs, “You’re ruining the mood!”
Catra laughs as well, “Am I?”
“Yes.”
“Mm…” Catra pulls Adora back down for another kiss, “What can I do to get you back in the mood?”
Adora’s breath hitches when Catra’s lips move from Adora’s and around her jaw and then onto her neck, “No marks…”
“Yes marks.” Catra teases, “Just only where I can see…”
“Okay…” Adora breathes out shakily and then Catra yelps when the blonde pushes her onto her back, “What about you?”
“What about me?”
“Marks?”
Catra grins mischievously, “I have no qualms about being marked as yours, princess… do you?”
Adora blushes at that thought and then stills, “Did you just say…? That you want to be mine?”
“Yes.” Catra replies with certainty, “I only want to be yours.”

“Stars…” Adora breathes out as Catra pulls her back down for another kiss, “I want to be yours…”
“So be it.” Catra grins up, “Be mine. Forever.”
“Mm… forever.” Adora smiles into another kiss, “I… I think…”
“I feel it too, princess.” Catra whispers.
“Hm?”
“I feel it.” Catra repeats before leaning up to whisper in Adora’s ear, “I love you.”
Adora’s eyes widen hearing those words, “You do?”
“I never believed in love at first sight until I met you, Adora.” Catra pushes back a few stray hairs back behind Adora’s ear, “And you’ve got me falling so hard that I would do everything and anything for you.”
“Like… illegal things?” Adora teases.
“Yes. And much more.” Catra grins, “Even the sappy shit you see in those rom-coms.”
“Huh.” Adora smiles back.
Catra looks up, a sly look on her face, “My… precious…”
“Stars! No!” Adora pulls back and laughs.
“What?” Catra pretends to not know, “What did I say?”
Adora stifles her laughter and leans back in, “I love you too, skatercat.”
“Great. Now, one can not simply walk into Mord-oof!” Catra starts to laugh again as Adora shoves the brunette playfully and shaking her head, but the blonde has a smile on her face, “Ow… okay! Okay, I’m done.” Catra sighs out happily, “So… I love you and you love me… does this mean naked time is back on the table?”
Adora pretends to think before leaning back down again and whispering into Catra’s ear, “Yes.”
“Great!” Catra kisses Adora intensely, her hands touching as much of her girlfriend as possible before she flips them over, “Reckon we should pull a sicky on Monday?”
“Just Monday?” Adora looks up a little breathless.
Catra turns her head to think, “You’re right.”
“I am?”
“Yes, we should take the whole week off.” Catra declares, “Because you’re going to need the week to get rid of all the marks

I’m going to give you!”
Adora squeals out as Catra starts to nip and mark the blonde up.

Suffice to say, they both pulled sickies for the rest of the week.

And Catra eventually got her learner’s and learnt to drive with Bow’s instruction.

Adora never stepped foot on another skateboard.

Glimmer wasn’t allowed back on stage to tell any jokes, but sometimes was allowed to sing.

Catra also lost the bet with Frosta as Entrapta only got to 48 evacuations for the school year.

Chapter End Notes

And THE END!

I hope this was as fun for you to read as it was for me to write.
I found myself smiling as I wrote this fluff, which I hope has helped lightened your day too.
But alas, it must come to an end - mostly because I hate having unfinished works...

Thank you to everyone that's taken the time to read, comment and throw kudos my way.
I'm sure I'll be writing more fluff down the track again when I hear a happy song or something.
😁🤗

End Notes

Thanks for reading!

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!