Interlude: Stolen Moments

by n7punk

Summary

When Catra and Adora return to the Fright Zone, they spend an evening in Adora's Force Captain quarters for a rare quiet moment together. They haven't had much time to explore their relationship – or each other – but moments like this are the foundation for everything that they do in the future will be built on.
(Horde Lords Catradora AU – skippable "first time" interlude)

Notes

Rating note: I would label this fic somewhere around M, where it's kind of smut but also not super explicit, but given that would raise the entire series rating to M and this is a completely skippable interlude, I've chosen to leave it as "Not Rated" (I'm also not honestly sure where it qualifies on the rating scale, so that seemed like the right choice).
However, if smut bothers you, this will probably bother you too no matter how you label it, so I would skip this. There is a bit of self-reflection/explanation for how they are handling the more intimate parts of their relationship in this fic, but that would be about all that you're missing out on.

See the end of the work for more notes

They arrive back in the Fright Zone shortly before the usual lights-out time. Before they left, Catra would have expected Adora to go right back to work upon arrival and try to catch up some before bed, but her rebellious streak is truly growing. Instead, she asks Catra if she wants to go to bed early as their transport pulls in. Catra supposes sleeping early barely compares to overthrowing their leader, but she is still surprised. She agrees, though, because they didn't sleep much in Plumeria and it has been a stressful week.

When they get back to their room and Adora quickly pulls Catra into the bed, things start making a bit more sense. Adora has a light in her eyes that Catra has known for years but not been able to really indulge in. She happily lets Adora guide her into her arms and kiss her. The embrace is soft but not lacking in eagerness. Adora carefully drapes one of her arms across Catra's waist and threads the other into her hair despite how Catra's mane can easily trap fingers.

Catra purrs a little as she sinks into the kiss, awkwardly propping herself up with her elbows digging into the mattress on either side of Adora's head. If Adora had given her more time to arrange herself, she is sure that she could have found a better position, but that was part of the eagerness. They have spent every evening that they have been in Adora's new Force Captain quarters kissing, but they usually only have a few minutes before they are both exhausted by the long day and they curl up together to sleep.

They have gotten enough time to explore intimacy a little, but not enough to enjoy it. They have been going to bed after lights out for the most part – having their own private quarters gives them more flexibility in their sleep schedule to stay up late – because they have had so much to do. Catra is happy to sink into Adora's arms now. Adora took her jacket and boots off before flopping down in the bed and Catra did the same with her mask, so she gets to cuddle up close to her with just a few layers between them. She can feel the warmth of Adora's body and the rise and fall of her chest as she breathes.

Adora seems more than happy to just hold Catra and kiss. The first three nights they laid like this, the kisses were bittersweet. As much as they both enjoyed them, the ghosts of the kisses that Adora has lost were hard to ignore, seeming to haunt the gap between their faces when they pulled apart to breathe. Adora started inexplicably crying the second night, silent tears running down her face as she kissed Catra a bit desperately. When Catra tried to assure her, Adora just shook her head and buried it in her shoulder as she tried to get her breathing back under control.

She didn't need to explain. They both knew what she was thinking about. That was the end of their kisses for that night, except for one gentle and lingering one as they shuffled into their sleeping positions for the night. Now, Adora kisses her like she is trying to make up for lost time. She isn't forceful or desperate, but it feels like she is trying to learn Catra in a way, her kisses slow and dedicated. Maybe she is just luxuriating in it rather than mapping Catra out, but either way, Catra likes it, melting happily in Adora's arms.

She likes when Adora holds her. She likes when Adora dedicates her attention to nothing but her, and she can't get more dedicated than making out in their shared bed. Adora seems to like the purr rumbling in Catra's chest because she shifts the arm draping over her back so she can reach up and splay her hand out between her shoulder blades, letting her feel it more strongly. They had some trouble with the buzz tickling Adora's lips as they kissed the first night, but she seems to be over it now, humming a little into the kiss herself as if to match Catra's purr.

The thought flusters Catra, though she can't really say why. Her face feels hot and her tail lashes behind her as she presses in to make the kiss firmer – just in case Adora was thinking of pulling back and spotting her blush. Adora lets out the tiniest of moans through her nose, causing Catra's ears to prick forward. She likes that sound. She hasn't really gotten a moan out of Adora before.

They haven't been doing anything other than long kisses up until now, but Catra likes being able to elicit a reaction like that.

Maybe Adora has similar thoughts, or maybe she has just realized what an awkward position Catra is in, because she pulls her hand out of Catra's hair and shifts it to cup the back of her head. She pulls back to give Catra a small smile and Catra absolutely does not try to lean forward and chase her for a moment before she realizes what she is doing. Adora's smile upgrades to a grin as she gently rolls onto her side, holding Catra close so she can slowly flip them over. Catra's tail is lashing again and she refuses to look at Adora's dumb grin as Adora shifts and settles to sit over her hips.

"Can we get undressed?" Adora asks as she seemingly absently begins to run her hands over Catra's sides, almost petting over her ribcage. The words do not help Catra's fluster. Her tail swishes over their standard-issue sheets and she turns her head to the side as if burying her face in the pillow will hide the warmth in her cheeks. The words aren't actually as lewd as they sound – they both sleep in their underwear now that they don't have others sleeping all around them – but Adora's brain seems to take a minute to catch up with her words. After a second of Catra blushing, Adora's eyes widen and her lips part in slight realization.

"I just- I want to touch you- I mean, not like that- You know, underwear cuddles?" Adora blurts out, stumbling over herself even worse than she initially did. Catra is still blushing, but she rolls her eyes as if her exasperation can cover it up. She actually thinks she has less of an idea of what Adora wants after her stammering explanation, but she isn't bothered by it. She finds it kind of cute, even if she would never tell Adora that. Besides, they have been undressed in front of each other plenty thanks to the Horde's communal showers.

"You're a disaster," she informs Adora even as she props herself up on her elbows and works on pulling her arms out of her bodysuit. Adora flushes now, ducking her head and peeking almost shyly up at Catra through her short lashes. After a moment she seems done with being demure and reaches out to help Catra peel off her tight clothing. It is convenient to wear something tight and stretchy while fighting – anything loose could snag or effect aerodynamics, both big problems for Catra's acrobatic fighting style – but less so for quick removal at the end of the day.

After Catra has peeled back the top half, she lays back and arches her hips, letting Adora climb off her and pull the bodysuit down her hips. Catra kicks out of it and watches Adora turn the parts that ended up inside out back out the right way before she tosses it towards the corner of the room that they have informally designated the "to wash" corner. Adora turns back to her and roams her eyes over her, leaving Catra flustered as she lies beneath Adora's gaze in just her underwear.

Unlike Adora, Catra doesn't have much in the way of tits and doesn't often wear her standard-issue sports bra since her clothes give her enough support. She has been pulling on a bra just for the bed the past few nights because it is more comfortable to be in her underwear than sleep fully clothed. She hasn't necessarily turned away to change – after all, they both stand next to each other naked in the showers, which has been a special kind of hell for Catra ever since puberty – but she also doesn't usually lay out for Adora to take in. Her nipples usually aren't hard as Adora watches, her tongue peeking out to wet her lips.

"Want your top?" Adora asks, her voice a touch rough as she finally drags her eyes up to Catra's face. At least her cheeks are as dark as Catra's must be now. Catra could make a comment about how kind it is of Adora to offer only after she has already ogled her, but Catra doesn't actually mind ogling. In fact, she encourages it. It may fluster her, but she loves seeing Adora's eyes dilate as she looks at her. It feels good. She doesn't know if she actually wants her top or not. She isn't really sure what Adora wanted to do. If they are going to stay pressed together, she wouldn't mind getting to feel Adora a bit more directly against her, but it also feels like this is some kind of step in their relationship. Then again, Catra would have happily bulldozed past friends and straight to married when they were eight.

"No. But you better be undressing too," Catra tells her, watching Adora's flush spread to her ears as she blinks at her. It occurs to Catra that the way she phrased that implies she might want Adora totally topless too when Adora hesitates to reach for her top, but after a second Adora nods and sits back on her heels to pull her top off. She tosses her top in the same direction that she threw Catra's clothes on and then hesitates, glancing towards Catra again. With her top gone, Catra can see that her flush is spilling down her chest too.

It looks beautiful and Catra kind of wants to bury her face there, but she sits up and reaches for Adora's waistband for her instead. Adora lets out a relieved breath as she shifts to allow Catra to pull the waistband down over the swell of her ass and then kicks her pants off to the side. They both have the exact same underwear on, minus Catra's lack of bra, but they take a second to appreciate what they're seeing for a moment before Adora shifts forward cautiously and throws her leg over Catra again, straddling her thighs.

Catra lies back, wiggling a little to settle into the bed a bit more comfortably. She does her best to not think about the fact that despite all the times that they have been naked around each other, there has never been even the possibility that Adora would reach out and touch her during those previous times. Now Adora may very well be planning to feel her up. She probably won't do anything more than that given her scrambled assurance earlier, but it seems like that might have been her entire intent. Still, Adora hesitates before cautiously reaching down and placing her hands on Catra's hips.

It's not anywhere that they haven't been before. Catra feels a bit tense with anticipation, but she tries to relax as Adora sends her a soft, almost hopeful look and leans down. Catra tilts her chin up to kiss Adora, more than happy to have her lips against hers again. It's a little less nerve-wracking to do this pressed together too. Adora isn't looking at her body and it's soothing to feel Adora's breathing and body heat. She appreciates their state of undress when it lets her feel Adora this close. She isn't insecure or anything, but being exposed in this context is new and she is still adjusting.

Adora rocks a little on top of Catra as if to rub their fronts together. It musses Catra's fur a little, but she lets it slide. She knows that Adora likes the feeling of it, and given that she is the only person that Catra has ever met who expressed that opinion, Catra is willing to indulge her a little. Adora is braced mostly by her knees, though she is lying on Catra a little as her hands lift to pet down her sides directly. It feels better undressed than it does when her fur is caught in the patterns it was swirled in upon pulling on her clothes. Adora hums a little as she does it, so she seems to like it better too.

"You're really beautiful," Adora murmurs against her lips, almost nervously. Catra, caught off guard, releases a startled trill. She tries to muffle it by surging forward to kiss Adora properly again, but Adora quickly pulls back to stare down at her with a wonderous look, her eyes wide and sparkling. Catra's face is hot, her tail lashing back and forth beneath her. She didn't mean to make that sound, but it was out before she could catch it. She isn't used to compliments, especially not compliments like that.

"You are. You're gorgeous," Adora adds on, her eyes bright as she watches Catra's reaction closely. Catra has no control over her tail lashing beneath her, nor of the blush in her cheeks, but she manages not to make another sound in response to that other than her purr returning full force. Her fluster isn't helped by the fact that Adora is still petting down her sides, her hands solid and firm as they squeeze just a little on their path. Adora apparently counts the purr as a win her favor. She grins and ducks down to kiss the underside of Catra's jaw.

Catra, predictably, melts. She purrs and tilts her head further back, deciding not to come up with a rebuttal because it will only make Adora continue her flattering nonsense. The decision has nothing to do with the fact that Catra likes it. Luckily, Adora seems a bit caught up kissing right now, nuzzling along the side of Catra's neck and scattering it with kisses. The neck kisses really do it for Catra, causing her fur to fluff up a little from excitement as she arches into the touches. It isn't a subtle hint, but subtlety doesn't usually work on Adora.

Adora presses her next kiss more firmly into Catra's neck, which only makes the tingling excitement in her coat more intense, but it is nothing compared to when Adora nips at the side of her neck. Catra gasps, her mouth falling open and her purr rattling out loudly in the otherwise-quiet room. In that one movement, the charge in the air changes from cautious excitement to something hungrier. Catra suddenly wants. She didn't know that she would like that as much as she did, but Adora luckily picks up on it and nips her again. It is no less intense the second time.

"You like that, huh?" Adora asks, her tone a bit smug and teasing as she shifts up to kiss Catra on the mouth again. Catra grumbles a little in response, managing to warp her purr into something a bit closer to a growl, but she still kisses Adora back. It feels good to have their mouths against each other. The biting has Catra wanting and taking some sort of action helps to meet the sudden ache, at least until Adora ducks back down and nips at the other side of her neck. Catra's purr is loud as she wraps her arms around Adora's shoulders and holds her close.

Adora's hands have mostly been petting down her sides, but Adora seems emboldened by Catra's reaction, because she places her hands low on Catra's shoulder and sets to cautiously sucking on the side of Catra's neck. Catra assumes that she is trying to leave one of the hickies that they occasionally see on other cadets, but she doesn't know how well that is going to work with her fur. The sensation definitely feels odd, but she likes it, so she lets Adora keep going. Besides, she is a little distracted by Adora's hands, which have finally slid down and are cautiously feeling her chest.

Adora isn't actually groping her. Her touch is too cautious for that. Once again, it feels like Adora is trying to learn her, to map the curves of Catra's body beneath her hands so they can know each other in every way. Alright, maybe Catra is projecting, but she just feels good beneath Adora's hands. She doesn't know if this is as big of a step as it feels like it is, but her body is lighting up between Adora's hands on her and her mouth on her neck, now softly kissing the spot she was just latched onto. Adora isn't unaffected either. The scent of excitement – of desire - is in the air as she runs her hands along Catra's body.

Have spent a few moments feeling up her tits, she now continues to touch Catra almost the same way as before, only this time she pets along her entire body, including gentle squeezes to her chest as she goes. She even skates her thumb over Catra's nipple on her next pass, causing her breath to quicken. Insistently, Catra ducks her head and noses at Adora's forehead. Adora gets the message, raising her head and meeting Catra for a far hungrier kiss than the others that they have shared tonight.

Need is gathering beneath Catra's skin. She is turned on and starting to feel a touch desperate. She doesn't think that they are going to do anything more than this – that would be a lot at once – but her body hasn't gotten the memo. She wants Adora to bite her, squeeze her, pinch her nipples, and slide a hand down into her waistband. Catra has a quiet corner behind some machinery in an abandoned hallway where she usually curls up when she needs to get off, but she doesn't want to resort to that when she has a perfectly good bed in a private room now.

She is worked up, though. She feels like she needs it. She needs something. Adora, probably, but she doesn't want to push her too much. This need for more almost doesn't make sense considering how much she likes what they are already doing, but being the center of Adora's attention is addicting. Adora's hands, lips, focus are all on Catra. The thought makes a slight shiver run through Catra. Adora incorrectly assumes it has to do with her and pets low over Catra's hip again, but it wasn't the touch that elicited the response.

Catra grabs hold of Adora's ponytail and directs her mouth back down to her neck. Adora groans at the manhandling, causing Catra's mouth to go a little dry. Her tail lashes over the sheets as Adora obediently bites her again, this time harsher than the previous ones. Catra gasps out, tilting her head back in a quiet bidding for Adora to repeat the motion. Adora does so happily, biting at the join of Catra's neck and shoulder. It's less sensitive than her neck, but it also feels right. Catra has always had some mouthy urges in her and she has even bitten Adora outside of bed before – sometimes hard, but never hard enough to draw blood – and it turns out being bitten in return feels just as good.

It's some biological bullshit, probably. She doesn't particularly care to examine it, her mind a little blanked out from a mix of contentment and desire as she happily sinks down into Adora's touch. She still feels like a coiling need is building in her gut, but she forces herself to just enjoy the kisses on her neck. Adora is dedicated in her touches in a way that Catra can't even justify. Maybe it is the firmness in her touch, like she wants to hold Catra close and never let go but can't stop touching her to do so. Okay, when Catra thinks of it like that, that is definitely it, though the edge of hunger in Adora's kisses helps too.

Adora has found the line between respectful and desperate touches, and she is standing right on it. Catra loves it, purring and arching into every sweep of her hands and brush of her lips. She can't believe that they haven't done this before, it feels so good, but it isn't like they knew until they tried it. She wants to soak in this attention forever – except for the part of her that wants more, of course, but she manages to quiet it for a few minutes as Adora alternates between showering attention on her neck and kissing her directly. Both are good in different ways, but inevitably they both seem to start missing the one that they aren't doing and Adora shifts to switch over.

The whole time, Catra is aware of how badly she wants, but it takes her a few minutes to realize that even though she loves the attention, she hasn't gotten to really touch Adora in turn. Suddenly her hunger makes sense. She has wanted Adora for as long as she has known how to want, and while she loves having Adora lavish her in attention, she wants to get her hands on Adora too. She starts to run her hands down Adora's back as Adora continues to kiss her neck.

She squeezes at the strong muscles in Adora's back, flexed to keep her upright above Catra. Her core muscles must be getting tired by now, but Adora is giving no sign of wanting to stop. Catra runs her hands down, skating the along the smooth expanse of skin down to Adora's waistline. She likes getting to touch Adora without worry. It has been a rare thing in their lives. Even when they were alone, Catra had learned the hard way that they could be walked in on, and if she got to handsy it might inspire Adora to try kissing her again only to get the memory stolen.

Now, Catra runs her hand over Adora's body, grinning a little when she feels a slight quiver in Adora's muscles. Adora likes attention too. Catra runs her hands down over her arms, squeezing at Adora's biceps because she has always wanted to and she can. Catra might have a bit of a thing for Adora's strength. Similarly to Catra, Adora carries her muscle somewhat subtly, but she is capable of carrying Catra without much trouble – which Catra has made her do on a few occasions just to be annoying, like the time she refused to get out of bed and made Adora carry her to training in the morning. In Catra's defense, if she didn't pretend that she was set on sleeping in then Adora might not have touched her all day.

Adora shifts up to kiss her on the mouth, her movements fueled by a bit more fire now. Maybe she is feeling competitive now that Catra is touching her too, or maybe she just likes it and wants to feel more, but Catra takes it as a challenge, taking control of the kiss and licking into Adora's mouth. Adora's muscles quiver again beneath her hands. She either likes it or her muscles are about to give out. Either way, the fire in Catra's gut has been desperate to be met for awhile and she needs more. She slides her hands to Adora's waist, holding it firmly and then rolling suddenly to flip them over.

She isn't as careful as Adora was with her, but she is also trying to get the drop on her so she doesn't catch on and resist the loss of control. Adora squeaks a little at the sudden movement. Catra pulls back to grin down at Adora, satisfied with the flushed expression of surprise on her face as she blinks up at Catra. Catra reaches up for Adora's ponytail, carefully holding the base with one hand so she doesn't pull her hair as she pulls the band out. She tosses it aside and purrs a little as Adora drops her head back down onto the pillow, letting her hair pool around her head.

That's what Catra wanted to see. She has thought about it before when picturing how Adora would look beneath her. Adora always tries to have her hair done up so tightly. Catra likes seeing it down. Adora is like this for her, soft in ways that she usually isn't for others. Adora is an open person, almost dangerously-loving, but she likes to be strong and in control. Catra isn't necessarily trying to take that from her, but she doesn't want Adora the leader, or the Force Captain, or even She-ra – she just wants Adora. No armor, just the two of them together and bare.

She ducks down to kiss Adora again. The kiss is open-mouthed but a little calmer. Catra is somewhat contented just having Adora beneath her. She braces herself with one arm – she wants to avoid getting tired so she can do this for as long as she likes – and uses her other hand to wander over Adora's body. Unlike Adora, she doesn't hesitate to touch her chest, but Adora at least still has a fabric layer covering her. Adora likes it, gasping and arching a little into the touch. Despite her sports bra, Catra can feel her nipples through it.

Catra has been looking at Adora's tits since she gained them practically overnight during puberty and they feel just as nice in her hand as she always thought that they would. She kind of just wants to massage and jiggle them in her hand for the rest of her life. It might be a little ridiculous, but she doesn't care, and as long as they keep kissing, she doesn't think that Adora is going to mind either. It isn't like Adora didn't spend awhile on hers too.

Would it be too much to tweak Adora's nipples? Adora thumbed hers, but this would be a step further. She carefully rubs her thumb over Adora, testing the waters, and is rewarded with a soft groan stifled against her lips. Oh, she definitely wants to hear that again. She carefully tweaks Adora through the fabric of her bra, trying not to be too harsh with her. She has done this on herself before, but she doesn't know if Adora has ever tried it and she doesn't want to hurt her even if so. Adora lets out another, much more audible groan and licks forward into Catra's mouth in response.

"Catra…" she breathes when she pulls back for air. Within an instant, their mouths are molded back together as Adora does her level best to give as good as she gets. She buries one hand in Catra's hair, holding her close and angling her head so she can take her mouth as she pleases. A shiver runs down Catra's spine, fluffing her fur in its wake and causing her tail to lash behind her. It thuds against Adora's propped up knee and acts as a reminder that Catra is awkwardly halfway straddling Adora's other leg. She shifts to place both of her knees between Adora's thighs and Adora happily spreads her legs to allow Catra to kneel between them.

The position is more practical, but it leaves Adora's legs spread and now Catra can smell the desire in the air. It was there already, but the scent turns heady now – or maybe it is connected to Catra's fondling. It doesn't really matter – either way, it makes Catra's mouth water. She doesn't want to fucking drool on Adora – she will probably think that Catra is a freak – so she pulls back and ducks down to tuck her face into Adora's neck. Adora instantly releases a whiny sound of protest, tugging a bit insistently on Catra's hair, but her fistful of it is spread out and it doesn't hurt. It actually feels good.

Catra quietly shifts her sitting position so she can rub herself down on her own calf folded beneath her. It isn't much contact, but she is just trying to satisfy a bit of the heat between her legs. It helps. She swallows down her thirst, pressing a firm kiss to the side of Adora's neck. Adora seems to decide that is an acceptable replacement for the kiss because she stops tugging on Catra's hair, tilting her head to the side so Catra can have her neck. Catra's breath catches and she finds herself biting down on Adora's neck before she can help herself. Not too hard, of course, but she can't resist Adora's exposed skin.

Adora releases a soft sound that Catra can only describe as a cry, but it is far from upset. Catra's ears twitch, pricking forward to take in the pleased sigh that follows the sound. Catra swears her heartrate picks up. She feels like every part of her body has something going on and she is too turned on to process all the signals of it coming into her brain. It feels good, but a bit overwhelming. Still, she doesn't want stop. If anything, she wants to satisfy it, rubbing off on the sheets or even Adora. The mere thought makes her twitch.

She thinks they have catapulted several steps beyond just kissing in bed tonight, but she doesn't know where that leaves them. She kind of doesn't know any of the steps between kissing and sex. She likes wherever they are, but it also has her unsure of what she is allowed to do. Can Adora tell when she rocks her hips? Does she like knowing that Catra is doing it? Catra presses a kiss to the spot that she bit, nipping a little more gently just below it. Adora's neck is flushed and Catra happily gives the side a slow lick, reveling in the taste of gathered salt and how strong Adora's scent is here.

Adora, for her part, releases a small moan on her next breath, so she doesn't seem to mind even though Catra knows what she is doing is probably a bit odd. She can't help how Adora's scent and taste make her feel though. It's like home to her, warm and inviting, safe. She nuzzles along Adora's neck and shoulder, scattering nips and kisses as she continues her path down Adora's body with her hand. She has wanted to touch every inch of her at some point in her life and though she is sure that some things are still off limits, she happily feels along her stomach to touch her abs. Adora, predictably, flexes them.

Catra glances up to find Adora smirking at the ceiling. Catra rolls her eyes as she kisses Adora's collarbone and then latches on like Adora did to her neck. Adora immediately gasps, dropping the flex and shifting a little beneath Catra's mouth. Even the scent of desire thickens. With signals like that, Catra's only option is to go ahead. She purrs as she tries to suck a little harder, not sure where the line between good and painful is. Adora definitely isn't bothered though, whining out a sound that only resembles Catra's name as she shifts her hips a bit restlessly.

It seems like Adora needs just as badly as Catra does. She certainly smells like it. Catra releases her collarbone before she can drool on it too much or something – not that she knows what the normal amount of drool involved in a hickey is, but she thinks she must have reached it – and swallows quickly before pressing a soft kiss against the spot instead. That makes Adora whine too. The sound is downright cute and it triggers some instinct in Catra that just wants to pounce. She ducks down, skimming over Adora's chest for now to press kisses alongs her ribs. She slides her entire body back, her hands ending up on Adora's hips as she settles between her knees.

Fuck, all Catra wants to do is bury her face between her legs and live there. She feels desperate all over again, even worse than before. Her body is telling her that she needs Adora, but she knows this is probably a normal amount of desperation for someone who hasn't done this before. At least, she hopes so. Her body knows what this is like on her own and all she can think about is how much better it must be with Adora, but she does her best to push that down as she kisses down Adora's stomach. Adora has recovered enough to flex again, so Catra licks her just to see if it will make her drop it again.

As Catra runs her tongue up from Adora's waistband to her navel, Adora lets out a cross between a sigh and a huff of laughter, her stomach dipping and bottoming out beneath Catra. She counts that as a win in her favor, grinning a little as she buries her face down in Adora's stomach to see if that will quell the part of her saying to go lower. The answer is a resounding no. Catra doesn't even think that she wants to have sex right now, she just… wants. Adora, specifically. She wants to drown in her, to have her quivering beneath her hands but also to be surrounded by her.

Okay, so the pretty much sums up to sex, but she can find other ways to satisfy herself. She rolls her hips again, letting out a soft sigh against Adora's stomach as she feels a bit of the edge of desperation soften, at least for a moment. She shifts her hands down to Adora's thighs so she can grip them, digging her fingers in and squeezing Adora's hard muscle. Her claws flex a little, but she doesn't let them dig in painfully to Adora. She doesn't want to hurt her, just to have her. She releases a ragged sigh as she tries to calm herself by breathing in Adora's scent deeply, but if anything, that fuels the fire inside her.

"Catra, what, um, what do you want?" Adora asks, her voice low and rough. Catra's ears pin back as if caught. Actually, she kind of is. She stills her hips in the middle of rubbing down against the stiff mattress again. Cautiously, she peeks up to look at Adora. She has lifted her head, looking down at Catra with hooded eyes. She doesn't seem bothered by Catra suddenly burying her face in her stomach, but there is a curious light in her eyes. Catra swallows, trying to think of what answer could possibly be both acceptable and truthful.

"Everything. You. I'm just worked up," she admits, her voice low. She quickly closes her eyes and presses another kiss to Adora's stomach before she has to watch her reaction to that. "I'm not asking for anything," she adds before she forces herself to make eye contact again. She doesn't want Adora to think that she isn't aware going beyond this would be pole vaulting straight into territory that they aren't ready for yet. Adora was crying while they were kissing only a few days ago. She knows this, her body just hasn't gotten the memo.

Adora's eyes are dilated as she gazes down at Catra, her tongue peeking out to wet her lips. She looks as eager as Catra is hesitant, glancing further back behind Catra's head – oh, at her lashing tail. Catra would blush if her face wasn't already hot along with the rest of her. She can't control the way her tail is lashing to either side in slow arches, the tip twitching. She is worked up and that always surfaces in her tail movements. Adora's eyes meet hers again, her gaze hooded. Catra can see thoughts behind her eyes that are likely just as dirty as Catra's own.

"What do you need?" Adora asks instead. Catra's next breath comes out a bit unevenly and she swears that Adora strains up, waiting for whatever sound that Catra could be breathing out. She wants to know, but that question is even harder to answer. Catra's mouth is watering again. She nuzzles down Adora's stomach, daring to go low enough for her nose to brush against Adora's waistband. Adora's breathing is heavy with excitement. She doesn't say anything to stop Catra. So close, Catra feels surrounded by her, but it isn't quite enough.

Fuck it.

She shifts back, taking Adora's thighs in her hands and slinging them over her shoulders as she buries her face down in her crotch. Adora still has underwear on, but she might as well be naked for all that Catra can smell her and feel her dampness. On either side of her head, Adora's thighs twitch as she lets out a loud groan and, unexpectedly, bucks her hips up. Catra half expected for Adora to tell her that this is too much or weird, and otherwise she expected it to go wrong some other way – maybe she would break her nose with her eagerness – but at least her curiosity would have been satiated for a moment.

Instead, Adora lets out an embarrassed – and somewhat confused – whine as she pins her hips back down onto the mattress. It leaves an inch or two between them at most, but Catra's face feels cold without the direct contact despite the heat radiating off Adora's body. Fuck, that was even better than she thought. Catra looks up as Adora struggles to prop herself up on one elbow and stares down at her, her face flushed, surprised, and ridiculously turned on. Her thigh muscles twitch in Catra's hand as Catra darts her tongue out to wet her lips. Fuck, she swears she can taste traces of Adora. She thinks her underwear was damp enough for them to transfer.

"Can I? Just this," Catra asks, squeezing her hands. She definitely should have led with that question, but she thinks being horny might kill off a few of her braincells. It might be mutual, though, because Adora's mouth hangs open for a few painfully-long seconds before she nods quickly, her hair bouncing a little around her shoulders as she does so. It has a dent in it from where the ponytail holder was, but her hair is the last thing on Catra's mind now that she has permission. She doesn't hesitate to bury her face down into Adora and breathe in deeply.

Adora moans softly, her hips twitching up again. The moan turns a bit strangled with embarrassment at the end, though Catra doesn't know why. She loves hearing that sound, her ears eagerly focusing forward as she rubs her face against Adora. She is basically nuzzling between her legs right now, but she doesn't want to stop, and given the way that Adora's hips twitch into it, she seems to enjoy the stimulation. Normally Catra isn't a fan of anything wet, but the dampness that surrounds her feels like ecstasy. Licking the fabric would definitely be a bad idea – and would probably be going further than Adora bargained for when Catra promised her just this – but the thought does tempt Catra for a few moments before she manages to dismiss it.

She has Adora's thighs twitching around her head and her scent filling her nose. It's enough. It is the kind of thing that her body has been craving. She could have made do with her stomach – actually, her neck probably would have done her better – but this is what she really needed. Given Adora's twitchiness, it seems like she did too. Catra finds herself nosing against where she thinks her folds are through the underwear, eager to get her face damp and then lick it off when she inevitably pulls back, but she must hit Adora right by accident because Adora suddenly cries out, her back arching as she all but shoves her hips down into Catra's face.

Catra doesn't hesitate to repeat the motion, earning a whining pant as Adora rolls her hips up to meet her. This wasn't what Catra was planning, but it is even better. Adora's hand reaches down blindly, eventually finding purchase in Catra's hair and clinging on for dear life. She pulls Catra's face closer, so Catra doesn’t bother pulling back to check in if this is okay. It’s more than she bargained for, but it isn’t really sex, right? They are still in their underwear, after all. The details don’t matter to her when Adora is whining and grinding into her face, anyway.

It mashes her nose uncomfortably and makes it hard to breathe but she doesn’t care in the slightest. She thinks every second of her life that they weren’t doing this was a wasted one. Adora seemed to feel that way about healing the tree earlier, but Catra has found her own bliss, and it is Adora squirming beneath her and desperately arching up into every bit of pressure and contact that Catra gives her. She rolls her hips as Catra rubs her face down, and despite the discomfort, Catra isn’t pulling back until Adora is either spent or comes.

The latter doesn’t take long. Catra is a bit lost in the haze of hormones and satisfaction, her eyes closed and world dark aside from Adora’s scent and moans. Adora’s sounds turn high and short, a constant stream of small whines filling the air until she fists Catra’s hair and rocks up, holding herself up against her face as Catra nuzzles and tries to move her nose into a position where she can breathe. Before she manages it, Adora lets out one last high whine and her hips drop back to the mattress heavily. She is panting, her hand in Catra’s hair going limp and then slipping out of it a moment later.

Catra pulls back, looking up to confirm that what she thinks happened actually did. Adora has one arm thrown over her eyes and is breathing heavily, sweat gathered across her skin and her muscles twitching occasionally. She definitely looks satiated. Seeing Adora wrecked like this, Catra is satisfied too. She licks her lips as she pulls back to brace on the mattress so she can rub properly against it and get stimulation again. She purrs at the realization that Adora’s taste is just as satisfying as her scent is. Between the build up and the hormones in the air, it doesn’t take Catra long to rub herself off. She goes still before Adora has even caught her breath, though Adora does lift her arm and watch with hooded eyes.

Catra stays between Adora's legs for a few moments more, catching her breath, before she crawls up the bed and tucks herself under the arm lying limply at Adora's side. Adora releases a quiet sound, her eyes falling closed again and a small smile curling at her lips as Catra rests her head on Adora's chest. Adora twitches her arm, wrapping it a bit more properly around Catra and dropping the one that was covering her eyes down to her side. Adora takes several long moments just to breathe and Catra uses the opportunity to rub her face on Adora until its mostly dry and she has found a comfortable notch above her collarbone to rest her head on.

"Um. So. That was… amazing," Adora says, her voice low and a bit embarrassed. Catra purrs proudly. Adora might be reluctant to give what they just did voice, but Catra would love for her to sing her praises. It would almost definitely be a bit awkward, but still, she can dream. For now, she decides to cut her some slack.

"I didn't plan all that, but I liked it," Catra tells her, her ears twitching as they try to find a good angle for listening to Adora. Adora gives a small snort of amused agreement before she squeezes Catra a bit closer to her side in a lying-down hug.

"That, uh, wasn't too much? I didn't really think it through," Adora admits. She doesn't sound too nervous now – Catra doesn't even know why she is asking when she just said that she liked it – but Catra shakes her head quickly, taking the opportunity to rub a scent mark onto Adora's shoulder. She already left a few on her inner thights by virtue of her position, but this one is intentional.

"No. I wasn't expecting it, but I loved it," Catra assures. Adora lets out a relieved breath and then shifts to kiss the tip of Catra's ear. That is new and Catra finds herself twitching her ear a bit desperately, but she likes it an embarrassing amount. She would worry that Adora would think she was trying to pull away and not try it again if it weren't how she obviously rumbles at the same time that her ear automatically flicks.

"Do you want me to- um- I mean…" Adora trails off, embarrassment radiating off her. Catra snorts, both because it's ridiculous and because she just got off. Adora was watching. She doesn't have to touch Catra just because Catra touched her. Despite how Catra assumed they weren't ready for something like this even just a few minutes ago, that felt natural. This doesn't.

"I'm good, Adora. Let's wait until it feels right again, okay?" Catra asks, shifting her head up to get a read on Adora's expression. Adora flushes, but her expression is thoughtful despite her embarrassment and she nods. When she realizes that Catra is looking at her, an instant smile blossoms on her face. She looks a bit dopey and maybe Catra's heart is fluttering a little.

"I'll get to return the favor sometime though, right?" Adora asks, sounding genuinely concerned about it. Catra rolls her eyes to cover her blush, but she nods as she buries her face down somewhere around the soft swell of Adora's tits.

"Like I'd let you be the only one who gets all the fun," Catra returns. Adora lifts her free hand and drops it in Catra's hair, tousling her ears a little and then setting to petting her. Catra purrs softly, happily sinking into the attention. Her underwear may still be clinging to her, but she is too comfortable to think about moving. Her nose also still feels weird from being grinded against and just lying together sounds nice.

"We need to change," Adora says in the least committed way that she has ever said anything. It is an acknowledgement of reality and not a genuine suggestion to move. Catra grumbles and buries her face more firmly in Adora's chest. Yes, their underwear is ruined, and they could probably both use a trip to the bathroom to clean themselves up, but Catra is happily boneless right now.

"We smell like sex. We should wait for everyone to be asleep," Catra rebukes with a wide yawn. Adora hums, the sound far more committed than her initial suggestion was. Catra has a point, but really she just wants to cuddle and Adora seems happy to do the same. None of this is how Catra envisioned spending the evening, but she couldn’t have asked for a better night. Several new realms of intimacy have opened up to them and now she is surrounded by Adora and the traces of sex.

She hopes every evening for the rest of her life is similar to this, but given their ambitious plans for the future, she kind of doubts that she will get that wish. She is going to soak in it for as long as she can.

End Notes

I'll be putting up the Season One fic notes tomorrow probably. I'm going to go on a bit of hiatus soon after. Details will be on my Tumblr soon along with the fic notes.
