Notes

Here is the first extra for the bite down (into me) universe! It takes place between Chapter 14 and Chapter 15 in the main story, so you should definitely read that first if you haven't already. A thousand million gazillion thank yous for all the love and the comments I'm still catching up on; enjoy the extra <3 3 3

"How do I look?" Catra asks, turning around and quirking one eyebrow.

Adora's eyes track down her body and then scramble back up to her head, devouring the sight before her at least three times before she can even start processing what she's seeing.

When Catra first asked her about wearing her pack jacket and nothing else, she thought she was teasing her. When she realized she was serious, a tentative world of opportunity opened inside Adora's head. But not until now, not until she is actually seeing the sight in front of her, is she realizing what it really means to her.

And how much more insanely hot it is than she ever could have imagined.

As promised, Catra stripped down to absolutely nothing before putting it on. Adora's seen Catra naked a lot by now, almost all the time they've spent together in the week since finally admitting their feelings being spent in some varying state of undress, but it's not a sight Adora will ever take for granted. She is so beautiful, so much sharper and softer than she ever imagined. It feels like every piece of her is a perfect match to fit Adora's body - perfect in her hands, perfect in her lap, perfect on her mouth.

Her tail sways from side to side as Adora's eyes drag over her again, climbing up her strong legs until they disappear beneath the jacket, the bottom edge hanging far enough down to cover her capable hips and all the beauty surrounding them. She's shoved her hands into the pockets, and the force pulls it tight enough on her to block out everything else until her chest, where the collar opens again just enough to show the tuft of her chest fur and then the long line of her neck. The jacket hangs so largely on her shoulders that it looks a bit ridiculous, especially with no other clothing in sight. It's clear as day that it doesnt possibly belong to her , that it must be someone else's, and that alone drives Adora's heartbeat into frantic, feral territory.

She's still a little ashamed to want this, a little scared that she's asking too much, but when her eyes finally meet Catra's, the look there is enough to stamp out her doubts for good. Catra must see the hungry enjoyment plain as day on Adora' s face, or maybe she really does like this idea just as much as Adora does because her eyes are bright, and her grin is wide and wicked.

Catra takes a slow step toward Adora and then another one. The bright red of the jacket contrasts her dark skin and the electric blue and gold of her eyes in a hypnotic way. The excitement bubbling in Adora's chest when Catra finally reaches her makes her feel like it's their first time all over again, both of them consumed with eager and overwhelming desire.

"You didn't answer the question," Catra teases her quietly, leaning in close. "How do I look?"

Adora looks at her seventeen freckles, the ones she's counted over and over again and touched and kissed. The sharp lips she's memorized. The glittering eyes she falls into when she wakes up every morning. She knows what she wants to say, and she thinks she's allowed to. She thinks Catra wants her to, but a sliver of fear lingers, and she hesitates.

Catra reads her well, like she has so many times now since Adora finally figured out how to explain the cacophony of feelings that swirl inside her when she's near Catra, and the look in her eyes softens. She nods encouragingly. It's okay.

"You look like you're mine," Adora forces out, only stumbling over a moment's hesitation. She knows she's said the right thing when Catra's gaze turns sharp again, and she keeps going. "You look gorgeous. You look like the hottest fucking thing I've ever seen. I can't believe that you're mine."

Catra tilts her head up more, lips only inches away, and breathes out a shaky breath. "What are you going to do about it?" she asks. "Show me."

It’s worded as a command, but permission is underneath it. She’s allowing Adora to take the lead and kiss her as she wants, touch her as she wants, without having to doubt if she’s doing it how Catra wants.

It took very little time for them to work out that Adora needs the confidence and reassurance that comes with being granted permission. To be told it’s okay each time they start this. That Catra loves the high of bossing her around in bed, and their arrangement has been working out spectacularly so far.

And now, looking delightful and willing in her jacket, the permission granted is what Adora needs to let go and take what she wants.

She meets her lips immediately, trying to reign in at least some of her desperation and failing miserably, but Catra doesnt complain. She makes a noise into her mouth and presses back, letting Adora lead but matching her move for move. The second Adora swipes her tongue along Catra’s bottom lip, and she melts, opening up to her and meeting her in the middle, Adora’s restraint dissolves entirely.

She wraps her arms tightly around Catra, shoving the hem of her jacket away to find her legs, and they're on the exact same page as Adora lifts her up and settles her onto her hips. It’s mostly for efficiency, to keep Catra from having to stumble back to get where Adora wants her, but it’s also a little bit just because Adora wants to. Carrying Catra satisfies something deep inside of her, some protective need to hold her close and keep her safe. She knows that for as much shit as Catra gives her about it, she loves it too. Catra wraps her arms tight around Adora’s neck and presses her body against her as Adora navigates their way out of the bedroom and over to the couch. It feels so good that Adora has to pause at the edge of the couch just to kiss her back as hard as she can.

Adora sits, trying to be mindful of all their limbs on the small sofa and more than a little bit distracted, but they make it safely onto the cushions. Adora’s navigated them here many times over the last week, embarrassed to admit how much she loves Catra in her lap but not so embarrassed as to avoid it. She's not surprised when Catra pulls back from her lips to make a comment.

"You really love this stupid couch," she mutters with affection, tilting her head to kiss along Adora's jaw.

Her stomach somersaults, nerves, excitement, and arousal all spin together, and she huffs defensively. She does love this stupid couch—it was where they first cuddled, where Catra bit her every time, where they shared their first kiss. It's played a large role in their relationship, and due to that, it has bled into many of Adora's fantasies.

She'd told her she'd thought of her wearing her jacket, alone with nothing else on at home, and that was true. But when she'd brought her jacket over, and Catra had asked what she wanted to do with her in it, what she wanted to happen, she'd drawn a blank. It wasn't until Catra had finally stripped down and put it on that a solid idea beyond "fuck Catra's brains out" formed.

"I have an idea," Adora admits quietly, catching Catra's lips again and dropping her hands down to her knees. They slowly climb up her thighs, tracing her flexing muscles and massaging patterns into the sides. This close, she can hear Catra's heartbeat speeding up.

"Yeah?" she murmurs against her lips. Her hips slide forward toward Adora's in a small motion that Adora knows Catra thinks is subtle, but it gives her eagerness away immediately.

It's so familiar and endearing that it quells the nerves in Adora's stomach, and she flexes her fingers into her waist when she finally reaches it. "How do you feel about turning around?" she asks.

Catra hesitates, pulling back enough to meet her eyes. She looks surprised but not put off, and she raises one perfect eyebrow. "You want me to turn around?"

"Yeah, like "—she starts to push her hips away to show her and then halts. "Trust me?"

Catra nods easily, offering her a soothing smile, and follows her movements as Adora guides her off her lap and turns her around. She starts to pull her back down to sit in front of her but then abruptly pauses.

"Wait,"Adora stops, letting go of Catra and reaching for the little bit of clothing she still has on herself. "I should do this first."

Catra watches good-naturedly as Adora quickly flings the rest of her clothing onto the floor, not stopping until everything is bare and how she wants it.

"Okay ,"she nods, and Catra' s eyes linger on her body for a long moment before she turns back around and lets Adora take hold of her once more. Her gaze stirs heat into her buzzing anticipation, and she pulls her down with renewed excitement.

Adora spreads her legs to make room for Catra to slot in front of her, tucked as close against her body as possible, and Catra boldly opens her own legs once she's comfortable. Adora wraps her arms under the hem of her own jacket and winds them around Catra' s waist protectively, and even though she can smell her wet scent hitting the air with an intoxicating intensity, she still has to ask.

"Is this okay?"

Catra's head leans back until it finds Adora's shoulder, the perfect height to rest on, and she looks over at her as best she can. She's already breathing a bit affected, her chest stuttering, and a soft blush across her cheeks that makes Adora's heart flutter. "Yeah, but "— she swallows, squirming a little bit. "Touch me?"

Adora's never heard sweeter words. Her hands obey before she can even answer, fingers spreading wide and sliding up her sides. Her pack jacket acts as a barrier between their bodies, pressed into Adora's chest and blocking most of Catra's body from Adora's upper arms, but it's not unwelcome at all. The rough fabric acts as a constant reminder, the way Adora hoped it would in this position, of exactly what Catra is letting her do and what it all means. The commitment and ardent devotion lingering underneath it all.

"Is anything —" Adora starts asking about boundaries, too aware they've never held this position before and a little concerned that it's too vulnerable for Catra, but she cuts her off before she can even finish.

"Do whatever you want," she whines, and when she shifts again, Adora can smell why. She smells like Adora's already been teasing her, but they haven't even started. Catra must be more into this than Adora's giving her credit for. "Just fucking start already."

Adora grins, soaking in the scent of Catra's wetness that she's become so brilliantly familiar with this last week, and bends to nip Catra's neck playfully. Catra stifles a groan until Adora's hands smooth up her body to cup around her chest, her tits sitting perfectly in Adora's palms, and then her noise escalates into a full and relieved moan. Her eyes slide shut as Adora's fingers start working, gently massaging in the way Catra's shown her, and she leans back into her and surrenders to it.

Adora leans them both back into the couch. She watches her own hands over Catra's shoulder, working dutifully and shifting her jacket around as she goes. It works exactly as Adora had hoped it would, a silent and unvoiced but glaringly loud dedication of who Catra belongs to and who belongs to her, and it adds a reassuring and desperate thrill to the whole encounter.

She can smell Catra thick in the air, but she is also starting to smell herself, hot excitement pooling between her legs as her brain recites a repeating refrain of what Catra wearing her jacket means. She knows Catra's patience only lasts so long, but she'd give anything to live in this moment forever.

She tucks into Catra's neck again and presses a kiss to her pulse, feeling her shaky breathing against her lips. It's a fight every time Adora starts kissing her to not just lick her way over her entire body, a different kind of satisfaction filling her with the taste of her on her tongue. That's the biggest downside to this position, she's discovering - she can see and touch every part of Catra's body that she wants to, but she can't reach any of it with her mouth. She understands why Catra licks her so much before she bites her, and Adora wishes she had that good of an excuse.

She doesn't, but she thinks she can slip one in now.

She licks up her throat, tongue dancing along her chin, and she's rewarded with a long whining moan.

Adora's fingers tighten on her plush chest, moving with more urgency and rolling her stiff nipples softly, and another noise escapes Catra.

"Adora," she says, and it's clear that her tone is meant to be huffy and threatening, but it is anything but.

"Hm?"

Catra's hips scoot back even though there isn't anywhere for them to go, her ass pressing tightly against Adora's groin. Her tail, tucked off to the side, whips against Adora's knee. "Get on with it," she grits out, as if saying it quietly will make it less of a plea.

Adora fights the smug grin that threatens to spread over her lips and takes another taste of her neck. Catra sighs, an attempt at a huff, and a victorious thrill runs through Adora. She finally drags her hand down Catra's front, and Catra greets her with a moan and keening hips.

Adora slides her hand to Catra's curls and weaves into them, soft and damp between her fingers, and she's aiming to tease her, but Catra has other plans. She ruts her hips up to meet her and manages to glide one of Adora's fingers right over her wet lips. A relieved whimper falls from her mouth, and Adora's own body reacts, a hot rush down her spine as she feels Catra seek her out again. It takes all the resolve she has to keep the game up and pull away, and she nearly breaks when Catra's hips chase her.

"I thought I was supposed to be leading," Adora growls lowly, trying not to give away how much she loves Catra failing to cooperate.

"You're taking too long," Catra complains, returning the growl.

Adora nips at her neck and rests her hand on Catra's low stomach, too high for where she needs her but low enough to be reassuring. "I'm enjoying myself," she explains, and she is.

Catra's eyes open to roll skyward, and her hands reach to wrap around Adora's arms, urging them to move. "Enjoy yourself faster," she orders, and as much as Adora wants to be in control, she is a sucker for being told what to do.

She bites Catra again out of spite and to taste her on her tongue and then grants her touch between Catra's legs. She slips her fingers low enough to gather some wetness and carry it back up, and Catra responds immediately, tilting her hips into it and nodding quickly. Her eyes close, and her lips press together to try and stifle a whimper, but Adora feels it in her teeth.

She starts to work her fingers in the way that she's learned, in the way that Catra's shown her she loves, and with Catra leaned against her, she can feel every response she gets. Her breath quickens, her heart picks up, a little shiver runs through her, and her hips twitch. She surrenders to it again, dropping her head to Adora's shoulder and leaning her weight on her, and the trust she's so willingly offering Adora sends her heart spinning.

She starts kissing over her neck and what she can reach of her shoulder inside the jacket collar, unable to keep her lips to herself, and lets go of Catra's tit to brush one side of her jacket over her leg.

She moves it just enough to watch her own hands, one stroking her velvet lips and the other returning to tease at her chest.

She likes this angle so much more than she thought she would.

It's familiar to her hands, so close to how she's touched herself when she thinks of Catra, and she gets to watch while also feeling every move Catra makes close against her. She can hear her heart drumming in her ears this close, catch every hitch of her breath in her throat, and everything she smells is Catra.

It's overwhelming, more satisfying than she thought, and she can feel herself twitching as she sinks her fingers lower to tease Catra's entrance.

"Still okay?" she checks in, nosing the soft spot behind Catra's ear.

She melts into it, nodding quickly. "Yeah," she breathes out and then drops her voice a little. "I really like this," she admits, and her voice is clearly embarrassed but very confident. "It's really hot. You should have ideas more often."

Adora chuckles, barely able to contain her grin. "I like this too," she nods back, offering a small kiss at the edge of Catra's jaw. "Do you want—?"

"Yes," Catra doesn't let her finish, tilting her hips to chase Adora's teasing fingers.

She slips the tip of one finger in, and it goes easily, sinking into molten velvet. Catra whines and pushes against her before she can do anything else, and she answers her question before she's able to ask it.

"Two," Catra pants, and Adora obliges, sinking another careful finger into her.

She nods then, and Adora resumes her movements, bringing the heel of her hand closer to add friction as well. Catra moans in affirmation, fingers tightening in their hold over her arms, and then she makes another request.

"Talk to me," she asks, and Adora's heart hammers.

Catra's asked this before, just once, and she reassured her plenty that she didn't need any expert dirty talk to push her over the edge. She just wants her voice, to know she's near and that she's got her, but Adora still fears that she'll find some way to fuck it up.

"About what?" she asks, hoping Catra will have more direction.

"Anything," she moans unhelpfully, "I just need to hear you."

Fuck. Adora presses a kiss to her cheek, reassuring her that she's there and buying herself some time as she tries to think of what to say. She casts her eyes down to her hands, working her perfect body faithfully, and figures that that's as good of a place to start as any.

"You're so beautiful," she says quietly, waiting for a reaction. "You're so fucking gorgeous."

Catra hums and Adora can feel the heat that rises to her cheeks against her own face. Praise always seems to be a good bet, but it's yet to cause the violent reaction in Catra that it brings on in Adora.

"You feel so good in my hands," she continues, feeling a bit ridiculous voicing it, even if what she's saying is the truth. "I love touching you like this." She starts to intersperse some kisses between her words, which gets Catra nodding and tilting her head to the side to offer her more access. And then, "I want to lick you clean after you cum."

Catra moans loudly, hips twitching down on her fingers. She nods encouragingly, panting heavier, and a rush of relieved excitement sweeps through Adora’s body and pools at the apex of her thighs.

She’s become mildly obsessed with eating Catra out, the taste of her on her tongue filling some carnal need inside of her, but her skill level at that is miserably behind the mastery of her hands and thighs. She needs the most practice at it, so she takes every opportunity Catra gives her, and even though she’s worried itll start being too much, Catra hasnt turned down any of her of fers so far.

Shed considered it for this, the edges of her own jacket brushing her face as she buries it between Catra’s legs, but she decided shed rather save it for a round two if Catra was willing.

At least for now, it sounds like she is, and that hope crackles like electricity in Adora’s body.

“Do you want me to do that?” she asks in a lower , darker voice, casting away her insecurity now that she knows she’s got Catra’s number. “Do you want to make a mess on my face while I get you clean?”

Catra moans lowly, hips jerking forward, and nods.

“Do you want to keep my jacket on?” Adora asks before she can overthink it.

Catra nods rapidly, claws pricking her skin and her breathing heavy.

More relief and excitement dance in Adora’s chest, and she wraps her arms a little tighter against her, fingers moving faster.

“Do you like wearing my jacket?”

“Yes,” Catra speaks up, letting the word spill loudly from her mouth with a moan.

“Do you like being mine?” Adora forces the words from her mouth, her heart slamming against her ribs.

Catra's heart slams back with all the confidence her own lacks as a long moan slips from her lips. "Fuck, yes," she answers, her voice between a growl and another moan.

Catra's open affirmation sends Adora's hips stuttering into the couch, losing control and seeking friction of their own volition. She twists her wrist to press her thumb into Catra's clit, curling her fingers inside her, desperately seeking more for the both of them to feed on.

"Say it," she says, her words stuck between a command and a plea.

"I like being yours," Catra grants her, her hips starting to move in time with Adora's hand.

Adora bites into Catra's neck as gently as she can manage, looking for something to ground herself with as they both start to get carried away.

"Are you mine?" Catra surprises her, gasping out as her hips grind back into Adora's and then forward into her hand. Her heart is hammering, breathing sloppy, and Adora can smell it coming.

"I'm yours," she declares without hesitation, the words the easiest thing she's ever said.

They do something to both of them, a cry ripping from Catra's throat and Adora's own hips digging down into the cushions. Catra's hand flies up to thread into her hair and take hold, her body arching forward as she chases Adora's touch.

"Mine," she gasps out, fingers twisting and pulling Adora's face into her neck, and Adora is lost to it.

"Yours," she returns, rocking her fingers hard and steady, and sticks her lips to Catra's skin. "And you're mine," she tells her, the declaration shaking her bones, and it's enough.

Catra soars, gasping moans flying from her throat and her body shuddering in Adora's arms. It's overwhelming to feel against her, to see and smell and feel, and she's helpless but to follow her.

Keeping her fingers moving as steadily as she can, she ruts her own hips forward, catching on the couch and Catra's ass and anything that will give her friction. She's so far gone already from Catra's high and their devoted promises that it only takes until Catra starts to come down for Adora to follow her, flying. Her hot lips pressed to Catra's neck, open wide enough for her teeth to sink in, marking her, holding her together as her body takes control and rockets through her high.

Catra's hand comes to stop hers as she finishes coming down, but her other hand never leaves her hair, keeping her tight and close and marking her neck.

Adora slowly comes back to herself, awareness and feeling returning to her limbs, and as soon as she can comprehend what's happened, embarrassment floods her body. She lets go of Catra's neck carefully, pressing a soft, quiet kiss over the blossoming bruise, and she gently pulls her fingers out from inside her.

Catra's strangely quiet as Adora stares at her fingers and tries to work out what to do with them ~~no~~rmally , she'd just lick them of f, but she doesnt want to bring any more attention to herself right now than is necessary.

It's too late, of course, because Catra's eerie calm ends as she suddenly pulls away and twists around far enough to look her in the eye. "Did you just cum?"

A level of embarrassment Adora has never known heats her body up to an unlivable temperature, her entire body up in flames immediately. Tentative guilt begins to make its home in the pit of her stomach as well, taking up residence like it belongs there.

Adora's aware that her jaw is opening and closing and that her mouth is attempting to create words, but she can't even get a sound out. She knows there's no use in lying – Catra can see it and smell it, and she surely felt it, but she's not sure if she can get herself to admit it outright either.

Catra sees her fumbling and twists further, picking up her hips to turn around entirely and climb over Adora's lap, straddling her. Her thighs add a reassuring and necessary grounding weight as they settle on top of her own, and Adora's jacket brushes against her own chest as Catra reaches forward to cup either side of her jaw gently.

"Did you just cum from fucking me?" Catra asks again, and her tone is assertive, but there isn't an ounce of anger in it. Her eyes glitter dangerously, and she leans in close. "From telling me I'm yours, and you're mine?"

All that escapes from Adora in lieu of an answer is a pathetic whimper. Apparently, that's all the confirmation Catra needs.

She surges forward, kissing Adora with a force that's borderline violent, lips rough and teeth knocking. She presses her body into Adora's, the jacket, possessive and wonderful, caught between their chests. Adora follows her lead, the guilt and embarrassment beginning to dissipate with just a bit of confusion, but then Catra pulls back and puts it all to bed.

"Fuck," she says against her mouth, lips sticking. "That's so fucking hot. Can I touch you?"

"Yeah," Adora finally manages to say, forcing the word from her throat before seeking Catra's lips out again. If Catra thinks Adora losing her cool without even being touched herself is hot, she's going to accept that gratefully and not risk doubting it.

And Catra must be telling the truth, must be overwhelmed by that idea, because her hands burn blazes over Adora's skin, unable to settle anywhere and instead feeling her up everywhere. Her nails carve a path over her arms and down her chest, her fingers knead into her skin like she's trying to get inside of it, and her tongue is rough over Adora's lips.

"Do you like being mine?" Catra pulls back to recite, eyes dark and dangerous. Her touch is getting rougher as it moves down Adora's body, handling her hips, and it's lighting her right back up like the flames never stopped burning.

"Yes," Adora offers, sinking her hands down to Catra's ass, digging her fingers in, and pulling her close.

Catra's hips tilt, and she rolls against nothing, dropping her forehead to Adora's and huffing out a breath. As if they never came at all, both of them are raring to go once more.

"Do you want to be good for me?" Catra surprises her, asking sweetly and bumping her nose over Adora's cheek. Her hands are still tight and rough as they move down to Adora's thighs, and the juxtaposition is driving Adora wild.

"Yes," she repeats, the word barely audible in her dry throat, but Catra hears it.

She lifts her head up and pulls back enough to look Adora in the eyes. Adora should know what's coming from the look in them—the visible affection and the playful arrogance—but she's too caught up to realize what it means.

"Do you want to be my good girl?"

The words hit Adora like a wave, uncontrollable and all-consuming desire washing over her in an instant. She wants it, she's never wanted anything more, and she needs Catra to know that she'll be it.

"Yes, yes, I am, I'm your good—"

Catra meets her lips before she can continue rambling, pushing back with the same feral feeling bottled inside Adora's chest. She kisses her for a long, devoted minute before sliding her hands up the inside of Adora's thighs.

"I'm going to touch you," Catra tells her , and it's like a dream come true. It's exactly what Adora wants. "I want you to cum for me. I want to watch you. Is that okay?"

Adora is nodding before she's even finished the question —her heart is racing, blood on fire, and Catra's eyes are carving poems into her soul. She's never wanted anything more.

"I need you to be good for me, though," Catra warns, and Adora sits up straighter. She needs to be good for her, too. "You have to tell me what you need to get there. And you have to tell me if it's too much. Okay?"

Adora nods again, reaching out to find her lips to convey her promise wordlessly. Catra accepts it, letting her lick into her mouth and kissing her sweetly in return, and then Adora pulls back to make sure Catra knows. "I will."

"Good girl," Catra croons as her fingers slide up to meet her , and Adora feels like she's floating on air.

Catra's fingers stroke up her core feather-light, deftly teasing her, and Adora's hips jerk as a whimper escapes her .

"Sensitive," she whispers, and Catra nods against her .

"Show me."

Adora reaches a hand down to cover Catra's fingers, flattening them and pressing with a firm but gentle touch. She shudders, already so close, but Catra told her to be good, and she wants to be, she will be, so she speaks up with what she needs.

"Can you mark me?"

A slow grin spreads over Catra's face, her eyes and fangs glinting devilishly. She turns and nips the side of Adora's jaw hard, the sudden and quick spike of pain shooting down her spine and blossoming into pleasure between her legs.

"Good girl," Catra says again, pressing a soft kiss to Adora's neck, and Adora's hips roll of their own accord.

Her head falls back onto the top of the couch, overwhelmed and stuffed with cotton candy, and the only two things that continue to exist are Catra's hand and mouth.

Her fingers move smoothly between her legs, steady and gentle like Adora asked, and her teeth nip a sharp path down her neck. Adora can feel something rising within her, the answer to Catra's siren call, and she welcomes it as it comes closer and closer.

Catra's mouth reaches the joint between her neck and shoulder, and her lips whisper into her skin just before she bites: "Mine."

Her teeth sink in as she sucks, not breaking the skin but calling Adora's blood to the surface all the same, and her burning blood is just as willing as the rest of her to Catra's command. Adora can feel the mark taking hold as her rising wave begins to crest, and she cries out.

"I—"

Catra releases her teeth, fingers working magic, and her face appears before Adora's. "What do you need?"

"Kiss m—"

Catra grants her desperate plea before she can finish it, catching Adora's lips with hers and licking her way in. Adora's too far gone to kiss her back, too clumsy as she hits her peak, but the taste of Catra on her tongue is exactly what she needs to fall over the edge.

It feels like dissolving into a pool of Catra, Catra's smell and taste and feel enveloping her entirely. She doesn't exist anywhere but there as her body trembles, and Catra carries her through it, and the only thing she can hear is Catra's voice, telling her that she is good, she is hers, she is safe. That plane of existence seems to stretch on forever, that perfect world, and she's content to stay there until it finally begins to fade away.

She opens her eyes to Catra's face, beautiful and sweet and overjoyed, and she doesn't care how dopey the smile that climbs up her own lips is. She's never felt happier.

Her arms feel oddly heavy, but she lifts them anyways, winding around Catra's back and tugging her as close as she can get. Catra tucks into her neck and leaves a kiss on her shoulder, a kiss that stings her new mark with a delicious satisfaction, and Adora breathes her in.

They stay like that until Adora can feel her jacket biting against her chest again. Until she can parse Catra's heartbeat out from the ocean rushing in her own ears until Catra's arousal hits her nose, and she becomes aware of the damp spot on her thigh.

Adora pulls back, and Catra lifts herself up to meet her with another soft smile.

"How do you feel? What do you need?" Catra asks, reaching up to stroke the side of her face.

Adora turns her head to kiss her fingers, and when she tastes herself on them, she knows exactly what she needs. She reaches up to catch Catra's hand and sucks her fingers into her mouth, the motion smooth and practiced now from how often she's done it, and her eyes slip closed as her own taste fills her mouth. Cleaning her up sends a warm buzz through her body, so she licks and sucks until she can taste Catra's sweet skin again, and then she pulls her fingers out and opens her eyes.

Her eyes drop to Catra's core, hovering over her own lap and shielded from view by Adora's jacket. She reaches for the hem of it and pushes either side out of the way until she can see the damp, curling hair that waits for her. She can already feel her on her tongue. "Can I lick you clean?" she asks, eyes flicking back to Catra's face.

Her eyes glitter with excitement, her smile twitching into a smirk. "You still want to?" she clarifies.

"Always," Adora affirms, an edge of a growl creeping into her answer lest Catra ever doubt her dedication.

Catra shifts in her lap, eager anticipation returning to her movements, and she bumps her nose against Adora's. "Can you walk?"

Adora tenses her arms and legs, checking that everything still works. Most of the fuzzy, pleasant-but-heavy feeling has dissipated from them, and she's confident that she's ready to get up. "Yeah."

Catra's eyes turn dangerous. "Take me to bed."

Adora grins, wrapping her arms tightly around Catra's hips and lifting both of them from the couch. A trail of hot slick sticks to her thigh as Catra shifts up higher on her body, and a desperate growl escapes Adora's chest as she stumbles to the bed as quickly as she can. Catra giggles gently, tail sweeping around to tickle Adora's side, and it only makes Adora hustle faster, as if she'll lose her opportunity to taste her if she walks at a normal pace.

Before she can set Catra down on the bed, she shakes her head and lets go of Adora's neck, climbing down. Adora releases her with only mild confusion, but then Catra reaches up to kiss her and whisper against her lips:

"Lay down."

Oh. That's how she wants to do this.

Adora scrambles onto the bed, rolling onto her back and scooting up until she can reach the pillows and tuck one under her head. Catra stands at the end of the bed, smirking at her and straightening her jacket until Adora' s ready, and then she begins to crawl up the bed over her body.

Well, crawl is an understatement. It's more of a prowl.

Her claws are out, digging into the sheets with every touch. The jacket hangs open to either side of her body , gravity blessing Adora with the full view of her she's been missing ever since she got dressed, plush tits hanging and sharp abs flexing. It takes every ounce of will Adora has to look away from them and up to her face, but when she does, she's rewarded with one of the darkest, most predatory looks she's seen Catra give her yet.

Heat spikes through her body, her head spinning and her heart racing all over again, and she doesnt know what she' s ever done to deserve any of this, but she will never waste it.

Her lust must be making her look dazed because Catra pauses in her pursuit and narrows her eyes, not with teasing but with concern. "Are you sure you want to keep going? W e can stop for now." Softer , she adds: "I dont want you to push yourself."

Adora shakes her head rapidly, reaching out and smoothing her hands over Catra's arms, finding them through the thick fabric of her sleeves. "I need this," she reassures, urging her closer . "I need you."

And she does. Her body does. It needs the closure of finishing her off to understand that her earlier vulnerability was okay. She needs to know this is still allowed, that she's still the one that gets to experience this side of Catra and please her how she likes. She needs the familiarity of this, the taste of Catra in her mouth, and the feeling of her in her hands to finish coming down.

Catra nods and keeps prowling up her body, looking her in the eye and continuing upward. They've done this before, just once, and Adora knows she's moving farther up before she sits up and lowers herself back down. The method drags her chest over Adora's face, just inches away, and she can't control herself when she gets that close.

Adora surges up, grabbing Catra's torso with one arm to stop her and engulfing as much of one tit into her mouth as she can. She flicks her tongue over her perked nipple, scrapes her teeth over her skin, and sucks hard.

She knows she doesn't have long, so she goes in hard and fast, and her attentions earn her a reward. A broken, surprised moan cries out of Catra's mouth, and she stays put long enough for Adora to suck again, gentler, and then press a soft, loving kiss over her work.

A clawed hand twists into her hair and forces her back down against the mattress. A racing thrill runs up her spine as Catra holds her there and leans back, fixing her with a scolding look. It would be threatening if not for the twist in her lips and the frantic flicking of her tail behind her that gives up how much she loves Adora testing her.

She holds her head there as she finishes getting into position, settling her knees over the edges of the pillow on either side of Adora's head and lowering down to hover over her face. Adora helps guide her into place, keeping her hips steady and letting her tail wrap around one arm, and only once they're done does she let herself take in the sight above her.

Catra is still watching her with that look, playful and warning and so turned on, and her curls are falling over her shoulder like a curtain. She's pushed the jacket back over her waist on either side so Adora can see one tit turning darker than the other, a fleeting mark of her attention. Her abs are rolling with her breath like she's trying to hold it back, and when Adora's eyes finish their descent, she understands why Catra's trying to play it cool.

Her pussy is glistening, wetness smeared across her lips and at the crux of her thighs, and Adora doesnt even think. She needs it on her tongue, needs the taste of it filling her mouth, so she takes it. She reaches out and swipes her tongue along her center, sucks her clit into her mouth, takes the sweet juices waiting for her , and swallows them down. She groans as the taste floods her body, as Catra floods her body, and the wanting deep within her finally settles.

"Fuck," she breathes into her, lips sticking.

Catra's hips jerk, and a dark blush blossoms over her cheeks, humbling her arrogant expression. She sucks her lower lip between her teeth, fangs poking out, and meets Adora's eyes. Something precious and vulnerable passes between them.

"I need you, too," she whispers, and that is all Adora could have ever hoped to hear.

Love sweeps from her chest down her entire body, gathering in her hands as she pulls Catra down to meet her and in her tongue as she glides it over Catra's lips again. She pours it all out for her, bathes her in it, does everything she possibly can to show Catra how necessary and precious she is to her. She thinks Catra feels it, can sense it in the soft licks and gentle sucks, the firm hold her arms take around her hips to keep her where she needs to be and allow her to sink into the sensation. She thinks Catra can feel it because the hold on her hair eases up, her fingers twisting to smooth gently over her scalp. Her eyes fall to half-mast, both her stern look and her embarrassment melting away as she falls into the affectionate pleasure.

She gasps as Adora's tongue flicks, teasing her, and she shifts her knees wider and sinks lower. "Harder."

Adora obeys, licking up with more pressure and adding a bit of roughness to her movements. Catra nods and moans through her teeth, arching her back and pressing down into her movements. She knows how Catra likes it now, knows the cycle of sensations that satiate her, and she knows what shell ask for next before she voices it.

She buries her face into her curls, works her jaw against her as she keeps licking, and waits for her command.

“Inside,” she directs, the word a moaning sigh, and Adora sinks her tongue in.

They both react, Catra’s head falling back and Adora stifling her own moan, body on fire as she feels Catra’s heat all around her tongue. She works it in and out, messing her mouth and nose around as she goes to keep the friction up everywhere else, and Catra lets out a few noiseless moans, her breath stuttering desperately. Her wetness coats Adora’s face, making a mess of her, and she loves it.

Adora’s favorite part is coming, and she’s pretty sure it’s Catra’s favorite too. She keeps pushing until Catra’s head falls forward and a loud whine escapes from her chest, and Adora looks up through her curls to watch.

Catra’s eyes open enough to find her, to watch her as she works between her legs, and then she nods.

“Show me how much you like this.”

Adora moans first, finally letting the pathetic sound that’s been trapped inside her chest out, and she feels Catra’s thighs tense against her cheeks. Adora moans again, louder, and Catra bites her lip again, her eyelids fluttering as she fights to keep control of herself a little longer.

Adora lets loose and growls, allowing the sound to build from deep within, and Catra finally cries out. Moan after moan rips from her chest as Adora keeps going, snarling against her and pulling out to lick ferociously up again, and Catra starts to tremble.

Her shoulders fall forward, hands seeking the mattress, and her fingers tangle into the sheets just above Adora' s head. She feels them tighten beside her and watches as Catra's mouth falls open to speak noiseless words, her lips forming them but only moans spilling out. The bottom edges of Adora's jacket fall back over her hips, skimming Adora's own face, and it turns her on even more.

Adora moves rougher, channeling the fiery passion building inside of her into her guttural noises, and that finally brings Catra's voice out.

"Don't stop, don't stop, fuck, just like that —" she cries, hips buckling in Adora's hands and eyes squeezing shut.

Adora wouldn't stop for anything, couldn't stop if she tried, powerless to Catra's desire. Everything else fades, the burn in her jaw and wrists as she tries to hold Catra still and follow her movements, the wet heat between her own legs. Everything disappears for the second time that night except for Catra, Catra in her arms, Catra on her tongue. Catra in her heart. Nothing else matters.

She watches Catra's face twist in ecstasy and listens to the melody of divine moans playing off her tongue. She hits her own high somewhere in the middle of it all, heat and satisfaction peaking as she licks her way to salvation. Something else fills her ears, but it's like white noise, nonsensical to her. It doesn't matter , not until Catra's done.

She doesn't stop, licking viciously until Catra is riding her mouth, shaking against her face. She doesn't stop until her quivering hips pull away, and a hand stops her head's motion. She doesn't stop until she feels Catra sag against her, spent, and then finally, she pulls away.

Catra is holding herself up with her hands, face hiding behind a curtain of curls as she hangs her head and pants, and Adora smooths her hands underneath her jacket and up her waist to pet her sides. Catra makes a noise, soft and needy, and Adora turns her head to tuck a kiss against her thigh.

"Wanna roll over?" Adora asks quietly, voice gravelly from all her growling, and Catra replies with a whimper.

Adora presses another kiss to her leg and then shifts one hand down to her knee, slowly guiding it over her face. Catra moves gingerly and lets Adora take control, surrendering to her touch as she rolls them over and lays Catra down on her back.

Catra's hands find her hair, clumsily winding her fingers through it, and she hangs on — not with authority, but like she needs to hold her to know she's there.

Her eyes stay shut as she settles into the mattress, her mouth still agape and panting, and Adora nuzzles her stomach gently.

"Do you still want me to—" Adora starts to whisper, stroking over Catra's thigh, and Catra cuts her off with a broken moan.

"Please," she begs, and Adora's heart soars.

She supports Catra's legs as she guides them a little wider apart and begins to lick her clean, starting at the edges of her thighs and working her way in. She licks as softly as she can, sweeping the slick heat from her core, and Catra answers her in tiny moans and soft whimpers as she goes. She does her best not to get any of the mess on her face back onto Catra, and when she does, she presses an extra kiss to her skin in apology.

When she's finally clean, Adora guides her knees down, relaxing her legs, and moves up her body. She digs her arms underneath Catra's back and pulls her close, brushing her jacket aside to lay on her skin-to-skin. Catra's eyes open as her face finally reaches her, and her hands reposition, taking a sturdier hold of her jaw and tilting her face up. And then she begins, licking over her lips, cheeks, and chin, cleaning up the mess on Adora's face with the same gentle care Adora treated her with. Each lick is soft and kindles the love filling up Adora's insides, and she savors all of them until it's over.

When Catra's done, she drops her head back to the mattress and fixes Adora with an impossibly tender smile. Adora reaches one hand up to smooth over the side of her face, down her hair, but her fingers catch on something else.

She grasps it and looks over ~~a~~nd barks out a laugh. Catra turns to follow her gaze, twisting in her arms, and then a disbelieving noise escapes her.

Next to Catra's head, above Adora's pillow, are patches where the sheets have been torn to shreds. There are clear claw marks around the edges from where Catra's fingers had twisted into them and taken hold, but everything she must have had in her hands is no longer anything more but tiny pieces of ribboned fabric.

"Fuck," Catra curses, wincing at the damage she's done.

Haughty arrogance fills Adora's chest, stirring into all of the love. She digs her arms back under Catra and pulls her up to meet her, burying kisses under her chin, down her neck, and onto her chest.

"Were you trying to out-show me with how much you liked it?" she asks, nuzzling into her fur between kisses.

Catra groans, pulling her back up to meet her for a proper kiss. "You're never going to let this go, are you?" she asks, her voice playfully grumpy.

"Never," Adora grins against her lips, pride still soaring.

She rolls her eyes, but she kisses her again, surprisingly sweetly, and pulls her down to lay on her completely. Adora gives in, tucking around her, and she feels Catra's tail twist around her calf.

They lay in silence for a long minute, affections that cant be said passing to each other through their chests, and Adora thinks Catra's drifted off to sleep when she suddenly speaks up.

"For the record," she says quietly, the words vibrating through her throat and chest into Adora's bones, "you've gotten really fucking good at that. I loved it."

"I loved it, too," Adora replies, lips on her skin, and she thinks they both understand what they really mean.

End Notes

Thank you so much for reading!I know qite a few people were hoping I would write this scene out, so I hope it was everything you wanted!I have lots of other extras planned and am taking my time writing them between other works, so make sure you subscribe to the bite down (into me) series or to me so you don't miss them when they arrive :)

As always thank you for all the love and support!If there's any extra scenes you'd like to see from this universe (smut or fluff) let me know in the comments and I might just add it to my list!

There's a new playlist just for this extra and the others that will be coming, and you can listen to it here!
