Da mi.../Give to me...

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/67269082.

Rating:
Teen And Up Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Fluff, Kissing, One Shot, Alternate Universe - College/University, Math Major Catra, Classics Major Adora, Latina Lingua, with translations, Magicat Catra

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2025-07-08 Words: 1,974 Chapters: 1/1

Da mi…/Give to me…

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/67269082.

Rating:
Teen And Up Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
F/F

Fandom:
She-Ra and the Princesses of Power (2018)

Relationship:
Adora/Catra (She-Ra)

Characters:
Adora (She-Ra), Catra (She-Ra)

Additional Tags:
Fluff, Kissing, One Shot, Alternate Universe - College/University, Math Major Catra, Classics Major Adora, Latina Lingua, with translations, Magicat Catra

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2025-07-08 Words: 1,974 Chapters: 1/1

Da mi.../Give to me...

by CherryBerry5

Summary

Catra and Adora often spend their study time right next to one another. Their generally good about staying on task, they do want to graduate after all. However, sometimes they can get distracted...

Teen rating just for swearing.

Notes

See the end of the work for notes

It was sophomore year at Brightmoon University. It was a prestigious college, well known for its medical and pre-law programs. Adora and Catra had started dating during their freshman year. So, they made sure that they became roommates and could share a dorm together this year.

Catra is a Math major. She wasn't exactly sure what she was going to do with it yet. Maybe she could do engineering or whatever else that pays the big bucks. Though she did also genuinely enjoy it. Yeah yeah, she could just call herself a nerd and be done with it, but she really had a knack for it. There was a high level of logic and pattern recognition. Every problem was just a puzzle that she wanted to solve. It was all the more satisfying to get that rush when she got the right answer. It was just fun. Adora always used to tease her because she would do sudoku whenever she was bored. However, the blonde would always get her a new book whenever she noticed that the Magicat had completed one.

Adora, on the other hand, hated math. She was able to get by in high school, but it always gave her a lot of anxiety. Numbers always gave her a lot of trouble, and she felt a lot of pressure to keep her grades up. Being brought up in foster care under that wretched Mrs. Weaver had done a lot of damage. At least her adoptive parents, Mara and Hope, gave the poor blonde a lot more freedom to discover what it was that she wanted to study in college. At first, she started on the pre-veterinary track. She had always loved animals and did a lot to help care for her mother’s horses. However, such a major involved a lot of math and science. She quickly figured out that she wouldn’t be up to the task by the end of her first semester. Though she had been taking Latin that first semester. It was just because she knew it was good for learning medical terms and whatnot. The jock had been afraid to take the language; she had always heard about how hard of a language it was. However, she was a natural at the language. It was regular, easy to predict, and fascinating. She learned all the nuances of grammar in addition to the vocabulary. In addition to the language, she was introduced to studies of ancient Rome and the greater Mediterranean. She had switched to a Classics major before the end of her freshman year.

The pair were still early in their respective majors. Of course, that meant they had boatloads of homework each week. Most of it just felt like busy work. Catra wished that the college would've accepted the dual credit math courses that she took in high school. The homework she had was piss easy, there was just so much of it!

Adora wasn't in any better of a boat. She had completed 100-level Latin last year. So now, she is taking upper level classes for that language and is taking beginning level Greek. Even with her natural affinity for languages, needing to balance the two was a difficult learning curve.

Their dorm was cramped. There were just a few feet between their beds. As expected, the mattresses were only twin-sized. There was just enough room to have desks right next to each other on the eastern side. A mini-fridge was tucked at the foot of the Magicat's bed. Both girls were laid together on Catra's bed. Their backs laid against the cold stone walls. Only a few pillows helped them sit in a more comfortable position. Catra had a tablet laid on her lap and a notebook and textbook laid at her side. She was hard at work solving multistep homework problems. Her eyebrows were knit together in intense focus. Adora had finished her Greek homework. She was lounging on her girlfriend's left shoulder; their hands were intertwined. Even when they were working, they often did it while holding hands whenever possible. It was only made possible by the fact that Adora was a leftie. She was reviewing a book of Latin poetry for one of her upper level classes. She snuggled more into the brunette's shoulder while reading her book.

Catra glanced at the blonde. She would have smiled, but upon looking back at her homework and seeing that she had at least 30 minutes worth of work left, it made her audibly groan. She had already been working for, like, over an hour!

“More stupid, multi-step problem thingies?” Adora asked, glancing up from her book.

“Yeah…” Her tail was thumping the bed in irritation. Then she felt a squeeze of her hand.

“I’ll be right here, you got this.” The blonde reassured.

So Catra continued scribbling and solving. At least 15 minutes had passed in complete silence. Her ear flicked when she heard a soft giggle come from the girl on her shoulder. Her eyes bounced toward the source of the sound. They caught the sight of soft blues staring back before they quickly looked back toward the book in her hand. Silence only returned for a minute before the Latin lover giggled again. This time she lifted her hand that still held Catra’s and placed a soft kiss on the back of the tan girl’s hand. The blonde then turned her attention back to her book. Catra wasn’t even sure if the girl was studying anymore because a second later, she kissed her hand again. She started to kiss each knuckle of the Magicat’s hand.

The hair on the Magicat’s tail bristled, and it began thumping on the bed more than before. She scrambled to finish the last damn homework problem. Once the final answer was submitted, she closed her tablet. Then with one hand, she set it with her notebook at the foot of her bed. The mane of dark brown hair flung wildly as she turned to face her girlfriend. The blonde was still leaning on the smaller girl’s shoulder. She looked softly into heterochromatic eyes and fluttered a kiss onto her shoulder.

“There, fucking done.” Catra huffed, “What have you been giggling at anyway?”

A stupidly smug smile spread across Adora’s face. She shifted to sit up better, lifting her back away from the wall and facing her girlfriend. She rested her hands on her thighs.

“Vivamus mea Catra, atque amemus,” The foreign words spilled from the blonde’s lips.

It took Catra a moment to realize that Adora was speaking Latin. Fucking nerd. "You know I don't speak cursive right?" She jabbed. Adora shrugged and continued

"Rumoresque senum severiorum; omnes unius aestimemus assis!" She gestured her arms in a dramatic sweeping motion before holding up a single finger.

"Soles occidere et redire possunt" Adora raised her arm, with her elbow at a right angle. Slowly, her hand floated down to rest on her other arm.

"Nobis cum semel occidit brevis lux; nox est perpetua una dormienda." The Latinist put her hands together and laid her head on them, gently cradling herself.

"Da mi-" She stopped. Her hand reached out to cup the side of Catra's face, "basia mille," She kissed the Magicat's cheek. "deinde centum;" Then her other cheek

"dein mille altera," A peck to the corner of her jaw.

"dein secunda centum;" A soft brush to the base of the Magicat's velvet-y ear. That one caused her to squeak.

"deinde usque altera mille," A smooch to the tip of her nose.

"deinde centum." The blonde began to pepper kisses over the brunette's cheeks. She ended with a kiss to the corner of her lips.

Catra was thoroughly flustered by this. Her tail was lashing, her body tense. She could feel the heat of her face and the rest of her body rise. They had kissed before! Hell, they'd done much more than kissing. But this was new. It was sugary and sappy. It made Catra's heart flutter. It made the Magicat forget about every frustration she had with her homework earlier.

Adora let out another soft chuckle before continuing, "Dein, cum milia multa fecerimus," She laced her hands with Catra's.

"Conturbabimus illa, ne sciamus;" Adora leaned forward and rested her forehead against her flustered girlfriend's.

"Aut ne quis malus inuidere possit," She gently bumped her nose against Catra's, "cum tantum sciat esse basiorum." Adora brushed her lips against the Magicat's; they were quivering.

Catra pushed forward, crashing their lips together. Her tail was frantic against the sheets. She was so tense that her claws were forced just barely out of their sheathes. When they separated, the brunette was first to speak.

"So, what was your little monologue and teasing all about?" She panted. Her heart was still trying to catch up to her.

"Just a little poem I had been studying for class. Well I uhh, changed one thing," Adora beamed, "I just thought… it was really sweet…" She suddenly became bashful, looking away.

Catra untangled one of her hands from the blonde's, "You wanna tell me what it means then?" She deadpanned. Although the kisses were flustering, she still had no idea what she had been told.

"Of course! I need more translation practice." The Latinist cleared her throat:

"Let us live, my Catra, and let us love," Adora's face softened.

"And let us judge all the rumors of the old men to be worth only one cent!" The blonde made another sweeping gesture with her free hand. It ended with her holding up a single finger.

"The suns can set and rise:" Adora changed from mimicking the previous movements from her original performance of the poem. She leaned forward. Tucking to the side of her girlfriend's head.

Catra naturally rubbed her cheek against Adora's. Her chest rumbled with a warm purr.

“When that brief light has fallen for us, we must sleep a perpetual night.” She spoke much quieter. The blonde wrapped her arms around the Magicat's waist, giving a light squeeze.

“Give to me-” Adora pulled her head away. Her hand gently turned the smaller girl's chin so they were facing each other.

“A thousand kisses,” She teased a smooch to the corner of Catra's lips.

“Then another hundred,” Adora paused, as if unsure where to give affection next.

Catra wasn't having it. She leaned forward and let her lips greet the blonde's. It was a brief, chaste kiss. She pulled back, looking expectantly.

“Then another thousand,” Adora sounded breathy. She firmly pressed her lips against Catra's.

“Then a second hundred,” And another.

“Then yet another thousand more,” their lips melted into a much deeper kiss. They rested their foreheads together for a few moments when they separated.

“Then another hundred.” Adora gave a quick peck to the tip of the brunette's nose. Catra let out a light giggle in response.

“Then, when we have made many thousands, we will mix them all up so that we don't know,” Adora pulled herself back. Her hands now rested on the Magicat's thighs. The blonde's eyes softened.

“And so that no one can be jealous of us when they find out how many kisses we have shared.” Adora sighed, having finished her performance of the poem again.

Catra chortled, “You're a fucking nerd, Adora.”

“Hey! You make that sound like a bad thing!” The blonde leaned back on the pillows. She started to overdramatically pout.

“Oh it isn’t, but it’s still true.” The brunette crawled into her girlfriend’s lap.

Adora still pretended to be pouting, “Still mean…” she grumbled.

“Aww, poor baby,” Catra drolled, “Wanna make some more of those ‘thousands’ to mix up?” She used finger quotes for emphasis while giving a toothy smile.

Without waiting for an answer, the Magicat initiated a makeout session. It was a really good thing that both had finished their homework.

End Notes

Hope you enjoyed the fluff!

I had this idea pop into my head while writing a different project and just had to get it out.

Fun fact! I am (or was...) a Latin teacher. Moving on to teach English for a little bit though.

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!