Lightning in a Bottle

by lologoblens

Summary

Everyone lies on resumes? Right? Sí But when Adora's internship finally requires her to draw upon that conversational spanish she claimed to know, her little fib catches up with her. So what's a girl to do if not call in a friend to help? And if that just so happens to require her to spend hours in a quiet, remote section of the library with her crush? Well then, so be it.

Notes

Hello everyyy! Happy Valentine's to LizzArcherHavyGunner! I hope your Valentine's week has been filled with all the love (and spice) you could ever want! This is my piece for the SPOPFlex Smut Swap (Thank to Mistress Wholesome for, once again, organizing!), I hope it ticks some good boxes for ya!

Couple things up top for everyone reading! Adora is a transwoman, pronouns she/her; Catra is nonbinary , pronouns they/them. Just to be super explicit so everyone knows what they're in for, as far as how they each refer to their anatomy in this story; Adora uses cock and clit, and Catra uses pussy and cunt.

This is my first time writing a transfem character, and as someone who is nb afab, it was important to me to do my best to be respectful. Please, please feel free to let me know if there's anywhere I've missed the mark, but I did want to share the resources I found in prep for writing this story. Those will be in the end notes for anyone interested!

And then there's some spanish dialogue ahead. Anything you're likely to miss/that isn't translated in the dialogue isn't really important to the plot or anything. Also, I do not speak a lick of spanish, but DeepL translator has assure me it's the world's most accurate translator, so. There ya go.

And with that, let's get to the story!

See the end of the work for more notes

- Catra -
Week 0

Catra is minding their business, eating their lunch in peace. It's been a relatively low stress day, they only have a lab on Wednesdays, which is nice. They also didnt oversleep for said lab for once, and Melog had been kind enough to not leave any presents on their pillow. They had time to pack the lunch they're now eating even- practically unheard of!So of course something had to disrupt that peace, and today that disruption comes in the form of Adora Grayskull rushing over to their table.

Red faced, wild eyed, and out of breath, she falls onto the bench next to Catra. She angles toward them but still sits properly- unlike Catra who is cross legged and perpendicular to her. "What did you do?"

"Hey.. Catra."

"Hey Adora."They deadpan in response to the leading tone. When all she does is wince, they set down the last quarter of their sandwich into its tupperware and repeat, "What did you do?"

She clears her throat and her eyes bounce and forth between Catra's and her own knees. "So..you remember that internship I got?"

"Uh huh."Catra nods and urges her on impatiently . Of course they remember, it's all she'd talked about for the three months between her application and eventual, inevitable acceptance.

"Right."She winces again, and this is so not encouraging, just by the way. "Well, and you know how everyone lies on applications like that?"

Yeah, Catra so does not like where this is going. "Adora. What did you do?"

"Nothing!" They give her a look and she shrinks into herself a little. "Except for I, uh, maybe, might have, just a little bit, exaggerated the result of those spanish lessons you gave me?" A little."

"Spani shl essons? "At first, Catra is baf fled, and then disbelief dawns. "Pease tell me you're not talking about the party last summer."

"W ell"…

"All I taught you were a few curse words!" They rebut, frankly a little shocked that Adora of all people would be so blatantly dishonest on an application like that. Then again, she had been terrified of not getting it.

"Not just curse words!" It' s a weak defense and they both know it.

"Know , since, "Still nothing you could use in a professional setting!" Catra laughs with an air of continued disbelief. "What the actual fuck were you thinking?"

"know" she whines with a pouty little dance to go with it. It gets her scoffed at and she looks up from the slouch she's fallen into to stick out her bottom lip. "I need help."

Catra sighs, knowing that there's no way they're not about to get dragged into some kind of fuckery. "I'm not feeding responses into an earpiece while you're at work."

Adora rolls her eyes and sits up. "Okay , well I'm not ten."

"No, but you are an idiot."

"Mean."

"If you wanted sunshine and rainbows, we have friends you could have turned to. You know, avoided dragging me into this."

"Okay, well neither Bow nor Perfuma speaks spanish, so our sunshine and rainbows friends can't really help me."

"Stars." Catra grumbles, taking a moment to pinch the bridge of their nose and take a breath. Dropping their hand, they look to Adora with resignation. "You've gone three months without it, why now?"

"Yeah." Catra groans but Adora persists. "So my boss's counterpart from the branch in Chile is coming in six weeks?"

"No."

"And I'm supposed to like, show him around?"

"No way."

"It's not like I have to be fluent!"

"Adora, in a month?"

"Six weeks."

"Are you fucking kidding me?"

"I just need, like, basic conversational skills."

"I repeat; in a month? Hell, you barely have a good grasp on English most days!"

"Um, I think that's a little bit of an exaggeration."

"Well it's not."

"Also, it's a month and a half."

"Same difference, blondie."

"Please, Catra"? And now she' s pouting, just fucking great. Like Catra has the will to resist such a well honed pair of puppy eyes.

"Ado… "They hear the note of resignation in their groan and, if the way her pouting briefly wavers is any indication, Adora does too.

"I will make you so many cookies."

"Can you even bake"?

She hesitates;they both know the answer . "I will make you an enormous batch of muddy buddies."

They sigh and warn, "I only have so much time to dedicate to this. We both have actual classes to study for."

"I know , I know."she assures them. "And I'm gonna study on my own too. I downloaded duolingo and everything, but that stupid little owl can't exactly tell me how shitty my pronunciation is"…

"I'm serious,"they continue, not yet convinced, "it' s our senior year. I'm talking a couple hours a week, max."

"I swear to you, Catra, I'm not gonna interfere with your classes. If your work starts to suffer, well stop."

They just huff at how earnest she's being and grumble, "it' s only a month, Grayskull, not like I'm gonna flunk in four weeks."

"So"…

"Fine."They pick up their sandwich and give her a look. "But you fucking owe me."

It's intended as an ominous warning, but Adora just beams at them while they finish their lunch in a stony silence. There's no way this ends how Adora's clearly hoping it will, but Catra's officially signed up for the ride.

- Adora -

Adora is leaning on her hand, elbow propped on one of the tables in the more remote section of the library. Catra's meeting her for their first tutoring session in a little bit, but Adora's been here for hours already. In addition to "Spanish for Dummy" as Catra's taken to calling it, she also has a thousand, million, trillion page paper to write. It's not going all that well, but she's been at it for long enough she decided she deserves a break.

Naturally she's spending that break reading the smut she'd left up on her computer before bed last night. As things heat up she shifts in her seat and her eyes scan the area surrounding her. Does it get her engine going a bit, knowing that while her peers are hard at work, she's over here reading about a villainous catgirl getting deep throated by the golden girl savior of the universe? No comment. (Soyes then.) Despite the riské scene on her screen, her face remains impassive as she reads.

She sighs, more from exhaustion than anything, as one character sinks her teeth into the other. And then, very suddenly, Adora's break ends with the sound of shattering glass. It's probably just in her head of course, the sound, but something definitely shatters. Her illusion of privacy perhaps? The sound she actually hears is that of a throat clearing just behind her, and it's terrifyingly familiar.

Catra leans over her shoulder and, sending a shiver down Adora's spine, they whisper, "So...into biting then, handsome?"

How she retains the moan struggling for freedom behind her lips is anyone's guess. It does however make her consider that perhaps she should start watching her loose lips when she drinks. Catra's never let her live down the admission of what that word does to her, how it turns her inside out in the most pleasant of ways. Handsome. Not that she was eloqent enough to phrase it like that after teqila shots, but clearly they got the picture.

She slams her computer shut and whips around. "Catra!" Too loud for the library, Adora lowers her voice. "You're early."

Catra, looking far too good for a study session at the campus library, is standing behind her with their arms crossed and a smirk on their face. "Nope."

They point to the nearest clock and Adora looks to find that, indeed, Catra is actually several minutes late. Then again, how long were they reading over her shoulder? The thought makes her face heat. "Oh."

Catra laughs, low and restrained. Adora fights off another shiver and turns back to them. "Guess someone got caught up in the plot."

"Shut up," she grumbles, face now even warmer, and she turns around.

Still chuckling, Catra circles the table and drops into the seat across from her. "Hey, from what I saw it was pretty hot." With a wink they add, "You'll have to send me the link."

Ad now there's officially no hope of Adora being a shade more fair than bright fucking red ever again. She's definitely not gonna be able to finish that story now. Not without picturing Catra with their mouth on her- "So, Spanish!" Adora yelps, flustered beyond reason by her own train of thought.

"Sí, el español, el idioma más sexy, ¿no crees?" As the words trail from Catra's smirking lips, it dawns on Adora with violent clarity that this may have been a terrible idea.

"Uh, sí?"

Catra just laughs at her, shaking their head absently as they pull their own computer, a notebook, and a pen bag out of their backpack. "Maybe I'll send you my favorite fic written in Spanish." They look up, no doubt registering the deer in the headlights expression on Adora's face, and tease, "Nothing like free porn for a little incentive, right?"

"Sure." Adora squeaks out. "Totally, sounds great."

Catra rolls her eyes. "Don't tell me you're getting shy on me. I'm not the one who was reading smu-"

"Nope! Not shy, I'm- I love sex. And like, porn." They wince, aware of how awkward they sound. If it were anyone else…

"Clearly."

"Shut up!" Catra's teasing drawl cuts a little of Adora's tension and she manages a quiet chuckle with her admonishment.

Catra just grins back unrepentantly. The last line Adora read before Catra showed up flashes unhelpfully through her mind; With one hand on the bedpost, she leaned over the face and thrust the dildo into Bow's mouth. Adora's hips jerked, sending a shockwave directly to her cock. Seriously, this was a terrible idea. Or maybe the terrible idea was reading pwp on her laptop in the middle of the library. Who can say?

Either way, they're here now and there's no getting out of it. So, when Catra draws her attention to the studying they came to do, Adora manages to focus. Like eighty percent or so, but that's kind of a herculean feat if you consider the low cut blouse Catra is wearing. And, like, the way Adora can see a hint of the scars marking either side of Catra's chest. So sure, maybe twenty percent of her attention is stuck wondering what it would be like to run her tongue along those lines. Not gonna happen though.

Catra as a tutor is… relentless. And bossy. And really, really fucking hot. In the end she keeps Adora at the library for two hours. It's plenty of time to fill her head with all sorts of fantasies that are way inappropriate to be starring a good friend- one who is helping her out when she totally doesnt have to no less, but here we are. And sure, she feels a twinge of guilt when she gets herself off to one of those fantasies later, but it’s not like it’s the first time she’s masturbated while thinking of her infuriatingly hot tutor.

That night in the shower, forehead against the cool tile of the shower wall, one arm up to brace her, and the other hand taking care of her cock, she lets her mind wander. In this alternate universe, she’s a librarian and Catra is the rebellious patron, always turning in her books weeks late. One night, after months of flirting, Catra slips in the door just before closing. They shoot Adora a signature smirk, and nothing needs to be said.

In a moment Catra is bent over the desk, taking three of Adora’s fingers with great pleasure, and Adora’s librarian alter ego teaches her a lesson about what happens when you rack up so many late fees: Eventually, you have to pay the price. It’s fucking ridiculous, maybe more elaborate than necessary when what really does her in is just the image of Catra below her. Fabricated visions of them red faced and sweaty, all because of the unspeakable things Adora has done…

She finishes, left to catch her breath. Her heaving chest draws her eyes down to her tits, each one a satisfying handful, and she smiles. Eyes fluttering closed, she releases her clit and moves her hand up the curves of her body to feel herself up. She sighs, imagining it is a postcoitus Catra, reveling in the roundness to Adora’s curves. She pictures Catra kissing across her broad shoulders and murmuring sweet nothings, the whispered words brushing delicately across her skin.

Soon, the water rushing down her back begins to cool. With a heavy sigh, she turns off the water, wrings out her hair, and climbs out. Wrapped up in two towels, she wipes at the fogged up mirror and looks herself dead in the eye in that slightly less fogged patch of glass. With the cooler, humid air outside the shower comes the rushing realization; her and Catra’s next tutoring session at the library is now going to be doubly awkward- and she only has herself to blame.

- Catra -
Week 2-4

When Adora suggested they go to a coffee shop for their second study session, Catra felt a little bad at the way her expression dropped when their response amounted to, essentially, no fucking way. And so they'd gone on to explain that it would just be too much auditory input- even with their adderall they wouldn't be able to focus. Hence the remote, barely used section of the library they'd told her to meet them at the first time. At that Adora's shoulder had fallen to a more relaxed position, and she'd offered an understanding smile.

Still, Catra had felt compelled to suggest they grab coffee after- if Adora earned it that is. And she had, in fact;by their fourth session Catra could admit to herself that Adora had far surpassed her expectations. She did, of course, speak with the accent of the white girl from middle-of-nowhere-America that she is, the very one who insisted on heating her tortillas in the microwave until Catra enlightened her, but at least she's getting the hang of what to say, even if the how continues to elude her. And so it became a routine of sorts. Twice a week or so, they'd go to the library for an hour or two, and after they'd hit up the coffee shop across the street.

They'd stay and chat for as long as they both had until one or the other of them had to rush off to another commitment. And it was nice. They and Adora have been friends since being introduced by a mutual friend their sophomore year. Catra met Bow in an intro level philosophy class, and they had bonded over lamenting the monologs that they were regularly subjected to by the douchey, white, cishet frat bros in the back row. He also ended up being one of Catra's first safe people with whom they could process their transness. Having come from a more supportive home, he'd been out for years already and was a font of knowledge.

And then of course, he'd introduced them to Adora;a friend of his who also had to wait until legal adulthood to begin medically transitioning. It was almost like a little support group of sorts, soon expanded when Bow's girlfriend befriended Perfuma, who she met in a botany class Glimmer had registered for on a whim. Soon their friend groups blended entirely, cemented when Perfuma had brazenly asked out Catra's roommate (and the first friend she'd made at school) the first time they met.

Though Mermista and Perfuma hadn't lasted, they all remained good friends. In fact, it was Mermista who had set up her ex with her now girlfriend- and Catra's begrudging bestie. Scorpia is all ot, but it's pure goodness. Plus she and Perfuma together are sickening in the best possible way. The larger friend group was surprisingly cohesive and drama free, a community Catra hadn't known they needed. And while they felt close to them all, the fearsome foursome' (Bow's idea) had continued making a point to do something just them every couple weeks or so.

All of this to say, for as much time as they spent together and for as long as they've been friends, this is the first time Catra can remember having spent any sort of significant one on one time with Adora. And she's- It's kind of funny- Well, no, not funny, just Catra's realizing the more time they spend around Adora, the more time they want to spend around her. She's just.well, funny, honestly. Which they'd known obviously, but it's different somehow. When it's just them. Adora's…

Okay, so Catra might be developing a crush. But just a small one!

But.there may or may not have been one or two racy dreams, starring.well, you get the picture. It's totally fine, and Catra has it under control. So she skipped dinner with Bow, Perfuma, and Adora last night, claiming a migraine. So what? It's not the first time she's begged off plans at the eleventh hour, and it surely won't be the last. And anyway, the night in, with the apartment to herself seeing as Merms was off with her new boytoy, did them some good. What is decidedly not helping, however, is the low cut dress Adora showed up in today.

And she keeps leaning over, flashing hints of black lace against pale skin that are about to do Catra in. They also can't stop looking at her damned mouth, if they didn't know any better they'd think she was drawing attention to it on purpose. Fucking tapping her pen against her lips as she thinks, catching the lower between her teeth while Catra's talking, running her tongue across them every so often… Catra's about to freudian slip her way into an awkward situation of inescapable proportions.

"Catra?"

"Uh? Shit, sorry, what did you say?"

Adora laughs, that warm, unapologetic- Gosh, I love being the focus of -"You space out on me, huh?"

"Whatever." They scoff, hoping their complexion will hide the heat they feel rushing to their cheeks.

"Whatever," she repeats with a playful roll of her eyes. "I was just saying I'm kind of tapping out too, and I basically skipped lunch. Would you wanna call it and grab food instead of coffee after?"

"Oh, uh, what'd you have in mind?"

Adora shrugs and starts packing away her things, evidently taking that as confirmation that they're done for the day. Probably for the best, Catra's brain feels fried. "Honestly I've been thinking about those pickles from the deli, like, all fucking day. I'm flexible though."

They shake their head. "No, that works."

"Cool." Adora stands and puts on the light jacket hanging off the back of her chair. "You have anywhere to be tonight?"

They consider lying, because, really, how much more of Adora's charm can they be expected to endure this evening? But, at the same time, they never want to say goodnight, so they don't. "Not really, just a paper I should work on. You?"

"Nope!" Adora throws her old, red backpack over her shoulder and Catra finally gets to stuffing their things in the tote bag under the table.

When they exit the library, the night air is warm with the promise of spring. The walk to the deli is quiet, peaceful. In the comfortable silence, Catra thinks about holding Adora's hand. It's just a daydream but it makes the walk feel even more idyllic. Because apparently one tiny, eensy weensy little crush is enough to turn Catra into a total sap. Who knew?

They arrive at their destination, just a few blocks off campus, before long and Catra holds the door open with a wink and, "Ladies first."

Adora laughs and shakes her head, cheeks turning a pretty shade of pink, but she steps through without comment. The deli is mostly empty;some guy who's probably also a BU student on a laptop at a table in the back, an old woman with her service dog eating soup and reading the paper, and of course the staff. It's a little late for lunch, and a little early for dinner, so Catra's not surprised.

"You know what you want?" they ask, standing with Adora a few feet back from where they'll order.

She nods and with a lighthearted laugh says, "Yeah, sticking with my usual."

Catra laughs and rolls their eyes- they've seen Adora order corned beef on rye more times than they can count. "Of course."

They step forward and are greeted by the owner herself. "There you two are, you are late!"

Adora chuckles and Catra just rolls her eyes. "Sure, Raz, whatever you say."

"Thirty four dollars and seventy seven cents."

Catra's eyebrows raise. "Not gonna let us place our order then, or"…

They're met with a withering look. "Corned beef on rye with extra pickle for Mara, and-"

"Okay , well she always gets the same thing."

The look goes nowhere. "And a soup and bagel with schmear and smoked trout for you there, with the sass. Is Madame Razmissing anything?"

Adora laughs at them. "You're never gonna get her , you know that, right?"

"Listen to Mara, dearie."

Catra huffs and grumbles, "Los odio a ambos. Mucho."as she hands over her card.

"Don't think you hate me considering you just paid for my food, but okay."Adora teases smugly . Catra ignores her in favor of signing the receipt.

Without further fanfare, Razwalks away to start their order . Or rather, she walks away to go micromanage Luke E. who it seems is already making their food. Adora nods at the row of booths along the far wall and Catra leads the way. They fall into the seats across from one another with twin sighs. Adora smiles at them, and Catra grins back.

"So."Adora drums short red nails on the table between them. Catra raises a brow in askance and she huffs out a little laugh. "Have you heard about that phantom black guy?"

Catra brow furrows, they're sure they're looking at her like she's out of her damn mind. "Excuse me?"

"I don't remember his name, but he, like, copyrighted- I think copyrighted- like, the blackest black? So someone else made the pinkest pink but said he couldn't use it. A-"

"Sorry," Catra interrupts, just barely keeping a lid on their laughter, "are you talking about vanta black?"

Her cheeks flush and it's just entirely too delicious. "No? Maybe, I don't know."

"Yeah, babe, it's definitely vanta."

"Oh." she pouts. "I dunno, it just came up on my fyp."

"Like recently? That was, what, five plus years ago?"

She crosses her eyes at their musings. "Know it all."

"Hey!" Catra laughs. "Not my fault you're so behind on world events."

"World events?" she asks with a look. "Really?"

"Art world at least."

"Cause that's not niche or anything."

Catra shrugs. "You're the one who landed on art world tiktok."

The arrival of their food cuts off any rebuttal Adora intends to make. They dig in with minimal chit chat, both hungry enough they're pretty much devouring their respective meals. As they begin to slow, Adora slides her basket in which there remains half a pickle spear. Catra stares at it, then looks up to Adora with eyebrows raised.

Her cheeks are a soft pink, but it's also kind of warm in the deli for once, so Catra doesn't think much of it. At least, not beyond how sweet she looks like this. "You want?"

Oh, no tienes idea de lo mucho que quiero, Adora. "Seriously?"

"What?" she asks, immediately defensive.

"Pretty sure I saw you try to bite Perfuma's arm off once when she looked."

"If you don't want it, just say so."

"Oh no, I want it." And to prove their point Catra plucks it out of the basket before Adora can change their mind. Razz makes the pickles herself and they are damn good. Catra eats it quick, licking the brine from her pointer finger and thumb when she's done.

They're not sure how to interpret the way Adora's looking at them, but they think they like it.

She clears her throat suddenly and turns to fuss with her bag. "So, uh, I know you said you had a paper to write. I think Glimmer's back at our place with Bow studying. If you wanna come over to work or whatever."

Catra shakes their head, watching her, drawing no conclusions. "I already told Mermista to clear out tonight so I could have a quiet place to work."

Adora's eyes brighten and she meets Catra's again. "Is she still seeing Seahawk?"

Much to Catra's dismay, "Yeah. Not sure why, but."

"Aw, I think he's sweet."

"He's a twat."

She laughs and rolls her eyes. Catra remains unmoved. "Well Bow's thinking about inviting him to play games with the four of us on Thursday, so you might wanna get used to him."

"Great," they groan.

In singsong, Adora informs them, "Someonehasacrush…"

"No!"

She laughs again and nods, leaning forward to spill the tea. "Oh, one hundred percent. You know Bow loves pretty boys."

"Would we call Seahawk a pretty boy though? Really?"

"Just because you have to listen to him sing shanties when he showers at your place, doesn't mean he's not pretty. Those eyelashes alone." Catra gives her a wary look and she shrugs. "I mean, obviously I'm not gonna join the fan club, but I would pay out the ass for mascara that gave me half that volume."

At this Catra laughs. "Fair enough. I still say the personality outweighs the aesthetic, but he's nice to Merms, so it is what it is, I suppose. You ready to head out?"

She sighs but stands, sliding on her jacket and waiting for Catra to gather their things. "Remind me why I stay in school?" she requests as they walk out, sending Raz and Luke E. a wave over their shoulder.

"Psh, beats me."

Another heavy sigh and, "I was afraid you'd say something like that."

Catra just snorts at her and they start making their way in their general direction of their apartments. Their place is a little farther than Adora's, and hers is only a couple blocks out of the way, so they figure they'll just walk her home. It's the gentlemanly thing to do, after all.

"Hey Catra?" Adora starts after several blocks spent in companionable silence.

"Hey what?"

"Thank you, again, for helping me out." Catra turns and is offered a shy smile. "You're a really good friend."

Something in Catra halts at those words. They keep walking, but it almost feels like they momentarily leave their stomach and their knees behind. Then suddenly the two snap back into place. They feel like a damned cartoon character. "Anytime."

Adora bites her lip, slowing to a stop under a streetlamp, turning her body toward them. Catra can feel all of their pulse points at once, beating against their skin. "Um, just to throw this out there," Adrao begins. Catra's pulse beats harder, Phil Collins' drums a la In the Air Tonight seemingly driving the rhythm. "I've been enjoying, like, hanging out with you. I guess I just think it would be like, cool if we kept it up."

Adora's watching their face nervously and, shit, if they don't want to pull her in for a kiss in the worst fucking way. They clear their throat. "What?" they say teasingly, "You trying to get a minor in Spanish now or something?"

She rolls her eyes but grins, a bit of inexplicable tension draining from the air between them. "Oh ha ha, you know what I mean, Catra."

They sober, knowing to quit while they're ahead, and nod. "I do, yeah. I think that'd be cool too."

"Yeah?" she verifies, dopey and hopeful and sweet.

"Yeah, dummy."

"Okay! Cool."

"Cool." Catra waits, nothing happens. "So, you wanna start walking again or should I start setting up camp?"

"Ugh, brat!" Adora accuses, shoving their shoulder lightly and beginning to walk away. Catra just chuckles and catches up.

They're not far from her building, and both slow to a stop once more at the end of the path. It feels...well, maybe Catra's projecting, but it feels to them like the end of a date. Those exhilarating, terrifying moments when you try to gauge the other party's interest in a goodnight kiss. One person jingles their keys, ready to go inside but not ready to leave. The other lingers on the doorstep, hoping they won't be allowed to walk away without that display of affection.

They clear their throat and step back. This wasn't a date. "Well, night, Adora."

"Yeah, goodnight, Catra." One hand is stuffed in their pocket and the other waves awkwardly. As if they might escape their own sudden ineptitude with women, Catra turns around quickly and walks away without any further display.

They don't look back to see Adora, watching them until they disappear around the corner at the end of her block.

- Adora -
Week 5

Adora's not sure she's ever been so mortified in her life.

"You know," Bow says from the floor, a laugh in his voice, "I definitely caught them staring at your..." he indicates his own chest, "at game night." Yeah, scratch the earlier sentiment; Adora's definitely never been more mortified. Ever.

She snaps up from where she'd flopped over the back of the couch to glare at him. Meanwhile, Glimmer, sitting on the armchair behind Bow, cackles. "Oh, that's too fucking good."

"Shut up!" Adora whines, inspiring further laughter from her so-called best friends. "Catra was absolutely not staring at my tits, stars." She glares at Glimmer. "Or my ass."

"Please," she scoffs, readjusting in her seat to lounge further, "they looked like they were considering taking a bite out of it right there in our kitchen."

"Besides," Bow intercedes before Adora can refute the claim- again, "didn't you say they were flirting with you? You know, like people do on dates."

Adora groans, seeing clearly that her words aren't getting through. Despite what her friends think, Catra is still just helping her out- there's been nothing to indicate that their study sessions have evolved to study dates. Or at least, nothing beyond Bow and Glimmer's accounts of all the times they've allegedly caught Catra checking her out over the last couple weeks.

"They're not flirting, they're just trying to get a rise out of me!"

"And it's clearly working." Glimmer mumbles, earning another scathing look from Adora that just makes her laugh even harder.

"Ugh, you two are insufferable."

"Babes," Glimmer tries in her best impression of voice, "why are you so convinced they're not into you? You're a stone cold hottie, and sh- sorry, they're a fucking raging lesbian."

She rolls her eyes at that take. "I just think I'd know. Like, it was super obvious when they were into that barista."

"Barista?" Bow's forehead wrinkles with his confusion.

"Last year?" Adora prompts begrudgingly, not exactly relishing the reminder. "They always wanted to go to that cafe over on-"

"Wait, you're not talking about Sven?"

Adora's face feels hot and she shrinks in her seat. "Uh," she grumbles.

Bow's lips pinch together, barely suppressing laughter at her expense, so she sticks out her tongue. Glimmer looks between them in confusion. "Sven who?"

He loses it and giggles, then tells his girlfriend, "Sven sold Catra pot until they met Adora and got offered a better price."

Glimmer snorts and Adora thinks about running away and joining the circus or something. But like a circus that's nice to the elephants. So probably just a circus without elephants at all then. Which, how that's different from Adora's life currently she couldn't say.

"Whatever." She huffs, sitting upright again. "Doesn't mean they didn't have a thing for them too."

"Okay, well apparently you were never subjected to their rant on how Sven's entire apartment evidently reeked of blue cheese." Adora gives him a disbelieving look and he snorts, throwing up submissive hands. "Why do you think Catra bought from them at their work? They refused to go back after the first couple times." He pauses, considers, and adds, "And also Sven didn't care about that job at all."

Glimmer snorts. "Clearly."

"Okay, well I should get ready-"

"For your date." Glimmer jokingly disguises her words as a cough and Adora stands and throws a pillow in her face. She just laughs, because she's a bitch like that.

"To study." she corrects with as severe a look as she can manage. "With my friend, Catra."

"Friend wants to fuck you." Bow coughs out, earning a high five from his girlfriend. Adora on the other hand, huffs and spins away, shutting herself in her room.

And while Adora maintains that this is not a date, what she can admit is that she's never thought so hard about what to wear. At least, not since the tightrope she walked all through high school between masculine and feminine, trying to be both visible and incognito at the same time. The few dresses in her closet have gotten more wear in the last few weeks than they have since she bought them. Cause yeah, these may not be dates, but of course Adora wants her crush to think she looks good.

So she peels off her sweats, changes into cuter, matching underwear, and stands in front of her closet like the gladiator before the colosseum. It's raining today, and decently chilly, so all her sundresses are out. The jeans that make her ass look the best aren't technically clean, but they could withstand another wear or two. It's as she's holding them up, giving them a perfunctory sniff, that she remembers a better option.

Glimmer dragged her out shopping earlier in the week, looking to avoid studying. They'd hit up the thrift store just outside city limits, and both of them scored. In addition to a couple tops and a new desk chair, Adora found the cutest pants. High waisted light khaki trousers with a cinched waist and perfectly placed pleating. Her jeans have nothing on what this pair of pants can do for her; if this doesn't catch Catra's eye, nothing will.

After that her outfit comes together quickly; the pants dressed down with an old t-shirt and a pair of tims that are beat up enough Glimmer considers it a crime. Then she's out the door and practically skipping her way to the library. Catra is already at their usual table on the fifth floor, and they look up as she approaches. It's not until she's slinging her backpack over the chair that they say anything.

"Hey, Adora. New pants?"

"Oh," she looks down, as if she's forgotten what she's wearing or something, "yeah, went shopping with Glimmer on Tuesday."

Catra hums thoughtfully and gives Adora a very obvious up and down, it simultaneously pleases her and makes her blush hotly. "Se ve bien, guapo."

"Thanks," she says, getting the sentiment of you look good. Her brows stay pinched though, because for the life of her, she can't remember. "Wait, what's guapo?" Then, a little suspicious Catra's teasing her, "Is that like gringa?"

They throw their head back and laugh. Looking up and wiping at the corner of their eyes, which still dance with laughter, Catra says, "No, dummy, look it up."

Adora finally sits, still eyeing Catra suspiciously. And they watch her, still looking mischievous (and sexy. So, so sexy) as hell. She pulls out her phone and pulls up the translation app she'd downloaded. And then the result comes up; handsome. Un millón y una mariposas fly free in Adora's belly, and she looks up with a shy grin. "Shut up."

Catra rolls their eyes, smile as wide and dangerous to Adora's health as ever. "Uh huh, try again en español, and maybe I will."

Adora highly doubts it, but she complies with a cocky look of her own. "Ah sí? Chulate, Catra."

"Bien hecho, gringa. You do your homework?" They hold out an expectant hand, and Adora huffs playfully but does indeed pull out her homework. Really it's just a bunch of random shit Catra wrote out for her to translate. Not that she's not grateful! "Great, work on reading this."

What they hand over could make Adora pass out; all her blood must be in her face now, and surely that can't be sustainable. "¿Y erdad?" She's looking down at the cover of a Spanish copy of an old She Ra comic. You know, the piece of media Catra had caught her reading erotic fanfiction of before their first tutoring session. "You did this on purpose."

Catra smirks at the accusation and doesn't bother looking up from the paper in her hands. "And if I did?"

"I hate you." she says, just as deadpan as she'd made the initial accusation. Catra's smirk deepens, one dimple emerges. It's on their left cheek.

"Aw, no you don't, Princess." At this they glance up to wink at Adora, effectively communicating that they know exactly what they're doing, quoting the Queen of Eluth from the comic in Adora's hands like that.

Adora has no rebuttal, so she ignores them. She muddles her way through the comics for thirty minutes or so, and then Catra subjects her to an hour of torture. By which, of course, I mean an hour of listening to them speak a romance language to her. They keep the topics very small talky- things like, "How old were you when you first read She Ra?" ("Tenía trece años.")

And then the conversation takes a dramatic turn to the left with, "Por cierto, te he dicho que esa camisa hace que tus tetas se vean increíbles?"

Adora furrows her brow and murmurs the words she recognizes back to herself. "¿Mi camisa?"

"Sí, Adora, tu camisa."

There's a twinkle in Catra's eye that makes her feel uncertain. "You said... ¿Se ve bien?" "Yeah?"

"No," Catra says, looking like the cat with the canary, "dije; hace que tus tetas se vean increíbles."

"Tetas." Adora repeats, something nagging at the back of her brain. "¿Qué es tetas?"

"Y our tits, Adora," Catra says, leaning forward with their elbows on the table, "I said; that top makes your tits look amazing."

"Oh! " Adora says, too loud for the library . "Holy hell."

They cackle, also too loud for the library, and Adora's unsure if she should feel more miffed or amused. And then they say, "What? It' s true." and after that she mostly just feels flustered.

"- Thank you?"

Catra rolls her eyes, still grinning knowingly at their flustered friend. "Sure thing, guapo."

Adora stares them down for a minute, looking for.. something. Truth, maybe? Intent? All she finds is amusement and confidence. She looks down. "So, uh, you have that study group later , right? Wanna call it here?"

Catra takes a moment to respond, but Adora doesnt look up. She busies herself closing the pages of the comic and smoothing down the unmarred corners. "Sure, Adora, we can call it."

She glances at them only to find them already watching her. Feigning some level of chill, she just says, "Cool. Um, you have time to grab coffee, or?..

"How would you feel about something a little more stif f?"

Adora pauses, unsure why she's as surprised as she is by the suggestion. "Sure, anywhere you're thinking of?"

Catra stands, eyes still on Adora but starting to gather their things. Adora stays in her seat for the moment, watching them. "Not really . Dragon' s Daughter maybe?"

She nods at the name of the lesbian bar; it' s a little more of a walk than some of their other options, but typically worth it. First of all; lesbians, and second; Adora loves a theme bar . "W orks for me."

With that she gets up, ignoring the way Catra watches her as she packs up her things. It's not until she's standing with her jacket on that she acknowledges them again. "Yes?"

They shake their head and their thoughtful expression melts into a smirk. "Nothing, just admiring those pants again."

"Oh," Adora stutters, feeling herself blush, "uh, thanks."

"You bet, Princess." Adora swears they saunter away, the sway of their hips- and the way it threatens to hypnotize her- surely intentional. It takes her an extra minute to shake herself out of it, what with Glimmer's words echoing through the recently emptied recesses of her brain and all; "she looked like she was considering taking a bite out of it right then and there."

Adora's sure Catra wasn't looking at her like that- then or now- but, well, they do seem to like her pants an awful lot. Don't they?

Half an hour later, Adora is falling into a chair across from Catra at the bar. They hang their bags on their chairs, and by the time they've settled in someone is wandering over to the table to take their order. Catra gets her standard rum and coke, and Adora quickly scans the cocktail menu, not wanting to keep their server waiting on her to decide.

"What about you, Dora?" Mara asks with her eyebrows raised, the ever present spark of amusement in her eyes.

"Yeah, can I do the Serpent of the Sea?"

"You always choose the most involved special on purpose, Squirt, or that just a coincidence?" Catra scoffs at Mara's question while Adora just feels herself turn what's sure to be a very bright red.

"I can get something else!"

Mara just waves off the, admittedly shrill, offer. "It's fine, Hawk's on tonight and you know he loves that showy shit."

"Wait, they let him back behind the bar?" Catra asks, eyebrows high.

That gets an eye roll, but Mara's smile sticks. "Yeah, well. Turns out lighting the bartop on fire in the middle of your own personal Tom Cruise moment, a la Cocktail, generates some decent publicity." Catra and Adora react with a moment of stunned silence and Mara laughs. "Hope says he's good for business, so he stays."

Catra shakes her head. "Your wife's decision making will never make sense to me, I swear. She seems so sensible one minute, and then…"

"Well," Adora puts out fairly, "she did marry Mara, so. Says a lot."

"Wow, okay!" She tucks her notepad into her apron and throws up her hands. "I'm going to take that in the most flattering way possible before I end up banning your asses from my bar."

"Bye Mara." Adora calls, and Catra just offers her a cheeky finger wave. They share a laugh which settles into a pair of comfortable sighs. "So." Adora begins, no idea where to go.

Catra smirks like they know it. "So."

"Hm um, how did your midterms go?"

They shrug, still with that infuriating expression. Adora has half a mind to kiss it off, really show 'em. (Like, only if they were into it. Obviously. Which they probably aren't. Right?) "Fine, I can tell you now that I won't be taking another class with Hordak again, that's for damn sure."

Pouting sympathetically, Adora leans forward on her elbows. "Bow took a class from him last year. Pretty sure it made him cry."

They scoff playfully. "What doesn't make Bow cry?"

Adora chuckles at the joke and pushes Catra lightly; they don't resist, but she notices they don't move far from the tips of her fingers before reeling back in. Their sweater is so soft. Warm too. Maybe boyfriend material even. "Okay, fair point, but pretty sure every other professor here loves Bow."

"Well yeah," they wave her off, "but he's been running around this campus since he was like, what? Eight?"

Adora nods, half shrugging. "I think Lance got his position right before he turned nine, yeah."

"Right, and you've seen pictures of baby Bow. You'd have to be totally heartless to hate those cheeks."

The reminder makes Adora melt- as if there aren't several baby pictures of both her roommates around their place. "If he and Glimmer ever procreate…"

That gets a loud laugh, just as Mara returns to set down their drink. "Oh fuck," Catra says, acknowledging Mara with a nod, "can you imagine? Bow's cheeks and Glimmer's penchant for terrorizing the innocent."

Adora snorts at the same moment she tries a sip of her drink. She's not sure what exactly is in the Serpent of the Sea, but she does now know that it burns like a bitch coming out your nose. Mara laughs along with her, handing her a napkin at the same time she tucks her tray under one arm. And casually she comments, "Please, there's no way those two split up. The antichrist is coming."

Catra laughs loudly, but Adora forces her own laughter back in favor of replying indignantly, "Hey! That's my future nibling you're talking about, thank you very much."

"Woah," Catra throws up her hands, "no hate. When they come, I know whose side I wanna be on- and it's not the guy my mom warned me about."

Adora rolls her eyes, losing the battle with a small laugh, and Mara gives Catra a high five. "Alright, I've got other tables. You two need anything else right now?"

They agree mutually that they're set, and see their server off with a round of thankyous. And then they're alone once more, and Adora feels like she's on a blind date or something; a nervous effervescence in her gut, no idea what she could say that might charm this other person, and hopeless wish that this night will never end. Well. Okay, so maybe she's never been on a blind date that she found herself hoping would go on longer, but still. It feels like a good blind date- she's heard that's a thing.

The longer she stares, the further Catra's cocky smirk deflates to an uncertain smile. When the corners of their mouth start to droop, Adora sits upright and clears her throat. She seems to snap Catra out of something too. "Sorry, zoned out for a second."

Catra waves her off, and she takes a drink of her cocktail just for something to do. "Same, honestly. How's the monstrosity?"

Adora rolls her eyes with a smile, licking her lips and setting her glass down again. "For one- fuck you. And it's actually really good, it's like a sour apple thing." She slides the glass closer to Catra and offers, "Try if you want."

They look at the glass skeptically, then back to Adora. Some level of resolve seems to settle into their expression, and they pick up her glass without looking away. It only makes sense then, that Adora's eyes fall to Catra's lips as they take a sip. And later Adora will tell herself it's a trick of the light, but in that moment she swears- Adora swears, before Catra tips back the glass to drink, their tongue flicks out to lick the rim. It's quick, but it will be a real challenge for Adora to convince herself that she didn't see the tip of Catra's tongue just inside the mark of her own mouth, right where the faint pink gloss on her lips transferred to the glass.

Catra sets down the glass with a satisfied sound that snaps Adora out of her reverie. "Not bad, but all that sugar is gonna fuck you tomorrow."

"Nah, Ill drink some water before bed."she says with a wink before taking another sip.

"I literally think Im about to fall into a sugar coma from a single sip of that."

"M , pretty sure youre gonna be fine."As into the lighthearted teasing as Adora is, she doesnt notice the way she leans into the exchange. She also doesnt notice a noticing, nor the way that they respond in kind.

"No, really , now Im concerned."

"Oh are you?"

"Y e*p*. I think Im gonna need someone to sleep with me tonight."

Adora's eyebrows raise. "What? Gonna work that blood sugar down with a bit of cardio?"

With a smirk and a theatrical hand over their heart, Catra says, "Excuse me? Adora, get your mind out of the gutter! I meant I need someone there to make sure I wake up, check on me every couple hours or so."

Bright red and eager to move on, Adora scoffs, "I think youre thinking of a concussion."

"Nope, dont think I am, but think what you want."They lean back and it's then that Adora notices how close they'd gotten. Her face feels a smidge warmer as she too leans back in her chair. "I suppose Ill just have to find someone else with the stamina to stay up all night with me."

"Good thing were at the gay bar then."

Catra's eyes narrow and Adora turns away under the guise of searching the bar for potential candidates. As if she wouldn't be prepared to tear a new asshole into anyone bold enough to apply for the position. Not that she would, but. You get it. Suddenly Adora worries that Catra gets it too- all too well in fact. The calculated look on their face unnerves her, and she scrambles to shift gears.

Luckily, Catra saves her from herself before she can think of something stupid to say. "Hey, don't you still owe me a massive batch of muddy buddies?"

Adora brightens at the pivot. "I do!"

Wrinkling their nose just oh so cutely, they ask, "You're not gonna, like, find a way to burn them or something, are you?"

Despite her swooning, Adora manages to give Catra a derisive look. "It's literally microwaving some shit, stirring it, and then shaking it around in a bag."

"Ah, so it was just because of the stove that you-"

"Okay! I know where this is going, we don't have to-"

"managed to burn hotdogs, which-"

Adora groans and takes a long, long pull of her drink.

"you were boiling for some-"

Adora finishes her drink in time to protest, "That's how my brother said you were supposed to cook them!"

"damn reason. As if the-"

"I said I was sorry!"

"tortillas in the microwave-"

"I'm white, okay? What do you want-"

"It wasn't enough."

"What from me?"

Catra finishes her raising with a raised eyebrow and a smirk. Adora, flustered in more ways than one, huffs. And then Catra goes and says, "I want plenty from you, Adora. But, prepared food just isn't on the list."

And what in the absolute fuck is Adora supposed to say to that? She gapes at a victorious Catra for a minute before averting her eyes. Instead, she stares down at her empty glass and stabs into the cherry at the bottom repeatedly with the tiny plastic sword the garnish came on. After an extended silence, she eats the cherry, sighs, and looks up.

"Hey guapo."

"You're cruel." she says, pointing the tiny sword Catra's way.

They just grin and lean forward on their elbows, arms crossed at the wrists. "Cruel to be kind, right?"

Adora snorts and rolls her eyes. "Okay, Letters to Cleo."

"Hey, pretty sure they just covered that song."

That gives her pause; she didn't know that. "Still a bop."

"Whatever you say," Adora's breath hitches. Catra has leaned forward, close enough to... close enough to... They hum and Adora's eyes flutter shut of their own volition. Below their breath, Catra finishes with a lingering, "handsome."

Adora's eyes snap open. Catra is further away now, but still leaned more toward Adora then they are back toward their seat. She clears her throat. She wishes she hadn't finished her drink. She thinks about using getting another as an excuse to step away and catch her breath, but two is enough to do her in entirely these days. Who knows what Two Drink Adora would say , what messes she would leave for Sober Adora to clean up?

Catra chuckles and Adora realizes she never did come up with anything to say. She watches them down the last of their rum and coke before asking, "Ready to take off?"

She pouts a little but has no reason to say no, so instead she says, "Home is so far ."

They laugh at her and stand, seemingly taking that as a yes. "Well, we're gonna have to leave eventually ."

They pull out their wallet and she watches them drop enough for both drinks and a tip onto the table, tucking it under their empty glass. "Do you want me to get you back?"

They wave her off and pull on their jacket, so Adora finally gives in and stands as well. "Just don't fuck up my muddy buddies and we'll call it even."

Shooting goodbyes to a distracted Mara, they file out the door. "Your lack of faith is hurtful, quite frankly ."

Adora follows Catra down the sidewalk, past the small stretch of restaurants and bars and into the residential area they'll pass through to get home. They turn around, walking just a bit ahead of her, and smirk as they say, "Sucks to suck, babe."

Doing her best to ignore Catra's casual use of the term babe, she huffs theatrically and holds her chin a little higher. "I'm not so sure about that. But maybe you've never had a good experience with sucking."

They stumble and their eyes go wide. Adora wants to stand there and crow over her success, but Catra's fumble doesn't last long.

Their eyes go a little dark, then very suddenly neither of them is walking anymore and Catra is right in her space. She feels them take her hand in their own, sees them pull it into their mutual periphery- eyes locked together, shivers at the sensation of Catra's hot breath on the two fingers they single out. They encourage the rest of her fingers into a fist, and then the tips of Adora's pointer and middle finger are in Catra's fucking mouth.

She's not even sure she's breathing. Every muscle in Adora's body, from her diaphragm to the other ones (who can remember the names of muscles at a time like this?), is held taut. Catra doesn't torture her long; a quick flick of their tongue and then a slow drag out. It feels like a fever dream- maybe that's why it looks to Adora like Catra is getting even half as turned on as she is. They let her hand fall and smirk.

"Trust me, Adora," Catra murmurs in a low voice, "I know how to show a girl a good time."

"I-" Catra laughs and Adora's face feels like it's engulfed in flames. "Shut up!" They step back and laugh harder. "Ugh, you're such an ass." Catra's still laughing, and Adora is embarrassed. And so she walks away.

It's not like she's unaware of the situation, of how obvious she is- has always been. And not just with Catra; Adora's never had a crush that stayed secret for long, and this one's been going on for years now. It's not like Catra to cross the line like this though. Sure they'll flirt playfully, and Adora's pretty sure teasing is Catra's love language at this point, but she's never felt so put on the spot about her attraction, her feelings before.

When Catra's footsteps approach, clearly hurried in an effort to catch up with Adora's brisk pace, she turns away and blinks hard to rid herself of her stinging eyes. "...Adora?"

"Mhm?"

They wait a beat, hesitating, before requesting, "Hey, can you just, like hold up a sec?"

Adora sighs but she stops. She doesn't look toward them but Catra ducks into her line of sight. They look concerned, brow furrowed and a clear frown on their face. "What's up?"

"Adora, look, I'm sorry if that was like, weird, or whatever. I didn't mean to make you uncomfortable, I won't-" They hesitate and lick their lips before drawing the bottom between their teeth. Adora waits, slowly untensing but unable to speak. "It won't happen again."

As if that's not half the problem. Adora blows out a breath and shakes her head. "You're fine, don't worry about it."

"Are you sure?" they ask, concern going nowhere. "Cause it seemed like..."

Adora rolls her eyes in a, likely unsuccessful, bid to play off her reaction. "Seriously, it's not a big deal. I got a little flustered or whatever, who wouldn't?"

Catra continues to eye her for a moment before working their expression into a facsimile of their usual smirk. "You know, you make an excellent point; I am very hot."

Adora scoffs, face hot again. "Not what I said, but okay."

"No," Catra argues, turning around and continuing on in the direction of their respective apartments, "you totally did. You asked who wouldn't be flustered by me flirting with them. And the answer is obviously no one who swings in my direction."

"Obviously." Adora repeats as if her gut isn't roiling with irrational jealousy at the thought of all the girls who have and will get to swing in Catra's direction and be shown a good time.

"Hmm, glad you agree." From the corner of her eye, Adora sees Catra eye her in their periphery. She chooses to ignore it.

They walk for a while in silence. Adora lets her mind wander, but it goes nowhere in particular. Mostly she just feels exhausted; by this day, by this crush, by not crying in front of Catra- cause seriously, the adrenalin from her fingers in Catra's mouth is dissipating and the only way to clear her system is a good catharsis cry. Likely followed by ice cream, an early bedtime, and ignoring her coursework.

Just as she spots her building up ahead, Catra clears their throat. This time, Adora manages to look at them directly. "So"…

Adora raises an eyebrow at the uncharacteristic uncertainty. "So."

They cross the street and Catra slows their pace, delaying their arrival at Adora's building. "Your guy is gonna be here soon."

She's been avoiding thinking about that, but Catra's not wrong. "Mhm, week and a half."

Lips pursed, they nod and look ahead. "Still good to meet at the library on Sunday?"

Maybe there isn't really a double meaning, maybe Catra is tired too and the uncertainty Adora's picking up on is just weariness. She doesn't chance it. Adora picks up Catra' s hand and gives it a squeeze. She waits until Catra' s glances at their interlaced fingers and back up to her face before slowing to a stop at the end of her building's walkway.

"Yeah, Catra, we're still good."

They smile, soft and sweet and Adora feel I y needs to get inside the privacy of her apartment soon. "Good, looking forward to it."

Catra steps away, walking backward and taking Adora's hand with them as far as they can. Before they let go they lean forward and press a gentle kiss to her knuckles. Her hand falls to her side the same moment that Catra turns around to walk away.

Adora watches them go until they turn the corner at the end of the block, just like she always does when they walk her home. When they turn back just before disappearing out of her line of sight to wink at her, Adora finds that all her earlier embarrassment evaporates. And when she gets inside she doesnt cry;she daydreams, eats her ice cream, and stays up late into the night getting an early start on her spanish homework.

- Catra -
Week 6

Catra might be dying. A moan punctuates that thought and they upgrade that mi ghbe to i sabsof- aki ngl- al y . They tap their pen, trying to focus on the page in front of them. And then there's a giggle from their left and they decide it's hopeless. They sigh and drop the stupid pen, looking up to Adora's red face. Her eyes are glued to the new comic Catra brought with them to their last study session but they dont move. Clearly she' s having trouble as well.

"Should we, like, move on to practice?"

Adora drags her eyes up slowly and looks up at Catra like a deer in headlights. A deer whose face is really, really red. "Oh, uh, sure. Yeah."

Catra nods and shoves Adora's homework to the side. Another loud moan and they wonder if the fornicators in the nearby stacks came here specifically to fuck, or if it was a spur of the moment decision. Then again, they pick this spot speci f i cal because no one really comes all the way up and back here. Seems safe to assume they're not the only one who picked up on that fact.

They clear their throat. "Hola, señor , bienvenido a la Universidad Brightmoon."

Adora eyes drift back from the source of another pronographic sound from the stacks. "Hola." Her eyes refocus and she seems to shake away most of her distraction. "Right, um, Hello Sir , welcome to Brightmoon University."

"Great. Desea una visita a nuestro campus?"

"Erm, do you want a tour of campus?"

"Good enough." Another punctuating sound, Catra's pretty sure they just knocked some books off the shelves. Fucking animals. (Okay, fine, maybe they're a little jealous. Maybe there's someone Adora would like to drag behind a bunch of books. After the other night though). They clear their throat, a little louder this time in an effort to clear both their distraction and that line of thought. "La biblioteca de la Universidad de Brightmoon fue financiada por la comunidad en 1901. A día de hoy sigue siendo un recurso público."

"Uh." Adora's face is so red, embarrassingly red, and Catra would love to tease her for it. Unfortunately, at this point, they just want to finish this lesson so they can get out of here before the grand finale. "The uh, the library of, um, well here. So Brightmoon. Was built in 1901?"

"By"…

A loud moan and Adora's eyes flutter closed briefly. She shifts in her seat and a fresh wave of arousal crashes over Catra. They can almost imagine it's Adora moaning like the star of a halfway decent porno. That it's them eliciting those sounds from her. It's not though, so they clear their throat, causing Adora's eyes to widen comically.

"Sorry! I, uhdistracted. Can you repeat that?"

"Do you need a break? We can go get coffee"…

"No!" Catra blinks, surprised at the firmness of the denial. The only firmness Shadow i kebbespir sedby . The errant thought paired with another loud moan from the stacks makes their face warm uncomfortably. "I just, I mean, he's gonna be here so soon… wanna make sure I have it down, right?"

"Uh huh." Catra eyes her skeptically , unsure why she's so wary of the perfectly reasonable logic. A harshly whispered fuck followed by audible panting clears that up- they could study elsewhere and be free of the soundtrack they're currently trapped by . Why is Adora so reluctant to leave?

"So…"

"Right. La biblioteca de la Universidad de Brightmoon fue financiada por la comunidad en 1901." Catra starts her off a little easier this time.

"The Brightmoon University library was paid for by the community in 1901?"

"Close en-"

"Fuck, Sei l ai, ghnee…"

Adora's eyes fly wide and she leans in. "Okay , I know we're mutually ignoring this, but did they just fucking say Sex?"

Catra looks at her a bit skeptically for a second before correcting, "Sheila, I think."

Turning impossibly redder, Adora falls back into her seat and ducks her head. "Right, duh."

Catra eyes her bashful, embarrassed posture and offers. "Look, this is weird. We can seriously go somewhere else."

Adora looks up, biting her lip and briefly darting her eyes to the source of their mutual awkwardness. "No, it's fine. I mean, unless you're uncomfortable. I'd just feel bad, you know? If they saw us and realized…"

Catra's eyes narrow. Adora looks like she's only just managing to hold their gaze. She shifts again and Catra's eyes dart down of their own volition. Not like they see anything through the old formica tabletop, but when they look up, Adora is looking down. Finally something clicks. Catra laughs once, quiet and incredulous. Then she leans in.

"Oh my fucking stars, you're getting turned on, aren't you?"

She looks up, a little embarrassment clear in her eyes. Her bottom lip and then some are dragging slowly between her teeth. And Catra wants. "Maybe a little." she finally whispers.

Catra takes a deep breath, and then a terrifying leap. "Me too." The catch of her breath is obvious, audible, echoing even. Not a muscle moves. Catra had tried to send the ball over to her court, but seems to have hit the net and is now watching as it rolls listlessly back toward them. "Maybe we should do something about it."

Adora chokes a little, she rocks back, Catra's heart falls through her stomach and out her ass. A beat passes, it feels like one hundred. Eventually, breathless and disbelieving, Adora breathes out, "We should…"

Forcing bravado they don't feel, Catra squares their shoulders and tells her, "Look, Greyskull, if you're not into it we can pretend this conversation never happened. If you are, your window is fucking closing. So either drag me into one of those study rooms over there," They jerk their thumb and Adora's wide eyes follow, not turning back when they speak again. "o vuelve al trabajo, gringa."

They wait in near silence, only a loud moan from the stacks breaking through the sound of the blood rushing through their ears. Adora turns back slowly, her eyes are wide, her cheeks are red, and her chest is heaving. "I-"

She cuts off and Catra just raises an eyebrow at her, challenging her to take over the lead here. They see her swallow thickly. They watch her eyes dart back over to the study rooms to her left. They wait.

Suddenly she's standing, grabbing her bag and Catra's and quickly scooping up everything on the table between them. Catra sits, watching in amusement, but Adora is clearly not laughing. "You gonna be a fucking tease and sit there while I have all the fun myself or something?" Okay, now Catra's not laughing either, but they're not able to move either. Adora gives them a look. "I'm a fucking lady, Catra. Get off your ass and come hold the door for me."

They laugh darkly, but the order works. The two of them hurry to the farthest room, and Catra gets the door. By the time they've turned around, Adora's deposited their things on the desk and lowered the blinds over the narrow window to the right. In a moment she has Catra crowded against the door, bearing over them and propping one hand next to their head. "Hey Adora."

She laughs, shaking her head without taking her eyes off Catra's. Stubbornly they hold the stare, letting neither of them blink. "So"…

"So." they repeat. "You've got me where I presume you want me, what are you gonna do about it?" Adora groans and it sends a thrill through Catra, but they don't let on, continuing to wait for her to make a damn move.

"What am I supposed to do?" They just give her a look and she laughs and shakes her head. "Seriously, I can't tell you how many times I've… I mean, what do you want? How can I make you feel good?" That last question has Catra wetter than they've ever been in their damn life. And then she steps closer. She tips their chin up with gentle fingers. A step closer and Catra can feel her, hard against their stomach. "Catra?"

"How many times you've what?" They manage to keep their tone steady and challenging. The slight movement of her hips against their stomach tells them it gets to Adora just how they hoped.

"I've-" Her blush spreads and Catra could just eat her up. But they'll wait, there's time for that. "I know. It's not like it's a secret."

"Not like it's a..." Catra's devilish expression wilts and their brows pinch. "What are you talking about?"

At this Adora looks away, worrying her lower lip. Her throat clears and, voice just a little too steady, she says, "I'm gonna assume you're not messing with me right now."

Now Catra's frowning. Their hands move away from the door where they've been plastered, gently coming to Adora's shoulder and jaw. With a soft touch, Catra urges her to look at them again. She turns, but doesn't meet their eye. "Adora, this is... spontaneous, and I know we're gonna have to set some boundaries as we go, but I promise you I wouldn't intentionally, like, embarrass you or mess with you like that. I'll tease, but if I cross the line, I want to know."

Finally, she meets their gaze again, eyes warm but still a little wary. "I've had a thing for you since sophomore year." She whispers, just absolutely blowing Catra's fucking mind. "I thought everyone knew. I mean, pretty sure everyone else does."

"What, and just no one thought to mention it to me?" Adora shrugs at Catra's indignation. "Wow, okay, so our friends are bastards, good to know."

That gets a laugh and Catra's heart melts a little. "Is that... okay though?"

"What, that our friends are bastards, or that you had a crush on me?" Adora gives them a look and they chuckle. "I can't think of a single reason why that would be an issue, but yeah, Adora, that's okay." A pause. "Actually, that's pretty fucking sexy." Another and with dawning realization, "Wait, so you're implying you've fantasized about this."

Adora chokes on absolutely nothing- other than the truth maybe- and Catra's devilish grin is back and their eyebrows fly. "Shut up." Adora pleads in a whine. Catra just laughs at her and she harrumphs. "Fine, yes, I've maybe imagined one or two scenarios in which we ended up like this."

"One or two?" they ask knowingly.

"Fine, one or two today." At a loss, Catra just keeps grinning and Adora huffs. "I mean, come on, you insisted on studying at the library. That's gotta be like, the number one most common setting for a porno, right?"

"What?" Catra teases, "You want me to wear a pencil skirt for you or something?"

"Well I wouldn't say no, you've got the ass of an angel, but that's not exactly-".

Oh, this is so fucking good. Catra wonders passively if they're even worthy of something so delicious. Still they push it, asking, "You gonna wear one for me then? Right on the money."

"I- Well, I- If you-" She gives up and looks pleadingly at Catra. "Can we move on please?"

"Sure." Catra says lightly. With one last lustful look they tuck Adora's hair behind her ear and murmur, "If you ever feel like sharing with the class though, I'd be highly interested in all the tawdry details."

A shuddering exhale and Adora just leaves it at, "Noted."

"So," Catra begins again, "are you gonna kiss me already, or do I have to do everything around here?"

"You're an insufferable brat, has anyone ever told you that?" she growls, but Catra's barely given time for the short laugh they let out, let alone enough to answer.

Adora is everywhere; over them, in front, on all sides. Only the solid wood behind their back grounds Catra to this realm. Adora kisses the same as it seems she does everything; she kisses like a thrice damned overachiever who's used to winning. Catra gets no say in the direction of their kiss, and they don't want one- Adora's doing perfectly fine on her own. Her teeth drag, her hands massage Catra's ass- the ass of an angel apparently, and she makes no effort to hold back the sounds of her pleasure.

"Fuck, Adora." Her mouth is moving past Catra's jaw, behind her ear, and toward her neck.

Lips and warm breath against soft skin, she mutters, "We good?"

Catra nods vigorously, not immediately able to get out the words, "Yes, fuck yes, I just." Adora chuckles and it's as infuriating as it is sexy. "Don't stop." they order as gruffly as they can manage.

Smart enough to not argue further, Adora nods into their neck and presses into them once more. Catra sighs contentedly at the light scrape of teeth over their pulse point, Adora fingers dig into their hips. Her kissing slows once more, but before Catra can bitch about it, she says, "What are we doing here, Catra? How far are we going?"

Catra's face feels hot and they look up, exposing more of their neck but eliminating the top of Adora's head from their sightline. "How, uh, how far do you wan-"

"Anything." she cuts them off breathlessly. "Everything, whatever you want. I just don't want to push too far."

Their muscles unclench and they smile. Looking down at Adora, they urge her head up from where she's essentially started nuzzling into the juncture of her neck and shoulder. She looks up basfully, smiling back once she catches sight of Catra's expression.

"I meant sex," they clarify, "when I said we should do something. I want you, Adora. All the way." Her eyes flutter shut, she takes in a deep, intentional breath. Catra watches her then murmurs, "You're so fucking sexy"…

Eyes open in a snap, Adora's fingers grip them with renewed pressure. Catra fights back a little victorious grin, meeting her burning gaze unflinchingly. When she readjusts, Catra doesn't notice where her thigh ends up. Or at least they don't up and to the point that it rocks between their legs anyhow. The sound they make in response would be embarrassing had they the bandwidth to give a shit. And anyway, Adora seems to take it as encouragement.

Catra's eyes close, and they press down into the pressure until their back is sliding down the door. Adora's head falls to Catra's shoulder with a soft sigh. The air between them grows hot and humid with their shared breath and the sound they make as they lose themselves to baser instincts. Before long, Adora's thrusts grow more irregular, and soon after, her thigh is trembling against Catra.

Between the sight and sound of Adora's orgasm, and the feeling of her quivering muscles against their clit, Catra's own release is inevitable. It leaves them panting, back still pressed to the door, and palms pressed similarly in an attempt to further ground themself. It doesn't do much. Adora's hands however, cupping their jaw gently as she leans in to press lazy, soft kisses on their cheeks, ensure that Catra's existence orbits around her.

"You're so gorgeous, Cat." she murmurs into their skin, releasing a soft sigh from Catra's lungs. "So smart and funny. You're so- You fucking amaze me. I-"

Catra pushes her back and Adora cuts off to pout and send her a confused little look. It's so fucking adorable; if Catra didn't have their sights set a little further south, they'd be forced to pepper her sweet face with kisses. "I want you."

She chuckles dryly. "You've got me, Catra, trust-"

"No, Adora. I mean I want your." They pause and move their fingers down to the hem of her skirt to make their intentions clear. "Your cock or clit, yeah?" Catra does their best to recall conversations had with their friends where they discussed the… interesting terms sexual partners had used for their genitals, and what they actually preferred. In response Adora squeezes her eyes shut and nods. "Preference today, or?"

Adora shakes her head and breathlessly answers, "No, either, both, I just… fuck, I want you to touch me."

"With my hands or." Adora honest to gayness whimpers. And not quietly either. "Shh, handsome." Another needy little sound, but soft this time. "There you go. Adora?"

"Yeah?" She sounds so fucking gone and Catra could come undone from it. Hell, who knows? There's still time.

Catra waits until Adora opens her eyes, unfocused though they may be, to ask, "Adora, can I eat you out?"

She laughs- a lost, desperate sound- and falls back against the door, practically melting into it. "Fucking fuck, Catra, you're so sexy."

"Is that a yes?"

"It's not. I'm not, like, hard. Anymore."

Catra gives her a look as if to say, I can hear that. I asked? "Is that a problem for you? Cause I'm still waiting for an answer, and I'd still like to taste you."

There's a brief falter before Adora's body seems to melt and she says, "In that case please, Catra, I want you so bad, I…".

"Sir." pops out without their permission, and Adora looks as confused as Catra is surprised. But they want it, so they go with it. "Say that again," Catra instructs, "but call me Sir."

Adora grins, a little tentative. "Yeah?"

Catra raises an eyebrow. "We don't have all day, Adora, the library will close at some point."

Adora's grin firms up into a smirk, but before long she's schooling her expression. The sensual air is clearly put on, but Adora is clearly pulling it off nonetheless. And Catra isn't too proud to admit it gets to them when she breathlessly obeys, pleading, "Please, Sir, please eat me out. I wanna feel that hot mouth, Sir. I want you so bad. I need-"

"Shut the fuck up." Catra growls at the infuriatingly sexy teasing, cutting her off with a rough kiss. Adora smiles against their lips a moment but quickly drops the smugness to allow Catra a moment to have their way with her. And then her hand is in their hair, gently tugging them back.

Again Catra growls, but this time Adora just smirks and tuts at them. "Pretty sure you were supposed to be eating me out, Sir."

"Pretty sure I can't do that with you holding me in place, Princess."

She laughs and starts gently guiding Catra down. They resist, just for the pleasure of the pull against their scalp. "Better?"

Catra scoffs but begins moving down to their knees. "You're lucky you're so hot."

"No, I'm lucky, and you're so hot."

Another dismissive sound from Catra and they land on the ground. Rather than dignify Adora's words with a response, they move their hands to the backs of her knees. Grazing light fingers up her thighs, they bunch up her skirt and find the top of her underwear. An inquiring look and a nod from Adora, and slowly they work the garment down her legs. She draws in a shuddering breath and Catra's thighs rub together of their own volition.

They unbutton her skirt and it falls, billowing softly and dramatically to the ground, a vibrant puddle of red fabric at her feet. Catra is in awe. They look up slowly and Adora is watching them, her expression soft and vulnerable and full of all the want in the world. "Adora?"

"Yeah?" She mirrors the soft whisper of Catra's voice.

"Thank you." Adora hums dreamily, much of her vulnerability melting away to make room for affection. "Is there anything you want, anything you know feels good?"

Adora clears her throat, looking marginally more alert. "Just not too fast, okay?" Catra smiles and nods, then turns their attention to the matter at hand.

Before they begin Catra pauses and looks back up. "Hey, handsome, do we need protection?"

"Up to you." she says easily. "I've gotten a couple clean tests, and it's been a few months since, uh, anyone um, anyone else. You?"

"Yeah, I'm clean."

"Okay, so you feel good without then? Cause we definitely dont have to"…

"Yeah, sweet girl," they say softly, "I feel good. Can I make you feel good now?"

Doing a poor job of biting back a smile, Adora nods and answers, "Yes please."

Catra offers a final grin and a wink before resuming the descent. They kiss Adora's belly, just at the tip of her happy trail. Slowly they move their kisses down along the path of dark hair, dragging her underwear down as they go, smiling when the attention earns them soft sighs and breathless, almost inaudible moans. Adora's fingers slacken in their hair until eventually her hand falls free, dangling limply at her side. Catra takes both her hands in their own, lacing their fingers together, and looks up at Adora to wink cheekily. She just laughs, incredulous and fond, and bites her lip.

Before long Catra's reached the tidy patch of hair between her legs. Adora's hands squeeze theirs, and they squeeze back.

"You're so sexy, Adora." A short ha! escapes her and Catra's brow furrows. They don't look up, opting instead to reiterate, "So fucking sexy. So soft." They turn their head to press feather light kisses to the slight bulge on either side of her pelvis where she's tucked. She hums contentedly, squeezing their hands again, and they turn to press another kiss to the base of her cock. It responds with a slight twitch but stays just as soft.

Catra ducks down and runs her tongue from head to base. Adora's head falls against the door with a loud bang. "Fuck."

"You okay?"

"Yuh huh." They chuckle at her wanton tone and it doesn't seem to register.

"Remember, handsome, you gotta be quiet or we're gonna get caught." She just whimpers, but it's soft so Catra leaves her be.

With a final squeeze of her fingers, Catra releases her hands to grab her ass. As they move them slowly forward to her thighs, Catra runs her nose up the length of Adora's clit and through the wiry thatch of hair at the top. Another sound of pleasure escapes Adora and it's all Catra can do to not devour her in one bite.

Massaging her thighs until they're quivering, Catra murmurs. "I want to take you in my mouth."

"Yes." She breathes before the words have even fully left their lips.

They smile but don't give her a hard time. And then they've drawn her cock into their mouth. She lets out an absurdly adorable squeak and bends at the waist, hands snapping up to brace against Catra's shoulders. They give her a moment to adjust to the warmth before moving. When they start, it's by pulling back at an achingly slow pace- their pussy quite literally aching with desire. They curve their tongue, running the tip along the underside of Adora's cock and drawing a string of curses from her lips.

She's fucking devine, totally lost in feeling, uninhibited in her pleasure. Maybe too loud, but frankly Catra doesn't give even half a shit if they get banned from the library should they get caught. Fully worth the price of admission. So they keep going, keeping their tempo slow and their touches light. Once Adora is panting for them, Catra moves their hands again.

Massaging along her thighs, their thumbs make their way to her taint, applying gentle pressure. She cries out and her knees buckle so fast Catra actually fears she might fall down. She doesn't, thank the stars, but Catra does pull back entirely. They look up at Adora, who's looking back with comically wide eyes.

"Uh...Adora?"

"Holy shit."

"Good, or"…

"I think I need to sit down if you're gonna do that again."

Confidence gradually returning, Catra grins. "And do you want me to do that again?"

Adora stares at her. Blinks. Blinks again. "I'm gonna sit on the desk."

They laugh and nod, climbing up and offering their arm in support as they rearrange themselves. Adora sits at the edge of the desk that is mounted along one wall of the small room. After weighing the options, Catra sits in the chair, figuring it makes more sense height wise. Once Adora has settled, Catra wraps their arms around her legs and ducks down.

"Ready to go again?"

Her eyes flutter shut and she looks almost serene- or she would if she weren't getting fucked by Catra's mouth anyway. "So fucking ready."

And so Catra dives back in, every touch the same as before, just angled ever so slightly different. Slowly Adora begins to slump, the angle of her neck clearly uncomfortable, but still pressing as closely to Catra's mouth and fingers as she can get. By the time her ass is as far over the edge of the desk as it can without her falling off, Catra has increased the pressure of their thumbs against her taint and they've hollowed out their cheeks.

"Catra? Im- I need-" She cuts herself off with a whine, but Catra gets the picture. They hum encouragingly and pick up their pace a little. Adora curses and one foot kicks out, only to catch on the leg of Catra's chair. In no time she's gripping the edge of the desk and the muscles in her neck are strained, her head thrown back. She's not cursing or screaming or moaning Catra's name.

Adora cums in an epic release of tension. Winding more and more tightly the closer she gets until her face and chest are a bright crimson and every muscle in her body is taut, she sucks in a breath and doesn't release it until she feels. Her body deflates and Catra swallows the gentle stream of cum that accompanies her orgasm. When she's through, Catra gives her clit one final, gentle peck.

They stand from the chair and move over her, caging her in and pressing soft kisses over her closed eyelids. She hums around a growing smile and blinks her eyes open once Catra's pulled away. "Hi."

"You're incredible, Adora Greyskull."

"Uh, me?"

"Yeah, you. That was the hottest fucking thing I've ever seen."

"Shut up!" She smacks lightly at their shoulder and they shake their head. She bites her lip and just smiles, eyes roaming their face and breath evening out, before offering, "You know, I'd like to return the favor."

"Oh, yeah, hottie? You gonna eat me out?"

She shrugs. "If that's what you want."

Catra swallows thickly at the insinuation, their pussy clenches as if pleading to have Adora inside. "Fuck me instead?"

Adora smiles but there's a slight pinch between her brows. "Of course, I'm assuming you mean not with my mouth?"..

"No, not with your mouth, sweet girl." Catra says with a breathless chuckle, getting exponentially more turned on with each second that brings them closer to having Adora like this. "I don't give a fuck if it's your fingers or your clit or your cock, Adora, I just want you the fuck inside me."

Adora freezes, panting, staring up at their expectant expression. Catra's expecting another burst of passion, they're expecting their underwear to be ripped down for whatever Adora has in store for them. What they are decidedly not expecting is the hypothetical question, "How would you feel about taking my strap?"

Catra huffs. "Sure, whatever , next time. Right now I just want-"

"I mean right now ." Adora's eyes burn into theirs and their heart beat comes unevenly.

"I'm not really interested in waiting to get back to your apartment to cum, Adora. I'm already about to lose my fucking mind here."

Looking a little smug, she once again corrects them. "I have it."

Catra raises an eyebrow. They lick their lips, trying to summon a single fucking thought that doesn't center around Adora pinning them to the the wall, buried to the hilt in their cunt. "Excuse me?"

"I swear I didn't plan this or anything!" she hastens to assure them, sitting up and urging them back.

"Yeah, that's obvious, Princess."

"But I, uhm, I sort of have my strap on me? In my bag."

"Because you're just the world's most prepared girl scout, or?"...

Adora's cheeks flush and they mumble something about, "I maybe, sort of left it at someone's place a couple months ago. And, uh, finally got around to picking it up this morning."

Catra's eyes dart to the worn red jansport that was tossed carelessly on the floor and she stares at it a moment before looking back. "Is it clean?"

"Yes! And I have wipes!" At Catra's look she defends, "What? They come in handy like, all the time."

"I'll bet." Catra mutters. Then she nods down at the backpack and says, "Well, what are you waiting for?"

Adora lights up. "Yeah?"

"Yeah, Adora, I'll let you take me against the wall."

She smirks and raises an eyebrow. "Against the wall, huh?"

Catra just scoffs and steps back. "Shut up and get your cock on, Adora."

She hastens to do just that, tripping over her skirt where they've left it to wrinkle on the ground. Catra, getting exponentially more turned on with each passing second, watches her pull a moderately sized, shimmery gold dick from her bag. Next she pulls out a pack of sani wipes and sets to wiping it down. And then she catches Catra's look. "What?"

She glances down at her hands and Catra scoffs playfully. "Seriously?" She looks up again, clearly confused. Catra nods at the toy in explanation and says, "It's fucking shiny, Adora. And gold."

She grins, somehow a combination of both sinister and bashful. "I think it's pretty."

"No," Catra corrects, "your clit is pretty. Your fucking gold cock is"…

Adora drops her wipes back in her bag, reaching in to pluck out a bottle of lube (because apparently she is the world's most fucking prepared girl scout), and gives Catra an arch, teasing look. "Is?"…

They huff and lean back against the wall. "It's gonna be inside me in the next twenty seconds unless you want me to fucking leave."

She just laughs at the threat. "Twenty seconds, huh? Seems a little ambitious considering you haven't even taken your pants off for me yet."

Catra is down to their socks in five. It takes Adora roughly seven to get strapped in and lubed up. "Fuck." Her shirt comes off next, and Catra's mouth is dry staring at the most perfect pair of lace clad tits they have ever seen, bar none. "My eyes are up here, babe."

Catra rolls their eyes and looks up at her. "Uh huh, yeah, and they're fucking gorgeous, but I've already seen them. These lovely ladies however…" they let their eyes drift down and Adora chuckles darkly, the sound making her tits bounce lightly in a way that Catra can't help but zero in on.

And then she's close. Catra is staring down Adora's cleavage and her hands are settled on their waist. "Well, lucky for you this won't be your only chance to look freely."

Everything that feels substantial and solid inside Catra seems to disappear for a moment; they're suspended in a moment, lost in implication. They look up into Adora's eyes, which quickly melt from molten silver to warm, tropical seas. "I haven't had a thing for you since sophomore year," Catra hears themself say, Adora's eyes flutter shut and her forehead comes to rest on theirs, "but these last few weeks…"

"Hmm." Adora hums and the smile on her face resonates through the sound. "Yeah?"

They nod and wrap their arms around her shoulders. "You're probably one of my best friends, Adora, but being alone with you so much like we have been? I couldn't… How could I resist falling for you?"

Her breath hitches and her eyes open. She stays close. "Falling…"

They smile softly and shake their head, rocking against Adora's. "Not there yet, but, Adora, you're… you're so special." Her eyes fall closed again, shoulders relaxing, but Catra's not nearly finished. "So strong, so completely gorgeous. You're patient and you always have a kind word- you're just nice. You're good and I'm so honored that you want me, that you've let me have you like this."

Adora's fingers tighten on Catra's waste, digging in pleasantly, and now it's their turn to have their breath catch. "Let me have you now?"

Catra's eyes close and they press a lingering kiss to her lips. Pawing back, they promise, "I'm all yours, handsome."

That works to bring them back to a level of passion rivaling where they were just minutes ago. Adora growls and pushes them into the wall with a little more force. "They way you get under my skin, Catra. Fuck, I just want to"…

"So fucking do it already ."

With a heated glare, Adora dives in for a rough kiss that has Catra positively reeling. They barely register her moving them around the small room until the backs of their legs hit the edge of the desk. They pull back from the kiss to look behind themself with a furrowed brow. Undeterred, Adora moves her onslaught to their neck, surely working toward a mark. Catra will undoubtedly be studying it in her bathroom mirror later, pressing her fingers against the bruise and shivering at the visceral reminder of where they've been. For now , however, they work to stay present and enjoy the process of getting the hickey.

Adora pulls back, panting against their neck, and her voice is rough when she says, "I want you over the desk."

Catra's pussy throbs with its agreement. They clear their throat. "From behind you mean?"

She chuckles darkly and nips at the skin just below their jaw . "Turn around and bend over, Catra."

They see absolutely no need to argue with that particular order. Backside exposed and feeling exhilaratingly vulnerable, Catra shivers at Adora's responding groan. They turn their head, craning their neck, to shoot her a smirk. Eyes on their ass, she doesn't even seem to notice. "Like what you see?"

With a little growl, her hands finally touch them, massaging her ass and hips. She knows what she's doing clearly, and Catra melts into the desktop, head falling forward once more. "Do you have any idea how many times I've stared at this fucking ass, Catra?"

"Ass of an angel, right?" They ask, not coming off nearly as smug as they intended.

A sharp bite on the aforementioned heavenly ass makes Catra yelp. They can feel Adora pull back, though her hands stay on their hips. Quietly she asks, "Too hard?"

Catra's eyes squeeze shut and they shake their head vehemently. "Perfect, just surprised me. A, uh, a little more, even, would be okay."

There's a pause, then Adora is leaning over, plastering herself against their back. The lace of her bra scratches lightly against their back and unconsciously they arch up into the sensation. Catra sighs contentedly and the sound turns into a low moan when Adora nips at their ear. "Noted. You ready for me, sir?"

Catra can't help but groan, fully enjoying Adora's teasing- and the implication that she'll continue to be nothing short of ruthless. "Fuck me, Adora. Now."

A thoroughly amused, "Yes, sir." is all the warning Catra gets before Adora leans back to align herself and ease her way into Catra's cunt.

They hum contentedly at the feeling of fullness as she sinks in with the full length of her strap. She draws out slowly and then, with a sharp slap on Catra's ass, she thrusts back in more roughly. Catra sees stars, they know they've made some obscene sound, because Adora chuckles and leans forward to cover their mouth with her hand. It changes her angle just so and her muffling catches a choked sob when it allows her to sink in just a bit farther.

"That's it, just relax for me, babe. That's a good pet."

A muffled, "Fuck, Adora." makes it through the cracks of Adora's fingers and her hand flexes briefly over their mouth just before she thrusts in again. Another slow withdrawal before a sharp thrust, and Catra turns their head to the side. Adora takes it as the bid for freedom it is and withdraws her hand. Able to speak, they pant out, "I need you to go faster."

She chuckles and gives their ass another little slap. "Okay, Cat, I can do faster."

She draws back once more, but Catra stops her again. "You uh," They clear their throat.

Voice gentle and reassuring, Adora prompts them with, "What do you need? Anything."

Catra's face feels hot and they turn to rest their forehead against the cool formica under them. "It, ah, might be best if you, like, put your hand back."

There's a pause and Catra can just feel the satisfaction rolling off the woman behind her. They're too far gone to mind, they just want her to fucking move. And after a moment, she does. Adora's hand curls around Catra's mouth again, and the one at their hip curls too, anchoring her, digging into their flesh hard enough they hope it bruises. Like a fucking sexual souvenir or something.

And then Adora is really in motion. Catra's fingers dig into the tabletop as if that's gonna keep them from sliding backward and forward in time with Adora's thrusts. Her hand does a good job of catching their needy whines and helpless moaning, but the muffled sounds still fill the room, combining with Adora's heavy breaths in a symphony of sex. It's no wonder Catra doesnt take long to cum.

Adora slows but doesnt stop. "Can I keep going?"

Catra nods eagerly into her hand and attempts to speak. Adora's hand moves away just long enough for Catra to plead, "My clit. Too. I need you to-" They break off with a cry when she sinks in slowly.

"You gonna be able to keep quiet for me?" she teases.

Their eyes squeeze closed, and honestly, they don't know. I-"

"Shh, it's okay, I've got you." Catra's cunt squeezes around Adora's cock. They still haven't come down from their orgasm, heavy aftershocks still rolling through so powerfully it's possible they're still cumming. "Can you cover your mouth for me?" Their fingers flex into the desk once more, but they manage to cover their own mouth. Something about it feels so fucking erotic, they find themselves crying out once more.

Adora's free hand grazes lightly over their bare back, sweeping up their side and tenderly feeling along the edge of the surgery scar on their chest. They sigh, and they ache, and they want what they're already getting. Then Adora's fingers are trailing lightly around their clit, and it's so much more, they don't know how they stay inside their body, but they do. They do and it's better than anything they've ever felt before this.

When she resumes her earlier pace inside them... they lose track of how many times they cum before Adora collapses over their back, still inside them. Four, they think. Or maybe just three? Doesn't matter, Catra is spent, satisfied, and utterly content. As they settle they begin to register more fully the sweet nothings Adora is murmuring in their ear. "...did so well for me, sweetheart. You're so good."

"Hmm..." Adora kisses their shoulder blade in acknowledgement of the contented hum, and it releases another satisfied sigh. She shifts to draw out for the last time, and it feels good but at the same time it leaves Catra longing.

"So sexy, so good."

"That was..." Catra mumbles, ready to pass out here in this dingy ass study room in which Adora just fucked out their brains.

"You're amazing."

They scoff sleepily. "Shut up."

She just laughs and leans her elbow near their head, propping her head on her hand. With the other, she starts tracing aimless patterns over their back. It's not helping them stay awake. "So"…

"Mhm?"

"I was thinking."

"Uh-oh." She laughs and pauses her patterning to swat lightly at their shoulder. They only grin and turn their head to nuzzle into her bicep.

"Would you wanna, like, get cleaned up and maybe come over? Order a pizza, maybe"…

Catra squints their eyes open and turns to look up at her. "Are you seriously ready to go again?"

She bites her lip, uncertainty Catra doesn't understand in her eyes. Her face slowly blooms into roughly the same color it was at the height of their passion. "Not exactly"…

"Okay"…

"I was thinking more along the lines of cuddling?" Catra smirks. Adora pouts petulantly back. "What?"

"You're really fucking cute, you know that?"

She looks pleased, but still not totally sure of herself. "Is that a yes?"

"Yeah, Adora," they say with a playful eye roll, "it's a yes."

She beams and everything ever feels worth it to have gotten to see her just like this. When she pulls back though, Catra is significantly less content, grumbling lightly. It just makes her chuckle at them. She helps them turn over to sit on the desk, evidently knowing before they do that they'll be stiff from their position. Then they watch her get out her wipes and clean up them first, and then herself and her toy.

When she smiles and offers them their scattered clothes, they finally manage to get their ass in gear. She keeps glancing at them the whole time, cheeks pink and smiling bashfully. Each time Catra cant help but chuckle to themself, occasionally offering her a wink that makes her pink cheeks pinker. Once theyre put together and have their things, Catra holds the door open with a sweeping gesture. Adora curtsies, giggling a little to herself as she walks past.

And then Catra hears a gasp. They and Adora both look up sharply to see Perfuma and Scorpia standing at the end of the row of books directly across the expanse of tables. Perfuma is grinning in a way that borders on sinister, the very antithesis of her girlfriend. Behind her, Scorpia's face is red and she's doing that awkward, rubbing the back of her neck thing she always does.when she' snervous. Perfuma's hair is a fucking mess, and now that Catra looks closer… is her shirt on backwards and inside out?

At the same time Catra chokes out a laugh and says, "No fucking way."Perfuma claps her hands, hushed but gleeful, and says, "Y ay! You two finally did it."

It takes the other two blondes an extra minute to get it. Adora's eyes go wide first, and then she's absolutely holwi ng with her laughter. That seems to make it click for Scorpia, and though she's still red, she coos, "A w!Wildcat, Im so happy for you!"

They dont respond to that, choosing instead to tease, "D you two have any fucking idea how loud you were being?"

Scorpia blushes harder, but Perfuma looks utterly unrepentant. "D you two realize Adora' s strap is sticking out of her bag?"

"Id you know your shirt is inside out?"Adora bends at the waist with her continued laughter. "And backwards."

Perfuma's lip twitches. And then she immediately gives in to her own laughter.

Catra starts to laugh too, but then they pause, smiling with their brows furrowed. They look between their friends and ask, "Wait, so who the fuck is Sheila?"

Adora cackles harder, Scorpia is an even brighter red now, but Perfuma just smiles harder- looking entirely too pleased with herself. "Oh," she answers demurely, turning to give her partner a suggestive look, "just a very naughty librarian Scorpia happens to know."

They're not sure what face they're making. On one hand; good for Scorpia! On the other; Catra so did not need to be privy to that information. Not that they dont see the appeal, after all Perfuma is sort of their type now they think about it. And this is exactly why they should learn to mind their fucking business.

"Alright! Well I've been promised post coitus pizza, so we're gonna fuckin' bounce."

"Ooh!" Perfuma perks up and turns to Scorpia once more, hanging off her arm. "My sweet little sunbeam, I know you were talking about cooking, but"…

"Ugh!" Now Catra knows what face they're making. "Get a room sunbeam? Seriously? Gross. Listening to you two fuck was better than this."

They spin on their heel and drag Adora, still hysterical with laughter, away from their friends. By the time they make it halfway down the second flight of stairs, Adora has mostly settled. She stops them on the landing and uses Catra's surprise to spin them around and back them up against the wall. Caught up in her eyes as they are, they don't mind the railing that digs into their lower back- it's cold, but rounded nicely.

She crowds them in like she had against the door upstairs, forearms bracketing her head. "Hey."

"Hey Adora," they infuse all the flirtation they can into the words. Adora flushes so red, Catra wonders; if they bit into the apple of her cheek, would it be as tart and crisp as the first day of fall?

"I really fucking like you."

They smirk, absolutely loving the reminder. "So I've heard."

She rolls her eyes, they're still bright with her smile. "Creo que podría amarte, Catra."

Catra's heart melts, and her expression simmers from a smirk down to a genuine smile. "Yeah. Yeah, I think I could love you too, Adora."

Adora leans in for a chaste kiss that makes Catra's heart squeeze with feelings too big for their body. She pulls away only far enough to nuzzle her nose into Catra's cheek. "Can I take you out next weekend? Somewhere nice."

Catra urges her back with gentle hands on her jaw, and strokes soft cheeks with their thumbs when they're met with a hopeful, happy gaze. "Anywhere you want, handsome."

She beams and pulls them into a hug, gently rocking them side to side. Catra buries their face in their neck, breathing in the smell of sex and perfume. They're gonna steal so many of this poor woman's clothes. When the two of them hear someone enter the stairwell on the floor below them, they wait until the person has passed by and exited onto the fourth floor to pull apart. Adora doesn't even let Catra get all the way away, sliding her hands down their arms until she can interlace their fingers.

It's nice, she's nice. And maybe nice was never really what Catra saw themself paired with, but it makes all the sense in the world now. Here. With her. "Ready to head out?"

"Hmm," Adora hums agreeably, leaning forward to place a quick peck on Catra's lips before answering verbally, "sure thing. Be a gentlethem and escort a lady home?"

They bite back a laugh and nod, rearranging so they're holding Adora's hand in the crook of their arm. She giggles and it's a sound sweet enough to turn life's lemons into lemonade. "But of course, mlady. Allow me to lead the way."

Catra starts them off and they walk all the way home in companionable silence. At one point, Adora sighs and leans her head on Catra's shoulder. Before long they wrap an arm around hers. It all feels natural as anything, familiar. And they've walked this route many times over the last month and a half, but Catra knows that isn't where the feeling comes from. It's familiar like a foreshadow- the first time you do something you know you'll be repeating thousands of times.

They turn and kiss the top of Adora's head, and she looks up at them with a smile in return. Voice quiet enough not to break the stillness of the evening, she says simply, "This is nice."

"Yeah." Catra agrees, pressing another kiss to her forehead this time. She hums happily and Catra lets their lips brush against her skin when they continue, "I'm so glad."…

"Me too." she swears like an oath gladly taken. "This feels.special, right? It's not just- I mean-"

On a familiar street, among familiar shadows, at the end of a walkway they've seen hundreds of times, Catra kisses Adora and feels something they've never felt before. "Yeah, Adora," they whisper softly, the same oath taken just as gladly, "it is. I think we caught lightning in a bottle, you know?"

If the current passing between them at the kiss Adora answers them with is any indicator, there's no denying it;this catch is electric enough to light the rest of Catra's life.

I read a lot of articles/threads before writing this smut scene, but the two I found most helpful were this tumblr post; https://ficsex.tumblr.com/post/648050589262528 01/any-advice-on-writing-safe-sane-consensual

And the one, Fucking Transwomen by Mira Belleweather http://fuckingtranswomen.org/ (I cannot tell y'all how many times this came up while I was researching as an invaluable resource, and truly there doesn't seem to be anything else like this work readily available. It ten bucks for the full digital download, and worth every penny if it's in your budget!)
