The Cat's Business

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/68370041.

Rating:
Teen And Up Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Catra (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Adora (She-Ra), Melog (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Canon, Post-Canon, Fluff, Humor, gross humor, Funny, Adora is a Dork (She-Ra), Alien Biology, Crystals, rocks, Catra & Glimmer Friendship (She-Ra), Adora and Catra sharing a braincell

Language:
English

Series:
Part 103 of Catradora: After The End

Stats:
Published: 2025-07-29 Words: 1,520 Chapters: 1/1

The Cat’s Business

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/68370041.

Rating:
Teen And Up Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Catra (She-Ra), Glimmer (She-Ra), Adora (She-Ra), Melog (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Canon, Post-Canon, Fluff, Humor, gross humor, Funny, Adora is a Dork (She-Ra), Alien Biology, Crystals, rocks, Catra & Glimmer Friendship (She-Ra), Adora and Catra sharing a braincell

Language:
English

Series:
Part 103 of Catradora: After The End

Stats:
Published: 2025-07-29 Words: 1,520 Chapters: 1/1

The Cat’s Business

by TheStarGayzingEtherianCollection (TheStarGayzingEtherian)

Summary

A walk with Melog leads to Catra making a rather fascinating discovery… and the opportunity to play the biggest prank in history on a certain sparkly friend of hers. (Catradora, Canon, Fluff)

Notes

See the end of the work for notes

If Catra was honest, Brightmoon might have been the most beautiful kingdom on Etheria. As she found herself walking alongside one of the vast lakes that surrounded the kingdom, taking in the scenery and feeling the cool breeze flow around her, she let out a sigh. Never in her life had she guessed that taking nature walks would be something that would relax her. Though of course, she wasn't exactly taking this particular stroll alone.

Scampering ahead of her at great speed was Melog, the alien creature eagerly leading Catra along. Much like Catra, Melog greatly preferred life in Brightmoon, especially over her original homeworld of Krytis which for most of her life had been a barren lifeless planet. Etheria was the complete opposite, teaming with life and other wonders that made Melog feel as though she was in paradise.

And the happiness Melog felt transferred to Catra through their mental bond, a comforting feeling for Catra, knowing that no matter what, she was never going to be alone. But she knew she and Melog probably should be starting to head back home.

"We'll go to the other side of the lake and head for home, alright girl?" Catra told her companion.

Melog mewled in affirmation, scampering ahead of Catra. But a few moments later, Melog suddenly stopped and mewled, making little whining and whimpering sounds. Catra didn't need to have a telepathic bond with Melog to know what she needed to do.

"Really? Here?" Catra groaned. "Come on, Melog, can you really not hold it in till we get home?"

A loud, grumpy meow from Melog answered otherwise.

"Fine, fine," Catra grumbled as she saw Melog bending over, the alien creature preparing to do her business as her tail was sticking straight up in the air. As much as Catra was glad to have Melog around as her cat, did she have to have copied... every aspect of cat biology? Perhaps in some way, Melog found this fascinating, the joys of experiencing an actual digestive system,, but to Catra it was something she wished she could do without. Catra looked away, mentally preparing for the fact she'd likely have to clean up whatever mess Melog was about to deposit on the grass.

At least they were in the middle of nowhere where no one would be able to see them, saving Catra from embarrassment.

"Just... get it over and done with, girl," Catra sighed impatiently, as Melog paced around.

Finally, Melog let out a sigh of relief... and Catra then heard the sound of something rather heavy leave a hard thump as it hit the ground. Catra's eyes widened, not expecting that. She wasn't expecting something so... solid.

"What the heck kinda dump was that?!" Catra exclaimed, before the looked around and saw Melog standing proudly beside her business, her tail swishing happily from side to side. As Catra took in the sight of.... what Melog had done, she admitted that it certainly wasn't like anything Catra had ever seen, but as she looked at it closely... an idea began to form in her mind. A very naughty idea indeed.

Melog sensed what Catra's idea was and snickered.

"Glad to see you approve, girl," Catra replied, as she reached up and picked up the alien's droppings and placed it in her jacket's pocket. "Now... let's go pay a visit to Sparkles."

A while later, Catra and Melog had returned to Brightmoon, heading down the hallway that led to Glimmer's study. Fortunately for Catra, the door was open and she could hear the sound of Glimmer humming as she worked. This was going to go even more smoothly than she thought it would. As she arrived, she leaned inside, seeing Glimmer working at her desk. Then, Catra tapped on the door.

"Hey, Sparkles, you got a moment?"

"Hi, Catra!" Glimmer greeted her, looking up from the papers on her desk. "Oh sure, I was almost done with some paperwork. Can I do something for you?"

"Actually, I've got something for you !" Catra replied. "A little present for my favourite queen in the universe."

"Awww, that's sweet of you.... what is it? This isn't a prank right?"

Oh if only Glimmer knew. "Oh no, totally not a prank. Here let me..." Catra reached into her jacket and took the item out of the pocket, placing it on the desk before Glimmer. To Glimmer's surprise, it was a small dark rock with glowing, shimmering blue crystals jutting out of it, some of the most dazzling ones Glimmer had ever seen. And considering the vast crystal caves that ran beneath Brightmoon were full of similar shimmering wonders, that was saying something.

"It's... beautiful!" Glimmer chirped, taking the rock. "Awww, thank you, Catra. I've never seen anything like it! I didn't think crystals like this grew near Brightmoon."

"Well, apparently they do. I just... stumbled on it while taking Melog for a walk," Catra explained. "Amazing what you find just lying on the ground. I figured you'd like it, being the Queen of sparkly things and all!"

"Oh, it's definitely going on my desk for sure!" Glimmer insisted, placing the rock down. She felt its surface. "Oh it's rather warm."

"Well, it was in my pocket for the last few minutes."

"No, it feels like its warmth coming from the rock... weird," Glimmer admitted. "But eh, I've seen weirder rocks."

It was at that moment Adora poked her head around the corner of the doorframe. "Hey girls!" She chirped before seeing the rock on Glimmer's desk. "Woah, that's a really pretty rock!"

"Catra gave it to me! She apparently found it while walking Melog," Glimmer explained.

"Aw that's sweet of you, Catra!" Adora walked inside and touched the rock. "Oooh, it's kinda warm!"

"I know right?! So weird!" Glimmer added. "And it doesn't really feel like a rock either, it's kinda soft and a bit squishy in places."

Catra was barely holding it together, trying to keep a straight face. She would never have suspected that it would fool both Adora and Glimmer this well.

"Do you know where I could get one of these, Catra?" Adora asked. "I've been kinda building up a little collection of rocks and crystals as a hobby and this would go great with that!"

The felid chuckled, tucking a lock of her hair behind one of her ears and folding her arms in a very smug manner. "Well, like I told Sparkles, I just found it. But uh... if I stumble onto one like it again, you'll be the first to know!"

"Well, I gotta finish off the rest of my paperwork," Glimmer admitted. "But thanks for the gift, Catra."

"Anything for you, Sparkles," Catra said with a toothy grin, before she walked out.

Adora followed her girlfriend, raising her eyebrow. "So... where did you find that rock anyway?"

Catra looked away, hoping Adora wouldn’t try and pry any further but this was Adora and if she knew anything about the love of her, it was that she was very persistent over even the most minor of things. "I told you, I just found it. There’s nothing more to add.”

"Yeah, but where . Like by the lake? Near the woods? C’mon Catra, give me a hint here!”

"Just.... somewhere." God, Adora didn’t give up without a fight did she?

"Look, I wanna go look for it myself!" Adora insisted. "Come on, Catra, pretty please!!!" She was doing her big puppy eyes. Curse Adora and her knowing exactly what to do to get Catra to do whatever she wanted. But then again, Catra did have bigger plans for this little endeavour… and having a partner in crime wouldn’t exactly hurt.

"Alright, dork," Catra sighed. "If you must know.... it's not actually a rock."

"It's... It's not?"

"Well, it sort of is but uh..." Catra cleared her throat. "It didn't exactly come from the ground."

"Okay, so where did it come from?"

Catra gave Adora a knowing smirk and then looked over at Melog, who was innocently staring at the two of them.

Adora's eyes widened when it finally all clicked. "Wait, it's not.... no.... NO!"

The look on Adora's face made Catra's composure break and she laughed her head off. "YEP!"

"But you... you gave Glimmer...."

"Got it in one, dummy. I knew you'd figure it out!"

"You gave Glimmer Melog's poop !" Adora exclaimed in a hushed whisper. “There is a literal lump of shapeshifting alien feces on Glimmer’s desk!”

"And the best part is that she has no idea what it really is! She's probably seen so many different rocks and crystals living here in Brightmoon, she'll never suspect it." Catra then smirked at Adora. "Now... are you gonna keep the secret?"

Adora giggled and nodded. "Yes, actually, because yeah... Glimmer has literal poop on her desk!"

"That's my girl!" Catra giggled, glad that Adora found this whole thing as hilarious as she did. "Think we should uh... give the others the gift of Melog's droppings?"

"Absolutely yes!" Adora agreed, knowing this was probably going to be the best prank the two of them had ever pulled off.

End Notes

Yes, you have just read 1500 words of a Catradora fic about poop! I suspect people are going to tell me I've offically jumped the shark writing this one xD

Jokes aside, I had the very, very loose idea for this one based on this art by Ilikeyoucatradora I stumbled on while going through their blog the other day: https://ilikeyoucatradora.tumblr.com/post/768691533194084352/get-more-from-ilikeyoucatradora-on-patreon#notes

I know this is probably one of my more out there fics, but I hope you like nonethess. And if you did like it, please be sure to comment!

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!